

Schools to Begin Speech Program

Parents of a considerable number of school students are receiving letters this week explaining a new service available to children and youths of public schools. The service consists of instruction from a specially trained teacher and is aimed at helping our young people to overcome certain speech defects or handicaps which are detrimental not only to learning in school but in other activities as well.

Patsy Ketterer, who is in charge of the program, is a graduate of the University of Michigan. She received her training in speech correction work at the speech clinic in Ann Arbor where she served as an instructor last year. She is dividing her time this year between Plymouth Public schools and Livonia Township schools.

Her initial screening of Plymouth students has indicated a large number of pupils in need of her help. She reports that many will need only a short period of instruction while others will benefit most from additional help spread over a longer period.

Manchester Man Opens J & M Service Here

Floyd S. Flood has leased the J & M Service, formerly Bud Wilson Service, from the Gulf Refining company. A former Manchester automobile and farm implement dealer, Mr. Flood is announcing a special get-acquainted offer in a Plymouth Mail advertisement in another section of the paper. J & M Service is located at Main and Starkweather.

Mr. Flood, with his wife and two children, resides at 142 Rose street.

United States President John Tyler was the father of 14 children.

Grapefruit are so-called because they sometimes grow in clusters.

Crime Prevention Topic of Speech

Juvenile delinquency provided the topic for the evening's program Monday night at the weekly Optimist meeting. Inspector Preo, in charge of the Juvenile Boys Delinquency division of the Detroit police department, spoke on methods in prevention of juvenile crime.

"Keeping youngsters occupied with healthy, constructive activities is one of the best ways of preventing them from entering a criminal career," Inspector Preo said. He commented that recreation programs, sports and hobby interests help in keeping the children off the streets and out of trouble.

Inspector Preo's division is part of the Detroit Police Crime Prevention bureau. The meeting was held in Our Lady of Good Counsel church. Austin Stecker is Optimist program chairman.

Messiah Chorus Seeks Members

There was a favorable turnout last Monday evening for the first rehearsal of the "Messiah" by the Plymouth civic chorus. The group meets each Monday night at 8 in the Plymouth High school auditorium.

Fred C. Nelson, director, urges all people in the area who like to sing, to become members of the chorus. For the sake of balance of parts, more men's voices are needed, although all voices will be welcome.

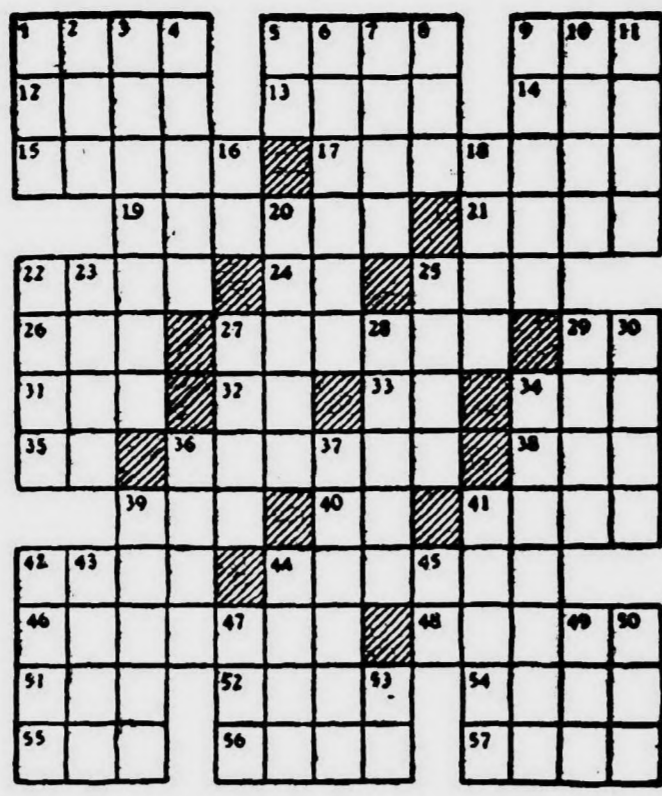

The performance date has been set for Sunday, December 4. Due to the increasing attendance the past two years, it has become necessary to schedule two performances on one day. The first presentation will begin at 4 p.m. and the second at 8 p.m.

Sponsored by the Plymouth Symphony society, Paul T. Wagner, musical director, the performance includes the Plymouth civic chorus, soloists and the Plymouth Symphony orchestra.

Over 300 Attend Fish Dinner of Conservationists

Wild life "vitamins" have worked wonders with members of the Western Wayne County Conservation association, judging from the tremendous success of the annual 1949 fall fish dinner held late last week.

The re-vitalized organization enjoyed one of its biggest and most successful events, according to Vice President Roy Crites, who served with President John Rysor of Wayne, former president Brick Champe and William Hunt as members of the committee on arrangements. These workers were assisted by numerous other energetic members who saw to it that more than 300 members and their friends were served one of the best fish dinners ever given by the association.

The exceptionally large attendance proved a surprise to all of the officials, but fortunately the organization was able to take care of the over-flow, with plenty of fish for every one.

Phil Barney who had charge of the preparation of the meal not only prepared the delicious fish dinners but he arranged special decorations that were something different from what the club had ever before seen.

Following the dinner, Clyde Smith displayed some of the excellent motion pictures he took while on his trip to the Pacific coast late in the summer. In addition to the pictures, the Detroit Metropolitan quartet provided a musical program that was outstanding.

Already Wild Lifers are making plans for the annual hunters' ball that will take place the first week in November. Vice President Crites advises that more details of this event will be announced later.

