CONGRATULATIONS, MR. AVERILL.

Newspapers have reported that the new Governor has named George Averill, editor of The Birmingham Eccentric, as executive secretary to the Governor. We offer congratulations to Mr. Averill and the state, too. We are sure that in this important state position Mr. Averill will do a good job. Besides the responsible duties that go with the position, Mr. Averill will find very soon that he will be the final advisor to the Governor on highly important state problems. Knowing Mr. Averill over a long period of years, we will say about him—the new Governor will get into no difficult situations by following any advice that Mr. Averill will offer him. We believe, as does The Detroit News, that Kim Sigler and George Averill will make a strong team pulling for the good of Michigan.

DETROIT AND ITS CRIME.

One of the most shameful crime records of any American city is at present being written in Detroit. There are more unsolved murders, more sex offenses, more robberies and more petty crimes than have ever prevailed in any place in the country. Conditions have become so bad in Detroit that decent people hardly dare venture out onto the streets after dark. Women and young girls are snatched from the sidewalks, dragged into alleyways, ravished and then killed or left with their throats cut to bleed to death. Meanwhile the wise-cracking mayor of the great city sits grinning in his office and wondering what he can next do to get his picture in the newspapers.

THE NEW DEAL MESS.

Any one with any reasoning power just could not keep from seeing the plight that this country would wind up in following the death of the new deal. A campaign of hate, retaliation and greed directed from the executive office of the nation, for twelve long years just could not result in anything else but the turmoil we are now experiencing.

When classes are turned against classes, races against races, when hate and greed and downright thievery are encouraged by a national administration, what else can you expect?

It is going to be a long, hard pull to get this good country of ours back on an even keel, but it can be done and it must be done. But meanwhile the common people of this land of ours are going to suffer in more ways than one.

GOVERNOR KELLY'S PET.

Read in the newspapers the other day when Governor Kelly had selected Don Leonard of the state police as "coal dictator" of Michigan. Leonard was the Governor's selection for the Civilian Defense organization a few years back.

We do not know of any one who did more talking and less work than did Leonard during those days. We did not object so much to his incessant blab as we did the fact that he was knocking down two paychecks from the state, one of them for needless services in connection with the Civilian Defense organization.

We tried to knock this thing out during the last regular session of the legislature. We got the bill through the house, but then Governor Kelly came to the defense of Leonard's pocketbook and said he would veto the bill if it secured senatorial approval. He did say, however, that he would see to it that all of the money in the bill was not expended if he should find that the existence of the Civilian Defense organization was no longer needed.

There was no time after the end of the war when there was any need of the state spending one cent in connection with the Civilian Defense.

But what happened? Leonard kept his extra paycheck out of this needless appropriation rolling into his "jeans" until almost the entire wasteful appropriation had been squandered.

And there is another thing, too, about this fellow Leonard that doesn't click so hot in my mind. He was the immediate superior of Capt. Lyons and his associates in the state police organization. We would like to ask just how it happened that this talkative state police official didn't do a little talking about what was going on among some of his associates?

No, we do not like Kelly's injection of this fellow into Michigan's coal problems. He didn't do anything before, and he won't do anything now except talk—and on top of this we just don't like his record.

HE DIDN'T VOTE RIGHT—AND HE WAS MURDERED.

We are going to let the well known weekly magazine, NEWSWEEK, tell you about that murder by Communists in New York of a Republican voter because this American citizen had attempted to exercise his rights of citizenship and vote in a New York election.

Says NEWSWEEK: POLITICS: The Red Darling.

The 12,000 PAC, ICCASP, CIO and ALP left-wingers were figgity from the undiluted pre-election speechmaking in Madison Square Garden in New York on Oct. 31. They had been only politely respectful toward ex-Gov. Herbert H. Lehman; they had sat on their hands through Sen. James M. Mead's impassioned histrionics. Then, just as they were ready to go home, ex-Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia electrified them by endorsing for reelection a "real New Dealer" who was "serving the people"—Rep. Vito Marcantonio.

Bedlam broke loose. The vibrant chant—"We want Vito"—echoed to the topmost girders. Theatrical spotlights picked out a stoop-shouldered spider of a man. Pushing to the center of the prize-ring platform, Marcantonio waved his thin Italianisue hand for silence. What he had to say required only two sentences. The first sentence was devoted to humor: His left hand, in a sling, had become infested from "playing around with the Republican lever" on a practice voting machine. As the laughter died out Marcantonio's smile changed to a fierce scowl. Raising his voice to a shriek he uttered his second sentence: "There is only one issue in this campaign—collaboration of the founder of the Soviet Union for peace and the defeat of domestic fascism." Having stolen the two-hour show with two sentences, the frail but tireless Communist party-liner vanished from the platform to the accompaniment of an ovation.

For Marcantonio, ovations at New York's numerous left-wing mass meetings were nothing new. When the Communist party line was pro-Roosevelt back in 1938, Marcantonio could always produce a roar of applause by eulogizing the founder of the New Deal. In 1941, with the Hitler-Stalin pact in effect, he found it equally easy to thrill CP-packed crowds by lumping Hitler, Mussolini, Churchill, and Roosevelt together in an "imperialist" war and denouncing them as the "Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse." By the time Germany had invaded Russia in June 1941 and the CP line changed over-night to all-out support of war, Marcantonio had a fresh applause-winning phrase: "our great leader, Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Yet, which ever way the CP line—and Marcantonio's speeches—twisted, Marcantonio himself had always been able to survive politically. One of the nation's most highly organized personal political vehicles, the Marcantonio machine, has assured his reelection to Congress year after year from New York City's melting-pot Eighteenth Congressional district. Nov. 5, 1946, proved no exception. Despite an all-out Republican effort to unseat him, synchronized with a vigorous anti-Marcantonio campaign conducted by leading New York newspapers, he won by 5,500 votes.

But last week, Marcantonio's machine was suffering from its worst case of jitters since its inception. On Election Day morning, a leader in the forces opposing Marcantonio had been brutally

Fix Date For Community Christmas Tree

Max Todd, general chairman of the Junior Chamber of Commerce committee in charge of Christmas activities, announced this week that the Community Christmas tree will be Monday evening, December 23, in Kellogg Park.

At the same time, winners of the home decoration contest will be named, and winning numbers for the Treasure hunt are to be posted.

Already several home owners in Plymouth have signified their intent to enter the contest for the best outdoor decorated home in Plymouth. Present plans call for cash awards to be given the three winning home-owners.

Marvin Partridge is chairman of this phase of the program and will announce definite plans at a later date. He and his committee, including Robert McAllister and Donald Rank, are also in charge of street decorations for the business areas and will welcome novel suggestions from townspeople and businessmen alike.

The Treasure hunt is geared to stimulate buying in Plymouth and through their purchase here hundreds of city people will be given gifts. Briefly, with each purchase at stores participating in the "hunt" a ticket will be given to the customer. Whether he purchases a 10-cent or a 50-dollar item, a ticket will be given, the stub of which will be retained. The stubs from all stores will be placed in a container and on the night of the Community Christmas tree, numbers will be drawn and those holding the matching half of the stub will be awarded a valuable gift from the hundreds to be given away. These gifts will be on display at various participating places of business.

The lucky recipients will have to "hunt" for their prize which will be placarded with the winning number.

Stores will be open for business so that shoppers will have an opportunity to do some last-minute buying, it is reported.

Early Hours For Thanksgiving Services

It is expected that the Presbyterian church of Plymouth will be crowded Thanksgiving morning at 9:30 o'clock when the annual Thanksgiving union services of the Methodists, Baptists and Presbyterian churches of this area will take place.

