

In Forst, Germany, an indomitable carrier pigeon turned up with a three-year-old message from a Nazi infantry detachment. "We are cut off by the enemy in southern Italy and no hope is left of breaking through."

In Cleveland, Mrs. Jessie Salsburg graciously allowed a bus driver to use her front yard faucet to fill his steaming radiator. All the drivers on the route followed suit, in three months ran the Salsburg water bill up to $94.

In Savannah, Mrs. Violet Mackey, animal-farm owner, tangled with a four-foot alligator that clamped onto her arm, vainly struggled to get free, finally dragged the reptile into the house, got a pistol, shot it.

Robert Martin Weds Detroit Girl—To Reside In River Rouge

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil T. Smullin, 18501 Strathmore avenue, Detroit, announced the marriage of their daughter, Elaine Joanne, to Robert J. Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Olin Martin of this city, on Saturday, March 1, in Detroit. After a honeymoon trip to New York City they will be at home to their many friends at 15 James street, River Rouge. The young people have long been acquainted. The groom served during the entire war period with invasion troops in the far Pacific and India. He is at present employed by the Fabricon Products company of River Rouge.

Ruth A. Scott Is United In Marriage To Ceril Burton

At an afternoon ceremony Saturday, March 8, in the Methodist Church of Plymouth Ruth A. Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Scott of Haggerty Highway, became the bride of Ceril Burton, Rev. Clifford E. Doty performed the ceremony. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gray suit with black and white accessories and a corsage of white roses. Her only attendant was Eleanor Roberts of Flint. She wore a blue suit with red accessories and a corsage of white roses. Herman Webber, of Toledo, Ohio, a brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was the best man. Following the ceremony a reception for seventy-five guests was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Water Dept. Income Will Pay All Expense in Getting Good Water

(Continued from page 1) plus was transferred to the general fund to help keep the tax rate down. Now all water revenues will have to be used for Water Department purposes.

Beside the use of water funds for general city purposes, some water funds have been used to make special assessment improvements. All assessments being paid now are needed in the general fund for the current year operation. There will not be any surplus receipts from present accounts due to finance the water improvements.

Present City Debt
The city of Plymouth now has a bonded debt of only $44,000. Of this amount, the general fund has outstanding $20,000 and the Water Department has outstanding $24,000. The above $44,000 will be entirely paid by June 1951. When the water bonds are paid, then money now allocated for water bonds can be applied to pay the bonds issued for the new improvements.

Advisory Committee Meeting
The Advisory Water Development Committee met with the city commission to discuss the engineer's report on water improvements. The consensus of opinion was that all phases of the improvements should be included in one project and that they all be financed in one bond issue. To issue $250,000 to $300,000 bonds in the near future and then later to issue approximately $250,000 more did not seem desirable and practicable. More water to the limits of Plymouth would not remedy to any great extent the problem of getting water under good pressure to all parts of the city and of having sufficient water in elevated storage and mains to provide proper fire protection.

The city commission and the Advisory Water Development committee also felt that if the water users are to pay for the improvements through increased water bills, then the water users should be solicited by ballot at the April 7th spring election. The City Manager was instructed to write each water user in Plymouth to further explain the proposed improvements. If you did not get a copy of this letter, you may secure one at the city hall.

Donald Horton Dies Suddenly in California

Otis K. Richard went into business for themselves. The new venture was a hardware store on Russell street in Detroit. They successfully operated this business until the time of its sale at the outbreak of World War I, both men expecting to be called into the armed forces. Both were rejected, however, and Mr. Horton joined the Morris W. Fox Ford agency, becoming its sales manager soon after. He entered his own business again in 1920, opening a used car agency on Cass avenue at Milwaukee where a branch of the U. S. Post Office is now located, and in the following year moved the business to Highland Park, at Woodward avenue and Davison, where he continued for 17 years.

Mr. Horton sold his business in 1936 and came to Plymouth in 1937. At that time he purchased approximately 30 acres of land at the southwest intersection of Ann Arbor road and Haggerty highway where he built in the woods the beautiful home that the family has occupied ever since. On March 15, 1938, he and Earl Mastick set up a business on South Main street and Ann Arbor road known as the Alth Chalmers farm equipment agency and also as dealers for Dodge, Plymouth and Packard motor cars.

700 Teachers to Attend Meeting In City Today

Joe Rowland, a Plymouth resident and principal of the Cady school, is president of the district and Miss Waldorf is vice-president. They will serve as chairmen of the sessions, reversing their chairmanships for the afternoon and morning meetings.
Invocation here will be by Rev. Welch of the Presbyterian church. An a capella choir of 65 voices under the direction of Leslie Lee of Northville high school will be a program feature.

Helmer Nelson, superintendent of schools, Ethel Killham, vice-president, and Carvel Bentley, president, of the local teachers' club, will introduce speakers at the morning session.

The principal speaker will be Dr. Harold Hand head of the College of Education, University of Illinois. He is an author and a renowned lecturer, with an enviable military record which took him to the Near-East, into the E.T.O. and also in General McArthur's area of operations. Mr. Hand's topic is entitled "Education for Survival."