Movies Shown at Hi-12 Meeting
Movies of Clyde Smith's western trip taken this past summer were shown to an interested group of Hi-12 members at their regular meeting on Wednesday night in the Masonic Temple.
The Smith's journey took about three months and provided them with ample opportunity to see the wonders of western United States.

Sunset District Scouts and Leaders Gather For Their Annual Camp-Out
Another Sunset district event will serve to enliven the over-all program of Boy Scouting for a long time. The past weekend saw approximately 300 Scouts and at least 60 of their adult leaders participating in their fall camp-out at an area just south of the Charles Howell Scout reservation near Brighton.
Troops P-1 and P-4 of Plymouth were counted among the many units of the district which took part in the Pioneer Trail activity. This title names the theme of the camp-out wherein all of the various units did their share to make the camp appear much in the guise of an old-time camp in which the various paraphernalia of the camp was rusticized in its entirety.
Troop RG-1 of Rosedale Gardens certainly rates most honorable mention for the fine rustic bridge that it threw across the stream adjacent to the picnic area and your reporter is glad to mention that a good many more folks of the less spry type will now be able to get across the water with far less discomfort.
So fine was the work of all concerned that no award could be made for outstanding work. The general public patronizing this area, the officers in charge of the camping area under our Conservation department, and all of the Scouting leaders wish to offer our best congratulations for a job well done. Good Scouting, fellers!

Settlers Shunned State's Interior For Many Years, Wayne Study Shows

On the shores of a lake in Oscoda County, near Mio, Michigan. Wayne students chart a late-settlement area, indicated by two squares on the map (Oscoda and Roscommon Counties).

Michigan's interior has been almost completely unoccupied by the white man more than half the time since 1668, when the first white settlements were made on its coasts.
This is one of the curious facts uncovered through geographic and historical research at Wayne university in Detroit where, with documents and field-trip data, the step-by-step advancement of settlement frontiers has been traced.
The earliest settlers refused to venture away from the shore line, for they had been told that the interior of the state was marshy, sandy, and unhealthy. In the face of the persistent myth, they remained on the coasts even when inland water routes made travel easy and the danger of Indian attack was slight.

The story of the State's settlement really begins with the French explorers and missionaries. In 1622, a French explorer, coming overland from Canada, is believed to have viewed the Michigan bank of the St. Mary's river at Sault Ste. Marie, and thus to have become the first white man to look at any part of Michigan.
With the passage of time, the Straits of Mackinaw became a thoroughfare for shore-line travel around the state, but the first actual settlement was Father Marquette's mission at Sault Ste. Marie, in 1668. The second was his chapel at St. Ignace in 1671, and the third was a fort at Port Huron, temporarily occupied from 1626 to 1688.
In about the year 1690, one settlement was actually established slightly inland from the coast, but in what is now a coastal county. This was a small, fortified community at Niles. Settlements in the interior proper came only after a surprisingly long time. It was approximately 127 years after the Niles settlement before a community took root in an interior-county area. This was Rochester in Oakland County, established in 1817 when a party made its way up the Clinton river from Lake St. Clair. The following year Pontiac was founded, and Tecumseh and Ypsilanti were settled a few years later.

The last interior area of the State's Lower Peninsula to receive settlers in any considerable numbers was Roscommon and Oscoda counties, where settlements were established as late as 1910.
Northern Peninsula areas have continued to draw settlers to a relatively late date because of increasing evidence of mineral wealth and natural beauty.

Local Men Enlist in United States Army
Enlistments for the United States Army from the Plymouth area during the month of September were from John E. Burkart and LeRoy C. McGarry. Both enlisted at the recruiting station in Ann Arbor.
Burkart of 40200 Gilbert street is 17 and joined the regular army for a three-year period. McGarry, also 17, lives at 11330 Gold Arbor road and enlisted for two years.
John A. Schrader, 9735 Napier road in Northville, enlisted for three years in the regular army. He, too, is 17.

Congratulations are much in order for the efforts of Explorer Post N-1 of Northville, who served as camp police and did a very thorough job of it and in a very Scout-like manner, too. Post Advisor Robert Hunter is to be considered one of the best if the work of his men may be used as a criteria. Good going lads!

Troop W-11 of the Newburg church attended to the details of the council fire, and we must say that their work was as perfect as could be hoped for. This outfit is on the Scouting Trail for sure and deserves the best support that its parents and sponsors may supply it. Nice going, all.
The Protestant Scouts' Own service was conducted on the camp site by the Rev. Jones of Newburg and his message was both timely and fitting to the occasion. Rev. Jones is a real Scouter who believes in the program enough to really be a part of it. He spent the most of Saturday with the unit in the field and your reporter believes that he is one of the staunchest supporters. Thanks, Reverend, your presence

Let's look at the FACTS

Like all good citizens, we here at Daisy abhor whispering campaigns. We despise the misstatements, and out-and-out lies, that are the essence of whispering campaigns.

Facts and figures being bandied about concerning our business are, of course, guesses (and bad ones). As a matter of fact, they're libelous, and, when the opportunity presents itself, will be treated as such.

Through our profit-sharing plan every employee is a partner in this business. We do our level best to keep every employee-partner fully informed about their business and the problems confronting it.

So that you, too, may be accurately informed, here are some interesting major facts about our operation:

PAYROLL

As of September 30, 1949 we have 549 people employed.

