THANKS — THANKS RIGHT FROM THE HEART.

One of the most historic elections in Michigan, as well as the nation's history, has just taken place. The voters have decided to enter upon a new era in the hope and belief that out of it all will come a better Michigan and a better nation. The election, too, has brought forth many changes.

On the tide that carried Governor Sigler out of office and Governor Dewey out of any hope of ever serving the nation as its chief executive, the writer is among hundreds of other Republican officials in metropolitan areas carried out to sea.

Surprising as it may seem to you, there are no regrets in my heart—only gratitude. I feel so grateful for the intense loyalty of the voters of this entire locality, grateful for having had the opportunity to try and do what little I could, in a highly important legislative position, for the benefit of ALL of the people of Michigan, grateful for your true friendship.

I know from the sentiments you have expressed that you have not been in disagreement with me. Not only do I know it from what you have said, but the voting tally sheets gave proof as well.

To the voters of Plymouth, Northville, Wayne, Rosedale Gardens, Garden City, and townships of the district, I shall forever be appreciative of your confidence as expressed in your votes.

Watching the election clerks turn ballot after ballot and to see the number of split ballots that were marked Democratic except for state representative, I know first-hand of your good will and intentions and it is for this consideration that I express to the electors of western Wayne county my thanks, right from the heart.

In all the years I have served in the legislature, I have missed but two roll calls, one due to weather conditions which made it impossible to get to Lansing in time, the other due to attendance at a funeral of a close friend in Plymouth.

To the newly elected state representative from this district, David J. Trombley of Redford township, I offer congratulations and best wishes for a successful career in the highly important legislative office to which he has been elected. Mr. Trombley, a former employe of the Pfeiffer Brewing company, now an active official of the brewery workers' union, will find that there is much he can do for the public good by representing all of the people instead of any special group. The state's financial problems are grave indeed, and it is going to take a lot of work to solve the complex situation that exists. We sincerely wish Mr. Trombley and the legislature as a whole success in bringing forth some solution to the many difficult and important issues that must be considered.

Again thanks—many, many thanks for your continued support and good will over a long period of years. There is gladness in my heart and no ill will against a single voter in the entire district. All voted as they believed for the best interest of themselves, the state and the nation. Only time will tell whether the majority were right or wrong.

Meanwhile here is one just plain, ordinary, every day sort of a citizen who is going to continue to work diligently, faithfully and everlastingly for a greater and better Michigan—and a greater and better nation.

QUOTING FRANK MCKAY.

Gene Alleman, capable writer for the Michigan Press Association who prepares a weekly letter for some 400 community newspapers, the other day quoted what former Governor Frank Fitzgerald had to say in one of his messages which recommended the abolition of the state administrative board.

We know that Mr. Alleman has a good memory and he should recall that anything that the late Governor said or did was dictated by Boss Frank McKay. It was Mr. McKay's idea to abolish the state administrative board and the late Governor directly expressed in his message to the legislature the wishes of the Grand Rapids boss.

It is rather unusual now to find a certain group of politicians who have fought McKayism for years accepting one of his ideas for the shifting of direct responsibility for the conduct of state business from the shoulders of the elected officials who are the only ones who are directly responsible to the electorate for the conduct of state business to a group of bureaucrats.

But the legislature refused to follow Mr. McKay's wishes as expressed by Governor Fitzgerald—and it is going to take a lot more arguments than have been presented in recent years to bring about the abolition of one governmental agency where all state business is done on top of the table instead of under the table. We are sure Mr. Alleman will not resent this little memory reminder—and we are sure too that he is one of the last persons in the world who would recommend anything that would tend to take away from the people a single safeguard of their rights.

COMMUNISM'S NEW TRICKERY SCHEME.

Probably one of the most important news revelations made in months appeared in a recent issue of The United States News which exposes the new methods adopted by Communism to ruin American industries. It follows:

The Communist Party "line," so far as it affects workers and industries, is taking another turn. From now on, party efforts are to be concentrated in industries that contribute most to rearming the U.S. If the policy is successful, Communists will have a foothold in key places where strikes and sabotage of production would be most effective in case of war with Russia.

The new "line" is outlined in the magazine "Political Affairs" by leaders of the Communist Party. It is known as the "concentration policy." Organizing efforts henceforth are to be centered in basic industries such as steel, autos, electrical manufacturing, railroads, mining and shipping.

Concentration is to extend even further. Four States are singled out for organizing effort. These are Illinois, Ohio, Michigan and western Pennsylvania, all centers of strategic industries. The policy calls for shifting "main emphasis" to these States. Within industries themselves, a policy of concentration is to be followed in key industrial towns, plants and departments. These, however, are not named in the statement of policy.

Emphasis is to be placed on recruiting members from the unskilled and semi-skilled groups, that is, the lower-paid workers. Also, there is talk of extending organizing efforts to such other industries as textiles in the South and New England, and to rubber in Ohio.

It all means a shift toward a tougher policy, more emphasis on the "class struggle" and a shift away from orthodox methods of traditional trade unionism. Fellow travelers who shape policies of some of the CIO unions are accused of going soft. The party believes they should work harder for wage increases, call strikes more frequently and put out more picket lines when strikes are called.

Weakness of the party in this country may prevent it from interfering seriously with the arms program, but employers and workers in basic industries can expect more trouble as a result of the new policy. Political strikes of the kind sponsored by Communists during the days of the Hitler-Stalin pact of 1939-41 are not likely, however. Too many workers, unsympathetic to communism, now guard against these tactics.

Top Communists such as Chairman William Z. Foster, Secretary Eugene Dennis and John Williamson are supporting the policy. Their goal, in Communist language, is "to prevent the victory of fascism and the unleashing of World War III, and to prepare the working class for its historic mission of socialist liberation." In more practical language, this might mean strikes and turmoil if the party should get the foothold it is after.

Tactics to be used in this drive to concentrate the party's strength include:

White-collar workers, professional men and women, veterans and students are urged to take jobs in basic industries.

Nationality groups are to be used, if possible. One objective is "to seek to influence key national groups, whose members are employed in concentration points, to direct their main emphasis to these industries."

More plant "cells" are to be set up in key factories. These "cells" carry out the orders of the higher-ups and recruit members. They are to do more agitating inside the plant. They are told to call

Methodists to Begin Observance of Church Centennial on Sunday

The page closing the history of the first hundred years of the Methodist church in Plymouth will soon be turned, and that beginning the story of its 200th year will come into view.

The church begins the observance of its centennial program on Sunday, November 7, and will continue with special programs until the following week, on November 14.

Methodist church leaders, former pastors of the local congregation, and ministers from numerous other churches in the city will participate actively in the observance of this occasion.

At Sunday morning's service Dr. Frederick G. Poole will officially get the program underway with a sermon on "The Next One Hundred Years."

As his topic, he has chosen "The New Age." This lecture is being sponsored by the Men's club of the church.

Early Methodists Stood Squarely For Freedom of Press and Speech

Way back in the early days of the Methodist church this great pro-republic church organization stood squarely for all that was good for mankind as well as the country.

At the general Methodist conference held in 1831 the church declared that:

"No rule shall be passed infringing the liberty of speech or of the press; but for every abuse of liberty the offender shall be dealt with as in other cases of indulging in sinful words and tempers."

Not only did the church take a firm stand for the freedom of the press, but it set up within its own organization a method whereby charges against ministers or members of the church could be taken care of within the church organization, except in such cases as might involve violations of state or federal laws.

The church rule pertaining to trials within the church follows:

"When a charge of immorality, or any other offense, recognized by the constitution, is preferred against a minister or preacher, the superintendent, or in his absence any other minister belonging to the circuit or station, whom he may select, after duly notifying the person accused, shall appoint a committee of not less than three nor more than five ministers or preachers, before whom the accused shall appear, at the time and place designated for the trial. The accused may object to any member of the committee, on account of his having prejudice against the accused; or of being interested in the decision. The challenge may extend to twice the number of the original committee. The superintendent, or executive officer in the case, shall be confined to the limits of the district in his selection of ministers or preachers to serve on the committee. During any trial, the ministers, preachers and members of the church may attend.

