

What I Think and Have a Right to Say

By Elton R. Eaton

NOT AN EXTRAVAGANT STATE.

Michigan during its many years of statehood has never been a spendthrift state, except back in the very early days of more than a century ago when it experimented with a type of state socialism. It started building railroads and canals and went broke.

It was, apparently, this early experiment, which has made Michigan a somewhat miserly state in connection with its government. We have a clause in the constitution which says that the state government cannot borrow more than $50,000.

We have had our ups and downs in more recent years and our "tight-wad" ideas have, in some respects, kept our state from making the progress it should.

Now comes along the time when we can do something and we find that the biggest share of the state's income has been diverted from the state treasury and cannot be used for legitimate state purposes.

So it appears that Michigan will muddle along and do the best it can under difficult circumstances—unless the voters decide to do something about it.

"FORD PRICES CUT."

Newspapers the other day made big headlines out of the announcement that the Ford company had made a cut in the prices of their cars. Maybe it would have made bigger headlines if the company had announced that it had thrown into the Rouge river the trouble-makers, loafers and Commies who originally forced the price of the cars up to such outrageous figures. It's about time that we begin to give some consideration to the intelligent, faithful and loyal worker who has been shunted aside to make way for the fellow who thinks it's a swell thing to stall a job as much as he can. Then, too, has anybody given any thought to the possibilities of criminal conspiracy charges in connection with the reported "portal to portal" racket.

DOWN IN GOOD OLD GEORGIA.

Former Governor Chase Osborn of Michigan thinks Georgia is one of the finest states in all of the United States. He holds Michigan as its only superior. We agree with the former Governor that Georgia is a lovely state and that it has amazed the nation by its comeback since Civil war days. But — BUT!

Down in Georgia they take politics mighty serious, especially if it has anything to do with the racial question. Right now Georgia is getting a lot of unfavorable publicity as the result of the clash between two who claim they are the rightful Governors of the state.

It's a mess, at the best, and it is unfortunate for Georgia that anything of the kind had to happen.

POOR MRS. ROOSEVELT.

These are unfortunate days, indeed, for the former first lady of the land. As a result of an automobile accident she caused a few months ago, New York authorities have taken her driver's license away from her.

Attacks made upon two of her sons by Washington commentators have so irked her that the other day she devoted her entire newspaper column to the defense of the loyalty and patriotism of her sons.

As we see it, wouldn't it be far better for one who has occupied the exalted position that Mrs. Roosevelt did for so many years, to put herself in a position more in keeping with that of a former first lady of the land?

LAUGHING FOOLS.

Three times during recent weeks while waiting for trains at the Pere Marquette depot we have noticed automobile drivers take chances with their lives that caused what few hairs we have left on our bald head to stand up straight.

When the westbound train was within less than a block of the Mill street crossing, with its whistle sounding, three different drivers, with passengers in their cars, approached the crossing, looked in the direction of the train, then stepped on the gas and speeded across the track just fractions of seconds before the train reached the crossing. On one occasion we stood close enough to the crossing to see the driver turn to his companion and laugh after he had narrowly escaped death by a hairs breadth.

Some day some of these laughing fools will be picked up in pieces and the unfortunate thing about it will be the fact that the engineer of the streamliner will be blamed instead of the idiot who risked his own life and those with him. We believe that the police should revoke the license of ANY driver who crosses a railroad track after the flasher is in operation.

THE BEST EVIDENCE.

Some two years ago, the writer with a group of other legislators, was called into the Governor's office for the purpose of discussing state finances. Naturally at a conference of this nature a person would believe that more than one person would take part in the discussion.

From the minute the conference opened until it closed some two hours later, there was but one person who had a chance to say more than half a dozen words. The former Governor did ALL the talking and no one else had a chance to even express his opinion.

A few days ago in Lansing there was a similar conference held in the Governor's office. This time Governor Kim Sigler gave EVERY member of the legislature who was present an opportunity to be heard. He listened intently to their views and never once did he make the slightest effort to check off the expressions of those who wanted to be heard.

Out of the conference two years ago came the financial mess into which the state now finds itself.

The attitude of the new Governor is the most hopeful sign we have seen in many years for Michigan's state government. If Kim Sigler keeps carrying the ball in the way he has started out, he will far out-rank any Governor Michigan has had in years. And it is our belief that he will continue on just as he has started out.

NAME IT, PLEASE.

A good friend, the other day said he thought the state might save some money by voting out some of its departments and other activities. For a number of years we have been searching the records to find the department that should get "the axe" but they are not easy to find.

We did find one or two a few years ago that we figured were needless outfits and we did try to get rid of them. One of the outfits was the Civilian defense crowd that ate up many thousands of tax dollars after its useful purpose had been served. But at that time we had a Governor who wasn't as economically minded as the present one. It used up nearly every penny that had been appropriated.

If you know of some state department or activity that does not serve some good purpose, we would be pleased to have you name it and you may be assured here's one country editor who will try and do something about it.

The Mission Study Class will meet at the home of Mrs. R. D. Merriam of 18910 Beck road, near 7 Mile on Tuesday, January 28 at 7:30 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Romaine Lee are the parents of a baby girl, Cheryl Denise, born January 15 at the Plymouth Hospital. She weighed 6 pounds and 12 ounces.

Kiwanians Seek Cabin Site For Local Girl Scouts

Bryon Becker, chairman of special projects committee of the Plymouth Kiwanis Club, this week announced that the club has a $3,200 Girl Scout Cabin Fund as the result of minstrel shows held the last three years.

The fund probably will be increased by at least another $1,000 when this year's show is completed.

Mr. Becker explained that when conditions permit, and the club hopes that it is soon, the building program for the Plymouth Girl Scouts will begin.

Several have been considered by the club but so far none has met the approval of the scout area directors, Mr. Becker reported.

The club would very much like to secure a suitable site so when the time comes for building to start there will be no further delays.

Scout leaders say the site should be within easy hiking distance of Plymouth and somewhere close to a highway or improved road. It should have a rustic setting so a cabin would not be out of place.

Kiwanians will consider all site suggestions submitted by the public, Mr. Becker said.

Sites should not be more than an acre in area. The club will buy an adequate site from anybody having one to offer. Better yet, the club suggests match Kiwanians' benevolence and offer a cabin site as a gift.

Anyway, whether you have a suitable site to sell or give away, contact Mr. Becker and have them look it over with the scout leaders. Once a site is chosen the cabin will be assured.

Plymouth Woman Has 97th Birthday

Mrs. Susan Lennox, a Plymouth resident the last 7 years quietly observed her 97th birthday anniversary last Wednesday. She makes her home with her oldest son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. John Lennox, of 258 Joy street.

She had such an abundant Christmas, her daughter-in-law said, that it was hard for the family and her host of friends to pry a gift from her.

Mrs. Lennox was very pleased with a large bouquet of flowers her son and wife gave her. She also enjoyed the many many cards she received. Other than a special dinner Wednesday night the day was spent quietly by the honoree.

With the exception of her failing sight and difficulty in hearing, Mrs. Lennox enjoys very good health. Except when it is icy or inclement outside, she enjoys a daily walk in the vicinity of her son's home.

D.A.R. Observes 20th Birthday

The Sarah Ann Cochran Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution celebrated its 20th birthday anniversary Monday, January 20, with a birthday luncheon at the Women's League in Ann Arbor. Fifty-five members and guests were present. Among the guests were the regents of neighboring chapters and the state executive board.

Mrs. E. J. Cutler presented a special birthday poem and led the group in the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

Mrs. Chester Miller of Saginaw, the state regent, was the speaker of the afternoon. Her topic was the projects of the National D.A.R. organization and proved very interesting and enlightening to her listeners. Mrs. Miller stated that the chief aim of the D.A.R. is to make better citizens and for this purpose the organization sponsors a citizenship committee which works on Ellis Island; an American Indian committee; Children of American Revolution Society; the Junior American Citizenship Club, to stress the principles of good citizenship to the young; and helps to make better citizens of the unfortunate by donations of clothing and money to members of approved schools.

