Enthusiastic Audience Hears Plymouth Symphony Concert

A melodious interlude befitting the balmy October Sunday afternoon, with music as golden and colorful as the foliage that met one's eye on the way to the concert—the first undertaking of Plymouth Symphony orchestra for the fourth season met with enthusiastic approval from a large audience in the auditorium of the high school.

Paul T. Wanger, directed the orchestra through an ambitious program which opened with the "Egmont Overture" by Beethoven which proved to be a good choice. According to the program notes about this composition "one is aware of the mood of anticipation and suspense," and the number served as an entre for Beethoven's Symphony No. 1 in C major which followed.

In using the word "ambitious" in connection with the program, it is because Mr. Wanger does not tease the listeners' ears with only one movement of a symphony or concerto but believes that the presentation of the entire work should be given to the audience. He led the orchestra through the whole score with the intricate nuances of harmony typical of Beethoven's masterpieces.

Corelli's "Suite for String Orchestra" was a happy choice for the third number. This music written by a composer born over 300 years ago holds a great charm for music lovers. The technical skill of the stringed section which is headed by Josef Lazaroff was very evident and afforded an opportunity to display the versatility of the performers.

The soloist at this concert was Fred Kendall, a resident of Plymouth and well known in Detroit musical circles. He sang "Che Gelida Manina" from the opera La Boheme by Puccini. Mr. Kendall possess a very agreeable voice of a golden quality suitable to this type of song. He was so well received that he offered two encores, "For You Alone" by Pearle and Friml's "Donkey Serenade."

The "Gypsy Baron Overture" by Strauss was the closing selection offered by the orchestra. True to the nature of the musical theme, the interpretation of the music was melancholy and ended in a very beautiful waltz strain and formed a light touch or note for the final number.

One is impressed how mature the orchestra appears in its fourth year. Paul Wagner's directing is not of the ostentatious variety which in most cases diverts the interest from the music to the conductor's machinations, but he manages to secure the cooperation of the whole orchestra and loses himself in the music so that a complete harmony seems to result without the noticeable showmanship of many contemporary musical directors.

During the intermission, Dr. Harold Todd, chairman of the scholarship committee of the Plymouth Symphony society, introduced Mrs. Milton Laible, president of the Plymouth Women's club, who awarded a $100 music scholarship to Miss Doris Waldecker.

Miss Waldecker graduated from Plymouth High school in 1948 and played the trombone with the Plymouth Symphony for two years. At present she is in her second year with the Baldwin Wallace Conservatory of Music at Berea, Ohio. She was chosen from five applicants as being the most qualified for the award in meeting all the requirements for the scholarship.

Mrs. Laible pointed out that it was a tradition of the Plymouth Women's club for the past 50 years to lend itself to the cultural betterment of the community and in granting this scholarship it was merely carrying on a tradition.

Miss Waldecker replied that she was honored with a closing admonition, "We should appreciate the work of our orchestra."

Over 100 members attended the informal tea at the Veterans Memorial center which followed the concert. Tea chairman for the day was Mrs. Allan Campbell who was assisted by Mrs. Dow Swope, Miss Myrna Sprague and members of the Symphony Society board. Table decorations were made up of baby mums in fall shades.

Mrs. Avis Waldecker and Mrs. Milton Laible poured.

During the tea, stringed quartet music was furnished by Josef Lazaroff, first violin; Christie Haller, second violin; Ralph Freedman, viola and Pauline Sterling, cello.

Ushers for the concert were Jon Brake, Dorothy Curtis, Ellen Daane, Fayle Leitz, Tom Bloxson and Marion Amrhein. Mrs. Harold Kellogg was in charge of the ushering with Miss Louise Spence.

The symphony season is off to a good start, an enviable position and a gratifying tribute to cultural standards of the people of Plymouth.

ON CAPITOL HILL NEWS and COMMENT FROM CONGRESSMAN GEORGE A. DONDERO

Among all the absurdities of Truman Fair Deal policy, none is greater than the contrast between treatment accorded successful American business firms and the tender regard displayed for the vicious, cartelized monopolies abroad.

Some good reason, such as revival of foreign production, if it were not for the new factor which has entered the situation. This factor has reduced Fair Deal policy to utter absurdity.

ness firms, with their skilled management and financial wisdom, can do so without certain loss. They even propose liberalized tax laws on income earned in foreign countries, while continuing to impose well-nigh confiscatory taxes on income earned at home.

