Uellen Mills Becomes Bride of Kay Voss In Church Ceremony

Uellen B. Mills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Mills, became the bride of Kay Merin Voss, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Voss of Howell, Saturday, March 22, in the First Methodist Church of Plymouth. Rev. C. E. Doty performed the candlelight ceremony before an altar of palms and white stock.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her bridal gown of white satin was fashioned with an illusion yoke and a pleated bodice featuring a full skirt which swept into a long train. Her full length veil of illusion was held in place by a Dutch cap of satin with orange blossom trim. She carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with blue iris.

Miss Lois Mills was her sister's maid-of-honor and wore a sheer gown of aqua and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The bridesmaid was Miss Alice Miller of Iowa whose sheer gown was of pale pink and her bouquet of daffodils.

Ivan C. Hanson served as best man assisted by Hoyt Mills. Seating the guests were Maurice Coles, of Howell, and Donald Warner, of Brighton.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Mills chose a dress of blue gabardine with navy blue accessories. Mrs. Voss wore an ensemble of dark blue crepe and a flowered hat. Both mothers wore corsages of pink roses.

The organist at the ceremony was Mrs. Robert Chapel of Howell with Mrs. John Albertson as soloist and Miss Fannie Goodwin of Redford as dramatic reader.

A reception in the church parlors for 150 guests followed the ceremony. At the dinner hour the Mills were hosts to fifty out-of-town guests at their home on Main street.

The bridal couple left on a honeymoon of unannounced destination and upon their return will reside in Howell.

The missionary society of the Plymouth assembly of God met at the home of Mrs. John Mastic on Wednesday, March 19th. Mrs. Russell Steinger, a former China missionary was the speaker. The next meeting will be held on April 16th at the home of Mrs. Robert Smith of Canton Center road.

Joyce and Gloria Chaney, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Chaney of Pacific avenue, spent last weekend in Detroit at the home of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Darling. Saturday evening they attended the Voice of Christian Youth Rally at the State Fair Coliseum. Their uncle Edward T. Darling is a director of this organization.

Mrs. Chas. H. Thorne was hostess at a tea at her home on Ann street last Thursday afternoon to several members of Plymouth High School classes of 1912 and 1913. Those present on this occasion were, Mesdames Gladys Baker, Marie Lutz, Hazel Broegman, Ruth Whipple, Rose Holstein, Marion Curtis, Edna Campbell, Anna L. Rathburn, Marilla Coverill, Bertha Tiffin, Alva Kotler, Cora Salloway and the Misses Helen Farrand, Czarina Penney, Lelia Chilson. Reminiscing and showing of pictures of former days passed a very pleasant afternoon. Some of the school-mates present were from Detroit, Highland Park, Ann Arbor, as well as Plymouth.

On a beautiful morning March 19, at her new home in Dearborn Highlands, Mrs. Mary Baker answered her door chimes and found twenty friends from the Bartlett Mother's club of Plymouth there to greet her. Needless to say it was a happy and complete surprise. A cooperative breakfast was served beginning with small glasses of fruit juice. Each guest then passed a table where rolls and coffee were served. Small tables were set in the L shaped living and dining rooms where the guests were seated. At the close of breakfast Mrs. Baker was presented with a pair of lovely colonial figurines. The morning was concluded in pleasant conversation. Those who helped to make the event a happy one were, Mrs. Letha Travis, Mrs. Doris Eaton, Mrs. Florence Plant, Mrs. Florence Vetal, Mrs. Kathryn Simons, Mrs. Adeline Travis, Mrs. Eca Balhaus, Mrs. Mary Jane Busha, Mrs. Ann Ritter and Vicki, Mrs. Eva Blackmore and Nancy, Mrs. Sylvia Grow and Larry Mrs. Maude Schrader, Mrs. Mildred Bowyer, Mrs. Petron, Mrs. Lillian Kleingebell, Mrs. Martha B. B. Janice Williams, Mrs. Stella Wisniewski, Mrs. Ruth Marie Lasslet, Mrs. Grover Place, and Mrs. L. C. Campbell.

There is nothing respecting which a man may be so long unconscious, as of the extent and strength of his prejudice.—Jeffrey

IN MEMORIAM
 In loving memory of our dear daughter June Lennox, who passed away one year ago March 30, 1946.
 In the graveyard softly sleeping. Where the flowers gently wave. Lies my darling daughter Who we loved so dearly, but could not save;
 She is sheltered by the Rock of Ages
 Anchored on God's golden shore. Each passing day brings us nearer To the day we will part no more. Darling daughter, you are not forgotten.
 Though on earth you are no more; Still in memory you are with me As you always have been before.
 Sadly missed by her mother, Mrs. Tom Hobbins.
CARD OF THANKS
 I wish to take this opportunity to thank those who sent me lovely flowers, cards of remembrance and gifts during my stay in the hospital; also those who sent "goodies" to my home.

