ABOUT THESE TEEN AGERS.

There is a lot of worrying going on about the conduct of the so-called "Teen Agers," the group of boys and girls who range in age from 12 or 13 to 18 or 19 years. Public officials are scratching their heads, so-called civic leaders are worrying, trying to delve into the vacuum of space for the answer. They say these boys and girls are going plumb to Hades if we elders don't do something about it.

Well, if they do, don't blame the Teen Agers. Blame ourselves.

We are not at all worried about the young people of today if we will use a little common sense and GIVE these boys and girls the opportunities they are looking for—begging for.

We—you and I—have let a lot of racketeers, a lot of swivel chair nit-wits, a lot of foreign-minded scum, enact laws and regulations in this country which deprive the boys and girls of today of the opportunities we all enjoyed in our youth—opportunities to do SOMETHING.

Yes, we mean WORK. A labor inspector came out to Plymouth the other day. He found a Teen Ager who is within two months of being 18 years of age, clerking in a store and driving a delivery car an hour or so each afternoon.

The merchant was threatened with arrest—he was ordered to fire the kid and warned never again to commit such a "crime" against mankind or he would pay the penalty.

You need not look any further for the cause of juvenile delinquency.

WE—you and I—have, during these New Deal days, permitted alien-minded, the fuzzy-brained, no-good trouble makers and shake-down crooks, to run the affairs of our country and secure the enactment of laws and rules that FORCED young people into idleness, thereby creating the situation which is now being wrongly blamed upon the Teen Agers.

The vast majority of these boys and girls want to do something, but LAWS prevent them from doing anything to help themselves. Yes, LAWS force them into the gangs, the loafing, the temptation that is now causing so much worry among the older folks, who are directly responsible for the condition.

The fuzzy-brains and the stooges of these anti-American public officials, cried much about employment of young people—how it took jobs away from the elders, how it threatened the health of the boys and girls and how un-American it was to permit young people under 18 years of age to do anything except loaf.

We have deprived Teen Agers of any right to help themselves, to earn the little money they like to have and SHOULD have.

We have forced them into the crimes they commit. To get the money we say they can't earn, some of the more daring of the youngsters go out and hold up the beer-gardens and other joints where we elders sit and lap the suds from off the tops of beer glasses and talk about how terrible are the crimes of these mobs of Teen-Agers.

No—the mobs of Teen Agers who are causing the trouble in some of our cities, are not made up of boys and girls from the farms.

The fuzzy-brained fools who have forced this legislation upon the country didn't dare say to the country men and women who raise the food we eat that their boys and girls couldn't help to raise and harvest the crops. There is no law or rule against farm boys and girls working on the farms to help their parents.

As a result there are NO BOYS AND GIRLS from the farms mixed up in the Teen Age mobs that are causing so much worry.

Farm boys and girls can WORK to earn their spending money. They can buy the things they need with their OWN cash—but boys and girls who unfortunately through circumstances beyond their own control must live in the cities, can do little to help themselves.

But why talk about it any more. We know the cause and we know the answer—but we haven't got the gumption to do anything about it. Remember one thing, however, and that is this—the elders, the fathers and mothers, are directly to blame for what the Teen Agers do. So don't blame the boys and girls any more for their transgressions. Go look in the mirror and you will see one of the individuals who IS directly responsible for the deplorable plight of the bright boys and girls of America who have been DEPRIVED of the opportunities you enjoyed when a youngster.

We forgot to say that they've set aside September as Youth Month. We suppose that is the answer to all the questions of this vast subject, as some see it—but you've got my answer.

THE ISSUE DIVIDING THE WORLD.

Congressman George A. Dondero of this district, one of the hardest working members of congress, sometime ago made a brief speech in Washington. What he said stresses a point we should not forget—the world is being divided into two rival camps.

We use Congressman Dondero's own words in describing the two groups:

"The world is dividing into two camps: freedom versus communism; Christian civilization versus paganism; righteousness and justice versus force and violence.

"That eternal vigilance is the price of liberty" may be a trite saying; but, not since the founding of our Republic, has liberty been so seriously threatened as it is today. Its light has been going out all over the world. Here in our land alone does the lamp of freedom still shine as a beacon light of hope to a distressed and saddened world.

"Communism is the greatest menace and the worst threat to Christian civilization the world has ever seen. It has, thus

Eger-Jackson Co Will Speak About Leases New Store Church Education

Announcement was made Thursday by the Eger-Jackson company that they had leased the new store building next to the Peterson Drug store on West Ann Arbor trail. The firm plans to open in the new building on October first and will expand their present line of merchandise.

In addition to the floor coverings that they now carry, they will enlarge their asphalt tile department, carry a full stock of rugs and carpeting and a complete line of linoleum. They intend also to stock a full line of Fisher wall papers and Enterprise paints.

The company is owned by William Eger and George Jackson who have operated during the last two and one half years at their present location at 139 West Liberty street.

Miss Rachael Benfor, of the Presbyterian National Board of Christian Education, will be the speaker for the opening meeting of the fall for the Presbyterian Women's auxiliary on next Wednesday, September 8, at 2 p. m. in the church. Miss Benfor is greatly in demand throughout the nation as one of the finest speakers in the field of Christian Education.

It is only by reason of her presence in this locality that she is able to meet this speaking engagement. Mrs. Ruth Curtis, president of the auxiliary, will announce the further program of the group for the rest of the year at a later date. All women of the auxiliary, the church, and the community are invited to attend this important event.

Eleven Year Old Has First Polio Case in Plymouth

Marlee Smith, 11 year old Plymouth girl who was taken to the University hospital's contagious division Sunday, was reported by doctors yesterday to be better.

They stated that her temperature has dropped and that they expect improvement from now on.

Following Dr. Luther Peck's diagnosis of polio, the child's parent, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith of 882 Ross, took her to the hospital on Sunday. At that time paralysis had not set in, although her neck was reportedly stiff and she had a fever.

By Monday noon her condition had not changed, but that afternoon paralysis struck, affecting her arms, legs and internal organs.

Frank Herndon Fatally Injured While Playing

Six year old Franklin D. Herndon was killed Tuesday when a swing fell on him.

The boy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Herndon of 10667 Ann Arbor road in Superior township. Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 3 p. m. at the Schrader Funeral Home.

According to reports, young Franklin was playing on a swing which hangs from what resembles a tall saw horse. It is usually weighted down, but prior to the accident it had been used to move a motor, and the weights had not as yet been returned. He had been warned to stay off the swing under these circumstances. Franklin was dead on admission to the hospital.

Another boy was reported to have been injured when the swing fell. The latter ran, but the swing caught on his shoulder before he cleared the area.

The Rev. Benjamin L. Eicher will officiate at today's funeral, and hymns will be rendered on the organ by Mrs. Alta Woodworth. The bearers will be Jimmy Davis, Jimmy Coode, Jessie Robert Daniels and Dean Owens. Interment will be in Riverside cemetery.

Franklin is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Herndon, his brother, Jerry, Jr., and three sisters, Christine, Imogene and Joyce Ann, also surviving are his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Robertson of Tennessee, other relatives and a host of friends.

DPW Employees Ask Pay Increase

City employees, affiliated with the Department of Public Works, have presented a written request to city officials, asking wage increases for all classifications in the department.

Approximately a month ago these employees revealed their affiliation with the American Federation of State, County and Municipal employees. Their letter requesting the increase was dated August 20.

In addition to the wage request, they asked for one day sick leave each month.

City Manager Harold Cheek announces that he will meet with union representatives within the next week to discuss the request.

There are approximately 25 men employed by the DPW. They received their last pay increase on May 1 of this year, when city commissioners voted a raise for nearly all city employees, which included this department.

Fall Garden Club Meeting Planned

Flower arrangements by members of Plymouth's branch of the National Farm and Garden association will be featured at the first fall meeting to be held September 13, Mrs. Carl Shear, president, discloses.

Helpful suggestions will be given the members for their work by Mrs. A. L. Waite of the Redford township Garden Club. She is reported to have been awarded five or six first prizes in the Detroit flower show last spring.

This meeting, which is scheduled for next Friday, will be held at the Veterans' Community Center, and is slated to begin at 2 p. m.

School Officials Ready For City's 2000 Students

Two of Plymouth's busiest men during the past few weeks have been Superintendent Helmer Nelson, left, and new Plymouth High School principal, Cyrus Pierce, right, who have been making last minute preparations for next Wednesday's school opening.

Plymouth Schools Open Doors To Students Next Wednesday Morning

Next Wednesday, September 8, marks the end of a long summer vacation for Plymouth students, for that morning they will begin another nine months session with the books.

Schools opening at that time include: Starkweather Grade school, Central Grade school, the Lutheran school and Plymouth High school. School officials are

Heat Wave Forces Early Picking of Peach Crop

Peach growers in the vicinity of Plymouth are suffering a severe loss on this fall's crop due to the long continued hot spell, which has ripened both early and late peaches earlier than the crops should mature.

As a result the market has been flooded during the past ten days. If the heat continues, growers will be forced to pick even the late Albertas.

Last fall purchasers were paying an average of $5 to $6 per bushel.

The price this year has prevailed around the $2 and $3 figure most of the time, although during the early picking days, a little better price was secured.

While the consumer is able to purchase peaches at less than one half what was paid a year ago, the grower has been forced to meet far greater producing costs than he paid a year ago.

Baskets average from 10 cents to 20 cents more than a year ago, spraying costs have been more than doubled, and pickers are getting nearly twice the wage that was paid a year ago. Then, too, that late hail storm during the early summer caused untold damage to both fruit and trees.

One Plymouth peach grower declared that his income would be less than half what it was a year ago.

Housewives who have been planning on canning only the late peaches had better do their peach canning immediately, as the late crop is maturing many days ahead of the usual time, warns a well known Plymouth grower.

Two Clubs Meet in Donkey Game

Junior Chamber of Commerce and Lions club members are making ready for the donkey baseball game during which they will meet as opposing forces on September 9.

Eldon Martin, Jaycee member who is chairman of the game, reports that it will take place under the lights, on the high school field. The beginning time has been set at 8:30 p. m.

The Jaycees, who are the challengers, held a similar game on the Daisy field last year.

Plymouth To Be Deserted City Over Labor Day

Remember back some 75 years ago when Squire Fralick walked down the dirt path to the four corners and saw but two kids on the street?

Harry Robinson was playing around the old livery barn which stood where the Penniman-Allen theatre is now located. "Charlie" Bennett was fishing off a bridge that crossed a creek on Main street, just north of where the Plymouth Mail building now stands. He had dug some worms out back of his father's barn, located on the site of the present Masonic temple, and was trying his luck on that early September morning when Squire Fralick started out for a brief walk.

The story goes that these two kids were the only people the Squire saw on Plymouth streets that day some 75 years ago.

Well that's just about how the streets of Plymouth are going to look next Monday, September 6, which is Labor day.

Maybe there will be more than two kids on the streets. Maybe there will be a few folks who think it safer to stay home than hit the highways for the Labor day holiday period.

But from all that can be learned, there will not be a sufficient number of people left in Plymouth over the weekend to form a corporal's guard.

Inquiry reveals the fact that seemingly everybody has already left or is planning to leave for somewhere over the Labor holiday period.

Chief Lee Sackett, who rightly thinks that the vast majority of Plymouth automobile drivers are good drivers, is worried about what might happen to some of these good drivers if they get out on the main highways where drunks, nit-wits and the like think it cute to take chances while driving an automobile.

The chief wants to see every Plymouth driver come home sound in body and spirit—but he wants them to be careful of the other fellow, who is not as thoughtful as are most local drivers.

The Labor Day vacation period will end the summer lull. Schools open on Wednesday. Factories which close down Friday until Tuesday morning will reopen with full forces—and Plymouth will be back to normal. This is the last holiday period between now and Thanksgiving.

E. V. Jolliffe and son Larry returned to Plymouth Tuesday from a weekend visit at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Norman Kovall in Binghamton, New York. Mrs. Kovall is the former Merriam Jolliffe. They were accompanied east on their trip by Keith Jolliffe who entered the offices of the International Business Machine Company at Endicott, New York.

Dr. McIntyre Builds New Office

One of the newer additions recently completed in Plymouth is that which is built adjacent to the home of Dr. John McIntyre, optometrist, and which is serving as his new office.

