Guest Soloist Rehearses

Rose Suzanne der Derian (right) rehearses with the Plymouth Symphony orchestra in preparation for Sunday's concert. Directing the musicians is Paul Wagner (center).

Rose Suzanne der Derian will appear as guest soloist with the Plymouth Symphony orchestra during Sunday's 4 p.m. concert in the Plymouth High school auditorium.

Scheduled previously for February 20, the concert was postponed when Miss der Derian was invited to appear for a Metropolitan Opera audition over the National Broadcasting company at that time.

Paul Wagner will direct the orchestra for the concert program, which opens with the Symphony in D Minor by Cesar Franck. This comprises the first portion of the concert, the second beginning with Joe Gajec, oboe soloist, featured in Grieg's "Evening in the Mountains." Following this selection, the string orchestra will present "At the Cradle" by Grieg. Miss der Derian will then carry the solo role in the next selection, "Dove Song" from the "Marriage of Figaro" by Mozart. Concluding the day's concert program will be the Rosamunde overture by Schubert.

Immediately following the concert a tea will be given in the Veteran's Community Center. (Continued on page 8)

City Will Have New Automatically Controlled Water System in May

Only a few obstacles have yet to be hurdled before the city's new water supply will start flowing through Plymouth's pipes from the Beck road well fields.

All work, however, is expected to be completed in May, announces City Manager Harold Cheek, and residents can look forward to the arrival of the new supply at that time.

This week the city manager listed the few things which must be done before the program can be gotten underway. To get the water here, the pumps must be set, automatic controls must be installed, and a valve control house on Goldsmith must be constructed. All mains necessary to get the new water to the city are already installed, he reported.

Upon completion, the city will have an automatically controlled system, Mr. Cheek discloses. A pressure control device located at the foot of the present water tower will send signals over telephone wires to the well field, four and a half miles from the city. When the water comes to a certain level in the water tower, a signal will be sent by telephone to an automatic starting device that will start a pump at the well field.

At the present time the entire process is done by hand.

As the water falls to a lower level in the tower, other signals are sent to the well field that will start additional pumps. In this way the demand for water in the city, evidenced by the level of the water in the tower, will control the number of pumps delivering water into the supply line from the wells.

County Primary Draws 191 Voters

One hundred and ninety one electors in Plymouth turned out to the polls Monday to cast their one vote in the county general primary election for candidates to the office of county auditor.

On the Republican ticket, Plymouth voters gave a majority of their votes to Archibald Leadbetter, as did those throughout the county. Locally he chalked up the day's high of 128 votes. Following far behind was the only person opposing him, Earl E. Castler, with 24 votes.

Mrs. Earl Mastick, program chairman, stated a tableaux of the club's history will be given (Continued on page 8)

Dentist to Speak on Tooth Decay

Members of the Central Grade Parent-Teacher association attending the Tuesday, March 1, meeting will hear a discussion of sodium fluoride treatments as a means of controlling dental decay in children.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. in the Central Grade school auditorium.

Lecturing on the topic will be Dr. C. V. Tossy of Lansing. He is assistant director of the Bureau of Public Health Dentistry, a group interested in stimulating communities to organize programs, using these treatments as protection to children's teeth.

Many schools have already adopted this program, with the approval of their local dentists. Numerous cities are also experimenting with it in their drinking water, with encouraging results. (Continued on page 8)

Officials Sanction New City Water Billing System

Purchase of a water billing machine for the city hall was authorized by city commissioners Monday night at their regular meeting.

Delivery will be made in approximately 15 months, but the company from whom the purchase was made will furnish a loaner until that time.

The mechanism will institute a post card water billing system in the city, and is expected to get underway in about 60 days. The new setup will greatly accelerate the carrying out of water billing details, states City Manager Harold Cheek.

The newly ordered addition will make possible the keeping of machine made records which will be posted at the same time the bill is made. It will eliminate part of the stenciling, envelope stuffing and higher postage costs. Previously three cent stamps have been used on all billing, but in the future only one cent stamps will be required.

The value of the machine will rise, the city manager pointed out, as the city of Plymouth continues to grow.

New Truck Aids Postal Delivery

A new addition to the Plymouth post office, a one and a half ton delivery truck, arrived here last week.

This will increase efficiency in the parcel post delivery department and will make earlier deliveries possible," stated assistant postmaster, Mrs. Beatrice Schultz.

Previously a half ton truck was used; and necessitated three trips each morning for the business mail. With the new truck this will limit it to one trip.

A request for the truck was made several months ago.

Harvey Kreimes has been named as the driver of the new delivery truck.

Planning Progresses for March 5th Ball

Tickets for the Symphony Ball went on sale Monday, Mrs. Roderick Cassidy, chairman of the ticket committee, stated this week.

The dance, which will be presented in the Masonic Temple on March 5, is under the sponsorship of the Plymouth Symphony Society. Ticket sales are being handled at Norma Cassidy's dress shop.

General Chairman Mrs. Edwin Rice reports that Datus Moore and his Melodiers have been secured to provide the music for dancing. She further announced that dress will be optional; either semi-formal or informal.

At intermission time Mrs. Nielson and her Danish dancing group will provide entertainment.

Other committee chairmen working on the plans include: Paul Wagner who heads the orchestra committee; Axel Jansson, chairman of the committee planning the intermission program; Hannah Strassen is chairman of the check room committee, and Mrs. Charles E. Brake is supervising the planning of refreshments. Ticket sales are being handled by Mrs. Cassidy, representative of the Plymouth Business and Professional Women's club.

Oddfellows Make Plans for 100th Anniversary

Tomorrow evening, Saturday, members of Tonquish Lodge No. 32, I.O.O.F. will celebrate the centennial anniversary of their lodge, according to Earl G. Gray, noble grand.

The organization was founded on December 21, but in view of the fact this date occurred during the holiday season, it was thought advisable to postpone the celebration until February 26.

The anniversary observance will be held in the Lodge, located on Main street, and will begin at 6:30 p.m. At that time a banquet will be prepared and served by sisters of the Rebekah Lodge.

Entertainment will follow the banquet, and will include the reading of the history of the Oddfellows in the city of Plymouth.

Car License Sales Are Slow In City; Owners Must Have Plates March 1

Frank Rambo, manager of the motor vehicle license division of the Secretary of State's office, envisions long lines and waits this weekend and Monday by car owners who have not as yet obtained license plates.

Early this week only an approximate 3,800 persons had applied for their plates, a number he estimates to be about half of the total who need them.

To facilitate local car owners, the office will be open both this evening, Friday, and Saturday, until 8 p.m., Mr. Rambo announces. The office opens at 8:30 a.m. each day.

Since all cars must be equipped with their new plates by March 1, Monday is the last day they can be obtained.

Comparing this year's sales to those attained 12 months ago, Mr. Rambo stated that car owners are applying for their plates at a much slower rate this year.

The Secretary of State's office is located on South Main street, across from the Plymouth Mail.

Dr. Crane Tells of Today's Europe

One of the largest evening audiences ever to fill the Plymouth Methodist church heard Dr. Henry Hitt Crane describe vividly and analyze with profound insight the conditions in Europe today, when he lectured here Tuesday, February 22.

Dr. Crane spoke of the varied opinions about Europe with which people return. He said all of them might be right in part and no one could presume to be entirely right, for so much has happened that the average person could not comprehend its meaning. He pointed out that the traveler sees different things, depending on his classification, whether he be an official visitor, a commercial tourist, on special mission or just mingling among (Continued on page 8)

Officials Studying Plan for Changes in Charter to Meet Local Growth

The growth of Plymouth and its environs has brought another civic body face to face with the fact that changes must be made if this city is to keep pace with its mushrooming growth.

Only a few weeks ago the board of education started calling for help in its program for future school facilities. Now, the city commission finds itself in a like position, with the demands of an expanded business section, the parking problem and many other civic improvements before it, and an antiquated city charter that does not provide nor was not planned for these emergencies.

According to City Manager Harold Cheek, the engineers estimated cost for street improvements for important business and residential streets was over $400,000. The City of Plymouth has about 35 miles of streets, ten miles of which are now paved. The above estimated cost covers only about five miles of new paving, still leaving 20 miles of unpaved streets. When the commission considered this amount they felt that if they could convince local residents of the importance of this program, they might be able to secure the passing of a $250,000 bond issue. (Continued on page 8)

Volunteers to Get Red Cross Drive Started Tuesday

Names of volunteers who will assist in the American Red Cross drive for funds in Plymouth were disclosed this week by Chairman Ernest Henry.

At the same time he reported that they will get the local solicitation underway on the opening day of the national drive, Tuesday, March 1.

Assistance is being given in the canvass project by the Junior Chamber of Commerce auxiliary, under the direction of Mrs. John Palmer, Mr. Henry states.

Naming those who head the precinct organizations for the house canvass, Mr. Henry listed Mrs. Phillip Theobald as chairman of Precinct No. 1. Assisting her will be: Mrs. Perry Richwine, Mrs. W. Rensell, Mrs. C. Moore, Mrs. H. R. Penhale, Mrs. L. P. McGuire, Mrs. Dale Arnold, Mrs. Howard Sharpley, Mrs. J. R. Cutler, Mrs. H. Schoof, Mrs. F. Cline, Mrs. Alvin Collins, Mrs. James Lettware, Mrs. David Gates, Mrs. William Clarke, Mrs. Jack Selle, Jr., and Mrs. C. Owens.

Mrs. George Evans and Mrs. L. B. Rice are co-chairmen of Precinct No. 2, and in addition to those they list as assisting in that area, they ask any additional women from that vicinity who wish to volunteer to assist with the canvass, to contact Mrs. Rice at 1471. Persons already volunteering their services are: Mrs. (Continued on page 8)

Banquet Features U of M. Official

Comments on public finance and education sparked the talk given by Dr. John Perkins when he appeared as guest speaker at the University of Michigan club's all-college banquet, Wednesday evening in the First Presbyterian church.

To an audience which numbered over 100, he stressed the importance of each individual working with the state administration to better and advance the cause of education.

At the University of Michigan, Dr. Perkins fills the post of assistant provost. He is also a former state budget director for Michigan.

Due to a mix-up in dates Alfred B. Connable, University of Michigan regent, was unable to attend. Present, however, was Hawley Tapping, general secretary. (Continued on page 8)

New Owner Tells of Store Changes

Donald H. Thomas, who purchased the Thompson Market on Pennington avenue January 15, announces that the job of remodeling the store is about half completed.

Although this work is going on at the present time, the store is open for business at the regular hours.

Not only is he having the market remodeled, but also rearranged as a semi-serve store. Mr. Thomas is enlarging the business, and tells that he carries a line of imported and Italian foods, as well as specializing (Continued on page 8)

Mayor Frank Henderson's Condition is Improved

Mayor Frank Henderson, taken ill suddenly Monday evening, was reported to be much improved yesterday, Thursday.

Tuesday morning he was taken to St. Joseph's hospital in Ann Arbor, but was returned to his home Wednesday evening.

School Board Will Hold Regular Meeting Tuesday

The regular meeting of Plymouth's school board will take place Tuesday, March 1.

The meeting will get underway at 7:30 p.m. in the high school library.