Police Warn On Alley Loitering
 Police Chief Lee Sackett calls to the attention of Plymouth residents the existence of a city ordinance which holds that any person who loiters or wanders in any alley is a disorderly person and is punishable under the law by 90 days imprisonment. The announcement is made because of the receipt of numerous complaints about annoyances to property owners. Chief among the acts complained about is the molesting of dogs which are tied near the alleys at the rear of homes. The practice has aggravated dogs and in at least one case the offender has been bitten.
 Parents are urged to instruct young members of their families to refrain from the use of alleys except on necessary trips. This applies especially to night time activities, states Chief Sackett. He says that police officers might suspect any person found loitering in the alleys after dark as potential burglars if they can't explain their presence. The intentions of these loiters will be questioned in every case in which they are apprehended.

City Manager Discusses Cost of Bringing Detroit Water to Plymouth

bringing in insufficient revenue to warrant its construction at this time.
In our opinion an adequate supply of water cannot be obtained from the City of Detroit for some years to come.
In the above quotation are mentioned two 12-inch mains that are a part of the Detroit system. Those two lines can not begin to supply the water needed by people, institutions, and parks through which they run. So critical was the shortage of water in one of these lines during the past summer, that water had to be furnished from Plymouth to adequately supply the Riverside Park comfort stations. Some believe Detroit water satisfactory for Plymouth, but there seems to be no possible means of getting water from Detroit in the near future.

It is recorded of Archias, a Grecian magistrate, that a conspiracy was formed against his life. A friend who knew of the plot sent a courier with the intelligence, who, on being admitted to the presence of the magistrate, delivered to him a packet with this message: "My lord, the person who writes to you this letter conjures you to read it immediately—it contains serious matters." Archias, who was then at a feast, replied, smiling, "Serious affairs tomorrow," put the packet aside and continued the revel.

That night the plot was executed, the magistrate slain, and on the morrow, when he intended to read his letter, he was a corpse—a fearful example of procrastination. The Bible tells us that "now is the day of salvation."

City Program Told About In April Magazine

Plymouth's recreation director, Virgil Knowles, has received national recognition for the air-rifle contests he held here last summer. In an article in the magazine "Recreation" for April a complete account written by the Plymouth man appears under the title "To Shoot With Safety."

The story as it appears in the magazine says in part:

"The search for something new and different, for something which will appeal to the youngsters of the city and to adults, is one of the main jobs of any recreation director. If it is possible, he plans to include in the program constructive training so that a double purpose of fun and recreation may be accomplished."

"With such a thought in mind the program herein discussed was developed. In 1946 the recreation department of Plymouth, Michigan, presented on the playgrounds regular range practice and shooting."

Mr. Knowles explained in the articles that "the program was designed for boys from 7 to 16 years of age. The boys were divided into two groups, 7 to 12 and 13 to 16, for competition. The rudiments of shooting were taught and safety practices were stressed." Mr. Knowles stated in the article that there were no accidents and that the program was a success beyond all expectations. The recreation department expects to conduct the same type of shoot next year. About 13% of the boys in the city entered the contest. It is expected that in 1947 the practice sessions will be enlivened by the participation of fathers in the events. Also being considered is the possibility of having a competition for girls, as many inquired last year about entering.

Olin Recovering From Accident

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Olin of 382 Arthur street have received word of the injury of their son Dick in Alaska. No details of the accident in which the young Plymouth soldier was involved are as yet available. However, the parents have been advised by the Red Cross that he is not now in danger and that recovery is assured. Mr. Olin says "It is indeed gratifying to have this information from the Red Cross. It certainly shows where our Red Cross contributions are used."

Only those who have the patience to do simple things perfectly ever acquire the skill to do difficult things easily.—Schiller

Plymouth Hunters Bag Ten Foxes Without Firing A Single Shot

Here's one for the books... the record books that is! Have you ever heard of killing 10 foxes without firing a shot? We hadn't either, until the erudite fox hunters of the Western Wayne County Conservation club made their report of a recent Sunday's hunt.

So this is the way it happened. If the word of seven of Plymouth's most erstwhile fox hunters can be taken as the whole truth. On Sunday morning, Bill Rambo, Fred Reed, Estel Rowland, James Gotthard, Clyde Smith, Howard Herne and Joseph Elliott went to their favorite hunting haunt out on 10 Mile road. It wasn't too long before the dogs were on a scent and had the fox finally holed-up. The men called off their dogs, took stations and were in readiness to shoot the prey when it emerged from the hole. Bill Rambo started pouring water down the hole (luckily a stream ran nearby) but after carrying gallons and gallons of it, still no fox. By this time knowing that the elusive little creature wasn't responding to the water treatment, Jim Gotthard and Clyde Smith took strands of barbed wire, guided them into the den and started twisting, hoping to entangle the fox's hide and thereby pull it from the hole. Their method worked, except that each of them got a fox—a drowned fox!

But here is where the record comes in. Both were females. One had just had her litter and the other would have had one within a few hours. It was not determined if or how many of the newly born foxes were drowned, but the other one, upon examination after getting it back to Plymouth, proved to have eight little ones which would have been born very soon.

And there is the story... 10 more foxes to the credit of Plymouth's fox hunters... 10 less of the little creatures to prey upon of Wayne county farmers' live stock and feed. Previous to last Sunday's foray the hunters had bagged 15 since the first of December. Smith and Gotthard who snared the last two from the water-filled hole, declared that this method was much safer than risking their shirt tails shooting at them.