Another outstanding project of the year will be the dedication of a Memorial Tower at Valley Forge. The D.A.R. also has committees which contact and help war brides from foreign countries. Mrs. Miller pointed out that the future of the world depended upon spiritual regeneration; awakening and informing of the mind; world government as exemplified by the United Nations; conservation of natural resources; and a balance between natural resources and population.

Homor Howe reported he saw two flocks of wild ducks going north one day last week despite the weather, which indicates spring is on the way.

March of Dimes Benefit Show To Be Wednesday at Penn Theatre

Plymouth's special March of Dimes benefit show will be presented at 7 and 9 p.m. next Wednesday at the Penn Theatre in all set.

Theatre-owner Harry Lush said the feature picture would be "Wild Bill Hickok", starring Connie Bennett, Warren Williams and Bruce Cabot on March of Dimes night, Wednesday, January 29 at the Penn Theatre.

Mr. Lush has a very novel and most commendable idea back of this special show. He will furnish the theatre and turn over all proceeds to the Plymouth March of Dimes campaign committee. But instead of charging a set admission, he is putting the question of how much to pay squarely up to those who attend the show.

He asks them to pay what they want to, bearing in mind where

Dr. Gulden will be out of town attending the W. K. Kellogg Institute at Ann Arbor. He will take a special post graduate course in operative dentistry during that period.

Kiwanis Club Hears Geologist

Plymouth Kiwanians learned Tuesday night that there is a great chance of oil may be discovered in or near the community within a few more years.

They also learned that as many as seven test oil wells have been sunk in the vicinity during the last few years, some since the war ended.

This information came to them in a talk by Prof. Cohee, geologist of the University of Michigan, and United States Geological Survey. His illustrated lecture was the feature of the club's regular dinner meeting at Hotel Mayflower. He was introduced by Roy A. Fisher.

Prof. Cohee related that the prospects of finding oil in or near Plymouth were very good. Test wells near here were drilled to the depth of 6,000 ft. without discovering anything, but that has not discouraged the good professor.

He illustrated his talk with colored slides and also exhibited several samples of shale, rock, and dirt taken from test wells in the vicinity.

Annual Meetings Held By Banks

Both Plymouth banks held their annual meetings last week. The First National Bank stockholders made no changes in their board of directors but Plymouth United stockholders added two more members to their board.

R. J. Williams and H. O. Mohrmann were both elected to the board at the United Savings Bank. Other than those two additions no other changes were made and the members of that board are now C. H. Bennett, John Blyton, Cass S. Hough, E. O. Huston, H. O. Mohrmann, Dr. Luther Peck, O. H. Rathburn, Jr., E. S. Roe, Paul W. Voorhies and R. J. Williams. Officers of the bank are Paul W. Voorhies, chairman of the board; C. H. Bennett, president; R. M. Daane and R. J. Williams, vice-presidents and H. O. Mohrmann, vice-president and cashier; Helen Darbee, assistant cashier.

Directors of the First National Bank are Charles Finlan, Floyd A. Kehrl, Dr. John L. Olaver, Stewart M. Dodge, Russell A. Roe and Jack Taylor. Officers of the bank are F. A. Kehrl, president; Russell A. Roe and Charles L. Finlan, vice-presidents; Jack Taylor, cashier; Walter Brown, auditor and assistant cashier and George Kenyon, assistant cashier.

the entire amount of their "admission" money is going and what it's to be used for.

The fund was increased by $178 Monday following an actual March of Dimes at Central school in which nearly 600 students participated. Miss Neva Lovewell, chairman, reported.

While the Plymouth High school band played the students marched up to the platform and turned in their special "dime cards." It was their idea to have an actual "March of Dimes" and proved to be a spectacular and profitable stunt.

Miss Lovewell pointed out that Plymouth's quota has been increased $600 this year by the national committee. It is $2,000 this year in comparison with $1,400 in 1946.

Blank Buyers Back from Market

Mr. A. L. Lantz, manager and Mr. O. M. Valliquette, buyer of Blunk's Inc. (formerly Blunk and Thatcher) have just returned from a two weeks buying trip to both the Grand Rapids and Chicago markets. They have the following to report.

Designers are for the present unable to do much in the way of new styling, due to the restrictions imposed by the extreme short supply of certain basic materials, and skilled labor, which is needed for quality construction and the production of good furniture. Traditional 18th Century styles are still in predominance, however many new interesting things are being shown in modern design.

Modern is the field in which designers can do their most effective work under the circumstances but the public will for the most part demand that the styling of "modern" be kept conservative, livable and functional as to use.

Contemporary styles are very smooth and well executed in a wide variety of interesting finishes. Fabrics are stimulating in gay new colors and patterns.

In their opinion those who have been a little hesitant to accept "modern" will have to adjust their thinking.

Modern designs especially in the quality line are good. They have a lot to merit, they're gay, refreshing and very much in the spirit of our times. We'll see a lot more of them in the future, they report.

This does not imply, however, that the 18th Century or Colonial furniture will lose any of its past popularity, because a very large segment of the American people still love and will continue to cherish traditional furniture.

The floor covering situation both in linoleum and carpet, has improved greatly. Many new qualities and textures made their appearance at the market.

A feeling of optimism seems to prevail among the mill representatives and they have assured Mr. Valliquette that Blunk's Inc. can expect much more generous shipments in the second half of 1947 than they have in any like period in the past few years.

Karl Sonderegger Is New Mortician Here

Of the most recent of Plymouth's new residents are the Karl Sondereggers. They reside on South Main at the Wilkie Funeral home.

Sonderegger is in charge of the Wilkie establishment and comes here well recommended from Midland where he had been a funeral director and embalmer since 1935. With him and his wife are their two daughters, Karla Jean and Kathy Joan.

A veteran of the war in the Pacific, he was recently discharged from the Navy.

"We wish to welcome Mr. Sonderegger to our Plymouth Funeral Home. We know you will find him friendly counsel in all matters pertaining to our services," Edward F. Wilkie, owner of the home declared this week.

Plymouthite's Gift Elicits Thank You Note from Austria

During the clothing drive in Plymouth last spring, Mrs. John Straub, of 285 East Ann Arbor Trail, decided she had received sufficient wear from a beaver coat.

She packed it and put one of her calling cards in the pocket and sent it on its way to the bombed-out persons in Europe.

Mrs. Straub thought no more about the coat. Then one day recently she received an important looking letter bearing foreign postage. She suddenly recalled the beaver coat, and she was right in her conclusion. It was a thank-you note from the recipient.

It was written last Dec. 1, by a young matron at Karnten, Austria. Her letter of appreciation to Mrs. Straub follows: Dear Madam Straub:

"I received a package with clothes and in it was this beautiful beaver coat for me. I was so happy to be so lucky to get such a nice coat. I save it to wear to church only. I was lucky to be in such a good prison camp. When I tried it on I put my hands into the pockets and found your card with your name and address. I can't thank you enough. I would have been glad with just something warm, but was overjoyed that in addition to being warm, this coat is beautiful too."

"I am married and have a 17-year-old daughter. She is in the hospital, but we hope to have her home by Christmas. My husband doesn't earn much. It is hard for us to make a living. You probably read in the newspaper yourself how poor we are, just like beggars."

"Our rations have increased from 15 to 50. It is still not much, but hope it will continue to get better. We went through a lot in the first World War and survived and will live through these terrible times again."

I am enclosing a snapshot of myself and you might see it. I hope this letter finds you happy, and I wish you a very merry Christmas and prosperous New Year. Thank you again. It was signed Kloihide Brantner, or at least that is the best translation The Mail staff could get out of the signature.

Symphony Is Organized Here

Plymouth has organized a symphony orchestra, under the direction of Paul T. Wagner, who is instrumental supervisor of music in the local schools. All persons who are interested are encouraged to attend rehearsals every Monday, beginning January 28, at 7:30 p.m. in the high school music room, located to the rear of the high school. We are particularly interested in obtaining string players (violin, viola, cello and bass), and reed and tubular reed instruments (oboe, bassoon, bass clarinet). Those interested and wishing more information may contact Mr. Wagner.