The Rev. Woodrow Wooley, minister of the Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian church will preach the sermon. The anthem and music for the service will be sung by the combined youth choirs of the participating churches.

The early hour of the service is to make possible attendance at the service for those who plan to go away later in the day, or who must be busy with dinners later in the morning. All people of the community are welcome to this interdenominational worship service.

Anticipating such a large crowd that both the main auditorium of the Lutheran church and the basement will be crowded for its annual Thanksgiving services which takes place at 10 o'clock, a loud speaker system has been installed throughout the church. One of the most interesting Thanksgiving programs ever arranged has been announced for this service by Rev. Edgar Hoenecke.

Extensive preparations are being made and all members are urged to participate in this event. Six games of bunco were played and refreshments served.

Realtors Have Organized to Aid Development

Hoping to secure a near one hundred percent membership, the newly organized Western Wayne County Board of Realtors feels that this group can be of much benefit to the development and growth of western Wayne county.

President Roy R. Lindsay of Plymouth, who has the honor of being the first executive of the group, states that at its recent organization banquet held recently at the Warren Valley Golf club, over 100 were present, including many of the bankers and other business interests of this section of the county.

C. E. Alexander of this city was honored by election to the vice presidency of the group. Other Plymouth members are John H. Jones, Frank Rambo, E. M. Bogart and Tessa M. Baker.

Northville members are L. M. Eaton, Carl Bryan, E. M. Bogart and Walter L. Smith. Other communities in the organization are Garden City, Wayne and Romulus.

Besides the representation from all the banks in this locality at the inauguration of the board, the Federal Savings & Loan had a representative present.

The objects of the board, states Mr. Lindsay, are to unite those engaged in the recognized branches of the real estate business in this community for the purpose of exerting a beneficial influence upon matters affecting the real estate business and related interests.

To provide a unified medium for real estate owners and those engaged in the real estate business whereby their collective and individual interests may be safeguarded and advanced.

To promote and maintain the high standards of conduct in the transacting of the real estate business expressed in the Code of Ethics of the National Association of Real Estate Boards; to enforce that Code among its members in their dealings with one another and with the public; and to adopt that Code as the Code of Ethics of the Board.

To protect and promote the welfare of real estate, real estate ownership, and home ownership. To unite real estate men of this community with the Michigan Real Estate Association and the National Association of Real Estate Boards, thereby promoting the objectives of organized real estate men throughout the state and to obtain the benefits and privileges of membership in said associations.

To designate, for the benefit of the public, those persons and businesses in this community authorized to use the trade term "Realtor" in this community as prescribed and controlled by the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

To advance the civic development and economic growth of our community.

New Garbage Truck in Use

Garbage collections in Plymouth are now much easier and more sanitary both for those engaged in the work and the public in general. The reason is a new Gar Wood garbage box recently purchased by the city.

The new garbage box is designed to keep the contents covered at all times. It also provides easier loading and cleaner unloading. It is of the same type that is in use in most metropolitan centers throughout the country.

Mounted on a city truck the all-metal orange-painted box takes the former unpleasantness and unsanitary conditions out of garbage collecting. Attendants dump individual refuse cans into a large bucket at the rear of the box. The driver then pulls a lever and automatically elevates the bucket and at the same time causes the box to open. The garbage is quietly and easily dumped into the box. At no time is the refuse exposed. It automatically unloads too. All odors are eliminated.

Mrs. William Bartel III, was the guest of honor at a shower Friday evening, given by Norma Robinson. Attending were Margery Livingston, Valerie Kolen, Anne Lyons, Wilma Lounsberry, Rita Daggett, Ruth Popovich, Iris Shoner, Doris Beauchamp, Dorothy Crisp, Shirley Luttmoser and Lois Vetal.

Veteran Memorial Fund Gets $2,565 Balance of Amount Raised by Salvage Drives during War

Robert Fisher, treasurer of the Plymouth Veterans Memorial Foundation, has added to the growing fund a check for $2,568.43, turned over to him by Arno Thompson, treasurer of the Civilian Defense organization that served Plymouth during the war.

All of this money was raised through the result of the numerous salvage drives conducted in Plymouth during the war, the largest share of it coming as a result of the efforts of the metal drives directed by Mrs. Russell Powell and her salvage assistants.

In the decision of the Civilian Defense council to turn over the balance of the salvage funds to the Veteran Memorial fund, it was specified that the money be used at the proper time for the purchase of equipment for the Veterans section of the Memorial hall. Mrs. Powell, Arno Thompson and George A. Smith were named as an advisory committee to serve with officials of the Veterans group at the time expenditures are made.

Mayor Robert Lidgard, who had served as chairman of the Civilian Defense council, with Mr. Thompson, the secretary, and the other members of the group, were highly pleased to think that the organization was able to turn its surplus cash over to such a beneficial purpose.

Next Lecture On December 3

"All who are concerned about the effect of almost unbelievable speed of modern air transportation upon International Co-operation and Understanding will be especially interested in the lecture to be given by Harvey Stowers at the high school auditorium on Tuesday evening, December 3," stated George A. Smith, chairman of the Plymouth Rotary club lecture committee yesterday.

This lecture will be the second of the series being sponsored by the Rotary club in order to bring about more general understanding of the problems facing the world.

Mr. Stowers is a publicity director for the air industry of California. His home is in Los Angeles.

The public is welcome to these lectures.

Woman's Club Benefit Dance Set For Dec. 12

So far the Plymouth Woman's Club dance series, held for the benefit of the Plymouth District have netted over a $1,000.

The club plans to continue the dances indefinitely. The next one is scheduled for Thursday night, Dec. 12, at the Masonic Temple. Tickets are $1.50 per couple and can be purchased at the door or at Simmons Jewelry Store in advance of the dance.

Music for these dances has been donated in the past. It will be donated also on this occasion. Mike Kleinschmidt, himself a Navy veteran, will conduct an orchestra of ten pieces. All of the players are donating their services. Three vocalists also have agreed to lend their talents to the success of the affair.

The woman's club has expounded considerable effort in staging the dance series and deserves the support of Plymouthites who enjoy an evening of dancing.

The club has lent its combined talents toward aiding the success of the proposed memorial in Plymouth. The dances have provided both a financial and social success through the co-operation of several Plymouth societies, individuals and the public in general.

If you like to dance then plan to do it at the Masonic Temple on Thursday night, Dec. 12, for $1.50 a couple, to the music of a very fine aggregation of Plymouth musicians.

Enjoy an evening of pleasure and aid the Woman's Club of Plymouth to add more dollars to the city's proposed veterans memorial fund.

U. of M. Club Will Meet December 4

The University of Michigan discussion group will continue with the next meeting, taking place at the Edwin Schrader residence, 9091 South Main street, Wednesday, December 4. The topic is one of local interest, "Plymouth City Water Supply," with Harold Cheek, City Manager, as discussion leader.

The following week on Thursday, December 12, the final meeting of the fall discussion series will be held at the Rev. Henry Welch residence, 737 Church st. Rev. Clifford Doty, of the Methodist church, will lead the discussion on the subject: The Contribution of the American People to International Co-operation.

Members wishing to attend these meetings are urged to call in their reservations at least two days in advance, in order that the hosts and hostesses may make necessary arrangements.

Judging by the attendance at both of the previous meetings this fall, a full house is expected at these last two sessions.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McConnell visited their daughter Ruth in Grand Rapids Sunday.

