

Dr. Ralph Pino with one of the Kerakul sheep at Plymouth Colony Farms.

Looking into the future with a vision as clear as a crystal—with the same kind of vision as possessed by the Pilgrim fathers who created the first Plymouth colony on American soil—Dr. Ralph H. Pino of Detroit told members of the Plymouth Rotary club last Friday what the real intents are back of his tireless efforts in building the Plymouth Colony Farms at the intersection of Ann Arbor road and Ann Arbor trail.

The spirit back of his efforts, he declared, is to create a stability, a security and a system whereby one can be useful and beneficially employed no matter what his age might be.

Dr. Pino, one of the most famous eye surgeons in this country, a former president of the Wayne County Medical association and long regarded as one of Detroit's leading citizens, was introduced by Dave Galin of the Plymouth club.

Dr. Pino told briefly of how he happened to select the name of his farm, of the historic background of the name of Plymouth.

A story telling of the weaving project at Plymouth Colony Farms appears on Page 1 of the third section.

and the determination of the first settlers of Plymouth to make the new country of 200 years ago the land of liberty and opportunity.

"One interested in liberty must naturally be interested in agriculture," he said. "And one interested in agriculture must be interested in soil conservation."

"We are proving that the rich soil on hillsides and rolling lands can be conserved by proper plowing and the right kind of planted crops," he said.

MEMORIAL DAY.
Monday is Memorial day—a day set aside in this great country of ours to pay tribute to the hundreds and hundreds of thousands of young men and older ones, too, who offered their lives for the protection and defense of the only free nation in all the world.

Whatever degree of happiness and prosperity we are enjoying today, we owe it all to those who wore the uniforms of our armed forces when at various times our national welfare and existence was threatened. They gave years of the best period of their lives to save us when threatened—hundreds of thousands gave their lives.

Monday is the day set aside by congressional mandate for the people of this nation to lay aside their routine duties and pay tribute to war veterans, both living and dead, for the sacrifices they made for us.

In all humility, every AMERICAN should bow his head in grateful tribute to both the living and departed veterans for the sacrifices they made to protect and defend our justice, our domestic tranquility, our general welfare and our blessings of liberty.

CONGRATULATIONS ON A SPLENDID RECORD.

Citizens of Plymouth and vicinity will be more than interested to know that the First National Bank is this week celebrating its 25th anniversary of service to this city. From a small beginning, it has grown to such an extent that it can now be regarded as one of the most influential financial institutions in this entire area. To Floyd Kehrl, Jack Taylor and their associates we join with Plymouth in extending our sincere congratulations to all of the officers and employees of the First National Bank for their outstanding accomplishment—and for their efficient and consistently courteous service to the community.

Improvements in Mail Delivery Service Will be Instituted in June

Improvement of rural mail service and establishment of adequate service for the built up area in Livonia were two aims of Postmaster Thomas Brock when he took over the reins of the Plymouth office. This week he announced that steps are being taken toward the achievement of both.

Three areas adjacent to Plymouth are being changed from "rural" to "city mounted" classifications. This means, he stated, tion of various high-type wool producing sheep are all part of the Plymouth Colony Farms development.

Coupled with the production of sheep, there has been set up a weaving industry out at the Plymouth Farms.

There was on display at the Rotary meeting some of the beautiful highly colored upholstering cloth and woolen products that came from the looms of the Farms—from the farms where the sheep were raised, the wool sheared, carded and made ready for production into window drapes and furniture coverings.

He declared the time had arrived in this country when decentralization of big municipalities must take place, and the development of the Plymouth Colony Farms is but one method for the accomplishment of this purpose.

Music, such as Plymouth has created through its Symphony orchestra—the organization of choruses in rural communities, is one way to beat the juke-box attraction and at the same time help create a better young man and woman for the future.

"It is between the ages of 40 and 50 years when one should begin to plan for the days of retirement—when we should begin to do something worthwhile, to live in ease and yet do something of a beneficial nature, thereby adding 20 or 25 years to our lives. These are some of the aims that are associated with our Plymouth Colony Farms—aims that we feel are well worthwhile," he declared.

Court Blocks Plan to Fire The Chief of Police

Who outsmarted who in the latest municipal battle in Plymouth in which the "army" was saved from complete rout by a sudden maneuver of the local "navy" which upset the plan of City Manager Harold Cheek to fire Chief of Police Lee Sackett a veteran of World War I, who saw service in France with an army engineering outfit.

Chief Sackett, a former Commander of the Plymouth Extension Service Men's organization and Kenneth Gust, a Pacific Navy veteran of World War II and present Commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, were two main factors in torpedoing the carefully laid plans to oust Chief Sackett from his position as Chief of Police without complying with the provisions of the Plymouth city charter.

It was last Tuesday when City Manager Cheek demanded from Chief Sackett that he turn in his resignation before 5 o'clock Friday. The Chief was advised that if he did not do so that he would be fired.

Chief Sackett asked on what charges he was being "fired"—and it developed that no charges had been filed by any one against him.

It was not until the next day when the "navy" moved in to try and save the "army" from complete annihilation. Commander Gust of the V.F.W. hustled the former commander of the veterans into an automobile, hurried into Detroit, and placed the "battle" problem before Edward Barnard, a prominent lawyer of that city who had been recommended to them by another veteran.

It developed that there are seven reasons set forth in the Plymouth charter for which a police chief can be removed.

If he has been convicted of any offense against the city, state or nation; if he has violated any provisions of the city charter or ordinances; if he is a habitual drunkard; if he is incompetent to perform duties of his office; if he has willfully neglected his duty or if he is guilty of corrupt, wilful malfeasance or misfeasance in office or has conducted himself in such a way as to injure the public service—if he has been charged with any of these offenses and has been granted a hearing before the city commission and found guilty, then he can be "fired."

The charter further provides that charges must be filed with the city commission by some one member of the commission or by a petition signed by not less than 25 citizens of Plymouth.

The complaint must specify any matter or thing made cause for removal, and verified by oath of the person making the complaint.

"No officer shall be removed unless furnished a copy of the charges in writing and allowed a chance to be heard in his defense with the aid of counsel" is a further charter provision.

Any charges made, must be substantiated by sworn witnesses, before the city commission.

When these facts were placed before Judge Chester O'Hara in circuit court in Detroit, a temporary injunction was immediately issued and the "navy" through Kenneth Gust was authorized to serve the temporary injunction, which saved the "army" from complete rout.

The city was given until June 3 to file answer to statements set forth in the petition for a permanent injunction filed by Attorney Barnard.

Meanwhile the Plymouth police department is functioning as usual under the direction of a former commander of the Extension Service Men's organization—and a veteran of World War I who declares that "they have got to show me what I have done wrong before they can fire me."

Chief Sackett has been a member of the Plymouth police force for more than 17 years. He points out that when appointed by former manager, Clarence Elliott to become chief of police, he did not ask for the appointment and at that time expressed a wish to remain in the same position, he had had in the department.

Plymouth will join with cities across the nation next Monday, when it sets aside time for the paying of Memorial Day tributes.

The commemorative program in Kellogg park, following the annual parade from the north section of the city, will culminate with the appearance of Dale McIntyre, WJR radio star. Mr. McIntyre narrates the Know Your America show which is broadcast each weekday morning from 9 to 9:30.

A report on the day's schedule of events was issued this week by Donald Peck, grand marshal, and Irving Greer, aide. At 9:30 a. m. there will be an assembly at the corner of North Main and North Mill streets, with the salute to the sailor dead taking place at 10 a. m. from the Plymouth road bridge. This portion of the program will be staged by the Navy Mothers club.

The parade formation is scheduled for 10:15 at North Main and North Mill streets, with the line of march taking the group down North Mill street, south to West Ann Arbor trail. From there the participants will parade east on Ann Arbor trail to the Bell Telephone company, across to Kellogg park to the speaker's stand.

During the ensuing program, Mayor William Hartmann will act as master of ceremonies. First on the program is the presentation of the women's auxiliaries, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Mayflower Post No. 6995, and presentation of the colors and banners by the mayor.

The invocation will be delivered by the Rev. Alexander Miller, rector of St. John's Episcopal church, and the pledge of allegiance to the flag will be repeated by the assembly.

The main address of the program is next on the program roster. Mr. McIntyre, Plymouth's guest, holds an avid interest in all Americanism topics, and talks with enthusiasm on the subject. He was formerly with the public relations division of General Motors, during the war held the rank of captain.

Ronald Witt will follow Mr. McIntyre, repeating the "Gettysburg Address." A wreath will then be placed before the tablet.

Firemen Control Consuming Fire

Fast work on the part of the local fire department prevented the total loss of a four car garage at the residence of Henry Baker on Sheridan avenue last Friday evening.

The fire of undetermined origin had completely enveloped the building when the firemen arrived, but within a very few minutes after their arrival the flames were brought under control. The loss was set at about $5,000, and other than the building Mr. Baker lost a cutter, a buggy, saddle and other incidental articles. Some residents in the area were inconvenienced briefly after the fire, due to the fact that both a telephone and an electric cable were burned down by the blaze.

