A GOOD CITIZEN PASSES. Plymouth residents, as well as of this entire locality were snocked to learn the other day of the sudden death of Stewart M. Dodge, for the past quarter of a century one of the progressive business men of this city.

Although in ill health for sometime, his condition had not been regarded as critical. He had started to late on a vacation that physicians had long urged him to take.

He was the type of business man and citizen who will be greatly missed in a fast growing city like Plymouth. Intensely interested in everything that was decent and for the good of the community, he took an active part in nearly every worthwhile local activity.

Not only did he devote much time to the betterment of our city, but for years he has been one of the most active members of the Michigan Druggist Association.

To the family The Plymouth Mail extends its sincerest regrets—while every good citizen of Plymouth bows in sorrow at the passing of such a worthwhile and useful citizen.

OUR BEST WISHES FOR SUCCESS. For a number of years Plymouth has enjoyed having as its postmaster one of the most congenial and co-operative officials this or any other city ever had.

It was not surprising news to read that his step-son, Thomas Brock, a Plymouth high school graduate and in every respect a "Plymouth boy" had been given the temporary appointment as postmaster.

While we believe that the postoffice department should adopt a system of advancing postmasters from the ranks of those who have served long and faithfully—and we have a number of them in the postoffice of Plymouth—we see no chance for this idea to prevail as long as our present system of using postmasterships as awards for merited political activities continues.

PROF. HABER BACK AT U. OF M. Prof. William D. Haber, who holds the distinction of being able to get his name on more public expense accounts than any other man who ever lived in this great state of Michigan, is back from another jaunt to Europe, where he went at PUBLIC EXPENSE to "consult" with Gen. Clay about affairs in Germany.

It was by the merest chance some dozen or more years ago when making an effort to help solve the welfare problem in Michigan that we discovered Haber's name on so many expense accounts and payrolls, all connected with welfare activities up in Lansing, that we were amazed at the brazenness of it—and at a time when there were thousands upon thousands of people in Michigan getting along on less income than what the state was paying him for unnecessary mileage on his automobile.

IN our estimation, it is no credit to the University or the state of Michigan to have Haber associated in any way with a state institution.

SENATOR TAFT "BUM-RAPPED." Edwin A. Lahey one of the top Washington newspaper correspondents, is probably one of the first, if not the only Washington news writer to say a kindly word in behalf of Senator Robert Taft of Ohio.

Lahey's views were clearly set forth in a syndicated article that recently appeared in a number of newspapers throughout the nation. They are worth reprinting, as it is about time to reveal, when possible, the type of political fakery that has been going on in Washington for the last 15 or 16 years or more.

Some labor leaders have announced that they intend to knock off Senator Robert A. Taft politically when he comes up for reelection in Ohio in 1950.

This is silly talk. Organized labor has been sadly kidded by the loose left-wing folk lore about Taft, who has been built up as a demon of cold reaction.

The labor leaders would do well to worry about the counterfeits in public life who profess to be their friends, and to respect Taft for his refusal to talk out of both sides of his mouth.

I have myself been victimized by this folk lore of the Taft ogre, and I'd like to tell how I discovered my own delusion. In September, 1947, I was preparing to go to the West Coast with Taft, on a political trip.

Like most people who accept myths without examining them, I supposed that Taft had destroyed the OPA, and that he had promised the people, as had other Republicans, that prices would "adjust themselves" if all price control were removed.

For my own background, I went to the Library of Congress and read everything that Taft had said on the floor of the Senate about price control. It was a shock to learn that he had been bum-rapped, and that I had accepted the rap as true.

An afternoon with the Congressional Record proved that Taft had never once urged the repeal of price controls. He fought for a gradual liquidation of controls. He wanted price controls abandoned selectively, and only when in particular industries there was a normal relationship between supply and demand.

This was plain horse sense and economic wisdom. Taft was fighting for orderly liquidation of controls when the clowns around President Truman in 1946 were actually sabotaging the OPA.

The most outrageous bum rap against Taft is his supposed hatred for workers. President Truman in his campaign, with more political guile than honesty, helped build up this myth.

Primary Monday to List Contest for County Office

In the general primary election next Monday, voters of both Plymouth and Plymouth township will cast votes for the nominating of candidates for the office of county auditor.

The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m., announces City Manager Harold Cheek.

Running on the Republican ticket are: Earl E. Castator and Archie Leadbetter. The Democrats list the following: George O. Cornell, Charles F. Edgcomb, William R. Edwards, Stanley Frankowski, Robert A. Haggerty, Joseph F. Martin, Jr., George F. Montgomery, Vincent T. Moore, George J. Nehasil, Gerald O'Brien, Thomas C. O'Brien, Thomas Ralston, Carey W. Richmond and Kenneth C. Williams.

There will be no local contests on the ballot, as the number of persons filing petitions for office was not large enough to warrant a primary vote.

Voting will take place in the regular places: Precinct No. 1 in the city hall; Precinct No. 2 in Starkweather school; Precinct No. 3 in the high school; and Precinct No. 4 at Forest Motor Sales.

Township voters will cast their ballots at the Grange hall on Union street.

Preceding his appearance in Plymouth Tuesday, he and Mrs. Crane, his mother, and secretary, Miss Connie Abnett will be guests at a church dinner at 6:30 p.m.

He formerly acted as state budget director for Michigan, holding the post under the Sigler administration. In his present post of assistant provost, he acts as assistant to the president.

Debaters to Meet Lansing Eastern Team in Quarter Finals Thursday

Plymouth debaters will make their bid for state honors next Thursday, February 24, when they meet the team from Lansing Eastern High school in the quarter final contest.

The debate will take place in the Central Grade school auditorium at 7:30, states Coach James Latture, and the public is invited.

Plymouth's team drew the affirmative side of the question, "Resolved, that the United Nations be Revised into a Federal World Government." Mr. Latture has not as yet decided which two debaters he will pit against the Lansing team, but states he will choose from Ronald Hees, Roger Kidston and Ronald Witt.

The names of the three judges have also been revealed, and are: Dr. Bowman of the Wayne university speech department; Professor Haden Carruth of the University of Michigan speech department, and Dr. Wilbur Moore of Central State at Mt. Pleasant.

Other teams who will meet for the state quarter finals are: Albion and Elsie High schools, Grand Rapids Union and Muskegon Heights High schools; and Jackson and Walled Lake schools.

Wins already chalked up by the Plymouth team consist of the championship of the Class B Suburban league, the Detroit Metropolitan Debating league, and their phase of the state elimination contest.

It was in the state quarter finals that Plymouth lost out last year.

The committee further decided on the sponsoring of a poster contest, for which prizes will also be awarded.

Further developments in the Lions plans and details of the contest will be announced at a later date.

Democracy Week Includes Contests

Two essay contests are being sponsored in Plymouth High school, in conjunction with the week-long "Democracy Works Here" program which opened here Wednesday.

Heavy Valentine Mail Hampered by 1 1/2 Cent Stamps

Post office employees were hampered in moving the biggest volume of Valentine's Day mail in Plymouth's history because many who sent greetings forgot, or were unaware, that two cent stamps are now needed for all third class mailing matter.

The mailing of notices to the affected addresses meant that many did not get their greetings until Valentine's Day was well past, announces Mrs. Beatrice Schultz, assistant postmaster.

Saturday around the post office was more reminiscent of a day prior to Christmas, rather than Valentine's Day, she further commented. The volume of packages, letters and cards that came through the office was described the largest to ever be experienced at this time of the year. Mrs. Schultz compared it as between one-third, and one-fourth as heavy as the Christmas holiday load.

Reverting to the subject of improper stamping, she reminded that the post office department recently ruled out the one and a half cent stamp for third class mail, which includes no writing on the contents and unsealed envelopes. There are, however, exceptions to even the two cent stamp rule. This is explained through a communique from the post office, which reads:

"Pieces or packages of third-class matter, when of such size or form as to prevent ready packing and tying in bundles and requiring individual distributing throughout, shall be subject to a minimum charge of three cents each. Among the articles to

Wayne Instructor Tells of Pitfall in Advertising Field

Advertising through media distributed on a free circulation basis is both a waste of money and effort.

This is a summation of one of the points covered by Gordon W. Kingsbury when he spoke to Plymouth Rotarians on Friday, February 11.

He backed up this contention with the statement that "There is no consumer acceptance of free circulation material." "This," he emphasized, "should be given utmost consideration by every concern spending money for advertising."

Mr. Kingsbury is affiliated with the Wayne university school of business administration, and instructs several advertising courses. Prior to his appearance before Rotary members, Mr. Kingsbury had addressed students at the high school.

Advertising campaigns should be planned in advance, should follow a definite policy, and should be of a continuing nature to produce eventual results, he advised the businessmen.

The value of advertising from a business standpoint was stressed by the speaker, and he pointed out to his audience how advertising has built up mass sales. This, he pointed out, created mass production, a factor which has brought about lower costs on most present day merchandise.

Mr. Kingsbury warned of the flocks of fly-by-night operators that have invaded the advertising field with countless schemes aimed at getting money away from all businesses. His advice on this count was that anyone contemplating advertising expendi-

The list of persons who will serve on the various committees will be announced next week.

Mr. Henry asks all persons who volunteer their services as solicitors for funds to contact Mrs. John Palmer, or any of the other committee members.

Although Plymouth's drive will get off to a start March 1, the national solicitation for funds will be carried on during the entire month.

Local Telegraph Lines Cut Into Modern System

Plymouth began Wednesday to receive the benefits of the new era of ultra-modern communications. At 8 a.m. lines from the local telegraph office were cut into Western Union's new high speed automatic switching center at Detroit, it was announced by D. C. Geack, local telegraph manager.

The $2,000,000 streamlined center at Detroit features an "electrical brain" which eliminates manual retransmission of telegrams and flashes messages between this city and all others with greater speed and efficiency. This new automatic method places at the fingertips of the local operator circuits connecting with all parts of the country.

Until Wednesday telegrams from Plymouth were transmitted to Detroit where they were received in the form of words printed on tape, and the tape gummed to message blanks. Routing clerks at Detroit sorted the telegrams and girls on roller skates carried them to the proper trunk line operators, who retyped the messages to send them to their destinations. Or, in many cases, they were sent to another center where the whole process had to be repeated.

Now these time-consuming steps have been eliminated. Each telegram will be typed only at the point of origin, and then will

A description of the interior facilities of the new establishment includes the telescopic food carts which will line the front of the store, and fluorescent lighting. Dairy foods will be displayed in 26 feet of refrigerated double deck cases, and will be in full view and within easy reach of the customer. Frozen food will be displayed in open low temperature cases, and long displays of fresh fruit and vegetables will be kept fresh on racks with a modern mirror background.

The meat department will extend along the rear of the store, and Mr. Rucker announces that this, as well as the meat cutting

DETROIT AND ITS D.S.R.

The alert Detroit News says that one of the reasons for the high cost of operating one of the poorest public service transportation systems in the world is due to various "rackets" conducted in connection with the D.S.R. Surely that cannot be. Have always had the idea that Detroit's various rackets were in connection with certain "numbers" that Detroit police seem to know so much about.

St. Michael's Church is Scene of Gardner - Green Wedding

Before an altar decorated with white gladioli, Evelyn Gardner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Gardner of Joy road, exchanged nuptial vows with Thomas Green in St. Michael's church of Rosedale Gardens at 12:30 p.m. on February 12.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Green of Phoenix, Arizona.

Preceding the ceremony Joseph Cicerelli sang "Ave Maria" and "On This Day, Oh Beautiful Mother". He was accompanied by the church organist, Mr. Baker.

The double ring ceremony was read by the Rev. Zinger.

The bride who was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Jack Brooks, chose a gown of white bridal satin styled with a sweetheart neckline, and long fitted sleeves ending in points over the wrists. A plume edged in lace extended from the waist in the back to the end of the train. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a tiara of seed pearls. The bride carried a bouquet of white roses centered with a white orchid.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Jack Brooks, who wore a powder blue gown fashioned with a fitted bodice of velvet and a full skirt of taffeta. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses tied in yellow ribbon.

Leona Niedospal acted as maid of honor. She wore a wine gown styled identical to the matron of honor's. Her flowers were pale pink roses tied in wine ribbon. Bridesmaids were Ethel Gardner, sister-in-law of the bride, and Sally Day. Their dresses were chartreuse, and they carried colonial bouquets of pink roses.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, James Green, of Phoenix, Arizona as best man. Seating the guests were Clyde Gardner and Leonard Gardner, brothers of the bride, and Nick Cicerelli.

Other attendants were Sally Brooks, niece of the bride, who served as flower girl. Her gown was yellow taffeta, and she carried a nosegay of pink carnations and larkspur. Ring bearers for the double ring ceremony were Richard Gardner and James Brooks, nephews of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Gardner wore a black printed silk dress with black accessories and an orchid corsage.

Rosedale Gardens club house was the scene of a reception attended by approximately 300 guests. A yellow and white motif was used in the decorations with the bride's table centered by a five tiered wedding cake topped with love birds and the traditional bride and bridegroom. Lighted candles and bowls of daffodils were placed on either side of the cake.

Following the reception Mr. and Mrs. Green left for a trip to Arizona and Mexico, where they plan to visit with Mr. Green's parents. For traveling Mrs. Green wore an aqua gabardine suit with grey accessories and an orchid corsage.

After returning from their honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Green will make their home temporarily with Mrs. Green's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gardner, of 31380 Joy road.

Menu Tips

By HELEN HALE

IF YOUR roast does not appear to have enough fat on it to roast properly, lay strips of fat across the top of it. Eating quality will be improved by adding the fat.