Charles Brake, director of M.E.A. will give a report on the association during the session.
Mrs. Charles Minehart, chairman of the committee in charge of the noon luncheon, mentions the planning and the service to be rendered by the ladies of the Presbyterian and Methodist churches. She says their contribution to the institute is much appreciated by the association's officers.

Invitations to attend the meetings have been mailed all teachers in the district. Members teaching south of Michigan avenue will attend the Trenton session, while those located north of Michigan avenue will be present at the Plymouth sessions.

In Chicago, Dolores McCrossen lost her dog, asked police to find it. Identifying marks: red nail polish on its toenails.

Professional Women View Scenes of Mexico

The Business and Professional Women's club of Plymouth met for their monthly dinner on Monday, March 10, at the Episcopal parish house. The table was decorated in keeping with the theme of the evening's program, "Westward Ho", by having a replica of a covered wagon for a centerpiece.

Mrs. Arthur Mills, program chairman, introduced Mr. and Mrs. Angus Diack who presented the program to the group. Mrs. Diack was appropriately dressed in a Mexican costume, and acted as narrator while Mr. Diack showed nearly a thousand feet of colored motion pictures. Subject of the pictures was a trip by the Diacks through 15 states and into old Mexico last summer.

A cacti garden showing specimens brought from Arizona, and several articles of Mexican hand-weaving and pottery were displayed.

city issues Water Revenue bonds to finance these improvements, then the water rates will have to be increased to pay off the bonds, interest and other increased costs. In other words, the user would be paying the bill for an adequate supply of high quality water. Water now costs the average residential user about 6 cents a ton or 25 cents for 20 fifty gallon barrels of water. A large number of water customers pay less than $1.00 per month for water. When compared with the cost of electricity or gas per month, high quality water should be worth a "great deal more."

"To learn more of the proposed water improvements, look for articles in the Plymouth Mail explaining the contents of the engineer's report. The second of a series of such articles appeared in the Plymouth Mail published on March 7, 1947. Other articles by the City Manager will follow."

"The City Commission with the advice of a citizens advisory committee has decided to have you express your opinion on the water improvements at the Spring Election to be held on April 7. Every eligible voter in Plymouth or these unregistered voters who register to vote, before 8:00 p.m. on Monday, March 17, 1947 can vote upon this proposal. Property ownership is not a qualification to vote on this issue because you will not be voting on a bond issue, but will be indicating that you do or do not approve the proposed plan, the method of financing to be decided by the City Commission."

"Water works improvements contemplating a permanent solution to the present problem are of vital importance to every water user in Plymouth. You should indicate your opinion by ballot. If you wish to express your opinion by writing a letter, it will be welcomed."

Mrs. Paul Schroeder, wife of the district forester in charge of Allegan state forest, found out what a deer rescued from attacking dogs will do. It lies down and rests for two hours before attempting to move away.

As though struggling to reach the place where it knew it would get help, the deer got within 100 feet of the forest headquarters before one of the two dogs which had been harrying it brought the exhausted animal down. Shortly after Mrs. Schroeder drove the dogs off, Conservation Officer Harry Plotts caught up with them, shot them.

F. W. Stuewer, Swan Creek wildlife experiment station manager, reports carcasses of three deer fortunate deer have been found near roads in the forest in recent weeks. Deer are at a disadvantage in the 18-inch deep snow, freed enough to support the free-roaming mongrels but not the deer.

Nearly 1,500 interviews with farmers in Bay county and in boundary townships of counties bordering Bay have been collected by the conservation department's fox situation survey team, and dumped into the hopper of the sorting and tabulating machine.

Detailed plans for an intensive fox control campaign are to be drawn up after the punch-cards show the areas in which the problem is most acute and how many farmers are "agin" foxes, how many are for 'em, and how many don't care.

Ed Kincaid, Swan Creek wildlife experiment station worker who makes the most of his home's location in good cover in Allegan state forest, boasts of as many as 15 deer at one time at a feeding station 50 yards from his house and as many as 15 fox squirrels at the distant feeder and one within 15 feet of his living room window.

For his own amusement and not as a game management measure, Kincaid feeds corn to the deer, scratch feed to the birds, Chickadees now take bread from his hand, and among the dozens of feathered free lunch callers are downy and red-bellied woodpeckers, cardinals, bluejays, nuthatches, titmice, tree sparrows and crows.

One or two of the deer often stroll within a few yards of the living room window, apparently curious about what goes on inside.

Observation of game abundance from the air is getting a preliminary tryout over Bay and Gratiot counties, the conservation department reported this week.

From low altitudes game men have found small game surprising conspicuous against a snow background. Deeryard inspections and a survey of the state's elk herd in Pigeon River state forest may be attempted before spring. After the snow goes, flights may be made to observe waterfowl concentrations. Muskrat houses and beaver ponds also are considered good subjects for observation from the department plane.

Game biologist Joe Linduska, who has been in charge of the conservation department's pheasant survey, is resigning from the department's game division to begin work March 16 at Patuxent research refuge of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife service at Bowie, Maryland. At Patuxent he will use his experience and training in game management and insect control in studies of the effect of DDT on wildlife.