Do Your Mailing For Christmas Now Says Irwin

Postmaster Harry Irwin and his assistant, Mrs. Beatrice Schultz, are appealing to the patrons of the Plymouth postoffice for whole hearted co-operation in holiday mailing.

They are asking readers of The Mail to bear in mind that postal workers have a terrific load to carry during the Christmas season and depend upon postoffice patrons to aid them materially in the discharge of their duties.

The proverbial "mail early" plea is no hollow echo. It is sincere and a direct appeal to the clear-thinking postal patrons.

Common sense tells most persons that with the coal strike, many trains must be cancelled. Thus, those that do keep operating will have a double load. This will slow the movement of mail and make a difference of possibly two days in normal delivery.

Mailings for distant states should be deposited well in advance of Dec. 10, if you would have them reach their destination before Christmas.

Greeting cards for delivery in or around Plymouth should be mailed not later than Dec. 15 for delivery by Christmas. Patrons are warned that one and one-half cent stamps on cards make those cards third-class mail.

Third-class mail, Postmaster Irwin points out, does not receive directory service, is not forwarded and cannot be returned to the sender if it cannot be delivered to the addressee.

Only first class mail cards and letters bearing three cent stamps receives that service. If you are not sure of your addressee's correct address, you'd better send his greeting under a three-cent stamp. Otherwise he'll probably never get it.

Addressee's residing in areas that are large enough to be zoned will not receive your greetings, on time if you fail to include the zone number in the address.

Postal officials are quite frank in telling the public that during the holidays when all offices are operating with extra help that they cannot accept more than zone numbers only, mail without zone numbers will be thrown into a common container and will not be sorted for delivery until long after the holiday rush is over.

Patrons of all offices, including Plymouth, could help alleviate the situation that will surely be such a hardship to the postal employees this year due to the coal shortage by writing legibly, trying to have the correct address and where applicable, the correct zone number on all cards, letters and parcel post.

Mrs. Schultz added a warning about the proper packing of parcel post. She said that unless packages are wrapped firmly, tied with stout cord and presented in proper condition at the windows, clerks will refuse to accept them.

Packages should be wrapped to withstand the most severe handling as during the holiday rush the parcel post is not usually handled by regular postal employees. It is thrown and dumped without much regard except those packages bearing large "Fragile or Glass" stickers.

If a small, improperly wrapped package is thrown or has a large heavy package dumped on it, there is no chance of saving the contents and sometimes the package itself is so badly smashed it cannot continue in transit.

All of these things should be borne in mind, Mrs. Schultz said, if patrons are to get the best results from their holiday mailing. She also suggested wider use of postal insurance for parcel post and registered mail for expensive items and important letters.

Anyway, remember there won't be so many trains and that mail will be heavy, delays a regular thing and postal employees overworked. Help them if you can and everybody will be more satisfied and have a merrier Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Strong are entertained a family group at Thanksgiving dinner.

Local Resident Heads Trade Co.

A new corporation has just been granted a charter under the laws of Michigan to conduct an export-import business throughout the world. Its first steps will be to develop business in South and Central America.

The new corporation has selected the name Hispanic America Exporters-Importers, Inc., with temporary offices at 15325 St. Marys avenue, Detroit 27, Michigan, until such time as they can erect their own building on Seven Mile road near Myers road.

The authorized stock is $50,000 common par value $10 per share. The officers are being bonded by Standard Accident Insurance Co. of Detroit.

The officers are William R. Downie, president; Herbert C. Lamb, vice president; and Merlyn G. Graham, secretary-treasurer. Mr. Downie is a member of Plymouth Hi-Twelve Club, Plymouth Chapter O.E.S. and the Northville Commandery.

The First National bank of Plymouth will be the main depository of the corporation. Also the Chase National Bank of New York, The Bank of Montreal, Montreal, Canada, and The Whitney National Bank of New Orleans, are to handle some of the accounts.

Representatives have been selected in New York City, Montreal, and New Orleans, and the corporation will have representatives in all the Latin American countries.

Any Plymouth concerns wishing to expand their export trade are invited to contact the corporation at the above address.

Seek Food And Clothing For Starving Europe

While residents of Plymouth and the vast majority of other Americans will this week enjoy Thanksgiving day feasts that the Kings of old would envy, Rev. Edgar Hoenecke of the Plymouth Lutheran church and a group of other church leaders are working tirelessly to save millions of war victims of Europe from starvation.

Already the Lutherans of this country have shipped to starving people of Europe more than two million pounds of clothing for men, women and children.

More than a million and a half tons of food these energetic church workers have collected, has also been distributed in war-torn Europe.

"But these amounts are a mere trifle in comparison to the needs" stated Rev. Hoenecke yesterday.

The energetic Plymouth pastor was named vice chairman of the Lutheran Committee on Relief for War Sufferers. The chairman is Rev. K. F. Krauss of Lansing, and while the committee has been in existence only a few months, it has already accomplished worlds of good.

Rev. Hoenecke states that the committee hopes to double the amount during the holiday season that it has already collected.

Typical of vast numbers of letters being received by the committee is this one from Germany: "I have now sold everything I once owned just to keep alive, and all I buy and eat day after day is bread and potatoes, just enough not to starve to death. Every morning I go to work on an empty stomach, then at 12 o'clock the hunger becomes so painful that one cannot think and cannot stand the pain. Then one spends whatever funds one can get for a little food. Then the long wait until evening. And the only food I can afford is a few potatoes in jackets. Then hungry to bed. And a cold house. Others have received no food for several days. I hope that this is the day for me, and already I feel like a king, and every day I am disappointed once more. How I wish your package would arrive, before it is too late! The winter is at the door!"

In this community the Myron H. Beals Post of the American Legion and its Auxiliary Unit will head up a campaign and serve as a receiving station for the Christmas boxes. Donors may contribute cash for the purchase of gifts by the Post Committee, or purchase and pack boxes individually.

The committee in charge will be pleased to give information as to the packing of these boxes, or cash may be received by Mrs. Melvin C. Gutherie, 7352 Newburg street, Plymouth, Michigan, Evans, 443 Ann st., co-chairman.

Strike to Hit This City Hard

Nearly Every Local Factory Faces Close-Down at Early Date

Unless something happens very quickly, and that means a matter of three or four days, not weeks, this little city of Plymouth, like the rest of the country, will be faced with the most serious fuel situation in its entire history.

Plymouth business men pretty generally observed the "brown out" order and closed off their signs and window lights Monday night. There was only one exception, a Penniman avenue store kept its signs blazing brightly.

Factories will be forced to close down, one of them within the next week or ten days, and stores will be without fuel, as well as many homes.

The Pilsen Drawn Steel Products company may be forced down within a week because of lack of materials due to the strike. This will throw at least 70 workers out of jobs immediately.

The Plymouth Tube company can keep going for possibly two weeks. The Allen Industries have a sufficient coal pile to keep going for three weeks more.

The Wall Wire Products company only uses coal for heating, but it faces almost an immediate shutdown due to lack of materials. Some of the steel mills that supply the Wall Wire company are already down.

The Plymouth Stamping company faces the same problem as does Wall Wire—a material shortage, although it can heat its plant for the winter.

Evans Products, and the Burroughs company, as well as the Daisy, are facing the same plight. If these three big industries are forced to close, along with the others due to the vicious coal strike, Plymouth faces the worst winter in its history.

Help Brighten Christmas For The Wounded Vets

(CONTRIBUTED) Christmas, 1946, and "the war is over."

Still mindful of its hard-won victory in the greatest of all wars, this nation will observe the coming Yuletide in a spirit of joy and thankfulness.

