

IT IS ABOUT TIME.

It is good news to read that the Michigan Stream Control Commission is beginning to crack down on some of the cities and others who persist in violating Michigan's anti-stream pollution laws.

First to feel the state's fury will be the cities of Port Huron and Bay City. Probably one of the worst offenders is Bay City.

Michigan can never hope to restore its streams and lakes to the purity of former days unless there is drastic and immediate action taken. And state officials should not forget the fact that there are many state institutions which are serious violators of the stream pollution act. It might be well for Michigan to do a little cleaning in its own backyard as well as cracking down on the cities.

CLERKS USED GOOD SENSE.

County clerks of Michigan who are urging the legislature to restore the one ballot for presidential elections are doing something that all voters of the state will applaud.

The idea of dividing the national and state tickets was one of the fertile ideas of former Governor Harry Kelly and Lieutenant Governor Verpon Brown. They thought that such a division would help Republicans win state elections easier in the years when there is also a national ticket to be elected.

The legislature, hesitatingly, fell for the idea and as a result look at the mess we had in the last November election! The divided ballot not only made the election most costly, but it also made more work. We hope the legislature will quickly follow the recommendation of the clerks and repeal this law.

THAT PENSION BUSINESS.

So you think you are paying a lot of money for an automobile now, do you? Right, you are. But if some of these fellows living in top luxury at the expense of working people, who spend their time dreaming up new ideas to cause trouble and expenses, keep on, only the dreamers who do not work and the very, very rich will be able to have automobiles.

If we pay every automobile worker $100 a month pension, that money will come right out of the pockets of the buyers of automobiles. As we see it, if we keep on trying to find ways to live at the expense of the other fellow it will not be many years when every one will be broke and there will be nothing left to pay pensions or anything else with.

Give any other reason you like, there is just one reason why the sale of automobiles is beginning to show a declined drop—and that reason is the high cost of automobiles.

THE RIGHT DEFINITION OF A NEW DEALER.

A New Dealer is a fellow who does not believe in work, but thinks it is most honorable to live off the productive work of his neighbor.

In other words, he is nothing more than a glorified panhandler. President Truman in an effort to rid his administration of the New Deal taint, is changing the New Deal to what he calls a fair deal. All the country is asking for is just that—a fair deal, BUT NO REVIVAL OF THE NEW DEAL.

MY! MY! WHAT A TIME!

From "reading the papers" it seems that a lot of folks in some of the bigger cities of Michigan are all "het up" over the fact that the townships are getting so much state money that they are investing the money in government bonds. There's something like $12,000,000 or more in tax dollars in various township funds doing no one any good.

Believe it or not, there are many cities and villages—and some school districts, too—that have a surplus of tax dollars laid away that cannot be spent for any immediate need, because there happens to be no immediate need.

But notwithstanding all of these idle millions laying around in the banks and in government bonds, Governor Williams says that the state must raise something like $60,000,000 more in new taxes in order to maintain functions of the state government.

One thing is sure—no one should do any kicking about this deplorable financial mess that the state is in. The vast majority of people voted for it, and now we have got to pay for it—and we should pay any additional tax levied without a whimper. We were advised before we voted what the result would be—now let's pay and keep still.

DETROIT'S BUM TRANSPORTATION SYSTEM.

In spite of the fact that patrons of Detroit's Street Railway system pay the highest fares of any city in the entire country, its officials recently reported that the DSR is nearly two million dollars in the red, and there is nothing to indicate that any improvement in its financial situation is in sight.

Not only is the DSR running in the red, but it is providing patrons with probably the poorest service of any transportation system in the country—and neither is there anything to indicate that this is going to be improved in the months to come.

If the late Mayor James Couzens could return to earth and see the folly of his handiwork, he would probably be the most surprised man in the world. Time has proven that Detroit has made a miserable failure of its public owned transportation system. But unfortunately for the people of Detroit and vicinity, the city probably couldn't give the DSR away. Only a lunatic would believe that he could make it pay under present conditions.

MORE TAXES FOR HIGHWAYS.

The Michigan legislature has a tough problem to solve during the next few months pertaining to highway finances. Rural sections of the state contend that something like $30,000,000 more is needed to put Michigan roads in proper shape and maintain them as they should be.

An increase in both the weight and gas tax is proposed in bills now before the legislature.

Michigan citizens have always been liberal in matters pertaining to state development—but they have also had a habit of keeping a "weather eye" on improvement expenditures. In other words they desire to know that when spending a dollar that they got a dollar's worth in return.

There are many who think that the state has not been getting its just returns for money spent on roads. There has been a lot of fault found with the county road system, the feeling being that this method is somewhat excessive in its costs. That criticism is probably unjust.

But there is a general feeling that Michigan should get more out of its road dollars than it has in the past, especially since "war days." Maybe with times tightening up and with prospects of much "tighter" times, the state will get more in return for its tax dollars than it has in the past. But this question cannot be answered for another year or so. It is a case of waiting to find out what the answer is going to be.

Sackett Warns of Chain Letters

The chain letter racket has reared its head in Plymouth again, and Police Chief Lee Sackett warns all to watch out.

Persons are sold membership to it, under the supposition that each may make in the neighborhood of $4,000. "A few may make a little money, but the greatest majority will be hoaxed," the chief announced.

He concluded by urging residents to avoid all such types of schemes.

Entitled "George Washington Slept Here", the three act play by Hart and Kauffman will be presented in the high school auditorium on both Wednesday and Thursday evenings, February 16 and 17. Tickets will be sold at the door.

Cass Hough to Act As Banquet M.C.

Cass S. Hough will fulfill master of ceremony duties at the annual All-College banquet which the University of Michigan club will present on February 23.

Notice of this addition to the list of officials was made by Everett Jolliffe, general chairman. Guest speaker for the evening will be Dr. John A. Perkins, Mr. Jolliffe reminded. Dr. Perkins, assistant provost at the University of Michigan, has chosen as his subject, "Public Finance and Education".

Members of the club assisting in the planning include John P. Morrow as chairman of the program committee, and Mrs. Peter R. Miller, Mrs. Charles Brake and Mrs. Walter Nichol have charge of decorations.

Dr. A. E. Van Ornum will handle the traditional college roll call.

Miss Gertrude Fiegel is chairman of the ticket committee, and she is assisted by Miss Elizabeth MacDonald. The former announces that tickets for the banquet are being sent out to members this week. Non-members may make reservations by calling 625-W, or by contacting Miss Fiegel at the high school. All reservations must be in by February 13, the chairman stressed.

School Meetings Termed Success

Elementary school staff members are completing mid-year conferences with parents this week. Paul Johnson, coordinator of Plymouth's elementary school program, declared this week.

"In spite of bad weather and slippery streets," he stated, "parents have again shown their interest in promoting closer relationships between the home and the school through their fine attendance at these conferences."

A total of 901 conferences were held between teachers and parents, representing 80 per cent of a potential perfect attendance. Mr. Johnson commented, "This is a fine record for such an undertaking."

Due to the sudden illness of Mrs. Gayle Bauer, it has been impossible to hold conferences with the parents of children in the small kindergarten at Central Grade school. Mr. Johnson voiced the hope that opportunities for such conferences may be offered these parents during the present half-year period.

Dr. Henry J. Walsh, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Plymouth, underwent a major operation in St. Joseph's hospital in Ann Arbor Tuesday. Doctors report his condition as favorable.

Officials Advance City-Township Fire Agreement

A proposed reciprocal fire protection agreement will be submitted to the Plymouth township board by city officials.

The decision to undertake such action was made by city commissioners Monday evening.

The proposed plan calls for a $200 charge for the first hour each piece of land equipment is sent by either the city or township's departments into the other's jurisdiction. A charge of $50 per hour would be made for each piece of equipment after the first hour.

Should the township decline the suggested reciprocal agreement, a 50 percent hike in the charge will be instituted should an occasion ever arise when it is imperative for the city's equipment to be sent into the township area. The same will hold true until an agreement is entered into.

Film Landmarks Familiar to Many

Since many in Plymouth travel to the Oscoda area when summer rolls around each year, the film scheduled to be shown at the Penn theater from Sunday, February 13, until the following Tuesday, will be of interest locally.

Entitled "Fighter Squadron", much of the picture was filmed at the air base in Oscoda last summer, an area claimed to closely resemble that in England where the story takes place.

Although just newly released, the picture was secured for an early showing in Plymouth through the efforts of theater owner Harry Lush.

Plymouth C. of C. Members Drive Starts Tuesday

An important topic at the Monday night meeting of the Chamber of Commerce board of directors was the membership drive which got off to a start the following day.

Discussion centered on the increased annual dues. Previously all businessmen were charged a ten dollar fee, an amount which has now been raised to $25. The ten dollar amount now entitles individuals in the city to membership.

Two important reasons were given for the rate raise, the first of which attributed it to the increased cost of operating. The second was a desire on the part of the local C. of C. to comply with the policy of the parent organization, the national Chamber of Commerce.

The membership drive's Professional Men's committee is headed by Paul Wiedman; Frank Henderson is chairman of the Manufacturers' committee, and Carl Shear is chairman of the Merchants' committee.

The possibility of general membership forum meetings held at quarterly periods was further discussed by the board Monday. The group is striving for regular big meetings which will be open to every member and guests. The date of the first meeting is slated for the near future.

Taxicab Owners Talk Over Rates

One meeting of Plymouth's two taxi cab owners and the city manager has already transpired for the purpose of discussing the prevailing rates charged.

According to City Manager Harold Cheek, the meeting was devoted entirely to discussion of possible solutions to the problem, but no decisions were reached. It is expected that another meeting will be held in the near future. Any conclusions the taxi owners and the city manager reach will be offered the city commission in the form of recommendations.

Noted Lecturer Appears Monday

Dennis Glen Cooper is nationally known for his color motion picture lectures of Isle Royale and Michigan which he will present to members of the Plymouth branch of the National Farm and Garden association and their husbands on Monday, February 14.

This Husband's Night program will begin at 8 p.m. in the dining room of the Methodist church. Mrs. Austin Stecker, general chairman reports.