(Editor's note: Penalty for missing is a piece of the guilty party's shirt to hang with the pelts. Smith already has one shirt tail to his credit, and Gotthard had shot of one but was given the benefit of the doubt, it being a long shot.)

4-H Buys Land For Fair Ground

Acceptance by the Ford Motor Company of the Wayne County 4-H Fair Association's offer to purchase a 40-acre tract of land on Quirk road has climaxed a year-long campaign by this Association to find a suitable site to hold the annual 4-H County Fair. Terms for financing the purchase of this tract have been arranged and the Association is now concentrating its efforts on raising sufficient funds to sponsor the 1947 Fair.

Organized for the purpose of promoting wider interest in 4-H activities and increasing participation in this nationally-recognized youth-building program, the Wayne County 4-H Fair Association came into being a little over one year ago. From its inception the group has endeavored to obtain a suitable location for the 4-H Fair. The members were agreed that the Belleville area offered the most centrally located possibilities and they particularly desired to get a site somewhere near the Expressway. The 40-acre tract on Quirk road is held ideal for the purpose. It is only about one mile north of Belleville and is easily accessible from all sections.

The Association appreciates the tremendous task still confronting it of preparing the grounds for the coming Fair but it is tackling the problem with plenty of enthusiasm. 4-H members long ago realized that the job they were shouldering was much too large to be handled without cooperation from civic and service organizations throughout Wayne County. Therefore, the Association will endeavor to enlist all possible aid from Rotary, Kiwanis, Jaycee and other clubs in making the first 4-H Fair at the new location on Quirk road a real success. Persons desirous of contributing to the 4-H project may mail their contributions to the Wayne County 4-H Fair Association, First National Bank, Plymouth, Michigan. Officers of the Association are: Fred Forie, Plymouth, president; Jack Budd, Belleville, vice-president; Bill Hennells, Belleville, secretary; and Louis Sallow, Plymouth, treasurer.

Discussing their objectives recently, the officers made this assertion: "We are convinced that the 4-H Wayne County Fair can be made a most effective agency in encouraging more young people to participate in the entire 4-H movement. Efficiently planned and properly publicized, it can develop into an educational and entertaining yearly medium of presenting to the general public the over-all picture of diversified 4-H activity."

What grander ambition is there than to maintain in yourselves what Jesus loved, and to know that your example, more than words, makes morals for mankind?—Mary Baker Eddy

Any price is too high if it can be reduced

International Harvester announces $20,000,000 price reductions

We believe there is nothing more important to this country than to lower the prices of the goods that people buy.

The American people have insisted that the government withdraw from its attempts to control prices in peacetime. That places the responsibility where it belongs—in the hands of business and industry. Not all business can reduce prices now. Not all can reduce by the same amount.

Our company has felt a duty to act as promptly as possible. In our case, the business outlook now makes it possible to move toward the goal of lower prices. The only way out of the vicious circle of higher and higher prices is to break through.

We have taken this step not because of present competitive conditions nor because of a drop in demand from customers. We have taken it because of our belief that ANY PRICE IS TOO HIGH IF IT CAN BE REDUCED.

These reductions, which will save the users of our products approximately $20,000,000 a year, will become effective before April 1, and will apply to a selected list of tractor, farm machine, motor truck, and industrial power products. Since we lose money on a few of our products, and barely break even on some others, these reductions will not apply to our entire line. Reductions will be made individually on products. Some will be cut more than others. Exact details will be announced as soon as possible.

Our ability to maintain this lower level of prices will depend in part on what happens to the prices and flow of materials that we buy from others. Because we believe price reduction is vital, we are willing to assume the risks that are involved.

Prices had not gone up as much or as fast as many others

Here are Average Price Increases since 1941

All Manufactured Products (U. S. Government Reports)	63.7%
Metals and Metal Products (U. S. Government Reports)	41.2%
Motor Trucks	35%
Industrial Power Products	34%
Form Machines	25%

These benefits to customers will depend, too, on uninterrupted production at reasonable wage levels. This is not a program that can be carried out if it is hampered by strikes or work stoppages.

Our employees have had substantial increases in pay, and wage questions are currently being discussed with many of the unions with which we deal. Stockholders have recently had an increase in dividend rate. Having considered the interests of these two groups, we are now making these price reductions for the benefit of the third group—our customers.

Business, to our way of thinking, has a social as well as an economic responsibility. This company has long followed the policy of operating in the interests of three groups—its customers, its employees and its stockholders. The duty of the management is to see that equal justice is done as between the three groups.

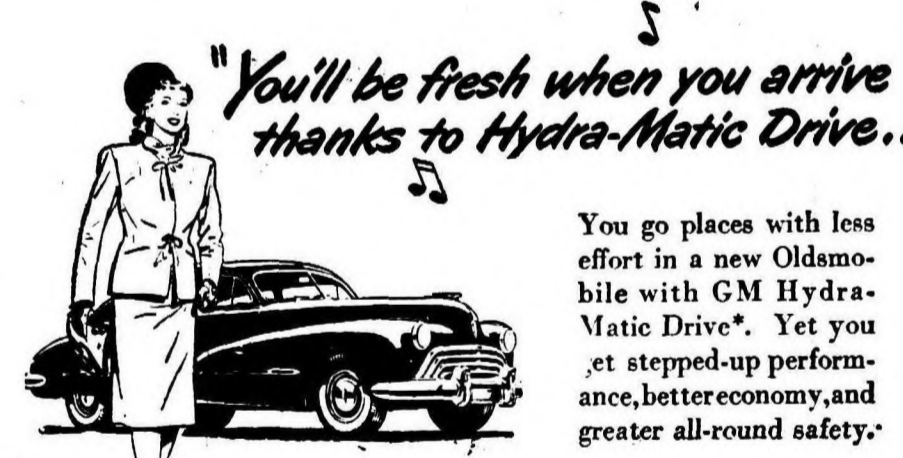

This price reduction program is another demonstration of our policy in action.