Millions of men and women in uniform have returned to their homes and been restored to their families. For them it will be Christmas indeed.

But what of those who still fight on? Fight against the crippling wounds and diseases of war, against pain and despair and dragging time. What of the great army for whom the battlefield has become a hospital bed—12,000 of them in Michigan alone. What will Christmas mean to them?

Again this year the American Legion, with the aid of a generous public, will sponsor its "Gifts to the Yanks Who Gave" program. Christmas gift boxes, countless thousands of them, will go to all hospitalized veterans throughout the nation. Not the gift so much, but the spirit in which it is given, will brighten the lives of the recipients on Christmas Day. To be remembered by the people, the state and the nation they served, will lighten the burden and help speed their recovery.

In this community the Myron H. Beals Post of the American Legion and its Auxiliary Unit will head up a campaign and serve as a receiving station for the Christmas boxes. Donors may contribute cash for the purchase of gifts by the Post Committee, or purchase and pack boxes individually.

The committee in charge will be pleased to give information as to the packing of these boxes, or cash may be received by Mrs. Melvin C. Gutherie, 7352 Newburg street, Plymouth, Michigan, Evans, 443 Ann st., co-chairman.

Former Jap Resident Will Be Speaker

V. C. Genn, general sales manager for the Diesel Engine company of Detroit, who resided in Japan for 15 years previous to the war, will be the speaker before members of the Plymouth Forum Tuesday evening, December 3 in the auditorium of the Central Grade school. He will tell of the Japs as he observed them while living in that country. The meeting will begin at 8 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. James Nugent of New York City were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McConnell.

Glowing Warmth

WHERE YOU WANT IT—WHEN YOU WANT IT

Chilly corners can be warm as toast these cold fall mornings. A modern electric heater gives you instant warmth from your nearest outlet. Easy to carry, easy to operate. There is no cleaner more convenient type of heat. These new, low-priced heaters are ideal for warming baby's bath area, your dressing room, bathroom, or grandmother's favorite corner.

And It Costs Only A Few Pennies An Hour...

But unlimited use can cause high electric bills. For example, a thousand watt heater at residence rates costs only 17½¢ a week when used one hour daily for seven days. This same unit, however, when used 8 hours a day costs $1.40 a week and will add $10.20 to your two months' bill. Consult a reputable electric dealer who can recommend a heater of sufficient wattage to fit your particular needs. He can also tell you just how much it will cost to operate.

A Communication

Dear Editor: With apologies to Rev. R. E. Prince, I will attempt to answer his letter regarding high school bands playing at the Detroit Lions' football games. Being Catholic, I attend mass every Sunday, so I do not hold any false illusions against religion.

We have six days of work and one day of rest. This day of rest surely does not mean we must live as Quakers. Many of us find relaxation in many fields of athletics, namely baseball, football, bowling golf.

I know several ministers of God who attend baseball games on Sunday, also I have played golf with them. If these high school youngsters go to services in the morning why isn't it fitting for them to find relaxation, whether playing athletics or watching games. They no doubt look forward to this event, so why shouldn't they have it?

Purity of the soul extends through the entire week, not just Sunday. The Ten Commandments do not signify that we must pray the entire Sunday. We obtain grace by attending services and do not lose it merely by playing in a band.

This is merely my point of view, so it may be regarded as non-sensical. I do not mean to contradict a minister of God, but as I have said before, this is only my personal opinion.

The local Chapter P.E.O. met at the home of Mrs. Paul Simmons on Friday, November 22 for their Thanksgiving meeting. Mrs. Samuel Doble was the assisting hostess.

Kathryn Turney Garten, dramatic book reviewer will return for her fourth appearance at Detroit Town Hall, Wednesday morning, December 4, in the Fisher Theatre.

Mrs. Garten's great popularity with the Town Hall audience, and elsewhere is based on her talents as an actress as well as her ability to give a vivid book report. She has a way of making her characters live, so that her listeners love them—if they are intended to be loved.

A native of Indianapolis, Indiana, the "first lady" of book reviewers began her career in that vicinity, but is now in demand from coast to coast. In addition to fiction, and non-fiction she finds time to read Broadway's latest plays, and broadcasts both book and stage review frequently over the radio.

Advance reservations for Kathryn Turney Garten's program, "Books in Review" are available at Grinnell's, Ra. 1124.

Mrs. Minnie Pankow entertained her 503 Club, Saturday evening at her home of Amelia street.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Robinson announce the arrival of a baby girl, Susan Marie, born November 23 at St. Joseph Hospital, Ann Arbor. She weighed 7 pounds and 7 ounces.

The most uncommon thing in the world is common sense.

Buy Christmas Seals — Save Human Lives

In 1907 the American Red Cross and the National Tuberculosis Association co-operated in the sale of Christmas seals in order to save the lives of those suffering from tuberculosis. Officials estimate that at least 100,000 lives are saved each year in America alone—by funds secured through the sale of Christmas seals.

The Tuberculosis Association is now handling the campaign alone, the Red Cross devoting its energies to the annual Roll Call and other activities.

The association's work does not end when the patient has been cured. The majority of sanatorium patients are young, with limited education. They need assistance in choosing a suitable job, getting placed and furnished some assistance until they are able to take their equal place in society.

THANKSGIVING GREETING CUSTOMS . . . Not all turkeys and pumpkins will grace dinner tables or fill pies on Thanksgiving Day; many will adorn colorful Thanksgiving greetings, like those shown above, with which friends and relatives will extend to one another best wishes for the holiday. Dressed in bright autumnal colors and featuring familiar symbols associated with the day, Thanksgiving greetings are becoming an ever-increasingly popular custom.

COMING EVENTS CAST THEIR SHADOWS . . . Even though he is a well-armed little typical American, he just can't make up his mind whether to advance or retreat as he awaits the opportune moment to open an offensive on King Turkey, whose well-rounded person promises plenty of meat for Thanksgiving dinner.

WEDDINGS

Former Plymouth Girl Weds—To Become Resident of Chicago

Our Lady Chapel, Notre Dame University in Notre Dame, Indiana was the scene last Saturday morning of the marriage of Miss Doris Marie Dubee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart W. Dubee of East Lansing and James F. Landgren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis E. Landgren of Chicago, Ill.

The ceremony took place at 11 o'clock in the morning. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown made with a white satin bodice, and a full skirt of chiffon, with lace inserts, extending into a train. Her finger-tip veil of net, bordered with lace, was attached to a coronet trimmed with crystal beads. She carried a white satin prayer book topped with orchids from which fell white ribbon streamers with white blossoms. Jacqueline Marie Vallez was maid of honor. She wore a pink chiffon gown with a headdress to match and carried chrysanthemums in the autumn shades.

Edward Landgren, brother of the bridegroom, was best man and ushers were Thomas Landgren and James Constantine.

Mrs. Dubee, mother of the bride, wore a powder blue dress and an orchid corsage. Mrs. Landgren chose a delicate green suit.

Following the ceremony a breakfast was served to members of the wedding party at the La-Salle hotel, South Bend, Indiana.

Mr. and Mrs. Landgren are spending a couple of weeks motoring through Indiana and Illinois after which they will return to Chicago where they will reside. For traveling Mrs. Landgren wore a turquoise blue cashmere dress with black accessories.

The bride is a graduate of the Plymouth high school. During the war she served in the armed forces, having been assigned to the Pacific coast area. Her parents were active in local social affairs before moving from Plymouth to Lansing.

