Howdy Folks: We agree with the wife who claims that driving from the back seat is no worse than cooking from the dining room table.

Little Mary was visiting her Grandmother in the country. Seeing her first peacock, she cried: "Oh, Granny, look! One of your chickens is in bloom!"

First Father: "Has your baby learned to walk yet?"
Second Father: "Heavens, no! Why, he hasn't even learned to drive the car!"

No matter how young they learn, teach them to bring the car here for gas, oil and lubrication. That's the way to keep it in top-notch driving condition.

Clare Luce Next On Town Hall

Clare Boothe Luce, Broadway playwright, and former Congresswoman, who is regarded as one of the most attractive women in America, will close the nineteenth consecutive season of Detroit Town Hall at Fisher Theater, the morning of March 10th. She will speak at eleven o'clock.

Mrs. Luce will come directly from Hollywood for the occasion. Her subject is: "What Is Right With Congress?" A sellout of Fisher Theater is assured, according to Kathleen Snow-Stringer, Town Hall director.

Mrs. Luce gained national reputation as a speaker during the Presidential campaign of 1940 when she toured the country in support of the Republican ticket. She served four years in Congress as a legislator and member of the House Military Affairs Committee, and her two-term career in the House was marked by the introduction of legislation that reflected the wide scope of her travels and observations.

After war began, Clare Luce went to Europe and the Far East as correspondent for Life, Fortune, and Time magazines, traveling more than 75,000 miles in 12 months. Upon her return she published "Europe in the Spring."

The former Congresswoman plans to return to Hollywood after her appearance at Fisher Theater to write and direct a movie. Already made in pictures are her plays, "The Women," "Kiss the Boys Goodbye," and "Margin for Error."

Advance reservations for the lecture are available at Grinnell's, Ra. 1124.

Southern Migration Aided by High Taxes of Northern States

(By Gene Alleman)

Governor Kim Sigler, now an avowed candidate for re-election, believes that Michigan must renew its efforts to "sell Michigan." In a Lincoln Day address at Muskegon, Sigler warned that the state faced industrial and tourist competition from the South. It would pay Michigan people, he said, to be "mindful of that which has made us great."

The South's competition for industry is best illustrated by Florida which has no state income tax, no state sales tax, no tax on homesteads under $5,000 valuation, no state realty tax and no state bonded debt.

"These fortunate and attractive safeguards will be maintained," observed the Tampa Florida Morning Tribune recently, "because overwhelming public sentiment will prevent the imposition of any new taxes."

The same newspaper points out that Florida had the third greatest increase in individual income in the nation during the period 1940-1947 and that its population gain was 18 per cent, exceeded only by ten states.

Governor Sigler visited Florida prior to his return to Michigan, following a month's rest in the South.

It may be assumed that Governor Sigler, during the 1948 campaign, will express his current views on the subject of taxation.

Dull as this topic traditionally is, it is pertinent to the future of industry in Michigan. Burdensome taxes, levied by a legislature seeking its way out of the sales tax diversion dilemma, could readily speed up the decentralization trend voiced recently by Henry Ford II. Ford thinks the company employs too many people at River Rouge for production efficiency.

One year ago Sigler was opposed to imposition of new taxes. Instead, he favored repeal of the sales tax diversion amendment, an accomplishment now conceded to be very difficult to attain.

The 1947 Borah-Tripp labor act, a state companion law to the federal Taft-Hartley act, may prove to be a deterrent to industrial migration from Michigan.

Local Dunkers Discuss Dunking

"So Emily Post says it is perfectly proper to dunk doughnuts in coffee! Well, if Emily had been a member of the Plymouth Coffee Dunking club, she would have known for many years that doughnut dunking is not only proper but the only right way to consume doughnuts" commented President Don Lightfoot, of the Plymouth Coffee Dunking club yesterday.

He had just read newspaper dispatches from New York, in which Emily Post had written to the National Dunking club that it is socially correct to dunk doughnuts.

Wrote Miss Post, "The doughnut should be broken in half and neatly dipped into coffee or some other beverage."

Says President Don Lightfoot: "That's been the rule of our club for years. What she writes is not news to us. Of course we do have some members who think that the whole doughnut should be dunked at one time. There's Russell Powell, our vice-president. He thinks the whole doughnut should be immersed at one time and then eaten with a spoon, but we have never changed the rules for him."

Said Earl Fluelling, chairman of the board of Plymouth dunkers: "I do not agree with Emily and I do not agree with our rules entirely. I think that when we dunk a doughnut we should have more or less freedom in the way we do it. If we desire to dunk part of it at one time, that's O. K. but if we prefer to dunk just a small piece at one time, we should be allowed to do that, too. It all depends upon the wishes of the individual dunker."

Charley Beegle and Sam Knapp, two other charter members of the Plymouth dunkers' club, declare that they don't care about any special society rules when it comes to dunking. If they desire to dunk their doughnuts, they just dunk 'em any old way.