Mr. Wagner comes to Plymouth after serving two years in the United States Marine Corps as a Division Bandmaster. Prior to his military service, he was supervisor of music in Medina, Ohio, and also conductor of a 65-piece civic symphony orchestra there. Mr. Wagner has additional experience as trombonist with the Toledo Symphony Orchestra and several other outstanding musical groups.

Governor Flies Plane to Plymouth

Michigan's flying governor Kim Sigler made a visit to this city last Wednesday noon. In his state owned aircraft the governor landed at Mettetal field to pick up Cass S. Hough so that the two could attend a conference at Selfridge field with the directing officers there.

An escort of some thirty army planes met the two at Mettetal field and escorted them to Selfridge.

Col. Hough has been selected by Sigler to serve as special advisor to the Governor pertaining to reorganization plans of the Michigan National Guard and the establishment of a new air force in connection with the state troops.

Reports say that the federal government is ready to provide the state with 100 or more war plans of all types to be used in training the proposed state air force. It is known that Governor Sigler selected Col. Hough for this important consulting post after the Governor had held a conference with the high ranking officials of the State Guard. It is understood that the National unified defense program will require that the state army units be co-ordinated with a regular army division and the naval reserve with the navy division of defense.

College Event February 13th

The annual banquet sponsored by the University of Michigan club of Plymouth will be held Thursday evening, Feb. 13, at the High School. A nationally prominent speaker soon will be announced. Tickets will be mailed to U. of M. club members. Public ticket sale will be announced later.

Former Resident Center of Hot Election Fight

Not until a few days ago was it known by many that Mrs. Violet Patterson, whose legal residence is in the city of Gladstone in the Upper Peninsula, and who was the storm center of an election controversy before the state legislature this week, lived in Plymouth for a number of years.

Mrs. Patterson was returned last fall from the legislative district of the Upper Peninsula as the duly elected member of the house from that section of the state.

When the legislature met early in January, Roy Jensen of Escanaba filed a petition with the legislature contending that an error had been made in the election returns and that he should be seated instead of Mrs. Patterson—even though Mrs. Patterson had been sworn in.

The legislature appointed a committee to make a recount of the votes in the district. It did so except in one precinct and by throwing out this precinct a small majority was given to Jensen.

The committee reported that it found no fraud or intent to commit fraud, but due to a clerical error the committee reported that all the votes in one Gladstone precinct should be thrown out.

The adoption of this report by the legislature changed the election result and Mrs. Patterson's place in the house is now being filled by Mr. Jensen.

Some 20 or more Republican members of the house voted with Mrs. Patterson, including the Plymouth representative.

Reports from the Upper Peninsula state that a recall election against Jensen is being planned in the district probably to take place at the spring election.

When Mrs. Patterson resided in Plymouth her husband was connected with the state highway department. She was active in church and club affairs and still has many friends here. The family resided on Farmer street.

Levi La Vergne of Adams street, is a brother of Mrs. Patterson.

Girl Scouts Elect Mrs. E. Dobbs

At the annual election of new officers of the Plymouth Girl Scout Association Council held in the high school Monday evening, January 19, Mrs. Edward Dobbs was elected commissioner.

Mrs. John Henderson was elected deputy commissioner, Mrs. John Dalton, secretary; Mrs. Charles Cushman, treasurer and Mrs. Arno Thompson, registrar.

The chairman of the standing committee for the coming year will be Finance, Frank Walsh, organization, Mrs. Leo Crance; program, Mrs. John Morrow; training, Mrs. William Arscott; public relations, Mrs. Kenneth Hulsing; established camp, Elmer Austin; Area Camp, Mrs. Edward Dent; and day camp, Mrs. Arthur Donnelly.

For the 1947 nominating committee, Mrs. John Morrow was elected to represent the council, Mrs. Robert Ingram, the leaders, and Mrs. Peter Munster, Mrs. Henry Jensen and Hanna Strass are the council members.

Mrs. Donald Sutherland will be the secretary of the area camp committee.

The nominating committee was composed of Mrs. J. C. Weed, Mrs. George Burr, Mrs. Howard Poppenger, Mrs. Clarence Lidgard and Mrs. Louis Jacobs.

Grade School Leader to Speak

Dr. Max Wingo, Ph. D., assistant professor of education, and principal of the University Elementary School at Ann Arbor will be the speaker at the next P.T.A. meeting of Central Grade School on January 28, at 7:30 p.m. in the school auditorium.

His subject is "Some Proposals for Improving the Elementary School." This topic should be of vital interest to every member of the P.T.A. and all parents of the school.

Dr. Wingo received his Ph. D. from Yale University and before coming to Ann Arbor, he was principal of an elementary school for five years in Connecticut. A cordial invitation is extended to everyone to come.

Plymouth Gets New Small Loan Finance Firm

Myron R. Smith, of Detroit, this week announced the opening of the Plymouth Finance Co., at 274 South Main street, directly across from the Plymouth Mail, in the Schrader Building.

Mr. Smith's offices are on the second floor in the southeast corner of the building. The space has been remodeled and refurnished and presents a very modern appearance.

The new firm is owned and will be operated solely by Mr. Smith, a Navy veteran of four years service who had attained the rank of lieutenant commander before his honorable discharge.

Mr. Smith will offer loans up to $300. His specialty is furniture, automobile and signature loans, he pointed out. His company is licensed by the state and subject to regulation by the Michigan Banking Commission.

He is well qualified to operate such a firm as he spent 12 years as an office manager with the Household Finance Co., at Detroit. He is a graduate of Kalamazoo College and Detroit College of Law.

When adequate housing accommodations are located, Mr. and Mrs. Smith and their six-year-old son will move to Plymouth. He hopes that the family will be able to locate here before spring.

Mr. Smith invites the general public of Plymouth to drop in and get acquainted with a "future Plymouthite" as he puts it and inspect his new office.

He pointed out that the amount of Plymouth business he did while connected with the Detroit firm prompted him to locate here when he decided to go into business for himself.

During the war he was a line officer and saw action at Attu, Kiska, Tarawa, Kwajalin, Eniwetok, Saipan, Tinian, Guam, Ulithi, Palau and the Philippines.

New Policy Due at Coffee Shoppe

Effective next Monday, Jan. 27, Hotel Mayflower will initiate a new policy and new schedule of hours covering the operation of its coffee shoppe.

Beginning at that time the coffee shoppe will be open for all meals from 6:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. and will offer waitress service on a "no-tips" basis.

This is only a partial return to our pre-war policies, declared Ralph G. Lorenz, manager of the hotel, more changes are due.

Throughout the war the coffee shoppe served luncheon only and operated on cafeteria style. The return to waitress service for all meals is a start to reconvert the hotel to its popularity of former years as an eating spot.

Too, the "no-tips" policy is a new departure in the coffee shoppe operation. Mr. Lorenz explains that in view of that, a seven percent charge will be added to all checks and divided equally among all food department employees.

In the kitchen there also will be changes. Pressure cookers have been installed to provide quicker and more palatable preparation of food.

Radiant Heating Plant for Garage

The West Brothers' mammoth garage, now in the final stages of construction, is to be heated by the modern radiant floor heat system. It is believed to be the first such heating system installed in Plymouth.

In brief, the system is a regular hot-water heating plant minus radiators. The coils, or pipes, all are installed in the flooring of the structure. In addition all joints are welded so the entire system is actually one continuous coil. A booster pump used to keep the water circulating. In the case of the West Brothers an oil burner will heat the boiler.

The pipes in the garage are being installed on a bed of pea gravel, five inches in depth. When the installation is completed and the welding all done, the concrete floor will be poured right over the pipes.

The system is the latest in heating methods and has become quite popular for commercial structures, the West Brothers report. Installation of the system is progressing slowly due to the difficulty experienced in obtaining the materials.

Providing no more delays are encountered the garage should be ready to open early this spring. The structure is 82 by 100 and will house the West Brothers implement sales and service plus a modern farm supply store.

John Thomas Todd, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Max A. Todd, was christened at Our Lady of Good Counsel church last Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. R. John Marsh were god-parents at the ceremony, after which the two couples enjoyed dinner at Saddle Ridge club.