"Yes, sir, most of the kids I know just hate to pile out of a warm bed in the morning and have to wash their face, neck and ears in cold water. But with warm water it's different. The soap lathers better, the dirt comes off easier and best of all it feels good. "Believe me, hot water right at the faucet is going to be a must in my home when I grow up."

Yes, Johnnie, there's nothing like an automatic gas water heater to encourage greater cleanliness and happier better living.

Sewage Disposal To Cost City More

City Manager Harold R. Cheek has been advised by the Board of Wayne County Road Commissioners that the cost of sewage disposal will be increased Jan. 1, 1947.

In a letter to Mr. Cheek the board states that sewage disposal service rates will be boosted to five cents per thousand gallons of water consumed as measured by the consumers meters. This amounts to an increase of 16 per cent, the board advised Mr. Cheek.

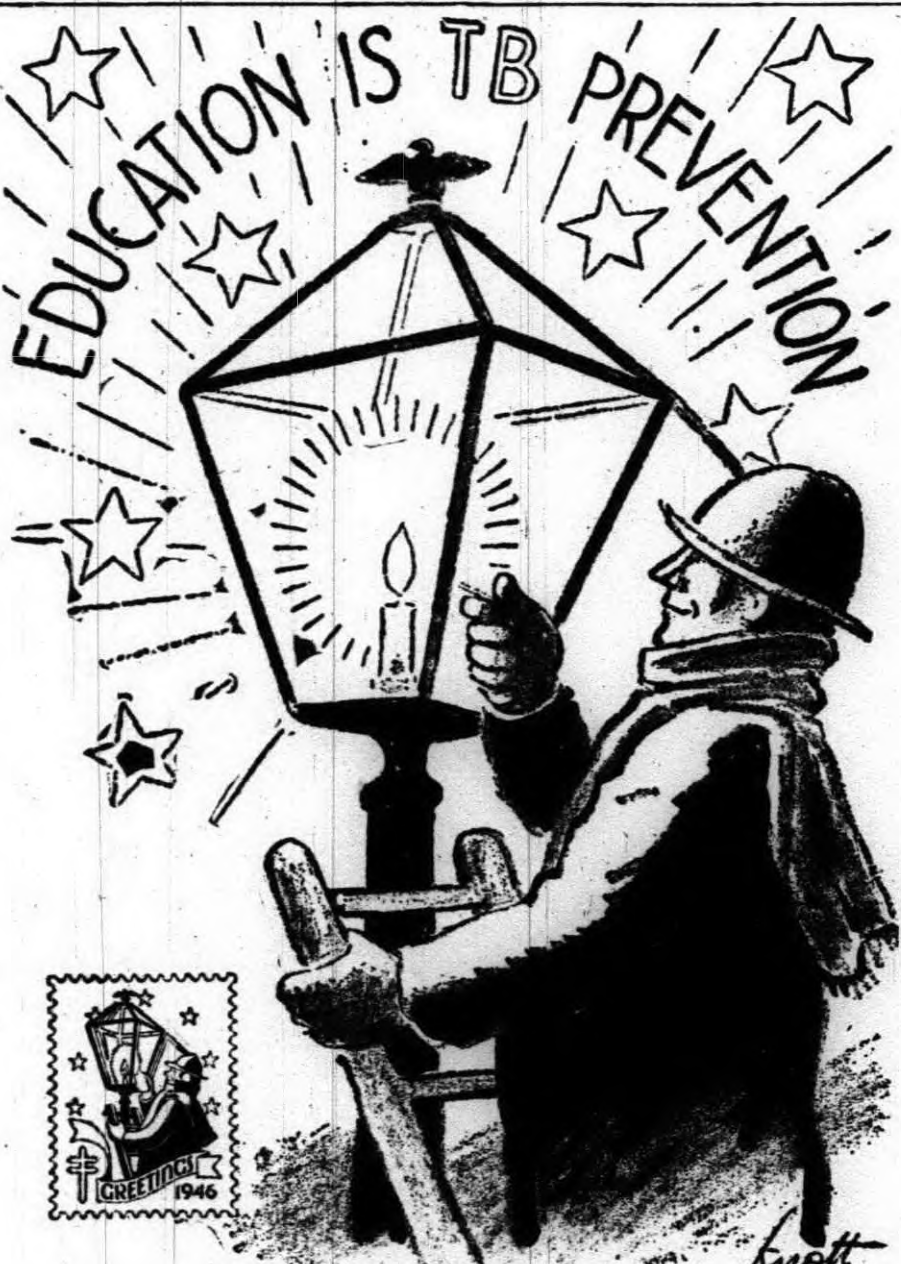

Increased labor and material costs was given as the reasons for the boost by the board. They claimed that the present revenue from such service was not sufficient to cover operating costs.

Mr. Cheek said he did not believe any home owner would notice much difference in their water service bills through this increase. He pointed out that the county road commissioners were perfectly within their legal rights to increase sewage disposal service rates whenever they believed they had sufficient cause for such action.

The city's sewage system empties into the big county sewage disposal main built out in this part of the county a number of years ago.

At the age of 18 Mark Twain thought his father was the dumbest man in town. At 21 he was amazed how much his father had learned in three years.

Let There Be Light

City Purchases Old Civilian Defense Equipment, Puts Lot Of It To Use

Ever wonder what happened to all that equipment the Plymouth Civilian Defense organization kept ready for use during the war?

Well, it all was purchased from the government last summer by the City of Plymouth for $375. So far most of it has been put to mighty good use.

City Manager Harold Cheek reports that the wealth of first-aid equipment was divided three ways. The volunteer fire department received the major share as they rightly should. What was left went to the Plymouth Hospital and the Plymouth Public Schools.

That portion going to the schools will be used by a visiting nurse, if Plymouth ever comes by enough money to provide such a service.

The trailer auxiliary fire pump, which by the grace of God never had to be pressed into actual service, has been transformed to civilian service for the City's benefit.

The trailer itself was remodeled to carry the City's newly purchased motorized sewer cleaning equipment. The Chrysler motor used to operate the auxiliary pump has replaced the old worn out motor in the City's arc welding outfit.

As for the pump it is not in any definite municipal service at the present time, but City Manager Cheek said it would be put to a good use where it could save the City some money. He indicated it was something that the City was glad to have on hand.

The numerous white-painted steel helmets are going to be sold for junk, City Manager Cheek reported, unless somebody had a better idea for disposing of them.

He didn't say so, but anyone wanting one of those helmets for a flower bed or wash basin or just to have as a souvenir could probably have one for the asking. However, that is just an idea, perhaps regulations forbid giving away such items, or even selling them. In that event suggest to the City that you'll lease it by the year. That is, if you desire one that bad.

That might be the answer for the hundred or more five-gallon water spray tanks the City is wondering what to do with. They're just dandy for spraying shrubbery, rose bushes or potato vines. Stores, oil stations and small factories would find them ideal for fire extinguishers. There's lots of uses they could be put to and if you want one see Mr. Cheek and work out sort of arrangement for obtaining what you need.

The gas masks provided for the Civilian Defense unit here will not be disposed of immediately, City Manager Cheek declared.

"I will not allow them to be distributed to Boy Scouts, Plymouth Public schools or any other group for inspection or any other purpose until I am certain the chemicals they contain are entirely important or have been removed," he said.

Such a stand is commendable and shows considerable thought for the welfare of others. It's quite possible that use of the masks by boys, even in play, could be harmful.

Mr. Cheek said the City also had several metal litters on its hands. He can think of no practical use for them except to be sold for junk. But, if anyone can give him a good idea for putting them to use he'll be forever grateful. See him at City Hall or call 93.