Said Mr. Beegle: "Dunking has become a necessity these days. Some doughnuts you get cannot be consumed unless dunked—and dunked good and long. The modern doughnut has a way of becoming as hard as flint if left too many hours outside the kettle. It seems that the doughnut makers have inaugurated some process of doughnut making that steel manufacturers should adopt in order to get good, cold-drawn steel. We should be taking steps to liberalize the dunking code. Surely we should do nothing to make it more difficult to dunk the doughnut."

Plymouth's many other dunkers are of the same opinion.

Jacobs Tells of Florida Visits

Mr. and Mrs. John Jacobs, who know how to enjoy a winter vacation in the southlands, in a recent letter to friends in this city, state that they recently drove up from Fort Lauderdale in Florida where they are staying, to attend the Florida state fair being held that week in Tampa.

While there, Mr. Jacobs writes that they visited Postmaster and Mrs. Harry Irwin, who are spending a few weeks in Pinnacles Park near Tampa.

They also visited with friends from Sandusky, Ohio, who are in Florida for the winter.

"Went deep sea fishing in the Gulf," wrote Mr. Jacobs, "but as usual the big ones got away."

The Jacobs also enjoyed a trip to Silver Springs and have come to the conclusion that the most beautiful spot in Florida is around Mt. Dora, which is located in the central part of the state.

"There are beautiful homes, lakes and hills around Mt. Dora and some of the nicest looking citrus orchards we have seen," said Mr. Jacobs in his letter.

On the way back to Fort Lauderdale, they stopped at Lake Worth to visit with Mrs. Fred D. Schrader and daughter Evelyn, who are spending the winter in that community, which is most popular with Michigan tourists. "I should title this letter 'Down By The Waves' due to the fact that its pretty rough today and a lot of those pesky Portuguese-men-of-war are coming in with the waves. They are a real hazard to swimmers," wrote Mr. Jacobs.

"I should mention the fact that we called on the Herbert Rolphs and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Clark at Bradenton, but Mr. Clark was down at the shuffle-board. Give our regards to all of our Plymouth friends and tell them we will be home in April."

In Paris, 60-year-old Rene Blain, a retired colonial administrator, was forgiven when he explained to the judge that riding cowcatchers was not frowned on in Madagascar.

In Syracuse, N. Y., when his wife shouted, "Stop that this instant!" a would-be suicide obediently cut himself down.

In Harrismith, South Africa, a torrential downpour washed out an open-air prayer meeting that had been called to pray for rain.

Gardening one of Oldest Pursuits

Gardening is one of the oldest pursuits of mankind and yet it has been one of the last fields to be entered by women, both professionally and commercially, though gardening as part of the home has always been of great interest to women.

Women are entering all fields and in gardening they find something for which they are well-fitted: a profession which has advantages and interests that few others have, one that promises an outdoor life and freedom from office drudgery, work in which women can express themselves and create beauty.

Nevertheless, many people do not realize what the training and work of a woman gardener is. They think of the work as heavy drudgery: requiring capable hands and little head work. But the field is varied and to the trained woman many interesting opportunities have opened.

For the girl interested in art there is garden design and planning, or she may specialize in color schemes for the garden, herbaceous borders, rock gardens or special planting plans.

For the student interested in science there are openings in the more technical branches—teaching and plant breeding and the improvement of varieties.

The girl with organizing ability may take charge of large estates. Then good openings occur for women in what is termed "jobbing" gardening, taking charge of two or three or more gardens in a district. This work is interesting, particularly where it combines advisory work and the replanning of old gardens. When a sufficiently large clientele is worked up, she is able to employ others and do only the most interesting work herself.

The commercial side will always appeal to some students, and if they specialize in certain plants and possibly combine their nursery work with the supervising of small gardens, a promising field is offered.

Girls who consider taking up gardening as a profession should prepare themselves by taking the best training available. A general training in all branches of gardening, both the practical and theoretical side, is the best foundation.

This training may be covered in two years, after which the graduate is fitted to earn her own living. And since all over the United States people are taking an ever-increasing interest in gardens and gardening there is an increased demand for real gardeners who love and understand their work. Therefore the future seems of real promise to the trained-woman gardener. —From Better Flowers

Daisy-I.D.E.A. upset the favored Plymouth Sport Shop in the first game of the playoffs played Monday, March 1, in the high school.

Sport Shop went through the season with only one defeat at the hands of Austin Taxi, while two of Daisy's three losses were to Sport Shop.

The Air Rifle boys went right to work, and at the end of the first quarter led 16-13 as Hank Schultz and Art Gillis scored six points each in that stanza.

The second quarter was featured with defensive play as Sport Shop scored six points to Daisy's four points to trail 19-20 at the half. In the third quarter Daisy added 13 points to take a seven point lead, 33-26.

