Large Audience Attends Concert

By Loretta Petrosky

A large and cordial audience attended this season's opening concert given jointly by the Plymouth Symphony orchestra and the newly formed Plymouth Civic chorus.

Two movements of Schubert's "Symphony in B Minor", "Chit Chat Polka", by Strauss, and Grieg's "Last Spring", played by the string orchestra, comprised the first half of the program, which was conducted by Paul T. Wagner.

The second half of the program, conducted by Fred C. Nelson, was presented by the Plymouth Civic chorus. The group sang excerpts from "The Messiah" by Handel. This great choral group was an ambitious undertaking for an amateur choral group so newly organized and, as yet, so poorly balanced as to voice parts. It was a fortunate thing that the soprano section was a capable one.

It is doubtful whether or not the liberties that were taken with tempo, time, and expression added anything to the music of Handel. Much was to be desired when the orchestra began to function as an accompanying instrument, for the vocal lines were then forced into the background by an overly prominent instrumental group.

The soloists were Mrs. Harry Fisher, contralto, Earl Reh, tenor, and Mrs. Frank Arlen, soprano, and the accompanists were Hannah Strasen, Inez Locke, and Evelyn Woods. All those who participated in this civic enterprise are to be congratulated. Next year's performance will be anticipated with pleasure.

Nothing can bring you peace but yourself; nothing can bring you peace but the triumph of principles.—Emerson

Irishman Amazed at Conditions in United States

From what Thomas Cummings has seen since Thursday, November 27, he is fascinated with life in this country. Mr. Cummings, whose home is in Bellefleur, Ireland, is visiting his uncle, Hugh F. Quee, of Northville road.

Mr. Cummings stated this week that he has been astounded by the number of cars here. In Ireland, he stated, a worker can never hope to own a car. The absence of class distinction in this country has also impressed him. In either Ireland or England, he related, it is a common occurrence for an employer and employee to pass on the street without speaking. In fact, he added, it would be unusual if they did speak.

The red headed Irishman is a mechanical engineer and is in hopes of getting a job in this country. He would prefer to work in this territory and, make his permanent home here. His wife and one and a half year old daughter are still in Ireland, but it is his wish to send for them as soon as possible.

"Conditions in Ireland are deplorable" Mr. Cummings added. He believes that in this country there is a greater chance of accomplishing things which it would be impossible to accomplish there. He worked in London, for two and a half years. His degree in engineering was earned from Bellefleur Technical college.

"Conditions in England," he continued, "almost parallel those in Ireland." Fresh fruit can be purchased only occasionally. People can get about one egg a week, and these are usually given to the children. If a dozen eggs could be purchased, which he added is almost an impossibility, they would probably cost about $1 a dozen. As for meat portions, he stated that each individual is allowed about 25 cents worth a week. "Everything," he added, "is rationed."

Mr. Cummings was active in the scout movement in Ireland, where, he added, the original scout leader came from. He was a patrol leader, and added that the troops seem to do and perform about the same activities in both countries. During the war, he stated, the troop members acted as messengers.

As a side note, Mr. Cummings related that the trip to New York from Shannon, Ireland, took approximately 17 hours. Perhaps one reason he was so glad to reach this country was that it took the plane three attempts to finally get on its way. The first time 20,000 gallons of gas had to be dumped into the ocean when they were two hours off Ireland. When a similar experience occurred a second time, and they again turned back, all the passengers including Mr. Cummings were a little leary of the third attempt, which finally proved successful.

"Highway Service" Radio Telephone Nearly Complete

Installation of Michigan's first "highway service" mobile radio-telephone stations at Flint, Saginaw, and Detroit is nearly complete, and service U. S. 10 will be available from Detroit to Bay City by early next year.

Stations at Jackson, Kalamazoo, Grand Rapids, Port Huron, and Sault Ste. Marie are in advanced stages of construction and also should be ready at that time. Stations at Escanaba, Marquette, and Houghton are planned for 1948.

The Jackson and Kalamazoo stations will be links in a highway mobile service system from Detroit to Chicago.

The Lansing and Grand Rapids stations will be links in a Detroit-Muskegon highway system.

The Muskegon station is owned and operated by the Michigan Associated Telephone Company, not affiliated with the Bell but cooperating in providing service to any mobile-equipped vehicle.

Port Huron will be the terminal of another highway system from Detroit.

The station at the Soo initially will provide mobile service to local vehicles and passing ships. Next year it will be part of a system covering nearly all highways of the Upper Peninsula. Mobile service is an extension of regular land telephone service, via high-frequency radios equipped with suitable sending and receiving apparatus. Conversations travel part way by radio, part way by telephone line.

Fixed transmitters operate on a frequency of 35.42 megacycles. The power of the transmitter is 250 watts usually and the range 40 miles. Mobile transmitters in the cars operate on a frequency of 43.42 megacycles, have a power of 30 watts, and a range of about 20 miles.

The equipment in the vehicles for highway service, in addition to the receiver and transmitter, consists of a six-foot flexible antenna, selective signaling device, instrument holder, and handset.

The installation and monthly charge is billed in the same manner as for regular telephone service.

To contact a mobile unit, the caller dials "long distance" and asks for the mobile service operator, giving her the number of the vehicle and its estimated location. She routes the call over telephone wires to the operator at the transmitting station nearest the car or truck, who signals him to answer.

In a similar manner a call may be placed from a vehicle to any of the nation's 35,000,000 telephones. The car occupant or driver picks up the handset which automatically signals the operator at the nearest receiving station, and gives her the number of the telephone he is calling. She completes the connection for him.

Mobile telephone service, which was introduced last year in Michigan at Detroit, is being used initially by cartage companies, construction agencies, ambulances, taxis, newspaper press cars, public utilities, law enforcement agencies, doctors, and delivery trucks.

Mayor Welsh Tells Rotarians American Food is Only Way to Peace

(Continued from page 1) only by sending a constant flow of food to those people can we hope to win their confidence. Mayor Welsh is president of the United States Conference of Mayors and he told of a banquet in France where he was to bring the greetings of this country to the Mayors of all the European cities. At this banquet he distributed small boxes containing a few bars of hotel soap that had been given him by the Hotels of Grand Rapids for that purpose. He explained that the soap ration in France and most other European countries was one cake of soap 3 inches long, 1/4 inch thick and 3/4 of an inch wide, per month and this amount of soap had to be used for laundry, dishes and personal cleanliness. He said that when the mayors and their wives at the banquet opened the boxes that he had given them, he momentarily lost his power of speech when he saw many of the people break into tears over his small gift. After the meeting, the mayor was asked if he felt that much American food was diverted into black market channels. He answered that the majority of the food sent by America was distributed through churches and other responsible agencies, but that if some were diverted, it made no difference, because in the final analysis, some one would eat it and that every person would know it came from America.

Tuberculosis X-ray Survey Underway in Plymouth
(Continued from page 1) ures, an extensive X-ray survey is being conducted in Plymouth in an attempt to cut down this high number. The survey in Plymouth is at present under way. It is being staged in Plymouth for adults 15 years of age and over, to detect whether or not they have the disease. It has been revealed that many people have tuberculosis germs in small quantities lying dormant in their bodies. They may develop the disease if their natural resistance is lowered and the germs begin to increase to considerable numbers, health officers have stated. Poor recovery from diseases such as pneumonia, influenza, grippe, and colds will lower resistance and provide ideal conditions for an outbreak of the germs. Among grown people, the danger of association is limited largely to those having intimate contact with tuberculous persons. It was stressed that the unknown case always does the most harm. The early case, discovered before outward symptoms appear, a report stated, can be cured with a minimum loss of time and money, before great harm has been done in passing on the germs to friends, relatives and business contacts. Particular emphasis was laid on the fact that if every adult were to have an annual routine chest X-ray, tuberculosis might be wiped out of this community.

over the maintenance of Plymouth Riverside park. As a result it became a part of the famed Rouge system of parks.

Dr. Luther Peck succeeded Mr. Jolliffe to the presidency, and he in turn was followed by Fred Lendum in 1930. It was when Ernest Allison was president in 1931 that the "Ideals" fund was set up. It has been used ever since for the benefit of underprivileged children and other Kiwanis ideals.

Alton Richwine, who was president in 1932, resigned before his term expired. The office was then delegated to Sterling Eaton. Dr. Harold Brisbois took over in 1933, and the presidential duties were assumed by Edwin Schrader in 1934. Earl Mastick and Claude Dykhouse followed in 1935 and 1936, respectively.

In 1937 motion pictures of the Kiwanis club members were taken by James Gallimore, president. This same film was shown at the Tuesday night meeting. Chauncey Rauch presented the club with the Kiwanis flag in 1938. George Burr was president that year. Warren Worth was the presiding officer for the year of 1939.

The highest membership attendance record in the club's history was achieved in 1940, the year Carvel Bentley pounded the gavel. Mr. Bentley was succeeded by John Blyton in 1941, Kenneth Corey in 1942, Ernest Henry in 1943, Paul Ransdell in 1944, Russell Roe in 1945, Roy Fisher in 1946 and Frank Terry has been this year's presiding officer.

The past presidents who were present were introduced, and each gave a short talk on what was achieved by the organization during his tenure of office.

Ernest Allison paid a tribute to the past presidents who have deceased. They are Lawrence Johnson, Dr. Freeman Hoyer, and Russell Roe.

The motion pictures taken by James Gallimore ten years ago were shown. These were followed by a reel of pictures taken last summer by William Hartmann. In both instances, members were shown in their respective places of business.

There are 37 charter members in the club. They are: Ernest J. Allison, Raymond Bachelard, Dr. Harold Brisbois, Norman Cummings, Stanley Corbett, John Crandall, Stanley Chambers, Russell Dettling, Stewart Dodge, Henry Fisher, Charles Finlan, Oliver Goldsmith, Raymond Hills, Charles Humphries, John Hubbert, Edson Huston, R. J. Jolliffe, Ralph Lorenz, John Larkins, Dr. Luther Peck, Charles Ross, Elton J. Richwine, Ernest Roe, Charles Rathburn, Calvin Simons, and Fred Thomas.

The charter members who have deceased are: William Burrows, Dr. F. B. Hoyer, John Henderson, Dewey A. Hollaway, Lawrence Johnson, Robert Mimmack, William Petz, Russell Roe, George Robinson, William Jeanings and Daniel Murphy.

Preceding the dinner a vocal solo was rendered by Barbara Johnson. She was accompanied by Verena Rice, daughter of Kiwanian Dr. Edwin Rice.

Also during the meeting, Roy Crites, who took over the chairmanship of the War Bond committee when Edwin Schrader enlisted in the Navy, announced the dollars worth of bonds which the club members were instrumental in selling. He reported that $249,000 worth of bonds were sold and of this amount, approximately $100,000 worth were sold to members.

similar to that played by the federal reserve banks in this country, that of a "bankers bank." The colonel added that this plan was originated by Mr. Dodge, of the Detroit Bank, when he was serving as director of the Finance Division in Berlin.