The early worm gets caught by the bird.

PONTIAC

FINEST OF THE FAMOUS "SILVER STREAKS"

The production of Pontiacs has fallen far below expectations because of conditions beyond our control. Now, the outlook is encouraging. The number of cars being built—while still below pre-war levels—is steadily increasing. Which means that more of the people who simply won't have anything but a Pontiac will be satisfied sooner.

If, in the meantime, you are ever tempted to take delivery of a more quickly available car, consider this: The things that made you want a Pontiac in the first place are still EXCLUSIVE TO PONTIAC! Nowhere else at any price can you get the same time-won reputation for dependability, long life and over-all economy. No other car offers the ever-fashionable "Silver Streak" beauty that lifts Pontiac out of and above the rest. None handles so sweetly—rides so comfortably. And none can parallel Pontiac's basic value—for no other car offers so much of everything you want for every dollar you invest.

a home is still only a DREAM

Sure, we're going to provide homes for veterans . . . plenty of them . . . eventually. But what're they going to do meantime while new homes are being built?

There's just one answer—and you properly owners can provide it. You can give the answer by remodeling your existing property to make added living units for veterans' families . . . by rehabilitating houses now untenanted . . . by converting business structures into apartments. And you can not only make a profit for yourself through the transaction, but what's more important to you as a good citizen—you can serve the veteran who served you!

Under the Veterans Emergency Housing Program, low-cost FHA-insured loans are available for remodeling for veterans. Priorities assistance in obtaining critical materials, also, is available for this purpose.

We can assist you in planning, in getting necessary material—and in helping you arrange your FHA-financing. So what are we waiting for? Why not make an appointment today?

Archery Club To Be Organized

A meeting has been scheduled for Tuesday, Dec. 3, at 7:30 p.m. in the City Recreation Office, second floor of City Hall, for the purpose of organizing a field archer's club in Plymouth.

Virgil C. Knowles, City recreation chief, reports that at present there are about 12 Plymouthites who are definitely interested in such a club and who have pledged their attendance at the meeting.

He urges everyone interested in archery to attend this assembly whether they have been contacted or not. There may be several enthusiasts who have not been contacted because their interest in the sport is not known. All are asked to attend.

It will not be a man's club. Both men and women are expected to participate. One does not have to be a skilled shot to become a member. Beginners are particularly invited to take part. Interest and enthusiasm is the main requirement for membership.

Mr. Knowles hopes to get a club started and then formulate plans for establishing an outdoor range and scheduling indoor shoots this winter so those not yet skilled in the sport will have a good start when summer permits outdoor practice.

What Do You See?

"A big lump of something — a stone supposedly — lay for centuries in a shallow limpid brook in North Carolina. People passing that way saw only an ugly lump and passed on. A poor man passing one day saw a heavy lump—a good thing to hold his door ajar—and he took it home. A geologist who stopped at the poor man's door one day saw a lump of gold — the biggest lump of gold ever found east of the Rockies."

Many people look upon Jesus Christ. Some see him only as a great teacher. Others see him simply as a perfect man and get nothing more from Him than the example of His perfect life. Others see Him as "the Lamb of God which taketh away the sin of the world," and receive from Him eternal life. When you look at the Christ, what do you see?

WHAT I THINK

beaten. Last Monday, Nov. 11, he died without regaining consciousness.

Seldom had New York been more shocked by political violence. Authorities, from Gov. Thomas E. Dewey down to the youngest police rookie, were digging into Marcantonio's little empire in an effort to solve the crime. Rewards totaled $13,500. The heat was on.

The F. H. La Guardia Political Club (later converted into a Marcantonio club) and was appointed Assistant Federal District Attorney through La Guardia's influence. After La Guardia was elected mayor, Marcantonio won the Little Flower's old Congressional seat in the East Harlem slum district of upper Manhattan in 1934 by 247 votes.

As a first term, "Marc" showed his true colors. Then wearing a Republican label, he was awarded "the order of the pink elephant" by Rep. Maury Maverick, the unbranded Texas Democrat. Because the Communist line was then pacifist and isolationist, Marcantonio fought compulsory military training in land-grant colleges. Already a rabble rouser, he was muzzed up by New York police and thrown face-down into a Black Maria for leading a police-banned parade of the Communist-infiltrated Workers Alliance.

The Red Years: Suffering his only defeat in 1936, Marcantonio shrewdly rebuilt his fences: catering to Italians by making token gesture to Mussolini's popularity, to Puerto Ricans by plumping for independence, to Negroes by fighting Jim Crow, to Jews by rapping anti-Semitism. Staying to the CP line, Marcantonio became president of the Communist-sponsored International Labor Defense and endorsed the Communist New Masses, of which he is still a contributing editor.

It was as a member of the American Labor Party, which was then liberal but not yet Communist-infiltrated, that Marcantonio made his comeback in 1938. Endorsed only by the Communists, he nevertheless won both GOP and ALP nominations, gained his House seat, repeated the trick in 1940, and became Manhattan chairman of the ALP when the Communists captured it.

Back in Congress, Marcantonio's CP-line squinnings were beyond the grasp of American's belief. While the Hitler-Stalin pact lasted, he was the only congressman to vote against every single measure for national defense and for aiding the Allies. The man who later ran on F. D. R.'s coattails (his campaign posters this year showed only two faces—Marcantonio with Roosevelt in the background looking over his shoulder) denounced the President as "war-monger" and "dictator."

The Flip-Flop: Came June 22, 1941, Hitler's invasion of Russia, and Marcantonio's flip-flop. He wanted to arm merchant ships, scuttle the Neutrality Act, expedite Lend-Lease, declare war at once and send an AEF—all before Pearl Harbor. His alibi: "I still believe that . . . up to June 1941 the war was an imperialist war. However . . . the invasion of the Soviet Union by Hitler transformed that war . . . into a war which is now essentially one of national defense." Yet Marcantonio insisted: "Anyone who says that I am a Communist is a liar and a scoundrel . . . I am not and never have been a Communist."

However firm the proof that Marcantonio was the nation's No. 1 Communist fellow traveler, the majority of his East Harlem district appeared not to care. In 1942 he won the GOP and ALP primaries plus the Democratic to boot. Even Tammany, which he had branded as "an enemy of the people," put up only token opposition—a candidate who didn't make a single speech. The secret: through manipulation, Marc's followers had even penetrated Tammany. Election Day that year was only a formality. Again in 1944, Marcantonio swept all three party nominations.

As a one-man political monopoly with an all-party machine, Marcantonio spread his power far and wide in New York. He played Republicans against Democrats, swinging the ALP alternately to help either in the old balance-of-power game.

As for his personal machine, he kept it well oiled. Every week end, he returned from Washington to hold court for several hundred constituents, getting them relief or jobs or Army allotments, legal aid and other favors, even obtaining leave for a British sailor so he could marry a pregnant Marcantonio constituent.

This year, for the first time since 1940, Marcantonio faced an Election Day fight; although he won both Laborite and Democratic nominations, he lost the G.O.P. primary to ex-Lt. Col. Frederick v. P. Bryan, ex-Intelligence Director for the Eighth Air Force. It was a wild-and-woolly campaign, punctuated with heckling, beatings, stonings, and threats.

When the voters reelected Marcantonio, 42,125 to 36,625 on Nov. 5, the congressman jubilantly exclaimed: "The people have won again." The Daily Worker, completely ignoring the news value of a GOP landslide, carried only one election headline on its front page: "Vito Marcantonio Reelected."