Our payroll for that week amounted to $34,562.38

On this basis our annual payroll is $1,797,243.76

With this weekly payroll, including profit-sharing and retirement trust payments, our employees earn an annual income . . . potential buying power . . . of $2,148,043.80

TAXES

In 1949 we paid total real estate and personal property taxes of $17,161.52

WATER

In 1946 we used 10,335,600 gallons,
for which we paid the City $1,102.56

In 1947 we used 10,179,600 gallons,
for which we paid the City $1,091.36

In 1948 we used 16,693,800 gallons,
for which we paid the City $2,119.16

Daisy had one of the first water meters installed in Plymouth. Starting with a one inch meter (considered big at that time) the size has increased to our present four inch meter, necessitated by our constant increase in use of water. When water rates were drastically increased, over a year ago, it was a temptation to drive our own well, as so many have done. However, because it was to everyone's advantage to have the city's water system modernized, we considered it our civic duty to continue to buy ALL of our water from the City to help in paying for the modernization.

Well, there are the facts. We don't need to remind you that the tax figures, and the water figures, are a matter of public record, in the City Hall. We believe we have directly contributed substantially to Plymouth's financial progress as shown above. In addition, many indirect contributions to Plymouth's economy and growth are made: our volume of mail resulted in the Plymouth Post Office becoming a First Class Post Office, thereby increasing the pay of each Post Office employee; our telegraph volume was instrumental in bringing a Western Union office to Plymouth, and helps to keep it here; our power and light consumption has been to a great extent responsible for bringing modern, improved electrical facilities to the City over the years.

Now, these are the facts We'll let you be the judge!

Library Group Holds Workshop

Clear Lake camp at Darling, Michigan provided the setting for the workshop of the Student Library Assistants association from October 7 through 9. Roger Kidston and Don Lightfoot traveled with Mrs. Esther Ham, school librarian, to the conference in a Plymouth school bus which stopped all along the way to pick up other delegates from east Detroit, Farmington, Livonia, Jackson and Ann Arbor to the workshop.

The bus was filled to capacity when it pulled into camp in time for dinner on Friday. On schedule for the conference were discussion groups, panels and talks by persons connected with the library field.

Authoress Mrs. Dorothy Maywood Bird spoke on "A Writer Takes Down Her Hair." Her third book "Black Opal" went to the stores this week. She is also the author of "Granite Harbor" and "Mystery at Laughing Water."