About 13 years ago, Mr. Cooper began spending his summers at Isle Royale, and was one of the prime movers in getting the United States government to take it over for a national park several years ago. "One of the most fascinating places in the world," says Mr. Cooper, who has visited all the beauty spots of America. "Ten miles long and 50 miles wide, most of Isle Royale is now inaccessible except on foot. The country consists of a series of rocky ridges higher toward the center of the island and separated by a rough and rocky series of ravines."

During World War II, Mr. Cooper served as an Air Force major in the South Pacific area, and was decorated for meritorious service that took him from New Guinea to Tokyo. (Continued on page 8)

Plymouth Concert Star Called for Opera Audition

Originally scheduled for February 20, the Plymouth Symphony orchestra's winter concert has been postponed until the following Sunday, February 27.

The move was necessitated when the concert soloist, Rose Suzanne der Derian, received an invitation from the Metropolitan Opera company to appear for an audition over the NBC network on the date, originally set for the concert.

The Plymouth High school auditorium has been obtained for the concert which is scheduled to begin at 4 p.m. Mrs. Harry Fischer, president of the Plymouth Symphony Society, the sponsoring organization, announces that attendance will be limited to 400. This is in compliance with the fire chief's recent regulation concerning the size of crowds in the auditorium.

The concert will open with the orchestra's playing of Symphony in D Minor by Cesar Franck. Intermission will follow this number, and the second phase of the afternoon's program will begin with Joe Gajec, oboe soloist, being featured in Grieg's "Evening in the Mountains". "At the Cradle" by Grieg will be presented by the string orchestra. The next number will be "Dove Sono" from the "The Marriage of Figaro" by Mozart, with Miss der Derian carrying the solo role. Concluding will be the Rosamunde overture by Schubert.

The concert soloist is a graduate of Cooley High school in Detroit, and the winner of acclaim and recognition throughout this entire area for her musical achievements. Included in the latter is the title role in "Martha", and soloist of "The Messiah" in the Detroit Music Hall. Recently she was guest soloist of Valter Poole and the Detroit Symphony orchestra on the Detroit Edison program.

Mrs. Kenneth Hulsing has been named chairman of the committee planning the tea which will follow the concert in the Veteran's Community Center. Sponsored by the Symphony Society, it will be held for both members of that organization and the orchestra.

Persons with any to contribute are asked to contact Mrs. Bridge at 1068-J.

Stewart M. Dodge

Lions Club Official Lauds City's Club

Recognition within the Lions club international organization will be awarded the Plymouth club if its members continue to practice the principles of true Lionism, as they have during the club's first year.

This statement was made by S. A. Dodge, international director of the club, at the program Saturday night which honored the local group's one year anniversary.

Plymouth's club celebrated the occasion at a semi-formal dinner dance in the Hotel Mayflower. The list of those attending numbered 105, and included a list of Lions club dignitaries, and Plymouth members and their guests.

Mr. Dodge, the evening's guest speaker, centered his discussion on "Lionism Defined". He described the part the Lions international organization hopes to play in an attempt to alleviate the present international crisis. It includes all members throughout the world constantly pushing the principles of friendship, understanding, and faith for which the club stands.

Harvey Cooper was general chairman of the Plymouth anniversary observance.

During their first year, members of the Lions club have participated in the organization's international White Cane project, instituted their own drive for funds with which to purchase ceiling book projectors and films for invalids in this area, and sponsored a Dawn Patrol in October.

Death closed the career of Stewart M. Dodge, Wednesday, while the well known Plymouth druggist was on his way to Florida for a winter vacation.

Traveling south with Mrs. Dodge and his brother, Hugh, and Mrs. Dodge of Holly, he was stricken with a heart attack Tuesday evening in an Orlando, Florida restaurant. On Wednesday doctors in the Orange Memorial hospital believed he was making progress toward recovery, but he suddenly took a turn for the worse and died that evening.

Mr. Dodge had been in poor health for the past year.

Fate injected an ironic twist to Mr. Dodge's winter vacation plans. A month ago he and Mrs. Dodge were planning on taking an extended trip to the west coast with Mr. and Mrs. Morlon Cornell of Romeo. The day before they were scheduled to leave, Mr. Cornell died from a sudden heart attack.

The Dodges temporarily cancelled all winter traveling plans, but finally decided to join his brother and wife on their trip south and the four left a week ago. This time the death of Mr. Dodge concluded the plans.

Stewart Dodge was one of the most widely known of all Plymouth residents. Familiar to many is the fact he was born in Imlay City on July 23 of 1888. Here he graduated from high school, going on to Ferris Institute where he won a degree in pharmacy.

In 1917 Mr. Dodge married Emily Lee, who survives him, and the couple came to Plymouth in the month of April in 1924. He purchased the Pinkney Pharmacy from J. L. Johnson at that time, the store now known by all residents as the Dodge Drug Store. Members of the family announce they plan to continue (Continued on page 8)

Groups Ask for Space at Library

The future of the Dunning branch of the Wayne County library was a discussion topic at the meeting of city commissioners Monday evening.

At that time representatives of the Plymouth Historical Society, Mrs. Phila Underwood and Mrs. Bessie Dunning, requested the use of the second floor of the building for a public museum.

City Manager Harold Cheek then announced that the Wayne County Library board has verbally requested use of the space for expansion, and added that a written request from the board will follow.

At the present time the second floor of the building is not suitable for either use, and is in need of $2,500 worth of repairs. The city, however, has set aside a portion of the funds needed for the work, and the budget for the next fiscal year is expected to include additional funds.

Commissioners asked the Historical Society representatives to prepare a written request, so it could be forwarded to the Wayne County Library board.

pos to the campaign topic.

"The program is aimed at demonstrating to the American people and to the world at large that the American way of living provides an abundance of goods for all", Mr. Cassidy said. "Over 50 national and state retail trade groups, representing more than 150,000 retail stores in every field of the distributive world, are participating in the campaign."

"The retailer is the link between production and the consumer in this great free country of ours," Mr. Cassidy further stated. "The free exchange of goods has been a basic factor in developing America into the world power that it is. Without a free exchange of goods, you cannot have a free people. The retail store has a place in the life of a community which is unique, for it is close to every person who must buy the necessities of life, as well as the luxuries."

A fine, fast-growing, well behaved Sunday school meets at 10 a.m. We have classes for every age group.

DOWN MEMORY LANE

R. H. S.: "I remember when unruly kids on the farm (I was no exception) would sew kernels of corn on a long string and then feed it to the ducks. Pretty soon all the ducks were linked together and a string-cutting frolic followed which created quite a barnyard commotion, especially if a large goose was involved."

R. O. H.: "I remember when this country really had good five-cent cigars. Such as Cremo, John Ruskin, George W. Childs, Lady Churchill. You also could buy six for a quarter. Remember the cigar called 'Habit' and its advertising slogan, 'Get the Habit? Or Nebo cigarettes?'"

F. D.: "I remember when we kids used to go swimming in rivers, feeders and clay holes, far enough away to omit the necessity of bathing suits. And how, after many dips, we emerged to find ourselves covered with leeches, difficult to remove, and each kid had to help the other get shed of them."

W. P. S.: "I remember when the butcher shop windows had a row of gas flame jets at the bottom sill to defrost the windows in winter. There also were rows of gunshot rabbits hanging on hooks outside near the awnings."

H. H. V.: "I remember when kids sold newspapers on the open-air street cars. People got on and off the car from either side and the cars would often stop in the middle of a block for a lady passenger."

E. M. S.: "I remember when the meat market was a genuine place to buy meat. The cuts were as 'you wanted them' and the quality and taste always was tops. And the butcher used to throw in a few pounds of liver for the cat and some scraps for the dog. Now we live in an age of processed and packaged foods, so different."

AN ANNOUNCEMENT
In the nursery located at the corner of Church and Adams street, we are trying to meet the needs of parents who work or who want to spend the day in Detroit. We will open at 7:30 a.m. and stay open for those who come out on the 6 p.m. train. If enough parents will take advantage of it so we can hire competent help, we will keep open at night for those who want to go to the show or spend the evening out but find it hard to get a baby sitter. If this works out children may be left all night. For more particulars call Plymouth 1949-W. Mrs. Grace E. Jolliffe. 1tp

Foremen at Daisy Organize Club

The foremen of the Daisy Manufacturing company have organized a Foremen's club recently, and met at the home of Bert Swadling Monday evening.

The group meets once a month for dinners. Arrangements are usually made to have guest speakers attend the functions, and special music is often included on the evening's program.

Army Standards Undergo Change

Standards and requirements for men without prior service enlisting in the Army have been raised, Lt. Col. Robert C. Hubbard, Commanding Officer of the Michigan Recruiting District, has revealed in a Plymouth report.

In the future, only those applicants for original enlistment in the Army who can meet the highest mental, physical and moral standards will be accepted. Enlistments will be on a competitive basis with those men scoring highest on general classification tests and in best physical condition being accepted for enlistment first. Others will be placed on a waiting list.

This policy has been adopted by the Department of the Army as a result of being able to maintain authorized strength with reduced monthly rates of enlistments. Too, ever-increasing specialization of jobs and duties of today's peacetime soldier has made high mental and physical standards mandatory.

Requirements for the enlistment of former servicemen remain the same. Also, no restriction has been placed on the enlistment of men between the ages of 19 and 26, for 21 months as provided for in the provisions of the Selective Service Act. Eighteen year olds are still being accepted for enlistment for one year, provided all requirements are met.

Further information concerning the current enlistment program may be obtained by visiting the local U. S. Army Air Force Recruiting Station at the Plymouth city hall on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

To preserve a long course of years still and uniform, amid the uniform of darkness of storm and cloud and tempest, requires strength from above—deep draughts from the front of divine Love.

SELLING POINTERS

IF YOU have something to sell—and who has not, even if it be nothing but good will?—here are some rules given me to pass along to you. They come direct from Richard C. Borden of the Borden Milk Company.

