

"Gravy" Train to Make Stop Soon in Plymouth

(Continued from Page 1) exactly three months. Plymouth township, like all other townships with a nice cash balance on hand, will add to its general fund out of the first stop of the state "gravy" train a total of $3,832.00. Like the city, the next three checks for 1947 will be just a few hundred dollars less than for the first quarter. Plymouth township last year levied only one half of one mill for township purposes. Menkin gets the biggest share of any township in this locality. On a population basis of 15,838, it will receive a check of $25,340.80. But this will be pro-rated with the village of Wayne. Northville township, on a population basis of 3,192, will receive a liberal helping, amounting to $5,107.20. Canton township, which like the thrifty residents of the township, always keeps an eye out for the rainy day and carried a cash balance in the township treasury around the $15,000 figure, will get $3,776.60 as its share of the first split of the state income. This is on a basis of a population of 2,111. The Plymouth township split is made on a population basis of 2,270. The Plymouth school district will, on the first tax split of the year on an estimated school child census of 2,062, receive a check for $12,372.00. It has been figured that the state will pay to each school district in Michigan a total of $20 per child during the first year of the state sales tax split. This will bring into the Plymouth school district a total of $41,240.00 in sales tax money. Like hundreds of townships throughout the state that have for years existed entirely on other state revenue, there are also hundreds of school districts in Michigan that have levied no local tax in years. But these districts, too, all share proportionate amounts under the diversion amendment. The "gravy train" will make four stops each year in this and all other townships, cities, villages and school districts in Michigan just as long as the taxpayers can keep up a full head of steam and the tax dollars continue to roll in and out of their pockets. Men of the noblest dispositions think themselves happiest when others share their happiness with them.—Duncan

Robert Lorenz Wins Honors in Poster Contest

(Continued from page 1) exports and imports to elevate the economic levels. This isn't the first time the 25-year-old Woodbury College student rallied tops in art competition. Not long ago he submitted a poster to a Veterans Administration sponsored contest held at the Los Angeles Museum. Entitled "More Homes for Veterans" his work won top recognition. Like other servicemen, Lorenz's education had been interrupted by the war. After completing a short art course at Wayne University he joined the army and was assigned to the famed 36th Infantry Division that landed in Africa and saw action at Salerno, Anzio, and helped make the beachhead on the European continent on D-Day. He spent time in Austria and Germany. Lorenz came to California to marry and study art. He did the first and is completing the second, meanwhile waiting for an addition to the Lorenz family tree. Bob is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lorenz, who reside on Sheridan avenue.