The following step involved the splitting up of the "former Deutsche, Dresdner, and Commerz banks, which also meant the changing of their names." A custodian was placed in each bank who is charged with the carrying out of the laws. "Previously," he stated, "these banks had various branches all over Germany." Under the present plan, they can only operate within a respective state. "This," the writer added, "was done to decentralize such powerful institutions, and naturally many Germans didn't like it."

Changing from the financial conditions to the general economic conditions, he reported that improvement is a very slow process. Col. Drinkert stated, "there seems to be no incentive to work.

The Northville State Hospital to be Highly Important Institution

(By Elton R. Eaton)

After nearly a score of years of effort there is under construction between the Six and Seven Mile roads, just west of the Hagerly highway, a hospital to take care of the long neglected patients in the metropolitan area of southeastern Michigan.

The hospital, when completed some years hence, will be of untold value to the city of Plymouth, Northville, Livonia and surrounding territory, not only because of the fact that there will be available in this immediate locality a place for the treatment of mental cases, but from an economic standpoint as well.

The institution, which will be known as the Northville State Hospital, will employ a large staff of highly specialized physicians, nurses, attendants and other employees. Under the plans made, these people will live in homes outside the grounds of the hospital. That means a large and steady payroll, that will directly benefit both Plymouth and Northville, and add materially to the tax income of the local communities.

So that people living in this part of Wayne county will have a more detailed knowledge of the importance of this highly important new state institution the writer requested Charles F. Wagg, acting director of the Michigan Department of Mental Health to prepare an article, setting forth the numerous needs for the construction of this institution and discussing the serious problem facing Michigan in connection with its rapidly increasing number of mentally ill people who are in urgent need of immediate and proper medical care. The article follows in full:

The State Department of Mental Health is in the process of developing a new hospital for the care of the mentally ill patients to be located near Northville, Michigan in Wayne County. Although this project was originally approved by the Legislature in 1944 by the appropriation in the Extra Session of 1946 and again in the Regular Session of 1947, questions are still being raised in certain quarters as to the advisability of this undertaking. The following is a brief statement of the facts upon which the decision to build this hospital has been based.

The Need For More Bed Space

The need to hospitalize mentally ill patients has been increasing through the years, due primarily to the state's growth in population, and secondly, to the increasing demand of the public that its mentally sick people be placed in hospitals where they can be properly cared for and treated. During the seven-year period since 1930 the actual average net gain in the number of mentally ill patients hospitalized has been 452 patients per year. In other words, for every year that has gone by there has been an average of 452 patients added to our hospitals for the mentally ill, and there is not tangible evidence that this factor of increase will be materially reduced in the immediate years ahead. At the present moment, because the facilities available are grossly inadequate, approximately 440 patients are being cared for in private mental hospitals under contract, a procedure which is both expensive and undesirable. More than 500 patients are now cared for in the facility at Sault Ste. Marie, a temporary hospitalization program which should not continue indefinitely. The group of existing state hospitals now caring for the mentally ill was overcrowded as of a recent date by approximately 18% representing 2,160 patients. Due to the fact that an acute waiting list has been building up in recent months Governor Sigler ordered that this overcrowding be increased, and the Department is now in the process of adding another 400 beds in these hospitals. This overcrowding makes it extremely difficult to carry on a good treatment and care program for patients, and the State of Michigan most certainly must strive to see that it is eliminated as soon as possible.

In addition to all these factors the County of Wayne operates a large mental hospital, the Wayne County General Hospital and Infirmary at Eloise, in which nearly 3,900 mental patients are now receiving care. Although the state reimburses the County of Wayne for the major cost of the care of these patients, Wayne County officials have pointed out that it would be desirable to remove at least 1,000 patients from that hospital to reduce overcrowding and to permit the county to use certain structures, which are now serving to care for state mental patients, for its own purposes.

In summary, then there is immediate need as of this date to provide additional bed space in the state hospital system to absorb the 440 patients in private hospitals, the 503 patients in the Sault Hospital, the 2,500 patients who represent approximately the factor of overcrowding in existing facilities, and the 1,000 patients who should be removed from the Eloise institution—a grand total of 4,400—more than enough to fill the Northville State Hospital if its proposed 3,000 beds were available today. In addition to this current need we must not forget the constant factor of increase, which over the past seventeen years has made it necessary to add approximately 450 beds per year.

Why Additional Beds Should Be In the Detroit Metropolitan Area

It is obvious, upon examination of the distribution of the general population in the state and the distribution of state hospital beds for mentally ill, that the ratio of hospital beds to general population is not well-balanced in the state as a whole. Approximately one-half of the state's population is contained in what is generally referred to as the Detroit metropolitan area, while considerably less than one-half of the state's hospital beds are available to that area. During recent years it has been necessary to continuously move mental patients from the Detroit area to outstate hospitals. Therefore, any major expansion placed as a new hospital should be placed to serve the southeastern section of the state.

Why A New Hospital Instead Of Existing Hospitals

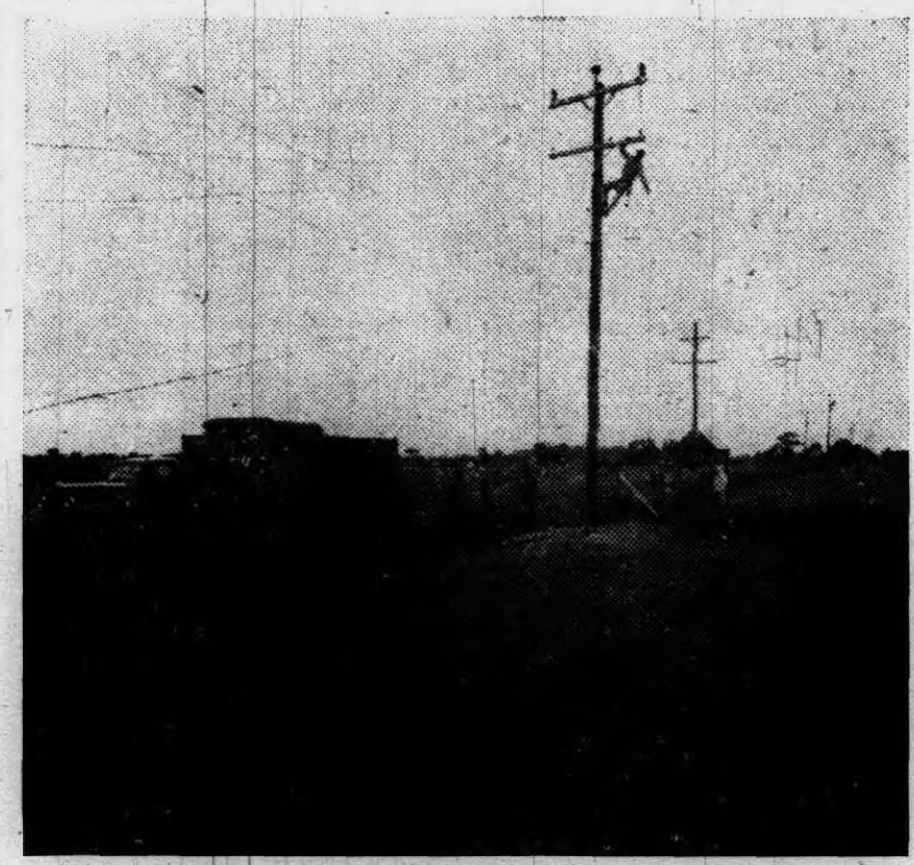

It has been suggested in some quarters that the Department of Mental Health should have planned to materially expand its two hospitals located at Ypsilanti and Pontiac instead of undertaking the construction of a new institution. It is presumed that this theory is advanced primarily upon the basis that it would be a more economical procedure.

That such a course of action represents material savings over the alternative of constructing a new institution is a definitely false assumption.

For example, the Ypsilanti State Hospital is now being expanded by the addition of 500 beds, and when those are completed the total population will be approximately 4,000. All of the services for this institution have been designed and built for such ahead. At the present moment, because the facilities available are grossly inadequate, approximately 440 patients are being cared for in private mental hospitals under contract, a procedure which is both expensive and undesirable. More than 500 patients are now cared for in the facility at Sault Ste. Marie, a temporary hospitalization program which should not continue indefinitely. The group of existing state hospitals now caring for the mentally ill was overcrowded as of a recent date by approximately 18% representing 2,160 patients. Due to the fact that an acute waiting list has been building up in recent months Governor Sigler ordered that this overcrowding be increased, and the Department is now in the process of adding another 400 beds in these hospitals. This overcrowding makes it extremely difficult to carry on a good treatment and care program for patients, and the State of Michigan most certainly must strive to see that it is eliminated as soon as possible.

In addition to all these factors the County of Wayne operates a large mental hospital, the Wayne County General Hospital and Infirmary at Eloise, in which nearly 3,900 mental patients are now receiving care. Although the state reimburses the County of Wayne for the major cost of the care of these patients, Wayne County officials have pointed out that it would be desirable to remove at least 1,000 patients from that hospital to reduce overcrowding and to permit the county to use certain structures, which are now serving to care for state mental patients, for its own purposes.

Farm electric lines are built of aluminum wire with spans of from 300 to 400 feet. By the middle of 1948 all farms in the Detroit Edison territory will have electric service available and the Company will have 10,000 miles of farm power lines in operation.

a maximum size. These services are a vital and necessary part of a going hospital and include such items as power plant, laundry, kitchens, dining rooms, water supply, sewage disposal, maintenance shops, administrative quarters, etc. If one were to undertake to add another 2,000 to 3,000 beds to the Ypsilanti State Hospital all of these services would have to be expanded accordingly, and the additional cost for this would be in proportion to the number of beds to be added. The water supply problem at Ypsilanti has proved very troublesome. A heavy expenditure of money has been required in recent years to develop a sufficient water supply to meet the present needs. It is believed, from the current information, the development of a sizable additional supply could only be done at a prohibitive cost. At the Pontiac State Hospital expansion now going forward, plus further expansion which is planned and will be needed even though the new hospital is built, will bring that institution to its ultimate capacity of 3,200. As in the case of Ypsilanti, all of the vital services have been constructed or will be expanded to meet such a maximum patient load. The expansion of those services to meet the needs of another two or three thousand patients would prove to be just as costly as the construction of an equivalent amount of services at a new location.

Present day thinking with respect to the desirable size for mental hospitals is unquestionably in the direction of smaller instead of larger institutions. A study made two years ago by Dr. Samuel W. Hamilton, Mental Hospital Adviser of the U. S. Public Health Service, set forth the principles to be followed in the development of new hospitals for the mentally ill, and this study was based upon a desired maximum size of 2,000 beds. Dr. Hamilton, formerly president of the American Psychiatric Association and long familiar with mental hospitals throughout the country, is widely regarded as a competent authority in this field. The modern mental hospital is placing emphasis upon intensive treatment resulting in short periods of hospitalization, a program which is not compatible with the large, unwieldy, custodial institutions of the past.

