

WHAT OTHER CITIES ARE DOING.

Sometime ago we called attention to the fact that the city of Owosso had worked out a plan to create proper parking facilities within the business area by the use of parking meter funds.

Our neighboring city of Ann Arbor, which really pioneered in the use of parking meter revenue to finance bonds for construction of municipal parking facilities, reports a far greater success than had at first been anticipated from this progressive municipal venture.

From its 634 parking meters in use, Ann Arbor during the fiscal year which ended June 30, collected $38,823. All of this money goes into the payment of bonds which were issued by the city to finance the creation of three new downtown parking areas and the expansion of another municipal parking lot.

Now Ann Arbor proposes to build a 250 parking garage in the downtown area, payment being made entirely out of the funds collected from parking meters.

Probably no small city in Michigan is in greater need of additional parking space than is the city of Plymouth. For nearly a score of years we have talked about more parking area in the downtown area, but no definite step has been taken to really solve the entire parking problem.

It would seem that we could profit well from the experiences of two nearby cities like Ann Arbor and Owosso, and work out a plan that would fit the needs of our own city.

We now dump into the general fund the entire income from our parking meters, setting aside nothing out of this money for parking area expansion. We believe that it would be well for proper city officials to begin now to set up a financial program to meet the costs of additional parking facilities with the use of funds that our citizens now pay for the limited parking privileges that the city offers.

CLEAN HOUSE—AND FUMIGATE IT, TOO.

There seems to be no end to the disloyalty, the dishonesty and the near treasonable conduct of hordes of people who came into our government in Washington on the wings of the New Deal. Rarely a week goes by but what some alien-thinking rat is uncovered in some high government position.

CONVENTION OF POLITICAL DEGENERATES.

Westbrook Pegler, one of the most widely read and most fearless newspaper commentators in the United States, used these words the other day to tell who were the delegates at the Wallace convention in Philadelphia—a "meeting—of the traitors, tatterdemalions, political degenerates and imbeciles and the leaven of gullible innocents who have adopted Henry Wallace as a composite fool and mahatma for the campaign of 1948.

"To the Communists, he is a fool. To the few earnest fools in his following, he is a guru."

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT.

Now that coal prices are almost double what they were before the New Dealers ruined the country's economy, it is about time that we give some thought to a permanent solution of the coal striking business.

It is quite apparent that as long as the country tolerates the present strike situation there is no permanent solution to the coal production problem.

It is agreed that coal mining is hard work. It is somewhat risky work in some mines, but mining hazards have to a very great extent been eliminated, so this is not such an important factor as it was at one time.

This nation has in federal and state prisons many hundreds of prisoners, who are being fed and clothed by the same taxpayers who are forced to pay double for the fuel they use to heat their homes.

We have never been much in favor of contract-convict labor, but as long as we have made it mandatory by statute for so-called free labor to pay tribute to a vested few for the right to work, we can't see so much wrong in the federal government and the states in farming out convict labor to dig coal. It is something worth thinking about—and possibly doing something about.

WATCH YOUR Ps & Qs.

Maybe not this year—but maybe next year—general opinion seems to indicate that the constant demands for higher wages and higher prices is going to result in just one thing—a business slump.

It may not take place, but those in a position to know seem to feel that the merry-go-round we have been riding for the past two or three years, is some day in the not too distant future going to stop with a bang.

A nationally read business and political publication in a recent issue indicated that there already is trouble in some lines.

The amusement industry is looking downhill. Box-office receipts are in a downtrend. Night clubs are hard hit, too. Entertainers' salaries are being cut.

Resort business this summer is not up to expectations. Vacationers are not throwing dollars around quite as freely as expected.

Expensive hotels and restaurants in big cities could use more customers.

Air-line passenger traffic is falling off. Many lines are losing money.

Beauty shops and cleaners are finding many customers are taking care of their needs at home. Commercial laundries, too, feel this trend.

All these are, in a sense, luxury industries. They are the first to feel any ebb in public spending. But their troubles breed caution in other lines.

Purchasing agents for consumer goods are being told to take it easy, to insist on short-term deliveries.

Department stores are watching their stocks closely. Over-all sales are still high. But certain lines, such as expensive shoes, hosiery, clothing and perfumes, radios and vacuum cleaners, are "sticky."

Automobiles are still in great demand. But now you can get delivery on several of the higher and medium-priced cars within a reasonable time.

Housing still is very tight. But older houses and higher-priced houses are not moving as fast as they once did.

Even groceries and butcher shops show the trend. Butter and better cuts of meat are not plentiful, but are plentiful enough to meet demand at high prices.

What it all amounts to is this: People are trading down. They are buying fewer things and cheaper qualities whenever they can. Spending is at record levels, but price tags are daily becoming more important.

In view of these facts, and in view of what common sense must tell us all about the merry-go-round ride we have been taking since the war ended, it would be well for each and every one of us to watch our Ps & Qs—and prepare well for the reckoning that surely lies ahead.

Tells Danger of War With Stalin Dictatorship

If this country makes a mistake now in its dealings with Russia, it might not have a chance to make another mistake, declared David A. Nichol, former Plymouth youth, in a special news article from Berlin that was printed in many American newspapers last Sunday.

He declared that now is the time to drive a hard bargain with Russia. If this country does not do it, Russia will, he stated.

Mr. Nichol, son of Mrs. Walter Nichol of Church street, and a graduate of the Plymouth high school, was in Berlin when Hitler was dragging the world into war. After all Americans were driven out by Hitler, he went to Moscow to serve as an American news correspondent. When the war ended, the Chicago News sent him back to Berlin and placed him in charge of its news bureau in that city, where he is now located.

His article, which had such wide circulation throughout this country a few days ago, follows in full:

"We mustn't delude ourselves. We are running the definite risk of war, but if the Soviets are determined on war this is the place to find out. If they are not, there is no reason we can't reach a solution. If they are undecided, this could turn them for peace.

People familiar with Europe in 1938 say the atmosphere then was almost identical with that

Coach Expresses Pessimism over Football Season

Pessimism as to what the coming football season holds for the Plymouth High school squad was expressed by Coach Eddie Bender this week.

"First of all," Coach Bender related, "27 members of last year's team graduated in June." A majority of those remaining are inexperienced, he continued. A sudden blow was also struck at the lineup when Pat Kearney, a potential first string guard, enlisted in the Marines.

He expects that the bulk of next season's strength will be provided by Bill Farwell at center, Keith Ebersole at half back, Jerry Harder, quarterback, Bob Gow full back, and Jack Elliott at end.

The varsity squad will begin practice Monday, August 30, at 9 a. m., Coach Eddie Bender informs. As many as 85 may turn out, he believes, but this number falls short of last year's 100.

Assistant football coaching duties will be performed this fall by Jack Sandmann, a recent graduate from the University of Michigan with a degree in physical education.

Freshman football will be coached by John Kleinberger, head basketball coach. The date of freshman practice will be announced at a later date, Bender reports.

Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Return from Hospital

Both Postmaster and Mrs. Harry Irwin, who were recently hospitalized at separate times, have both returned home.

Last Sunday Mr. Irwin left the hospital, and Mrs. Irwin was to have been released last evening. The latter has been described as "doing nicely", although she will be confined to bed for another month at least.

Mr. Irwin is said to be "doing very well", and reports have it that he hopes to return to his duties in the post office sometime during the month of August. Monday he visited at the office, but stayed only a few minutes.

Beals Post Elects New Commander

Andrew E. McDonald was recently elected commander of the American Legion, Myron H. Beals post No. 32, according to Russell M. Daane, retiring commander.

Members further elected Harold Jacobs as senior vice-commander; Carl Sonderegger as junior vice-commander; Robert McAllister, finance officer; Fred Patton, adjutant; John Moyer, historian; Irving Greer, sergeant at arms and Don C. Ryder, service officer.

The date of the installation service has not yet been set, although it will be sometime after September 1.

Road Maps Available Now at Mail Office

A new group of 1948 Michigan highway maps are available at The Plymouth Mail office, and may be had by simply stopping in and requesting one.

Jake Stremich Is Reported Improving

Doctors at Beyer Memorial hospital reported the condition of Jacob Stremich, who is a patient there, as favorable, Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Stremich, the well known proprietor of Hillside Inn, has been ailing for some time and was taken to the hospital a week ago Wednesday, seriously ill.

His condition has been critical but doctors report that at this time he is resting comfortably and making progress toward recovery.

New Ordinance Enforces Control of Weeds in City

An ordinance regulating the growth of noxious weeds within the city was given its first two readings at the city commission meeting Monday evening.

Weeds regarded as a nuisance must be destroyed by property owners before July 1 and September 1 of each year, according to the new law. In any case where the owner either refuses or neglects to do so, city employees will be charged to perform the job, and the expenses incurred will be charged against the lot or premises.

The ordinance, which will go into effect August 23 when commissioners gave it the third reading, also makes it possible to fine a person, not in excess of $25, for refusing to clean up his yard or lot.

A few of the weeds which were cited as "nuisances" were: Canada thistle, mustard, wild carrot, quack grass, poison ivy, poison sumac, ragweed and sweet clover.

Residents Recall Dewey's Youth

"Mark my word," someday he'll be president of the United States," Mrs. Florence Barton of Plymouth remembers her father, Dr. W. E. Ward of Owosso, saying when Thomas Dewey first started his political career in New York.

When it was learned last week that both Mrs. Barton and Kenneth Corey were natives of Owosso, and had known the Republicans' presidential nominee, they were naturally questioned on his early youth. It was at that time that Mrs. Barton remembered her father's prophecy.

Mr. Corey, owner of Perfection Laundry, tells that he and Dewey were born within a block of each other. They belonged to the same Boy Scout troop, which he related was the first to be organized in town, and the two were also in

When the school bell tolls out its beckoning message in September, somewhere in the neighborhood of 120 grade school students will tuck their books under their arms and wend their way to the First Baptist church.

Four of the school's classrooms will be located here, first through third grades inclusive, with two sections of one grade.

Russ—Plymouth agent. Members obscured by Sam Mullins' white cap are Mrs. Belle B. Butler and G. Louis Balch.

All aboard! With that call the entire membership of Plymouth's Sportsman Republican club surges into their club house on wheels for the first meeting of the day.

The meeting starts at the Plymouth depot with the arrival of the C and O Sportsman, and is recessed at Detroit's Union station until the Pere Marquette streamliner leaves on its evening run.

A little questioning as to the hows and wherefores of the club, which marks the first commuter organization in this section, disclosed that it is composed chiefly of Plymouth residents who daily make a trip to and from Detroit. They depart about 7:30 a. m. and return close to 6:45 p. m.

The membership roster isn't by any means composed exclusively of commuters, however, for it extends to the entire train crew of Sportsman, Detroit Union depot men who have anything to do with the trains, Plymouth depot personnel, a number of railroad division officials, and most of the hostesses who make the run from Richmond, Virginia to Detroit.

One of these days, the group expects to enroll C and O president, Robert J. Bowman.

Many in the club have ridden the train for years, Sidney Strong, one of the chief organizers, explains. No one seems to be quite sure where the sudden idea for organization came from, but it certainly took the group by storm. They have elected officers, designed a souvenir membership card, and have expanded their membership roster to some 60.

The original organizing was directed by Mr. Strong and Harry Benjamin, a broker. George Hennessy, conductor of the Sportsman, now heads the club as president. He performed the formal initiation by punching each "pass" with his own insignia. The office of secretary is carried out by W. J. Monteith, a dispatcher.

Library History Unfolds at Rotary

Funds for the establishment of the Plymouth branch of the Wayne County branch library were earned in part through a baseball game between the businessmen of Plymouth and Northville. Walter Kaiser, county librarian, recounted to Rotarians last Friday noon.

He had with him a hand bill which listed the line-up for the day. Outstanding about the listing was the fact that several of the Rotary members had represented the local team for that benefit game on that July 24 day.

The year of the tilt was omitted, but Mr. Kaiser believed it was 1923, the same year the library was established.