The building was completed July 1, following three months of construction. It is of brick exterior, while the interior is of

Ypsilanti-Allegan Program Discussed Monday Night

Dwight E. Hand, a gray-haired little man with the vigor of a buzz-saw, who believes he has the formula for chopping down the high cost of housing, met with the Chamber of Commerce at the Mayflower Hotel last Monday night.

The Ypsilanti real estate man who has gained nationwide fame for his feats in the housing field, has this advice for those who want a roof over their heads in spite of high costs.

Would You Like To Be Alive Next Tuesday — Here's How

Here's how to stay alive over Labor day—if you drive your automobile on the crowded highways:

1. Take It Easy! Don't weave in and out of traffic. Maintain a steady driving pace without excessive speed or racing spurts in traffic.

2. Don't drive on wrong side of road. Keep to right at all times.

3. Don't pass on hills, curves or at street intersections.

4. Get an early start, going and coming, to avoid tension in crowded traffic. Rest when necessary to overcome fatigue.

5. Slow down at sundown; don't overdrive your headlights.

6. Watch for cars coming out of side roads, particularly after dusk, and obey all traffic signs calling for a "Full Stop."

Taylor & Blyton Mark Tenth Year

William Taylor and John Blyton are celebrating the tenth anniversary of the opening of their store this week. To make the community aware of their appreciation of the patronage given the store during the last ten years they are holding a gigantic anniversary sale which starts today.

Elsewhere in this issue Taylor and Blyton announce some of their better anniversary sale specials which should attract shoppers throughout this locality.

Safety Program Planned in City

Plymouth's Passage - Gayde post of the American Legion will observe safety week here starting September 13. A committee composed of Elton Knapp, Vern Miller, William Langmaid and Lester Pozick are completing plans for the observance.

The program will be supervised by the National Safety Council and will be largely publicized through the school, where 2,000 lapel buttons will be distributed to the children.

"Build your own," he says. To quell any doubts, Hand can take skeptics on a tour of some 200 homes in Ypsilanti that have been built by amateurs under his watchful eye.

"Anyone can do it," he says. "Well—almost anyone. Building a home is not quite so complicated as most people believe," says Hand.

"My theory is," he says, "that the average man can build 70 percent of his own home. He doesn't have to be a brick layer or carpenter either. I've seen awkward clerks learn to build their own."

Hand has no particular name for his system of cutting costs, but most persons call it, "The Co-Operative Home Building Project."

Essentially, it's just banding together of persons who need homes and can't pay high prices for them. They pool their muscles and their skill and after about nine months come up with new homes built at a saving anywhere from $2,000 to $12,000 each.

At the present time Hand has projects in Ypsilanti, Allegan and Brighton. A national newspaper publicity has attracted many groups from around the country to his projects and he expects to have them operating in many states within the next few months.

Harry M. Steffy, assistant state director of the Federal Housing Administration has offered to come to Plymouth to explain to local businessmen the availability of FHA funds for the financing of such a building program. Through FHA cooperation it is possible for people wanting homes to borrow 80% of the funds needed to build the same. Veterans under the same program may borrow 90% of the funds they need to build a home, from FHA.

Mr. Hand, in the case of the three programs he now has in operation in Michigan has organized groups in Allegan, Ypsilanti and Brighton to carry out his program so that it is entirely a local project with all supervision, labor, materials and financing coming directly from the community in which the program functions.

The "Hand System" is based mostly on two things: a person's bank account and his innate energy.

Election Boards Are Revealed

Sunday Heat Drives Hordes to Nearby Parks

Sunday's terrific heat drove not hundreds, but thousands of Detroit residents to the Wayne county parkway system in this locality.

By noon on Sunday there was hardly a parking space to be found anywhere in the nearby parks between Newburg and Northville.

The Plymouth Riverside park was so crowded that some visitors found it necessary to park their cars on nearby highways and then walk over to the park.

Every park table was in use, and in some cases several parties were waiting for others to complete their picnic dinners so they might use the stoves and tables.

Even all the roadside tables in this area were in use during the entire day.

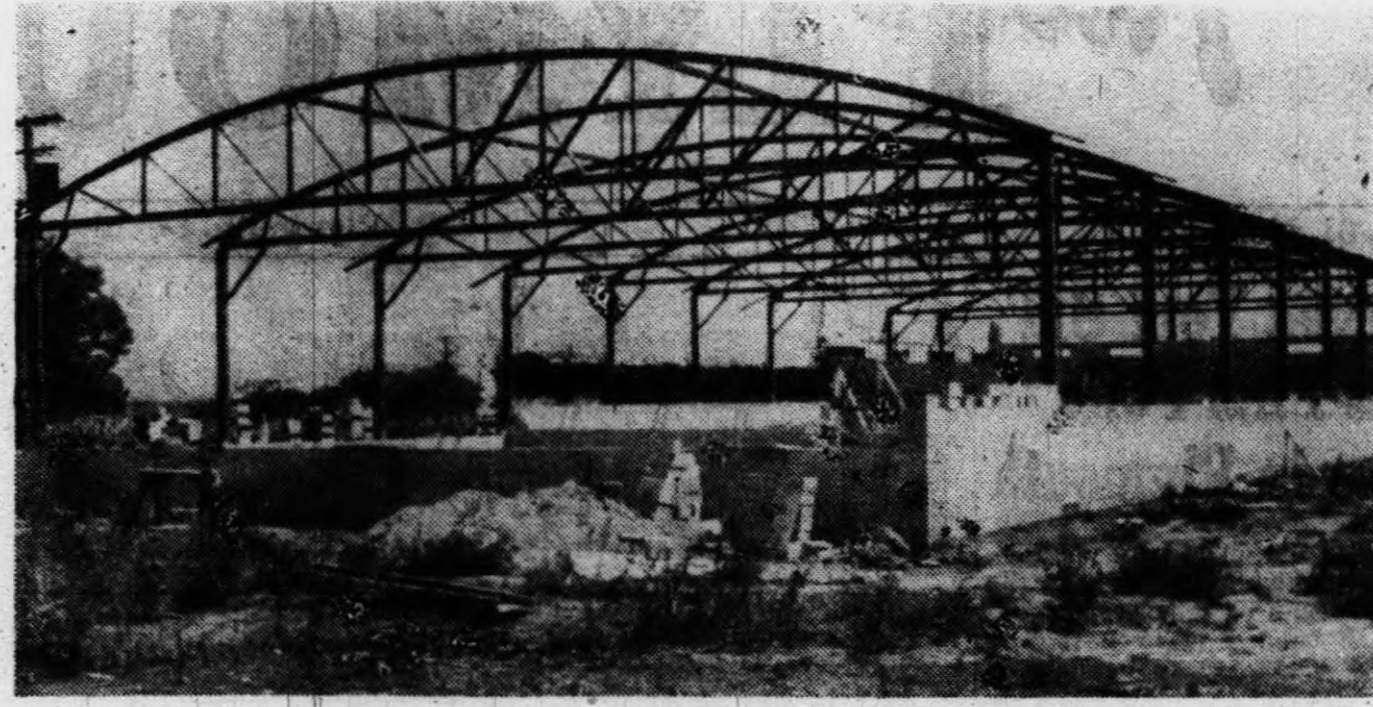

It was late Sunday night when crowds began leaving the parks. Few old timers recall such a long hot spell as has prevailed during the past two weeks.

There have been hot days now and then, but not in years has there been such a long continuous hot spell as that experienced during the last two weeks of August.

Crops have been somewhat damaged by the heat, especially peaches and apples.

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Hornbeck have just returned from a two week visit in southeast Kansas, Missouri and Illinois. Daisy Hornbeck returned with her parents, following a six weeks visit in Kansas.

Willoughby Builds Fruit Plant

PLYMAIL PHOTO

At the corner off Lilley road and U.S. 12, marked progress is being made on the fruit storage and processing plant being built by Robert Willoughby.

Work has been underway for approximately 45 days, and completion is expected to be reached by October 1. In fact, Mr. Willoughby adds, he expects that it will be functioning by that time.

Primarily built for the handling of his own fruit, he adds that he may rent a portion if it should not be filled. The building measures 60 by 170 feet, and the capacity has been estimated at 40,000 bushel. It will be of glazed tile, and the design was handled by the All-Tile, Incorporated. The front portion of the building includes a grading and processing room, and the remainder will be used for storage.

Behrendt Runs for Office Again

Sheriff Edward Behrendt, who completed 20 months of his first two year term of office on August 31, is a candidate to succeed himself on the Republican ballot at the forthcoming primary election, September 14.

He is believed to be the only man ever to become sheriff after having been a deputy. He worked under the late Henry Behrendt during the latter's terms as sheriff during 1931-32 and 1935-36. Although assigned to a wide variety of duties during these four years, he was a road patrolman for the longest period.

Patchen Group Meets Friday

Patchen PTA will open the season with a get-acquainted meeting on Friday, September 11 at 8 p. m. in the school.

Special guests of the meeting will be the new principal, Ted Pregistor, and the new kindergarten teacher, Miss Darnkat.

The meeting will also serve as a welcome to the new officers. They are: president, Mrs. Karl Wehmann; vice president, Mrs. Betty Kemnitz; secretary, Mrs. Lucy Sorenson; treasurer, Norman Kock.

All are welcome to attend the meeting. Refreshments will be served.

WHAT I THINK AND HAVE A RIGHT TO SAY

far, blocked all efforts to world peace. Its purpose is to enslave the earth.

"I shall vote for the Mundt bill as a weapon of national defense and that we Americans may continue to sing, 'My country 'tis of thee, sweet land of liberty'."

THE PEOPLE OF MICHIGAN WIN!

Among the most valued possessions of the beautiful state of Michigan are the shore lines of the Great Lakes.

Down through the years, unfortunately, our state has permitted hundreds of miles of these shore lines to slip from public to private ownership, with the result that the state owns only a few miles here and there of the most fascinating lake shore lines to be found anywhere in America.

It is for that reason that we have watched with considerable interest the efforts of the Attorney General to secure the return to the people of Michigan of a mile or more of Lake Huron shores that were traded off by the highway department in a right-of-way land deal with a Flint real estate promoter.

Apparently the facts in the case were of such a nature that the dealer was glad to make a new deal with the state by turning back to the people a full mile of Lake Huron shore frontage. It was specified, and rightly so, that this frontage was never to be sold, but to be used solely for all the people of the state.

We commend Attorney General Black for having instituted the proceedings which restore to the people of Michigan a most valuable piece of Great Lakes shore lines.

WILL YOU DO IT?

For hundreds of thousands of people the weekend which will extend over Labor Day will mark the close of the 1948 vacation period.

That means that the highways of Michigan and other states will be crowded with speeding automobiles.

Basing the statement upon past records, many will be killed over this period in automobile accidents. For these accidents, there is always some one person who is responsible.

Let it be said that it was not YOU who did the killing. Plymouth has always been proud of its traffic record. That means that this city has more careful drivers than the average community of its size. Let's try to make the Labor day holiday period a spotless one—one free of traffic accidents of all kinds. Our carefulness will result in saving lives—and the life of a useful person these days is priceless.

A GREAT STATESMAN.

When this nation paid final tribute to Charles Evans Hughes a few days ago, it paid tribute to one of America's greatest statesmen. As we look back over the years, what a tragic thing it was for these United States of ours that he was not elected president when he came so close to winning. Maybe through his great ability and leadership he could have guided the nation through the hectic world conditions without involving us in war. Even though he was not elected president, he has written his name boldly into American history.

No Baby Ever Born Within Confines of Michigan's Only Woman's Prison

Hot words were sizzling into the telephone out at the Detroit House of Correction not so long ago. Some one was asking how come a certain woman prisoner had been removed to a Detroit hospital, when the well conducted local prison had a good temporary hospital unit of its own.

"See here, fellow, there's never been a baby born within this institution as long as I have been here, and as long as I am here no baby ever will be born in this prison," roared Supt. A. Blake Gillies into the phone mouthpiece.

Bang—went the phone onto the receiver, which was sparking from the heated words.

"Don't publish anything about that," said the Warden as he glanced at a Plymouth Mail reporter.

"Nothing doing," was the response.

The great state of Michigan which has bungled its woman prison problem for years, has been forced to send all of its women prisoners to the Detroit House of Correction, probably the best conducted woman's prison in the United States.

Inquiry revealed the fact that those in charge of this well managed institution have maintained a strict rule that no baby shall ever be born within the prison.