Factors Governing The Selection Of The Site Which Has Been Purchased

The site for the Northville State Hospital was located as close to the center of Detroit metropolitan area as was considered practical. It is located on the south side of Seven Mile road approximately one mile east of Northville. It is eight and one-half miles from the intersection of Seven Mile road and Grand River avenue and twenty-two miles distant from the City Hall in Detroit. The selection was made after an exhaustive study of the sections surrounding the Detroit metropolitan area. Many factors have been taken into consideration, such as water supply; railroad siding; sewage disposal possibilities; a main highway constituting direct route of travel to the area to be served and carrying good public transportation facilities; building site with respect to elevation, drainage, sub-soil and foundation conditions; availability of housing and recreational facilities; and availability of professional consulting services in the field of general medicine, surgery, and psychiatry and neurology. Some twenty-five possible sites were reviewed and a total of ten were given careful consideration before the final decision was made. The location selected meets in a rather complete manner all of the above mentioned requirements.

The concept that a mental hospital should be located on a back road and hidden from view is obsolete and outdated. The modern mental hospital of today should be just as accessible as a general hospital. Treatment of patients on an out-patient basis is one of its increasingly important functions. The volume of patient movement into and out of this hospital will be heavy.

work, number of employees per hospitalized patients and other matters of policy. The Pontiac and Ypsilanti State Hospitals obtain employees from the same type of industrial area as Eloise. The Northville Hospital will do likewise and there is no basis, in fact, to assume that the resulting operating costs will vary greatly from those for other state hospitals in that section of the state.

As has been pointed out above, the mental hospital of today should be as close as possible to the area it serves. Surely, then, no one would seriously suggest that the state should refuse to place mental hospital facilities in Wayne County where more than two million of its citizens live, and thereby deny to that section of the state the service it gives to the balance.

Michigan Bell Rate Case In Recess Stage

The Michigan Bell Telephone company rate case is in the recess stage with indications that sessions will not be resumed until well after the first of the year.

As Ferry B. Allen, assistant comptroller, testified Thursday and Friday to close the company's direct testimony, chairman Stuart B. White, of the commission, said he had no idea as to when the hearing will reopen.

The commission is awaiting the results of an audit and appraisal of the company's investment, revenue, and expenses which is being undertaken with the help of outside consultants at a cost of between $250,000 and $350,000. The recent special session of the legislature appropriated the smaller amount.

The company is required to reimburse the state for such costs.

"The financial strength of the institution with all its implications on the quality of service to the customer is much more important than any momentary economy," said Allen in urging a return of about 6 2/3 per cent on the company's investment. He emphasized that the company should not be required to engage in debt financing to meet its construction needs. All of the company's capital is now in capital stock.

Allen showed that the company's earnings are substantially lower than leading manufacturing corporations with which the Bell System must compete for capital to finance construction requirements.

Farmers Urged to Spray Potatoes

Excessive sprouting of stored potatoes and root crops causes serious losses to Michigan farmers each year. According to S. H. Wittwer, specialist in horticulture at Michigan State college, a new liquid chemical prevents or greatly retards growth of sprouts and shriveling of tubers.

Chemical treatments for preventing sprouting will lengthen the storage life of the crop, permit storage of some products at higher temperatures than would otherwise be practical, and will not in any way affect the taste or eating quality of table stock.

Although the chemical has a Tongue-twisting name (methyl ester of alpha-naphthaleneacetic acid), it is on the market under several commercial names. Such small quantities of it are required to treat produce that manufacturers are now offering it for sale mixed with some filler. One method has been to treat shredded or confetti paper with the chemical and then distribute the paper in the bin with the produce. Another process uses the chemical with a talc dust tinted the color of the crop to be treated and dusted over the crop. About one pound of dust is used for every ten bushels.

Some growers have successfully used the liquid chemical itself and applied it as a fine spray on the tubers as they are loaded into the storage bin.

Manufacturers' directions tell the best methods of applying it for a uniform distribution with the crop to be stored. For best results, treat the produce soon after it has been harvested and cleaned and just before it is put into storage.

The chemical should not be applied to seed potatoes, and it is not effective in the storage of onions.

First proximity-fuzed anti-aircraft to destroy a Japanese plane was fired from the cruiser USS Helena on January 5, 1945.

MUCC Revises Claim Payments

A sweeping reorganization in the administration of the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Act, embracing a complete decentralization of the claims paying process, has been announced by the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Commission, according to Clarence Jetter, manager of the Plymouth M. U. C. office. This reorganization will result in the administration of the law more in keeping with its original intent, that of paying unemployment benefit checks promptly during the period of unemployment. This intent was to sustain the worker's purchasing power during temporary or extended lay-offs, according to Mr. Jetter. This drastic reorganization is a pioneering action on the part of the Unemployment Compensation Commission, and the decentralization of claims paying will be carried out to an extent never attempted by any other state, Jetter said.

This change will bring the claimant and employer into direct contact with representatives of the Commission who will (1) take and process his claim; (2) determine whether it is valid; (3) whether he is entitled to unemployment benefits; (4) if entitled to them, will pay them; or (5) determine whether the claimant must be disqualified, Jetter said. The objective of this decentralization program will be to give the local office of the commission servicing a particular community, all of the information and authority necessary to completely process a claim and to answer any questions of either the claimant or the employer in connection with the claim. "The increase in the authority of the Local Office should result in the paying of benefits to eligible claimants with promptness and dispatch. It should also eliminate the present time consuming and expensive split operation in which part of the claim processing is performed by a local office in a community and part by the state administrative office," he added.

"We know that certain functions of the Commission will be streamlined," he continued. "In general, their functions are to find suitable jobs for qualified, unemployed workers; or pay them unemployment benefits to which they are qualified, as outlined above. We expect to save money for employers and for the Commission by eliminating the cumbersome quarterly wage slip reporting, which heretofore has made it necessary for some 25,000 employers to provide, and for the Commission to file, some 8,000,000 wage slips of individual workers every year, fewer than 25 per cent of which are ever used.

"In the future, employers will report to the Commission only on the wages of unemployed workers who apply for benefits. Employers are allowed seven days to supply the Commission with wage information. If the employer fails to report the wages within the specified time, the claim is determined by the Commission, based on available information," Jetter stated.

As a part of the reorganization, further personnel changes will be made. Responsibility for the operation of the local office, which previously has been shared between the Employment Service Manager and the Principal Claims Examiner will be delegated to Mr. Jetter.

Reduction of long lines of claimants, who formerly stormed local offices in industrial centers during mass lay-offs, was achieved by the Commission by having claimants file according to the last digits of their social security numbers.

This plan has the effect of not only reducing the line-up, but also of spreading the work load throughout the week at the local offices and thereby stabilizing Commission clerical employment.

It is to be introduced throughout the State. To file a claim, now as well as in the future, an individual must first register for work with the Employment Service Division, then establish with the Claims Division that he is able to work, available for work, and seeking work. The claims taker checks against current claims to avoid duplications, and the Employment Service checks the claimant against available job openings to which he may be referred.

From this point, at present, the claim is sent to the State Office for processing. Here the determination is made, and the check made out, if the claim is allowed. Then the check is returned to the local office community for payment. In the future, the claim will be filed and processed, determination made and the check issued the same day the claimant qualifies for it, by fulfilling certain minimum requirements of employment in establishments covered by the M. U. C. act, be able to work, available for work, seeking work and have passed a period of a waiting week and a compensable week after filing his claim.

This procedure will offer a distinct saving in time, particularly in the matter of correspondence between the State Office and local offices, Jetter said.

Health NEWS

"Health News" is presented by four Doctors of Medicine as a health service of the Michigan State Medical Society

Medical Preparedness

Working together on the county, state and national levels, doctors of medicine are striving to provide an equitable distribution of medical services, not only during peacetime but also in the event of another war. Providing good medical service for everyone is their active concern and in case of another national emergency, the doctors want a courageous, forward-looking program, representing the medical profession, which would constitute an improvement on the one of World War II.

On the basis of surveys which have been conducted by the American Medical Society, the conclusion has been reached that considerably more doctors were induced into the armed services than were needed.

Doctors of medicine are advising that during another war more doctors should be permitted to stay at home to care for the civilian population. An analysis of 26,000 replies to a questionnaire, sent to discharged medical officers, reveals that these men feel the disproportionate number of doctors in the armed services during World War II not only deprived the civilian population of its share of medical service, but also caused a waste of medical skills.

Former medical officers estimate that the army could have cut its medical officer ranks by 28 per cent and the navy by 30 per cent without lowering the quantity or quality of medical service available to members of the armed forces during the war.

If another emergency should occur, doctors of medicine want the limited supply of medical skills carefully and wisely distributed for civilians and military personnel. The doctors doubt that 60 per cent of the nation's physicians could provide effective medical care for the civilian population in the event of an atomic war.

At the outbreak of the Revolutionary War, the United States had no Navy Department or ships and only a few armed merchantmen.

Business Women Hold Xmas Party

The Business and Professional Women's club of Plymouth held their annual Christmas party last Monday night at the Mayflower hotel.

Miss Louise Heatherington, who is in charge of the Childrens Library of the Wayne county libraries, gave several Christmas stories. Mrs. Norma Cassidy and Mrs. Hanna Strasen led the group in singing Christmas carols. The program was completed with an exchange of gifts which were piled high under a softly illuminated Christmas tree.

A turkey dinner was served at tables festively decorated with lighted tapers, Christmas garlands, pine cones, and favors of mistletoe corsages.

The party was planned and conducted by the executive committee, consisting of Mrs. Herma Taylor, president; Mrs. Belle Young, vice-president; Miss Florence Gableman, treasurer; Mrs. Ada Watson, recording secretary; and Mrs. Jean Peet, corresponding secretary.

"In the home," she related, "the visiting nurse is very efficient. She goes about her work and doesn't disturb the routine of the home. She is busy the entire time she is there, and in this case, is seldom there more than an hour."

Tax Statements Now in the Mail

One man who won't have to worry about rushing over to the Township Hall in order to pay his taxes and get that matter off his mind is William Drysdale of Grosse Pointe who is the owner of a vacant lot behind the George Bentley High School. Mr. Drysdale's taxes on that particular lot are 60 cents.

By now you should have guessed that the good news is now out. Yes, the Wayne County tax statements have been mailed by the Township Treasurer, Carl Wagenschultz and his temporary help, Mrs. Richard Gaston, and Mrs. John Martin.

Over 15,000 statements are now in the hands of Livonians and tax payers owning property in Livonia. 18,600 were printed, but several thousand of that number will not be mailed due to the lack of proper addresses.