In the Legislature

By Elton R. Eaton

There's one thing Michigan citizens can be pretty sure about, and that is the fact that if there is any way under the sun to get the state out of its present financial mess without new taxation, that it is going to be done.

Unfortunately one bill, which would have provided a method to pay off the soldier bonus bonds without increasing taxes has so far, rather than going, the measure is not entirely dead, although on the first test it met a fate in a house committee. The proposal provided that two mills out of the 15 now levied be set aside each year to pay the soldier bonus bonds. That would have 12 mills for the present needs of cities, townships and school districts, plus the hundred millions more of dollars they will get out of the state sales tax division.

The bill didn't reach the legislature at the present time except "blank time."

While it is known that the supreme court is giving almost all of its time to a study of the sales tax division in an effort to unravel the full meaning of the badly written amendment adopted by the voters, few expect to see a decision until the middle of April.

Meanwhile the new bills are being passed by the legislature in a hasty, almost haphazard manner.

It is expected that the Governor is going to insist on some action upon his plan to abolish the present kind of state planning commission and the creation of a public organization to properly coordinate the various municipal and diversified interests of the great state.

County officers will serve for four years instead of two if and when the legislature and the voters of Michigan approve a constitutional measure providing for this change. The resolution has just been introduced in the house and is yet to meet the test of a house committee. If it should win the approval of this committee, it also must win the approval of the house, then the senate, and if passed, then the O.K. of the voters.

William Scheel Made President

The annual Salem Township Farm Bureau meeting was held at the Salem Federated church on Thursday, March 20th, with a "hot-luck" supper.

After the supper, Wm. Scheel, president opened the meeting, and Curtis Hamilton gave an address of welcome to the church.

A quartette, made up of Don Utter, Myron Whipple, Dean Hardesty and Mylan George, rendered several selections during the course of the evening. They were accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Myron Atchinson.

Mr. McManus was supposed to be speaker for the evening but was unable to keep his engagement.

A very interesting debate was held on the subject "Should the United States send aid to Greece and Turkey." The debaters were Curtis Hamilton, Peter Fallot and Homer Martin.

After the debate, George Henning gave a summarized report on the meeting held March 18th at the South Lyon High School, regarding the reorganization of the twenty-one school districts in and around South Lyon into one large district. A general discussion of the school problem followed.

An election of officers was held

Fire Chief at Ass'n Meeting

The state director of vocational education, Mr. M. Whale was the principal speaker at the March meeting of the Southeastern Michigan Fire Chief's Association at Ann Arbor last week. Fire Chief Robert McAllister of Plymouth was among those attended the meeting and benefited by the knowledge imparted by Mr. Whale.

Subject of the address was "employee relationship" with emphasis on the problems of fire fighting personnel. The chiefs reported the talk to be very timely, and useful in their work.

Ann Arbor is also the scene of a summer session each year for the firemen when the University of Michigan holds short courses for any from the state who wish to attend. Chief McAllister has been attending for a number of years, and holds certificates verifying his attendance and graduation from the program.

Experts on social customs may have approved do-not dunking—but those squirts from grapefruits have no special standing.

Thieves Active At Whitmore Lake

The Whitmore Lake C. & S. Food Lockers were burglarized some time Saturday night, the thugs making away with $300. Entrance was made by prying open the front door, and the safe was opened by knocking off the combination. Pete Stanfield, co-owner of the business, notified sheriff's officers of the theft Sunday morning. Finger prints were taken Monday. This robbery took place the same night that two took place in Ann Arbor—the Leever Lumber Co. and Texaco Oil Co.—and it is believed all three robberies may have been perpetrated by the same parties.

Says Soldiers Plan to Stay Up in Alaska

S. Sgt. Forbes Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Smith of this city, home on furlough from the Alaskan territory where he is serving with the United States armed forces, declares that large numbers of the men in the armed forces, like Alaska and some intend to stay there.

Forbes, who remained in the army when the war ended, has been up above the Arctic circle most of the time during the past two years.

"The Aleutian islands are mostly barren sections, totally uninteresting and of value only for military purposes," stated Forbes.

"The coastal areas and the Mantuska valley in Alaska, offer an entirely different picture. It is here that the growing season is long, and the weather in general is conducive to good health and much energy," he stated.

"Thermometers may register a lower degree than in Michigan, but the cold is not as biting and uncomfortable.

"S/Sgt. Smith states that in the year or more that he has been stationed in the various posts in Alaska that he hasn't even suffered a cold. The first encounter with the flu bug was when he reached the states for his vacation with his parents.

