News Briefs from The Sheriff's Office

Warren Valley Golf Club reported the theft on October 1st of a golf bag with a complete set of golf clubs, including 9 irons and 4 woods valued at $160.00.
The bag was taken from the bar room of the club.

Herbert Liverance, owner of a gas station at 29407 Six Mile road, Livonia Township, reported that his station had been entered on the night of September 23rd and the prowlers, being unable to open his safe and finding no money in the cash register, made away with two new Sciberling tires.

The high price of building material and household equipment makes property in this category an attractive object of theft.
Earl Gearns, 194 S. Mill street, reports that he had just completed a new house at 9234 Lament in Livonia Township, and that this house was broken into and an electric water heater, with a 30-gallon tank was stolen.

Each Stran-Steel building stands as a STEEL-CLAD guardian against the ravages of fire in your community. Now, you can know the answer. One of the finest cosmetic firms in the U. S. has put hormone cream within reach of the average woman—a 1 1/2 oz. jar, a normal month's supply—costs only $1. (Hormone creams previously cost as much as $12.00.) This sensationally low priced cream is a fine, rich day or night cream—grand for the skin for it has a base of the finest lanolin—but with 7,500 international units of natural estrogenic substance added it is indeed a bargain. Easy to use—just like any good day or night cream—Nu-Youth is pure white, delicately fragrant, will not soil linens or clothing. Follow the simple directions on the Nu-Youth jar. Use it faithfully and see—just see—what this all-important "youth ingredient" can mean to your mature skin. For it's a fact that the glorious, glowing complexion of most young girls are due in large part to the vigor and strength of their female health. Now, science puts a rich hormone cream within reach of every woman of average means—Nu-Youth, remember, costs but $1 plus cosmetic tax. We have a fresh stock of Nu-Youth. Come in and get a jar.

A secret of acoustics that died with the ancients is embodied in a 2,400-year-old amphitheater that still stands in excellent condition in Epidaurus, Greece. Although its stage is open and uncovered, a whisper spoken on it is heard distinctly in every one of the 14,000 seats.

As you grow ready for it, somewhere or other, you will find what is useful for you in a book.—George Macdonald.

Couple Speak Nuptial Vows

Marriage vows were spoken September 27 by Cleda Catherine Arnold and Lawrence A. Trapp. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Helen Arnold, of 802 Fairground, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Trapp, of Farmington. The ceremony took place in the First Presbyterian church.
The bride was gowned in heavy white satin, styled with a net yoke forming a high round neckline, a fitted basque and a bustle skirt. A tiered veil of illusion fell from a beaded tiara, and stephanotis and bouvardia centered with orchids formed the bouquet. The bride was given in marriage by her mother.
Maid of honor was Betty Arnold, the bride's sister, and Elaine Trapp, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Olive Hosier, also a sister of the bride, were bridesmaids. The attendants gowns were of madonna blue satin with pink ostrich halos. The maid of honor's halo was fuchsia.
Kenneth Trapp was his cousin's best man, and guests were seated by Don Reichman and Merlin Heidehmyer.
A reception was held in the Crystal room of the Hotel Mayflower. Following this, the couple left for Quebec City and will return by way of New York.

Local Woman Designs Clothing

Mrs. Clifton Raum

All clothing designers don't come from Paris or New York, for right here in Plymouth is a woman who recently came up with one of the most novel clothing ideas in a long time. She is Mrs. Clifton Raum, of So. Main street, designer of the petti-pants which were recently featured in two Detroit papers.
The petti-pants are all that the name implies; half petticoat and half pants. They are cut on the order of a waist high culotte, full enough to eliminate any possible shadow effect. Particularly ingenious is the waist opening which she put on the right side, preventing a conflict with other plackets.
The idea for such a creation came to Mrs. Raum as an answer to the problem of what to wear under golf clothes that would allow the most freedom of movement. She soon saw that they would be equally good for other sports, as well as for many regular day time dresses.
When her friends saw the finished product, orders started pouring in. Mrs. Raum was soon swamped with work, so she went to the lingerie department of a Detroit department store to find out if any manufacturer had put out a similar garment. She was told that, as far as they knew, no such thing had been previously made, but it sounded like such a good idea to them that they put in an order for five dozen pair. These were sold out almost as soon as they were featured in the two newspapers. Since, however, Mrs. Raum hasn't the time to turn professional dressmaker, the supply ended when the five dozen were sold out.
Thus, the life of the original petti-pants was short lived as far as the general public was concerned. Unless some manufacturer of women's clothing takes up the idea, only Mrs. Raum and her friends will be able to have them. However Mrs. Raum has no intention of being stopped by production problems because today she is working on several other items which she hopes one day to have on the market.