Have you ever tried sauteed liver with mushrooms? The liver used may be cut in strips or pieces, dipped in seasoned flour and served with heated, broiled in butter mushrooms, chopped, crowns or sliced crowns.

After peeling, slicing and soaking eggplant in cold, salted water, layer it in a casserole with peeled, sliced tomatoes. Top with Swiss or Parmesan cheese and buttered bread crumbs and bake slowly for an hour. It's a vegetable treat!

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Special Baked Potatoes (Serves 6)

- 6 potatoes
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup hot milk
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1/2 cup minced corned beef
- 1/2 cup grated American cheese
- Paprika

Select large, uniform potatoes. Scrub and bake in a hot (400°) oven for an hour to an hour and one-half or until tender. Cut in halves lengthwise, scoop out insides and mash; whip until creamy after adding salt, milk and butter. Fold in corned beef. Refill shells; sprinkle with cheese and paprika. Bake in a moderate oven (350°) for 10 minutes.

When roasting veal, plan to have the gravy made with sour cream for extra flavor. Add sour cream to gravy after it's prepared, just before serving time.

Bits of chopped maraschino cherry and juice added to sugar or icebox cookies make a delightful variation.

Small red beets which have been cooked and then scooped out leaving a shell, may be filled with horseradish. These make an excellent garnish around any beef roast.

Slices of carrots, green peas and slivered green beans may be added to soup stock or any creamed soup for a colorful as well as tasty vegetable soup. It's a wonderful way to use leftover vegetables.

A well spiced sausage spread with cream cheese makes a delightful sandwich on thinly sliced and buttered rye bread.

Plymouth Lodge Members Observe Knights of Pythias Anniversary

The 85th anniversary of the Knights of Pythias is being observed this week in Michigan where the organization was founded, and proper observance of the occasion is being made by the Plymouth Lodge, announces Harold Yakley, head of the local group.

Present planning calls for the sponsoring of a roll call dinner in honor of the occasion in the near future.

Active in the affairs of the state organization, the Grand Domain of Michigan, is Frank Henderson, Grand Inner Guard. He reports that Justus H. Rathbone, a graduate of Madison university, New York, moved to Eagle Harbor, Keweenaw county, Michigan in 1858 to improve his health and to teach school. To while away the long winter evenings, he and his friends formed a dramatic society. One of the plays which they produced was the lesson of friendship, the story of Damon and Pythias, written by the Irish playwright John Banim.

Impressed with the play, Mr. Rathbone conceived the ritual of the Knights of Pythias order, based on the lives of those two famed Disciples of Pythagoras.

Called into government service at the start of the war between states, Mr. Rathbone established the first lodge of the order among his government associates in Washington, D.C. on February 19, 1864. Learning of the new fraternity, President Abraham Lincoln praised it highly. At his suggestion an application was made to Congress for a charter and thus the fraternity became the first American order ever chartered by an Act of Congress of the United States.

The order now embraces more than 3,000 subordinate lodges in the United States, Canada and Hawaii. The distinguishing principles being friendship, charity and benevolence. The organization consists of the Supreme (international) Lodge, which has jurisdiction over 55 Grand (state or province) Lodges, who in turn govern the subordinate (local) lodges within their territorial limits.

There are three recognized auxiliaries; The Pythian Sisters and their juniors the Sunshine Girls; the Dramatic Order Knights of Khorassan and their ladies order the Nomads of Avudaka; and the junior order for boys, The Princes of Syracuse.

The little white schoolhouse in Eagle Harbor, Michigan, owned by the Supreme Lodge, is preserved as a shrine and tourist attraction.

The practical expression of the principles of friendship, charity and benevolence takes the form of homes for the aged, educational scholarships, contributions to national and sectional emergency funds, hospitalization of the sick and burial of the dead.

Pythians in Michigan have a fund for the entertainment of disabled veterans at Battle Creek and Dearborn veterans hospitals. In the latter they have equipped and maintain a recreational room. The Collegiate Oratorical contest is sponsored among the colleges in the state by Michigan State college and the Knights of Pythias. The order also sponsors high school speaking contests with college scholarships for the winners.

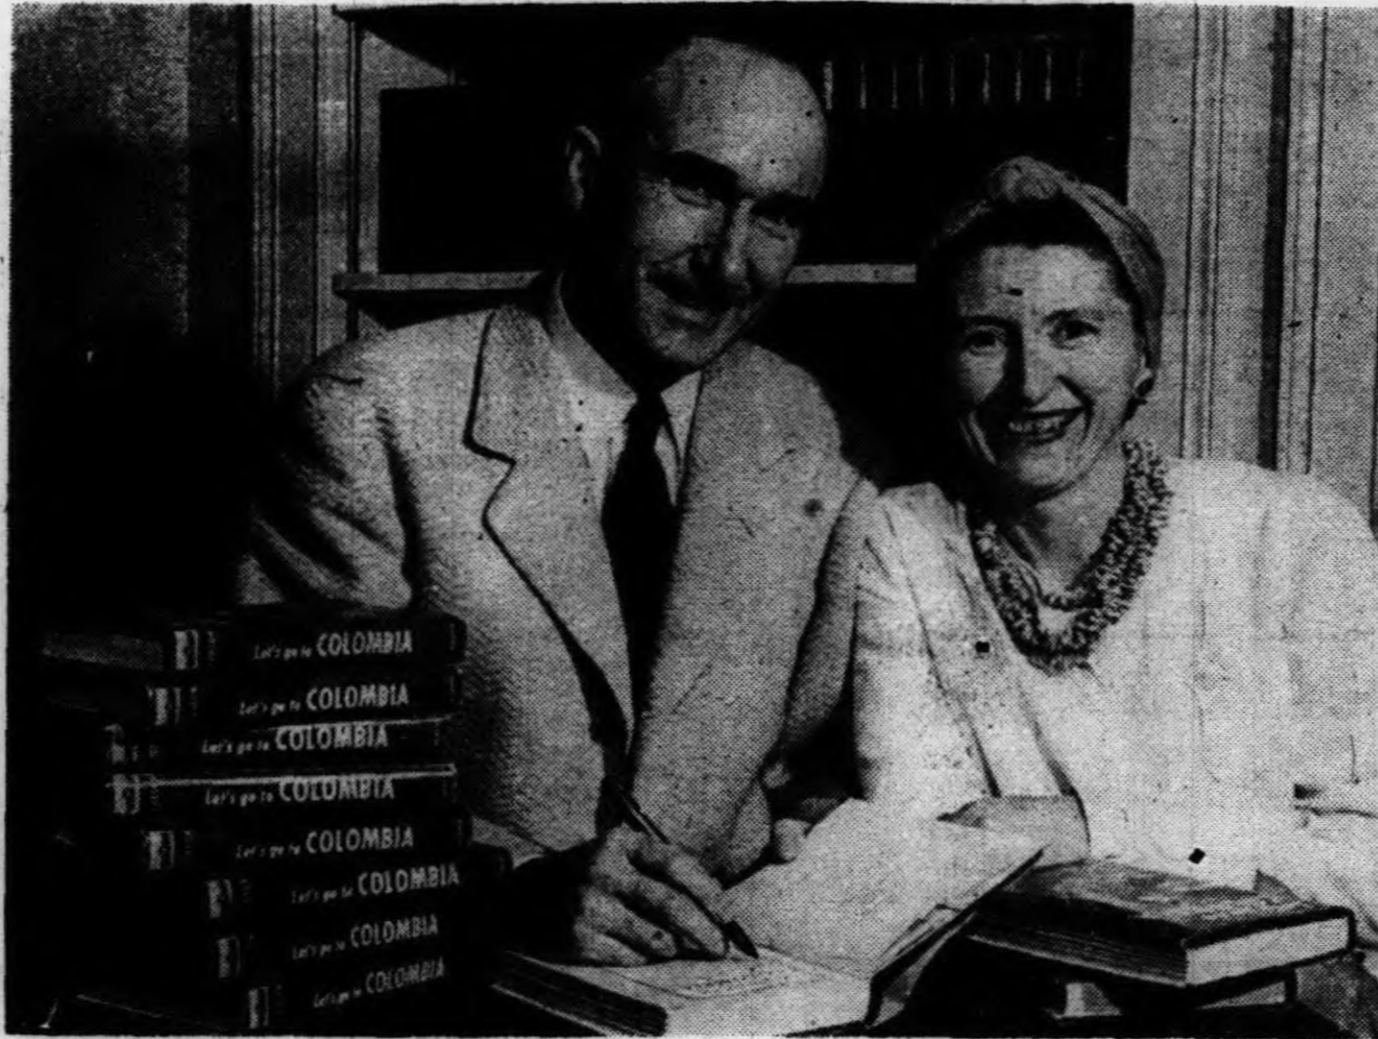

In response to a request by Grand Chancellor William Swickert of Otsego, lodges throughout the state will observe the 85th Anniversary during February with social events, initiations and other events.

Further observance will be held in Port Huron on May 13th and 14th, when five thousand or more representatives of the various branches of the order convene in the Second Annual Inter-Domain Rally sponsored by the Grand Domains of Ohio, Ontario, Kentucky and Michigan.

In Houston, an apologetic culprit brought into the police station on a minor offense explained with winning sincerity that he hadn't been in the U. S. very long; his home was in Louisiana.

Judson is Author of New Book

Lyman Judson, formerly of Plymouth, autographs copies of the book, "Let's Go to Colombia" which he and Mrs. Judson (right) recently authored.

Former Plymouthite Lyman Judson, winner of national recognition and fame as an author and lecturer, personally announces the release of his latest book, "Let's Go to Colombia."

The announcement was made in a letter to The Plymouth Mail, in which he also voiced praise for the "continuing excellent newspaper."

At the same time Mr. Judson told of writing James Latture a congratulatory letter for the wins his debate team took in the recent league tournaments. The article telling of their achievements, he wrote reminiscently, brought to mind the days when he debated for Plymouth High school.

His mother, Mrs. H. S. Doerr, now residing in California, had forwarded an edition of the paper to her son who lives in Washington, D. C.

Relatives of Mr. Judson still living in Plymouth are Samuel Spicer and Miss Mabel Spicer. According to the latter, Mr. Judson was graduated from Plymouth High school in 1921. Following extensive education, including not only winning his B.A., but Ph.D degree, he held several instructing posts in colleges and universities across the nation, his aunt reports. Most of his work was in speech and debating, Miss Spicer added.

Co-author of Mr. Judson's book is his wife, Ellen. Together they have traveled the Latin American countries since 1939, to film and study life in these nations. The films are entitled the "Judson Color Jaunts," and are used on the lecture platforms throughout the nation by the couple. Last fall they came close to home when accepting a request for a lecture in Jackson.

According to reports, their new book is the first volume of the Judson Guides to Latin America. Thousands of feet of color films were taken in Colombia by the couple, to match their authoritative travel book on that country. The film is entitled "Neighbor Colombia," and comprises a portion of the Judson Color Jaunts series.

Lectures and public discussions which the two lead on Latin American affairs on the nation's college and university campuses, are sponsored by the Association of American Colleges.

Inducted into Naval service as a lieutenant, Mr. Judson rose to the station of lieutenant commander before his discharge. During the war he served on the joint board of review for navy training films. From 1944 to 1948, cited as an expert in the field of visual education and documentary film productions, he was named to act as chief of the motion picture section of the Pan American Union. At that time Mrs. Judson was a member of the faculty of the Orientation Center for Foreign Students in Washington, D. C.

In a review of the book appearing on the jacket of the edition it states: "Lyman and Ellen Judson know Colombia better than many Colombians do. They have gone into its every nook and corner, interviewed every state governor, the mayor of each major city and literally hundreds of

Governor Enters Plymouth News

Governor G. Mennen Williams entered Plymouth news on two counts this week.

Tomorrow evening, Saturday, the Governor will be received as an honorary member into the Livonia Kiwanis club at a dinner dance in nearby Newburg hall.

The second count bringing the Governor into local news is the plane crash which occurred at the Lansing airport Sunday night, involving the state's first couple. On the plane at the same time was former Plymouthite Staff Sgt. Harold E. Davis, photographer. The latter was graduated from Plymouth High school in 1940.

Cass S. Hough of Plymouth, chairman of the Michigan Civil Aeronautics commission, ordered an investigation of the crash following its occurrence Sunday night.

Children Keep Nursery School Busy

Mrs. Evered Jolliffe undertook the running of a nursery school for the second time when she recently opened the doors to pre school and primary school aged children of Plymouth.

The school is located in the building formerly known as the Music Box, and regular attendance numbers 12.

At the present time the school is open during the hours the public schools are in session, but Mrs. Jolliffe is now making arrangements to add flexibility to the hours for the benefit of employed mothers. Present contemplated plans further include a baby sitting clinic in the evening at the nursery school if the demand is sufficient.

Mrs. Jolliffe sponsored a former nursery school about 16 or 17 years ago. A change of residence to beyond the limits of the city forced her to abandon the venture.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Emma Galpin Douglas

Mrs. Emma Galpin Douglas passed away Saturday morning, February 5, following several years of failing health. She was 78 years of age. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon from the Casterline Funeral Home with the Rev. Cora Pennell of South Lyon officiating. Burial took place at Oakview cemetery in Royal Oak. Mrs. Douglas was born April 2, 1871 in Salem township to the late Mr. and Mrs. Carl Minehart. Her father passed away when she was a small child, and her mother died several years ago. She was united in marriage with Frank Galpin who passed away in 1935. In 1939 she was married to Malcolm Douglas, who passed away May 4, 1945. Mrs. Douglas was a member of the Congregational church at Salem and she had made her home at Whitmore Lake for a number of years. She had lived with her daughter, Mrs. Ralph Wilson of West Seven Mile road for many years previous to her death. Surviving the deceased are: two daughters, Mrs. Wilson of Northville and Mrs. Anna Keern of Royal Oak; two sons, Willard Galpin of Pleasant Ridge and Frank Galpin of Los Angeles; two sisters, Mrs. Rose Magle and Mrs. Anna Quackenbush of Ypsilanti; 14 grandchildren and ten great grandchildren. Six of the grandsons were pallbearers.