Richard Borden started out as just a young man with something to sell before he became sales counsellor for the Borden company. But he started with ideas different from those of the average young man going to a new job. He started out to learn why some salesmen click and others don't. He studied salesmen for nine years before he felt satisfied with his deductions. And here, condensed, are the 10 rules he feels are of enough importance to pass on to you:

1. Do a rounded selling job. Don't be content to handle only some parts of your work unusually well.
 2. Plan in advance every sales talk you make—and talk to a point. But a lot into a little space.
 3. Know twice as much about your product as you need to use for convincing your toughest prospect.
 4. Claim an inch—prove a mile. Use the priming of understatement, then when you have arrived at the right point, explode the dynamite of overproof.
 5. Don't be afraid of the competitor who makes extravagant claims for his product. A good salesman profits by a competitor who is a liar.
 6. Use everyday language and make your explanations simple.
 7. Don't argue. If your prospect has his fist closed in argument, he can't pick up his pen to sign on the dotted line.
 8. Be a good listener, but don't make the mistake of listening faster than your prospect talks. Be a patient listener. Treat your prospect's every word with respect.
 9. Stick to your objective; avoid digressions.
 10. When the dotted line has been signed and placed in your files, work just as hard to make that customer stay sold. There's no finer recommendation than a repeat customer.
- Try these 10 rules and see if they can do for you what they did for Richard C. Borden.

Marquis Changes Restaurant Site

A short move next door will be made by the Marquis Fine Food restaurant this weekend. The concern will be opened in its new location on Monday at 7 a. m., states Norman Marquis, owner.

It was approximately a year and a half ago that Mr. Marquis opened the restaurant in its present location. A need for expansion, however, has been felt for some time, the owner explained. The new quarters have been completely redecorated, and innovations even go so far as to include wiring, plumbing, flooring walls and ceiling. New equipment and furnishings have also been ordered, and will augment some of that used previously.

An addition to the kitchen includes a new oven for the baking department. This, Mr. Marquis stated, will greatly enlarge this department.

The restaurant will be closed all day tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday.

RESTITUTION BY MAIL . . .
This 14th century art treasure, a wood-panel painting of St. Thomas by Simone Martini of Siena, valued at $5,000, was stolen from the walls of the Metropolitan Museum of Art in 1944 and returned by mail four years later, wrapped in brown wrapping paper. Although the painting was warped when received and broken in two pieces, museum officials say it can be restored. The unique return of the stolen work, first incident of its kind at the museum, was just revealed.

Soil Testing Labs Set Up in Counties

The establishment of soil testing laboratories in about ten counties in Michigan is the result of increased interest by farmers and agricultural groups in soil testing in the last three years, an announcement to those in the Plymouth area discloses.

Kirk Lawton, soils scientist at Michigan State college, says that this is one of the best moves farmers can make since soil tests are necessary for a good soil fertility program.

The county soil testing laboratory provides a valuable service for the farmer or grower. The results of soil tests in the county laboratory are turned over to the county agricultural agent. He is often familiar with the particular farm area tested and can interpret the tests and make soil management recommendations.

The sponsorship of these laboratories has been undertaken by the local agricultural groups including the county board of supervisors, farm organizations, the soil conservation district, and local business and civic groups. The soil science department at Michigan State college assists in setting up the laboratory equipment and methods. Soil tests are generally made for acidity, available phosphorous, and available potassium. A slight charge is made to defray costs of labor, equipment and chemicals.

Lawton advises farmers who wish to learn more about a soil testing program to get in touch with their county agricultural agent.

First National Bank Squad, Tait's Cleaners Clinch Playoff Positions

With three weeks remaining before the play offs begin, First National Bank and Tait's Cleaners are "in" the Men's league play offs.

Another squad, Sport Shop, won their sixth game Tuesday over the Detroit House of Correction 49-41.

Tait's joined the Bankers Friday swamping the Plymouth Mail 76-25.

Sending 22 points through the hoop, Don Huebler paced the Bankers to a 59-47 victory over the hapless Northville Merchants.

This last contest was also held at DeHoCo, Friday, February 4.

The first forfeit of the season came about on Thursday, February 3 as Sport Shop didn't place five men on the floor against First National.

This evening at the Detroit House of Correction Tait's will clash with DeHoCo at 8 p.m.

On Tuesday, February 15 Northville faces DeHoCo and Plymouth Mail collides with Plymouth Sport Shop.

From all indications five teams will enter the men's league play-offs which begin the first week of March.

Basketball Squad Faces Tough Opponents

Rocks Play Wayne Here Tonight, Farmington Away Next Tuesday

Two tough opponents, Wayne and Farmington, will be the Rocks cage slate for tonight and Tuesday. Tonight Wayne pays the band-box gym a visit. In the first battle of the season between the two, Wayne trampled Plymouth 51-24. The Rocks league-leading reserve squad will play at 7 p.m. with the varsity encounter scheduled for 8:30 p.m.

Farmington, which has one of the top Class B teams in the metropolitan area, will be the site of the game Tuesday. On December 7 the Falcons stopped the Rocks 40-29. The Grand River school has twice beaten the Suburban B leaders, Ypsilanti, and Farmington holds down second place behind Keego Harbor in the Inter-Lakes league. Their only defeat of the season was to Keego, a Class C school, which almost took the State C crown last season.

When the Rocks face Farmington they will be playing in one of the two best gymnasiums in the area. Ypsi also has a fine gym.

At the top of the Suburban B loop is the Ypsilanti Braves, who downed Trenton 32-29 Friday. Belleville pulled the upset of the season when they edged Wayne in overtime 34-33. As a result of these games Ypsi is at the top of the heap with six wins and one loss. Trenton and Wayne each have won five and lost two.

Tonight Ypsi ought to trim Redford Union, the Braves court while the Belleville-Trenton clash will be a toss-up. The Tigers are tough on their own floor.

The standings, which appear below are a bit deceiving in regard to the position of the Plymouth Rocks. The blue and white have played well against the leaders, losing to Ypsi by three and to Trenton by four.

Plymouth High Cageslers Down Mustangs 29-22

The Plymouth Rocks broke a six game losing streak Tuesday evening at the expense of the Northville Mustangs 29-22 in a packed Northville gym.

As a result of winning the Rocks lead two games to one in the race for the Elton R. Eaton trophy. The Rocks only have to win one baseball game to keep possession of the prize. Also the orange and white basketball, symbol of cage relations between the two schools, remains in the Plymouth trophy case.

Both squads missing on the majority of their shots made the play ragged. Only a strong first half saved the Rocks. With Keith Ebersole sinking six points and Larry Finney four, the local lads took a 14-9 lead at the quarter. The Mustangs brought the score to 14-12 with three minutes remaining in the half, but Wally Dzurus swished one from the side and Ebersole netted two field goals from under the basket to give the Rocks a commanding 20-12 lead at the "pop and candy" period.

It was in the second half that play on the part of both squads became really sloppy. Time and time again shots were far off the sight and passes were thrown away. Dzurus made the Rocks only basket of the quarter as the Rocks led 22-18 at the start of the final eight minutes. Northville threatened, but Phil Bosman entered the contest and netted four points to give the Rocks their first victory since defeating the same team on December 14.

Keith Ebersole took Rock scoring honors tossing in ten tallies. Another hectic last few minutes marked the reserves' encounter. The Rocks riding on an eight game winning streak stopped Northville 37-35. With five minutes left in the tilt Plymouth had a 36-31 margin; however, the young Mustangs changed that score to read 36-35 by the two minute mark. Dick Fenton made good on his free shot attempt and the Rocks stalled the remaining few seconds to win.

Phil Jacobus highlighted the win with 18 points on eight field goals and two free shots. This total represented the highest made by a reserve this season. The diminutive sophomore, who came to Plymouth from Chicago, tallied 14 points in the initial half.

Plymouth Boys Play in Hockey Loop in Rosedale

Two teams comprised of almost entirely Plymouth boys will compete in the Southern Michigan hockey league which holds its games on the Rosedale Gardens open-air rink.

Rosedale Gardens is tied with Rosedale Park for first place with nine points. Plymouth, headed by Bill Perkins, is tied for third with Walnut Lake of Birmingham with six points. Points are awarded in this manner: three points for a win, two for a tie, one for a loss, and none for a forfeit.

Dick Fenton of Plymouth, forward on the Rosedale Gardens sextet, leads all players in the goal department putting six by the opposing goal tenders. Another Plymouth fellow on the Gardens squad, Ed Batten, is the second best goalie thus far. Ed has one shutout.

Rosedale Park and the Gardens will collide this evening at 10 p.m. The rink is located on Hubbard avenue in the Gardens. Other games slated tonight are: Local 600 vs. Romeos at 7 p.m., Walnut Lake vs. Star Lodge at 8 p.m., and Ramblers vs. Plymouth at 9 p.m.

Playing on the odd days in the calendar the league will have playoffs after the first round is concluded. The top two teams will have two games and the winner will be decided on the most goals.

Games, which may be postponed on account of the condition of the ice, will be contested after the regular dates are terminated.

Panthers Claw Rocks Five 47-40

The Redford Union Panthers extended the Rocks losing basketball streak to six games, Friday, at the former's gym by the score of 47-40.

At the beginning of the second half the Rocks were behind 21-20. However, the Panthers soon broke any chance Plymouth had of winning the game as they scored 16 points to the Rocks eight in the third stanza. The score at that point was 37-26. The Panthers brought that margin to 13 points before the Rocks retaliated.

The last quarter was dominated by the Rocks as Coach Klingeberger sent in Jack Scheel, who, besides netting four points, settled the team down. With two minutes left in the contest Ted Thrasher entered the game for the Rocks. In that short space of time he hit the hoop three times for six points. The Rocks outscored Redford 14-10 in the last quarter.

Coach Klingeberger started Bob Houghton and Larry Finney at the forwards, Keith Ebersole at center, and Dave Reitzel and Jack Elliott at the guards. This combination played on even terms with Union for the first half.

Larry Finney tallied seven of the Rocks first nine points in the initial quarter, but he only hooped three thereafter. In the second quarter the Rocks were at one time in front. Only for a moment, however, as Union came back to lead at the half 21-18. After the Rocks made the score 21-20 the Panthers turned the tilt into a rout.

