"Thanksgiving"

by The Rev. William O. Welton, pastor Church of The Nazarene

"O come, let us sing unto the Lord: let us make a joyful noise to the rock of our salvation. Let us come before his presence with thanksgiving, and make a joyful noise unto him with psalms. For the Lord is a great God, and a great King above all gods." Psalm 95-1/3.

At this season of the year our minds are especially directed to thankfulness. It is well that we have such times. We are accustomed to think of the first Thanksgiving Day as beginning with Governor Bradford of the Plymouth Colony. A day had been set apart for fasting and prayer for relief, but the dawn of that morning witnessed the coming of the ship with supplies, and the day was turned into a day of thanksgiving.

But this was not the first Thanksgiving Day. Far back in Israel's history, it was a fixed custom and religiously observed at the time of year of the gathering of the harvest. "Thou shalt keep the feast of ingatherings which is in the end of the year, when thou hast gathered in thy labors from the field." Exodus 23:15.16. Every year at this time the people gathered for the feast of Thanksgiving to acknowledge God's goodness.

There is a story in Luke 17 of nine Jews and one Samaritan. Each of these received something from the Master. Outcasts they were when they met Jesus, but through His gift they were made whole. What an experience was theirs! As they went they felt soundness coming into their bones. The pallor left their cheeks. The hoarseness left their voice. They looked upon one another and cried, "We are healed, we are

We find that nine of these healed people rejoiced so in the blessing that had come their way that they forgot Him through whom the blessing came. Only one realized that there was an obligation on his part toward the giver of such a blessing. This one returned, "And fell down on his face-at His feet giving thanks." No doubt he could have asked himself the question, "Was ever a man so blessed? Was ever a man so well favored?"

Perhaps we should stop and ask ourselves if ever a nation or people or individual was ever so well favored as these United States and our people. What sin, want, and misery the world over yet America is well favored. Not that America is free from want, sin, and misery, but we are a favored people! Economic statisticians tell us that it is impossible for America to produce enough food to supply our needs, but somehow, through the blessings of God, we are fed and are helping to feed the less fortunate around the world. Certainly we should say with David in Psalm 33:12, "Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord: and the peo-He whom he hath chosen for his own inheritance."

Shall we not, at this Thanksgiving Season, do as the Samaritan did in giving thanks to the Giver of all these good things?

"O come, let us worship and bow down: let us kneel" before the Lord our maker. For he is our God, and we are the people of his pasture, and the sheep of his hand."

Choose some church and worship the Lord. Show that you appreciate His goodness by attending His house.

THEY'RE ENTITLED TO IT.

Read somewhere that the Legion at its convention in Miami recently decided to urge a pension for veterans of World War II when these vets reach the age of 55 years. A day or so after we read it we heard a "war worker"-one of those fellows who got a job at big money in a factory making war supplies-say that the vets now back from the war wanted "everything they could get."

New Street Improvements Are Planned

Question of Bond Issue Put to Voters in Spring

At the present time city commissioners are working on a plan which may culminate in what they term as a "long needed street improvement program."

City Manager Harold Cheek is now securing estimated costs from several engineering firms for the preparation of plans and specifications for such a program.

He recommended to city commissioners that general obligation bonds be sold to finance such a program, adding that the city as a whole must approve such a bond issue. If undertaken under this setup, a portion of the costs will be assessed against the abutting property owners and another portion against the city at large.

Sixty per cent of local voters would have to approve such a program. City Manager Cheek expects that the question will be put on the ballot in the spring. The amount needed for improvements will not be known until a survey of local streets has been made. This will be based to a great extent on petitions for street repairs which have been received by the commission in recent years, Mr. Cheek stated.

City officials will begin work on the survey as soon as an engineering firm is obtained for the drawing up of plans and specifi-

The first national Thanksgiving Day proclamation was issued by George Washington on Oct.