I REMEMBER...

By THE OLD-TIMERS

From Robert H. Sedgwick: "I remember those Sunday afternoons a third of a century ago when the sound of clashing lumber, sawing and hammering resounded across the fields—brothers and their kinfolk and neighbors helping to build a new house for someone. It was a common noise and provided homes for all. That old custom is gone with the wind now."

From R. O. (Dick) Helwig: "I remember when our fathers all wore pocket watches which had to be wound with a small square key. Later, in my time, came the stem-winder. And now we have the watch that winds itself!"

From "Fops" Scheulin: "I remember the hue and cry that was raised when automobiles were first licensed. Indignant auto owners insisted that it was as unjust as putting tags on the backs of people. At any rate, the plates were 7 by 12 inches and the numerals were black on a grey background. There was no year on the plates. Who remembers what year that was?"

From Ernest Kartje: "I remember when we clamped wax candles all over the Christmas tree, then decorated it with strings of popcorn and various ornaments. When the tree was lit you always had to be on guard for fear it would catch on fire. Which, of course, often happened."

Director Plans Girls' Volleyball

The starting date for the Girls' Volleyball tournament was announced by Herb Woolweaver, city recreation director, this week.

Friday evening, February 25, was the date he gave for the opening of the season and he stated that Eleanor Wilkins and Margie Bassett will be in charge. Those interested are asked to meet in the Starkweather gymnasium between 7:30 and 10 p.m.

It is the hope of the recreation department that all Plymouth girls between the ages of 18 and 50 will take advantage of this opportunity for some worthwhile recreation, and to help get themselves in condition for the approaching softball season, Mr. Woolweaver reported.

If enough interest is shown, with sufficient numbers present during the first two or three Friday practices, teams will be formed and regular league competition will get underway.

Men's Volleyball night is proving to be a big success, Mr. Woolweaver added. Thirty-four participated last Tuesday night.

In Jonkoping, Sweden, Ole Jonson, convicted of stealing and embezzlement, was only put on probation when he told the court that he did it to get money so he could move away from his mother-in-law.

Week Produces Poor Fox Hunting

Fox hunting during the past week has been poor, due to the weather conditions, a member of the Fox club has announced.

In spite of this fact the report was received that Matt Evert bagged one last week.

It has been further disclosed that the second round of the euche tournament between the Twelve Point club and the local organization was held Monday evening in the VFW hall. At that time the Plymouth club came through and evened the series.

Owners of New Hudsons are seeing for themselves that the lower a car can be built, the more graceful its lines can be made, the better it will ride, the more surety it will handle, and the safer it will be!

But roominess is only one of the wonderful advantages that go with the automobile that is so far ahead it's a protected investment in motor car value.

Here are more: Authentic beauty—the "step down" principle is so basically right it frees designers of the need for makeshift styling, enables Hudson to achieve pleasing proportions, symmetric, free-flowing lines.

Boy Scouts Embark on Liberty Program

The theme for the program of the Boy Scouts of America for the next two years will be "Strengthen the Arm of Liberty." It is an ambitious task, but no more so than these boys have put across before," states Sidney Strong of Plymouth, field commissioner attached to the Detroit area council.

The start of this program in Michigan was a part of the celebration of the 39th anniversary of the incorporation of the movement in this country.

Approximately 100 Scouts and leaders gathered in Lansing last Saturday to hear Governor Menen Williams speak to them of their big job, and to take this message back to their troops. These boys came from throughout Michigan. Those representing the Sunset district of the Detroit Area council included four members of the Joy Gardens Scout group; Jerry Pounds, Cub Scout; Ronald Raven, Boy Scout; and Alvin Whitehead, Senior Scout. Richard Pounds, chairman of their Pack committee, was one of the men with the boys, and the other was LeRoy F. Rafferty, of Plymouth, who is district chairman of the Sunset camping and activities committee.

Governor Williams spoke to the group of Scouts concerning their work, shook hands with each, and presented all with a pin.

The clerk of the House of Representatives explained the workings of the House, presenting an imaginary bill for their discussion, and teaching them how to vote on the bill by means of the electric voting machine in use there. Guides conducted the boys around the Capitol, including the climb up to the dome.

Chairman Rafferty reports that every member of the large group of Scouts was a living example of courteous, Scoutlike conduct throughout the day. He added, however, that this is not surprising. "The examples of 29 years worth of Boy Scouts trained in the Scout oath and law are strong in the land. The cumulative effort of two million members of this great organization working in this two year program can not help but bring renewed strength to the 'Arm of Liberty'."

The awards will be made by the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, and the two firsts will consist of five dollars. The winners' essays will be printed in The Plymouth Mail. Two second prizes of $2.50 and five honorable mentions of one dollar will also be presented.

The "Democracy Works Here" program is being sponsored by the Retail Associations of America, the Saturday Evening Post, and the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce.

Working with Mr. Cassidy in making plans for the Plymouth observance are: John Blyton, Loren Goodale, A. L. Lantz, Robert Lidgard, Patrick McGuire, and Frank Rambo.

Members of the club have been awarded several trophies which are displayed at the Riverside rink, and Mr. Laury adds, "They hope to add many more as the years go on. This of course takes many hours of hard practice and training."

Many of the members are competitive skaters who are now preparing for future contests. This year's state competition may be held in Grand Rapids on May 13 and 14, Mr. Laury tells. Those who qualify will go to Mineola, New York where the national contests are held.

room, will be maintained "as spic and span as a model kitchen."

The owner-manager further described the new store, telling that the streamlined metal shelving is constructed so that none of the merchandise is out-of-reach height. "This feature, plus the spacious aisles, will add to the customer's convenience."

In the front window, to the right of the entrance, a display of a fresh daily stock of baked goods from the Awrey Bakers will be set up. Further innovations include five newly designed check-out counters.

The names of departmental managers have been disclosed by Mr. Rucker as: Wayne Ford in charge of the grocery department; Leslie C. "Leo" Oliver, head of the meat department; and Aubert F. "Whitey" Seguin, produce department.

Mr. Rucker has spent recent months carrying on an extensive survey of food markets on both the east and west coasts. Taking full advantage of his findings, he has embodied the best of the techniques discovered in the Plymouth store. Much thought has been given in the lighting, shelving, and flooring materials, and all in all, the Stop & Shop Super Market offers convincing evidence that high quality, fairness of price, and beauty of display can be carried out to the fullest extent without overlooking the equally vital factors of comfort and convenience.

After undergoing a major operation in St. Joseph's hospital in Ann Arbor last Tuesday, the Rev. Henry J. Walsh is reported to be doing "very nicely."

New Automatic Telegraph Center

speed to its destination without manual retransmission.

The Plymouth operator transmitting a message will first type a "call letter" at the beginning of each telegram. That symbol will automatically route the message to its destination.

In the case of a telegram addressed to Dallas, Texas, for example, the Plymouth operator will type the letter "D", and then proceed with the rest of the telegram. When the letter "D" flashes over the wire to the switching center at Detroit, the "electrical brain" there will automatically select the Dallas wire over which the message will flash to that city in less time than it takes to describe the procedure. The speed at which the electrical impulses travel is 186,000 miles a second.

An incoming telegram for Plymouth will be received at the Detroit switching center on a telegraph device known as a printer-perforator which simultaneously prints the telegram and punches, combinations, of holes on a paper tape. A clerk, seeing the destination on the tape, will press a pushbutton marked Plymouth. This will cause the perforated tape to run through a transmitter which automatically sends the message to this city.

Several hundred telegraph people, including Manager Geeck and Miss Stanley, of the local office, took a special training course at Detroit in operating the new telegraph system. Nothing has been left undone. Mr. Geeck said, to give the people of this city faster and even better telegraph service.

In addition to the "cut-over" of Plymouth's telegraph office to the Detroit center Wednesday, circuits from all other cities in Michigan and Indiana were connected to the new center.

The capacity of the new Detroit center is three times greater than was provided by former facilities, Mr. Geeck explained. The installation is the 11th to be completed and one of the largest in the nationwide telegraph network of 15 high-speed switching centers in Western Union's $70,000,000 mechanization program.

It required a year's work by a large force of telegraph engineers and installers to complete the new center in Detroit. The equipment, set up in aisle form, includes more than 3,000 miles of wire conductors and over a million wire connections.

Successful Parenthood

BY MRS. CATHERINE CONRAD EDWARDS Associate Editor, Parents' Magazine

PARENTS are often bewildered by their children's choice of friends. What can serious Susan possibly see in that flattery Florence who is her current constant companion? What does boisterous Bob find to talk about with shy Sam? They find, or hope to find, in their oddly-assorted friends what youth is always seeking—something to round out their own personalities, to fill in the emptiness of which they are so painfully aware.

When we are young we are still hoping that life's grab bag will make up for what the fairies failed to bring to our christening party! So if Susan is the brightest in her class, she is apt to seek a frivolous camouflage by attaching herself to a pert little miss whose tongue rattles off the latest "slangage" that Susan can't imitate to save her life.

In fact, studying your children's choice of friends should be a "must" for all parents. Unfortunately, there is no textbook to guide you, for personality needs are so many and ways of satisfying them so varied that two children in the same family may go entirely different ways in making up for identical lacks. For instance, another girl with the same longing for gaiety as serious Susan, may pretend to disapprove of froth and either do without friends or choose someone much older and even more sedate than herself.

You can, however, decide into which of two classifications your child's tendencies fall in regard to his choice of friends. There are the retreaters and the go-forwards.

You don't have to worry about the latter, but the retreaters need help. However, they, too, take many guises so that they aren't always easy to recognize. We've just described the most obvious, those who deny what they want. Then there are those who seek only admiration in their friendships. A certain amount of this is necessary to all of us, for it is natural to crave an audience. But if a young person always insists on being the admired one in a friendship, never the one who looks up to the other, his horizons will stay just about where they are, limited to what he can see with his own eyes.

Another form of retreat in building friendships is always to build yourself be chosen as a friend, never to do the choosing. This is admittedly preferable to being too aggressive, but it is often just laziness which allows a person to drift into spending all his friendship on persons he doesn't care much about while he passes up those from whom he could learn and enrich his life.

We've merely touched on the vastly important matter of your child's friends. But we hope we have shown that it isn't one to be dismissed with a nagging, "What do you see in so-and-so?" Try to figure out what your boy or girl does gain from his companions. If it is something he should be getting at home—such as bolstering of his self esteem—try to supply it. But don't expect to take over the whole job—for it is a necessary part of growth for each of us to discover in friends and the outside world the same assurances and satisfactions that as a child we found in the family.

Unusual Hobby Occupies Plymouth Girl

Caring for guinea pigs is a hobby of Miss Shirley Jacobson of Plymouth.

The story of her unusual pastime appeared last month in the Ford Motor company's publication, Ford News, under the caption, "Pigs is (Guinea) Pigs' to Nurse Shirley."

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Jacobson of 9229 Newburg road, she is a graduate of Plymouth High school.

The article telling about Miss Jacobson and her uncommon interest follows:

"When Shirley Jacobson reaches home after eight hours spent treating the cuts and bruises of Ford Northville employees and administering first aid to them, she has another job awaiting her—that of caring for the family of guinea pigs which she raises.

"Shirley started her unusual hobby about a year ago when she bought five guinea pigs—one male and four females. At last count, she adds, these original five had over one hundred descendants. Because of their reproductive nature, Shirley is often faced with a housing shortage. The best cage for them, she explains, is one about fifteen inches high, two feet square, and made of one-half inch wire mesh. A secure cage is essential, she added, because the animals are so peaceful and harmless that they cannot protect themselves against a cat or rat.

"Guinea pigs require very little attention, Shirley went on to say—in summer they are content with fresh mowed grass, supplemented with a little grain, and in winter they are fed a prepared rabbit pellet.

"Guinea pigs, Shirley says, usually reach maturity when they are about six months old—at this time they weigh from two to three pounds; the litters usually consist of from two to six guinea pigs. They are a rather timid animal, she added, but can be tamed so that they are quite friendly.

"Because their reactions to many drugs and treatments are so similar to that of humans, Shirley explained, they are valuable to the medical world. They may be used in hospitals, experimental laboratories, and even in the laboratories of cosmetic factories to test skin reactions to cosmetics and creams, she added. Shirley has already sold several animals to a large drug company in Detroit. This particular company, she said, wants them when they weigh from eight to twelve ounces, which means they are about one month old at the time they are sold.

Shirley attended Plymouth High school, and after graduation, joined the Cadet Nurse Corps, and trained at Henry Ford Hospital. She finished training in 1947, and immediately joined the Ford Motor Company. Shirley has one sister, Mitzie, who is a senior at Michigan State college, and her father has been employed at the Rouge for about sixteen years."

was a delegate to the World Council of Churches at Amsterdam, the Netherlands, later journeying to Germany where he visited all the major cities of the American zone. He was also in Berlin when the great anti-communist demonstration took place in which half a million Berliners participated. Innumerable interviews, some with high-ranking officials such as General Clay, but mostly with the rank and file of the people, gave him vivid insights into the tragic post-war tensions of the times. He further visited Spain, Portugal, Switzerland, and spent a month in England.

