

THE SKIES GROWING BRIGHTER.

Now that Commissioner Whipple has kept her promise to resign if the other four commissioners were recalled, the way is cleared for the election of an entirely NEW city commission to conduct the city's business in the immediate future.

The temporary commission which is serving until the new commission is elected on October 17 is to be commended for the selection of Cass Hough to fill out the unexpired term of the retiring commissioner.

Cass will bring to the city government the viewpoint of one vitally interested in the future development of Plymouth both industrially and in a civic way. He has courage, he has ability and the spirit of leadership so badly needed.

THEIR INTEREST IS IN THEIR CUSTOMERS.

A few weeks ago in this column we called attention to the fact that Northville had been excluded from the Michigan Bell Telephone Company extended area service.

An investigation by The Plymouth Mail revealed the fact that one former city commissioner of Northville had been directly responsible for the exclusion of that city from free phone service between the two towns.

We are gratified to know that through the excellent cooperation of telephone Manager John R. Saxton and other officials of his company, a survey was conducted in Northville among Bell subscribers and it proved overwhelmingly that the residents of that community wanted extended service.

Thanks to Bell officials and the village council of Northville, residents of the two communities, sometime within the next year, will be able to enjoy the privilege of toll-less telephone calls.

TAXING INDUSTRY.

The Michigan Press Association during recent weeks has been sending to weekly newspapers throughout the state a series of articles pertaining to the removal of numerous industries from big cities to smaller communities.

Many of the reasons for this general trend are discussed—but we have noted that there has been one general warning to local communities about their part in retaining these industries after they are once established there.

While small towns often offer free sites and even, in some cases, promise low taxes, and other benefits—there seems to be no general statement of policy for the years to come.

It seems to be the theory of many small town officials that once an industry has been established within its limits, it should be made the target of constantly increased taxation.

As we see it, the one way to secure industries and to retain them after we get them, is to keep taxes down to the lowest possible figure. A going factory is a highly important asset to any town—but an empty factory building is a liability.

A portion of the last article issued by the Michigan Press Association showing the development of small town industries follows:

Everyone knows—except the city union organizer—that it costs less to live in a Michigan small town.

That is why a lower hourly wage rate can buy just as much as a higher hourly wage rate in the big town. The worker usually has less distance to travel to and from work; he finds rents to be lower. He can purchase a homestead for less money.

And, as any manufacturer will tell you, lower labor cost is needed in a small town if the company is to compete with the low unit cost of goods produced in the city by big-volume mass production methods.

It has been the experience of many Michigan small towns that industry prospers, and payrolls grow for workers, where a differential in labor cost prevails. Where union organizers induce the workers to demand city wages, production costs get out of hand.

These observations grow out of the "Michigan Mirror" survey of new industry in Michigan small towns, of which this is the concluding report. Belding lost a hosiery mill for just this reason. Baldwin's new industry to make bases and crates for Gibson refrigerators and General Electric stoves and deep freezers has been closed repeatedly because of excessive labor demands.

At Oscoda a community progress club sponsored a "building bee" to provide a plant for the Oscoda Door Manufacturing Company.

At Kaleva in Manistee county is a prime example of American free enterprise. Like the maker of the better mouse trap, William Gakinen developed a bait that caught fish. His home workshop has grown into an assembly line plant employing 70 persons at peak production.

Other Michigan small town reports in capsule form: Montague—Chamber of Commerce raised $5,000 for new foundry. Foundry employs 30 men. Machine shop may eventually employ 40.

Elk Rapids—Elk Rapids Packing Company began operations July 12, 1948. This year approximately 4,000,000 pounds of sour cherries and 200,000 pounds of sweet cherries were canned. Peak employment was 220 persons.

Birmingham—Asphalt pavement mix plant of Allied Chemical & Dye Corp., N.Y.C. General offices and warehouse of Great Lakes Tractor & Equipment Company.