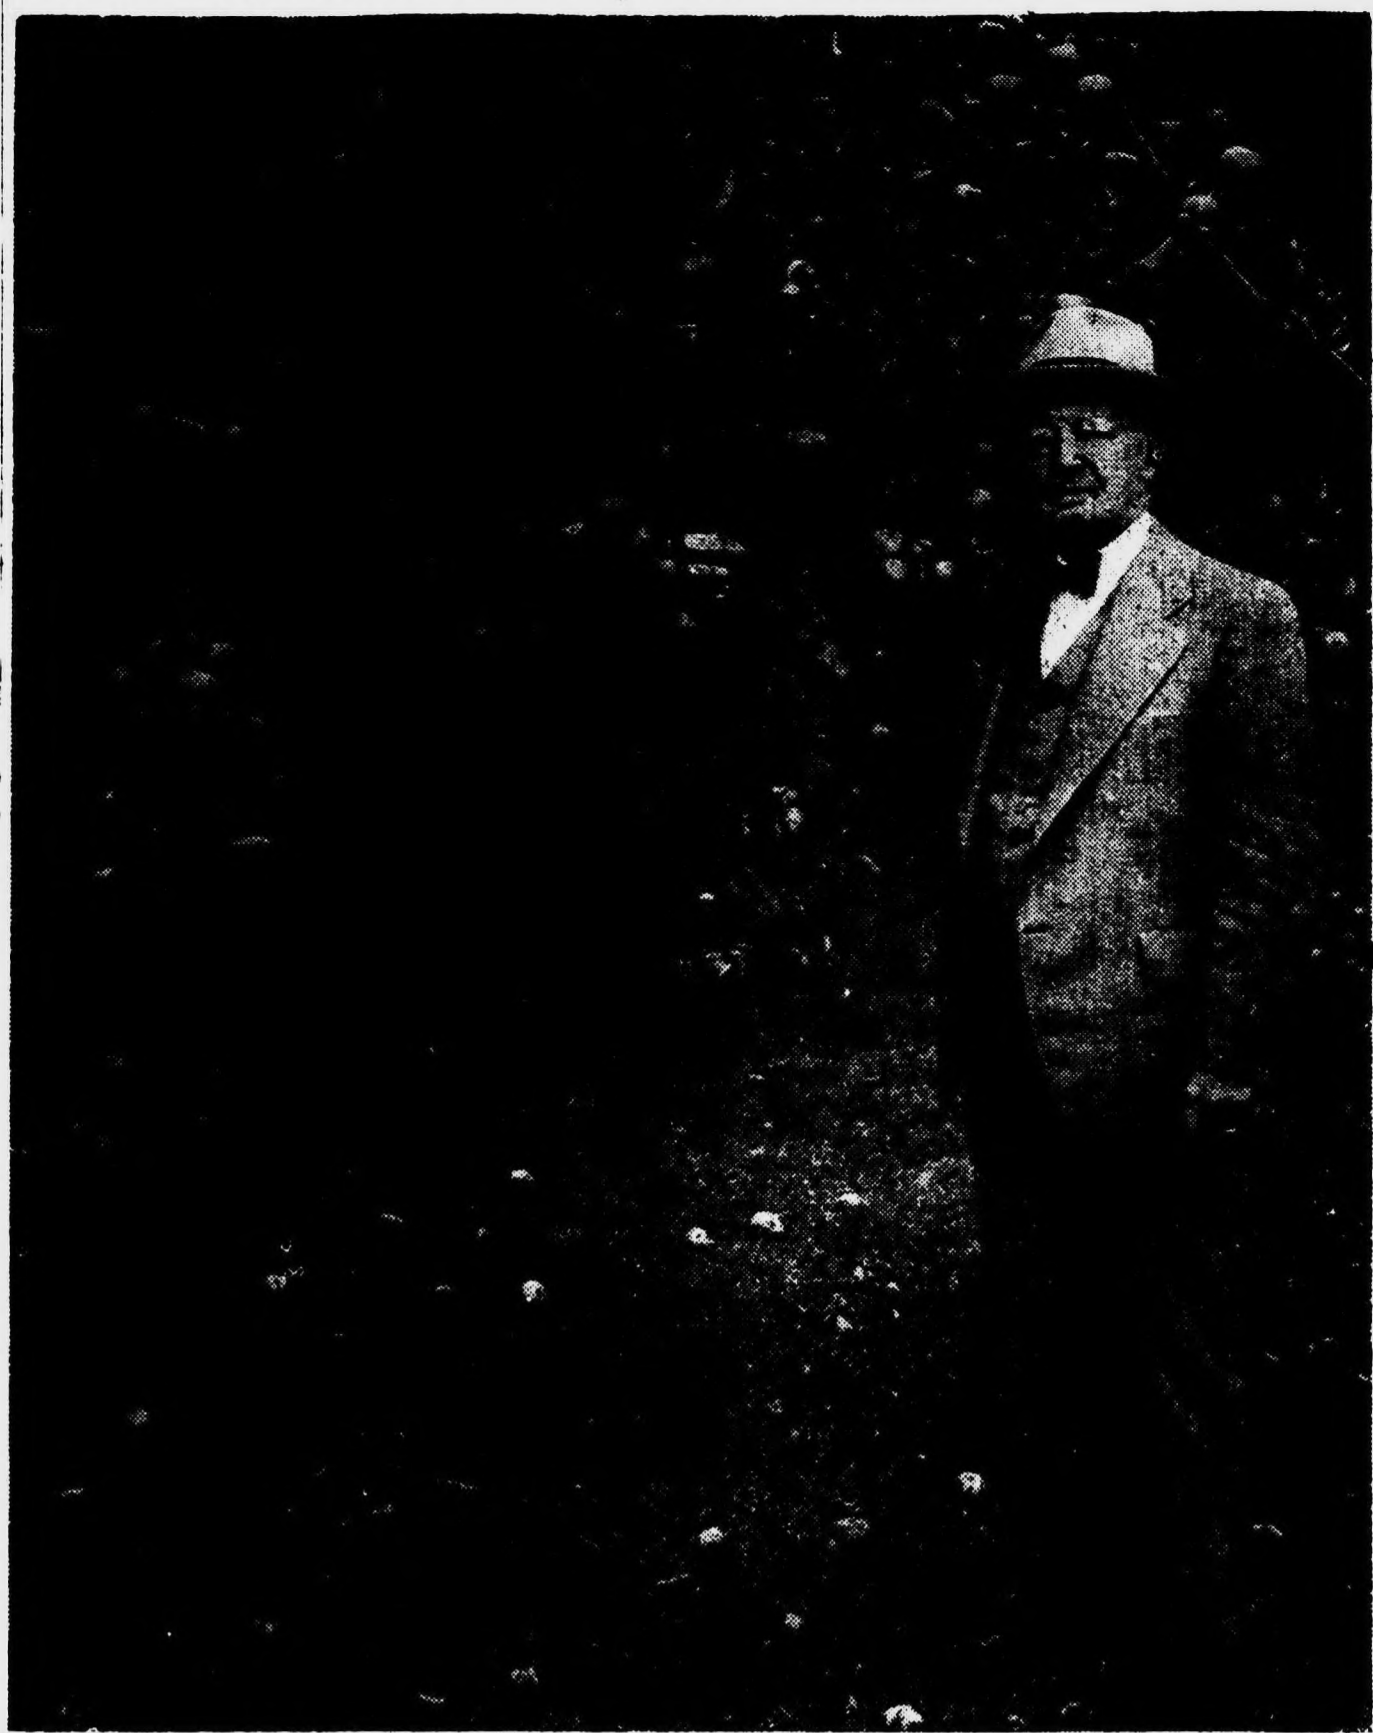

Topics for discussion at the workshop included "Selling Your Favorite Book" and "What Makes a Favorite Book." A demonstration of how to bind a book was given by a hobby enthusiast who specializes in fancy leather bindings.

On the recreational side of the program were square dancing, boating, volley ball and baseball.

