YES, TELL US, HOW COME?

Now that Secretary of Labor Maurice J. Tobin is trying so desperately to have congress throw out the Taft-Hartley law, there are many who would like to ask him why.

During the campaign last fall, he told the country in numerous campaign speeches that this law was a "slave" labor law. It was a "slave" labor law because it restored to employers a right of free speech, which had been denied previously.

Now that the election is all over and Tobin is assured of his job for another four years, he says:

"The year 1949 finds the American wage earner better off than any other wage earner in the world, and assured that his freedom will be protected and his economic advantages improved."

Tell us, Mr. Tobin, how "slave" labor can be enjoying this glorified position under the Taft-Hartley law, which you say must be repealed?

CONGRATULATIONS — JOHN.

A few days ago John A. Wagner of Battle Creek, retiring chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, mailed out to members of the various county committees a general review of the work of the state party organization and a discussion of some of the problems facing the party.

It was an able presentation and one that Mr. Wagner can feel proud of. He can also feel proud of the fact that he has done well as state chairman. While not always victorious, he has kept his campaigns clean and honorable. He has pointed out some serious defects in the state's election laws that should be corrected—and he issues a general word of thanks to all who assisted him in the tremendous task he has carried in recent years.

Michigan Republicans owe much to Mr. Wagner for the work he has done not only to improve his party organization, but for his efforts to keep Michigan's political campaigns on a high level.

WE AGREE WITH MR. TRUMAN.

We do not know just what it was that President Truman said about Drew Pearson the other day. But whatever the President said about him, we fully agree with the President. How Pearson gets away with his faking political campaigns is more than we can understand. Maybe the President, if he keeps after this political faker, will catch up with him and the country will be relieved of hearing his gab every Sunday night. Michigan got rid of Gerald L. K. Smith. Let's hope Washington can get rid of Pearson.

FEEDING THE WELL-FED WELFAREES.

There has been quite a lot in the newspapers lately about the welfare rackets in Detroit. It is charged (and denied) that millions of dollars have been wasted each year in payments of welfare money to people who did not need welfare assistance.

No one can deny or will deny, if they know anything about welfare problems, the statement that vast sums of money have been and are being chiseled out of the pockets of the taxpayers every day of the year by welfare applicants.

Back in the years when the New Dealers were in power and were putting into laws their various "reform" ideas, it was their INTENT and DESIRE that the entire welfare load of cities and villages be carried by the state at large.

The writer strenuously opposed the plan at that time. It was our contention that if the cost of welfare was taken away from local units of government, where local officials and local taxpayers are always watchful of how public money is being spent, that there would be a tremendous waste of tax dollars.

When some public hiring in Detroit has at his disposal money that comes out of Lansing, do you suppose for one minute he is as careful of those dollars as he would be if all of it came out of the pockets of Detroit taxpayers? Of course not.

There was a compromise of contending ideas, finally resulting in the state paying half of the welfare funds and the counties the rest of it. That helped some, but not much.

How can we stop the welfare racket? Simply put the entire cost of welfare on the communities where welfare dollars are spent. You will see the racket end in 24 hours if we do that.

THE MIDDLE-CLASS PARTY.

Recently there appeared in all of the Hearst papers throughout the country a highly important editorial dealing with the political party question of this nation.

It appealed greatly to us because of the fact that for a long period we have had a similar thought in our own mind. We urge you to read all of it—and if you do—we are fully convinced that you will agree with its logic. The editorial follows:

If there is to be a reformation of national politics and a revival of constitutionalism, it can be brought about only by REPUBLICAN initiative.

For the Democratic party, being the captive of the New Deal, cannot divest itself of its Fabian socialism and its communistic fringe.

It can only drive out its better elements—and in fact it is gradually doing so.

To these prospective political exiles the Republican "conservatives" or moderates should extend a sympathetic and welcoming hand.

Together, the moderate Republicans and Democrats can accomplish the real desire of both.

But neither of them can succeed unless they DO get together.

The situation is obscure to many, and seemingly impossible to some, because technically the Republican and Democratic parties still appear to be what they always were.

BUT THE APPEARANCE IS FALSE.

Both parties have forsaken their historic principles, so that neither of them now stands for much that is American, and neither of them can counsel harmoniously within itself.

In the aftermath of their humiliating but by no means disastrous defeat, the Republicans are laboring vainly to reconcile irreconcilable factions.

The Democrats—whose November victory was a fluke rather than a triumph—have the same disunity.

The freak election excluded the Republican party from power, but it did not reinstate THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY.

It merely re-confirmed the New Deal, giving renewed impetus to the illicit movement toward NATIONAL SOCIALISM under ONE-PARTY GOVERNMENT.

The conclusion is not a conjecture.

It presented itself in President Truman's socialistic message to Congress on "the State of the Union."

The basic cause of the current confusion—and of the New Deal's unpredicted longevity—is that both parties, preferring public office to American principles, have pretended alike to be "all things to all men."

Both have bargained for the support of "liberals" or radicals, while "conservatives" or moderates have passively remained in their old party frameworks because they had no place else to go.

To an unequal degree, both parties have succeeded in alluring voters—and also job hunters—from "somewhat left of center."

Kiwanis Urges Lenten Church Attendance

Kiwanians laying out the program which urges church attendance of the club members during Lent include, left to right: James Gallimore, Frederick Thomas, Michael Huber, and Dr. A. E. VanOrnum.

Kiwanis club, following the organization's objective of supporting churches, has established a program which urges the members to attend church during the Lenten season.

The club has asked Rotary, Hi-12 and Lions clubs to observe a similar program, requesting that a record of their respective members' attendance be kept for comparison at Easter time.

Working on the Kiwanis program are members of the Underprivileged Children's committee, Church committee, and Boys and Girls committee. Michael Huber and James Gallimore are acting as chairmen of the project, and other leadership in instituting the program is being given by Fred Thomas and Dr. A. E. Van Ornum. Assisting the chairmen are committee members: William Elzerman, Ray Bachelder, Wendell Lent, the Rev. Frederick Poole, Sidney Patton, Dean Saxton, Elmer Austin, Dr. Lance Wright, Carvel Bentley, Barton Rogers, Pat Wiltse, Earl Mastick, the Rev. Alexander Miller and James Sexton.

Writing an essay on the topic, "Why We Should Go to Church on Sunday," Mr. Gallimore asserts, "Haven't we the right to worship God as we see fit, and each in his own way? But how many avail themselves of that opportunity, and show their children the way? There are too many people, old and young, who would not want to see our churches closed, but seldom attend them. It is supposed we live in a Christian country, yet it is the minority who go to church or support it.

Over 1,200 Attend Cub Exhibit Here

This year's annual Den Project exhibit, sponsored by the Sunset district of the Detroit Area Council, turned out to be the biggest project of its kind ever attempted.

It was estimated that between 1200 and 1400 attended the exhibit program in Plymouth last Saturday evening. Sixty-one exhibits, representing projects undertaken by 61 different dens from the 15 packs taking part, were displayed in the high school auditorium, and in the halls of the school. Officials judged the entire program to be about 25 percent larger than that held last year.

First and second place awards went to the Belleville Methodist church pack, and the third prize went to the Clarenceville school Cub pack. The first was for a project of salt modeling, and the Red Cross Drive Hits 65 Percent

"It's coming along in fine shape," Ernest Henry, chairman of the Red Cross drive in Plymouth, responded this week when questioned as to the success of the local drive for funds, "and there is every reason to believe residents will continue cooperating until the goal is met."

He upheld this statement with the announcement that the thermometer in the park will be painted up to the 65 percent mark. This same thermometer was all repeated this past week by city crews, the chairman

She told that 24 groups in this vicinity, including Rose-dale Gardens, Newburg and Livonia township, have worked on the pads within the past year. Altogether she estimates that 250 individuals have taken part in the project. The work, however, is not complete.

Orthopedic Group Stages Election; Brake Retires

Charles Brake of Plymouth has retired from the office of president of the Wayne Out-County Chapter of the Michigan Society for Crippled Children and Adults after more than 11 years of service.

His office of president was elected to the Rev. William J. Kuhlman of the Taylor Rotary club, at the election meeting held by the new board of the Society on Monday.

Other officers elected at that time were Lynn Sullivan of the Northville Rotary club as vice president, Russel Price of the Belleville club as treasurer, and Mrs. Herma Taylor, Society field worker, was chosen secretary.

Other board members who were elected at the annual meeting on March 7 are: Robert Wiloughby of Plymouth, Russell Amerman of Northville, Allen Bowen of Taylor, T. G. Kuckelmann of Belleville, Georgiana Reid, director of nursing for the Wayne County Health department, and Ralph Ellsworth of Garden City.

Most of those elected are members of Rotary clubs from throughout the vicinity. The club undertakes assistance with the Society's work, as one of the organization's national projects, deals with aiding crippled persons.

At the annual meeting Rotary District Governor John Smith, conducted a roll call of the 13 clubs in the Wayne Out-County area. Plymouth Rotary Observes 25 Year Mark Next Week

Twenty-five years ago The Plymouth Mail carried a front page story under the caption "A Rotary Club Organized Here."

In observance of the passing of the quarter century mark, the club will officially observe the anniversary on March 25. It was originally organized on March 6, 1924.

Plymouth's Rotary club started out with a membership of 23, the story in the 25 year old paper states. The entire group met for the organizational meeting in the Penniman Allen auditorium, with dinner served by members of the Eastern Star in the dining room.

George A. Smith was chosen by his colleagues to be the club's first president. To E. C. Hough went the office of vice-president, and William Wood was selected as secretary. The office of treasurer was filled by Sidney D. Strong, and Frank Rambo was elected sergeant at arms.

In addition to these men, Charles Mather, Dr. B. E. Champ and O. F. Beyer were elected to the board of directors. Special guests at that momentous meeting of the club included members of the Wayne club, Dr. Edward Lee of Wayne, who acted as installing officer, Walter J. O'Brien of Wayne, and Mr. Haskell, secretary of the Detroit Rotary club.

Fire Hits Close to Home Monday

The staff of the Plymouth Mail listened attentively for the drone of the fire alarm Monday afternoon.

It wasn't that they were looking for news for this week's edition, but because the tool shed located behind the main building was ablaze.

A bit of poking around after the truck left revealed that not only was the building a charred and total loss, but also those things which had at one time been its contents. Perhaps the greatest personal loss was felt by the editor when he discovered all his duck decoys had gone up with the flames.