First National Bank Observes 25th Anniversary of Founding

The First National Bank in Plymouth will celebrate its 25th anniversary on Thursday of this week. Founded on May 26, 1924, the local banking institution has shown a most remarkable growth and now has on deposit $6,250,000 and serves some 10,250 customers in this area.

Early records of the institution show that the bank opened with a capital of $50,000 and a $10,000 surplus. First day deposits amounted to $14,000 and the bank showed a total deposit of $380,000 at the close of their first year's business.

Dr. John Olsaver is the only remaining officer of the forming group that still serves in an official capacity on the board. At the present he is chairman of the board of directors. Bank President Floyd Kehrl has been an employee of the bank since it opened 25 years ago and 14 years ago he was named head of the institution. Employees and friends of the bank give Mr. Kehrl much credit for the unusual success of the institution and point to the fact that it has been mainly through his tireless efforts that the bank is in the strong position that it is today.

First president of the bank was John B. Hubert, other officers were: J. L. Johnson, vice president; Frank Rambo, vice president; and Floyd Kehrl, cashier. The board of directors 25 years ago was composed of: J. B. Hubert, Arthur Blunk, Frank Rambo, George Robinson, J. L. Johnson, John H. Patterson, Homer C. Shaffmaster, John L. Olsaver and T. E. Johnson.

Taylor, cashier; and Walter Brown and George Kenyon, assistant cashiers. Members of the board of directors are: Charles L. Finlan, Floyd Kehrl, Dr. John Olsaver, Jack Taylor and Paul J. Wiedman.

In celebration of the anniversary event the employees of the bank, the officers and the directors and their wives and husbands will gather at the Huron River Hunt and Fish club Wednesday night, near Farmington, to enjoy a banquet.

Further business completed at the May 18 meeting was a decision to hold meetings on the second and fourth Wednesday of each month.

At the present time members are holding meetings at the Jewell and Blach hall, sans the rituals. The Elks hope to secure property of their own for club purposes in the near future.

Registration of qualified school electors is still underway, and will be until June 4, the deadline day. Electors may register Monday through Friday, 8:30 a. m. to 4 p. m., at Starkweather school, the high school or with the board secretary, Mrs. John Morrow. Persons may also register Saturday morning.

226 Members of Masonic Lodge Journey to Louisville, Kentucky over Weekend

It was mainly through the efforts of lodge secretary Oscar Aisbro that local Masons were able to take their third annual pilgrimage this year. His was the responsibility of checking all of the members on the train at departure time in Louisville Sunday afternoon. Pictured on the left of Mr. Aisbro is Richard Straub and in the far corner on the right is Walter Gregory. Standing on the steps of the train is Howard Johnson.

Dan Murray, Plymouth's oldest living Masonic past master took a familiar position when he visited in the cab of the engine with engineer Fred McGrath who piloted the Masons from Plymouth to Louisville and back. Mr. Murray, a former railroader, is still one of the lodge's most active workers.

The Plymouth Mail
Plymouth, Michigan
Dear Sirs:

It was my pleasure to accompany the members of the Plymouth Lodge F. and A. M. on their trip to Louisville, Kentucky, last weekend as a representative of our railroad. I was so impressed with their gentlemanly conduct and helpfulness that I thought it not out of order to forward this letter to you for publication if you so desire. Certainly the lodge as a whole should be complimented for the success of the members and as one who traveled on the train I fully enjoyed their fellowship and good time. The railroad was privileged to provide its services to the members and we look forward to participating in future pilgrimages of this kind.

Sincerely yours,
B. G. Nash

Improvements in Mail Delivery Service Will be Instituted in June

A new rural route will also be added in that section. This move will shorten the present routes, making the establishment of regular daily schedules possible. "Many of the rural routes adjacent to Plymouth will also get better service when the improvements go into effect next month," Postmaster Brock remarked. He also added that additional extensions of services will be made at a later date, after the large change-over has been completed. Along with news of improvements in the service of the office, was the report by Mr. Brock that work has started on the possible establishment of a classified post office in Livonia township. At the request of the Plymouth office, the Post Office department is studying the possibility of such a move. Under the contemplated plan, a full post office would be established in the township, under the direction of the Plymouth office. It would provide residents of that area will all the service offered in the local branch. At the present time there is only a contract post office in the township. It is located in a business establishment and offers only minor services. If a classified post office is established in the township, a full staff of civil service employees would be hired.

PTA Chairmen Are Appointed

During the business session at the final Starkweather Parent-Teacher association meeting of the year, Thursday, May 19, Mrs. Irving Franklin announced the list of committee chairmen who will direct the organization through the coming year.

She named George Caldwell as Membership chairman, Miss Margaret Roberts as Publicity chairman, Clifford Woods as Hospitality chairman, and Mrs. Clifford Woods, Refreshment chairman.

The business meeting followed an open house which teachers of both Mill Street and Starkweather schools gave in honor of their students' parents. In many cases, the school rooms were decorated with displays by the children.

All parents and teachers met in the Starkweather auditorium at 8:30 to view a motion picture which was shown by Mrs. Jewell Bell, entitled "Let's Go Fishing." During the business meeting the new officers were again introduced. O. C. Wood was then presented with a past president's Royal service as president of the organization.

Mrs. Bell read a communication from Mrs. Christine Witwer, which made a plea for needs at a summer camp for epileptics. Among the needed items she listed were old cravens, art and construction paper, scrap paper, children's magazines, games and toys, including those in need of repair. The Starkweather principal offered to accept all contributions at the school.

Following the meeting refreshments were served by Mill Street school parents and teachers. Mrs. George Evans and Mrs. Delbert Harris acted as hostesses.

Members of the Plymouth Optimist club had a most enjoyable program last Monday night when W. O. "Spike" Briggs, Jr. brought them a most timely talk on labor relations.

After telling of his experiences with labor management problems the speaker drifted into another subject which he was more than qualified to talk about, baseball. As owner of the Detroit Tigers he told many interesting highlights about the players and some of their antics in the training camp and on the playing field. He predicted that the Tigers would be a major factor in the pennant race this year.

The Optimists were further honored at the meeting by a visit of the 17th district governor, Arthur G. Holbrook of Dearborn.

Senior Class Returns From Three Day Trip to Mackinac Island

Seventy-one thoroughly relaxed Plymouth High school seniors concluded a three day trip to Mackinac Island Sunday morning.

Highlighting the weekend for the Plymouthites were a three hour stay on the island and an entertainment packed-time on board the City of Cleveland, a D & C ship. On the island the students visited such renowned locations as Arch Rock, Fort Mackinac, and the Grand Hotel.

However, the 71 Plymouth students and the approximately 140 Pontiac High school students had their best time on the ship as Friday and Saturday evening's events proved to be the top spot of the voyage. Dancing, community singing, and a talent show featured the entertainment on the two nights. Two Plymouth fellows, Fletcher Campbell and Jim McDowell came home richer than they expected. Campbell entered the talent show and he came in first to take the ten dollar winner's prize. Fletch won the ten dollars by singing "April Showers."

McDowell won the first place award of five dollars in the Easter Parade hat contest. In both these contests the judges picked the winner by the applause of the assemblage. McDowell's hat was an original Benjamin selection—that is, the headpiece was made by Bob Benjamin, another Plymouth student. Placing second in the hat contest was John Bachelder of this city.

By the time the trip had come to its termination the Pontiac and Plymouth youngsters had become fast friends.

Pino's Project Heightens Interest in Weaving

One of the Plymouth women taking advantage of the weaving classes at Plymouth Colony Farms is Mrs. Louis Goddard. On the right Mrs. Georgia Chingren, director of weaving, shows her how to wind a warp.

Eight years ago Dr. Ralph Pino began the actual building of the Plymouth Colony Farms; and in September of 1947 the first craft project, weaving, was instituted. It is this phase of the project that has drawn the attention of Plymouth to the site of Dr. Pino's dream and the philosophy of living being carried out there.

Dr. Pino, who through his program at Plymouth Colony Farms is attempting to unite a community of people in a cooperative program of recreation, work, and education, has placed Georgia B. Chingren in charge of both classes and production of woven articles. Coming off the looms at the farms are articles ranging from scarves and place mats to upholstery fabrics. At the same time courses of instruction are offered; a project of which several from Plymouth have already taken advantage.

Some of the materials used in

the weaving shop are "home grown" on the 97 acres of land where the project is located. One of the barns houses sheep whose wool goes into many of the articles. It was around Christmas time that Karakul sheep, a breed quite foreign to this section of the country, were delivered to the colony farms. It was a particularly timely date for delivery, as this breed inhabited the stalls of Bethlehem barns at the time of the birth of Jesus Christ.

Mrs. Chingren, director of weaving, has won numerous awards for her work. At the International Textile exhibit in Greensboro, North Carolina last November, she took a first award for an off-white linen drapery. She has studied at the Layton School of Art in Milwaukee, Cranbrook the Academy of Fine Arts in Chicago, and she has taken special courses at the Art Institute in Chicago.

Another step in the progress of the project will be made after

June 1 when the weaving show and display rooms will be opened to the public in the building known as the Ralph Waldo Emerson house. Featured will be materials for draperies, and upholstery.