Library Will Keep Listings of Local Events

Plymouth's need for a central listing place for all coming events scheduled by clubs, churches and school groups, as well as other organizations, will hereafter be met by the Plymouth branch of the Wayne County Library.

Hereafter any group that plans an evening meeting can determine what dates are clear of conflicting activities, and can list its meetings so as to notify other groups.

Mrs. Ada Murray of the Plymouth Library warns that this new list cannot become of real value unless all local organizations cooperate by sending their lists of scheduled meetings, and by notifying the Library when any new dates are arranged. This list should not be considered as a reservation calendar, since the Library cannot accept responsibility that the list is correct or complete.

A calendar for local events will be kept at the main desk of the Library, located at 223 South Main street. The Library is open every week day between 11 a.m. and 9 p.m. The phone number is 698.

The Library often receives calls for information as to the officers of various groups in Plymouth, so Mrs. Murray requests that she be supplied with lists of officers, meeting places and similar data.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Partridge and Mr. and Mrs. John Gaffield were Junior Chamber of Commerce and J. C. C. Auxiliary delegates to the organization's state board meeting at Battle Creek last weekend.

Betty Jean Fulton
Marries Robert Smith
In Pretty Ceremony

The Presbyterian church in Plymouth was the scene Saturday evening of a beautiful ceremony which united in marriage Miss Betty Jean Fulton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Smith of Plymouth, and Robert Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Smith of Northville.

The chancel of the church was decorated with standards of white chrysanthemums and white snap dragons with a background of candles.

The double ring ceremony was read by the Rev. Henry Wagon. The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in broad taffeta fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, tight bodice and a full skirt with a long train. Her long veil edged in lace was caught in a seed pearl crown. She carried a white Bible with a white orchid and cyclamen.

The bride's attendants were Miss Lillian Welzer of Detroit as maid of honor. She wore a long sleeved gown of white chiffon with yellow accessories. The bridesmaids were Mrs. William Fulton of Owosso, Mrs. Arthur Fulton, Mrs. John Payne and Miss Ethel Mahoney. They wore full white taffeta gowns with blue and pink headresses and full-length gloves and carried colonial bouquets.

The bridegroom chose as his attendant, Roswell Fulton. The ushers were Arthur, Robert, Joseph and William Fulton, brothers of the bride.

Mrs. Fulton wore a gray dress with black accessories, and Mrs. Smith chose black. Both wore corsages of Talsman roses and sweetpeas.

Miss Ardis Curtis sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the crystal room of the Mayflower hotel with over 100 guests attending.

The bride and groom were planning on motoring to Chicago. For traveling the bride chose a light blue suit with navy accessories.

Voters to Decide Library Purchase

Qualified electors of Plymouth will be asked to vote upon a special proposition in the Feb. 17 balloting.

In addition to the charter amendment to allow the city commission to regulate election board workers wages, the electorate will have the opportunity to accept or reject a proposal vital to the economic and social life of nearly every resident.

They will be asked to either permit or forbid the city commission to borrow $10,000 with which to purchase the present library site on South Main street for a Plymouth library.

City Manager Harold Check said the option on the site is presently held by the Wayne County Library Board. He said the purchase terms required $2,500 down payment and $2.50 a year at 5 percent interest until the balance was paid.

ANNOUNCEMENT

(By H. W. Thatcher)

I wish to inform my many friends in the Plymouth district that I intend to open an up-to-the-minute furniture and floor covering store in the near future (as soon as a new building can be erected). I have recently returned from the Furniture Markets at Chicago and Grand Rapids and I will have a completely new stock of medium and high grade furniture, and no inferior merchandise made during the war to dispose of.

An effort was made to prevent me from engaging in business within 20 miles of Plymouth, but after considerable controversy (in order to get a financial settlement) I agreed to a distance of 5 miles from the Plymouth Post Office however, instead of this being a handicap it will be an advantage as I will have no city taxes and other expenses incident to a location inside the city, consequently I will be able to sell at much lower prices.

For the present the furniture manufacturers and wholesale houses have extended me the privilege of bringing my customers to their sample floors for the purpose of making a selection from their vast assortments.

For appointment! Phone Plymouth 492-J

Kind reader, permit the "Michigan My Michigan" column of The Plymouth Mail to present to you the first and only true story of the origin of that famous mythical character of Michigan historic lore, the great and almighty powerful, Paul Bunyan.
And would you believe it, that Malcolm Bingay of The Detroit Free Press had a hand in it, although James MacGillivray, once a newspaper writer in Detroit who now lives in semi-retirement in Oscoda, was the actual originator of the character?
Recently while listening to the "Michigan Folklore" program on W J R we heard the statement made that as far as the speaker could find out, the first person in Michigan to ever mention Paul Bunyan was James MacGillivray.
Having known Mr. MacGillivray from the time he organized and created the educational division of the Michigan Conservation department more than a quarter of a century ago, we wrote him to check on the statement of the W J R radio Folklore commentator.
The inquiry produced some historic facts which should long live in Michigan newspaper history. It shows what the driving efforts of an editor and the creative imagination of a newspaper writer can produce.
Interesting, intensely so, are the details of how the story happened to have been written in which the Paul Bunyan character was first created by Mr. MacGillivray.
It was back in the years when the present famed editorial director of The Detroit Free Press was city editor of the old Detroit News-Tribune. Mr. MacGillivray was a member of the staff of the News-Tribune at that time.
"Then there was little doing in the news line that night" writes Mr. MacGillivray, "and all the reporters were at their desks at 3 a.m. except the police watch. Bingay swung around to the group and said, 'Every one of you boys have got a good story for our Sunday magazine. While you're doing nothing else, try and write it.'
It was that editorial command which led to the creation of the mythical Paul Bunyan, whose fame now extends throughout the woodlands of not only Michigan, but Canada, Wisconsin and Minnesota.
That is when I conceived the Bunyan yarn, which appeared in The Detroit News-Tribune on July 24, 1910, in 'The Round River Drive' story," wrote Mr. MacGillivray.
Author MacGillivray had plenty of personal background for the lumberjack story in which he created Paul Bunyan, whose strength continues to increase with the passing years.
"My first knowledge of such a lumbercamp character now known as Paul Bunyan came to me when I was scaling logs at the logging camp of Roy Frazier, 22 miles east of Grayling on the north branch of the Au Sable river," writes Mr. MacGillivray. "I was then 13 years of age, but big, like an adult man.
"Among the hardy bunch that constituted Roy's logging crew were such noted characters as 'Dutch Jake,' a Holander wag, but plenty tough, 'P.O.B.' Pat O'Brien, tougher than Jake, and Big Paddy Grant, who claimed (and I think rightly) that he was an orderly for General Grant, during the Civil war.
"The men had a lounging shanty by themselves, removed from Roy's domicile, and hardly an evening went by that some lumberjack did not bring out some new angle on the prowess of a mythical 'Paul Bunyan.' I had never heard the name before, despite the fact that I lived in the renowned lumber-mill area of Oscoda-Au Sable, twin towns that led the world in saw-mill production back in the eighties."
While the fame and glory of Paul Bunyan remained alive and grew year by year along the roaring Au Sable, which floated billions of feet of lumber to the mills, it was not until the "kid log-sawler" of Roy's lumber camp put the name into a newspaper article back in 1910 when Editor Malcolm Bingay had to have some Sunday stories for the old News-Tribune that the world first became acquainted with the mythical Paul Bunyan.
Since delving into the facts about the creation of Michigan's famous lumberjack, we have discovered, too, that the magazine, "American Folklore" also credits Mr. MacGillivray with the distinction of having created Paul Bunyan.
Some 15 or 16 miles west of Oscoda stands the famed Lumberman's monument, one of the outstanding works of sculpture in America. Why not, might we suggest, a monument to Paul Bunyan somewhere near the mouth of the Au Sable where the sawmills once stood that played such an important part in the industrialization of Michigan?
Will MacGillivray, a brother of James, be publisher of the Oscoda Press for a long period of years. He sold The Press last fall and now lives in retirement in Oscoda.