"On any dispute between two or more members of our church, concerning the payment of debts, or otherwise, which cannot be settled by the parties concerned, the superintendent shall recommend to the contending parties a reference, consisting of one arbitrator chosen by the plaintiff and another by the defendant; the two arbitrators to choose a third, a majority of whom shall decide the case."

Preachers Were Expected to Get Up at 5 O'clock to Preach 100 Years Ago

A Methodist preacher in Plymouth 100 years ago knew what long hours and hard work meant. The rules of the church were rigid as to the conduct of its preachers.

"We recommend morning preaching at 5 o'clock in the summer and six in the winter, where ever it is practicable" reads rule 4 of Chapter X of the Doctrines and Discipline of the Methodist church that prevailed at that time.

Among numerous questions asked of each preacher in the Book of Discipline were these: Do you eat no more at each meal than is necessary? Are you not heavy and drowsy after dinner? Do you use only that kind, and that degree of drink, which is best for both your body and soul? Do you choose and use water for your common drink? And take only wine medicinally or sacramentally?"

There was, apparently no such a thing as an eight hour day for a Methodist preacher 100 years ago. If he faithfully carried out the rules of the church, he was employed from 5 o'clock in the morning until long after dark, not six days, but seven days every week, and every day throughout the entire year. There were no vacation periods for the Methodist preachers who served Plymouth 100 years ago.

Community Chest Fund Meets Only Half Way Mark

While the solicitors for the Community Chest drive started off with a lot of enthusiasm when the fund raising campaign got underway Tuesday, October 26, receipts soon caused their feelings to wane.

It was discovered that the total didn't come up to what they had expected, as in many cases they found that the people they were supposed to call on were not at home.

Slightly over half of the $10,000 quota has been realized, with $5,122 donated to date.

Continued cooperation on the part of both solicitors and contributors will be needed if the funds needed by the city's red feather services are to be raised, states A. Lincoln Lantz.

To any solicitors who feel that there is anything they could do in way of helping to raise the present total, he reports that all efforts on their part will be greatly appreciated.

In a message to contributors, Mr. Lantz states that there are not enough volunteers to cover the entire city. He therefore asks that they mail their contributions to post office box 356. The treasurer will send each one a receipt, he adds.

The need for the help of local residents can be best pointed out in a review of the various organizations benefiting from the contributed funds. Mr. Lantz listed the Visiting Nurse association, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Salvation Army, Recreation commission and Veterans Community Center.

City Okays Free Parking Plan for Municipal Lot

Businessmen in the downtown area will have their way over the hotly argued question of whether or not parking meters will be installed in the municipal parking lot.

City commissioners arrived at this decision at their meeting Monday night.

The commission had previously okayed a plan from the city planning commission which called for the installation of the meters in the lot. Businessmen quickly reacted to this, demanding that they reconsider their action since they felt it would retard trade.

City officials resolved to postpone the installation of meters until further action is taken by the commission, and instructed the city manager to have two hour parking signs erected.

In the nation's greatest political upset since Civil war days, voters of Plymouth and vicinity followed tradition, last Tuesday, and voted strongly Republican, as they have in all elections from the day of the birth of the Republican party more than a century ago.

Plymouth gave Governor Thomas Dewey, Republican candidate for president, a total of 1765 votes to 726 for President Truman.

It gave 1643 votes to Governor Sigler and 849 votes to Governor-elect Williams.

To Congressman George A. Dondero it gave 1708 votes and to his Democratic opponent it gave 705 votes.

State Senator Clarence Reid who has served this district in the upper house of the legislature for ten years, received 1705 votes in Plymouth, and State Representative Elton R. Eaton of Plymouth received a total of 1801 votes and his opponent Mr. Trombley had a total of 718.

Senator Homer Ferguson had a total of 1749 and his opponent Frank Hook of the Upper Peninsula had a total of 743.

Governor-elect Williams had the highest number of Democratic votes among the Democratic candidates in Plymouth and State Representative Eaton had the highest total of any Republican candidate.

Plymouth voters made it evident that they approved of the sales tax diversion amendment. Never before has there been so much pressure used to secure favorable enactment on a constitutional question as on this one. The total vote for it, in Plymouth, was 1912 and opposed 643.

Hough Students Sponsor Trip

The gathering of old paper and iron brought great dividends on Wednesday for the pupils of Hough school.

With the funds earned by scrap collections, the Delux coach bus was chartered and plans were made for the students to make a trip through which they could learn geography and history first hand.

Twenty-six pupils, with three mothers, Mrs. Langmaid, Mrs. Kennitz, Mrs. Sempliner and the teacher, Mrs. Hawk made the trip across the Ambassador bridge, out Highway 18 to Amherstburg. They visited the Fort Malden museum, a spot where it was easy to acquire history and geography facts, according to Mrs. Hawk, since the museum is filled with relics of the war of 1812, and tools, guns, and household utensils used by the early French settlers.

Hough school pupils have begun to save old paper and iron so they can take another trip in the spring.

"Little Women" Enacted Tonight

During the past four generations, one of the great stories of American home life has been Louisa May Alcott's "Little Women" which has been chosen as the sixth program to be broadcast next Friday evening from 8 p. m. over station CKLW by the Episcopal families of Plymouth.

Miss Joan Caulfield plays the tempestuous role of "Jo" in "Little Women."

Although home life has changed considerably since the daily and sometimes hourly crises affected the March home, the lives of Meg, Jo, Beth and Amy—the happy moments and the sad ones—are mirrors of youth the world over, and present a message to all families everywhere, states the Rev. Alexander Miller, rector of St. John's Episcopal church.

The program's tender and dramatic scenes from "Little Women" were chosen to show how one family found happiness and security through such a combined love in spite of being very poor... in spite of a steady succession of illnesses, accidents, and other typical family tribulations.

Township Makes Fire Rate Request

A communication from the township board regarding the city's fire protection rate was read to commissioners Monday evening.

It stated that the township would like to continue the fire protection until spring at the present rates. Under the current plan the city charges the township $100 for each fire-run, with a $35 rate for each hour after the first.

The rate recently suggested by the city is $150 for each run into the township, plus a $35 addition for each following hour.

The communication stated that the reason for deferment of the suggestion is that the voters in the township will decide about a township hall in the spring election.

Commissioners moved that the letter be accepted and placed on file, and that action be taken at the next regular meeting.

It was announced at Tuesday night's meeting of the Kiwanis club that its annual Kiwanis Knight Klub will be staged Saturday evening, December 4, at the high school gymnasium. Roy Leemon, chairman, and his special projects committee are planning the affair.

Also, at the meeting, as is the custom with new members, Dr. Frederick Poole, Methodist minister, gave a brief biography of himself and of his professional experience. Another "baby" Kiwanian is City Manager Harold Cheek. Both were initiated into the club and presented their pins at last week's meeting.

No western gold prospector ever looked more eagerly into a pan filled to overflowing with glistering nuggets than did Rev. Frederick G. By all possible diligence and frugality, that the gospel be not blamed... By running with patience the race which is set up before them, denying themselves, and taking up their cross daily; submitting to bear the reproach of Christ, to be as the filth and offscouring of the world; and looking that men should say all manner of evil of them falsely for the Lord's sake.

