MORE ABOUT THE TEEN-AGERS.

Was quite surprised at the favorable public comment about the recent assertions made in this column pertaining to the teen-age problem the state and nation faces. It seems that nearly every one has a similar idea, that proper employment of ambitious boys and girls will go a long way in solving the situation.

It was also gratifying to read a highly intelligent letter written by former Governor Chase Osborn and published in The Detroit News, recommending the same solution as had been suggested in this column.

The former Governor's letter follows:

Once and for all, the idea of child labor should be completely divorced from that of child-labor exploitation. Sweatshops must be prohibited—they are an evil; but the privilege and joy of labor, for young as well as old, is part of the Divine inheritance of man.

The purposiveness of life is a compelling rhythm in our blood. Much of our play as children is an imitation of maturity. The smallest girls and boys respond delightedly to the idea that they are little women and young men. Practically any mischievous child can be changed into a constructive companion by an adult who will take the time to ask the child to help in whatever work is going on. Not long ago boys were self-supporting and girls married them, wisely and happily, at 16.

It is weak sentimentality and gross error to wrest our natural social texture to the pattern of attenuated adolescence. There is no need to minimize the current lack of playgrounds; but much more serious is the scarcity of places where young people can apply their energy to carving out their fate, where they can begin to pound out their own independence and their contribution to the good of the earth.

As a basis for discussion that may lead to much-needed action may I propose:

1. That schools on all levels be put on a two-shifts-a-day basis;
2. That half a day's schooling and half a day's employment be permissible for every child in good health above the age of nine, until such time as the individual shall have passed the twelfth grade, academic or industrial, or have been judged incapable of profiting from further schooling;
3. That strict medical examination of minors be made before the certificate to work is granted;
4. That there be sensible control and supervision of places and conditions where minors are permitted to work;
5. That we cease to frown on youthful marriages.

This does not constitute a return to pre-progressive days. It is merely an abrupt turn-about-face and back-tracking on a trail that ends at a precipice.

It has become customary, I understand, to supplant hard work in our schools by play learning, as if labor were something inherently unpleasant that ought to be and can be eluded.

My suggestion is to put back in the school readers and in the mental outlook of the instructors the story of Daffydownilly, who ran away from school to escape from his teacher, Mr. Toil. After finding himself confronted by Mr. Toil in every field and market place, he came to realize that labor is part of all life as well as of education, and so returned to the tutelage of Mr. Toil at school.

Experimental social legislation in banishing child labor exploitation was not a great good, but in branding child labor as onerous, a disgrace and a curse, it has become at present a degenerative influence.

Labor is as much a blessing and an essential as air, sunshine, sleep, food, clothing and shelter.

It is our birthright share in creation, a main avenue for the energy that drives us all.

Through false notions of what is best for our young, we are denying this portion of society its right to the pursuit of the happiness of responsibility. Youth's instinct to contribute a manful push to the wheel of the universe is being deliberately stunted and unwittingly perverted.

Our present attitude toward child labor is in effect akin to the obsolete Chinese customs of binding feet and coddling finger nails.

"Half-time work and half-time schools for every healthy child above the age of nine" would double the capacity of our educational facilities, buildings and teachers.

It would let the school properly serving all members of the community from the cradle to the grave—as long as the faculty of curiosity is present; whereas now our plants are planned for the three-to-18-year-old group.

It would permit young wives and husbands to work and learn and grow, side by side. Parents could continue to develop their own culture and aspirations instead of sacrificing themselves, so often vainly, for the education of the following generation.

And this younger generation, instead of running wild with irresponsibility, would grow up with a not unfriendly understanding of the old saw that every tub should stand on its own bottom.

There could be larger families, and happier ones, if partial self-support began thus early.

The whole social structure would be strengthened by a prideful custom of giving labor in order to get, in place of the prevalent do-nothing-want-everything philosophy.

Unions would oppose this army of apprentice labor? But unions are made up of individuals, the majority of whom have children. It should be clear by this time that there will be far more profit of all kinds, in the long run, for any and all parents and for the mass maturity, if present manias for greater efficiency and more cash are restrained in favor of plans to lead out normally in our children the unquenchable urge to take up their part in the plan.

The robin will actually entice its timid 10-day-old offspring until, willy-nilly, it falls out of the sheltered nest into the cruel world. The robins—and the beavers and the ants—have social wisdom.

CHASE S. OSBORN, Duck Island, Mich.

TOO DUMB TO UNDERSTAND.

The other day a good citizen asked the writer why it was that any American, in view of all that we know about Communism and Communists, would desire to become a Communist or have anything to do with them.

There is just one answer to the question—they are too dumb to reason intelligently, or else, down deep in their hearts; they are just plain, ordinary killers — killers who would destroy you at the drop of the hat, if they thought they would gain anything for themselves by it.

A ROOSEVELT - NEW DEAL CRIME.

Every one agrees now that the savings of American people is at its lowest ebb. This is due chiefly to the propaganda spread in the early days of the Roosevelt era that it was unwise to be thrifty, unwise to save for the rainy days that always come.

Many fell for this false doctrine and spent everything they earned as soon as pay checks were cashed. Now that low production, high wages and costs have forced living expenses to an all-time high, many who accepted the New Deal anti-savings policy, find themselves without the cash on hand that a savings account could provide.

We fear that it will be years before the country can overcome all the harm that has been done to it by the crackpots who for nearly 18 years have kept this nation in a turmoil. We hope that the new administration when it takes over in January will turn heaven and earth to restore as quickly as possible some sort of security in this country for the average citizen.

Largest Release of Partridge is Made Near Here

When conservation department officials released 285 Hungarian Partridge just west of Plymouth last Wednesday, it marked the largest release in any part of the entire state of Michigan.

Dr. B. E. Champe, president of the Western Wayne County Conservation association, which aided in the sponsoring of the project, stated that the release was made on North Territorial road in a protected area which covers a square mile.

One hundred of the total number of birds released were young ones, while the remaining 185 were breeders, Dr. Champe announced.

Wednesday's project was supervised by Conservation Officer Petoskey, who is field representative in this area, and Charles Voss, local officer.

When questioned as to why this area was chosen for the release, Dr. Champe explained that the particular section, which is an orchard, provides favorable cover.

Football Season Gets Underway Here Tonight

With Farmington High school as the opposition, the Plymouth Rocks grid squad will inaugurate the 1948 season at the Plymouth High gridiron this evening at 8 p. m. Coach Eddie Bender, beginning his second season at the helm of the Rocks, will send out to the field tonight a green and inexperienced squad. That fact is illustrated in the returning lettermen department, as only six letter winners return to the grid wars.

Last season Farmington defeated the Rocks in the first game of the season 19-13. That was the game where Jerry Allen made the most sensational run of the season, 102 yards in the last seconds of play. This contest will also be Farmington's initial encounter this season.

Bender is pessimistic about his team's chances for the coming season, and about the only optimism stated by the coach is that his green squad will improve game by game. Bender has indicated his starting line-up for the tilt tonight.

At the ends will be Neal Fisher and Jim Law; tackles will be George Trinka and Gary Rodman; guards will be Russ Hasselback and Pat Kearney. The center will be Bob Gow. In the backfield will be Jerry Harder, Jim McDowell, Bill Newstead, and Ronnie Bouldin. Five of the six lettermen will start tonight. They are Trinka, Hasselback, Harder, Newstead, and McDowell. The other letterman is Jack Pinkerton. Other fellows slated to see action tonight are Dick Crocker, Bus Henry, Ken Schiffe, Jack Elliott, Herb Swanson, and Pat Dowling. Bender reports his reserves are not too strong.

The gridiron is in perfect shape for the battle and new seats have been erected in anticipation of the crowd. Tonight's tilt is non-league, but on Saturday, September 25, the Rocks will open the Suburban B season at Trenton.

Rotarians 'Get In' on Special Dinner

Seven members of the Plymouth Rotary club, including Secretary Evered Jolliffe, were fortunate this week in attending a meeting of the Northville Rotary club when Mrs. Harry Clark supervised the serving of one of her famous salt pork and milk gravy dinners.

It will be recalled that some eight or nine years ago when Plymouth Republicans served their famed salt pork Lincoln day banquet attended by over 900 people, that it was Mrs. Clark who supervised the preparation of the salt pork menu for these nearly one thousand people that were served by Manager Ralph Lorenz of the Mayflower hotel.

In addition to the salt pork and milk gravy, there was plenty of home-made Johnny cake and then for dessert an apple pudding. Plymouth Rotarians present at the Northville meeting, declared the dinner served by the ladies of the Presbyterian church one of the best they had enjoyed in many a moon.

Teachers Meet for First Meeting

Plymouth teachers opened the current year with the first meeting of their club on Monday, September 13, in the school's library. President James Latture opened the session and introduced Walter Goodwin, vice president and program chairman, who in turn announced some of the group's plans.

During the meeting the president appointed the following committee chairmen:

Walter Goodwin; legislative, Gertrude Fiegel; flower, Dorothy MacKenzie; finance, Carvel Bent.

Flames Damage Plymouth Sport Goods Repair Shop

View shows havoc created by fire in Plymouth Sport Shop repair department.

Alertness on the part of two patrolling night policemen averted what might have been one of the most disastrous fires Plymouth has had in years, although the discovery of the fire was not in time to prevent damage amounting to many thousands of dollars to the Plymouth Sport Shop on Penniman avenue.

Shortly after 3 o'clock last Friday morning, Patrolmen Westfall and Thompson were making one of their usual rounds in the business district.