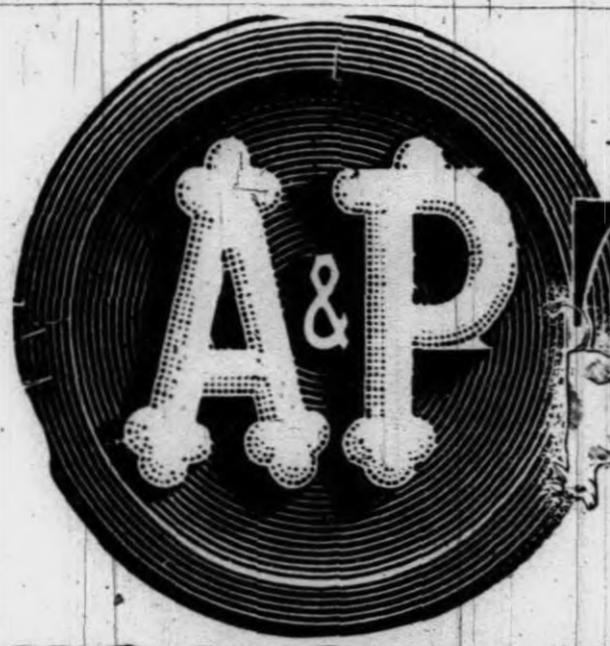

The assessed valuation of Livonia Township for 1947 is $11,818,425 and of that amount, $11,091,745 is real estate and $726,680 personal property. The tax roll this year runs $365,983 as against $291,000 in 1946 and $222,000 in 1945.

Millage is divided as follows: 1 mill goes to the Township, 5.6 to Wayne County, 3.4 to the School District for maintenance and operation, 12 mills for the building and site fund, and last, 1.25 for the debt retirement fund.

For a yard light, electrification specialists advise a 105-watt to 200-watt bulb in a shallow, weatherproof reflector.

This year it is especially important to do a good job of feeding livestock and of keeping death losses down. Feed costs are high and grain must be conserved.

MORE STEEL IS ON THE WAY

ONE BILLION DOLLARS
Worth of New Plant Capacity Is Being Added

STEEL production in 1947 is breaking records. More than 7,564,000 tons of ingots were turned out in October, which is more than the average monthly output during the peak year of World War II. Total tonnage for this year will be 17,000,000 tons more than the record for any previous peacetime year. This has been accomplished despite shortages and poor quality of raw materials, particularly scrap and fuels. The mills are going at high speed now, and more production is on the way. Steel companies are spending more than one billion dollars to expand and improve their plants. Over 2,500,000 tons of new steelmaking capacity is being added. Demand still is great and some shortages still exist. But production is catching up as rapidly as possible. Every month there is more steel for the things you want.

Needle In Haystack Is Nothing Compared To This

When it comes to finding a needle in a hay stack, it takes a former Plymouth resident to go one better. This story all started near Barton City, Michigan, when W. A. Rose, of this city, lost his long treasured cameo ring while deer hunting on the farm of Frank Kohler who formerly lived in Plymouth.

All the hunters in the party spent their leisure hours searching for the ring and according to Mr. Rose, he personally covered the 160 acre farm with the scope on his gun in an effort to find his treasure. However, when the hunters departed for home, there was no trace of the ring.

Last Saturday, Mr. Rose was pleasantly surprised when he opened a letter from Mr. Kohler saying that the last day of the hunting season, he saw an object glitter in the sun and upon examination, it proved to be the ring. The ring was found some 20 rods from where Mr. Rose thought he might have lost it and there was about three inches of snow on the ground when Mr. Kohler picked it up. Needless to say, Mr. Rose feels his hunting trip was much more enjoyable since his ring has been found.

The original American Navy consisted of four warships and four escort vessels. Their names were: Alfred, Columbus, Andrew Doria, Cabot, Providence, Hornet, Wasp and Fly.

Workers Fight Elements to Keep Your Home Lighted, Motors Going

Like a football coach pointing for his toughest opponent, engineers of The Detroit Edison Company are trying to guess what new tricks Old Man Winter 1947-48 has up his sleeve. The defense must be prepared in advance. In the air and on the ground (and under the ground) the power company's fight against WEATHER goes on the year around.

Last winter was tough. Unusually heavy and general snow storms were fought with tractors, trucks, airplanes, horse drawn sleds and wagons and by Edison linemen on foot, loaded down with equipment and toiling through snow banks that could neither be moved nor melted. Service had to be restored and maintained.

The summer just ended was packed with freak weather. Detroit Edison's carefully set up system for predicting trouble preparing for it and repairing damage got its most severe test in many years. Everything seemed to occur backward. When cool weather was indicated there came a heat wave; when it was supposed to be cold it was hot. August, the fifth hottest month in the history of the Detroit weather bureau, produced 12 electrical storms; twice the normal.

In September the area was hard hit by the tail end of a hurricane with winds exceeding 65 miles an hour. Throughout the summer there were many "flash" storms, highly localized and unusually heavy in rainfall. The result, of course, was an increased number of service interruptions, the peak coming in August instead of late June and early July as it usually does.

Scientists are trying to do something about the weather and actually have made some progress, but the degree of control that can be exercised at the moment is no help to Detroit Edison. Progress in the science of forecasting weather, however, is of tremendous importance. Edison engineers, day by day and hour by hour around the clock, zealously collect the most complete meteorological information available.

To obtain weather information, primarily on approaching storms, Detroit Edison makes use of its services of the United States Weather Bureau, reports from neighboring power companies, and the services of a private company in California which operates in detection instruments at high altitudes in observation balloons. The approach of storms often has been accurately reported as long as 20 days in advance.

Here at home Edison equipment keeps close check on weather developments in all the 7,600 square miles of the South-eastern Michigan territory served. The company's static recorder, operated constantly, records the intensity and variations in air static. That intensity increases, of course, as a storm approaches. To a degree, as you well know, your radio does the same kind of a job for you.

All of this advance information often makes it possible for The Detroit Edison Company to have its repair crews, manning 170 radio equipped service trucks, on the way to meet a storm headed toward your home area before you are aware the storm is coming.

Music Teacher Plans Christmas Program

A Christmas program will be staged by the music pupils of Mildred Swartz in the Central Grade school gymnasium on Tuesday, December 23. The program will begin at 8 p.m.

Approximately 100 of her students will be divided into groups. Each of the groups will play two selections, with a prize going to the one giving the best performance. From three to 12 will be included in each group.

Instruments, which will be played by the students for the program, consist of Hawaiian guitar, accordion and piano. The public is invited to attend.

Plan for Mental Care Advanced

A four-point program to moderate treatment of the mentally ill in the county was recently advanced by the Wayne County Board of Institutions.

The program has been based on lessons learned by two board officials during a recent inspection of seven outstanding mental hospitals in the New York area.

The points are:

1. Establishment of a modern hygiene clinic in Detroit, by joint City-County action.

2. Closer affiliation with Wayne University in psychiatric teaching and research. This also requires City-County cooperation.

3. Establishment of modern occupational therapy and recreational therapy facilities at Wayne County General Hospital (Eloise) to supplement recently-resumed shock therapy.

4. Joint State-County effort to obtain Federal funds to help finance the program here.

A detailed report was prepared by Albert Hargreaves, board secretary, for presentation to the board. The board is expected to forward the report to the County Board of Auditors and Board of Supervisors immediately, adding its recommendations. Later, board officials are expected to confer with City and State officials on the program.

Hargreaves and Frank E. Kelly, board chairman, made the trip, along with Dr. Thomas K. Gruber, medical superintendent of Eloise, and Arthur Buita, administrative analyst for the auditor.

Impressed with what they saw, they came to realize that present treatment of the mentally afflicted here is antiquated, compared to that in New York.

The proposed Detroit clinic might be located at Receiving Hospital, or at the Eloise Consultation Center, Room 610, Griswold Building.

Board members pointed out that Eloise already is used for training by postgraduate division of the Wayne University medical school, but added that closer relations between the hospital and the school are necessary for modern psychiatric training and research.

A request for a $750,000 occupational therapy building at Eloise made to the supervisors by Kelley and Hargreaves last October 7 was tabled due to lack of funds.

Board members indicated the State would be asked to act in behalf of Wayne County and request the United States Public Health Service to contribute Federal funds to the program here.

203,433 Wayne County Vets Get Bonus Checks

Wayne County Veterans of World War II so far have divided $73,371,225 in State bonuses, the adjutant-general reported. Payments have been made to 203,433 of the 268,007 men and women who entered the armed forces from this county.

HOOP NEWS

By Ralph Johnson
City Recreation Director

One hundred and seventy-two people turned out for the first evening of recreation basketball at the high school. There will be no more games at the school until December 23, due to extensive school use of the gym.
Although defeated last week, Blunk's Inc. has a very fast young team that will give a lot of trouble. Austin Taxi first won average a little over 6 feet 2 inches in height.
Bad news of last week's championship went Terry Hill, B. Emerson, E. Gotthard, Sabbath, Ross, G. Newton, and H. Wogenshultz, all put out on faults. In playing each other, neither Fearer's nor the Mail scored a point in the third quarter. Blunk's did not score a field goal against Parkside until late in the third quarter. N. Robinson displayed some rugged ball-hawk characteristics. Thursday evening.
After two minutes had passed in the third quarter, E. Gotthard of Plymouth Mail, was benched from the game for having five players, so they had to finish the game with four on the court. In spite of this, Fearer's lost to them, 10-7.

Players of the Week

Men's Division: This week's award goes to Art Gillis of Daisy I.D.E.A. Gillis, charged with protecting the backboards against at least three Austin players, all taller than himself, played a good defensive game and sank five out of six free throws and nine field goals.
Girls' Division: Florence Konazski of Plymouth Mail played a brilliant defensive game and scored eight of her team's ten points as they downed Fearer's Standard Oil.

Rocks Open Home Cage Season with Inkster

The Plymouth Rocks basketball team will open their home stand next Tuesday evening when they encounter the Inkster cagers at 7 p.m. in the Plymouth High school gymnasium.
These two schools staged a pair of excellent games last year and although Inkster is not a Suburban B league member, the game is expected to be a good one. This tilt will be preceded by a reserve game, as will all the varsity games this year.
Tonight the Rocks take on Redford Union on the Panthers' court. This is the first league game of the season.

Five Strong Teams Seen in Men's League

During the week of December 1-5, five basketball teams displayed enough power to bear watching as contenders for the men's title. On Wednesday, December 3, Parkside smothered Blunk's Inc. 65-17. Blunk's young team of recent Plymouth High players were no match for the taller Parksideers as D. Egloff scored 17 points for the winners.
Atchinson Motor Sales of Northville showed good defensive play as they downed South Lyon Methodist 21-14.
By defeating DeHoCo, Plymouth Sport Shop displayed a good varied offense which confused the recently organized Correction team.

The best game of the week was played Friday, December 5, at DeHoCo as Austin Taxi met Daisy I.D.E.A. Daisy, although dwarfed by Austin's height, led 16-14 at the quarter, 25-24 at the half, and 38-34 at the end of the third quarter. At this point Austin found the range, scoring 20 points in the last eight minutes to win 54-47. Art Gillis of Daisy scored 23 points.

Girls' League Gets Underway

The opening night basketball crowd witnessed an upset as Woods' Studio downed Daisy I.D.E.A., last year's girl champions, 13-8 as Joan Dipboye led Woods' attack with 6 points.
On Thursday, December 4, Fearer's Standard Oil and Plymouth Mail met at the House of Correction. The score was tied 4-4 at the quarter, 6-6 at the half, 6-6 at the third quarter. Florence Konazski of Plymouth Mail scored two foul shots and a field goal to win, 10-7.