Tom King Directs Organization of Michigan State Alumni Club Here

Tom King

Formation of a Michigan State College Alumni club for this area was discussed by Tom King, college alumni relations director, when he met with a group of former students Monday evening.

Such an organization would include alumni residing in Ply-

School officials in conjunction with their attorneys and tax consultants announced this week that the average cost to local taxpayers of their proposed building plan would be an average of about $3.20 per thousand of assessed valuation over a fifteen year period.

The estimate of the actual cost over the fifteen years is based on a tax table which appears on page 4 of the second section of this issue of The Mail.

The $3.20 figure is arrived at on the basis of the selling of school bonds at 3 percent interest. If the bonds are to be sold at a 2 1/2 percent interest the actual cost to local taxpayers, according to the board, would be about $3 per thousand of assessed valuation.

On the tax collection schedule as proposed by the board, taxpayers would pay $6 per thousand the first two years to provide a sinking fund or cushion to offer added protection to bond buyers and from these first two years the rate of assessment would decrease until a low of $2.30 in 1963 and '64.

Official action was taken by the board at a special meeting held last Thursday to set the rate and approve their proposed building program. Electors will be asked to go to the polls on Monday, March 28 to approve or disapprove the building program.

The last day for registration for this election is this Saturday and voters may register at the high school or at the Starkweather school. Both offices will remain open all day Saturday. Only registered voters may vote in this election.

K-F Recall Order Lightens Local Unemployment

The return to work of approximately 400 Kaiser-Frazier employees in this immediate area appreciably lightened the city's highest unemployment figure. The number still remains far above normal, however, reported Clarence Jetter, branch manager and claims examiner for the Plymouth branch of the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Commission.

Classed as heartening news is the statement made by Mr. Jetter that the number of new claims that dropped in the past week. Of equal importance was the announcement that there has been a slight increase in the number of job openings called in to the local office.

A recent trend of affairs at the commission office indicates that more and more are choosing mouth, Northville, Livonia and Farmington.

Tentative plans were made at that time for an April 22 organizational dinner meeting at the Hotel Mayflower. The college will contact all alumni members they have listed for a confirmation of all plans. Any persons living in the area, but whose correct address the college does not have, and hence does not contact, can secure additional information from Arthur Jenkins.

The need of a club in this area was emphasized by Mr. King when he pointed out that there are approximately 200 alumni living in this area. At the present time all these persons supposedly come under the Detroit jurisdiction, but, due to the distance, few are able to take an active part in that group.

Mr. King described the need

WHAT I THINK AND HAVE A RIGHT TO SAY

And neither party can now honestly claim to represent the convictions of its motley membership.

Both are loose amalgams of the same incompatible elements.

Each of them has a LEFT WING and a RIGHT WING in full disagreement and conflict with each other.

A division that might exist naturally BETWEEN the two parties now prevails illogically WITHIN them.

But the New Deal, utilizing the Democratic organization as its "front" and tool, HAS WON THE COMPETITION for support of the radicals and subsidized groups.

As long as the useless competition continues, and Republican leaders abase themselves to the New Deal level, THE REPUBLICANS MAY NEVER WIN A NATIONAL ELECTION AGAIN.

And that very circumstance dictates that the Republican party must do outside of Congress to rehabilitate itself—and perhaps to save the Republic once again.

Under Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Truman, the Democratic party has become the SOCIALIST Democratic Labor Party of the United States, akin to the Socialist and Social Democratic parties of Europe.

Because it is that the New Deal can confidently outbid the Republicans for collectivist votes from now on.

With its unscrupulous use of the treasury, it can continue to purchase the votes of self-interested farmers and of colonized urban tenants of public housing projects.

To offset these advantages, the Republican party, instead of trying any longer to compete unequally and hopelessly in demagoguery and discrimination—the Republican party can, and indeed must, ATTRACT TO ITSELF THE DIVIDED BUT DECISIVE MODERATE VOTE.

It must deserve especially the support of the millions of citizens who comprise the great, intelligent, productive, self-reliant and politically incorruptible MIDDLE CLASS.

This "class" is the social and economic spine of the nation.

And it is this "class," divided in its partisan loyalties, which suffers worst from the industrial strife engendered by unfair legislation and from the financial profligacy and confiscatory taxation of the New Deal.

It is this "class" which has the most to lose in liberty and in property under Fabian socialism and one-party government.

To achieve its manifest mission, the Republican party must reassert and represent constitutional government.

It must let the New Deal, wearing its purloined Democratic masquerade be the EUROPEANIZED party in the United States, and itself become the AMERICAN party—a national and not a sectional party, looking to the south as well as to the north and the east and the west.

In effect, it must TRADE with the New Deal—trade LEFT WING votes for RIGHT WING.

The trade will occur if the Republicans permit and compel it to occur—for the REPUBLICAN "liberals" and radicals ought to be on the New Deal Democratic side in form as they are in fact, while the Democratic "conservatives" or moderates as plainly belong with the Republicans.

And unless the actuality of a TWO-PARTY government is restored, we cannot escape the alternative evils of ONE-PARTY or MULTIPLE-PARTY government.

GENERAL EISENHOWER SHOULD KNOW.

Speaking a few days ago at a Lincoln day forum in New York, General Dwight D. Eisenhower warned that the United States is in danger of falling into the hands of a dictatorship without a shot being fired and no one killed.

What he said in part should be read by every citizen of this country, as the "drift" is directly towards the object of which he warns.

In part he said: "The kind of dictatorship under which we may fall today is not that possibly brought off by some individuals of history by means of a coup d'etat and a suddenly seized power, of the army, or the navy or some other kind of method or through guns or to put us all in straight jackets," Eisenhower said.

"There is a kind of dictatorship that can come about through a creeping paralysis of thought, readiness to accept paternalistic measures from the government, and, along with those paternalistic measures, coming a surrender of our own responsibilities, and therefore a surrender of our own thought over our own lives and our own right to exercise our vote dictating the policies of this country.

"If we allow this constant drift toward centralized bureaucratic government to continue, finally it will be expressed not only in the practice of laying down the rules and laws for governing each of us in daily actions to insure that we do not take unfair advantage of our comrades and other citizens, but finally it will be the actual field of operation.

"There'll be a swarming of bureaucrats over the land. Ownership of property will gradually drift into that central government, and finally you have to have dictatorship as the only means of operating such a huge and great organization.

"I believe it is things such as that that we must watch today if we are going to be true to the standards that Lincoln gave to all of us."

Eisenhower said Abraham Lincoln had no desire to rule others, that he served them instead.

"This is the true essence of liberty and freedom," he added, "yet there is nothing in Lincoln's life or writings that indicate he was a source of power. He was a director of power."

Poem Recalls Memories of Lodge Picnic at Island Lake Back in 1905

The picnic sponsored by the Plymouth Rock Lodge No. 47 F. & A. M. back in 1905 was immortalized in poetry by one of the members.

Mrs. Manna Blunk recently came across a copy of the verse which appeared in The Plymouth Mail at that time. It was reprinted in this month's copy of the Masonic publication, Square and Compass.

Andrew Taylor, Sr. is listed as the author of the poem which describes the trip to Island Lake near Brighton which was taken that year. Mrs. Blunk states she remembers that as a child her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Tuttle, used to take her to the lake. "Everyone went up on the train and then took the little steamer across to the other side where the hotel and cottages were, and also the picnic grounds," she added.

The poem reads as follows: THE MASON'S PICNIC

The Masons gave a picnic, 'Twas up to Island Lake, The ladies made up the lunches, And the men had them to take.

They played a game of baseball, And they made South Lyons sick, They didn't think the Plymouthites Were so handy with the stick.

Then after the game was over, With the boat they tried to cross, But the captain missed his bearings And the channel it was lost.

The boat ran on the bottom, And there we had to stay,

While the wind whistled around us, Like it does on Whitefish Bay.

Then up spoke a noble sailor, And says, "I'll save the ship," And there amongst the ladies, He then begins to strip.

At first his pants and then his shirt, The ladies thought it cute, For underneath his clothing, He had on his bathing suit.

He jumped right into the water, And pulled and hauled away, And the passengers they rocked the boat, And got her underway.

Then after the lunch was over, The boys began to swim, Some were fat and some were lean,

And some were very thin. Then out came Harry Robinson, Looking so fat and fine, And then came bald-headed Johnny Gale, Trailing along behind.

They swam out to the platform, Then the ladies had to cough, For when Johnny climbed upon it, His breeches had come off.

Then Pete Stever made it better, For Pete will have his say, He looked around at the ladies, And said, "Well, he's a white man anyway."

The number of hunters this year is estimated to be near 12 million.

Wolverines Take First Inter-City Tourney Game

Scoring a field goal as the final bell rang, Bud Carson gave the Class E Wolverines a first round 24-22 victory over Centerline at the Copernicus Junior High school in Hamtramck on Monday.

At the beginning of the third quarter Monday the Wolverines led 16-11, however, by the two minute mark Centerline sunk a basket to tie the game at 22 each. The score remained that way until the last few seconds when Bud Carson stole the ball at mid-court and raced in for a dog shot as the buzzer droned.

Bud Carson paced the Wolverines with nine points. In second place in the scoring category was Gary Sockow, who netted seven counters.

County Pioneer Taken by Death

Ed Starkweather, aged 80 years, a pioneer resident of this part of Wayne county and believed to be the oldest trotting horse breeder in Michigan, died at his home on Seven Mile road, west of Northville Sunday night.

One of the organizers of the Northville-Wayne County Fair association, he had served as one of its directors for more than 25 years. Mr. Starkweather was also one of the many residents of Northville who helped to promote the development of the Northville Downs racing meet, which has become one of the country's outstanding harness horse meets of the Midwest.

The funeral was held Wednesday. Mrs. Starkweather is the only survivor of the family.

ents do not go to church much after the wedding. Many more send their children to Sunday school instead of taking them with them. Oh, you may see them at church suppers and other functions. But it sometimes seems that many people go to church to be entertained, and it sometimes looks as if many churches stress entertainment.

"Why not go to church on Sunday? Can there be any real reason except apathy? The same attitude to our national welfare, by failing to vote, can lose us our democracy. We must work at democracy to keep it, and certainly work and practice Christianity, or lose it.