Plymouth's Model New Food Market Attracts Thousands To Opening Tuesday

Local residents and visitors from the surrounding area were pleasantly surprised when Plymouth's new Stop and Shop food market opened its doors last Tuesday. Over 6,000 people visited the store on the event of its opening and all who saw the smart, beautifully decorated store with its new fixtures, counters and self serve features appraised it as probably one of the finest stores of its kind in Michigan.

where five check-out counters serve the patrons of the store. The center picture is of J. G. Rucker, Jr., owner-manager of the market-opening the door of the store to business on Tuesday morning with Miss Czarine Penney who resides at 498 South Main street entering the store as its first customer. On the right is a view of the long meat counters which run across the entire back of the market. Here is featured in addition to regular meats a section devoted entirely to packaged meats and meat products.

Executives of other food stores and representatives of various food suppliers who visited the store on the opening day commented on the fact that they believed the opening of the store in Plymouth had surpassed anything they had ever witnessed in any city or any part of the country.

At a candlelight ceremony in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Stanley of Northville, Virgie Stanley, became the bride of Douglas Bell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bell, on Friday, February 18.

The double ring ceremony was read by the Rev. Schultz of the Farmington Lutheran church. During the ceremony the couple faced a setting of lighted tapers, palms, and white snapdragons before a large mirror, in the living room of the bride's home.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a dusty rose suit with black accessories and an orchid corsage.

Dolores Goulet of Muskegon was the bride's only attendant. She wore a taupe suit with green accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Ronald Bell, as

Jaycee Auxiliary News

Preceding the February 17 meeting of the Jaycee auxiliary, the Navy Mothers served the group a dinner.

At the business meeting precinct captains were named for the Red Cross house-to-house canvassing, and workers were solicited to help in the work.

Because the Symphony Ball has been set for March 5, the Amateur Show scheduled for that date has been postponed to April 2 by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The being of grace must go before the increase of it; for there is no growth without life, and no building without a foundation. —Lavington

Junior Chamber of Commerce auxiliary members heard Miss Neva Lovewell, Plymouth visiting teacher, present a frank report on the work of the visiting teacher and the problems of children, at their meeting February 17.

"Children aren't really bad," Miss Lovewell, believes, "but their problems stem from difficulties at home, poor health, emotional upsets, or being too advanced for their group." Children need a great deal of love and security, which the parents must provide, Miss Lovewell advocated.

The speaker described a grave problem in Plymouth as the acutely overcrowded and inadequate schools. She promised that unless money for new schools is provided at the April election half day sessions will be necessary in the near future.

Miss Lovewell provided figures, showing it would cost the average taxpayer approximately $14.60 more a year for a school improvement project, or the cost of four cigarettes a day, she pointed out.

...but SOME Beauties CAN'T sleep

Pretty soft this Sleeping Beauty business. So say Tillie the Tosser and Wakeful Wilma. If you belong to their clan you'll agree insomnia can be pretty trying. If you're off the Sandman's regular route, don't take the case into your own hands. That isn't smart. Consult a physician. Learn why you can't sleep; what can safely be done about it. And a pertinent P.S.: Bring the Doctor's prescription to this dependable pharmacy. Free, Easy Parking

Four Car Tangle Occurs Tuesday

The four way accident occurred when the car traveling south, driven by Golde Mandel, hit that driven by Duncan B. Fry head-on. The rear of Mrs. Mandel's car was struck by the motorist traveling behind her, Cleon Gardner, when the collision occurred. The fourth party involved was Irving Shoebridge. At the time of the accident his car was parked along the street.

Mrs. Ella Fry was treated in Plymouth hospital for face wounds, and first aid was administered to her four year old son, Fred, who received scalp wounds.

Vandals Enter Newburg School

Lucille Reeves, teacher at the Newburg school, reported to the county sheriff's office that during the weekend of February 11, someone broke into the school and took $2.10 from her desk drawer.

Entrance was gained by climbing up the fire escape tube and removing a temporary board that was nailed on the door.

Fingerprint experts are working on the case, a report reveals.

Officials Describe Schooling Needs

State funds for schools can be withheld if a district's facilities are not kept up to state requirements. Mrs. John Morrow, school board member, announced to those attending the Thursday, February 17, meeting of Starkweather Parent-Teacher association.

Dr. A. C. Williams and Kenneth Hulsing, both school board members, and Superintendent Helmer Nelson appeared on the same program and discussed the needs of the local district.

Discussing the financial state of affairs in Plymouth, he announced that an increase in taxes here for a school building program "would not be too noticeable." At the same time he displayed a chart which showed Plymouth's millage is next to the lowest in a comparison with towns surrounding our district.

Mr. Hulsing discussed the over-crowded school program, and pointed out the great need for new facilities.

A chart showing the increasing number of children in the schools each semester was shown by Superintendent Nelson. "Where shall we seat them is certainly a vital question," he stated. "The situation is grave, and can become serious unless the people begin to realize the poor schooling conditions and do something about it. We shouldn't think in terms of dollars and cents, but in terms of the greatest good for the children."

All panel members emphasized the need to get out and vote. They reminded that beginning tomorrow, Saturday, registrations will be taken until March 19.

The PTA meeting was opened with songs by Mrs. Virginia Fischer's Starkweather school junior chorus.

Curriculum Study Group Expands

Interest and participation in the curriculum-study of Plymouth schools has reached even larger proportions than was anticipated, according to school authorities instrumental in organizing the study. The workshop study is being conducted under the auspices of Wayne university.

Present enrollment figures now total 80 people who are official members on a tuition basis.

In the group, which is composed entirely of Plymouth people who are beginning the study and evaluation of the local elementary and high school programs are 50 members, including 22 teachers and administrators of the elementary schools, 19 teachers of the junior and senior high school staffs, the superintendent of schools, and one member of the board of education. Seven non-teaching parents and representatives of local organizations are also included in this group so far. Organizations which have sent representatives are Central PTA, Starkweather PTA, Chamber of Commerce and the Business and Professional Women's club. Workshop officials expect other lay representatives to join the workshop in the near future.

Through the efforts of the high school student council 12 students have been selected to represent the student body in the workshop. The four students participating last Wednesday evening and next Wednesday are Nancy Morrow, Carolyn Keen, Dynese McKinley and Wilma Latture.

However, since the demands of new business sections which spring up almost overnight, like Forest avenue, are to become more and more prevalent some action must be taken by the city to make it possible to cope with these situations when they are needed.

At their meeting last Monday night they started a study of the city charter and plan to ask for certain charter revisions by the electorate in June. Commission officials pointed out the fact that the charter as it now stands has many carry over provisions that were in the Village Charter previous to 1932.

They are also aware that when the charter was written in 1932 for a home rule city, much thought was given to restrictive measures that would prevent too high special assessments against property in the City of Plymouth. Today these restraining provisions are making it impossible for badly needed improvements such as the paving of Forest street from Wing to Ann Arbor trail.

Visitors at Plymouth's new Stop and Shop market who numbered 6,000 on Tuesday were quickly convinced that some action was necessary on the part of the city to make that area more accessible. Between the difficult parking facilities along both sides of the street and the mud they were forced to tramp through to gain access to either side of the street it was evident that immediate action was needed in that section.

County Primary Draws 191 Voters

When all ballots were tabulated, it was evident that Plymouth had again gone over on the Republican side, casting a total of 152 votes. Thirty nine Democratic votes were tabulated.

In comparing the voting in the precincts, it was disclosed that the 71 who turned out in Precinct No. 3 constituted the city's largest voting group. Following was Precinct No. 4 where 57 turned out. Forty voted in Precinct No. 1 and 33 in Precinct No. 2.

In Milwaukee, Charles Koktavy, arrested for printing football pool tickets, took a look at his warrant, announced proudly: "I printed those too."

Dr. Crane Tells of Today's Europe

(Continued from page 1) the people. Although he thought he was prepared, he found himself totally unready for the devastation and demolition he found in Germany. Dr. Crane said that he was surprised at the comparative ease with which he could accept travel luxuries until he had lived among the people and learned the meaning of 2,000 calories a day and less. "Food just didn't look good to us in the midst of such deprivation," he said.

In speaking of the World Council of Churches, to which he was a delegate, he said that in the vast meeting of all the great denominations, except the Roman Catholic and the Russian Orthodox churches, was born the reality of the unity without uniformity. "This," he said "is necessary before we can have the Pentacost for which the world is looking."

He described the Berlin incident which brought about the necessity for the airlift and, quoting Dr. Dollard of Yale, said this was typical Communist strategy, that while focusing all eyes on a spectacular event there would be carried on elsewhere an event of momentous meaning. At the very time of the Berlin incident Russian action in China was the real event which the world should have been watching.

Some 1700 miles of travel in Spain by private car revealed the loss of personal, religious, and group rights in a totalitarian state. He warned against recognition by the United States of the Franco regime.

The peace of mind and community life, the quality of education and the beauty of the country of Switzerland were in contrast to the turmoil elsewhere and "a welcome change", said Dr. Crane.

He blamed the disorder and tumult of the world on the mistaken idea to a dread disease which having gotten into the blood stream would break out anywhere, and unless the virus were destroyed at its source, would finally destroy the patient.

Banquet Features U. of M. Official

Words of welcome and introductions were next made by Kenneth Hulsing, president of the Plymouth club. The duties of toastmaster were filled by Cass S. Hough.

Special entertainment consisted of selections by a male quartet, composed of Harper Stevens, Walter Brown, Albert Glassford and John P. Morrow. Group singing was also included on the program, and was led by Mr. Glassford.

The club's traditional roll call was handled by Dr. A. E. Van Ornum.

Programs describing the list of events for the evening were made into scrolls, tied with yellow and blue ribbon. Each was affixed with the university seal.

Evered Jolliffe was general chairman of the banquet. Those who planned the programs and decorations included Mrs. Peter R. Miller, Mrs. Charles Brake and Mrs. Walter Nichol. Miss Gertrude Fiegel and Miss Elizabeth MacDonal were in charge of the ticket committee.

CONGRESS SHALL MAKE NO LAWS ABRIDGING THE FREEDOM OF THE PRESS. What I Think and have a Right to Say. ELTON R. EATON

WHAT MAKES THE DIFFERENCE? Robert Mitchum who became suddenly rich and well known because of a movie career, was given a 60 day jail sentence for violating a federal drug law. Down in a southern state a few weeks before this bum Mitchum was given a 60 day slap on the wrist in a western court, a Puerto Rican lad was arrested and convicted of exactly the same offense of which Mitchum was charged. He got a prison sentence of 15 months. What makes the difference, can you tell? At any rate here is one red hot movie fan who will never again pay one cent to see a picture in which Mitchum has any part.

MORE ABOUT PRESIDENT TRUMAN. We do not share with many the fear they possess of the Truman administration. While he said many things in the campaign that might lead to some of the fear that exists, his administration to date gives no evidence of anything that America should be alarmed about.

Every good loyal American agrees with him one hundred percent in his stand on Russia. There is some merit in his efforts to help unfortunate people throughout the world. There is general satisfaction in his decision to try and carry out the many proposals contained in the government streamlining program recommended by former President Herbert Hoover.