With only two minutes gone in the fourth quarter, Ben Duguid went out on fouls and Sport Shop immediately went to work and tied the score at 35-35 as Schmidt made a foul shot. Art Gillis then made a foul shot with 34 seconds to go to put Daisy in the lead 36-35. Gillis picked up a loose ball when 25 seconds were left in the game, and sank a "dog shot" to give them a three point lead. Sport Shop struck back as Cassey sank a one-handed shot from well out, to make it 38-37, with eight seconds remaining. Daisy kept the ball for the remaining seconds to emerge with their first victory of the playoffs.

Art Gillis led Daisy's attack with 16 points, as Schmidt scored nine points to lead Sport Shop.

Plymouth Meets Inkster Tonight

Tonight the Plymouth Rocks will meet Inkster in the Class B cage tournaments at Farmington at 9 p.m. Thus far this season the Rocks have whipped Inkster twice, 49-25 and 38-37, two weeks ago. Plymouth comes into this game with but one victory in their last six tussles and that one was over Inkster.

Two class C encounters will precede the Rocks game, one at 6 p.m. and the other at 7:30 p.m. If Plymouth wins tonight they will play the winner of the St. Mary's of Orchard Lake-Farmington tilt on Saturday at 8:30 p.m.

Coach John Klingeberger, of the Rocks will take 15 eligible men to compete tonight. They are: Becker, Allen, Farwell, Bosman, Finney, Hees, Ebersole, MacGregor, Houghton, Scheel, Daggett, Swanson, Gow, Reitzel and Elliott.

Inter-City Games Are Scheduled

In a meeting at the Highland Park Y.M.C.A. on Friday, February 27, recreation directors of the Greater Detroit area, of which Plymouth is included, set up an Inter-City Basketball tournament to be held at Pontiac during the week of March 29.

The runner-up of the Men's Division playoffs will represent Plymouth in the Class B Division. In the Class C Division, the Hot Rocks, winner of that division in the city league for boys, will journey to Pontiac with the All-Stars who will represent Plymouth in the Class D competition.

If enough teams are entered in Class E, 14 years of age and under, the Red Sox will also play. Cities who will be entered are: Detroit, Dearborn, Highland Park, Hamtramck, Ferndale, Center Line, Ecorse, Hazel Park, Pontiac, Royal Oak, Wyandotte, and Plymouth.

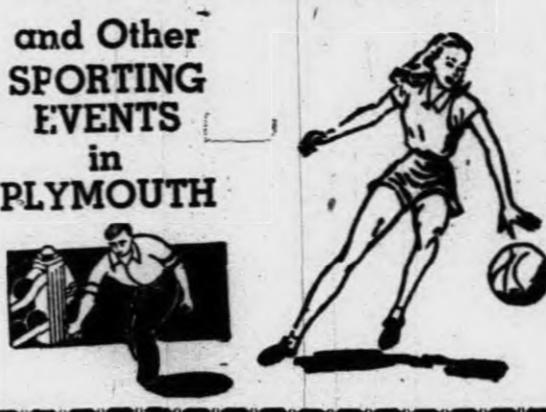

The tournament will be a one loss and out, with the winners of each division receiving suitable awards.

It is a little stream which flows softly, but it freshens everything along its course.

Director Tells of League Playoffs

By Ralph Johnson
On Saturday, February 28, the drawing at the city hall paired Plymouth Sport Shop against Daisy-I.D.E.A. and Parkside Bar vs. Atchinson Motor Sales of Northville for Monday night's games. Following these games the playoff will be conducted as follows.

Last Wednesday the winners of the first pairings played and the losers also met. Following Wednesday's game the following situation existed. One team was out of the tournament, two teams had one loss and one team was undefeated. As the runner-up of the playoffs is eligible to play in the Inter-City Tournament at Pontiac the team that was undefeated received the bye and the two teams with a loss played to determine who would play for the championship. This was done because if a bye were drawn by one of the losing teams, that team would automatically become eligible for the Inter-City or Michigan Recreation Association State Tournament.

The team that won last evening will meet the undefeated team Monday, March 8, in the high school gym at 8 p.m. for the championship. If the defeated team should win, the final game will be played Wednesday evening at the same time.

Duguid Voted to Receive Award

Ben Duguid, Daisy-I.D.E.A. forward, was selected the most valuable player in the Plymouth Recreation League by the players of the league on Saturday, February 28.

Following Duguid in the balloting were: Robert Bentley of Sport Shop, Robert Norman of Parkside and Duane Dysinger of South Lyon.

Ben distinguished himself throughout the season as an outstanding team player. In 14 games he scored 172 points for an average of 12.3 points a game, but his greatest attribute was his passing to teammates and setting up plays so they could score points which would lead to victory.

Defensively he was an excellent guard, repeatedly breaking up the opponents' offense, in addition to holding his opposing player to a minimum of points.

Duguid, standing six foot even, and weighing 202 pounds, will receive the Ted Box trophy on Monday, March 8, in the high school gym.

From the personals in the Warren, Pa. Times-Mirror, "This is Mr. Artress' fourth trip up from Pittsburgh this summer. He has been enjoying a vacation since his wife died last February."