Thanksgiving has been observed on many eifferent dates. Lincoln once named Aug. 6 as a day of Thanksgiving. In 1865, President Johnson delayed the day until Dec. 6. President Roosevelt tried to establish Thanksgiving on the third Thursday in November. This was to help business by lengthening the pre-Christmas shopping period. An attractive wedding took place Saturday afternoon, November 17, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Wilcox, when their daughter, Helen Louise, was united in marriage to Kenneth Harrison, son of Mrs. Hadley Underwood of Highland Park. The bride was lovely in a white net frock, embroidered in silver. Mr. and Mrs. Harrison are well known and popular young people, and both graduated from the Plymouth High school in the class of 1915. Mrs. Harrison has been employed in the office of the Daisy Manufacturing company for the past three years, and Mr. Harrison holds a position with the Wayne County Roads com-

ON BEING A SINCERE FRIEND

TISS HELEN GILMARTIN, 5050 Meadowbrook Drive, Fort Worth, Texas, says that she learned all of a sudden one evening that to become genuinely interested in other people produces the happiest feeling one can experi-

"But," she says, "it must be genuine interest in someone else, and not a desire to get something out of it for yourself. That other person will sense any surface-coat interest and it will be of no avail." How did she learn? In a way that comes up in the life of all of us practically every day.

D. Carnegie

She was a student at Texas Wesleyan Col-* lege when a young boy from New Zealand enrolled. He was at once classed as "different" than which among the young and inexperienced there seems to be no greater calamity. He was far from home and friends and no one extended a friendly hand. He had sad and forlorn mannerisms, was lost in a new world of strange faces and cold hearts. Yes, our colleges are like that; I've seen many similar instances.

Miss Gilmartin's sympathy was aroused so when Sadie Hawkins Day came-when the girls reversed the custom and showered attention on the boys-she decided to do something about the strange and lonely lad. She had heard someone say that he did song and dance numbers back home. When she saw that he was taking no part in the activities, she spoke to the program director about him with the result that he was asked to do a number. While on the stage he seemed transformed, and the applause he got made him actually enjoy himself. The next day Miss Gilmartin complimented him on his performance; she noticed, too, that others spoke to him. From that day on she did what she could for the boy, often without his knowledge, and she found her own life fuller, richer, happier because of helping someone else.

Why don't you look around and prove to yourself that Miss Gilmartin's method will work. Countless people have learned the value of taking an interest in others with no thought of personal reward. But the reward comes, in its-

Fair in the Light of Memory Shines

Here's an idea well worthwhile for Michigan—and its thousands and thousands of miles of power lines rights of way. These rights of a report to Plymouth turkey ways that crisscross the state, its wild lands and its forests could be developed into excellent wildlife habitat with mutual benefits to game, sportsmen, and the utility corporations, the Wildlife Management Institute believes.

The task of keeping lines clear of brush is an arduous one for these firms. Formerly large maintanance crews were needed to patrol 000 more toll messages in resort lines and cut back the growth that flourishes in these clearings. With the development of weed-killing chemicals, like 2-4D, the problem is simpler, but cumulatively, the control of weeds still is a stupendous task requiring the annual investment of huge sums of money. A bare area, whether cleared with fire and brush hook or chemical agents, creates an ideal seed bed for new growth of the same species of trees and brush that have been removed. A few years later the operation must be repeated.

Farmers in soil conservation districts across the nation have been using Sericea lespedeza to prevent the encroachment of brush into croplands. The utility companies could use the same plant to excellent advantage wherever this shrub is adaptable. Other plants could be suggested to the corporations by botanists for use in northern states where the range of lespedeza has not been extended. By this method the power and telephone companies would, in one seeding a $3,500,000 cable between Grand operation, establish a permanent low cover in their lines that would Rapids and the northwest section thwart the invasion of brush. Such an operation would represent an investment only slightly greater than that required for the maintenance of the lines for a year or two.

The effects of such a practice on wildlife populations would be tremendous. While sericea has little food value for game, it provides excellent cover for quail, pheasants, rabbits, and other wildlife. Bicolor would be a better choice from the standpoint of the game, but the planting of this species is more difficult than sericea. The latter may be sown speedily and inexpensively with a Horn or Cyclone built to handle this specialized seeder. If the utility companies could be persuaded to sow their lines traffic as Michigan Bell's part in to sericea, it seems probable that they would permit sportsmen's clubs to establish food patches of bicolor on the borders of the lines.

> There are 3,028 miles of Great Lakes frontage bordering on Michigan, including 878 miles of shoreline on the various islands. Of this, the state controls only about 200 miles, or less than seven per cent, and most of this is in widely scattered parcels:

> The so-called Mio district—Alcona, Iosco, Ogemaw, Crawford, Oscoda and Roscommon counties—attracted approximately 94,000 deer hunters during the 1947 season, or nearly as many as ordinarily hunt in the whole of the upper peninsula. This year's record may be in excess of last year's.