Many rightfully doubt the wisdom of his taxation program but his belief that there should be more security for all can be accepted, providing the "all" do something to help themselves.

There is little doubt but that politics was played to the limit in the campaign. But that is all over with and it is not surprising to see a statement coming out of Washington that the administration is going to be too busy for months to come to take up the civil rights question. Coupled with this, too, is a general belief that the administration is not now, at least, in favor of a complete repeal of all of the provisions of the Taft-Hartley act.

No, we do not fear the Truman administration. The President is a Missouri American—and midwesterners have always been slow in accepting foreign ways.

MICHIGAN'S TAX PROBLEM.

Readers of this column know well the opposition of the writer to additional taxation in any form, no more taxes unless there is an "equalized" tax throughout the state which is just to every citizen.

But sometimes the views of others on this subject are interesting—and worthy of publication.

It is for that reason that we are printing a taxation discussion recently issued by the Michigan Press Association. It follows:

Tax chickens may come home to roost in Michigan big cities.

Such is the prospect of the outcome of the sales tax diversion amendment, sponsored by big-town mayors and school teachers, if the legislature approves Governor Williams' new tax program. Here is the picture:

The sales tax amendment raided the state treasury to the tune of 78 cents out of each sales tax dollar.

It created the inevitability of a $61,000,000 treasury deficit for the state's fiscal year ending June 30, 1950.

Governor Kim Sigler's solution was to repeal the sales tax diversion amendment. He offered no immediate substitute for needed revenue, pointing out that the state's tax system badly needed overhauling and that such could be accomplished through a constitutional convention. Last Nov. 2 the voters re-affirmed support of the sales tax amendment and at the same time voted to call a constitutional convention.

Sigler's opponent, G. Mennen Williams, favored the sales tax amendment which he said was vital for inflation financing of public schools. And when Williams became the beneficiary of several hundred thousand "protest" votes, cast by Republican-ticket supporters, the top question at Lansing became this:

What would Governor Williams do about the looming deficit?

His first message to the legislature indicated sympathy with social objectives and a willingness to impose new taxes to finance spending. Later the governor made it clear that curtailment of services could not be done without inflicting hardship on the mentally ill, and aged and other citizens already pressed financially to make ends meet.

The final question was narrowed down to WHAT kind of new taxes would the governor advocate—an income tax, consumer nuisance taxes, real estate tax or one or more other money-raising levies?

Governor Williams' remedy, as submitted to the legislature recently, would be to tax corporation profits. A 4 percent levy on net income, prior to federal taxes, would yield about $67,000,000. And since the estimated deficit was $61,000,000 the profit tax on corporations would leave a possible $6,000,000 in new revenues to offset a proposed $9,000,000 hike in social benefits. Industry and business, as represented by corporations, would thus foot the bill to avert a deficit and to help finance a better life for low-income workers.

Governor Williams insists that the tax on profits "would actually amount to a reduction" for many corporations. "Except for a few gigantic corporations of $20 millions or more net worth, a corporation would have to make 6 1/2 percent income on net worth, to pay as much under this proposal as it now pays under the present franchise tax." In other words, big city corporations would be the "fall guy," he says.

What would be the effect of the Williams tax on corporation profits?

According to Harvey Campbell, executive vice-president of the Detroit Board of Commerce, it would encourage flight of capital to other states.

Quoting Campbell: "You cannot estimate the damage that has been done to Michigan by the income tax threat that came out of Lansing before the Governor's oath got cold. Already we have heard from local industrialists who plan plant expansion but figure that they're not wanted here so they're looking to less extravagant states in which to extend their payrolls.

"It has happened before—and it will happen again, because politicians can't seem to learn that payrolls are sensitive and aren't compelled to stay in one place.

"Many years ago, before C. W. Nash got together with the Kelvinator folks, we submitted an engineering analysis of his business and sent it to him in Kenosha. The chief factor to urge him to establish his automobile plant in the Detroit area among his competitors was the tax situation in Wisconsin.

"Later we met Mr. Nash himself here a few days later and we'll never forget our conversation. The kindly old gentleman said, 'Look at your headlines from Lansing! Why should I seek refuge from Wisconsin taxation when your own state officials threaten me with far worse treatment if I transfer my plants to Detroit?'"

Governor Williams has a ready answer: Rising corporation profits can well afford to pay a "reasonable" tax increase; consumers now pay 75.4% of the bill.

The tax chickens are looking for a place to roost. Will it be in the big cities?

Extension of Base Rate Telephone Area Reported

(Continued from page 1) Plymouth. The commission approved Michigan Bell's program to extend or modify urban-service operating areas in the affected exchanges, by authorizing "base-rate area" extensions or modifications of "locality area" charges. In effect, the company is authorized to offer better types of service at attractive rates to customers in the newly-developed residential areas.

A phase of the order provides for the ultimate elimination of rural service in the affected areas in favor of urban service now provided within the communities themselves. The company emphasized, however, that such a change must await the availability of facilities, which may take as long as two years at some exchanges. Until that time, rural service will be furnished on a temporary basis.

Company officials said the order will permit more efficient planning in connection with future expansion of facilities.

John R. Saxton, manager for the company, said the order extends the base-rate area here to include the following territory in which there are 409 telephone users: 7.8 square miles adjoining the present base-rate to the north, east and south.

In the territory to be added, users of urban-type services will no longer pay exchange-line mileage charges.

The company will eliminate rural service in the area when facilities become available, Saxton said. Instead, users will be offered urban-type services. The change will not increase rates for rural residence users but will involve somewhat higher charges for rural business users.

Nichol Reveals Stalin Fight on Protestants

David M. Nichol, son of Mrs. Walter Nichol of Church street, who is serving as foreign correspondent for The Chicago News in Berlin, in a recent special dispatch to The News, predicted that Communist Russia is now starting a war against Protestants in East Germany.

While newspaper headlines in recent months have told much of the fight being made by Communists against the Catholic church, Correspondent Nichol's dispatch is one of the first to indicate that Protestantism is facing a similar assault from Moscow.

Correspondent Nichol says: "The struggle between church and state which has flared throughout eastern Europe may burst into flames at any moment in eastern Germany. There, however, the important difference probably will be that the organized Protestants rather than the Roman Catholics will face the major Communist attack."

"Church leaders are preparing themselves quietly for what they believe will be the inevitable showdown. Nothing as dramatic as the Budapest treason trial of Josef, Cardinal Mindszenty has occurred here, but the omens of trouble are many."

"The Protestants, most of whom are members of the Evangelical church, will be the principal target here because they are the most influential. Only about 13 per cent of Berlin's church members are Roman Catholics, and only about 5 per cent more are scattered among other denominations. The percentages in the Soviet zone are similar."

"Religious training in the school has been the focal point of the attack so far. Feeling rose so high in many places that this teaching finally was permitted, if the parents desire it, but by church instead of state-employed teachers. More recently, it has been moved outside of school hours, and in some cases outside of school buildings on grounds there wasn't room."

"But the church is being harassed in a multitude of other ways. Permits cannot be obtained from local eastern zone officials for rebuilding damaged structures. In some districts, like that of Seelow to the east of Berlin, with 25 parishes, there was not a single church left standing.

"No reconstruction was done until after a 'missionary' trailer, the gift of a congregation in the Netherlands, had toured the district and attracted considerable support."

"Church funds practically were wiped out by the ten to one conversion rate of currency reform although trade unions and 'approved' political agencies enjoyed the preferred one to one exchange."

"The confused tax structure, on which the church normally depends for its income, has cut its receipts to about half its former figures. House to house collections have been forbidden officially by secular authorities on the grounds that the 'people's needs are too great.'"

"In some districts church officials have been giving a fifth of their own salaries, which maintain even a minimum of activity."

"Restrictions have been placed also on the number of theology students who will be admitted to the universities of eastern Germany. Church officials say only 300 enrollments are permitted, for a church membership they estimate at more than 18 millions."

"The response of the church has been interesting. Pastors say there has been neither a great influx of new members, nor a sharp decrease like that which occurred during the Nazi 'church war.' Eastern German communism has found nothing like the popular support which was given the similarly anti-clerical doctrines of Hitler."

"Perhaps more significant, however, is the action of the general synod of the Evangelical church which met recently in Bielefeld, in the British occupied zone, for the first time since 1935."

"With very little fanfare or public notice its 120 delegates, in five days of earnest sessions, elected Dr. Otto Dibelius, bishop of Berlin, as chairman of the Evangelical church council. It became the first all-German organization of any sort to shift its center of activity to Berlin rather than away from it."

"A Geneva clergyman who attended the synod meetings described the election as an 'act of faith.' On a more worldly level it was seen as an indication that the church is in no mood for compromise and is strengthening its defenses."

From the Salt Lake City Desert News: "Reports linked Juliana's name with just about every negligible male among European royalty."

Rocks Face Season's Final League Meet

Squad Attempts to Halt Ypsi March Toward Suburban Honors Tonight

An opportunity to stop the Ypsilanti Braves title hopes await the Rocks cage squad this evening at the Braves field house. The game will be the last league encounter for both teams.

The sting of a poor season could be taken out if the Rocks win tonight. One thing is certain Ypsi can do no worse than tie for league honors because Trenton has one less victory and one more defeat than the Braves. Trenton plays host to the Wayne Zebras at the down-river school's gym and Redford Union travels to Belleville to complete the league season.

Netting 21 points Chuck Paige led Trenton to victory over Redford Union Friday by the score of 44-32. Wayne lost its chance for the Suburban B title losing to Ypsi 50-48.

A league victory was awarded to the Rocks last week as Redford Union's superintendent notified Coach John Klingebarger that Union used an ineligible man in their 47-40 victory on February 4. The Rocks receive a 2-0 forfeit victory because of this fact.

If Ypsi loses tonight and Trenton wins, it will mark the second successive year that these two schools have tied for the Suburban B championship. But if this doesn't happen Ypsi will win its third title this school year.

Ramblers Ready for Hoots as They Defeat Rockets

Scoring a 54-22 win over the Rockets Tuesday at Dehoco, the Ramblers prepared themselves for the Class D basketball playoffs which begin at 9 p.m. Tuesday on the Dehoco floor.

Providing the opposition for the league leaders will be the Hoots, who finished the season in second place behind the Ramblers. The playoffs will be under a two game knockout basis. The second game will be played Wednesday at the high school gym at 8:30. The winner of the tourney will enter the state Class D championships which are slated to be held in Detroit later in March.

Belleville Downs Rocks Five 52-45

Old man "jinx" popped into Plymouth Friday for the last three minutes of the Belleville-Plymouth cage tilt, but he remained around long enough to make certain that the Rocks lost 52-45.

With three minutes to go the Rocks took the lead on Keith Ebersole's free shot. The score at this point was 43-42. In the next 180 seconds the battling Bengals ran wild to score ten points while Dave Reitzel tallied the Rocks only basket.

Displaying a fast passing game the Rocks took the play from the quarter in the first quarter. At one time the local lads led 13-6. At the conclusion of the quarter the Rocks had a 13-10 margin through the work of Jack Scheel, who netted eight points in the first eight minutes. Belleville finally caught up to the Rocks at the 20 mark with two minutes remaining in the half. At the intermission Plymouth still led 24-22.

