He Turns Up in The Strangest Places—Plymouth Pilot Finds

You can easily imagine what it's like to be lost flying over strange territory—and what a wonderful feeling it is to find your way again.

In the annals of aviation one learns varied methods of "getting back on course", and one of these is to fly low over a town and read the name always pointed at either end of a railroad station—or if the town has a water tower as most have, in many cases the name appears there.

The latter means was to be employed last week when Deane Herick of the Herick Jewelry store, and his wife were returning from a Florida trip in their own Piper Cub. They had gone down with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gorrell in their 4-place Bellanca. Deane had flown off the end of his sectional but figured he was on course and would hit his destination okay without the aid of another map. But something happened, as it always does when one figures he "can't miss" and time ran out without their coming to the landing field.

So instead of flying in circles—or rectangles—the Plymouth pilot down there in the southlands followed a road to a town—and there before his eyes, and the plane, was what he was looking for—a great gleaming white water tower. And best of all there were words printed on it. On the first pass neither he nor his wife could make out the name, so he got in a little closer for the second legal buzz and this time they both saw what was painted on the pipe—the words, "Kilroy Was Here."

Well, because this story is being told it stands to reason that the Hericks returned safely. They found a field, loaded up with gas and got themselves headed in the right direction for Plymouth. But they still don't know the name of the town, which so far as can be learned is the only one in the world where Kilroy wrote his name in big letters on the top of the water tower.

Music is the harmony of being; but the music of Soul affords the only strains that thrill the chords of feeling and awaken the heart's harpstrings.—Mary Baker Eddy

Lee Danielson Antioch Graduate

A Plymouth boy Lee Erle Danielson, was moderator for a student-faculty discussion on "Federal Aid to Education" held at Antioch college, Ohio this week. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Danielson, 15801 Haggerty road.

Danielson will receive his B. S. degree in education this June. He re-entered Antioch College last fall after 35 months with the U.S. Marine Corps. A first lieutenant, he served in Hawaii and Iwo Jima as forward observer for artillery and assistant executive officer for battery in combat. Later, Danielson was a Special Service Education and Information officer in Kyushu, Japan.

Conducting the probe into the need for a federal education subsidy, at the home of education professor O. F. Mathiasen, Danielson drew upon his experiences as a school teacher in three states to discuss varying educational standards in the U.S.

As part of the Antioch College work-study plan, Danielson has spent part of his college career as a lecturer at the Museum of Science and Industry in Chicago, a teacher at Howe Military School in Indiana, recreation director and teacher at Children's Home of Chatham County, Georgia, and teacher at city and country School in Detroit.

All Antioch students alternate periods of study on campus with periods of work in their field of concentration throughout 30 states. For variety in his co-operative program, Danielson has also worked as a meter tester of industrial installations for the Detroit Edison Company.

Over twenty students and faculty members participated in the two-hour discussion directed by Danielson. At the same time other groups were meeting at seven other faculty homes to discuss topics ranging from Palestine politics to peacetime military conscription.

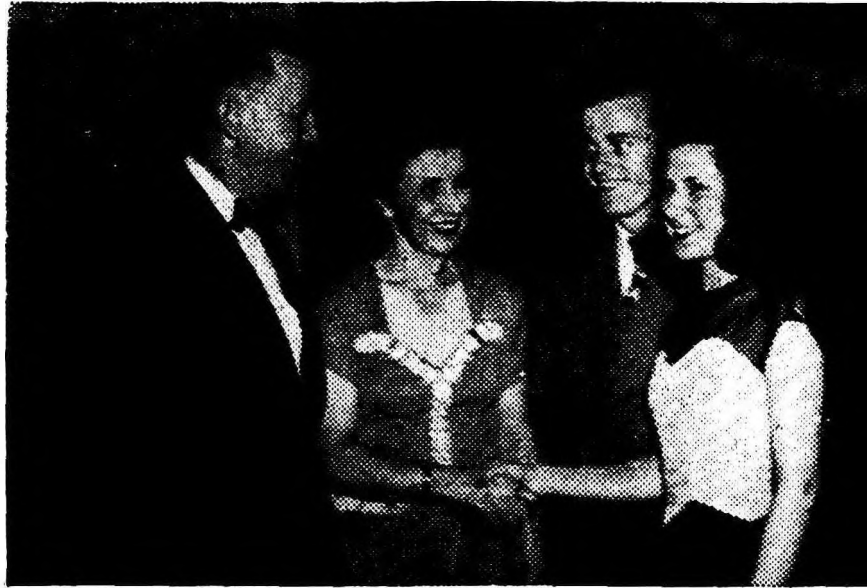

Twenty-six year old Danielson plans to continue his studies in psychology at the University of Michigan next year.