Rock Reserves Bow to Trenton

Playing their final cage game of the season, the Plymouth Rock reserves were drubbed 40-22, by Trenton Friday, February 27, on the down-river boy's home court.

Plymouth's reserve squad ended this year's basketball season with six losses compared to eight victories. Dave Reitzel led the Rock reserves in scoring for the season, falling short of 100 points. The Trojans led the locals at the end of each quarter, with the game getting off to a slow start, the initial period ended 4-3, and the halftime score was 15-11.

Wood's Emerges As Girls' Winner

Wood's Studio defeated the Plymouth Mail girls in the second game of the playoffs, to emerge champions of the Girls' Division of the Plymouth Recreation Basketball league.

In their season's drive, Woods won 11 games and did not suffer a loss, to finish with a perfect record.

Woods, led by Eleanor Wilkins, who scored 16 points, took a 6-2 lead at the first quarter and drew away to lead 17-8 at the half. They added 17 points in the last half to win 34-20.

Whitehead led the Plymouth Mail team with nine points. Joe Caloia did an excellent job as manager in leading the girls to the championship. First, he got the maximum number of girls allowed under the rules and substituted his team so that all of the girls played in each game. Secondly, these girls had never played boys rules, so he taught the team the rules, how to dribble, and a man-to-man defense.

The members of the Wood's Studio team who will receive their trophies Monday, March 8, at the high school are: Shirley Caloia, Phyllis Christensen, Anna Marie Schroeder, Eleanor Wilkins, Joan Dibooye, Marjorie Bassett, Gerry Shear, Marjorie Kahler, Elizabeth Danielowski, Marjorie Fegan, and Mary Ann Zukosky.

Atchinson Loses To Parkside Bar

In the second game Monday evening Parkside Bar swamped Atchinson Motor Sales of Northville to gain their first playoff victory.

The game did not provide the thrills of the Daisy-Sport Shop game as Parkside led 15-5 at the first quarter. At the half Atchinson trailed 13-27.

Parkside scored 16 and 15 points in the third and fourth period to gain a 58-32 victory.

Doug Egloff, who led the league in scoring during the season, set a new scoring record as he made 17 baskets and one free throw to score 35 points.

Atchinson was led by Slessor who scored nine points.

Thinclads Start Spring Training

Indoor training for the coming track season has begun. Each year K. Moioio, Plymouth High school track coach, assembles the squad indoors to loosen up for the outdoor season.

This year nearly 50 boys have turned out who are anxious to better last year's 4-2 record.

Mr. Moioio has plans to enter a few boys in the River Rouge relays and possibly the Wayne relays to provide valuable experiences for the young high school runners. The teams on this year's schedule are: Trenton, Ypsilanti, Northville (non-league), Belleville, Wayne, and Redford Union.

Boy's Division Champs Named

By virtue of their victories last week, the Hot Rocks, All-Stars and Red Sox became champions of the Boy's Division of the Plymouth Recreation league.

These three teams are now eligible to represent Plymouth in the Inter-City Tournament which will be held at Pontiac during the week of March 29.

The Hot Rocks will play in the 18 years of age and under class while the All-Stars will be in the 16 year old division and the Red Sox in the 14 years old and under classification.

The Boys' Division of Plymouth was comprised of the above mentioned divisions totaling 14 teams with 152 boys participating weekly.

The members of the Wood's Studio team who will receive their trophies Monday, March 8, at the high school are: Shirley Caloia, Phyllis Christensen, Anna Marie Schroeder, Eleanor Wilkins, Joan Dibooye, Marjorie Bassett, Gerry Shear, Marjorie Kahler, Elizabeth Danielowski, Marjorie Fegan, and Mary Ann Zukosky.

"Understand Rivalry and you understand America"
by Ed Thorgersen

Whenever sports fans get together, sooner or later the talk gets around to famous upsets. Well, the upset that gave me one of the greatest thrills was the 1934 Rose Bowl game, when Coach Lou Little's football squad from Columbia gave a heavily-favored Stanford eleven the surprise of its life.

Stanford was loaded with power that year with a record that showed wins over the top teams of the West. Columbia, on the other hand, had been trampled by Princeton, and lacked reserves. The game was figured to be no one-sided there was trouble selling tickets. Came the kickoff and the dawn! For it was Columbia forcing the play... tackling viciously... driving deep into enemy territory. And by halftime, the little Columbia eleven led the big, unbeatable Indians, 7-0.

In the second half, Stanford came back with everything it had. Time after time, the Western backs plunged deep into Columbia territory until it was first down for Stanford on Columbia's three yard stripe.

Four plays later, it was Columbia's ball on their own one yard line! The kids they said "didn't have a chance" had upset the expert!

What made that upset possible? Competition—rivalry... the old, typically American trait of wanting to be better than the next fellow, the trait that is evident in everything Americans do—from playing football to making better petroleum products.