A see-saw game featured the third quarter. Several times the score was tied, but Belleville crept ahead at the end of the third quarter 38-36. The contest remained close until the automatic time out when the Felines started to pull away.

Three fellows, Larry Finney, Keith Ebersole and Jack Scheel, netted 38 points with Larry tops with 16, Ebersole 12 and Scheel ten. Kuchta and Harris paced the winner's cause with 13 tallies each.

The Plymouth reserves kept up their league winning streak which has now reached nine games by dropping Belleville 49-29. In the first half the Tigers outplayed the Rocks holding a 19-17 halftime lead. However, in the third quarter the Rocks outscored Belleville 15 to five. The Rocks really put on the steam in the last stanza tallying 17 points to the visitors five. At the moment John Sandmann's reserves have won 11 and lost two, both to Farmington.

Netting seven field goals for 14 points Bud Young led the Rocks in the scoring category. Jerry Huddleston hooped ten.

Joe's Jottings

We extend our sympathy to the Bentley High cagers who are to face one of the top Class B teams in the state in the district tournaments, Farmington. By all rights the powerful Falcons, coached by Bob Hutton, should win by 60 points or more over the youthful Bulldogs. However, there will come a day when the Bulldogs will be on a par with the big schools.

The most even games of the entire tourney will undoubtedly be the Plymouth-St. Mary's encounter. Both squads have been in the basketball doldrums this season, but anything can happen in the playoffs and one of these quintets might stop Farmington. Keego Harbor did it last year. All season long Keego had taken defeats left and right, but came the tournaments and the Harborites ran over opposing clubs until they reached the Jenison Field House on the Michigan State campus. They lost a semi-final game to St. Peter and Paul of Saginaw.

Basketball tournament time is one of the most exciting periods of the year and Plymouth will be no exception. Four Men's league teams are set for the playoffs which begin at Dehoco Friday, March 4. The women and Class D leagues commence their playoffs next weekend while the Class E and F loops will start in the near future.

At this time ball players are wending their way southward toward the sun-caked palms and beaches for pre-season training. The batterymen begin their practice next Tuesday at Lakeland, Florida, the spring home of the Detroit Tigers. This season will be featured by the greatest after dark schedule in baseball history. Men like Clark Griffith, Connie Mack and the Dewitt brothers must have night games or fans won't come through the turnstile in such numbers. On the other hand, clubs like Detroit, Boston and New York don't need night contests, but due to the increasing demand of the fans, night tilts dot their schedule.

Kisabeth Tallies 26 Points As His Team Wins 38-6

In the only Class F basketball game Saturday, the Firemen drubbed the Red Wings 38-6.

Kenny Kisabeth topped the winners with 26 points on 13 field goals. This total represents the highest rolled up in a Class F game this season.

Three teams will enter the Class F playoffs which begin next week. In addition to the Red Sox, the Firemen and the Wildcats will compete.

Northville Must Win Tuesday to Enter Playoffs

Unless the Northville Merchants can stop Tait's Cleaners Tuesday at Dehoco, four teams will enter the Men's playoffs: First National Bank, Dehoco, Tait's and Sport Shop.

The collapse of Northville has been strange. The Merchants were tied for first place with First National at the turn of the year, but since then they have won only two games.

To show how bad Northville's slump is, Sport Shop thumped the Merchants 66-34 Monday at the PHS gym. Sampier and Bentley took scoring honors for the winners with 18 and 16 points respectively. Clayton Graham tossed in 11 for the losers.

With nothing at stake Dehoco gave First National Bank its second loss of the season Tuesday on the prison floor by the score of 44-39. Both teams were hitting from the field with ease. The game was close all the way, but Dehoco pulled away in the last few minutes. The high man of the evening was Richardson of Dehoco who tallied 14 counters. Ross and Slough each had 11 points.

The playoffs start on the Dehoco floor Friday, March 4.

Near Capacity Crowds Witness Class Tourney

With the right to meet a Plymouth High school faculty team at stake, the four class teams bore down for their cage tourney this past week. Near capacity crowds attended the games on Monday and Tuesday in the dappled gym.

The winners of the first two games were the frosh and the seniors. These squads met Wednesday noon but press time necessitated the unreporting of the battle. The winners of this tilt was slated to tackle the faculty Thursday at 4 p.m.

Tallying eight and seven points, respectively, Ed Whipple and Larry Bentley led the seniors to a win over the juniors on Monday by the score of 29-13.

A second half surge of 16 points gave the freshmen a 22-14 victory over the sophomores Tuesday. At the half the score was knotted at six points each. Jim Rorabacher netted 13 of the winner's 22 points.

Rock-ets Sweep by Opponents in First of Series

Those sports-minded persons who were up and stirring at 11 Sunday morning, had they dropped in at Parkview Recreation, would have witnessed the "Battle of the Century" of the bowling world.

The Detroit Torpedoes, composed of Doug Young, Jim Taylor, Jack Meyers, Harry Martin and Howard Jay, had been presumptuous enough to challenge the Plymouth Rock-ets to a home and home series of three games.

The Rock-ets, in the persons of Bill Downing, Linc Lantz, Walt Rensel, Tommy Roberts and Bob Robinson, accepted the challenge.

When the matter of averages had been settled, there was only a difference of two pins. Here then was the setting for a struggle.

The Rock-ets cheering section was plunged into the depths of despair when Rensel delivered a gutter ball to open the tenth frame of the second game, following strikes in the eighth and ninth frames.

The electric-eye at the foul line took its toll several times during the match.

When the smoke of the battle finally cleared, it was evident that the Plymouthites had responded nobly, and staved off the initial challenge. They won three points, with a pin total of 2387, against 2317 for the Torpedoes.

Gems Take Win With Sudden Death Field Goal

Netting a field goal in a sudden death overtime, Hank Levering gave the Gems a 17-15 victory over the Wolverines in a Class E basketball game Saturday.

The victory left the Gems in first place with a one game lead over the Bulldogs. The Gems came from behind to defeat the Wolverines. At the end of the first quarter the losers led 7-0. But in the second stanza the Gems came back to tie the game at seven all. Defensive play featured the last half as the two squads battled to a 15-15 tie at the termination of regulation time.

Pacing the league leaders was Hank Levering with five points. The Wolverines Gary Sockow tossed in five also.

With Eddie Klinke connecting for 11 tallies and Dick Robinson tallying nine the Bulldogs took second place defeating the Rams 30-26. Finnegan had ten points for the losers.

The third game saw the Spartans tying the Wolverines for third place as they topped the Eagles 21-12. Sending in nine, Mel Schultz of the Spartans was high man, Dick Crocker of the losers netted eight.

Rocks Meet St. Mary's of Orchard Lake in Cage Tourneys on March 4

Just call it fate. For the luck of the draw pairs the two finalists of last year's Farmington district basketball tournaments, St. Mary's of Orchard Lake and Plymouth, in this season's tourney.

The tournaments will be held on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 3, 4, and 5 on the Farmington High school floor. On Friday, March 4, at 9 p.m. the Rocks clash with their conquerors of the 1948 districts. This season neither team has broken any records nor made any team shudder with their power. Because of this fact the game is rated a toss-up. St. Mary's is a member of the First Division Catholic league in Detroit.

In the first Class B tilt on Thursday, March 3, the Farmington Falcons, the host squad, collides with the Bentley Bulldogs of Livonia. The latter is in its first season of basketball while the Falcons are the fifth best Class B team in the state, according to the Detroit Free Press rankings. This contest will start at 8:30 p.m.

The winners of the two games will play on Saturday at 8:30 p.m. The winner of this game will enter the regional tourneys at Pontiac next week.

Also on the Farmington program are five Class C teams, Dearborn Roosevelt, Clarenceville, Sacred Heart, St. Alphonsus and South Lyons. The initial C encounter is carded for Thursday at 7 p.m. with Sacred Heart and St. Alphonsus the participants.

MRA Inter-City Cage Tournament Dates and Places Are Established

At a meeting of the Michigan Recreation Association on Friday, February 18, at the Highland Park YWCA, the dates, sites and new regulations for inter-city basketball tournaments were established.

Tourament regulations (dates, places, etc.) are as follows: Men's division, first place team of the play-offs must play in a district tournament before it can enter the state Class B tourney at Adrian. The site and date of the tourney in which Plymouth will participate will be announced later. However, a tentative date of March 17, 18 and 19 has been recommended.

The third place squad of the play-offs will represent Plymouth in a Class "B" tournament to be held at Highland Park (either at Hackett Field house or the Highland Park High school gym) during the week of March 14.

Because enough interest wasn't displayed in last year's women's tourney, none will be held this year.

The Class D division championships will be held in Detroit on March 16, 17 and 19. The site and time are to be announced later. John Launsbury is the division manager.

The Class E league will have its tourney at Hamtramck the week of March 14. As for Class D the site and time will be revealed at a later date. Joe Mickstyn is the tournament manager. The Class F division will also play in Hamtramck with the same conditions prevailing.

Famed Lynch All Stars Visit City for Cage Battle

The famed Jerry Lynch all-star cage aggregation of Detroit will visit in the city for a game with the Men's league all-stars on Monday, March 21, at the Plymouth High school gym at 8:30 p.m.

Thus far the Lynch stars have lost only four games over the long winter grind. Several former college stars are on the Motor City quintet. Coaching the Detroiters is the colorful Cincy Sachs, who has headed this squad for several years.

These Events Were News

25 Years Ago

The annual Father and Son Banquet held under the auspices of the Men's Brotherhood of the Methodist church last Tuesday evening was an event in the lives of the 100 men and boys who attended. During the evening the toastmaster called on S. D. Strong, chairman of the Boy Scout Council of Honor of Plymouth, who in fitting words, presented Scout William Rambo with a merit badge in pioneering, after which all the Boy Scouts who were present repeated their Scout Oath.

Mrs. Ivan Dickinson of Northville called on Mrs. Edmond Watson and Mrs. Elmer Perkins Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Edmond Watson taught school Friday for Mrs. Covell who was ill.

Bishop Page paid his first visit to Plymouth last Sunday evening, and the little church building was crowded—every available seat was occupied. Frank Henderson drove into Detroit to fetch the bishop and also drove him back again after the service.

William Rooke and family spent Tuesday evening with Russell Trubridge and family.

Harry Morgan and family visited at James Burrell's at Cherry Hill, Sunday.

Mrs. Charles Kaiser and son, Forest of Superior township, called at L. E. Kaiser's Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hix and daughter, Lorraine, were visitors at Clarence Hix's recently. Rhea Peck and Virginia Giles gave a Yankee Doodle clog at Salem, last Friday night, as an entree act for the play "Star Bright".

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bovee of Detroit, spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bovee.

Mrs. Earl Stevens and her son, Jack of Detroit, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Olds last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Matt Waldecker expect to move into their new bungalow on Ann street, which has just been completed by Clinton Gottschalk.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Nichols and children of Detroit, were Sunday guests of the latter's sister, Mrs. Fred Schaufele of South Main street.

Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Housman of Dearborn and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Waldecker and family of Elm, were Sunday dinner guests at Mr. and Mrs. Matt Waldeckers of Plymouth.