Miss Herter, a graduate of the Plymouth high school, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Herter of 139 Liberty street. Her many Plymouth friends will be interested in knowing that this important social event of the well-known Ypsilanti business school was an outstanding success.

Cleaning Old Furniture Makes It Usable Again

Complete cleanliness may not modernize a dated piece of furniture, but it can make it usable, and even attractive. Scrubbing wood furniture with soap and water, drying it thoroughly with clean cloths, and then waxing or polishing will make all but the most battered items worthy of a place in the home. Surfaces of tables and dressers that are badly scratched can be concealed with washable cotton or lace runners. Chair-seats and backs can be hidden by ready-made or home-made cloth covers. If these disguises are kept fresh and clean, the house will have an air of homey good looks.

When washing discarded wood furniture, dust it thoroughly first. Then fill a small pail or pan with sudsy warm water, using just enough soap to create a lather. If the piece is very dirty, apply the suds with a brush. If only moderately soiled, wash with a cloth. To prevent streaking, wash and rinse a small area at a time, then continue to the next section, overlapping a little on the area that already has been cleaned. This prevents skipping any parts. Wash the insides of cupboards and drawers as well as the outsides.

When the whole piece has been washed and rinsed and wiped with a dry cloth, let it stand for several hours to air-dry completely. Then wax lightly to give a pleasing gloss.

Northville Hospital Is Assured by Last Minute Legislative Action

to provide their own housing facilities. This will mean a substantial increase of population for this entire area.

The need for a mental hospital for this part of the state has long existed. At nearly every session of the state legislature during the past ten or twelve years, the subject has been discussed but not until two years ago were those who were backing the project able to secure an appropriation for the purchase of the site.

Again matters looked exceedingly discouraging early in the present session when the state's financial problems were thrown into a mess as a result of the sales tax diversion amendment voted into the constitution last fall.

The upper branch of the legislature thought it saw no chance to begin work on the hospital, but house members took a different view last week and the senate on the final night of the session, accepted the house amendment, with the result that the Northville-Plymouth area will become the home of one of the outstanding mental institutions in the world.

cially to providing happy surroundings for the pupils in the classrooms in keeping with suggestions made by the School of Special Education at the Normal College at Ypsilanti.

The entire program of studies, as also the discipline in and outside of the classrooms will be conducted with Christian discipline and will provide thorough Scriptural training. The Lutheran Board of Education is working under the following statement of principles, motivating the establishment of a private school by the congregation:

"WHEREAS we recognize the fact that Christian religious training is a most essential factor in a sound, complete educational program which aims at character development, spiritual faith and morale, civic righteousness, and above all, the eternal welfare of men's souls; and "WHEREAS we appreciate the difficulty of achieving this aim in our otherwise exemplary, tax-supported schools, because of the Constitutional provision for the separation of the functions of the Church from those of the State, and because of the wide variety of religious views among the people of our country of religious tolerance;

"WHEREAS do we, the members of St. Peter's Ev. Lutheran Church of Plymouth, conceive of it not only as a Scriptural obligation toward our own children, but also as a precious privilege and singular service to God and our country to provide the best means for the thorough religious training together with complete secular education of children in a private school, supported by the members of our parish.

"The U.S. Commissioner of Education said, March, 1941: 'Insofar as religion is inextricably intertwined with the daily affairs of men, no education, even secular education, should be without a motivating religious core.'

Because of the limited facilities of the new school, the following, reasonable regulations will apply for admission of pupils:

1 The children of the Lutheran Parish of St. Peter's Church will be given priority consideration for admittance without a charge for tuition;

2 The children of Lutherans of the community who are not members of St. Peter's Lutheran Parish will be considered next. A reduced fee for tuition will be charged for these children;

3 Finally, applications from non-Lutheran children will be accepted on the basis of the full charge for tuition now in force for children who attend Plymouth schools while not residing in the Plymouth school district.

As soon as the painters have finished with their work, the Lutheran Board of Education plans to hold an open house on some Sunday afternoon to give all who are interested an opportunity to inspect the new school.