> Michigan hunting and fishing licenses are distributed by 3,600

A giant white spruce, topping in girth both the specimens discovered last month in Schooleraft county and the nation's recordholder in Michasota, has been located near the village of Creighton. The tree measures 8 feet 4 inches in circumference at a point 41/2 feet from the ground. The conservation department reports that this exceeds by a foot the measures of the giant found last month in the Little Harbor area cithe same county. It also tops the St. Louis county, Minnesola, resord-holder by 9 inches. The American Forestry Association has been listing the latter as the largest living white spruce in the United State Discovered jointly by Robert Schmeling, forester for an upper peninsula paper company, and 85 year-old lumberman Frank Hartman, this 91-foot tall specimen is expected to provide at least 1,400 board feet of lumber. When Schmeling attempted to determine the age of the tree he found that the increment borer was not long enough to reach the center of the tree. He claimed that the outer growth rings revealed continued good growth.

Brush shelter installations to improve fishing in inland lakes in counties now are being built by conservation department workers. The shelters which provide hiding places for immature fish and attract legal-size fish are to be sunk in the lakes before they are frozen over, a departure from earlier practices of sinking them

Crews were transferred to the lake improvement work when the 1948 stream improvement program was completed two weeks ago. Lakes in which brush shelters will be sunk are Elk, Grand Traverse county; Crystal, Benzie; Clear, Ogemaw; Big, Otsego; Crystal, Montealm: Zukey and Strawberry, Livingston: Robinson, Iron: Brevort, Mackinac; Walker, Chippewa; Gogebic, Gogebic.

Shelters will be sunk in groups of four or five, and their locations marked, as an aid to fishermen. If ice action carries markers away, it is believed that fishermen can find groups of shelters more easily than was the case when they were sunk singly.

Towing shelters to locations by boats is likely to prove less expensive than the former method of sinking them through the ice.

Blizzards often delayed crews, the shelters froze to the ground and required bulldozers to budge them, and manhours of labor in cutting holes in the ice added to costs.

The nine fish division crews will be assigned to work in the woods as soon as lakes freeze over, getting out logs and posts to be used in next season's stream improvement program.

Turkey Show is December Event

Plans for another dressed Turkey show and fesitval at Alma are being set for December 7 and

Last year's show was such a success that the turkey industry plans to make it an annual event, growers reveals.

Classes of birds will be open to anyone. No entry fee will be charged and classes will fit any turkey grower or breeder. Attractive trophies and ribbons will be offered in all classes.

Charles Reed, extension poultryman at Michigan State college, urges all growers to select birds to be exhibited at the show. Plans are being made to have buyers present to purchase birds at the show by bids or auction.

NWNS Radio-Screen Editor THE immortal masterpieces authored by the greatest writers and playwrights of all time, with the brightest names in the entertainment world starred, is being recreated over Mutual in a new drahost for the series, W. Hampden gave the program a good send-off by starring in the first dramatization as the unfortunate lover, "Cyrano De Bergerac," a role which Hampden has created over 1,000 times in his years on the

More than three years ago, Hampden said he would never do "Cyrano" again . . . He insisted, "I just don't want to work that hard. Cyrano is a terrific task, a five hour job, including the long make-up, not to mention the emotional drain on the actor." However, he was persuaded to give one more performance via the Capitol has a fine album coming out soon that will make a good Christmas gift . . . Cliffie Stone with his bull fiddle interpret some favorite American waltzes and a nice job he does . . . Songs include "Beau-tiful Ohio," "Missouri Waltz," "Moonlight on the River Colorado," and "Springtime in the Rockies." Bob Hope is so well associated with being a comedian that one forgets he is a pretty fair singer . . . He re-minds you of that fact with his lilting Capitol arrangement of "Buttons and Bows," a winner all the way. Capitol also offers these good singles: Jo Stafford's latest, a duet with Gordon MacRae on the beautiful new "My Darling, My Darling" coupled with "Girls Were Made to Take Care of Boys" . . . Jack Smith, aided by the Clark sisters, in a fastpaced rendition of "Cuanto Le Gusta" backed by a novelty, "Cornbelt Symphony" . . . Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis, latest to be a big hit with cafe society, make an auspicious debut on wax with their recording of "That Certain Party" and "The Money Song."