Local Men See Show for Vets

Four members of the local VFW Cootie post went to Percy Jones, Faculty 100 Hospital in Battle Creek last Sunday to see the horse show which was sponsored by the Hospital Fund of the Military Order of the Cooties. Approximately 130 horses appeared in the show which was given for the benefit of veteran patients of the last two wars. The horses which took part in the show came from all parts of lower Michigan.
The local men attending were: Don Peck, Edwin Brown, Howard Anderson, and Dan Grubbsich.
The foursome later stopped to visit the Jackson Post, and while there met Quarter Master Whitcomb, of Detroit, from the State Department.
Miss Trew Simpson, daughter of Captain Roger Simpson, USN, says the nicest birthday present she ever received was on her twenty-first birthday, when her father's destroyer division sank a Japanese cruiser and three destroyers in the Vella Lavella action. On her sister Mary's birthday, he again distinguished himself in action.

Care Urged in Potato Storing

Potato danger season, both digging and storing, is here, says H. C. Moore, potato specialist at Michigan State college. It's hard to be sure of a financial gain in the potato business until the crop is safely in the bin without blight or threat of rot.
Late blight and field frosts are two common causes of potatoes rotting. Although the blight was light over Michigan this year, farmers shouldn't take a chance with the infection. Sometimes potatoes from field only lightly infected with late blight rot easily in storage where the dirt and moisture on the potatoes favor the growth of the blight rot. It's always safer, according to the potato specialist, to wait until the vines are killed by frost to start harvesting.
Potatoes showing late blight rot should not be put into permanent storage when dug. Place them in pits or temporary storage and sort them carefully two or more times before storing them for the winter. At each sorting, all potatoes showing the characteristic reddish brown blight spots on the skin should be discarded.
Watch out for Jack Frost making a visit at digging time. If frost freezes the ground, digging should be delayed until the soil is thoroughly thawed.
Field-frosted or chilled potatoes should be handled much the same as stocks affected with blight. They should be put in temporary storage for two weeks or more and carefully sorted several times. If not sorted, a few bushels of bad potatoes may cause spoilage of thousands of bushels of good potatoes.
Experience is not what happens to a man. It is what a man does with what happens to him.—Aldous Huxley.

25 YEARS AGO

FROM THE PLYMOUTH MAIL FILES

William Wernett of this place and Miss Hattie Fritz of Detroit, were quietly married at the home of the bride's parents in Detroit, last Tuesday evening, October 10. After a few days' motor trip to Washington, D. C., and other eastern places, they will reside on the bridegroom's farm, "Maple Lawn", just east of town. Plymouth friends extend best wishes to the happy couple.

Mrs. Alta Fisher of this place, who is teaching in the Dixboro school this year, has been elected president of the Washtenaw county Teachers' Club and vice-president of the Trailblazers.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Rorabacher who visited their children and families in Detroit, for a few days last week, returned home Sunday, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Claude Rorabacher, daughter, Dorothy, and Clayton Rorabacher.

Last Friday morning, a car driven by Charles Hirschlieb, and one of the Bond bread wagon trucks, came together at the corner of Main and Union streets, south, attempted to turn from Main street onto Union street. The car, a Ford coupe, was badly demolished. Mr. Hirschlieb suffered two broken ribs and a bruised shoulder. The truck was damaged but little.

The village commission have ordered the building at the corner of Penniman avenue and Union street, now occupied by Chas. Hadley's vulcanizing shop, torn down. This property is owned by Plymouth Rock Lodge, No. 47, F. & A. M.

Work on the new Eckles & Goldsmith ware-house is progressing nicely. It is expected ready for occupancy in about that the new building will be two weeks.

After "Smilin' Through" it may sound almost too good to be true to say that Norma Talmadge has made an even better production. But after viewing her in "The Eternal Flame," the First National attraction which comes to the Penniman Allen theatre, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, you will agree that here beyond all doubt is the greatest photodrama of Miss Talmadge's career, her incomparable achievement to date. Further than that, "The Eternal Flame," proves the supremacy of American art on the screen even over the most ambitious and massively spectacular productions of foreign producers. It is a massive and spectacular production, a great human drama that tugs at the heart strings, moistens the eyes, grips with its dramatic sweep and warms the soul. Yes, and in its all embracing humanity, it at times brings out the smiles. Filmed on a magnificent scale with all the splendor and fine trappings of the early eighteenth century, with hundreds of players appearing in the scenes, "The Eternal Flame" may be well termed a motion picture masterpiece.