Last Friday noon Dr. Pino appeared before members of the Rotary club, describing the ideology behind the project and the goals toward which he is working. A story of his talk appears on page 1.

Newly Arrived...

Mr. and Mrs. Ora Glass announce the birth of their fifth son, Gary Lee. He was born Tuesday, May 17, in the Garden City hospital. Their young son's weight was registered at eight pounds and two ounces. Mr. and Mrs. Glass are also the parents of four girls.

A son, named Robert Stewart, was born to Lieut. and Mrs. Earl L. Russell, Jr. on May 17 at the 49th General hospital in Tokyo, Japan. Grandparents of the new baby are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Russell of Plymouth.

In Chicago, Mrs. Adeline C. Bayzek agreed to a reconciliation with her husband after he had promised to 1) wear a wedding ring at all times, 2) stop lending money to his relatives, 3) take her along whenever he goes fishing.

Jumbo Sandwiches Make Ideal Spring Meals; Try These Recipes

A jumbo sandwich and a cool drink make wonderful spring weather fare. You can adjust the size and filling to suit any member of the family, or even the most finicky guest, says Marjorie Griffiths, who gives you four sandwich suggestions in McCall's for May:

PAPA SIZE

Split a long loaf of French or Italian bread lengthwise. Spread both upper and lower layers with soft butter or margarine. Place lettuce leaves on bottom half, then lay slices of Swiss-type cheese on top of the lettuce, next a layer of sliced dill pickle, finally a layer of sardines. Sprinkle them with lemon juice. Top this with the other crust and place on a platter.

Now with a very sharp knife cut into six pieces. Garnish with watercress and serve with tomato and green pepper slices.

MAMA SIZE

Slice up a couple of cucumbers fairly thin, leaving skin on. Cover with a half cup of wine vinegar. Add 2 cloves of garlic, sliced, and 2 teaspoons of salt. Let this stand overnight in the refrigerator.

Split roots lengthwise and brush lightly with melted butter or margarine. Make a layer of the cucumbers on the lower half. Now cook up enough bacon to allow 2 slices to a sandwich. Mix up the crumbled bacon with chopped watercress and mayonnaise. Spread this mixture over the cucumbers. Cover with other side of the roll. Cut on the bias to serve.

CHILD SIZE

Take hard rolls and split lengthwise. Then brush both sides with melted butter or margarine.

Cover one side with thinly sliced roast beef. Now mix up some blue cheese with enough soft butter or margarine and Worcestershire sauce (to taste) until it's smooth enough to spread. Put a generous layer of this mixture on top of the roast beef slices. Now add grated red cabbage mixed up with enough mayonnaise to hold it together. Cover with other side of roll.

GUEST SIZE

Chop up 4 hard-cooked eggs; cook 4 slices of bacon until crisp only and crumble them; chop up a few sprigs of watercress.

Drain oil from a 7-ounce can of salmon and break fish into pieces. Chop up stalk of celery and mix into fish with a half-dozen sliced, stuffed green olives.

Mix up the eggs with enough mayonnaise to make them spread easily, and do the same with the salmon, adding salt and pepper to taste to both mixtures. Do not, however, mix the two mixtures together.

Cut an inch-and-a-half slice horizontally out of the middle of a round loaf of white or rye bread. Be sure to dry the two crusts for other cooking uses.

Arrange the two mixtures alternately in rings on this thick slice of bread with egg mixture in center. Slice up another half-dozen green stuffed olives and finish the outside edge with them.

Serve as you'd do a pie—in big, generous wedges.

Children Reveal Growth in Play

When little Susy scolds her dolly and threatens her with punishment, Susy is not just playing, she is imitating the way she is disciplined.

Children's play is more than a pastime, it is serious business to them and they will tell you a great deal about themselves while they play. If you take the time to watch and listen you can learn much about your children.

Bernice Borgman who is in charge of the nursery school at Michigan State college warns against drawing sweeping conclusions about a child's feelings from his behavior at play. About one-fourth of his play has deeper meanings about his feelings, and the rest of his time he is reflecting what he sees and hears.

A child who plays unfairly may be reflecting his feeling of having been so treated by others. Undercurrents of jealousy may be seen which in real life are not shown. Children cannot always tell you what is going on inside their heads but they may show you in their play.

In the scoldings which Susy passes on to her dolls or animals you may hear the same words and tone of voice that you once used in scolding Susy. Be alert and you can learn much about your child's growth as he plays.

Perk Up Spring Tastes With Veal

The delicate flavor of veal makes it an excellent food to include often in the spring diet, when appetites usually need "perk-ing up."

While veal cutlets and chops are perhaps the most popular veal dishes there are many other ways of bringing veal into the menu for the family. Reba Staggs, home economist, suggests as one example serving veal with dumplings.

VEAL WITH DUMPLINGS

- 2 pounds diced veal shoulder
- 1 onion
- 1 quart water
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 2 cups diced potatoes
- 6 carrots
- 4 tablespoons flour
- 1/4 cup cold water

Have meat cut into one-inch cubes. Simmer veal and slice onion in water for one hour. Add salt, pepper, Worcestershire sauce, potatoes and sliced carrots. Continue cooking for fifteen minutes. Thicken mixture with the flour and water which have been blended together. Prepare dumplings and drop by teaspoonfuls on top of the meat. Cover closely and continue for twelve minutes.

DUMPLINGS

- 1 1/2 cups flour
 - 3/4 teaspoon baking powder
 - 3/4 teaspoon salt
 - 2 tablespoons lard
 - 3/4 cup milk
- Sift flour, measure and sift again with baking powder and salt. Cut in lard until a fine even crum. Add milk and mix to a soft dough.

There is a generous amount of calcium in them for building bones and teeth. Their score on the B vitamins, especially thiamin and riboflavin is especially high.

CAULIFLOWER will stay clean, white and beautiful if you cook the vegetable with its head down in the water.

Scrambled eggs need never scorch if you cook them in a double boiler. This gives nice, fluffy eggs and does not cook them too fast so they will become tough.

Soak spinach in warm, salty water first if you want to get rid of most of the sand at once. Then rinse two or three times in cool water and most of the remaining sand will have disappeared.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Banana Chiffon Pie (Makes 1 9-inch pie)

- 1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
- 1/4 cup cold water
- 1 cup mashed bananas
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
- 4 tablespoons sugar
- 2 egg yolks
- 1/4 cup lemon juice
- 2 egg whites
- 4 tablespoons sugar
- 1 baked 9-inch pie shell

Dissolve gelatin in cold water. Place banana, lemon rind, 4 tablespoons sugar and egg yolks in saucepan. Heat slowly, stirring constantly until thickened. Remove from heat and add gelatin and lemon juice. Stir until blended. Cool. Beat egg whites until stiff, then fold in remaining 4 tablespoons sugar slowly. Fold into banana mixture. Pour into baked pie shell. Chill. Top with whipped cream, if desired.

If you like turnips but can't abide their strong flavor, toss out the water as soon as it reaches the boiling point. Add fresh water and cook until tender.

Red Cross Nutrition Aids

Dried beans and their cousins, peas and lentils are packed so full of nourishment that they have always been on the preferred list of foods among people who need concentrated food value and long keeping qualities. The Army, Navy, explorers, trappers and miners all recognize them as one of the most valuable of their supplies.

Plymouth homemakers have different food storage problems but they too put beans on their shopping lists often. Navy beans, great Northern, Lima, Kidney beans, pinks, pintos, black-eyed peas—everyone has her own favorite varieties.

No matter what the shape, color or name, according to the Nutrition Service of the American Red Cross, they are quite similar in food value. With the exception of soy beans they are the vegetables most nearly like meat, eggs, fish, cheese and milk in body building elements.

The protein they contain is not as good as that in the foods just mentioned, but the addition of a small amount of any one of these foods makes a completely adequate meal. For instance serve milk as a beverage or in a dessert. Add a bit of cheese to the salad that is served with the beans or put a little meat with them.

Beans are unusually rich in minerals. If a little molasses is added to them in the cooking—as in baked beans—they top some of the meats in iron.

There is a generous amount of calcium in them for building bones and teeth. Their score on the B vitamins, especially thiamin and riboflavin is especially high.

To get the most from beans here are the rules to follow in their preparation. 1. Pick them over, discarding the bad ones and wash carefully, twice if needed to remove grit. 2. Soak for 5 or 6 hours or overnight unless directions on package state otherwise. This speeds up cooking. 3. Cook in soaking water. If this is discarded—much of the vitamin and mineral content will be lost. 4. NEVER ADD SODA. It destroys the vitamin. 5. Cook beans over low heat in covered pan. They will be plump and unbroken if they are simmered rather than boiled. 6. Add water as needed. Beans and peas absorb a great deal as they cook. 7. Season carefully. Salt and pepper are only starters for seasoning beans. They are bland in themselves and need the addition of stronger flavors to make them interesting. The smoky flavor of

BEAN LOAF

One and one half cups dry beans, 1 onion, chopped, 3 tablespoons melted butter, margarine or bacon fat, 1 cup bread crumbs, 1 egg, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1 cup irradiated evaporated milk.