Vernon Wilkin of Spencerville,

Ohio, spent the weekend with his brother, Byron Wilkin, and family. Mr. Wilkin accompanied his brother home, Monday, for a few weeks' visit.

The commission during the past year has transacted quite a volume of business and some splendid improvements have been made. In the water department 54 service connections have been made, and a new 12-inch crock-lead has been laid to the well at the springs, besides the ordinary maintenance on mains and pumps. A fine new public comfort station has been erected and equipped, which is a credit to the village. A splendid start was made last summer in beautifying Kellogg park, by the setting out of 200 shrubs and the laying out of cinder walks. Fifteen hundred feet of new streets have been graded; 20,000 gallons of road oil were applied, besides considerable adjusting of side walks and parkways on the Starkweather avenue pavement.

Look at the Price Tag
-and at what's behind it!

You can see its smartness and test its spacious comfort. You can road-test it, feel the lift of its mighty Fireball power, sample the utter smoothness of Dynaflo Drive.

When you're all through, we freely invite you to pull out the toughest yardstick of them all—and measure this Buick beauty on its price, and on the "deal" you get with it!

The panel shows our prices — on Buicks complete and ready to go.

Right with it you see something equally important — the simple, plain Four-Square Policy under which these Buicks are sold.

Look them over. Match them up with what you get elsewhere.

On performance, on price and on the deal, you're going to find that Buick's the buy — so much the buy, you'll see your Buick dealer fast, to get an order in with or without a car to trade.

HERE'S OUR FOUR-SQUARE SELLING POLICY!
1. NO PRICE-PADDING! We guarantee our prices to contain nothing but charges that were standard practice in figuring pre-war delivered prices. You receive an itemized bill of sale showing all charges. And we display our prices in our showroom.
2. NO "LOADING" OF UNWANTED ACCESSORIES. All cars are delivered with accessories as ordered. We pledge ourselves to add no "extras" you do not want.
3. NO COMPULSORY TRADE-INS. Selling used cars is part of our business. Naturally we like to take cars in trade. But you do not have to sell your car to us. We will take your order, and deliver your car, without requiring a car in trade!
4. NO COLLUSION WITH "GRAY MARKETERS." We will not knowingly be party to a sale of Buick cars to any individual who operates in the "gray market." Our interest is entirely in delivering cars to bona fide customers.

The Standards of the Kingdom.
 Lesson for February 27: Matthew 5:1-12; 7:24-27.
Memory Selection: Matthew 6:13.

In the sermon on the Mount Jesus lays down the laws of the kingdom of God that he had come to establish in the world. It is a kingdom of love in men's hearts. It knows no circumscripting. It crosses all the barriers of race and nation.

These laws call for the highest morality ever demanded of men. A number of them found in the first part of the sermon have been called the Beatitudes because of their promise of blessedness. The joy of him who meets the condition of a beatitude originates in his heart. It is not dependent upon good fortune. An American poet writes that the glory of our lives below dwells for evermore in what we are. Blessedness also comes from what we are.

In the laws of the kingdom we find that the richest blessings of the Christian depend upon his feeling toward others. Only by the generosity of his thought toward others does he and can he meet the demands that Jesus lays upon him.

Last in our lesson we find that the man who follows his Lord's standards builds his house upon a rock that will stand firm through all the storms that beat upon it, while he who builds on the sand will suffer total loss. Certainly, the first builds for permanence and his house does not fall in the day of testing because it is founded on a rock.

Let us build well our house on the rock of our faith in Christ Jesus and, building for eternity, we shall live nobly in the life that now is and one day put our shining garments on to dwell with Jesus in blessedness for ever.

This brave new world! How staunchly it arises
 From out the darkened covers of the night;
 How valiently it girds itself to enter
 The splendid ways of light!

So would I shake the darkness from my eyelids,
 So would I don my garments with the dawn,
 The old wounds healed, the old scars unremembered,
 And thus I would move on
 Into the waiting ways of light and splendor,
 My heart's bright banner lifted and unfurled,
 That I may be a valiant marching comrade

Business Women Have Rumpus Party

A few of those appearing in costume at the Business and Professional Women's club Rumpus party were, front row, left to right: Mrs. Irene Shaw, Mrs. John Henderson, and Mrs. Robert Willoughby. Second row: Mrs. Rockwell Smith, Mrs. Roderick Cassidy, Mrs. Leona Howard, Mrs. Harold Johnson, Mrs. Charles Humphries, Georgia Chingren, Neva Lovewell, Mrs. Walter K. Sumner, and Mrs. Harold Young.

A "Rumpus party" it was called, and a "rumpus" it turned out to be when many members and guests showed up in all sizes and descriptions of costumes, causing great hilarity and many laughs.

This all happened at the Plymouth Business and Professional Women's social get-together held in the Veterans Community Center Tuesday last week.

President Neva Lovewell was there, attired in her fishing costume, and Mrs. Roderick Cassidy showed up disguised as a bearded gentleman. The list of flappers outfitted in dresses with the hip-length waist line included Mrs. Rockwell Smith and Mrs. Walter K. Sumner. Mrs. John Henderson showed up in no less than an early version of the bathing suit.

These were just a few of the many who "broke up the party" with their surprising and unconventional costumes. Approximately 80 attended, with half this number showing up in disguise.

During the evening miscellaneous games were played, and refreshments of coffee and cake were served.

Proceeds from the party will go into the club's fund which was set up for the benefit of crippled children.

The club's next meeting is slated for February 28, and will include a health program.

Tomorrow, Saturday, six from the Plymouth organization will attend the International Night program in Windsor.

VanOrnum, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Mack, Dr. and Mrs. Frederick Faust, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Mastick, Miss Neva Lovewell, Miss Edna Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fischer, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brake, Mr. and Mrs. George Chute, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Pursell, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hafnsa.

This list continues further with Dr. and Mrs. Harold Briscois, Dr. and Mrs. John Olsaver, Mr. and Mrs. Burton Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Richwine, Miss Irene Walderf, Mr. and Mrs. George Conover, Jr., Mrs. Ann Nichol, Mrs. Sterling Eaton, Mrs. R. M. Daane, Dr. and Mrs. Walter Hammond, Mrs. C. Hamilton and Mrs. Nell Curry.

A. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Whipple, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Westover, Miss Sarah Lickly, Miss Gertrude Fiegel, Miss Elizabeth MacDonald, Judge and Mrs. James Sexton and Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Pierce.

But all of Plymouth's news this week doesn't take place in the city. Also highlighting the social roster are numerous departures which are being made for the southland. For instance, to visit friends for the next week or two, Mrs. Dow Swope flew

Pancake Recipes Turn Breakfast Favorite Into Lunch or Dessert

There is no reason—except tradition—for pancakes' being an exclusively breakfast dish. With a little ingenuity, they can be varied into tempting desserts or hearty luncheon specials, says Bernice Burns, who tells Plymouth women in Redbook magazine for February, how to make a Florida version of crepes Suzettes and how to use pancake mix in new ways:

FLORIDA GRIDDLE CAKES
Sift together 1 1/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon salt, and 3 tablespoons sugar. Combine 1 egg, slightly beaten, 1/4 cup milk, 1 cup orange juice, and 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted.

Stir liquid into dry ingredients and beat until smooth. Bake on hot griddle. One tablespoon of batter makes one small cornucopia. Yield: 18 griddle cakes.

Roll, stick with toothpick to hold in shape. Sprinkle with powdered sugar. Place cakes in single layer on cake-rack. To reheat set in warm oven just before serving.

ORANGE SAUCE
Mix together 1 tablespoon cornstarch, 1/2 cup sugar, and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Pour in slowly, beating until smooth 1 cup orange juice. Add 2 teaspoons grated orange rind. Cook over medium heat until mixture comes to a boil, stirring constantly. Yield: about 1 cup.

Orange sections "dress up" this dessert. Arrange as garnish. To serve, place one or two orange sections between two griddle cake rolls, add a generous portion of the hot sauce.

"Here are some new ways of using the standard pancake mix which may inspire you to invent others:

MAPLE SYRUP PANCAKES
Combine, according to directions on box 2 cups pancake mix, 1 1/2 cups milk, and 3/4 cup maple syrup. Bake on hot griddle and serve with butter and a sprinkling of powdered sugar. Yield: 18 pancakes.

BRAN PANCAKES
Combine, according to directions on box, 2 cups pancake mix, 2 3/4 cups milk, and 1/2 cup bran cereal. Bake on hot griddle and serve with butter and maple syrup.

CORN-CAKE FRITTERS
Combine, according to directions on box, 2 cups pancake mix, 2 1/4 cups milk, and 2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine. Stir in 1/2 cup whole grain canned corn. Bake on hot griddle and serve with butter and maple syrup.

APPLE CAKES
Combine, according to directions on box, 2 cups pancake mix, and 2 1/4 cups milk. Stir in 1/2 cup chopped apples. Bake on griddle and serve with plain or spiced applesauce.

HAM PANCAKES
Combine, according to directions on box, 2 cups pancake mix, 2 1/4 cups milk, and 1/2 teaspoon prepared mustard. Stir in 1/2 cup cooked ham finely chopped. Bake on hot griddle and serve with ham gravy or mushroom sauce.

Menu Tips

By HELEN HALE

A BOWL of steaming hot cereal is an excellent food that sticks to the ribs on chilly mornings. For a flavorless treat, try cooking farina in apricot whole fruit nectar.

Bread that has become somewhat dry and old can be given "oven fresh" appeal by leaving it in its own wrapper and then heating it in a slow oven (300°) for five to 10 minutes. If the bread is very dry, sprinkle it with a little water first, then heat in the same fashion.

Hot sage biscuits are a good combination with pork pie, made, of course, from shreds of the leftover roast. To make the biscuits, add one-half teaspoon sage to your biscuit recipe.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Salmon Cakes

(Serves 5-6)

2 cups canned salmon
1 large onion, minced
1 (8-ounce) can tomato sauce
1/2 teaspoon salt
Pepper
1 teaspoon thyme
3 eggs, separated
1/2 cup butter

Flake and bone fish. Mix with tomato sauce, onion and seasonings. Add beaten yolks and fold in stiffly beaten whites. Drop from tablespoon onto a hot buttered griddle and fry until brown on both sides. Serve with canned tomato sauce, if desired.

Try spiced peach halves on greens next time you serve lamb or ham. Fill the centers of the fruit with whipped cream cheese seasoned with horseradish. Sprinkle with paprika.

When you're cooking prunes, use pineapple juice in place of water if you want to add delicious flavor to this dried fruit.

If you want to serve a real, old-fashioned treat with pork chops, give the family buttered turnips.

Here's an idea for a deviled ham loaf, made with leftover meat: grind the ham, mix with egg and bread crumbs and seasonings such as prepared mustard, horseradish, diced onion, tabasco and catchup. Serve the slices of baked loaf with a spoonful of cold sour cream.

Split pea soup can be made more flavorful and tempting if you add a few slices of sausages to it before serving.

Pork Provides Opportunity for New And Unusual Flavor Combinations

One of the easiest ways to menu planning success is to have a "feeling" for the kinds of foods that go with each of the different meats. This becomes increasingly evident when you remember that the main or meat course is the starting point for most meal planning and that the other foods follow after.