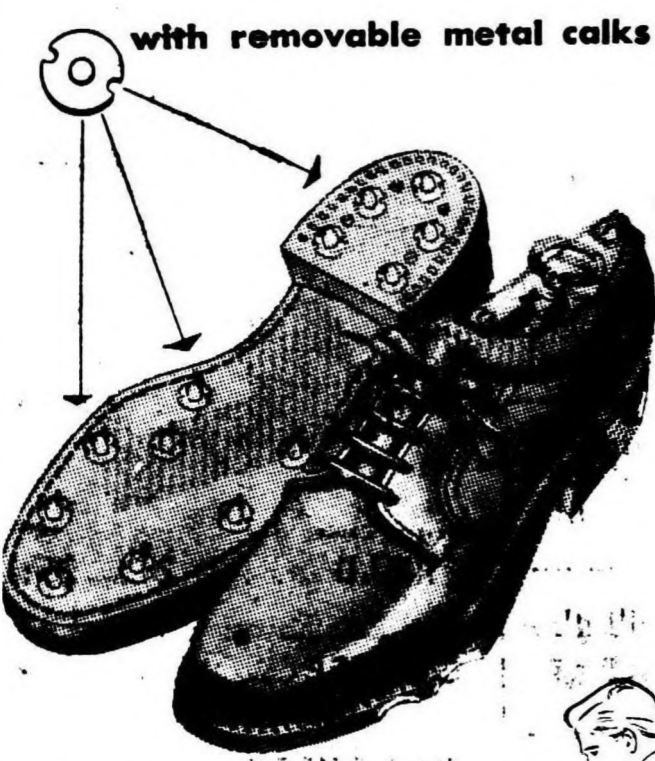

All Accident Victims Except One Improving

(Continued from page 1) the hospital last week will be confined to her home for some time to come. Alvin Collins, who is in a Northville hospital, is recovering rapidly from the burns suffered in the explosion at his garage. He will probably be released within the next week or ten days. His burns, on both hands and his face, are much less painful, and the bandages have been removed. It is learned from Ann Arbor, where the two Wiggins girls were in the University Hospital, that they have improved greatly, and were returned to their home on Thursday. Attendants at the hospital remarked that the two little girls, only eight and seven years old, withstood their ordeal very bravely. Their burns were quite serious, and they will not be able to return to school for many weeks. While it was first reported that Alex Rusceak had requested that Dean Honsinger take Jean Burzinski, Martha Boyd and Russell Gale to their homes, it now develops that after the bowling game in which Dean Honsinger and Russell had played, they stopped for a few minutes at the Rusceak place. As they started to go home a few minutes later, Dean, it is understood, told the girls that he was driving into Plymouth and that they could ride home with him if they desired. Mr. Rusceak did not ask that this be done, as had previously been reported.

Local Youth Sets World Bowling Record

for a double-pinochle in the eighth frame, he had all strikes again, for a 262 count. Yes, sir, if it hadn't been for a heavy hit leaving a split this Plymouth youth might have made it one more perfect game and three for the day.

Bob Hitt first came into the limelight in 1934 when he was 12 years old. He then was teamed with four other horse shoe enthusiasts from Dearborn and entered various matches in this part of the country. They were a championship team, with Bob winning 31 of the 32 games he played.

Then in 1936 he won the State championship title, only to come back in 1937 and in 1938 to take the crown twice more. In high school he was a 9-letter man, excelling in baseball, football, basketball. He played varsity in each three years. His bowling career began in 1941, but soon afterwards he entered the Marines.

His first "300" game. Between Tuesday and Friday there was a lot of talk around Plymouth about Hitt's stellar performance, but now even that has taken a back seat, because Friday afternoon he duplicated the perfect score two times, in succession.

Young Hitt was discharged about a year ago. He went to work at the Parkview alleys and once again his interest began to center around bowling. His game improved with practice and now he has realized the goal of every bowler, a "300" score, and beyond the realm of most bowlers, professional and otherwise, by bowling two perfect games in succession.

The story begins a week ago last Tuesday afternoon when 25-year-old Hitt was bowling with a group over at the alleys. At that time one of his games was just short of perfect when he had all strikes going into the twelfth frame. But on that last try he left one pin standing, for a 299.

Bob is married and lives with his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dehler on 10th street. He is the son of Vera W. Hitt of S. Harvey street.

Salvation Army Asks Co-operation

Officers of Plymouth division of the Salvation Army request that donors of papers, clothing and other goods please leave the articles given on the back porch of the Salvation Army home rather than on the front porch. Since Army officials are often away from the home on Union St. it is not unusual for them to return and find the front porch stacked high with donations which they in turn have to move to the rear of the house. A special place has been prepared in the rear for these contributions and they would be most grateful if donors would use the same.

How Arbor Day Was Originated

The 75th anniversary of the founding of Arbor Day, the world-wide tree growing movement which began in a tree-planting American plains state, was observed nationally on April 10. In addition to national commemoration, many states and foreign nations marked the diamond jubilee of the day in 1872 when Nebraskans planted a million trees to change the face of their state.