As an entomologist, Linduska was "loaned" during the war years to the U.S. Public Health Service and the U.S. Bureau of Entomology for research in means of curbing insect-borne diseases and in developing, among other things, an effective mosquito repellent.

The federal service pay scale is substantially higher than Michigan's. Linduska, here since 1940, is the second game division biologist to go to the Patuxent station in the last six months. Dr. Durward Allen, formerly biologist in charge of Rose Lake wildlife experiment station, joined the federal station staff in October.

Protests by sportsmen are credited with prompting the withdrawal of Senate Bill 232 at Washington. This is the bill which would have required registration of all firearms but shotguns and rimfire .22 caliber rifles, taxed firearms dealers and firearms transfers maintained a fingerprint file of all firearms owners with the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and provided enforcement penalties up to $500 fine and one year in jail.

FARMINGTON "S" DISTRICT CHAMPS

For the third time this season the Northville "S" downed the Farmington "S" in the state climactic game Friday night by a score of 31-27. After a slow start in the early minutes of the game the Mustangs led all the way having a 14-11 advantage at the half and staged a scoring spree in the third period.

Every boy who played scored with Pierce tallying 17 points to lead the Mustangs and Dobbs making 11 counters to pace the locals.

Thursday Farmington drubbed Redford Union 36-14 on Saturday in a tight game they edged out Northville 23-22 to take the district class E championship. Also, Thursday Inkster turned back St. Albans 31-15 on Saturday to Clintonville 31-27. Clarenceville defeated South Lyons easily 49-15 Friday. This made Clarenceville class C district champions.

In Decatur, Ill., a lady bountiful gave a seedy-looking stranger $1 and a cheery injunction: "Keep your spirits high." Later the stranger presented her with $87, her share of the winnings on a horse named High Spirits.

In Olympia, Wash., an illiterate prisoner learned to read and write in the State Reformatory, got paroled, bounced back in jail to serve a term for larceny.

Plan Exhibition Basketball Game

Arrangements are under way by the recreation department and the high school for an exhibition basketball game between the winners of the Plymouth Recreation League and the Allen Pattern League of Pontiac, Michigan. The game is tentatively scheduled for play in the high school gymnasium on the 25 of March at 9 o'clock. It will be preceded by another game of probably the runner up team in the Plymouth League and another outside team if possible.

The admission charge will be contributed to the football light fund of the high school. Therefore your attendance will be a contribution towards this very necessary fund, and also you will see Plymouth's representatives in action prior to their leaving for the state tournament in Battle Creek on the 27, 28 and 29 of March.

Steel sets the pace for progress

He's thinking up things to make life better for you

YOUR garage man can pound a dent out of your steel fender—and make it as good as new. Made of almost anything except steel, your fender would have a hole in it, or else you would have to buy a new one. The gears of your car can now stand five times as much wear as the best gear steel of twenty years ago. And so it goes for thousands of things you buy. Better and safer automobiles, better watches, better shovels, better refrigerators—all start with better steels that come out of the research laboratories of steel companies.

Why does your doctor have a reception room?

You probably have never given a thought as to why your doctor has a waiting room — it's one of those things you just take for granted. And that's the wonderful part of it — you DO take it for granted. You take your place in the waiting room as matter-of-factly as you take your turn at the voting booth. It's as democratic as America itself. The doctor's reception room is the American way of making YOU the elector of your own medical service, — of giving you the freedom of choice in selecting your doctor.

Railroad Subject Of Hi-12 Address

The Plymouth Hi-12 club met Wednesday night at the Masonic Temple for its regularly scheduled weekly session. The principal speaker was B. G. Nash, who is a division superintendent of the Pere Marquette Railroad. The romance of railroading was proven by the executive of the firm that serves the city so well. The chairman in charge of the evening's program was George Raviler. Besides arranging for the address by Mr. Nash he and his committee also furnished interesting quiz books on the subject of railroading. A lot of planning and effort was put forth by the committee and consequently, the evening was a huge success for the attending members.

Howard Stark Receives Letter of Appreciation

Here and there in Europe there are evidences that the city of Plymouth, Michigan, most assuredly does have a heart, a big heart. Last week a letter of thanks came to Robert Willoughby for clothing he had sent to England. Now comes a letter from another which also pours out the thanks of a less fortunate individual in the country of Austria.

Howard Stark of 302 Blunk street is the recipient of the latest letter from the old countries. He believes that the letter of thanks is ample reward for the gift of clothing which he sent a year ago last January.

Following is a transcript of the interesting note: "Thank you so much for your nice coat to keep me warm during the winter time. I can say I was very glad to get such a nice and useful present, it was my Christmas present. Inside the coat I found a little letter written from you just one year ago on the 25th of January, 1946. You must know I can not write or speak English, but I am engaged and my sweetheart does write this little letter to you. I hope you can all understand. She has been nearly two years in England, this was a few years ago, but we live in the Russian zone in Austria in a little town, 60 miles from Vienna. Here is not much opportunity to speak English, and she is very sorry for it. As you know life in Austria is still very hard, especially the food problems, but we hope in a short time it will get better.