"No one will be able some day in the years to come to point a finger at some young man or woman and say 'you were born in a prison.' It is bad enough for a mother to have been an inmate, but why force such a stigma upon a child? Well, they are not going to do it," stormed the warden.

Patchen School
Patchen school will begin September 8 at 9 a. m. and sessions will continue until noon.

According to reports, the school bus of the district will pick up both high school and grade school students.

The bus route has been described as the following by Mrs. Kenneth Sorenson, school board president. It will start at the Clyde Smith farm, and will go south on Newburg to Warren and Hix. Here it was added that all high school students north of Warren on Hix should walk to Warren and Hix. The bus will continue south on Hix to Cherry Hill, east on Cherry Hill to Newburg, north on Newburg to Warren, east on Warren to Ford, north on Ford to Joy, and west on Joy to Newburg to the school.

Mrs. Sorenson announces that the bus will start about 7 a. m. to pick up high school students, and will pick up at from five to ten minute intervals on the route. Picking up of the grade school students will begin at approximately 8 a. m. at the beginning of the route, and will be about the same timing as the previous run. The only change in the grade school run, is that this route will begin north of Joy on Hix. The remainder of the route will be the same.

The teaching staff includes the following, the report further reveals: Miss Dorothy Doornkoat, kindergarten and music; Mrs. Gladys Stacey, first and second grades; Mrs. Ida Mae Bell, second and third grades; Mrs. Zelma Huebner, fourth and third grades; Mrs. Louva Waterman, fifth and sixth grades; Charles T. Pregitzer, principal and seventh and eighth grade teacher. Mrs. Marion Butt, relief teacher for seventh and eighth grades; Alfred Tallman, custodian.

Circuit Judge Seeks Re-Election

Circuit Judge Miles M. Culehan, who is scheduled as a speaker for the Plymouth Kiwanis club meeting of September 21, is seeking re-election in the forthcoming election.

He is a veteran of both World Wars, and served for five years in the last war.

Judge Culehan began his public life as a clerk for the late Judge John Faust, of the Recorder's court, following World War I. A lawyer for 25 years, he was an assistant prosecutor under Harry S. Toy, the present Detroit police commissioner, from 1930 to 1935, and later chief assistant attorney general.

Air Parcel Post Began This Week

With the inauguration of nationwide—worldwide air parcel post September 1, the United States can boast of the most modern and expeditious delivery service in the world, according to Assistant Postmaster Beatrice Schultz.

The new highly specialized airborne service, enacted into law by the 80th Congress, will afford patrons of more than 42,000 post offices in America and its possessions unexcelled shipping facilities. Transit time will be reduced in America to a fraction of that time required by other modes of transportation.

Postmaster Schultz pointed out that air parcel post packages will receive the same particular consideration shown air mail routing. In addition, identical doorstep delivery will be given to air parcel post as is afforded other forms of mail, making the airborne mail service unique in every respect.

She added that distinct air parcel post stickers, printed in red, white and blue and bearing the likeness of a winged package with the earth's globe underneath, will soon be available without cost at the Plymouth Post Office to apply to outgoing packages.

"With a scheduled plane take-off or landing within the United States on an average of every seven seconds around the clock, and an overseas-bound plane leaving our borders every 30 minutes, we stand ready to give our patrons the fastest parcel post service offered anywhere," the assistant postmaster, Mrs. Schultz, said.

While international air parcel post service has been available from the United States and its possessions for several months, domestic airborne service is being launched for the first time in history.

Help Your Child To Help Himself

Many a child who does poorly in schoolwork, does so because he is handicapped by minor defects of sight and hearing. These deficiencies, minor as they are, tend to set him apart from his fellows, give him an inferiority complex, hold him back in his studies and make him nervous and listless in the classroom. Help your child to help himself. Have your physician give him a thorough physical examination before each school term. A healthy child—one who sees, hears, and feels well—learns better and faster.

Veterans Institute Classes Resume

The opportunity for veterans to complete their high school education is again being made available by the Plymouth board of education, Carvel Bentley, coordinator, announces.

Night school classes are being offered in Plymouth's Veterans' Institute, with such subjects available as American history, government, English, mathematics, social and economic problems, and others which the enrollee desires. Any of these may be taken and applied for high school credit.

The Veterans' Institute has been operating in Plymouth for the past two years and a number of veterans have received their high school diploma, after satisfactorily completing the requirements.

There is no cost to the veteran for tuition, supplies or books, Bentley states, as they are entitled to these privileges under the G. I. Bill of Rights.

Before enrolling in the Institute, the veteran must produce a certificate of eligibility for education, which is obtained by presenting his discharge papers to the Veterans Administration in the Union Guardian building, Griswold street, Detroit. In many cases, high school credit is allowed for basic training and military service, and for various schools completed while in service.

Veterans taking apprenticeships or other on-the-job training programs, may also receive their related subjects in the Veterans Institute. Classes will resume at 7 p. m., Monday, September 13, at Plymouth High school, room 24 on the second floor.

Those who have questions concerning credits earned while enrolled at high school or credits earned in service, may contact Mr. Bentley at Plymouth High school, phone 610, or at his home, phone 372-J. Otherwise, they may go to the high school on the evening mentioned above, and their problems will be taken care of at that time.

St. John's Auxiliary Will Meet on September 14

The Women's auxiliary of St. John's Episcopal church will hold their fall meeting at the home of Mrs. William Aston in Northville at 2 p. m. the afternoon of the 14th of September.

The auxiliary, which is comprised of all the women members of the church meets four times a year. It has become a custom to hold the fall meeting at the home of Mrs. Aston.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Gould are vacationing at Houghton lake. Mr. Gould reports that he landed a 20 pound catch.

Belva Barnes Returns From Paris

Miss Belva Barnes

Back from almost a six months' stay in Paris is Belva Barnes, daughter of Mrs. Mildred Barnes of North Harvey street.

Recounting the history of her stay in that great European capital city, Miss Barnes explained that she was there working on the Marseille reconstruction project. Her specific job dealt with the planning of an apartment building designed to house 1,500 people.

Back tracking a little on her story, Miss Barnes disclosed that prior to her trip to France, she was affiliated with one of the New York firms involved in planning for the United Nations' headquarters. Her work there brought her in contact with LeCorbusier, France's representative on the ten man board of international design, who offered her a position with the French government's project. She accepted, resigned her New York job, and soon sailed for France.

There she worked under LeCorbusier, recognized as one of the world's greatest architects and his partner, Valdimir Bodiansky, described by Miss Barnes as one of the great contemporary engineers.

When Miss Barnes further mentioned the French project, she cited that in addition to usual apartment house accommodations, it will include such advanced features as a department store, nursery school, athletic field on the roof, and an outdoor theater. "One could almost live here year in and year out without ever having to leave," she mused as she enumerated these novel additions.

The old Parisian atmosphere prevailed in the environs surrounding Miss Barnes, for she lived on the island in the middle of the city; the oldest section of Paris. It is in the same section as Notre Dame, she explained.

"The food was wonderful." She voiced this opinion in spite of her continued description of the country which revealed that there is no butter to be had, and that coffee is rationed at 200 grams a month. Milk is available only for children and expectant mothers, she continued, and even they are not reported to be able to get enough. Meat and pastries are sold only three days a week instead of being put on a ration list. Consequently, Miss Barnes added that she really looked forward to these days, which were Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Refrigeration is something you'll find only in the large restaurants of Paris, she answered when questioned as to how the food is kept from spoiling. The majority of homes have no method of refrigeration whatsoever, and most of them do not even have ice. Thus, they have to market every day. This, she added, accounts for the big long lines one sees every day in front of the city's stores.

Before concluding her story of these few months in Paris, Miss Barnes added that the American in Paris seemed to outnumber the French. There are a great many G. I.'s in school there, she told in accounting in part for this unusual fact. Although she liked Paris, she announced that she was more than glad to return to this country.

Miss Barnes was graduated from the University of Michigan in 1943 with a degree in architecture. Following graduation she went to New York. She plans to return to her former position in that city within the next week.

De Ho Co Beats Albion and Wins State Tournament

DeHoCo Wins Softball Tourney As Cowboy Misialowski Hits Homer

The first softball tournament ever held in Plymouth was taken by the Detroit House of Correction squad last Sunday afternoon when they edged Albion 2-1 in an eight inning battle.

Both squads, realizing that this was the deciding contest, played a top notch ball game. The game seemed destined to last for several innings when Cowboy Misialowski stepped up in the first of the eighth inning with two outs and Fat Williams on first base via the walk route. Pitcher

Bob Tanner came through with a fat pitch and the Cowboy blasted a tremendous drive over the left fielder's head for a home run.

However, Albion still had its turn at bat and they went down fighting. After "Bushey" Trombley struck out the first batter of the inning, Tom Kellogg batted for John King and drove a hard grounder to shortstop Bischoff, who let the ball roll through his legs. The DeHoCo squad was tense this last inning and the errors showed the strain on them. Art Richards batted for Wilbur King and singled to center, sending Kellogg to third. With men on first and third Haines hit a double play ball to Cowboy Misialowski. Cowboy picked up the ball cleanly, but he threw the ball into left field permitting one run to score and placing the other two runners on second and third with but one away. Trombley, not worried at all about the state of affairs, struck out Hubbard and Pannicia to give DeHoCo its first tournament championship.

Albion Wins Four In a Row After Losing to DeHoCo

In a game that decided the team that was to play DeHoCo in the finals Albion stopped Allen Park 3-2. The deciding run came over in the last of the seventh when after Kellogg walked Joe Canna bunted to Bourdeau at third base. In his anxiety to nab the runner Bourdeau threw the ball into right center and Kellogg ran all the way around to score the deciding run.

Albion started their tournament play, losing to Allen Park 4-0. Then they started rolling when Bob Linton chucked a no-hitter over Garden City. Only two walks marred his otherwise perfect game.

On Saturday Albion stopped Ypsilanti 8-1. Albion tallied eight unearned runs in the first inning when second baseman Plonte muffed a double play chance, missing the tag and then throwing wildly to first base.

After these wins Albion pulled the upset of the tournament defeating DeHoCo 2-1. Bob Tanner gave up but two hits to gain credit for the game. In the top of the sixth Albion put together four singles and a sacrifice to tally two runs. The hit getters were Joe Canna, Wilbur King, Bob Tanner and Dave Hubbard.

In the last half of the sixth DeHoCo almost tied the game up. After Bischoff had tallied a run on a couple of errors Tiny Moore went to second base on an error by the second baseman Wilbur King. Then Al Mueller banged a hit into center field, but as Moore was going to third he tripped over umpire Bill Johnson. Moore picked himself up, but was out at third base. Quite an argument followed, however the DeHoCo runner was finally called out. Trombley then hit back to the box and Albion had scored the upset of the tournament.

Beglinger Pitcher Hurls No-Hitter

On Tuesday evening, August 31, Beglinger Oldsmobile bolstered their ball club with "Gabby" Street, Bud Krumm and Charley Epps and submerged Nick's Inn at the High school field by the score of 5-0.

It was a no-hitter for Gabby, as only one man reached first base. It was Nick's pitcher, Graham LaRue, who received a walk. Nick's boys did not hit a ball out of the infield during the seven innings of play.

Gabby's pitching displayed an unusual amount of "stuff on the ball" and his fielding was spectacular. It will be interesting to see what he can do with the state champs when Beglinger Olds meets DeHoCo out there next Thursday evening at 7 p. m. This game should prove to be a great exhibition of softball.

The Chippewa Warriors local baseball club, which is made up of Minnesota Chippewa Indians, and is sponsored by the businessmen of Plymouth, Northville and Wayne, will play its last game for the season, September 5, at Grayling. Their sponsors are James Coslow, Chet Box, Jack's Barber shop, John Polous, Fred's Standard Service station, the G and G Auto Service, Bill Gibson, Benny McDonald and Frank Schaffer.

In Mexico City, J. Warner Steele was asked by Spocraft Inc. to take on the job of pushing their line of skis, snowshoes and sleds in Guatemala.

The victorious DeHoCo squad ran off the field to the cheers of the fans. Immediately following the game Herb Woolweaver, recreation director, presented the individual medals to DeHoCo and to Albion. George Gilles, DeHoCo's manager, said he appreciated the efforts of Herb Woolweaver and Ralph Johnson for their splendid work on the tournament.

Winning one game by forfeit and another by the regular route, the DeHoCo squad of Plymouth took a top position in the softball Class B tournament after Friday's play.