Escanaba—Branch of Harnischfeger Corp., Milwaukee, producing electric welders, truck cranes and sugar cane loaders: 200 employees. Wells Crate & Lumber Company, 26

Daniel R. Wright Dies in Milford

A former Plymouth resident for many years, Daniel R. Wright, 47, of Milford, veteran of World War II, died last week Wednesday at the home of his sister, Mrs. Thomas Cavacas at 255 Eighth street in Milford, after a long illness.

He made his home at the Cavacas residence since coming to Pontiac in June.

Born May 22, 1902, at South Haven, Michigan, he was a son of Arthur D. and Anna Farrand Wright. He spent most of his life in Michigan, and was employed as a thread grinder for the Ford Motor company in Detroit for many years.

Enlisting in the service September 13, 1942, he served as a private in a flexible gunnery training squadron during World War II. He was discharged at Laredo, Texas, February 27, 1943.

After his discharge, he returned to work at the Ford Motor company. The past few years, he operated his own retail paint store in Michigan until ill health caused his retirement in June.

He was a member of the Baptist church and American Legion post at Plymouth.

He never married. His only survivor is his sister, Mrs. Cavacas.

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Downard chapel in Milford, Rev. H. R. Cederberg officiated. Full military honors were given by members of American Legion post No. 4 with Robert E. Bailey, commander, in charge. Interment was in Mountainview cemetery.

More and more high school graduates are choosing the U. S. Army as a career.

Young men who like to make their own decisions are enlisting voluntarily in the U. S. Army.

Announcement was made this week by Charles W. Oliver, Nash Sales and Service, that the new Nash Airflyte cars with many exclusive features will go on public display tomorrow morning at 1382 South Main street, when dealers throughout the nation open their doors.

Two lines of the 1950 Nash cars will be offered, the Nash Statesman in the low medium-price field and the Nash Ambassador with fully automatic shifting in the medium-price field. The "Statesman" replaces the "600" series. Two and four-door sedans, as well as a club coupe, will be available in standard-priced "Super" and higher-priced "Custom" models, according to H. C. Doss, vice president in charge of Nash Motor sales.

Production of the 1950 Nash models, under way since September 6, has gained steadily and retail delivery will commence within the current week, Doss said.

Reviewing highlights of the new Nash Airflyte cars, Doss said: "We believe the 1950 models represent a new conception of motoring comfort. They are not only beautiful cars, but with aerodynamic design and a choice of three transmissions—Hydr-Matic 'clutchless' shifting; automatic overdrive; or standard transmission—built in twin beds and adjustable reclining seats, the 1950 Nash Airflytes offer driving pleasure, comfort, economy and safety not available in any other car."

Galvanized roofing should be painted as soon as the galvanizing of zinc coating begins to break down. Painting at this stage takes less labor and paint than when the roof has begun to show rust spots.

Moses of Biblical fame stuttered badly.

New Nash Combines Beauty, Safety

Smooth aerodynamic design and road-hugging massiveness are features of the front-end treatment of the 1950 Nash Airflyte cars. In recent wind tunnel tests at the University of Wichita the new design was proved to have the lowest air resistance of any full size stock cars tested. The beauty and elegance of the new 1950 Nash cars are enhanced by larger bumper guards complementing the racing-type air scoop grille. Included as standard equipment is the curved one-piece windshield. The rear window is 10 inches wider than in '49 models.

Concert Group in Northville Offers 75 Memberships

Plymouth music enthusiasts now have the opportunity to buy 75 memberships in Northville's Concert association and take advantage of the group's outstanding 1949-50 program. These memberships were not offered last spring because of the local drive put on by the Plymouth Symphony society.

Included on the program for the coming season is a performance by Alice Howland, a young artist with a golden voice and sparkling personality, on October 5. An English couple, Bartlett and Robertson, will give a twin-piano concert on January 24. These two fine artists are said to set the standards by which other duo-pianists are measured. The rich baritone voice of George London will be heard on April 11.

Report on Trip to United Nations at Kiwanis Meeting

A report on their visit to the United Nations home at Lake Success was given by two Plymouth youths at the Tuesday meeting of the Kiwanis club.

