To the Members of the Plymouth
Federal Savings and Loan Association

We submit a copy of the Secretary's Annual Report for 1946 as submitted at the annual meeting Wed., Jan. 15, 1947

Nineteen hundred forty-six was the first entire year in the postwar period. During the past year we have seen much activity in the shift in emphasis which began in August, 1945, from meeting the needs of war financing, manpower, and war housing to those of which the new housing has become paramount. It is against this background that the present report traces the progress which your institution has made during the past year.

ASSETS

We believe that the Plymouth Federal Savings and Loan Association has continued to render a real service to the community in the promotion of thrift and home ownership. One of the best measures of this service is the gain which has taken place in our assets. We closed 1946 with resources totaling $500,048.82, which presents an increase of $36,637.51 over those of the previous year—a gain of 21%. This percentage increase exceeds the gain in assets for the entire savings and loan business of the country, estimated at 14%. Present assets are at an all-time high for your institution.

MORTGAGE LOANS

In spite of loan repayments which have continued relatively high, our mortgage portfolio showed a net increase during the year of $72,292.45, which brought loans outstanding up to $327,318.97 by year end. This reflects a year of unusual lending activity during which we placed a total of $193,155.00 loans on our books. This value represents the peak figure for our Association.

Particularly gratifying was the amount of loans on new construction made during the past year. This comprised 41% of our total lending as compared with only 16% in 1945. The following shows in detail the purpose for which our loans were made during the year just closed.

	Amount	Percentage of total
New Construction	$ 77,940.00	41%
Home Purchase	76,365.00	40%
Reconditioning	2,555.00	1%
Refinancing	2,300.00	1%
All Other	37,800.00	17%
Total	$193,155.00	100%

There is a large pent-up demand for housing arising from an accumulated deficiency during the war and a continuing scarcity of skilled labor and materials. We are confident that as the building industry becomes increasingly stabilized and that as prices become adjusted to a competitive level, we shall see a very substantial volume of new residential construction.

Your officers, as in the past, are keeping alert to the real estate market, and are, they believe, making sound loans and so poised to do in the future. The monthly amortization of loans means a steady strengthening of the loan-value ratio, and it may be said that the overall ratio of our loans outstanding to the appraised value of the mortgaged properties is now less 50%, and which, I think, is favorable. In our current property appraisals a complete analysis is undertaken and judgment made upon carefully made findings. We believe that full consideration is being given to the fact that in the present market there are some properties selling for unwarrantedly inflated prices, although there has lately been a tendency for the number of such instances to fall off.

VETERANS' LOANS

The Veterans' loan program became effective in November, 1944; we made our first of these loans on March 16, 1946, and as of year-end 1946 we had closed three loans amounting to $173,000.00. We have found that in most instances the cost of property today exceeds the veteran's ability to pay. In most cases the veteran has too small an amount of cash to make a sound loan possible. The mere fact that we have been able to get insurance on these loans has not influenced us to make loans which we felt the borrower could not repay. We have always tried to avoid loans which would require foreclosure to ensure payment. We feel that you can loans which will eventually end up in foreclosure are unsound for this Association and for the veteran. We have found that a borrower cannot afford payments for mortgage interest, insurance and taxes in excess of one-fourth his monthly income. In arranging for monthly income, we try to use the average rather than the income during the war or an abnormal period.

LIQUIDITY POSITION

At the close of 1946 our cash and government bonds amounted to $145,193.33 comprising 29% of total assets. In view of the trend toward an increasing mortgage portfolio, present holdings of bonds may not prove to be unduly large.

RESERVES

No one today doubts that the provision for adequate reserves constitutes sound financial policy. During the past year earnings from operations were channeled into reserve accounts amounting to $461,169. Our institution is steadily accumulating a satisfactory safety margin as security for the future.

SHARE CAPITAL

Throughout 1946 the Plymouth Federal Savings and Loan Association received a substantial flow of savings and investment money which brought our share capital outstanding up to $420,228.97 at the year-end and which represents an increase of 10% during the twelve months. Withdrawals relative to gross share receipts were up a little over those of the previous year, and it is likely, at least for the immediate future, that we should expect somewhat higher withdrawals than formerly.