In June, 1938, Dr. Crane was appointed to the pastorate of Central Methodist church of Detroit. He averages better than one address a day, not only locally, but throughout the country. He is probably best known for his work among the colleges of the country, having lectured in well over 150 different academic institutions from Maine to California.

Delving deeper into the topic, he touched on the subject of the man who plays the important role in any advertising scheme, the man who helps direct and supervise the campaign. The important qualities should be possessed by any advertising man, and they are intelligence, alertness and he should be interesting the speaker told.

As a side note to his discussion of advertising, Mr. Kingsbury touched on the subject of selling. Here he injected the belief that all students should have sales experience. This will be found to be highly beneficial to the person, no matter what field of business he enters, Mr. Kingsbury advised.

perfect 80 degree weather that they have been having for the last few weeks in their part of the state.

Mr. Jolliffe says the swimming is excellent and that they are in the water almost everyday. He also says that the fishing has been particularly good the last two weeks.

Last Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. John McLaren and Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Moon were visitors at the Jolliffe and earlier in the week they had Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Lewis as visitors.

On Sunday the Jolliffes visited at the home of former Plymouth postmaster, Harry Irwin and his wife at Pinellas Park, Florida. They write that Mr. Irwin is feeling somewhat better and that Mrs. Irwin is recovering from a recent cataract operation. In closing their note they ask that the Mail say hello to all of their Plymouth friends for them and invite any southern travelers to drop in and say hello.

WHAT I THINK AND HAVE A RIGHT TO SAY

BIG SOUNDING TAXES.

So the new Governor who said he didn't think any new taxes would be necessary to run the state government if he was elected, is now recommending a new state corporation tax, is he.

A few days ago he was talking about a state income tax until he discovered that every one was opposed to such a tax. Now its a corporation tax—the kind of tax every one pays unknowingly. It's a form of taxation that is hidden—you pay for it and don't see the tax figures.

The only difference between the sales tax, which you see when you buy, and a corporation tax, lies in the fact that a corporation tax is figured in the manufacturing price and is lumped in with all other costs of production, which you pay for when you buy, plus the visible sales tax.

As we see it, there is but one way to force a reduction in taxes and that is to require both congress and the legislatures of the various states to list on every article the public buys, the amount of taxes, charged on that item and what each tax is for—maybe that will help to make the public a bit more tax conscious than at present.

Again we say we do not blame the Governor so much as we do the pressure groups that forced this disastrous tax muddle onto the state.

BETTER BE CAREFUL.

Read the other day where some one from Mt. Pleasant had sent a letter to newspapers in which he said engineers had found that a bridge across the Straits of Mackinac is "entirely feasible."

Maybe—but from what we have been advised in the past, engineers have never been able to find a rock flooring under the Straits on which to set the abutments for a bridge. Engineers have drilled down more than a hundred feet way across the Straits in an effort to find rock bases. There is nothing but sand on which to set these bases that would carry tremendous weight.

Tunnels, too, are generally drilled through rocks, but possibly engineers do know ways to build tunnels for long distances through mud and sand. It would be better, it seems, for the state to make inquiry into the advisability of a tunnel under the Straits rather than consider the erection of a bridge with shifting sands for abutment foundations.

Near LaSpezia, Italy, despondent Adele Coppola decided to end it all, hopped up and down in an uncleaned German minefield for 30 minutes without results, finally changed her mind and decided to go home and live.

In Doncaster, England, 9-year old George Cole, discharged from a hospital after treatment for a broken arm, plunged happily into a cricket match, landed back in the hospital a few hours later with a fractured skull.

Vegetable Council at College Slates Raymond Grimm

Ray Grimm, well known local vegetable grower, whose farm is located at 8924 Wayne road, is scheduled to appear on the program of the annual Michigan Vegetable Institute held at the college on February 22 and 23.

The event is sponsored by the Michigan Vegetable Council and Michigan State College to provide an opportunity for all Michigan vegetable growers to sit together once a year to tackle mutual problems.

Jack Rose, vegetable extension specialist at the college, stated that the problems uppermost in the mind of the growers are cutting cost and better marketing. The first day of the Institute will be devoted to production efficiency and the second to marketing problems. The program on February 22 includes three grower panels discussing methods of increasing efficiency and reducing costs. The program on February 23 includes similar panels on vegetable marketing.

Mr. Grimm has been selected as one of the outstanding growers in the state to serve on a panel the first day.

The program also includes several out-of-state speakers. On Tuesday evening, February 22, Dr. Irving Woodin, Michigan State College alumnus and general manager of the California Fruit Exchange will describe methods of marketing perishable produce on the west coast.

On the program during the first day will be Alfred Foote, Cleveland, Ohio vegetable grower and machinery specialist, and Joe Robson, Robson Seed Farms, Hall, New York. The featured speaker the second day will be Gordon Lumpkin, vice president of the Atlantic Commission company, Detroit, who will discuss grower-retailer relationships.

Following is the concluding portion of the article pertaining to heredity and the intensely interesting study of this age-old question being made at the University of Michigan. Readers will be interested in knowing that the services of this University Clinic are available without cost to the citizens of this state.

Further careful pursuit of the facts of heredity is being carried on in a building located immediately behind the Heredity Clinic. Here, in the Laboratory of Vertebrate Biology, are housed 5000 deer mice in tiny wire compartments. They are given meticulous care, for they are all pedigreed mice. They reveal extraordinary traits, ranging from waltzing to convulsions. Some are active and high-strung, others are sluggish and stogy. Some have sleek, glossy coats in a wide range of colors, others are hairless. The surprising and important aspect, however, is that these characteristics are bred into the mice, and recur generation after generation.

Their physical structures, their behavior and their family trees are closely studied. Some of the mice were acquired as long ago as 1917, which means that their descendants, now in the laboratory, are of the fortieth or fiftieth recorded generation. It's a mere step, biologically speaking, Dr. Dice explains, from mice to men. Much of what is suspected in the heredity of abnormalities—diseases, idiosyncrasies—and desirable traits as well—in mammal man can be studied in mammal mice. "And we can control the matings and such factors much better in mice," he says, his eyes sparkling. "Moreover, we can feed and care for thousands of individuals here with a minimum of expense," he adds, pointing to the tiers of cages, "and we can observe many successive generations within a relatively short period—something impossible, of course, with human beings."

Now, what are the practical implications of the studies being made by the Heredity Clinic and by other geneticists who are working independently throughout the world? They perform their greatest social service by making it possible for you and every other responsible person to take sane and sensible attitude toward inheritance, an attitude based on proved genetic principles. And this can eventually lead, in turn, to seeking out and making possible a partial elimination of the genes that cause abnormalities—the so-called "black genes."

As a result of the geneticists' research, we now know, for example, that tuberculosis, drunkenness, syphilis and drug addiction are not inherited.

We also know that many defects and abnormalities are inherited, and, being forewarned, we can be forearmed. We know, for instance, that heredity is an important factor in, among other ailments, diabetes, crosseye, rheumatic heart disease, harelip, cleft palate and blood factor Rh. These defects follow familiar patterns. Should you have them, the geneticist can plot them back through your family, and that of your mate, and advise you of the mathematical probability of their occurrence in your offspring.

When dealing with such more or less elementary traits as the color of eyes and hair, the geneticist can make forecasts with a considerable degree of accuracy. If, for example, you have red hair and your husband also has red hair, you can count on the fact that all of your children will be red-headed. But if one of your red-headed children marries a person with black hair, then, the geneticist will tell you, none of their children will have red hair. If both you and your husband have brown eyes, most of your children will also have brown eyes. But, since brown-eyed people carry in hidden form the gene for blue eyes, it is possible that one, or possibly more, of your offspring will be blue-eyed.

To know the probable color of your children's hair and eyes is interesting, but to have reliable information about the probabilities of their physical well-being is essential. The geneticist is equipped to advise you about the probabilities of parents' passing on to their children many ailments, such as certain forms of deafness, defective hair and nails, numerous types of skin defects and a number of dental malformations.

Parents who are given knowledge of a family-carried defect may sometimes prevent its having disastrous consequences in their children. There was, for example, the case of Donald P., a six-month-old twin, who was brought to the University Hospital because of an eye malady. It was diagnosed as a form of ocular tumor, and the removal of the right eye was advised. The parents refused to have the operation performed. Shortly afterward, they noticed that Charles P., an identical twin, had an eye ailment, but they did nothing about it until five months after it had been observed. But then it was too late to save either boy. Both died within a few months of a disease called bilateral retinoblastoma. This is inherited and always fatal unless the tumor is treated immediately upon observation.

Knowing familiar backgrounds, geneticists can plot the probable course of many traits through successive generations. In doing this, they deal with what they call dominant and recessive genes. An example of a recessive gene is the one that causes albinism. When a person with this trait marries a normal person, all of their children will usually be normal, as will their grandchildren. However, many of these grandchildren will carry the gene for albinism "hidden" in their germ plasma, so that it may crop out in later generations. An example of a dominant gene is the one that causes a disease called Huntington's chorea, which produces mental degeneration, and appears only in middle life, often after the individual affected has already produced children. Because the gene is dominant in heredity, each child of the affected parent has one chance in two of developing the same distressing malady.

If you are planning marriage—if you and your husband consider having children—it is not only common sense, it is an obligation to give some thought to the heredity factors present. If you have cause to suspect the presence of "black genes"—those which carry inherited deformities and diseases—you would do well to consult a qualified geneticist. An honest facing of facts in advance may save you from vain regrets after it is too late to do anything except wring your hands and lament your "luck." The shade of Cassius might say in perfect truth, "The fault, dear Brutus, is not in our stars, but in our genes . . ."

In this enlightened age, you should know the basic principles of heredity. Besides enabling you to weed out superstition and heart-say from facts, they will help you to cease needless worry about transmitting defects and diseases to your children. If you do have an undesirable tendency or trait to pass on, you will be better equipped to act on the basis of your knowledge, once you proceed on facts, not fears.

Furthermore, the full knowledge of remedial condition that could possibly develop in your child—for instance, diabetes or allergies—will help you to lessen the severity or even ward off the disease through dietary control, early treatment, change of climate or other sensible measures.

"No parents will knowingly produce children who will be defective," Dr. Dice affirms. "We can rely on the good sense of people, if they are properly advised. And existing laws are adequate to take care of the socially irresponsible individuals." He is not in favor of any program of enforced mating or compulsory sterilization. It is not the objective of geneticists, he says, to breed either abnormal specimens or supermen.

Dr. Dice looks forward to the day when all of the states undertake a widespread study of heredity. "We should certainly spend as much time and energy on studying the heredity of human beings," he points out, "as we do on that of Plymouth Rocks and Guernsey cattle." He regards the Heredity Clinic as a pilot model for other centers that will be eventually set up.

"The study of heredity," Dr. Dice says, soft-spoken and Chinese-like in his reflective manner, "is one involving observation from birth, through maturity, to old age. It will require a succession of scientific investigators. Its aim is to find more and more rules to raise the physical and mental levels of the whole population. However," he cautions, "let's not be too rapid. The human race gradually improves century to century by evolution. But"—and here is his aim—"perhaps we can accelerate the process."

Hobbies Wanted for March Exhibit

Hobbies of both Plymouthites and persons living in this area will be exhibited by the Business and Professional Women's club on March 28.

The exhibit, a new project of the organization, will be held in St. John's Episcopal church, and will be open to the public.

Club members ask that anyone in this area with a hobby they would like to exhibit, to contact one of the members. "All kinds of hobbies are wanted" a plea made this week stated. What the women want to accomplish by their show is not only to illustrate the many different kinds of hobbies, but they hope to be able to also show what hobbies can grow into and the proportions they can take on.

Anyone desiring additional information can secure it by contacting member Mrs. Ernest Bentley at phone Livonia 2017.

Rocks Have Last Opportunity For Win Tonight Against Bengals

With only two league contests remaining, the Rocks are still on the hunt for a Suburban B victory. Tonight Belleville visits the lair of the Rocks and next Friday, February 25, Ypsilanti hosts Plymouth.

If Coach Klingeberger wants a conference win he had better stop the battling Bengals of Belleville tonight because Ypsi will be too much on their own floor.

In the previous Belleville-Plymouth tilt the Bengals survived the Rocks late rally to win by three points. The only other victory that the Felines have chalked up was against Wayne by one point in overtime.

Ypsilanti held on to the leadership of the Suburban B Friday, stopping Redford Union 41-38. Lowell Perry connected for 17 points for the Braves. In the remaining tilt Chuck Paige tallied 21 points as Trenton swamped Belleville 42-25.

Tonight Ypsi has an important encounter at Wayne. This game may prove troublesome to the Braves, who are used to a large playing space. Trenton meets the hot-and-cold Redford Union five at the latter's gym.

The Plymouth men, who received a 291 pin spot for the series, are now in front by 276 pins.

Handling all the details for the match are Art Jenkins for Livonia and Howard Sharpley for Plymouth.

Following are the scores which were chalked up at the Livonia Recreation alleys last Sunday.

Howard Sharpley	480
Lawrence Lyons	472
Waldecker	466
Cass Hough	201-532
John McLaren	416
Pat McGuire	200-532
Al Hubbs	471

Wayne Continues Rock's Losses

Try as they might the Plymouth Rock cagers still lost their eighth consecutive league game to Wayne 40-34 on Friday at the Plymouth High school's poor excuse for a gym.