Mr. Kaiser, replacing Charles Brake who was originally slated to be the day's guest speaker, divided his talk into two parts. The first dealt with the Plymouth branch of the county library system, and the concluding portion was devoted to a description of the county library in general.

High words of praise were paid to Mrs. Ada Murray, Plymouth librarian, by Mr. Kaiser, and he disclosed that she has been on the job for 19 years without missing a day. He also spoke words of tribute to Mrs. Besse Dunning and Miss Margaret Dunning, who donated the local library building.

When he switched his subject to the Wayne County system, Mr. Kaiser announced that the county library is the second largest in the state, surpassed

Golfers Tee Off Tomorrow For City Tourney

At 8 a. m. tomorrow morning, Saturday, approximately 100 amateur golfers from Plymouth and the surrounding area will tee off in an attempt to place as one of the 80 qualifiers who will battle it out during the next three weekends for the many prizes and trophies that will be awarded the winners.

Seeking to defend his crown as Plymouth's amateur champion, will be George Todd who defeated Tom Lock in the finals of last year's tournament. Lock won the title in 1946 when the first city tourney was held, and is a promising contender in this year's contest.

Winners of the other divisions last year who will seek to do as well or better this year, are Jack Palmer, first flight winner; Jerry Engle, second flight champion; and Frank Davison who won third flight honors.

Starting times of the players who had entered before last Wednesday are as follows: 8 a. m. B. L. Bolin, William Morgan, Robert Oakley; 8:07 a. m. Clifford Swarbrick, Rocky Smith, George Todd; 8:14 a. m. Elwood Russell, Robert Morgan, Al Krizman; 8:21 a. m., L. B. Rice.

State Policeman Talks on Safety

Corporal Charles Holton of the Redford State Police post's safety and traffic bureau appeared before Plymouth Kiwanians Tuesday evening.

Today's traffic problem, according to the speaker, is as good or as bad as the drivers on the road want it to be.

The State Police are sponsoring a traffic safety program known as Operation—Safety, which is being carried out on both a state and nationwide basis.

Described as an effective method of cutting down on the number of accidents, is the suspension of drivers licenses. Approximately 9500 are revoked each year in the state, Cpl. Holton revealed. Of this number, only six of 100 drivers have them suspended a second time, and in the same group there are 76 percent less accidents, and 66 percent less traffic violations.

An answer to the question of why so few State Police patrol cars are seen on the road was supplied when Cpl. Holton told that the police cars travel four million miles each year, in contrast to the 48 million miles which the motorists chalk up each day.

The evening's program was arranged by the public relations committee.

Officials to Confer on Rail Problems

Mayor Frank Henderson and City Manager Harold Cheek will meet with Pere Marquette railroad officials shortly, to discuss a series of complaints which have been received from Plymouth residents.

A majority of the complaints have dealt with the trains holding crossings in the city for an excessive amount of time. According to the state law, no train is to hold a crossing more than five minutes. Recent incidents, however, indicate that the time has been ranging anywhere from five to twenty minutes. Other residents report excessive smoke and noise within the city.

Sam Mullins, fireman on step, and Charles Sterner, engineer, wait for members of the commuters club to climb aboard.

Help Wanted!

How long has it been since you dug through the attic for old tin-types and pictures? Ever stopped to recall those tall tales Grandpa used to spin about Plymouth folk?

Starting late this summer the Mail will run a series of articles and pictures of Plymouth's history, and we're asking the cooperation of each one of you to help make it a real success. We started our project by interviewing some of the older residents, but we received so many suggestions on stories that it would be impossible to see as many people as we'd like to. Now we're asking you to help. To show you what kind we want, here's one we heard about the Plymouth theatrical group: Way back in the Nineties, Miss Kate Penniman and Chant Baker played the leads in a light opera. Now it

Moving Building Damages Trees

Sudden alarm swept down Arthur street last Monday as the residents watched workmen attempt to move a building from the new Catholic school site, damaging trees on their property en route.

The incident was immediately reported to city officials who halted the work. Further damages were alleviated when a new route out of the city was decided on.

The building, which was the old barn on the Kate Allen property, was reported as too wide to move down this street without causing damage. City officials have assured that the incident will never be repeated, and that steps will be taken to protect the community from a similar recurrence in the future.

The extent of the damages has not as yet been ascertained. When the amount is arrived at, however, the city will request damages from the company which undertook the moving.

Mrs. Ina Radford of Ann Arbor was the guest of the Rev. and Mrs. Alex Miller for last week-end.

Officials Reject Bids on Harding

Two bids received by the city for construction of the curb and gutter on Harding street were rejected by commissioners at their Monday night meeting.

Rejection was believed necessary since costs were felt to be too excessive.

A course of action suggested, in view of prohibitive present day costs of construction of this nature, was that the work be done by the city.

New Machine Installed at Bank

Operating the new Recordak at the Plymouth United Savings Bank are Helen Meyers, seated, and Betty Brown, standing.

Although it's nothing new at Plymouth's United Savings Bank, the new Recordak which was recently installed has been the focus of interest and comment in past weeks by those who have seen it at work.

What it does is daily photograph all the bank's checks for a permanent record, giving both the bank and the depositors added insurance.

Ray Williams, vice-president, explains that the process used is the same as that which made V-Mail possible during the war.

It is not a new idea, he pointed out, for the bank has had a machine operating on a similar principle for a number of years. The new machine, however, is more automatic, faster, and produces better pictures.

It gives untold protection to the depositor, Mr. Williams emphasized, for should a check be lost, the bank will produce a photostat which in most cases would serve instead of the original.

The photographing process consists merely of putting the checks through a slot, the machine taking them as fast as the operator can make the insertion. The Recordak automatically turns the checks over, a step that previously had to be done by hand, so that the back side can also be photographed. The photographs are made on 16 millimeter movie film, similar to that used in amateur movie cameras. A single roll of film, or 100 feet, will take photographs of 7500 checks. After developing, the reels are filed by dates and numbers, and stored away for future reference.

Another purpose which the machine has been fulfilling, Mr. Williams added, is the photographing of documents for residents of the city. Anyone who would like to see the machine in operation is invited by Mr. Williams to simply ask.

Community Symphony Orchestra Band Program Receives Praise

James P. Gallogly, well known Pittsburgh light opera singer, expressed a most favorable impression of the Plymouth Band concert which he attended Friday evening.

"He was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Raaflaub, to whom he expressed his opinion on the city's musical program.

"Such fine community spirit is displayed here. It is a wonderful thing for the young people to be able to play for their families and friends in this lovely park", he stated.

Mr. Gallogly is one of the founders of the Friends of Harvey Gaul Memorial in Pittsburgh, and was a close friend of the late composer, organist and director.

"This is the sort of thing Harvey would be doing", he stated with reference to the musical leadership and inspiration afforded Plymouth by Paul Wagner. Dr. Gaul was always interested and active in making it possible that people, and especially children, could have a creative part in music, and he achieved this goal through choral groups, musical festivals, summer "pop concerts", junior civic string orchestras, civic light opera, and Savoyard groups throughout the Pittsburgh area," Mr. Gallogly told them.

"Mr. Wagner seems to have the same idea, and is achieving that goal through these splendid summer band concerts and the Plymouth Symphony orchestra. I am very interested in your community having a real symphony orchestra, and hope that my next trip to Detroit will bring me at the same time you have a concert."

Milford Fair Will Open Next Tuesday

The Milford Fair association will open its 64th annual fair on the original Oakland county fair grounds at Milford next Tuesday evening, August 10, at 6 p. m., and continue until the 14th with the largest display of livestock, agricultural, farm implements, automobiles, and trucks since the war.

The midway will include eight major and three kiddie rides, along with shows and concessions.

The Auto Maniacs Thrill show is scheduled for Tuesday evening and the Cherokee Hammon rodeo slated for the Wednesday matinee and evening, Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings.

Summer Poultry Tips Enumerated

Management of a flock of laying hens in the summer is far different than in winter according to J. M. Moore, Michigan State college extension poultryman.

Getting the birds to eat as much mash as possible is one of the summer management problems, and Moore believes in cutting down on the scratch feed will bring this about. Feeding crumbly, wet mash in the middle of the day will also stimulate eating by the yearling hens. Only enough should be fed that the birds will clean it up in about fifteen minutes as wet mash left from day to day will cause digestive trouble and attract flies. Moore reports. Hens often have a tendency to get too fat and lazy if given too much grain in the summer.

Moore also reminds that plenty of fresh water and some shade is important for high summer egg production. "Remember that the egg is 64 percent water and there is no quicker way to cut down production than to let the birds run out of water", Moore emphasized.

Plenty of ventilation in the laying house and around the perches where the birds roost at night is paramount in summer management.

The extension poultryman points out that a hen which is not laying will eat enough feed in three months to raise a day old chick up to a producing pullet at six months of age. For that reason he recommends careful culling by selling off moulting birds and those which you are sure are not producing. Hen prices are normally better in July and August than in September or October, Moore reports.

THEY'LL FERRY OLYMPIAD'S "V. I. P." . . . During the Olympiad in London, V. I. P. (very important persons) will be flattered hither and yon in cars driven by these uniformed girls. ## News In The World of Religion

By W. W. Reid

Hilfswerk, the German Protestant church agency through which much American relief to Germany is channeled, reports that its supplementary feeding program, providing one good meal per day for a student, is keeping some 40,000 youngsters in schools this summer. Without this they could not have continued their classes.

"Seeds-for-Peace" was a recent Protestant church project carried on across the United States under the guidance of Church World Service. Already many thousands of dollars worth of seeds have been sent by the sponsors of the movement to Europe where they are being used in a rehabilitation program headed by the churches. The seeds were selected by a special national committee in the United States, the selection based upon soil conditions and climates of the various countries. Each family aided was given a family-size packet of about 15 varieties of seeds.

One hundred forty-eight church bodies in 42 countries will meet in Amsterdam, Holland, August 22 to September 4, for the first assembly and the formation of the World Council of Churches. The United States will be represented by 327 lay and ministerial delegates and consultants, representing 28 American churches. It is pointed out that this is not to be a "super-church" but a "co-operative machinery by which it is hoped that the total Christian faith and conviction can be set forward in the world, with the different churches working according to their own patterns and in harmony with their own theological convictions." While it is a body composed of Protestant and Orthodox church groups, the delegates are happy that the Vatican has appointed official observers to represent the Roman Catholic church and its worldwide constituency.

Dr. Deane Edwards, of New York City, has been elected to the presidency of the Hymn Society of America, succeeding Dr. T. Tertius Noble of Rockport, Massachusetts. The vice-presidents are Dr. Luther D. Reed of Philadelphia, Dr. Carlyle Adams of Albany, New York, and Professor Ray F. Brown of General Theological Seminary, New York. Miss Edith Holden, of Greenwich, Connecticut, is treasurer; Dr. Walter N. Hewitt, of Maplewood, New Jersey, secretary; and Dr. Reginald L. McAll, New York City, executive secretary. The Society is this year promoting the observance of the bi-centennial of the death of Isaac Watts, writer of hymns; and is seeking new hymn poems on various Christian themes.

While machinery is being gotten under way to raise $10,000,000 in the United States for the proposed new Christian university in Japan, Japanese Christians and their families have already raised more than one million yen ($300,000) toward the same goal, according to Dr. Carl D. Kriete, prominent missionary-educator recently returned from Japan where he was for many years president of Miyagi college. "This gift by the Christians in Japan," said Dr. Kriete, "may represent more sacrifice than the attaining of the American goal." He says the Japanese, out of their poverty, are talking of raising 150,000,000 yen. He urges American givers to look at the proposed Christian university "as not a request for charity, but as a genuine co-operative effort for an international, inter-racial educational institution at the highest level."

The people of Africa have finally found a suitable native name for Dr. Frank C. Laubach, of the Foreign Missions Conference of North America, recently returned from a half year in their midst, planning and devising charts and methods of teaching them to become literate in their own numerous tongues. They have named him "Okombekomb", which means "mender of baskets." The basket is a valuable article in an African home, and one who can mend them is a valuable member of society. The illiterates consider themselves "old" worn-out baskets, good for nothing. "But along came the great white teacher from across the seas to open our blind eyes and make us useful members of our community." "Okombekomb" is a skilled and appreciated person.