For the third week in succession Larry Finney was high man for the Rocks with ten counters. However, the leading scorers of the evening were the Redford livery, Jim Stites tallied 18 and Ron McComis netted 15. In second spot for the Rocks was Ted Thrasher, who came off the bench to score six points in two minutes.

The Rocks can blame this defeat on their ineptness to stop Union's fast break. Several times Redford raced down the floor to score before the Rocks knew what was occurring.

Nine From Here Hunt Near Elkton

Nine members of the Fox club journeyed to Elkton Sunday, February 6, to be guests of that city's Fox club.

They were entertained by 25 members and guests of the club at a hunt, during which three foxes were bagged. Of that number, one was killed by Estel Rowland of the Plymouth organization.

Following the hunt the local group was escorted to the Elkton club headquarters, where they were served a baked ham dinner.

Further announcements from the organization reveal that Matt Evert bagged a fox on Monday, January 31, and Estel Rowland got one last Friday.

It was also disclosed that following the first round in the eucure tournament, the Twelve Point club is out in front by a small margin.

Jerry Walsh Paces Rocks Reserves to 33-30 Win Over Redford Union

Hi-12 Men Lose Bowling Match to Women of Gears

The Plymouth Hi-12 club all-stars gave a fine account of themselves in their match game last Sunday against the famous "Gears-by-Enterprise" bowlerettes at Lee Butler's Plymouth Recreation alleys.

Although the Hi-12 "boys" took two games out of three from the girls, they lost the match by 31 pins to the Detroit squad. This benefit match witnessed by approximately 200 bowling fans was one of the top pin attractions to come to the city in recent years. The Plymouth Hi-12 club wants to thank everyone for such patronage at this event. They also want to extend their sincere appreciation to Lee Butler for donation of the alleys and his personal supervision to the preparation of same for the match.

The score by game totals follows:

Lois McAllister	495
Marie Shamlock	562

A. K. Brocklehurst	496

The contest was close all the way as shown by the score at the conclusion of the quarters. At the end of the first and third periods the score was knotted 7-7 and 23-23. The Rocks held a one point lead at the half 16-15.

Sport Shop Stops DeHoCo Quintet Tuesday Night

Plymouth Sport Shop stepped one notch closer to the playoff requirements by defeating a strong and determined DeHoCo quintet Tuesday night at the Detroit House of Correction gym by a score of 51 to 42.

The game was close throughout, and DeHoCo was in the lead most of the way. The deciding factor in the contest was quite conspicuously the absence of "Cowboy" Misiowski in the last minutes of the fourth quarter, at which time he was the victim of the fifth foul rule. From that moment on, the DeHoCo boys seemingly lost interest and the Sport Shop proceeded to win in true championship manner.

DeHoCo led 16-12 at the first quarter mark, 24-23 at the half, and 36-35 at the third quarter, and were outscored 16-6 in the last and decisive quarter.

For the victors, Norman and Sampier were tied for high scoring honors, with 14 points each, while DeHoCo's best performer was Sam Slough, the league leading point marker, with 13 points.

In the preliminary game, the Shamrocks lost a bruising and hard fought battle to the Rockets of the D league, by the score of 33 to 28.

The experts say, "A championship squad must win the close ones," and the Rocks reserve squad certainly did that Friday over Redford Union by the score of 33-30, as Jerry Walsh scored on three long shots in the last two minutes.

Walsh, who inhabited the confines of the bench during most of the season, was the reserve's "guiding light" in keeping their unbeaten league season alive. At the automatic time out the scoreboard read Redford Union 30, Plymouth 24. To all intents and purposes it appeared that Redford had halted the Plymouth winning ways. However, they didn't count on the bespectacled Walsh.

Before Walsh went into his act Alan Finney tallied a free shot. The next time the Rocks took possession Walsh received the ball at mid-court and shot a swisher good for two points. The Panthers still had a three point lead, but Jerry once again took a longshot with the same result. Now with 50 seconds left Walsh drew a conclusion to his stunning performance by swishing another from approximately the same distance. The Panthers tried desperately to get within shooting range. Their plans went awful, however, as Bud Young intercepted the ball and raced in for the clinching two points.

A moment later the bell sounded ending the game. As this was occurring the jubilant Rocks carried Walsh from the court in appreciation of his work.

The contest was close all the way as shown by the score at the conclusion of the quarters. At the end of the first and third periods the score was knotted 7-7 and 23-23. The Rocks held a one point lead at the half 16-15.

Team No. 7 Wins Lutheran Lead

Team No. 7 added three points Friday to break the tie in the Lutheran bowling loop. The leaders now have 48 points to Team No. 8's 46.

Hees Tallies 29 As Ramblers Win

Monday night's play in the Class D recreation loop produced the highest individual effort of the season in the five leagues.

Ron Hees, captain of the Ramblers, tossed through 29 points as his team crushed the Shamrocks 54-15.

Ron garnered 14 field goals and a free shot. He scored 15 of his teams, 17 in the initial stanza. After that he tapered off to come up with the season's best performance. Bob Anthony hooped eight for the Shams.

In the first tilt at the Detroit House of Correction Monday, the Hoots stunned the Rockets 45-18. Neal Lamphear netted 18 as the Hoots led throughout the entire contest. Bill Perkins and Larry Bentley of the Hoots tallied eight and seven points respectively. Phil Barnes paced the losers with six counters.

Because of press time the result of Wednesday's contest between the Hoots and the Ramblers is unreported. This battle was the most important of the season in Class D. If the Ramblers won they clinched the league title; however, if the Hoots reversed the procedure the two are tied with four wins and one loss.

Tuesday evening at the Detroit House of Correction gymnasium the Rockets edged the Shamrocks 32-28 as Harry Blessing racked up 11 points for the winners.

Clement's Take Undisputed Hold of First Place

By virtue of a victory over Olds and Cadillac, Clement's took over undisputed possession of first place in the Boy's Bowling league which meets every Thursday at the Parkview Recreation.

Bill Clement, captain of the leaders, had a high average of 155. The high game for the week was bowled by Jerry Walsh of basketball fame, who rolled a 201 game.

Other results Thursday saw Davidson's whipping Phillippi's and Singleton's stopping Pernie's.

Frosh Outscore Redford Union

Netting 21 points Jim Rorabacher paced the Plymouth freshmen to a victory over Redford Union, Thursday, February 3 by the score of 32-29.

The victory was the Rocks fourth against two losses this season. Both defeats were to Willow Run.

Rorabacher is the top scorer for the frosh with 47 points.

If you happen to have a harelip, it's not because your mother and father were fond of rabbit stew and ate a lot of it before you were born.

If you desire that expected babe to be a great musician, listening to fine music before it is born, will do no good.

But do you really want to know the truth about heredity—what known facts will reveal—what you can and cannot inherit and pass along to your children?

If so, take a little time off, drive over to our great University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, visit the Heredity Clinic—the only one in the United States—and you will be amazed at the information you can secure about yourself and your family. And the best part of it is that it will not cost you one cent.

Some weeks ago the writer was sent an article entitled "Whose Little Girl Are You?" that appeared in a recent issue of McCall's Magazine. It was written by Kathleen and Arthur S. Postle, who devoted much time in a study of one of the newer activities of what is now regarded as the greatest University of all times.

Your article is so informative and gives such proper accent to a new activity of Michigan's great university that "My Michigan" has decided to publish it in full. But because of its length, it will necessarily have to appear in two installments. The second installment will follow in the next issue of "My Michigan."

Following is the first half of the article:

By Kathleen and Arthur S. Postle

Like nearly everyone else, you probably wonder how long you will live. That matter was quite definitely established, barring accidents or infectious disease, before you were born. So, too, were the color of your hair and eyes, the color and condition of your skin and your facial and other physical features. Also, unfortunately, certain maladies may have been predetermined as your heritage, such as color blindness, hay fever, diabetes, gout, cleft palate, cross-eye, hemophilia or some forms of insanity.

Your inherent powers and frailties were passed on to you through the chromosomes you inherited from your mother and father—24 from each. Where did they get them? From their parents. And they will be passed on by you to your children. As a wise man once remarked, "You are merely in inn where your ancestors stop off for a while on their way to becoming your descendants."

Your own inherited traits and characteristics—those you will bestow on your children—are no matter of guesswork. In many instances, they can now be scientifically and mathematically calculated. The entire field of heredity is being closely scrutinized today by the geneticists.

The social value of their painstaking efforts cannot be overestimated, especially since the field of heredity has in the past been a mass of superstition and old wives' tales. It is strange but true that there are still women in this country who believe that a child's birthmark is due to the mother's having eaten strawberries during pregnancy and that a harelip is caused by a fondness for rabbit stew.

Legend and superstition, deep-rooted in all races and civilizations, have motivated other peculiar notions of heredity, often among people who otherwise scoff at sentimentality. Imaginative women listen fearfully to whispered advice about prenatal influences. They peruse uplifting books, listen to fine music and subject themselves to "beautiful ideas" in the belief that the children they carry may be intellectual, talented and endowed with a strong sense of the esthetic. This is quite touching, of course, but ineffectual.

Literature has also been responsible for spreading erroneous ideas about heredity. Examples of supposed prenatal influence on appearance and on character occur throughout literature, in the works of Hardy, Hawthorne, Ibsen and Shakespeare. Ibsen's play, "Ghosts," based on the belief that syphilis can be inherited, is now as dated as the kerosene lamps used to light some of its early productions.

The emotional impact of legend and literature is strong and often lasting on those who read and run but do not stop to learn if the old notions have been disproved. As a result, there are too many tragic instances of suicide and infanticide because of imagined inheritances. Too many couples remain childless because they are fearful of non-existent "taints." And at present, a new crop of fears assail maimed war veterans who dread that their offspring may be born crippled or handicapped in some way.

Fortunately, geneticists are constantly exploding many of the myths about heredity. Family histories are being delved into and made to contribute to the growing body of research data. Scientists are realistically appraising inheritance factors. Already their findings are materially affecting laws, customs, health and many social institutions, including marriage schools and the courts.