Two times, once in the second period and again in the last stanza, the Rocks came within one point of the Zebras. In the final quarter Wayne held a 32-31 lead at the seven minute mark. However, one charity toss and two field goals increased the winner's margin to 37-31 at the three minute mark. Larry Finney then sunk a two pointer and a free throw to make the score read 38-34.

The last two minutes saw the Rocks vainly attempting to stop Wayne's "cat-and-mouse" style of play. Bob (Muskkrat) Houghton was sent off the floor for fouling Lefty Gentry into the scorers table. Several times in the last two minutes Wayne elected to take the ball out of bounds, instead of to try a free throw. After Houghton went out the Zebras tossed in the final two points to keep themselves in a second place tie with Trenton.

As mentioned before Wayne led throughout the game, having a 9-6 margin at the end of the first quarter, 20-13 at the half, and 30-27 at the third quarter.

The Rocks deserved to win this game for Finney, Ebersole, Scheel and Houghton all played a fine game on offense and defense alike. However, it seemed that the "fates" were against the "local lads" Friday.

Cedric Dempsey of Wayne hooped 16 points for the night's best effort. Larry Finney and Keith Ebersole tallied 12 and ten counters, respectively, for the Rocks.

In the preliminary attraction between the reserve squads of each school John Sandmann's wonders won their ninth successive game over the Wayne reserves 33-18. The first half produced nothing but dull uninteresting basketball as the visitors couldn't pierce the Rocks defense. The score at the half was Plymouth 8, Wayne 4.

After this defensive play the Rocks opened their offensive fireworks and sped to an 18-11 lead at the end of the third quarter.

Netting seven points in the last period Phil Jacobus gave the Rocks a commanding lead. Because of this lead Sandmann was able to give his benchwarmers some work.

Phil Jacobus continued his fine play with 12 points on four field goals and four free throws. In second place in the scoring department was Dwight Eckler, who tallied eight. Dwight has improved as the season goes on and has been a valuable member of the reserves.

Farmington Stops Rocks Five 66-37

Tallying 38 points in the second half, Farmington dumped Plymouth Tuesday at the Falcon gym 66-37. The Falcons showed why they are rated the eighth best Class B team in the state as they scored with ease in leading throughout the last three quarters.

Only in the initial quarter was the contest close as the Rocks stayed in contention through the work of Bob (Muskkrat) Houghton. However, in the second stanza the Farmington height combined with some fancy shooting placed the Falcons far in front. In the latter stages of the quarter Coach Bob Hutton of Farmington sent in his reserves and the Rocks took advantage of this to come within nine points of the Falcons at the half. The score at halftime was 28-19.

Throughout the remainder of the contest the high-flying Falcons raced up and down the floor to score with remarkable ease against the Rocks. Farmington racked up 38 points in the last half to the local lads 18 to bring the final score to 66-37.

Pacing the Falcons attack was Freddy McLean with 14 counters. Larry Finney cashed in with ten tallies.

This fast breaking Farmington outfit will enter the District tournaments in two weeks as distinct favorites. The three teams that will provide the Falcons competition in the Farmington districts are: Plymouth, Bentley and St. Mary's of Orchard Lake.

In the preliminary reserve contest at Farmington Tuesday, the local reserves had their ten game winning streak halted by the young Falcons. The Falcons won by the score of 43-36. Playing far superior ball the Falcons proved that they are the best in the Inter-Lakes loop. Besides this fact they topped the Suburban B reserve leaders.

In the losing cause Dwight Eckler, who is rapidly improving, netted 15 points.

Two Boys Pin Quintets Tie For League Lead

As a result of Phillippi's downing Clement's and Olds and Cadillac stopping Pernie's, a first place tie exists in the Boys' Thursday afternoon bowling league.

Both leaders have now won eight and lost four. Davidson's are in second place with seven victories and five losses.

Jerry Walsh rolled the high game of the week, 201. Second high was Fred Pringle, who bowled a 198 game.

High games for the week: Jerry Walsh 201, Fred Pringle 198, 169, Bob Grieves 186, Eddie Klinke 176-173-173, Dick Weinert 175.

Red Sox Swamp Firemen 27-8

Trouncing the Firemen 27-8 the Red Sox took a two game lead in the Class F basketball league Saturday at the Detroit House of Correction.

In second place are the Firemen, who have won four and lost two.

Al Williams rammed in ten points and Bud Lamphear collected nine counters to aid the Sox cause. Kisabeth scored eight for the losers.

In the other F encounter Dave Finney tallied 14 points in the Wildcats 29-13 victory over the Junior Red Wings.

Hoots Downed by League Leaders

As a result of stopping the Hoots 33-19, Wednesday, February 9, the Ramblers clinched the Class D recreation league championship. Only one more game for each of the four squads remains before the playoffs begin in March.

Teams with a 500 average or over will enter the playoffs. At the moment the Hoots and the Ramblers are assured positions. One more squad, the Rockets, has the task of stopping the Ramblers before they can enter the tourney. The Rockets have won two and lost three.

In the game for the league lead the Ramblers stayed in front throughout the entire contest. The Ramblers led 10-6 at the first quarter and 21-13 at the half.

Ron Hees, the league's high scorer, tallied 11 points in the first half, but the astute guarding of John Wiltse stopped him with five in the second half. Hees two field goals were tips in which Wiltse didn't have a chance.

Ed Whipple netted 12 for the winners and the Hoot's Larry Bentley popped eight counters.

Boys' Club Sees Shrine Circus

One of the best boys' clubs in the area is the distinction held by the Great American Boys' Club. This organization headed by leaders Clifford Swarbrick and Charles J. Miller has worked hard to give the boys a worth while pastime.

Recently the boys attended the Shrine circus at the State Fair Grounds Coliseum. Twenty-three members along with 20 guests and five leaders payed 28 cents per ticket. The Plymouth group left the city at 5:45 p.m. on February 11 and returned at 12:30 a.m. on a donated bus.

The leaders of the Great Americans have purchased a monogrammed record book for better listing of money and events. Also the leaders announced that the boys will soon receive emblems. Interested friends and the dads of the boys are making arrangements for the finance of the club. It is a club principle that the youths don't have to pay dues.

At the present time the club is having trouble finding a suitable meeting place.

When weather conditions permit safe skating the boys play organized hockey. In the near future the fellows will swim in either Detroit or Ann Arbor.

Charles J. Miller, one of the club's leaders, urges the boys to re-register.

Social items can be phoned to 1755.

Northville Five Muff Opportunity to Enter Playoffs Losing to DeHoCo

Joe's Jottings

One of the most hazardous jobs in sports is that held by the referee. The referee is the person who is criticized far more often than the coach or the player. The poor ref can't even afford to be human, to make a few mistakes, or he will be put in scorn by an irate fan, coach or player. But if it weren't for this solemn soul, who calls them as he sees them, no sport could be played in a somewhat peaceful attitude.

Take the case of the officials at the Plymouth-Wayne tilt last Friday. They let Jim Blakely of Wayne almost start a fight with Jack Elliott, but Mr. Blakely remained in the contest. A few minutes later Bob Houghton was trying desperately to get the ball, for only seconds remained in the game. Bob fouled Lefty Gentry and the Zebra fell into the scorer's table. Then the officials ordered Bob off the floor in what was one of the most booted decisions of the year at a Plymouth game.

Spring can't be far away. Monday afternoon the candidates for the PHS track squad met with Coach Conrad Moiso. Forty-five boys came out and more will be out later in the season. At the moment the trackmen are working in the halls after school. When basketball is concluded they will practice in the gym. The baseball men will also make use of the overcrowded gym after basketball is terminated. Another team which will attempt to bring honors to Plymouth High this spring is the golf team headed by diminutive Larry Bentley. In addition to these three sports Plymouth might be represented by a tennis squad. If the board of education approves the tennis team, Carvel Bentley will coach.

By REV. ROBERT H. HARPER
Jesus Chooses the Twelve.
Lesson for February 20: Mark 1:16-20; Luke 6:12-16.
Memory Selection: John 15:16.

The Twelve were called to their great task. "Apostle" means one sent. The Apostles were trained for their work in association with the Great Teacher.

The Lord sent them out after he had spent a night in prayer. Let all who have part in sending men into fields of service of the Church seek counsel of God.

The men chosen were of the middle class, plain and unlettered men. But, under the training of the Master and empowered by the Spirit, they were able to "turn the world upside down," to begin a movement of grace that has reached the ends of earth. Men of courage, the most of them suffered martyrdom. Only Judas betrayed his trust.

Of different temperaments and abilities, they were one, with the exception of Judas, in loyalty to their Lord. Like the mighty men of David, out to make him king, the Apostles were out to make Jesus King. They at once answered the call, they left their all to follow him, and they never turned back.

The pattern of their work may serve preachers and teachers of the present — to have fellowship with Christ, preach his gospel, and cast out evil. The organization of their work was left to them. It was theirs to form the church, and they established it so well that the "gates of hell" have not prevailed against it, nor ever will. The Church Invisible, gathered of the true believers of all Christian churches, still needs men and women who are ready to be sent wherever Jesus wills. Are you ready?

Local Churches Plan for World Day of Prayer

Twelve churches are undertaking plans for a World Day of Prayer program in Plymouth on March 4.

Services will be held in the Calvary Baptist church, on Ann Arbor trail. Miss Minnie Meyers, a missionary recently returned from Bolivia, has accepted the post of guest speaker for the program.

"The Lord is Thy Keeper" is the theme for the services. An invitation has been extended to anyone wishing to attend. The day's guest, Miss Meyers, has been in the mission fields of Bolivia for 18 years. She is reported to have "done a great deal to further the work of Christ in that country." One of her outstanding achievements is that she has translated the Bible for the people of Bolivia into their own language. She is now on her third furlough to the United States since entering the mission field.

The participating churches are: Assembly of God; First Baptist church, Calvary Baptist church, First Methodist church, Newburg Methodist church, First Presbyterian church, Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian church, Salvation Army, St. John's Episcopal church. Later Day Saints, Church of the Nazarene and the Church of God.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST SCIENTIST
Sunday Morning Service, 10:30 a. m. Sunday School, 10:30 a. m. for pupils up to 20 years. Wednesday evening testimony, 8 p. m. "Mind" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, February 20. The Golden Text (Psalms 147:5) is: "Great is our Lord, and of great power: his understanding is infinite." Among the Bible citations is this passage, (Amos 4:13): "For, lo, he that formeth the mountains, and createth the wind, and declareth unto man what is his thought, that maketh the morning darkness, and treadeth upon the high places of the earth, The Lord, The God of hosts, is his name."

While he now has no settled parish, Canon Matthews travels about the Diocese constantly, visiting the parishes and missions, and preaches in a different church almost every Sunday. In November, 1948, he was elected as an Honorary Canon of St. Paul's Cathedral, Detroit, as a tribute to his distinguished service to the diocese. This in no way affects his work or position with the Diocesan office.

The Silver Fire
Grace Nell Crowell
BY FAITH I drink the water in my cup;
I breathe the air and trust that it is pure;
The bread I break at evening as I sup
I take believing that the loaf is sure
To be quite clean. At night I go to sleep
And journey through a strange and darkened land,
With confidence that God has power to keep
His never-failing hold upon my hand.
By faith I rise to meet my busy day.
Sure of the sun, I plant and hoe my seed,
Knowing that rain and light will take their way
Across the earth, that my immediate need
For food will be supplied. By faith I go
Trusting in God and in my fellow-men,
And if at times that silver fire burns low,
It never fails to lift and burn again.

Ingrid Bergman Leads Play Cast

Ingrid Bergman co-stars with Brian Aherne in "A Doll's House", Henrik Ibsen's great drama, to be broadcast this Friday evening over station CKLW at 8 p. m.

Written over 70 years ago, "A Doll's House" is concerned with the rights and dignity of each individual, announces the Rev. Alexander Miller, rector of St. John's Episcopal church. Nora (Ingrid Bergman) had no rights in the society of her time or in the eyes of her husband, Torvald (Brian Aherne). Because Torvald failed to give Nora the real respect of his confidence, secrecy and misunderstanding grew between them. Finally Nora rebelled and left Torvald, to return when... "we shall share this doll's house as equals and as a home; that here, our life together shall become a true marriage and communion." The relationship of Nora and Torvald, beautifully interpreted by Ingrid Bergman and Brian Aherne, dramatizes the need—both then and today—for following the true Christian foundation of marriage. Because a couple who truly follow the promises of the Christian marriage ceremony find their way past many of the daily frustrations and misunderstandings to real and abiding happiness.

"A Doll's House" is the 21st in the series of challenging dramas on "Great Scenes from Plays," sponsored weekly by families of the Protestant Episcopal church and the Episcopal Actors' guild.

Large Numbers View Cooper's Film Monday

Flora and fauna on Isle Royale were given great lengths of film by Dennis Glen Cooper as he was making a motion picture story of that locale.

This was discovered by members of the Plymouth branch of the National Farm and Garden association and their guests, when Mr. Cooper presented his lecture and films at the Husband's Night program last Monday evening in the Methodist church.

Approximately 165 attended, including guests from clubs in Northville and Rosedale Gardens.

Proceeding the showing of the film Mr. Cooper lectured to the group on Isle Royale, and during the showing of the motion pictures he continued with an accompanying verbal description of that region.

Refreshments were served following the program.

Mrs. Carl Shear, president of Plymouth's Garden club, announces that the J. L. Hudson company will present a fashion show on March 10 for the benefit of the building fund of the Detroit Garden Center. It will begin at 2:30 p.m., and will take place in the Scottish Rites cathedral of the Masonic Temple.