"Alaskan growers produce strawberries and other delicacies in their prolific gardens. The land is fertile and the weather is ameliorated by the Japanese gulf stream, so growing problems are no greater than in Michigan's southern peninsula," he says.

"Prices are high, it is true. For instance, a steak dinner of about $2 value here costs $6 in Alaska. Other prices are comparable, but wages and profits are such that the net result is not far different. Employment is at an all time high. There are no shortages of civilian goods, and the army supplies its men bountifully with the necessities for comfortable living."

S. Sgt. Smith, when he returns to the northern country, is anticipating making the journey over the Alcan highway through Canada. Although it is not open to the general public it is available to those who have legitimate business connections in Alaska, or to military personnel stationed there.

Upon his return to Alaska, the Plymouth soldier expects to be reassigned to a post at Anchorage where he has previously spent some time.

Anchorage, he states, is booming. The fishing business is very important, and constitutes a good portion of the income, as it does along the entire coastline. Boat building is also coming to a place of prominence in the community.

"Another field of opportunity is with the Northwest Airline outfit which is developing routes to the Orient. The army has pioneered in this work, and I was among the first crews of the big D. C. 4's to make the original test flight to Yokohama, Japan," he says.

Of interest to the many outdoor sportsmen of Plymouth is the fact that hunting and fishing can be enjoyed to the fullest. Caribou are plentiful and the season practically unlimited. Kodiak bears are also hunted. They provide good sport and excellent food. The salmon run starts next month, and the local flier expects to be there on time to engage in the sport furnished in getting his limit of this fine game fish.

One observation made by Sgt. Smith was that Russian nationals and others of Russian blood are prevalent in parts of the country. They are ostensibly very busy with their various civilian pursuits.

Importance of Pure Water Is Emphasized

"Even though one-fifth of the earth's surface is covered with water, water conservation is one of the most important problems of today," declared Dr. B. E. Champe, president of the Western County Conservation Association, when he appeared before a meeting of the Plymouth Junior Chamber of Commerce last Wednesday evening at the Mayflower hotel. He said that in this area the water level has dropped 20 feet in recent years. There is a movement afoot, Dr. Champe declared, to prevent wells from being sunk in areas in the state where water can be piped in.

Using "Conservation" as his theme, the president of the Conservation association sketched several phases of the work of his club. Among these was pollution which is "one of the biggest detriments to conservation today," he declared.

Citing examples of pollution in areas not very far from Plymouth, Dr. Champe said that refuse from manufacturing concerns had much to do with contaminating the waters on which we depend for domestic purposes and outdoor sports. These waters are rapidly becoming so full of refuse and other forms of pollution that fish no longer can live in them. The state conservation clubs are now working on a plan asking the legislature to appropriate $300,000, to help correct the serious pollution problems here in Michigan.

D. Champe also told the group about fire control as practiced by the State Conservation department; of wild animal life; of flowers and the new laws protecting bittersweet and arbutus, and the prohibiting of transporting pines from northern Michigan.

After answering questions of the group the program was concluded with showing motion pictures secured from the state department of conservation. Three films were shown: "Canoe Trails", in technicolor, depicting water trips down the Au Sable and Tanguamenon rivers; "Isle Royal Moose", photographed in their natural habitat and the capturing of a small one which now is at the Grand Rapids Zoological Gardens, and "Michigan Mitten," a travelogue of the winter and summer recreational activities here in the lower peninsula.

Old Prices Look Good To Roy Rew

"Boy, look at those prices! Too bad we're not living back in the good old days!" commented Roy Rew the other day when he was holding over a copy of the Weekly Journal And Tribune of Knoxville, Tennessee he is keeping as a souvenir of his old home state.

Eggs were advertised for 16 cent a dozen, sugar at a little over six cents a pound and a bushel of shelled corn sold for 75 cents.

"Those were the days when one could afford to live to eat. Now its hard scratching to get enough to eat to live. Maybe we'd better go back to the horse and buggies and muskets instead of automobiles and atomic bombs. We might be better off" mused the magic artist, who migrated north after long before the dawn of the new deal. The old newspapers Mr. Rew cherishes so greatly were printed in 1908.

They range from King Solomon to Stalin. The Plymouth branch library recently obtained a copy of this publication.

Entertainment for all ages and for every occasion can be planned from "The Game Book" which may be borrowed from the Plymouth branch library.

A remote part of Columbia where a young couple build a cabin and spend two years collecting specimens of wildlife, is the scene of the new book, "Driftwood Valley" by Theodora C. Stonewell-Fletcher. Living 200 miles from highway and telephone, they do their scientific work and rely on hunting and fishing for their food. Trials, hardships, and disappointments are balanced by pleasures and achievements. The book may be borrowed from the Plymouth branch library.

BY • ELTON R. EATON

Do not be surprised that in the years to come you when you drive through the country if every field on the farm you see is surrounded by wide rows of brush and second growth trees. Many farmers are leaving fence rows as wildlife food and cover areas, according to Dr. Paul Sears, Oberlin member of the Ohio Conservation and Resources Commission, the Wildlife Management Institute reported today.

For many years farmers evaluated good farming on the basis of well-trimmed fence rows but in recent years are beginning to welcome the soil and wildlife conservationist's ideas of fence rows for better land management. Fence rows act as land barriers preventing wind erosion, stopping and slowing water runoff, and provide homes for insectivorous birds and other useful forms of wildlife.