"Hello Stranger!"

Ever call your oil man a stranger?
You can with a Timken!

Records of owners prove that Timken Silent Automatic Wall-Flame Oil Burners save as much as one gallon of fuel out of every four used by ordinary oil burners. Oil costs go down—savings up!

The reason lies in the basically different, basically better Timken design. The famous Timken wall-flame gently blankets furnace walls with a live, blue-hot flame . . . puts heat into the heating plant instead of up the chimney. No wonder Timken is the "Accepted Standard" for comfortable, economical, reliable oil heating.

Guaranteed fuel efficiency! If you have an ordinary oil burner, your local Timken Factory Dealer* is prepared to guarantee in advance—on a written, money-back, burner-back basis—the improved fuel saving efficiency you will get with a Timken. This means dollars in your pocket.

Call your local Timken Factory Dealer* now. He has cost comparisons that will open your eyes to a lifetime of heating comfort with big savings.

THE XAVIER
1802 NOV. '47

© HOUSING PLAN SERVICE, Inc.

THE XAVIER—You don't need a bulging pocket book to build The Xavier. It has been planned especially for those whose budgets are limited but whose good taste is not. The small cottage that packs a heap of livability into four rooms is, contrary to popular opinion, just about the toughest architectural assignment. There must not be a foot of waste space. Any professional builder can slap up a bungalow of four rooms. But will his arrangement of those four rooms conform to FHA'S requirements? Will they be large enough? Will they have the required closet space and window area? The design of The Xavier meets all these standards of FHA—and also those of the National Adequate Wiring Bureau. It came from the drawing board of Randolph Evans, A.I.A., an outstanding designer of small houses. He has the knack of making small houses look different. He gives them an individuality and distinction usually found only in larger houses.

The attractive exterior of The Xavier is achieved by simple, straightforward lines, by a single roof break and by the use of siding on the front combined with shingles or horizontal siding on the other three walls. For the sake of economy, the house almost the perfect square. For the same reason the cellar is eliminated in favor of a ground level utility room. With a floor area of only 640 square feet and a cubage of about 8300 cu. ft. The Xavier should be the logical answer to the home owning problem of many. Detailed architect's blueprints and specifications can be ordered. For further information call at our office.

How Two Fathers One in East Other in West, Try to Get Daisys for Sons

Presistently the telephone rang the other morning in the office of Charles H. Bennett, president of the Daisy Manufacturing company.

Mr. Bennett responded and the telephone caller way down east on the Atlantic coast said: "Mr. President, when I was a boy, I had a Daisy air gun. It gave me more pleasure than anything else I ever possessed when a kid. I've looked in all of the stores down in the east and the stores are all sold out. I want to give one to my boy for Christmas. I am wondering if you can ship me one?"

"Well, I guess we can" responded Mr. Bennett and so the next day a Daisy air gun was on the way to the father who paid twice as much for a telephone call in order to get a Daisy rifle as the little gun cost.

But that is not all. That morning when going over the mail, a letter to the Daisy from out in Nevada contained a check made out to the Daisy Manufacturing company, dated and signed by the westerner but with the spaces for the amount of the check left blank.

The letter said, "Whatever the amount you desire to charge for a Daisy air rifle, just fill in the check and send me a Daisy. I've got a boy and I want him to have a Daisy air rifle like the one I had when a kid."

The order has been filled, but the Daisy couldn't fill the order just as directed. There are no old model guns on hand and so one of the latest Daisy styles is now on its way to the mountains of Nevada.

All Out-County Workers to be Fired by Detroit

Although residents of Northville, Plymouth and surrounding territory contribute more to the comfort of patients of Maybury Sanitarium through gifts of various items of luxury and comfort that are not available from hospital sources, and although help hired from this locality has long been regarded as the most efficient the institution can get, the Detroit city civil service commission has ruled out-county residents can no longer hold jobs at the institution.

While officials of the institution will not say so because of various political reasons, they have always made efforts to get the better help that the out-county provides. But now that's out.

A Detroit newspaper the other day carried the following account of the action taken by the Detroit civil service commission, which involved a Canton township resident:

"Immediate firing of an employee of the Maybury Sanitarium, at Northville, was ordered by the Civil Service Commission because she refused to move farther away from her work."

"She is Mrs. Ruth Everett, an attendant, who lives in Canton Center."

"The firing was ordered because she is violating the Civil Service Commission's rule requiring City employees to live in Detroit."

"If Mrs. Everett moved to Detroit she would have to travel at least twice as far to work as she now does."

"Donald J. Sublette, commission secretary, said Mrs. Everett told him she had no intention of moving to Detroit."

"A complaint against enforcement of the residence rule for employees of the sanitarium was filed with Common Council by Yale Stuart, field representative of the United Public Workers of America (CIO)."

"Stuart pointed out that Detroiters working at the Northville institution are forced to pay 10 per cent of their wages for transportation. He also said that a 10-cent hike in round-trip fares is imminent."

"Eleven other City employees, who were to have been discharged Friday, were granted up to 90 days to move into the City."

"The additional period of grace were the result of a conference among Mayor Jefferies, Sublette and DSR operators union representatives who had protested the immediate discharge of the 11 workers."

"More than 200 other City employees reportedly are scheduled to receive notices of discharge between now and March unless they move into the City."

"It will also probably be disputed from Detroit, but it is known that more help goes to the patients in Maybury from this rural section of Wayne county than from the entire city of Detroit."

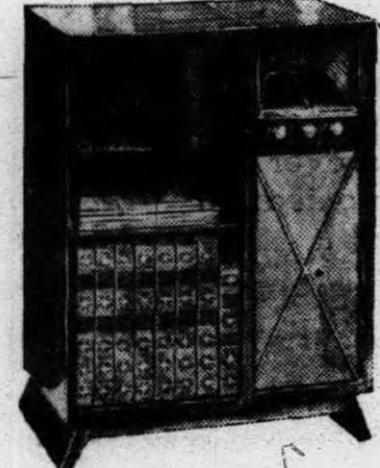

Especially active are various Northville and Plymouth veterans' groups who are untiring in their efforts to bring as much pleasure and comfort to the patients as possible.

But that doesn't count, apparently. Detroit politicians also want the jobs at Maybury, and so every one working at the institution who does not now live in Detroit will be fired unless they immediately become residents of Detroit.

If the rule is rigidly enforced, those close to the institution declare that within the next few months there is going to be a serious situation as the sanitarium. Over 200 employees under the order, some of them having been employed since the erection of the buildings.

Smoke Went Up—Birds Came Down

There seems to be no set pattern of duties which firemen are supposed to perform. Take for example, the fire which broke out recently in a clothes closet at the home of Mrs. Nellie Sharpentiere of Shearer drive.

Little or no damage resulted from the blaze, but the department members were troubled more with environmental conditions which had to be cared for, than the actual fire, which was easily extinguished.

Mrs. Sharpentiere owned approximately 30 canaries, whose cages hang from the ceilings of her home. With the smoke, which resulted from the blaze, rising, the song birds stood a good chance of being suffocated unless something were done.

Consequently, the fire fighters were obliged to remove the birds from their precarious high perched positions. All the cages were taken down and the birds are reported to have survived the ordeal.

Eight Naval Air Transport enlisted orderlies have traveled a total of 1,400,280 miles in an average of 14 months with NATS, according to a recent survey. This total corresponds to 64 trips around the world. In this much flying, the orderlies have served to passengers 22,650 inflight meals and 2,250 gallons of coffee.

Glowing Warmth

WHERE YOU WANT IT—WHEN YOU WANT IT

Chilly corners can be warm as toast these cold fall mornings. A modern electric heater gives you instant warmth from your nearest outlet. Easy to carry, easy to operate. There is no cleaner more convenient type of heat. These new, low-priced heaters are ideal for warming baby's bath area, your dressing room, bathroom, or grandmother's favorite corner.

And It Costs Only A Few Pennies An Hour . . .

but unlimited use can cause high electric bills. For example, a thousand watt heater at residence rates costs only 17½¢ a week when used one hour daily for seven days. This same unit, however, when used 8 hours a day costs $1.40 a week and will add $10.20 to your two months' bill. Consult a reputable electric dealer who can recommend a heater of sufficient wattage to fit your particular needs. He can also tell you just how much it will cost to operate.

Mary Louise Rolen Wins College Scholarship

Mary Louise Rolen

Mary Louise Rolen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rolen, of Rosedale Gardens, has been admitted to the College of Arts and Science at Valparaiso university in Indiana. The letter telling of her admittance also stated that a scholarship will be awarded to her before she enters the University in February.

Miss Rolen began her college education this fall when she entered Wayne university at the age of 16. She is a member of the 1948 class of Plymouth High school and will receive her high school diploma this coming June.

Fashion Tips Given at Show

"The longer skirts are more flattering, graceful, and feminine," Miss Courtenay told the group attending the style show at the Norma Cassidy dress shop which took place Monday, December 1. The fashion counselor is a representative of the Bobbie Brooks fashion house from Cleveland, Ohio.

She stated that the longer skirts are here to stay, but it is her belief that hem lines will not drop much further than the present popular length. Spring hem lines, she added, will be between the 10 and 14 inch line.

Miss Courtenay then related to the group that no set length can be worn by everyone. Each person should find the most flattering length, and adhere to it. The calf, which she explained is the most unflattering part of the leg, should be covered if clothes are to be as graceful and feminine as possible.

Clothing styles will not be as extreme as many of the publications would lead a person to believe, she continued. She asserted that shoulder pads will not be eliminated, although they will likely be smaller than in previous years. The small waist line will be emphasized, she related, but again in this case, the style will not go to extremes.

Garden Club Meets Tomorrow

Members of the Plymouth branch of the national Farm and Garden association are to meet at Wiedman's garage tomorrow, Saturday, at 9:30 a.m. to help make greens for the Christmas bazaar, according to Mrs. Carl Shear. The bazaar will take place Monday, December 15, in the Episcopal church.

When the group meets to make the greens, they should bring their own gloves, scissors, and aprons or smocks. Mrs. Shear stated. She also related that orders will be accepted in advance for the greens.

The regular meeting of the organization will be held at 1:45 p.m. and the bazaar will begin at 3 p.m. In addition to the greens booth, booths for baked goods and gifts will be set up. The public is invited to attend, Mrs. Shear announced.

Make Extra Gifts By Baking Goodies In Home Kitchens

Cookies make a wonderful holiday gift! Wrapped as glamorously as these, they'll solve many a last-minute gift dilemma. Set a box under the tree as an extra gift, or take a box of them to your neighbor.

These are extra-wonderful days in the kitchen, for there's a hustle and bustle of activity, warmth and cheer, mysterious smells of something good and the swish of gay and cheery wrapping paper and ribbons.

Yes, we're getting ready for Christmas. But it's not just the holiday feast we're preparing for, since kitchens also may be put to work to make those wonderful home-made presents every home-maker appreciates so much.