If you have any items of interest about your family or friends please call Plymouth 6.

mitting the second question to voters in the hopes that it might carry at another election. Both proposals must be approved in order to enable the district to raise the taxes for future building and site purposes.

At an election in the Hough district, on the same day school voters in that area defeated the proposed consolidation with the Plymouth district by a vote of 41 to 37. Of the three districts which were considering such a move Bartlett has been the only one so far to approve the union. Hough and Hough have both rejected the plan at previous elections.

Tops Today - Tops tomorrow. ONE thing's plain, any time you want to look today's highways over: The car that catches your eye first — and holds it longest — is Buick. The car that pops out from the crowd with the prophetic look of a "fashion first" is this same neat and nimble number. More than that — it's a beauty you could take to your heart, and hold for a long, long time. Its size, its sturdy bulk, the hold its Fireball power takes on your fancy — all spell out a permanent attachment between you and this honey. Its steadiness on the road, its feathery handling, the unmatched buoyant levelness of its all-coil springing ride add up to a fond affection you'll want to last forever. And how does this square with things-to-come in car design? Well, just ask yourself: Which car now on the road looks most like what you'd like all cars to be? Which departs most neatly from old patterns, stands out as the style most likely to succeed the others? The answer's Buick — which leads logically to this: Whenever your Buick comes, it's bound to be style-right, modern, fresh-looking. It's still going to show the way in looks, line and action to anything the next handful of years is likely to produce. So next to a spot behind a Buick wheel, a spot on a Buick waiting list is the smartest place to be these days. Why not put yourself there by getting your order in now — with or without a trade-in, and at no premium over established prices at time of delivery? ONLY BUICK HAS ALL THESE STAR FEATURES: AIRFOIL FENDERS, FIREBALL POWER, ACCURATE CYLINDER BORING, BROADRIM WHEELS, BUICOIL SPRINGING, PERMI-FIRM STEERING, FULL-LENGTH TORQUE-TUBE DRIVE, SILENT ZONE BODY MOUNTINGS, FLUTEWEIGHT PISTONS, STEPON PARKING BRAKE, DEEPLIF SEAT CUSHIONS, CURL-AROUND BUMPERS, NINE SMART MODELS, BODY BY FISHER. HIGH — AND MIGHTY. Slip this new bumper jock over the special bumper reinforcement bars, and in a jiffy it hoists this husky plenty high. Quick — sure — easy — safe.

Bad Weather May Hurt Pheasants

The weatherman had better produce some sunshine pretty soon if the 1947 pheasant crop in southern Michigan counties isn't to be hurt.

Conservation department game men aren't too pessimistic yet about pheasant chicks' chances of survival but point out that weather in early June may determine the fate of many birds.

Game division records seem to support the theory that hen pheasants delay egg laying in cold, wet seasons; that in comparable spring seasons hatching of chicks has hit its peak in the third week of June.

Mason game farm hen pheasants began laying about May 10 this year. Allowing 15 to 18 days to complete their clutches of eggs, and another 23 days for incubation, chicks will be hatched in the week of June 20.

Michigan Poultry Men Could Do Better

Michigan's poultry production is only "scratching the surface" in meeting the demands of the great Detroit market according to figures compiled on receipts of poultry and poultry products in the Detroit market in February.

C. G. Card, head of the poultry department at Michigan State college, believes Michigan poultry and egg producers are surrounded by the finest markets in the world.

Michigan producers originated 36,166 of the 89,424 cases of eggs sold during February on the Detroit market. Ohio with 31,903 was second, with Indiana, Illinois, Iowa and Minnesota following.

Warning! Test Canning Gage

Before you start the season's canning, be sure to have the dial gage of your pressure canner tested for accuracy.

If your canner gage is undependable your canning will be unpendable, warns Roberta Hershey, foods and nutrition specialist at Michigan State college.

Some foods can be canned safely only in a steam pressure canner. These are the low-acid foods as snap beans, corn and other common garden vegetables with the exception of tomatoes.

NOW TWO GREAT RAILROADS UNITE TO FORM "THE GREATER C&O"

On June 6th the Pere Marquette Merged with the Chesapeake & Ohio. Shippers and Travelers now have a New, Unified Service between the Great Lakes and the Mid-Atlantic Coast.

FOR years it has been apparent that a combination of these two railroads is a common-sense proposition. One serves the nation's greatest coal-producing area, the other reaches some of the greatest coal-consuming sections.

A Great Network . . .