Sunny Florida Calls More Local Residents
Winter's return early this week sent at least four more Plymouth families scurrying off to the sunny southland on Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. William Kaiser left the city for Florida as did Mr. and Mrs. Irving Blunk who went to their home in St. Petersburg. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Sharpley left Sunday for St. Petersburg and Mr. and Mrs. Vaughan Smith in the company of Mrs. Smith's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Vivier of Farmington left Thursday for Fort Meyers, Fla.
The tagging of fish to trace their travels is an ancient practice, as even Isaac Walton noted the tying of ribbons to the tails of Atlantic salmon in the early 1600's.

Bait Scarce Say Fishermen
It appears that farmers around Plymouth have been fighting the corn-borer pest altogether too well. There are not many corn borers to be found in this vicinity at the present time.
At any rate that's the opinion of Plymouth ice fishermen who have been scouring corn fields and fence corners looking for corn borers to use as bait.
There was a time when a fisherman could go out into a corn field or along a fence row where there were certain kinds of high weeds growing that corn borers like to hibernate in during the winter, and in a short time get all the corn borers they needed for bait. But not so this winter. One has to visit a dozen fields to get enough corn borers for just one fishing trip.
"It takes more time to go out and get the bait than it does to catch the fish" complained one blue gill fisherman the other day. He thinks, maybe he had ought to begin to grow some corn borers in his own back yard for winter fishing purposes, he stated.

Scout Outing Planned Sunday

Most of the Scouts of District 7, which comprises that area of Wayne County west of Inkster road, are anxiously scanning the skies and praying that there will be plenty of snow on the ground Sunday.

The reason—that's the day for the Annual running of the Dawson City Sweepstakes. Organized by a group of Plymouth Scouters some six years ago, the Sweepstakes has grown with the years and this year some three to four hundred Scouts and Scouters will take part in this big event which will be staged on the grounds of the Warren Valley Golf Course, on Warren avenue, East of Inkster road.

The event is being sponsored by the Junior Chambers of Commerce of Wayne, Plymouth, and Belleville, and also by the Daisy Manufacturing Co. of Plymouth. Junior Chamber members will aid the Scouters in running the Sweepstakes.

For weeks the various Troops in the District have been working on sledges to enter in the "Best Sledge" Competition, which is an added feature of the Sweepstakes. Patrols which build these sledges will compete for trophies and awards which will be presented for the best workmanship. Any Scout Patrol of four or more boys may enter in the Sweepstakes regardless of whether or not they have built a sledge. The Scouts themselves act as the "Huskies" who pull the sledge around the course.

Promptly at 1:30 p.m., the starter will line up the first heat of eight teams for the start of the Sweepstakes. After they have received their instructions, they will be given a piece of cardboard on which to make a rough sketch map of their journey to the various cities and stations along the route. With the last of the starter's whistle, the teams will open their instructions, read them, and be off along one of the eight different trails.

Let's catch up with one of the teams as they start off along the trail. Their instructions give them the compass course and approximate distance to Fort St. Michael. After some debate, they hit upon the proper course, and are off on their journey. When they reach the Fort, they are greeted by the Commander, who gives the Scouts a signalling problem which takes a little time to work out. When they have it completed, the Commander marks their Tally Board, which the Patrol keeps, and sends them on their way to the next station with a cheery "Good Luck." Their instructions send them on the way to Copper Center City, where they are greeted by the Sheriff of that thriving little town. Here they must carry out some work involving the use of the Scout Knife and Axe. When they have completed this job, their Tally Board is again marked, and they are off for Tanana Crossing.

The Trail Boss at Tanana Crossing has a problem which deeply concerns him, so being good Scouts, the boys help him to figure it out, and by doing so, earn themselves some more points on the tally board. The Trail Boss gives them some directions to Moose Creek, where the Old Trapper has a very interesting task for them to perform. We're

Plymouth Youth Heads Michigan University Daily

Paul Harsha, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Harsha, of Rosedale Gardens, has been named managing editor of the Michigan Daily, the University of Michigan's student publication. Paul will graduate next June. He was in the service of his government for two years, a portion of that time being spent in the Pacific Theatre of Operations.

sorry we can't tell you more about these tasks but that would be giving away the show before it starts. Suffice it to say that at each of the stations the Scouts must be able to perform some Scouting skill creditably in order to have additional points checked up on their Tally Board.

Leaving Moose Creek, the boys head for Mt. McKinley where they encounter a blinding snow storm and the Federal Marshal has them iron out a little difficulty for him. After helping out the Marshal the team heads for TikChik Lake but they encounter a victim of the trail along the way, and being trained in First Aid, they are able to help him reach his destination, instead of being left to freeze in the icy wastes. At TikChik Lake they are suitably rewarded for their efforts, and head for Fairbanks City, where they help the Justice of the Peace with a few odd jobs he has accumulated for them. Oh, boy! In the distance they can see Dawson City (the Clubhouse and Sweepstakes). They're on the home stretch, and with renewed vigor, they tackle the steep slope and arrive back at Dawson City tired but happy over having completed a long trek. They are greeted by the Chief Trader, who checks their Tally Board and enters their scores on the books. The Trader directs them to the Last Chance Restaurant, where the Chief Cook and Bottle Washer helps them to fill their empty stomachs with hot chocolate and hot dogs furnished through the generosity of the sponsors of the Sweepstakes. When they have had lunch, their sledge is judged by the Lumberjacks who have been entrusted with this part of the day over, they can sit back now and watch the other Patrols finish the trail and talk over the various adventures which befell them during this year's running of the Dawson City Sweepstakes.

That's about all we can tell you, except that if you want to see a lot of Scouts having a lot of fun, come out to the Warren Valley Golf Course on Sunday, January 25. (And please, Mr. Weatherman, let's have some snow on the ground). If there is no snow, the Sweepstakes will be postponed a week or until the first Sunday when there is snow.

Petition Deadline Saturday at Noon

City Manager Harold Cook is calling attention to the fact that petitions for the city primary for the next city council election do not do later than noon Saturday, tomorrow, Jan. 25, at the city clerk's office in City Hall. He also pointed out that the city clerk forbids acceptance of petitions on anything but regular blanks obtained from the city clerk. Any other form of nomination petition will not be allowed. There are three vacancies on the city commission this year. To date only one person has filed. Rumors are that at least ten Plymouthites will seek a seat on the panel.

If so, Mr. Cook said, there will have to be a city primary ballot cast along with the county primary on Feb. 17. In fact if more than six persons file, he said, it will be necessary to hold a primary to determine who will be the candidates to be voted upon in the regular election in April.

Otherwise the petitioners will be candidates and not be voted upon until the regular city election April 7, Mr. Cook said. The city charter amendment to give the commission the right to pay higher salaries to election board personnel will be voted upon Feb. 17 whether there is a city primary or not.

Raids Cock-Fight Near Plymouth

Would you believe it? Cuba's national sporting pastime, cock-fighting, has been flourishing for months right along the edge of Plymouth, and no one knew anything about it except those in "high society" cock-fighting circles until last Sunday night when Sheriff Pollock cracked down on a cock-fight near . . .

Some 20 of more were arrested when a cock-fight was raided at 3734 Jay road. Those in attendance at this "classic" affair were from all parts of this section of the state, many from Detroit. So well did the Sheriff's office plan the raid that they had with them Justice of Peace John J. Mokerewski of Inkster, who immediately issued warrants for the arrest of all those in attendance at the cock-fight.

All those arrested were taken to the Warren Valley County Humane Society for disposition. Sheriff Pollock says this is the beginning of his drive against gambling in Wayne county, but the biggest surprise of it all lies in the fact that cock-fighting should have existed in this quiet part of Wayne county without many knowing about it.

In The Legislature

By Elton R. Eaton

There's going to be plenty of news out of Lansing from now on. Much of it will be about taxation. Remember last summer of being told that if the state voted in favor of Amendment No. 2 you could surely look for higher taxes? Remember, too, those post-cards you received in which you were told you could vote in favor of it and there would be no new taxes?

Did you ask yourself the question at the time how it would be possible to take away from the state something like $111,000,000 of its operating expense money, and still keep open its hospitals, normals, health department and other institutions?