Of particular interest are cookies and candies. You'll want to make some of your own for the holidays, so why not whip together an extra batch and give some to neighbors and friends? There's no better way of expressing warmth and cheer than something made by deft hands and a heart-load of good wishes.

Here's a taste-tempting cookie you'll want to include in your cookie collection:

Henrecies.
(Makes 2½ dozen 2-inch cookies)
¼ cup butter or substitute
¼ cup brown sugar
2 egg yolks
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups cake flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 cup ground nut meats
¼ cup whole bran

Blend butter and sugar; add beaten egg yolks and flavoring. Sift flour, baking powder; add nut meats. Combine with first mixture. Chill. Form dough into egg-shaped balls. Roll in whole bran which has been crushed slightly. Place on greased baking sheet. Bake in a moderately hot (400 degree) oven for 10 minutes. Note: Whole bran may be added to the cookie dough instead of rolling cookies in whole bran.

Chocolate Drops.
(Makes 2½ dozen 2-inch cookies)
¼ cup butter or substitute
¼ cup brown sugar
1 egg, beaten
1½ squares chocolate
3 tablespoons water
¼ cup sour milk
1 cup whole bran
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon soda
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup chopped nut meats

Cream butter and sugar, add egg, melted chocolate and water. Beat well, then add sour milk and whole bran. Sift flour with baking powder, soda and salt and add to first mixture with the nut meats. Drop from teaspoon onto a greased baking sheet. Bake in a moderate (375 degree) oven for 15 minutes.

Date Favorites.
¼ cup butter or substitute
1½ cups sugar
½ teaspoon soda
2 tablespoons water
1 cup buttermilk
3 cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 cup nuts, chopped
1 cup dates, chopped
Powdered sugar

Cream butter and sugar. Mix soda with water and add to the butter-cream. Add remaining ingredients. Pack firmly into an 8-inch square pan. Sprinkle a few chopped nuts on top if desired. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees) for 12 minutes. When cool, turn out of pan and cut in squares. Store in refrigerator if warm.

Maple Creams.
1 cup maple sugar
1 cup light brown sugar
¼ cup water
½ teaspoon almond extract
½ pound nut meats

Cook the sugars and water to 240 degrees or the soft ball stage. Add the almond extract and cool to lukewarm. Then beat until creamy. Knead until smooth, form into small balls and place a nut meat in each ball.

Ice Box Cookies.
1 cup brown sugar
¼ cup butter
1 egg, unbeat
1½ cups flour
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
¼ teaspoon soda
¼ cup pecans, cut fine
¼ teaspoon vanilla

Cream sugar and butter well together. Add the egg, flour, cream of tartar and soda. Mix well and fold in nuts and vanilla. Make into rolls about 2 inches in diameter and wrap each in waxed paper. Let stand in refrigerator for 24 hours. Then unwrap rolls and slice about ¼ inch thick. Bake on an ungreased cookie sheet in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for about 8 minutes, or until golden brown.

Fudge Squares.
(Makes 36)
2 squares unsweetened chocolate
¼ cup butter or substitute
¼ cup light corn syrup
¾ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoons vanilla
2 cups quick oats, uncooked
¼ cup chopped nut meats

Melt chocolate and butter in top of double boiler. Add remaining ingredients, blending thoroughly. Pack firmly into an 8-inch square pan. Sprinkle a few chopped nuts on top if desired. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees) for 12 minutes. When cool, turn out of pan and cut in squares. Store in refrigerator if warm.

Of Yuletide sweets, there are none tastier than home-made candies. With just a few ingredients and tested recipes you can concoct some delectable treats and gift-wrap them for Christmas presents.

Brazil Nut Patties.
½ cup syrup
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup water
½ pound brazil nut meats

Combine ingredients. Cook to 290 degrees or the crack stage. Pour carefully over brazil nuts arranged over a marble slab. Loosen patties before they become too hard to prevent them from cracking.

Stuffed Marshmallows.
1 box marshmallows
¼ pound nuts (whole meats)

Lay the marshmallows out on a table and, with a sharp knife, make a gash into the center of each. Push a nut meat (English walnut, pecan, hickory or peanut) into this opening, and press marshmallow closed with fingers. They may be dipped in chocolate if desired.

Mixing a Dark Fruit Cake

Mrs. Ed Taylor Photo by Hal Horton

As Christmas day approaches, Plymouth housewives begin rummaging through cook books and looking through their files for that "just perfect" fruit cake recipe for the holidays. For the benefit of anyone who cannot find her old favorite combination of ingredients, Mrs. Ed Taylor, of 353 Starkweather, pictured above has graciously submitted her recipe for a dark fruit cake.

Following is a list of the ingredients and the mixing directions:

1 lb. butter
1 lb. brown sugar
8 eggs
1½ lbs. raisins
1½ lbs. currants
½ lb. almonds
½ lb. citron
½ lb. orange peel
½ lb. lemon
1 lb. figs
1 lb. walnuts
2 lbs. molasses
1 lb. strong coffee
2 tsp. cinnamon
2 tsp. cloves
2 tsp. soda
2 tsp. allspice
2 tsp. nutmeg
1 glass liquor or wine.
6 cups unsifted flour

Bake two hours in slow oven, 325 degrees.

Measure flour before sifting. Use part of flour for flouring fruit, raisins, and nuts before adding them to cake mixture.

If desired, ½ lb. candied pineapple and ½ lb. of candied cherries, and 1 cup hickory nuts, may be added.

Specialist Says Aprons Make Perfect Gift for Christmas

Every woman likes to receive a gay new apron for Christmas that is just a little different in design or material because someone has made it for her.

You can have lots of fun making aprons for your friends by using simple patterns and choosing different materials and combinations of materials to make them "special." Margaret Hearn, textiles specialist at Michigan State college, suggests you look around the house for materials before you buy any.

How about flour sacks? They make good durable aprons when laundered, bleached and dyed. Discarded men's shirts may contain some very fine material in the backs that is not worn at all. Your "piece bag" will contain some remnants either large enough for a whole apron or at least for trimmings.

There are endless possibilities in washable cotton yard goods if you buy your material, and Plymouth stores have some beautiful material on their shelves. Everything from the cheapest of organics to heavy denim or sail cloth may be used for different types of aprons. Don't forget to look at curtain and drapery fabrics too. They're usually woven in wider pieces and will cut to better advantage. Glazed chintzes with the permanent finish are attractive and do not soil or wrinkle as easily as some other fabrics.

Plastics are interesting to work with and easy to handle if you use a long stitch on the sewing machine and eliminate pinning and basting. Edges may be left raw or bound with a contrasting color. It is possible to buy ready-made ruffling by the yard in matching or contrasting colors as a finish.

Antique Clay Ink Wells Revealed

The cone shaped clay object which Oliver Dix brought into the Mail office last week, could hardly be identified unless the owner, or an old, old timer, were on hand to explain its one-time use. It turned out to be an ink well.

The Salem fur trader and buyer explained that as far as he knows, these clay ink wells were last used about 100 years ago. The one he displayed, he stated, is similar to those which were used prevalently in the 18th century. It closely resembles, he added, those which are depicted in sketches and paintings of the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

Mr. Dix owns six of the ink-wells. He obtained them 35 years ago when he bought some fixtures out of an old store building in Salem. They were, he added, stored on the rafters.

Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, famous Navy Polar explorer, traveled around the world alone at the age of 12.

Double Size of Parking Lot at Waterford Plant

With the removal of machines and equipment from the Wilcox, Newburg and Nankin Mills Ford plants to the Waterford plant on the Plymouth-Northville road and the transfer of several hundred workers to this factory, the Ford company has found it necessary to increase its parking facilities at Waterford.

The big addition started more than a year ago is now completed and the equipment of these nearby plants installed.

The parking lot to the north of the plant is being more than doubled in size. This has necessitated the removal of a portion of the old apple orchard that the late Henry Ford had maintained as a part of the landscaping that made the Waterford plant one of the most attractive industrial sites in Michigan.

Top soil from a considerable portion of the old orchard has been removed and is being coated over with road gravel. The work is nearing completion.

Junior Force to Have Xmas Party

A Christmas party has been planned for members of the Junior Fire Department. Chief Robert McAllister has announced. It will take place next Friday, December 19, in the city hall.

At a November meeting, Chief McAllister stated a motion picture was shown to the group. It dealt with fire fighting under adverse conditions.

Since the group was organized, they have trained in extinguishing fires, fire hazards, equipment used on specific fires, and they now have a knowledge of the equipment on the trucks. The boys have been given an oral examination, and, according to Chief McAllister, the results were amazing. He stated that there seemed to be nothing which they couldn't answer, from the length of hose on each truck, down to every piece of equipment owned by the fire department.

The boys, he related, are coming through the course of training with flying colors. They are extremely interested in learning and are ready to make use of what they know. In case of a fire, the members of the Junior department will help in the handling of crowds and in any emergency which may arise. Chief McAllister stated that the cooperation and results of this Junior department are extremely beneficial to both the fire department and the boys.

At the present time, plans are under way for a Christmas party for the members.

Forbes Smith to See Arctic Area

In a recent letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Smith, of 1386 South Harvey, M-Sgt. Forbes wrote that he would leave for the Arctic Circle this month. The sergeant has been stationed with the U. S. Army at Anchorage, Alaska.

He stated that he has been picked as one of the crew which is going on an experimental expedition to that area to test the cold. Sergeant Forbes related that they are taking provisions for three months, although they expect to be gone only about a month. The dogs and sleds, which will be needed for the expedition, will be carried up on the planes.

His Christmas dinner will be eaten in the Arctic, and he whimsically added that this year he will be closer to Santa Claus than he has ever been. In spite of the expected cold reception which will await them, he wrote that he is looking forward to the experience.

Concerning his activities in Alaska, he reported that the weather is very cold, and that he and his companions have been enjoying the winter sports, including skiing. The sergeant also said that they have been doing some hunting, especially for moose.

My MICHIGAN

BY • ELTON R. EATON

Some weeks ago there appeared in this column some comment pertaining to the unsightly condition of Mackinaw City to the hundreds of thousands of tourists who yearly visit the northern tip of the Lower Peninsula.

It was pointed out in the article that the Greyhound Bus company and the state of Michigan can be credited with the only steps ever taken to make that an interesting place to visit—but that what had been done was but a mere drop in the bucket as to what should be done. It was stated that a whole lot of public pride on the part of the residents of that community could do much to remedy the unfortunate situation that exists. We mean a lot of public pride coupled with a spirit to do things worthwhile.

A few days ago The Plymouth Mail received a letter from Louis P. Simon of Kalamazoo, chairman of the Mackinac Island State Park commission, which has charge of the state park lying within the limits of the city of Mackinaw, as well as all of the park system on Mackinac Island.

In recent years the commission has done much to beautify the park and restore to a considerable extent much of the old fort that played an important part in the early history of Michigan. The driveways have been improved, the grounds cleared and the park is now something really worth visiting.