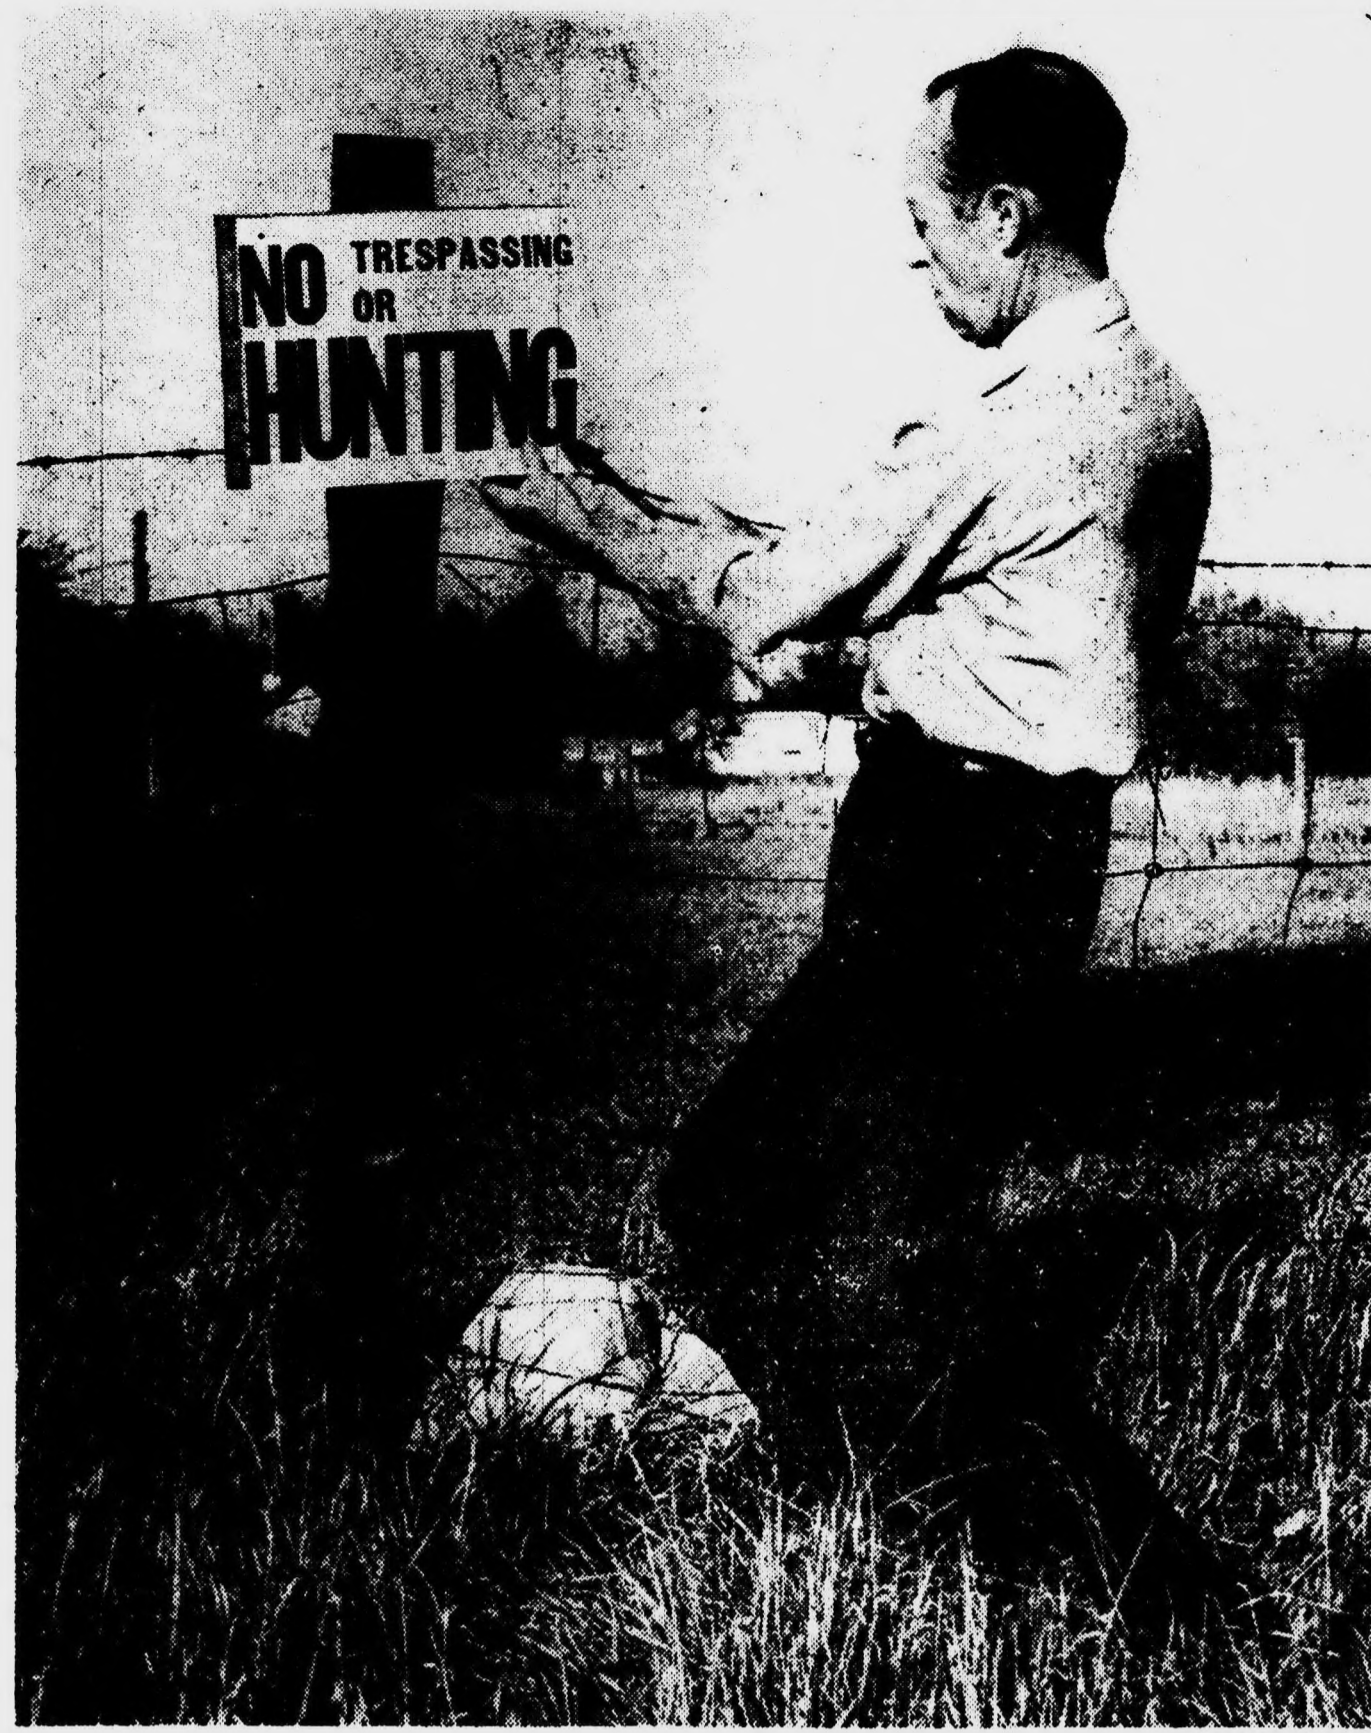

Mrs. Ham and Miss Geraldine Criss, president of Library Assistants of Michigan from University High school in Ann Arbor were co-sponsors of the event.