The Busy Woman's class met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. George Cramer, on Harvey street.

The Freshmen reception, given in the High school auditorium, last Friday evening, was well attended. Games were played, such as Faith, Hope and Charity. Some bashful freshmen's faces were worth the price of admission when they found out they had been fooled by the sisters, Hirma and Mandy and Magic Music were played also. The president of the senior class, Perry Richwine, gave a welcoming address to the freshmen class, and Blanche Freeman, president of the freshmen class gave the response. Then the seniors gave a short play, which was very entertaining, after which cider and doughnuts were served.

Calvin Stevens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stevens, was the winner in the word contest last week, given by William T. Pettinill, who offered two box seats for the Saturday evening picture show at the Penniman Allen theatre to the boy or girl who sent in the largest list of words made from the slogan "The Home of Quality Groceries". Young Stevens sent in a list numbering about 867 words.

Watch Calories to Change Weight

There are no safe short cuts for losing weight. There are no substitutes for a carefully chosen diet and the will power to stick to it.

Extension specialists in food and nutrition at Michigan State College have prepared a folder titled, "Counting Calories," for the use of people who want to gain or lose weight. You can obtain it from your county extension office or from the Bulletin Office, Department of Public Relations, Michigan State College, East Lansing.

The folder points out that your reducing diet should be different from a good diet for people of normal weight only in the number of calories it supplies. In other words you should have all the necessary nutrients even though foods with high calorie counts are left out. Usual daily calorie needs of various persons are listed in the folder. It is recommended that to gain or lose weight you do not change your total daily supply of calories by more or less than one-third.

Counting your calories is made easy by this folder which gives the count for all common foods. Foods and their calorie count are listed in seven different groups. For a good diet is necessary to select some food from each of the seven groups.

Sample menus for one day are given in the folder to illustrate how you can use the same basic menu and provide a diet with low calories, high calories, or a moderate amount.

Rightly to read and to practice the Scriptures, their spiritual sense must be discerned, understood, and demonstrated. — Mary Baker Eddy.

Duck Hunters to Find Many Ducks

Normal numbers of local ducks may be expected by Plymouth waterfowl hunters when the 30-day season opens at noon October 7, in the opinion of cooperative observers reporting to conservation department game men.

"Local ducks" are mostly mallards, black ducks and bluewing teal that nest and rear their young in Michigan marshes. "Flight ducks" that furnish shooting later in the season come from Canadian nesting grounds where greatly diminished duck populations have been reported.

Observers in the southern half of the lower peninsula agree duck hunting conditions in their zone are much better than they were a year ago. A year ago drouth had dried up many a southern Michigan pothole and marsh, and the improvement brings conditions only up to what would be considered normal in an ordinary season.

Upper peninsula observers likewise are agreed that the local ducks, though limited, are present in average numbers. In the north half of the lower peninsula, however, there is a sharp difference of opinion among observers. Some report more ducks than a year ago, some less, indicating local variation in waterfowl abundance.

Fire broke out in a building belonging to the Plymouth Coil Company, of 11500 Hagerly Highway, last Friday which caused approximately $2,500 worth of damage. The fire occurred when an electric wire in a heater broke, falling into an inflammable substance.

The company manufactures coils for automobiles, and is owned by Richard and Robert Delvo. The concern is located on the Charles Rathburn property.

No injuries have been reported as a result of the fire.

Since 1925, some fault in the earth beneath Jerome, Arizona, has caused this 5,000-population town to move more than eight feet.

What a billion dollar steel expansion program means to you

THE steel companies of America are spending one billion dollars to add 2,500,000 tons of new steelmaking capacity for your benefit. Parts of this program were started two years ago.

Further expenditures of many more hundreds of millions are planned for additional plants and equipment.

This means that more and more steel will be available to make the things you need—houses, farm implements, automobiles, freight cars and thousands of other products of everyday use.

Steelmakers Have Faith in our Nation's Future.

This year's production of steel is the greatest in peacetime history, far greater than all the rest of the world combined.