"Come to church on Sunday, not just through Lent, but regularly. One sometimes doubts that the annual church attendance and the Easter Parade can be powerful enough to last one through the year."

fined to organizations, for many individuals have done work in their homes. Mrs. Nichol told of one woman who has made 500 pads in the past six months.

Pads of all sizes are made under the direction of the Plymouth committee. They range from 8x8, to large bed pads measuring 24x36 with newspaper backs. Altogether they have turned out 5,444.

Supplies used included 14 large rolls of cellulose filler, or approximately 350 pounds. Residents of this area have responded generously to their appeal for white material, cotton or linen, which is needed as covers for the pads. Mrs. Nichol stated in conjunction with this remark that she can always use more.

Nine cancer patients in this locale are kept supplied with the pads by the local committee, and during the past year have used a total number of 3,027.

Canvassing in the city is still being carried on. Any persons who may not be contacted by a volunteer solicitor, however, may mail his or her contribution to the Plymouth Red Cross Drive, Plymouth, a report from Mr. Henry discloses.

A further request issued from local headquarters asks that all local residents contributing to the drive display their sticker in their window.

Livonia Youth Contest Winner

Larry David Miller, age seven, second grade student from Elm school, Livonia township, has just been notified that he is one of the nine first place winners from this state in Milton Bradley company's nation wide "America the Beautiful" Crayon Art Competition for kindergarten and grade school students. Larry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Miller of 13345 Merriman road.

Larry's drawing, titled "The Car Truck," was selected by a jury of nationally prominent art authorities as the best of those submitted in the second grade division from schools all over the state. He and the winners in the eight other grade classifications will receive mounted, engraved plaques in recognition of their achievement. National winners, chosen from state winners in each grade, will be presented with $500 government bond scholastic fund awards.

Judges for the annual competition are art editors of leading national publications. The judging was conducted at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York. Over 50,000 drawings were entered.

It is hard to say who is the more excited about Larry's success, he or his teachers, Virginia Borsos and Marjorie Becker, art supervisors, under whose guidance fledgling artists from Elm school prepared their entries. Many good entries were sent in from the Livonia schools. Marjorie Becker, art supervisor, Principal Catherine Thurman, and other teachers throughout the country are largely responsible for the success of the program, which has literally made dreams come true for hundreds of talented youngsters.

I REMEMBER...
By THE OLD-TIMERS.

From Ernest Kartje: "I remember the good times we youngsters used to have dancing the waltz, the two-step, the schottisch and the quadrille in the days before the fox-trot and jitterbugging."

From Robert H. Sedgwick: "I remember the tall-stemmed flowers that used to grow so abundantly in the prairies near our town before it grew up to be a big city. They were called Blue Bills or Shooting Stars. Whatever became of this species?"

From Henry H. Voeke: "I remember when kids from miles around would come into town on Sunday afternoon to see the old silent westerns, with Bill Hart, Francis X. Bushman and a guy called Billy who played either a sheriff or a bandit. Then there were such stars as Tommy Meighan, Ben Turpin, Charles Chaplin, the Gish sisters and Pearl White in the serials, 'The Perils of Pauline,' in which each episode always would end at the crucial moment and we had to wait a whole week to find out what would happen next. If you came in late you would receive a late check which was collected between performances and if we did not have a late check we would hide under the seats until the man was past us. After the show we went to an ice cream parlor nearby and bought a paper cone full of ice shaving saturated with some kind of sweet fruit syrup."

From Anon: "I remember when old-time photographers held your head steady with a vise when they took a tintype photograph."

First hand information on the "Prevention of Blindness" will be reported to Lions club members this evening, Thursday, by Judge Ned H. Smith.

Judge Smith, who is afflicted with the common pleas court of the city of Detroit, was overtaken with blindness after many years of normal sight. He is described as having "gone places" in spite of this handicap.

The office of president of the Detroit Society for the Prevention of Blindness is held by Judge Smith, and he is a member of the board of directors of the Metropolitan Council of Lions of America, and past president of the Downtown Lion's club.

An announcement from Lions club President Norman Marquis discloses that White Cane Week will be held from April 24 to 30.

Plymouth Rotary Observes 25 Year Mark Next Week

Plymouth Rotarians decided at this meeting that all future meetings would be held on Friday at 12:15, a tradition still followed today. The luncheons were then served by the women of the Eastern Star in the Masonic dining room. The first luncheon meeting was held March 14.

Defining the term Rotary, the newspaper account in 1924 stated: "Rotary represents simply the idea of service, the chief pledge of its members being to see that they shall consider service before self," and that by their example and their work for the community, in their businesses or professions and toward individuals, they shall give practical demonstration of the fact that 'he profits most who serves best.'

"The final organization of the club in this city is the result of a number of conferences that have been held by the local business and professional men, who, with the assistance of officers of the International organization, conducted a survey of the resources and possibilities of this community, with a special view as to whether or not a Rotary club would be of service to it."

Husbands to Take Over Central PTA

Husbands of Central Grade school Parent Teacher association officers will take over their duties for the Fathers' Night program next Tuesday, March 22 at 8 p.m.

Acting as directors of the meeting will be Jack Taylor as president, Kenneth Hulsing will assume the role of secretary, and Helmer Nelson will be treasurer for the evening.

The entire program has been promised to be "different" and to consist of show entitled "Truth or Take it" which will feature audience participation. A further description of the evening's events reveals a special contest which will also be conducted for which prizes will be awarded.

The program also lists entertainment by an outstanding Plymouth quartet. George Bowles has been named as master of ceremonies.

Prizes have been donated by D. Galin and Son, Terry's Bakery, Jones Standard Service and The Plymouth Mail.

In San Diego, plans were being made to patch up the grading and paving on Easy Street.

If Farmington wins the quarter final tilt they will play tomorrow night in the Jenison field house on the Michigan State campus in East Lansing in the semi-final round.

Three years ago the Falcons advanced to the quarter finals, only to be defeated. In the regional last week the Grand River school stopped a rejuvenated Northville squad 37-29.

Wolverines Win Class E Title

Scoring a 21-20 overtime victory over the Gems Wednesday, March 9, the Wolverines won the Class E championship.

At the end of regulation time the game was tied at 19 all. Then the Wolverines tallied a field goal while holding the Gems to a free shot to win the crown.

Jack Daggett and Bud Carson paced the winners with seven points each on two field goals and three free shots. Gary Sockow tallied five and Don Gronowicz hooped two for the Wolverines remaining points. Netting seven for the Gems was Carl Pursell.

For the right to meet the Wolverines the Gems had to beat the Spartans Tuesday, March 8, at DeHoco by the score of 30-29. Pursell's field goal in the dying moments of the game gave the Gems the victory.

The Gems outscored the Spartans ten to five in the last quarter to win. At the beginning of the fourth quarter the Spartans led 24-20. Carl Pursell and Hank Levering rattled in 11 apiece for the Gems, while three fellows, Ronnie Bouldin, Wally Hammond and Don Sutherland, each tossed in eight for the losers.

Joe's Jottings

The question was put to us the other day, "Why have playoffs?" This person continued that a first place team shouldn't have to compete with other squads in playoffs. We believe playoffs are a necessary item in sports. They give everyone a fair chance to the team that is in first place to the team in the last playoff position.

When regarding playoffs one cannot take the attitude of a first place squad. True sportsmen must pay attention to the teams that are far behind the leaders, the teams that keep the league together. They will fight to get a playoff position and this goal keeps interest alive among the teams in second, third and fourth places.

Take the National Professional Hockey league, for instance. Interest was a razor's edge in the last month because New York and Chicago could reach the playoffs with a little surge. This fact made the players work a bit harder while the rabid fans were streaming through the turnstiles. This regular click-click of the turnstiles will continue through the playoffs just because the fans like the playoffs. If a poll were taken among the fans and players, we believe an overwhelming "yes" would come up for the playoffs. They are a great investment in our daily sports picture. You cannot be selfish in America and take it all, the lower teams must be given a chance.

These recreation basketball tournaments are fine not only in an athletic sense but also in an educational manner. Last Monday we traveled to Copernicus Junior High with the Class E Wolverines for their tournament. Even this junior high school has two gyms that would make any Suburban B school proud. This Hamtramck school has a great athletic plant plus spacious rooms. It is no wonder that Hamtramck has such fine athletes.

One of those games that should be missed comes up on Monday evening in the Plymouth High school gymnasium when the Jerry Lynch all-stars of Detroit meet the Plymouth Men's league all-stars. This game ought to reveal to city fans just how good John Sandmann and Sammy Slough really are. These two are best in the city league.

In the next few months high school sports will predominate with four sports being represented. Ken Moiso's lads will see action first on April 8 facing the league and state champions, Ypsilanti. For the past few weeks the trackmen have been figuring on paper at least how they will beat Ypsilanti. John Sandmann's baseball squad will get into action the latest by April 29 against Belleville. Sandmann's most important job is to fill the gap at third base left vacated by the departure of Gil Wasalaski from the baseball wars. The Rocks have four good pitchers in Mickey Brown, Jack Scheel, Wally Dzurus and Dave Reitzel. Two other squads, golf and tennis under Eddie Bender and Carvel Bentley respectively, will be set to start winning more honors for Plymouth High come the month of April. Out of these four sports a championship should be salvaged. Plymouth hasn't won a Suburban B crown in four years of existence. Maybe this is the year.

Athletic Head Reveals School Baseball Slate

Seven games will make up the Plymouth High school baseball schedule this spring. This fact was revealed last week by Arthur Alford, school athletic director.

Five league games and two non-league encounters with Northville and Inkster will comprise the slate. The opening game is with Belleville on their new diamond on Friday, April 29. Then comes Ypsi, Trenton, Redford Union, Inkster, Wayne and Northville. Of the seven scheduled, three games will be abroad.

Thus far only the batterymen have been able to work out in the gym last hour. Working out for the Rocks squad are veterans Mickey Brown, Jack Scheel, Dave Reitzel, and a sophomore, Wally Dzurus, Reitzel and Dzurus are southpaws. Holding forth behind the plate will be Jerry Harder and Bob Gow. Expected players that will report in a few days are infielders, Bill Newstead and Phil Bosman; outfielders, Larry Finney and Fletch Campbell.

Last season the Rocks hung up a six won, three lost record under John Klingeberger. This year John Sandmann will coach the lads with Klingeberger assisting.