Soak and cook beans as usual. Drain, saving liquor for soup. Mash beans and mix with other ingredients, adding some thyme, marjoram or parsley, if liked. Turn into well greased pan. Bake in moderate hot oven, 375 degrees F., for about 45 minutes. Serve hot with well seasoned tomato sauce. Serves 6 to 8.

MICHIGAN NAVY BEAN SALAD SUGGESTIONS

Mix cold baked beans with diced cucumber, tender raw turnip, radishes or celery. To cold baked beans add chopped green pepper, raw onion rings, sliced tomato and chopped parsley. Serve cold beans mixed with sliced raw apple on lettuce.

More than 33,000 men recently competed for 2,000 Navy college scholarships in the NROTC program.

Meat Care Is Stressed by Food Authority

Since meat is a major item in food buying, the importance of its proper care in the kitchen is emphasized by Reba Staggs, well known home economist. She especially calls attention to Plymouth homemakers who habitually slip their meat packages in the refrigerator straight from their shopping bag.

Paper wrappings from around fresh meat should be removed first, points out Miss Staggs. The meat should then be placed on a plate or in a shallow pan. It is left uncovered or covered lightly with wax paper to allow for a little drying which is desirable in keeping fresh meat. It then needs to be placed immediately in the meat compartment or in the coldest part of the refrigerator.

A cold, dry location, but not necessarily the coldest part of the refrigerator, is best for smoked meats such as ham or bacon, says this home economist. And when cooking bacon, homemakers should take out of the refrigerator only the amount they'll be using, since room temperatures do not keep bacon fat its best.

Cooked meats and leftovers, she says, should be stored in the refrigerator tightly covered. The covering is needed to help keep the meat from drying out.

Frozen meat should be placed in the refrigerator until time to defrost it for cooking.

All dressmakers know that the most important part of tailoring a skirt or dress is proper pressing and that the ironing board should be in use about as much as the sewing machine.

In Brunswick, Germany, a skier who had accidentally crossed into the Soviet zone reported that he had been held in custody for two days while the Russian soldiers made him give them skiing lessons.

Successful Parenthood

MRS. CATHERINE CONRAD EDWARDS
Associate Editor, Parents' Magazine

MORE THAN one-third of our country's children, nearly 16 million, are between six and 12 years old. Children of this age are beginning to show signs of independence, but they are not yet ready to be put entirely on their own.

To help parents understand why children of six to 12 behave as they do, why they want to do some things and not others, what their physical and mental limitations are, and how their abilities can be developed as they grow older, the Children's Bureau in Washington has prepared a very helpful booklet.

Titled "Your Child From 6 to 12," the publication's text was reviewed by pediatricians, psychiatrists, educators, and other specialists to insure that it presents the best practices in good child care.

Not just theory, this booklet contains many common sense suggestions. Parents are advised, for example, to let the child who is inclined to have too many quick, short-lived enthusiasms bear the expense of these himself, out of an allowance. Then, Jim's craze for collecting "comic" books must be controlled if he is to buy materials with which to make a glider.

Other subjects discussed are how to develop an interest in books, keeping the child healthy, dealing with fears and frustrations, developing wholesome sex attitudes, the handling of money, the importance of play, good personal habits and, finally, pursuits and hobbies.

In fact, this booklet contains such a wealth of information for parents of the six-to-12-year-old that it may rival in popularity the best seller of the series, "Infant Care" of which more than 23 million copies have been sent out by the government printing office. To get a copy of "Your Child from 6 to 12" write to the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C. The price is 20 cents per copy.

Another government pamphlet which all parents should read is the report on home responsibility, a publication of the recent National Conference on Prevention and Control of Juvenile Delinquency. It is one of the soundest, most human and understanding studies of parental responsibility that we have ever read.

Here is a sample quote with which I'm sure we will all agree:

"Blaming, calling names, getting excited and indignant are senseless, and useless. One thing is certain. Nobody who blames delinquency 'on parents,' 'on mothers working,' 'on progressive education,' 'on the moving pictures' or on any other one cause should be taken seriously. It does not matter who or what such a person is—or how much he knows about something else. He is being foolish and ignorant when he tries to 'blame' anything as complicated as delinquency, anything as inevitable as serious delinquency after war, on any one thing or any one cause. Unless we are careful and cautious, a lot of mischief will be done because people with the easy answers will be listened to seriously."

Watching and Praying in Gethsemane.
Lesson for May 29: Mark 14:32-42.

Memory Selection: Mark 14:38.
The name Gethsemane will ever be a symbol of vicarious suffering. It is the name of a garden of olives across the brook Kidron from Jerusalem. The ancient olive trees found there are evidently descendants of those under which Jesus prayed.

At the entrance of the garden, Jesus went farther into it, taking with him Peter and James and John. He told them His soul was exceeding sorrowful even unto death, then bade them tarry and watch, and He went a little farther and fell on the ground in an agony of prayer. If Jesus needed to pray, so should we. He prayed that the cup of bitterness might be removed from Him, but He added: "Not what I will, but what thou wilt."

What a contrast between Jesus and the sleeping disciples! Thrice He came and found them sleeping and gently reproached them. The third time He came He indicated that it was too late to watch—"The Son of man," He said, "is betrayed into the hands of sinners." Then He went forth to meet the henchmen of the Sanhedrin and the Roman soldiers, led by Judas.

Peter drew his sword. But he and the others had neglected the preparation of seeking unto God for help. We are too much like them in much we do. Let us abandon our own resources and seek those of heaven. Let us learn from Jesus the substance of all prayer—"Not what I will, but what thou wilt." More or less than that prayer would be wrong.

Discuss Church and U. N.

Three Methodist church members will relate some of their impressions of the work of the United Nations assembly when they appear before congregator members Sunday morning. They are, from left: Robert Penhale, Donald Sutherland, and David Jolliffe.

Three Plymouth youths will tell the Methodist church congregation what they think the church can do to assist the United Nations in the establishment of world peace.

This program will be held in conjunction with Memorial weekend observances, and will take place during the time of the regular church service Sunday morning, May 29.

Those who will handle the program are David Jolliffe, Robert Penhale and Donald Sutherland. During Easter week they visited the United Nations headquarters and observed the workings of the organization. The three were members of the Hi-Y excursion group that took the trip at that time.

Rock Golfers Enter State Finals Saturday at Kalamazoo Course

By virtue of winning the regional championship Saturday at Ann Arbor's Barten Hills, the Rocks golf team will enter the state Class B finals to be held in Kalamazoo Saturday.

Twelve Class B teams will enter the state finals.

Playing for Plymouth in the event will be the same fellows who won the regional title Saturday. Coach Eddie Bender nominated the following to play: Larry Bentley, Bill Farwell, Jerry Walsh and Hank Levering.

Bentley was medalist Saturday with an 84. Jerry Walsh's 89 was good for fourth place among 24 golfers. Bill Farwell had a 92 and Hank Levering chalked up a 98 to round out the Rocks foursome.

In addition to winning the regional the Rocks won the Suburban B conference title Friday by drubbing the Ypsi Braves by 24 strokes. Once again Larry Bentley was medalist with a 73.

The Bendersmen will leave Plymouth early Friday morning in order to play on the course that afternoon.