Further information on the show can be gained by calling Mrs. Shear at 346-J.

Mrs. Travis Supervises Musicians' Social Hour

The social hour following the Monday night rehearsal by members of the Plymouth Symphony orchestra was supervised by Mrs. Neal Travis.

Assisting her were Mrs. Charles Minehart, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Paulger, Julian Corey, Mrs. H. E. Raaflaub, Mrs. L. L. Ball and Mrs. Harry Fischer.

The orchestra is currently preparing for their forthcoming concert which has been postponed from Sunday, February 20, to the following week, February 27.

Menu Tips
By HELEN HALE

Have your winter vegetables or leftover vegetables take on personality plus by combining them with one of those small cans of chef's spaghetti or mushroom sauce.

For a hot delicious snack on cold evenings at home, spread Old English or a sharp cheddar cheese on rounds or triangles of bread. Place a small strip of bacon on top and toast in broiler until bacon has cooked slightly, and cheese is bubbly.

A turn of the can opener puts a new food surprise on the lunch or dinner table.

Treat the family to canned ravioli, bite-sized pastry triangles filled with pure beef. All they need is heating.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Raisin Candy

3 cups granulated sugar
1 1/2 cups scalded milk
1/2 cup butter or substitute
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
2 cups seedless raisins
1/2 cup chopped, roasted blanched almonds

Heat 1 cup sugar over low heat until melted and light brown in color. Add scalded milk and heat to boiling. Add remaining sugar and boil to 236°, or until mixture forms a soft ball when tested in cold water. Stir in orange rind and butter and cook to 238°. Remove from heat, add flavoring and cool slightly. Beat until creamy. Blend in raisins and almonds. Pour into a greased pan and let stand until firm. Cut into squares.

If the family needs a sweet bite to finish off the meal, here's the easy dessert with which you can do it: slice icy-cold oranges into thin rounds, sprinkle them with snowy shredded coconut and powdered sugar between the layers. It's truly named ambrosia!

Another special, easy-to-make treat is called "mock angel cake." Trim crusts from slices of day-old bread. Cut slices in one-inch strips. Cover with sweetened condensed milk, then roll in shredded coconut. Place under the broiler to brown lightly.

In Palermo, Sicily, Giovanni Villa, who has spent four years trying to get himself declared officially alive, complained that the only person convinced thus far is the tax collector.

Socially Speaking

Florida sunshine still beckons many Plymouthites and, though Michigan's weather has been a definite challenge to the sunny southern state, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Blunk left last Wednesday to remain the rest of the season at their home in St. Petersburg, Florida. On Saturday the Edwin Schraders will leave for their annual brief visit to the home of Mr. Schrader's mother, Mrs. Maude Schrader in Lake Worth, Florida.

On the arrival in the city of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Jewell from Mecosta, Michigan, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Tait left hurriedly last Saturday night for a three weeks motor tour of Florida. While the Tait's are away Mr. Jewell will look after the Tait's business on Northville road.

According to L. B. Rice, manager of the Automobile club, there is more travel activity among local residents now than there has been throughout the early part of the winter months. Some 30 routes have been given out by the club to local members who are traveling south, west, and east during the month of February.

One of Plymouth's most happy visitors during the last four weeks has been Wilbur Davidson of San Diego, California. Mr. Davidson is the brother of Mrs. Charles Humphries who resides at 1004 Junction street. During his stay in the city Mr. Davidson found Michigan's weather much more to his liking than that which they have been experiencing in his home town on the coast, especially in view of the fact that homes here had adequate heating facilities and those in San Diego were not prepared for extreme cold weather. Mr. Davidson left Plymouth last weekend on his way back to his home.

On Monday morning Mr. and Mrs. James Loutitt and daughter Mary Lou, who reside on Ann Arbor trail, left on a two week Florida trip visiting relatives and friends in Sarasota, Fort Meyers and Orlando. On their return trip they will be guests of Mrs. Loutitt's brother in Savannah, Georgia.

The same morning another well known Plymouth couple, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Weed of 895 Williams street, also took to the road for a months trip touring the state of Florida. Mr. Weed, only returned last week from a sojourn in California, says he hopes to find Florida weather better than on the coast, but he questions the probability of finding any better fishing because he really had excellent luck in west coast waters.

On the weekend Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Valliquette left for a three week vacation also in Florida. While there they expect to visit many of their friends who are already in the southland.

Even with all the activity caused by local residents leaving town for vacations there still were many parties of local interest, and among those held last Saturday night was a pot luck dinner at the married new home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Russell on West Maple avenue. The Russells' guests were Dr. and Mrs. W. F. Grant, Mr. and Mrs. Robert N. Johns, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dittick, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hope of Birmingham and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Johns of Rosedale Park.

Also on Saturday night some 20 members of the St. John's church choir and their guests were entertained at a party at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Alex Miller at 185 Blunk street.

The home of Mrs. Henry Lorenz on Burroughs avenue on the same evening was the scene of a pretty wedding shower honoring Mrs. Lorenz's sister-in-law, Margaret Lorenz of Detroit, who will be married on February 26 to Wesley Cameron of Detroit. Blue and pink candles and a pink and white cake decorated the dining table at the Lorenz home. Twenty-eight guests were present from Detroit, Farmington, and Plymouth.

On Friday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hulsing entertained at a potluck supper for the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Benson, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gibson, and the Rev. and Mrs. Alex Miller.

Newly Arrived...

On February 8, a six pound 13-ounce daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Fred K. Micol, Jr. in Mt. Carmel hospital. They have named their daughter, Elsie Elizabeth.

Successful Parenthood
BY MRS. CATHERINE CONRAD EDWARDS
Associate Editor, Parents' Magazine

BROTHERHOOD WEEK is coming around again. That's the week, starting with Washington's birthday, when thoughtful Americans take time out to think about their neighbors. It's the time when school children everywhere take up the question of "brotherhood" and what it means.

How can we parents best explain "brotherhood" to our boys and girls? First, let's remember that the whole idea of this week is closely tied up with our American democracy. In this country, the concept of brotherhood is a very strong one. Most of us believe that we are entitled to equal opportunity. Most of us don't want to see unfair discrimination against any of our fellow-citizens. Remember President Truman's Christmas message, in which he quoted these words from the Bible:

"God that hath made the world and all things therein... hath made of one blood all nations and men for to dwell on all the face of the earth."

That expresses our philosophy. And it's a good way to start discussing brotherhood with our children.

Then, we might compare the workings of our democracy to the way a clock ticks. If all the parts don't move together in perfect unison—if the mainspring won't work with the balance wheel, a clock can't keep time.

The same idea holds for a nation. Our democracy works only when citizens get along well together—when neighbors on the street and children at the playground and men and women on the job have a healthy respect for each other—regardless of their color, their religion or their birthplace. It takes Americans of all religions, all ethnic origins to keep our democracy ticking.

Finally, we might wind up with this thought: A good community, like a good watch, needs a check-up now and then to keep it in condition. Brotherhood week is a good time for us to check up on ourselves. We should look deep into our hearts and ask:

"Are we being fair in our judgments of folks whose skins are a different color, or who worship God in a different way? Are we showing prejudice toward others of different backgrounds? Are we discriminating unfairly in keeping some people out of our groups and clubs, or out of our circle of friends?"

If the answer to any of these questions is yes, that's our challenge for Brotherhood week—to see how we can be better to our friends and neighbors in the year ahead. This applies to youngsters in school, as well as to grown-ups. Our boys and girls will be quick to see the point.

Double Ring Rites Saturday Unite Delores Schultz, Patrick Kearney

At a double ring ceremony on Saturday, February 12, Delores Schultz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Schultz of Horton road, was given in marriage by her father to Patrick Kearney in a double ring ceremony in the home of Judge J. Rusling Cutler.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kearney of Arthur street.

The bride's dress of white tulle was styled with a fitted bodice, a Peter pan collar of rose pointe lace, and tiny covered buttons extending from the neck to the waist. The full skirt ended in a circular train. A fingertip veil of illusion fell from a Juliet cap of rose pointe lace and seed pearls. She carried a colonial bouquet of white gardenias, carnations and stephanotis tied in white satin ribbon.

Nancy Schultz, sister of the bride, acted as maid of honor. She chose a dress of fuchsia satin with fitted bodice, bertha collar, and full skirt. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations tied in royal blue ribbon.

Other attendants were the bride's college room mates, Donna Maginn and Peggy Bounstra. They were dressed in identical gowns of royal blue satin. Their flowers were fuchsia carnations tied with matching satin. The maid of honor and bridesmaids wore gauntlets of material matching their dresses, and rhinestone necklaces, which were gifts from the bride.

For his best man the bridegroom chose his cousin Robert Brunner. Ushers were Bill Griswold and Robert Benjamin.

Mrs. Schultz, mother of the bride, wore a dress of black tulle with a gold ribbon stripe, and a white hat and gloves. Mrs. Kearney, mother of the bridegroom, chose a navy dress with navy accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of white gardenias.

Immediately following the ceremony a supper for the bridal party was given at the Chateau Rousseau on Plymouth road.

At 7:30 p.m. the American Legion hall on Newburg road was the scene of a reception at which 200 guests were present from Saginaw, Toledo, Owasco, Birmingham, Roseville, Bay City, St. Clair Shores, Canada, Detroit, Northville, and Plymouth.

The bride's table was centered with a five tiered wedding cake and lighted candles. A fuchsia and royal blue color scheme were used in other decorations.

At the reception the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Schultz, also celebrated their 20th wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Kearney left after the reception for a wedding trip to Chicago. For traveling Mrs. Kearney wore a grey gabardine suit with black accessories and a gardenia corsage.

Mrs. Kearney was graduated from Michigan Lutheran seminary at Saginaw, and attended Michigan State college. Mr. Kearney attended Plymouth High school and is a veteran of two years' service in the Marines.

They will make their home on Harvey street.

Devil's Food Cake, Whipped Cream Frosting Recipes Give Rich Dessert

There is no dessert so fine and rich as a truly good devil's food cake. And topped with Whipped Cream Chocolate Frosting, it is a dish to put before your very best company. Helen McCully tells Plymouth women how to make both the cake and the frosting in McCall's for February: DEVIL'S FOOD CAKE

2 1/2 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup butter or margarine
2 1/2 cups brown sugar, firmly packed
3 eggs
3 1-oz. sq. unsweetened chocolate
1/2 cup sour milk or buttermilk
1 cup boiling water
2 teaspoons vanilla extract

Start your oven at 375 degrees F. or moderate. Grease bottoms and sides of 3 eight-inch cake pans and dust with flour. Sift cake flour, measure it carefully and sift again with soda and salt. Cream or work butter or margarine in bowl (use your own clean hands, it's easier) until soft and airy. Then add sugar a little at a time and continue creaming until fluffy and light. Add unbeaten eggs, one at a time. Beat batter hard after the addition of each egg.

Put chocolate in measuring cup and melt over boiling water. When melted add to batter, using a scraper to get every bit of melted chocolate from the sides of the cup. Mix thoroughly.

Sift about 1/3 of the flour into batter, stir in well. Add about 1/3 of the sour milk or buttermilk and stir slightly. Repeat, ending with flour. Now mix in vanilla extract and boiling water.

Pour batter into greased cake pans and don't be alarmed at the thickness of batter. Bake 25 to 30 minutes. Remove from oven and turn cakes upside down on a cake rack to cool.

When cool, spread frosting between layers and pile high on top of your cake. Cover sides. Sprinkle top generously with shaved bitter chocolate.

WHIPPED CREAM CHOCOLATE FROSTING
1 1/2 cups heavy cream
1/2 cup sugar
2 tablespoons cocoa
1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract

Mix (do not whip) all ingredients in a bowl. Set in your refrigerator to chill for 2 hours at least. Longer is OK. Then beat until mixture is so thick it holds its shape and will stand in peaks. This makes enough frosting for top, sides and between layers of this 3-layer cake, even when you use a generous hand.

Red Cross Nutrition Aids

More eggs in Plymouth markets make it easy for homemakers to insure that each member of her family gets his egg a day recommended by nutrition experts. Eggs, you know, are included among the "protective foods" because they are rich in important minerals and vitamins needed for safeguarding good health.

They are also a source of an unusually efficient protein which the body uses for building tissue and red blood cells. In fact, there are few foods which we use that offer us such a variety of essential materials.

With prices at the present level and still on the downgrade it is possible to use them generously. But even when eggs are scarce and relatively high in cost it is unwise to reduce the number used to less than four or five a week for the children and from three to five for the grown-ups in the family.

When it's necessary to make every penny count homemakers are careful to pick the best value for the money among the eggs in the market. This means buying grade B eggs for all purposes other than cooking in the shell, frying, and poaching. They are as nutritious as grade A eggs, and if they have been kept properly refrigerated are only slightly less delicate in flavor.

Another point observed by careful shoppers is the comparison of prices of the different sizes on the basis of weight. The most abundant size usually offers the best value. At times this is the large size which must weigh at least 24 ounces per dozen, at others, the medium size which must average at least 21 ounces, or even the small pullet eggs which must weigh at least 18 ounces per dozen.

Because eggs are highly perishable foods it is important that they be kept under refrigeration at all times. When you get them home from the store put them in a covered container in the refrigerator until they are to be used. By placing them with the large end up the yolks keep in the center of the egg.