Plymouth Boys Fight in Wayne

Participating in boxing bouts in Wayne on Wednesday, March 9, were several young Plymouth pugilists.

Jim Rutherford was knocked out in one minute and 40 seconds of the first round by Fisher. In other exhibition bouts, Manchaco fought Lehman and Cram and Ottensman fought Wayne opponents.

Ramblers Play in Detroit for State Cage Tournament

Captained by Ron Hees, the Ramblers, champs of the city recreation Class D basketball league, played their first game in the state tournament last night.

The Plymouth lads played the Detroit entrant at the Lasky Community center in Detroit. If the Ramblers won last night they are slated to meet the Hamtramck representative tonight at Lasky at 9 p.m. If they win this one they will play the Highland Park-Dearborn winner Saturday at 8 p.m. for the state title.

Lasky Community center is at Conant and Davison on the Motor City's northeast side.

Members of the Ramblers are captain Ron Hees, Ed Whipple, Bruce MacGregor, Doug Phillips, Fletch Campbell, Noel Litsenberger and Dick McKinley. The Ramblers were one of the two recreation teams in the city cage program that went through their entire league play without a loss. To establish this record the Ramblers had to stop the determined Hoots, who finished second in the D division.

Sport Shop Wins Four Straight to Take City League Cage Crown

Winning four consecutive games in the Men's league playoffs, Sport Shop took the playoff championship in the league and thereby the right to enter the district Michigan Recreation basketball finals.

Sport Shop topped its performance Friday evening at DeHoco when they downed the institution's star aggregation by the lopsided score of 60-44. The Shoppers went off into a 13-11 lead at the end of the first quarter and they increased that to 29-21 at the half. Sport Shop dominated the play in the remaining two quarters to insure victory.

Sampier, who was a tower of strength during the playoffs for the Sport Shop five, hooped 21 points to show the Shoppers way to victory. In second place in the scoring department was Robert Bentley, diminutive guard, who netted 19 points on seven field goals and five free shots. Sammy Slough paced the losers with 15 points.

To meet Sport Shop in the finals Dehoco had to eliminate the regular season winners, First National Bank. They accomplished this task, but they were extremely fortunate to do so. The final score was 33-32 for Dehoco, Wednesday at the high school, but at one time the winners were on the short end of a 25-14 score midway in the third quarter. Then Sammy Slough and Cowboy Mialowski began hitting on their long shots. In the last quarter the high point man of the league, Slough, sank three under hand long shots. Cowboy Mialowski also netted three

Red Sox Rally to Beat Firemen in Class F Final

Although the Red Sox were behind by eight points with three minutes remaining in the game, they beat the Firemen 36-33 to win the Class F basketball playoff Friday at Dehoco.

The Red Sox played their first tournament game last night at Copernicus Junior High in Hamtramck. If they won they play Friday at Copernicus at 7 p.m. in the finals. Copernicus is at Caniff and Charest in Hamtramck.

Rocks Trackmen Meet Ypsilanti

Preparing for the defending champs of the Suburban B, Ypsilanti, the Rock trackmen are working out these days in the halls after school and outside when weather permits.

If the Rocks want to win the Suburban B track title they must beat powerful Ypsi, who won the State Class B crown last year. Coach Konrad Moiso's hopefuls meet the Braves on April 8, but where, is a question. The site of the battle depends on the condition of the Plymouth track around the football field. If the track isn't in condition the meet will be run at the Island Park course in Ypsilanti.

This year Coach Moiso will build his team around such fellows as Irving Stewart, Paul Harding, Jim Wagenschutz, Dave Heinzen and Louis Vargha.

The league championship will be held on the Island Park course at Ypsilanti on May 13 at 1:30 p.m. This meet was changed to Ypsi from Plymouth because of the condition of the track which was mentioned before. The state meet will be held at East Lansing on May 28.

SCHEDULE

- April 8-Ypsi, here or there based on track condition.
- April 12-Trenton, here or there based on track condition.

Otwell Attends Indoor Comfort Conference

"Continuous Air Circulation is the latest improvement in the search for true wintertime indoor comfort in the home," announces Bill Otwell of Otwell Heating and Supply who recently attended a three-day Indoor Comfort conference for heating men at the Hotel Sheraton in Detroit.

While attending the conference, Mr. Otwell studied the adjustment details that go into conditioning a heating system for continuous air circulation, as well as important features of making heat loss calculation and the design of gravity, winter air conditioning and ceiling panel systems.

The Detroit Indoor Comfort conference was one of a number of similar warm air heating meetings which are being conducted by the National Warm Air Heating and Air Conditioning association in major cities throughout the nation this year. These conferences are part of the association's trade education program to enable warm air heating dealers to provide home builders and home owners with heating installations designed to furnish year around indoor comfort.

Three hundred live-attractive Boy Scout exhibits will be displayed at the big Scouting Exposition at Convention hall on April 21, 22 and 23.

Plymouth Scouts will take part in the program, according to a report from Harold H. Schryer. This exhibit being prepared by the Scouts and leaders of the Detroit metropolitan area, will help dramatize to the public all phases of Scouting. Scouts working in booths will be used to display the various interests of Scouts such as pioneering, log rolling, Indian lore and dances, aerodynamics, and hand-loom weaving. Puppets made and demonstrated, and many other hobbies, skills and handicrafts of the Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Senior Scouts of the Detroit Area council will be shown.

Headed by John S. Bugas, vice president of the Ford Motor company, a committee of leading citizens are aiding in the promotion of the exposition. Assisting general chairman Mr. Bugas are: George W. Williams, Detroit Trust company, finance; Walter O. Briggs, Jr., Briggs Manufacturing company, physical arrangements; W. G. Lerchen, investment banker, reception and guests; Judge Thomas Thornton, U. One of the basic rights of every American is freedom of choice. Yet, under the system of "socialized medicine", this freedom would be restricted. Yes, under "socialized medicine", you would not be able to choose freely your own doctor. Instead a political appointee would choose for you, with no consideration of personal preference or interest involved. Clearly, such a system would cause a gradual breaking down of the human relationship between doctor and patient—one of the contributing factors that have made our medical standards the world's highest. The process of prescription compounding is one that requires the 9th degree of precision in every weight and measurement. Close is not close enough. Your doctor has decided upon the proportion of ingredients which is just right for your condition—and to do less than to exert the last measure of painstaking professional skill and accuracy to carry through his plan for your health, would be to fail in our responsibility to you. Our long record of service to our community is ample proof that we have never failed that trust.

Euchre Tourney Comes to Close

Latest news of the Euchre tournament between the Twelve Point club and the Fox club discloses that the members of the latter club walked off with the top prize at the play-offs Monday evening.

A dinner, however, has been won by the Twelve Point club, and will be given March 28 by the Fox club.

Officials of the group also report that Matt Evert got another fox last weekend. Another announcement reveals that due to present weather conditions, the Fox club will give the fox a brief rest and concentrate on eliminating a few crows. To date, the club has accounted for approximately 100 crows and 15 hawks.

Last week the club received a live owl from the Conservation department which will be used as a decoy for shooting crows.

Daisy Sends Top Exhibit to Show

The Daisy Manufacturing company, makers of Daisy Air Rifles, have a record showing at the 46th annual American Toy Fair which is being held in New York City from March 7-18, Cass S. Hough, vice president of the company, announced this week.

"With the large birthrate of 1948 added to the record number of births since 1939, there is no doubt about the potential of toy department customers offering peak sales possibilities in all age groups," according to Kenneth P. Fallon, president of the Toy Manufacturers of the U.S.A., sponsors of the American Toy Fair, the world's largest exhibit of toys, which will cover more than ten acres of display space. Last year the toy fair was visited by more than 10,000 buyers.

"Results of research and new manufacturing methods will be reflected in many improvements designed to increase play value of American toys and give purchasers more for their money," Mr. Fallon said.

"The accent in toy design is on career building," Mr. Fallon continued. "The 1949 toy crop promises America's 43,000,000 children under 18 a record opportunity to determine aptitudes and develop abilities. Toyland, 1949 style, will reproduce every phase of American life in purposeful miniatures designed for fun and education."

"Research conducted by American toy makers to determine age interests will make it easier for parents, relatives and friends to choose toys with maximum play value and fun appeal through informative labels and package directions."

New Plymouth on Display Here Friday

Plymouth's new special deluxe four-door sedan (above). Throughout the new Plymouth line beautifully streamlined bodies are lower and narrower, seats are wider and headroom greater. At the same time overall exterior dimensions are reduced, but wheelbase has been lengthened to 118 inches and glass area is increased. Horsepower is raised to 97. Although fenders flow gracefully into the body they are detachable for ease in repair.

Brilliant new styling is combined with outstanding riding comfort, increased roominess, and sweeping mechanical improvements in the new line of Plymouth automobiles.

In Plymouth the new models will be displayed tomorrow at Forest Motor Sales and Ann Arbor Road Motors.

Completely redesigned, the new Plymouth has a longer wheelbase for a better ride and more road stability, but less front and rear overhang for easier parking and garaging. While the silhouette has been lowered and the width decreased, there is more head and leg room and seats are wider. Typical of Plymouth's many refinements is the ignition-starter combination, with which a turn of the key starts the engine.

The new Plymouths are sleek in appearance. New rear-end styling provides a graceful balance with the horizontal grille lines which emphasize the broadness of the front. Fenders which blend perfectly into body lines are nevertheless separate and detachable, thus avoiding sheet metal panels so costly to repair or replace.

The new Plymouth line includes nine distinct automobiles. Special deluxe and deluxe types are on a 118-inch wheelbase, one inch longer than last year's. Special deluxe models are: four-door sedan, club coupe, convertible club coupe and station wagon. In the deluxe group are the four-door sedan and the club coupe. In addition, Plymouth will build three deluxe models on a brand new 11-inch wheelbase, a two-door sedan, a three-passenger coupe, and a new body type, the Suburban.

The 97-horsepower engine has improved performance and efficiency with a new design cylinder head which increases compression ratio to 7 to 1. A new chrome plated compression piston ring reduces cylinder wear and provides greater protection during the break-in period. There are improved oil rings for greater oil economy, while a newly-designed intake manifold induces quicker, smoother engine warm-up and produces a faster throttle response.

Body styling which produces greater passenger room without excessive bulk also increases visibility. V-type windshields have 37 percent more area and provide excellent vision without distortion. Windshield wipers clear 61.5 percent greater area and the rear window is 35.4 percent larger.