Rock Nine Plays at Wayne Friday

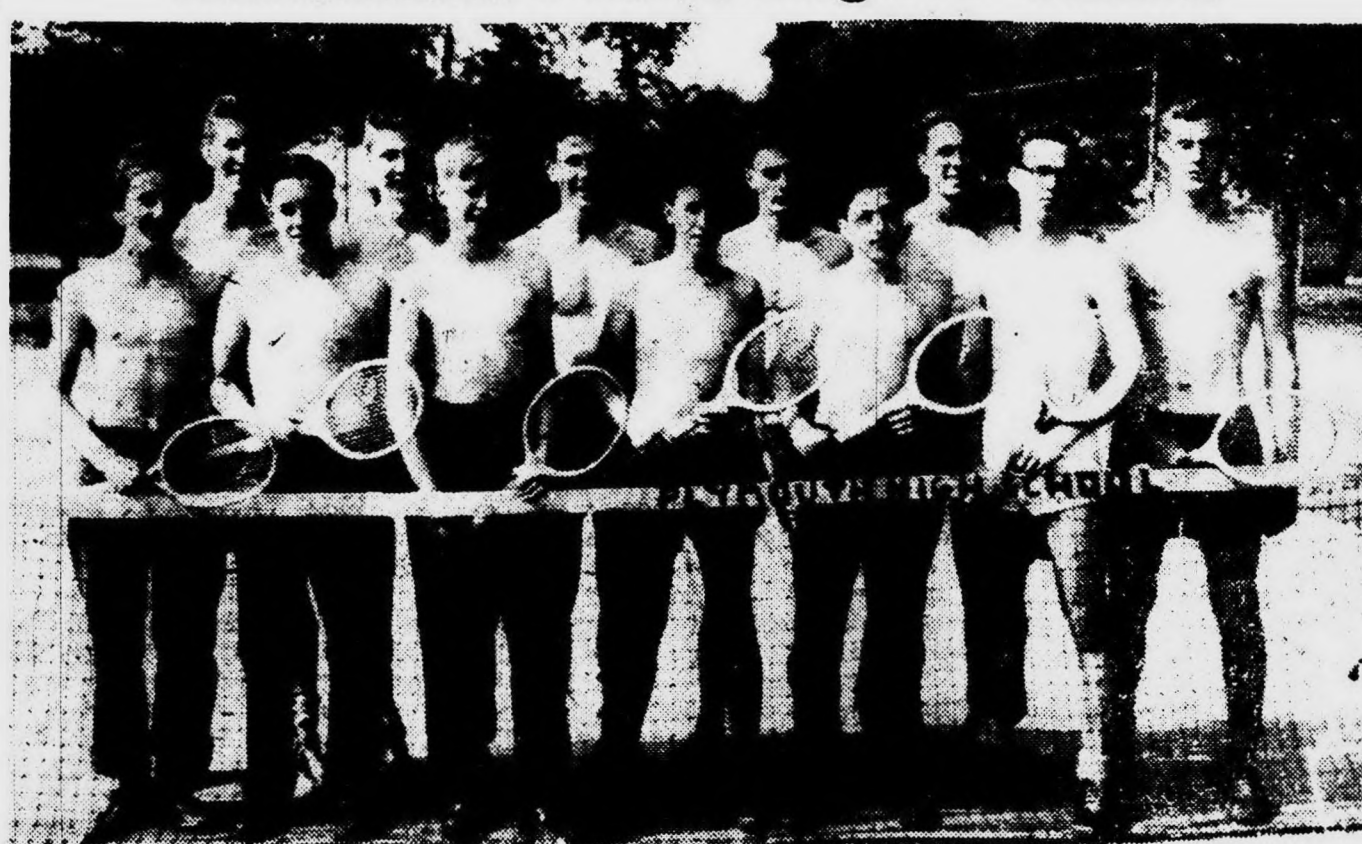

Rained out of their last game scheduled for the home diamond on Thursday, May 19, the Rocks baseball team travels to Wayne tomorrow afternoon with a record of two wins and one loss in league play.

Continuing with their heavy slate in the last two weeks Plymouth will clash with the Northville Mustangs on Tuesday at the Cass Benton diamond.

It appears that the Rocks will not face Redford Union this year. The Rocks are unable to play any games after June 3, which is already filled with a contest with the Northville Mustangs. Also state rules are against the Redford Union-Plymouth game. The rules are that a team can not play more than two games a week. This week and next week are occupied with two games both on Tuesday and Friday.

Coach John Sandmann reveals that the sophomore southpaw, Wally Dzuris, will hurl one of the Northville games.

Racketmen Finish Regular Season

Third place was the final resting place of Carvel Bentley's tennis team in regional play. The Rocks followed Cranbrook and Birmingham in the six team field at Dearborn Friday and Saturday, May 20 and 21.

The doubles team of Keith Ebersole and Bruce MacGregor survived until the semi-finals. Ed Whipple lost in the quarter-finals. The other Rocks were beaten in the first round of competition. Playing in the singles were Wally Hammond and Don Gronowick, doubles competitors Roger Kidston and Keith Boyce and Don Bowen and Jim Stevens.

Bentley's first three teams came May 20, 21, 22, at Dearborn and Wayne in that order.

City Recreation Softball Program Begins Tuesday on New Diamond

A new diamond and new lights will greet softball enthusiasts Tuesday evening as the city recreation softball program commences. The new field is at the corner of Blanche and Theodore streets, on the back part of the Plymouth High school athletic field. All spectators will use the small gate on Theodore as the entrance. The big gate at the football field entrance will be locked.

Opening the season Tuesday will be last year's Old Timer's league champion, Contractors, who will meet Allen Industries at 7 p.m. Immediately following this encounter at 8:20 a special game between Northside Pharmacy and Beglinger Olds will be held. Herb Woolweaver announces that Northside plans to use Bill Ball, former star Dehoco pitcher. Beglinger Olds will place Gabby Street on the mound.

On the same evening at Dehoco at 6:15 the girls league will start with Twin Pines facing the Dehoco girls. At 7 p.m. on the Northville softball diamond Freydl Store will collide with the Old Mill.

The next evening, Wednesday, June 1, VFW faces Wilson's Service at 7 p.m. and Beglinger Olds meets Dunn Steel at 8:20 in Old Timer competition. The teams in the Old Timer's league this summer are: Allen Industries, Contractors, VFW, Wilson's Gulf Service, Beglinger Olds and Dunn Steel.

Teams in the girls league are: Dehoco, Twin Pines, Beglinger Olds, Freydl Store, Northville, and Old Mill Northville. The initial home game will be Tuesday, June 7, with Twin Pines meeting Northville's Freydl Store at 7 p.m. At 6:15 at Dehoco the girls inmates oppose Beglinger Olds.

Men's league play starts at Dehoco on Thursday, June 2, as South Side Merchants play at Dehoco starting at 6:30 p.m. On the Plymouth diamond Evans will start the festivities with Dunn Steel at 7 p.m. and Wall Wire faces Champion Corrugated at 8:20.

Bankers Win in Twilight League

The First National Bank baseball team won its first game in the Ypsilanti City Twilight League by defeating the Bomber Lunch 6-3, in a five inning game that was called because of darkness.

Stanley Venclovec did the pitching for the Bankers, and Martin Smith worked behind the plate.

Because of rain, Sunday's game had to be postponed until a later date.

Next Sunday the Bank team will travel to Recreation park in Ypsilanti to meet the Ypsilanti Merchants. Game time has been set at 3 p.m.

On Decoration Day, Monday, they will meet Public Utilities at Riverside Park at 3:30 p.m.

The Bankers will be the Bankers opponents on Thursday, June 2, at Recreation park in Ypsilanti at 6 p.m.

Joe's Jottings

by Joe Miller

Coming up Tuesday on the Cass Benton diamond is the initial encounter of the baseball season with the Northville Mustangs. The Rocks have to win either Tuesday at Cass Benton, or Friday on the home diamond to win the Elton R. Eaton friendship trophy. The trophy goes to the winner of three or more victories in five contests in football, basketball and baseball.

Northville won the football game 21-7, but Plymouth took the two basketball games by the scores of 43-38 and 29-22. Those two games next week shape up to be close, well-played contests, so don't miss them. Plymouth won the trophy last year, as the Rocks won everything but one football tilt.

A long summer's softball program begins next week. The new high poles are in place and the field is in shape for another fine season. This summer the recreation department, under Herb Woolweaver, will have eight leagues: men's industrial, girls, old timer's, Class D, E, F, middle, and boys' softball. A lot of good ball is in sight.

On display in the Plymouth High school main hall is the team trophy won by the Coach Eddie Bender's foursome of Larry Bentley, Bill Farwell, Hank Levering and Jerry Walsh. The quarter won this trophy by grabbing first place in the regionals at Dearborn Hills in Ann Arbor, Saturday, May 21. The Suburban B champs now enter the state golf finals to be held in Kalamazoo, Saturday. A state championship could be won and brought back to Plymouth High. Let's hope the lads bring home the bacon.

Eddie Bender has molded the Suburban B champs mainly from the junior class. Representing the class of 1950 on the squad are Bill Farwell, Hank Levering, and Jerry Walsh. Walsh and Farwell are undefeated in league play this year. The mainstay of the squad is Larry Bentley, a member of the class of 1949. Still another trophy came into the Rocks possession this past week. They received the league trophy.

Another state final is being held Saturday and that is the state track meet at East Lansing. The Meisnermen are sending seven tracksters, who hope to bring home some additional trophies to Plymouth. A bit of bad luck struck the Rocks Saturday at the regionals as Jim Wagenschetz couldn't reach anywhere near a top performance.

The state of Indiana has developed into a great manufacturing state. It also has large coal mining interests. Its farming and livestock interests are, also, outstanding.

In Snow Hill, North Carolina, Virginia police who had searched more than two years for Escaped Convict Tommy Hill finally found him working as a guard at a North Carolina state prison camp.

Rocks Send Seven Men to State B Track Meet at East Lansing

Finishing the regular season Saturday at Ypsi, the Plymouth High school track squad captured a second place at the regional meet held at Michigan Normal's Walter O. Briggs field.

The Rocks' arch-rival, the Ypsi Braves, once again was the only team to top the local lads as the blue and white, qualified seven boys for the state meet. This top Class B meet of the year will be held Saturday at East Lansing. A first, second, or third place at the regionals is necessary for qualification.

The Plymouth thimble, with perhaps the best chance to win his event at East Lansing, high jumper Dave Heinzman, walked off with his specialty with ease Saturday. Dave could take satisfaction from the fact that he out-

Daisy Girls Enter New Loop

Because Lloyd Dayus, who owns Windsor's Daxus stadium, withdrew his support from the proposed International Girls Softball league, the Daisy girls squad has now entered the Central Michigan Girls Softball league.

Dayus gave his backing to a Men's loop with the result that the International was forced to disband.

At the moment Daisy is in the four team league with Ann Arbor, Lansing, and Adrian. However, Owosso and Albion might join.

Floyd Fleming, manager of the Daisy club, announces that the girls' initial league contest will be at Lansing Sunday, May 29. The encounter will start at 7:30 p.m. The next sure game is with Adrian on the Daisy field on Sunday, June 12.