In view of a continuing large loan demand, emphasis has had to shift from that of stimulating lending activity, which was the problem throughout the war period, to that of attracting savings and investments of permanent type and of temporary type. We hope that our members will miss no opportunities to invest in our shares and equities, the facilities which this institution affords in safety, yield and convenience.

It is gratifying that 40 new share accounts were opened during the year just past which brought our total membership up to 258 as of December 31.

EARNINGS IN 1946

In spite of the fact that a considerable portion of our earning assets consist of relatively low-yielding government bonds, we distributed to our members in 1946 a total of $248,176 representing a dividend of 2%.

It has long been the policy of your Association to pay just as high a dividend as is commensurate with the building up of an adequate protection in reserves and with a competitive lending rate which permits sound mortgages to be placed upon its books.

ORGANIZATIONAL ACTIVITY

We have continued our membership in the Michigan State League of Savings and Loans and in the United States Savings and Loan League. We are engaged more than ever in the importance of contacts with other institutions as an aid in determining common problems and in the successful formulation of policies affecting our business.

Our Association is a member of the Federal Home Loan Bank System, being a stockholder in the Federal Home Loan Bank of Indianapolis. During the past year we increased our stockholdings in the Bank by $5,000.00 and which brought the stock owned by the Association up to $10,000.00 as of December 31. This stock yielded us dividends at the rate of 1 1/2% during the past year.

PROSPECTS FOR 1947

Many of us share the feeling that the savings and loan business is entering one of the greatest eras in its history. This business of which we are a part now has assets of approximately ten billion dollars; it grew by more than one billion dollars during 1946 and its resources are at an all time high.

During the coming year we expect banks, generally, to make fewer mortgage loans, as banks are restricted in the percentage of their savings which can be invested in mortgages. Many banks in the communities surrounding Plymouth have already curtailed this type of investing. This will increase the number of applications that this Association will have for first mortgage loans. Fifty per cent of all mortgage loans in the past five years in this area have been made by individuals. We expect individuals will gradually discontinue to be such a competitive factor as more money will shift into consumer goods and into new businesses. Individuals will also find that their cost of handling loans and lack of experience on appraisals as well as lack of experienced management of their mortgages will result in a larger percentage of delinquency of payments and taxes, and thus a larger percentage of foreclosures. This Association has an enviable record of going over 15 years without having to repossess a home through foreclosure. This record is not due to any softness in handling of our borrowing members but to continued vigilance and care in placing and handling of our mortgages.

It will require a very large inflow of savings and investment money to satisfy the demand on the part of our lending operations. This is another challenge which we shall accept.

No one can predict just what the assets of our Association will total one year hence. Size is not the only criterion of success, but our Association should be prepared to serve its community with adequate facilities and with every means of rendering a real service, and this normally means an expanding business.

We propose throughout the coming year to further the interests of thrift and home ownership among our people. These are the principles upon which our business is founded and to that end we are looking forward with confidence.

We have had the continued cooperation of all officers and directors during the past year, and their combined judgment should continue to guide the destiny of the Association as it has so admirably during the past 27 years of continuous successful operation.

Respectfully,
PERRY W. RICHWINE, Secretary.

Know The Security Of Good Tires

Let us check your tires to see if they need recapping. We're too busy to recap tires if they do not need it—but, if they do, we're ready to give you expert service. Ask us about new tires, too, for we often have them. Whatever your tire problems — bring them here, and know the security of driving on good tires.

"2 1/2 Tons of Milk Don't Take Much Muscle..."

Yes, some days those beautiful cows put out a whopping 2 1/2 tons of milk. And they average over 4000 pounds every day in the year. Only five people—Carl, his wife, daughter, two sons—tend the cows, do the milking and all the other chores. Five people!

Of course, he's got costs. He uses two electric milking machines, electric grain elevator, hay hoist, water pump, two dairy water heaters. Counting his all-electric workshop and his house lighting, refrigerators, radios and so on, he uses about $2.83 worth of electricity a day. Does it sound like a lot?

It's darn little compared to his daily income. Fact is, electricity is costing Carl Leiterwitz less than 2% of his gross receipts. And he says that before he put in electricity he was milking fewer cows—getting less milk—doing everything the hard way. Electricity has helped him increase production the easy way—and make more money (Incidentally, Carl has bought another farm and twenty Jerseys since this was written.)