Board Considered Merging With Presbyterians After Church Fire

Had it not been for the fight put up by I. N. Dickerson following the fire which ravaged the Methodist church back in 1916, the congregation might be merged with the Presbyterians today... He was the sole objector to the plan from the Methodist church official board. Today he is an honorary member of the board, and his tenure of office exceeds that of any other director... The board went so far as to present the idea to the Presbyterian church, he recalls, and it was received with mingled approval and opposition. His fight, however, killed the idea for the Methodist church, and negotiations were terminated by the board... The fire which destroyed the church had originally started in the school adjacent to the church, spreading to the belfry in the Methodist edifice... Hitting the congregation particularly hard was the fact that two years prior to this time the building had been remodeled at a cost of $9000... What Mr. Dickerson described as a "hot time" ensued when the tabernacle was built in the park as a meeting place for the Methodists... The trustees of the church were George W. Richwine, I. N. Dickerson, John Stewart, Charles Mather, Warren Lombard, William Sutherland and Harmon Kingsley... The trustees of the church were George W. Richwine, I. N. Donation Parties Helped to Fill Minister's Cupboard in Early Years

Donation parties were quite the vogue when Mrs. Luther Passage first started attending services at the Methodist church some 54 years ago... Although the plan was disbanded shortly after this date, she believes that to this time they were held annually... To help replace some of them, Mrs. Passage remembers that all the former ministers were invited back at various times... Mrs. Passage is one of the church's oldest members, and has always been one of its most active workers... "Yes," Mrs. Passage answered, she well remembered the church fire, and added that she was among the group that helplessly stood by and watched it burn... Plymouth Follows Tradition and Votes Heavily Republican

(Continued from page 1) changes in real estate assessments, there were 1531 yes votes and 743 no votes... Plymouth township voters followed exactly the same pattern as did voters within the city limits... Dewey received 561 votes, Truman 272. Governor Sigler had a total of 540 votes in the township and Governor-elect Williams had a total of 293... Canton township, followed tradition by voting Republican in national elections, although it always votes Democratic in township elections... Governor Dewey for president on the Republican ticket had a total of 550 to 412 for President Truman... State Representative Eaton had a total of 551 to 428 for his opponent... Northville gave to Representative Eaton an exceptionally high vote, a total of 1248 to 593 for his Democratic opponent... Late election returns indicate that the state legislature will be controlled by Republicans... Plymouth's vote in this election was an all-time high. There was a total of 2524 votes cast in this city... Governor Sigler, feeling keenly the political upset, has gone to Arizona for a brief but badly needed rest... Lieutenant Governor Keyes, who did much to help unseat Governor Sigler and was himself defeated, says he is still a candidate for something.

Response to Plymouth's Projected Book Drive Starts Picking Up

"Slow, but it's picking up," was how Max Todd, chairman of the Projected Books drive, described present response to the fund raising campaign now underway.
 "And response will continue to grow as more people learn of the project and realize its importance and need," he contended.
 The drive, sponsored by the Plymouth Lions club and the Plymouth Mail, is for ceiling book projectors for the benefit of invalids in the area who are confined to bed and unable to read in the normal sitting position.
 "To these people, the benefits of such a program cannot be computed in dollars, for it will fill many lengthy hours and replace boredom with interest," one contributor reported as stating.
 Under the projected books set-up, the patient has merely to lie in bed and look up at the ceiling where he or she can read one of the many books which have been put on film.
 The projector is available on request for showing to social or civic groups desiring a demonstration. They should contact Ward Jones, phone 1484, or Herbert Swanson, phone 490, to arrange for an appointment.
 Contributions to the drive should be mailed to the Plymouth Mail office.

Polio Victim is Showered With Cards and Gifts

Literally hundreds of cards deluged Marlee Smith following an announcement of a card party, in honor of her birthday on October 26.
 The young girl, who was stricken with polio a short time ago, is confined to an iron lung in Ann Arbor's University hospital. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith.
 And not only cards, but many well-wishers from Plymouth sent gifts to help fill her long and lonely hours. She was described as having an excitement ran high over the many remembrances from both friends and strangers alike.
 The response was particularly gratifying to her parents, for it turned just another day into a happy occasion for Marlee.

Business Concerns Ask Water Main Extension

Extension of the water main down Ann Arbor road from Main street to west of South Harvey is requested by two concerns who have offered to split the cost of such a move with the city.
 The move would entail approximately 400 feet of 12 inch water main, City Manager Harold Cheek states.
 The cost would be split by the owner of the Sutherlands Greenhouses and the Deluxe Motor Stages bus company.

It is to be emphasized that interested persons may come in anytime, since the fundamental point count, (ace 4, king 3, queen 2, and jack 1) is easily learned and applied.
 In response to a number of inquiries Herb Woolweaver, city recreation director, wishes to announce that high school students seriously desiring to learn bridge, may join the group. For students the charge is 30 cents. They are requested to come to the city recreation office next Monday evening at 7:15 p. m.

 The increase was made effective as of November 1.

Astrology
 Your Weekly Guide
 by G. Cardinal LeGros

Among the letters that an astrologer receives are many questions relating to the technical side of the science. It is surprising how many people think that astrology is fortune-telling—that is, that through it the exact future can be foretold, and all manner of impossible things made possible.
 Today we will examine some of these questions in order to show what astrology can do, and what we should not expect it to make possible. In the first place, astrological science is based upon the immutable laws of the universe—it is really a Divine Science that should be used to serve the highest interests of man. It was never intended to replace his reason, judgement, commonsense, or in any way to interfere with the exercise of his free will.
 We should not lean upon it for guidance in every little move in our daily lives. We should always stand free as spiritual beings who have the power to decide what is best for us—not as fearful, timid creatures with no will of our own. Astrology should be used to help us chart the course of our life, to reveal our basic characteristics and talents, to aid us in making the best of things, but it should never become the crutch we lean upon. We should lean upon only one thing in life, and that is our Spiritual Nature, the immortal Soul that is the foundation of our entire being.
 A question that is always being asked is: "Can Astrology Foretell the Future?" We might as well state right now that astrology cannot foretell any specific thing; it can simply tell us the kind of influence that may be at work in any given period. For instance, every two years the planet Mars (a fiery, masculine, powerful body) arrives at the place in the zodiac where it was the day that you were born. This particular day (and it can be a different day in the horoscopes of a hundred different people) is when the person should strike out on new avenues of endeavor, try out new ideas, contact new people, in other words—push things for all they are worth because a new cycle of energy is coming into his life. And on the other hand, there is a day every two years in the life of everyone when Mars reaches the birthplace of the planet Saturn, indicating a day when the energy will be low, the spirits depressed, and when new things should NOT BE ATTEMPTED. Also, on the day when Mars crosses the place where the explosive planet Uranus was when you were born accidents are very likely, BUT it doesn't mean that you WILL have an accident. It merely means that if you aren't careful on that day an accident can very easily happen. But if you use caution and commonsense you can probably avoid any trouble.
 When Mars reaches the place of Venus, marriage, love, romance, and all emotional things are likely; when it crosses the position of Neptune you may be deceived or self-deluded, but it doesn't mean that these things HAVE TO HAPPEN. It is up to the person to make them a reality or not. But just the same astrology can show us the high and low points in our lives, and help us to avoid the dangers ahead as well as to take advantage of the opportunities.

 As we go along through the weeks ahead, everyone who follows this column carefully will receive an education in astrology because the writer wants above all to help the readers to UNDERSTAND HOW AND WHY it works and is a true science. Astrology has helped thousands of people down through the ages to health, happiness and success. But the real help is possible only when the person learns to co-operate with the influences good or bad that enter into his life. He receives little true aid when he simply believes blindly and fearfully and forgets about his own free will.
 We should point out also that to have a real "forecast" of the periods ahead the exact horoscope of birth must be considered. There are thousands of people born on the same day, yet their lives are quite different. This is caused by the fact that we are born at different hours of the same day, as well as at different geographical places. These factors are essential to set up a true birth horoscope. So when writing to the author of this column you must send your birth-hour as well as place of birth to get a reliable service.
 In view of the foregoing, when someone writes in asking "Will I get married this year?" the astrologer examines the pattern of influences that will be at work during the 12 months ahead. If he sees strong aspects between the planets that rule emotion, love, marriage, etc., then he can safely say that the probabilities of marriage are strong, but the person concerned must ACT to make them bring marriage about. Be wary of people who claim that they can foretell the future in detail. It is impossible because we have free will and choice, as well as the divine right to shape the pattern of our destinies.
 In the same way, the question "Will I recover from my illness?" can only be answered honestly when many factors are considered: the age of the person, the basic constitutional strength, the habits and diet, the mental and emotional outlook, etc. All of these things are revealed by the birth horoscope, but at the bottom of it all is the question of whether or not the person has the will power to follow sound advice and the intelligence to understand it.

 Astrology can help us all, but it must be approached with commonsense. And we must never think of it as fortune-telling or as an easy way of shirking responsibility or getting something for nothing. We can keep only that which we have earned by honest effort, and the friends we have, our marriage-partner, our employment, our home, our finances, and health are always, at any particular time, the exact expression of our inner state of consciousness. If we want a happier and better life we should make our inner state of mind and heart happier and better, not look on the outside for a magic key to harmony.
 If you have a problem that you honestly want help on, and if at the same time you think that astrology may aid you, write to the author of this column, stating your problem clearly and including your full birth data: hour, day, month, year, and place of birth. He will do his best to help you. G. Cardinal LeGros, 111 Burlingame Avenue, Apartment 405, Detroit 2, Michigan. Telephone: Townsend 5-5096.