Fall - Hunters - Record Harvests - Keep Local Businessmen Busy After Hours . . .

Never in all of his life has Edward C. Hough seen as big a crop of fruit as the trees in and around Plymouth are bearing this year. The record yield from his trees found its way into the homes of his friends and neighbors. The apples were the finest his trees had ever borne and the fruit was almost as thick on the trees as cherries on a cherry tree.

Operating an 85 acre farm after store hours is all in a day for Roderick Cassidy. Caught by the photographer in the act of posting a Plymouth Mail "no hunting" sign on his farm at the corner of Sheldon and Penniman avenue Mr. Cassidy says that they have seen some twenty beautiful pheasants feeding near his barn early every morning.

Pheasants Surprised by Plymouth Pussy

Plymouth's cat world evidently received early word on the pheasant hunting season this week, judging from the behavior of one local pussy last Monday.

Mrs. John Cover was hanging out her Monday washing in back of her home at 739 Maple street, when her cat flushed out two pheasants in the backyard. They flew over Mrs. Cover's head and were not to be found when she searched for them in a neighboring yard. She hastened to explain to a Plymouth Mail reporter that kitty will not be trained to substitute for a hunting dog, although she certainly showed fine possibilities.

Let all your views in life be directed to a solid, however moderate, independence; without it no man can be happy, nor even honest.

A Gallup Poll indicates most Americans are in favor of radio giveaways. Years ago people used to dream of finding a gold mine, striking oil or discovering a pat of lucre at the end of the rainbow. Now they just tune their radios to a giveaway show and hope their telephone bill is paid so that nothing will interfere with a lucky call. We're as optimistic as a politician's promises. The fact that chances are several million to one against us cuts no more ice than a bit of damp macaroni. It's silly to think . . . opps, pardon me, there's my telephone ringing! And we never know, do we?

Customers' Corner

WHO WANTS TO PUT A&P OUT OF BUSINESS?

Not our customers. Many thousands of them are writing and phoning us and telling our clerks and managers that they want to continue to enjoy quality A&P foods at low A&P prices.

Not our suppliers. Farmers and manufacturers alike are telling us that they want to protect this efficient outlet for their products.

Not our 110,000 employees. They want to keep the high wages, good working conditions and security they enjoy with A&P.

Not labor. Union leaders are writing us to ask what they can do to defeat this threat to labor's living standards. All these people are telling us they don't want the anti-trust lawyers to put A&P out of business.

Diabetes Detection Week Observed in Plymouth

The week of October 10 has been designated as Diabetes Detection week throughout the nation. It is estimated that about three per cent of the entire population of the United States now has or will develop diabetes, according to information received by Plymouth Health Commissioner Dr. H. J. Brisbois. There are now about two million cases of diabetes in the country, of which only one million are under treatment. This week has been set aside to locate the remaining one million persons for treatment. Are you one of them? To find out, get in touch with your family doctor for a sugar test for indication of your diabetes status.

Red Raspberries Ripe in October

Great big red raspberries—ripe in October! That's unusual—and anything unusual is news. Theodore Shoof, who resides at 148 South Holbrook, some years ago set out some giant Indian summer red raspberries that are supposed to bear twice each year. He is being fully rewarded this year. Not only did he pick a bumper crop in June, but last week he started picking another big crop of red raspberries. He brought to The Plymouth Mail office a branch filled to overflowing with big ripe berries.

There is often as much independence in not being led, as in not being driven.

Letter Box

To the Editor: "It has been suggested by my friends that I give an explanation regarding the charge made against me last month, i.e. use of gasoline from the city pump. "First, let me remind you that this occurred a year and a half ago, when it was common practice to use this gasoline on city business. After one police car (reserve car) was turned over to the Fire Chief by our Chief, we were without this car to fall back on in an emergency. Many, many times I used my own car on patrol and other routine police duties, because of bad brakes, tires, cars in garage being repaired. On many occasions I used absolutely no gas from the city pump. Since we had commenced locking the pump, I have used my own car, but received no recompense for my car. "It might be added that I personally informed Chief Sackett and assured him that I would refrain from using city gasoline. I was not at any time asked about the matter. This all happened a year and a half ago as I previously stated. "I do not conscientiously feel that I am guilty of any crime. "Respectfully yours, Gerald E. Prince."

A pure affection, concentric, forgetting self, forgiving wrongs and forestalling them, should swell the lyre of human love. —Mary Baker Eddy

That Little Fish Can Now be Kept

From now on if that bluegill, sunfish, perch, rock or calico bass you catch is less than six inches long—just thumb your nose at the game warden and tell him to go jump right in the middle of the lake. You can keep that little perch or sunfish, if you desire to do so, and you will not be violating the game laws, that's the direct information that has come to all the fishermen of Plymouth and the rest of Michigan. In fact, it is the law, the last legislature having taken off the limit size on these four kinds of pan fish. But your little fish count just as much as do the big ones, so do not catch more fish than what the law previously permitted.