Allen Industries Exhibits at Bank

Allen Industries are the sponsors of the current display in the Plymouth United Savings bank's series of industrial and business exhibits. Established in Plymouth on March 1, 1934, Allen Industries maintain other plants in Detroit, St. Louis and Rahway, New Jersey.

I REMEMBER...

From "Old-Timer Indeed" of Glover Gap, W. Va.: "I remember when our industrious mothers would take their sewing or knitting over to a neighbor's house to spend the whole day there."

From Mrs. Mary Stewart of Chicago: "I remember when white-collared men wore the same light shirt all week, using a clean, detachable collar every day. The Chinese laundryman did the collars for two cents a piece. Some men wore celluloid collars which could be cleaned simply by wiping them with a damp cloth."

From Mrs. Amelia Ward of Elsinore, Calif.: "I wonder if Mrs. Mary Stewart of Chicago remembers when the horse cars there had hay on the floor to keep the passengers' feet warm in winter. I used to live on Wentworth avenue."

From E. E. Meredith of Fairmont, W. Va.: "I remember when baker's bread was as much of a treat as homemade bread is today. Older folks may remember when all bread used by the family was baked at home. Sandwiches were a real treat for young folks of years ago, for they had biscuits and bread at home but buns were something different. Remember?"

From Mrs. Sallie P. West of Jasper, Ala.: "I remember when a two-seated surrey with a fringe around its canopy top was the last word in family conveniences." From N. E. Jones of Cincinnati: "I remember when you could get the livers and other unwanted parts of a chicken free. How times have changed!"

Plymouth Man Guilty On Peeping Charges

Awaiting sentence on charges of window peeping is Thomas Fralick of Plymouth, who was found guilty by Judge Charles Webb of Garden City. Sentence has been postponed for action by the probation department.

Fralick violated the state law concerning window peeping.

Indians in Canada are legally classed as minors.

Large scale private investment of American money abroad doubtless should be the means of further attempts to rehabilitate the foreign economies. Uncle Sam already has handed out $13-260,000,000 in grants since the war, and has extended $10,808,000,000 more in largely uncollectible credits. But if this is to be done, the Fair Dealers must cease the harassment of successful American business; must, indeed, encourage such success in every way possible.

This policy of attempting to smash big, well-managed companies at home, while seeking to encourage the vicious cartels which have strangled business enterprise abroad for many years is utterly absurd. It just doesn't make sense.

Installation plan buying in England is known as the "hire purchase" system.

"SEEING is believing." Try gentle Lazaar Creme Shampoo for more beautiful hair. Available locally. —Adv.

But now even the Fair Deal politicians are forced to realize that Uncle Sam is beginning to scrape the bottom of the barrel of his generosity. The time is approaching when tax money in such vast quantities no longer will be available for the aid of countries which pursue economic policies that defeat their own recovery. Government tax income must continue to fall so long as the Fair Dealers harass and obstruct taxable wealth-producing American business firms.

So what do the President and his Fair Deal advisers do? They call for large-scale private investment of American capital in these foreign countries. They ignore the fact that small investors cannot safely invest abroad; that only these successful busi-

Funeral services were held on Tuesday, October 18 at 2 p.m. from the Schrader Funeral home for Mrs. Mary Frances Cranson who passed away suddenly Friday, October 14 at the age of 84 years at home 15645 Robinwood in Northville township. Mrs. Cranson has been a resident of Plymouth and vicinity for the past ten years.

She was the widow of the late William M. Cranson. Surviving are her two sons and two daughters, Mrs. Arthur Brown of Marquette, Michigan; Harold O. Burley of Plymouth; Mrs. P. F. Edwards of Grand Rapids; and Willis Burley of Flint. Mrs. Cranson was the mother of the late Chester Burley and the late George Burley. Also surviving are two brothers, George Overley of St. Petersburg, Florida and Chris Overley of Cheboygan; 19 grandchildren and 18 great-grandchildren.

Rev. Henry J. Welch, D. D. officiated. Two hymns were played on the organ by Mrs. Edna O'Conner. The active pallbearers were Messrs. Roy Rodgers, J. Randolph, E. Blacett, R. Todd, G. Britcher and L. Millross. Interment was in Riverside cemetery.

Final Rites For Miss Edsall Held

Miss Desdemona Edsall was born in Detroit on January 7, 1866. She passed away at her home in Auburn, New York on Friday, October 14.