DeHoCo Takes Two Friday Night

When Marshall didn't show up at 5 p. m., the contest was forfeited to DeHoCo. Then later in the evening the Plymouth representative in the tournament played the Ypsilanti Motor State. Earlier in the day Ypsi defeated Garden City 4-1.

Plante, Ypsi second baseman, started the contest off by sending a grounder to Bishop at third base. He threw to McCullough at first, but the latter dropped the ball permitting Plante to reach base. Plante was erased on a double play, however, when Barnett popped a bunt to Bishop and then the third baseman tossed to first to complete the twin killing. In the DeHoCo half, Chuck Bishop, an addition from Olds to DeHoCo, singled with one out. Emil Gagnon, Ypsi pitcher, however, stopped the prospective rally short by forcing Trombley and Williams to go out easily.

The contest proceeded along the same course the next few innings with both hurlers pitching effective ball. Trombley had the better of the contest as he didn't allow a walk and struck out 12. DeHoCo finally scored in the fifth after Ross flied out to deep center and Al Bischoff walked. Gagnon continued his wild spree giving Tex McCullough a free pass to first. Gagnon then uncorked a wild pitch permitting both runners to advance. With men on second and third Tiny Moore flied to center Bischoff came across with the run that meant the ball game.

Ypsi threatened in the seventh after Barnett went down swinging and Higgins singled. Chisel also singled to right and when Higgins attempted to take third he was out on a perfect peg from right fielder Ross to third baseman Bishop. That broke the rally and saved the game for DeHoCo.

Plymouth Field Day is Planned for Next Saturday

Plymouth's second annual Field Day is now scheduled for next Saturday, September 11, Herb Woolweaver, recreation director, announces.

The city's Kiwanis club is sponsoring the event, he discloses, and the recreation department is supervising the running of it. It will take place on the high school field, and is slated to begin at 1 p. m. The day's events will conclude with a street dance. Woolweaver stated in his description of the plans. The afternoon's program includes short dashes and novelty races for children, while those in an older age group will participate in jumping races and ball throwing. Numerous other events are planned in which members of teams in the Old Timers and Men's Open leagues are expected to participate. These will include shot put, base running, softball throw and short dash.

Woolweaver expressed that all teams in the recreation department's softball league will enter three or four of its men in these events.

In case of rain, the events will be held the following Saturday.

Whipple Wins Tennis Tourney

Edson Whipple, Plymouth's only entry in the Wayne tennis tournament held in that city last week, emerged victorious last Sunday morning. Whipple, Plymouth High senior, won the boys 17 and under division.

The deciding match was against Ben Hogdtkin of Wayne. The match was continued Sunday morning after darkness had halted the proceedings Friday evening. Whipple won two out of three sets to cop the tourney, winning 6-3 and 6-2, while losing the one set 6-2.

In previous tournament matches, Whipple defeated Bill Edinburg of Wayne and Vinc Gabriel of Garden City. This tournament was the first one the Whipple had ever entered, and by his form in it, he will probably be a tennis star for many years to come.

Now that the summer program is concluded the fans' attention will be turned toward the high school corner. Football practice is underway at Plymouth High under coach Eddie Bender and cross country will start soon under coach Konrad Moiso. For the next nine months high school sports will be the important news.

Ladies' League Captains Are Asked to Register

All team captains of the Parkview Ladies' league are asked by Mr. Schuster to register with him by September 10.

He announces that Ladies' league bowling will begin September 15 if all teams are registered. He urges the teams to get lined up as soon as possible so the bowling can get underway.

Wayne Falan, former Plymouth High coach, has accepted a position as assistant professor and full-time coach at Paw Paw High school.

Falan has been sent out from Western Michigan college as a critic teacher on the college training plan.

The former coach at Plymouth High in 1946 and 1947, will coach baseball, basketball and football at Paw Paw. Falan graduated from Western Michigan in 1941 and subsequently entered the army and was coach at Reed City before coming to Plymouth. The 33 year old Michigander received his Master's degree from the University of Michigan this past year.

Report Made on Benefit Games

Benefit games held during the summer have been terminated, and the committee has issued the following financial report.

The total amount received was $218.04. Expenses were cited as $56.51, with $10.76 going for federal tax, $24 for lights, $14.25 for advertising and $7.50 for balls. The umpires donated their services.

This left the total at $161.53. From this amount the following benefits were received: Josephine Rogers, Daisy Girls' team, $46; Fred Thompson, Nick's Inn team, $19; Donald Dunn, Nick's Inn, $13; and Dolly Bonterse of the Rosedale Gardens team, $14. These came to a total of $92, leaving a balance of $69.53. The committee voted to leave it in the accident fund and save it for possible injuries during the basketball season.

The report was submitted by committee members, Doug Egloff, Floyd Fleming, Bud Wilson and Herb Woolweaver.

In Indianapolis, Horace Greeney Stamps eluded Indiana state prison guards, was last seen heading west.

The one game that Mt. Clemens won was from Allen Park 5-4. Johnson was the winner of that game.

Friday evening Monroe beat Mt. Clemens 1-0 in a 12 inning tilt that weakened both squads. The next day Monroe lost two straight to DeHoCo and to Allen Park to drop out of the tournament.

On the first day of play in the tournament Rocky Stone of Monroe hurled a no-hitter over Melvindale. He struck out 16 batters and walked but two for a fine pitching performance.

The Melvindale squad lost their second game Friday also, losing to Allen Park 5-0. Merle Garner held Melvindale to one hit in this game; a single by Laverne Ruhl. In 14 innings of play this one hit was the only safety Melvindale was able to garner.

Joe's Jottings

For the first time in our life we witnessed a state softball tournament and we have come to one definite conclusion: the pitcher's box should be moved back a couple of feet. In this tournament alone three no-hitters were racked up. A no-hitter is no longer rare in softball, it happens everyday. The poor batter hasn't much of a chance with only 43 feet between him and the pitcher. If the pitcher's box is moved back three or four feet and the bases set back the same distance, the game will open up a bit and we're sure a better style of softball will be played. The spectators would probably welcome this change also.

Great Americans Boys' Team Camp Eight Days at Silver Lake Park

Seven members of the Great Americans ball club in Class F, plus the director, cook and guides, attended an eight day camping trip at Silver Lake state park near Mears, Michigan from August 16 to the 24th.

These boys earned the trip by collecting $58.74 worth of scrap paper and junk. The paper and junk were sold by Harold Johnson and John Angvine. These

Trophy, Medals Given Winners of MRA Tourney

Winning the Michigan Recreation Association softball tournament in Class "B" for the first time in the city's history, the Plymouth squad represented by the Detroit House of Correction was awarded a trophy and medals were presented each member of the team.

Sponsoring the Plymouth industrial league, who are members of the Michigan Recreation Association, were Herbert Woolweaver, Plymouth Recreational Director and Ralph Johnson of Ypsilanti who handled the tournament that was held in Plymouth this year.

After awarding the members of the DeHoCo squad their individual medals for first place and the Albion team medals for runner-up, Herb Woolweaver made a stirring talk to the gathered crowd of spectators. His fitting remarks that the city of Plymouth was honored to have been able to have witnessed such fine sportsmanship during the tournament was a tribute to the players and communities represented.

Ralph Johnson, tournament director, thanked the participants and the crowd of spectators for their fine sportslike attitude during the tournament and was grateful to the citizens of Plymouth and surrounding communities for the attendance records during the tournament.

Speaking in the absence of A. Blake Gilles, was superintendent of DHC, George B. Gilles, hallmaster and manager of the winning team who stated, "The entire administrative heads of the institution were grateful to the citizens of Plymouth for allowing a team from the Detroit House of Correction to participate in their Plymouth Industrial league and were really thankful that they were able to represent this community in the state finals. It was with great concern that they entered the tournament and that the foremost wish of the players was to bring the title to Plymouth. In doing so they hoped that the citizens of Plymouth would honor them again in letting future softball teams participate in their leagues as the sense of good fellowship and sportslike atmosphere was the greatest moral builder known."

Hallmaster Gilles was inspiring in his talk and gave considerable mention to the directors of the tournament, Ralph Johnson and Herb Woolweaver, for the fine capable manner in which the tournament was held. He stated that the citizens of Plymouth should feel proud of the diligent effort these men put forth in making the tournament a success.

Eddie's Defeat E & L for Inter County Title

Class A in the Michigan Inter County baseball league has a new champion for the third straight season this time Eddie's.

Eddie's counted two runs in the tenth inning to down E & L in the title game Sunday, 9-7. The losers held a 7-2 lead in the third frame. Jim Bell's relief pitching featured the game as he held E & L to three hits in the last 7½ innings.

This evening Eddie's will meet Royal Oak at 8:30 p. m. at the Royal Oak diamond. Royal Oak is the Southern-Oakland County champion. Eddie's will also play tomorrow at 2 p. m. or 4 p. m. Of the six teams in the Michigan tournament the three highest will enter the national championships beginning at Youngstown, Ohio Saturday, September 11.

In the Class B division of the Inter-County four clubs are still battling for the crown. On Sunday Plymouth Utilities stopped Grandale Merchants 14-2 to take first place in the playoff race. Other contests saw Wayne eliminate Trenton 6-1 and Clarenceville skinned by Garden City 7-5 to eliminate them from further play.

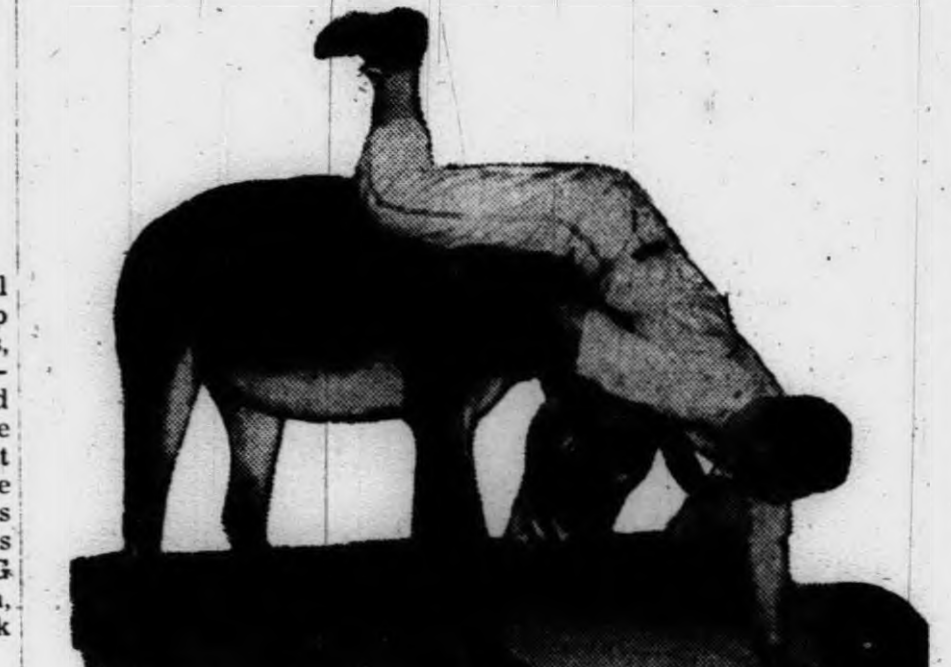

This Sunday Grandale is carded to play Clarenceville at Cass Benton at 3 p. m. and Utilities plays Wayne at 3 p. m. on the Riverside diamond. The two winners will meet Monday at Riversiders Park at 3 p. m.

Patchen Students Must Register

Children planning to attend the Patchen school for this approaching session must register and be graded next Wednesday, September 8, beginning promptly at 9 a. m.

According to an announcement made this week, children entering kindergarten through grade four, will be cared for in the new building, and those entering grades five through eight will be accommodated in the older building.

Children entering Patchen school for the first time, including both beginners and other grade students, should be accompanied by a parent or guardian who is prepared to provide the registrar or teacher with the following information: proof of child's birth, proof of grade level, child's full name, parents' full names, parents' occupations, child's hobbies and experiences, last school attended, necessary addresses, home language, family or substitute doctor, religious preference.

Registration and grading of children will be completed by noon of that day. On Thursday, August 9, school will be actually in session.

In Tokyo, Gin Hosaka, an unmarried expectant mother, told the court why she had been stealing: to support her lover, his wife and his six children.

In Tokyo, firemen who have been influenced by U. S. advertising methods proudly displayed Fire Prevention Week signs, urging citizens to "keep your home burning."