Next time you are in town why not call on your Detroit Edison farm man? There's no obligation, of course—your Edison farm man has no equipment to sell. His job is to help you make the most efficient use of all the electricity you buy

Says Carl Leiterwitz who owns a herd of 140 fine Guernseys and Holsteins. Below is the rest of the family—Carl's only helpers.

The Detroit Edison Co.

Howdy Folks:
By LEO & BUD
Twenty years ago girls never thought of doing the things they do nowadays. That's why they didn't do them.
A small boy who was buying a ticket for an afternoon movie was asked by the cashier why he wasn't in school.
"Oh, it's all right, ma'am," he replied. "I have the measles."
Madame: "Have you given the goldfish fresh water?"
Maid: "No, ma'am. They haven't even finished the water I gave them yesterday."
And this is for sure: If you wait until the oil in your crank case is "finished" before you change, you're going to have trouble, brother. Right now — and we mean today — drive in for prompt attention, courteous service and top quality gas and oil at economy prices.

CONVINCED!
Two noted men, Lord Lyttelton and Gilbert West, lived in England during the eighteenth century. During their early years they imbibed the principles of infidelity, and fully persuaded that the Bible was an imposture, they set themselves the task of exposing the cheat. Lyttelton chose the Conversion of Paul and West, the Resurrection of Christ, for the subject of hostile criticism.
Some time later they came together, not to exult over the exposure of an imposture, but rather to lament their folly in having closed their eyes so long to the truth of the Bible. Their separate studies had convinced them that "the Word of God standeth sure." How is it with you? Have you given the Bible and its Christ a fair investigation?

In The Legislature

By Elton R. Eaton

It is going to be no easy task to straighten out the state financial mess into which it was thrown by the voters last fall when they wrote into the constitution that so-called split of the state sales tax.

While they were told by the advocates of the scheme that it would take only one cent of every three out of the sales tax, a third of it, as a matter of fact it takes 78 percent, leaving the state a mere fraction of what is needed to operate the state government.

From sentiment among the legislators, there is no desire to impose new taxes, but unless some sort of a compromise can be worked out, you can expect some sort of a new tax levy.

Do you remember some of those postcards you received before election last fall which said that the state could very easily spare this money and levy no new tax of any kind?

But its just one of those things that powerful pressure groups can sometimes resort to in state, or even the nation.

Like all previous sessions of the legislature, this one is getting away to a slow start—a bit slower than usual. That is due to the fact that the budget director cannot compile the state's budget needs because of the muddle in state finances. Then, too, there is an exceptionally large number of new members in both the house and senate, and it will take a little time for them to get acquainted with the routine.

Without the slightest fear of any contradiction, it can truthfully be stated that not one lobbyist, pressure group, or even the Governor had a thing to do with the appointment of committees in the house of representatives. Speaker Victor Knox assumed the entire responsibility, took dictation from no one and gave the house a real snake-up of its committees. He went out of his way to give newly elected representatives from the city of Detroit and from other sections of the state a good break on important committees. Only kinks came from a few who thought they didn't fare quite so well as they would.

There are better things in store for Michigan, there isn't much question about that. Governor Sigler has given evidence of the fact that he wasn't fooling when he said there was going to be a house-cleaning up in Lansing. What has so far appeared is only the beginning, if rumors that one hears around the state house are correct.

MARCH OF DIMES DRIVE BEGINS

During the assembly last Tuesday camisters were passed to collect the contributions of the students for the annual nationwide campaign of the March of Dimes. Miss Neva Lovewell, assisted by Miss Harland Bristan, the Girl Reserves, and the Lams Club, is supervising the school drive. These groups and the Senior Girl Scouts are handling the drives in the theaters.

First IN CAR PRODUCTION . . . First IN TRUCK PRODUCTION

First IN COMBINED CAR AND TRUCK PRODUCTION!

AGAIN at the close of 1946—when America's need for new motor cars and trucks is most urgent—the Chevrolet Motor Division of General Motors leads all other manufacturers in automotive production. This means that Chevrolet is first in passenger car production—first in truck production—first in combined passenger car and truck production . . . despite the fact that all Chevrolet plants were closed completely during the first three months of 1946! Naturally, Chevrolet hopes to be able to build more and more of these fine products which America is buying so eagerly—the only motor car giving BIG-CAR QUALITY AT LOWEST COST—the only truck giving BIG-TRUCK QUALITY AT LOWEST COST—the complete Chevrolet line which stands out as the lowest-priced line in its field! The HOUSING SITUATION today is pretty rugged

Mac, and Joe, and their buddies deserve a better break than they're getting in housing their families. Maybe the current shortage in homes was unavoidable. But the fact remains—something can be done about it!