Roger Kidston and Donald Sutherland, Jr., representing the Hi-Y club at Plymouth High school traveled to New York early in the summer with Hi-Y advisor, Walter Goodman and Harry Reeves to see the United Nations in action. They were most impressed with the activities at Lake Success.

Although many problems face the UN, they said, there is a good opportunity to create world peace resting in the hands of the representatives of the many countries included in the UN. Speeches by the delegates are translated almost simultaneously into five different languages and can be heard through head phones in any tongue desired, the boys said.

A profitable and worth while trip was reported by the visitors from Plymouth.

Jolliffes Arrive in Toronto Day After Ship Fire

With Binghampton in New York and a visit with their daughter as their destination, Mr. and Mrs. Evered Jolliffe arrived in Toronto the day after the Noronic disaster.

They reported in a card to The Mail that Toronto was a sad city after the gigantic ship fire in which over a 100 persons lost their lives.

The Jolliffes expect to be gone about ten days. They are traveling through Montreal and the New England states on their way to the home of their daughter, Miriam, and her husband.

By coincidence, Mr. and Mrs. William Wood and Mr. and Mrs. Horace Johnson traveled on the Noronic last three weeks before the ship burned while in dock at Toronto.

Want to wax finish your oak floors?—Sand smooth and clean off all dust. Apply floor filler and allow to dry thoroughly. Then apply several thin coats of paste wax, polishing each coat with a mechanical polisher. Don't use thick coats or your floors will be slippery. A longer wearing finish can be had by applying shellac and varnish before waxing.

Windows stick?—Wait until they are good and dry then remove the window sash and coat the sides with paint or linseed oil. Coat any unpainted portion of the frame also. This will help keep the moisture out of the wood and prevent swelling.

Saturday Evening Nuptials Unite Miss Gordon - Mr. Levitt

Before a background of palms, lighted tapers and baskets of white gladioli, Jo Ann Gorton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Gorton, and Robert J. Levitt spoke their nuptial vows during a candlelight ceremony, September 17. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Ruth Levitt and the late Joseph Levitt of Detroit.

Officiating at the double ring service in the First Presbyterian church was Dr. Henry J. Walch. As soloist, Fred Kendall sang "I Love Thee" by Greig and during the 8 o'clock ceremony he presented "The Lord's Prayer." His accompanist was Miss Hannah Strassen.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, chose a bridal gown of ice blue taffeta. The fitted jacket of the two piece dress was styled with a V-shaped neckline, covered buttons extending from the point of the neck to the waist, a flared peplum, and long fitted sleeves. The full gathered skirt opened in front to show an underskirt of ice blue organza embroidered in a white satin leaf design.

A sweetheart shaped headpiece of shirred illusion veil in place of the bride's fingertip held of ice blue illusion. White roses and ivy streamers in a cascade were tied in white satin for the bridal bouquet.

To attend her as matron of honor, the former Miss Gorton asked Virginia Larkin. Fashioned from teal blue taffeta, the honor attendant's gown featured a fitted bodice with net yoke outlined by a full band of taffeta in an off-the-shoulder effect, Mrs. Larkin's headpiece was a sweetheart shaped bonnet of shirred taffeta to match her gown. She carried an arm bouquet of pink roses, with pink streamers.

To carry out their duties as junior bridesmaids, Kay Jean Gorton, sister of the bride, and Nancy Levitt, the bridegroom's sister, wore gowns of dusty rose taffeta designed with boat shaped

Gottschalk-Hinsch Rites Read in Church Ceremony At Ypsilanti

St. John's Catholic church in Ypsilanti was the setting for the High Nuptial Mass and double ring ceremony which united Geraldine Hinsch and Robert Gottschalk in marriage on Saturday, September 10. Performing the morning service was the Rev. Father John Larkin.

The former Miss Hinsch is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alpha B. Hinsch and her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Gottschalk of Kellogg street, Plymouth.

The illusion neckline of the bride's traditional ivory satin gown was accented by an off-the-shoulder lace ruffle. The fitted bodice buttoned down the back to the bow bustle and her full hooped skirt ended in a short train. Orange blossoms held in place her fingertip veil of illusion, and white roses made up the bridal bouquet. The bride also carried a white rosary, a gift from the bridegroom.