I was very pleased to hear from you so far away and thank you for your kindness and perhaps you have got time one day to write us a little letter again. Well, kind regards from Austria. Signed Joe Kern and his friend, Erny Reiter, St. Polten, Dosefstr. No. 63, Austria."

Science Lecture Well Attended

A large and interested audience filled the high school auditorium last Thursday evening to listen to a lecture on Christian Science. The lecturer was Earl E. Simms, C. S. of Austin, Texas, whose subject was "The Way of Complete Salvation" the lecturer said in part:

God Is Knowable and Understandable

Is not the question, "What is God?" one that you and I should be able to answer for ourselves and others? Indeed it is! Our answer namely, our knowledge of God, reveals our ability to demonstrate His ever-presence, His power, His love, and His law. The Christian Science textbook says (p. 465), "God is incorporeal, divine, supreme, infinite Mind, Spirit, Soul, Principle, Life, Truth, Love." Answering the question as to whether or not the terms she uses interchangeably for God are synonymous, Mrs. Eddy says (ibid.), "They are. They refer to one absolute God. They are also intended to express the nature, essence, and wholeness of Deity. The attributes of God are justice, mercy, wisdom, goodness, and so on."

Christian Science reveals God to be All-in-all, God being infinite, the synonyms for limitless Mind are infinite. To magnify Him as we must to gain this enlarged concept, we must understand and make extensive use of these holy names for our dear heavenly Father-Mother.

Does not God as Mind denote the omniscience of one divine intelligence which conceived man and the universe and revealed His numberless spiritual ideas? There cannot be minds many because in reality there are not gods many. Man reflects and expresses the divine Mind, whose qualities include spiritual wisdom, intelligence, understanding, spontaneity, originality, and ability. The allness of God as divine Mind precludes any false belief that man is governed by a mortal or material mind which presents false claims of limitation, ignorance, stupidity, and superstition. Always be conscious that your true selfhood is the offspring of Mind; and therefore know that no false claims of an erroneous mind can ever influence you adversely or take away your God-given intelligence, ability, and strength to express perfection.

The Master himself designated Spirit as a synonym for Deity. He said, "God is a Spirit; and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth." (John 4:24). To some, Spirit, more than any other term, indicates the infinity, omnipresence, and eternity of God. An understanding of God as Spirit prohibits the false belief that matter, Spirit's opposite, can possibly be substance or possess life, truth, or intelligence. As the so-called material senses are incapable of comprehending God, in finite Spirit, just so the real man, the spiritual image of God, is free from all material fears and limitations. Never forget that in your true being you are this man!

As these synonyms which are equivalent terms for God are revealed in their fine spiritual sense, can't you just feel your concept of God expanding and your love, appreciation, and gratitude to Him as your divine Principle, unfolding along scientific lines? Principle comes from a Latin root which means "first, beginning, foundation." Thus God is revealed as the divine Principle of man, and therefore God and man are coexistent and coeternal.

Truth is another Scriptural name for God, and is so used in Christian Science. God is Truth. Someone has said, "Truth is that which is." Then error, the opposite of Truth, must be that which is not. Jesus declared God to be knowable; he said, "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." (John 8:32.) His teachings, unceremoniously erasing agnosticism, which is ignorance of God, to the Christian Scientist, Truth is divine, real and powerful, while error is temporal, unreal, and impotent. Man is the expression of Truth. His God-given qualities include intelligence, ability, understanding, honesty, might, and courage.

Life and Love are also synonyms for Deity which mean so much in Christian Science. Shall we consider them together? Mrs. Eddy felt they could be so considered, for in one of her poems she wrote (Poems, p. 7), "For Love alone is Life." You recall the Master's experience recorded in Luke's Gospel when the lawyer asked him, "Master, what shall I do to inherit eternal life?" This man desired to know how he could experience life, here and now, in all its beauty and joy, spiritual progress and prosperity. Jesus had him answer his own question in that he required him to state the law of Love which governs eternal life, namely, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind; and thy neighbor as thyself." (Luke 10:27.) When the man had finished, the Saviour declared, "Thou hast answered right; this do, and thou shalt live." (Luke 10:28.) He did not say, "Thou shalt die and then live." He implied, Thou shalt live now.

My friends, isn't this the only life that you and I desire to know anything about? I am sure it is! Then why not live this life, here and now, in all its beauty, love, happiness, and true prosperity, instead of waiting until some uncertain future time? Why not recognize death as an enemy to be overcome, as the Scripture declares, instead of erroneously believing it to be the portal to eternal life and heaven? Christian Science shows heaven to be, and I quote (Science and Health, p. 291:13), "not a reality, but a divine state of Mind." Jesus declared the kingdom of God to be in you, that is, in your consciousness of His ever-presence. God is Life! He is all Life, therefore He is the only Life. Man, your individual spiritual selfhood and mine, is the manifestation of Life, of Love! Man is the reflection of Love! Christian Science demonstrates that God as Love is omnipresent, omnipotent, omniscient, and omnicausal. Therefore, in reality Love fills this room, your home, your office, your church.