Yes, just as competition brings you great sports events, competition brings you the latest developments in petroleum. For over 34,000 individual oil companies—producing, refining, transportation, distributing and retail sales—are in this competitive business and there is plenty of rivalry to bring you the best gasoline and lubricants in the world—at the world's lowest prices—and meet demands for more and more petroleum products.

That's why it is so true there's a plus for you in Petroleum's Progress.

The Common Tasks
Grace Noll Crowell

THE common tasks are beautiful if we have eyes to see their shining ministry. The plowman with his share deep in the loam. The carpenter whose skilled hands build a home. The gardener working with reluctant sod, faithful to his partnership with God—These are the artists of life, and oh, A woman with her eyes and cheeks aglow, Watching a kettle, tending a scarlet flame, Guarding a little child—there is no name For these great ministries, and eyes are dull That do not see that they are beautiful. That do not see within the common tasks The simple answer to the thing God asks Of any child, a pride within His breast: That at our given work we do our best.

M.S.C. Developing Cure for Dog Mange

There's no question about it—dog mange is unpleasant. It's an itchy inflammation that makes the dog's life miserable. But the dog's owner is just as uncomfortable because of his pet's suffering. Both are anxious to have it stopped.

Research scientists Floyd E. Eads and Philip A. Hawkins at the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station recently tested a compound that shows signs of ending many of the miseries of mange. The drug, tetraethylthiuram monosulfide, (commonly known as "Tetmosol"), is particularly efficient in treating sarcoptic mange in domestic animals. It's also of value in treating a more stubborn type of mange—demodectic mange.

Let's suppose that Fido has the mange. Tetmosol can be used two ways to treat it. First, it can be used in a bland soap for bathing the dog. This helps to start the treatment. It can then be followed by a two to five per cent water solution of the drug and applied to the affected areas of the body. When used this way, two to four treatments will usually result in a complete cure of sarcoptic mange.

The new compound has much to recommend it. It is non-irritating to the skin, gives a relatively rapid cure, and appears to stimulate the growth of hair. The solution dries rapidly so there is no need to leave the animal cold and wet for a long period of time. Unlike some mange treatments, it is neither oily nor does it contain objectionable dyes to stain household furnishings.

Tetmosol isn't yet on the market but probably will be made available to the public in the future. When that day comes, Rover will thank Michigan State college research scientists for their part in proving the worth of Tetmosol.

Rural Tele-news

VOICWAYS FOR '48: Michigan Bell expects to set 25,000 poles and string over 11,000 miles of wire in rural areas this year. This will help bring telephones to folks who are waiting and reduce the number of parties on many rural lines.

GOOD NEIGHBORS: Good rural-line neighborliness means better service for all. We're good telephone neighbors when we keep calls short, remember not to interrupt others' talks, and hang up after each call. (One receiver off the hook ties up the line for everyone.)

BIG CITY: The number of telephones added in rural areas by Michigan Bell in the past two years would provide a telephone for every man, woman and child in a city the size of Battle Creek. There are now 125,000 telephones in rural areas served by Michigan Bell.

Have Baked Ham for a Social Supper. (See recipes below.)

Chicken Favorites
When you want to put variety in the menu, or combine interesting flavors or stretch the meat nicely, the thing to do is to serve chicken. You'll find chicken prices doing a favor to your budgets these days, and what's even nicer, chicken can be combined with so many foods that give you nice substantial meals so ideal for cooler weather. Why not try chicken with dumplings for an old-fashioned savory favorite? Or, a tender crusty pie with pieces of chicken and vegetables in nice rich gravy. You'll find the bits of leftover chicken go nicely into tarts, chow mein or tetrazzini chicken. All these will keep menu interest at a high pitch and help supply valuable protein, minerals and vitamins to the diet.

Church Auxiliary Planning Meeting

"Stewardship", or the giving of time, talent, and money, is to be exemplified Wednesday, March 10, at the meeting of the Presbyterian Women's auxiliary. This meeting will be under the auspices of Circle One and under the general chairmanship of Mrs. C. C. Wiltse.

"Time" will be the subject of the devotionals to be led by Mrs. Russell Roe. The president, Mrs. Richard Olin, will conduct the business meeting, turning the program over to the chairman, Mrs. Earl Reh. With the general subject of the program as "Talent", Mrs. George A. Smith will show some of her collection of Kodachrome slides, while Mrs. E. J. Cutler of Circle One will read several of her original poems. Leah Raye Crane, daughter of Mrs. Leo Crane, Circle One member, will give a Dutch dance.

The Circle will hold a silver tea, under the direction of Mrs. Harold Curtis, chairman. Other members will bring gifts, including handwork, fancy baked goods, baby sitting offers, promises of party food to be delivered upon demand, and antiques which will be offered for sale. These will be on display from 1 to 2 p.m., and again after the program. They will be arranged by Mrs. Gregory Clemmons.

Mrs. Wiltse announces that any Circle One member who has not been contacted should call her or the group chairman.