The April election for township officials will feature a strictly Republican list of candidates for offices. At this time there is no Democratic opposition, it was emphasized. This announcement was made to correct the statement that there would be Democrats opposing current office holders in the next election.

City Chess Club Beats Ferndale

The Plymouth Chess club defeated the Ferndale Chess club on Friday, March 11, at Ferndale. Eleven boards were played with Plymouth winning seven.

The Plymouth club has an unusually fine record as they have not been beaten since January, 1948. Such organizations as Dearborn, Ford Motor company, Detroit Edison of Detroit, and Ferndale have been met in past years. Responsible for the success of the club are the fine records of four outstanding chess players: Mr. Marcus, Laverne Morgan, Murry O'Neil and Henry Baker. Other members are Steve Veresh, Clyde Koppf, Don Smith, Mr. March, Mr. Brengle and Mr. Acker.

Anyone who is interested in chess is welcome. The club meets every Friday night at 7 p. m. in the city hall.

"PLENTY OF RUNNING WATER TAKES THE PLACE OF EXTRA HIRED HELP!"

*Says
ERWIN RUSH
R.F.D.
Romeo, Mich.

Erwin Rush gives much of the credit for his farm's success to his electric water system installed in 1928. This system has since been expanded to include complete house facilities, livestock barns, outside watering trough, and a special added tank in the orchard.

Rush declares that butterfat increases 6 to 12% when cows are properly watered; hogs are brought to maturity faster, and feed costs are slashed when running water is available. He says, "Our orchard tank speeds up spraying a great deal . . . in fact, our entire electric water system is the cheapest and best hired help a stockman could hope to find!"

Complete water systems and electric pumps of all types and capacities, for use in shallow, medium or deep wells are available for immediate installation. See your friendly Edison Farm Service Advisor for full details. There's no obligation to you.

Public Housing - What it May and May Not Do for Plymouth

If Plymouth is expecting any federal aid for any public housing project this spring, summer or fall, better forget all about it. If there's going to be any government-subsidized slum clearance and rural home building, it is quite some ways away. That is what Raymond M. Foley, who heads the Federal housing and home finance agency in Washington testified recently before a congressional committee.

Mr. Foley, while housing administrator for Michigan, came to Plymouth some five or six years ago and talked to members of the Rotary club on housing problems at that time.

During his visit here, he looked around for a site for a new home for himself. It can be revealed now that he asked The Plymouth Mail to try and secure for him a place along Territorial road or Sheldon road. He was especially impressed by the Stever place just off Territorial road, but discovered that it was not for sale.

Unfortunately for Plymouth—and probably Mr. Foley, too—he was soon after appointed to his present federal position and went to Washington, where he has become a national authority on housing problems.

Mr. Foley doesn't think the government should try and solve the nation's housing problem all within a year or so. He thinks it should be a long range program, covering a period of several years.

It has become quite evident that the federal government's program to stimulate housing will run into snags no matter how sympathetically it is treated. Congressmen handling the program believe it cannot be passed until about June. This does not take into consideration possible delaying tactics by those opposing the administration bill.

Housing officials say it will be six months later before the paper work can be finished to start public housing.

It takes a little time to build a house, even if you have government money back of you. This adds up to 1950 as the earliest anyone can expect a new home under legislation to be passed at this Congress.

Assuming that Congress acts rapidly on a housing bill, here is what Raymond M. Foley, administrator of the Housing and Home Finance agency, has to say:

"We must first approve a site for the development if it is a slum clearance project, we must get rid of what is on that spot at the time.

"We have a great many projects left over from the old slum clearance program. All of these must be considered and may be given priority.

"Financial arrangements must be made. Bonds must be sold. We must check to see that prices are right. Everything must be cleared through the supervisory machinery of government.

"It is going to be a problem, and one that we shall tackle with great vigor. But a fair estimate for our part of the job is six months after the bill is passed.

Foley pointed out that there is nothing in the administration housing bill to encourage private building. That, he said, will come in a later measure.

Rep. Mike Monroney, Oklahoma Democrat, key member of the House Banking and Currency committee, which handles the housing bill, said:

"We are placing export controls and rent control legislation before housing legislation in our committee consideration. It is a matter of putting first things first. I am going to press for a housing bill but it will come in the spring. I do not know about the position."

Senator John Sparkman, Alabama Democrat, chairman of the Senate subcommittee in charge of the housing bill, said he hoped to have his group meet within a week on this legislation, but pointed out that his full committee, headed by Senator Burnet R. Maybank, South Carolina Democrat must act before his group has finished its deliberation.

"I will ask for brief hearings," said Sparkman, "because we have gone over this ground before. But I would not like to predict when we shall get action. We are going to try to act faster than they do in the House."

The bill, introduced by Senators Ellender, Wagner, Maybank, Sparkman, Myers, Hill, Pepper and Long, provides for construction of more than a million units of public housing in the next seven years.

But unless Congress and the Federal government act quicker than they anticipate there will be a slow start.

There is another side of the public housing question, it should be pointed out. Westbrook Pegler did a pretty good job in showing the other viewpoint in a recent article published in The Detroit Times. It follows in part:

"Public housing, meaning subsidized housing in which all the people pay part of the rent of a lucky few, was one of the noisy subjects of both parties in the late campaign. It was not an issue."

"The Republican and their candidate would not brave the scorn of those who would have said that they were landlords at heart and that they delighted in the sight of gaunt and ailing veterans and their spouses and their children huddling in crates or culverts."

"It takes dispute to make an issue of a subject.

"There being no dispute, public housing remained only a topic of discussion.

"The recent landlords' strike, a feeble gesture which seems to have been organized by a few owners of property under professional instigation, died of intimidation.

"The threat by one U. S. attorney to prosecute landlords who should join this strike under the laws forbidding sedition was a symptom of the corruption of the intelligence of men who take the tainted shilling of the creeping fascism of Washington.

"It has always been argued that strikers who take to the picket lines with slingshots and ball-bearings, tire chains, balldrums, clubs studded with nails, and sticks mounting razor blades in grooves are, at worst, guilty of disorderly conduct, assault or involuntary manslaughter.

"It has been held that they are not entirely responsible because they are made desperate by their need of the bopps for which they are striking.

"It is not improper of such strikers to demand wages in excess of the highest scales ever paid in their particular occupations and such desires are never stigmatized as greed.

"Yet such strikers, boasting that, by concerted action through unionism, they are getting as much as $5,000 a year, are the most eager applicants for public housing in which a portion of their rent must be paid by other citizens earning less.

"Landlords who organize become not a union but a lobby and sordid greed is their motive. The Hon. Ralph W. Gwinn of Yonkers, New York, by diligent study of public housing at home and abroad and of the predatory rackets of the construction unions, has become the first authority of the corruption already wrought and inevitably to be wrought by his evil.

"In order to deal honestly with the subject a public man must understand in advance that he will be abused and slandered.

"But, having resigned himself to suffering in the interest of principle and the public good, he may have the satisfaction of winning all arguments, though losing all fights.

"Mr. Gwinn has often pointed out with a gusto which easily could have been malicious, the peniless sick and old, the utterly useless, the congenital paupers and the families of men in prison, certainly should be the first claimants of homes built at public expense to house the poor.

"He has pointed out at the same time that all such elements of society are as firmly excluded as the haughtiest Wall Street Tory.

"Mr. Gwinn said: 'Skilled workers, small tradesmen, professional people and especially government officials and party voters always manage to get a large share of the government dwellings when this form of patronage is handed out.'

"Unable to be heard against indomitable apathy on the cover badness of a racket adorned in the robes of charity, Mr. Gwinn inserts his reflections in the record as 'extension of remarks' and sometimes 'causes them to be mailed under his frank.

"The audience is small, how-

Recipes for St. Patrick's Day Party Include Shamrock Tea Ring, Cookies

You don't have to have the luck of the Irish to serve a successful Shamrock Tea; and St. Patrick's Day is a good time to revive the pleasant custom of having friends in for an afternoon, says Bernice Burns. Writing in Redbook Magazine for March, she tells Plymouthites how to fashion a Shamrock Tea Ring of Soda Biscuit Dough and Potato Roll Dough.

SODA BISCUITS
Sift together 2 cups all-purpose flour, 1 teaspoon baking-powder, 3/4 teaspoon soda, and 1 teaspoon salt. Cut in 1/4 cup shortening. Mix in with fork 3/4 cup sour milk or buttermilk. Stir with fork until all flour is moistened and mixture can be formed into a ball.

Knead just enough to form a smooth dough. Roll out 1/2 inch in thickness. Cut into small circles. Press three together to form shamrocks (Use metal measuring-spoon, teaspoon size). Bake at 450° 12 to 15 minutes. Serve with jam.

POTATO ROLLS
Soften 2 cakes yeast in 1/2 cup lukewarm water. Cook until soft 1 cup sliced potatoes in 3/4 cup water. Mash in liquid or through sieve. Cool.

easily handled after 5 1/2 cups, add no more flour. To store in refrigerator, brush with oil, place in large bowl. Cover.

SHAMROCK TEA RING
Pinch off one-third of dough; roll out to 1/4 inch thickness—about 12 inches long, 14 inches wide. Brush with melted butter. Sprinkle with brown sugar and chopped nuts.

With sharp knife cut in one-inch strips. Fold strips over and over into three-inch lengths. Place, cut edge down, on oiled cookie sheet. Flatten gently with palm of hand and pinch ends to form a leaf shape. Arrange three "leaves" to make shamrock. Add a 2-inch stem of dough.

Let double in size (about 1 hour). Bake at 425° 25 to 30 min. While hot, brush with butter or icing. Yield 3 Tea Rings or 3 dozen rolls. Crisp ginger cookies are delicious with tea.

GINGER REFRIGERATOR COOKIES

Cream together 1 cup shortening and 1 cup sugar. Add, one at a time 2 eggs. Beat well after each addition. Add 1 cup molasses. Sift together 4 1/2 cups flour, 3 teaspoons ginger, 1 teaspoon soda and 1 teaspoon salt.

Mix dry ingredients into creamed mixture and knead to form smooth dough. Form into 3 rolls about 1 1/2 inches in diameter. Roll in waxed paper; chill in refrigerator. Slice cookies quite thin and bake at 400° for 10 to 12 minutes. Yield: About four dozen.