The legislature also reduced the size of the walleyes you can catch. Previously the law fixed the size at 14 inches. It is now 13 inches, but you cannot catch more than five in any one fishing day. The ten inch limit for large and small mouth black bass continues.

Apples Best Fruit Buy of Autumn; Abundant Crop Recorded For 1949

Thrifty homemakers in Plymouth will be hunting up new apple recipes to take advantage of the bargains offered by this delicious fruit. One of the biggest Michigan crops on record is coming into market and much of it is of excellent quality. Anyone who has a dark, cool, dry place for storing apples so they'll keep for several months at least will want to buy a variety of them in bushel lots. Otherwise it's best to buy them a few pounds at a time or the waste involved will more than offset the savings of quantity buying.

Sufficient Sleep Required by All For Good Health

Fashion models and movie actresses, whose livelihoods depend on looking and feeling well, are much aware of the importance of rest and sleep and make certain that they get their full quota. Yet, too many of us try to "get away" with as little sleep and rest as possible...

Insufficient rest and sleep cut down a person's speed, accuracy and alertness at work and study. This can have injurious effects on health. For people of all ages, sufficient sleep and rest are necessary to maintain the body's resistance to illness.

While adults need enough rest and sleep to repair parts of the body worn by work and play, children need extra amounts because their bodies must build as well as repair. Doctors believe that good sleep habits, if established early in life, have a tendency to persist in adult life.

Many a sleepless night is due to easily corrected things like worry, overwork, lack of physical exercise and fresh air, or eating too heavily. However, prolonged inability to sleep can be the sign of a serious illness.

Some people who have difficulty in sleeping resort to sleeping drugs. They do not realize that all sleeping drugs in large quantities are poisons and should never be taken unless upon the advice and prescription of a doctor.

Successful Parenthood by Mrs. Catherine Conrad Edwards

The other day I caught up with a friend on the way to the corner bus station. She had just finished reading a letter and as we walked along she tore it into many pieces.

I was reminded of another friend whose brother and sisters are her dearest companions and who had once told me, "I don't think any one of us has ever written a letter which the whole family couldn't read."

In trying to analyze what her parents had done to help bring about this good feeling among their children, one thing my friend said caught my attention especially.

Yes, putting labels on a child's shortcomings is a bad idea. Most of them are out-grown anyway—at least that happy outcome is what you, as parents, are working toward. So why have the other children grown up with the impression that brother Tom was a bully and sister Imogene not always truthful, and that the little sister was greedy?

Try instead, to keep alive the memory of how Tom jumped into the lake, when he could barely swim, to rescue his sister's kitten. And how Imogene tore into a neighbor boy three times her size because he called her brother names.

There is bound to be a certain amount of squabbling among children in a family, but it doesn't have to leave scars if each quarrel is settled on its own merits and no one child tagged with being always wrong.

This may seem too far to look ahead when Tommy is kicking Imogene's doll and she is tearing up his electric train tracks, but take it from one who knows—in later years there is no greater comfort than the love and backing of your family circle.

Homemakers Can Save Time Doing Household Tasks

Latest advice to Plymouth homemakers who are interested in applying the streamlined techniques of industry to their chores is to take advantage of the warming up period.

In industry saving time means saving money and studies show that in doing one specific job there is usually an increase in speed from the beginning of the task to the time of greatest output.

Irma H. Gross, head of the department of home management and child development at Michigan State college, applies this principle to household tasks.

In homemaking, there are many different jobs during the day—washing dishes, making beds, cooking, dusting and others. If homemakers realized that every time they changed from one job to another they went through this "warming up period," they would stay at one job longer.

Potatoes are full of vitamin C and are the most inexpensive year-around source of the vitamin in Michigan.

Laundry new towels before using them to increase their absorbency.

Good Gravy is Not an Accident

Plymouth homemakers who can boast of good gravy are usually popular cooks in this land where meat, potatoes and gravy are considered a top trio by many people.

Celery gravy is of two types—brown gravy which is usually served with beef and lamb, and cream gravy which is more commonly served with veal and pork.

For cream gravy, briskly boil diced celery in water to cover until tender. Add equal proportions of flour to fat—1 1/2 to 2 tablespoons for each cup of liquid—and the diced cooked celery along with 1 cup of liquid.

While housecleaning this fall, check your house for possible fire hazards in each room. Oiled rags, old papers, and even your oiled dust mops stored in closets, attics or basement are a fire hazard.

A better cooking method for boiling eggs than using hot water is to place them in cold water and bring the eggs and water to a simmering temperature together.

Good News For Spaghetti Fans

Plump, juicy frankfurters need no introduction. But now they're joined with spaghetti for a quick and delicious main dish. First, frankfurters are sliced into bite-sized pieces and lightly browned with diced onion in a small amount of hot lard or meat drippings.

Next, tomato juice—1 1/2 cups—is poured over the mixture. Three cups of cooked spaghetti are added, the heat is lowered and the combination allowed to simmer until thickened.

For a clever lunch or dinner serving, the frank-spaghetti is placed on a warm platter outlined with whole browned frankfurters.

Household Hints

WHEN LAUNDERING GARMENTS made of heavy flannel, give them a brisk shaking before hanging on the line. When dry, they'll be fluffy, soft and wrinkle-free.

To have luxuriously scented sheets and pillow cases, drop a few bath salts into the bluing water as you wash.

Fringe on bedspreads and linens may be straightened by combing with a fine-toothed comb while the articles are still damp. They will need no further attention when dry as the fringe will be tangle-free.

- RECIPE OF THE WEEK Ham Griddle Cakes (Makes 12 medium)
2 cups all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
3 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
4 tablespoons melted butter
2 eggs
1 1/4 cups milk
2 cups ground cooked ham

Do your tinting and dyeing in the washing machine with the unit turned on. This keeps the garment and dye in motion and will prevent streaking. Wash the machine carefully after this use to prevent dye and tint from discoloring the next washing.