Drink Milk to Prevent Breacking Your Arms

Middle-aged and elderly people should have at least a pint of milk in their daily diets for good health and to fortify their bones against breakage. Many older people believe that they don't need milk or that their body doesn't use it. This is not true reports Miss Emma DuBord, Wayne County Home Demonstration Agent. Studies made recently in Iowa show that a lack of calcium in the diet leads to broken bones in old age.

To get enough calcium, protein and phosphorus older persons need at least a pint of milk each day. It has been suggested that many a broken bone in an older person caused the person to fall rather than the fall causing the broken bone. Lack of minerals in bones causes them to become weak so that they break easily.

If you would like to make sure of the amount of calcium in your daily diet, write to the Wayne County Extension Office, 3914 Monroe Street, Wayne, Michigan, for their score card, "What is your calcium count?" A recipe leaflet, "Milk in Modern Meals" also may be obtained from the Home Economics Extension Service.

Home Canned Fruits Lose Much Goodness If Stored Too Long

Now is the time to check your storehouse of home canned fruits and use them to perk up your menus. They'll taste good right now but they'll lose a lot of their goodness if stored too long.

Besides serving the fruit plain and simply in its own juice, Lois Jackson of the foods and nutrition department at Michigan State college, suggests that you use them a variety of ways.

Fruit salads are always a tempting treat. It's so easy to use a crisp lettuce leaf, a slice of your favorite fruit, and a dot of cream cheese for a salad. Lime pear salad is especially attractive. Put some of your home canned pear halves in a square pan and pour a prepared solution of lime flavored gelatin over them. Chill and cut into squares to make the prettiest salad that ever rested on a lettuce leaf! Garnish with cream cheese and nuts.

Here is another salad suggestion. Place several kinds of diced fruit in a refrigerator tray and cover with juice. Slip the tray back into the freezing compartment. When the fruit is frozen, slice it into squares and serve it on lettuce. Garnish with mayonnaise that has been thinned with some of the fruit juice.

You will find several uses for the juices of your canned fruits if you save them in the refrigerator. You can thin your dressings with them, or you can use them to add flavor and juice to the fruit cup.

Bring your fruit jars out of the storehouse and use them as often as possible in as many ways as you can find.

Postmaster Harry Irwin and his staff are patiently waiting for the arrival of the new 1948 duck stamps, which are said to be one of the most attractive issued by the postal department since the inauguration of the use of the stamp.

Buffle-head ducks will grace the 1948 Migratory Bird Hunting Stamp, according to a recent announcement of the Department of the Interior, the Wildlife Management Institute reports. The new stamp, designed by Maynard Reece, staff artist of the Iowa State Department of History and Archives, Des Moines, and now in the hands of the engravers, shows two male and one female buffle-heads in flight.

The new stamp, which sells for $1, is the 15th in the series issued annually to provide funds to help finance the Federal Government's wildlife refuge program. Ninety per cent of the funds realized from the sale of the stamps is used by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service to supplement other funds for the purchase and maintenance of waterfowl refuges throughout the country. The remaining 10 per cent is used for printing and distribution of the stamps, enforcement of the Migratory Bird Hunting Stamp Act, and other federal activities for migratory bird conservation.

During the 1946-47 season, 2,016,819 duck stamps were sold, the highest total of any year since the first stamp was issued in 1933. All migratory waterfowl hunters over 16 years of age are required to purchase and have in possession while engaged in hunting a stamp bearing their signature. The 1948 stamp will be available to hunters and philatelists at all first and second class post offices on July 1.

The recent belated "January thaw" brought relief to thousands of ducks wintering on lower Detroit river by creating more open water and taking the ice cover off the birds' feeding ground, but not before several thousand of them died of exposure, hunger and pollution.

The great majority of the ducks killed in the 35 day spell of below freezing weather were canvasbacks, conservation department investigators reported. Livetrapped Canvasbacks were 86 per cent of normal weight, dead ones 50 per cent of normal weight, indicating lack of food. Thirty-five per cent of the dead ducks recovered were found to have oil on them. When only a small part of the river was free of ice, birds were concentrated on waters having oil slicks, and after contact with the oil, many died of exposure.

At the phosphorous deposit discovered near Trenton, 231 black ducks and mallards were picked up just before thawing weather set in, the investigators said.

Fishermen in the Great Lakes area who may scratch their heads over the identity of fish they catch need worry no longer—provided they have a new book by two fish experts.

The book is "Fishes of the Great Lakes Region." It permits for the first time identity of all the 233 kinds of fish in the Great Lakes and in the more than 15,000 lakes, streams and rivers in the Great Lakes drainage basin.

The book tells the habits of each fish family, how to collect and preserve fish, and has brief notes on angling methods for game fish.

Valuable to ichthyologists as well as sportsmen, the book was written by Karl F. Lagler, associate professor of zoology at the University of Michigan, and Carl L. Hubbs, of the University of California's Institute of Oceanography. Hubbs was curator of fishes in the University of Michigan Museum of Zoology from 1920 to 1944.