Pioneering in this field is the Heredity Clinic of the University of Michigan, probably the only clinic of the kind in the United States. It is housed in a frame building on the campus at Ann Arbor, and is reached, fittingly, through an archway of the Maternity Hospital. The Heredity Clinic is the inspired creation of Dr. Lee R. Dice, a gentle-mannered geneticist of 60, who directs the work of the Clinic and of the Laboratory of Vertebrate Biology. Quietly and tirelessly exploring with him the unmapped areas of human inheritance are Dr. James V. Neel, Associate Geneticist in charge of the Clinic, Dr. Charles W. Cotterman, Assistant Geneticist, and Dr. Harold F. Falls, who is also Associate Professor of Ophthalmology in the University Medical School. They are assisted by a staff of seven technicians and clerical workers, all of whom are women.

During the seven years that the Clinic has been in operation, its staff scientists have delved into many phases of heredity. They are interested fundamentally in the transmission through succeeding generations of traits, diseases and susceptibilities. To the 200 or so abnormalities of the eye known to be affected by inheritance, they have discovered and added a dozen or more. They are currently engaged on long-range research programs to detect the inheritance factor in color vision, anemias, the bearing of twins and the aging processes. The inheritance of allergies and abnormalities of the bones, nerves, blood and skin—these are among the problems challenging the scientists of the Heredity Clinic.

The Clinic is open to anyone. Advice is free and it is confidential to those who come personally to the Clinic with their problems. Some persons come on their own initiative, but most are referred from the University and other hospitals and by doctors, social workers and occasionally by judges. No treatment is administered at the Clinic. The work of the staff is fact-finding and counseling, and their aim preventive rather than curative.

Patients who come to the Clinic undergo elaborate clinical procedures. Whatever their malady, which may range from a slight skin defect to hemophilia, they are given complete physical examinations at the University Hospital, with electrocardiograms, electroencephalograms and X-rays. Anthropometric measurements are made, finger and palm prints taken, and there are, in addition, blood, ophthalmic, color vision, taste, psychological and other tests.

To this impressive body of information, the staff of the Clinic then adds comprehensive studies of the other members of the patient's family—his parents, grandparents, uncles, aunts—and, bearing on the prospective next generation, his in-laws. The purpose of these studies is to trace the recurrence in the relatives' blood of strains the symptoms of the patient's defect, whether it be anatomical or psychological.

Gathering this information about the patient's relatives is an imposing task. It is necessary that fieldworkers visit each of the relatives. The staff of the Clinic includes two trained social service workers, who handle much of the field work. However, all members of the staff participate in this phase of the work on occasion, since the nature of the investigations often calls for specialized medical knowledge. Working in the field, staff members are repeatedly confronted by obstacles. Simply to track down all the members of a family, scattered as they tend to be today, is, in itself, a formidable problem. Yet to find them is usually essential, and field workers accordingly often travel across several states in pursuit of their quarry.

Their difficulties do not always end after they have located the patient's relatives, for they may be uncooperative or the traits being investigated may be elusive. For example, allegries, such as hay fever, fluctuate and are observable only at certain times and under conditions that give rise to them. A man with an inherited neurosis may not go to pieces, so to speak, until under the strain of battle or the tension of some emotional crisis. Harelip may crop out disfiguringly in one member of a family, then be passed along unnoticed for generations before it is again obvious. Constitutional weaknesses may be imperceptible in themselves, but findings show that they undoubtedly contribute to susceptibility to tuberculosis and other contractible diseases.

In spite of these difficulties, the staff members of the Clinic determinedly complete their mission. In the course of investigating the heredity of a patient suffering from ectopia lentis, a dislocation of the lens of the eye, they located and examined a total of 157 of the patient's descendants. The data in another investigation were gathered from 107 families with a total of 212 children. Thus the scientists at the Heredity Clinic continue their explorations, tenaciously searching out inherited traits and following them unflinchingly and methodically through many generations of human beings.

When all of the information has been collected, the staff of the Clinic prepares a detailed genealogical chart or "pedigree" of the patient. On this is traced the pattern taken by the trait under study. Thirteen hundred family case histories—containing over 10,000 persons—are now on file at the Clinic. Each year some 300 new families are added to those already under study. All of the research is cumulative. "It will never really be completed," Dr. Dice says, "so long as there are people."

This article will be concluded in the next issue of "My Michigan" column.

Company Tells of Construction

Michigan Gas Storage company directors have approved a construction budget of $5,500,000 for 1949. President J. A. Brown announced recently.

Michigan Gas Storage is owned jointly by Consumers Power company and the Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line company, with Consumers owning 75 per cent interest. It receives natural gas brought from the Southwest by Panhandle and pipes it to storage fields in north-central Michigan. In winter months the gas is taken out of storage and delivered to Consumers Power company for distribution to factories, householders and other customers.

Chief item on the 1949 construction program is construction of 61 miles of 20 inch pipe line from Freedom Junction in Washtenaw county to Laingsburg, Shiawassee county, with a 14-mile branch from Laingsburg to Lansing.

"This new line, construction of which has already started, will relieve the load on the existing lines and result in putting more gas in storage next summer," Mr. Brown said. "It will also provide better assurance of the gas supply to Lansing next winter."

It is planned to extend this line in 1950 from Laingsburg to Mt. Pleasant, where it will connect with existing lines leading to the storage fields at the intersection of Clare, Osceola and Missaukee counties. The completed line will form a new route to the storage fields for Panhandle gas, supplementing the present facilities leading from Freedom Junction to the storage fields by way of Flint, Saginaw and Mt. Pleasant.

If the earth were entirely level, the entire face of the globe would be covered with water two miles deep.

Farmers' Party Held Tomorrow

Tomorrow, Saturday, West Brothers, Inc. will be hosts at a Farmall Club Tractor party at their service garage at 554 Forest avenue.

The five, who are Plymouth International Harvester dealers, announce all small-acreage, part-time, or vegetable farm operators are invited to attend the all day program which will include "fun, entertainment and refreshments."

Not only are all farmers in this area invited, the West brothers state, but they are invited to bring a friend.

Tomorrow's meeting has been keyed to the four main markets for the Farmall Club, including small-acreage, part-time, large-acreage, and vegetable farm operators.

A display of colorful banners and pennants will line the store for the party, built around a giant-size Farmall Cub bear. Four smaller bears will serve as literature racks for the four new vocational catalogues. More color or will be added by a giant 4-color poster of the national farm paper ad, and a two-sided, tear-drop shaped display of tractors.

The Post Office Department employs more people than the nation's largest corporation.

Jesus Faces Opposition.
 Lesson for February 13: Mark 2:3-8, 2:16-17; 3:1-6.
 Memory Selection: Roman 12:21.

We have a fine example of common faith and loving cooperation in the four men who led the palsied man down through the roof and into the presence of Jesus. Certain of the scribes present, when they heard Jesus say, "Thy sins be forgiven thee," said in their hearts: "Who can forgive sins but One, even God?" Thus did opposition form against Jesus.

Again, when the scribes saw Jesus eating with publicans and sinners, condemned Him for so doing. The Lord turned the criticism into an opportunity of declaring that He had come not to call the righteous but sinners to repentance.

A flagrant example of the growing hostility of the scribes and Pharisees is found in the healing of the man who had a withered hand. When His enemies watched him to see what he would do, it being in the synagogue and on the Sabbath, Jesus asked them if it was lawful to do good on the Sabbath, to save life or to kill. He then bade the man stretch forth his hand and it was restored.

His enemies then went out to take counsel with the Herodians to put Jesus to death. Their pride and their ambition to rule in the religious life of their people led them to seek to put Jesus out of the way. But neither they nor any others have been able to stop the proclamation of the gospel. As they utterly failed to destroy the work of Jesus, though they had Him crucified, there is no escape from His claims upon us. Let us be glad to yield to His overtures of love.

John Payne, outstanding young movie actor, stars in "Dead End", a drama by Sidney Kingsley, to be broadcast this Friday evening over CKLW at 8 p. m., the rector of St. John's Episcopal church, the Rev. Alexander Miller, announces.

"Dead End" is the story of a man named Gimpy (John Payne), and the story of a boy named Tommy, Gimpy's friend, who lived an undisciplined gang life in Manhattan's East River tenement district. When Tommy got in trouble with the police after an escaped convict had coached and encouraged him to steal, Gimpy tried to help him—tried to explain that Tommy wasn't to blame. In Gimpy's words, and these words were his challenge: "It's you and me, and all the people who tolerate slums—who let children grow up in places not fit for cattle."

"Dead End" is the 20th in the series of challenging dramas, "Great Scenes from Great Plays", sponsored weekly by families of the Protestant Episcopal church and the Episcopal Actors' Guild.

I Think That God is Proud

Grace Noll Crowell
I THINK that God is proud of those who bear
 A sorrow bravely—proud indeed of them
 Who walk straight through the dark to find Him there
 And kneel in faith to touch His garment's hem.
 Oh, proud of them who lift their heads to shake
 Away the tears from eyes that have grown dim,
 Who tighten quivering lips and turn to take
 The only road they know that leads to Him.
 How proud He must be of them—He who knows
 All sorrow, and how hard grief is to bear!
 I think He sees them coming, and He goes
 With outstretched arms and hands to meet them there,
 And with a look, a touch on hand or head,
 Each finds his hurt heart strangely comforted.

Astrology

Your Weekly Guide by
G. Cardinal LeGros

Morning is rebirth,
Luminous and bright,
Flowing over earth
With a golden light—

Over sea and land
With a flame of gold!
Blessed they who stand
Joyous to behold

God's eternal love
Beautiful again
In the skies above,
And the hearts of men.

It is not always necessary to use the birth-chart of a person when answering a question or solving a problem. The astrologer has another and quicker way—the horary horoscope. Horary means "hourly" and a horary chart is one erected for the exact minute that a question is asked or a problem submitted for analysis.

That such a horoscope can actually foretell the outcome of a matter seems preposterous until one recognizes the reality of universal law operating in a field of interlocking, interdependent factors. "As above, so below." The stars in the sky, even as the flowers under our feet, are all portions of an infinite and eternal harmony in which we, together with all other things, live, move, and have our being. Thus a horary chart captures the image or pattern in the heavens when an idea or question is born just as the natal horoscope reflects the stellar picture when a soul comes into birth. "Thoughts are things" even as you and I.