As they passed down Penniman avenue, Patrolman Westfall told his companion that he thought he smelled smoke from burning wood. Leaving their car, they began looking into store windows in an effort to discover the flames, although they could see no smoke coming from any door or window.

When they reached the sporting goods store, by the use of their flashlights, they saw smoke in the back end of the store where James Shomberger operates a gun repair shop for William Rambo, owner of the store.

Within minutes, the fire department crew responded to the call and before the fire could spread to any other part of the building it had been extinguished, being confined entirely to the sporting goods repair shop and the rear end of the store, where considerable damage was done by both smoke and water. Some damage, was done to the basement.

The extensive damage, however, comes as a result of an exceptionally large number of guns and other sporting goods being in the repair shop at the time of the blaze.

When firemen entered the store, exploding shells reminded the fire fighters of an old time Fourth of July celebration. Mr. Rambo had just received the day previous to the fire, a large shipment of ammunition and other supplies for the fall hunting season.

The fire is believed to have started from electrical connections to one of the motors. Excellent cooperation on the part of the insurance companies carrying the insurance and speedy work on the part of Mr. Rambo and his force will enable him to re-open his store for business this weekend.

Fortunately a very large portion of his hunting supplies for the fall season was not damaged by either smoke or water.

Carpenters and decorators started work just as soon as the insurance adjusters had made their final check and while all the repair work will not have been completed by this weekend, it will be sufficiently advanced to merit business to continue as usual.

Machines and other repair equipment damaged by fire have already been replaced or repaired, so that the repair department has been able to resume normal operations.

The building, formerly known as the Penniman-Allyn building, now owned by Dr. Evans, suffered smoke damage, which is being quickly repaired. Some smoke seeped into offices on the second floor, but no damage resulted.

Bus Fare Cut for Local Students

All Plymouth students riding the Deluxe Motor stage coaches to and from school, can make the daily trip for half fare, an announcement made this week by Vern Emmett, manager, reveals.

He asks however, that parents secure the tickets for their children at the bus office, located at 798 West Ann Arbor road. They come in strips of ten, he added.

Mr. Emmett further disclosed that one new bus has been purchased by the company and is now making the daily runs to and from Detroit. Two more are expected to arrive sometime in the near future.

Set Clocks Back on September 26

Sunday, September 26 is the time when Plymouth will ape Detroit and set its clock back one hour.

Detroit's council which has again treated the time muddle, has finally figured out that it isn't September 25 or September 27 when the clocks of Detroit will be turned back to legal time. But it's Sunday, the 26th.

So Plymouth and other daylight saving places, will do as Detroit has done, and temporarily at least, bring an end to the time confusion that has messed up this part of the state for the past four months.

Meeting Planned for Theater Guild

County Official is Kiwanis Speaker

The joint meeting held by the Kiwanis clubs of Plymouth and Belleville on Tuesday night in the Hotel Mayflower, was highlighted with a talk by the new Wayne County Agent, C. R. Biesheimer.

The evening's session opened by a brief address by Alex Shook, president of the Belleville club, who expressed his appreciation over being able to meet with the local club. He introduced Leonard Cady, vice president of their club, who was in charge of the evening's program, and who introduced Mr. Biesheimer.

The evening's speaker, replacing E. L. Besemer who resigned last spring as county agent, held a similar position for 19 years in Cadillac county.

He told the Kiwanians that the division of the agent's office which is of utmost importance, is the extension service. The purpose of the entire agency, he explained, is to better the living condition of the farmer.

The four divisions of the agent's office, as explained by Mr. Biesheimer, consists of the 4-H program. (Continued on page 5)

How Plymouth Voted To Help Nominate Candidates

Dondero Wins Congressional Contest — Hamill Runs High — Eaton Carries Every Precinct in District for Legislature

Considerably more interest was shown in Tuesday's primary in Plymouth than had been predicted previous to the voting.

While Republicans with no major contests for state offices showed a larger total vote than was evident two years ago, the Democrats held to about the same vote as in the last primary. Republican totals, which had been expected to be near the thousand mark, exceeded 600 slightly. The Democrats polled around 100 votes in Plymouth.

Herald Hamill, former city engineer of Plymouth, made a remarkable race for drain commissioner. During the early hours of the counting he remained near the top of the list. Hamill lost out by only a few hundred votes.

It was not until the final votes were received late Wednesday that the result was known.

Jacob Stremich Dies - Final Rites This Forenoon

With the death of Jacob Joseph Stremich Tuesday afternoon after an illness of many months, the city of Plymouth suffered the loss of one of its younger and most energetic business men, who through untiring efforts had established and operated most successfully the Hillside Inn on Plymouth road just east of the city.

Mr. Stremich became ill last spring and in spite of the best of hospital and medical care, his condition continued to grow more critical until his passing early this week, at the age of 49 years.

He was born in Dolena, Austria, March 16, 1899. When 13 years of age he became an orphan. With his brothers and sisters, they came to America to live with relatives who had located in North Dakota. His parents were the late Jacob and Katherine Stremich. It was some 26 years ago when he left the northwest to come to Plymouth to make his home with relatives in this city.

His first employment in Plymouth was with the Lee Foundry. Later he became associated with the local theatres where he was steadily employed until he decided to go into business for himself, opening Hillside on December 15, 1934.

By strict attention to business and tireless work, his business grew by leaps and bounds until now the Hillside is regarded as one of the most popular eating places in western Wayne county.

The host of customers will be pleased to know that it is the intention of Mrs. Stremich to continue to operate Hillside with the aid of Robert Stremich, Britton Crowther, who has been chief during the past eight years, and all of the other present employes of Hillside.

The Stremich home is located at 358 Liberty street. He was married to Margaret Stremich, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Stremich, pioneer residents of Plymouth, on July 28, 1922.

Mrs. Stremich, her son Thomas, and daughter, Jane survive. Also surviving are his two brothers, Samuel Stremich of Northville and William Stremich of Albuquerque, New Mexico, and two sisters, Mrs. Carolyn Lorenz of Plymouth and Mrs. Nellie Kehler of Northville, other relatives and a host of friends.

Mc Stremich was brought to the Schrader Funeral Home, and later taken to his home where rosary was said Thursday, September 16 at 8:30 p.m. Funeral services will be held today, Friday, September 17 at 10 a.m. from Our Lady of Good Counsel church with Father William P. Mooney officiating. Interment will be in Riverside cemetery.

Johnson-Otto Wedding Officiated September 4

Beatrice Arlene Johnson, daughter of Mrs. Sarah Johnson of Holbrook Street, became the bride of Willard L. Otis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin J. Otis, of Dearborn, at an 8 p. m. ceremony on September 4, at the Presbyterian church of Plymouth.

Before an altar decorated with white chrysanthemums, palms, and white candelabra, the Rev. Henry J. Walch read the double ring rites. Wedding music was presented by Barbara Johnson, sister of the bride, who wore a gown of blue satin and carried a colonial bouquet of bronze bebe mums. She sang "I Love Thee" by Greig and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, David Johnson, was dressed in a gown of white bridal satin, fashioned with fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline and trimmed with tiny buttons which extended from the neckline to the waist in a circular train.

Her veil of Spanish rose design lace fell from a halo head-dress of lace. She carried a crescent shaped bouquet of white rose buds.

As maid of honor, Marion Kirkpatrick chose an ice blue satin off-shoulder gown and a picture hat of matching satin. She carried a bouquet of bronze bebe mums.

Wearing similar gowns and headresses were the bridesmaids, who were the bride's college roommates, Nora Amerman, Margaret Fisher, and Mrs. Richard Farwell.

Patricia Ann Bell, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She wore an ice blue satin gown, matching bonnet and carried a small basket of bronze bebe mums.

Charlotte Otis was his brother's best man. Ushers were Erwin J. Otis, Jr., Phillip Wuerzel and Walter Jarvis.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Johnson chose a royal blue crepe floor length gown with grey accessories. She wore a corsage of Talisman roses and matching flowers in her hair. Mrs. Otis was dressed in a gown of fuchsia crepe and wore a corsage of Johnathan hill roses and matching flowers in her hair.

Following the wedding a reception for 200 guests was held in the church parlors.

After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Otis left by plane for Washington, D. C. For traveling Mrs. Otis chose a forest green gabardine suit with brown accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis are students at Michigan State Normal college. They will make their home at Ypsilanti while completing their college courses.

Florence Konazeski is Saturday Bride

On Saturday, September 11, at 8 p. m. Florence M. Konazeski, daughter of Mrs. Jennie Konazeski of Adams street became the bride of Joseph H. DeVriendt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph G. DeVriendt of Farmington.

The wedding took place at the Farmington Methodist church, with the Rev. Stone officiating at the ceremony.

Before an altar decorated with palms and candelabra, the bride was given in marriage by her brother, Alex Konazeski. Edith Parker sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride's white slipper satin gown was fashioned with leg-of-mutton sleeves and circular train. Her elbow length veil fell from a beaded tiara, and she wore gaunlets of satin matching her dress. White roses and carnations made up the bridal bouquet.

Pat Wheeler of Franklin Hills preceded the bride down the aisle as maid of honor. She chose a gown of peacock blue taffeta styled with a scalloped neckline, puffed sleeves and bustle skirt. She carried a nosegay bouquet of orchid colored gladioli and wore matching flowers in her hair.

Wearing similar gowns of tiled red taffeta were the bridesmaids, Jennie Konazeski, sister of the bride, and Virgie Stanley. They carried bouquets of gladioli and mums, and wore matching flowers in their hair.

Janie Catherman, niece of the bridegroom, and Joyce Rudick, niece of the bride, were flower Legion hall following the wedding.

The bride's going away outfit was a maroon suit, with which she wore grey accessories. The couple took a wedding trip through Northern Michigan.