Of course, there are traditional food combinations, such as pork with apple sauce, but it is when the homemaker tries to add new interest to menus by avoiding these more common two-somes that she has trouble with menu planning. New combinations are welcomed with almost every meat, says Reba Staggs, home economist.

With pork, nearly all fruit flavors are good; cranberries add tartness; apricots and prunes contribute to the already rich flavor of the meat; sliced pineapple and oranges add flavor and attractive color. Even in apples there is new variety, for baked whole apples, candied cinnamon apples or fried apple rings can prevent the monotony that comes with frequent service of apple sauce.

Other foods go equally well. For instance, there is the almost forgotten combination of pork and turnips. Greens of all kinds—turnip, spinach, etc.—are especially good with pork. Harvard beets and green beans or broccoli go well. Sauerkraut and spareribs make another good pork meal for really hearty eating. And fluffy mashed sweet or Irish potatoes to eat with the good pork gravy is another suggestion.

Temp Childish Appetites With Right Servings

Junior appetites often take a child ask for more than to discourage him with a too-large serving, she adds. Then, too, it is wise to cut the foods smaller; several tiny hamburger patties instead of one, or very small pieces of meat in stew.

It is always better to let a child ask for more than to discourage him with a too-large serving, she adds. Then, too, it is wise to cut the foods smaller; several tiny hamburger patties instead of one, or very small pieces of meat in stew.

In some shapes and sizes foods are hard for youngsters to eat. For instance, you might shred carrots, rather than cook them whole or in strips.

Garnishes and accompaniments are just as important to the child as to the grown-up, so don't forget that touch of parsley or jelly for color, or the extra touches on fancy sandwiches and cookies that will appeal to his fancy.

Life Begins at 40 If You Eat Right Food, Nutrition Specialist Discloses

We're living longer these days and adding years to our life, but those added years means little if we can't enjoy them. To enjoy them we have to be in good health.

How to maintain good health in later years is the current study of the foods and nutrition department at Michigan State college. Lois Jackson reports to Plymouth that the department has set up a program to study the everyday diets of healthy older women.

By observing what these women eat and how nutrition is related to their health, researchers can help advise others what they need to eat to stay healthy.

How much is enough? How much of various nutrients do older people need? Studies at Michigan State college and elsewhere indicate that older people need nearly as much protein as younger people. Their calcium needs are at least as high as those of younger adults.

Not only is the right kind of food vital to our welfare but it may even help slow up aging processes. Older persons can contribute a lot to the community in which they live from their fund of knowledge and experience. But they must be mentally alert and physically active to do this. So much in an older person's life depends upon his health and that in turn upon his food habits.

Many years of study on all age groups will be required to complete the answer to the question of how much is enough. In the meantime enough information about nutrition is available to help you watch those food habits and enjoy your later years a great deal more.

Red Cross Nutrition Aids

This is a good time for Plymouth homemakers to try new ways of using cheese as the main dish of lunches and dinners. There are unusually heavy supplies of the main American and Swiss types available at the present time, so prices are reasonable.

There are many different types of cheese available, but for cooking purposes, most of us choose the variety known as "Store" cheese, or more properly "American" or "Cheddar" cheese. Even this one type comes in variations to suit different tastes and budgets.

Cheddar cheese that has ripened for two or more years is the choice of those people who like a full, tangy flavor, and a creamy texture. The older the cheese, the more pronounced the flavor, and the higher the price.

Young cheese which reaches the market after a short ripening period has a mild flavor. It has a waxy, rather than a creamy texture and does not melt as readily as the ripened cheese. As far as food value is concerned, however, it is as good as the more expensive aged cheese, so it's the better choice for limited food budgets and for those who prefer mild flavor.

The different kinds of processed cheese on the market are made of Cheddar cheese which has been ground and melted before packaging. Often it is a combination of aged and mild Cheddar cheese, and sometimes dried milk solids and butter fat have been added to it.

The heating process pasteurizes the cheese so that it will keep almost indefinitely before the package is broken. After opening it should be stored in the refrigerator as should all other kinds of cheese. Keep it wrapped or in a covered container to prevent drying out and to keep the cheese flavor from getting into other foods.

Because it takes about five quarts of milk to make each pound of American cheese it is concentrated food. For this reason, the Nutrition Service of the American Red Cross says that it goes a long way in adding flavor and nutritive value to meals.

Cheese is a good alternate for meats as the main dish, because it contains a large amount of protein for building muscular tissue and red blood cells. There is as much of this material in one-half pound of cheese as there is in one pound of meat that contains a medium amount of bone and fat.

One generous serving (1 1/4 ounces) of cheese contains as much calcium as one cup of milk, so it's a good food to remember when there are people in the family who aren't milk drinkers. Calcium, you remember, builds bones and teeth, helps to regulate muscular and nerve action, and aids in the clotting of the blood.

In addition to these nutrients, cheese provides generous amounts of vitamin A and B-2 or riboflavin, and of fat. To balance these, plan meals built around cheese to include starchy foods and bulky fruits and vegetables.

The two important rules to remember when cooking cheese are to use low heat and to avoid over-cooking. High temperatures and prolonged cooking toughen cheese and spoil the flavor.

OLIVE CHEESE CASSEROLE
Five slices of whole wheat or enriched white bread, 2 tablespoons table fat, 1 cup grated American cheese, 1/2 cup sliced stuffed olives, 3 eggs, slightly beaten, 1/8 teaspoon dry mustard, 1/3 cup olive liquor, 2 cups scalded milk.

Spread bread with half of fat and cut into cubes. Scatter one-third of them over bottom of greased casserole. Cover with half of olives and one-third cup cheese, then repeat layers of bread, olives and cheese. Cover with remaining bread cubes and cheese and dot with remaining fat. Combine eggs, mustard and olive liquor and gradually stir in hot milk. Pour over mixture in casserole. Bake in slow oven, 300 degrees F., for about 1 hour or until knife inserted in center comes out clean. Makes 6 servings.

Vary this combination by substituting bits of crisp cooked bacon for the olives.

Serve either of the combinations with buttered green cabbage and a jellied tomato salad with plenty of crisp celery and green pepper molded in it, bread and butter, and a hearty dessert such as apple pie.

CHEESE AND CRABMEAT
Two tablespoons chopped green pepper, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 2 tablespoons table fat, 2 tablespoons flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, dash of cayenne, 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard, 1 cup tomato juice, 1 cup grated American cheese, 1 egg, well beaten, 1/4 cup hot milk, 1 cup shredded crabmeat, toast.

Cook green pepper and onion in fat for a few minutes or until clear. Add flour and seasonings, and when blended stir in tomato juice. Cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add cheese and mix well. Stir in beaten egg and cook for two minutes over low heat or boiling water. Add milk and crabmeat, and stir lightly until blended. Heat thoroughly. Serve on hot, buttered toast. Makes 6 servings.

Serve with parsley, potatoes, buttered green beans, crisp vegetable salad, and fruit gelatin and cookies.

Down Under Florida Palm Trees

The Plymouth Mail's "Rambling Reporter" finds news, here, there and everywhere.

To the left are Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Rolph of Adams street who are spending their third winter in Bradenton Trailer Park. Mrs. Rolph's "front yard" flower garden is surrounded by white stones. To the right are Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Clark of Union street who are also enjoying winter in Florida's warm sunshine.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. West of Plymouth, enjoying Florida sun rays that trickle down through a grove of large pines and palm trees at Englewood, Florida. View to right is typical of groves throughout Florida in which many trailer camps are located.

This is the life—there's no getting around that—it is the easy way of life—a happy way—with more freedom and less formality than can be found on any other type of vacation, along with a sociability that is typically American—a mingling among people you would be glad to have for neighbors wherever you might live—it is life in any one of the thousands and thousands of trailer camps that now dot the American landscape.

The Plymouth Mail's busy Rambling Reporter the other day took his old kodak out of the car trunk and started to hunt down some of the Plymouth residents who seemingly have more sense than the average person in knowing just how to thoroughly enjoy a winter vacation in the southlands.

And it is with regret that, with these pictures, an old Eastman kodak that takes a number 101 film, is being retired from active service. It has become almost an impossibility to get films for it.

From Plymouth to Miami, we've searched kodak stores for this size film.

In ancient St. Augustine, the oldest city in America, it should not be surprising to know that we did find a few rolls in a little kodak store that is located in a building so old that a few rolls for the Rambler's kodak were located among the antiques that were for sale.

The kodak was purchased when the writer was a youngster starting out in newspaper work in Kalamazoo. For nearly 50 years it has served its purpose well. If there should be pictures in this column in the future they will have been taken with a more recent "model."

But back to the trailer camps and the delightful way of life they offer vacationists!

from morning until bedtime? That's easy. "Dutch" has a small inboard fishing boat tied up to the Gulf coast just a few rods from his location in the camp. When he isn't busy shopping for Mrs. West and doing other errands that a "busy" housewife can always find for a husband to do, "Dutch" is out on the Gulf with a number of friends from the camp fishing for snook and ocean trout. Not only does he keep his own ice box full of fresh fish, but all of his neighbors in the camp who do not fish, have plenty of fish that "Dutch" never fails to land when he takes rod and reel in hand.

All of the many friends of Mrs. West know how busy she is, too, when home. During the war no one in Plymouth probably sewed or knit more things for the boys in the armed forces than did Mrs. West. It is just natural for her to be busy, so while enjoying the sunshine that "trickles" down through the tall pines that shade the trailer camp, she spends many hours weaving raffia, or as some call it, sweet grass, into attractive table mats for hot dishes.

When evening time arrives, the supper dishes and pans cleaned and other afternoon chores are finished, there is always a big evening camp fire where all those in this camp can join in festivities around the camp fire. Sometimes ice cream is served to all the guests—and naturally when there are so many good cooks in a camp, one is sure to find most delicious home-made cakes served with the ice cream. Why shouldn't the Wests enjoy trailer life at Englewood—and all the others who are there for the winter, too?

It was not until after we had driven many miles beyond Bonita Springs that we learned that Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Colburn of Canton Center road are located in a beautiful trailer camp which is alongside an attractive waterfront at that place. Friends say they are thoroughly enjoying the winter in Bonita Springs.

At Bradenton is located probably the largest tourist trailer park in the world. It is one of the finest examples of a civic project carried out by a service club that one can find anywhere. It was started a number of years ago by the Bradenton Kiwanis club, and the venture that had such a small beginning, has now developed into a project so large that the Bradenton Trailer Park, as it is known, has become a good sized city during the winter months.

It is still operated by the Bradenton Kiwanis club, with its own postoffice, water and sewer systems, electric, and telephone service where one can plug phone service right into his own trailer. The Bradenton Trailer park is a marvelously well regulated and conducted camp, with religious services held in its big auditorium on Sundays, dances and special programs during week days, and of course a shuffle board court so busy that it has become necessary to operate it at night times under flood lights. But at 11 o'clock at night everything is closed down tight. All lights are out and everybody goes to bed to sleep in a perfectly quiet place. The streets are laid out more perfectly than can be found in many well planned cities. And, like in all other trailer camps, if you are not a good neighbor, you just don't belong. The one thing The Plymouth Mail's Rambling found on this visit to a number of trailer camps—if you are not a friendly neighbor, if you are not a good American, if you are not a citizen of good habits, if you are not clean and orderly in the care of your trailer, you just don't belong, that's all—and out you go.