In an exhibition game Sunday the Daisy club edged Lansing 4-3. Previous to that tilt the girls beat Ann Arbor, another loop member, 9-8 in 12 innings.

For the majority of their games Daisy will use Plymouth's lighted field.

The head of the new division is Herbert E. Kipke of Lansing. He is state commissioner of the Michigan Softball association.

Half miler Cal Becker took a second place in his specialty in approximately 2:07. Phil Harding took a third in the 220 and the 330 yard relay team of Harding, Crocker, Anthony and Stewart took a similar place, both qualifying for state.

Other scores for the Rocks were Bruce Besso, who earned a third in his heat of the 440, and Jim Law, who took fifth in the pole vault.

Recreation Head Reveals Teams for Kids Leaps

Following are the teams that are entered in the "kids" leagues this summer.

In the Western Wayne Class D league Herb Woolweaver, recreation director, has revealed that the following are set: Plymouth Woodmen Club, Plymouth Daisy, Wayne Dietrick, Romulus Township Cubs, Inletter Hampton, Inletter Westwood, and Taylor Township's Papp's Market.

The E loop slate is Plymouth, Cooper School, Inletter Hampton, Inletter Westwood and New Boston. The E League has three teams: Elmton, Wobles, and the Great American. The mid-gets have the Junior Coast Americans and Stock, and G. Carter heads the corner while Cliff Wood heads Starkweather.

In Snow Hill, North Carolina, Virginia police who had searched more than two years for Escaped Convict Tommy Hill finally found him working as a guard at a North Carolina state prison camp.

to tell the best-tasting beer in Michigan!

A. ALTES LAGER beer is made exclusively in closed vats, unlike other beers made in open vats.

B. Beer made in closed vats tastes better—because air or anything else harmful can't get in—and no flavor can escape from a closed vat.

C. Compare the exclusive aged-in, sealed-in flavor of ALTES LAGER with any other beer. Your taste will tell you it's better because it's made in closed vats!

BABSON Discusses Our Schools

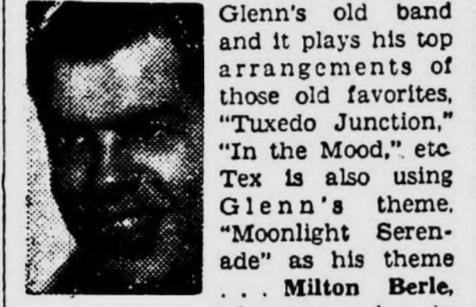

As a part of the annual Gasparilla Celebration of Tampa, and the Mardi Gras of New Orleans which I attended last winter, also the Cotton Exposition of Memphis, and the Orange Festival of Los Angeles, there are always marvelous parades.

What Are The Attractions? These parades have beautiful floats and other attractions. They are spectacular and interesting events, with contributions from business and schools. But of what do these contributions consist? First, and foremost, of the School bands. Many of these come from all parts of the state. Then, there are divisions of ma-now is just like Glenn's old band and it plays his top arrangements of those old favorites, "Tuxedo Junction," "In the Mood," etc. Tex is also using Glenn's theme, "Moonlight Serenade" as his theme. . . Capitol: The most beloved songs of Noel Coward have been compiled, given an excellent arrangement and recorded for Capitol by George Fajline and his concert orchestra. . . Among numbers are "I'll See You Again," "Zigeuner," "Someday I'll Find You" and "I'll Follow My Secret Heart". . . In singles, one of the best Capitol releases in recent months is "Baby, It's Cold Outside" with Margaret Whiting and Johnny Mercer giving the delightful lyrics precise timing. . . Jimmy Wakely comes up with another mournful ditty that should keep him on top of the folk song heap. . . It's "Someday You'll Call My Name" and on the reverse is "I Wish I Had a Nickel".

Columbia: "Secret Music of China" is one of the most sensational offerings in years. . . Columbia's Alexander Laszlo has embodied all the pathos, tragedy and some of the light moments of modern day China in songs that will tear at your heart strings, particularly his "Rape of Nanking". . . His direction is outstanding and while not a word is spoken, the music itself suffices.

In Columbia singles, some recommended ones are the new and pretty "A Million Miles Away" as recorded by Jerry Wayne and the Dell Trio with "Loneliness" on the flip side. . . Frank Sinatra has a winner in his rendition of that popular "Buckle-Buck". . . In fact, Frankie has been putting out some good records lately other highly recommended ones being his "Comme Ci, Comme Ca" and "Bop Goes My Heart".

jorettes, which always get good applause. The football players make up a division; and the baseball players another; and of course, there are the high school "soldiers."

There are no divisions which exhibit the work of the Chemistry, Physics, Secretarial, Manual Arts, or in fact any other departments of the schools upon which employers depend. From watching these parades, one would think that our high schools existed only for training for noise, sports and war. Yet, I can well realize how a very interesting float could be made of pretty girls in scanty bathing suits, operating gaily colored typewriters.

Newspapers May Be Guilty Also

The featuring of the non-essentials of our school system is not limited to the parades. Almost every day the best newspapers of our largest cities give one or two pages to the athletic teams of its schools and colleges. They give space to featuring the bands, and they send photographers to get pictures of the majorettes. When a new college or high school professor is employed, it scarcely gets into print; but when a new football coach is hired, he will get his picture in the newspapers with a half column story of his life!

Employers feel that this present policy of featuring the non-essentials and of smothering the essentials is all wrong. Yet 80 percent of the high school and state universities are looking to these same employers to give their students jobs. Employers would like to have more spelling matches, typewriting contests, oral arithmetic quizzes, and other practical exhibitions and contests which the newspapers would feature. Furthermore, I would not limit this new attitude merely to the "practical" subjects which my business friends want. Let us also have contests in history, in science, in literature and the arts. Those who lead in these departments should also be featured.

What Jobs Are Now Available?

During the past few years, the United States has been enjoying the greatest boom in its history. Everyone could get a job of some kind. But let me tell my readers that this rosy situation is beginning to come to an end. During the years ahead only those who are proficient in some line of work will get employment. Even common factory labor is gradually being eliminated by automatic machinery. Young people must be trained in something worthwhile to get decent jobs in 1951 and through the depression years to follow. In fact, today the Bureau of Labor Statistics, states that 50,000 Bachelors of Science will be graduated in 1951, when the replacement demand will be less than 10,000. The best opportunities will be for those who are studying nursing, dentistry, grade school teaching and machinery.

In closing, I do want to say a good word for the "4-H Clubs" of our schools. These are doing excellent work and they are being generously featured by the newspapers. For this work the national state and county agricultural agents largely deserve the credit. These clubs are systematically organized and supervised. Perhaps the solution of the businessman's problems is to have the U. S. Department of Commerce, or the Department of Education start Secretarial Clubs, Arithmetic Clubs, and Spelling Clubs!

The need is great!—It must be met some way!

This Week's Public Issue

(Editor's Note: This week the column prepared by the University of Michigan's Department of Political Science takes the form of a signed article by Dr. James K. Pollock, Chairman of the Department. Professor Pollock was one of the 12 members of the Hoover Commission, and was the only political scientist on it.)

THE WORK OF THE HOOVER COMMISSION

by James K. Pollock
It is almost two years since the Congress by unanimous vote created the Commission on the Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government (popularly known as the Hoover Commission), and directed it to study the organization and methods of operation of the executive agencies. The purpose was to bring forth recommendations which would promote economy, efficiency and improved service in the transaction of the public business.

Previous efforts at reorganization in Washington had largely failed, and in recent years the tremendous growth of the federal government has made it the largest enterprise on earth. In less than 20 years its civil employment has increased from 570,000 to over 2,000,000. Its bureaus, sections and units have increased fourfold to over 1,800. Annual expenditures have soared from $3,600,000,000 to over $42,000,000,000. It now costs more each year to pay the interest on the national debt than it did to pay the total cost of the federal government 16 years ago!

Such rapid growth could not take place without creating serious problems of organization and management. Methods, procedures and controls fairly effective two decades ago cannot cope with the management needs of today.

The Commission on Organization, consisting of 12 members, six from official life and six from the public; six Republicans and six Democrats; and presided over by the nation's distinguished ex-President, Herbert Hoover, proceeded to investigate with the aid of some 24 separate task forces, the major functional areas of the Government. After many months of painstaking research, the task forces submitted their findings and recommendations to the Commission, which then spent several months more in evaluating the studies of the task forces and in developing its own recommendations to the Congress.

These recommendations are contained in 18 separate functional reports and in a summarizing, concluding report—19 in all. The Commission has found, in general, an appalling situation in the executive branch. Because of divided controls, lack of organization authority, overly detailed legislation and restrictive controls over personnel and accounting, it is difficult if not impossible to fix responsibility. The top officials, including the President and his department and agency heads, require more adequate tools of management, fiscal, personnel, supply and house-keeping, if the public business is to be conducted efficiently and economically.

The President of the United States is unable to control the whole executive establishment. No less than 65 agencies or departments report to the President. His own staff services are inadequate and he is limited by various statutes in the exercise of his constitutional powers. Without Congressional authority he is powerless to reorganize his own branch of the government.