Vital traffic lines of the Pere Marquette now join those of the C&O. The former is a natural extension of the great C&O system into Michigan, with direct service into Canada.

Improved Passenger Service . . .

Both railroads have earned the appreciation of the traveling public for their pioneering of basic improvements in passenger service. Revolutionary new equipment, "Pay-As-You-Go" and Credit Card travel, "No Tipping," Hotel Accommodation service—these are some of the latest but not the last of C&O's popular innovations.

Shippers' Problems Simplified . . .

The merger provides direct line communication for the exchange of the great industrial, agricultural and mineral output of the new "Pere Marquette District" of the C&O Railway, with the vast coal, agricultural and manufacturing wealth of its "Chesapeake District."

areas will have direct access over the C&O to foreign trade, through the modern port at Newport News.

Broader Opportunities for Employees

This union of two major rail arteries means further security for the men and women who helped to develop these lines and who make them run.

Stockholders Agree . . .

The many stockholders of both railroads saw clearly the opportunity to improve both service and earnings by linking the 3,106-mile C&O with the area served by the 1,950-mile Pere Marquette.

The greater Chesapeake & Ohio is a major move toward closer communication, better service and increased prosperity.

Gave Coat to European War Sufferer, Victim of Russian Hate Sends Letter

Russians are as brutal, as vicious and as beastly as were the Nazis, according to a letter that has been received by Mrs. Ray Richardson of West Main street, Northville, from a former resident of Latvia, who is now in one of the camps maintained in Germany by the British.

During the clothing drive conducted in Plymouth and Northville a year or so ago, Mrs. Richardson contributed a winter coat. She enclosed her name and address in one of the pockets.

Much to her amazement a few days ago she received from Germany an intensely interesting letter from Mrs. Anna Puplos, who had been given the coat.

The letter recently received by Mrs. Richardson is so filled with interesting information that it is published in full as follows:

April 11th, 1947
Dear Madame,
I am sure you are surprised at receiving this letter from old, ruined Europe. But God has created many wonders in the world. Last week I got an overcoat from U.N.R.R.A. and furthermore, there I found your notice on which you had written your name and address. In connection with this case I venture to trouble you in distant America to express my hearty gratitude and thankfulness for your grand present or donation, that has reached its aim to alleviate more or less the fate of the refugees of the Second World War.

Perhaps you have heard something about the three Baltic states: Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania. I am a Latvian. My native country is Latvia (on the Baltic Sea). Latvia was an independent, free and democratic country before the war. In 1939 the great fire set our nation on a way of Golgatha, and up to this moment we are going on this way. In June 1940 Russia invaded our country, occupied it, and violently set up her own puppet government. After this the Russians began the action of persecution. They arrested and murdered thousands of Latvians, and thousands are deported to Siberia for hard labor. Among the persecuted there were people of all classes. There were many of them, who were great nationalists or kept some private property in their possession. In July 1941 the Germans drove out the Russians and occupied Latvia. It was no difference between the government of Russians and Germans. That time I have been displaced from Latvia to Germany. In 1944 the Russians occupied Latvia once more, and till now there are left only violence, cruelty and torment. There are millions of people in Europe, who against their will have been compelled to forsake their treasure, their relatives and even families. I have lost all my estate. I have lost my home, I have lost my native country. Indeed, only now, living in exile we can understand and realize what it is—home, how dear it is and what it is to lose it. As long as the Russians are staying in Latvia, we can't return there. I have found accommodation in the Baltic DP camp (in Onabruen, Germany) which is supplied by UNRRA. How long we are to live here—nobody knows. Let us pray God Almighty and obey His Saintry will. Let us believe in victory of truth and justness over falsehood, violence, cruelty and despotism. Let us not get down in our spirit. Let us believe to God's just will. Let us hope, we shall accordingly to His will again go home and be again our free and independent Latvia and sing again "God Bless Latvia."