Like many movements which have grown to world-importance, Arbor Day was largely the work of one man. The founder of the world's most observed tree-planting day was Julius Sterling Morton, secretary of agriculture in President Cleveland's cabinet, lawyer, editor and orator. In spite of his many other accomplishments, Morton considered his greatest work the founding of a day devoted to tree planting. When the father of Arbor Day first broke the virgin sod of his Nebraska homestead, that state was a part of what geographers called the "Great American Desert." While many contended that trees would never grow in Nebraska, Sterling Morton planted every specie of tree that he thought would survive and preached tree planting as the solution to a shortage of forest products.

Finally in 1872, when trees 15 years old were growing on his farm near Nebraska City, Morton prevailed upon the State Board of Agriculture to proclaim an "Arbor Day" and to offer $125 in prizes to the organization and the individual planting the most trees on that day.

Early on the morning of April 10, Nebraskans went down to their streambeds to dig up the seedling trees growing thick in the bottom land. Sandbars were a dense natural nursery of young cottonwood, maple, ash, elm, and burr oak. Before sunset, they had planted the treeless prairie with more than a million young trees which became shelter belts, against the winter winds and summer heat, and provided them with fuel and building timber. The first Arbor Day had been a success.

of his many other accomplishments, Morton considered his greatest work the founding of a day devoted to tree planting. When the father of Arbor Day first broke the virgin sod of his Nebraska homestead, that state was a part of what geographers called the "Great American Desert." While many contended that trees would never grow in Nebraska, Sterling Morton planted every specie of tree that he thought would survive and preached tree planting as the solution to a shortage of forest products.

Brother and Sister Re-united After 21 Years

Easter Sunday Herbert Bond of West Maple Street left for New York city to meet his sister, Mrs. Maude Morgan, and her daughter, Marion, of Port Talbot, South Wales who arrived Monday, April 7, on the Queen Elizabeth.

Mrs. Morgan expressed herself as being "thrilled to death" at being in the United States and is sure that she will enjoy her visit here. She reports that conditions in England are worse now than they were during the war.

Not Expensive To Fly Own Plane
 Aviation in respect to the private flyer was the subject of a talk heard in Plymouth by the local Junior Chamber of Commerce members last Wednesday evening at the Hotel Mayflower.
 Program Chairman Donald Lightfoot, himself an aviation enthusiast, invited Marine Shell of Belleville to deliver the talk which proved of interest to the group of young Plymouth businessmen.
 Mr. Shell, being a CAA certified instructor, centered his talk around the "private flyer", or those who fly for pleasure rather than commercially.
 He explained that, since the war, requirements have been reduced so that practically anyone is physically able to qualify for flying if he now holds a driver's license. He told of post-war planes how the manufacturers are catering to private flyers by making two- and three-place planes with convenient luggage compartments, getting away from larger types which necessarily are out of price range for the average private pilot.
 Mr. Shell also spoke of the cost of renting planes. He said, "Almost all local airports have planes for rent by those who do not own their own. And the cost for rental is constantly being reduced as more and more people fly, and more planes as being manufactured. The increased tempo of the building of planes", Mr. Shell said, "has a tendency to allow manufacturers to avail themselves of better production methods."
 The present-day type of plane for private flyers has a cruising speed of approximately 100 miles per hour, and will consume about a gallon of gasoline to each 20 miles. He cited examples to show that for ordinary trips, the traveler could actually fly as cheaply or cheaper than he could drive a motor car. The cost, of course, will vary with physical or climatic conditions such as headwinds, the speaker pointed out.
 Mr. Shell closed his talk by saying that flyers who utilize the facilities of airports across the nation will find that most of them are as well equipped to accommodate the traveler as are the average gas stations serving the autoists. A majority of them, he said, provide mechanical service as well as refueling and other routine services. They even go so far as to clean windshields, just as the auto stations do.