As her maid of honor, the bride chose her sister, Beverly Hinsch. Her pale green gown was fashioned with a round neckline and draped bertha collar. The bouffant skirt featured a draped peplum. The maid of honor's mits and bonnet matched her dress. Miss Hinsch carried a hand bouquet of yellow and brown chrysanthemums.

Wearing a pale yellow gown styled identical to her sister's was Margaret Hinsch, who acted as bridesmaid. Her flowers were also yellow and brown chrysanthemums.

Best man for the bridegroom was his brother, Donald Gottschalk of Plymouth. Performing the duties of the ushers were George Gottschalk Jr., brother of the bridegroom, a junior usher,

Do You Want Your A&P Put Out Of Business?

Last Thursday in New York, the anti-trust lawyers from Washington filed a suit to put A&P out of business.

They asked the court to order us to get rid of most of our stores and also the manufacturing facilities which supply you with A&P coffee, Ann Page products, Jane Parker baked goods, and other quality items we produce.

This would mean higher food prices for you. It would mean less food on every dinner table and fewer dollars in every pay envelope.

It would mean the end of A&P as you know it.

This poses a basic question for the American people: Do they want to continue to enjoy lower prices and better living? Or do they want to break up A&P and pay higher prices, and have lower living standards?

What do you want?

Why Destroy A&P?

This suit was brought under the anti-trust laws. These are good laws. They were passed about fifty years ago to prevent any company, or any group of companies, from getting a monopoly in a field and then raising prices to the public.

A&P has never done any of these things.

Nobody has ever shown that we have anything even approaching a monopoly of the food business anywhere. As every housewife knows, the retail grocery business is the most competitive in the country and we do only a small part of it.

Nobody has ever said we charged too high prices — just the opposite. This whole attack rises out of the fact that we sell good food too cheap. We would not have had any of this trouble if, instead of lowering prices, we had raised them and pocketed the difference.

Nobody has ever said that our profit rate was too high. During the past five years our net profit, after taxes, has averaged about 1 1/4% on every dollar of sales, which is less than almost any other business you can think of.

The American people have shown that they like our low-price policy by coming to our stores to do their shopping. If A&P is big, it is because the American people, by their patronage, have made it big.

Obviously, it is the theory of the anti-trust lawyers that the people have no right to patronize a company, if their patronage will make that company grow; and that any big business must be destroyed simply because it is big, and even if the public gets hurt in the process.

Do You Want Higher Prices?

There is much more involved in this case than the future of A&P. The entire American system of efficient, low-cost, low-profit distribution which we pioneered, will face destruction and the public will suffer.

A&P was the first chain store in this country. For more than ninety years we have tried to build a sound business on the simple formula the founder gave us: "Give the people the most good food you can for their money." Year after year we have tried to do a better job, make our business more efficient, and pass the savings on to the consumer in the form of lower prices.

Our efforts along these lines have led other grocers to keep their costs and profits down.

In the old days before A&P, food that cost the grocer 50¢, often sold as high as $1.00 at retail.

Today, food that costs the grocer 50¢ generally sells to the public at less than 60¢.

The methods we pioneered have been adopted not only by other grocers, but by merchants in other lines. There are today literally hundreds of chain stores, voluntary groups and individual merchants operating with the same methods and in the same pattern here under attack.

If the anti-trust lawyers succeed in destroying A&P, the way will be clear for the destruction of every other efficient large-scale distributor.

Who Will Be Hurt?

There has never been any question in our mind that it is good business and good citizenship to sell good food as cheaply as possible. As Fortune Magazine said about A&P some time ago, "It is firmly attached to the one great principle — the selling of more for less — that has made the desert bloom and the nation wax great."

We sincerely believe that we have helped the American people eat better and live better.

We believe that the hundreds of thousands of farmers and manufacturers who have voluntarily sought our business have profited by our fast, low-cost distribution of their products.