Korean Christians are highly elated by the results of the national elections which sent many Christians into the legislature, says the Rev. Charles K. Sauer, of Delaware, Ohio, Methodist missionary in Seoul. He reports that of the 200 newly-elected members of the legislature, some 50 are Christians; and that in the capital city of Seoul, seven of the ten districts elected Christians. "Mission leaders have never claimed more than five percent of the Korean people as Christians," says Mr. Sauer. "During the past three years, the people of South Korea have had opportunity to judge two nations, one with a Christian background, the other denying the existence of a God. It would seem they are increasingly leaning toward Christian leadership."

In Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, Herman Piner awoke from a dream that his restaurant was being robbed. It was.

Walters-Carlson Rites Officiated

Miss Leona Walters was united in marriage to Roy Carlson at a service in the Martha Mary chapel at Willow Run on June 25, at 12:30 p. m.

Following the wedding, a luncheon was served to 45 guests at the bride's home in Livonia township.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlson later left by airplane for a short wedding trip to Idaho. They are now at home at 16045 Oporto in Livonia.

Improvements Completed At Tait's Cleaners

Work is now completed on a paved drive and parking area at Tait's cleaners.

This new addition has greatly improved the establishment's parking and drive-in accommodations.

Announcement has also been made of the fact that Tait's were recently awarded the exclusive agency for Cravenette, a water repellent process. It is the only concern in western Wayne county that features this process, which is widely used in the water-proofing of better rainwear.

Tells Danger of War With Stalin Dictatorship

(Continued from page 1) which now exists. Munich, we now know, hastened the outbreak of the war rather than retarded it. I am convinced completely that to abandon Berlin under present circumstances would speed new conflict, destroy our own moral position, bring war on much less favorable terms for us than any hostility we are now risking.

Berlin cannot be regarded as an isolated question. Rather, it is an essential part, almost a keystone, of our entire international policy. Sometimes we seem to fumble details badly, but in broad outlines that policy is generous, enlightened and basically sound.

It is that policy and that policy alone which stands firmly in the way of the Russians' savage imperialism and it is that policy which would dangerously and disgracefully be weakened should we leave here for any other cause than actual war.

Physically our position in Berlin is awkward and precarious. Air supply operation has done a magnificent job. It has done so well there is no danger we will accept this as a permanent, normal state rather than the emergency situation it is.

Air lift cannot meet Berlin's winter needs. It is imperative that we do not surrender our basic right to highways and railroads.

So long as Russian pressure persists, it can be held in check only by other pressures. It is converting Berlin into one gigantic, poorly paid and underfed WPA project. Because Berlin is so important we are justified, I think, in using any means we can to exert these counter pressures.

A field commander who hits a tough spot in battle often doesn't waste men in direct assault. He surrounds it, attacks from other angles, or shifts the offensive to an entirely different sector. We must do something like that here.

We haven't nearly exhausted the normal avenues of diplomacy. These should be pursued with speed and energy. The United Nations hasn't yet had its go. The problem might wreck the whole organization, but the Assembly is doomed anyway unless Berlin and all it stands for can be maintained.

In co-operation with the British and French, if they'll go along, we should be ready to enforce a variety of economic sanctions, as Gen. Donovan suggested. Shipping lanes, canals, and ports could be closed to Soviet ships. Essential materials could be denied them. Credits might be frozen. Exports halted.

It is true this would amount to an economic war. We should not forget, however, that the Soviets already have declared economic and political war.

There has been much loose talk about punching through an armored convoy of trucks along Helmstedt Highway. This could not and must not be anything but a final recourse.

In all this we must never permit the world to forget that an aggressive Soviet policy alone has driven us to these counter-measures. Once that Soviet policy is altered, we should be prepared to revise our own quickly, if convinced that the Soviet change is sincere.

There must be no wishful thinking about 'gains' from the war. There won't be any gains.

We must make it plain constantly that we still want a peaceful world and still believe it can be achieved only through genuine four-power agreement on Germany. Unfortunately, nothing the Russians have so far proposed meets the minimum standards we must maintain—free elections, free passage of goods and persons throughout all of Germany; civil guarantees for its people.

We must continue to insist that Berlin be opened up, as a preliminary to any conferences. Berlin weighs too heavily in favor of the Soviets on any other basis.

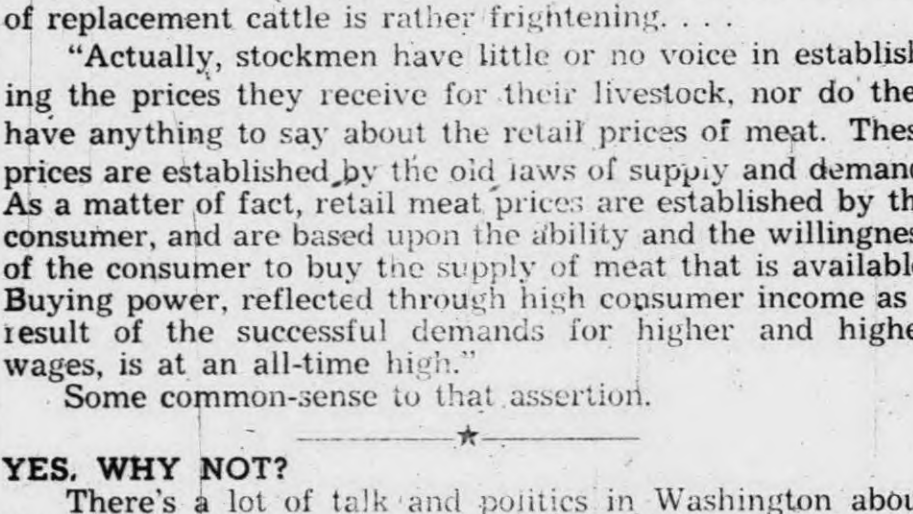

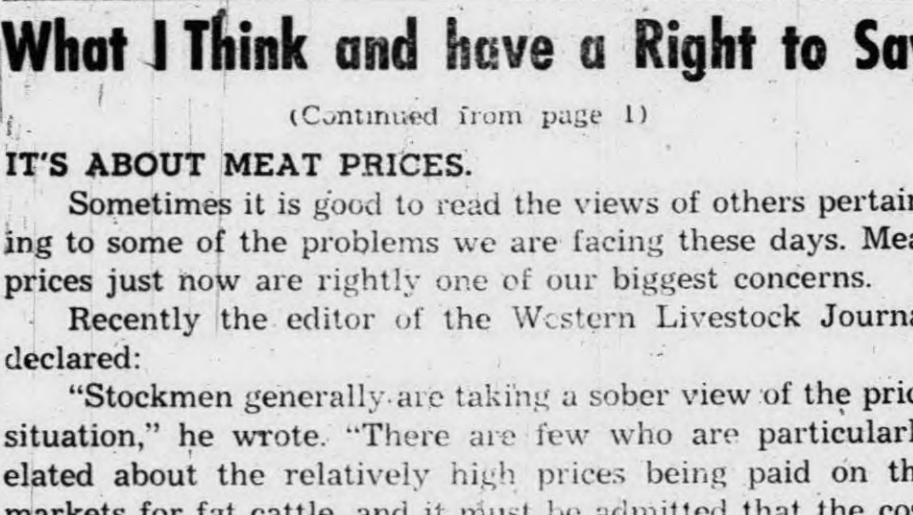

We must drive the hardest possible bargain in our own interests and those of Western Europe. The Russians, I am still convinced, would be the first to respect this. It is exactly what they will do themselves. They wouldn't understand anything else.

In the best sense of the word, these are rare precious moments in history. Without Munich the last war might never have occurred. Once Munich happened there was no other course. For ourselves and all humanity, we can't afford any similar mistakes this time. We might not have another chance.

Recently someone asked a Georgia friend why Southerners were always so slow and deliberate. "I asked my great-grandfather that same question once," he replied, "and I'll never forget his answer: 'Son, it just doesn't pay to be in a hurry, you always pass up much more than you catch up with.'"

In Los Angeles, Henry Juppenthal paid his taxes, dropped dead.

THE MIDDLES . . . . . By Bob Karp

What I Think and have a Right to Say

Sometimes it is good to read the views of others pertaining to some of the problems we are facing these days. Meat prices just now are rightly one of our biggest concerns.

Recently the editor of the Western Livestock Journal declared:

"Stockmen generally are taking a sober view of the price situation," he wrote. "There are few who are particularly elated about the relatively high prices being paid on the markets for fat cattle, and it must be admitted that the cost of replacement cattle is rather frightening."

"Actually, stockmen have little or no voice in establishing the prices they receive for their livestock, nor do they have anything to say about the retail prices of meat. These prices are established by the old laws of supply and demand. As a matter of fact, retail meat prices are established by the consumer, and are based upon the ability and the willingness of the consumer to buy the supply of meat that is available. Buying power, reflected through high consumer income as a result of the successful demands for higher and higher wages, is at an all-time high."

Some common-sense to that assertion.

YES, WHY NOT?

There's a lot of talk and politics in Washington about the advisability of admitting to this country many hundreds of thousands of so-called "displaced" persons in Europe, even though we haven't proper housing facilities for all of the people who live in this country at the present time.

Read the other day in some newspaper two good reasons why we should stop immigration to these United States.

1—If these people (the displaced persons) are such good material, they should be kept in Europe to help balance and build up the countries they are in. It would lessen our headaches and reduce taxes for U. S. citizens.

2—We can't use these people in the United States so why bring them here?

They spread alien ideas, fill our hospitals, fill our jails and live off of the welfare and cost the U. S. citizens more money.

Let's feed them over there for a while! And there is plenty of common-sense in those two reasons.

School Leases First Baptist Church Addition for Grade Classrooms

(Continued from page 1) Mrs. Nancy Tanger has been named as their principal. Leasing these classrooms will create better balance in several classes with large enrollments in the two schools, Superintendent Helmer Nelson affirms. "Last year," he states, "some of the rooms had as many as 48 pupils. These added classrooms will help to take care of the additional load and reduce over-loaded classes. All in all," he continued, "it will afford better opportunity for all children."

Completion of the additions will be achieved by the time school starts, Nelson reports he has been assured by the church building committee, which is headed by Leonard Millross, and by James Houk, chairman of the financial committee.

The finished rooms will be heated by oil, will include new seating, and will be supervised by teachers who formerly instructed in the other schools. All the teachers who will make the transfer to the new school have requested the opportunity to teach in the new rooms, Nelson discloses.

(Continued from page 1) seems that Chant was to sing "Pretty Buttercup" to Miss Penman, but he just changed it and said "guttercup" instead. Now Katie started to giggle and the audience did, too, and they finally just rang down the curtain and let everyone have a good laugh.

Commuters Organize Club

(Continued from page 1) Membership cards carry the signatures of all the members, and the conductor's punch gives them the official touch. The signatures were all written on a tracing cloth original, from which the cards themselves have been printed.

Origin of the club's name seems also to have slipped into oblivion, and only guesses are advanced as to why it was chosen. One assumption is that it would be natural for Plymouthites, traditionally Republican, to "rib" the conductor and hostesses, who are in most cases from the south and consequently imagined to be Democrats.

One of the member's wives, being fully versed on the organization, recently brought to the club's attention an article from a recent issue of the Christian Science Monitor which she felt well applied to the group. It was headed "Merely Nonsense". One member has suggested adopting this as the motto, and the article, a partial reprint from a book, as the club constitution. In the latter, the author gave importance and dignity in life to the making and enjoyment of "nonsense".

The immediate justification for the club seems to be a friendly acquaintance with each other, and good "public relations" with transportation.

Old Timers Plan To Have Another Round of Play

At a meeting of the Old Timers league last Monday evening in the city hall, it was decided that another round of ball will be played. With this extra round added the regular season will be concluded Thursday, August 19.

As the Old Timers start their last round, two teams, Contractors and Bud Wilson, are making a two team race out of the league. Their nearest competitor is Plymouth Grill with a 5-5 record.