Murder on First Avenue: But despite "the people's" victory, something had gone wrong in the Eighteenth Congressional District on Election Day. At 5:45 a.m., a Bryan election official named Joseph Scottoriggio left his tenth-floor apartment, bound for the polls with a sample voting machine and a list of voters to be challenged. Crossing to First Avenue and 104th Street, the bespectacled Federal housing accountant stopped under a street light to wave to his wife, watching from their bedroom window. Suddenly four men set upon him, slugged and kicked him into insensibility, and disappeared.

Rushed to New York Hospital, Scottoriggio could only murmur that the attack had something to do with politics. His wife declared "He fought against Communism and that is what he got." Others reported that he had been warned three months earlier to stop working against Marcantonio but nevertheless had influenced 63 persons to vote against the congressman. Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, visiting his bedside, declared: "This savage, brutal beating by left-wingers was done to intimidate others working for a free election." Six days later Scottoriggio was dead.

Indignantly Marcantonio protested: "The attempt . . . to in any way connect the attack with the political campaign is outrageous." When 23 picked detectives began questioning 300 persons, including known hoodlums and Bryan hecklers, in connection with the murder, they ran into trouble. It was as if an iron curtain had descended around East Harlem. Said a storekeeper: "If I wasn't in this store and I wasn't afraid of having a brick thrown through my window—or worse—I'd tell you what I think." A bartender: "That guy got what he was asking for. Why didn't he keep his nose out of politics?" A clerk: "My name? Do you think I'm crazy?" People in this district had long since learned that the price of "democracy" a la Marcantonio was a tightly buttoned lip.

"Don't wait until February 15 to send in those pheasant bands; they can be used now," the conservation department is telling bird hunters. February 15 is the date game-kill reports are due, and in past years many hunters have deferred returning bands from birds they shot until they mailed in their report cards.

Bands were not likely to be overlooked this season, for besides wearing the numbered anklets, the game farm birds were characterized by a bob-tailed appearance. The tail-feather lack was due to cannibalistic pecking at each other in crowded pens and in part to a diet deficiency caused in turn by a scarcity of protein foods on the market.

About 7,000 game farm birds were released this season, and more than 80 bands have been returned to date. There is particular interest in returns from plantings made during the season. Hunters may keep the bands for souvenirs if they wish, but in that case a report should be made on a penny postcard of the band number and the location and date of the kill.

John Fitch, not Robert Fulton, built and operated the first steam powered boat, documents in the University of Michigan Clements Library indicate.

Grammar school textbooks generally credit Fulton with inventing the steamboat in 1807, but the Clements Library papers prove Fitch constructed and sailed a steamboat on the Delaware River in 1787.

Why does Fulton usually get the credit? He proved the steamboat could be a profitable enterprise operating between New York and Albany. Consequently, he ushered in the steamboat age in transportation, the records show.

Full shipments of pine seedlings for reforestation from the conservation department's Higgins Lake nursery, at 592,900 to date, are little more than one-tenth the shipments made last spring when a record-breaking 5,000,000 little trees were sold to farmers and furnished for school and community forest planting.

Freezing weather at the nursery brings an end to the fall shipping season. Demand normally is lighter in the fall than in the spring, though on light soils and in that part of the state having a permanent snow cover in winter, fall planting has had good survival. Purchase orders accounted for 520,850 of the white, red and jack pine trees shipped this fall, while 72,050 seedlings were furnished free for planting on public lands, such as school and community forests. Because of the scarcity of stock, individual orders this fall were limited to 4,000 seedlings and to 1,500 of each kind of stock.

Small polished slabs of all important domestic and imported marbles and granites are included in a University of Michigan mineral collection, used in teaching students of mineralogy. There are 150 marble samples and 40 granites.

Six "potted" wheels are in use in a University of Michigan laboratory where students are studying in ceramics. Practice in making pottery on the wheel and in preparing various types of glazes and firing them in a kiln is gained in this laboratory. Most of the students are majoring in art.

Evidence of human occupation of the New World from 10 to 15 thousand years ago was discovered last summer by University of Michigan archaeology students, making excavations on the north shore of Georgian Bay in the Manitoulin District of Ontario. Their findings indicate that the men living on this ancient beach were among the first human inhabitants of the Americas.

To the hundreds of Michigan men who are deer hunting this year for the first time, the conservation department has a bit of personal advice: take a map and compass along—there is nothing "sissy" about knowing where you are.

After arrival in camp the hunter is advised to observe the lay of the land—creeks, rivers, roads, railroads, phone and power lines, or other prominent landmarks. Details may be forgotten in the excitement of the hunt, but the general pattern will be remembered.

Any lost hunter who finds his way out of the woods before conservation officers and state police in searching parties find him owes it to the officers to report his return immediately. Already this season a searching party of nine hunters, conservation officers and state police—hunted all night for one man who found his way out . . . and home to bed at 8 p.m. the previous evening.

Christopher Columbus rated a footnote in a psalm printed in Italy in 1516, an original copy of which is now owned by the University of Michigan Library. The footnote telling of Columbus' discovery of the New World is attached to a verse in the 19th Psalm which speaks of "the end of the world."

Auto Plate Sale Date Not Known

Frank Rambo, manager of the Michigan state auto license plate office in Plymouth, reports that as yet he has received no word of when the 1947 plates will go on sale.

It is his presumption that the date will be somewhere between the first and fifteenth of December. As yet he has not even received the new plates. Mr. Rambo doesn't know much more about them than anyone else but is just as eager to learn as most car owners.

Undoubtedly the plates will be delivered to the local office within the next week, but as to when they will go on sale, well that's anybody's guess.

Sportsmen Plan Biggest Show

Enthusiastic sportsmen from western Wayne county are planning more than ordinary interest in the announcement of Lloyd Egan, president of the Detroit Sportsmen's Congress that plans have been completed for one of the state's outstanding sportsmen's shows, starting Saturday, November 30 and continuing through Sunday, December 8.

The event will take place in the Coliseum building at the State fair grounds on Woodward avenue, just north of the Eight Mile road.

Plymouth residents and others in this part of Wayne county who plan to attend, will escape much traffic by driving down to Farmington road and then on the Eight Mile road to Woodward avenue.

In announcing the galaxy of stars to appear, the show committee pointed out that champion performers will come to the Motor City from every section of the United States, and still others from Canada and Alaska.

As construction is about to start on the large indoor lake, an 80 by 40 foot tank, the show announces such headlines as:

Russell Dotson and his champion divers; Siegfried, an internationally known indoor ski jumper; Frank and Marie Mansfield, trick shot artists; Enid Decker, archery champ who hunts big game with bow and arrow; Jack Redmond, trick shot golfer; Cornelia "Corky" Gillissen, professional female diving champion and other experts of badminton, canoe tilting, log rolling, big game hunting, and, of course, bait fly casting artists such as Doc Wellman, Curly Moulton and Art Nuss.

For variety and to round out the program there will be full-blooded Indians, Eskimos and perhaps the most famous performer of all, Sharky, the trained seal, who has appeared in movies and acted for the President of the United States.

Exhibitors for the first time will display new postwar equipment, boats, motors and all sports accessories.

Sister Clemens and the Art Class from Felician Sisters observed Mrs. Meighan's art classes at Starkweather.

Several of the grades accepted the invitation to the Wayne county library during National Week.

Football Resume

The season is over. All statistics have been compiled and the teachers are clearing the gridiron by carrying away the last remains of the broken bodies who so bravely fought there. Although the Rocks placed fifth in their respective league, it must be remembered that two of the non-league games played they won. These were with Northville and Farmington, first and last tilts of the season.