Love the True Incentive

"Love for God and man is the true incentive in both healing and teaching," declares Mrs. Eddy (ibid., p. 454). A Christian Science treatment may be defined as divine Love in action! Spiritual affection and understanding are healing angels, operating instantaneously, opening their prison doors for the sick, and binding up the broken-hearted. When a call for help comes, the consecrated practitioner pours into human consciousness the flood tides of Love and Truth, and the healing should be immediate and permanent.

This was proved conclusively to a young businessman who entered the public practice of Christian Science. After about a year of reasonably successful practice, this young man found himself with quite a list of patients. The group was composed of those who were better today and worse tomorrow and vice versa. True, there were no serious complications, but there were few complete healings. Concerned over this erroneous state of affairs which seemed to persist in spite of his earnest and conscientious prayers, the young worker consulted his teacher in Christian Science. The more experienced friend was quick to discover the reason for the trouble and said, "Do you know what you are doing? You are doing your practice work just as you used to do your business." The unamplified statement was not at that moment understood.

That night, humble prayer was continued and more than once the kind and tender voice was heard saying, "You are doing your practice work just as you used to do your business."

In his office the next morning, the young practitioner, refreshed after a night of earnest longing, continued his efforts to dispel the mist and clear his vision. As he affirmed the ever-presence of divine intelligence and that man reflects and expresses this intelligence in wisdom, power, understanding, and ability, the still small voice of Truth whispered, "How much do you love those patients?" There was the answer, my friends, "How much do you love those patients?" In other words, "Do you yourself reflect and understand those impersonal qualities of divine Love, namely, spiritual understanding, compassion, mercy, patience, and tender Christly affection? As you affirm the Christianly scientific facts of man's being as the child of God, do you understand that these spiritual qualities are reflected by you and your patient?"

This young man realized forthwith what his friend had meant. He was regarding those who came to him for help just as a lawyer would a client, a doctor a patient, or a merchant a customer. Indeed, he was denying and reversing error's claims and replacing them in consciousness with the true spiritual facts of man's real being as the child of God, but the unaction of divine Love so vitally necessary for instantaneous and permanent healings was lacking in the treatment.

With this uncovering of error and the revelation of how to destroy it, the healer took up work with greater inspiration and confidence. In the midst of the treatment he would declare, "I do express divine Love's qualities. The results were gratifying, in fact amazing, for by the next day at noon, exactly one half of those listed as patients reported that they were healed and the remainder showed good progress. Does not the textbook say (p. 385), "If the Scientist reaches his patient through divine Love, the healing work will be accomplished at one visit, and the disease will vanish into its native nothingness like dew before the morning sunshine?"

In the old city of Canton in South China, one sees the famous Temple of Five Hundred Buddhas. In this enormous temple there are at least five hundred idols, many of which are nine feet tall. Each of these images represents to one who worships them a different state of thought or action. There is a laughing Buddha, worshipped when one wishes to share some good fortune; while to the crying Buddha one kneels when sorrowful and desiring sympathy; another idol with raised finger and severe countenance is sought out when one needs a scolding; and yet another, the Buddha of Chance, a sly poker-faced idol holding playing cards in his hand, is prayed to before a game of FanTan.

NOTHING AMISS

One of the dying thieves spoke to his companion and made this amazing statement concerning the Person on the middle cross, "He hath done nothing amiss"—nothing unnatural, nothing out of place. In saying this he was flying in the face of the prejudice and hatred that had led to the crime of Christ's crucifixion. Consider some of the claims made by the Saviour. He claimed to be the Messiah, the Son of God, but He "did nothing amiss." He called the weary and heavy laden to Himself to find rest, but here again He "did nothing amiss." He claimed to be the Lord of the Kingdom, and to be the Only Way into the presence and favor of God, but in all this He "did nothing amiss." If you believe with the dying thief in this, then like him you will have your eternal home in the Paradise of God.

...and ignorance, little recognizing how much idolatry is practiced daily in the western world. We do, however, have many temples with many idols. Indeed we do! To mention a few—there are exercise, diet, vitamin pills, daily scolding, and material possessions every time one lingers longly before a patent medicine bottle or sends himself by way of prescription into a pharmaceutical case, he is admitting that matter has power and influence and that Spirit is not to be feared and supreme. He is apparently governing the various elements on the shelves. Someone may say, "I never do any such thing. I just drink a little hot water before retiring, or take a little soda water after meals, or use a little Mercurochrome as first aid." My friends, these may not be idols nine feet tall, but give them time, they will grow in your thought. Mrs. Eddy wisely observed, and I quote (ibid., pp. 173, 174): "The idols of civilization are far more fatal to health and longevity than are the idols of barbarism. The idols of civilization call into action less faith than Buddhism in a supreme governing intelligence."

Christian Science, however, in no sense condemns those who are misled by the illusory promises and hypnotic arguments of belief in false gods, but reiterates the First Commandment and the need of obedience to it and thereby points to the way that Jesus headed. He set aside all material so-called laws and took no stock in material sense testimony, but vanquished sickness, disease, deformity, lack, and poverty, through the application of the Word of God, without the use of material means. Indeed, the Christian Science way is one of complete reliance on divine power, which permits no adulteration.