In Baltimore, Arthur Jackson left home and a bitter farewell note to his wife explaining that he was sick and tired of her and the four children, signed himself "your loving husband."

This is Our Policy . . . on

✓ DELIVERIES, ✓ PRICES, ✓ TRADE-INS
✓ FINANCING, ✓ ACCESSORIES

When a manufacturer produces a car so obviously ahead of the times as the Futuramic Oldsmobile, it's only natural that demand for that product should break all records. Add to this today's pent-up need for automobiles—plus continuing shortages of steel and other critical materials—and you'll see why we have a real problem on our hands. We value the good will of all our customers. We would like to provide all our customers with new Oldsmobile cars. But unfortunately, this can't be done overnight. That is why we are taking this opportunity to reaffirm publicly our POLICIES ON PRICES AND DELIVERIES. We believe that under present circumstances these policies constitute a sound basis for "fair play" to everybody. And we hope that, on this basis, we may continue to serve you.

Nutrition Aids

from the American Red Cross Nutrition Service

The peak of the Michigan peach crop is due at almost any time and Plymouth homemakers will be storing part of the crop away for use next winter. This year's yield has been high enough to make canning and freezing well worthwhile.

The Nutrition Service of the American Red Cross advises using as much care in choosing peaches for canning or freezing as for eating out of hand. There is no kitchen magic that can turn inferior fruit into a delicious canned product, so start out with the best you can buy. For economy's sake you may prefer to use the smaller sizes which are usually less costly than the larger ones. For good flavor and color buy peaches that are firm, free from blemishes and ripe. This last doesn't mean soft—just ripe enough to have a yellow or white background—no green tinge. To get a good price you'll probably be buying in bushel lots. Sort out the fruit and can the fully ripened portion one day, leaving the rest for later.

A bushel of peaches will yield from 18 to 24 quarts, depending partly on the size and quality of the fruit and on the method of canning. Cooking the fruit in syrup to shrink it and to drive out the air is most satisfactory both from the standpoint of getting a more solid pack in the jar and from preventing the discoloration of the fruit.

Here are directions for doing it:

CANNED PEACHES
Wash fully ripe peaches. Dip in boiling water for about one minute, then into cold water to loosen skins. Peel, halve and pit, preparing only enough peaches to fill jars that will go into canner. Slice, if liked. To prevent darkening drop peaches into water containing 2 tablespoons each of salt and vinegar per gallon. Drain just before dropping into syrup.

Heat peaches through in syrup made by boiling sugar and water together for five minutes. (Use 1 cup sugar to either 2 or 3 cups water, depending on sweetness desired.) If the peaches are very juicy use no syrup, but add about 1/2 cup sugar to each quart of fruit. Bring to boiling point over very low heat to prevent scorching.

Pack hot fruit into hot, clean glass jars to within 1/2 inch of top. Adjust caps. Process in boiling water for 20 minutes, for either pints or quarts. As soon as jars are removed from canner complete seal unless self-sealing caps are used.

Fresh peaches have it all over canned ones in flavor and color, so use them for many desserts while they're in season. They're probably best of all sweetened with sugar and served with cream, used as a sauce for vanilla ice cream, rice, tapioca or cornstarch pudding, or as the filling for shortcake.

Peach Melba, one of the most famous of all peach desserts can be made by anyone—maybe not quite like the original dessert but elegant enough to impress the most finicky guest. Here's the way to do it:

Select perfect red-cheeked peaches and cook them gently in a sugar syrup—adding a little white wine if liked—until tender. Drain and remove skins. The peaches will retain the red color from the skins. Chill, halve and pit.

Arrange the peach halves in serving dishes and top with vanilla ice cream. Pour Melba sauce over the top and serve at once.

MELBA SAUCE
One cup pulp and juice of red raspberries, 1/2 cup currant jelly, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 tablespoon cornstarch, 1 tablespoon cold water. Add jelly and sugar to strained raspberries and bring to boiling point. Add cornstarch mixture with cold water. Boil until mixture is thick and clear, stirring constantly. Strain and chill. Makes six servings.

Here are two simpler desserts that are favorites.

PEACH ROLL
Make up baking powder biscuit dough and roll out in rectangle to 1/4-inch thickness. Pare and slice 6 peaches and place on dough. Sprinkle with 1/2 cup sugar and 1 1/2 tablespoons lemon juice. Roll up as for jelly roll. Place seam side down on greased baking sheet. Brush with melted butter or margarine and sprinkle with sugar. Bake in hot oven, 400 degrees F., 25 to 30 minutes. Cut in slices and serve with lemon sauce or cream. Makes six servings.

PEACH CRUMBLE
Slice enough fresh peaches to fill a glass pie plate or a shallow baking dish. Mix one cup each brown sugar and flour with 1/4 cup butter or margarine until crumbly, adding a little cinnamon, if liked. Sprinkle over peaches. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees F., for 45 minutes. Serve warm in baking dish with cream or top milk. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

by REV. ROBERT H. HARPER
Aquila and Priscilla.
Lesson for Sept. 5: Acts 18: 1-3, 18a, 19, 24-26; Romans 16: 3-5a; 1 Corinthians 16: 19; II Timothy 4: 19.

TOMORROW will be Labor Day and fittingly our lesson dignifies labor and tells of a union of labor for good. Paul and Aquila were tentmakers, and in Corinth Paul labored with Aquila, and abode in his home.

Aquila and his wife, Priscilla, were Jews of Pontus, who had lately come to Corinth from Rome. Between them and Paul was developed a friendship that endured through the years. Priscilla was a worthy companion of her husband in all good works. They went with Paul to Ephesus and there became valuable teachers in the church.

The cultured Apollos of Alexandria preached eloquently in Ephesus. But there was something lacking from his preaching. He had learned only part of Christian truth and his sermons lacked the message of redemption. Aquila and Priscilla "expounded unto him the way of God more accurately," and Aquila was scholar enough to listen.

Some preachers and teachers could learn from the record of Apollos. Men cannot be educated into goodness; they cannot be lifted by high ideals into it, unaccompanied by the message of redemption.

Wherever Aquila and Priscilla went to dwell, their home was open to Christian worship. From one of Paul's letters we learn of the church "in their house." Let the present members of the churches emulate their devotion and faithfulness.

News In The World of Religion

By W. W. Reid

All three major religions of the Board of Missions and Church Extension of the Methodist church. The denomination has 8,500,000 members in 42,000 churches. Many of these new buildings, he says, are required by minority groups in home missionary areas. The home missions leader gives importance also to the need for leadership-training for young Americans of Indian tribes and of Chinese, Filipino, Japanese and Korean ancestry. Referring to the church's opportunity to serve the Mexicans and Puerto Ricans who have entered the United States, Dr. Brown says, "We hope to enlarge the facilities for training ministers for this field as rapidly as possible. New York alone has a sizeable city of Spanish-speaking people in Manhattan. San Antonio has the largest group in America. Methodism scarcely has touched this field. We stand in awe contemplating the task and our facilities for meeting it."

One of the two national winners of a Parshad National Youth Week college scholarship award, just announced by the United Christian Youth Movement, was a young woman; and four of the six regional winners of similar awards were young women. The awards are based on statements of life purpose, of school interests, of church activities, of community activities, and an essay on "Youth in the Community—Our Christian Responsibility." The national winner is Imogene E. Young of Joplin, Missouri. The regional winners are: Lois J. Anderson of Chicago; Kathryn L. Bradshaw of Seattle, Washington; Mollie A. Boney of Wallace, North Carolina; Mary E. Edwards, Tulsa, Oklahoma. All receive college scholarships. The young men winners are: national, Lewis S. Mudge, Jr.; Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania; regional, Theodore L. Trost, Jr., Rochester, New York and James E. Potter, Jr., Peetz, Colorado.

The resources of the American Protestant churches' relief program in China, administered largely by Church World Service, has been severely strained by the increasing number of refugees in the new battle areas of northern and central China, according to Dr. Leslie B. Moss, director of the service. He reports that thousands of refugees—"among them a great number of ministers and other Christian workers and their families"—are affected; and that the agency has temporarily dropped its plans to give funds for theological libraries destroyed by the earlier war and its assistance in training church workers and in rehabilitation programs, while needy adults and undernourished children are provided medical supplies, powdered milk, vitamins, clothing and blankets. Dr. Moss has appealed to church people to increase their contributions for overseas relief due to this new contingency.

One new Methodist church building a day during the next decade will have to be erected if the denomination is to keep pace with its rapidly changing membership, says Dr. Earl R. Brown, of New York, executive Eight of the larger denominations from America have decided to work unitedly in Japan in co-operation with the Kyodan (the Church of Christ in Japan). These are: the Methodist church; the Presbyterian church, U.S.A.; the Congregational - Christian church; the United Church of Canada; the Evangelical Reformed church; the Reformed Church of America; the United Christian Missionary Society, and the Evangelical United Brethren. In America these have formed the "Inter-Board Committee for Work in Japan." The counterpart in Japan is the "Council of Cooperation." This is composed of nine representatives of the Kyodan, eight representatives of the Christian Education Association, and eight missionaries. These eight churches have agreed not to organize independent missions again but to carry on their work through this Council of Cooperation. The Northern Baptist convention is working in the Kyodan and is closely affiliated with the Council of Cooperation though not a regular member. "In the initial stages of the council there are many problems to be faced, but we do believe that we are pioneering in a new united approach to the evangelization of the world," says Dr. John B. Cobb, of Macon, Georgia, one of the missionary members.

Crippled Children Make Zoo Trip

Seven home bound crippled children and young adults from this area were taken on a conducted tour of the Detroit Zoo last week.

The tour was sponsored by the Wayne Out-County chapter of the Michigan Society of Crippled Children and Adults, the Easter Seal agency. It was planned by Mrs. Herma Taylor, field worker.

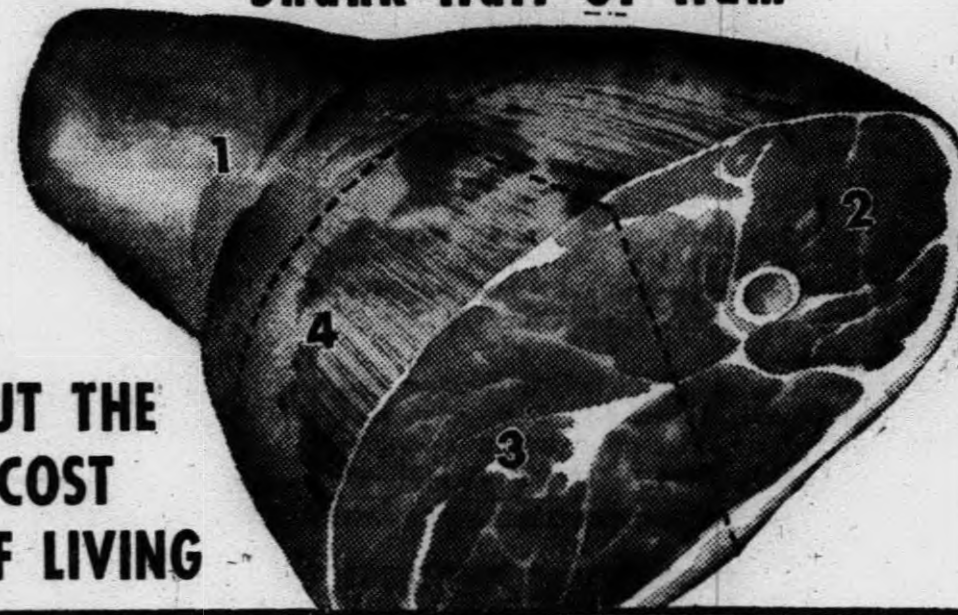

One of the seven, Mrs. Taylor discloses, was a Plymouth boy who was accompanied by his mother. Three mothers made the trip to help with the group, she added. Further assistance was loaned by the Plymouth Red Cross. Mrs. Taylor further announced, who donated their station wagon for use at that time. Volunteers who helped with the tour, and who each took charge of a wheel chair were: Mrs. Albert Aquino, driver of the Plymouth Red Cross motor corps station wagon, Mrs. E. O. Whittington; Donna Whittington, both of Rosedale Gardens; Mrs. Rose Summers, chapter secretary of Wayne and Mrs. Taylor, field workers.

Mrs. Taylor announced that this marked the first trip to the zoo for three of the children. They were furnished a free ride on the miniature train, she added, and the zoo attendants helped by lifting them on and off.