There are two schools of thought on leaving fence rows. One, that heavy fence row growth robs surrounding crop land of moisture and soil nutrients, and the other, that if fence row cover is confined to clovers, grasses and shrubs, there is little or no apparent difference in water or nutrient loss from nearby crops. Some farmers believe that heavy growths of hedges and small trees steal moisture and nutrients but the hedge rows of England which have withstood centuries of tests show that good game and farm crops may be grown side by side.

Farmers who are willing to establish fence rows should be encouraged by being given all possible aid. Dr. Sears believes, and that the general public should be informed of their modern approved land-management practices.

Remembering that more woodland was burned last year in the southern third of the state than in the heavily forested upper peninsula, conservation department forest fire men hope that this spring there will be fewer farmers still acting on the old superstition that ditch and fence-row burning promotes growth.

Forest fire men are willing to take the agricultural experts word that spring burning does the soil more harm than good, but the notion that burning has some beneficial effect persists in some places. Each year many of these fires get out of hand and destroy valuable timber. In late spring the fires scorch the first nests of pheasants, the first litters of cottontail rabbits.

Forest fire damage in counties in the southern third of the state in 1946 was estimated at $20,750 when 5,682 acres burned. By comparison, the area burned in the state-protected lands of the upper peninsula was only 3,644 acres.

South Dakota will not permit nonresidents to purchase hunting licenses until fifteen days have elapsed after the opening date of the upland-bird season, if a bill before the Legislative Assembly is enacted, the Wildlife Management Institute made known in Washington today. The bill also provides that no license shall be issued to a nonresident for the hunting, taking or killing of any migratory waterfowl.

The sportsmen in South Dakota are reported to be greatly concerned over the rapid decline in the pheasant population throughout the state and a number of far reaching regulatory measures have been presented to the Assembly now in session. Another bill provides for a special hunting stamp, to be required of persons hunting upland-game birds outside of the county of his residence. This, in addition to the regular hunting license. The cost of the stamp for persons having a resident license is four dollars ($4.00), and for the holders of the twenty dollars ($20.00) nonresident license, the stamp is ten dollars ($10.00). This bill also specifies that five dollars of the fee collected on each nonresident hunting license be set aside for the purpose of acquiring public shooting areas.

Two Cheboygan commercial fishermen, C. J. Comps and Jack Hilborn, have been issued permits by the conservation department to take rough fish from Burt and Mullet lakes.

The first nets will be set through the ice, but the permit fishing can continue until May 31. The fishermen will be permitted to keep suckers, mullet, carp, ciegfish and gars, and all game fish will be returned to the lakes.

Representatives of the conservation department will accompany the fishermen when they set their nets and when they lift them. The netting operations are expected to yield much information on adult game fish populations, and local sportsmen will be invited to observe the lifts.

Special netting for census purposes is scheduled for more than a score of inland lakes this summer.

Readers of Michigan My Michigan will recall considerable comment we made last year pertaining to Phil DeGraff's summer resort at Trout lake in the Upper Peninsula.

It was said then and it is again repeated, that "Phil" is one of the most progressive among tourist-resort developers in the country.

Now comes Mr. DeGraff with another splendid idea, a road development for Michigan vacationists that will make a hit with any one who knows something of the problem. He would create a memorial highway from St. Ignace to the Tahquamenon falls.

Following is the recent comment made by Al Weber in The Cheboygan Observer about Mr. DeGraff's excellent idea:

"Phil DeGraff, the Trout Lake widely known out-doors man and all-around upper peninsula booster, who is responsible for the movement that has now got underway toward the establishment of a Tahquamenon Memorial Highway from St. Ignace to the Tahquamenon river and falls, has now been made chairman of the organization, and because of that selection and that kind of dynamic leadership we can expect to hear much about this proposed highway and the need of such a way to get into that intriguing river and falls country and on up to Whitefish Point — a proposal that will create keener interest in continuing that highway on west of Whitefish Point, skirting the Lake Superior shore through to Munising. A great stretch of lovely alluring country bordering that great lake.

"This highway would traverse practically its entire distance through state or national forests and by connecting routes would connect with the beautiful lower falls of the Tahquamenon river. This plan may seem visionary to most people that are not acquainted with this proposed route, and not acquainted with the people who are back of it but it will come sure enough. We dare say it will come before Newberry gets its roat, to the falls, there to hook up with the road the Conservation Department sponsored between the two falls. There are tourist and resort possibilities in that whole area from St. Ignace to the falls, to Whitefish Point, to Newberry and to the Deer Park.

It's Your Buick — but our Sweetheart

WHEN you first slipped behind the wheel of that Buick of yours, remember how your heart lifted? Remember your happy smile as your toe touched off the hum of Buick Fireball power? And your widening grin when all roads seemed downy as you winged along on BuicCoil springing?

That's what Buicks are built to do. And they'll do it long and well when they're cared for as anything so fine should be.

Not just an occasional oil change, mind you. Not a haphazard "Look 'er over, fill the battery, check the air." But interested, competent, understanding car care that keeps your Buick at its best.