Last week Contractors maintained their lead over Bud Wilson, whipping Allen Industries 8-3 on Tuesday, July 27, and then defeating Dunn Steel the next evening 9-3. Rorabacher was the winning pitcher in both contests.

The victory skein of Plymouth Grill that had reached five consecutive games, was snapped by Bud Wilson on Wednesday, July 28 by the score of 11-5. Harry Wolfe and Art Jenkins combined their efforts for the victory. Wolfe collected four hits including a home run in the first inning while Jenkins pitched five hit ball to notch the win.

Plymouth Teams Win Once More

The two Plymouth class B teams, Allen and Utilities, kept up their winning ways last Sunday.

Allen qualified for the playoffs which start August 15, by dropping the Grandale Merchants 4-1, with Gil Perry hurling four hit ball for the victory. The defeat was only Grandale's second of the season.

Utilities advanced into second place with Clarenceville trimming Trenton last Sunday 7-2. Kelly pitched the distance for Utilities to win another game.

Sunday Allen plays Wayne at 12:30 p. m. on the Riverside diamond and Utilities travels to Nankin Mills at 3 p. m. to meet Rogers.

In the class A division playoffs, the winners of the first round are: First National, Eddie's, Local 600 and Romulus Air Base.

Pairings for this Sunday are First National at Eddie's on the Recreation park diamond in Ypsilanti, Local 142 vs. Sellgren Buick on the Riverside diamond at 3 p. m., E & L Transport vs. Rippy's Insurance at Cass Benton at 3 p. m., and Romulus Air Base vs. Local 600 at Lower Rouge park at 1 p. m.

Daisy Leads Girl's League

Pictured above is the leader of the Girls league, the Daisy club, Daisy, under the coaching of Floyd Fleming, the four leaf clover man, has won ten games and lost but two.

Daisy is now in the midst of the girls playoffs with DeHoCo and Rosedale Gardens Beauty Shop. The league pace-setters have combined fine pitching plus power hitting to win most of their games.

Daisy has lost only to Rosedale Gardens and to Twin Pines.

Joe's Jottings

A clutch hitter is one of the most valuable players in baseball, and experts of our national pastime readily agree on that point. On the Wiedman Cardinals in the Western Wayne class D league there is such a fellow. He is Ted Thrasher, an outfielder, who has been coming through in the pinches lately a la Hoot Evers, the Tigers great outfielder. Ted has collected four hits including a home run in the first inning while Jenkins pitched five hit ball to notch the win.

Umpires are usually booed and yelled at by fans and players alike. However, the latter should thank the umps for donating their time to the benefit night games. The games couldn't be run off as well without the fine co-operation of the arbitrators and the recreation department really appreciates this fine deed.

Evan's Products of the Men's league has been coming back strong of late with two straight victories after giving Nick's Inn a tough battle losing 4-3.

With the Northville Braders losing last week, there is not a team undefeated in the five recreation leagues. Several teams have just one loss. Teams from outside Plymouth are leading three leagues out of the five. Nick's Inn of Redford is ahead in the Men's league, Wayne is leading the Western Wayne and Northville is the pacesetter in the Little Rock league.

Playoffs Start In Girls' League

The regular season in the Girls' league has been concluded and the playoffs have started. The regular season ended with Daisy on top, with a 13-2 record that puts them one game in front of Rosedale Gardens.

Last Tuesday the playoffs began at DeHoCo with Rosedale stopping DeHoCo 16-8. Last night Rosedale played Daisy and the winner of that contest plays DeHoCo at 7 p. m. at DeHoCo next Tuesday. The playoffs are on a two game knockout basis.

The game that established Daisy the winner of the regular season play was contested on Thursday, July 29 with Daisy winning 5-3. Marge Sowa allowed Rosedale five hits and she gave up but one walk. Betty Ross, Daisy first baseman, highlighted the evening's activities with two triples and a single in three times at the plate. She was also very conspicuous in the field with eight unassisted outs.

Harold Dietrich Appears Headed Toward Western Wayne Crown

With only a few days remaining before the season is terminated, the Harold Dietrich club of Wayne is heading the Western Wayne class D league.

Wayne just clinched the crown last Tuesday, August 3, when they defeated the Wiedman Cardinals 12-4 in a game called at the end of five innings on account of darkness. The darkness came earlier than usual this particular evening. Bob Tooley outpitched Jack Scheel to gain the victory.

Also on Tuesday evening Livonia Recreation edged the Livonia Firemen 6-4 with John Slessor doing the mound work for the winners. The Plymouth Red Sox, improving with each game, swamped the Daisy nine 12-3 behind the right handed slants of Bill Perkins.

The most serious injury that ever happened in four years of operation in the Western Wayne league occurred when Dick Farwell, Cardinal second baseman, cracked a bone in his leg, sliding into home plate against the Red Sox. Dick is now confined to his bed and will be laid up several weeks. Bill Stout, ace pitcher of the Cards, was released from the hospital this past week after having an operation for an abscessed leg. These two injuries greatly weakened the Cardinals.

Suffering the after-effects of these occurrences the Cards lost to Livonia Recreation on Thursday, July 29, 14-13. The contest was the wildest of the entire season. It see-sawed back and forth several times before Recreation tallied the winning run in the last of the seventh, which was the last inning on account of darkness. John Connally, a second baseman turned pitcher, was the winning hurler and Jack Scheel was the loser.

The same evening Wayne trimmed Daisy 12-4 and the Plymouth Red Sox stunned the Livonia Firemen 11-9. The latter lost after they had tallied eight runs in the first inning. Laverne Rutenbar led the winners in the hitting department with two singles and a home run.

A long distance hitting battle featured the Livonia Firemen-Cardinal tilt on Friday, July 30. Larry Finney banged a homer and a triple to aid the Cardinal cause. One of the longest homers ever seen at Riverside was hit by Bill Newstead, Firemen shortstop. The ball traveled more than 400 feet on the fly. Clarence Poole also connected for a homer for the Firemen. Dwayne Becker, who relieved Bobby Jones in the sixth inning was the winning pitcher. Becker, a star shortstop, hurled for the first time this season in this game.

Another in a series of the league leading teams is pictured above. The Contractors squad of the Old Timers' league is now in the spotlight. They are pacing the oldest league in the recreational program.

The head of the Old Timers have lost only to the Plymouth Grill which is in third place four full games behind. Contractors' closest competitor is Bud Wilson which has a nine won and two lost record.

Contractors will have to keep up their strong pace for the remaining weeks of the season as another round of play is to be held and everybody will try to knock off the leaders.

Bankers Take 11-10 Win Sunday

The First National Bank team had an exciting game last Sunday when they defeated the Local 142 Kaiser-Frazier team by a score of 11-10.

Don McSween was the hurler for the entire game, and Duncan Bone was behind the plate.

Going into the last half of the ninth inning, the Bank team was trailing by the score of 10-9, when Manager Bassett decided on some good sound baseball, using pinch hitters in a desperate try of tying the score. Martin Smith, pinch hitter, came through with a line drive single, and Bill Crisovan, left fielder, came through with a three base hit, knocking in the tying run.

With the score all tied 10-10, Manager Warren Bassett pinch batted for Don McSween, the pitcher, and came through with a terrific line drive which scored the winning run.

The leading hitter of the day was left fielder, Bill Crisovan, who had a perfect day at the plate with a home run, triple, and a single.

Next Sunday the Bank team plays the second game of the play-offs. They go to Ypsi recreation park and meet Eddie's Lounge at 3 p. m. The team invites all their Plymouth rooters to this most important game.

Men's Playoffs Begin August 11

The number of teams that will be entered in the men's playoffs is still undetermined, because Daisy has a 9-8 record with two games remaining.

They also had a contest last night at DeHoCo which will count very much. Already in the playoffs are Nick's, DeHoCo and Beglinger Olds. The playoffs will begin August 11 unless weather conditions interfere with the last part of the schedule.

If Daisy enters the playoffs they will play the first place team on Wednesday evening. The same evening Olds will play Nick's or DeHoCo. Following this schedule, the losers will play losers and winners against winners.

Nick's remained in first place by virtue of two victories last week. On Thursday, July 29, Nick's trimmed South Side 9-1 and last Monday evening Olds gave the league leaders a tough time before Nick's won 2-0. Woods and LaRue held Olds to two hits, both by Don Leichtweiss. Olds pitcher and outfielder. Also on the 29th Trombley of DeHoCo pitched a sterling one hit game over Olds.

Recreation Notes

The attendance for the swimming program at the Rouge pools has been improving. One hundred and forty children went swimming on Tuesday, July 27, and 133 went to the pools on Thursday, July 29.

Another arts and crafts class will be held next Monday, August 9, in the recreation office in the city hall from 2 p. m. to 4:30. Paper mache work will start at this class. Those planning to attend are asked to bring one cup of baking flour and a stack of newspapers.

On play day, which is August 13, the recreation leaders will not be on the playgrounds from 1 p. m. to 5:30. They will be at the Central playground for the play day. Attendance at these centers has been improving, especially at the Forest-Sutherland playground. A new tot-lot has been installed there.

Today the Michigan recreation swimming championships will be held at the Rouge pools. Although no one from Plymouth is entered, people from the area are invited to attend for the program should be most interesting. The preliminaries will be at noon and the finals at 6 p. m.

In Watertown, N. Y., Charles H. Belch was hospitalized with gas poisoning.

Benefit Night Pits Nick's and DeHoCo Friday

In place of the regular benefit game on the high school diamond Friday night, a regular men's softball benefit game will be held. Nick's will play DeHoCo Friday evening at 7 p. m.

This game promises to be the battle of the season, for each squad is fighting for that first place berth in previous games between the two teams each pulled out a 2-0 victory. On June 16 Nick's won in a thrilling 15 inning battle, with Woods the winning pitcher. On the 21st Trombley reversed the procedure for DeHoCo, winning with a five hit performance.

Plymouth Mail Defeats Braders For First Time

It had to happen sometime and it finally did; the Northville Braders were defeated for the first time this season losing to the Plymouth Mail nine 17-9 on Saturday, July 31.

The winners proved beating the Braders is easy when you know how. This victory put the Little Rock league in a close state with two games separating the first three teams, Northville, the Yanks and the Plymouth Mail.

On Thursday, July 29th the Plymouth Mail played exactly opposite from their Northville win. The Yanks submerged them 15-1 with Rorabacher limiting the Mail to three hits.

Last Monday, August 2, was a day of forfeits in the Little Rock league, as the Great Americans forfeited to Northville, Arscott to the Yanks and the Firemen to the Plymouth Mail.

Nick's and Daisy Win Friday Eve

The home town club's played in a winning style at the benefit night program last Friday, July 30, with the result of two victories. In the feature contest of the evening Nick's Inn, the leader of the local men's league, whipped Jackie's Bar of Detroit 4-0 and the Daisy girls swamped the Ypsilanti Sophistocals 17-5 in an abbreviated contest.

The largest crowd of the season, approximately 500, witnessed the Friday games. The Nick's-Jackie's Bar tilt was a scoreless battle for the first five innings, but then Nick's came through with four runs in four hits to win the game. The four runs came in after two men were out. Woods and LaRue shared the pitching duties for Nick's allowing the Detroiters but one hit.

Daisy slugged their way to a 17-5 victory over the Ypsi Sophistocals in the first of the benefit night program. Hurling for the winners was Marge Sowa, who gave up only three hits to the out-of-towners.

THE OLYMPIC GAMES

Here are the official uniforms that will be worn by the men and women of the U. S. Olympic team when the 1948 Olympiad opens in England. Both men and women wear navy blue flannel jackets with the Olympic shield on the breast pocket. The man's sweater is banded in red, white and blue and he wears a red, white and blue necktie.

More than 5,000 athletes from 61 countries are getting set for the 17 events in the 14th Olympiad to be in London, England, from July 29 to August 14.