In spite of the sweltering heat, which soared high in the 90's, the group reported a most enjoyable day.

In Los Angeles, Mrs. Anna Hagopian sued her landlord for $22,000 because, she complained, he had 1) torn down the kitchen sink, 2) removed her stove, 3) turned off the gas, 4) padlocked her bathroom.

Ingram - Bowden Vows Exchanged in Garden

Dorothy Mae Ingram, daughter of Theodore L. Ingram of Skipworth, Virginia, exchanged marriage vows with Robert C. Bowden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Bowden, at a 4 p. m. garden ceremony at the home of the bride on Saturday, August 28. The Rev. E. C. Tull read the service. The aisle was marked with white posts draped with crepe paper, and baskets of white gladioli stood at the altar. "Because" and the traditional wedding march were the choice of the bride for her wedding music.

Miss Ingram, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white net lace with a fitted bodice and a full marquisette skirt ending in a short train. The bodice was fashioned with a round neckline and long sleeves ending in points over the hands. Her headpiece was of net lace and held a fingertip veil. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations centered with gardenias.

Elizabeth A. Ingram, her sister's maid of honor, wore a blue marquisette gown with a matching headpiece. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations.

The flower girl, Ruth Ingram, also a sister of the bride, wore a pink organza dress with a blue sash and carried pink and white carnations in a colonial bouquet.

John Howard Ingram, brother of the bride, was the best man.

Mrs. Bowden wore a sheer dark blue print dress with white accessories and a gardenia corsage for the wedding.

Thirty were present at the reception, which took place in the garden after the ceremony.

For her going-away outfit Mrs. Bowden chose a pale pink linen suit with coffee accessories and wore a gardenia corsage. The couple are honeymooning on the ocean at Old Point Comfort, Virginia.

They will make their new home in Lansing while they are attending Michigan State college.

Wed At Double Ring Ceremony

Sally Louise Fraleigh daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Fraleigh of Gold Arbor road, became the bride of Gerald E. Heptler, son of Mrs. Ruth Heptler of Plymouth, at a double ring ceremony performed at 8 o'clock Friday evening, August 20, in the First Presbyterian church, Plymouth, with the Reverend Henry J. Walsh D. D. officiating.

The bride chose a grey gabardine suit with cocoa accessories and carried a white Bible and white flowers. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Robert Mauer and Mrs. George Mauer, cousin of the bride.

A reception in the church parlors followed with about 150 guests attending. Mr. and Mrs. Heptler left on a wedding trip through the northern part of Michigan. Upon their return they will reside in Plymouth.

DAR News

At a recent meeting of Old Glory Council No. 25 we held a reception for Sister Ethel Bulson honoring her election as State Warden Daughters of America.

State Officers present were State Councilor Lucy Kelly, Past State Councilor Minnie Parisian of Detroit, Past State Councilor Cora Scherer and State Conductor Edna Jensen of Flint.

There were also other visitors from Flint and from Queen of Michigan and American Councils in Detroit. A lunch was served at tables that were decorated with red rose buds and blue streamers.

In Cincinnati, Oscar Griggs decided to divorce his second wife, who insisted, he declared, on living with his first wife and her second husband.

Detroit Girl Weds W. D. Hackett

Joanne Stevens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert M. Stevens of Birwood avenue, Detroit, became the bride of W. Douglas Hackett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Hackett of Rosedale Gardens, at an 8 p. m. ceremony at the Fort street Presbyterian church Friday, August 27. The service was read by the Rev. E. Blake MacDonald before an altar decorated with white gladioli.

Miss Stevens, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin gown of the Edwardian era, with a basque bodice and full shirred skirt, swept to the back into a train. A small floral pattern of seed pearls trimmed the tiny collar, cap sleeves, and matching gauntlets. Her illusion veil fell from a Dutch cap sprinkled with seed pearls.

Eleanor Ann Preece of Roscommon, the maid of honor, wore a gown of white taffeta in the same period as that of the bride's, and carried American Beauty roses and baby mums.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. Herbert M. Stevens, Jr., and Betty Langley were gowned like the honor maid, and carried American Beauty roses.

For his best man, the bridegroom chose Gordon Hackett. The ushers were Herbert M. Stevens, Jr., Frederick Hackett, Leonard Little, and James Nichols of Ionia.

Mrs. Stevens wore an evening dress of toast brown lace for her daughter's wedding, and Mrs. Hackett wore a rose crepe evening gown.

After their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Hackett left on a trip through Northern Michigan. For traveling Mrs. Hackett chose a tan glen plaid suit with wine accessories.

The young couple will live in Albion, where Mr. Hackett attends Albion college. He is affiliated with Sigma Nu fraternity. Mrs. Hackett attended the University of Detroit.

Successful Parenthood

MRS. CATHERINE CONRAD EDWARDS
Associate Editor, Parents' Magazine

"I didn't spill the kitty's milk—Mortimer did it"—Mortimer being the name for Bobby's imaginary playmate. Bobby's mother is inclined to consider this an outright lie and is worried for fear her little son will grow up to be the sort who blames someone else for his misdeeds. Yet just as often Bobby gives the non-existent Mortimer credit for good deeds he wishes he had done. "Mortimer gave half his candy to his sister," he may say, feeling guilty because he, Bobby, gobbled his by himself.

These phantasy playmates are common creations of imaginative children and often seem to make bearable to a child the frightening gap between the good person he'd like to be and the disappointing person his many slips in conduct seem in his own eyes. One little girl I know had two made-up companions with the outlandish names, Somun and Sugun. Somun was the good child and, Elizabeth's mother soon learned that when her daughter was happy she appeared to be playing with the angelic Somun. But on days when Elizabeth's life was stormy and difficult there was poor, naughty Sugun to take the blame.

Inventing a companion often seems to coincide with some crisis in the child's life—a new baby in the family or the absence of either parent. The puzzlement and unhappiness which trouble the child are too much for him so he resorts to what the psychologists call "self-restoration in phantasy." This is a healthful reaction, showing a will to do something about his problems instead of surrendering to them in fear and total dependence. But it is essential that his parents understand and accept this temporary "other self" and allow the child to talk about it. He will admit things about Mortimer or Sugun that he would never do about himself and this gives the understanding parents unusual insight into the child's inner life.

For, as one psychologist says, no child can be spared these conflicts, for all children have doubts and worries at times about being bad and aggressive, about being safe, about not being loved. Letting the child talk these out, even if it takes an imaginary friend to whom these doubts and worries can be ascribed, is one way of growth and adjustment.

But just as often these playmates the child builds out of air are merely the result of loneliness. They take the place of the real playmate the child lacks. They can be animals, sometimes so purely imaginary that no such creature ever existed, like the Big Bad Wolf that for some unaccountable reason one brave little boy adopted as his constant companion.

In either case, whether to project his inner turmoil on another self about whom he can talk, or just to fill lonely hours, the imaginary companion usually disappears when the child's need is met, either through the next stage of his growth or through the appearance of a satisfactory real playmate.

Northville Is New Home Of Local Bride

Beatrice Mende, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Mende of Plymouth road, became the bride of Lewis Diem, son of Mrs. Lella Diem of Northville, at a 3 p. m. service at the First Baptist church of Northville on Saturday, August 21. The Rev. A. K. MacRae officiated at the ceremony, which was performed before an altar decorated with white and pink gladioli and palms. "Because" and "Always" were sung by Harriet Letter.

The bride wore a white taffeta gown with puffed sleeves and a sweetheart neckline. Her long veil was held by a three pointed crown of white beads and pearls. Long lace gloves completed her outfit and she carried a colonial bouquet of white roses centered with a gardenia.

Janice Stettler, the maid of honor, wore a pale blue taffeta gown and a feather headdress, and carried pink roses in a colonial bouquet.

The bridegroom was attended by Malvern VanValkenburg. Mrs. Mende, mother of the bride, wore a royal blue crepe dress and a corsage of gardenias. Mrs. Diem was gowned in a pale blue print and also had a gardenia corsage.

The American Legion hall in Newburg was the scene of the reception. Among the 200 guests were friends and relatives from Ohio, Florida, Marine City, Wayne and Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Diem left by motor for Jackson. Mrs. Diem chose a beige suit with white accessories for traveling.

Upon their return the couple will make their home in Northville.

Mrs. Diem is a graduate of Plymouth High school and Mr. Diem was graduated from Northville High school.

In Van Nuys, California, James Seaberry was jailed for doing 90 in his homemade car.

Ad-Libbing.....

with "Liz" by Elizabeth Corry

Ummm, frozen custard . . . what could be a nicer dessert or snack. And what's really so wonderful about it is that both kids and adults like it, meaning it's a good idea to keep it on hand for any occasion that may arise for which you want something extra special to serve. Get it where it's best, at the Frozen Custard stand at South Main and Ann Arbor road. (The hours, 11:30 a. m. to 11:30 p. m.) And don't forget, you can get it in cones, pints or quarts.

Dinner out . . . what could be nicer, sighs any woman.

Dinner at the Mayflower Hotel Coffee Shop . . . nothing could be nicer, she'll add. Especially this weekend, for Mr. Lofy has extra special menus planned for the holiday. (On Labor Day the dining room is open from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m.) You'll really be more than pleased if you make that the scene of your dinner date. (And now that fall is nearing, don't forget the Crystal room is available for clubs and special parties.)

The ever-popular two plecer with a new, fresh look. The blouse is cut all in one, wraps around and is so easy to make you'll want several versions to wear with the young wide-banded skirt. Good for all your activities.

Pattern No. 8017 is for sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Size 12, blouse, 1 1/2 yards of 35 or 39-inch; skirt, 1 1/2 yards.

Becker - Volinsky Nuptials Read Saturday Afternoon

At a 3 p. m. ceremony Saturday, Wilma Janet Becker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manfred Becker, became the bride of Victor G. Volinsky, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Parks of Rosedale Gardens. The double ring service was read by Fr. Billie before an altar arrangement of white gladioli and pastel daisies at the altar of the Greek Catholic church in Detroit.

The bride wore a gown of silk lace and marquisette over satin which was fashioned with a fitted bodice and a full skirt.

The bodice was designed with a square neckline and a shawl effect over the shoulders and orange blossoms on either side. The satin underskirt was caught up in front to show the two rows of lace on the hoop skirt. Her three tier veil of net was fastened to a crown of matching lace edged in net and trimmed with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of stephanotis centered with white orchids.

Mrs. Leona Purdo, aunt of the bridegroom, as matron of honor, wore a white pique gown made with a fitted bodice, bolero, and a full skirt. She carried a colonial bouquet of pastel green daisies and wore matching flowers in her hair.

The bridesmaids were Olga Purdo, aunt of the bridegroom; Dorothy and Gertrude Lakotish, cousins; Mrs. Annabelle Clark and Mrs. Donna Fyffe, sisters of the bride. They wore white pique gowns trimmed with gold and with gold belts and slippers. They carried lavender bouquets. The junior bridesmaid, Carol Janzowsky, cousin of the bridegroom, was attired like the other attendants.

Steven Purdo was best man and the ushers were Mack Purdo, Lloyd Clark, Dewayne Becker, Theodore Lucosik, and William Parks, brother of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Becker chose a floor length watermelon crepe gown with grey accessories and a white rose corsage. Mrs. Parks was gowned in a floor length light blue crepe dress with white accessories and wore a corsage of pink roses.

Following the service a reception for 400 guests was held at the VFW hall on Puritan avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Volinsky left on a few days wedding trip to Osceola. For traveling she chose a figured jersey dress with white accessories and wore an orchid corsage.

The young couple will reside on Ingram avenue in Rosedale Gardens.

Kentucky

This highland lassie works on an ancient hand loom at Berea College, in Kentucky, where mountain boys and girls are being taught the old arts which made Kentucky such a picturesque country in bygone days.

By the Old AAA Traveler

The sun shines brightly in Kentucky these days . . . and pink roses festoon the fences . . . and fields of tobacco are green in the sun . . . and all's well with the world! In Kentucky you sense little of the turmoil in the outside world, for Kentucky is a land of peace and beauty, a land where shattered nerves are healed and where nightfall brings dreamless sleep. Each sunrise is a new day and man's soul is young and his heart is light as new beauty after new beauty is revealed.

Yes, the sun shines over Kentucky with a brightness you'll find nowhere else. Maybe it's the hospitality of the Kentuckian. Possibly it's the rich history of that great Blue Grass country.