That's exactly what we're set to give. In our shop we have the special Buick tools to do jobs quicker and better. In our parts department is a stock of Buick engineered parts for Buick cars. And we have a staff of thoughtful, capable specialists who know their Buicks lock, stock and barrel.

No, it's not ordinary service you get here. It's expert car care — by an organization devoted to seeing that you get the most out of your Buick. And surprisingly, for the same work done, it costs no more. Think it over: Isn't it wise to let us care for your Buick? After all, Buicks are our sweethearts, first, last and always.

everyone else does

Your Buick has lines and style that win wolf calls. Are you keeping it smart and handsome as it should be? Are you protecting its good looks, its luster and color?

There's a way to do it that Buick engineers say is right. It's called Porcelainizing. This is a power-buffed finish that gives a smooth glaze to the body paint, sealing the pores and protecting the surface against road grime and dirt.

That's the way we do it here. Try it. See how it keeps a new car lustrous longer — how it gives older ones a new lease on good looks.

Legion Assumes Leadership In Fighting "Isms"

The American Legion enjoys the distinction of being Public Enemy No. 1 of Communism and all other alien "isms" in this country.

"This is the natural consequence of the tried and tested patriotism of the world's largest veterans' organization," Commander William H. Langmaid of the Passage Gayde Post No. 391 of the American Legion pointed out here today.

Members of the American Legion have an investment of toil, hardship, blood and battlefield horrors in the American way of life represented by their wartime service," Commander Langmaid said. "They don't want those sacrifices lost. They know the cost of their liberties."

Legionaires also discovered at first hand, Commander Langmaid declared, through comparisons made with their own eyes abroad, that there is nothing in the world comparable to the American way of life.

"They have achieved a real appreciation of American blessings the hard way," Commander Langmaid emphasized. "They know there is only one luxurious way of life in the world and that is the free American way."

Because of these personal "discoveries in Americanism" which Legionnaires have made in their wartime services, Commander Langmaid emphasized, they have become adamant against the efforts of all foreign evangelists to beguile American citizens into swapping their cherished birthright of freedoms for any mess of imported philosophies of life and government.

"The American Legion launched a militant campaign against all subversive activities early in its history because it saw that the exponents of foreign "isms" were determined to force their pernicious doctrine on this country by force or violence if need be," Commander Langmaid said. "They realize that these preachers of imported brands of living made deceit and lies their major weapons and that some misguided and shallow-thinking American were falling for this deception."

The American Legion sponsored the creation of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, Commander Langmaid said, whose expose has opened the eyes of lawmakers and citizens alike to the evil machinations of subversive forces.

In building bulwarks for the American way of life, however, the American Legion recognized that part of the job was developing future good citizenship, Commander Langmaid said. "When that appreciation is achieved, there is also achieved the ready willingness to defend those blessings."

In building future good citizenship, Commander Langmaid said, the American Legion is sponsoring the following programs through its national, state and post Americanism committees:

The annual national high school oratorical contest in which 200,000 students are expected to participate in 1947. Tom Benson, Alice Moore, and Dorothy Curtis of Plymouth High School were presented with prizes at a pot-luck dinner which celebrated the Legion's birthday.

The annual Junior Baseball program in which more than 500,000 boys under 17 years of age will be enrolled this year.

Sponsorship of more than 40 Boys' States annually in which selected youths learn about democratic practices by organizing mythical 49th states.

Sponsorship of the annual Boys'

Forum of National Government in which selected graduates of Boys' State learn about Congress.

Sponsorship by American Legion posts of more than 4,000 Boy Scout Troops in 1947.

Award by posts annually of more than 16,000 school medals to grade pupils for qualities of honor, courage, scholarship, leadership and service.

A nationwide program of flag education.

Sponsorship of "I Am An American Day" annually for formal induction of youths who reach voting age into the sovereign estate of American citizenship.

Sponsorship of a nationwide program of organized recreation to lay a foundation of sound bodies and minds for good citizenship.

Co-sponsorship of annual American Education Week to develop stronger public support of the nation's schools.

Leadership of all patriotic observances.

Operation of citizenship-training schools for the foreign born.

Carrying on of a vast program of community services by posts.

Strengthening of the nation's immigration and naturalization laws.

In Monroe, Michigan, an auto-equipment company made exhaustive tests, announced that during an average 300-mile trip over highways a truck driver bounces up and down a total vertical distance of 8,730 feet.

SEARCHING WINDS

Rumors blowing through the halls and class rooms has brought this news from the club sponsors and presidents.

It seems that the clubs are still contributing money for the football field. Recently the Science Club contributed eighteen dollars and sixty cents; the French club gave five dollars.

The dance tonight is being sponsored by the Leaders club. It will be an Ice Cream Social and the money received will be given to the Student Council for the football field.

An Afghan, made by the Junior Red Cross will soon be on its way to Detroit.

The drive the Girl Reserves put over a couple weeks ago was a big success with $73.77 collected. This money will go to help the hungry in Europe.

The dance last Friday night given by the Pilgrim Prints brought enough money to pay for one issue of the Pilgrim Prints.

JOY 4-H CLUB IS FIRST TO AID

The Joy Farms 4-H Club Girls, Leader, Mrs. Anthony Krueger, Plymouth, have contributed $5.00 to the 4-H Club to make a club contribution.