Strange cargoes are arriving in London—200 horses, 100 rowing boats, 50 yachts, hundreds of fencing foils, massage equipment, firearms and some 400 cycles. Cavalry officers of the Argentine team have sent their horses in advance with self-contained stables. Their unit includes a blacksmith's shop, iron for shoeing the horses, saddlery, forage, a veterinary surgeon and 10 groomers.

One third of the competing teams will take their own food. Nearly 30,000 pounds of food is being sent to London for the South African team—50 different items, even to spices like bay leaves and ginger. Elaborate schemes of storage, refrigeration, distribution and specialized cooking have been worked out for each country.

Three converted service camps in London at Richmond park, Uxbridge and West Drayton will house the competitors, officials, trainers, masseurs and domestic staffs. Each of these Olympic "villages," decorated in cream and turquoise blue, will be complete with movie theaters, cafeterias, shops, post office, bank, gymnasiums, laundry service and taxis.

About 200,000 Olympic-visitors are expected and they will pay anywhere from $12 in a good hotel to $2 in private houses for bed and breakfast. The overall cost of staging the games is estimated at $1,600,000. All athletes will pay their own way. This will work out at about $5 each per day. Any profits from the games will be shared out among British sports and athletics clubs.

The United States is sending a team of 374 athletes, 57 of them women. This is by far the largest number that America has entered in any Olympic overseas. Biggest teams are those for athletics and swimming.

Both the United States and Britain will participate in all 17 sports events, as well as Czechoslovakia, France, Hungary and Italy. Most popular are the track and field events with 49 countries competing. The next most popular sports are boxing, swimming, cycling, shooting, wrestling, and football.

All this is complicated when compared to the first Olympics organized for the Greek states by Iphitus of Elis in the ninth century B. C. In those days there was only one event—the stadion, or short foot race of about 200 yards. The first games of the modern cycle were held in Athens in 1896 in the ancient stadium especially prepared for the purpose.

During peacetime, the games are usually held every four years. The last Olympics were held in 1936 and won by Germany with 628 points. The United States had 451 points. The 1940 Olympics were to be held in Finland, but were abandoned as the result of the Russian invasion of that country.

by REV. ROBERT H. HARPER
Ebed-melech, the Ethiopian.
Lesson for August 8: Jeremiah
38: 7-13; 39: 15-18.

Memory Selection: Galatians
6: 10.
Zedekiah, last king of the house of David, had been on the tottering throne of Judah but a short time when he rebelled against the king
Babylon, who had incorporated Palestine with his kingdom. That monarch promptly sent an army against Jerusalem and reduced it to ruin and carried the remnant of its inhabitants into exile.

Not long before the downfall of the city, the nobles complained to Zedekiah that Jeremiah's prophecies were ruining the morale of the people, and the prophet was cast into a cistern—to die of starvation and neglect. Then appears one of the finest characters of history, a black man and a eunuch. At great personal risk, he interceded with the king for Jeremiah, and he was drawn up from the cistern and confined in the barracks of the guard.

In the coming doom of the city Ebed-melech could only look for the worst for himself. He was an outcast by race and because he was a eunuch. But Jeremiah sent a message from God to the frightened black man, telling him to cease from fears, for God himself would deliver him in the day of the city's ruin.

Thus a great truth was verified centuries before Jesus put it into immortal words: "Blessed are the merciful." Consider the ways in which you may be kind and merciful to those around you. Let not a black eunuch of 2,500 years ago surpass you in showing kindness and mercy.

Nutrition Aids
 from the
 Nutrition Service

It is generally agreed that milk, more than any other one food has what it takes to promote vigorous good health and maximum growth. Plymouth mothers who take the well being of their families seriously do their best to see that the children consume a quart of milk each day and the grown-ups get a full pint.

Most mothers find that children who have always drunk milk at each meal since babyhood take their day's quota with relish—in fact some of them need restraint, occasionally so they will have room for all the other foods they need to round out a good diet.

Grown-ups, however, who don't realize how important good food is to their health, sometimes refuse to give it to them in another form. Most youngsters who won't drink milk are either aping adults in the family or are using the refusal as an attention getter.

Making a big fuss about drinking milk doesn't do any good in either case, but simply makes mealtime miserable for everyone at the table. Ignore the rebels suggests the Nutrition Service of the American Red Cross and get the milk into them in another form. Milk will do the same job no matter how it's taken.

USE IN FOOD

The obvious way of getting milk into the menu when it isn't welcomed as a beverage is to use large quantities in the preparation of foods. Custards, corn-starch puddings, cream soups and creamed dishes of all kinds provide from one-half to three-fourths cup of milk in each serving.

Another method of boosting the quantity is to use it as the liquid for preparing cereals. Because milk scorches readily it's best to finish the cooking over boiling water after an initial short boiling.

One cup of evaporated milk equals two cups of fresh whole milk. Use evaporated milk straight, or diluted with less than usual amount of water to prepare milk dishes and there'll be even more value in the foods, as in the recipes suggested here:

CEREAL COOKED IN MILK
 Four cups fresh whole milk or 1 cup water and 3 cups evaporated milk, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 cups flaked cereal such as rolled oats or 1 cup granular cereal.

Bring milk or evaporated milk diluted with water to boiling point, stirring occasionally. Add salt and cereal and boil until thickened, stirring gently to prevent scorching. Place over boiling water and cook from 10 min-

THIS WEEK IN Washington

WITH the floor of congress as its sounding board, the Republican party emphasis is in criticism of President Truman for calling congress back into special session in his precedent-breaking challenge issued at the Democratic national convention.

But despite the name-calling and the charges of "politics," political observers here declare that the President for once has his adversaries on the defensive, that his action was a popular one with the rank and file of the people and that it has the effect of making the issue this fall one between the President and congress and not between the President and Gov. Tom Dewey of New York, his GOP opponent.

By this special session the people of the nation have everything to gain and nothing to lose . . . the President has everything to gain and nothing to lose . . . so these observers say the Republicans who control congress must either take some remedial action on the program demanded by the President or again go before the people to explain their failure to do something about the high cost of living . . . housing . . . federal aid to education . . . an increased minimum wage . . . extension of social security . . . health . . . a new displaced persons bill . . . civil rights.

Apologists for the 80th congress, among them Mr. Herbert Brownell, campaign manager for Governor Dewey, contend the members of this congress are not bound by the platform enacted by the GOP convention at Philadelphia . . . that the new 1948 platform was not for these leaders but for the new 81st congress which convenes next January and for a Republican president. Observers here point out, however, that Gov. Earl Warren of California, the running mate of Governor Dewey, recognized the responsibility of the Republican party for the sins of omission by this congress and in a press conference at Philadelphia pointed out what they were. Now this congress has the chance to repair the damage, referred to by Governor Warren, before the election.

BACK OF THE DOMESTIC ISSUES with which congress must contend, there is an ominous tension occasioned by the delicate situation in Germany, and it is posutes to half an hour. Serves 4. Each serving will contain the equivalent of from 1 to 1 1/3 cups fresh whole milk exclusive of the milk served with it.

CREAMY RICE PUDDING
 Three tablespoons rice, 1 quart milk or 1 tall can evaporated milk diluted with 2 cups water, 1/3 cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Combine all ingredients in baking dish and bake uncovered in a slow oven, 300 degrees F., for 2 1/2 to 3 hours or until thick. Stir three or four times during the first hour. Serve well-chilled with top milk or crushed fruit. Serves 4 to 6.

MILK ALTERNATES
 When it isn't feasible to include enough milk-rich dishes of the kind suggested in the day's menus it's still possible to meet the desirable quota by using generous amounts of cheese or ice cream. Cheddar or American cheese—ordinary store cheese—is made from whole milk in such a way that there is little loss of mineral and vitamin content.

For this reason about one-fifth of a pound—just under a cupful of grated cheese—is equivalent in nutritive value to one quart of milk. Cottage cheese isn't quite as good an alternate because much of the calcium and some of the vitamins drain off in the whey.

Ice cream is another means of getting milk into the menu and certainly it's not difficult to use it often especially during warm weather: Two large scoopsfuls can replace one glass of milk.

sible that this congress may have to take action with regard to some phase of the foreign situation before they are through.

According to the best guesses here, congress likely will be in session approximately 30 days. Certainly they will adjourn by Labor Day which will give them a couple of months to campaign before election day.

All sorts of guesses have been made on what the Southern Democrats will do in the special session. According to the record, however, they can do little worse than they have done in the past, insofar as the President's program is concerned, for some have voted with the Republicans about as often as with their Democratic colleagues.

The question of the civil rights issue may bring on a filibuster which could block indefinitely action on any of the other major measures up for consideration, but observers say that unless the GOP leadership deliberately desires to block action they will hold back the civil rights program until other and probably more important legislation such as housing and anti-inflation measures are out of the way.

WHO'S TO BLAME FOR THE INFLATION? With the Republicans blaming the Democrats and the Democrats blaming the Republicans, the way the public answers this question may decide this election. Not only are Republicans and Democrats pointing the finger of blame at one another but so are farmers, workers and businessmen pointing at each other. Debate on this question will go back to the fight over OPA in 1946 or even before . . . at a time when Democrats had a majority in congress. Facts are, though, that almost a solid Republican vote aided by a few Southern Democrats wrecked OPA's authority to hold prices down.

The people must be held partly to blame, also, for the clamor went up in late 1946 shortly before the congressional election, "we want meat" and the "had enough" slogans began to wear down all opposition to the lifting of what little controls were left. So with no machinery for enforcing controls, President Truman late in 1946 lifted, by executive order, almost all controls still on the books.

APRICOT COOLER

"EASY DOES IT"

By HELEN HALL
 MOLDED FRUIT and vegetable salads are delightful with fowl. For a change try cantaloupe balls in cherry or lime gelatin, or pineapple cubes and Queen Anne cherries in lemon or lime gelatin.

Pastries and shortcakes are good foil when serving fowl. Use fruit in season if it is available to you. Pineapple, berries, apricots and peaches are good.

If the dinner with fowl is too filling for richer desserts, simply use a scoop of ice cream with refrigerator cookies. Peppermint, lemon, strawberry, tutti frutti, vanilla and chocolate chip ice creams are good ideas.

If you have a small family, buy chicken by the piece, or buy a half for roasting. In the latter case, place the stuffing underneath the bird.

Good vegetables to go with fowl: green peas, green beans, broccoli with hollandaise sauce, asparagus, brussels sprouts with browned butter and bread crumb sauce, or broiled tomatoes.

BISCUITS WITH JAM are another good accompaniment to a dinner featuring fowl. Use baking powder biscuits with strawberry jam or currant jelly, or half white flour and half whole-wheat flour rolls, and serve with grape and crabapple jelly, grape jam or orange marmalade.

SUN, AIR AND CLEANLINESS will keep the moths away. Moths attack any uncleaned wooleens, furs, slippers, furniture, etc. Everything should be thoroughly cleaned regularly to prevent them.

Moths can be prevented by moth repellent sprays, naphthalene crystals, cedar chests, air-tight storage bags and a white crystalline substance called paradichlorobenzene.

SILVERFISH which attack book-bindings feast also on starched clothing and laces especially where there is dampness. Keep stored things aired and in a cool dry place. Borax or insect powder scattered where silverfish are thickest will help get rid of them.

Grain beetles, flour moths, weevils and other types of insects which destroy flour, cereals and beans may come from factory, store or warehouse. The foods which become infested with them should be thrown away or burned. Keep food in tightly covered jars.

"Free-breathing" gas miser!

As every motorist knows, gasoline mileage varies with terrain, temperature, traffic conditions, speed, and individual driver habits.

But here, in the chart at right, you'll get a good idea of the gasoline economy you can expect from a new Packard . . . thanks to Packard's new "free-breathing" engine design.

These figures—taken from a survey among hundreds of new Packard owners from coast to coast—cover the highway performance of the 130-horsepower Packard Eight, with overdrive. (Packard overdrive is optional equipment, at moderate extra cost. It is being ordered on a majority of the new Packards.)

Study these national figures. And then come in for a complete local review of the power story of the year!

Why Should The Same Foods Cost You More One Day Than Another?