Commission reports give numerous examples of overlapping and duplication throughout the government, which cost the taxpayers hundreds of millions of dollars. The history of duplication between federal river development agencies in the Columbia, Missouri and Central Valley of California provides eloquent testimony to the disastrous consequences of the competition between these federal agencies. Repeated findings are cited which show excessive and unnecessary paper work—"red tape" is the popular name. For instance, the cost of processing half of the 3,000,000 federal purchase orders issued each year is actually more than the value of the commodities purchased!

All of the Commission's recommendations are now before Congress. Unless the whole program is given sympathetic and prompt attention by the Congress, the greatest opportunity in modern times to make our federal government efficient, responsible, and economical will be jeopardized. Once the practice of exempting certain agencies and excepting particular functions has begun, the chances of achieving substantial improvements will speedily diminish.

In a world of uncertainty, we cannot longer afford the cost or run the risk, of having our national government wallow along at its present low level of bureaucratic inefficiency. It must be brought under effective control; it must be made efficient; it must be economical and responsible. The Hoover Commission recommendations point the way, but they are not self-enacting. Unless Congress acts, we shall continue to have a dangerously wasteful and irresponsible government.

Author of "HOW TO WIN FRIENDS and INFLUENCE PEOPLE"

PRAISE VS. CONDEMNATION

HERE'S A STORY stemming from the United States army, which has given us many good examples of how to handle people. The men who have learned lessons from the situations they have faced in army life are going to benefit by them all their lives, and we are glad to have them pass examples along to us.

D. Carnegie

Paul A. Brown, of Houston, Tex., was commanding officer of an anti-aircraft battery in the jungles of Panama where one soldier was continuously causing trouble. As a penalty, the previous commanding officer assigned to him the duty of manning the incinerator.

This was a job no man wanted, for it consisted of burning refuse, garbage, tin cans, then digging a hole and burying the remains. The extremely-high temperatures, the excessive humidity, the smell of the burning garbage, the digging of the burying trenches, the chopping of wood for firing the incinerator, and the heat of that fire, all combined to make it a most unpleasant task.

Each battery was inspected several times a week by a medical officer with a view to making sure that there would be no scattered garbage or other refuse to breed flies and insects and add to the hardships in safe-guarding the health of the command. In the tropics, the rapidity which marks the breeding of the seemingly-millions of insects is unbelievable.

Time after time, Mr. Brown's battery had received demerits from officers for laxness with regard to the incinerator.

Result? Continuation of carelessness. The private had been called on the carpet, his pass privilege revoked for the week; he would go back to his job and show some improvement—for a few days. He had no interest nor pride in his work whatsoever.

Mr. Brown decided to try a new angle. He looked over the man's work and noted every detail of improvement, searched for improvement, in fact. Then he complimented that soldier wherever he could. He discussed with him the importance of his job, let him know that the health of that battery was largely in his hands.

Gradually, the man took pride in his humble task. Compliments from other officers, and particularly the inspector, made him renew his efforts. He turned into a fine soldier.

When it comes to praise vs. condemnation, you can count on praise winning!

Rules for Water Safety Are Listed

With an almost unprecedented early spring the waters of Michigan's lakes and pools have warmed and the long Memorial Day weekend should be a gala one for hundreds of Plymouthises, given half a break in the weather.

All such weekends are gala ones for death, too. Al Moreau, director of the American Red Cross Safety service, declared in warning those who take to the water to follow certain simple rules.

More than 7,500 were drowned in the United States last year and a majority of these casualties occurred within 50 feet of shore.

Show-off bravado accounted for a great many drownings and incaution for a great many more.

A few of the Red Cross safety rules are:

1. Don't dive in strange waters without first exploring.
2. Never swim alone.
3. Never trust your own judgment about your ability... If you think you can swim 100 yards, swim only 50 yards from safety. You always have to come back.
4. Don't enter the water when you are hot; don't swim when the water's too cold.
5. Don't overload a canoe. Don't sit on the seats to paddle. Knool for padding.
6. If you do upset, use your canoe as a life preserver. Hold on to its side and hand paddle it to safety—slowly. Wood canoes and metal ones with air tanks won't sink.
7. If your canoe fills with water but does not upset, sit in the bottom and hand paddle to safety.

The Red Cross, in cooperation with the Department of Parks and Recreation, holds classes in swimming and aquatic safety in approximately 50 Wayne County pools.

The state of Connecticut, prominent in manufacturing and industry is also, famous for its recreation and summer resort facilities.

Mrs. Hunt to Lead Raceway Drivers

Mrs. James Hunt, local woman who has gained recognition both far and wide for outstanding feats in the horse racing and showing field, has been chosen to act as marshal during the 43-day season of the Jackson Raceway. The season opens Saturday night, May 28, and continues through July 16.

According to a report from the raceway, more than $100,000 in prizes has been set up for horsemen to shoot at during the season. Of this grand total, $4,000 in prizes will be offered the opening night. Racing will continue under lights nightly for 43 days, excluding Sundays, with post time each night at 8:15.

This marks the first time part-time harness racing has been conducted outside the metropolitan Detroit area in a number of years.

But the Rains Came

Although the Centennial parade at the Ypsilanti Normal college was delayed an hour for the arrival of Vice President Barkley, the gigantic parade of floats and bands sent a thrill through many a child's heart.

Heading the long procession of cars was Vice President Barkley. Governor Williams, the president of Ypsilanti Normal college, and following were the faculty members. There were bands from all over the state including Plymouth, Ann Arbor, Lansing, Melvindale, the American Legion, the Girls' Drum and Bugle Corps, the Ypsilanti college band, the Ypsilanti High School band, and others, while following alternately were large, beautiful floats.

The streets were lined with people wanting to see the spectacular mile long parade. But as the clock rounded one, old man weather turned on the water and as buckets of rain fell, the mass crowd headed for the nearest shelter. The bands dropped out one by one and finally as the rain came down in torrents, the whole parade was rained out.

The speech by Vice President Barkley took place at 2:30 and the scheduled May Day dance on the greens had to be cancelled because of the wet football field.

The whole Centennial is a celebration of 100 years of progress by the Ypsilanti Normal college.

Datcher Elected Y-Teen President

Rita Datcher is the newly elected president of Y-Teens, according to the reports of the election board. The election was held Thursday, May 19.

Other officers elected were: Pat Pine, vice president; Mary Vincent, secretary; Connie Pascoe, treasurer; and Nancy Stevens, corresponding secretary. These officers will assume their duties next fall when the new school year begins.

Miss Barbara Parkes, Hesco sponsor, and several other faculty members will be present at the farewell.

Varsity Club Holds Hay Ride

The Plymouth High school Varsity club, under the direction of E. J. Bender, held their annual Spring Hay Ride, Saturday, May 14.

On different committees were Jack Elliott, refreshments; Pat Downing, hay wagons; and Douglas Phillips, chaperons.

The Varsity club also has ordered pins for all of the new members and the old ones that are graduating from the club. Russell Hasselbach is in charge of the pins which are expected to arrive sometime in the near future.

Films on UN Trip Shown to Hi-Y

At a meeting of the Blue and White chapters of the Plymouth High school Hi-Y Wednesday, May 18, members were shown movies taken by some of the boys who attended the United Nations conference in New York. The movies were rather short because some of the film had not come back from being developed. In addition to the movies some snap shots, taken on the trip, were passed around the room.

Officers will be elected at the chapter meeting next week. The Blue chapter meets on Monday and the White chapter on Wednesday. The present presidents of the chapters are: Don Sutherland-White and Dean Joachim-Blue.

Students Installed As New Officers

Next year's class officers were presented to the students at an assembly, Friday, May 20. Jack Scheel, this year's mayor, introduced his successor, Don Sutherland, who thanked the students for their support in the election and asked for continued support in the approaching school year.

Dave Ritzel, new vice-mayor, presented the newly elected class officers and Clifford McClumpha, chief of police, announced his lieutenants, Richard Zielosko, Harry Blessing and Roger Kidston. Before giving the oath of office, Cyrus Pierce commended Jack Scheel, Miss Irene Walldorf and all of this year's officers for the good work during the past year.

Also participating in the assembly was the band which opened the assembly with "America" and concluded it with four numbers: "Broadcast From Brazil", "Sometimes I'm Happy", "Pan Americana" and "El Capitlan".

Freshmen Show Real Interest in Baseball

Barbara McIntosh's junior baseball team is now in first place with a record of winning every game it has played. The girls on McIntosh's squad deserve all the credit they receive, due to the fact that they were out in the cold weather long before practice began getting in tip-top shape.

Agnes Sitterlet's senior team, and Jean Tetzlaff's freshman team are tied for second place. Carolyn Smith, catcher, and Thelma Trombley, first baseman, on Jean Tetzlaff's team are showing themselves to be of great value to the team.

Eleanor Rutherford, pitcher for Jean Tetzlaff's squad, was on the "Daisy" team last summer and has proven herself an important asset to her team-mates. With the team work shown by the rest of Jean Tetzlaff's squad you may expect to hear more of this freshman outfit.

A freshman team, which has turned out for all its practices, and really deserves mentioning is Pat Wassenaar's. This group has proven to be peppy and full of enthusiasm and also has good sportsmanship, which every team should be working for. The freshman girls have shown an interest in baseball this year which is proving to be to their advantage.