Soil testing days for Wayne farmers have been scheduled on March 31 at the Extension office, 3014 Monroe, Wayne, and April 1 at Hugo Under's Implement Store, Romulus, Michigan, Paul Road, Extension Specialist. In Soils will test soils both days. The meetings will be from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. each day. Soil samples should be taken so they are representative of the area to be tested. Several sizes of soil taken to a depth of 4 to 6 inches and mixed together will be satisfactory. A double handful of soil in a clean quart jar is sufficient for the test.

The names and addresses of crop to be grown should be attached to the sample.

Babson
Babson Discusses "Mechanization"
Washington, D. C., March 28.—Whenever you look, you uncover a growing tendency to replace employees with machines. This widespread movement calls for the closest attention of wage-workers and businessmen alike. In its practical reactions upon you and your family, the rising pace of mechanization should overshadow, by far, the gossip of Hollywood and the debates at Washington. This trend has been gathering momentum so long that we are likely to forget it. It will not forget us. Scan the industrial news in detail and you feel the vast sweep of today's tide. It bears news of the future for both job-holders and stockholders.

Both Inside and Outside Jobs
Few groups in the nation will be able to stand complacently at the curb and watch this forward March Of The Iron Men. The robots are not confined within factory walls. Swift changes are appearing in the farm region where modern equipment is taking over an ever-growing share of all farm operations. In the trucking of heavy shipments, there will be less of human struggle and the old heave-ho. At the tail-end of the truck, muscle power will be replaced by mechanical lift. In many of the service trades, the scene is changing through introduction of pre-packaging, self-serving, coin vending, and other modernism.

Mechanical devices are invading the last strongholds of personal labor. For instance, the job of inspection heretofore has seemed to require human senses for which no mechanism could be substituted. Yet electronic and other mechanical checks now perform with a speed and certainty which outclass humans. Heretofore, the assembling of parts into a complete article has been very difficult to mechanize; but I definitely forecast its accomplishment. The all-automatic production plant is more than a comic-strip phantasy.

Will Reach Into Every Home
A white collar is no badge of immunity. Working in cooperation with the Armed Services, technical institutions have contrived brainwork machines. These are now solving problems in mathematics entirely beyond the capacity of any accountant. No job or business can afford to ignore this universal drift. For better or for worse, most of us are bound to collide, sooner or later, with the floodtide of mechanism. It will influence all human activities.

History reveals, with appalling certainty, that the onrush of machinery cannot be opposed successfully. It will over-ride any opposition from labor groups, industrial competitors, legislators, or ideologists. From earliest days, mechanical revolutions have rolled ahead against the most savage opponents. This is because machinery increases production. Any agency which can do that is all-powerful. Mechanization can be put to the service of all groups.

OPPORTUNITIES OUTWEIGH THE PERILS
As an industry becomes mechanical, instead of manual, it tends to expand. In the end it will open more jobs than it closes. Furthermore, there is every reason why such new jobs should grade higher than the old. Analyze the task of inventing, making, maintaining, and bettering the machinery of today and tomorrow. Surely such expert occupation is a step ahead of primitive toil. To capitalize the opportunity, however, will demand that all of us must modernize our attitudes. Labor and management alike must set their sights on goals that are creative, constructive and productive.

The potential trouble lurking in today's trend is that the facilities and equipment can become ultra-modern while our social thinking remains medieval. This we must avoid. If the current boom in education does its work aright, we must develop a public which will be schooled in sound economics and awake to spiritual values. Only as these factors are added to mechanization can we be assured of higher standards of living and working.

News of Interest To Farm Readers
The Wayne County delegates of the Michigan Livestock Exchange attended the Annual Meeting at the Hotel Olds, Lansing, March 15. Harvey Vetal, Plymouth, is chairman of the Wayne District.

The County Agent discussed pruning of shrubs and small fruits at the March meeting of the Rose-ale Branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association.

The Wayne County Livestock Club met at the home of Robert Wagenschutz on 5 Mile road, Plymouth. There were 33 in attendance. The movie "Cows and Chickens" was shown after the business meeting. AA enjoyed a bountiful luncheon.

Farmers who are using electric brooders for the first time this year will be interested in some tips given by E. I. Besemer, county agricultural agent. It is necessary to place feed and water partially under the hover at first, since only the space under the hover is heated. If the chicks tend to "bunch up" at certain points under the hover, the brooder is being operated at too high or too low a temperature. An accurate thermometer essential for correct regulation of temperature, chicks need to be taught to return to the hover for warmth when they have been out to feed. A chick guard, placed not more than 18 inches from the hover, will help to do this. The brooder should be kept warm enough that the chicks form in a circle at the outer edge, reducing the possibility of crowding. One method that helps to encourage chicks to return to the brooder is to place a light under the hover. With the warm air supplied by an electric brooder, moisture frequently condenses on the floor, walls, and windows. A piece of insulating board on the floor or a litter three inches or more deep will help to reduce the condensation of moisture on the floor. Walls and ceiling should be covered with good insulating board. County Agent Besemer adds that when insulating board is used on the walls, a hard surfaced material should be placed on the wall areas where the chickens can reach. The chickens frequently eat holes in insulating board if this precaution is not taken.