But demand is great, too—greater than supply for some kinds of steel. If 18,000,000 tons of steel had not been lost in the last two years because of strikes in steel, coal and other industries there would be few complaints about the steel shortages today.

The huge expansion programs were planned to enable the industry to catch up with demand in all kinds of steel as quickly as possible.

In 1929 the steel industry could make 1,173 pounds of steel for each man, woman and child. Today it can make 1,499 pounds. With the expansion in prospect it will make 1,540 pounds.

As always throughout its history, steel is expanding its capacity to meet the growing needs of the country.

American Iron and Steel Institute
350 Fifth Avenue - New York 1, N. Y.

There are 101 member companies of the Institute with plants in 773 American communities. They produce 96.3 per cent of the country's steel.

Tells of Land of Hiawatha
 By the Old AAA Traveler

The Upper Peninsula of Michigan is the true Land of Hiawatha, and the Tanquamenon River is the very stream that nebulous red man is said to have used as his canoeing water. Hiawatha may have been a legend, but certainly today it is easy to prow the reaches of that beautiful land and imagine you're back in the days when the Indian was king of all he surveyed. The hand of modern man—praise be!—touched the Upper Peninsula comparatively little, hence we in Michigan have a magnificent playplace at our very door.

It matters very little where you're traveling in the Upper Peninsula, or what your desires may be in vacation joys, you'll find just about what you want. It might be trolling for the fighting lake trout out of Munising—or sunset over Lake of the Clouds—lazy hours beneath the towering pines—or sun-drenched days along the white beaches—it's all there for you. You'll find waterfalls polka-dotted over the Upper Peninsula—and lakes—and wind-

Among Sights in Land of Hiawatha

Bond Falls on the Ontonagon River provide a scenic highlight for those thrilling to the beauties of the Land of Hiawatha. All over the Upper Peninsula of Michigan are waterfalls and great stretches of beauty little touched by the hand of man.

ing woodland trails into sylvan glades, indescribable in their peaceful beauty. It's vacation land of a calibre found nowhere else in this section of the country.

Many areas might be called a veritable fairyland of Christmas trees! The picturesque color that is added by Indians in their native habitat—colorful woodsman and red-shirted guides who might have stepped from a best-seller—islands and bays and bits of country unchanged from the days of the earliest white man—the heart's desire of the vacationist!

That, my friends, is Michigan's magnificent Upper Peninsula! From Sault Ste. Marie and Les Cheneaux Islands on the east to Ironwood on the north, a spreading panorama of scenic splendor and nerve-healing calm that beckons the nature-lover to relaxation and play! Little wonder that Michigan's Upper Peninsula has become one of America's favored vacation areas, drawing its visitors from all of these United States and even from Canada, a playplace in its own right.

You'll get your first real thrill when you cross the Straits of Mackinac from Mackinac City to St. Ignace, practically a sea voyage in its own right, because you have many miles of blue water between the two points of land.

From either Mackinac City or St. Ignace you'll jump over to Mackinac Island for a look-see at that historic place. Mackinac Island is truly a Landmark of American Civilization, for it was on Mackinac Island that Michigan's early white man set up his home—and it was on Mackinac Island that John Jacob Astor started his first trading post—a business destined to rocket him to fame and fortune. You will stand on the very porch where once gayly garbed voyageurs and feather-bedded Indians did business with this stout-hearted trader. Ancient Fort Mackinac has been rebuilt and stands today just as it stood when the echoing thunder of gunfire told of freedom being purchased at the cost of blood. You will see Nicolet's Landing, where sturdy Jean Nicolet himself stepped ashore as the first white man to see the island of Michilimackinac. You will see caves and cliffs echoing Indian loves and tragedies. Ah yes, Mackinac Island is an enthralling place, from Sugar Loaf Rock, legendary home of Manitou, to the Old Biddle home, birthplace of the first white child born in Michigan, and from the statue of Pere Marquette to the old dungeons where the British housed prisoners of war.

There is a great story in Jean Nicolet himself, for he had been commissioned to start westward from Quebec to find "Cathay and the coast of Asia." When he reached the famed harbor of Mackinac he robed himself in the gorgeous vestments of a Chinese mandarin—and stepped ashore to meet a group of half-naked Indians! It is related that Nicolet held in each hand a huge "horse pistol" and that when he fired those weapons the Indians dubbed him "man with thunder in each hand."