Rocks Meet Northville Mustangs Tonight on Henry Ford Field at 8

"The game of the year" as far as Plymouth and Northville are concerned will be played this evening at 8 p. m. on the Henry Ford field in Northville.

When the great rivalry between the two schools flames anew, Northville will step onto the gridiron with a season's record of five wins and two losses. On the other hand Plymouth has not won a game in seven starts. However, when these two teams hook up the record books can be thrown out the window, for season's records do not mean a thing in a Plymouth - Northville contest.

The Rocks have defeated Northville in the last two years, 18-6 and 50-0. Both teams are up for this contest. If the Rocks pull out a victory, the season will be a comparative success for the local lads. If Northville wins, this year will be one of the greatest seasons for them.

Last Friday evening the Rocks took it on the chin for the seventh time this season, dropping a 19-0 decision to Lowrey High of Dearborn. The visitors tallied once in the first half mainly through the efforts of Charley Kirchner. After the opening kickoff Lowrey made a first down on their 47. Then Kirchner made another first down on the Rocks 37. Hughes carried to the one, from where Kirchner plunged over for the score. Hilary Florey kicked the extra point to make the score 7-0.

That was all the scoring for the first half, although Lowrey had one TD called back and Ronnie Bouldin's interception of a pass halted another Lowrey threat.

Immediately after the half-time intermission, the visitors swept down the field to score on a 25 yard pass from Florey to Don Edwards. This time Florey's kick was blocked. Lowrey's last touchdown march started on

Firemen Are Class B Little Rock Champs

Defeating the Wildcats on Thursday, October 28 by the score of 27-25, the Firemen, under the direction of Fire Chief Bob McAllister, took the Class B championship of the Little Rock league.

The Firemen came through the season with four wins and no losses. The championship contest was a see-saw affair with the winners putting over their decisive touchdown with eight seconds to go. For this Class B deciding tilt, Herb Woolweaver had two capable officials, John Sandmann, assistant grid coach at PHS, and Jerry Harder, injured Rock grid star.

Although the Wildcats concluded their Little Rock season in second place, they won the Tri-County championship, defeating Newburg 78-0. Tom Green coached the Wildcats this season.

Joe's Jottings by Joe Miller

That night of nights is here again. Plymouth meets Northville tonight in the last contest of the season for the blue and white. This evening's contest is on Northville's gridiron, the Henry Ford field. Two years ago Northville dedicated this field with the Rocks as opposition and in turn when Plymouth's gridiron was dedicated, Northville was the opposition.

The winner of tonight's game will start off on the right foot toward the winning of the Elton R. Eaton Friendship trophy. This trophy is given to either Plymouth or Northville, according to which wins the majority of five games during the course of the season. Northville won the trophy in 1946 and Plymouth won it last year, winning four out of five tilts. When the cage season is in session, the orange and white basketball is put on the block.

We would like to correct a mistake that we had in the cross country article last week. In the piece we stated that George Buddy's best mark last season was 11:42. However, that mark was wrong. Several times George went over that mark. In the 1947 league meet, George had a time of 9:50. We appreciate greatly that our mistake was found and called to our attention.

The merchants of this city are to be congratulated for their fine program they set up for the children of Plymouth on the Halloween weekend. On Saturday evening the street dance in front of the Penn theater was quite a success with many teen-agers attending. Also the paintings on the store windows were something to behold. Visitors passing through the city Saturday could marvel at the windows. In fact a Dearborn person took time to call Herb Woolweaver about the Halloween decorations. The Dearbornite suggested an article in a national magazine on the Plymouth Halloween activities. With such a great response to their program, the merchants can look ahead to many more safe and sane Halloweens.

Wayne Halts Freshman Squad

When the Wayne Frosh defeated the Rock freshmen squad last Tuesday evening under the lights at Plymouth by the score of 27-14, it marked the second time this season that Wayne had beaten Plymouth. Earlier in the season Wayne defeated the Rocks 20-6.

Before the first minute of play had elapsed in the Wayne contest, Monroe raced 60 yards for a Zebra touchdown. O'Keefe ran the ball over for the extra point. A few minutes later Monroe scampered 50 yards for another score. O'Keefe again made the conversion on a running play.

In the second quarter with Wayne again threatening to score, Bill Runge intercepted a pass on his ten yard line and he raced down near the sidelines 90 yards for the Rocks first touchdown of the evening. Dave Travis converted to bring the score to Wayne 14-Plymouth 7 at the half.

Wayne tallied two touchdowns in the second half before Darold McKinley went through the middle of the Zebra line 13 yards for the Rocks second touchdown.

On Tuesday, October 26 the Rocks freshmen had better luck defeating South Lyons 18-0. Harold Secord paced the Rocks with two touchdowns. Dave Travis tallied the third touchdown.

Rock Reserves Meeting Bentley

The Rock reserve squad will play Bentley High of Livonia next Wednesday, November 10, on the local gridiron. This game will be a night contest starting at 8 p. m.

On Thursday, October 28, the local reserves had an easy time defeating Walled Lake 33-0. The passing of the sophomore half-back, Phil Jacobus, once again was the feature of the game. Phil passed for two touchdowns. The touchdowns were scored by Bob Anthony, Bill Burger, Jerry Huddleston and Jim McDowell. McDowell, playing his first reserve game of the season, tallied two TD's. One was a 70 yard run.

As the score indicates the Rocks were the masters of the entire contest. Coach John Sandmann let everybody that made the trip play.

Church League Planned for City

The deadline for the entry of basketball teams into the Plymouth Recreation league is Monday, November 8. At that time players' contracts, entry fees, and team names must be into city recreation director, Herb Woolweaver. Any entries after this date will not be accepted, although players may register up to February 14, 1949.

Woolweaver wishes to have one girls' league and four men and boys' leagues. The boys' leagues will be classed as D, E, and F. D will be for boys 13 and under, E for boys 14 and under, and F for boys 15 and under. The class D deadline is Monday, November 8 at 5 p. m. This change is due to varsity basketball practice, which begins November 15.

Teams will be permitted to have three out-of-town players, but if they should have more than three out-of-town players on the squad the entry fee will be $15 additional for the squad. Fees: Men's league $35, Women's league $35, Class D $5, Class E $3 and Class F $3.

The schedule will begin December 1 with the exception of Class D, which will start on Saturday, December 11.

Church League Planned for City

With basketball season fast approaching, sport leaders throughout the city are contacting priests, ministers, and pastors of the churches in order to form a church league.

The proposed league will start play in December in conjunction with the city league basketball program. Anyone interested may contact their church priest, minister or pastor. Also Herb Woolweaver, city recreation director, may be contacted in regard to this league.

By REV. ROBERT H. HARPER
Drama in the Bible.
Lesson for November 7: Job 1: 1-6; 2: 1-6; 42: 1-6, 10a.
Memory Selection: Job 23: 10.

THE book of Job is a drama, with the world-old problem of suffering as the theme.
In the loss of all his possessions and the death of his sons and daughters, Job demonstrated that a good man is such not primarily because it pays.

When God permitted Satan, the Accuser, to afflict Job himself, the sufferer demonstrated that suffering is not always the result of sin. Against his three friends he maintained his innocence and refuted the ancient doctrine that suffering is an evidence of sin committed.

At length, after the friends had been put to silence, God spoke to Job out of a whirlwind, vindicated Job, rebuked him only in his questioning of God's doings, and promised him the restoration of prosperity and peace.

The great drama shows that men can be good because God is good and His will that men be good, that suffering is not always the result of sin and that the Lord sometimes permits a man to be afflicted as a discipline to him, and even for his enlightenment. Job had known of God only by hearing of Him—the coming face to face with Him, he learned of God truly. And henceforth he had the assurance that for the highest good of life he was safe in the Almighty's keeping.

BY • ELTON R. EATON

The most intensive aerial study ever made on the Far North's waterfowl breeding grounds was conducted this summer in Canada's Northwest Territories and on eastern Alaska's Arctic coastline, the Fish and Wildlife Service's Branch of Wildlife Research disclosed today.