Well, right now the "chicken" is coming home to roost. The taxpayers are beginning to find out that shifting expense money from one pocket to another doesn't cut down the expenditures one cent. If you want to live, you have got to spend.

It will be a few weeks before a solution can be worked out, but an effort is going to be made to remedy a mighty serious error in the hopes that new taxes will not have to be imposed. The legislature is moving slowly and carefully and is going to see to it that all of the state's needs are met.

Much has been said about the building of a mansion for the Governor. Much of what has been said is pure "baloney." There's been talk of a mansion for Michigan's governor ever since the days of Frank Murphy, when he moved a lot of girls out of a society house at Michigan State college and took it over for a "mansion" for himself. The fact is that former Governor Harry Kelly did approve of a prospective expenditure of $75,000 for a governor's residence and also had plans drawn for the mansion. But Governor Kim Sigler emphatically declares that he does not have the slightest interest in a Governor's mansion until Michigan and the nation has provided some homes for its homeless veterans. The Governor has a room in Hotel Olds where he expects to live during the time he serves as Michigan's Chief executive.

Have you got a venison or three or four wild ducks tucked away in your food locker? Going to keep them until sometime when you have some close friends come to see you and give them a special treat of Michigan venison, wild duck or pheasant?

You've got 'em, did you say, but are scared to death of the game warden, afraid maybe, you might run over the legal time limit?

Your humble servant is putting forth an effort to try and remedy that situation. We have introduced into the legislature a bill which makes it possible for you to keep in your food locker any venison, or wild birds that you have lawfully taken just as long as the health department says it will not spoil. In other words, you can keep it in your food locker as long as you can keep any other kind of meat or fowl.

The bill has not yet been passed, but we are advised by members of the legislature we have talked with about it that they are for it and will vote to support it. In fact, we hear that even the conservation department is for it.

Governor Sigler has opened wide the door to Michigan's executive office. It is quite apparent that there are going to be no "dark corners" anywhere in his administration if he knows anything about it. He is frank in his discussions with newspaper men, answers their questions without hesitation or evasion and on top of that he has already started a by-monthly radio report to the citizens of the state. His first "report to the people" was last Saturday evening when he was questioned by Editor George Kushing of radio station W.J.R. If the Governor's mansion until Michigan and

Ford Tells Why He Slashed All Prices on Cars

In a Press Conference at Dearborn January 15 Henry Ford II made the following statement which reflects company decision on matters basically important to national economy.

"Although more than one million of our customers are waiting for delivery of their cars at present prices we are immediately reducing the price of every Ford car—some models as much as $50. "This is our 'down payment' toward a continued high level of production and employment in the months ahead. We believe that the 'shock treatment' of prompt action is needed to halt the insidious spiral of mounting costs and rising prices and to restore a sound base for the hopeful period of post-war production we are now entering."

"Let me review briefly the considerations which have led us to take this important step. "The Ford Motor Company is in the mass production business. Mass production depends upon large markets. It will continue to succeed only if it can produce more and more at lower and lower cost so that more and more people can buy. Large markets begin to disappear when prices rise.

"The un-American spiral of mounting costs and rising prices has hurt everybody—some groups more than others. Many have not benefited from post-war wage increases, but have had to share the burden of resulting higher prices. Already, millions of American families are unable to buy the things which, in normal times, make up their standard of living. "In the short view, we can see inflation. In the long view, there is danger of depression.

"The period since V-J day has been an unhappy and costly period of reconversion to peacetime production. Ford Motor Company has lost millions of dollars since V-J day, even after all tax adjustments. "But the crisis of this wild aftermath of war seems to have been passed. Our own production, though still limited by material shortages, is now steadier. Productivity of our employees, which hit new low during the period, seems to have started its return to normal. Ford Motor Company made a modest profit for the last three months of 1946, and we intend to continue to operate in the black.

"The American economy now stands at a turning point, mounting costs and rising prices have warranted caution and hesitancy. There is even general fear that cannot be corrected without an economic recession. We think this fear can be dispelled by common sense and action. And among free men that becomes an individual responsibility.

"The Ford Motor Company therefore proposes to accept its losses since V-J day as an item of the cost of a great and victorious war. We are closing our books on that phase of our production history. We have decided that now is the time for us to make an investment in the future.

"Many businesses may not be able to follow suit because they must build up depleted cash reserves or because they are still losing money, but we hope that our supplies, our employees, and our other economic partners, will back, each to his own ability, our attempt to return to the economic pattern which has helped to make America great—The principle that higher wages and a higher standard of living for all depend upon lower costs and lower prices through increasingly efficient large-scale production.

"We hope as we move forward that we will be able to reduce prices further, and that we will not be forced to raise them again to compensate for cost increases."

Living For What?

The triple doorways of the Cathedral of Milan have three inscriptions over the arches. Over one is carved a wreath of roses, and underneath are the words, "All that which pleases is but for a moment." Another arch has a cross with the words, "All that which troubles us is but for a moment." But under the central entrance is the inscription: "That only is important which is eternal."

A day came when many who lived for time ceased to follow Christ. Turning to His disciples He said, "Will we also go away?" Peter said, "To whom shall we go? Thou hast the words of eternal life." Men live in time for eternity only as they hold to this truth as expressed by Peter. How is it with you?

Many to Attend Sports Show

Plymouth will send a bigger delegation down to the annual Detroit Sports and Boat show scheduled from January 25 to February 2 in Convention hall than ever before, according to prominent members of the Western Wayne County Conservation association.

William H. Pfau, who has directed these shows in Detroit for the past ten years, has announced that 100 booths will be installed in the mammoth hall and each of the booths will contain something of interest to the sportsmen and women of Michigan. In addition Pfau has engaged entertainment of the kind that is ever popular with the outdoor man and woman.

There will be log rollers and canoe tilters from Nova Scotia. Included in this band is Viola Paul, the only woman canoe tilter in the country. From Maine will come Perry Greene, famed guide and out-doorman, who is bringing some of his Chinook dogs which he raises. Billy Hughes of California will be on the program with Blackie, the talking crow which has baffled scientists. Charley Frank, the Detroit man, who is considered one of the best dog trainers in the nation, will show his quintet of dogs in retrieving and obedience stunts. Of course there will be an Indian in the show and he is Chief John Turner from the North Bay country. Also on the program will be Ted Allen, world champion horseshoe pitcher, who always pleases the crowd. Other acts include Lew Bohm and his seal, Jumbo, and Bob Perry, diving comedian.

Last year more than 150,000 persons witnessed the show. This number is expected to be exceeded this year as the price of admission is reduced. The doors of the hall will be open from 12 o'clock noon until 11 p.m. daily.

Girl Cagers Open Season

The girls' basketball league of four teams, sponsored by the Plymouth Recreation Commission, got underway Tuesday night with a pair of games at the Methodist Church gymnasium.

The Plymouth Mail sextet engaged the Daisy outfit. The results were: Daisy 19 and Plymouth Mail 5.

Beglinger's squad met the Question Marks. The score was Beglinger 21 to the Question Marks 7.

The girls will continue to play every Tuesday night at the church gym with games at 7 and 8 p.m. They play according to boys' cage with six-minute quarters.

Plymouth Scouts Take Sunday hike

Plymouth Scout Troop P. 2 enjoyed a busy afternoon on Sunday last when it trekked out to the "Big Woods" on Schoolcraft near Merriman where a busy program of Scouting kept them occupied until dark.

All the scouts reported having a good time and the new Tenderfoot took advantage of the opportunity to pass several of their tests.

The following scouts were in attendance:

Max Lane, Herman Parmenter, William Ouimet, Ronald Johnson, Jack Spanier, Bill Clark, David Hazlett, Robert Clark, Robert Heard, Charles Heard, Denny

Winkler, Roger Bowring, Charles Carr and James Darling.

Dick Hansen and Don Wilcy of Rosedale Gardens were guests of the troop and acted as photographers for the occasion.

The troop wishes to thank Thomas Chapman, of Livonia township and Raymond Winkler, of Bradner road, for their assistance in making their trip a big success.

The troop was under the leadership of Orlich Lycka, assistant scoutmaster and William Johnson who is to be re-registered in the same capacity soon.