Prayer

In the Bible it is recorded that one of the disciples implored, "Lord, teach us to pray." (Luke 11:1.) When thus entreated, the Master gave the prayer, the holy petition he himself offered. This is why we call it the Lord's Prayer! In the most illumining and spiritually practical treatise on prayer since the Sermon on the Mount, Mrs. Eddy, in Science and Health, interprets spiritually the Lord's Prayer. She includes in this spiritual interpretation these pertinent statements, "The Lord's Prayer is the prayer of Soul, not of material sense" (p. 14), elsewhere she refers to it as "that prayer which covers all human needs" (p. 15).

Christian Science teaches that prayer is constant spiritual thinking. Effective prayer comes from a heart filled with an unquenchable desire for righteousness, purity, and holiness. It is the prayer of denial of error as well as affirmation of the truth. It declares what God is and identifies man as the perfect expression of his center. The Lord's Prayer in its first four statements clearly constitutes a petition which, scientifically understood, affirms what God is, while the next three parts, scientifically interpreted, are declarations of what God does for man. The final statement of this glorious prayer, "For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, for ever" (Matt. 6:13), may well be considered a summary.

Overcoming Sin

At this point, someone may be thinking, "That is all very good, but is not the sin which I see all about me very real?" To be sure, sin seems to be real to those who mistake it, like it, and think they find pleasure, happiness, and satisfaction in it. Such persons are mesmerized by sin's false promises. On the other hand, observe the person who refuses to become party to sin, repudiates it, and refuses to indulge in it. Is sin real to him? So far as he is concerned, sin is powerless, it has no attraction, does not become a part of his experience, therefore it presents no reality.

Let us look further at the false claim of sin. Does God punish sin? Sin is its own punishment! The sinner, so-called, makes himself at one with sin; he believes in it. So when the belief in sin is punished, the sinner is punished also. Sin is punished so long as the belief in it persists. Sin or evil is overcome, destroyed, and salvation is gained through three steps, the first of which is repentance, sorrow for wrongdoing. The second step, a highly important one, is reformation, ceasing the sin, turning from it to good. The third step is baptism, communion with Spirit, complete cleansing from evil of every sort. In this connection, Mrs. Eddy has written in her book, "Miscellaneous Writings," and I quote (p. 167): "Three cardinal points must be gained before poor humanity is regenerated and Christian Science is demonstrated: (1) A proper sense of sin; (2) repentance; (3) the understanding of good."

The uniqueness of Christian Science, that in which it differs from all other religions, rests in the fact that it enables one to take here and now the step into spirituality, complete salvation, wherein the sick are healed, demons are cast out, the lepers are cleansed, and the dead are raised through the prayers of the righteous.

He is the expression of Life, Truth, and Love. So then God is not in one place and you in another. God and man are not separated, but are one, as divine Principle and idea; Love and reflection; Truth and expression; Life and manifestation; Father and son! Christian Science holds this perfect unity of God and man to be unchanging and eternal, indestructible and impassible. Through it the sick are healed, the sinning are reformed, and poverty, fear, doubt, anxiety, hatred, and worry are cast out as unreal and untrue.

The following incidents prove that this Christ, Truth, heals today as it did nineteen centuries ago.

Recently, in a Wednesday evening testimonial meeting in a Christian Science church, a man expressed gratitude for a Christian Science healing. Since the end of a year, a boy of twelve, who had some twenty feet from a tree, his foot was badly twisted and seemed to be fractured. This mother called a Christian Science practitioner for help. She asked the practitioner if the foot should be X-rayed and the fracture reduced by a surgeon. The practitioner reminded her that God is omnipotent and can do all things, but left the decision up to her and the boy. The boy, a student in the Christian Science Sunday School, decided to rely wholly on God for healing. Pain and discomfort were relieved to the minimum and within a week the boy was straightened. The following week he was back in school with no trace of the accident remaining. I can verify this healing from personal observation.

Salvation a Demonstrable and Present Fact

Does not all this point out the path of inspired spiritual living, the way of complete salvation? The path of salvation is to understand and demonstrate the power of God as Life, Truth, and Love as supreme over all. This understanding is a law of destruction to the false claims of sin, sickness, and death.

Your very presence here is sufficient proof that you are seeking the truth. Christian Science is the law of Truth, the Word of God brought to human consciousness. All that Christian Science teaches is found in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mrs. Eddy. This book may be obtained at your nearest Christian Science Reading Room, The Christian Science Lesson. Sermons are composed of passages from the King James Version of the Bible and correlative passages from Science and Health. A daily study of this Lesson furnishes spiritual food for thought throughout the day. Why not begin this systematic study at once? If you will do so you will find your days unfolding harmoniously. You will not have lost time, but will find time, strength, and intelligence to do all that is necessary for you to do. Students of this Science are proving every day that it does what its Discoverer says, namely (ibid., p. 162): "Christian Science brings to the body the sunlight of Truth, which invigorates and purifies, cleanses and refreshes, as an alternative, neutralizing error with Truth, it changes the secretions, expels humors, dissolves tumors, relaxes rigid muscles, restores porous bones to soundness." The Word of God is Life, Truth, and Love in action with all power behind it.