BUT—To get to the park one must drive through about as unsightly a village as there is in Michigan. And that was the thing our comment was about last fall.

Chairman Simon in his letter to The Plymouth Mail not only asserts that The Mail hit upon the "right idea" but further declared that while the commission itself had done much during the past year to try to make things more attractive in Mackinaw City, the commission plans another expenditure of some $2,500 in the state park next year.

Now if someone can get the business men in Mackinaw City who charge about twice as much for a common, everyday lunch as one has to pay anywhere else, to spend some of their profits to make Mackinaw City as attractive as is the state park in that place, then maybe the thousands who go north each year will spend a few hours visiting the stores and other interesting places of Mackinaw City instead of sitting in their cars for an hour or so waiting to get on the state ferry and get out of Mackinaw City as quickly as possible.

But it takes real public spirit to do that—and that is something this northernmost community in the Lower Peninsula has yet to prove to the state that it possesses.

Did you hear that big flock of geese flying over this part of the state heading for the southlands a few nights ago?

You didn't hear the honking? Well, don't be surprised. No one else heard it. And as far as can be found out, no one in this part of the state has seen or heard a flock of geese flying southward this year. Usually the fall flights of these interesting game birds is quite a sight and creates considerable comment. But not so this year—because the flights did not take place over this part of the country.

Even duck hunters who spent much of their time during the early fall on Saginaw bay report that they saw no geese on the bay.

It is possible that the flights took place mostly over the Mississippi valley and along the Atlantic seaboard, but for years and years many flocks of geese have made their flights both to the north and to the south over Michigan.

This fact lends support to the contention of the Wildlife officials of the Department of Interior in Washington that there is a decrease in the number of wild geese as well as in the number of wild ducks.

That is one of the reasons for the short duck hunting season during the fall. Duck hunters believe that the early and short season and the decreased kill as a result surely will help to increase the number of ducks next year. But the wild geese situation is something different.

Hundreds of deer hunters are now claiming that the deer population of the state has decreased to a very considerable extent. Hunters who year after year have gone back to the same locations they have hunted for scores of years report that they not only did not get a deer, but that they saw very few in the woods, not even does.

Some of these hunters say that they talked with some natives who frankly declare that because of the meat shortage, they are living chiefly on venison.

If that is true and if the practice is prevalent throughout the north, which some say is not correct, then one might have the answer as to why some sections of the woods have been cleared of deer.

But others report that they had good luck and saw lots of deer, especially does. While the conservation department has not yet issued a report as to the number of deer killed, some say it may be as nearly as high as a year ago. This belief is based upon the fact that Upper Peninsula hunters have brought back across the ferries about the same number of deer as they did in 1946. The anticipated report of the department, which ought to be out sometime early in January, will answer the questions many deer hunters are now asking.

Sportsmen in this area are pleased over one thing, and that is the more rigid enforcement of the game laws during the deer hunting season. The number of arrests far exceed that of any other year. This indicates that the enforcement division of the department is alert to what has been going on in past years.

When the Western Wayne County Conservation Association was organized, those who backed the venture thought that if it ever reached a membership of 200 or 300, that would be about the limit. Few ever believed that the membership would crowd towards the thousand mark. But that is the case, and there has never been a membership drive, and according to President Brick Champé, there is no need of one. From out of the pockets of these Plymouth sportsmen, as well as the many hundreds who do not belong, there flows each year into the state treasury many thousands of dollars—tax dollars that no one is compelled to pay. But these clear-thinking sportsmen know that if they want good fishing and good hunting in Michigan, it takes dollars to keep the streams planted and to protect the game in the woods and fields so that it will reproduce year after year. That's why they gladly pay the various license fees fixed for these services.

The other day there came to the writer's attention a booklet issued by the Minnesota Department of Conservation, entitled "Let's Go Fishing."

It contains about as true a picture of the real sportsman as one can read anywhere. In part it reads as follows:

"A Sportsman today is that man who hunts and fishes within the limits prescribed for him by the demands of the common good. His ranking is not dependent upon the skill with which he wields a flyrod or levels his sights, but upon his innate good manner in not imposing his personal bag desires upon a community-owned game total. He's a man of ethics, a friend of the land-owner, a courteous co-operator.

"He or she pays his own way, taxing himself willingly to meet the costs, never howling for a subsidy. He doesn't organize a pressure group to loot state of federal treasury for his own gain but assumes that his permit fee is a just way of paying admission to the greatest show on earth, bar none: the sight and sound of a quail bursting from cover, or of a fish smashing at the lure.

"Conservation Agents were not created AGAINST the Sportsman but BY him. He's convinced that violations of the code are wrong; he polices himself and demands others do the same.

"Genus Sportensis is like no other species. A baseball fan pays his way but doesn't go out on the field. Movie addicts buy tickets to watch someone else emote. A golfer isn't dicing with destiny; he can always get his 18 holes. The gambler hopes for tangible benefits—but not the Sportsman. He can't win financially; there's no way to measuring what he gains—except self respect.

"Because the Sportsman, today, is that man who realizes he must share available wildlife with his fellows, who restrains his trigger finger and puts away the rod because there are those who come after on they must find something in turn. He is the true co-operator, not because an agent of vengeance might lurk behind a bush but because he would preserve others the sport he himself loves. Let quibblers call this, too, selfishness—it is an enlightened variety more needed in the world."

"adequate and efficient railway transportation service for the nation"

FROM THE OFFICIAL REPORT of the Interstate Commerce Commission on awarding a temporary freight rate increase of 10%, we quote:

"The law requires us to give due consideration, among other factors, to the need of revenue sufficient to enable the carriers under honest, economic, and efficient management to provide adequate and efficient railway transportation service for the nation..."

A moment's thought should convince any fair-minded person that keeping the American railroads healthy is to everybody's advantage.

Every family, every businessman, even the Nation itself is in danger when this vital artery of American life is weakened.

And that threat is real, and it is now. For with increases in the cost of railroad operation piling up one atop another, how can the railroads' multimillion dollar program for desperately needed new equipment be continued? How can improvements in roadbeds, yards, stations, rolling stock, which took a merciless beating in the war years of peak traffic, be carried through?

They can't... UNLESS—

Unless the railroads are granted freight rates adequate to meet the wage and materials cost increases, and at the same time keep hundreds of American industries busy with new machinery and equipment orders.

Government requires that the railroads maintain a high standard of efficiency because You demand it, Industry depends on it, and the Nation must have it.

We are asking a permanent freight rate increase of the absolute minimum to meet our need—which is in every sense your need.

Our request should be granted.

COST INCREASES VS. RATE INCREASES
Class I Railroads, U. S. (Since 1946)

Nash Announces Styles for 1948

Improvements in styling, riding comfort and mechanical performance are features of the new medium and low-priced lines of 1948 Nash automobiles. The new cars are being introduced this week in dealer showrooms throughout the nation. Both lines are characterized by changes in exterior and interior design providing more luxurious appearance.

To avoid interrupting Nash production schedules, styling changes entailing new tools and dies were held to a minimum, according to H. C. Doss, vice-president and general sales manager. In its 1948 "600" series, Nash includes a new deluxe business coupe. Nash also has added to its medium and low-priced cars a new line of special "custom interiors" incorporating interior styling, color treatments and upholstery reinforcements formerly available only in custom-built automobiles.

The new Nash '48's feature 26 engineering improvements. Mechanical changes include advanced cushion mounting of engines, better cooling and lubrication and new larger low-pressure super-cushion tires. Nash is offering the new tire recently pioneered by Goodyear as standard equipment on all 1948 models.

The new cars include three different body types in the medium-priced Nash Ambassador series and four types in the lower priced Nash "600" series.

A new array of striking colors and dramatic color combinations will be available in the '48 Nash Ambassadors and "600's".

An exclusive feature of the 1948 Nash line of cars is its famous "Weather Eye," a built-in conditioned air ventilating system which filters and dries the air before it enters the car. In the summer the Nash "Weather Eye" provides abundant ventilation without insects, dust or rain entering the car. In the winter, a thermostat automatically controls the temperature of the air. The "Weather Eye" delivers up to 600 cubic feet of tempered fresh air per minute and almost completely eliminates drafts.

Commercial hatcheries in Michigan produced about 21 million chicks during the first eight months of 1947—21 percent less than the approximate 27 million hatched during the same period in 1946.

Right now, before the Holidays,
your local calls may meet delays

THERE'S nothing your telephone operator would rather do than answer your signal the instant you lift the receiver.
But around this time of year the Holiday rush puts an extra-heavy load on telephone switchboards. So many calls come in that at times every switchboard cord needed to make connections is in use. When that happens, the operator is unable to answer your call until someone else hangs up.

That is why during the next couple of weeks there may be more occasions when you'll run into a slight delay before you hear the operator's familiar "Number, Please?" But you can be sure she will answer your signal just as fast as she can.
Meanwhile, keeping your calls reasonably brief and avoiding the busiest hours—10 A.M. to noon and 3 to 6 P.M.—when you can, will help her put more calls through faster.

A XMAS GIFT SUGGESTION

Make the work easier for mother by presenting her one of these clothes dryers. She'll love it forever.

"I DO HOPE IT WON'T RAIN TOMORROW!"

YOU NEEDN'T SAY THAT AGAIN with a Hamilton AUTOMATIC CLOTHES DRYER

• You HAVE said it, haven't you? The night before washday? Yes, and meant it, too, because there's nothing worse than to have to let dirty clothes pile up while you wait for nice weather.

When you have a Hamilton Automatic Clothes Dryer, you just flip the switch, toss in your clothes straight from wringer or spinner and, in 15 to 25 minutes, they're ready to iron! Things dry soft, sweet-smelling, and fluffy in the Hamilton, too, an average washerload at a time. Rain? Snow? Soot? Smoke? Forget 'em!

Why don't you come in, right away, and let us show you how Hamilton can take the last bit of labor and risk out of your weekly washing? We'll be happy to demonstrate.

NURSE URGES X-RAYS FOR ALL STUDENTS

"I hope all the boys, girls, and faculty will take advantage of the tuberculosis program to be carried on here on Wednesday and Thursday of this week," says Mrs. Mary Strassen, the school nurse. Tuberculosis is not a seasonal disease. It comes any time of the year and to any person, regardless of age. Wayne County has numerous cases of tuberculosis, many of which have not been discovered. Discovery is the purpose of this program.

The tuberculosis wagon travels to fairs, schools, and factories and gives X-ray service free of charge. Persons found to have the disease are sent to the sanatoriums where the fee is taken care of by the state. Statistics show that in 1937 there were 5157 cases and by 1946, 5548 cases, an increase of 391. Three fourths of the men who died from the disease were 35 years or older; a majority of the women were between the ages of 20 and 24.

DECEMBER 17 IS DATE OF CHRISTMAS CONCERT

When the curtain rises at 8 p.m. on December 17, in the Plymouth High school auditorium, the Girls Glee club, under the direction of Fred Nelson, will burst forth in full voice with "Carol of the Bells," a Ukrainian Christmas Carol; "Jesu, Thou Dear Babe Divine," Dickinson; "Christmas Hymn," 17th century; and "In Excelsis Deo," a french carol.