Then you start your exploration of the great spread of country. Highlights galore, so it would be very, very smart to see it in what might be called a "circle tour"—possibly a side trip over to Isle Royale—even a quick jump over into Wisconsin—and then home through the great beauty that belongs to the lower section of this Michigan the Magnificent. But it will be in the Upper Peninsula that you find your greatest thrills.

You'll see birds in vivid colors and squirrels and chipmunks and an occasional woodchuck will scurry from the highway ahead of the car—you will be in the nearest approach of fairyland you have ever encountered! You will find the natives of the Upper Peninsula glad to have you with them and they will do everything possible to make your visit a pleasant one. They are by nature kindly and hospitable and they would have you love their country as they love it. The great Upper Peninsula of Michigan is one of America's top-hole vacation places and offers the ideal objective for the man or woman seeking peace and beauty during lazy, restful days. When you have finally circled this land of enchantment and are back home you will have memories which you can never lose and which, through the years, you will sort of pull out before the winter, grate and parade in all of their glories—memories of the Land of Hiawatha.

While recently exploring the caves underlying Dent de Crolles, a mountain in the western Alps, a party of Frenchmen descended 2,159 feet, the greatest depth ever reached by speleologists.

Fleet Admiral Nimitz, was commissioned an Admiral in the Texas Navy on October 12, 1945. Last year he learned that the Scoville Manufacturing Company of Waterbury, Conn., had found the dies from which they had made the buttons for the uniforms of persons in the Texas Navy and he immediately asked them to make him a set.

Health Officials Warn Hunters About Tularemia

With the opening of the small game season but a few days away, the Michigan Department of Health today repeated its warning about tularemia.

Tularemia is a disease of rodents and men which is found in all parts of the United States. In man it is extremely painful, difficult to treat, and it can be fatal. Hunters most often catch it.

There were 21 cases of tularemia reported in Michigan last year—all but one of them during the hunting season. Five cases have been reported to date this year.

Man usually gets the disease from handling or eating the carcass of an infected rabbit, although the organism causing the disease is carried by rabbit ticks, wood ticks and certain biting flies which transmit it from one animal to another and which can transmit it to man.

The organism is so small that it can enter the body through unbroken skin. It usually enters through the skin of the hands or face through the eyes, mucus membranes or intestinal tract of man. The incubation period is from eleven to twelve days with three days being the average.

Onset of the disease is marked by chills, fever, body pains and nausea. A sore usually appears at the place where the organism entered the body and the lymph glands nearby become swollen. These glands are painful and often become abscessed and have to be opened. They may continue to discharge for weeks. This condition is usually accompanied by fever and may confine the patient to bed for weeks or months. While this is the most common type of the disease, an overwhelming infecting dose may produce high sustained fever and prostration. This type accounts for most of the deaths and has at best a long slow convalescence.

Every failure is a step to success; every detection of what is false directs us toward what is true; every trial exhausts some tempting form of error.—William Whewel.

Previous to making their debut under the light of the Plymouth band paraded locally for the first time since they received their new uniforms on Friday, October 3.

Later in the evening they performed a short skit in which "Community Spirit" and "Civic Progress" were united in a symbolic marriage.

Throughout the game they bolstered the fighting spirit of the team and the fans with stirring marches. Tonight they will make a return performance and plans have been made to carry out another half-time skit.

Honored on Trip to Washington

"Honored to have you with us Mr. Wilson—First rider at 88 years young" was how the captain's flight report read last Saturday when he handed it to Mr. Frank S. Wilson enroute to Washington, D. C., via Capital Airlines.

On that day 88 year old Mr. Wilson was taking his first plane ride. He was journeying with his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Kenneth T. Wilson, to Washington where they visited her parents.

Commenting on the experience he said, "Fine ride. I enjoyed myself very much." When questioned as to whether the high altitude bothered him, he answered, "Unless you keep yawning, your ears pop like sixty."

This was Mr. Wilson's second trip to Washington. The first time he traveled by car, and spent approximately 24 hours on the road. His recent trip took only a little over two hours, so he is now sold on air travel.

Mr. Wilson lives with his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wilson, at 1311 Deer.

During 1940-1941, Chungking was continuously bombed by the Japanese and many Chinese children were orphaned. The enlisted men attached to the USS Tutuila (which was moored in Chungking) adopted eleven of these orphaned children and contributed money to feed, clothe and educate them. Whenever a sailor was detached, it was understood that the man who relieved him should take over the custody of the youngsters. The eleven children were known as May Gwaw Bing Tchwawners (members of the American Gunboat).