Are identical items of food worth more early in the week than they are later on? Or are Saturday's shoppers entitled to better buys than Monday's? Of course not. Why, therefore, should prices be different on different days? The answer is—they SHOULDNT. And at A&P, they're NOT. AT A&P, you'll never find "see-saw" prices that are up one day and down another. Because we believe in giving the most for your money by keeping all prices at the same low level all week long.

Janet Osgood of St. Johns Is Bride of Robert Lawson

The First Methodist church was the scene of a beautiful mid-summer wedding Sunday, July 25, at 4 p. m., when Janet Marie Osgood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Osgood of St. Johns, spoke her marriage vows to Robert Stevens Lawson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Lawson of Plymouth.

The impressive marriage ceremony, witnessed by 350 guests, was performed by the Reverend Emeral Price before an altar decorated with large baskets of white gladioli and hydrangeas, lighted by candelabra and also the altar candles, which were used in the ritual. The windows of the church were decorated with arrangements of hydrangea.

The lovely bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a wedding gown of delicate white lace over white satin, fashioned with a long, full skirt which ended in a short train and was bound with satin. The tightly-fitted bodice was trimmed with a bertha collar, edged in satin and the long sleeves of the gown ended in points over the wrists. Her bridal veil was of illusion and fell from a half-bonnet made of lace that matched her gown and was bound in satin. She carried a white Bible, topped with two white orchids, from which cascaded knotted white satin streamers. The three-strand pearls the bride wore were a gift of the groom.

Mrs. H. Stanley Hartman of Indianapolis, Indiana, a sorority sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Shirley Osgood, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Ladd Bartholomew, both of St. Johns.

The floor-length gowns of the attendants were of white nylon marquisette over nylon taffeta, fashioned like the bride's, and they wore gaudy and half-bonnet headdresses of marquisette. They carried arm bouquets of American Beauty roses, tied with American Beauty tulle, and the matron of honor's bouquet had cascading streamers of white satin while the bridesmaid's were of American Beauty satin. Groomsman was Glenn Osgood, Jr., brother of the bride. Ushers were: Robert Serrine, Lapeer, brother-in-law of the bride; Richard Deleplaine, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; and Jack Knaff of Detroit, both fraternity brothers of the groom.

The traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Hazel Allaby and she accompanied—Mrs. Marvin Swift of Ann Arbor, a sorority sister of the bride, who sang, "Beloved" and "The Lord's Prayer".

Mrs. Osgood chose a two-piece, street-length dress of pastel green gabardine for her daughter's wedding. She wore accessories of white and a starched linen hat, trimmed with brown grosgrain ribbon and brown veiling.

Mrs. Lawson, mother of the groom, wore a black and white print, two-piece dress and her hat was white with black veiling. Both mothers had orchid corsages.

The bride and groom are spending their honeymoon at Cascades Inn, Healing Springs, Virginia. For going away the new Mrs. Lawson wore, pastel aqua ensemble, white accessories and a corsage of orchids. During the month of August the couple will be at home in Barton Hills, Ann Arbor.

The bride was graduated from the University of Michigan this year from the school of Physical Education. She was a member of the National Honorary Society in Education and was president of her sorority, Alpha Omicron Pi. At the University's "recognition night", Mrs. Lawson was awarded for having the highest activity record on the campus.

Mr. Lawson was graduated from the School of Business Administration at the university this year and is a member of the Chi Phi fraternity. He is now associated with the purchasing department of the Lincoln-Mercury division in Detroit.

Guests were present at the wedding and reception from Detroit, Plymouth, Port Huron, Tatumseh, Ann Arbor, Flint, Mason, Britton, Higgins lake, Lansing, Lapeer, Grand Rapids, Indianapolis, Indiana; Philadelphia, Pennsylvania and St. John's.

It isn't so easy for a girl to overcome the childhood blight of a mother's unspoken judgment, "You're not the type daughter I really wanted." For, despite honest efforts to hide their disappointment, too many mothers give it away in the lengths to which they go to make the girl over. Either that, or they show complete disinterest in how the child looks.

We advocate the middle of the road in this matter of improving on a daughter's looks. By that we mean, all the ardor and zeal you can muster for the task, but directed toward making the most of the girl's own particular type rather than in an attempt to pattern her on a set model. For many a girl never realizes an iota of attractiveness until she is grown and discovers her own type, usually after floundering through imitations of everyone from her best friend to her favorite movie star. Granted that during her early years she may be no more willing to accept her own type than her mother is for her. But dissatisfaction with one-self is one thing and a not very serious psychological hazard, while feeling that one's parents aren't pleased with one is something else and often creates lifelong personality ills.

So, begin by studying your child's possibilities and then accept them for what they are. Then, find out what manner of wearing the hair, what colors next to the skin will bring out the child's good points. Help her to achieve grace and good posture, a pleasing voice and considerate manners, all of which are usually acquired attributes and the teaching of them no more a reflection on a person's natural endowments than being taught to read.

As for actual attention to a child's looks, that should be centered on early instruction in the details of grooming without which the most radiant natural beauty is discounted today. But throughout all these years of training, casually but with conviction, show a child your pleasure in the appearance she is capable of making.

Haven't you bought clothes that were correct by all the rules of fashion and suitability for your type, and yet after wearing them a few times they seemed to lose their rightness? This frequently happens to those who are so little aware of their own possibilities that they live up to them only under the excitement of shopping or flattery.

Another asset you can build up in your daughter's early years is speed and skill in performing beauty routines. Most of the complaints about not having time for personal care come from those who start with the notion that it takes hours to accomplish. Complete special-occasion glamour, according to today's college girls, can be achieved in fifty minutes, and good everyday grooming, including bath, hair and teeth brushing, deodorant, nails, make-up and special skin cleansing can be done in an hour divided into morning, before-dinner and bedtime sessions. These techniques, along with good health habits, are most easily learned in childhood. But they can't be learned without instruction and without proper tools—good brushes, pure soap and cosmetics, and a full-length mirror for judging the hang of her clothes.

So, begin by studying your child's possibilities and then accept them for what they are. Then, find out what manner of wearing the hair, what colors next to the skin will bring out the child's good points. Help her to achieve grace and good posture, a pleasing voice and considerate manners, all of which are usually acquired attributes and the teaching of them no more a reflection on a person's natural endowments than being taught to read.

Newly - Weds Spend Week In Chicago

The wedding of Miss Mary Lou Rowe of Plymouth and George Ramshaw, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George Ramshaw of Northville, took place at 7 p. m. Saturday evening, July 31, in the First Presbyterian church with the Rev. Henry J. Walch, D. D., officiating.

Rockwell Smith gave the bride in marriage. Miss Rowe wore a street length dress of charcoal satin, and her hat was of grey felt with veiling which tied under the chin. Her corsage was of white roses.

Mrs. Rockwell Smith was the matron of honor, wearing a light silver grey satin dress with dark charcoal satin hat. Her corsage was of pink roses.

The bridegroom was attended by Cecil Truman of Detroit. A reception followed in the home of the bridegroom's parents in Northville. The young couple left later that evening for a week in Chicago.

George graduated from the University of Michigan in June and Mary Lou, who attends the university on a scholarship, will continue her studies in the fall.

On the Monday evening previous to her marriage, the bride was the guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Rockwell Smith in her home on Main street, with 12 friends present.

New or expectant mothers will welcome this news! Right here in Plymouth is a woman who specializes in making complete layette sets for the new baby... and dresses and sweater sets for children over six months. Her name? Mrs. Willard Jackson, who, believe me, does a beautiful job. You can get more information by calling on her at her home, 632 North Mill street, or phoning her at 662-R. (She says she'll also fill any gaps there may be in a previous layette.)

If the new look has raised havoc with your wardrobe as it has with mine, you'll welcome the discovery that there is a woman in Plymouth who makes restyling of women's dresses, coats, and suits a specialty. Why not go through your closet and sort out those clothes with a "too short" hemline or outmoded in style... take them to Mrs. G. Hartsell at 465 Evergreen... and have her prescribe a cure. The result... a new looking wardrobe. You can phone her at 1065-W for more details.

Something new has been added at Gould's Cleaners... something I'm sure will be most appreciated. What is it? Why, a new alteration service. So now besides getting a professional looking cleaning job done on your clothes when you send them to Gould's you can have the seams expertly let out or in, the hem turned up or down (usually down) at the same time. A most capable seamstress, named Mrs. Gardner, handles all the alteration work, and you'll be more than pleased with the results.

Big cars, little cars, all kinds of cars and all makes... Joe Stadnik on Main street is looking for them. Bargains that would give any woman that self-satisfied glow for weeks afterwards are awaiting there for anyone with a car to sell. So, before you sell... be sure to call on Joe first of all to see what he has to offer. You'll be glad if you do, 'cause you'll find out he's the best buyer in town, and it'll put you dollars ahead.

Before an altar banked with white gladioli, white asters, snapdragons and ferns, Miss Pauline Dorice Wiedman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Wiedman, and Robert Roy Minock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Minock, repeated vows which united them in marriage last Saturday afternoon, July 31, at 4 p. m. The service was officiated by the Rev. Henry Walch.

Miss Wiedman, who was given in marriage by her father, wore for the service an ivory satin gown, styled along Victorian lines. Her silk ivory illusion floor length veil, fell from a satin headpiece which was trimmed in ivory lace matching that on the dress.

The bride chose as her maid of honor, Miss Evelyn M. Elliott, and as her bridesmaids, Miss Jean Hoerner of Saginaw, Miss Ruth Campbell and Mrs. Richard Daniel. They were gowned in dresses of white dotted swiss, also of Victorian style, and white horse-hair hats.

Ralph Bachelder attended the bridegroom. The guests were seated by Fred and John Hopkins and Lincoln Hale.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Wiedman wore a dress of fawn grey, with fox brown accessories, and Mrs. Minock was attired in a navy blue dress and accessories. Both wore orchid corsages.

Special music for the service was rendered by Earl Reh who sang "Through the Years" and "The Lord's Prayer".

Two hundred and fifty guests attended a supper following the ceremony in the First Presbyterian church dining room. Guests were present from Detroit, Ypsilanti, Milwaukee, Pennsylvania, Plymouth, Howell, Flint, Pontiac and Birmingham.

For her going away outfit, the bride wore a grey dress with matching accessories, accented with an orchid corsage. Their trip took them to northern Michigan. After September 15 the couple will be at home at 9091 Main street.

Miss Wiedman was a student at Central Michigan college at Mt. Pleasant.

In Hoboken, New Jersey, Steve Soss was quietly arrested for drunkenness when he entered police headquarters, put his foot on a brass rail, ordered a glass of wine.

Trout fishermen of Michigan who paid an extra dollar into the conservation department for the right to try catching Michigan's gamest fish, will have an extra week this year to wade the streams in their efforts to land some of the speckled beauties.

Not only does the longer season give the fishermen several additional days to try their luck, but it also gives to the conservation department the extra time needed to plant a full one million legal size trout in this state.

The planting of one million brook, brown and rainbow trout seven inches long or larger has been the goal of the fish hatchery men for three years. Last season they came nearest reaching that goal, with the total stocking of adult trout short of the mark by a mere 20,000.

Weather conditions permitted an earlier start in stocking operations this season. Trucks and boats that could not be obtained in the war years have helped speed the work this summer, and hatchery men believe that this time they may reach the million mark.

Each keeper-sized trout of this year's plant is marked, for the fisherman's information, by clipping of the adipose fin, the little fin on the back just ahead of the tail. The 1947 plant was marked by clipping the big dorsal fin. In 1949 the trout planted will go into the lakes and streams unmarked, as in the years before the two-year test to show anglers the proportion of wild to hatchery fish in their catch began.

The Wisconsin Conservation department recently compiled some interesting assertions pertaining to America's wild life resources that will be of general interest to every reader of this column. They follow:

"Much of the present reduction in numbers of game birds and mammals is probably due, directly or indirectly, to erosion."—Hugh H. Bennett.

"Where there is overgrazing, erosion increases and usually the number of rodents and jackrabbits increase. The solution to rodent control seems to lie in improving the range rather than in poisoning or other direct control."—Edward N. Graham.

