Frank Rambo has Elk Hunters Have Big Celebration Luck in Colorado

Last week was a most eventful one in the life of Frank Rambo, pioneer Plymouth real estate dealer and manager of the branch office of the secretary of state for this vicinity. Last week Monday he suddenly realized that his birthday was right near at hand. Thinking that it was on Tuesday, he bought a big goose and the family enjoyed a delightful birthday dinner of roast goose and all the trimmings on Tuesday evening. Then Mrs. Rambo reminded him that his birthday wasn't until Friday—so on Thursday evening the family enjoyed a big chicken dinner. The same day there came from Commissioner Howard M. Warner of the Michigan Corporation and Securities Commission in Lansing, a certificate of merit issued by the Real Estate division of the department to Mr. Rambo for 25 years of service in the real estate business without a single complaint ever having been filed with the state against him. He thinks so much of it that he has it framed and it now hangs in his office. Friday was really his birthday—so he loaded his fishpole into the back end of Harry Lush's automobile and in company with a grumpy defeated Republican candidate for office, he went fishing. And didn't he show his fishing pals some tricks about fishing that they never heard about! All-in-all, his week-long birthday celebration was a happy event, not only for him, but his friends as well.

Bell to Improve Rural Service
The Michigan Bell Telephone company proposes to offer better types of service at attractive rates to areas, formerly rural in character but now grown into substantial residential developments in more than 100 of its exchanges, including Plymouth.
John R. Saxton, manager for the company, said an application containing the proposal will be filed with the Michigan Public Service commission December 15. The company proposes to extend the base-rate area here to include the following territory in which there are 409 telephone users: 7.8 square miles adjoining the present base-rate area to the north, east and south.
The proposal would eliminate rural service in the territory which will be added when facilities become available, Saxton said. Instead, users would be offered urban-type services. The change would not increase rates for rural residence users but would involve somewhat higher charges for rural business users.
Users of urban-type services would no longer pay exchange-line mileage charges.

THIS WEEK IN Washington

As the international situation continued tense and critical and the "cold war" between Russia and the United States became warmer and warmer, the fight against communism in government, in industry and in labor tensed in like proportion.

Edward P. Morgan, former executive assistant to J. Edgar Hoover, director of the federal bureau of investigation, told a Washington audience that "if the United States found itself at war tomorrow, it would discover members and agents of the communist party have infiltrated into key industries to such an extent that they could sabotage the nation's defense effort before it got under way."

So James P. O'Neill, national commander of the American Legion, would outlaw communists by law. But the national council of the Arts, Sciences and Professions would, on the other hand, "abolish" the house un-American activities committee.

Leon Henderson, speaking for Americans for Democratic Action, an anti-communist political organization, said: "Recent events demonstrate that anti-communism frequently cloaks shocking invasions of personal rights."

And the small business advisory committee of the department of commerce urged secretary of commerce Charles Sawyer to tell business management of its "direct responsibility in keeping employees educated in the American way of life" as a safeguard against communist infiltration.

Into this maze of confused thinking on the communist issue, the voice of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, taking over as president of Columbia University, penetrated with the statement that the facts of communism would be taught at Columbia.

"When the truth both of freedom and statism (communism) is held before the eyes of students, who can doubt the choice of future Americans?" General Eisenhower said. He declared that Columbia would strive to "develop rebels in the American tradition . . . informed intelligent rebels against ignorance and imperfection and prejudice."

"If we as adults attempt to hide from the young the facts in this world struggle not only will we be making a futile attempt to establish an intellectual iron curtain, but we will arouse lively suspicion that statism possesses virtues whose persuasive effect we desperately fear."

But here in Washington there appeared to be no cohesive united plan of action either in or out of government, or by either Republicans or Democrats on just how to combat the communist issue, which all agree is evil.

OBSERVERS HERE IN WASHINGTON point to a paradoxical political and economic situation in that the people are, for the first time in history, about to make a change in administrations although the country is at its all-time peak in employment and national income. Farmers, workers and business and industry have the highest incomes and profits and all signs point to a scarcity of workers in the foreseeable future.

In St. Louis, Mrs. Mildred F. Boers complained in divorce court that her husband, a four-foot midget, had stood on a chair and punched her in the eye.

Jacobs Prepared For The Winter

When winter winds begin to blow and snow is piling up along the highways, Mr. and Mrs. John Jacobs know exactly where they are going—and just how fast they are going to go, because they have prepared for what always happens in Michigan when the sun crosses to the other side of the equator.

They have their new automobile house trailer already set up in the auto camp at Fort Lauderdale—and it is filled with everything they may need to enjoy the warm sunshine of the southern state.

When the Jacobs' drove down to the American Legion convention in Miami some weeks ago, they took their house trailer to Florida with them so they would not be forced to pull it over mountain roads that might be covered with snow early in December.

"Now all we have to do, is get in our car, drive to California if we want to on our way to Florida, and get out of this cold weather as fast as we can," said Mr. Jacobs the other day. "We know just where and how we will sleep when we reach Florida."

In Camden, New Jersey, when J. Arthur Taylor charged that News Vendor Benjamin Thomas had gone after him with a knife, Thomas explained: "He always reads my papers but never buys."