Another "first" for the book is that it is the only publication which lists the limits of ranges of certain fish. That is, the book tells in what general regions the fish are known to live and move about. This is significant because so little is known of the private life of fish, Prof. Lagler said.

The book lists a number of rare fish which might, by accident, be caught. One is the paddle fish which runs to six feet and about 150 pounds in size. Somewhat shark-like, the fish has a nose prolonged into a paddle-like affair.

A rare fish some fishermen might hook in an inland lake is the American eel. Not to be confused with the sea lamprey which has a sucking-disk mouth, the eel has a true fish-like mouth. The eel was introduced into Michigan waters between 1877 and 1891. So any that are taken are apt to be 60 or more years old because the eels are "land locked" and never have been able to get back to the sea to spawn.

The Great Lakes drainage basin extends roughly from the western slopes of the Adirondack Mount-

Day. Annual sampling of the age composition and abundance of the chief races of herring exploited by the fishery has enabled the Service to set catch quotas in each district which prevent depletion of the spawning stocks and stabilize the annual yield.

In New England states the Service has been aiding the oyster industry by issuing bulletins describing the conditions of the oyster bottoms, the presence of such oyster enemies as starfish and drills, and by predicting the time of spawning and setting of oysters.

Research on the North Atlantic fishing banks has demonstrated that abundance of the haddock has declined severely during the past three years due in part to the relative failure of the 1941, 1942, and 1943 year classes. The Service has recommended to the Atlantic States Marine Fishery Commission a course for restoration of haddock stocks by restricting the mesh of fishing gear to sizes that will protect the young, immature fish.

Service technologists carried on studies involving the chemical problem of handling fish. These included tests to determine differences in methods for sorting, brining, smoking, and processing Maine sardines, a detailed study of the chemical structure of fish oils to determine factors responsible for changes in composition; studies of packaging to learn what materials retain good appearance, texture, and flavor in frozen fishery products; and investigations of ways to promote the stability of vitamin A.

To assist the Gulf of Mexico fisheries for the valuable red snapper and grouper to expand into new, deep-water fishing areas, a fishery engineer of the Service designed several items of gear, including new kinds of traps, and a new type of rod and power gurdy. On the Pacific coast engineering studies were made in connection with an 8,500-ton factory ship designed for canning and freezing fish and shellfish at sea. The output from Federal fish hatcheries during calendar year 1946 totaled 4,661,303,260 eggs, fry, and fingerling or larger fish-

Easy on the eyes — and ears

Standing still, it has the eager look of a pointer scenting game, so swift and flowing are its lines.

Sweeping by, it stands out unflinchingly from the highway crowd, unmistakably a Buick and unquestionably the year's trimmest fashion plate.

But have you traveled in one of these tidy new beauties?

Have you seen for yourself how smooth and silent is its flow of power, how hushed and quiet is its ride?

This comes from many things. From Fireball power now Hi-Poised for throbless smoothness. From a Vibra-Shielded ride that is your ever-present protection against road-noise, body-drum and vibration build-up.

And it comes, in addition, from a brand-new development we call Sound-Sorber top lining.

It's a thick pad of feathery insulation much like that you use in your own home, and it goes into every closed model in our 1948 SUPER and ROADMASTER series.

This new lining cloaks your Buick in new and delightful silence akin to that of your own living room — silence that encourages normal-tone conversation, makes soft radio music clear and enjoyable throughout the whole car.

So you ride in quiet as well as beauty when you travel in this style star.

You find it a great-hearted lovely that is soft of voice and gentle of manner—a delight to the traveling ear, the guiding hand and the passing eye.

Don't just see it at your Buick dealer's — look into it with greatest care. The deeper you look the surer you'll be to see the wisdom of getting a firm order in now!

Burroughs Note Rise In Earnings

Operations of the Burroughs Adding Machine company, including its Plymouth plant, and its subsidiaries during 1947 resulted in a total income of $69,326,121, an increase of 49 per cent over 1946 and 66 per cent over 1941, the last pre-war year. John S. Coleman, president of the company, announced today.

Net earnings for 1947 were $6,763,486 or 10 per cent of sales, as compared with $1,992,149 or 4 per cent of sales in 1946 and $5,332,267 or 13 per cent of sales in 1941. Earnings in 1947 were equivalent to $1.36 per share of capital stock, as compared with 40 cents per share in 1946 and $1.06 per share in 1941.

As a result of expansion and improvement of manufacturing facilities completed during the year, unit production was 45 per cent over 1946 and 19 per cent over 1941.

The demand for Burroughs products and services, Mr. Coleman said, continued to increase in 1947. Indicative of the worldwide character of this demand was the fact that the dollar volume of export business was 23 per cent over 1930, the best previous year.

Progress was made in reducing some of the company's backlogs of orders and current production has been achieved on others.