We should not lean too much upon horary, or any branch of occult science, lest it weaken the will and judgment. Astrology has its rightful use and purpose, but we are still spiritual beings with divine free will and choice, —pilgrims on our way to undreamed-of ultimates of beauty and grandeur.

The wise astrologer, motivated by genuine human sympathy and a desire to help his fellows, is always ready to serve; but he also has the right to decline involvement in questions or problems that conflict with the moral and ethical principles upon which society is founded. He dare not connive with anyone who hopes to evade his just duties, or to injure another, or in some way to get the upperhand for selfish advantage.

Horary astrology can help you tremendously if you have done your best to solve a personal problem, and your back is to the wall, and you don't know where to turn. The astrologer, by casting a chart for the minute that you explain your difficulty to him, can determine, providing he be competent, the true nature of your situation, the developing factors at work, and the probable outcome. This is not fortune-telling because you still have your free will and can disregard the astrologer's advice or warning if you choose.

Horary astrology works like magic if you are absolutely sincere with your question, and have exhausted every other means to solve it. Trivial or foolish questions beget like answers, and the astrologer can tell at a glance if the matter is consequential or not.

The writer will be glad to hear from readers of The Plymouth Mail, and will extend whatever help he can through astrology. Write to Mr. G. Cardinal LeGros, 111 Burlingame avenue, Apartment 405, Detroit 2, Michigan, or phone him at Townsend 5-5096.

Six Spaghetti Sauce Recipes, Quick or Slow, Can be Timed to Minute

Whether you want spaghetti with a simple sauce that takes two minutes, or spaghetti with sauce and meat balls that take almost two hours, you can time your dish to the minute, says Eleanor Noderer. Writing in McCalls for February, she gives you six good spaghetti sauces and their time by the clock:

The length of time you cook your spaghetti depends on the type you buy and the degree of tenderness you like. In general, the packaged spaghetti calls for about 9 minutes in briskly boiling salted water. Obviously, for more tenderness you cook it slightly longer. The long bulk spaghetti, however, must be cooked from 15 to 20 minutes, the time depending on your tastes. All spaghetti served with these good sauces should be freshly cooked for the most enjoyment.

On the table in 2 minutes: Serve a generous chunk of butter on cooked spaghetti, then sprinkle with Parmesan-style cheese.

DO YOU KNOW how to hang clothes properly from a line? If not, then glance over these tips for they'll save you many an ironing problem.

Towels, pillow cases, tablecloths and other small or large flat pieces should be hung one-third over the line to avoid dog-eared corners.

Hang sheets and tablecloths doubled with hems together, one-third over the line.

When you're short on line space, handkerchiefs, napkins and dollies can be grouped together and hung over the line. Never hang them by one corner as they will have to be stretched and ironed back into rectangular shapes, and this will take time as well as weaken the fibers.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Pineapple-Rice Casserole

(Serves 6-8)
3 cups cooked white rice
4 slices pineapple, cut into pieces
1/2 cup brown sugar
Butter

Place one-half of cooked rice in bottom of greased casserole. Arrange pieces of two slices of pineapple over top of rice and dot with butter. Sprinkle with half of brown sugar. Repeat with rice, pineapple, sugar and butter. Four pineapple juice over all and bake in a slow (300°) oven for 30 minutes. Serve hot if you want casserole to go with the main part of the meal or cold as a dessert.

Shirts should be hung by their tails, not by shoulders or collars. Clotheshpins may make marks in the shirts on the shoulders which will take time to press out.

On the other hand, dresses, blouses, gowns and pajama tops should be hung by the shoulder seams.

To get slips through the drying stage in the best way possible, wrap first in a fluffy towel to get out the excess moisture, then hang by the underarm section.

Women's hose should also be wrapped in a towel to absorb extra moisture. Then hang by the top of the hose until they dry.

Men's hose will look better if you stretch the foot into shape before hanging. Hang these by the tops. Or, if you are hanging inside, let the tops hang partly over the line.

Off the stove in 4 minutes: Heat canned tomato sauce with minced clove of garlic and chopped parsley. Serve over cooked spaghetti. Parmesan-style cheese sprinkled on top is a good Italian touch, makes it taste especially good.

Fit for a king in 1 hour:
4 tablespoons olive oil
2 cloves garlic
1 No. 2 can tomatoes
1 tablespoon capers
2 teaspoons basil
2 tablespoons chopped green olives
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
Parmesan-style cheese

Heat olive oil in heavy saucepan. Chop garlic and cook in oil until lightly brown. Add tomatoes, capers, basil, chopped olives, salt and pepper. Cook over low heat for 1 hour. Serve over cooked spaghetti with a generous sprinkling of cheese.

Ready to eat in 1 1/2 hours:
4 small onions
2 cloves garlic
1/2 cup olive oil
2 No. 2 1/2 cans tomatoes
4 fillets of anchovies
1/2 teaspoon sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
1/2 teaspoon oregano

Slice onions and cut garlic cloves in half. Cook in hot oil for 5 minutes. Remove garlic and add tomatoes. Cook over high heat for 5 minutes, then reduce heat and cook slowly for 1 hour. Cut up anchovies, add to sauce with sugar, salt, pepper and cook 10 minutes longer. Remove from stove and mix in the oregano (this wonderful Italian herb gives so much flavor to your sauce. Do learn to use this herb). Serve over cooked spaghetti.

Out of skillet in 1 1/2 hours:
1/2 lb. chopped beef
4 tablespoons olive oil
1/2 clove garlic
1 medium onion
1/2 cup mushrooms
Few sprigs parsley
1 No. 2 1/2 can tomatoes
Salt and pepper
Parmesan-style cheese

Fry beef in hot oil about 15 minutes or until brown. Add minced garlic, chopped onion, chopped mushrooms and chopped parsley and cook for 10 minutes. Stir occasionally to prevent sticking. Mix in tomatoes, salt and pepper and cook over low heat for about 1 hour. Serve over cooked spaghetti with Parmesan-style cheese.

Dish it up in 1 1/4 hours:
Sauce
1 slice salt pork
1 small onion
1 No. 2 1/2 can tomato puree
2 1/2 cups water
1 teaspoon salt
Meat Balls
1 1/2 lbs. chopped beef
1 tablespoon salt
1/4 cup cracker meal
3/4 cup raisins
2 eggs, unbeaten

Place salt pork in skillet over low heat until fat is melted. Add chopped onion to fat and brown. Mix in tomato puree, water and salt and cook slowly for 15 minutes.

To make meat balls, mix all ingredients together thoroughly and shape into balls. Drop into sauce and simmer 1 hour and 15 minutes in uncovered pan. Serve sauce and meat balls over cooked spaghetti. You'll be surprised at the interesting flavor the raisins give to this recipe.

Refinishing Calls for Good Brush

Like the old saying that a workman is no better than his tools, your furniture refinishing job will be no better than your brush. Good work cannot be done with a brush which is not perfectly clean.

The best practice is to clean a brush immediately after using it. The solvent needed for cleaning the brush depends upon the finishing material in which the brush was used. Good brushes are too expensive, not to be given care.

Recommendations to Plymouth homemakers given by Emma DuBord, Wayne County Home Demonstration Agent, are as follows: For varnish, paint or enamel clean with turpentine; for shellac clean with denatured alcohol or shellac solvent; for lacquer clean with lacquer thinner; and for penetrating seal clean with alcohol or turpentine. A brush may be injured and is very difficult to clean if any finishing material has been allowed to dry in it.

It may be usable again if you soak it for 12 to 24 hours or until the bristles soften and the paint is loosened. You can soak it in a commercial paint brush cleaner. Or you can soak it in a solution of one teaspoon of sodium phosphate in one pint of warm water.

Work the brush gently, pressing the bristles from side to side. When the paint is thoroughly loosened, stroke the brush back and forth on an unfinished board. Wash in soap and water. Dry it suspended by a wire or placed in a jar with the bristles pointing up. Store the brush for long periods by wrapping in waxed paper and hanging it up or laying it on a flat surface.

Consider Kinds of Kitchenware Before Buying, Specialist States

In spite of the constant pressure on housewives to buy complete sets of certain types of kitchen utensils there is no "best" kind, Plymouth cooks were assured this week.

Aluminum, stainless steel, iron, tin, enamelware, glass or earthenware all differ in the way they take in, carry, throw off, and hold heat. You'll be wise to have some utensils of each kind because Lucile Kethchum, extension specialist in home management at Michigan State college.

Before buying utensils look over what you have and class them according to uses. Then decide what types you need. In checking your supply for usefulness or deciding about new ones to buy there are certain points to watch.

Check the size and see whether it will fit the burner or oven for convenience and good use of heat. Straight sides on cooking utensils save heat and stove space. Rounded corners and smooth finishes make cleaning easier. Tight fitting lids are important.

Pans with flat bottoms will stand steady and level and if they have a dull finish they will absorb more heat. Handles should stay cool, be well-balanced, securely fastened and fit your hand. Lids shouldn't warp or rust. Look for durable material and good construction.

Consider which metals are best for your use. Aluminum comes in light, medium and heavy weights. Stainless steel is available both with and without copper bottoms.

Porcelain enamel may be made with one coat of enamel or several coats. Cast iron is very durable. And then there are still tin, glass and earthenware to choose from.

Red Cross Nutrition Aids

In a recent study to determine which commonly used foods provide the most for the money in terms of nutritive value, white potatoes were found to rank in the highest group. They, along with whole wheat bread, rolled oats, beef and pork liver and pea beans were found to be an inexpensive source of six of the nine essential nutrients.

Potatoes were the only cheap source of vitamin C among these food items. This fact should be of particular interest to Plymouth housewives at the present time because the unusual weather conditions in citrus producing section are likely to cause a price increase on oranges and grapefruit, our best source of this vitamin.

When potatoes are properly cooked they can be counted on to supply one fourth of the vitamin C we need daily. Because this vitamin is readily destroyed the Nutrition Service of the American Red Cross suggests that the following cooking rules be observed carefully.