 The unions representing telephone employees have made a number of demands on Michigan Bell and are on strike to enforce their demands.
 The key issue is wages.
 The unions' demands on wages and other matters would cost Michigan Bell an additional $26,000,000 a year. That's equivalent to an average of $25.33 more a week for each of our employees. It's equivalent to adding more than $1.50 a month per telephone to Michigan Bell's cost of serving the 1,406,000 telephones in its territory. In the long run, of course, telephone users pay in rates for service what the company has to pay out in wages.
TELEPHONE WAGES ARE GOOD
 Starting wages for operators without previous experience now range from $25 in the smallest towns all the way up to $31 in Detroit; and the corresponding top rates are from $33 to $45.
 The men who install and repair telephones in these same communities start in right out of school, with no previous experience, at $26 to $31. Regular raises bring these wages to tops of $55 to $72.
 These basic rates for a five-day 40-hour week are increased by extra payments for overtime, Sunday, holiday, evening and night duty.
 It is to the advantage of everyone, including telephone subscribers, to pay good wages to telephone employees. But Michigan Bell's wages already compare favorably with others in the community for work requiring similar skill. That's the way telephone wages should be—because that's the fair thing for both customers and employees.
OTHER ADVANTAGES
 In addition to good wages, telephone employees have good working conditions . . . holidays with pay . . . vacations with pay of one, two or three weeks, depending on length of service. And they have sickness and death benefits and pensions, all paid in full by the company.
WE REGRET THIS STRIKE
 We tried to avoid the strike by offering to extend or renew present liberal labor contracts. The unions did not accept. Instead, they insisted on substantial wage increases.
 Under the circumstances, the company has said, therefore, "Let's decide the wage dispute by putting it before an impartial panel of representative Michigan citizens for arbitration, and have both sides abide by their decision."
 Certainly, those Michigan citizens would be in a position to determine whether Michigan Bell's wages are fair to employees and fair to the public—and to what extent recent wage settlements in other industries have a bearing, if any, on telephone wages in Michigan communities.
WHY HAVEN'T THE UNIONS ACCEPTED OUR ARBITRATION OFFER
 Apparently a big reason is that the unions representing Michigan Bell employees cannot move without the approval of the National Federation of Telephone Workers with which they are affiliated.
 It looks as if the N.F.T.W. wants nation-wide power for itself through nation-wide bargaining. This would mean nation-wide power over an essential public service—and without regulation in Michigan.
 Settling Michigan wage matters in Michigan is the fair way to handle the wage question. After all, 99 per cent of all our telephone calls are local or within the State of Michigan. And the rates for all of this service are regulated right here in Michigan by the Michigan Public Service Commission.
ARBITRATION COULD END STRIKE
 Agreement on our wage arbitration offer could be the means of ending the telephone strike right now.
 Telephone employees could get back to work and the public could get normal telephone service again.
 Michigan Bell is still hopeful a speedy solution can be worked out.

Dear Mrs. Housewife:
THIS IS JUST A NOTE FROM US TO YOU
 It's printed so you can read it easily and quickly.
 For the past five years everyone has been working hard to end the curse of war. During that time it was necessary for us to be away from the store a great deal of the time. We were out trying to find scarce merchandise.
 We'll admit it — too many times we were "held up" on prices and the net result meant prices were too high to you. Now it's another story. Merchandise is becoming available and at proper prices. One of the largest wholesale food distributors in Michigan has come forward with a plan whereby we can obtain merchandise for a small percentage above the packer's or producer's price.
 This means that it will be possible for our market to compete with the largest chain stores in the city.
 So starting today, YOU WILL SEE THE LOWEST PRICES IN THIS STORE. These prices will not be just for the week-end, but will prevail every day.
 For extra special prices watch our displays and our window streamers.
 Sincerely yours,
 Bob and Clarence

Trout Season To Open April 26

Tomorrow is the big day! Its the opening day of the 1947 trout fishing season.

And here's a safe bet that not less than 100 families face you see on the streets of Plymouth every Saturday, will be missing from the fair city of Plymouth next week Saturday.

They will be wallowing in the muddy streams of Michigan, wading through melting snowbanks up north trying to land a few of those speckled beauties they have been dreaming about all winter. In contrast to the ideal conditions provided by the early warm dry spring of a year ago, fishing prospects will not be bright.