Miss Edsall is survived by her sister, Mrs. H. B. Bennett and her niece, Mrs. N. J. McClymont, both of Auburn, New York and her nephew, Harry B. Bennett of Bloomfield, Hills.

Her grandparents, John and Lois Fuller, once lived where the Hotel Mayflower now stands.

Miss Edsall was brought to the Schrader Funeral home and later taken to Riverside cemetery where services were held Sunday, October 16 at 3 p.m. at the Fuller Mausoleum. Rev. Alexander Miller officiated. The active pallbearers were Messrs. E. P. Peck, Kenneth Harrison, Bennett Wilcox, Edgar Convery, Allen Sumner and Walter Sumner.

Farmer, Banker and Ford Dealer Enter Fall Harvest Scene As Record Crops Flood Markets . . .

One of Plymouth's real farmers enters the fall harvest scene this week. Robert Waldecker, well known local grower of DeKalb Hybrid corn, is pictured on the left with his grandson, David Magraw, feeding two ears of his excellent corn to two heifers which will provide the winter's meat supply to the Waldecker and Magraw families this winter. Pictured in the center at his busy desk is farmer—First National bank president Floyd Kehrl who not only discusses farm finance with farmer Waldecker, but also gets a few tips on how to make his Territorial road 80 acres pay the taxes with alfalfa and corn which he raises each year. On the right in the picture is part-time farmer—Ford dealer Paul J. Wiedman who, after five o'clock each day and Sundays, spends his time developing his 30 acres on the corner of Back and Territorial roads where he eventually hopes to build himself a new home. Mr. Wiedman was caught by the Mail photographer harvesting his pear crop from his newly developed orchard. His garden at the farm supplied not only his own kitchen this fall with farm produce, but the kitchens of his neighbors and friends as well.

Livonia Incorporation Topic of Hi-12 Speech

"Birth of a City" was the topic of a speech given last night by William Brashear, Livonia township attorney, at the Plymouth Hi-12 club. The talk centered on current action being taken to incorporate Livonia township. Colored pictures from American Airways will be shown at the October 26 meeting. Ladies are cordially invited to see the films on the Scandinavian countries and Mexico, although the evening has not been set aside as a ladies' night.

Dances Resumed at Starkweather

Outstanding social events for the Starkweather school children last fall and winter were the "Kid's Dances" held each Wednesday night in the school gym. Many parents took active part in the affairs and it was agreed by all who participated that this type of recreational program was most refreshing as well as entertaining.

The dances this year will be held every two weeks on Wednesday evening from 7 to 9 p.m. for fifth and sixth grade school children. The first one was held last Wednesday, October 12. Fifty-two children and 22 parents enjoyed the evening of fun.

The music is being furnished for the dances by Mrs. Marquette Foreman's orchestra again this year. Chase Willett is the dance instructor and is assisted by Cliff Wood, Irvin Franklin, George Caldwell and Wilber Ebersole. Many other parents have been most helpful in being on hand as chaperones and have been willing to help where needed in making these evenings enjoyable for all.

Top mystery man in the political dodge these days is one of the Midwest's favorite sons . . . "Ike" Eisenhower. Recent surveys show that folks can't be sure whether the General is a Republican or a Democrat . . . but everybody figures he's going to be important along about next presidential time. He's creating more interest than a bank loan. If he isn't presidential timber in '52, it'll be because somebody cut him down before that time . . . which seems about as unlikely as Vassar beating Notre Dame on the football field. It may not be easy to label "Ike" a Rep. or Dem., but it's a cinch he's all American.

Plymouth's "mystery" as to who would be our next commissioners was solved Monday. Yep, we've an entirely new commission, and we'd like to be the first to publicly congratulate the following electees: Mrs. Eleanor Hammond, Perry Richwin, Henry Fisher and Floyd Tibbitts. You have been named by a majority of the people to guide our city affairs. Best wishes: we trust you'll do your job to the best of your ability.

REV. ROBERT H. HARPER

God and the Nations
Lesson for October 23: Isaiah 1: 11-28; 19:19-25
Memory Selection: Isaiah 45:22

THERE IS A "philosophy of history." In the present lesson we learn that God is in history to make it carry out his will for the nations.

Later Alexandria became a center of Christian culture, while at the present many Christians are found in Egypt and also in the former habitat of the Assyrians.