Women Vote for Practical Coats in National Study

What do you vote for in a winter coat? Thousands of women have cast their votes through the "Consumer Speaks" project and have told manufacturers how to design and style winter coats.

Women want coats which will keep their original color and new looking appearance. Color-fast is the word women most like to find on coat labels describing fabrics. Next, Plymouth women are told by Marjorie Knoll, Michigan State college home economist, they want material that is firmly woven—that won't stretch, bag, sag, bulge or shrink.

In fabric finishes they are most interested in crease resistance. For linings, the women voters indicated they wanted materials that are easy to slip on, firmly woven, and will last the life of the coat—at least two seasons.

Fancy coats are far from the wishes of these voters. They indicate practically when they ask for conservative simple designs, practical pockets, adequate fastenings and full length removable linings.

One group agreed that the average person does not have enough information to buy wisely unless it appears on labels. Thousands of votes were cast for informative labels.

Many Michigan women are voting in the "Consumer Speaks" program this year. These votes won't help you unless they are recorded a report states. Plymouth women are asked to send their votes by April 15 to Marjorie Knoll, School of Home Economics, Michigan State college, East Lansing.

Successful Parenthood

by MRS. CATHERINE CONRAD EDWARDS
Associate Editor, Parents' Magazine

PARENTS are frequently told when having difficulty with an uncooperative child that the best way to win him to greater effort is to make him responsible for certain tasks. The theory is that he either does them and enjoys the benefits or neglects them and suffers the natural consequences.

Now this is in many respects a good theory, but unfortunately a lot of parents find that it doesn't work. There are two basic reasons for these failures.

One, the child may be too young for the chosen task. Feeding pets, for instance, may have dire consequences if handed over to a child under 10 without supervision.

The other mistake parents make is in giving a child responsibility in cases where what they really want from him is obedience. We shouldn't, for example, give a boy of any age responsibility for keeping snow off the sidewalks in winter or the grass cut in summer. If these are his jobs we should exact obedience in getting them done, for the consequences of their being left undone would be far more unpleasant for the rest of the family than for the boy himself.

Teach sidewalk to skate on clear to the door and tall waving grass to run through in summer would please most boys tremendously. They probably think your ideas on the subject just grownup nonsense anyway, with the sole purpose of robbing them of their leisure! Thus the penalty for disobedience here would have to be denying the child something he prizes—such as a fishing trip or Dad's participation in a ball game—because a smooth lawn and clear sidewalks mean practically nothing in his life.

But you can teach a sense of responsibility by having a child take over a project in which he is interested—such as a picnic for his pals—and not stepping in when his interest flags and doing all the work yourself. And you should give him the responsibility, as soon as he is old enough, of caring for his toys, his books, his collection of stamps or stones or what not. If they are lost or broken as a result of his carelessness he should be left to do without.

On the other hand, you can't give a child responsibility for the care of his clothes, for if he loses cap or gloves in cold weather you wouldn't make him go without replacements at the risk of his health. You can, of course, try to train him through pride in his appearance to value his clothes and to treat them accordingly.

What we are saying is that training, obedience and responsibility are three different aspects of discipline and knowing when to use one or the other comes with experience and thinking things through before you start.

Whatever your plans are for Lenten menus you will delight your family if you serve them the fish of the season—smelt.

Smelt are easily cleaned and can be served in many ways. For a variety of recipes for cooking smelt write to the Bulletin Office, Department of Public Relations, Michigan State College, East Lansing, for the attractive folder illustrated in color. Ask for Experiment Station Folder 8, "Fish Recipes—Smelt". All recipes have been tested by the foods and nutrition department working in cooperation with the zoology department.

Recipes for frying, broiling, baking and pickling smelt are included. Sauces are recommended for smelt because they are so mild in flavor. Recipes for a variety of sauces are given.

Smelt range in length from six to 14 inches and usually run from seven to nine inches. It is easier to clean larger smelt. It is not necessary to scale them. Simply remove the head and the entrails with a knife.

Insist on fresh smelt because the oil essential to the rich flavor evaporates and is not found in stale fish. It is available fresh from February to late May when the sportsmen take it during the spring spawning runs.

Frozen smelt are wholesome but lack the characteristic flavor of the fresh fish now being taken from the Great Lakes.

Right now is a good time, they say, to study those seed catalogs and plan on paper the varieties of vegetables that will help achieve the goal.

That secret, gardening specialists advise, is in planting and replanting. Selections of varieties that fit early, middle and late season weather enables the gardener to harvest from early season until frost.

Red Cross Nutrition Aids

An extra special dessert—the kind that we usually save for company meals, or serve when it's our turn to entertain the bridge club—may be just the thing needed to round out a family dinner, especially during the Lenten season.

There's no getting around the fact that most Plymouth families prefer dinners planned around meat not only because of its flavor but because it seems more filling. The clever menu planner will keep them satisfied by turning the spotlight on dessert when meatless meals are scheduled.

The perfect dessert is one that balances the rest of the meal in every respect. If the main course is a vegetable combination, choose a dessert that is made with generous number of eggs, one that contains cheese, or one that's chockfull of crunchy nut meats.

A light main course made up of broiled fish and bulky vegetables and salad may need a dessert high in calories. This is the time to top off the meal with a hearty steamed pudding served with rich sauce, baked apple dumplings and cream or any dessert that includes a generous amount of cream or shortening in the ingredients.

It's not necessary to use special recipes for these hearty desserts. Often the simple standbys served frequently can be made richer and more satisfying by a few simple additions. Here are a few suggestions for tricking them up, offered by the Nutrition Service of the American Red Cross:

CRUNCHY CUSTARD
Make baked custard as usual, in either a large or individual molds, omitting the nutmeg on top. Cool after baking. Just before time to serve the meal, cover top of custard with a layer of brown sugar or scraped maple sugar. Place under pre-heated broiler for a few minutes until the sugar has melted and is bubbly. Remove from heat at once. If liked, add a dollop of whipped cream to each serving and sprinkle with chopped nut meats. This is a good dessert to serve when there is only a small amount of meat or meat alternate in the main course.

TAPIOCA PARFAIT
Make up tapioca cream as usual. After it has cooled, arrange alternate layers of tapioca cream and currant jelly, chocolate sauce, crushed peppermint sticks, or any colorful jam or preserve in parfait glasses. Use only enough of sauce or jam for a thin layer or the dessert will be too sweet. Chill. Serve topped with plain or whipped cream. Serve after any light main course.

CORN FLAKES PASTRY
For Refrigerator Cheese Cake
Roll or grind corn flakes to make 1 cup fine crumbs. Add 1/3 cup melted table fat and 1/4 cup sugar. Mix thoroughly.

REFRIGERATOR CHEESE CAKE
Two tablespoons plain gelatin, 3/4 cup cold water, 2 egg yolks, slightly beaten, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup milk, 2 cups cottage cheese, grated rind and juice of 1 lemon, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 egg whites stiffly beaten, 1 cup heavy cream, whipped, corn flake pastry.

Soften gelatin in cold water for 5 minutes. Combine egg yolks, salt, sugar and milk in top of double boiler. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Remove from heat. Add gelatin, stir until dissolved, then place in bowl of cold water to cool. Add cheese which has been rubbed through fine sieve, lemon juice and rind and vanilla. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites and whipped cream. Press 2/3 of corn flake pastry on bottom and sides of deep 9-inch pie pan, add cheese mixture. Sprinkle with remaining pastry mixture. Chill until set. Makes 8 servings.

DATE TORTE
One-fourth cup sifted all-purpose enriched flour, 1/2 teaspoon baking powder, 1/8 teaspoon salt, 3/4 cup sugar, 2 eggs, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla, 1 1/2 cups thinly sliced dates, 1/2 cups broken walnut meats.

Sift flour, baking powder, and mix with dates and nuts. Beat egg yolks until light, then beat in sugar gradually. When very fluffy add vanilla and date and nut mixture. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into shallow buttered glass baking pan. Bake in slow oven, 325 degrees F., for 50 to 60 minutes. Serve warm or cool with plain or whipped cream or topped with vanilla ice cream. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

GLORIFIED BREAD PUDDING
Six slices bread, 1/4 cup soft table fat, 5 eggs, 1/4 cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla, 1 quart milk, scalded, soft tart jam or jelly, dash of salt, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1/4 teaspoon vanilla.

Cut crusts from slices of bread and spread bread with table fat. Beat 3 whole eggs and two yolks until thoroughly mixed then beat in first amounts of sugar, vanilla, and dash of salt. Stir in milk slowly. Turn into baking dish and top with thin layer of soft jam or jelly. Top with meringue made by beating second amounts of sugar, salt and vanilla into remaining two egg whites which have been beaten until meringue is lightly browned. Makes 6 servings.

This is another egg-rich dessert, just right to supplement a main course that is shy on meat or meat alternates. Use the Refrigerator Cheese Cake to top off the same kind of meal.

Recipe for Lemon Chiffon Pie Told

A light, fluffy lemon chiffon pie is the perfect dessert for a party or family meal—and an easy one if you use your electric mixer, says Anna Fisher. Writing in McCall's for March, she tells Plymouth women how to prepare the filling:

LEMON CHIFFON PIE
1/2 cup lemon juice
4 eggs
1 cup (plus 1 tablespoon) granulated sugar
1 envelope plain gelatin
3/4 cup cold water
1-9 inch baked pastry shell
1/2 cup whipping cream

Cook lemon juice, egg yolks, 1/2 cup sugar in double boiler, beating constantly (until it thickens) with Electric Mixer set at low speed. Dissolve 1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin in 1/4 cup water. Add to egg mixture. Cool until partially set.

While mixture cools, stiffly beat 4 egg whites on high speed sifting in 1/4 cup sugar. Fold, don't stir, into cooled cooked mixture and pour into baked pie shell. Chill. Before serving, beat 1/2 cup whipping cream until thick, using medium speed. Then quickly beat in 1 tablespoon sugar and heap on pie.

The hourly wage paid in America, the Bureau of Labor statistics estimate, has increased 33 percent since V-J Day.

"EASY DOES IT"
INSTEAD of discarding your worn curtains, use several layers of the material for pot holder filler. If you prefer, six layers of the curtain material may be sewed together and used as dishcloths.

If your glassware has chipped slightly on the drinking edge, smooth it off with an emery board or some rough sandpaper.

Old shower curtains can be cut down and used on small kitchen or pantry windows.