Employment in the Burroughs organization at the end of the year was 14,478, 3,564 over 1946 and 3,933 over 1941.

Rock Marks Site of 1807 Treaty

A rock in Lake Huron marks the northern boundary of a treaty by which a large portion of Michigan was obtained from the Indians.

Called the White Rock, it is approximately 100 yards from shore at a spot about nine miles south of Harbor Beach on M-29. On shore, a boulder with a bronze tablet marks the spot opposite which the White Rock is located. Swimmers may wade out to the rock as it now is in but a few feet of water.

The rock was chosen as a marker in a treaty made in Detroit, November 17, 1807, because it was known to most of the thousands of Indians in the region at the time as a tribal meeting place, according to information at the Michigan Historical Collections of the University of Michigan.

It is theorized that the White Rock was made a meeting place by the Wyandotte, Ottawa, Chippewa, and Potawatami Indians because it could be reached easily by canoe along the Lake Huron shore and was at the end of a trail across the Thumb.

The treaty was brought about at the suggestion of President Thomas Jefferson, the historical data at the University shows. Wishing Michigan to become populated and desirous of paving the way for lawful settlement, President Jefferson commissioned Gen. William Hull, then governor of the Michigan Territory, to arrange the treaty. Federal laws ruled that white persons could neither purchase nor settle land owned by Indians.

The treaty was the first of four major treaties with the Indians through which the federal government obtained all of the Lower Peninsula, thus opening wide the legal doors to settlement.

By the treaty, the U. S. acquired the Indian title to that portion of the state which lies east of a line drawn from Defiance, Ohio, due north to a point opposite the outlet of Lake Huron and then north-easterly to White Rock.

The territory embraced by the treaty includes the counties of Monroe, Lenawee, Wayne, Washtenaw, Macomb, Oakland, Livingston, St. Clair, Lapeer and Gen-see, and a portion of Jackson, Ingham, Shiawassee, Tuscola and Sanilac.

Detroit and a limited area about it was not included in the treaty as it already was owned by the U. S. Michigan Historical Collections data indicates. By an earlier agreement between the federal government and the Indians, any land occupied by a fort previously owned by the French or British and then in the possession of the U. S. government was considered U. S. territory.

Nutrition Aids

from the American Red Cross Nutrition Service

The less money there is to spend for food the more important part milk plays in making up an adequate diet. It gives greater return for the money than almost any other food.

The health of the family is likely to suffer if the children get less than one quart and adults less than one pint of fresh whole milk or its equivalent each day.

The Nutrition Service of the American Red Cross suggests these two good ways of helping to meet the daily milk quota.

Curried Rice and Kidney Beans With Cheese Sauce

One cup rice, 1/4 cup onion, finely grated, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 2 teaspoons curry powder, 1 No. 2 can red kidney beans.

Pick over rice and boil until tender in salted water. (2 quart boiling water and 1 1/2 tablespoon salt) Drain. Cook onion slowly in fat about 5 minutes. Add curry powder, beans (which have been drained) and rice; and cook until hot. Press into molds. Turn out on hot dishes and serve with cheese sauce. Serves 8.

Cheese Sauce

One - half pound American cheese and 1 cup irradiated evaporated milk.

Cut cheese into small pieces and melt in the milk over boiling water.

Creamy Rice Pudding

Three tablespoon rice, 4 tablespoon brown or white sugar, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 quart milk.

Pick over rice. Put all ingredients in deep baking dish. Bake in slow oven 300 degrees F., stirring often for about 2 hours. Do not allow milk to boil or to form brown coating over top until rice is soft and mixture is thickened. Serves 4.

Babson Warns Labor

Babson Park, Fla., March 5. A hotel of ten stories usually requires that seven stories be filled with guests before the hotel makes a profit.

Break-Even Points

Until World War II, most manufacturers had a fairly low "break-even point", as the above illustration is called.

Although many concerns have reduced their bond interest, etc., yet their actual fixed charges in the form of taxes and labor costs have actually increased.

What About Employment? This means that before the war employers could stand a considerable reduction in gross business before it was necessary to discharge people.

Today the situation is very different. Not only is there a much smaller and narrower operating margin cushion than there was in previous booms, but the labor and other costs are much higher.

Business Outlook

Most things now indicate a continued good business at least through 1948. Most concerns have backlogs of orders which, if they are not cancelled, should carry the concerns profitably for a couple of years.

Many readers know that the large utility companies are now operating at about full capacity and cannot supply any more power until their new generators are delivered, two or more years hence.

Labor-Saving Machinery Many readers know that the large utility companies are now operating at about full capacity and cannot supply any more power until their new generators are delivered, two or more years hence.

To this they replied: "In order to offset the attitude of labor leaders, the large manufacturers have now orders in for labor-saving devices which will not be delivered for a year or two.

Warnings to Labor Union Members The above means that the employment situation may be very bad when the next bust comes unless labor union leaders now turn over a new leaf.