Shade is best for drying blankets, both for preserving color and the wool yarns. If possible, use two parallel clothes lines, and hang the blanket smoothly over both of them to preserve the original shape.

Large pieces of laundry are more easily dampened while on the line, to be removed immediately after sprinkling, folded and placed in the wash basket for ironing.

Dampened wash may be wrapped in a large square of plastic material to keep it perfectly moist until ironed. Cover the entire bundle to prevent drying.

Save on laundry time by using many articles of seersucker and other materials that need no ironing. Also use plastic shields on table cloths to cut down laundry.

Bad Weather Due to Hurricane

That drizzling rain which Plymouth and this part of Michigan experienced all day Thursday, of last week, was due to the tail end of the hurricane which swept over the Gulf of Mexico and a part of Texas two or three days previously and came north to die.

The Michigan office of the U.S. weather station is responsible for that report, so Plymouth residents who had to go out in the rain and get "soaked" during the day, can rightly say they experienced a bit of weather which originated in the Texas hurricane that did so many millions of dollars damage to fruit and grain crops of the southwest.

The high wind that prevailed late Thursday night and early Friday morning in this locality was but the dying breath of the southern hurricane. All the wind did in this vicinity was to blow many of the leaves from the trees.

The rain was welcomed, however, to this part of the state, as it had been somewhat dry and farmers said it was of benefit to fall sown crops.

Not in years, however, have farmers in this locality enjoyed such perfect weather for harvesting crops as this year. Frosts were later than usual, permitting all crops to fully mature and be harvested in plenty of time before freezing damage.

Sheriff Delivers Safety Pointers

"Teach your child safety as you would good manners."

This was the plea today of Sheriff Andrew C. Baird, in cooperation with the State Safety commission the Sheriff's department has taken as its theme this month "Child Safety."

"Up to a certain age," Sheriff Baird said, "the child really knows very little about what is expected of him in traffic. But, by school age, if he is still ignorant of safety rules, the parents are criminally negligent in his training."

"For his own sake the child must be taught safety, but even then the motorist must realize that a child is a creature of whims and prepare for the forgetfulness and carelessness of immaturity."

The State Safety commission outlined the following tips for parents.

1. Do not allow your children to play in the street under any circumstances.
2. Insist that he cross the street only at intersections when no cars are coming.
3. Do not allow him to ride a bicycle in traffic until he has demonstrated to your satisfaction that he has the necessary skill.
4. Impress upon him the fact that bicycle riding is subject to the same rules of safety and courtesy that actual driving is.
5. Confine his play with tricycles, skates, scooters and wagons to the sidewalk—and well away from alleys and driveways.

Back to Kentucky For Fried Chicken

Kentuckians are famed for many things—but chiefly because "they never forget."

That's why Gene Orndorf has just had to make another trip back to his native Kentucky.

He can't forget the fried chicken and the corn bread that he used to eat in the days when life was one merry-go-round for him.

A postcard to "the editor" from Sanford, Kentucky, that beautiful part of Kentucky from which Gene migrated to the barren, bleak, cold northlands, says he has enjoyed a delightful visit to his former baliwick, with fried chicken and corn bread in the good old fashioned Kentucky style at every meal.

Father - Daughter Banquet Slated

Girl Scouts of Plymouth's Stark-Newburg district and of Livonia's five other districts will hold a Girl Scout father and daughter banquet at Hope Chapel on Tuesday evening, November 2, according to Mrs. Russell Wendt, president of the Livonia Girl Scout council.

Dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. by the chapel's friendship group in the church hall at Six Mile road near Middlebelt. Tickets will be one dollar a person and may be secured from the Girl Scouts themselves.

The week of November 2 will be Girl Scout week, commemorating the birthday 69 years ago of Juliette Low, founder of the Girl Scout movement in America. A special program has been planned for the banquet, with not only the Girl Scouts but also professional talent providing the entertainment.

Author of "HOW TO WIN FRIENDS and INFLUENCE PEOPLE"

See Other's Point of View

HERE'S HOW ONE MAN who was bitter against the entire newspaper profession was won over by a reporter named Douglas Welch, who accomplished it by one of the most simple and most easily applied techniques in the world: he looked at a situation from the other man's point of view.

CARNEGIE

Something went wrong with that bridge. You may recall having seen the death agonies of this bridge at the time it swayed and buckled in the wind as though it had been made of thin wooden veneer. Mr. Moseiff himself didn't do every stroke of the work in building this bridge; but Mr. Moseiff bore the brunt of the criticism, of the responsibility. And he had to take it! He arrived in Seattle, Washington, one night worried, tired, exhausted. At eleven o'clock that night, Doug Welch got him on the telephone, waking him from a deep sleep, badly needed. Naturally, Mr. Moseiff was indignant. First, because of the rude awakening at an unreasonable hour. Second, newspaper reporters had been ridiculing him—and he had vowed that he would never again talk to any of them.

But Doug Welch said something in his first sentence that made Mr. Moseiff sit up in bed and talk to him for three quarters of an hour. Here is what he said: "Mr. Moseiff, you are the most famous designer of bridges in this world today. A lot of people don't know beans about designing bridges and so they have condemned and ridiculed you. My paper feels that it is time you had an opportunity to tell your side of the story."

It was just these few words of sincere appreciation and understanding that turned an angry man into a friend, that cleared up a lot of things for a lot of people who had not understood an engineer's problems. And you and I and Joe Doakes can all achieve miracles in human relations by honestly trying to see things from the other person's point of view.