It may be that the birds sing sweeter down Kentucky way because they're in one of the most gorgeous areas in all America. Whatever the reason, Kentucky ranks high in my book—and in the books of hundreds of thousands of other beauty lovers all over these United States.

Kentucky is rich in history and that always has a strong appeal. It was 1750 when Dr. Thomas Walker trekked through Cumberland Gap and built the first cabin on Kentucky soil. At that time what now is Kentucky was just the unexplored portion of Fincastle County, Virginia. Other explorers followed Dr. Walker, but it was not until the coming of Daniel Boone in 1769 that the actual development of Kentucky got under way.

Within five years Captain Harrod had established a settlement to be known as Harrodsburg, and a year or so later Captain Richard Henderson settled Boonesboro, where Daniel Boone built his first fort. In that same year the first legislature set up a separate government and adopted its own code of laws.

In 1776 George Rogers Clark traveled horseback to Williamsburg to urge the re-creation of Kentucky as a separate part of Virginia, and in December of that year the new country called Kentucky County and Harrodsburg was designated as the county seat. In 1790 the Congress recognized Kentucky as a separate state, and Frankfort, in 1792, was named the capital.

Kentucky is a state of highlights—unforgettable vignettes—and in limited space it would be a bootless task to try to tell anything like a complete story of the state.

See Hodgenville, of course, for here is preserved as a national shrine the birthplace of the Great Emancipator. On Singing Springs farm, on Nolin Creek, Abraham Lincoln was born February 12, 1809, and within a magnificent granite memorial today is preserved the tiny little cabin in which he was born.

Probably the No. 2 highlight in Kentucky is Bardstown, for just east of the town proper stands "My Old Kentucky Home". That severely classic old home will live forever in the hearts of true Americans.

Sharing interest with the old home is St. Joseph's Cathedral, the first cathedral west of the Alleghenies, and it was here that Louis Philippe, Duke of Orleans and later King of France, frequently attended worship during his exile in America. When he returned to France he sent to the church nine canvases by old masters, including one by Murillo, one by Rubens, three by Van Dyke and one by Van Bree. The cathedral's tabernacle also is a gift of Louis Philippe and bears the arms of France. The vestments are the work of Queen Marie Amelie and her maids.

Boonesboro, where Boone built his first fort, is another of the state's highlights. A clump of saplings on the opposite shore of the Kentucky river marks the spot where Boone's daughter Jemima and Elizabeth and Fanny Calloway were captured by Indians. Whites from the fort, led by Boone himself, rescued the girls.

Another amazingly interesting Kentucky highlight—and one seen by comparatively few visitors—is Shakertown, some ten miles northeast of Harrodsburg, which was founded by the "Shakers", members of the United Society of Believers. The so-called Guest House, built in 1836, still stands, and two of the old dwelling houses still stand. The houses are T-shaped and each has two narrow entrances, one for the men and one for the women.

Still another unforgettable spot in Kentucky is at Wickliffe, at the confluence of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers. It is at Wickliffe that Colonel Fain White King and his delightful wife have uncovered an ancient buried city, one of the most unusual spectacles you will find in all America. On a lofty bluff many feet above the high water mark once stood a populous center for a prehistoric race. Four of the great mounds have been opened and hundreds of skeletons have been uncovered and left in place just as they were found.

There are other things, of course, which help make Kentucky such a magnificent play area, not the least being Mammoth Cave, now a national park. Mammoth Cave begins seven miles west of Cave City and runs westward for more than 12 miles.

Still another "unforgettable" is Berea, where is located world-famous Berea college, the oldest and largest mountain school in America. Berea draws its 2,000 students—boys and girls—from the mountains of eight Southern states, and there, no matter what their financial status, those youngsters are given an education.

One could go on and on and on talking about Kentucky, for it is a glorious state from Covington on the north, just across from Cincinnati, to Middlesboro on the south; and from Williamson on the east to Wickliffe on the west. It is a state of flowers and forests—handsome old homes—spreading miles of the horse farms around Lexington—laurel-bedecked mountains and laughing little streams pouring down the hillsides. Kentucky cardinals flit across the highways and the mockingbird trills its unforgettable lay in the magnolias.

The sun does shine brighter in Kentucky and you will find an almost unbelievable hospitality throughout the state. You may be far back in the mountains and the cabin may be of a single room, but when the mountaineer invites you to "have a bite of vittles", he is sincere—he wants to share his simple fare with you. The meal may be of home-cured salt pork and turnip greens and cornbread made without butter or eggs, but in that waxy air of the highlands you'll have an appetite you didn't know you possessed.

In Dallas, a distraught woman complained that a three-year-old child kept biting her great Dane.

In Moscow, Landlady Maria Merkulova was fined 100 rubles for nailing a sign to a tree warning tenants not to nail signs to trees.

PRICE CONTROL AND BLACK MARKETS

DURING the struggle two years ago over repeal of the wartime O.P.A., the Congressional Record published a speech entitled—"Three Thousand Years of O.P.A. Failure." The amount of laborious research required to construct this speech must have been vast. It dwelt upon such minute detail as the price an owner might charge for the use of a milking cow in the days of Babylon; or how much an employer must pay his weavers. It developed a true photograph of the outstanding attempts by government—throughout known history, and up to present times—to regulate by decree that constantly irritating problem of "wages and prices." It was a potent historical expose of the fallacy of governmental attempts to regulate by law the economy of nations.

In time of war when every thread of a nation's economy must rest in the hands of those who are conducting the operations—control of wages and prices is essential. But in time of war a nation is a "police state." If this same control is attempted in peacetime, it can only be maintained by a "police state." And even then the black market will nullify the desired effect. Are our memories so short that we cannot recall the black market conditions of only three years ago? They were even worse than today when high prices are at least "out in the open" and wage demands are based upon a known equation. If the OPA had been continued until now, the black market, and its attendant evils, may well have caused an economic catastrophe.

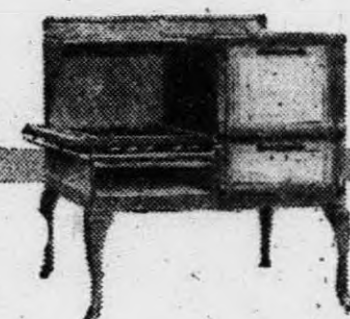

History, old and new, has demonstrated — that to create, and to maintain, a sound economy, prices and wages must be permitted to find the levels which supply and demand—if left unfettered—will force them to. Of course we will have "booms and busts"; but how much preferable this to the constant depression of the government-controlled state and the certainty of eventual collapse.

Our country today is "enjoying" a period of inflation caused by a vast output of money and an insufficient output of commodities to counter-balance it. Clap on price control and we slow down the constantly increasing output from the factories which already is showing signs of meeting demand and putting a natural stop to the inflation spiral.

In Springfield, Ohio, Police Lieut. John Law announced his retirement. In Oceana, West Virginia, the leading candidate for postmaster was Please Wright.

Sometime in the not-too-distant future we plan to have considerable to say about the use of shotguns in hunting deer. Deer hunters will recall that one of the new members of the state conservation commission recently tried to outlaw the use of shotguns in deer hunting, but that he was voted down by other members of the board.

Now comes from the Conservation commission's department of education the following article, pertaining to the use of shotguns in this part of the state for deer hunting. We are asking you to read it carefully, and remember what it says, as later we propose to say considerable on this subject. Meanwhile we are gathering some interesting facts.

"Deer hunters trying buckshot this season for the first time, in the southern counties, are going to need more of the old-fashioned, Indian-style hunting ability than rifle hunting in the north ever demanded of them.

"Quoting reports of the leading manufacturers of sporting arms and ammunition, the conservation department reports that where a 180-grain bullet in a 30 06 rifle has an extreme range of 4,400 yards and an effective range of 700 yards, and a rifle 12-gauge slug has an extreme range of 1,200 yards and an effective range of 100 yards, the maximum danger zone with buckshot is only 300 yards, and most of the deer killed will be shot at 30 to 60 yards.

"Compared with the northern hunting grounds, the southern counties in which buckshot must be used have few deer and will have few hunters, and getting as close as 30 yards is going to take stalking skill of a high order, or some exceptionally fine luck. Southern buckshot hunters will have the same handicap in this respect as archers, whose average kill is made at 30 yards.

"The larger sizes of buckshot, 0 and 00, are recommended for deer hunting, while 2's and 4's are preferred by fox hunters. The 00 size eastern scale (No. 3 according to the western naming system) contains nine pellets 3/4 of an inch in diameter in the 12-gauge shell. Arms companies say their shell production is greater than in prewar years, but that unusually high demands might still cause local shortages.

Wisconsin Conservation Congress Votes Doe Season:
Governor Rennebohm of Wisconsin has vetoed the recommendation of the Wisconsin Conservation Commission for an "any-deer" season on the basis of human hazard, the Wildlife Management Institute stated recently. After 25 years of strict adherence to the buck law Wisconsin sportsmen gave their approval to lifting protection on antlerless deer following the unanimous vote for such action by a special committee of the state Conservation Congress. County delegates to the Congress recently voted 37 to 33 in favor of dropping the buck law. An antlerless deer season now is being considered as an alternative to the "any-deer" season.

Wisconsin has been suffering from a malady common to many eastern states: too many deer for the available range, resulting from overprotection of antlerless deer. Until this year, sportsmen opposition to the lifting of protection on does has checked attempts of the Conservation Commission to permit the harvest of surplus animals in accordance with the recommendations of wildlife scientists. The special committee's reports on the critical nature of the problem appear to have turned the tide in the 10-year fight. It is significant that four members of the seven-man committee were hard-and-fast advocates of the buck law before they made a personal field investigation, and at the end of the survey all voted for an open season on both sexes.

It is difficult to convince sportsmen that there can be such a thing as too many deer unless they see the effects of overpopulation themselves. Since the critical period for deer occurs in late February and early March when a minimum number of sportsmen are afield, the dangerous depletion of browse, destruction of forest reproduction, and the actual starvation of deer seldom is seen. Those who do see the symptoms rarely recognize them unless the signs actually are pointed out by trained game technicians. The practice of the Wisconsin Conservation Congress in employing special citizens' committees to determine the facts in such provoking problems is commendable and could be used to good effect by other states faced with serious problems.

The Congress, made up of delegates from each county to advise the state Conservation Department in formulating policies, is turning more and more to the use of special committees to obtain unbiased and accurate reports on difficult questions.

Lack of Watershed Protection Caused Northwest Floods:
Lack of fire protection on watersheds before 1935 has been given as the actual cause of widespread damage from last spring's disastrous floods in the Northwest, the Wildlife Management Institute reported today. A crew of U. S. Forest Service watershed experts, which has been operating in the Columbia River basin since May 27, has reported its findings to the Chief, Lyle F. Watts.

The watershed technicians found ample evidence that food damage would have been less severe if millions of upland acres had not been deprived of their forest cover. Fire proved to be the most important factor in denuding millions of the watershed acres, although improperly located logging, grazing, mine or smelter operations and road-building were other contributing factors.

On land now in national forests in the Northwest there are 5-126,000 acres that have been burned over, mostly before 1935 when the Forest Service began giving this "back country" intensive fire protection. The report points out that flood damage traceable to such lands demonstrates the need for maintaining and improving fire protection and the wisdom of large-scale planting and re-seeding operations in basin highlands. Present-day logging operations were found by the investigators to have been responsible for only a small percentage of the heavy run-off of rain and melting snows. A warning was issued, however, that the same practices might prove dangerous if operations progress up the slopes into higher, more critical areas.

Striking evidence that forests slow the rate of snow melt and delay water flow was observed by the investigators. As late as June 14, about 14 days after the flood peak, timbered areas in the uplands still were blanketed with snow while nearby burned areas were snowless. In many instances burned and denuded north and west slopes, though normally cooler, had lost all snow while timbered south and west slopes still were snowbound. Another point brought out by the investigation is that, just as fires breed floods, so floods prepare the ground for future fires. Roads, trails, bridges, and telephone lines essential to the movement and direction of fire fighters and equipment are out of service yet, with the critical fire season close at hand.

As a result of a demand made in the last session of the state legislature, the Conservation department has really started doing some good work on stream improvement in this state. The following article is taken from the Michigan Conservation department magazine:

Thirteen stream improvement crews are in the field this summer, the fiscal year starting in July having the largest lake and stream improvement budget—$200,000—in Michigan history.