Upon return from their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. DeVriendt will reside in Plymouth.

When bait minnows die on the hook soon after they have been put into the water, it may be that they are being fished in a zone deficient in oxygen at this season of the year. Such a zone is likely to be without game fish, and the angler may have better luck in shallower, better aerated water or, in the case of a few spring fed lakes, deeper, better aerated water.

U. of M. Banquet Fetes 13 Students

Thirteen students were guests of the University of Michigan club at the group's traditional send-off banquet last Friday evening in the Central Grade school auditorium.

Guest speaker of the evening was Ivan Parker, assistant dean of students and chairman of the Regents Alumni Scholarship committee. He spoke to the group on the school's football setup, enumerating what the university has to offer, and related what Plymouth students have done at the university.

Mr. Parker had been introduced by Stuart Finlayson, field secretary of the Alumni association, who later showed movies on life on the campus. Mr. Finlayson replaces Waldo Abbott in office for the association.

The evening's program also included a few words of welcome by Kenneth Hulsing, president. He extended an invitation to the students to become members of the club. Chairman in charge of the program was James Scott.

Plymouth University of Michigan students attending the program were: John Guettler, Bentley Crane, Virginia Elliot, Douglas Vincent, Don MacGregor, Marjorie Pino, Robert Chute, William Bateman, Marian Price, Emmy Lou Hough, Richard Tarnitzer, Ruth Campbell, and Jack Kenyon.

In 1824, Thomas Jefferson wrote: "I hope the choice (of the next President) will fall on some real republican, who will continue the administration on the express principles of the Constitution; unadulterated by constructions reducing it to a blank to be filled with what everyone pleases, and what never was intended."

Dale Carnegie

Author of "HOW TO WIN FRIENDS and INFLUENCE PEOPLE"

THERE are between 15 and 20 thousand ways of earning a living in these United States. In one or more of them you are capable of doing valuable work. And every one of those ways are important.

Do you realize that choosing a job is one of the important steps of your life—perhaps the most important? If you are to lead a happy life, you must be happy in the work you do. So aim at something you like. If you like your work, it can transform you from a dull, uninteresting person to a man of fascinating personality. It can change your life from a drab existence to real living.

Here are some suggestions to aid you in a choice:
1—Write a list of the things you like, placing your favorites at the top.

2—From this list, make another list of things that you believe you can do well

3—Analyze yourself, as best you can, and fit yourself mentally into the jobs which will afford you the chance to work with what you like to do.

4—Find out whether the jobs you prefer are in an overcrowded field.

5—If you find No. 4 to be discouraging, find out whether there is a new angle from which you could work.

6—Make up your mind that in any work there will be some phase that you do not like. Decide to concentrate on what you do like about any job.

7—Learn all about the men who have preceded you in the line of work you decide upon. Let the successful ones be your inspiration.

8—Now go to it, and let nothing swerve you from the path you have chosen.

If you can follow all these suggestions, you will be a man worth watching, and I'd like to be able to do it.

Proximity Paces Tonight at Downs

This week will be one of the biggest ever had at the Northville Downs harness track. The greatest trotter racing today, Proximity, has arrived at Northville to compete in the Northville Club Trot tonight. Proximity is probably the biggest money winner in harness racing.

The biggest night in Northville Downs history, racked up last Saturday night in the new American Totalisator machines at the Downs, is expected to be exceeded tonight when the trot is run. It is one of the two biggest stakes to be run at the harness track.

However, the management expects to have one of its biggest nights next Friday, September 24, when the Michigan Pacing Derby is to be held.

Saturday night saw Royal Man win the first 1 1/2 mile feature held at the Downs this season. As was to be expected, Royal Man was pressed right to the wire by his most consistent rival, Brucita's Guy. Royal Man, who set a new 1-1/6 mile track record this season and who always has been in the money, is the darling of the Northville fans.

The Saturday fixture saw the crowds bet the most money ever bet on a single race in the history of Michigan harness racing. The night's wagering in the "tote" also broke the all-time record when it hit $287,199.

Another Northville favorite, Florian, who has had trouble staying in the saddle, performed like the solid horse he is when he came home, the winner in the second half of the free-for-all trot. He won by a half length from Gypsy Prince. Florian ran fourth in the first half of the fixture and Gypsy Prince again had the tough luck to finish second, just nosed out by the long shot Earl's Moody Guy.

A large shipment of horses came in this week from the east and the competition for the local favorites is expected to be much stiffer. A few track-record efforts should not be unexpected.

Joe's Jottings

by Joe Miller

Once again with fall in the air, football is resuming at Plymouth High. Tonight Coaches Eddie Bender and John Sandmann will lead their squad onto the home field in hopes of avenging a 19-13 licking they took from the hands of Farmington last season. Bender, starting his second season at Plymouth, will be attempting to start on the right foot this year. Remember, last fall Farmington and Redford Union licked the Rocks before Wayne fell victim 12-6 to Bender's crew at the first night football game in Plymouth's history. Football fans in the area hope things will be different this time.

Bender's right hand man this fall is John Sandmann, who graduated from the University of Michigan and Colgate university. Sandmann really knows his football and with two such efficient grid masters in the Rock ward, Plymouth's grid fortunes will be in capable hands.

Baseball fans in the area have the opportunity to see in action one of the finest young catchers in the game at the moment, in the person of Hobey Landrith. Hobey, who recently starred in the Hearst National Boys game in the Polo Grounds in New York City, is now playing for the Yankees in the C. J. Martin tournament, which is being held now at the Riverside and Cass Benton diamonds. Sunday, Hobey will lead his team against the Allen Industries squad of Plymouth at Riverside diamond at 3:30 p.m. In addition to playing in the Hearst game, Landrith played for the Class D Joe Gentle team which won the Class D championship in the Detroit Federation, and which almost became the national Class D champions.

The showing of the Detroit Lions football team has been most gratifying, but Detroit hasn't got a ghost of a chance to finish above fourth place in the Western Division in the National Professional league. They will finish ahead of the Los Angeles Rams and they will beat the Eastern Division teams, but they will not be able to beat the Bears, Cardinals, or Packers.

A new radio program designed for full football coverage around the Ann Arbor area has been started by Bob Wines, a sportscaster at WPAG in Ann Arbor. Wines, football coach at St. Thomas High in Ann Arbor, might interview coach Eddie Bender of the Rocks and several members of the team sometime in the near future.

The crack DeHoCo softball outfit, the Class B champions of Michigan, is going to have a couple of games this weekend. Saturday at 2 p.m., E & B of Detroit will furnish the opposition at the DeHoCo Park. Another Detroit squad, Elite Bar, will play DeHoCo Sunday at the same time. These games ought to prove very interesting as the two Detroit clubs are rated highly in the Detroit softball association.

Speaking of taxes do you know how many hidden taxes you pay? For example, there are: 126 different taxes on a pair of shoes; 78 different taxes on a quart of milk; 142 on overalls; 191 on a fence; 142 on a plow; 154 on a cake of soap; 201 on a gallon of gasoline and they're all a part of the purchase price.

Wayne Players Win Inter-County B Championship

With slugger Mike Engler on the mound the Wayne Merchants defeated the Plymouth Utilities 5-4 last Sunday to win the Class B championship of the Inter-County league.

Wayne replaced Daisy as champions of the Class B division. Utilities, a team that lost but four games all year, played ragged ball in this championship tilt. The winners of the Red division during the season, Utilities, literally fell apart committing seven errors; three wild pitches, and two pass balls. Wayne was almost handed this game on a silver platter.

The new champions finished the regular season in third place in the Red division behind Utilities and Clarenceville with a record of ten wins and six losses. Utilities ended their regular season with a 12 won 4 lost record.

As a means of expressing their appreciation to the Detroit House of Correction ball team for winning the Michigan Recreation association's Class B softball tournament for the city of Plymouth, merchants presented the players with a team trophy.

The presentation was made to the team captain, Albert Mueller. At the same time the team presented baseballs to Mayor Frank Henderson, Sterling Eaton of the Plymouth Mail, Herb Woolweaver, recreation director, and Fire Chief Robert McAllister. The latter two gathered the funds for the purchase of the trophy.

Six Man Football Meeting Slated for Next Monday

The fall program of the recreation department will get underway next Monday evening at 8 p.m. in the recreation office at the city hall, when a meeting is to be held for the managers interested in six man football for the coming season.

Each team must have representatives at this meeting. The schedule for the season will be drawn and other important matters will be discussed. Two divisions are planned: the Class A division, 100 pounds and over, and the Class B which is for the children, 99 pounds and under. Herb Woolweaver, recreation director, desires to have at least four teams in each division. This league, which is for the youngsters in the eighth grade and under, is slated to start action in the week of September 24. The schedule will be concluded in the first week of November.

Each youngster planning to enter the six man football program must have a physical exam before he can play. Exam blanks will be in the hands of the managers and the prospective players can pick them up from their managers.

If possible, Woolweaver plans to have ten players on a squad. Last season 12 was the most a team could have signed to play. Four teams, Army, Wildcats, Northwestern, and the Lions, were entered in the program last year.

Lake herring is among the fish the U. S. Fish and Wildlife service is experimenting with in the making of canned fish spreads. Combined with tomato, flour, dried skimmed milk, margarine, salt and white pepper in the present formula that still is being perfected, the herring will make a paste for use in sandwiches, as meat spreads are used.

Stewart Shatters 100 Yard Dash Mark During Kiwanis Field Day

Irving Stewart, 17 year old senior at Plymouth High school, set a new 100 yard dash record for the 16-18 year old group at the Kiwanis Field Day program held at the school athletic field last Saturday afternoon.