"Without increased restrictions, duck hunting will soon be a thing of the past."—Harrison F. Lewis.

"About two-thirds of Virginia's land is suitable only for the production of timber and wildlife."—I. T. Quinn.

"About 200,000 acres of Maine forest burned in October, 1947, but less than one percent of the state's game covers were destroyed. Most of the damage was in the southernmost county, York. The loss of life among game appeared slight, but the trout were completely killed. Loss of game food was high. A game survey made in early November indicated that much of the wildlife moved ahead of the fires and returned afterward to the burned land."—Bob Elliot.

"Protection of predators in parks is sometimes opposed on the assumption that they destroy livestock and game in adjacent lands. National park faunas are not managed to provide maximum numbers nor to furnish stable exhibits for the public. Instead, the objective is to maintain the natural ebb and flow of animal life."—Victor H. Cahalane.

"Even with hoof and mouth disease no nearer the United States than 300 miles south of the Rio Grande, it is a potential threat all along the boarder to cattle, sheep, goats, hogs, deer, antelope and bighorns. Birds may be mechanical carriers. It spreads very rapidly."—I. B. Boughton.

"Mexico's big game herds are in about the same stage of depletion as were ours early in the 20th century. Of an original 10 species, eight remain. Of these eight, antelope, bighorn and tapir are well on the road to extinction and the population of three species of deer and two of peccary are greatly reduced."—A. Starker Leopold.

"In spite of some overgrazing, antelope do well on cattle ranches. In contrast, sheep ranches are usually overstocked and sheep and antelope both feed heavily on herbs and browse. At $40 per buck, antelope are an asset to the cattle rancher, not a liability."—Helmut K. Buechler.

"The annual fur catch 35-40 years ago was worth $25,000,000. Now it is worth five times as much and the demand continues to increase. Five-sixths of the fur produced is from wild animals. Continued production requires better land management and more careful regulation of the take."—Frank G. Ashbrook.

"The fish and wildlife service and the fur industry are working to conserve fur resources. The annual value of furs sold at retail is over one-half billion dollars."—Donald G. Gibbons.

"No North Dakota predatory mammal is more than moderately detrimental to the state's game animals during winter time. The same was true of farm animals. The predators studied were mink, skunk, fox, weasel, raccoon, badger and coyote."—William T. McKean.

"Iowa harvests over a million Mearns cottontails every year. They often become pests in orchards and gardens; but for the sake of the hunter the conservation commission has made long-range plans for their increase by improving natural food and cover."—George O. Hendrickson.

"High latitude and low rainfall are among the reasons why only 11 forms of Amphibia and 14 of Reptilia have been found in North Dakota."—George C. Wheeler.

"In 1945 the author censused 75 acres of yellow pine forest northeast of Colorado Springs. There was a total of 2 1/4 birds per acre. A willow bordered creek was possibly responsible for this high density."—Louise Hering.

"Cormorants are increasing and are expanding their breeding range. Colonies are now known in Lake Superior, Lake Nipigon, Lake of the Woods, Lake Huron and Georgian Bay, Lake Ontario, Lake Erie, and the upper St. Lawrence river. In Lake of the Woods cormorants take a great many fish from pound nets; but they appear in general to take twice as many coarse fish as they do commercial fish."—James L. Baillie, Jr.

"A bobwhite quail irruption in northwest Texas lower plains terminated by predation. In 1941-1943 an irruption was cut back by predation and the survivors almost failed to reproduce."—Alfred S. Jackson.

"Birds carry seeds on their bodies, void or regurgitate seeds they have eaten, and transport seeds for storage. Some of this activity may be to man's advantage, some to his disadvantage; but this is not easy to determine."—W. L. McAtee.

"In Texas it is estimated that 35,000,000 acres of agricultural lands have gone from open prairie to brush in a few years. Both livestock grazing and wildlife use are affected adversely."—Harold L. Blakey.

"Apples are a favorite food of deer and upland game birds; so apple trees may be advantageously planted along woods borders or in forest clearings. Apple trees may be readily grown from seed."—E. L. Overholser and R. C. Moore.

Michigan's oldest burial ground, the Ojibway Indian cemetery at Bay Mills, on the shore of Waikwa Bay near Brimley and now in neglected condition, will be restored by interested Chippewa County and other citizens.

At a recent meeting in Brimley the project was discussed and initial steps were taken for the restoring of one of the north country's most historic spots.

Among those buried in the Bay Mills cemetery are the Ojibway chiefs Waikwa, for whom Waikwa Bay and river are named; Omenominee, Waubojeeg, Oshawong and Half-a-Day, with members of their families.

Speakers, including congressman Charles E. Potter, Rep. Victor A. Knox of the Michigan House, Rev. Fr. James J. Shafer of Brimley, Major Maurice E. Hunt of Sault Ste. Marie, and others discussed the possibilities and the importance of the project. The Bay Mills Ojibway tribal council will be asked to cooperate.

Jos. Tremblay of Brimley was appointed chairman of a committee on restoration. Among those attending the meeting was Jay H. Hoag, Duluth attorney for the Ojibways, who met with leading Indians of the Bay Mills group while in the district.

County Listed as Self Supporting

Thirty-four of Michigan's 83 counties were self supporting during fiscal 1947, an increase of six counties over the previous year, according to the Michigan survey, a state taxpayer association.

Test of a self supporting county is whether its residents pay more in state taxes than the county and all its local units receive from Lansing as state aid, Henry Steffens, survey director, said.

Wayne county was one of the self supporting counties appearing on the survey list.

Surprisingly, Steffens said, the distribution of $31 million in sales tax diversion money did not reduce the number of self supporting counties as had been expected. Instead, Chippewa, Gratiot, Isabella, Lapeer, Mason and Roscommon Counties were added.

The report shows that Wayne county produced $145,888,656 in estimated gross state revenue and received $61,470,817 from the state.

All in all, the 34 self supporting counties produced $147 million in excess of what they received from the state and almost $8 million of this was distributed to neighboring non-self-supporting counties. The $139 million remaining was used for purely state operations.

Total state and local revenue production during fiscal 1947 was more than $562 million. The study indicates that 91.17 per cent of this amount was produced by taxpayers in the 34 self supporting counties.

The self supporting counties as shown by the Survey release are: Alpena, Bay, Berrien, Branch, Calhoun, Chippewa, Emmet, Genesee, Grand Traverse, Gratiot, Huron, Ingham, Isabella, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Kent, Lapeer, Lenawee, Livingston, Macomb, Marquette, Mason, Midland, Munroe, Muskegon, Oakland, Ottawa, Roscommon, Saginaw, Shiawassee, St. Clair, St. Joseph, Washtenaw and Wayne.

BATH-TUB BARITONE

It's no trick to hit high F when your bath is warm . . . when you know there's an automatic electric water heater in the house to bring you all the hot water you need whenever you turn the tap!

For good health and good spirits, physicians say, try a daily hot bath. For dependable, low-cost hot water — thousands of your neighbors say — electricity rings the bell.

It's safe, for there are no flames, no fumes, and no soot.

It's clean and quiet and trouble-free. It's economical, too, because the current comes to you at a special low water heating rate.

And it's reliable—once installed, you can forget all about it. For laundry, baths and dishes, and a dozen other uses, try water heated electrically—the modern, carefree way.

A SURE-FIRE REMEDY FOR FEAR

MRS. Helen W. Carr, who is connected with the Veterans Administration, Lubbock, Texas, has told me a story that every mother should read, and most particularly those mothers who unwittingly are nurturing fear in their children, or whose children, for some reason are afraid of the dark.

When Helen was seven and her little sister Boots was five, their brother and a cousin cooked up a scheme to frighten them. Boy-like, they were full of prankish, madcap ideas, and, also boylike, they gave no thought to possible consequences.

One evening in the absence of their parents, those boys dressed in their father's clothes, donned masks and went up to the bedroom of the two little girls. They knocked on the door and in loud and disguised voices announced that they had come to take Boots away. The little girls screamed in terror and Boots got under the bed.

At that, the boys desisted, but the harm had been done. The next morning little Boots ran a temperature. She got over the illness, not the fright. She was afraid after that to get up in the night, and every unknown sound called her sister. Sometimes Helen herself was so terrified she couldn't move.

This fear pursued those girls for years, pursued Boots until she had children of her own when she had to learn to reassure them that there is nothing to fear about unknown noises. She had to assume courage, and finally her courage developed.

Helen herself earlier had conquered her fears in her own efforts to reassure her little sister that there was nothing to fear, and through learning to speak in public. In addition to her fear, of the dark, she had been afraid of people, which she thinks was largely due to having been taught as a child that she should be seen and not heard. In other words, she conquered her fear by doing the thing she feared to do. And this is a sure-fire remedy for fear.

A gateway in lacy ironwork frames the Governor's Palace in magnificent old Williamsburg, a highlight in any tour of the Old Dominion State.

By the Old AAA Traveler
No state is more entrancing than Virginia, and no section richer in history than that area between the James and York rivers east of Richmond. There you have Jamestown, first permanent white settlement; Williamsburg, colonial capital of Virginia, now restored at a cost of millions, and Yorktown, where the Revolution ended with the surrender of Cornwallis.

There's a story in every one of the spots, but presently we'll give our attention to Williamsburg, where Rockefeller millions have restored the old town to just about what it was in the earliest days of this country. Williamsburg is a "must" in the notebook of every teacher, and certainly students and vacationists in general will find the gloriously beautiful spot one to be remembered through the years.

Williamsburg had its origin as "Middle Plantation," an outpost of Jamestown, in 1633. It was the midway point of the palisade which the settlers built across the peninsula from Archer's Hope creek to Queen's creek.

Due to its strategic location and the strength of its defenses, Middle Plantation early became a center for the life of the colony. In 1676 Nathaniel Bacon and his followers held a convention here, and the following year the General Assembly met here after Bacon had burned the state house at Jamestown.

The College of William and Mary, second in age in the United States, was established here in structure. It has been furnished in accordance with ancient records of the Virginia colony.

Public Gaol (the jail) has been restored and is open to the public as an exhibition building; Raleigh tavern was a center of social and political life before the Revolution. George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Patrick Henry, Peyton Randolph and Edmund Pendleton are only a few of the patriots who helped make history within this tavern.

The Old Governor's palace was used by the governors from about 1720 to 1779. It was destroyed by fire in 1781 when it was being used as a hospital for men wounded at Yorktown. The palace, has been reconstructed on its original foundations, and furnished.

Wythe House was erected about the third quarter of the 18th century and later owned by George Wythe, first law professor in an American college and signer of the Declaration of Independence.

William and Mary college still stands in its original location at the head of Gloucester street. The college was chartered in 1693 and numbers among its distinguished alumni four presidents of the United States: Jefferson, Monroe, Madison and Tyler.

When building on the campus of William and Mary, was modeled by Sir Christopher Wren, and, although damaged by three fires, the outer walls are largely original. This is the oldest academic building in America.

Botetourt statue, on the campus of William and Mary, is a statue of Norborne Berkeley, Baron de Botetourt, royal governor of Virginia from 1768 to 1770. It is the work of Richard Hayward of London and is dated 1773. Lord Botetourt is buried under the college chapel.

Bruton Parish church was erected 1710-1715 to replace an 1693. When the capital of the colony was removed from Jamestown in 1699, the city was laid out and named Williamsburg in honor of William III. It continued to be the capital for 80 years and during that time was the social, as well as the political center of Virginia.

A large part of the colonial area of the city, a mile long and nearly a mile wide, has been restored as nearly as possible to its appearance during the 18th century. Extensive research has been conducted in this country and abroad to make the work of restoration accurate and authentic. This unique project was made possible by John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

Out of the scores of interesting things and places, here are just a few which the visitor shouldn't miss seeing:

Old Courthouse, archaeological museum of the Restoration which contains the collection of old china, glass, iron and other material recovered in excavating more than a hundred colonial foundations in Williamsburg. The original copperplate from the Bodleian library at Oxford, which shows the important buildings of Williamsburg as they appeared during the 18th century, is displayed here.