Paul expressed it thus, "For the will of God is quick, and powerful, and sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of soul and spirit, and of the joints and marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart" (Hebr. 4:12).

So, my friends, this Word of God, put into practice, dispels the fogs of error and reveals to you the way of complete salvation.

DETROIT CHAPTER

THE AMERICAN RED CROSS

CAMPAIGN HEADQUARTERS, 153 EAST ELIZABETH STREET—CADILLAC 3900

Does God answer prayer? Indeed He does! Scientific prayer acknowledges divine law as ever present, ever operative, and supreme over all material so-called law. Such prayer lifts us above material sense testimony; it declares us into the bestial presence of inferior mind where good is submerged; it reconciles us to God, whereby we become conscious of the all-presence of infinite perfection. True prayer does not become divine Love to a seemingly sick, sinning, or war-torn state of affairs; for God can know only Himself, Life, Truth, and Love, because He is All. The prayer is answered. "Thou art of purer essence than to behold evil, and dost not look or inquire" (Hab. 1:13). Thus it should be plain that scientific prayer is not blind belief, based on trembling hopes and doubts, but it is the spiritual understanding of the infinite, divine, supreme, perfect, and eternal nature of the loving Father-Mother who is ever bestowing all good upon His image and likeness, man.

True prayer is the Word of God in action. It denies, reverses, repudiates, and casts out every false claim that fear, pain, discord, and inharmonious are real, present, or powerful. It brings to human consciousness man's oneness with God. It affirms the ever-presence and ever-operativeness of God's spiritual law of Life, Truth, and Love which ever guards, guides, and governs man harmoniously.

Christian Science Treatment and Healing

From what has already been said, two things are apparent: one is that prayer and treatment in Christian Science are one and the same thing; and second, that we have been praying, that is declaring, the perfection of God and man, in this lecture.

It must ever be remembered that God is infinite Spirit, hence all substance, all presence, all power, the one and only Law-giver, and that man is the expression of God's very being, therefore always at-one with God! Thus it is seen that being God's image and likeness is not a choice, but a matter of choice with you and me, but is mandatory, compulsory. We have no alternative. Too, we see that man is not a medium for God, but is God's very manifestation of Him-

"Landsakes, It's Past Seven!"

GRANDMA RILEY wasn't fooling either. "Past seven" was bedtime when Grandma was a girl. She was tired and tomorrow would be another hard day. She'd be up at 5:30 and busy every minute. Bread had to be baked and the wood stove had started smoking again. Then there were kerosene lamps to be filled—wicks trimmed and chimneys polished. And the oblong copper tubs had to be filled with clothes and steaming soap . . . then hand-scrubbed and put through the wooden wringer. Beating and sunning the rugs was another job that just had to be done. It had been put off too long already.

Today Grandma really would have lived the life of Riley! Just a flip of the switch brings light into darkened rooms . . . automatically launders and dries our clothes . . . vacuum cleans the rugs. It preserves our food and cooks our meals without fuss or bother. Yes, all of us are using more and more electricity these days and doing more jobs more easily and for less money than doing them any other way.

In the Legislature

By Elton R. Eaton

Had to be "in fashion" last weekend, so I picked up the "flu" bug and spent most of Saturday and Sunday in bed. That's why there appears in this column a very able article written by Allen Shoenfeld of The Detroit News.

You've read so much of what I have had to say about the legislature and the serious situation created by the unfortunate and mis-guided vote last fall on the sales tax diversion amendment that it might be well for you to get the viewpoint of some one else.

Mr. Shoenfeld wrote: Sensing in the diversion of sales tax receipts yet another impetus to an alarming tendency — to earmark or restrict State revenues for specific purposes — John A. Perkins, budget director, is projecting an intensive study of government income and its disposition.

Perkins said that data thus far assembled indicates that in the next fiscal year State revenues from present sources will approximate $375,600,000, of which nearly 80% cannot be touched by the Legislature for current needs.

"Aside from the serious plight in which the State finds itself financially," Perkins said, "there is another consideration whose full significance is not generally appreciated. The earmarking or restriction of revenue by Constitutional amendment strikes at the basic concept of representative government."

"This form of government was conceived to check the taxing and spending power of the 'king.' If the people are to bypass their representatives, constituting themselves a second and higher appropriating body, there will be little need to elect a Legislature."

"Some of the consequences of taxing income or 'pegging' appropriations for specific functions and services are seen to be:

1. A rigid budget and a further weakening of an already inadequate control over agency programs and policies.

2. Inability to shift funds in order to meet emergencies.

3. A need for continually levying new taxes, since increase in present tax rates could only mean increased yields already dedicated to specific purposes.

4. And because the schools and other pressure groups now have a greater vested interest in the Constitution as it stands, virtually all hope of revising the antiquated, 1908-model basic law must be abandoned.