The new record for the dash is 11.7 seconds. Previously the record was held by George Bud-dy, who did the distance in 12.1 seconds. This race was the highlight in the abbreviated program. Only a couple adults turned out for the evening's program, and Herb Woolweaver, recreation director, decided to call the meeting off.

Stewart also took the base running honors with a mark of 11.7 seconds on a softball diamond course. The shot put event was topped by Hillis Cash, who had a distance of 34.6 inches. Tossing the softball a distance of 206 feet 8 inches, George Hunter took the softball throw event for the 16 through 18 year old group.

In the 14 and 15 boys group another record was broken. Paul Harding, a junior at Plymouth High, ran the 75 yard dash in 9.1 seconds. The previous record was 9.5 seconds set by Louis Vargha. A three time winner was recorded in the 5-8 group, when Bruce Wood took the 25 yard dash, the hopping race, and the potato race. Another three time winner was in the 8 to 11 age group, Jackie Carter topped the softball throw, the 50 yard dash, and the potato race. Terry Danol won three events in the 11-14 group; the 50 yard dash, the softball throw and the standing broad jump.

The 14-16 girls division had a two time winner in the person of Elenore Rutherford, who took the standing broad jump and the softball throw. Gale Foreman won three events in the 8-11 group. She topped the potato race, the rope skipping event, and the 25 yard dash.

Golfers Undeclared and Unopposed

A perfect record was owned by only one team in the Plymouth Country Club Thursday Night league when the season of play recently came to a conclusion. The team was played under the name of the McConnell barbers, and not only finished the season undefeated, but they were unopposed, which is the reason for their "no loss" season, is that they were the ninth team in the league. They were a late entry, and a team to match them was never secured.

Some of the team's members were oblivious of the fact that such a situation existed until the end of the tournament. The final standings of the eight teams which did enter in the competition play were as follows: first, Cloverdale; second, Tait's; third, VFW; and in order, Auto Club, Plymouth Mail, Morgan's Service, Gleich's Garage, and the Cooties. Placing first in the low net standings was the VFW team, while Tait's was in second, and Gleich's in third.

The Town Clerk at Ephesus (Competence). Lesson for September, 19: Acts 19: 29-41.

Memory Selection: Proverbs 21:3. Paul had labored for more than two years in Ephesus with such results that the many defectors from Diana's worship had cut down the scales of silver images of the goddess.

After two hours of this the town clerk appeared and by his good advice induced the mob to cease shouting and to disperse. He told the members of the mob that the greatness of Diana was recognized and nothing was gained by their uproar.

Ephesus was infamous for its vice and very likely many of those who composed the mob were drunk. And the incident might be used as a warning against the excesses of drinking strong liquors.

If you have a just grievance against another, seek redress in an orderly way—take the matter to the courts. And at all times, under every stress, strive to be the master of yourself.

News In The World of Religion

By W. W. Reid

Under the leadership of the World's Evangelical Alliance, the annual Universal Week of Prayer is to be observed throughout the Christian world from Sunday, January 2, through Sunday, January 9, 1949. Pastors are urged to preach special sermons on the two Sundays, the prayer services are urged for the days between. The January 2 sermon topic is "The Deity of Christ"; and on the 9th there will be united communion and preaching on church unity, it is announced by Henry Martyn Gooch, of London, England, secretary of the Alliance.

Not all "foreign students" are coming to America to continue their studies. Of the more than 1,000 students in mission-supported Lingnan university, China, this year, ten per cent are from countries other than China. Thirty are from the United States, 35 from Indo-China, 13 from Jamaica, 13 from the Malay Peninsula, 7 from Japan, three from the Philippines, two from Siam, and two from South Africa.

Borneo—home of the erstwhile wild man and the head-hunters—suffered more from World War bombing than did the Malay Peninsula, according to Dr. Marmaduke Dodsworth, Methodist missionary, who went there with relief supplies from Singapore. The people need especially medicines, he says, including ointments, and atabrine or quinine for malaria. He took with him a score of cases of powdered milk for the Chinese and Dyak school children, five cases of vitamins, and several bales of clothing. "But the people themselves are working hard to restore the condition of the country," says Dr. Dodsworth.

"John Wesley's high conception of the church had better be taken seriously," says Dr. Gordon A. Sisco, noted Canadian minister. "He insisted that there was no such thing as a solitary Christian. He knew also that before you can have an effective evangelism you must have your institution from which to proceed. Though John Wesley sought to save souls, he was fully aware that Christianity is not understandable apart from the community. This matter of community is a present day issue for it testifies to that for which the world is seeing. It explains to some extent why such a pseudo-religion as Communism should arise in our day as an aggressive force."

The atomic bomb destroyed all 11 church buildings in Hiroshima, and the war 500 in all Japan. Only the concrete walls of the Nagarekawa church, Hiroshima, were left standing. However, its pastor, the Rev. K. Tanimoto, hero of John Hershey's "Hiroshima", has succeeded at tremendous cost in getting the roof and the floor restored. The Christians of Hiroshima decided that the quonset which was offered them by Church World Service (American) should be erected for the Matoba church. Its pastor had succeeded in erecting a flimsy barrack building. In it Rev. Tsukishita and his wife were conducting a prosperous kindergarten and holding church services. A little later he began a night school. Now they are proud to have their coming generation.

There is the urgent call in Japan for missionaries in large numbers, missionaries in the rural areas, in industrial areas, among students, in the churches, in social service, and for missionary teachers in church and government schools, report present missionaries in that land. Along with these is the call for short term workers, for prominent American churchmen who will give a Sabbatical year or two for specialists to help adapt the new educational system, for young college graduates who will go for a few years to help young Japan learn to speak English and to mold the coming generation. The Methodist church is making a first response by sending this summer to Japan 50 new missionaries for three years of service each.

Says a recent statement of the Society of Friends (Quakers) in Philadelphia: "The world needs a change in outlook—from fear to faith based on the kind of love that Jesus taught; from compulsion with its trust in weapons, to cooperation based on the dignity and worth of the human person. We feel constrained by the power of God to voice a warning to all people: there is no safety, no security, no peace in armaments, however deadly they may be made. The trust of mankind must be in the power of the living God. It is no easy way, but there can be peace only in a world order founded upon the spirit and precepts given to all men by the Gospel of Jesus Christ."

True politeness is perfect ease and freedom. It simply consists in treating others just as you love to be treated yourself.

Highlighting the list of speakers scheduled for the program are Russel H. Ketyl, Ralph Blackman, and Ken Farnar. All beekkeepers are invited, and do not have to be a member of any association to attend.

Crisp, crunchy celery is almost traditional in every festive meal. Now this vegetable is so plentiful because of large crops here in Michigan that it can and should be a part of our everyday meals. It is so delicious to eat as a relish that many housewives overlook the possibility of serving it in other appetizing ways. When cooked it has the same rich flavor as when served raw. Even when prices are low thrifty shoppers buy the whole celery, rather than the hearts. The outside stalks may be rather tough eating as a relish but they are good for cooking. They have more flavor than the inside stalk, almost as much as the leaves which should be saved for adding zest to soups, stews and casserole dishes.

SAVORY SOUP
 Some of the best celery soup you've ever eaten can be made from what many people discard. Do it this way: Wash the leaves trimmed from the celery and the tough outside stalks. Cut in small pieces, add a medium sized onion, cut in pieces, and boil gently in just enough water to barely cover in a tightly closed pan until vegetables are tender.

Drain and rub pulp through a coarse sieve. Measure combined liquid and pulp. For each cup of liquid and pulp use the following: 1 cup evaporated milk, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 tablespoon flour, salt and pepper to taste. Melt butter, add flour and stir over low heat until blended. Add celery stock and cook until smooth and boiling, stirring constantly. Season to taste with salt and pepper. For a richer flavor dissolve a bouillon cube in each pint of soup. Serve topped with small cubes of bread which have been browned in butter or margarine.

This is a good basis for the children's lunch. Peanut butter sandwiches and raw carrot sticks go well with it to be followed by fruit and cookies.

Stuffed celery is a favorite either on the relish or salad plate or in the lunch box. It's almost as easy to put together as it is to eat. Just cut the tender inside stalks of celery into pieces convenient for handling and fill the hollows with soft cheese. Keep chilled until serving time.

If your taste runs to bland flavors use cream cheese flavored with chopped pimiento, green pepper or chives; for more robust appetites combine the cream cheese with an equal amount of blue cheese and flavor the mixture with Worcestershire sauce and grated horseradish, using amounts to suit the taste. Grated onion or chopped chives improve the flavor of this last mixture and both call for salt and pepper to taste.

As a variation of plain creamed celery serve a more colorful combination of carrots, green onion and celery. The celery and carrots should be cut in pieces to match the onions. After cooking until tender dress with coffee cream or a cream sauce. Unless the vegetables are overcooked the contrast of green, white and orange will be vivid.

Here is a recipe for another vegetable combination in which celery plays an important part. Use the outside stalks for this.

STEWED TOMATOES AND CELERY

Four cups chopped fresh tomatoes or canned tomatoes, 2 cups diced celery, 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 2 tablespoons butter or fortified margarine, salt and pepper to taste.

Combine vegetables and simmer in a covered pan for about 25 minutes or until celery is tender. Add fat and season to taste with salt and pepper. Serves 6.

"EASY DOES IT"

By HELEN HALE
If you're seeking lunch-box inspiration, you'll want to take these tips on the pantry shelf for convenience.

Bake a meat loaf for Sunday dinner and use the leftover for put-up lunches. Use on whole wheat or rye bread with mustard or catsup and a leaf of lettuce.