First—cook the potatoes in their jackets whenever possible. This helps to seal in vitamins, minerals and flavor. There's your perfect excuse for skipping the job of potato paring. Above all, don't pare the potatoes ahead of cooking time and leave them standing in water.

Second—cook the potatoes as quickly as possible. Steaming or boiling is the best method as far as vitamin C retention is concerned. Start the cooking in boiling water and use only enough to prevent scorching—a very small amount if the pan has a tightly-fitting cover and the heat is kept low.

Third—serve the potatoes as soon as they are tender. The longer they stand before serving, the greater the loss of vitamin C, especially if the vegetable has shed its jacket.

If the cooked potatoes are left over, store them without peeling in tightly covered bowl in the refrigerator until you're ready to use them.

For variety, of course, all of prepare potatoes in combinations that require paring before cooking. In that case pare them as thinly as possible, not only to save potato, but to avoid loss of minerals which are concentrated under the skins. Be sure to use the cooking liquid, too, because it contains much flavor and food value.

Even if you're battling the bulge of the waistline you can eat potatoes without worry—if you go easy on butter and gravy. One potato has about the same number of calories as one apple.

Try these recipes soon to use more of these low cost potatoes which are high in nutritive value.

Historical Society to Meet Tuesday

The library of Plymouth High school has been designated as the site of the next meeting of Plymouth's Historical Society.

The group will meet there on Tuesday, February 15, at 7:30 p.m., according to the president, Mrs. Phila Underwood.

The following month's meeting is slated for March 8, and at that time Professor Russell Hussey of the University of Michigan Extension Service will speak to the group.

Cookies, Cakes Take February Shapes Easily

February is a month that brings new baking challenges to Plymouth homemakers. Patriotic and sentimental holidays provide a chance to exercise your imagination in creating fanciful desserts for family meals and entertainment, too, says Reba Staggs, well-known food authority.

For instance, you might bake a cake in a heart-shaped mold instead of in the conventional cake pan; then make a heart outline of red cinnamon candies on the icing.

Or, if you are baking cup cakes, bake them in individual heart-shaped molds. Coat with a frothy pink icing and serve on a lacy paper doily to further carry out the Valentine theme.

Cookies can take patriotic shapes with astonishing ease. Any rolled cookie dough can be cut into hearts, cherries, logs or hatchets. Cut the shapes from stiff cardboard, and trace around with the point of a sharp knife to achieve the unusual shapes.

Stroke bark-like markings on the logs with a toothpick dipped in melted chocolate. The cookies will be especially chewy and flavorful if lard is used as the shortening.

And as for pies, did you ever bake pastry hatchets on a cherry pie or make individual pies in your heart-shaped salad molds?

Down Under Florida Palm Trees

The Plymouth Mail's "Rambling Reporter" finds news, here, there and everywhere.

How do Plymouth, Northville and other winter visitors spend the balmy days down in southern Florida? That's an easy question to answer. You can divide them into two groups, those that seek the sunshine and those who prefer the shade of the old apple tree — which down here happens to be the rustling old palm tree.

While the pudgy old Rambling Reporter of The Plymouth Mail was out scouting around the other day for some "hot" news for the folks back home, he discovered Mr. and Mrs. John Jacobs of Plymouth toasting their shins on the sandy beach of the Atlantic ocean up near Fort Lauderdale. It seems that they have a favorite spot where they go each day to rest, swim, sun-bathe, read The Plymouth Mail and wonder what the weather is back home in Plymouth.

They are true sun-worshippers and spend as many hours each day in the sun as possible. The Rambling Reporter discovered that Mr. and Mrs. Jacobs are not only sun worshippers, but that they probably do more pleasure traveling than any other couple in Plymouth.

Thinking that he had John stopped for a moment, the old Rambler told him of a fishing trip enjoyed a few years before the war up in the Teton Mountains.

PLYMAIL PHOTO

Mr. and Mrs. John Jacobs reading The Plymouth Mail while getting a sunbath on the Atlantic ocean beach at Fort Lauderdale. John is pointing to the picture of LeRoy Jewell, chief of the new Plymouth township fire department that appeared on the first page of The Mail recently.

"Just a minute," said John. He rummaged through a case, brought out a film, displayed in colored pictures some wonderful views of the Tetons as well as a picture of Jackson Hole lake, where the old Rambler and his wife had enjoyed some excellent trout fishing a number of years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Jacobs not only like the sunshine of Florida and other southern states, but they are especially fond of traveling through the Rocky Mountain country. They have made numerous trips to the Pacific coast and right now are discussing the possibilities of another trip along the Pacific next winter, instead of a trip back to Florida.

Like thousands and thousands of others, they find the greatest of pleasure in "trailer" life. It is nothing less than amazing how many new trailer camps have been developed in the past year or so.

Michigan seems to provide the greatest number of trailer visitors to the south. On our trip down here, we passed 17 house trailers on the highways before we reached the Florida state line. Sixteen of these 17 trailers had Michigan licenses.

So you think Adolph Hitler is dead, do you? Some 400 members of the Miami Rotary club and guests from Michigan and elsewhere were told at a recent meeting that Hitler is very much alive and is living in South America. The famed speaker at the meeting who made the declaration was Helena, Baroness de Polenzska, an American born citizen who lived in Germany many years before the war broke out and who after the death of her husband was placed in a German concentration camp where she was held prisoner for months before she was released to return to America. She contends that there is not the slightest evidence that Hitler was killed when Berlin was captured. On the other hand, declared the speaker, there is much to prove that he made his escape and went to South America.

The number of northern visitors attending Rotary club meetings has been considerably below the total of a year ago, although Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey and New England states do have large delegations here at the present time.

If tumbling prices are any indication of the times, there is plenty down here in Florida to indicate that some sort of a "change" is underway.

Not only are grocery prices much below what they were a month ago, but clothing prices have also taken a big drop. An effort is being made to maintain rental prices, but these too have skidded. When people make inquiry as to rates, if they are not satisfactory, they just go on to some other place where the prices are within the rates they are willing to pay. Many predicted that last winter would be the last "big season" Florida ever had, but they hoped that the drop would not be too great. All are fearful of what the next tourist season will bring forth. Along with it all, building has taken a big drop all through the southern end of the state.

There's one place in these United States where water is really worth something—although there's oceans of it everywhere. Down in Key West in most restaurants you are not served water unless you ask for it. It seems that the U. S. navy owns the water supply. It is piped in from wells some 150 miles away and is sold to the city by the navy, the city re-selling it to consumers, who are kicking their heads off about high water rates.

Even though California has been plastered from one end to the other with inches of snow for the first time in the memory of man, the beautiful flowers buried under snowbanks and its orange crop frozen on the trees, it still retains "top" place in the minds of Mr. and Mrs. William Dundas, who are enjoying Florida's most balmy winter in years.

Mr. and Mrs. Dundas, who are the parents of Mrs. Kenneth Martin of Penniman avenue and who have hosts of friends in both Plymouth and Northville, have had the pleasure of spending several winters in both Florida and California. They are at Riviera Beach for the present season, being located directly on the Atlantic ocean shore line. For years Mr. Dundas was manager of Meadowbrook Country club and also the Dearborn Country club, where he became well acquainted with the late Henry Ford and Mrs. Ford. He speaks in the highest of praise of the Fords.

During one of the previous visits of Mr. and Mrs. Dundas to Florida they had the opportunity of meeting the Duke of Windsor and his American wife.

"Just as ordinary and as pleasant as the average well-bred American. Both are friendly and most interesting to talk with," said Mr. Dundas of the former King of England and his wife.

But back to California—in spite of its most unusual weather for several weeks past, both Mr. and Mrs. Dundas think the entire state is one of the most delightful places in the world. While they have many friends in Florida and think the weather here is about as ideal as it can be, they like the mountains, the valleys and the scenic shore lines of the Pacific. "It's hard to decide which state is the most desirable for people who like to escape the severe winters of our northern states but right now even with the most unusual weather California has had in recent weeks, I think it tops Florida in many ways," said Mr. Dundas. He ought to know, because he has spent many winters in both Florida and California.

Mrs. Margaret Norton, of Rochester, Michigan, sister of Mrs. Maude D. Schrader of Plymouth, well known to many Plymouth residents, has just returned to Michigan after spending a few days at the home of Mrs. Schrader in West Palm Beach. Mrs. Norton, who resigned as secretary of the Michigan State Board of Cosmetology previous to the advent of the new governor into office, has lost none of her interest in Michigan politics. She hurried back in order to be able to be present at the Republican state convention in Grand Rapids, being a delegate from Oakland county. Without doubt, she has been one of the most energetic workers among women voters either the Republican or Democratic parties ever had in Michigan. She declares it will not be many months before Michigan as well as the nation will regret most seriously the outcome of the November election.

Blue Group Wins Basketball Tussle

A noon attraction last Tuesday, February 1 was the Hi-Y basketball game between the White chapter and the Blue chapter with the Blue winning by a good margin.

At the beginning of the first part of the game the Blue forwards put the Blue team into a commanding lead which the White could never catch up to. Although the White team had the experience they could not stop the fast moving Blue who has had some experience on the floor. Carl Pursell connected with 20 points to lead the team and was followed by Hank Levering who also plays on the Blue team with 15.

The benefit of this game was for both Hi-Y clubs. The Hi-Y now has the gym on Tuesday and Thursday.

Students in Grades 4-12 Get Audiometer Test

Hearing tests were given in Plymouth schools to students in grades four through 12. The tests were given free from the Michi-gan Department of Health throughout the communities of Michigan.

The first test was a group audiometer test and those who failed this were given another test in the same way. If that test was not successful, an individual test was given. In many cases parents were notified that the student should have a doctor's care.

These Events Were News

25 Years Ago

Although the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce fell a little short of their goal of 500 members for 1924, 275 Plymouthites have signed up for the coming year with excellent prospects of passing the 300 mark within the next two weeks. The present membership is nearly double that of last year, and everything is all set for a year of hard work toward a "Bigger and Better Plymouth."