With their split of the sales tax, the schools next year will reveal an estimated $111,000,000 of State money, or nearly twice as much as they ever received before.

Townships which have no schools and which levied no taxes of their own, will now have large sums thrust upon them.

The Highway Department is regarded here as "an empire in itself" with income assured and inviolate because, in 1938, the people amended the Constitution to dedicate all gasoline and motor vehicle taxes to road construction and maintenance.

In the next fiscal year it will enjoy revenue estimated at $81,127,958, of which $62,50,000 is derived from taxes, $16,649,458 from Federal grants and the rest from miscellaneous sources.

The Department of Conservation will swell its "Game and Fish Protection Fund" by $4,826,750, of which $4,426,750 will come from hunting, fishing and trapping licenses, earmarked by statute for the fund.

The Aeronautics Fund looks to the Federal and Canadian governments for grants.

The counties are assured of the interest from the Veterans' Trust Fund.

The Civil Service Commission has a first mortgage on all State revenue to the extent of 1 per cent of the aggregate payroll for the preceding year.

The University of Michigan must be given at least eighty-three hundredths and Michigan State College fifty-five hundredths of a mill on each dollar of 1946 assessed valuation.

Four tourist and resort associations receive $109,000 a year for advertising their rival attractions. Five "professional" veterans organizations annually look to the Legislature and not in vain, for "grants" which will total nearly $500,000 in the next fiscal year.

The Budget Department is responsible for the statement that of a total General Fund amounting to $277,282,737 in the fiscal year, 1948, only $145,276,667 will be available for obligation.

Of the remainder, the Constitution has earmarked $66,766,666; the statutes, $28,769,288 and joint Federal-State agreements, $36,450,136.

Thus it happens, critics say, that while the Highway Department builds magnificent roads across the sand barrens and the Department of Conservation enjoys the finest hunting lodge in the country at Higgins Lake, the construction of mental hospitals must cease; dangerous power plants must be kept operating, with repairs deferred for more than six years still denied; social services must be curtailed and health and welfare programs maintained on bare essentials.

Buick Plans For Biggest Year

The automotive industry should produce 3,500,000 cars during 1947 against an output of 2,200,000 last year. Harlow H. Curtice, Buick general manager and vice president of General Motors, said today.

"Car producers should turn out 3,500,000 cars this year if the materials are available and workers in the automobile industry and supplying plants stick to their jobs," Curtice told 200 Southern California Buick dealers during a luncheon meeting at the Ambassador hotel.

Curtice expressed confidence that Buick, fourth largest producer in the industry since 1938, would achieve a "substantial increase" in output this year over the 158,728 units built during the 1946 model year, but would not reach its post-war production goal until "sometime in 1948."

Production of 37,000 model Buicks during the first seven weeks of operations this year was disclosed by Curtice.

The Buick general manager also revealed that the Division's extensive post-war expansion and modernization program, designed to increase car building capacity 40 per cent over the 1941 model year peak of 378,000 units, is nearing completion. The program consists of 17 new buildings and provides approximately 2,325,000 square feet of additional floor space for manufacturing, assembly, foundry, forge, shipping and storage operations, Curtice said.

Curtice reported that public acceptance of Buick styling, engineering and performance "never has been more enthusiastic."

"Independent national surveys showing overwhelming preference for Buick cars and a continuing flood of new orders provide a solid foundation for our aggressive, constructive planning for the future," Curtice said. "We plan to protect and enhance our present leadership by building the finest cars that expert research, engineering and manufacturing 'know-how' can produce."

The Buick chief cited a recent tabulation of registration figures as additional evidence of Buick's quality and dependability. This survey, Curtice said, showed that an average of 95.5 per cent of Buick cars produced and sold in the United States during the seven model years preceding World War II are still in operation.

White sidewall tires, as illustrated, will be supplied at extra cost as soon as available.

You've got the sun in the morning and the moon at night — just like everybody else.

You've got little roads to explore, and pleasant places to go, and nice friends to enjoy life with, just as others do.

But there's one thing you can have that not everyone else can — if you do something about it.

It's in the extra lift you find in traveling in car-styling as fresh as tomorrow's morning glories, enduring as the classic lines of a Grecian vase.

It's in roaming the quiet little roads — or the busy big ones — with plenty of eager horsepower under your bonnet, all ready to Fireball you along or drift you serenely through calm and quiet moments.

It's in the feel of a car that's really big enough. Roomy enough for three-a-seat — husky and solid enough to be ever steady in its stride — stout enough to take the most rugged going.

It's in such plus-values as soft coil springs on all four wheels — bodies studiously mounted to be quiet and firm and true — a wheel light yet firm under your hand — an engine with the touch of perpetual youth in the fineness of its cylinder-wall finish.

In a word, it's in a Buick — style star and standout performer of this and many a season to come.

In a car bought not alone out of need or expediency — but plainly and frankly out of desire for something a bit better than the ordinary.

We say not everyone can have such.

That is simply because there's never enough of a most wanted thing to go round — and this is America's most wanted car.

To get it, you can't hang back. You have to get in ahead of the one who hesitates.

The moral plainly is: Order yours right now!