Chopped, hard-cooked eggs, mixed with minced celery, onion and mayonnaise make an excellent sandwich filler.

Or, if you prefer using some leftover breakfast bacon, mix this crumbled with some chopped, hard-cooked eggs, with enough dressing to moisten.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Seven Barbecued Spareribs (Serves 6)

- 4 pounds spareribs
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons oil
- 1/2 cup vinegar
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- 1/2 cup chili sauce
- 3 tablespoons prepared horseradish
- 3 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
- 1/2 teaspoon salt

Place spareribs, cut into serving sized pieces, in a casserole. Cover and bake in a moderate (350° F.) oven for 30 minutes. Brown onion in oil and add all remaining ingredients. Cook slowly for 20 minutes. Place spareribs in baking pan, spread with sauce and bake uncovered for one hour.

FLAKED CANNED FISH such as salmon or tuna should be mixed with mayonnaise as well as seasonings. Add crispness with chopped pickles, chopped celery or green pepper.

CREAM SOFTENED BUTTER with a bit of mustard and let stand outside of refrigerator overnight. If you are making cold meat sandwiches of any kind.

Ground cooked ham, whether baked or boiled or left from the roast is excellent when mixed with salad dressing, ground sweet pickles, minced celery and mustard for seasoning.

Plymouth Man Wins Recognition

Henry Kirkpatrick

One of Plymouth's newer residents, Henry Kirkpatrick, has recently won himself acclaim and recognition with a new type of refrigeration unit for trucks which he has perfected.

An outstanding fact about his system, is that it is practical for all types of trucks, from the small panel models to the large highway semi-trailers. The refrigeration unit is powered directly off the truck's six volt electrical system; Mr. Kirkpatrick explains. A six volt motor is used to drive the condensing unit, and additional electrical power necessary to drive the motor is supplied by a special heavy duty six volt generator, connected to the truck's electrical system.

During a brief description of his background, Mr. Kirkpatrick told that he has been an engineer for 12 years, and added that he has gained his education through actual experience, rather than through formal, specialized schooling.

In the early part of this summer he started to work on this refrigeration system. Following its completion in the latter part of June, the Coldmobile company was organized for the purpose of manufacturing the units. It is located in Detroit. Mr. Kirkpatrick was formerly employed by a Detroit truck refrigeration concern as chief engineer.

The local engineer reports that Swift and company purchased the first unit the company produced, and on its performance, has placed orders for two more. Mr. and Mrs. Kirkpatrick and their two children reside at 11636 Butternut. They have made their home in Plymouth for two and a half years.

A further description of this new refrigeration unit appears in the August issue of the trade magazine, "Refrigerating Engineering." It explains that, "To place the unit in operation, it is merely necessary to start the truck engine and flip a toggle switch on the dashboard. A conventional thermostatic control is employed to control the operation of the refrigerating unit. On high temperature applications, above 32 F, defrosting is automatic after each 'on' cycle.

"Accessory equipment to be made available in the near future includes a kit which permits plugging in the refrigeration unit to standard 110-volt ac current for standby or overnight refrigeration requirements. This would make it unnecessary to unload the truck at the end of the day's run.

"Conventional refrigeration equipment is used throughout, the only major change being the use of six volt motor to drive the condensing unit and the unit cooler fan, plus some reinforcement to withstand road shock."

Post Has Safety Slogan Contest

In line with the safety campaign being conducted by the American Legion Passage-Gayde post No. 391, the school children of the elementary grades were launched on a successful safety slogan contest last Wednesday morning.

Time allotted for the entries in the contest was short but intensive, to permit the publishing of the winning slogan in the safety book, "Invitation to Live," which is being presented to the school by the Passage-Gayde post as a safety text for classroom study. The winners will be announced next week.

Judges for the many slogans submitted are: Dunbar Davis, Arthur Alford, and Sterling Eaton.

It is announced by Mrs. V. L. Hibbard of Kansas City, Missouri, who is in Plymouth this week assisting the post in their safety campaign, that ten national safety awards would be presented to the ten children submitting what the judges considered the winning entries. The top three slogans, she continued, will win cash prizes of five dollars, three dollars, and two dollars.

Post to Fete Auxiliary at Dinner on Sunday

Members of the women's auxiliary of the Passage-Gayde post No. 391 will be feted at a dinner given by the men next Sunday, in honor of their victory in the Poppy Day contest.

It is to take place at the Veterans Community Center at 8 p.m. The men of the post are also urged to attend the meeting planned for Wednesday evening, September 23, at 8:30 p.m. At that time the new commander will take over for this year.

Total domestic lignite reserves are estimated at 939,000,000 tons, or nearly one-fifth of the Nation's entire coal reserves, the Bureau of Mines reveals.

Consumers Gives Refund to Users

Checks for a total of $382,700 were mailed from Detroit today to more than 100,000 persons who were users of natural gas in the Pontiac division of Consumers Power company between October, 1942 and October, 1945.

The checks represent refunds due under a Federal Court Order reducing wholesale gas rates of the Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line company. The court decided that Panhandle had charged Consumers too much for natural gas from Texas delivered during the 1942-45 period and ordered the overcharge distributed among the ultimate users of the gas.

About 70,000 gas meters are involved, but the number of checks runs about 100,000 because two or more customers, in many cases, share the refund for a particular address. Customers who used gas at two or more locations during the period will get more than one check. Average amount of the checks is about $3.45, but many are much smaller and many others much larger. Industrial, commercial and domestic customers all share in the refund.

Members of Ladies Aid Will Honor Two Groups

Members of the Wayne and Livonia Ladies Aid will be honored by the Lutheran organization of Plymouth at a fall luncheon on Friday, October 1, at noon.

It will be held in the basement of the church. Members who are able to attend are asked to notify Mrs. Maurice Garchow, Mrs. Mary Beyer or Mrs. Charles Vickstrom by September 22.

Horses in Area Win Fair Prizes

Fred C. Verran, of 7897 West Six Mile road, is the breeder of three Morgans who won ribbons at the recent Michigan State Fair.

The winning horses were: Laddie, who won a first in the stallions, three years old or over class; Lassie, who won second in the mares three year old or over class; and Duchess who won third in the mares two year old or over class.

These Morgans are now owned by Mar-Lo farm on West Eight Mile road in Northville.

Lassie was also "Miss Michigan" at the recent Illinois State fair held in Springfield, having won second in the mares three year old and under four class.

Close to 400 Attend Cooties Sunday Picnic

The picnic given by the Cooties, Pup Tent No. 44 of the VFW, attracted approximately 400 from this vicinity last Sunday afternoon.

The affair, a repeat of a similar function held earlier in the summer, was for the benefit of veterans hospitalized in Maybury sanitarium.

Music during the day was donated by Happy Bob Long and his Dixie Ramblers, a seven piece orchestra.

More than 16,905,000 acre-feet of water — enough to cover the state of West Virginia to a depth of one foot — was diverted from 36 Federal Reclamation reservoirs in the West during 1947 to irrigate 4,500,000 acres of dry lands so they could grow crops. More than $555,000,000 worth of crops were raised.

Our Policy on PONTIAC Deliveries and Prices

Despite the fact that Pontiac has built over a half-million cars since the resumption of production after the war, demand still exceeds supply. In the face of this production record, those who place orders now will still experience some delay in delivery. If you are among the many people who feel that Pontiac represents an outstanding value—and wish to order a Pontiac for future delivery—you will be interested in the following policy on retail distribution which we, as Pontiac dealers, will observe:

WE WANT YOUR ORDER

And the sooner you place it, the sooner you will get delivery. So if you want a Pontiac, order it now.

WE WILL ESTIMATE DELIVERY DATE

Due to conditions beyond our control, we cannot give you an exact date of delivery. But based on anticipated future shipments from the factory, we will, when you place your order, give you an honest estimate of when you may expect your car. Such estimates will be reviewed any time on request.

ORDERS FILLED BY PRIORITY

A definite proportion of the cars we receive from the factory is set aside for preferential delivery to users whose work is in the public welfare and to others with certain occupational requirements. Otherwise, all orders will be filled on the basis of the time when they are received.

YOU PAY FACTORY-SUGGESTED PRICE

Due to changing economic conditions, we cannot, when you place your order, tell you exactly how much the car will cost when delivered in the future. But, at the time of delivery you will be charged only the factory suggested price on your model—which will be shown in a published list of local prices.

YOU SPECIFY ACCESSORIES

While most of our customers order their cars equipped with accessories, we do not force accessories as a condition of sale. You specify what accessories you want when ordering your car, and these are the ones (and the only ones) it will carry when delivered. Some items may be lacking due to current shortages; but none will be added.

REGARDING TRADE-INS

Naturally, if you have a car to trade, we would like to have it in order to take care of our regular used car customers. Our appraisals are fair, based on current conditions. But if you do not have a car to turn in, we still want your order and will accept it for delivery based on the conditions outlined above.

Since this is our "home town", our business and its future is based on our good relations with the people of this community. We are most happy that so many people here—as all over the country—have made Pontiac their number one choice as a new car.

Nothing pleases us more than to turn over the keys of a new Pontiac to one of the many people whose orders we have, because we know they have chosen well—for Pontiac is always a thoroughly good car, and a thoroughly good value, this year, next year, any year.

Successful Parenthood

BY

MRS. CATHERINE CONRAD EDWARDS
Associate Editor, Parents' Magazine

REUNIONS of parents and children at railway stations when the latter return from camp have come to be one of the late summer sights in American cities. To the waiting parents, when the campers come scampering down the station platform, bronzed, eager-eyed and gorgeously healthy, it seems certain that such wonderful, fine-looking children as theirs never before existed.