When the Rambler called on Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Rolph of Adams street, who are this winter spending their third season at the famed Bradenton trailer camp, Mrs. Rolph was as busy as a bee "cleaning house."

"I just didn't know there was so much work to do all the time" lamented this well known Plymouth lady.

Mr. Rolph was busy, too. He had on his coveralls and with paint brush and paint can in hand, he was about to start the usual spring paint-up job of his trailer.

Mrs. Rolph finds time to take care of an attractive little flower garden that graces the front of their trailer on the "street-side." Yes, flowers were in bloom in February, in this little garden tended faithfully by Mrs. Rolph.

Another well known Plymouth couple, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Clark, are enjoying the winter in the pleasant warm weather that prevails most of the time along the western coast of Florida.

Plymouth friends of Mr. Clark will be pleased to know that his health is improved over what it was when he left home for the south early in December.

They are very nicely located in a newer part of the Bradenton Trailer park. While the shade trees are not so numerous and large as in the other part of the "city," they have provided their own shade by placing a large awning to one side of their trailer, which furnishes shelter for their car and leaves them an exceptionally large space for a semi-enclosed porch.

There are doubtless many other Plymouth residents who are spending the winter in various trailer parks throughout Florida and it would be a real pleasure for the Rambler to visit all of them, if he had their addresses and if it was possible to do so.

But we are pleased to have discovered at first hand why so many of our friends are so enthusiastic about trailer life. Among the very early trailer "fans" of Plymouth are Mr. and Mrs. Lisle Alexander.

It is recalled that years back when the Alexanders were associated with the Plymouth United Savings bank, their vacations were always spent in a trailer somewhere up in the north woods.

Mr. and Mrs. John Jacobs, too, are trailer enthusiasts. Their long trips to the Pacific coast and to the Gulf states have always been made by trailer. The Jacobs' are located in the Fair Haven trailer camp at Fort Lauderdale for the remainder of the present winter.

Doubtless there are numerous other Plymouth families who are spending the winter in Florida or the southwest who take their "own home" along with them. The Rambler can now understand why there is such a rapidly growing interest in auto-trailers. Sometimes we have "cussed" 'em under our breath when tied up behind one in traffic on a highway — but never again — since learning what a joy they provide for those who love and appreciate life in these marvelous beauty spots of our country.

SELDOM is there trouble on your telephone line nowadays. But sometimes it does happen! An extra-heavy gale or sleet storm . . . a flood, fire or explosion may temporarily disrupt telephone service for a great many people at one time.

When such serious trouble develops, word is flashed to Michigan Bell "emergency headquarters" in Detroit. Within a matter of minutes, this room becomes a beehive of activity.

At their posts around the table, a General Working Committee assembles and begins a battle against time. Simultaneously, emergency committees in the stricken area swing into action. The object—to knit into one swift-moving team the telephone crews that will restore service at the earliest possible moment.

In rapid-fire succession, telephone calls begin to come in. Reports from the scene give a minute-by-minute account of developments.

Practically the instant the need for men or supplies becomes apparent, the Committeemen arrange to have them dispatched to the trouble spot.

If damages are such that Long Distance calls will have to be rerouted, the Committee works directly with the proper department to establish temporary circuits promptly. If structures and equipment are demolished, the Committee teams up with the engineers to start immediate plans for rebuilding.

No matter how long the emergency may last, the Committee stays right on the job. For these expert trouble-shooters can "be everywhere at once" by telephone . . . saving precious minutes . . . assuring the utmost efficiency in the use of manpower, materials and time.

This is another behind-the-scenes way in which Michigan Bell strives to provide and maintain for you the best possible telephone service at all times.

Astrology
Your Weekly Guide by
G. Cardinal LeGros

The sense of smell is the deepest and most primitive of all the senses, having a profound effect upon the subconscious mind. Everyone has had the experience of old memories coming back upon contacting certain perfumes and scents. It is a strange and beautiful mystery. Occultly speaking, every odor has a vibration of its own, and is associated with a number, a sound, a symbol, a planet, a flower, as well as with a certain part of the human body.

Every woman has her own distinctive vibration, and therefore her own individual perfume. To discover just which one it is, and to use it wisely, is to enhance her personal charm and make a better impression on others. In the following groupings of the twelve astrological signs the corresponding perfumes are listed. Experiment with the three that vibrate with your own birth sign until you find the particular one that suits you best and brings the most favorable results. It may be that you will decide to use all three, one for the hours before noon, another for the time from noon to evening, and the third for night.

Aries (March 21 to April 20) Narcissus, Sandalwood, Verbena.
Taurus (April 21 to May 21) Carnation, Lilac, Rose.
Gemini (May 22 to June 21) Gardenia, Jasmine, Violet.
Cancer (June 22 to July 22)

Lilly of the Valley, Magnolia, Musk.
Leo (July 23 to August 23) Narcissus, Sandalwood, Verbena.
Virgo (August 24 to September 23) Carnation, Lilac, Rose.
Libra (September 24 to October 23) Gardenia, Jasmine, Violet.
Scorpio (October 24 to November 22) Lilly of the Valley, Musk, Magnolia.
Sagittarius (November 23 to December 21) Narcissus, Sandalwood, Verbena.
Capricorn (December 22 to January 19) Carnation, Lilac, Rose.
Aquarius (January 20 to February 18) Gardenia, Jasmine, Violet.
Pisces (February 19 to March 20) Lilly of the Valley, Magnolia, Musk.

It goes without saying that each woman will have to experiment with the three perfumes that vibrate to her astrological sign. The same scents correspond with each of the four Air signs, Water signs, Fire and Earth signs. A Scorpio woman is quite different from a Pisces woman although both come under the Water signs. Lilly of the Valley would suit a Pisces person better than it would a Scorpio, who would like the powerful pungent fragrance of Musk better. But, just the same, Lilly of the Valley would be the right perfume for Scorpio in certain moods. And the compelling Musk would be just the thing for Pisces when she wanted to strike out socially and make a real impression.

So try out your characteristic perfumes and see how they help you in your day-by-day experiences. In this age a woman has to make the most of everything to keep up with the world.

Grasshoppers
May Hit State

Plymouth farmers may have a grasshopper problem to face this summer, according to advice from Michigan State college entomologists. Surveys recently completed show that outbreaks of the pests may occur in a number of localities. Areas in the northern part of the lower peninsula are expected to be most seriously affected, with some areas of localized trouble in southern counties.

At the present time, indications are that the grasshopper infestation will arrive as predicted. However, unfavorable weather during their hatching period next spring, or parasites and diseases may come to the rescue of the farmers. It's too early now to start the fight, entomologists declare.

If these natural control factors fail, every available weapon that can be used against them will be brought into the fight, report the entomologists. County agricultural agents have information available concerning control of grasshoppers.

In Springfield, Massachusetts, a woman complained that she could get nothing at all on her hearing aid but radio station WSFL next door.

OF A RUINED CROP!

Hay cured in the mow not only saves you heavy losses from bad weather, but gives you extra quality hay at a lower cost! Your crop can be cut as it ripens and stored for drying the very same day!

Electric hay drying in the mow practically eliminates the risk of a ruined crop. You can forget the field-drying dangers of rain, and excessive bleaching when you switch to electric mow curing inside your barn. For full information see your Edison Farm Service Advisor right away. He can give you practical help in planning a low-cost hay-curing system for your barn.

FOUR OTHER
ELECTRIC HAY DRYING ADVANTAGES

1. Improves hay quality—eliminates leaf shattering, sun burning; assures more leaves, more color; gives increased food value, increased market value.
2. Saves money—low operating costs; pays for itself in one season. Farmers claim $5 to $10 more per ton for mow-cured hay.
3. Easy to set up—any size barn will do; no boilers or coils needed; ducts are easy and inexpensive to build. Mow-curing requires no change from your present system of making hay.
4. Reduces dangers of spontaneous combustion—controlled temperatures in mow prevent hazards of fire.

Fair in the Light of Memory Shines

BY ELTON R. EATON

No one else can be blamed except game hogs for the apparent failure of Michigan's conservation department to successfully introduce in Michigan a herd of elk.

Many will recall that some 20 or 25 years ago the state transplanted from the west some 80 or 100 elk in the Pigeon river territory east of Vanderbilt.

A check in the early years showed that the elk had adapted themselves well to this new area and that the herd was increasing to a very considerable extent.

Then it was discovered that some of the low-down trash that call themselves sportsmen had been poaching in the elk reservation and that several had been killed during the winter.

Every year that experience has been repeated, until now the herd is about of the same number as it was when introduced into the state. The experiment has proven that the elk can and will adapt themselves to certain sections of northern Michigan — that there is plenty of feed there for the elk during the long winter months and that—if left alone—Michigan in the years to come will have large numbers of elk roaming through the northlands.

There is but one answer to this condition—a jail sentence, and a stiff one, for any one caught hunting in the area where the elk are thriving. The entire section, if not now closed to all hunting, should be closed indefinitely.

Flags of four nations, figuratively at least, flew over the former Fort St. Joseph at Niles.

During its varied, colorful history, the bastion successively served French, British, Spanish and American interests, information in Michigan Historical Collections at the University of Michigan indicates.

Chief center of civilization in southwestern Michigan for almost a century, the fort was built in 1691 by the French. Its wooded ramparts stood about 30 miles up the winding St. Joseph River at the southern outskirts of Niles today. A huge glacial boulder marks the spot.

Jesuit missionaries had established a mission near there a year or so before and it was after their mission that the fort was named St. Joseph. Standing near where the mission was is a granite cross in memory of Father Claude Allouez who died about 1689.

The region at the time of the fort's construction was described by the French as the best farm land they had yet seen. Today it is the heart of the Lower Michigan fruit belt, and Berrien County, in which Niles is located, is one of the richest horticultural areas in North America.

Governor Frontenac of Canada had ordered the fort put up to prevent the British from moving into that part of the country and to control the Indians.

Important Indian trails leading from Fort Wayne and Detroit to the southern end of Lake Michigan came together near there. The fort controlled not only traffic over these interior trails but much travel between Canada and the Mississippi by way of the St. Joseph-Kankakee River highway as well.

The French abandoned the fort about 1697 or 1698, by decree of Louis XIV, but reoccupied it around 1720. Thirty-one years later red-coated British soldiers from Detroit marched into the outpost after defeating France in the French and Indian War.

The British Union Jack came down in a hurry May 25, 1763, when Indians, sent from Detroit by Chief Pontiac, killed all but four of the small garrison in but two minutes of battle. The four, including the garrison's commander, a young ensign, were taken to Detroit as prisoners and exchanged for Indian prisoners the British held.

Never permanently occupied after that, the fort was used as a base by traders. Then in 1781, an expedition of French and Spanish militia from what are now Cahokia, Ill., and St. Louis, Mo., struck when traders were absent and plundered the place.

Some have made the claim that the Spanish raised the flag of Spain, but Michigan Historical Collections material tends to disprove this belief. As it was the Spanish group stayed at the fort less than 24 hours, leaving before the victimized traders could organize a raid in reprisal.