I am forty-three years old. I have been married 18 years. I have one child—a boy of twelve years. Now we are living together. I am born on the country. My father was a farmer. I have finished secondary school (Grammar school). After my marriage I moved to the city. I have worked as secretary and typist in Latvia. I was also busy in our own house-keeping. My husband has finished University in Riga (Riga is our capital). He was a judge in Latvia. After we were displaced to Germany my husband was obliged to work in the wood, as a simple worker. Now my husband is working as a storeman. We are living in a building which has been a monastery sometime. We are about 500 Latvians here. I, my husband and my son, we are dwelling in a room which has been a bath room sometime. It is furnished by two simple iron beds, a wooden table, some wooden seats and one small iron stove, the pipe of which is leading into the yard through the window. We are cooking meals on the stove. We get fixed rations of food only. The rations are very low. In spite of these low rations, praise be

God, there is no starvation. I am not healthy. During the war I have passed a variety of dangers and horrors. For months I have spent every night in ditches and shelters hiding from the air attacks. One air attack surprised me in a building, which was destroyed. During the transportation to Germany the Russian airplanes persecuted our steamer on the sea. All these sufferings, the terror I have seen, the life in exile and the unknown future have destroyed my health. I am sick with nerves and heart. I have been in a hospital last summer for a long time and also in bed at home for six months. I suffer great physical aches. My recovery is getting on very slowly.

I kindly ask you not to be upset if you find some mistakes in my letter. Our native language is Latvian. Besides Latvian I speak German, Russian and a little English too. If I don't disturb you with my letter, I look forward to receiving of your reply from America as soon as possible.

Although the spirit be not master of that which it creates through music, yet it is blessed in this creation, which, like every creation of art, is mightier than the artist.—Beethoven

The direct relation of music is not to ideas but to emotions—in the works of its greatest masters, it is more marvelous, more mysterious than poetry. — Henry Giles

Hough District Not to Annex

June 9th was the day to which everyone in Canton district No. 1 had looked forward to, this day having been set as the one on which voting on a proposal to annex the district with the Plymouth School district was to take place.

Much interest was shown concerning the issue, however a tabulation of the ballots cast proved a point, annexation or consolidation is not desired. Forty-one votes were opposed and thirty-seven were in favor of the proposal. Issue defeated by a small plurality.

The Sun Shines - Golfers Happy

If only for reasons of their own enjoyment and recreation, several hundred Plymouth men and women were happy with the change to warmer, and dryer, weather this week.

And along with the sun and temperatures in the high eighties, came an announcement from Plymouth Country club which will probably mean that even more of the city's golf enthusiasts will be able to take advantage of the facilities this private club has to offer.

M. C. "Casey" Partridge, pro-manager of the club, publicly announced this week a reduction in playing privilege fees. The membership dues remain the same. This reduced rate is not for a full year, he says, but rather for the remainder of 1947. The mid-season fee has been lowered as much as 30 percent and 150 additional members will be taken into the club.

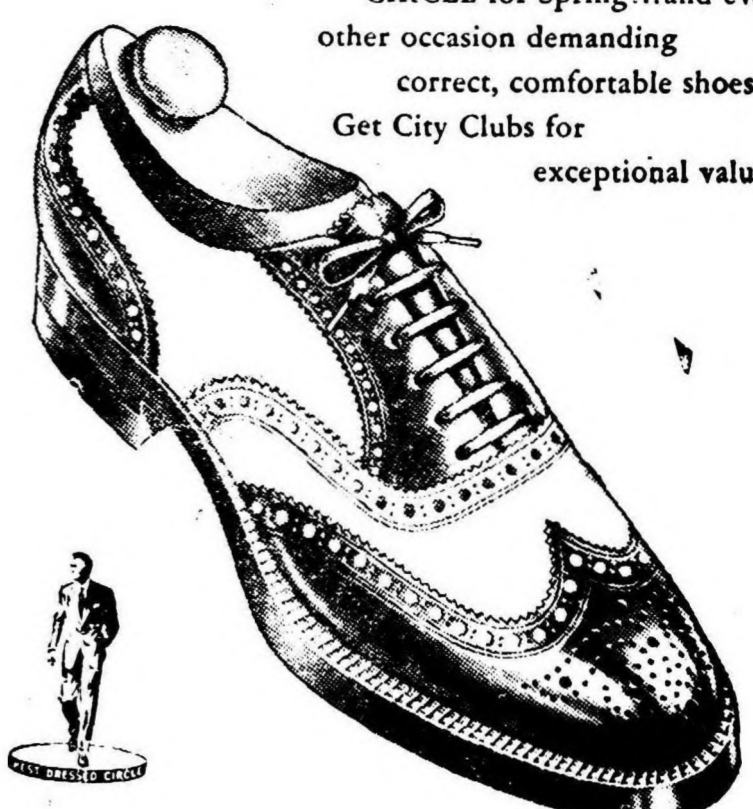

Provided the weather does not change for the worse, league will begin next week at the country club. All teams have not been filled, so new members, those signing up this week, will have an opportunity to participate. Men's league play will be on Monday and Thursday evenings. Mixed doubles are scheduled for Tuesdays and Fridays, and the ladies will play on Wednesdays.