Conditions may be fair for worm fishermen, but dry fly artists may see more scenery than fish, unless the weather improves sharply, and soon. Fishermen intent on bringing home a big rainbow trout are hoping more than the usual number of them will still be available in the streams, and not yet returned to the Great Lakes after spawning.

Pre-season plantings of legal sized trout—the first of a million to be put into the lakes and streams this summer—will be very limited, the department reports. Many backwoods roads now blocked with snow may not be dry and firm enough by opening day either for fish hatchery trucks or anglers' automobiles.

Fishermen who do brave the weather on opening day have no new rules or regulations to learn. The minimum legal length for brook, brown and rainbow trout still is seven inches, the creel limit still is 15 trout a day on streams, 10 a day on lakes, and

Uncle Sam Asks Your Assistance

Some thoughtless boys and girls, in fact, some people of mature years, are not so careful of public property as they should be, says Postmaster Harry Irwin.

As he spoke he looked at some knife cuts that had been made in one of the desks in the lobby of the postoffice.

"We try to keep everything looking spic and span, but it is not an easy task, especially when some kid will come in here and cut his initials in a writing desk," said Mr. Irwin.

Ask Bids To Maintain Branch P.O. Station

Postmaster Harry Irwin has asked for bids for the maintenance of a branch postal station at Rosedale Gardens for the next two years. The present contract with the Hearn store expires in July, and unless a more suitable place and price can be secured, it is probable that the postoffice department will renew the present arrangement for another two years. Postal laws require that bids be advertised for every two years.

Sick Aids Ready For Local Usage

Hospital beds and wheel chairs have been made available to residents here through the thoughtfulness of the Ex-Servicemen's Club. They may be obtained through local physicians who are authorized to make application for the use of the equipment. No charges to be made by the organization which has donated the beds and chairs for the use of citizens of Plymouth.

"While the condition of our postoffice building is much better than in some places, still we have had many little things happen that have resulted in slightly defacing the postoffice building of which we are all proud. We are asking every one to help us keep our postoffice looking better than any other postoffice in the country," added Mr. Irwin.

Kiwanians Hear High Official

"If all people would learn what Kiwanis is and means we would not have to worry about strife in the world," Basil Wheeler of Ypsilanti told Plymouth Kiwanians last week. Mr. Wheeler made the assertion during his visit to the local club in his official capacity as district lieutenant governor of Kiwanis. He quoted the following "Ten Commandments" and elaborated on each of them for members of the club:

1. Keep skid chains on your tongue.
2. Make promises sparingly and keep them faithfully.
3. Never let an opportunity pass to say a kind word to someone.
4. Be interested in others.
5. Be cheerful!
6. Preserve an open mind on all debatable questions.
7. Let your virtues speak for themselves — discourage gossip.
8. Be careful of another's feelings.
9. Pay no attention to ill remarks about you — live so that no one will doubt you.
10. Don't be too anxious about getting a just due—do your work and you'll be respected.

MAKE YOUR DOLLAR HAVE MORE CENTS

The hue and cry has been for lower retail prices—and, as a result, many organizations have come to the front with the statement that they will now lower their prices. Boyer's policy has always been to give the customer the lowest possible price, consistent with good business and common sense. Of course, during the past five years we have often been at the mercy of the manufacturer as to costs—but, our records prove that, in spite of the higher merchandise costs and higher operating costs, our percentage of mark-up for these same years has been lower than ever before—indicating definitely that we have refused to pass all of these higher costs on to our customers—that we have given our customers better values, dollars and cents wise, than ever before. And, rest assured, that Boyer's will continue their policy of giving their customers the most for their dollars as it is humanly possible to do.