Besides the current work on trout streams and the customary brush shelter installations in lakes in the fall, the year's program includes the clearing of other kinds of fish from 17 potential trout lakes and preliminary work on five dams.

The stream improvement crews are at work on the middle branch of the Ontonagon River in Gogebic county, east branch of the Fox in Schoolcraft county, west branch of the Sturgeon in Cheboygan county, the Manistee in Crawford county, north branch of Au Sable in Crawford and Otsego counties, Bear Creek in Manistee county, White River, Newaygo county, and Huron River, Washtenaw county. Work is in full swing also on the Big Cedar, Menominee county, the Firesteel in Ontonagon county, the Pigeon in Cheboygan county, the Pere Marquette in Lake county and Hopkins Creek, Missaukee county.

Wing dams and current deflectors of sheet piling and logs, and half-ton concrete blocks are being installed in the trout streams to dig pools, speed the current to scour silt from the bottom, protect the pools, protect the stream from bank erosion, according to the needs of the particular spot. Some planting is being done for stream-side cover and soil stabilization.

For the fall lake improvement work, recommendations from district fisheries biologists are on file for 67 lakes which can be stocked with 20 to 100 brush shelters each. Purpose of the shelters is to concentrate the fish where anglers can get them, as the fish production is of little value unless utilized.

There are a few trout in some of the 17 lakes to be poisoned, but making them exclusively trout waters is expected to produce good trout fishing where there is none or indifferent trout fishing at present. The dams to improve fishing on which work is scheduled include those in the Haymarsh area, Mecosta county, Twin Lakes, Cheboygan county, Hunt Creek, Montmorency county, Davisburg in Oakland county, and, if the survey confirms feasibility, Portage Creek in Waterloo State Recreation Area.

THE VITAL PRIMARY ELECTION — TUESDAY, SEPT. 14TH — THE VITAL PRIMARY ELECTION — TUESDAY, SEPT. 14TH

★ YOU CAN HELP PREVENT ANOTHER WAR ★ START NOW TO CUT YOUR LIVING COSTS

1—Make This Protest Against High Living Costs and Food Taxes!
2—Demand Congressional Action to Keep Peace!

The first thing to do is send to Congress a man who will fight for every possible ACTION TO REDUCE PRICES on food and necessary household commodities. Milton F. Cooney says, "The removal of the tax on OLEO is A START." This means 10¢ per pound on colored Oleo alone when you demand that Michigan follows with the removal of restrictions on its sale. Protect the consumer under the Pure Food Laws, as is the case on other commodities. Cooney also opposes the use of government millions to keep the price of meat, eggs, butter, etc. above the purchasing ability of a great many people.

Your present Congressman voted "NO" on the removal of the Oleo tax. CAN YOU EXPECT HIM TO HELP OUT YOUR LIVING COSTS? Cooney OPPOSES ALL TAXES on necessary household commodities.

WHAT ABOUT NATIONAL SECURITY?

Military weakness invites destruction of peace loving nations, by military tyrants who seek power through WAR. America is a weak nation today. Berlin could be another Pearl Harbor. Bataan. Milton F. Cooney says the U. S. must have unbeatable military power to prevent another WAR—to give strength to the United Nations—to preserve the peace—and to halt the spread of Communism.

On May 18, 1948, the present Congressman publicly said: "Nearly 20 years ago Russia gave notice... The world wide nature of our program is not mere talk but an all-embracing and blood-soaked reality. Our ultimate aim is world wide Communism." When a neighbor gives you notice that he intends to destroy you, — — — and do it with force and bloodshed, you are an exception if you do not take measures to resist that threat, even unto death."

If Russia gave such a notice 20 years ago—why then has your Congressman voted "NO" on nearly every bill for national defense presented to Congress during his 16 years in Congress?

He has known these facts, but on May 22, 1948, 5 days after his public statement above quoted, he wrote: — — — "I have never looked with favor upon compulsory military training, believing that it is foreign to our concept of government, and, therefore, a dangerous step to take." IS THIS CONSISTENT?

Cooney knows the heart-aches of WAR—he served his country in time of WAR. He is not an isolationist.

Cooney is an aggressive man of action, a constructive thinker, NOT a hand shaker who avoids responsibility with charming smiles. He'll fight to BRING DOWN YOUR LIVING COSTS and build an adequate National Defense program.

Your job is to get out on PRIMARY ELECTION DAY, TUESDAY, SEPT. 14th, and cast your vote for him. You can do no less for yourself and your family's welfare. WIN WITH COONEY.

ONE of the most hilarious films in recent months is a "Foreign Affair," in which both Jean Arthur and Marlene Dietrich make smashing comebacks...

M. Dietrich is actually a grandmother.

Shirley Temple and her husband, John Agar, are working up a radio comedy series for fall sponsorship. Melyna Douglas plans to produce 12 video films based on early California history. "What's My Name" has been renewed for another year. Peggy Lee was signed for 15 appearances on CBS' "Club 15" during September, pinch-hitting for the Andrews Sisters. Alan Young was signed as a supporting comic for the new Jimmy Durante show this fall. He'll be replacing Victor Moore.

Monty Looks To Broadway

Montgomery Clift, who attracted moviegoers in "The Search," is considering a Broadway offer. Virginia Mayo was guest of honor at the Air Force association convention held recently at Santa Monica. William Powell, who doesn't smoke in private life, required 2,332 cigars during the filming of "Life With Father." Red Skelton is proving to be a dream landlord. Not only does he rent apartments in his enterprise to families with children but also, when tenants welcome a new addition, Red gifts them with a month's free rent.

Only Walter Winchell and the rapidly climbing Horace Heidt talent show have been able to withstand the monopoly of radio's giveaways in Hooper's first five most popular shows. According to latest surveys, listeners placed Heidt's program in fourth place, behind Winchell, Stop the Music and "Take It Or Leave It." That new FCC ruling banning giveaways is going to hurt sponsors and networks alike.

BABSON

Babson Discusses Schools
Gloucester, Mass.: As this is the last column which I shall write in Gloucester this year, I want to relieve my mind on something that has troubled me all summer. It is concerning the utter lack of discipline and thoroughness which I note amongst the young people of Gloucester today compared with that of my school.

Teachers Don't Have Time to Teach

I cannot now comment intelligently regarding the teaching and discipline within the school buildings; but I have seen enough this summer of young people on the streets and at work to believe that teachers do not have sufficient time to drill, Drill and DRILL. They have too many interruptions and are obliged to teach too many subjects to do thorough work in any one. School committees are too much influenced by text book publishers. They should do less to amuse the kids and more to serve the taxpayers. In fact, I believe that we are making life too easy for our young people.

Psychologists assure me that young people know what is right and what they should do and should not do. These experts prove this statement by reminding me that when boys destroy property, lie, steal and make themselves a nuisance, they always run away as soon as they see anyone coming. In other words, young people do not need to be taught what is right and wrong so much as they need to learn to control and discipline themselves.

What About Corporal Punishment

For centuries the old-fashioned switch, cane or whip has been used to instill discipline. If it never had been used in the past, I would not recommend its adoption today; but considering that human nature has been dependent for centuries on such for correction and punishment, experts on heredity say that it is absolutely foolish to try to get on today, in our public schools, without corporal punishment.

School committees, principals and teachers make various excuses. In some States corporal punishment may be against the law and, of course, any teacher is subject to being sued if in temper, or he abuses a pupil. However, school committees can take out liability insurance to protect teachers against any such suits. Some few parents will complain at having their dear children "whipped"; but instead of being influenced by these few, why could not a school committee take a vote of all parents and see what the great majority would desire? When such a vote is taken in a community, I hope to be told the result.

Longer School Hours May Be Wise

When I went to school we were in the building from nine to twelve in the morning and from two to four in the afternoon. We had very few books to take home. Our study hall was supervised and we learned there in one hour what would take two hours to learn at home. Moreover, in those days there was no radio at home to distract us, nor were there automobiles or movies to tempt us. Would it not be well to return to afternoon sessions and supervised study in view of the coming television? A girl may be able to study while the old radio is going, but she certainly can't study while watching television!

Parents would like to have some of the "frill" studies omitted, but with perfection stressed in a few important studies. As an employer of many young people, I find that they have a smattering of a lot of subjects but are proficient in none. I am beginning even to question the value of vocational courses as now set up. I believe in an assignment of outside work, selected newspaper reading, certain worthwhile movies and radio talks, requiring the scholars to report thereon. The trips to factories and stores, which were given when I was in high school, would still be useful. Most important of all, school committees should rate high quality of teaching above the attainment by teachers of college degrees. Achievement in producing good students through experience and love for the students, is far more important than the ability to get much overrated academic degrees.

THIS WEEK IN Washington

RIVALRY between the house and senate committees to stay in the spotlight on the spy probes... the blazing quarrel over who is to blame for high prices... the annual or perennial controversy over how much or how little congress spent or saved... the continuing cold war with Russia... Maurice J. Tobin's withdrawal from the gubernatorial race in Massachusetts to take the secretary of labor appointment... all were interesting factors in a busy week in Washington.

But observers here declare that never in this section of the country has such interest been manifest as in the agricultural experiment which in one eight-hour day transformed a 175-acre, 200-year-old farm into a modern, scientific agricultural unit with the most up-to-date practices of conservation, planting, fertilizing and building.

Some 60,000 people, headed by agricultural secretary Charles F. Brannan and Maryland's governor, Preston Lane, trekked to the old farm homestead near Frederick, Md., which had been in the Thrasher family since 1877. The picture resembled a huge county fair with 23 concession tents dispensing 80,000 bottles of pop and some 50,000 hot dogs and other victuals. Five hundred workers, under the direction of the county agent and agricultural department experts, with 150 power machines moved onto the place, and in eight hours had erected a huge quonset-type dairy barn and silo, repaired the house and other buildings, conducted some 30 modern farm conservation practices including contour plowing, reforestation of the wooded section up the side of a fairly high mountain, the spreading of tons of lime and fertilizer, planting of a 40-acre wheat field, construction of an acre-pond, and a score of other undertakings.

Edward W. Davis, director of the U. S. soil conservation service, said it was the largest agricultural event ever to take place in the East. Scores of attaches from almost every foreign embassy, ministry and legation in Washington, travelled the 30 miles to the farm to view the demonstration for a report to their own countries.

Secretary Brannan said, "We see here a demonstration of the American peoples' awareness that the land is important and that its conservation is essential to our continued well-being."

Said Governor Lane: "The very presence of this great assemblage of people is evidence that our citizenry is alive to the urgency of combating the greatest enemy attacking our natural resources, erosion of our life-sustaining soil."

The farm was rolling land and considerably eroded, having been worked by Mrs. Nellie V. Thrasher, a widow, and her son, for the past three years since the death of her husband. It was an ideal location for conversion from the old straight-row farming to contour farming. Not only did the workers change the entire contour of the farm land, they set up a saw mill in the woodland, cut fenceposts and demonstrated setting them both by machine and by hand. They demonstrated the planting of hundreds of trees by machine and by hand; they constructed several miles of farm road; they built several miles of new contour fencing; they modernized the house and existing farm buildings and constructed the new dairy barn from the ground up, a barn which will stanchion 35 cows; they instituted a drainage system; they spread 100 tons of lime and 25 tons of fertilizer; and they sowed a ton of grass seed to rebuild the permanent pastures. Labor and materials expended were worth approximately $20,000.

Said Secretary Brannan: "Unless conservation such as you have observed here today is practiced on American farms, in another 150 years this country will be unable to feed itself adequately."

"Even after the conservation programs of the past 16 years, half the cropland we use is still subject to erosion in some degree. As for our forests, the rate of saw timber drain is one and a half times the rate of growth."

"We have been living off our reserves of land and forests. We did not really recognize soil erosion as a national problem which must be attacked on a national basis until 1935. Today there are about 200 soil conservation districts. They include about three-fourths of all the nation's farms and ranches."

Thousands of feet of film from movie cameras photographed the agricultural magic which was performed on the Thrasher farm to be shown throughout this country and in most foreign countries.

In Minneapolis, Gebhardt M. Moses sued an auto dealer for $30,000, declared that the suspense of waiting and waiting for delivery of his new car had given him ulcers.

In Chicago, Diaper Delivery-man Irving Zafran explained to police that he had been robbed of his money and his pants, and that was why he was walking the streets in diapers.