Why can't this blissful satisfaction with one's children continue throughout the year? A taxicab driver brought this up when a friend of mine and her husband were being driven home from the station with their two sons. The boys had just returned from camp and were the center of their parents' admiring attention. Both parents had exclaimed several times, "My I'm glad you're home." Finally, the driver turned around and remarked sourly, "That's what my wife kept saying when our boy got home from camp—but three days later she was saying, 'I wish you were back in camp!'"

Disregarding for the moment the grave error of ever letting children feel that they are not welcome in their own homes, let's ask ourselves if, after three days, the children might not be thinking, "Mom and Dad don't seem as nice as they were when we first got home."

Now it is perfectly natural for both parents and children to run into situations that fray the nerves and take the edge off that seemingly perfect state which a reunion brings about.

The difference is, or should be, that parents are old enough to hide their let-down feeling—children aren't. But the hopeful thing is, that if parents succeed in disguising any disappointments they may experience over finding that, after all their children haven't been made over into angels in two months, the chances are that their children won't have a period of disappointment at all! For finding that mom and dad are always the same, that the welcoming bark of Butch is as ecstatic after a week of being home as it was on the first night, that books and toys and radio are there to be enjoyed all over again, it is this beloved sameness that helps make home the secure place for love and growth that children need more than anything else.

A famous psychiatrist recently made the statement that "to love a child the way he needs to be loved is for a mother to act toward him every day of his life like the chairman of a welcoming committee toward a visiting celebrity." Translating this into your own experience, why not act toward your children every day the way you do when you welcome them home after an absence?

One practical word about those returned campers before we close: they'll have had lots of drill in teeth and hair brushing, regular hours for sleep and meals, balanced diets and other observances vital to health and beauty. Help them keep the same pride in these routines at home.

Marilyn Martin Will Wed Hudson Scheifele

The engagement of Marilyn Isabel Martin to Hudson Brant Scheifele was announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Martin of Newburg road, last Sunday at a family dinner.

Mr. Scheifele is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Scheifele of Indiana avenue in Detroit.

Although the couple has not as yet set the wedding date, it will be some time before the end of the year.

Among those attending the dinner at which the betrothal was revealed, were: Mr. and Mrs. Edward Martin and two children of Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Martin of Plymouth, Marilyn Martin, Hudson Scheifele of Detroit, and Marleeta Martin.

Miss Martin is a graduate of Plymouth High school, and attended the Detroit Business college. She was employed at one time as secretary to the chief of police at Plymouth's city hall, and served for three years in the WAACS. Mr. Scheifele is a graduate of the University of Michigan.

The power of applying attention, steady and undissipated, to a single object, is the sure mark of a superior genius.

Mitchell-Sexton Nuptial Mass Read Saturday

Mary Catherine Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Mitchell of Gyde road, became the bride of William E. Sexton, son of Judge and Mrs. James H. Sexton of Penniman avenue, at a 9 a. m. ceremony on September 11 at Our Lady of Good Counsel church.

The Rev. William P. Mooney presided at the nuptial Mass before an altar decorated with white gladioli and tapers. Phyllis Lavergne was the soloist.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin which was fashioned on simple lines with a high neck line and small pointed lace collar. The long sleeves extended to points over the brides hands. Her full skirt ended in a slight train. The three-quarter length veil fell from a seed pearl tiara and she carried a bouquet of white tea roses and bebe mums.

Mary Ellen Sexton, sister of the bridegroom, was the maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Janet and Patricia Sexton, also sisters of the bridegroom.

All three attendants wore gowns of white taffeta fashioned with short sleeves, high necklines with a small pointed lace collar, similar to that of the bride's, and they also wore short white gloves. The maid of honor carried Talisman roses and yellow bebe mums, while the bridesmaids carried bouquets of yellow roses and yellow bebe mums. They wore matching flowers in their hair.

The bridegroom chose John C. Mitchell, brother of the bride, as his best man, and the ushers were Francis and Robert Mitchell, also brothers of the bride. Two younger brothers of the couple, Robert Sexton and Thomas Mitchell, served as altar boys for the ceremony.

Mrs. Mitchell chose a dress of green crepe with black accessories and a yellow rose corsage for her daughters' wedding. Mrs. Sexton wore a dress of plum crepe with black accessories, and a corsage of American Beauty roses.

A wedding breakfast for the immediate family was held immediately following the ceremony at the Veterans Memorial in Northville. A reception for 200 guests was held in the afternoon from 1 to 3 p. m. also at the Vet-

Funny as it may sound, a rain coat that will actually keep you dry when the heavy precipitation begins to fall, is really hard to find. At least it used to be... before the rainproofing process called Cravenette was perfected. This is the processing now available at Tail's cleaners, and they are the only ones in this area sanctioned to use it. And not only will Cravenette do wonders for your rain wear, but it can be used on coats and suits of tightly woven fabric.

No matter how hard one tries to keep on a budget, every once in awhile an occasion seems to arise when you need a little more money than all your figuring will allow. A good solution to the problem is borrowing the needed amount, but of course you first will want to be sure you're dealing with someone who will treat you fairly. Since this is the kind of treatment you'll get when you borrow from the Plymouth Finance company, check there first, and I'm sure that's where your business will go.

Vivian Duff is Wed Sunday

Plymouth's First Baptist church was the scene of a wedding last Sunday afternoon, when the Rev. Benjamin Eicher officiated at the ceremony which united Vivian Grace Duff of Plymouth and Estel Carey of Shelby, Ohio in marriage.

For the service the bride wore a floor length gown of white satin and net. It was styled with a sweetheart neckline, gathered bodice, and a skirt of satin and net flounces. On her shoulder, she wore an orchid corsage.

Her attendant was her sister, Joyce Duff of Plymouth, whose floor length gown of yellow net was fashioned with a hooped skirt. Matching yellow veiling was worn in her hair, and her corsage was also an orchid.

Attending the bridegroom as best man was Roland Duff of Dearborn, brother of the bride.

The nuptial service was attended by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Duff of Northville road, and a few close friends.

A lunch was served for the bridal party following the ceremony at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Earl Thomas.

IMPORTANCE OF MAKING A WILL

If you want to save from worry those you leave behind you, make a Will. Even then they may have legal technical difficulties, but not so many as if you died intestate, and you will be more likely to have your money or effects distributed as you would want them to be.

In a talk the other day with John Foster, Corn Exchange Bank, 33rd Street and 7th Avenue, New York City, he said that a very large percentage of the business of lawyers came to them because of men and women dying without making a will.

D. Carnegie

Said Mr. Foster, "the law will take care of your estate after you've gone far, far better than while you are here; It will take the full responsibility after your death of seeing that your wishes are carried out."

Then he told me a story of a relative of his, a widowed cousin, who was the second wife of her husband. There were several children of the husband by his first wife. He died without a will. Since his children were all of legal age, and married, everything he had went to his second wife. Before she could make a will, she became ill, and never again was competent to make a will. She died.

What do you think happened to that husband's estate? Yes, it was inherited wholly by the distant relatives of his second wife, most of whom he had never even so much as laid eyes on. The children of the man who earned the fortune got not so much as one penny!

Do you think that was in accordance with what that man would have wished? You know full well that it wasn't.

Another instance, known to me personally: A man named George Brown was killed in an automobile accident. Shortly thereafter, his only child, a daughter died, leaving no descendant. Her husband inherited the estate. He died after a few months, and before the estate had even so much as been settled, the property went to that husband's family, leaving out entirely the twin brother of the founder of the estate, and the man who had helped him start it in his early years of struggle, and of whom he was very fond. Naturally, he would have wanted his twin brother to inherit over those who meant nothing to him.

Yes, make a will, and plan for what happens to your money in case your first choice never collects.

Nash Previews Newest Models

The drastically new 1949 Nash cars were shown in Chicago last week at the Stevens hotel in a private preview for press and radio representatives and Nash dealers of this region. The cars will not be shown to the public until late in October when all dealers will have received show-room models.

Final assembly of the new Nash cars began last week also, and the company expects to build 5,000 of the 1949 models during September, according to George W. Mason, president and chairman of Nash-Kelvinator corporation.

While actual details of the 1949 models cannot be revealed until the public announcement in October, it can be disclosed that they bear no resemblance to previous Nash models. The new cars are long, low and streamlined—incorporating advanced styling comfort, performance and safety features. In addition, many engineering advantages of previous Nash automobiles have been retained and improved.

Mason said that production of parts and sub-assemblies for the new cars "began weeks ago, when we discarded, not some, but all previous body assembly-line equipment and all body dies to make way for our 1949 cars. $15,000,000 is represented in the development, changeover and introduction of the new models," Mason said. That sum is in addition to more than $40,000,000 spent since the war on modernization and expansion of company plants.

When you point to this proud, glistening grille, any schoolboy can tell you it's a Packard . . . the car that still looks like itself!

That's because the Packard radiator grille, for nearly 50 years, has been a trademark of precision-built character.

Packard, for example, has always meant precision-built engines. And Packard today is winning new fame with the amazing economy of its new "free-breathing" straight eights!

Packard has always meant masterful roadability. And Packard leads again today—with a "self-controlling" suspension system.

Packard has always meant precision workmanship. And today's Packards are the finest-built Packards ever to bear the name!

This Democrat Mad as Wet Hen

Don't be surprised if Gene Orndorff, who wasn't sure just what shoes were for when he first came to Plymouth from southern Kentucky, votes the straight Republican ticket this fall.