Dewey has seen happier days but President Truman hasn't.

Things Like This: Had to Happen

Dewey township in Walsh county, N. D., gave President Truman 35 votes, Governor Dewey only 20.

Brooklyn voters complained that a Democratic poll watcher was electioneering. He was wearing a necktie with a picture of President Truman painted on it.

Mr. Truman carried his own precinct in Independence, Mo. He received 197 votes as compared with 133 for Governor Dewey.

It Was Close

The November 2 election was the most closely fought national election since 1916.

In that year Charles Evans Hughes, the GOP nominee, went to bed believing himself elected, only to awaken the following morning and learn that he had been defeated by Woodrow Wilson's second term bid, 277 electoral votes to 244. California's vote swung the victory to Wilson at the last moment.

Last Tuesday a committee consisting of one member each from the village commission, board of education, chamber of commerce, Woman's club and township board, appointed by Miss Dawson, county community librarian, met and organized by electing Mrs. D. M. Murray, chairman, and Mrs. Paul Wiedman, secretary and treasurer. The library at present contains 800 volumes, which will be increased to 2,000, owing to a recent appropriation by the board of supervisors of $30,000 given to the various townships of Wayne county. They will pay $80 per month for salary of librarian, and one-half of the cost of the furniture to the extent of $500.

BERSON

Babson Gives After-Election Forecast

I am back again in New York City to get the pulse. New York City is no longer the business center of the United States. This has long ago moved to the "Magic Circle", including the states of Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, Texas, Oklahoma and Missouri. On the other hand, all merchants, manufacturers, and bankers—wherever located—still go to New York City to buy their goods and sell their wares.

Everyone Pessimistic

Whatever the stock market may be doing when you read this column, let me tell you that New York feels bluer today than it has for many years. The people here believe that the Dow-Jones Industrial Averages will gradually now decline to 165 or under. This pessimism not only applies to the stock market, but to general business, agriculture and foreign affairs.

PEEK at the STARS

HOLLYWOOD has a peculiar habit of adapting popular radio plays or Broadway hits to the screen with stars other than those who created the original roles . . .

Marie Wilson
The latest example is the prospective screen adaptation of "My Friend Irma," popular CBS comedy . . . Marie Wilson created the role on the air and listeners associate her voice with "Irma" . . . Marie is a former screen star, blond, pretty and shapely . . . Yet Hollywood wants to by-pass her in favor of some better known star who will probably muffle a part Marie plays so expertly.

PLATTER CHATTER

Capitol: A unique album is ready for release . . . Called "Join the Band," the records contain band backgrounds for instrumental soloists . . . The rhythm is there and, should you play a musical instrument, this is a wonderful opportunity to play with a big band, conducted by Billy May . . . In singles, Capitol offers a honey by Barclay Allen whose nimble fingers across the keyboard do wonders with "Siboney" and "Tea for Two."

Victor: Stumped as to what to get children in your family for Christmas? There's no finer gift than a fairy tale on records to keep them entertained . . . Victor has two excellent ones . . . One is "The Boy Who Sang for the King" with narration and singing by Dennis Day . . . The story is an appealing one appropriate for the Yuletide . . . Spike Jones does the narration on the story of "How the Circus Learned to Smile" . . . The circus background will prove attractive for the kiddies.

The big interests here not only expect no special favors from the Second Truman Administration, but they are convinced that they will actually be prosecuted. They claim that the Raw Deal will take the place of the New Deal, and a businessman will again be abused just because he has been industrious, thrifty and successful. So far as I have been able to hear from friends throughout the country, this change in feeling for the worse is found everywhere.

Truman Opportunity

Most readers of this column realize the powerful government "Corporations", Commissions, Boards and other Or-

What About Taxes and Labor?

The Budget will need to be greater during the next few years, but it is entirely possible that adjustments can be made so that this could be accomplished by tax readjustments. For instance, it is possible that with some relief from the double taxation of dividends, more money would come into the Treasury. If such relief comes about, it could help hold up good dividend-paying stocks. There will be no reduction in the capital gains provisions; but no further excess profits taxes need be necessary unless we get into war.

New York City is no place to make a forecast on the labor situation. Very few people here are willing to take a board-minded impartial view. My own feeling is that the New Truman Administration will try not to rock the boat one way or the other. It may ask for some correlation between increased wages and increased production. I know that Mr. Truman personally is interested in the "annual wage" idea, emphasizing the importance of "security" to the wageworker rather than "take home pay."

However, the Taft-Hartley Act will be repealed or amended.

European Outlook Improving

Frankly, the election of last week here in the United States was much like the surprise election in England two years ago when the Labor Party there came into power. I doubt how long Mr. Marshall will continue as Secretary of State. General Marshall is a fine man, but he has never had previous experience negotiating. He has always been in a position where he could give orders and expect to have them obeyed. There will be other important cabinet changes.

The group that I worry about under the New Administration is the small businessman. With all the big pressure groups organized, he will have hard-sledging. His hope lies both in better organization, greater efficiency and harder work. He can hold his own with big business, dictatorial labor and selfish politics only by being willing to employ expert advice and cooperative buying. This especially applies to small independent merchants.