During the entire season opponents nearly tripled the Rocks' score, piling 146 points to Plymouth's 59. Four squads Ypsilanti, Trenton, Redford Union, and Mt. Clemens each scored over 30 points against the local team. Most of Plymouth's large gains were by air and more ground was gained by passing than running. This, however, was where bad luck plagued the Rocks. In four of their games the pigskin was wet and hard to handle, thus keeping play centered on runs. Jay Daggett led the locals with a 24 points score. Jay will be with the Rocks one more season.

Central Grade News

Last week, the Central Grade School had a book week, the purpose being to further interest the children in all kinds of books, and in the library. Some classes visited the Wayne County library and after looking at the books, had a story read to them. Other classes brought their favorite books to school and the children told why they liked them. Several of the parents visited their children's classes.

Popular Books, Magazines Named

Although the library of Plymouth High is not very large, it contains some very good books. The favorite book of the lower grades is "Lassie Come Home" while the favorite of the upper grades remains "Sherlock Holmes."

Some of the more popular magazines are: "The American Girl", "Flying", "Popular Science", and "Life." Amazing, although true, the Encyclopedias are in great demand, and the dictionaries are used frequently.

Girls' Sports

The Volley-ball teams hope to conclude their games on Tuesday, November 27 when the teams that are tied will play their games. A REPORT ON

PROGRESS IN PLYMOUTH

There are still a number of people waiting for telephones in this area. Before we can serve everybody, we'll need more outside wire and cable to connect new customers' premises with the central office. But shortages of lead and copper have seriously slowed their manufacture.

Even after we receive the new wire and cable, there will be the painstaking job of interconnecting it with the present telephone plant... a job that must be done carefully without interrupting existing service.

We are continuing to stretch our present equipment to the limit to install telephones for as many waiting applicants as we can. If you are waiting for a telephone, you can be sure your order will be filled in its proper turn just as soon as possible.

Meanwhile, our facilities are serving more telephones and handling more calls than ever before, which means that service for everyone may not always be as good as we want it to be. We're sorry when that condition occurs, but you can be sure that we are doing our best to get additional equipments as soon as possible.

NEWS ITEMS OF A QUARTER FROM THE FILES OF THE PLYMOUTH MAIL

Messrs. Henry J. Fisher, and Roy and Oliver Goldsmith attended the meeting and supper given by the Citizens League of Detroit, at the board of Commerce Monday evening.

Louis Gebhardt has purchased two lots in the George H. Robinson subdivision.

Mrs. Frank Dunn and daughters, Maurine and Catherine, visited Northville relatives Sunday. Clifford Tait, who is attending Albion college, and a college friend, William Batzler from Northern Michigan, spent Thanksgiving with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Tait on Harvey street.

Mr. and Mrs. William Blunk have moved into their handsome new home on Williams street. Mr. and Mrs. William Hayball, who recently purchased the house vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Blunk on William street, have taken possession of the same.

Miss Helen VanDeCar, who has been staying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George VanDeCar for the past year, expects to leave for Glendale, California, where she will visit her brother, Lester and family. Enroute home, she will visit her brother Earl and family at Phoenix, Arizona.

Irving Blunk and Ernest Smith have commenced work on their new house on Ann street.

The new Ford dam at the Wilcox mill site was completed Tuesday. It is a fine piece of work.

Chase Willett, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Willett, entertained sixteen playmates at his home on Holbrook avenue last Friday afternoon in honor of his tenth birthday. Games furnished the entertainment and a fine supper was served. He received many gifts in remembrance of the day. Harry Mumby of this place and Miss Clara Wagner, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Wagner of Northville, were quietly married at the Methodist parsonage, Northville, last Saturday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock, by Rev. H. J. Marsh, pastor. The bride wore a becoming gown of blue satin and was attended by her sister Miss Alice Wagner. Oral Rathbun of this place acted as best man.

J. H. Patterson commenced excavating Monday morning a new business block on the site of the old Coleman house on Pennington avenue. Mr. Patterson plans to move the house to within about fifteen feet of the street, and then build a brick front, using the house as part of the building. The new building will provide for two nice stores on the ground floor with commodious rooms on the second floor. The building will be a great improvement for Pennington avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Rorobacher are on the sick list.

In spite of the efforts of our highway commissioner to improve the roads, they are in a deplorable condition, owing to the heavy snow storm. It is impossible to maintain common dirt roads under the heavy traffic of the automobiles.

Walter Hesse and wife are very proud to know that their little four year-old son, who swallowed a six-penny nail last week had digested the iron bar and is none the worse for his experience.

Babson

Babson Discusses Christmas Shopping

Babson Park, Mass., Nov. 29.—I have just returned from Boston, where I attempted to do some Christmas Shopping. To tell the truth, I did not buy anything, but spent the entire day comparing the quality and prices of the various goods offered. As a result, I am now giving readers some good, sound advice.

WHERE TO BUY
My home is about fifteen miles from Boston. Not only are there many suburban towns around Boston, but I motor about considerably and visit various small cities in New England. I find that Christmas goods for less money than could be secured in Boston. Therefore, my first suggestion is that you purchase your Christmas goods where you live. You often get better values by buying from home people whom you know. Moreover, you have the privilege of making returns and of getting replacements in the case of breakage which you may not get when dealing with green clerks with whom you are not personally acquainted.

QUALITY AND PRICES
Many big city stores are putting out a tremendous amount of junk this year. Department managers have been told that anything over a year old must be marked down to $1 in the stocktaking which will occur after Christmas. Hence, these managers are striving to get rid of the old stock and especially the adulterated and ersatz goods made during the War. Your friends will never thank you for any of this shoddy material. Insist upon quality or else give your friends a check or certificate which they can use next year for better goods.

Now, as to prices: I venture the forecast that Christmas prices will be the highest this year of any Christmas for many years to come. There have been price ceilings during the past few years on most of the goods in the stores. Now, these price ceilings have been taken off within the past three weeks. Many merchants have jumped at the opportunity to mark up prices for the Christmas trade. They realize that it is their one chance; yes, their last chance; to cash in at high prices. Therefore, I predict that after Christmas this country will see the greatest mark-downs in history.

WHY NOT GIVE MONEY?

In view of the above, it seems as if cash is perhaps the best present we can give those whom we truly consider our friends. Hence, the purchase of an attractive Christmas card with a check or dollar bill enclosed should be the most welcomed by a wise recipient. This will enable your friend to select what he or she wishes after the turn of the year at mark-down sales or else wait until the new, good quality goods come on the market.

Now, a word to parents who have reached the age of the writer: The only two things of which we are absolutely sure are: (1) We are going to die before many years and (2) there will be a "death tax" on our estate running from 15-50 percent according to how much money we leave to our wife, children or others. YET, WE CAN GIVE $3,000 TO

EACH OF THESE PERSONS THIS CHRISTMAS AND EVERY FOLLOWING CHRISTMAS WITHOUT PAYING A PENNY OF TAX. I know it is difficult for us who have worked hard and been thrifty to give away $3,000 a year to each of our children—yes, awful hard! But if we have any sense we will do it even if we keep the money locked up so that the kids can't spend it until after our funeral!

ONE MORE SUGGESTION

I have a grandson who is away to school. When I asked him what he wanted for Christmas, he said, "Grandpa I would like a subscription to our home newspaper." This seemed very sensible on the part of the boy and certainly it is an easy way for me to select a Christmas present for him. I wonder if every reader of this column hasn't some children, relatives or friends who would appreciate a subscription to the newspaper in which you read this advice.