He's hopping mad — mad all over, thoroughly disgusted with President Truman and his entire troupe of performing trained "seals" who whizzed through Plymouth the other day without raising the window shades of the cars of the special train that carried the leaders of faltering Democracy from Grand Rapids to Detroit.

It seems that Gene, best known among his railroad associates as "Junior", had spent days in drumming up a big crowd to greet the President when his special arrived in Plymouth. As all trains stop here going east, west, south or north, Gene just naturally thought that the President's special would come to a dignified stop in an intelligent city like Plymouth that has voted Republican since the birth of the Republic in 1776.

He thought, (maybe) that if the Republicans could just see the President and not hear him talk that he might get a few votes in this baluwick of common sense and good Americanism.

But—no sir—the President's train burned up the tracks in its haste to get down to Detroit to greet the forced marchers. He didn't even look out of the car window as he sped through Plymouth.

"Junior's" friendly associates who run the big locomotives, turn the switches and help to operate a great railway system—are having a lot of fun—all at the expense of loyal Gene Orndorff, who has voted straight Democratic since becoming 21 years of age. And that date is a Kentucky secret.

AFTER TRUMAN SIGNED U. N. LOAN BILL . . . President Truman here presents a pen, used in signing a bill authorizing a 65 million dollar loan for construction of a permanent United Nations headquarters in New York City, to Trygve Lie, secretary-general of the U. N., after the President signed the bill in a White House ceremony. Looking on are Byron Price, (center) Lie's assistant, and Mayor William O'Dwyer of New York City.

THIS WEEK IN Washington

IN the midst of political issues, continued red-spy scare and loyalty probes, Washington dog days were enlivened this past week by a report to the President by Oscar R. Ewing, federal security administrator.

It is a comprehensive survey of the nation's health and manpower resources in 186 pages chock full of awesome and fearsome reading. It makes one wonder how the richest nation in the world can spend the billions it does spend on reclamation, conservation of natural resources and spend so little in comparison on human needs and reclamation and conservation of human resources of the nation.

Here are some shocking facts gleaned from the report:

Every year 325,000 people die whom we have the knowledge and skills to save; every year the nation loses 4,300,000 man-years of work through bad health; every year the nation loses $27,000,000,000—that's billions of dollars—in national wealth through sickness and partial and total disability; a scant 20 per cent of the people are able to afford all the medical care they need; we need 37,000 more physicians, 20,000 more dentists, 125,000 more nurses; we need double the number of hospital beds we now have; 98,000 people died in accidents last year—10,400,000 were injured; medical treatment and lost wages totaled $3,000,000,000—property damage and insurance added another $3,400,000,000.

Despite this terrific loss federal, state and local expenditures on health programs last year totaled only $1,962,000,000 and it cost private individuals another $6,500,000,000. Conservation of our human resources should at least be as profitable as conservation of natural resources; more than 40 per cent of all counties in the country with population of over 15,000,000 have no hospital at all; in states where per capita income is lowest, death rate per thousand is highest; about 70,000,000 people or about 50 per cent of families have incomes under $3,000 and cannot provide minimum medical care for those families; in 1945, 70 per cent of all farm families had cash incomes of less than $2,000.

Twenty million school children, 75 per cent of all, need dental attention; cavities in children's teeth are increasing six times as fast as they are being filled; 35,000 children have diabetes; 175,000 have tuberculosis; 200,000 have epilepsy; more than 175,000 suffer from cerebral palsy; about the same number are crippled by infantile paralysis; a half million have rheumatic fever and rheumatic heart disease and another 500,000 have handicaps requiring orthopedic or plastic treatment. This is not all, but only a few of the highlights of this interesting report.

The cure, according to Mr. Ewing, is a ten-year program of increased expenditures and an integrated program of health aid construction including hospitals, clinics, medical centers, increased research, more doctors and other personnel and a better distribution of hospitals and medical facilities. And he recommends a federal health insurance law which would permit even the poorest to have the best medical attention whenever necessary.

As an instance of how the human resources are being neglected, it is pointed out that the social security act as amended in 1946 sets a ceiling of $11,000,000 on grants for maternal and child health services which could, if properly administered, probably save those 28,000 babies if the rest of the nation reached the Rhode Island efficiency. The same congress, however, appropriated $15,000,000, four million dollars more, to fight the hoof and mouth disease among cattle.

"We can and we should," the report says, "base our planning for health insurance on the premise that farmers and agricultural workers will be included under the coverage of health insurance."

The report goes on further to say that "improvements of rural health is one of the major requirements for raising the levels of national health" and that special recommendations in both manpower and hospital programs should be included with particular reference to rural districts.

"A prepayment plan will help to attract and keep doctors in rural areas. It will help maintain hospitals and through guaranteeing income, build new ones where they are lacking. Voluntary groups of rural people can build their own hospitals and clinics, arrange to employ their own doctors and have the services paid out of the health insurance fund."

Former Resident Writes of Trip

In a letter to The Plymouth Mail renewing her subscription for another year, Mrs. Clara A. Southworth, 1666 Electric avenue, of Venice, California, better known to older residents of Plymouth as the former Mrs. Riggs who once operated a large department store in this city, tells of an interesting trip made recently with members of her family to visit Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Kohler, also former residents of Plymouth.

The trip took the party along the shore line of the Pacific and up into the mountains.

Mrs. Southworth writes that years ago when she lived in Plymouth she often expressed a wish to live along the ocean or up in the mountains, "but as luck would have it, I live where I can see both," she wrote. The Riggs family, during their long residence in Plymouth, were active in both civic and business affairs of the community.

Fred VanDyke Attends Honor Group Conference

Fred Van Dyke of Plymouth was among leading representatives of The Mutual Life Insurance company of New York attending an educational and business conference of the company's National Field club held last week at Chicago's Edgewater Beach hotel.

Mr. Van Dyke, who qualified for the company honor group after meeting certain standards of service to policyholders, is a representative of the Detroit agency.

Rural Tele-news

THE RINGS YOU CAN'T HEAR — Many improvements in telephone service come about so gradually that it's sometimes easy to overlook the results. Take the matter of ringing on rural lines, for example. Ten years ago, nearly every rural-line telephone customer served by Michigan Bell heard the rings of all other parties on the line. Today 87 out of every 100 hear the rings of no more than half the parties on their line.

METAL MUNCHER—Squirrels occasionally gnaw holes in the lead sheathing around telephone cables. To prevent damage from moisture reaching the wires through these and other types of punctures, many cables are kept filled with gas. When the gas escapes, lowered pressure sets off an alarm in the telephone central office. Sensitive devices help tell where the break has occurred and a repairman can go out and clear the trouble, in most cases before service is interrupted.

DIAL DECADE—Ten years ago only one-tenth of the telephones on Michigan Bell's rural lines were dial. Today, even though the war years temporarily halted the extension of dial service, nearly two-thirds of the rural-line telephones are dial. Michigan Bell's $13,500,000 5-year postwar rural expansion and improvement program will mean still more rural dial telephones as time goes on.

When an individual discovers that his manner of living is too extravagant he can trim and cut almost at will. But in the case of Government, the only way to obtain relief is to insist that every dollar is spent efficiently; to arm ourselves with the facts and use those facts against spendthrift policies that yield no practical benefits or produce benefits, entirely disproportionate to their cost. BY • ELTON R. EATON

Nearly 20 years of public service given to the conservation and development of Michigan's natural resources came to an end the other day when C. A. Paquin resigned as chief of the educational division of the Michigan Conservation department.

The change, however, marks the beginning of probably another 20 years to be devoted to the development and enjoyment of what promises to be one of the famous private recreational areas in the north central states.

Mr. Paquin will this month take over control of the AuSable club, an area comprising some 9,000 acres of lakes and forests located about two or three miles east of Otsego lake and three miles south of Gaylord.

There are two entrances to the property from the west, one leaving US-27 at Arbutus Beach, and the main road to the club running east from US-27 a mile north of Otsego lake.

The north branch of the famed Au Sable river runs through the property for over 30 miles, providing some of the best trout fishing in northern Michigan.

In addition to the famed Au Sable, there are 20 lakes that Mr. Paquin hopes to develop into the best fishing "holes" on the North American continent.

The main lodge of the club is just two miles directly east of US-27. Built in a semi-hotel style, it contains some 42 bedrooms in addition to a number of rooms available for dormitory purposes. Some 300 people can be cared for at one time. There is also one smaller building which can be used during summer months which provided 14 additional rooms.

There is a riding stable, with 12 horses and riding equipment available for immediate use. A golf course, tennis courts, playground, trap field, rifle and archery ranges, and a number of excellent hills for skiing, constitute the immediate facilities that Mr. Paquin will be able to offer the public when he takes possession of the property on October 1.

He plans to operate the club during the entire year, catering to small game hunters, archers, deer hunters, fishermen, bobcat hunters and winter sports enthusiasts.

All of this comment pertains to the things Mr. Paquin will find necessary to do in order to maintain his club.

Having been one of the conservation department officials who thoroughly believes in proper forest management, lake and stream improvement and the development of proper cover for birds, deer, and small game, with plenty of natural feed for winter months, he will put into practice some of the things he has preached with the vehemence of a southern colored revivalist.

Here's one Michigan citizen who wishes Mr. Paquin all the success in the world in the extensive venture he has undertaken.

A former Sault Ste Marie newspaper writer and editor, Mr. Paquin during the nearly 20 years with the Michigan Conservation department, has been one of the outstanding workers in the department for the proper type of development and protection of Michigan's nearly six million acres of forests and cut-over lands. His departure from the department will be a severe loss to the state as he is the type of intelligent worker not easily found—and not easily induced to take a public position.

Plea Asks 'Give Children a Brake'

"Give the kids a brake!"