We know that our 110,000 loyal employees enjoy today, as they always have, the highest wages, shortest hours and best working conditions generally prevailing in the retail food industry; and that these men and women have found in A&P good opportunities for security and progress.

We know that thousands of businessmen — the landlords who rent us our stores, the haulers who operate our trucks, the people who supply us with goods and services — have a big stake in our operations.

Obviously, all these people will suffer if this company is put out of business.

What Shall We Do?

We admit that the interests of the owners of A&P are of little importance.

Frankly, they could make an enormous amount of money by breaking up A&P, as the anti-trust lawyers wish, and selling off the parts.

But is this what the American people want? Do they agree with the anti-trust lawyers that our food prices are too low, and that we should be put out of the picture so other grocers can charge more?

Frankly, if this were the case, we would not want to continue in business.

But we seriously doubt that this is the case. Twelve years ago, an effort was made to tax this company and other chain stores out of business. The public rallied to our support. They said they liked our quality foods and our low prices. As a result of their opposition, the tax was defeated.

Now we are faced with this new attack through the courts. We are faced with the heavy costs and all the trouble that lawsuits involve.

But we believe this attack is a threat to millions of consumers who rely on us for quality foods at low prices; to farmers who rely on us for fast, low-cost distribution of their products; and to our loyal employees.

We feel that it is our responsibility to all these people to defend, by every legitimate means, this company and the low-price policy on which it was built.

Lee R. Sackett Resumes Duties as City Police Chief September 15

Effective September 15, Lee R. Sackett resumed his duties as Chief of Police, the post from which he was asked to resign in June. Acting on a written request from Sackett, the city commission re-appointed him as police chief at a special meeting Wednesday, September 14.

In his letter to the commission Chief Sackett stated that he "would make his resignation available to the incoming commission to act on when they desired."

Commenting on the commission's action, Mayor Chute stated that any action the commission takes is based not on the Citizens' committee, but upon the vote cast by the citizens of Plymouth which was interpreted as support of the Citizens committee and its platform.

In a digest of Sackett's letter to the commission, Chute said that the police chief would not care to remain as chief for any length of time, but that he would want to relinquish his duties within a matter of two or three months after the October 17 election. When he did retire as police chief, Sackett stated in his letter that he would like to remain on the police force in a subordinate capacity.

A motion to make the police chief's pay retroactive was deferred until another time. Supporting the motion from the floor were two citizens, Ora Glass and Clarence Pankow, who said they thought the chief should be paid from the time he was asked to leave his post.

It was approved by the commission that Dr. Harold Brisbois be asked to reconsider his resignation and remain as city health officer. Ruth Huston Whipple was appointed to the Wayne County Board of Supervisors.

In a request from Harold R. Cheek, James Latture, Lewis Goddard, William Hartmann and Frank Henderson, a complete audit of the city books will be made and published within the near future.

Chemical Sprays Control Weeds

Troubled by ragweed, poison ivy, poison sumac, lawn weeds, beach weeds, water weeds, or brush? There's scarcely a place in Michigan that doesn't have at least one of these pests to cope with.

Michigan State college scientists say that highly effective chemical sprays are now available which work wonders in getting rid of these plant pests.

Dr. B. H. Grigsby, MSC weed control specialist, has recently prepared a new circular describing uses of these new chemicals. The circular is titled, "Weed Control in Resort Areas," and is part of the college series designed to aid operators of tourists' businesses. However, the new circular is available to all who wish to get rid of weeds.

The circular describes weed killing methods in simple terms. There are sections describing chemicals, equipment, control measures and precautions needed. Use of 2, 4, 5-T is described as the latest in chemicals to kill brush.

During fall months is an excellent time to spray weeds as they are often growing then and will be in good condition to absorb the killing sprays.

A copy of the publications, circular R-201, "Weed Control in Resort Areas" may be obtained from county agricultural agents' offices or by writing to the Bulletin Office, Department of Public Relations, Michigan State college, East Lansing, Michigan.