Those interested in more information regarding membership at Plymouth country club may contact Partridge at the clubhouse; Estel Rowland, membership chairman, or Vaughan R. Smith, president of the association.

"All right, I got mud on my shoulder"

This car was stuck right near my station: Dead battery ...

The fellow who owns it had to meet his wife downtown. So I pushed him over a rise and he started.

Now I've got mud on my shirt—but I've made myself a friend... and a new customer.

He'll be back for a new battery or service, and I deal in both. With batteries scarce as hen's teeth, I'm extra fussy about check-ups. My customers' cars start!

Get Your Sugar Supply Now!

Don't rush—but the tip is that all of the residents of Plymouth and vicinity who are entitled to additional supplies of sugar on stamps 11 and 12 have not yet secured their new allotment. Emma DuBord, county home demonstration agent reports that the U. S. Department of Agriculture recommends buying sugar now.

It is important to get the sugar out across the country before box cars are filled with the wheat crop. There are not enough cars to take care of the heavy movement of sugar and wheat at the same time.

Winter wheat moves during the same weeks that sugar demand is heaviest for home and commercial canning. If grocery shelves are relieved of their sugar supplies now, grocers can stock them again while there is transportation available.

If you hold your sugar stamps until later, you may not be able to use them because grocers may not have large enough supplies.

Here is a case where an early "run" on sugar stocks will mean plenty rather than scarcity.

Former Pastor To Preach Sunday

The Rev. Clifton Hoffman, former minister of the Newburg Methodist church, will be the guest preacher at the Newburg church Sunday, June 15 during the 10 a. m. worship service. The Newburg church is located at Ann Arbor Trail and Newburg road.

Mr. Hoffman is now chaplain of the Divinity School at the University of Chicago, and assistant to the Dean in charge of the in-training program of the Divinity School. In this latter task he has direct supervision of the Divinity School.

"The Christian Task" will be the message which the guest preacher will bring next Sunday. Rev. Hoffman has many friends at Newburg, where he served for three years.

Praise, like gold and diamonds, owes its value only to its scarcity. It becomes cheap as it becomes vulgar, and will no longer raise expectation of animal enterprise.—Samuel Johnson

Next to sickness the principle cause of absences from Detroit schools is poverty. During the 1945-46 school year 21,131 poverty cases were handled by the School Attendance Department. The majority received public welfare aid, but children of 2,406 families, referred to the Volunteers of America, received shoes and clothing.

Jane Diekman Is Auxiliary Head

Guests representing the V.F.W. of River Rouge, Ann Arbor, Northville and Detroit were in attendance.

New officers of the auxiliary are Jane Diekman, president; Violet Brown, senior vice-president; Betty Peck, junior vice-president; Alice Fisher, treasurer; Shirley Caloia, secretary; Sarah McClellan, chaplain; Jennie Tammadge, conductor; Doris Raymond, guard; Elaine Martin, Catherine Messmore, and Grace Burley are the trustees.

The Royal Order of Coeties presented the organization with a large bouquet of roses and each of the members received a rose. Mr. Spalding, of Dearborn, presented the gavel of office to the president of the auxiliary and the boys of the V.F.W. post contributed the colors to the group. At the conclusion of the ceremonies members and guests adjourned to the V.F.W. hall and enjoyed a lunch.

FAIR IN THE LIGHT OF MEMORY SHINES
MICHIGAN My MICHIGAN
ELTON R. EATON

At the last meeting of the Michigan Outdoor Writers' Association there was quite a fuss over the serious stream pollution problem in Michigan.

Naturally the Dow Chemical company of Midland was the target of much of the discussion. Phil Rich, retiring president of the writers' organization, is a resident of Midland, and under the circumstances one would naturally think he was in the "middle" so to speak. "He was anything but."

Alert Phil Rich who is as much against stream pollution as any one could be, is also a strong defender of home-town industries. He took sharp issue with some of the writers who wanted something drastic done to the Dow Chemical company.

As the result of his insistence that the writers get the facts direct from the Dow Chemical company as to what it was doing to eliminate pollution, a committee was sent to Midland to secure first hand information.