NO "NEWS" IS VERDICT

"Oh heck, why does that bus always get stuck when we are getting out of school for a trip?" That is just one of the many remarks made by the pathetic journalism students, Wednesday, April 16, as they trod dejectedly back to their English tests and other dreaded afternoon classes after waiting for a bus, "that just didn't show up," which was to take them to Detroit on a tour of the Detroit News. They had even gone through the trouble of getting their parents permission to go and then, the bus didn't come. But their sorrows were lightened when they were told that it had only been postponed until a future date.

You can't get on by merely getting by.

GUIDANCE DEPT. RECEIVES CHARTS

"The Campaign Guidance Charts" is the name of a booklet received by Mrs. Donna Reincke and Anthony Matulis of the High School Guidance Department. This booklet was written and published by the Faculty of Champaign Senior High School, Champaign, Ill. Part of the introduction reads, "These charts serve as an excellent medium for discussion of possible vocations, some of which are almost unknown. From a survey concerning these charts to the pupils, it has been found that various methods have been utilized depending upon the type of course and age of the pupils."

Some of these vocations mentioned and discussed in this booklet are: music, government, home economics, sociology, economics, mathematics, English, speech, foreign language, mental work, drafting, art vocations, science, history, woodwork, printing, electricity, and commerce.

In Birmingham, England, Ernest Abrahams sold his raincoat to an acquaintance, stole it back, sold it to a second-clothes dealer, stole it a second time, finally settled with a judge for a pound ($8) fine.

MOTHER-DAUGHTER BANQUET HELD MAY 8

Thursday, May 8 is the date set for the annual Mother-Daughter banquet sponsored by the Y-Teens to be held amidst a spring setting at 6:30 in the High School gym. Mrs. W. T. Bostick will be guest speaker, choosing for her topic, "Mother and Daughter in a 1947 Community." The menu prepared by Mr. Latture will include: tomato juice, turkey including on biscuits, mashed potatoes, cabbage salad, rolls and butter, coffee or milk, ice cream and cake.

We wouldn't mind people being breezy if they gave off something besides hot air.

We love 'em in December as we do in May

REMEMBER the day you first romped away in that Buick of yours? How those eight Fireball cylinders fairly floated you over the hills—how those road-steady two tons of lively car answered sweetly every light touch of your hand on the wheel—how you glided along with foursquare BuCoil springing smoothing every wrinkle in the road?

That's what your Buick was built to do. Years and years of that kind of driving are in it—especially when it gets the interested, informed car care this fine an automobile should have.

That doesn't mean just periodic lubrication, a body wash, battery check or bolt-tighten. It means thorough attention by competent Buick men—attention that keeps a Buick always a Buick.

Buicks are our babies. Even the smallest details are handled the way they should be for a Buick. We have Buick tools that do jobs better and quicker. We have men who know Buicks best. We have Buick-engineered parts that are precisely right for your car.

Put that all together and it's Buick car care.

Pretty clear, isn't it, that here is where your Buick will receive the best attention? After all, we love 'em heart and soul.

"TOP" SECRET

One of the things that play a part in Fireball snap is Buick's wafer-thin steel cylinder gasket. Just 15 thousandths of an inch thick, it's a "must" for the high compression this powerful straight-eight is designed for. Other kinds that are thicker cut down the compression and the car's liveliness.

In carbon and valve jobs, or any other where this gasket must be replaced, only this Buick gasket will assure the fit Buick engineers intended. No wise Buick owner would have any other in his engine.

Just another example of how you get more for your money—in major adjustments, tune-ups, lubrication or anything your car needs—when you make sure it gets Buick car care.

Steel Sets the Pace for Progress

Steel protects its workers

Steel mills have been leaders in the safety movement for 40 years

THE FAMOUS slogan "Safety First" was born in a steel company nearly 40 years ago. That's when Steel started the first organized safety campaign in the world.

But safety is more than a slogan in the steel industry—nine out of ten accidents that used to happen in steel mills don't happen any more.

Working as a team, management and employees together have made steel jobs so safe that after reviewing the recent figures, The National Safety Council says: "Workers in steel plants run less risk of accidents per hour on the job than they do per hour in their automobiles."