Dale Carnegie

Author of "HOW TO WIN FRIENDS and INFLUENCE PEOPLE"

TODAY'S PIECE is for parents who are concerned with what their children may have inherited. If you are one of them, the first thing for you to do is to stop worrying. Your child has many people to inherit from, so the chances are slim of his inheriting a weakness so great from any one of them that cannot be offset by what he inherits from all the others combined.

Donald A. Laird has an interesting article in Your Life Magazine which I have condensed for this space, as follows:

Many people have insanity somewhere in the family, but fortunately only a fraction of mental disorders are definitely inherited. Even an insane father or mother should not deter one from marriage. Famous people have had one insane parent: author Hans Christian Anderson, philosopher Sir Francis Bacon, author Nathaniel Hawthorne, astronomer Johannes Kepler, artist J. M.W. Turner, to mention only a few.

An occasional feeble-minded child is born in families that have the best of heredity—Charles Darwin and William Shakespeare each had a feeble-minded child. Feeble-mindedness crops out in unexpected places, partly because it is a recessive hereditary factor and may lie dormant through several generations. It also crops out sometimes because of brain injuries at birth, or because of the mother's illness before the child's birth.

Blood has nothing to do with heredity. I'd as soon have a transfusion from a lunatic as from a university president or a congressman.

Blood tests tell nothing about heredity; they merely tell about venereal disease.

There is very little blending of characteristics of mother and father. Hereditary qualities usually appear full strength not diluted.

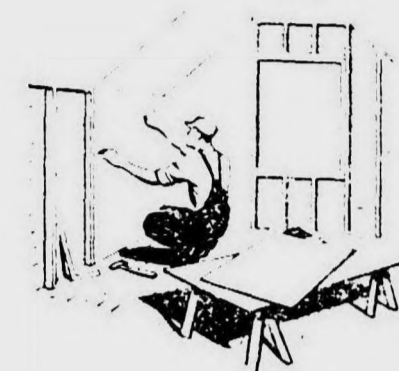

Years may change the man, but the heredity remains unchanged. Ninety year old men have become fathers of healthy babies, and the children received the same heredity as if their father had been a whippersnapper of a youth.

Heredity plays a role in some diseases. If both a father and a mother have diabetes, medical examinations should be held annually on the child. But tuberculosis and cancer have little to do with heredity.

A mandrill is a large baboon. Shrubby plantings help keep with a light blue nose, orange troublesome snow from drifting and yellow beard and a forehead off open fields onto the road crest of greenish hair. when winter winds blow.

Guess who's losing sleep over this one?

FOR years, folks have talked about the "low-priced thrills" in the car business.

For a generation these have been the same three cars, unchallenged for position simply because they were lowest priced.

But take a look at the beauty pictured here and ask yourself:

How would you like to sell against it, with its wealth of Buick features?

How would you like to compete with it when it wears a price tag any new-car buyer can reach, gives you straight-eight performance for less than many sixes?

Truth is, this one sets a lot of standards that are going to be hard to match.

This styling is certainly something to start other designers tossing in their sleep.

This handy size—a dream in traffic, yet generous in interior room—is a "must" for cars yet to come.

The lift of high-pressure Fireball power—the leveling and comfort of the Buick ride—the luxury of Dynaflo Drive, here optional at modest extra cost—all these are wanted things others just can't overlook.

So why not do the obvious thing and go see the car that's causing sleepless nights in Detroit?

Study its smartness, test its room and comfort, try its handling, note the precise figures of its delivered prices.

You can do all that on a single trip to your Buick dealer's—and make your selection of a wide choice of equipment and colors at the same time.

TEN-STRIKE! Only Buick SPECIAL has all these Features!

Select New Team of Cheerleaders in School Tryouts

A cheerleaders' tryout was held in the gymnasium of the school on Tuesday, September 13 to pick the foremost cheerleaders for Plymouth sports during the 1949-50 school year.

The choosing of the ten best students was very difficult, because of keen competition. Eight faculty members and six students acted as judges.

Chosen as cheerleaders were Joyce Forschee, Karen Smith, Elaine Lietz, Anne Preston, Eleanor Rutherford, Ronald Witt, Helen Schomberger, Nancy Bogle, Norma Schroeder, and Pat Pine. At a final elimination which will be held at a later date, six of the above ten will become varsity cheerleaders while the other four will do the cheering for the reserve squad.