In a recent issue of The Midland News, Mr. Rich tells of that visit in the following interesting article:

On secrets to be disclosed in a tiny wooden tower at the Dow waste disposal system may hang the fate of future expansion here.

Prime need of a growing chemical business can be summed up in one word: WATER. Water for cooling. Water for processes. Water for steam. Water for treating wastes.

Not just a little water but 200 million gallons of it daily. That is the requirement of the local plant. In summer the flow of the river here gets down to 60 million gallons. The balance must come from the dam or from re-use of the same water.

In re-use may come the final answer. Experiments in that little wooden tower are aimed at re-using the same water over and over again. It is being done now to a large extent, but Thomas Powers and his department seek perfection to a point where even the water carrying loads of gases and chemicals can be brought back for normal use.

Three newspapermen visited the vast system Friday: Jack Van Covering, new president of Michigan Outdoor Writers and outdoor editor of the Detroit Free Press; Bert Stoll of the Booth newspapers and vice-president of the Outdoor Writers and myself.

By fall Dow Chemical expects to complete another half million dollar project in its waste disposal system. Then objectionable wastes will be diluted to a point where there will be no taste or smell to cause any trouble. This half million dollars will be on top of two million already spent, and countless other dollars spent in research and in operating such a system.

With some 500 chemicals being manufactured here, Dow probably has the most complex pollution problems in the entire country. It is probably nearer to solving those problems than 99 per cent of the other industrial firms. Its management believed in pollution control and years back began the work which has now grown to gigantic proportions—more than 840 acres being devoted to storage ponds, filters, blowers, agitators, sprayers and numerous other gadgets. Not only has work been done on taking products from water, but also removing odors from the air.

The end product going into the river this fall will not taint water or fish, said Powers. As an example, the river will not contain more than 1-100th part per million of phenol from Dow wastes. Five hundred times this much phenol—five parts per million—was tried in raw water. Two of the newsmen could not detect it. A third thought he could and selected the correct sample in the first test. In a second test he thought two of the samples (containing the 5 parts) were all right and picked well water as contaminated, and only made one correct selection out of four samples arranged by the other two newsmen.

There are products, however, like water containing certain amounts of phenol which when chlorinated might be noticed if there were only one part in a billion.

Questions brought out that Dow is not the only user of the vast Saginaw water system—largest watershed in Mich. Down-river water polluters include the cities of Saginaw and Bay City, which have no sanitary sewage disposal systems, nor any for industry.

Large amounts of phenolic wastes are dumped into the river by hospitals, hotel and others through use of a variety of disinfectants and cleaners. Flint, Owosso and Midland have sanitary sewage disposal, but the first two towns both contribute to industrial pollution and have done nothing about it. This adds to the Saginaw Bay problem.

The new waterline Saginaw-Midland from Lake Huron will be only a "drop in the bucket" with its seven or 14 million gallons of water for Dow daily when compared with the total used here. Perhaps—and this is a hope—Dow engineers may unravel the water problem here and save for Michigan new plants which are otherwise bound for places where waste disposal is easier and water more plentiful.

If you have any items of interest about your family or friends please call 16.

Newspaper Article Tells of Slave Sale

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Watson, who reside on Ford road, recently brought to the Plymouth Mail office an article taken from the Belaire, Michigan paper of 30 years ago.

Boys Available For Farm Work

A number of farmers will undoubtedly revamp their farm program to a certain extent because of the late wet spring. A majority of farmers will also review their coming farm labor needs for the ensuing year, and there will be some changes made as to the type of worker he will need most. There has been a far cry from certain quarters or sources that farm labor will be more plentiful this year. I think we can be very safe in seeing and believing that this will not be the case. If the extension office can be any indication of such movements we haven't seen it as yet. The man that really wants to work on the farm has just disappeared out of sight and the man that really doesn't know only walks part way in the office. Experienced farm hands are at a premium in this county and in all other counties through out the state.

You as farmers know very well that a good experienced man does not need to come to the county agents' office or any other office for a farm job. He can always find one without any aid.

We do know that there is and will be plenty of young boys from 15 years to 18 years old that want farm jobs. A large number of these boys have been on farms in previous years and have done a good job. A large number of farmers in this county and other parts of the state have used these husky boys and are continuing to call for them again. Knowing fully what the farm labor situation is it might be a good plan to sort of survey your situation and possibly one of these boys could fill the bill. Our office has a number of boys at present on file who want farm jobs and we will be glad to help you in any way.