The Wolf Patrol of this troop has completed their Klondike Sledge to be used in the Dawson City Sweepstakes events to be held at the Warren Valley Golf Club, January 26. This is the annual winter affair for the district and as the district has been enlarged, a big attendance is to be expected.

To Demonstrate Right Methods of Mending Woolen Garments

Modern methods of mending woolens will be demonstrated at meetings now being planned by the Home Economics Extension groups of Wayne county. Emma DuBord, County Home Demonstration Agent, announces that Leaders' meetings have been scheduled as follows:

Friday, Jan. 31, 10:00-3:30, St. Paul's Evangelical and Reform Church Taylor Center.

Monday, Feb. 3, 10:00-3:30, Plymouth Grange Hall.

Tuesday, Feb. 4, 10:00-3:30, Belleville Town Hall.

Wednesday, Feb. 5, 9:30-3:00, Gratiot Township, County Library.

Thursday, Feb. 6, 10:00-3:30, Northville County Library, 107 Wing St.

The latest ideas on darning and patching will be taught by Emma DuBord. This lesson includes the re-treading of worn knees and elbows of suits, mending knitted garments and making a reweave patch. Mending doesn't sound all glamorous, but it is a mighty important part of the homemaker's job these days. No clothing and materials are scarce and expensive. It is up to us to see that our clothes are not discarded because of holes or tears when a good job of mending could keep them in service. Knowing how makes that job easier. All local groups will send leaders to this meeting. Only organized groups are privileged to attend these meetings.

Gets Picture of Famed Submarine

Robert Phillips, who served on the famed submarine "Barb" that made history more than once during the last World war, has just received from his former commander, Eugene Flunckey, a highly colored artist's sketch of one of the most daring raids made by the submarine.

During this raid, made in un-chartered Jap waters, the "Barb" was credited with having sunk 10 Jap ships with a total of more than 90,000 tons. For its daring exploits the "Barb" commander was awarded both congressional medals and a Presidential citation. Probably no other submarine that lived through the last world war made a more spectacular record than did the "Barb". Robert was on the "Barb" from the beginning until the end of the war.

The youthful submarine crew member who has been given his discharge from the navy, was married last summer to Lucille Woodard, a Washington girl he met while in service. They are at present residing at the home of his parents in Robinson subdivision, but have purchased a home at 5707 Lineville road, near the intersection of Ford and Wayne roads. They plan to move into their home in the near future.

Girl Scouts Out To Win Honors

Members of Girl Scout troop No. 6 are making a diligent effort to win "My Community Badge", a distinction offered to girls who put forth an effort to become thoroughly familiar with the community in which they live.

Troop 6 girls have already visited the Plymouth postoffice and have observed the details of how mail is received and sent out from this city. On a recent visit to the city hall, City Manager Harold Cheek gave them much interesting information on the work of the city and explained to them the details of the efforts being made by the city to improve its water supply.

Fire Chief McAllister explained to the girls the equipment of the fire department and told them just what is done by the firemen from the minute the fire alarm is received until the fire is out.

James Lature, a member of the high school faculty, in a recent visit to the girls explained why it is necessary for children in the United States to attend school until they are 16 years of age.

Mrs. Ruth Krump, advisor of the troop, is putting forth an especial effort to help each member of the group to win this coveted Scout honor.

If you have any items of interest about your family or friends please call Plymouth 6.

STRETCH YOUR COAL PILE WITH INSULATION

Your fuel supply won't actually get bigger, but it will go down much slower if you insulate now with Baldwin-Hill black Rockwool.

B-H black Rockwool is a quality insulation, naturally fire-proof and water repellent, that acts as a barrier against the escape of furnace heat.

Savings up to 40 per cent of your fuel bill are possible —and out of these savings you can pay for the insulation.

CALLING ALL PROPERTY OWNERS

Courtesy USMC and Victor F. Donahue, Artist

Your help is needed NOW in providing living quarters for veterans' families.

If you own a big old-fashioned home, why not remodel it into modern apartments and suites? If you own an apartment building, why not alter it into more smaller apartments? If you have unused space over a store—or in any structurally sound commercial structure—why not convert it to living units?

The need for sheltering families of ex-servicemen is urgent. You will perform a useful public service and provide an income-producing investment for yourself, if you will "remodel for veterans" now.

The work can be financed with low-cost FHA-insured Property Improvement Loans. Priority assistance can be obtained for building materials in critically short supply under the Veterans Emergency Housing Program.

Let us help you with your plans and specifications as well as with your FHA financing. Call us anytime.

SCHOOL NEWS

FIELDING STRESSES LONG RANGE PEACE
"What you're aiming for is a long range peace," stated Captain Michael Fielding when speaking to the students of Plymouth High in assembly on January 14. Captain Fielding, who is a radio commentator and newspaper correspondent, lived for many years in India. When he returned last year to visit his friends and renew old acquaintances, Captain Fielding was urged to live with a band of guerrilla headhunters and to obtain their friendship for the allies.

Captain Fielding gave many examples of the way the American public had been led astray by their own newspapers. He also gave four rules to consider when judging a lecturer, commentator, or newspaper article. Above all he urged the young people to take an interest in world affairs.

FIRST SEMESTER ENDS
The semester exams were conducted last Wednesday, January 22, and Thursday, January 23, and the first semester of the 1946-47 school year. School will resume again next Monday, starting the second semester.

STUDENTS VOTE ON PROPOSED CHANGES
Last Friday, January 17, the student body voted in a large majority to keep the officers who are now in office for the school government and to make any additions according to the New Constitution to finish out the school year. The New Constitution was drawn up by the students now in office.

The students were called into their homerooms to vote on three different clauses which were:
I. Hold a whole new election under the Old Constitution.
II. Hold a new election under the New Constitution.
III. Keep officers now in office and make additions according to the New Constitution to finish out the school year.

TRENTON WINS FIRST PLACE BY BEATING PLYMOUTH
In the battle for the undisputed first place in the suburban B cage game, Trenton got by the Rocks, beating "Finn's Cagers" by a resounding 5-29 at Trenton on the 17. Both teams came up to this game without a blemish on their record, each winning three cage games.

In the first quarter the teams sparred away at each other looking for a weak spot, while the whistle happy referees were calling many fouls. Trenton lead 6-5. In the second heat the game saw-sawed back and forth with Trenton ahead at the half 20-16. Doyle of Trenton was doing a one man stunt, scoring 14 of his team total. Trenton increased its score by one in the third quarter still leading 27-24. As the fourth period began the fans sat up on the edge of their seats expecting a close contest, but Trenton started pulling away, scoring with ease. The down-river boys finally came out the winners on the long edge of a 50-20 score.

Doyle of Trenton was high point man for the night scoring 22 points, while DeWayne Becker was sinking nine counters. The Plymouth reserve suffered the same fate as the Varsity, taking it on the chin 26-18. This loss brought the reserves record up to three wins and the same number of losses. Forward Dick Bloomhuff led the Rocks with seven points. Tonight the Rocks tangle with the Redford Union cagers on the home floor in the battle for second place. This game marks the last appearance of George Schomberg, star Rock guard, in a Plymouth uniform; as George is graduating at mid-term.

Schultz, and Miss V. Olmsted.

BAND NOTES
A great many Plymouth residents and high school students were seen at the concert given by the University of Michigan Concert Band at the Hill Auditorium on January eighteenth. The band, under the direction of Richard Franko Goldman, played: the overture to La Scala di Seta; Suite-Italian Sketches; Czech Rhapsody; Shoothree; Joyous Interlude; Reccable Kingdom; Grieg Piano Concerto; Ballet de Plesir; Two Dances; and Sunday morning at Glion. Two alumni of Plymouth are in members of the concert band. They are Bob Chute, brass saxophonist and Dorothy Woodbury, clarinetist.

Bill Bateman accompanied Mr. Paul Wagner to the Annual Mid-western Conference on School Vocal and Instrumental Music as the student representative from Plymouth High. This conference was held in Ann Arbor on January 17, 18, and 19. He heard the University of Michigan All-State High School Orchestra play several selections.