Service flyway biologist Robert H. Smith, accompanied by the National Audubon Society's Robert P. Allen, flew 14,272 miles over the tundra, woodland, and delta breeding grounds—much of it uncharted territory.

Their twin-motored amphibious Gruman "Widgeon" covered the Athabaska Delta, the Great Slave Lake parklands, the valley and delta of the Mackenzie River, the Yukon Territory's Old Crow Flats; and the Arctic coastline from Point Barrow, Alaska, east to Bathurst Inlet in Canada.

In surveying almost 42,200 square miles, the biologists found waterfowl populations that compared favorably with those in southern Canada. "The greater percentage" of the ducks observed, however, were non-game birds—the slow-flying or fish-eating scoters, old-squaws, and king eiders. Mallards and pintails, the most important game species in the United States, made up a small percentage of the ducks in the area.

The Fish and Wildlife Service declares that vast Far North duck breeding grounds still remain unstudied. These regions may be populated by "different population consistencies" than those observed this summer by biologists Smith and Allen. A comprehensive estimate of Far North duck populations can be determined only by broadening the forthcoming surveys to include other regions in northeastern Alaska and Canada's Northwest Territories, the Service explains.

Density of ducks seen in this summer's survey ran from 6.2 birds per square mile on the Yukon Territory's Old Crow Flats, to only 3.9 birds per square mile in the upland tundra country south of Point Barrow, Alaska. Scoters comprised 48 percent of the total number of ducks found on the Flats. The rest: baldpates, scaups, pintails, golden-eyes, old-squaws, and canvas backs. Fifty-four percent of the ducks sighted on the upland tundra south of Point Barrow were old-squaws and 9 percent king eiders. The rest were game birds: pintails and scaups.

On the coastal tundra south of Point Barrow, biologists Smith and Allen found a density of 5.7 ducks per square mile. Of these, 53 percent were old-squaws, 27 percent king eiders, and 2 percent scoters. Pintails and scaups made up the rest of the population.

The biologists' count showed a density of 12.4 ducks per square mile on the transition area between the tundra and the forest, south of Canada's Eskimo Lake. Seventy-nine percent were scoters. The rest: scaups, baldpates, pintails and golden-eyes.

A density of 35.4 ducks per square mile was found on the upland tundra in the Eskimo Lake region. Of these, 83 percent were scoters, and 5 percent old-squaws. Scaups, pintails, baldpates and red-breasted mergansers comprised the rest.

In sampling the coastal tundra in the Eskimo lake region, the biologists recorded a density of 11.5 ducks per square mile, of which 36 percent were old-squaws, 35 percent king eiders, and 15 percent scoters. The others were pintails and scaups.

On the Mackenzie river's wooded delta area, a density of 27.7 ducks per square mile was evident. Thirty-nine percent were scoters. The others: scaups, baldpates, mallards, pintails, golden-eyes, shovellers, red-breasted mergansers, and green-winged teals.

Density of ducks on the Mackenzie river's treeless delta was 25.2 birds per square mile, the biologists found. Scoters comprised 28 percent of the total population. The rest: pintails, scaups, mallards, and shovellers.

Flying at an altitude of only 100 feet, the two biologists sampled 468.1 square miles by the "transect method" (a linear distance of 1872.4 miles). Transect lines were made at random, but because of the homogeneous nature of each habitat type studied, the biologists believe they obtained a representative sampling. All waterfowl were recorded by species by an observer on each side of the plane on an eight-mile strip. Thus, an actual count was gotten on a quarter-mile strip. By computing ground speed on each heading, the biologists interpreted the results into the number of waterfowl per square mile.

As the first statistical sampling of the Far North's duck breeding grounds, the data obtained this summer by biologists Smith and Allen will be of great value for comparative purposes next year and in future years, the Fish and Wildlife Service believes. Because of the lack of equipment, previous intensive samplings of Canada's waterfowl breeding areas were confined to the region south of the Great Slave lake.

No major changes in Michigan fishing regulations for 1949 are incorporated in the digest shortly to be issued by the conservation department, 1,700,000 copies of which now are being printed. Because the state legislature must approve more important regulations, the digest remains substantially unchanged in off years.

A 12-page folder, the digest will be ready for distribution November 1.

The 1949 season opening on trout streams is April 30, extending through September 11. Bass and bluegill fishermen again will set their lines legally on June 25, the bass season ending December 31, the bluegill and sunfish season the following February 28.

The fight of conservationists to repel the forces of exploitation that would destroy one of the most beautiful national monuments in North America is not over, the Wildlife Management Institute warned today. The adjournment of the 80th Congress only gives the defenders of this scenic area a chance to catch their breath before the next onslaught begins with renewed vigor.

The Barrett Bill (H. R. 1330) failed to pass the 80th Congress, but the same bill, or one identical to it, may be expected in the opening weeks of the 81st Congress. This bill, as originally written, would have abolished the Monument outright. It later was amended by its author to provide that a small portion of the present area be added to Grand Teton National park and that the remainder be added to the National Forest. This has been openly stated as being done to permit summer homes on the shores of Jackson lake. The "compromise" would accomplish nothing constructive and would leave the way clear for private exploitation of a scenic area that should be dedicated strictly to public use. The forces arrayed against the conservationists in this fight are strong. They include grazing, oil, and lumbering interests with strong political influence. These men are bragging openly that they will succeed in abolishing this monument within the next few months. It will take much work by all citizens interested in preserving our remnants of unspoiled natural scenery to prevent them from carrying out their threat.

An 80-foot weir at the mouth of the Osqueoc river on Lake Huron below Cheboygan to be used in sea lamprey studies is nearing completion.

Inspection of the new structure is to be conducted this week by C. F. Culler of Minneapolis, regional chief of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, and conservation department representatives.

The federal agency is financing construction of the weir, and its operation has been turned over to the conservation department's institute for fisheries research.

Located near the US-23 bridge over the river, construction of the weir was started last July. The sub-structure is of wood construction and the steel grill-work can be swung out of the way to prevent damage from ice action.

The weir will trap adult lampreys on their way upstream to spawn in the spring and immature lampreys that come downstream in the fall. Food fishes that are captured can be released unharmed.

Institute technologists will determine sex, weight and length of lampreys before destroying them, as part of the effort to find a way to bring them under control.

The federal agency is spending $20,000 annually for ten years on sea lamprey studies in the Great Lakes, under the direction of Dr. John Van Oosten of Ann Arbor, in charge of Great Lakes fisheries investigations for the Fish and Wildlife Service, and the Osqueoc weir is the first of the kind to be built on any stream that empties into the lakes.

The weir will be put into operation immediately under the supervision of Dr. Albert Hazzard of Ann Arbor, in charge of the conservation department's fisheries research organization.

Lampreys which are known to be increasing in numbers in the Great Lakes are charged with destroying many food fishes, particularly lake trout. A salt-water species, the lampreys made their way into the Great Lakes many years ago through the Welland canal.

In Boise, Idaho, Jessie E. Simons, 80, sued and won $8,000 from Hyrum S. Lewis, 80, for not making good on his promise to marry her last spring.

TO SAVE PENNIES on EGG MASH

Figure it out! See for yourself how the savings you can sometimes make on price are too small to offset the extra profit you can make from Larro Egg Mash. Just one extra egg per bird every month can wipe out a difference of $1.12 per bag. Let these figures prove it to you.

A Leghorn hen eats about 40 lbs. of Larro Egg Mash a year. Therefore, 1 ton of egg mash will feed 50 laying Leghorns for 1 year. 50 hens x 1 more egg = 50 extra eggs per month. 50 extra eggs per month x 12 months = 600 extra eggs per year from 1 ton of mash. 600 eggs = 50 dozen x 45c = $22.50 more income per ton of mash.

—actually $1.12 per bag

See how you can be fooled by a saving in price? See how high quality Larro Egg Mash makes profits jump? Put your flock on Larro today—watch results!

WISH we DID have real halos to pass out this week!

We'd place them on the heads of the big-hearted men and women who are calling on their neighbors, soliciting for our Community Chest.

They're giving double. First, they've given their own money; now they're giving themselves.