Eggs are easy to cook but unless the two simple rules of using low heat and cooking only until set are followed the delicate flavor and texture are spoiled. When egg dishes are baked, it is a wise precaution to set them in a pan of warm water unless the cooking time is very short. A double boiler or the lowest heat of the surface burner are necessary for top stove cooking.

Here are some recipes for tempting egg dishes suggested by the Nutrition Service of the American Red Cross. The main dish types make satisfying family lunches or dinners when they are served in combination with the bulkier vegetables and crunchy salads. It's a good idea to top off the dinner with one of your richer desserts to give the meal better staying qualities.

KEDJEREE

One-third cup rice, 3 cups boiling water, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, four hard-cooked eggs, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 4 tablespoons butter or fortified margarine, 1 can drained shrimp, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1/4 teaspoon curry powder, 1 teaspoon salt, cream or evaporated milk to moisten (about 1 tablespoonful).

In Norfolk, Virginia, Court Clerk Betty Jean Woolard reported that a woman, told to wait an hour for a pistol permit, had flounced out saying: "No, that would be too late. I guess I'll have to use a knife after all!"

Cook rice in the boiling water to which the 1 1/2 teaspoons salt have been added until tender. Drain. Remove one or two center slices from each egg and save for garnish. Cut remainder of eggs into large pieces. Cook onion in fat until tender, but do not brown. Add cooked rice, shrimp, eggs, parsley, pepper, and salt, and enough evaporated milk or cream to moisten slightly. Heat thoroughly, but carefully to prevent scorching, mixing lightly with two forks. Serve very hot, garnished with egg slices. Serves 4.

BAKED EGGS IN POTATO NESTS

Six medium sized potatoes, salt and pepper to taste, hot milk, 6 eggs, 1/4 cup grated American cheese, 2 tablespoons butter or fortified margarine.

Bake potatoes until tender. Remove thin slice from one side of each potato and scoop out pulp, keeping shell whole. Mash potato with hot milk, salt, and pepper to taste, and beat well. Replace in shells. Form hollow to hold egg in each potato. Place eggs in hollows and sprinkle top with salt, pepper, and grated cheese. Dot with butter. Bake in moderate oven, 325 degrees F., for 15 to 20 minutes or until eggs are set. Makes 6 servings.

BACON STRATA SOUFFLE

Six slices bread, 1/4 pound bacon, diced and cooked, 3 cups scalded milk, 4 eggs, slightly beaten, 3/4 teaspoon salt, pepper.

Cut each slice of bread into 3 or 4 strips and arrange in bottom of well greased baking dish—approximately 2-quart size. Spread cooked bacon and bacon fat over bread. Cover with remaining bread strips. Add salt and small amount of pepper to eggs and beat until mixed well. Stir in hot milk gradually and mix well. Pour over bread and let stand for 1/2 hour. Set dish in pan containing about 1 inch of hot water. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees F., for about 45 minutes or until knife in center comes out clean. Serve at once. Makes 6 servings.

CHOCOLATE SOUFFLE

Two tablespoons butter or fortified margarine, 2 tablespoons flour, 3/4 cup milk, 1 square chocolate, 3 eggs, separated, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1/3 cup sugar.

Break chocolate in pieces and melt in milk over hot water. Melt fat, add flour, and when blended stir in milk. Cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and stir in egg yolks. Add salt to egg whites and beat until foamy. Add vanilla, then beat in sugar a tablespoonful at a time. Continue beating until stiff enough to stand in peaks. Fold yolk mixture, gently, but thoroughly, into whites. Turn into ungreased 1-quart casserole, and set in pan of hot water. Bake in moderate oven, 325 degrees F., for about 1 hour or until knife inserted in center comes out clean. Serve at once with cream or with custard sauce flavored with peppermint. Makes 6 servings.

By HELEN HALE

To keep best, grapes, apples, pears and peaches should be placed in covered containers in the refrigerator.

Turn out melon or citrus fruits cut-side-down on a plate in the refrigerator. Vegetable shortening and lard should be kept in a cool place. All other fats must be refrigerated to keep them from turning rancid. Soft cheese must be kept covered tightly to prevent it from spoiling. Hard cheese should be wrapped in waxed paper or tinfoil to keep. Store it covered so it does not absorb odors from other food.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Sunday Supper Salad (Serves 4)

1 cup chopped, cooked chicken
1/2 cup finely chopped parsley
1/2 cup finely chopped sweet pickles
1/2 cup salad dressing
Salt and pepper
4 slices toast
4 slices cheese
Chili sauce

Combine chicken, celery, pickles and salad dressing. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Spread chicken mixture on toast. Top with slice of cheese large enough to cover toast. Bake in a hot (400° F.) oven or broil until cheese is melted. Garnish with a dot of chili sauce.

Parsnips, rutabagas, potatoes, winter squash and onions should be stored in a vegetable bin, kept in a cool, dry place.

Remove spots before storing crisp and leafy vegetables. These should be placed in a crisper or wet bag in the refrigerator.

Old and new milk should not be mixed unless you use it immediately. Don't leave milk on the sunny doorstep. Bacteria develops easily if it is kept in a warm place and the milk may lose its B vitamins, too.

Cereal foods and baking powder need a cool, dry place for storage. Coffee, tea and spices need air-tight containers.

Granulated sugar should be kept dry so it doesn't become lumpy. Brown sugar needs to be kept moist, preferably in an air-tight container with a slice of orange or apple placed on a piece of waxed paper, to add moisture to it.

Canned goods stored in cool temperatures retain their vitamin content longer, according to Penn State College investigators.

Winter Menus Are Sparked With Variations on Favorite Meat Loaf

In the midst of festive or elaborate menu planning, a good hearty meat loaf can do much for the family's morale and eating satisfaction, too. Most Plymouth cooks realize this but complain they hate to serve the "same old meat loaf" over and over again.

Just a few ingenious ideas can dress up your favorite loaf, says Reba Staggs, home economist. For one change, she suggests you bake the loaf in a mold pan, instead of the conventional loaf shape. Heart-shaped ring molds, muffin molds or other shapes may be used, in either the large or individual size—small molds bake more quickly. Be sure to grease the mold so the loaf turns out easily. If baked in a ring, creamed vegetables may be served in the center.

Simple designs from slices of hard-cooked eggs, pickles and other foods may be laid out in the bottom of the pan before the meat mixture is added and help make an upside-down loaf attractive. Use pimiento or green pepper for a loaf suitable for February holidays or St. Patrick's Day. Or the loaf may be garnished afterwards if a more elaborate design is preferred.

Unusual ingredients added to your favorite loaf can give it entirely new character. For instance, add ground green pepper to ham loaf for a gay contrast in color, texture and flavor. Or add spicy condiments for a deviled loaf—prepared mustard, horseradish, catchup or chili sauce, or any other spicy ingredients you prefer.

Or you might mix the ingredients together, spread in the bottom of the pan before adding the meat mixture, and turn the loaf out with a deviled topping. Another interesting topping is a brown sugar glaze—a bit of brown sugar sprinkled in the bottom of the pan will turn out into a not-too-sweet caramel glaze.

Textile Specialist Tells of Variety in Quality of Silk on Market Now

How much does the label, "pure dye silk", mean when the dress you thought so beautiful spots with every drop of water, many Plymouth women have been heard to ask.

This label means that the fabric is made of all pure silk, but not necessarily that the colors are fast explains Jane Werden, Michigan State college textiles instructor.

Less expensive silks may not be colorfast. Some of the colors run when just a little water is spilled on them or when they are dry cleaned. With the price of pure silk dye silks ranging from $1.89 to $9 per yard it is obvious that there is also a wide range in quality.

In the very high priced printed silks part of the price is the result of exclusive prints designed by well-known designers. The other part is the result of good quality fabric.

Some of the less expensive silks have interesting prints and attract the customer's eye but many of them are very light weight. They lack body and will not hang well when worn.

Another point to remember about the "pure dye silk" label is that it guarantees only that the silk has not been weighted more than ten percent with tin. Manufacturers put salts of tin in the dye bath to add to the weight of the silk. However, there are not many weighted silks on the market at the present time.

Down Under Florida Palm Trees

The Plymouth Mail's "Rambling Reporter" finds news, here, there and everywhere.

Tomatoes—nice, big ripe tomatoes—growing right out doors in January and February!
 All that Mrs. Arthur J. Goodhue of Lake Worth, Florida, formerly of Plymouth, has to do during these blustering winter days in Michigan, when she wants two or three fresh tomatoes for that salad, is simply to ask her husband to pick from the vines that are growing in the back yard of their home, the tomatoes she needs for dinner.
 Up in Michigan they say that corn should be "knee high by the Fourth of July."
 Down in Lake Worth, they say that tomato plants should be almost waist high by February 4. Sure enough the Goodhue tomato plants were waist high—and a bit more too—on February 4 this year.
 Both Mr. and Mrs. Goodhue find much pleasure in working among their many flowers, vines and vegetable garden during the warm winter days that prevail in Lake Worth from November until April.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Goodhue in front of their attractive flower-surrounded home in Lake Worth.

Their vine covered home is surrounded by flowers and tropical trees. They have become such lovers of the mild climate of Florida that they now make Lake Worth their permanent home. It is probable that they will make their usual summer visit to Mrs. Goodhue's son's family, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Shattuck and also to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Garlett. Mrs. Garlett is a daughter of Mrs. Goodhue. The Shattuck family is one of the pioneer families of western Wayne county.

The day that Mr. Goodhue was discovered inspecting his tomato patch, they had as their guests Mr. and Mrs. William Hoyt of Walled Lake, who are spending a portion of the winter in Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt were Florida visitors last winter with Mr. and Mrs. George A. Smith. These two couples spent a month visiting all of the interesting places in the state.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Smith of Northville caught in one of the rare moments without bathing suits on.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Smith of Northville who are spending the winter at Fort Lauderdale, are not expecting to return to their home in Michigan until late in April. Mr. Smith never lets a day go by that he doesn't tell some one that any real estate in Western Wayne county is a better buy than anything that can be found in this part of the nation.

Odd, isn't it, how you find out so many interesting things about your friends and acquaintances when hundreds and hundreds of miles away from home. The old wise Rambling Reporter thought he knew everything that one should know about Neva Lovewell—one of the best school teachers who ever walked into a school room anywhere. While talking about how much better fresh water fish are than salt water fish with an old Wolverine fisherman the other day, the Rambler perked up his ears when the old Codger began talking about all the fishing tackle that Neva Lovewell of Plymouth possessed.

"She's got everything that is needed to catch any kind of a fish that swims in the Great Lakes. She'll tell you what color of a dare-devil you should use on a cloudy day and she will tell you the color to use on a bright, sunshiny day like the days we have down here," he said.

"If the north wind is blowing, she knows just what sort of fishing tackle to use—and even if the wind is in the east when some folks say fish won't bite at all, she'll tell you what bait to use—and sure enough you'll catch fish if you follow her instructions," he added.

Then the old Rambler told this Wolverine that he (the Rambler) had been out to a sportsman's show where some fellow from Indiana was showing the Crackers down here how to make two casts at one time with the same hand. The fellow sure enough did it, without a back-lash or a tangle of either line.

 "That's nothing" said the visiting Wolverine. "I've seen Neva Lovewell take a casting rod, point out a little water-bug floating 75 or a hundred feet from the boat, and knock it gally west with her bait. Why, I bet she could take the eye right out of an apple on William Tell's head if he was around here to let her try it. This fellow from South Bend you're talking about may be good, but Neva has got him beat."
 From what he told the old Rambler, Miss Lovewell has about every type of fishing tackle and every kind of fishing bait ever made, up at her cottage on St. Mary's river in Canada. It was an eye-opener to the Rambling Reporter, as we always had an idea that everybody who came out of South Lyons used only cane poles and angle worms for their fancy fishing.

If you happen to belong to the First Methodist church of Plymouth—or any other Methodist church—you hear much about "foreign missions" and what the Methodist church is doing to bring Christian enlightenment to all parts of the world.

It was a dozen or so years ago when we heard the late famed Bishop Fisher, in an address made in Ann Arbor just after he had returned from India, discuss the problems of this thickly populated country on the other side of the world.

It was difficult to believe at that time the enthusiastic confidence he reflected as to the future of India and its people. He spoke in glowing terms of India and its citizens.
 Not until the other day did we recall the dramatic prediction that he had made at that time—that India would some day rise up and show to the world what a great nation it could be.

Dr. Fisher is not alive to see his prediction come true.
 It was the good fortune of the writer to have heard the Rev. James K. Mathews, another Methodist minister who has just served four years as pastor of the Methodist church in Bombay, India, declare that:

"India is now one of the most stable nations in the world. While the star is setting on the nations of Europe, the star of India is rising. It is the only nation which has not asked for aid under the Marshall plan. India is solving more quickly its own problems than any other nation."

Rev. Mathews was a speaker before the Miami Rotary club a few days ago. He asserted that India is quickly organizing a Republican form of government, that it has abolished the class distinctions and that there are no longer any "untouchables" in the country, and that it is rapidly finding a place of leadership among the nations—a prediction the writer heard the late Bishop Fisher make in Ann Arbor some dozen years or more ago.

Dave and Kenny Gates have been obtained to officiate the contest between the top class team and the faculty squad. This game will be played at 4 p.m. on Thursday, February 24. The final will be a regulation high school game with eight minute quarters.

Following is the list of players for each class.

Pictures Given to Students Friday

School pictures were distributed to the students Friday, February 11, at a special home room meeting.