Before washing scrim curtains, fold each curtain down the center and baste the edges together. This keeps curtain edges straight and helps prevent strain. Remove basting after ironing.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Fish Fillets (Serves 6)
1 pound boned fish fillets
1 cup cooked, chopped spinach
2 tablespoons minced parsley
1/4 cup minced green onions
3 tomatoes
3 tablespoons butter
Place the fillets on a buttered baking platter. Mix spinach, parsley and onion together with salt and pepper to taste, and place on top of fillets. Surround with 1/2-inch slices of tomato. Sprinkle fish and tomatoes with bread crumbs, dot with butter and bake for 20 minutes in a hot (400° F.) oven.

Add one to two tablespoons of glycerine to the water in which you rinse sweaters to remove "scratchiness" from them.

If lace edgings on linens are dipped into a little sugar and water after rinsing, they will have a lovely crisp finish.

Dressing table tops are easily protected from wear if you cover them neatly with transparent plastic.

Always shake out Turkish towels, and washcloths after they have been put through the wringer so crease lines will not show. Shaking also gives them a fluffy finish.

If you fold clothes to be ironed, instead of crumpling or rolling, there will be fewer wrinkles to iron out.

Clothes sprinklers also have another use! They may be used to water delicate plants, and are helpful in not getting too much water on them as well as distributing it more evenly.

Pork and Corn Meet in New Combinations

Pork and corn served together are old favorites; but have you thought of combining them in the same dish? Reba Staggs, food authority, suggests that now is the time for Plymouth women to experiment with new recipes for such combinations, in view of this year's adequate supply of both corn and pork.

Whole kernel corn dressing alongside a pork loin roast makes a tempting dish. Or, maybe you'd rather have pork chops with corn stuffing. Both are equally good.

Here is an idea for utilizing leftover ham. Try making ham and corn fritters. Either cooked or canned corn will do. For the liquid required in making these fritters use that from the corn for better flavor.

Never overlook the importance of corn meal, especially for a dish such as upside-down pie. Browned sausage meat and tomato soup go on the bottom of the pan with corn bread batter over. Turn it out and you'll find a delicious and attractive upside-down pie. It's easy on your food budget, too.

There are many other ideas for appetizing ways to serve pork either combined with corn or served with a corn accompaniment, such as corn meal puffs, corn sticks or spoon bread.

Onions Cited as Good Food Buy

One of the best food buys right now is one that everyone likes served in practically every form—onions.

Since they're so plentiful and cheap you will want to buy a good supply of them at one time. Emma DuBord, home demonstration agent, advises Plymouth cooks.

Since they keep very well, you will find the 10-pound or larger bag the most economical way to buy. Store them in a cool, dry place away from other foods that absorb flavors easily.

Buy onions that are firm and have a thin outer skin free from cuts, cracks or smutty streaks. The Globe varieties are sweet, mild onions that are desirable for stews and general cooking. The white varieties of Bermudas or Spanish onions are usually mild and are popular for salads and sandwiches. The deep red Globe varieties are much stronger in flavor and are used mainly for seasoning in stews, dressings and the like.

Your family will welcome onions on the menu. French fried onions once in a while are a real treat. Slice the onion so that you have nice, thick rings. Dip them in a thin batter and fry them in hot, deep fat at 375 degrees until they are a nice deep brown. Put them on absorbent paper to drain and serve hot with any kind of meat, particularly a good steak or broiled liver.

Astrology

Your Weekly Guide by
G. Cardinal LeGros

Question: I have been reading your column for some time and trying to understand my own life and my destiny. I am beginning to wonder just how much of one's life is fate and how much is the result of this free will and choice that you mention. It seems to me that a great deal that happens in my own life is not the result of any conscious choice on my part, but a certain destiny behind the scenes. Will you comment on this matter at greater length?

Answer: This great question—Free Will or Fate—is one that has troubled philosophers since the beginning of time. There is no doubt about our having the power of choice; every day of our lives presents opportunities to demonstrate it. But that there is at the same time a pattern of destiny behind the scenes, as you say, is also beyond question. The truth lies between the two extremes: we do have free will and we are also guided by an invisible power of fate.

Astrology probably tells us more in regard to this matter than any other science. The horoscope of birth indicates pretty accurately if you are a person who "rules his stars" or if you are ruled by them. If most of your planets are on the left side of the chart it is a sign that you shape the pattern of your life to a great extent. If most of the planets are on the right side then you are a "destiny" person and outside circumstances and other people have a tremendous influence over you. This does not mean that you are a slave of fate, but just that you will have to strive harder to use free will and fashion the kind of life that you want.

Thus if you are a "destiny" type of person and do nothing about it, just drift with the tides, your life will follow almost exactly the pattern of your birth chart. You will marry when the Sun or Moon makes its first major aspect by progression, you will rise to some achievement when Saturn crosses your mid-heaven, and you will retire from the active scene when Saturn goes down toward the nadir of your chart. Everything will click in harmony with the moving stellar influences. You will be what is called a Child of Destiny.

On the other hand, if you make up your mind to use your god-given free will and choice you will overcome some of the planetary influences and avoid the drifting tides. You will manifest your inner spiritual will and thus develop and grow into a greater person than you were. That is the real purpose of life—to increase the character power within you; and this is done by resisting outside forces. No one can be a slave of the stars—no one at all.

But the wise man co-operates with their influences. He does not try to become mayor or the leading salesman for his company when Saturn, for instance, is in conjunction with his natal Sun because he knows that this aspect always brings lowered vitality and resistance. He waits until Jupiter trines his Mars, bringing a favorable influence into his life and making success in anything easier. As an old saying has it: there is a time to begin as well as a time to end. And the intelligent person acts upon this idea.

There is nothing mysterious about it at all. It is just simple common sense. Consider the way wise sailors always wait for the outgoing tide to launch their ships. Wouldn't they be foolish to try to begin a voyage when the tides were coming in, opposing their sea-going direction?

So with each one of us in his particular life. There is a right time to marry, to have children, to begin new ventures, to travel, to start new things, as well as times when we should lie low and force no issues. People who succeed somehow know these right times, and people who fail are the ones who miss the boat. With astrology anyone can make greater progress than he would otherwise, and thus enjoy a fuller life, and be happier.

Dale Carnegie

Author of "HOW TO WIN FRIENDS and INFLUENCE PEOPLE" THE BARBER OF STOCKTON

BARBERS for generations have been the butt of jokes about talking too much and too fast to their clients. But here's one man who thinks the opposite method the better,

D. Carnegie

Peter Schimpf of Stockton, Calif., worked in a good shop, patronized by a fine clientele. There was another barber there, named Sam, a good fellow, and a man that people seemed to like more than they liked Peter. And how they enjoyed talking to him.

When some of the clients came in, they would sit and wait for Sam to finish with a client, rather than take Peter's chair. Naturally, this troubled Peter. He knew that they had nothing against him, that he had never antagonized any one of them, and that he did as good a job as Sam did. Then why?

He began observing people both in the shop and on the outside who seemed to be popular. He noticed a good many things, like smiling, showing friendliness, refraining from criticizing. All minor matters, but he knew, when he stopped to think about it, that minor matters can change a man's life.

One day a client named George entered, sat down to wait for Sam, although Peter had just finished with his client. Peter looked at George and said 'Hello' and smiled as he said it. This happened again, and a third time. But the third time, George didn't wait for Sam. Instead he asked, "Can you take me?"

Peter made George comfortable, turning the chair so his client could see in the mirror how his hair was being cut. He asked him a couple of questions, and George got started on a subject that interested him. He loosened up, enjoyed telling Peter what he wanted to know.

Peter didn't let him out of that chair until the job was done to the satisfaction of both of them.

After that, when George entered that shop he headed straight for Peter's chair.

"And," says Peter, "you can be sure that I have applied the same technique to other customers with just as successful results."

PHS Wins Top Honor Award

Plymouth High school received the honor of being listed as a three-year accredited school as judged by the Bureau of Cooperation with Educational Institutions.

This means that a student graduating from Plymouth High school can enter any college in the North-Central area, which includes Michigan, Wisconsin, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, without taking an entrance examination. Besides the Bureau of Cooperation, which is only a state organization, this school had been checked by a committee from the North-Central area continuously since 1900.

Schools are periodically checked by a committee from the state bureau and are classed accordingly. Inspection is made after a period of one, two or three years. If a yearly inspection is made, the school is classed in the lowest group; if two years elapse, the school is rated a little higher; but a visit every three years is considered the best.

What might have become a serious fire was averted last Sunday morning about 10 by its timely discovery. When Engineer Arthur Rodman went into the school building he smelled smoke, and upon investigating, he discovered that the smoke was coming from a room on the second floor used for the storing of waste paper. Mr. Rodman immediately turned in a call to the fire department, and within a very few minutes the firemen had a stream from the chemical tanks playing upon the blazing bundles of paper.

Cancer Society Not Affiliated With United Fund Plan

Stating that the American Cancer Society fund drive will be held in April, Mrs. Austin Stecker, chairman, emphasized that it is not affiliated with the United Fund drive.

She gave the following explanation:

The local cancer program has been conducted over the past 11 years by the American Cancer Society, Southeastern Michigan division. This Society has raised funds in an annual campaign, during April of each year, in support of a three-fold program of "Education", "Service" and "Research."

As the work of the American Cancer Society, Southeastern Michigan division, progressed, it became apparent that the research phase of its program was of such a nature that it could be best directed by an expanded board of specialists. This new Board incorporated themselves as the "Detroit Institute of Cancer Research." This Institute was, at first, supported entirely by the American Cancer Society, but as it developed it became apparent that more extensive funds would be needed than the local American Cancer Society could afford to allocate to it. The Institute, therefore, applied for and obtained grants of money from the Growth Committee of the National Research Council, the National Health Institute and a number of local foundations, the Michigan Cancer Foundation in particular. In the future, it is the purpose of the American Cancer Society to support the budget of the Institute, but not to underwrite the entire amount.

During the last two years, due to reorganization and changes in policy of the National American Cancer Society, it became necessary for the local Division, if it was to remain a part of the National organization, to dispose of the building and property which it had acquired in its effort to house the programs of the local Society and the Institute. This was accomplished by transferring the property "in trust" to the Michigan Cancer Foundation.