NOT ON YOUR TINTYPE!
Grandma looks calm and collected as she poses for posterity, but she wasn't—not on your tintype! Getting her family ready for this picture was a long, weary business.
The day this photo was snapped, Grandma was up at dawn, wrestling with the old wood stove, coaxing the kettle to boil, cooking breakfast. And the day before, she ironed the r r untain of clothes that had needed such hard scrubbing. The day before that—
But that was Grandma's life. She didn't know any other kind. Her way of housekeeping took lots of time, lots of elbow grease. In Grandma's gayest dreams she never imagined the time would come when a woman would have dozens of electric servants daily for the cost of a bar of soap.
Electric service—ready and willing around the clock and calendar—is a modern miracle Grandma missed by being born too soon. But electrical dependability (and cheapness, too) didn't happen by accident. Not on your tintype! They're the result of plenty of hard work and practical experience on the part of your neighbors who operate this company.

Games in the league will be played every week, either on Wednesday or Thursday nights. There will be games at the school gym on Jan. 29, Feb. 5, and Feb. 12 too.
Virgil C. Knowles, recreation head in Plymouth, points out that in co-operation with the public schools, students will not be allowed to remain at the games after 9 p.m. School activities are banned during the week for that purpose so the city will also enforce the p.m. curfew for attendance at these games, Mr. Knowles said.

The girls' cage league, also sponsored by the City, will begin play next Tuesday night, Jan. 21, at the Methodist church gym. Mr. Knowles announced. The four teams in the league will play each Tuesday until the first round is completed.
Opening games will find the Konazeski-Stitt sextet battling the Daisy squad and Livingston-Johnson squad playing the team headed by Mrs. Marvin Partridge.
On Jan. 28 the Livingston-Johnson will play the Konazeski-Stitt outfit and the Daisy sextet will meet the Partridge six.

Games on Feb. 4 will find the Partridge squad pitted against the Konazeski-Stitt team and the Livingston-Johnson sextet meeting the Daisy outfit.
The second round of games for the girls will be in the same order as the first with the opening games on Feb. 11.

The girls voted to play according to boys rules as it allows the players more freedom on the court, Mr. Knowles said.

Babson

Babson Discusses Georgia Rows
Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 24. — The present row in Georgia is of important national business significance. Civil war has existed here on the capital grounds between Governor Ellis Arnall and Herman Talmadge, the son of Eugene Talmadge, the duly elected new Governor, who died shortly before his inauguration. The newly elected Lt. Gov. M. E. Thompson seems to be the "forgotten man". At any rate he is setting the nation a good example in patiently awaiting a decision of the courts.

Governorship Tangle
Ellis Arnall claimed the Governorship due to a clause in the Constitution to the effect that the old Governor remains in office until the new Governor takes office. Hence, he and his cohorts attempted to hold the fort for his friend Thompson. On the other hand, the law provides that if no person (presumably no living person) has received a majority vote, the Legislature may elect a Governor from the two candidates receiving the highest votes. Anticipating the death of Eugene Talmadge, a group of about 700 friends of young Talmadge voted in his name on the ballots. Thus, he and his father, Eugene, were the two receiving the highest number of votes. As the father is dead, the son Herman, was the only one whom the Legislature could elect, even though he had received only about 700 votes. It thereupon elected Herman Talmadge as Governor.

Forces Versus Law
Both the Arnall businessmen's group and the Talmadge old-time political group have certain legal technicalities in their favor. If Eugene Talmadge had lived a few days longer to become inaugurated and then had died, Thompson would now be Governor. But, due to the fact that Governor-elect Eugene Talmadge died before he was inaugurated, the politicians, who have run Georgia for many years preceding Arnall's election, grasped an opportunity to get back under the law above mentioned.

Naturally the law-abiding people of the country would like to see Lt. Governor-elect Thompson become Governor, rather than Eugene Talmadge's inexperienced son. On the other hand, the problem is far deeper than who is to be Governor of Georgia for the next four years. The serious part of the situation is that both sides in this conflict have resorted to force. I am not now in Atlanta, but by the last accounts the Talmadge group, by sheer physical force and rowdiness, have taken possession of the capital and are running the government. They merely say that the people wanted Eugene Talmadge to be Governor and young Talmadge will carry his antiquated program, while the new Lt. Governor, would not do so!

Georgia Versus Russia
What is going on in Atlanta today is little different from what has been going on in Europe, Latin America, India and China. The great curse of World War II was the destruction of law and order. In fact, the great struggle ahead of us is: Shall Force or Law rule. All the world is now turning to force. In our own country it has been exhibited in the case of strikes, all the way from government employees down to school children.

Yet in view of the atomic bomb, law and order is the world's only hope today. If the people of Georgia resort to civil war, how can thinking persons believe that the United Nations, made up of hundreds of different races, can successfully function? It is not so much the economic program of Communism, now sweeping Europe, to which thinking people object, as the fact that these Communists resort to force, brutality and rowdiness whether their campaigns are in Warsaw, Rome, Paris, London, Bombay or Shanghai. This determination to use force is frightening businessmen and can easily bring back unemployment and a period of business depression.

What Georgia Should Do
The case ultimately must be decided by the Supreme Court. In the interests of Democracy both groups should now peacefully retire from the scene until the Supreme Court renders its decision, both groups doing all they can to shift our water main around the new county bridge being built at the point. From early in the morning until seven in the evening, the village was getting its water from the big steel tank. The new work was done successfully and 22 1/2 feet of new pipe is now delivery water to the town. The opportunity was taken to insert a new ten-inch gate in the main at this place for better control of the line.

25 YEARS AGO

The demolishing of the Wilcox mill removes one of the landmarks of Plymouth. The mill was built by Henry Holbrook in 1845 and 1846. The old mill was in steady operation during all the years of its existence, with the exception of the times when high water carried away the dam.

The Epworth League of Newburg and their friends, about forty in all, spent Monday evening, skating in the mill pond at Pike's Peak. The skating party wound up their "pleasuring" at the home of Iva Bassett, where a delightful lunch was served. Clyde Smith used his truck to carry most of the young people to the ice.

Hot lunches are being served at the Newburg school this week to the children who have to stay there during the noon hour. Mr. Allenbaugh has made all necessary arrangements and hopes to keep up doing this during the cold weather.

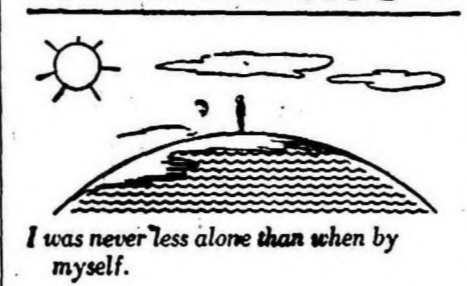

The Canton Community Club will meet with Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Huston, Wednesday evening, January 25. Prof. Scherzer of Ypsilanti State Normal College will give a lecture.

The farmers of Frain's Lake are taking advantage of the pleasant weather and are all filling their iced houses. George Lyke and Roland Wright are cutting.

The ladies of Livonia Center "Help One Another" club met at the home of Mrs. John Baze, Thursday. The clothes pin contest was enjoyed by all. The men who were presented, tried the contest after the ladies had finished, and we think now that each and everyone will be quite handy hanging out the family washing. Ladies take advantage of this. The prizes were won by Mrs. Taggart and Mrs. John Dethloff.

The little girls "Get Together Club" of Livonia was held at the home of Kathryn Redding, Saturday afternoon. The next one will be at Miss Ethel Smith's Saturday, January 21.

Miss Dorothy Dibble, who has been home for several weeks, returned Monday to Rogers Hall school at Lowell, Mass.

On Sunday last while most of Plymouth was at church or skating on Phoenix pond the village workmen under Mr. Reddeman were busy at the first bridge north of Phoenix, making the connections to shift our water main around the new county bridge being built at the point. From early in the morning until seven in the evening, the village was getting its water from the big steel tank. The new work was done successfully and 22 1/2 feet of new pipe is now delivery water to the town. The opportunity was taken to insert a new ten-inch gate in the main at this place for better control of the line.