The students had the privilege of buying as many pictures as they wanted for the following prices:

Four small pictures—20 cents; eight small pictures—35 cents; twelve small pictures—50 cents; twenty small pictures—$1.00; small folder—5 cents each; one 3 1/2 x 5 gift size enlargement with folder—50 cents; three 3 1/2 x 5 gift size enlargement with three folders—$1.25; one 5x7 studio size enlargement with folder—75 cents.

A student saved $1.95 by buying the complete package for $2.

During the week much excitement was caused by the "swapping" of pictures among students.

A Man's A Man

Racial and religious prejudice will be forgotten during the week of February 20-27, in observance of Brotherhood Week.

The emphasis that the brotherhood of man should prevail will also be stressed. Perhaps during this one special week, people will realize the need of practicing these principles everyday.

February is especially appropriate for observing Brotherhood Week because of the celebration of the birthdays of two of the most outstanding leaders in democracy of our country—George Washington and Abraham Lincoln.

Plymouth High Students Participate in Essays

The students of Plymouth High school are participating in two community essay projects.

One essay is sponsored by the American Legion auxiliary, the Passage-Gayde and Beal's Post. The title of this essay is, "What Kind of an American Am I", and was written by the journalism classes of Plymouth High school. The essay required not more than 500 words.

The other essay contest is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce of Plymouth. This essay is due February 23, and must be two or three pages long. This essay, "Democracy Works Here" is being written by the English classes of the tenth through the twelfth grades.

New Graduates Number Thirteen

These students are: Sidney Davison, Joann Hohl, Kenneth Hood, Patrick Kearney, Jennie Konazeski, Norene Lobdell, Orville Meining, Dolores Sark, Elaine Tate, Lois Weathers, Joan Wilkie, Margaret Williams and Hartwick Zentz.

Since there is no graduating exercise between semesters, they will receive their diplomas in June with the rest of the class of '49'.

Seniors' Mackinac Island Trip Tops Class Meeting Discussion

The senior graduation trip was the main subject of the class meeting held February 14.

Dick Wylie, senior class president, opened the meeting with announcements concerning caps and gowns, the Prom, April 29, and the Senior dance, March 4.

Bruce MacGregor, chairman of the senior trip, announced that the Cruise will begin Friday, May 20, from Detroit to Mackinac Island and end at Detroit, Sunday, May 22. The trip is for seniors only and will be chaperoned by D&C personnel and one adult chaperone from Plymouth for every 20 seniors taking the trip.

The price of the cruise is $26.95, including the transportation, five meals aboard ship, a stateroom for two nights, entertainment aboard ship, and all except incidental expenses which the seniors may wish to spend.

All reservations must be made before Friday, February 18, at 4 p.m. and be accompanied by $1.00 deposit with each reservation.

Norma Cassady is Guest Speaker at Y-Teen Meet

Mrs. Norma Cassady was the guest speaker at the Y-Teen meeting of February 10 in the junior high study hall.

Mrs. Cassady was introduced by the club president, Mary Vincent, and spoke on the choice of careers. She emphasized using personality as an asset and not tushing into a career. Mrs. Cassady told of how she changed to retailing after preparing for a profession of teaching music.

Sireaf Describes Russian Travels

On Thursday, February 10, John D. Sireaf, Jr., teacher and lecturer, spoke to the high school students on Russia.

Mr. Sireaf, an ex-G.I., has traveled through Russia, Poland, France, England, Italy, and many other countries and has given many lectures on his travels.

He spoke on many topics including: the Russian people, home, school, religion, the Iron Curtain, concentration camps, racial minority, and Communism.

Mr. Sireaf's thesis is: There must be a definite foreign policy, and that we must warn Russia that she will not be allowed to expand any further by propaganda or force.

He also warned that the U.S.A. must be prepared for war, but that war is not inevitable if we fight for peace by being firm with Russia, and that the average American citizen should take an active interest in local, county, state, national and international politics to help insure the peace.

The Junior High assembly was at 9:30 and the Senior High at 10:30. The admission was ten cents.

Pilgrim Prints Receives Award

For the work done in the recent Tuberculosis publicity contest for high school papers, Ted Thrasher, Pilgrim Prints editor, was notified that the "Prints" received a State Honor Award.

Not only did they receive an award but the "Prints" also was one of nine Michigan papers to be entered in the National contest, the result of which will be made known the end of March.

Dave Jolliffe, Agnes Siterlet and Jack Gage are the staff members who contributed articles for this contest.

Varsity Club Will Give Free Dance

The Varsity club will sponsor a free dance sometime in the near future with Mike Kleinschmidt's orchestra.

People outside of school will be compelled to get their guests permits. The money financing this dance is taken from the noon day dances.

Twenty-three states are considering bills to boost the gasoline tax.

Astrology

Your Weekly Guide by
G. Cardinal LeGros

The beginner in astrology often wonders why people born in the same sign of the zodiac do not look more alike. You probably have friends born near your birthday, possibly even on the same day, who don't resemble you at all.

The truth is that all people born in the same zodiacal sign are in reality very much alike in their deep, inner natures. Everyone born, for instance, with the Sun in Cancer of Pisces is inwardly very sensitive, although he may not show it. But he feels slights and injustices very keenly.

All people born with the Sun in Aries are, beneath the surface of their personalities, intensely ambitious, enterprising, and determined to make their mark in the world, and they usually do. But they may not look, or even act, like ambitious people.

The reason is that the earth is constantly rotating on its axis. It makes one complete revolution every 24 hours. As it turns, the 12 signs of the zodiac, beginning with Aries and ending with Pisces, "rise", one after the other, on the eastern horizon. Since there are 24 hours in the day, and 12 signs, each sign is on the horizon for approximately two hours.

If you were born when the sign Sagittarius was rising, you would be tall, jovial, friendly, and interested in sports and the out-of-doors. But anyone born a little later on the same day (sometimes even a minute or two) when Capricorn was rising, would look like Walter Winchell. He would be quite unlike you, in appearance and personality, probably short, dark, with a Roman nose and drooping corners to his mouth. He would be patient, persistent, serious, a worrier and much concerned over the state of the world.

Both of you, born with the Sun in the same sign, would be very much alike deep down inside, but radically different in the way of behavior and physical make-up.

All of which shows how important it is to know the approximate time of the day or night that you were born when having your horoscope cast.

Only in this way can an accurate analysis be given. Otherwise you merely have a solar chart which provides generalities but no details.

Question: I am married and have been quite happy with my husband for over 15 years. He is the only man I have ever loved. Why is it that of late I find myself thinking of romance with other men? Can astrology help to explain this?

Answer: Indeed it can. One of the most important emotional cycles is 21 years in length and is based upon the transiting square aspects of Uranus to natal Mars. Since there are two parties to a marriage, and since this cycle runs in both lives, every marriage is affected by it on the average of once every ten and a half years. This is what is happening in your own life now. Uranus is squaring natal Mars and disturbing the harmony that you have enjoyed these 15 years. When it happened before you were unmarried and quite young and therefore did not feel it the way you do now.

There is really nothing to fear because you have the sound foundation of a good marriage supporting you. Take comfort in the knowledge that these thoughts are alien to your real nature and can have no power over you. They merely represent the clash of stellar forces temporarily disturbing your emotional balance. Take up some new study or hobby and through it release the extra energy. Direct your overflowing creative vitality into constructive channels and you will pass through this period with no trouble. Your horoscope shows that you are a

Symphony Board Meets Thursday

The Plymouth Symphony Society sponsored concert and semi-formal ball were top on the agenda of business discussed at the board meeting last evening, Thursday.

The group met at the home of Mrs. Charles Brake.

Plans were also made at that time for the society's annual meeting. Further discussion centered on the drafting of the constitution, and the scholarship which will be awarded at the final concert in the spring.

Author of "HOW TO WIN FRIENDS and INFLUENCE PEOPLE"

FIRST THINGS FIRST

Do you think things out in the order of their importance? If you don't, you are only half-way efficient.

Henry L. Doherty, founder of the nation-wide Cities Service company, said that regardless of how much salary he paid, there were two abilities he found it almost impossible to find.

These two priceless abilities are:

First, ability to think.

Second, the ability to do things in the order of their importance.

Charles Luckman, the lad who started from scratch and in 12 years climbed into the president's chair of the Pepsi-Cola company, got a salary of a hundred thousand dollars a year and made a million dollars in addition, declared that he owed much of his success to developing the two abilities that Mr. Doherty said he found it almost impossible to find.

Charles Luckman said: "As far back as I remember, I have gotten up at five o'clock in the morning because I think better then than at any other hour. I can the better plan my day in the early morning and do the things during the hours that follow in the order of their importance."

I once asked Max Schuster, one of the founders of the famous publishing house, Simon and Schuster, how he managed to avoid the usual hectic rush of publishing offices, and get so much enjoyment out of his work. He replied: "I always do the most disagreeable tasks the first thing in the morning. That clears my mind and makes the rest of the day more enjoyable."

The rule of doing first the thing of most importance, and the task most disliked the first thing in the morning, has worked for these highly successful men. It will work for you, too.

Here's a suggestion: Make a list the night before of the things you must do the next day. Be careful what you put at the top. Make that list, then go to bed and forget it. Whatever you do, don't give it another thought. You can do nothing about it in bed and you will tire your mind thinking about it, and impair your rest. The tomorrow will be a new day and you will find yourself enjoying starting it fresh.

When you have read the Bible, as grace is first from God, so you will know it is the word of it is continually from Him, as God, because you will have found much as light is all day long from it the key to your own heart, the sun, as well as at first dawn your own happiness and your or at sun-rising.

MY MOW CURING SYSTEM PAID FOR ITSELF IN THE FIRST YEAR!

DUCT SYSTEMS ARE EASY TO INSTALL-ECONOMICAL TO OPERATE

FOUR OTHER ELECTRIC HAY DRYING ADVANTAGES

1. Easy to set up—any size barn will do; no boilers or coils needed; ducts are easy and inexpensive to build. Mow-curing requires no change from your present system of making hay.
2. Cuts down weather risk—permits cutting at right stage of maturity; eliminates loss from rain, dew and excessive bleaching; saves hay losses in bad weather.
3. Improves hay quality—eliminates leaf shattering, sun burning; assures more leaves, more color; gives increased food value, increased market value.
4. Reduces dangers of spontaneous combustion—controlled temperatures in mow prevent hazards of fire.

CAN BE USED WITH LONG, CHOPPED OR BALED HAY.

ELECTRIC HAY DRYING EARNS AS IT SAVES!

Mow-cured hay has a greater market value—you get top dollar for top quality hay. Hay cured in the mow reduces supplemental feeding, and produces more milk. Farmers in all parts of the country say that electric hay drying pays for itself in the very first year.

Ducts, or slatted drying systems, are inexpensive to build, and have low operating costs. Equipment is simple to install, and increases mow storage. For complete details ask your Edison Farm Service Advisor soon! He can give you practical help in planning a low-cost curing system for your barn.

Babson Says Babson Discusses Churches

When reading the newspapers or magazines the past month containing the Reviews of 1948, I have found no reference to churches. All other subjects—such as railroads, manufacturing, merchandizing, shipping, etc.—have been fully reported, but I find no reference to church news.

Why Is Church News Neglected?
Certainly the churches of each community are not neglected by their local newspapers. These newspapers give more free space to the church news than to any other group. Most newspaper owners are church-goers themselves, and they realize the importance to their communities of the churches. Furthermore, most of the intelligent reading public attend some church and are interested in the news thereof.

Why then do I find all other "industries" reviewed in detail by the large city newspapers without any reference to the church industry? Perhaps it is due to the ignorance or neglect of those who write up reviews of these other industries. If so, these men should be awakened to what is going on in the religious world. Religious work is not only moving, but is moving in the right direction. This was not always true, but it is true today.

Importance of Church Industry
There are about 200,000 church buildings in the United States. These churches have an aggregate membership of about 60,000,000. These church organizations expend upon salaries, benevolences, new buildings, repairs and missions about $1,000,000,000 per year. The value of the church property alone is estimated at $5,000,000,000 and this is constantly increasing. Therefore I claim this represents an industry that is entitled to at least an annual review equal to that given other billion dollar industries.

I am not claiming greater recognition in view of only the property and money involved. The Church has made its greatest progress when it was poorest; the Church will lose its greatest power when trying to imitate "big business". Rather, I have in mind what all legitimate industries owe to the churches. In fact, without the churches, great industries could not exist. The importance of honesty, industry, thrift, and good habits, which all churches preach, is fundamental to banking and all forms of credit which provide the incentive, causing men to work for the general good. The Church is the father of faith, without which we could not exist. To preachers, school teachers, and inventors, we owe almost everything.

What About 1949?
During the recent World War religious interest declined. Our youth could not "make sense"

Capitol: Lovers of real western range tunes are in for a treat when they discover Capitol's "Western Roundup" album featuring such stars as Tex Ritter, Tex Williams, Jimmy Wakely, Foy Willing, Merle Travis and Wesley Tuttle. . . All fellas are in fine fettle and the songs they sing, including "Green Grow the Lilacs," "Hang Your Head in Shame," "Detour" and "California Polka" are typical of their style. . .

Victor: Dennis Day's latest disc is the lovely lullaby, "Tara Ta-Larra Ta-Lar," sung in dreamy fashion. . . "Streets of Laredo," from the picture of the same name is on the reverse. . . The popular "One Has My Name," has been recorded by Victor's Jack Lathrop and he does well by it. . . A bright little ditty, "Don't Hang Around," is on the flip-over. . . Perry Como's latest is one of his best in months. . . From his picture "Words and Music," he offers "Blue Room" and "With a Song in My Heart" . . . both sides excellently presented.