When your worker calls on you, give him—or her—a good break. He's taking time and energy from his own job. She's giving up precious time with her family to do this much-needed Community service.

Remember what they're doing benefits us all... Yes, you too. For your Red Feather services protect health, help families in trouble, offer kids wholesome sports, play and a fair start in life.

You've got a selfish interest in keeping the quality of your Red Feather services at a high level.

So have your check—and a smile—ready when your worker calls on you. Send him more light-heartedly on to his next stop. That's all the halo he wants!

Boys and baths are not always pals. But this boy's Whirlpool Bath is his best friend, because it will bring strength and life back to his withered limbs. County Agent is Club's Speaker

P. R. Biebesheimer, agent for the agricultural extension department of Wayne county, told members of the Business and Professional Women's club of Plymouth about the work of his department at their meeting held Monday evening.

The program was held in the dining hall of the Episcopal Church. Mr. Biebesheimer enumerated various problems which are brought to him for solution by city dwellers, as well as farmers, and he touched on the subject of soil conservation.

According to Mr. Biebesheimer there is a section of land in this country equal to the size of Michigan which is lost to agriculture because of soil erosion. He stressed the importance of conserving the top soil of our land, and stated the life of the nation depends upon it.

The program and table decorations were under the supervision of the public affairs committee, consisting of Mrs. Bernice Crisp, Mrs. Norma Cassidy, Mrs. Mary Ellen Kenyon, Mrs. Hazel Johnson, and Miss Hanna Strasen, who acted as chairman. During the business meeting which followed the program, two new members were taken into the club. They are Miss Doris Whitney and Mrs. Mary Strasen.

In Baltimore, bystanders explained to police why they had made no move to help Mrs. Rita Franke when she ran screaming up the street holding on to a burglar's coat: they thought it was just an ordinary husband and wife spat.

One look!... One ride!... You'll know it's...
the modern design for '49 new Hudson

Come in, see the car that's years ahead—drive the New Hudson—experience the amazing roadability, comfort and safety of the only car you step down into!

Here's your chance to get the thrill of a real discovery—to see and feel what one of the great advances in motor-car history offers you.

You'll see a Hudson of distinguished, streamlined beauty and low-built silhouette that is instantly recognizable because it is the natural result of a basically new design principle—a principle that puts this car so far ahead it is a protected investment in motor-car value!

The key to this new design principle is a recessed floor. The New Hudson is the only car you step down into!

By using a "step-down" zone in an exclusive, all steel Monohilt Body-and-frame, Hudson achieves the lowest car on the highway—only five feet from ground to top—while maintaining more head room than in any mass-produced car built today!

But no amount of looking at this amazing car—beautiful as it is—can equal the thrill of a Hudson ride! And you are invited to enjoy that ride today!

Hudson has a smooth, lug-the-road way of going in cross-winds and on every conceivable kind of highway. When you see the way it takes even the sharpest curves, you'll know once again that this car has "The modern design for '49"—and for years to come!

Hudson's remarkable ride is largely due to the fact that its "step-down" design provides the lowest center of gravity in any American stock car—yet road clearance is ample! It is a widely recognized fact that the lower to the ground a car can be built, the more stability it will have and the safer it will be.

You sense a delightful conformity to the road the minute you begin your ride, and this stability, plus the protection of riding encircled by a sturdy box-section steel frame, is a grand experience in serene, safe well-being.

This grand feeling is further heightened by the remarkable ease with which this car is controlled. You enjoy this generous roominess in complete relaxation as the New Hudson glides smoothly along.

We cordially invite you to see and drive the New Hudson, to thoroughly enjoy the ride that comes only with "The modern design for '49!"

HUDSON FLOORS are recessed down within the frame (as shown above), seats are lowered, so you get more than ample head room in this car with the new, lower center of gravity.

YOU RIDE DOWN within a hush frame (as shown above), and rear seats are positioned ahead of the rear wheels so that full body width becomes available for wonderfully roomy seats. Box-section steel girders completely encircle and protect the passenger compartment.

TRY AUTOMATIC GEAR SHIFTING in forward speeds as provided by Hudson's Drive-Master transmission—by far the easiest of all ways to drive. You can accelerate as long and as fast as you like in pick-up gear, then lift your toe momentarily, and you're in high. The shift into high comes only when you are ready! Button control on the instrument panel provides instant change to conventional driving if ever desired. Drive-Master transmission is optional on all New Hudsons at small extra cost.

Wedding of Former Plymouthite Officiated in Romeo October 23

In a candlelight service on Saturday, October 23, Ruth Barker exchanged nuptial vows with Maurice Carlton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Carlton, Sr.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Denver Barker, former residents of Plymouth who are now making their home in Almont.

St. Paul's Episcopal church of Romeo was the scene of the ceremony at which the Rev. James Colby was the officiating vicar with James Colby, Jr., assisting as altar boy.

Mrs. Hettie Clader sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because" with Mrs. Ronald Werth accompanying.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, was gowned in white satin, cut in a princess style and fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and long pointed sleeves. The skirt was draped high in front and tied back with tiny bows to show the lace petticoat underneath. The cascade trim at the front of the bodice matched the seed pearl tiara that held her fingertip veil of bridal illusion in place. She carried white rosebuds, mums and baby mums with a touch of ivy and fern in the bouquet.

Attending her sister as maid of honor was Mary Ann Barker, who wore a leaf green moire taffeta gown styled with an off the shoulder neckline and wide ruffled sleeves. ## Gentle Care Adds Life to Linoleum

If you want your inlaid linoleum to have lasting good looks and give long wear, give it gentle care. Too much water, strong soaps and harsh cleaning agents are the worst enemies of linoleum. Plymouth housewives are advised.

Homemakers will shorten the life of their linoleum by trying too hard to keep them clean states Olevia Meyer, extension home management specialist at Michigan State college.

Best method of cleaning and protecting inlaid linoleum is to wash it with a mop or cloth wrung almost dry. Warm water and mild soap may safely be used for washing. It should be rinsed with clear warm water. After it has been thoroughly dried give it two thin coats of paste wax and polish thoroughly.

A good way to apply paste wax is to put one-half cup of wax in an old stocking or two thicknesses of cheese cloth. Rub the cloth over the linoleum. Enough wax will work through the cloth to coat the surface evenly.

Worn places can be renewed by washing and rewaxing the spot. From time to time it is well to wash the linoleum with a damp cloth or mop wrung from water. Liquid wax of the self-polishing type may be applied occasionally to renew the finish and add to its wearing quality.

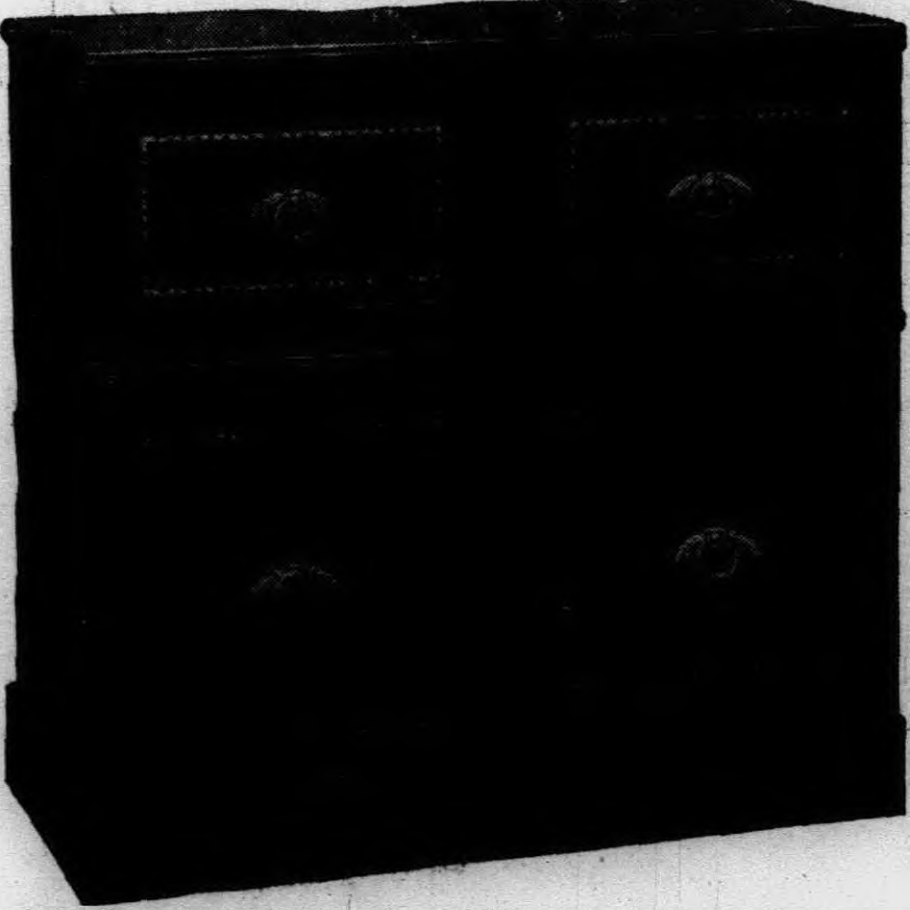

Don'ts for linoleum care listed by Miss Meyer include using too much water which rots linoleum and loosens the edges or coating it with plastic, varnish or shellac. Finishes make linoleum hard, brittle and discolored.