Following this will be the Boy's Glee club presenting "Shepherd's Awake," Davis; "Born In Jesus In Bethlehem," Bossi; and "Alleluia," Bach. Then the Girls' octet will sing "The Childrens Carol," Swift; "Christmas Bells," Huhn; "Each Christmas Night," Swift; and "Jingle Bells," Howarth. To complete the vocal selection of the program, the mixed chorus will present "Gesu Bambino," You; and "Twas The Night Before Christmas," Darby. Under the direction of Paul T. Wagner, the Plymouth High school band will play the following selections: "Christmas March," Boldman; "Columbia Porter selections," Porter; "Golden Glow Overture," Johnson; "Snow Carnival," Overgard (student director), Jack Carney; "One World," Bratten and O'Hara; and "The Christmas Story," arr. by Yoder. The band will accompany the chorus during the presentation of their last two numbers.

HONOR SCHOOL BOARD WITH CHRISTMAS PARTY

The teachers, administration, custodians, and office force of Plymouth High school gave a dinner Wednesday, December 10, at 6:30 p.m. in honor of the Plymouth School Board. James Latture was the toastmaster for the evening and S. D. Unger, of Thompson's Market, did the catering for the dinner.

Community singing under the direction of Fred Nelson and a men's singing group, directed by Paul T. Wagner, were features of the evening. Dancing and playing cards were the other entertainments. Girls from the Hesco club served the dinner and the student council was responsible for decorating the Christmas tree. The committees were as follows: general chairman, Virginia Olmstead; entertainment, Robert Ingram; table decorations, Vivian Michelson; floor decorations, Frances Overton; invitations and reception, Frances Overton; tickets, Marjorie Norman; dinner arrangements, Virginia Olmstead.

FRENCH CLUB, ALUMNI HAVE CAROLLING PARTY

For the first time since its organization in the fall of 1944, the French club of Plymouth High will hold a reunion in the form of a carolling party. All members from the past three years and the present members will meet at the high school at 7 p.m. on December 23 and go carolling. Refreshments will be served later.

The carollers will sing at homes of the sick and many other homes in town. Those old French songs selected to be sung are "Silent Night", "O Holy Night", "The March of Kings", and "Bring a Torch, Jeanette, Isabella." Next week the French club is sponsoring a roller-skating party at the Riverside Roller Rink. The date and time will be set later.

COUNCIL ATTENDS YPSILANTI CONFERENCE

Student Council members Dorothy Curtis, Don Sutherland, Margie Tait, Alline Burns, and club adviser Miss Irene Wallard, attended the Huron League Association of Student Councils held at the Lincoln Consolidated High school, Ypsilanti, Thursday, December 11.

After the morning registration, a general session for all representatives of the invited schools was held. At 11 a.m., the business meeting was held, followed by luncheon. Reconvening at 1:30 p.m., the members divided into sectional groups where discussions of Council problems were carried on.

COMMERCIAL CLUB HAS CHRISTMAS PARTY

"Bring your lunch" is the slogan of the Plymouth High Commercial club members, for on December 19, along with the regular meeting, there will be a Christmas Grab Bag. It will consist of gifts not more than 50 cents in value. Talented members of the club will present different kinds of entertainment along with group singing. Heading the entertainment committees are Betty Richwine and Joan Town.

STUDENT COUNCIL DECORATES XMAS TREE

Since the Yuletide season would not be complete without a Christmas tree, the Student Council has bought decorations and decorated the tree which is now placed in the first floor hallway.

The tree was decorated and used as part of the decorations for the teachers' party held Wednesday night, December 10. After the holiday season is over, the five new sets of lights will be placed under the supervision of William Campbell, as is all electrical equipment. Other decorations will be placed with the Home Economics department.

GIRLS VOLLEYBALL ENDS AS BASKETBALL BEGINS

With only one game left to play in the girls' volleyball season, tenseness runs high. Those teams at the top are: Verna Rice, first place; Betty Baker, second place; Doris Waidecker, third place.

Following Christmas vacation, basketball teams will be chosen and the season will get underway with Leader's club girls acting as referees, umpires, scorekeepers, and timekeepers.

Basketball practice is already underway in gym classes in preparation for the intramural season. Techniques are being stressed in these classes to improve the games.

If you have any local news for The Plymouth Mail, please call Mrs. Alford, telephone 1667-R.

HESCO'S HOLD BAKE SALE AT GOODALE'S

The Hesco club, the Home Economics club of Plymouth High school, will hold a bake sale in Goodale's Grocery store, from 9 a.m. Saturday, December 13, until 3 p.m. Those articles baked by the girls include cakes, cookies, pies, rolls, breads, doughnuts, and many others.

Jaycees Attend State Meeting

Three members of the Plymouth Junior Chamber of Commerce attended the monthly board meeting of the State organization last weekend. Those attending were George Todd, president, and board members Bayliss Erdelyi and John Gaffield.

The meeting took place in Jackson, Saturday and Sunday. Forum discussions were carried on Sunday morning. In the afternoon, Hickman Price was the featured speaker at the general luncheon meeting. His topic was "Our Best National Defense." Mr. Price, who is head of the export division of Kaiser Fraser, voiced agreement with the Marshall plan in this fitting Pearl Harbor Day talk. He qualified his agreement, however, stating that it is his belief all loans to the destitute countries should be earmarked as to how they will be spent.

Here Today...

This time it's Hudson

the car they said was years away!

This is you, day! Set the time; see the car you've been told was years away!

A style-setting beauty, with a sparkling and massive front grille. A car that is only five feet high, and with the lowest center of gravity you've ever known, but with a new, all steel Monobilt body-and-frame that gives you more inside head room than any other car built today.

A car with the roomiest seats ever built into any American-made automobile.

A car you step down into when entering, not up on — yet a car that maintains road clearance! A car that cradles you not only between axles, but ahead of the rear wheels.

All of this is made possible by a basic new development in motor car design—Hudson's Monobilt body-and-frame, shown in phantom view and described to the right.

The Hudson dealers listed here are ready with information about Hudson's all-new Super-Six engine — the most powerful six built today — and Hudson's masterful Super-Eight. They will tell you about Hudson's exclusive Drive-Master — no clutch pushing, no gear shifting in forward speeds.

See Hudson's gorgeously upholstered interiors, with chrome handles and hardware recessed into side panels, out of the way. Examine all of Hudson's new beauty, comfort and convenience features, including a new type of low-pressure, Super-Cushion tire that mounts on a new, wide safety rim. See how Hudson's wide, curved windshield and rear window give added vision all around.

Get a good look at this new kind of car — a type of automobile no one else in the world is prepared to build today! It's something to see — the nearest Hudson dealer will show it to you now!

A CAR YOU RIDE IN . . . NOT ON!

Hudson is the only motor car that completely encircles you, even outside the rear wheels, with a rigid box-steel foundation frame. You ride within this new construction, instead of on top of it as in other cars. And every unit of Hudson's new, all steel Monobilt body-and-frame is welded into one solid structure that provides unusual rigidity and stability.

25 YEARS AGO FROM THE PLYMOUTH MAIL FILES

A quiet but pretty home wedding took place at the Paul L. Bennett farm on Golden road, last Thursday afternoon, November 30th, when Mildred Irene, eldest daughter of Mrs. Maud Bennett, was united in marriage to George Sanford Burr, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Burr. The double ring service was impressively used by Rev. Nagle. The bride was attended by her sister, Marian, the groom, by Grant Smith, a college chum. The decorations were in blue and yellow, colors of both the U. of M., of which the groom is a graduate, and of the Delta Phi sorority, of which the bride has been a member since attending the Michigan State Normal college, from which she graduated in the class of '21.

The annual meeting of Plymouth Rock Lodge, No. 47, F. & A. M., was held in the Masonic hall, last Friday evening, December 1st, with seventy-five members in attendance. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: W. M., George Howell; S. W., Henry Hondorp; J. W., James Nairn; Treasurer, Russell Wingard; Secretary, Myron M. Willett; S. D., George A. Smith; J. D., Alton J. Baker; Tyler, James McKeever.

The H. S. Lee Foundry and Machine Co. are now occupying the new addition to their plant, which was just recently completed. The new building is 30x60 feet in size and gives them much more needed room.

O. P. Martin has had a part of the basement of his store converted into a basement store, and announces the opening of this new department, Saturday, December 9th. Shelving and display tables have been installed, and with plenty of light the room presents a very nice appearance indeed.

Mr. and Mrs. Gust Lidke entertained at Thanksgiving dinner and supper, the following relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Reinholz and Albert Reinholz and brother of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. William Wallenmaier and son, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rengert and family, Mr. and Mrs. Carl S. Smith and son and Mr. and Mrs. William Smith of Plymouth.

Mr. and Mrs. William T. Pettigill and Mrs. Ida M. Dunn were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Cranson at their home in Northville.

The County Agent's Farm Tip Column By E. I. Besemer Wayne County Agent

Grain is too expensive and too badly needed to be wasted in parasites. There is still time to go after sheep parasites before they go after feed. Breeding flocks and feeder lambs cannot make maximum use of feed if they are infested with worms and ticks.

Graydon Blank, extension animal husbandry specialist at Michigan State College, has supplied these tips on ridding sheep of parasites.

Drenching with wettable Phenothiazine or with a Phenothiazine pill when sheep come off pasture or before they go into the feed lot will get rid of worms. This will not only save feed but will make the sheep more profitable. It is necessary to get the wettable type Phenothiazine in order to mix it with water. Manufacturers' directions should be followed.

If the treatment is given the breeding flock this fall, the danger of worm infection in next spring's lamb crop is greatly reduced.

Feeder lambs, particularly natives, may be infested with internal parasites and will respond rapidly to the worm treatment.

When ticks and lice are a problem, sheep may be sprayed on days when the weather is mild with four pounds of 50 percent wettable DDT in 100 gallons of water. A power sprayer is most effective. If the weather remains cold, small flocks may be dusted with a five percent DDT dust. When the dust must be applied by hand methods, a 10 percent

DDT dust is best. A three-fourths percent Rotenone dust can also be used. It is necessary to have the spray or dust penetrate the fleece and get next to the skin. Ticks are likely to be most serious in feeder lambs and will cause a considerable loss of grain. Breeding flocks, however, may also be infested.

Colds Cost U.S. People A Billion Each Year

You'll probably have two colds before another year rolls around, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. says in reporting on statistics of the common cold.

Colds are a billion-dollar a-year pain to the American people, the company said, adding up to the following annual costs: $400,000,000 for medical treatment, $420,000,000 in lost wages; 60,000,000 work days lost to industry; $1,500,000,000 days of discomfort and reduced efficiency.

A total travel distance equaling 12 trips around the world in 14 months is the flight record of Seaman R. L. Wickham, enlisted flight orderly of the Naval Air Transport Service. In flying 269,000 miles in that time, Wickham served NATS passengers 4,320 in-flight meals.