Completed in 1705, the capitol burned in 1747 and was reconstructed four years later. The second building also burned. The capitol of 1705 has been rebuilt on the foundations of the original earlier church on the same site. It is said to be the oldest Episcopal church in continuous use in America. The exterior and interior have been completely restored. The bell in the tower has rung for many important events since 1761 and still rings for Sunday services.

Nearby you'll find Jamestown and Yorktown, both enthralling to students of early history, and both highly appealing from the scenic as well as the historic viewpoint.

Feed designed to produce eggs alone is not enough! You get more eggs when your layers maintain good body condition. So they must get a full balance of nutrients in their feed—different nutrients for good body condition—still different nutrients for good market quality eggs.

Recent feeding tests at Larro Research Farm show these amazing results:

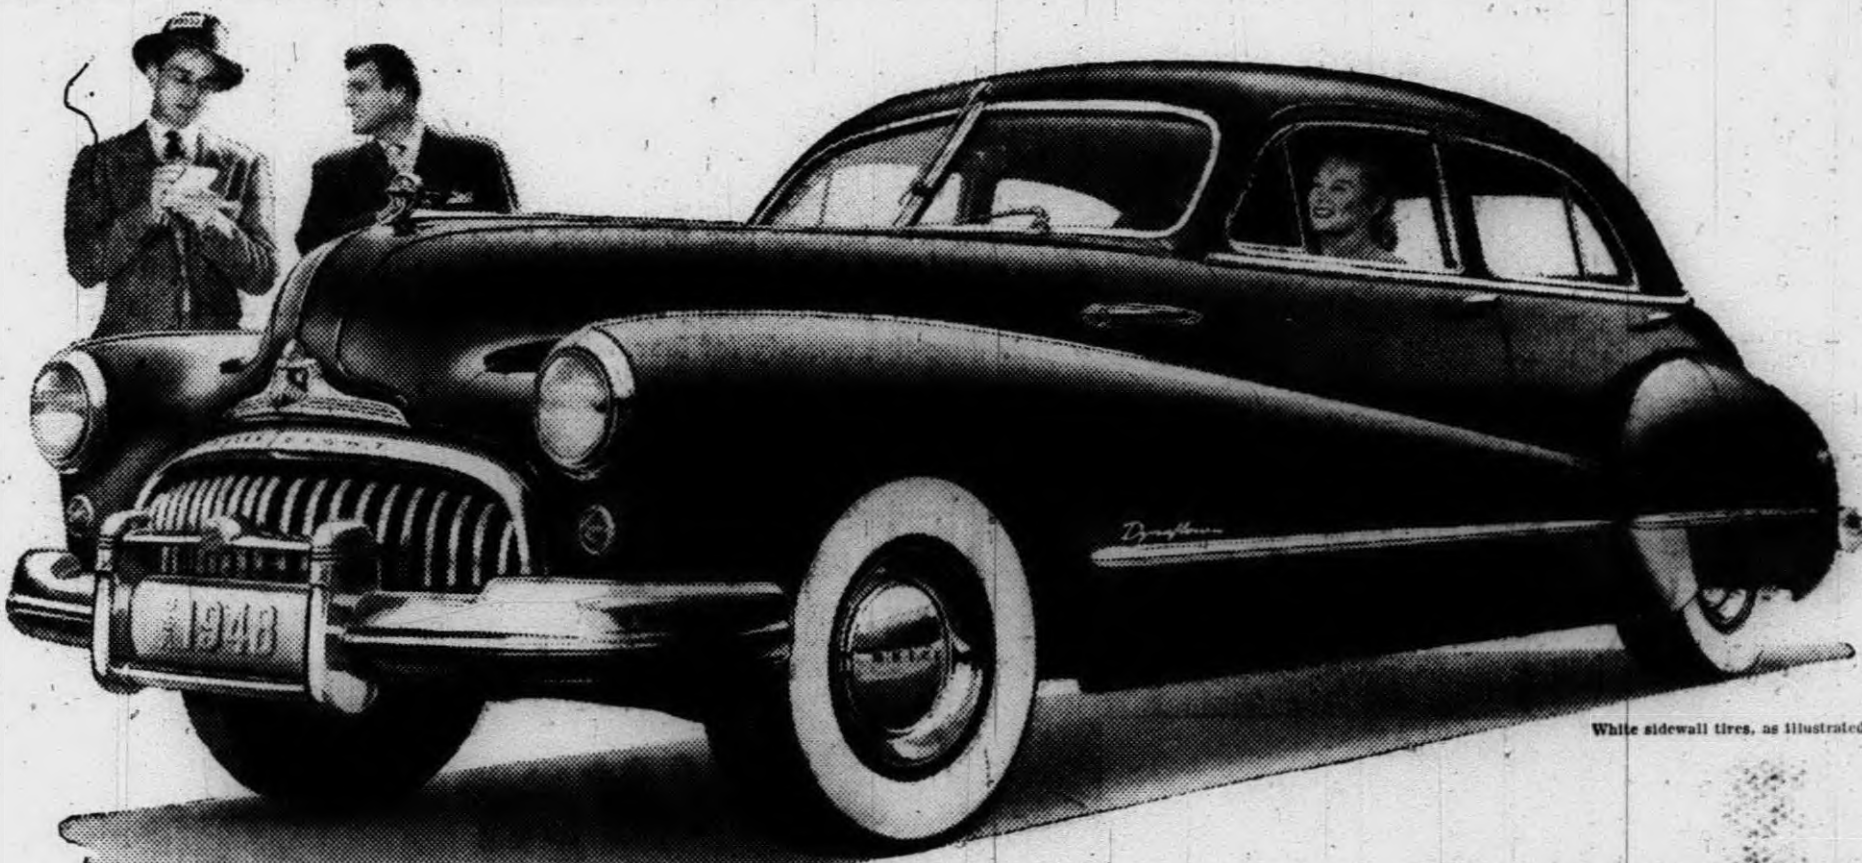

Over and above the feed needed for maintenance, laying hens produced 760 eggs per 100 pounds of Larro Egg Mash.

Wherever you go, they're talking DYNAFLOW

FROM Atlantic to Pacific, it's simply terrific. Not in a generation — maybe not in two — has any single improvement in automobiles caused the talk or met the instant approval that has greeted this new drive.

You see the reason in your first five minutes behind a Dynaflo® wheel. You sense that this is not merely an improvement on old ways, but a whole new system of transferring power from your engine to the rear wheels.

For the first time, oil does everything — replaces the friction clutch, eliminates the usual forward gears, even actuates the mechanism by which you change from Driving range to emergency Low and Reverse.

You feel the result in new smoothness that's like riding a mighty tide of flowing oil.

You move from standstill to road speed in one smooth unbroken sweep of power, quick and effortless in getaway and instantly responsive at speed.

You stop by pressing the foot-brake — go again by feeding gas. Once you've set the selector lever, you need not touch it again in normal driving until you're ready to park or back up.

Outside engineers look at Dynaflo and say, "Now you've got something!"

You'll say so too — once you handle a Buick ROADMASTER with this new driving magic.

Try it, first chance you get — and we think you'll want to see your Buick dealer at once to get an order in — with or without a car to trade.

DAVID NIVEN, who has been a comedian in recent movies, has a strong desire to portray the very serious role of Admiral Nelson in a screen biography of the British naval hero...

I. Bergman It will need it an antidote for Ingrid's very disappointing film, "Arch of Triumph."

Frank Sinatra recently selected his own "Hit Parade" and on it included several songs that made him famous... They are, "This Love of Mine," "Night and Day," "I'll Never Smile Again," "Nancy With the Laughing Face," "You'll Never Walk Alone," "Soliloquy," "That Old Black Magic," "But Beautiful," "You Remind Me of the Girl Who Used to Go to School With Me" and Brahms' "Lullaby."

Together Again It is unfortunate that Judy Garland had to suffer a nervous breakdown in order for Hollywood to effect a reunion of the Rogers-Asstaire dance team which made screen history more than a decade ago... Judy and Fred were lined up for the leads in "The Barkleys of Broadway," but when Judy had to bow out because of illness, Ginger replaced her... Tyrone Power and Linda Christian plan their wedding in Rome but will have to wait until January, when Power's divorce from Annabella becomes final, before they can be re-married in this country.

Contracts signed recently made definite the shift of the "Ozzie and Harriet" show from CBS to NBC... The popular family show gets the Sunday half-hour immediately preceding Jack Benny... Garry Moore resigned as emcee of ABC's "Breakfast in Hollywood" under doctor's orders... Although he's been playing his accordion in show business for more than 25 years, Phil Baker, emcee of CBS' "Everybody Wins," still practices every day.

Berson Discusses Competition
Gloucester, Massachusetts, August 6. I recently read an article in an educational journal which takes businessmen to task for encouraging rivalry and competition in the schoolroom. The article implies that the educator who encourages a competition among his pupils is "sowing the seeds of war in the classrooms." This is a lot of bosh.

Competition and Progress
The other day I was talking with some fishermen in Gloucester who are afraid of competition. They fear competition from Canada—competition from Japan—and competition among themselves. They are depending upon their many labor leaders to "save them from competition." The same is true of many another city and many another product of land and sea. Yet, great railroads that cross the country, the immense steel mills, the towering grain elevators,—all these have grown up out of keen competition.

I got to thinking about an incident that happened a dozen years ago in London. There, at the American Consulate, was Sikorsky, our great plane designer. He was en route to see his brother, a monk in one of the monasteries of the holy Mount Athos in Greece. Both men were white Russian refugees. Uprooted from their homes and with plans for their life disrupted, one brother ran away from life, but the other put his wits to work. One was afraid of competition; the other asked for it. And we all know the result.

Psychology and Adjustment
There are certain sensible psychologists who say that a well-adjusted man is one who has learned to take the bitter with the sweet. In short, he learns to adjust to his environment. A look about you will tell you that your environment is highly competitive. God made it that way. That's what he gave us brains for.

Down through the years the creatures which have failed to compete successfully with the forces opposed to them, have given way to those which could meet the conditions imposed upon them. The bones of those who feared competition fill the cemeteries; while the bones of those who have enjoyed competition are found in museums. What happened to the great Inca civilization of South America? Where is the great Pueblo culture of our Southwest? Gone too are the cultures of ancient Athens and Rome. Must we follow these others because we will not compete?

Competition Makes the Full Man
What do you suppose would happen to Joe Di Maggio if the New York ball club didn't have competition? Only the competition which Henry Ford forced made it possible for lots of us to own cars. The competition between oil companies has given us cheap gasoline to run these cars with. Because no one organization—yet—monopolizes the electric field, we have electric lights in our houses. Not only city homes but the farms too have lights, electrically powered machines in the barns, and electric stoves in the kitchens. Most of the good things we have today we owe to competition and inventors.

Remember those days in the early and mid-thirties when we left behind the "Man with the Hoe" and substituted for him "Six Men and a Shovel"? The competitive spirit all but died out in those days. What took its place was no credit to the United States, certainly as Christians we must—and are willing to—care for those in need. But more of the spirit of Horatio Alger—a little effort to "Strive and Succeed" is necessary to keep America going.

HOWDY FOLKS: Just because real estate people are willing to give you a lot for your money is no sign that it's dirt cheap.

"Are those your children or is it a picnic," said the conductor to the woman who was followed by nine youngsters. "Yes, they are my children, and it's no picnic," was her reply.

A wife is a woman who sticks with her husband through all the trouble he would not have had if he had not married her in the first place.

Well, most of us like to avoid trouble. And hundreds of motorists have learned that about the best way to prevent car trouble is to come here regularly for thorough lubrication. It's just wonderful how our lubrication jobs help keep cars running... longer and better. Try it for yourself!

How to Get More
Competition is stimulating. Competition is inspiring. It gets things done. Rivalry is American. Whether we like it or not, we live in a competitive world and a competitive age. Whether manufacturers, merchants, farmers or fishermen, let's prepare our children to take their rightful places in the competition they will have to face. Competition and rivalry make for productivity.