In Washington, Ralph Miller asked a stranger for a light, claimed the lighter he had lost three years ago in the South Pacific.

Good Memory Is Always a Help

Harry Brown has a pretty good memory—in fact a mighty good memory, it developed last week. The Ex-Service Men's club of Plymouth has had one or two unfortunate experiences since it was organized, having lost its records and other information pertaining to the early years of its existence.

Recently it became necessary for the club to know definitely what year it was organized, but members were at a loss to know where to search for the information.

Finally Harry Brown recalled that when there was talk in Plymouth about the organization of a war veterans' group he wrote a notice and gave it to The Plymouth Mail to publish.

"I remember the item and just how it looked. It was printed on the bottom of the first page, but I can't tell you whether it was in 1923, 1924, or 1925. I am wondering if I can go through the files and try and find the item, as it will give the date of our organization," said Mr. Brown.

Carefully he went through the files, looking only at page one of each edition. He thought it was in 1923, but there was no notice of any meeting in 1923.

Then he began searching the 1924 volume—and right on the first page in the very location he said it appeared, was the highly important notice that he was searching for.

Subsequent items in the old files revealed that Irving Blunk was the first president of the club and that Mr. Brown was also one of the first officers.

Proposed Northville Church

News In The World of Religion
By W. W. Reid

At Taura, a section of Yokosuka, an industrial city just south of Yokohama, Japan, the Methodist church has recently opened a Community Center. Housed in buildings with 20 rooms—formerly a Japanese navy officers' club—the Center plans to provide the people with good reading, good recreational facilities, with education at various age levels, and with Christian training and inspiration. The Rev. and Mrs. Everett W. Thompson, of Tilton, New Hampshire, Methodist missionaries, are in charge of this new enterprise which is attracting the interest of hundreds of Japanese of all ages.

The Laymen's movement for a Christian World (347 Madison avenue, New York City) lists more than 27,000 Americans who are pledged to pray daily for the delegates to the United Nations and for other world leaders "that they may do God's will for the world." The Movement secretary, Dr. Weyman C. Huckabee, is now in Europe enlisting peoples of other nations in like prayer. Many national and international church groups have voted approval of the prayer effort. In their call to prayer the laymen say: "We must condition the world's leaders by asking for God's spirit of workability to descend upon their hearts and minds. We must condition ourselves, each and every one, by asking God's help in undertaking the responsibilities of living so that peace may be possible. We must pray in church, at home, on the train, while driving, on the job, and keep at it. Each of us is important now. The ability of every individual to seek divine help is a necessary link in the gold chain that can bind the world about the feet of God in peace and harmony. The prayers of sincere men and women can be over-whelmingly powerful." The leaders of the Movement are prominent New York businessmen.

"I am concerned about the rapidly increasing American investment interests in South Africa and am wondering if our country's Christian interests in the welfare and development of the native people are going to expand commensurate with America's growing economic motives in Africa," writes American Missionary Darrell D. Randall, of Johannesburg, South Africa. "Consider the fact that the native people are beginning to find out that two-thirds of the population of the world are not white; that India, Pakistan, Burma, Ceylon, have just won their struggle for freedom from the 'white yoke' and that millions of other people

Waugh Presents Election Opinions

"Thomas Dewey will win the presidential election by a wide margin," according to Edgar Waugh, professor of political science at Michigan State Normal college who spoke before the Junior Chamber of Commerce auxiliary recently.

Professor Waugh, however, had no great praise for either party. "The Democrats should not win and the Republicans do not deserve to win," he asserted.

To amplify this statement, he said the Democrats should not win because the party is not united and President Truman is unable to hold it together. "Furthermore, President Truman has made many blunders and is grossly unqualified for the presidency, although he is sincere and is trying his best," the Jaycee auxiliary speaker contended.

"On the other hand, the Republicans do not deserve to win," according to Professor Waugh, "because of the poor showing of the 80th Congress. The Taft-Hartley bill, the tax cut bill and the drawn out, muddled Communist investigation deserves little meritorious praise," he stated in a summary of his beliefs.

Professor Waugh contended that many old time Congressmen might find themselves defeated in November. "The public is willing to give Dewey a try, but is tired of the complacent attitude of their Congressional representatives," the Jaycee auxiliary members were told.

The meeting was held at the Veterans Community Center, and dinner was served by the MOMS club.

in the world are also struggling for their freedom. Another factor not to be overlooked is that these underprivileged people are finding out that the Soviet Union is founded on a system of no color-bar and no race discrimination, and is beginning to show interest in the plight of the subdued masses of the non-white peoples everywhere. . . . Shouldn't all of us ask ourselves the question: What am I doing to lead the way toward a 'Christian economic brotherhood'?"

Two new medical projects for Central Africa are under way. Methodist Bishop Newell S. Booth, of Elizabethville, Belgian Congo, reports. One is the Bishop Lambuth Memorial Medical Center at Wembo Nyama. The plans have been completed and accepted. The Central New York Conference has subscribed $40,000 to provide the construction equipment. "There are good hopes that the rest of the buildings so much needed will be added," says Bishop Booth. "It will be in time if we keep on moving, to save the life of a tribe. The tribe is actually being reduced by disease now. But the tide can be turned." The other project is the Dell Edwin Booth Memorial Medical Center at Kanene, Belgian Congo. At present, dispensary activities at Kanene are carried on by the African trained assistant, Jasow Sandwe, in a dilapidated old residence and a score of grass huts for "wards" and "rooms". The new building will give him more sanitary and comfortable quarters for patients and service.

"The Congress of Industrial Organizations is fully committed to the extension of education that will ground our citizens solidly in the principles of justice and charity," says Secretary James B. Carey, of the CIO, Washington, D. C. "Both of these certainly sum up the obligation of one man to another as expressed in the Second Great Commandment. It is unfortunate that some interests in our country would seek to divorce religion completely from the fields of economics and politics, the two realms of human activity in which high moral principle is most needed. As spokesmen for millions of American workers, we commend the action of the International Council of Religious Education in seeking to bring to the attention of the American people the vital function that religious education should play in the life of the nation."

Old Timers in the body repair line had only rubber hammers and a can of black paint with which to make the repairs. If they were bad then only a replacement could be offered.

No modern air hammers or paints blended to match were available in the good old days when repairs were necessary.

A year old Ford in 1921 with repaired fenders had a two-tone appearance—Bright shiny new replacements and a dull body otherwise—that's no longer true today.

Author of "HOW TO WIN FRIENDS and INFLUENCE PEOPLE"

OVERCOMING FEAR OF HEIGHT

SOME people grow to manhood before learning the essential elements of contentment and happiness, and self-control is one of the most frequently neglected requisites. If you cannot control yourself, you cannot influence others. If you cannot control yourself, you are still, more or less in the adolescent stage. Here's a man who tells us how his own two little sons were instrumental in his learning self-control. His name is Albert I. Kuehn and he lives in Oak Park, Illinois.

D. Carnegie

One of the things that a boy learns very young is that he should not be "yellow." Naturally, youthful minds sometimes confuse "yellow" or "cowardice" with fear, which is not necessarily synonymous. A fear common to many people is the fear of high places.