Owners of large homes, or of old-style apartment buildings, or of commercial structures can remodel them to provide living accommodations for the families of ex-servicemen. And in so doing, owners not only perform a public service, but they add to their income through rentals from these additional dwelling units.

Special terms are available for financing such work through FHA-insured Property Improvement Loans. Priorities assistance, too, is available for obtaining building materials under the Veterans Emergency Housing Program.

We can help with plans and specifications as well as with FHA-financing. So, what are we waiting for? Why not come in today?

SLIDES AND NARRATION PRESENTED IN ASSEMBLY

At a high school assembly held in the gym on January 8, Miss Marian Slocum was presenter and lecturer on the life of Francis Scott Key.

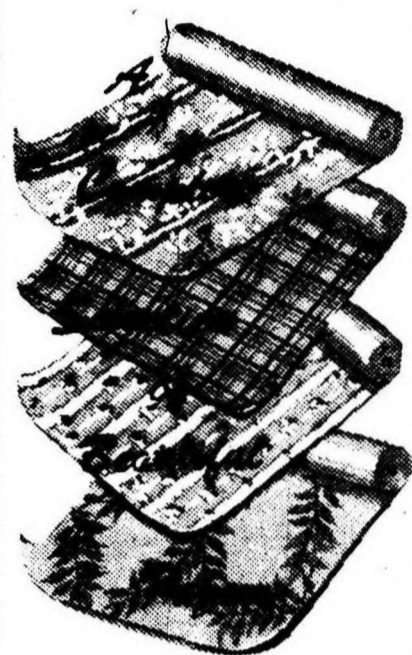

While singing the "Star Spangled Banner," Miss Slocum wondered who had written this anthem and what circumstances led to its writing. Miss Slocum, who lived in the heart of Maryland for many years, combined her background with the information she obtained through Key's great grandson, Colonel Francis Scott Key-Smith, to prepare her talk for clubs and school in the Michigan and Maryland area. Her absorbing interest in the little-known life of Francis Scott Key has earned her the title, "A Key Authority." Miss Slocum's narrative was illustrated with hand-colored slides made especially for that purpose by E. B. Thompson, a Washington artist.

GALLANTRY IN PHS

Who said the age of chivalry is past? Your roving reporter wishes to reiterate an occurrence that was witnessed by him a week ago today.

As the two troopers were preparing to report to their class, after the ringing of the last bell at noon hour a situation that required delicate handling arose. A young girl from kindergarten had, by some means or another, managed to wander up to the second floor of the high school building. Perhaps it was the strangeness of the surroundings, for when the child was accosted by the trooper's her lower lip began to quiver and tears came to her eyes. Realizing the delicacy of the situation the troopers, each holding a hand, escorted the fair maiden to her destination.

The troopers are to be commended for the consideration shown to the young girl. Congratulations, Jack and Herb!

ROCKS SWAMP YPSI QUINTET; 46-34

The Plymouth Rocks, releasing a cyclone of power and speed, downed the Ypsilanti Braves, leaders of last year's Suburban "B" league, by a score of 46-34. Led by DeWayne Becker and George Schomberger, who each tallied 12 points, the locals played one of the best defensive as well as offensive games of the season. The Braves were shut out from almost all dog shots or lay ins, and most of their points were made on long field goals from mid-floor.

With this victory, the Rocks held their first place slot with Trenton, whom they play tonight in the Suburban "B" league's main game. Both teams have been undefeated in the league. The contest will be held on the Trenton hardwood.

M. FIELDING LAST OF ROTARY SPEAKERS

On Tuesday, the last speaker in the series sponsored by the Rotary, Mr. Michael Fielding, a former war correspondent, spoke to the students of Plymouth High School on the topic of "Getting Along in Europe."

The regularly scheduled speaker, Mr. Eric Kovacs, was unable to come, but Mr. Fielding was a very fine substitute.

In Portland, Ore., William Morrison, whose neighbor would not keep his yapping dog locked up at night, finally won his point after crawling around on all fours outside the neighbor's house and barking at the top of his lungs.