Fort St. Joseph came under the Stars and Stripes when the U. S. acquired Michigan from the British in 1796. By that time the fort was in considerable disrepair and it is highly doubtful if the flag of the new nation ever actually flew there.

A state-wide contest to eliminate the promiscuous burning of fields and marshes has been announced by the Minnesota Division of Game and Fish, the Wildlife Management Institute. Cash prizes of $200, $150, and $100 have been offered to boys and girls turning in the greatest number of "no-burning" pledges from farmers with an additional 32 awards of merchandise ranging from outboard motors down to knives and fishing tackle.

The contest will be open to any member of a youth organization, such as 4-H Clubs, Future Farmers of America, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, and schools, sponsored by a conservation or sportsmen's organization. Special pledge blanks have been printed and are being distributed to these groups.

This program is one that could be emulated profitably by any other state where thoughtless spring burning is common. Burning of natural litter in fields has been found by scientists to increase erosion, destroy humus and soil fertility, accelerate the decay and rusting of fences, eliminate many valuable game food and cover plants, and create an excellent seed bed for the species of weeds which the burning seeks to eliminate.

The promiscuous burning of fields, marshes, fence rows, highway borders and right-of-ways, is a common cause of disastrous forest fires in many parts of the country. While wasteful at all times of the year it is particularly dangerous and harmful in the spring months.

Appointment of Farley F. Tubbs as the new chief of the conservation department's education division is announced. Tubbs succeeds C. A. (Frenchy) Paquin, who resigned last September to enter the resort business.

A department biologist since 1934, Tubbs assumed new duties several months ago as conservation consultant with the department of public instruction.

Principal in Stanton public schools for six years prior to joining the conservation department, Tubbs was graduated from Central State Teachers and Michigan State colleges. He came to the department from the W. K. Kellogg bird sanctuary near Battle Creek and was a game biologist until early 1948 when he was transferred to Roscommon in a supervisory capacity in game management in northern counties of the lower peninsula. He returned to Lansing last fall to advance the program of conservation education in Michigan public schools.

Announcing the appointment, Director P. J. Hoffmaster said: "Tubbs has excellent academic training and is qualified to push forward the department's program of conservation education. In his years with the department he has made thousands of public contacts and is recognized as having broad knowledge of Michigan game affairs."

KNOW TO WIN FRIENDS and INFLUENCE PEOPLE
LEARNING TO LIVE

LUCILE BLAKE, whom I have known many years, told me she had to tremble on the edge of tragedy and weep with bitterness and despair before she learned how to live.

Nine years ago she got the shock of her life. She had been living in a whirl—studying music at the University of Arizona, conducting a speech clinic in the town and teaching a class in music appreciation at the ranch where she lived. In addition to all this, she was in a gay social whirl—riding, dancing, picnicking. Then one day she collapsed. The doctor told her she would have to be absolutely inactive for at least a year, and that she would have to spend that inactivity actually in bed—a complete rest.

This sudden change from the life she desired affected her deeply. She went to bed, but she was rebellious, even bitter. Why did this have to happen to her?

One day an artist-friend called on her. He said, "You think now that spending a year in bed will be a tragedy. You won't think so at the end of the year, for you will have a chance to grow spiritually and mentally."

After this friend had gone, Lucile thought over what he had said, thought about it day after day. Then she heard a radio commentator say, "You can express only what is in your own consciousness." That, too, gave her food for thought.

So she resolved to think only the thoughts she wanted to live by—happy, joyous thoughts, thoughts of happiness and health. This wasn't easy at first, but she stuck to it. She enumerated her blessings—a lovely young daughter, good eyesight, time for reading and any number of good friends who lightened the hours for her.

The result? Well, that year in bed passed swiftly. After she was able to get about again and resume normal activities, she was a made-over person. For nine years she has been grateful for having had that year in which to learn how to live. The habit of counting her blessings is still with her, one of her most prized possessions, and she says she is truly ashamed that she never really learned how to live until she thought she was going to die.

Babson Says Babson Discusses Farm Prices

Of course, farm prices will ultimately be dependent upon supply and demand. With or without parity they are bound to sell lower. Whenever great surpluses occur in any product, black markets develop. Potatoes, which cannot be preserved, may be thrown overboard; but the public will never stand for throwing wheat, corn and other cereals overboard. The cost of living for 1949 will be less than that for 1948.

ONE of radio's most charming persons is lovely Fran Allison who delights her audience with her interpretation of a gossip spinster, "Aunt Fanny," of ABC's "Breakfast Club" . . . There aren't enough adjectives in the dictionary to describe Fran but the most obvious would be gracious, beautiful, witty and versatile . . . Coming from a small town in Iowa, Fran Allison Fran has all the homey goodness and friendliness of a person raised in the rural section where people have a "Brotherhood Week" 52 weeks a year.

Fran is doing extremely well in television, also, starring in one of the most popular video shows in the country, "Kukla, Fran and Ollie," televised at WBEZ, Chicago, and fed to the NBC network . . . She is the only live character on the puppet show and a lovely fence she makes . . . Just as she ad libs her "Aunt Fanny" role, she also ad libs through the half-hour television show, a feat at which she is most adept . . . In contrast to her sparkling portrayal of spinster Fanny, Fran is happily married in real life.

farmer now gets will be eliminated. It may automatically and gradually be decreased; but parity for farm products is here to stay. Farmers may at last feel that they are going to be taken care of as have other groups.

The government does not compel the farmer to sell at any definite price, but rather merely offers to "loan" the farmer a parity price of his product. The government calls it a "loan"; but it really is not a loan because, unlike other loans, if the value of the product goes down below the amount of the "loan", the farmer is not compelled to make up this difference. It is a unique proposition of "heads I win, tails you lose" always in favor of the farmer.

Let's Look at the Farmer

When I was a boy there were almost no government subsidies of any kind. As a result, our government which is now spending 44 billion a year, got on with less than one billion a year. The first subsidy was that of the protective tariff. This was just as much of a subsidy to manufacturers as parity support is now to the farmers. It is very difficult to get tariffs removed after they have once been put on the books. The next subsidy was given to those who would build and operate steamboats. These subsidies have constantly been increased rather than diminished. In the meantime, pension subsidies were given to Civil War veterans, then to Spanish War veterans, and later to World War veterans. These subsidies started in a small way, but here again, they have constantly increased. Labor has received a subsidy by government supporting labor unions and permitting us consumers to be assigned for increased wages.

Perhaps the greatest subsidy is that paid to unneeded government employees. To supply these and other funds INCOME TAXES were invented. It is well to remind younger readers that the normal income tax in 1913 was only 1 or 2 percent and the highest tax for the richest people went up to only 5 percent. This has gradually been increased so that the normal is now over 20 percent and the taxes gradually increase so that the rich people pay over 90 percent! Hence, the farmer is justified in asking that he likewise be taken care of as well as these useless government employees in unnecessary government bureaus.

The Farmers Future
Many talk of parity as a temporary affair, but I can assure farmers that it will be just as permanent as tariffs, soldiers' pensions, labor legislation and income taxes. The parity program may be adjusted from time to time in accordance with general business conditions; but farmers can depend upon it forevermore. I forecast that from now on whatever the administration the farmer will be taken care of as he should be.

The above is one reason why I am optimistic on good farm property as insurance. Large commercial farms may be attacked as other large corporations, although they also deserve protection. I believe, however, that the small sustenance farms which are fairly near good communities are an excellent insurance. Every family should own such a sustenance farm somewhere. This does not mean to leave a good city job and go into farming as a business. I do not recommend small farming as a business, but I do recommend it as an insurance, and as a place to live and get your food, clothing and necessary shelter in case of World War III. Furthermore, as people wake up to the importance of such insurance, these farms will become more in demand and hence, should be a good investment if bought at a right price.

This Week's Public Issue

SHOULD TRUMAN GO TO EASTERN EUROPE, MEET STALIN?

(Editor's Note)

The Plymouth Mail this week presents a new column prepared by the University of Michigan department of political science. By presenting pertinent facts on both sides of a public issue, the column is designed to encourage more discussion and expression of ideas on matters of general concern.

Background

In an answer to an inquiry from an American newspaperman, Premier Stalin stated on January 30 that: (1) he had "no objection" to meeting President Truman, (2) that he would be prepared to consider joint issuance of a peace declaration, (3) that Russia naturally would cooperate with the United States in disarmament, and (4) that the Berlin blockade would be lifted on certain conditions. Later, Stalin sent a message to the correspondent suggesting a meeting with President Truman in Russia, Poland or Czechoslovakia. He said that his health would not permit him to make a longer journey.

American Presidents have crossed the Atlantic three times to meet with Stalin and the prime minister of Great Britain. President Roosevelt went to Teheran, the capital of Iran, for the first of these meetings in November, 1943. He went again to Yalta in southern Russia in February, 1945. President Truman went to Potsdam, Germany, in July, 1945. At these meetings, agreements were reached on problems connected with the concluding stages of the war, the occupation of Germany and Japan, and the preliminary phases of the peace-making.

Since July, 1945, there has been no meeting of the so-called Big Three, Stalin, Truman and Attlee. Conferences have been held by our Secretary of State and the Foreign Ministers of Great Britain, the Soviet Union and France, for the purpose of drawing up peace treaties with Italy, Rumania, Bulgaria, Hungary, Austria and Germany. Agreement was reached on the terms for the first four, but sharp disputes arose over the proposed settlements in the case of Austria and Germany and no treaties have been signed with these countries. The difference of opinion over currency control and other arrangements for occupied Germany has been very sharp. As a result of this disagreement, the Russians in June, 1948, cut off all surface transportation between the western part of the country and Berlin. In that city, the western powers have been able to maintain their position only by use of cargo planes, the well-known Air Bridge.

Some of the chief arguments which have been advanced on this issue are:

Yes
1. Truman should be willing to sit down to discuss our common problems with Stalin, just as Roosevelt did. What do we have to lose by talking? Political leaders are paid to do that and prevent shooting. A little talk might pay big dividends.

No
1. Actions speak louder than words. We have talked enough with the Russians to know that they expect more concessions from us than they will make on their side. Even if we deal with them on that basis, they don't keep the promises they make, such as the promise to guarantee free elections in Poland or to treat Germany as an economic unit. If they mean business now, let them show it by raising the Berlin blockade and so keeping their promise to treat Germany as an economic unit, with no trade barriers between the different zones of occupation.

2. If Truman should go to Eastern Europe the Russian propagandists would interpret this move as an admission of weakness on our part, since our representatives would be going to territory under Soviet control to negotiate on the Communists'

3. Any meeting of Truman and Stalin by themselves would offend our British and French allies who are as much or more involved in these European problems as we are. They would suspect us of being willing to make a deal with Stalin behind their backs and "sell them down the river." The Russians can always negotiate with us through the United Nations or through ordinary diplomatic procedure. France and Great Britain might participate in both of these.

Your Opinion Is Important
Which parts of this reasoning seem strong to you? Which seem weak? Do you think of other points which might be made? Do you think any "in-between" position might be possible and desirable?

After you have thought over this week's public issue and formed an opinion on it, if you wish, to write to one or more of the appropriate public officials in this case they would be the President and the Secretary of State, Washington, D. C.