The Michigan Cancer Foundation was incorporated for the following purposes: To provide funds and facilities for use in aiding scientific investigation and research in the causes, prevention and cure of cancer and related diseases; to provide medical and hospital care; to give grants in aid to any individuals, groups or organizations attempting to achieve these ends, and to solicit and receive funds and property to be used for any of these purposes.

In the Deed of Transferral, the title of the building is given to be Michigan Cancer Foundation with the stipulation that the American Cancer Society, Southeastern Michigan division, and the Detroit Institute of Cancer Research, or their successors may occupy the building, or such parts of it as they need as long as they have need or use for it. The Society and Institute agree to maintain the building. In this way, the Society and the Institute have a permanent home and carry a budget item for maintenance, rather than one for rent. The United Health Foundation is an organization established by a number of the industrialists of Detroit. This corporation was established by them in an effort to relieve their organizations of the disruptions caused by an increasing number of "health drives." The United Foundation invited all of the Health Societies to join in their movement and conduct one annual drive for health purposes. Some 20 joined with them, but Red Cross, the Infantile Paralysis Foundation, the Tuberculosis and Health Society of Wayne County and the American Cancer Society, Southeastern Michigan division did not.

There were two primary reasons for the American Cancer Society's refusal:

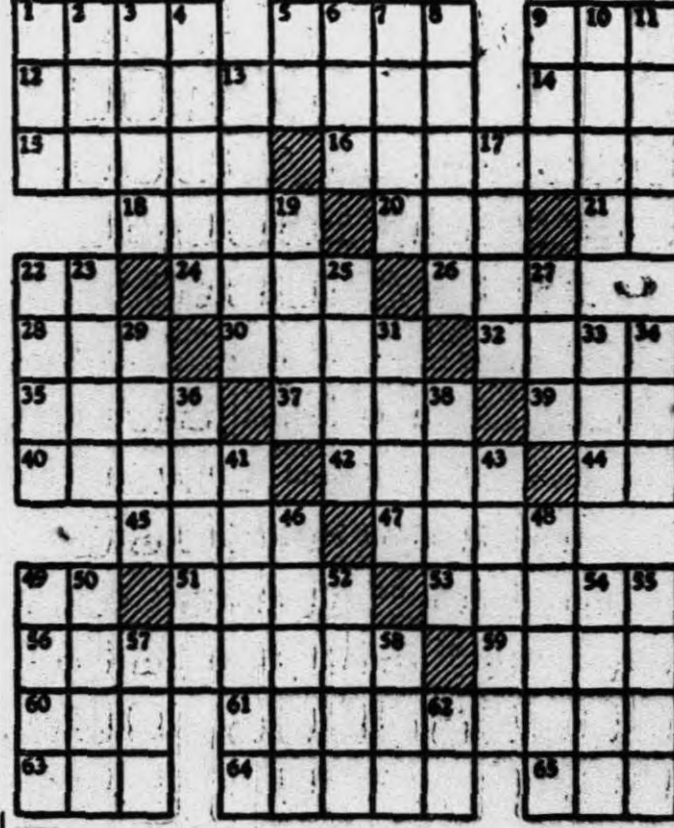

1. Federated fund raising is contrary to the policy of the American Cancer Society.
 2. The conviction of the local American Cancer Society's Trustees that fund raising for cancer, without education of the individual donating, is of little value.
- The Trustees of the United Foundation insisted that they were going to raise money for cancer and, since they were adamant in this, they were encouraged to raise money in the name of the Michigan Cancer Foundation. They, therefore, have budgeted $200,000.00 in their present campaign for cancer and the Michigan Cancer Foundation has agreed to accept it. The American Cancer Society has agreed not to solicit the large industries and individuals solicited by the United Foundation, but has insisted upon running its own campaign in April of this year among the people of Wayne, Oakland, and Macomb counties.

It is the purpose of the American Cancer Society, Southeastern Michigan Division, through its army of volunteers, to contact as many persons as possible during April; to carry cancer information to them and to ask them to contribute as much as they wish in support of the cancer program. It is the belief of the Trustees of the American Cancer Society, Southeastern Michigan division, that cancer is a personal problem; that people generally believe in their efforts in cancer control; that each individual has the liberty and responsibility of determining which of the health agencies he wishes to support and the amount he shall give.

For the first time in history, U. S. oil production this year topped 5,600,000 barrels a day.

Babson Discusses Hiring and Firing

A recent survey by Robert N. McMurray and Company of some 1167 college trainees employed by 247 companies is said to reveal that 42 percent "proved unsatisfactory or left their jobs" before the end of their first year of employment. Probably statistics including high school graduates not attending college would mount up to 60 percent as unsatisfactory.

Transient Workers Cost Money
This turnover in personnel cost the 247 companies better than $1,300,000.00! One company reported it lost 16 of its 31 college trainees at an actual loss to the company of $41,250.00. This figure did not include the cost of hiring and training replacements either. Here again if we include both college and high school turnover, the wasted cost is far greater.

Who is to blame for this high turnover of high school and college graduates? Businessmen are quick to blame the schools and colleges because the graduates are unsatisfactory—tardy to work, lazy with lack of interest, too careless as to their habits and appearance, unable to get along with their fellow workers and not willing to assume responsibility. If this were true we should completely reorganize our whole educational program. But I don't think the schools and colleges are to blame. The fault lies with the parents and their example and training.

Faulty Hiring Increases Turnover
One young college lad I know was recently interviewed by a regional sales manager. The big boss leaned back and questioned his cigar. He asked no questions; he showed no reactions. The boy was confused. He must have made good, though, because he was referred to the general sales manager whose only direct question during the interview was: "Do you play golf?" Another college senior, who had carefully planned answers for the job interview, was fired for drinking when liquor was not mentioned during the interview.

Going to the other extreme, I know of several large companies which have succumbed to psychological quackery in their overzealous efforts to put their selections on a "scientific" basis. Mail-order services are offered to help executives screen, hire, fire, and upgrade. For a fee, by remote control, these mail-order seers measure a man's sales ability; they decide what his vocational interests are; and whether he is likely to act impetuously or cautiously. More and more companies try this diet or tripe each year.

Training Programs Good on Paper
Many young people are baited by large corporations with "executive training programs." Some college seniors, afraid to face life's realities, look upon these programs as an excuse to continue their education at someone else's expense. Others, looking for something substantial, find their enthusiasm killed by tasks any half-wit could perform. Some of these programs last well beyond any reasonable indoctrination period. And, at the end of the training program how many companies have definite plans for their trainees?

Properly designed training programs of short duration are an intelligent approach to the transition between school and work. A little less make-work and a little more real work on the job while training will help cut down turnover. Young men want to get on with the job so as to earn enough to get married and have a home of their own which is a worthy ambition.

Conclusion
Inadequate hiring techniques and training programs are responsible for high mortality rates of high school and college trainees. Companies need to make more accurate job analyses and definitions so that they know what they are looking for in the interview. Aptitude tests are good checks of subjective opinions, but not when administered by remote control and interpreted by the job order. Finally, shorter on-the-job practical training programs will reduce employers' turnover; while learning to be prompt, industrious and temperate will help young people to hold their jobs.

This Week's Public Issue

(Editor's Note: Here are the pertinent facts on a public issue as prepared by the University of Michigan Department of Political Science. This material is designed to present both sides of the question to help you in your thinking on current issues. Your club or discussion group may also find this column useful.)

Should we promise the countries of Western Europe now that we will help them fight Russia if she attacks any one of them?

Representatives of our State Department and of Canada, Great Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg have prepared a treaty called the North Atlantic Security Pact. Although the exact terms of the treaty have not been made public as this is written, it is reported that the pact obligates this country to take "military or other action" in case of an attack on one of the Western European countries signing the treaty. Under our Constitution only Congress can declare war and this phase complies with the letter of the law, since it does not absolutely bind us to take military action. It is, however, generally believed to constitute a moral obligation on our part to declare war on Russia in case she attacks any country west of the Iron Curtain which signs the treaty.

On February 14 Senator Donnell of Missouri protested against such an agreement being made. Senators Connally and Vandenberg, the leading Democratic and Republican members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, denied that the treaty would obligate us to fight automatically in case of a Russian attack on Western Europe. The next day European papers criticized this interpretation of the treaty and accused the United States of "welshing" on its original intention to draw up a treaty which would have real teeth. They say we want them to take all the risks of standing in the front line against the Russians but don't want to do our share by a firm promise of support if trouble comes.

The following are some of the main arguments on both sides of this issue:

YES

1. If Hitler had known for certain that England and the United States would enter the war he started by attacking Poland, he would not have gone to war. The way to keep the peace is to leave aggressive dictators no room for doubt about our intentions. We fought in World War I and World War II. If there is to be a World War III, we can't avoid being in that too. Why not face realities now when we have something to gain by doing so?

2. We have spent five billion dollars on the Marshall Plan to put Western Europe on its feet and keep it from going Communist. But economic help alone is not enough. Businessmen will not invest private capital in western Europe if they think the Russians may take over that area at any time. So a guarantee of military support is needed to make our economic aid worth while.

3. All regional treaties of this sort must comply with Article 51 of the United Nations Charter which limits them to defensive purposes only. Therefore the European powers which join us in the proposed treaty cannot drag us into a war whenever they want to start one. Furthermore, we already have a treaty of this general kind with the Latin American republics.

NO

1. Why give a blank check to half a dozen or more countries over whom we have little, if any, control? The treaty is reported to be designed to last for 20 years at least, and many changes can take place in that time. Shouldn't we leave ourselves some leeway so that we can consider the circumstances in each case before we declare war? Then European statesmen will not be tempted to invite trouble rashly because they have our promise in their pockets.

2. If it is a question of making the Marshall Plan really work, it is a good thing to keep the western European countries "on the anxious seat." During the past year while they have felt they can depend on our financial support, many of them haven't shown themselves over-eager to break down the tariff and currency barriers between their countries, collect adequate taxes, or otherwise do the unpleasant things they should do to make the Plan work. It they think they are sure of Uncle Sam's military protection as well as his financial handouts, they will lean on us forever.

3. Everybody knows that we cannot go back to isolationism and appeasement. The Air Lift into Berlin shows that we mean business in holding the line against the Russians. So the countries of western Europe know that they will get support from us if they act in a reasonable way. Our reluctance to make a binding promise to go to war if they are attacked is merely to prevent them from acting unreasonably. If there is to be any argument about what is or is not a reasonable action the country which puts up the money and the arms should have the freedom to make the decision.