That's the theme of the state safety program during the month of September, when more than a million Michigan children return to school, according to Sergeant H. P. Kozowicz, commanding officer of the Detroit post of the Michigan State police.

"There were 163 children and youths in the age range up to 19 killed in pedestrian, bicycle, scooter and motorcycle accidents last year in our state," Sergeant H. P. Kozowicz said. "In addition, 4,336 were injured in pedestrian and bicycle accidents."

"The hazards increase when schools are in session. And drivers should bear this fact constantly in mind: No matter how much safety instruction you give them, children can always be expected to do the unexpected. That means drivers must do more than observe ordinary safety precautions. They must be on the alert for children darting out from between parked cars, playing in the streets, riding out of driveways on bicycles or scooters without stopping to look if all is clear, and other acts of carelessness.

"No matter if, technically, it isn't his fault, a driver who injures or kills a child never forgets the experience. It is an unhappy memory that lasts forever.

"Consider every child on the street a human caution sign. Keep clear of bicycles and watch out for youngsters on tricycle, roller skates, scooters and coaster wagons, and later the ones on sleds, too. Don't depend on the children to observe safety rules. So give them a brake."

Library Improves Bad Water Line Schools Service Will be Replaced

To improve the library service to the rural school children in Wayne County, the Extension Department of the Wayne County library will begin the direct loaning of books to an estimated 17,000 pupils this month.

Replacing a system of loaning classroom collections, which became obsolete with the growth of the rural schools, the Traveling Branch library and the Bookmobile will make trips to 90 schools each fourth week.

This winter the boys and girls will be able to select their books from the hundreds of volumes carried on the mobile libraries, instead of from classroom collections of about 40 books which were exchanged only three or four times each year, according to Miss Katherine Ashley, librarian.

Conversion to this type of service started last winter when the Wayne County library obtained the Bookmobile. With the present schedule, all of the schools located in sections of the county which are not near libraries will receive this service.

In Canton Township the libraries will stop regularly at the following schools: Hough, Sheldon, Cherry Hill, Walker, Bartlett, Canton Center, Palmer, and Truesdell. For further information about the mobile libraries call Wayne 1234 or Temple 1-6910.

Few things are impracticable in themselves; and it is for the want of application, rather than of means, that men fail success.

—Rochefoucauld

Approximately 170 feet of six inch water main will be laid at the end of Rose street, to replace the old galvanized line which gave property owners in that vicinity so much trouble last winter.

None of the affected property owners were present at the public hearing city commissioners held September 7.

The line previously used had outlived its utility. City Manager Harold Cheek told the commissioners. It gave the property owners in that area a great deal of trouble last winter, and at one time a series of hoses had to be used to keep the homes supplied with water.

A written notice of the proposed action had been sent to each of the property owners, the city manager told the commissioners.

 IT'S BETTER BEER

Patterned for the Particular

and distinguished by DYNAFLOW DRIVE

If you're the kind of person who likes to look behind the labels when you buy, then you're the very person for whom this brawny ROADMASTER was conceived.

We made it big not just for show, but for the very practical benefits in riding qualities to be obtained from bigness.

We gave it our huskiest power plant not simply to get impressive horsepower ratings, but to provide the brilliant action we think a fine car should have.

We mounted each wheel on its own soft, coil spring not merely out of tradition, but because such springing lays the basis for more uniform comfort for back-seat passenger and driver alike.

We made handling light with a woman's touch in mind, provided deep, soft cushions and smart interior finish in the interests of gracious hospitality.

And finally we reserved for this, the largest and finest of all Buicks, the newest and silkiest form of power transmission.

Only Buick ROADMASTER of all cars on the road has Dynaflo Drive—only this strapping carriage, patterned for the particular in all details, has the drive in which flowing oil replaces both the usual clutch and the familiar low-second-high gear sequence.

From such things has come a swing to ROADMASTER which makes prompt action advisable in placing a firm order. Your Buick dealer will accept yours either with or without a car to trade.

ARTHUR GODFREY wound up a month-long vacation and returned to the air recently to find that his five-day-a-week CBS network series had been expanded from 30 minutes to a full hour... Between his five hours a week of kidding and singing, and his popular "Talent Scout" show on Mondays, Godfrey is about the busiest man in radio... The Quiz Kids show has been picked up by the sponsor for another year... Two standby characters, "Senator Claghorn" and "Ajax Cassidy," will be missing when Fred Allen makes his rounds in Allen's Alley this season... Kenny Delmar is reading a new Russian act to replace "Claghorn." Death and tragedy seem to be the surest things in the film career of Farley Granger, one of the two young killers in Alfred Hitchcock's "Rope"... The talented young actor suffered blindness in "North Star," was executed by a firing squad in "Purple Heart," and was shot by police in "Your Red Wagon"... In "Rope" he presumably must pay with his life for the murder of Dick Hogan... In "Happy Times" the inimitable Danny Kaye is singing a comic song to Liszt's Hungarian rhapsody... Stunt has been tried before, but until Kaye came along, nobody was able to talk fast enough.

Vaughn Monroe, named "the best-dressed bandleader in radio" by New York's models, gets an odd sort of "fan mail" these days... The letters are from clothing manufacturers trying to sell or give him suits... One went so far as to say that he would give Monroe a year's supply of suits for nothing if Vaughn would mention the fact just once on his CBS program.

Platter Chatter
Capitol Records has released two fine family albums... For the kiddies, the latest adventure of "Bozo, the Clown" will keep the youngsters amused... Highly recommended for your small ones... The other, called "Viennese Waltzes," will be enjoyed by all members of the family... Frank DeVol gives a lilting interpretation to favorite melodies.

Babson Discusses "Prices and Peace"

Babson Park, Mass., Sept. 17—Roosevelt and his brain trusters were responsible for present high prices although their intentions were probably the best. They did this by methods: (1) By devaluing the dollars through increasing the price of gold; (2) By reducing the supply of goods through killing little pigs, plowing up cotton and paying farmers not to work; (3) By increasing purchasing power through encouraging labor unions to raise wages; (4) By reducing unemployment through putting millions on public payrolls and relief; (5) By printing billions of bonds and bank notes instead of financing the war in a businesslike way.

How to Reduce Prices
Prices could now be reduced just as easily by reversing all these processes, namely: (1) By reducing the price of gold; (2) By ceasing to guarantee farm prices and letting them fall to natural levels; (3) By discouraging labor monopolies and making labor subject to Anti-Trust Laws; (4) By reducing public payrolls, thus forcing government employees and those on "relief" to go to work producing something useful; and (5) By ceasing to peg the government bond market and thereby reducing the money in circulation. These drastic steps, however, need not be necessary if we ourselves would do our part to correct the situation as I explained last week.

Why does not Mr. Truman do the above five things instead of scolding Congress for not pegging prices which would only make goods more scarce and develop tremendous black markets? The reason is that to do so would probably start the business cycle downward and bring about a "bust". No President wants to do this and Mr. Dewey will be no different in this regard than Mr. Truman. Just as we have to get sick before we will give up some bad habit and take care of our health, so a "bust" seems to be the only way to bring a nation to its senses. It's too bad, but it's human nature.

Taxes, Immigration and Peace
Two other things, however, could be done which would reduce prices and yet not bring on a depression. The first of these would be to reduce taxes. Everyone is now trying to pass his taxes on to the next fellow. Employees count as salary only what they take home in pay envelopes after taxes are deducted. Manufacturers and storekeepers add taxes to prices. Doctors and lawyers increase their fees enough to take care of their taxes.

and the rest of the world is half starving because it can't get jobs. We can postpone the day of reckoning and World War III by giving these European people "Marshall Charity Money"; but sooner or later we must let down these bars or fight. In the sight of God there may not be much difference between our Economic Curtain and Russia's Iron Curtain.

Another way to reduce prices would be to readjust immigration restrictions so as to admit from war-stricken Europe 1,000,000 good carpenters, bricklayers and painters who would gladly do an honest ten hour day's work for a fair pay. This would do more to reduce the cost of housing and to give homes to veterans than anything else. Our silly immigration and tariff laws were necessary when prices were too low and there was much unemployment; but these laws are not needed today. Just as their enactment resulted in higher prices, so their repeal today would result in lower prices, both directly now and in preventing further price increases due to another war.

How To Avoid War
So much for prices; but let me also add my little "two cents" worth about world peace. No United Nations; no big armies, navies, no airforces; no prayers or sermons will bring about World Peace so long as we in the United States live the life of Riley behind a great high fence

Great Lakes Airmotive Buys Division of Ford

The recent purchase of the Ford Motor company's propeller overhaul and maintenance division by Great Lakes Airmotive, incorporated, will round out the servicing facilities of this new and enlarged organization, Robert L. Nutty of Plymouth, president, has announced.

The transfer includes the complete removal of all equipment, tools, records and stock items. The concern occupies two north bays of the main terminal hangar at Willow Run airport, using 50,000 square feet of shop, hangar and office space.

Eleven counties in eastern and northwestern Pennsylvania produce 95 per cent of the anthracite in the United States, the Bureau of Mines reveals.

HOWDY FOLKS: We just now heard about a man who got a pain in his back as he tuned the radio and said to his wife: "I do believe I'm getting lumbago!" His wife's reply was: "What's the use, you won't understand anything they say."

"Was it hot where you had your vacation this year?"
"Terrible, and no trees! We took turns sitting in each other's shadow!"

He: "Don't you hate people who talk behind your back?"
She: "Yes, especially at the movies!"

We don't want you to talk behind our back either. We'd rather you come and tell us how we can improve our service. We'll do our best to cooperate.