The Wayne County Extension Office is also planning to open and operate another Detroit Farm Labor Office for your convenience. The office will open on June 9th at the Detroit Eastern Market and will correlate closely with the Western Market. We feel it will be a convenience to the farmer in his farm labor problems. When you are at the Eastern Market feel free to come in and see us. For further information you may write or call John R. Vloch, Wayne County Farm Labor Assistant or E. I. Besemer, County Agricultural Agent-Wayne 2361.

BABSON SAYS

Babson Discusses Banks
BABSON PARK, Mass., June 13.—Recent western trip I spent most of my time in the six Central States; namely Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas and Oklahoma. These comprise the "Magic Circle" of America "the richest in time of Peace and the safest in time of War."

High Prices Prevail Everywhere
Every farmer in this area, with normal judgment and willingness to work, is now prosperous. Of course, he is obliged to pay high prices for implements, feed and other things; but he is getting very high prices for his products. This means that the farmer who raises his feed is making extraordinary profits on his livestock. As an illustration, the price of a pound of pork has increased from 5c a pound fifteen years ago has been up to 35c a pound and now sells at 28c a pound. Hogs which sold at $2.00 per hundred pounds in the "Thirties" now sell at $25.00 per hundred. I attended an auction where the auctioneer sold 6 weeks old pigs at $5.00 apiece; he told me that he sold them at 5c apiece in 1932. Wheat and corn sell at very high prices now, and may sell at even higher before the slump comes.

What of the Future
Every farmer with whom I talked recognizes that he is enjoying a honeymoon and sooner or later there will be trouble. The trouble is not in the opinion as to how long it will be before farmers must tighten their belts,—that is, how long "parity legislation" will hold.

In the last analysis the price of farm products is tied up with income of the industrial cities of the East. Most things go up and down together. Human nature is hard to change. Farmers, labor leaders, merchants and manufacturers are now thinking only of temporary profits. They refuse to curtail until forced to do so.

What to Do With the Money
A farmer whom I visited sold a lot of cows and hogs. I asked him: "What will you do with your money?" He replied: "Buy some more livestock next week and start over again." Thereupon he asked me: "What would you do Mr. Babson, with the money?" To this I replied: "I would put the money in banks and give my wife one good vacation. She certainly deserves it." To this he replied: "I am afraid the banks might bust while I'm away." This last remark brings me to the subject of this week's column.

Let me assure every reader that the banks are strong today. When the price of hogs dropped back to $5.00 per hundred the banks will still be open and doing business. They learned their lesson in the Thirties and will not get caught during the next depression at least. In my humble judgment, money in the bank is safer today than money in hogs.

Banks Are Now O.K.
All accounts up to $5,000 in all National and most other banks are insured. Farmers can easily distribute their money in a number of banks. Do not bother about interest on your deposits. The man who seeks high interest is usually the man who makes the biggest losses. Another suggestion is to buy Government Bonds.
Fortunes are made by selling when prices are high and when everyone is optimistic; then putting the money in banks and waiting a few years until prices are again low and everyone is pessimistic. Those who follow this practice not only roll up wealth for themselves, but also render an important service to the entire country by helping to level off the booms and busts.

Avoid Speculation
REMEMBER THAT THE BEST INVESTMENTS CONTINUE TO BE IN THE STATE WHERE YOU MADE THE MONEY WHICH YOU HAVE NOW. DON'T SEND YOUR SAVINGS TO ANY LARGE CITY WHICH PERHAPS MAY BE DESTROYED DURING THE NEXT WAR. IF IT COMES, INVEST MONEY AT HOME IN PROPERTY AND BUSINESSES ABOUT WHICH YOU KNOW THE BEST!

Hi-12 Members AT Convention

Approximately 20 Plymouth members of the Hi-12 Club, and their wives, attended the International Convention which was held at the Book Cadillac hotel, Detroit, May 28 through May 31.

The convention was given a fine sendoff Wednesday evening which had been designated as fun night for the members. The wives of the members attended the broadcast breakfast Thursday morning, and many of them received prizes. The International representative and secretary's breakfast was given Friday morning, and it was at this time that club matters and activities were discussed.

Former Governor Brucker addressed the convention during the closing of the President's banquet, Saturday evening. Mr. Brucker spoke of the effects which industrial tyrants are bringing to the economy of the nation. This speech concluded the convention and it was generally agreed among the members that an enjoyable time was had by those in attendance.