The Plymouth Road Development corporation is making plans for the creation of a new residential and industrial community between Detroit and Plymouth to be known as Grayton and which will involve a development of about 3,500 acres. Marketing and improvement of this land by selling agencies will involve expenditures in excess of $6,000,000, it is said.

At a special meeting of the village commission Wednesday afternoon, Daniel F. Murray was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the removal of R. R. Parrott outside the village limits.

Mr. Dunn of the Dunn Products company, who has just recently purchased the factory building of the F. Millard company, Inc. was a pleasant caller at the Mail office last Saturday.

Mr. Dunn had several of his employees with him, whom he expects to bring to Plymouth when his plant is located here.

The Plymouth Tube company expects to begin operations about February 15. Manager Clinton informs the Mail, The machinery is being rapidly installed and everything got in readiness to commence production. The plant will give employment to about 25 men at the start, and this number gradually increased as the work of production is got underway.

Miss Gladys Schrader is driving a handsome new Ford coach.

It might be interesting to note that the William and Allen Tibbitts families were the first settlers in Plymouth township, as they purchased 800 acres of land and lived thereon in 1824. The next year the William and Erastus Starkweather families settled here. The Root and Taft families coming also the same year. Detroit had a population of 2,600 at that time.

Poultry Specialist Says to Know Chicks Background

Don't let Plymouth's cold weather keep you from planning about you spring poultry operations, says Howard Zindel, Michigan State college extension poultry specialist.

To avoid losses from disease, it's a good idea to know the background of chicks that you buy. They should come from flocks that have a history of producing lots of large eggs.

Shop around now and place your order so you won't have to be disappointed when the time comes to get the poultry enterprise going.

Rural Tele-news

THESE NUMBERS PLEASE—In 1948, Michigan Bell made great strides in bringing more and better telephone service to the rural areas it serves. Last year, 23,000 more telephones were installed, 10,800 miles of wire were strung, in addition to many miles of buried wire and cable, and 23,000 new telephone poles were set.

INSIDE STORY—Installation of new central office equipment inside a number of telephone buildings during 1948 made possible the replacement of nearly 3,000 "turn the crank" telephones with dial or "lift the receiver" instruments. This also enabled Michigan Bell to reduce the number of other rings heard by subscribers on those rural lines.

MORE AND BETTER SERVICE—At the end of 1948, seven out of every ten families in rural areas served by Michigan Bell had telephone service. Seven out of eight rural telephone customers were on lines having eight parties or less.

The Nicest Distance Between Two Points

White sidewall tires available at additional cost.

In their admiration for Cadillac's beauty, and its wonderful world-wide reputation for quality and goodness, people sometimes overlook one of the greatest Cadillac virtues of all—its marvelous comfort. To ride in a Cadillac is to experience the supreme satisfaction that can be derived from personal transportation. The person at the wheel is the quickest to sense this—for he is the special beneficiary of Cadillac comfort. He enjoys, of course—in common with the other occupants of the car—the matchless benefits of Cadillac balance and springing and roadability. But he enjoys, in addition, the driving ease of a feather-light steering wheel; a quick, powerful, responsive motor that knows no counterpart for agility and smoothness; big, dominant brakes that are as soft to the pedal as sponge rubber; and an over-all sure-footedness on the highway that reduces driving strain to the minimum. Somebody has said that, once you have driven a Cadillac, you're unhappy at the wheel of any other car. Certain it is that a ride in a Cadillac—whether as driver or passenger—is the nicest distance between two points! Have you driven a 1949 Cadillac—or ridden in one? If not, you ought to do so. You are welcome in our showrooms at any time.

Babson Says Babson Discusses Television

It is estimated that some 850,000 television sets were sold during 1948 and that double this number will be sold during 1949. Considering the fact that 15,150,000 other radio sets were sold in 1948, this does not seem a serious matter. However, the radio sets sold in 1948 are considerably less than those sold in previous years. Radio manufacturers are much disturbed as to the outlook for 1949, believing that 2,000,000 television sets will come on the market this year.

What About Television Stocks?
Are they a good investment at this time? They may be, I do not

NWNS Radio-Screen Editor
IF Jack Carson has his way, he'll be away from Hollywood until summer... Starting a theatre tour with a two-week stand at the Chicago theatre, Jack went on to Pennsylvania for a week each at Erie and Pittsburgh and then to New York for six weeks... Meanwhile, his boss, Warner Brothers, wants him to disband the troupe, which includes Robert Alda and Marion Hutton, and return for another movie... "I have three pictures canned already," Jack stated in total disagreement, "and I'd just as soon keep touring the country with the act. It's not often you get something together that goes over as smoothly as our routine and I can't see breaking it up at this point." His goal is London's famous Palladium this summer.

Jack is an informal, carefree sort of person, conscientious and eager to please... His aloofness is likely to lull you into believing he's conceited... Usually he's the same personality kid he portrays on screen and radio, but we caught him late at night, the eve of his departure from Chicago after a grinding schedule of seven shows a day for two weeks, and not only was he exhausted but he was suffering from laryngitis... All of which makes one wonder at people who think it's "fun" to be an actor.

PLATTER CHATTER
There's Capitol news this week... Mark Warnow has recorded his popular rendition of "Sound-Off," a number he's been doing for years on the Treasury shows... The record is part of an album of two discs, other numbers including two Sousa marches—"Stars and Stripes Forever" and "El Capitan"... All are done in stirring fashion with a roll of the drum and voices raised high... If you love parades and their musical accompaniment, by all means investigate this album.

Good singles on Capitol include a new Peggy Lee number... A sparkling arrangement of "Someone Like You" coupled with "You Was," in which Peggy duets with Dean Martin... Lovely Diana Lynn of the movies gets in the groove with some solid piano playing on "Slaughter on Tenth Avenue" and "Body and Soul"... Also recommended is the latest Jo Stafford-Gordon MacRae offering—the cute, catchy "Pussy Cat Song" with "I'll String Along With You" on the reverse.

know. Remember, however, that most of the stable television manufacturers are also radio manufacturers. Therefore, although this growth of television may seem spectacular, yet it may only succeed in taking up the slack which these companies have lost from radio sales. In view, therefore, of the large profits which some holders of these stocks must have, it may be wise to sell half of them.

Television may break up Hollywood's monopoly of the amusement industry. Highly paid stars will not be necessary for television exhibits. Hence, the income from the business will be spread over a much larger number of people. Most radio programs will need very little rehearsing and no expensive scenery.

How Will TV Affect Movies?
Television will not put movies out of business. Here is my reason: For many years I have been very much interested in public forums; that is, groups that meet in cities Sunday nights with one or more speakers who discuss public problems. I once feared that when people could sit at home and hear even more important speakers discuss these same problems by radio, they would not come to our forum meetings. Yet, people flock to these forum meetings today in greater numbers than ever.

People like an excuse to get out, away from home and a change of scenery. Movie theaters are cool in summer, warm in winter, and have comfortable seats. We instinctively like to be with groups of people. Movie receipts may fall off, yet I doubt of the industry will be seriously handicapped.

Books and Magazines
From the first I forecasted that radio would not interfere with the sale of books and magazines, and my forecast has been true. I can read a book or magazine while listening to the radio, but I cannot do so while looking at a television screen. Therefore, I feel that television will be a competitor to the book and magazine publishers. The above especially applies to the new picture magazines which have become so popular.

Although newspapers are using many more illustrations in order to compete with these picture magazines, I see nothing for newspapers to fear from television. Remember that newspapers have completely survived radio news and releases and columnists. It is even possible that the television sets will put many of the radio columnists and news features out of business. Therefore, television may be a help to the newspaper industry.

Looking at the Future
Great improvements in television are "around the corner." Moreover, someday TV sets will sell for half what they are selling for now and have very much larger screens. When I was a boy, we had only a magic lantern; then we had the stereopticon; then came the silent movie; then the sound movie; to be followed by the colored movie. The next step will be the "Three Dimension Movie" which may again revolutionize the entire entertainment industry. Personally, I would rather have my money in good newspapers than in movies, radios, television, book or magazine publishing. This is especially true now while the laboratories of the American Tel. & Tel. are at work on something else which may make us all sit up and take notice!

P.S. I must make a correction in my column on "Tornadoes" of four weeks ago. It read as if lying down in the open is as safe as being in a cellar. This is not true. One should get into a cellar if possible; but if not possible, then lie close to the ground. I make this correction due to letters which have come to me from people who were hit by some flying articles when lying close to the ground. Of course, many things, from animals to pianos, have been blown off the ground, but these were not lying close. Those wishing further free information on the subject should write to the Portland Cement Association, 33 West Grand Avenue, Chicago, Illinois. RWB

Fertilizer Should be Ordered Now

Prompt action in ordering fertilizer now is essential if Plymouth farmers want to be certain of having supplies on hand for 1949 spring seeding operations, declared the Middle West Soil Improvement committee, in a statement made public here.

"The need for continuing the 'Order Early' practice is just as critical as in war days," says the statement.

"Shortages of some raw materials are threatened. Supplies of nitrogen may fall below the volume predicted some months ago. Factory breakdowns and work interruptions due to strikes have cut the output in some fertilizer factories. Production days are being lost in others because storage facilities are overcrowded with the finished product. Only if this plant food is moved out of warehouses and on to farms, can production schedules be maintained.

"And even if factories are able to work overtime, it is doubtful if 1949 spring supplies will meet demands for all grades and analyses wanted by farmers." Advising Plymouth farmers "not to delay" in placing their orders, the statement says: "The job of making, shipping and delivering fertilizer can no longer be crowded into a last-minute, spring rush period. Only if farmers order and take their supplies early can fertilizer manufacturers and producers of raw materials space their operations over a time period sufficient to meet most demands. The tonnage must flow steadily from factory to farm during the winter months.

"Plymouth farmers who order early, take delivery as soon as the manufacturer can make it, and store the fertilizer on their farms, will be sure of having the supplies they want. Those who wait too long may be disappointed when they need plant food most next spring."

Enrollments in U. S. colleges and universities now number over two million, but veterans now number only 42 percent.