MICHIGAN, My MICHIGAN

BY • ELTON R. EATON

Plymouth duck hunters, and there are more of them here per square foot than in any other place in Michigan, will be interested in a statement recently issued by Albert M. May, director of the National Fish and Wildlife Service, that he cannot predict what the 1947 duck hunting regulations will be until it has analyzed the results of the annual inventory of waterfowl populations which will be taken next month, and until it has completed its spring and summer field observations on the status of the birds.

The large number of requests now reaching the Service for a forecast of next seasons hunting regulations cannot be answered for many months, according to Mr. Day, because the Service's recommendations to the Secretary of the Interior on the new regulations will be made only after year-round scientific investigations are completed.

Data gathered on the results of the midwinter inventories, from observations on the northward movement of birds during the migrations in the spring, and from investigations in the summer of the breeding grounds in the northern United States, Canada, and Alaska must be analyzed before the Service can recommend changes in the hunting season. As a rule, these recommendations are not ready to submit before late in June or early in July.

Michigan Department of Conservation research men working on grouse problems, according to the Sportsmen's Service Bureau, have discovered that Finnish grouse like American grouse, follow ten-year cycles of abundance.

The current issue of the Finnish game research publication "Soumen Riista" contains an article citing a ten-year cycle in the black, willow and hazel grouse and capercaillie exported from Finland over a 70-year period. The researcher found 12 climax years, 11 good years, 10 average, 15 bad and 22 years of failure, each having less than 10% of the production in climax years.

Little is known about the causes of the ten-year cycle in this country. The news from Finland, therefore, resulting from recent arrangements for exchange of information between Finnish and Michigan game research men, is greeted with great interest by grouse researchers here.

For dynamiting fish a Georgia judge sentenced the offender to three months in jail and six additional months in "public works camp."

For 1947 Missouri has raised its deer hunting license from $3 to $5, its resident fishing license from $1 to $1.50, and its resident hunting and trapping license from $2 to $2.50.

Wisconsin no longer has a size limit on panfish such as perch, crappies, bullheads, sunfish, bluegills, white and rock bass.

The Michigan legislature is going to have plenty of work dealing with conservation matters during its present session. Among some of the questions to be presented to the legislature are the following:

Making waterfowl hunting blind regulation a matter of commission order rather than law;

A definition of small game;

Banning the crossbow as a hunting weapon;

Protection of conservation department signs posted with permission on private land;

Increasing beaver pelt sealing fee from $1 to $2;

Ending beaver removal permit system, as the work is now done by department personnel;

Providing additional protection for mink, skunk and badger dens;

Prohibiting deer and bear pet permits except to educational institutions and zoological gardens;

Simplifying disposal of confiscated game birds and animals;

Making it unlawful to possess as well as use illegal mesh twine;

Extending the Platte river prohibition on snag and gang hooks to all trout streams;

Repealing the 6 p.m. closing hour on ice fishing for bluegills;

Increasing the number of streams open to fall fishing for rainbow trout;

Removing the size limit on bluegills, sunfish, perch, rock bass and calico bass;

Permitting individual use of glass minnow traps in trout streams;

Making it clear that a conservation officer is also a peace officer;

Adding "chemicals" to the list of polluting substances which may not be discharged into public waters; and Requiring spark arresters, for forest fire prevention, on internal combustion as well as steam engines.

How old does a rabbit get? How long do fox squirrels live? These are some of the questions the Michigan Conservation department are trying to answer. Surprising old age among individual rabbits and fox squirrels has already been established at Rose Lake wildlife experiment station, but the tagging of about 1,400 rabbits and 1,500 fox squirrels has confirmed hunters' notion that most Michigan small game animals live only a year and a half to two years.

Oldest tagged rabbit of record, handled four times between October 4, 1941 and July 8, 1946, survived five hunting seasons. Runner-up for the longevity record, also tagged first in October, 1941, was retaken in June, 1943, within 200 yards, and in June, 1946, within 150 yards of the original tagging spot. Numbered ear tags make identification positive.

The oldest tagged fox squirrel was retaken five times between September, 1941, and June, 1946. Another, retaken 12 times between September, 1942, and March, 1946, never, so far as is known, left a single 10-acre woodlot. A third squirrel retaken 19 times between June, 1942, and September, 1946, was still in good condition on its last visit to the live trap. Weighing of the animals each time they are trapped shows the individuals do not steadily grow heavier with age, but gain and lose according to the season and their state of health.