A storm at sea may now be located and tracked from the time it is formed until it is dissipated.

High School Band Looks Forward to Active Schedule

According to the schedule of coming band activities, this musical group will be plenty busy. First on the agenda is the Memorial Day parade, which is to be on Monday, May 31. Next, the band is tentatively planning a Band dinner, a potluck with the members' parents invited, early in June.

The chorus-band Spring Music concert is scheduled for Tuesday, June 7, in the Plymouth auditorium. Friday, June 10, the Starkweather PTA will hold its annual ice cream social, at which the band will provide the entertainment.

The next day, June 11, the band will travel to Belle Isle, where the Shiriners hold their convention. The band has been invited to march in the parade and enjoy free refreshments and entertainment afterwards.

And last of the events, to close the school year, the band will hold its annual picnic for the members and their friends. The picnic is planned for the last week of school.

World War II Pictures Interest History Pupils

"Truman Proclaims—This Is V-E Day." This headline appears on a front page of a newspaper posted on the bulletin board in Room 43.

This newspaper is only one of the many articles posted about World War II which the American History students are now studying.

Other material includes pictures of the British leaders during the war and pictures of United States leaders. There are two very colorful photos of Omaha Beach where the American and British forces landed in Normandy on D-Day June 6, 1944. Other photos are of the South Pacific areas and Japanese leaders.

Seniors Travel to Mackinac Island

Displaying souvenirs and newly acquired suntans, 73 seniors and chaperons returned from the Annual senior trip, Sunday, May 22.

The class ventured to Mackinac Island via the Great Lakes liner. They visited such places as the historic, Grand Hotel, Fort Mackinac, Sugar Loaf, Arch Rock, and other places which drew attention of the seniors.

When a Boy Dreams of Manhood!

If YOU DRIVE A CADILLAC, the sketch above tells a story. Somewhere on the streets or highways you bring your car to a velvety stop to give a "lift" to a youngster whose thumb is pointed the same way you are—and you watch his face light up as he settles down beside you. "Boy, a Cadillac!"

You know, without asking, what is going through his head. He's dreaming of the day when he himself grows up to man's estate and has a Cadillac of his own.

It is only natural, of course, that a Cadillac should occupy this unique place of honor in the dreams and aspirations of American youth—for Cadillac is the only car in America whose name and crest have been reserved exclusively for cars of the very highest character. It is the only fine-car name that has meant the same—for decade after decade.

This year, the Cadillac name has a special luster—for Cadillac cars are powered by a great new V-type engine—the creative masterpiece of Cadillac's renowned engineering division. Performance is so brilliant, from every standpoint, that it simply must be experienced in order to be believed.

Why not experience it yourself? You are welcome in our showrooms at any time.

Locations of possible supper peninsula areas where later detailed ground survey work may uncover new deposits of high grade ore are outlined in a report just released by U. S. Geological Survey.

Over two years of field and paper work are entailed in making the survey, first on several airborne searches for high grade iron ore to bolster the state's reserve supply. The geological survey division of the Michigan conservation department contributes 50 per cent of the funds for this research.

Bearing the title, "Geophysical Investigations," the series of 45 aeromagnetic profiles, accompanying maps and reports which cover parts of Baraga, Houghton and Iron counties can be purchased for 30 cents from the Director, U. S. Geological Survey, Washington 25, D. C.

Locating new ore deposits requires the use of latest technical instruments such as the airborne magnetometer, says F. G. Pardee, conservation department mining engineer. With the aid of this instrument, geologists were able to narrow a 2,200 square mile area down to a likely 800 square miles warranting further investigation. Information disclosed in this first survey changes the geological picture in these counties, he says, calling for restudy of some favorable mineral areas and eliminating some spots previously considered as having possibilities. Eventually the entire western half of the upper peninsula will be covered.

The airborne magnetometer, a wartime development used in the search for submarines, has been applied to the land search for metals. The instrument is a reconnaissance tool. It is flown at a low level and far enough from the plane so that it is not affected by the vibrations or magnetic field of the plane. The airborne magnetometer does not take the place of a detailed ground survey but does indicate and define areas where detailed ground work would be advantageous. Relatively inexpensive, the device saves the high cost of ground crews by eliminating those areas where detailed work is unnecessary.

Almost 700,000,000 tons of high grade ore have been mined in the upper peninsula over a 100-year period. Last year, as the result of intensified exploration, the ore reserves were increased by 16,000,000 tons. That is, Michigan entered 1948 with estimated reserves of 150,000,000 tons, shipped 13,000,000 tons during the year, and ended the year with a reserve of 153,000,000 tons, G. E. Eddy, conservation department geology chief, discloses.

Whether U. S. industry will be able to continue to turn out high grade steel in competition with foreign sources depends in large part on locating new deposits of high grade ore and developing methods of beneficiation of low grade ores.

The fact that the mining industry is now working on methods of mining and processing these low grade ores indicates that it believes they will be able to deliver these ores to the furnaces cheaper than the ores from the new fields in Labrador and Venezuela.

Anglers at this time of the year are more heavily dressed than during summer months and thereby face greater danger from occasional spills because the human body is less maneuverable equipped with heavy clothing and rubber boots.

State game farms in 22 states raise or buy pheasants for stocking programs according to a survey made by the Massachusetts conservation department.

Pheasants are beginning to make a recovery from the recent lean years although there was a larger and more successful hunting army last season than took to the fields in 1947.

Last fall 352,627 hunters bagged 632,698 pheasants, the conservation department reports after processing small game hunters' report cards. Compared with the 1947 season, this is a 37 per cent increase in hunters and a 39 per cent increase in the pheasant take. In the poor 1947 season 258,064 pheasant hunters shot 452,924 cocks.

The average number of pheasants taken per hunter—1.79—remained about the same. In 1947 the average was 1.78.

While the breeding stock remained about the same in 1948, the hens produced considerably better, the department's game division points out.

Largest increases in the number taken were in the secondary pheasant range areas of Ottawa, Muskegon, Newaygo and Allegan counties. These counties yielded twice as many birds. In the poorest pheasant range, Berrien, Cass, St. Joseph, Branch, Van Buren, Kalamazoo, Calhoun and Barry counties, the take was up 82 per cent.

The Thumb, center of high pheasant populations a few years ago, is recovering more slowly. Thumb area counties, Tuscola, Kalamazoo, Saginaw, Bay and Sanilac, showed a 85 per cent increase. Other average to better pheasant areas in central and southeastern Michigan showed 1948 bag increases ranging from 31 to 40 per cent.

On the basis of mail carrier counts in July of last year, the game division estimated the bag increases and was consistently close to these report figures with one exception. In the poorest pheasant range counties, the division estimated the kill increase at 12 per cent. Tabulation of report cards showed an increase of 52%. This is the 12th year of hunter reports. The kill last season was 64 per cent of the yearly average over the past 12 years of 991,833 birds.

Connoisseurs of fish delicacies may soon have a new dish with a ham-like flavor to add to their "must try" list.

A second attempt to devise a recipe for utilizing carp in a "fish sausage" is being made by Dr. Peter I. Tack, research associate at the Michigan State College experiment station. The conservation department cooperates with the station in finding new and tastier ways of preparing such underrated species as carp, sucker and herring.

"In our first attempt," Tack says, "we tried the pork sausage method of adding salt and other seasoning agents, while mixing the carp with bread and vegetable filler. The finished product had a consistency similar to rubber. This time we believe we can get around the gelatinized texture by heating the ingredients just enough to coagulate the proteins. The seasoning will be added following the precooking stage."

A Michigan meat packing firm has indicated an interest in producing the fish sausage for the commercial market. Gefilte, a fish loaf composed mainly of carp and suckers, is now on the market in some areas.

When you gotta stop - you wanta stop!

"It can stop on a dime," the salesman promised you, "—and leave nine cents change!"

And your Buick did — when it was new and brake linings unworn and everything factory-tight and fresh.

But brake linings wear — lights grow dim with time — tires can lose their bite and traction.

And with a whole summer's driving ahead, what better time than this to bring your Buick back to new-car peak in all those details that mean so much to safety?

Check your car --- Check accidents!

Three great service and safety organizations across the country are alerting car-owners everywhere this month on safety-checking their cars.

They list ten vital question marks for you to think about — How are your Brakes? Lights? Tires? Steering? Wheel alignment? Defective glass? Rear-view mirror? Muffler? Windshield wipers? Horn?

Be sure your family rides in safety — ask your Buick service man to look over these checkpoints this month — and join the great drive for driving safety!

Our men, trained in Buick ways, will give you brakes that stop you as Buicks should, with new brake linings that are right in size and brake drums turned to perfect round.

They can replace sealed-beam headlights to give you new-bulb brilliance — and while they're at it, check battery, voltage, wiring and headlamp-aim to boot.

They'll check tires, switch them as needed, look into wheel alignment for easy steering.

In a word, they'll renew your Buick with the same care and interest they would lavish on their own — and do it at no greater cost than for just ordinary service.

So drop in. Get set for some summer fun that's up to lively Buick standard.

Buick care keeps Buicks best