Following is the basis in which they were chosen:

1. Ability to lead (response from group)
2. Poise (demeanor, etc.)
3. Appearance
4. Student and teacher co-operation
5. At least a "C" average student
6. Good student citizen and representative of P. H. S.

3. Sow Scott's Lawn Seed at 2 to 3 pounds per 1,000 square feet.
4. Cut lawn regularly. If clippings are heavy, catch or rake up clippings to prevent smothering young grass.

Award Won by Pilgrim Prints

"You have a substantial paper, for Pilgrim Prints is a real asset to the school. Full credit should be given to the staff and advisor," wrote the judges of Medill School of Journalism at Northwestern University, when they awarded the Pilgrim Prints a first place international award for the third consecutive year.

Miss E. McDonald, advisor of the paper, and Ted Thrasher, editor, filled out a questionnaire giving facts about the Pilgrim Prints. The papers are judged on three points: the newspaper as a medium to inform its readers, the newspaper as a medium to entertain readers, and the newspaper as a business enterprise.

Trophy Won by Plymouth Band

At the Michigan State Fair the Plymouth band walked off with a trophy from the State Fair Association. During the Fair approximately 50 bands played, each one receiving an award.

This year's band consists of 76 members, 28 of these newcomers, mostly from the junior band.

Mr. Paul T. Wagner is planning on playing at football games of several colleges, from which he has received invitations. A busy schedule has been made up for the music-makers for the '49-50 school year.

Assembly Group Holds Meeting

The first meeting of this year's assembly committee was held Wednesday, September 13, at 3:30.

The work of the committee is that of setting up an assembly program for the entire year. The committee is composed of eight people. Carvel Bentley, chairman, Donald Rank, Mrs. Marquerite Bromley and Arthur Alford represent the faculty while Wilma Lature and Charles Todd represent the student body and Roger Kidston and Betty Salmon, the Student Council. Also present at the meeting were Miss Irene Walldorf and Cyrus Pierce.

Suggestions included cutting assemblies which charge admission to as few as possible, rotating the hour in which assemblies will be held, and not beginning an assembly until the entire audience is seated. There will also be an effort to darken the gym to a better extent when movies are to be shown.

There will be emphasis on student participation in the assembly programs.

Wilma, Betty, Roger and Charles will contact clubs and classes while Mr. Bentley will seek cooperation from various departments in scheduling assemblies.

There has been a tentative committee meeting set for mid-November.

ONE of the easiest ways to find out how much your telephone is worth to you is to invite guests to a party the way Elsa did. You'll be amazed at the time it takes to accomplish in person what you can accomplish with a few quick telephone calls.

Nearly every call you make saves time which you can use for other purposes. Many of the calls you receive save needless trips that use up valuable hours and minutes.

And yet the cost of your telephone remains low. It represents a smaller portion of the family budget than even before the war.

One of today's greatest values is the telephone

Cynthia Baker is Elected to Head GAA This Year

The first meeting of the Girls Athletic Association was held on Wednesday, September 14, in the high school.

Six girls bowling teams have already been formed, with 75 girls already showing desire to belong on a team. Saxie Holstein is manager of the girls bowling teams this year.

Plenty of Good Fishing Still Left

Although the first hunting season is only a few days away, the conservation department points out that Plymouth sportsmen are missing some of the best fishing of the year if they chuck their fishing gear for the season at the first sign of cooler weather.

Pet equipment and methods of fishing are as varied as the fish in the lake, but the angler will not go wrong if he sticks to those successfully used during the summer, until results prescribe a change.

With cooler weather, regular day fishing is good advice, although some anglers still subscribe to the early morning and late evening formula. Should the usually reliable worm fail to produce, the cricket, crawfish and four-inch chub are worth a try. Veteran fishermen suggest checking the stomach of the first one caught for quick and reliable dope on current fish food preferences. Those using minnows might try hooking them through the lips for a maximum amount of action. Anglers also