Ageing studies at Rose Lake are a small part of the pattern of information about Michigan game being collected by trained game men - information needed to maintain the game supply for the still increasing number of hunters.

At Swan Creek wildlife experiment station a trapper, Elwood Lamb of Newaygo, this month caught a raccoon near the spot where it was ear-tagged when a year old in August, 1943.

Snow Tames Wild Cat Hunters

Plymouth's squad of wild cat hunters who swayed the north-land's last weekend to help clean up the wild cat menace of Michigan returned home Sunday night with heels dragging and gloomy-Gus stories about their failure to track down even one lonely wild cat.

"Snow too deep" said Don Lightfoot.

"Too noisy in the woods" said William Rambo.

"Too cold" declared Robert Burley.

Other members of the party agreed with the alibi. They were Clyde Smith, Byron Champion, Walter Beglinger, Estill Rowland, "Bud" Holmes, Lester Herter, Ernest Kincaide, Howard Hearn, James Gothard and Casey Partridge. They housed up at the "Dutch" Beals shack during their stay up near Atlanta.

BABSON

Babson Warns Management BABSON PARK, Fla. Jan. 17.—With a Republican Congress and the public trend toward conservatism, industry will be getting back again a measure of its beloved freedom of enterprise and freedom from controls at a very difficult time.

BUSINESS HEADACHES

Many inventories are already very high, production is catching up, and the public is showing a marked tendency to pick and choose in buying or to desist altogether.

Strikes have so retarded normal production in the nation that re-conversion problems have been multiplied. Constant wage-increase demands from labor unions are causing still higher production costs and higher prices.

CAN BUSINESS ACCEPT THE CHALLENGE?

Now, if business is again to be given free initiative, and at least as much support from government as labor has had since 1932, can a plan be devised that will be profitable to U. S. business and also cause labor to produce at a maximum of efficiency?

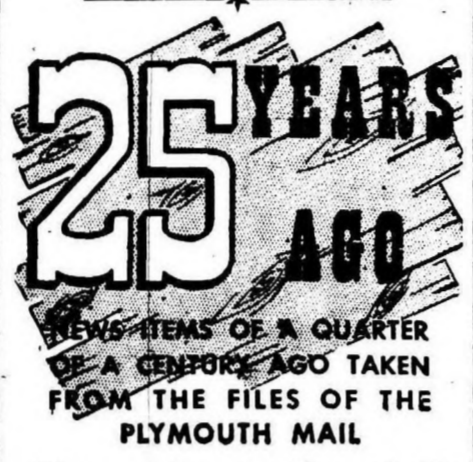

Can industry handle unemployment wisely if and when it comes or can it provide eventually for continuous employment? If not, can it provide adequate workable wage guarantees which will give the worker a reasonable sense of security?

REPUBLICANS BEWARE!

A Hormel plant in Minnesota was able to slaughter less than one sixth of its usual weekly number of hogs and cattle. But employees in that plant, though working less than two hours one week, received a full week's pay.

Business must operate with reasonable freedom and yet without the narrow, Godless point of view of each for himself. Such a shortsighted attitude has characterized too much labor and business leadership in the past.

The regular meeting of the Woman's club will be held in the kindergarten room at the school building Friday afternoon.

The young people of the neighborhood of West Town Line enjoyed themselves Sunday afternoon, skating on Charles Stacy's pond.

The Helping Hand society of King's Corners met this month at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Shotka.

A happy surprise was given at the home of Fred Garchow on the Seven Mile road, Saturday evening, when about fifty relatives and friends gathered there to celebrate his birthday.

The little girls sewing club of Livonia Center met at the home of Miss Grace Wolfson Saturday.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. George Zeitsch, on West Ann Arbor st., Tuesday, January 3, a daughter, Barbara May.

Archie Herrick and family of Northville are moving into one of Mrs. Lena Losee's houses in Elm Heights.

Calvin Whipple will occupy the east store room in the new Patterson block on Penniman avenue with a new shoe and furnishings store when completed.

C. H. Bennett's fine new house on Buena Vista Farms, is nearing completion, and Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Peck and family expect to move into the same.