Mr. Kuehn had been troubled all his life with a fear of high places. Height made him dizzy, almost ill.

During the World's fair in New York City in 1940, Mr. Kuehn took his two sons, then ten and twelve years old, to that wonder spot. The boys wanted their father to parachute with them, since youngsters of their age were not allowed to go up without adult chaperonage. But Mr. Kuehn was reluctant. He knew that it would be perfectly safe, for no organization like that governing the World's fair was going to allow itself to become liable for accidents that might so easily be avoided. Still he hesitated. Finally one of the boys said, "Dad, are you yellow?"

That brought him up with a start. Was he? No, certainly not, but he knew that the boys couldn't understand his hesitancy. So he entered the car—and held on for dear life as the good solid earth moved away from them. His body shook, his hair was standing on end. He knew that it would make matters worse to look down, so he steadfastly, and wisely, looked ahead. Finally he became more calm as he viewed the lights and the magnificent buildings from a distance. Then suddenly they reached the top of the tower, the parachute was released and they floated slowly and gracefully to the ground.

Dangerous? No, but a great thrill, a tremendous sensation! And what a lesson Mr. Kuehn learned: that if you do what you fear to do, calmly, courageously, your fear will dissipate. He says that never since have high places frightened him.

New Directories Are Distributed

Delivery of the 1948 Plymouth City Directory to subscribers is now being completed.

It is the last of a line that began here in 1927—21 years ago, published by the R. L. Polk and company of Detroit.

The new edition is a compact volume of 453 pages listing 10,894 names in Plymouth and Northville and surrounding rural routes, with 18 continued as the minimum listing age. This represents an increase of 1,046 names over the 1946 edition according to the publishers' records.

Special features of the new guidebook include the designation by symbol of tenant-owned homes and homes and places of business having telephones; marital status, wives' names, heads of households, and lists of government offices and officials also are shown. Two stories, describing each of the communities, appear in the book as well.

A classified department reveals that Plymouth and Northville combined have 221 distinct varieties of business endeavor, catalogued from "Adding Machines" to "Wood Products Manufacturers."

As has been the custom in the past, the latest Plymouth city directory will again be distributed to the free-reference Directory Libraries in other cities, the publishers announced. The local unit of this out-of-town directory service is maintained at the offices of R. L. Polk and company, 431 Howard street, Detroit.

Mary J. Abbey is number one and Peter Zylstra, Jr. is last on the Plymouth roster. For the politically-minded, a perusal of the directory will reveal no Trumans, Deweys, or Barkleys, but there are four Warrens and eleven Wallaces.

By LYN CONNELLY
NEWS Radio-Screen Editor
ROY ROGERS recently wound up another season of rodeo touring and he, together with his lovely wife and partner, Dale Evans, headed back to Hollywood, anxious to be home again with the children, Cheryl, Linda and "Dusty" (Roy, Jr.) . . . Here is a typical American family, a young couple famous from coast to coast but as completely home-loving as folks in communities all over the country.

Married almost a year now, they call each other "ma" and "pa," a rarity amongst Hollywood stars who prefer to stress youth and glamour . . . Dale wears a beautiful gold charm bracelet given her by her handsome hubby . . . Each charm is reminiscent of some phase in her life . . . For instance, there is a typewriter that shifts, a reminder of the days when she was a stenographer; a pair of baby shoes for her own son by a former marriage; a camera that opens, denoting film-making, and a cowboy (Roy) enclosed in a fence with a gate that opens, for their favorite movie together, "Don't Fence Me In."

Due to poor handling of Roy's interviews by his press agent last year, there had been a misunderstanding between the star and this reporter, an unfortunate one since Roy is really a pleasant fellow who makes every effort to please his fans and the press . . . He reads his own fan mail, an enjoyment that led to his development of a club for children called "Roy Rogers Riders' club" . . . Through it, he intends to instruct youngsters to study hard, be good and observe safety rules . . . Every child gets a membership card signed by Roy and a "lucky" gold coin. . . . Whenever he tours, he makes it a point to phone bedridden children, visit hospitals and talk to many other small fry who call him at his hotel just to say "hello" to their idol. . . . Every evening he trots Trigger outdoors and lets him through a brief routine for those children who were disappointed by "standing room only" signs on rodeo doors. . . . Someone as generous as Roy just had to make good and he is certainly deserving of Roy's good title "King of the Cowboys."

BABSON

Babson Discusses Labor and Wages

One of our great national headaches today seems to be getting our production to rolling, and maintaining it at a good level.

Production a World Problem
Daily headlines in our own newspaper read, "Carpet Manufacturer Announce Price Increases to Offset Higher Costs of Materials", "International Harvester Ups Prices on Tractors, Farm Equipment", "Meat Prices Due to Rise Further", "Gas Rates Boosted", "New Ford Car Prices Advanced". And here's the result: "Bank Accounts Trimmed as Cost of Living Takes Bigger Chunk of Income". All because labor refuses to up production along with higher wages.

French cabinets have fallen by the dozen over the question of labor-management problems, and wage and price controls. The British Labor government in its attempt to increase production along with wage increases has become the target of sharp criticism of its Trade Unions. The same currents and eddies are observable throughout the entire world. The Russian ideology is spreading too rapidly to other nations. This can be stopped only with lower prices through increased production.

The Easy Life
The recent Trade Unions Congress assembled at Margate, England, suggested that unionists were bitterly disappointed over the Labor Government's unfavorable reactions to another round of wage rises. They had been told for years of the hoard of wealth waiting for them when workers gained control. There is a similar pernicious philosophy current here in America. When will our labor leaders learn that the way out of their dilemma is not by soaking the rich further? As wages and salaries are increased, production must likewise increase. Otherwise, prices will be upped so that we will kill the geese which are laying the golden eggs.

There is something fundamentally wrong with our moral fibre when demands for one pay hike after another follow with thought only of shorter hours, longer vacations, less production, and more pay. That kind of thinking did not make America great. It was not responsible for Britain's world leadership during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries. Perhaps this desire for something for nothing has been a potent factor in Britain's slipping into a lesser role in world affairs.

Need for Increased Production
When I was a kid the good old-fashioned incentive system was based on more pay for more and better work. In return for a better than normal daily output, a worker was given extra financial inducement. It was this greater output that brought about more goods at lower prices which found bigger markets. The employee in turn could afford to buy houses and furniture for cash because he had shared in the profits of greater productivity. Everyone gained. Our standard of living became the best in the world.

I realize the incentive system has been abused by some managements with hide-and-seek incentive hocus-pocus. But most employers today know that it is as silly for them to attempt to run profitably by sweating labor as it is for labor to expect higher wages without reference to output. Labor and management have both erred. They both have their rights. Labor's search for a living wage and management's quest for justifiable profits will not be ended, however, by either the stopwatch and the slide-rule, nor by artificial restrictions and formula legislation.

Importance of Character
The solution lies in developing certain intangible traits of character. And when I speak of character, I'm not thinking of Sunday School goody-goodies either. I'm thinking of an attitude of fairness which makes it possible to see the other fellow's problems. I mean courage, loyalty, sincerity and pride in one's work, giving full measure. Character can't be measured; but put to work it results in health, prosperity and happiness for all.

Plymouth Anns Have Meeting

The Plymouth Anns, auxiliary to the Plymouth Rotary club, held their fall meeting and luncheon on Monday, October 25, at the Presbyterian church.

The feature of the meeting was a talk by Mrs. Herma A. Taylor of the Michigan Society For Crippled Children and Adults, Incorporated. Mrs. Taylor, who is a resident of Plymouth township, gives her full time to the work of this organization in Wayne county, and she cited many instances of the type of help now being rendered to the numerous crippled children and adults in this county. Mrs. Taylor's talk was of particular interest to the group, as the society was created by the Rotary 27 years ago.

The meeting concluded with a short business session, presided over by Mrs. Ferne Henderson, vice-president. President, Mrs. Mary Gardiner was absent on vacation. Action was taken to sponsor some sort of activity that would help in the work with the crippled children.

In Portland, Oregon, Frank A. Staeger, questioned for holding up traffic, explained to police that he had fallen asleep while waiting for the light to change.

Thinking, not growth, makes manhood. Accustom yourself, therefore, to thinking. —Isaac Taylor.