Note the place of the highway in the prophecy. The highway has ever been a link of union between peoples.

But ease of travel alone cannot bring nations together. Only spiritual forces can do that.

Let governments, as well as individuals, turn to God if civilization is to be saved and the strain bent cast into the desert.

LOOKS WELL CONSIDERING HIS AGE . . . Dr. Rebecca Carrion of Peru and Dr. Junius Bird, associate curator of the American museum of natural history, hold the head of a mummy which was unwrapped at the museum in New York recently. As the last of seven layers of wrapping was removed, there he was—a priest of Peru's Paracas civilization, believed to be about 3,000 years old. Dr. Bird would do no more than estimate the mummy's age. It will be determined this way: Carbon ashes left from burning the mummy's clothes will be tested for radioactivity. The radio carbon remaining will fix the mummy's age.

Pontiac Sales in City Top Last Year's Record

More Pontiacs have been sold in Plymouth during the first nine months of this year than in all of 1948, reports Berry & Atchinson, local General Motors agency. This sales record ties in with a statement made by Harry J. Klinger, general manager of the Pontiac Motor division.

Mr. Klinger said that throughout the nation, sales to date this year are above the record made for all of 1948. Third quarter cumulative sales were 245,293 units compared with total 1948 sales of 243,144. During September, 30,680 Pontiacs were sold.

Chester, common ending for English town names, comes from the Roman word cester meaning camp, since many were originally Roman camp sites.

Thank You, Mr. & Mrs. N. M. Davies
OF CONGERS, NEW YORK
We're Sure that Millions of Farmers and Consumers
Feel Just as You Do!

One of the wonderful things about Americans is their great sense of fair play. Ever since the anti-trust lawyers announced their intention of putting A&P out of business, tremendous numbers of people like Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Davies of Congers, New York, have deluged us with letters, wires and phone calls. These people are telling us, as Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Davies do in the following letter, why they like A&P and why they don't want to see this company destroyed.

DOCTOR DAVIES' FARM
DOCTOR DAVIES' LANE
CONGERS, NEW YORK
NILES M. DAVIES, OWNER
TEL. CONGERS 379
Sept. 20th, '49
FRUITS & VEGETABLES
Gentlemen:
The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co.,
New York City, New York
We have been distressed by the possibility that the A. and P. stores, because of unfair accusations, may cease to exist. I wonder if you will see that our letter reaches the proper source, if there is one.
We are farmers, as you know, and not only sell our products, but buy necessary food from local A. and P. stores. We deliver farm produce, daily, to approximately eighteen stores in nearby villages. This includes two A. and P. markets, whose managers very wisely buy on-the-spot, thus saving deterioration due to excess handling, transportation and longer time from the farm to store. Our price to sixteen stores is the same as we get from the two A. and P. stores.
We wondered whether the low prices we see all the time in A. and P. stores might mean that sales people were underpaid. Evidently not, for we have noticed that the same employees stay on year after year, and we know high-school students in our town who have started at the bottom with A. and P. and risen to responsible positions.
Then what is this all about, if the consumers, the salespeople, those who manufacture your brands, the truckmen, the laborers and the farmers are ALL satisfied?
We believe the answer is simple. The A. and P. has developed an organization whose efficiency should be an example to all stores handling food. If this were so, independent grocers could well expect larger profits. The solution is not in destroying something that has taken years to build, but in encouraging all merchants to still further improve the efficiency of their operations.
Very sincerely,
Niles M. Davies
Eileen Davies

For 90 years this company has tried to build a sound business on the basis of giving consumers more good food for their money and giving farmers better markets for their products. It is heartening to know that the public approves of the job we have done... to know that our policy of fair, honest dealing has won us the friendship of millions of consumers and farmers. We will always be grateful to all our good friends who have offered us their help. We are proud to live in a country where such things can happen.

The House of Representatives passed a Social Security Extension Bill last week by a large majority vote. It is expected, though, that the Senate will not act until next year.

By this time, of course, everyone is more or less familiar with the provisions of the new measure. They know that President Truman asked that about 23,000,000 people not now covered be brought under Social Security, and that the bill as passed does increase the coverage by about 11,000,000 persons, including nearly everyone except farmers, farm labor and professional people. By this time, too, everyone has heard that social security benefits under the new measure will be doubled. They now run from $10 to $45 per month. Under the new bill they will run from $25 to $64, while family benefits will run from $40 to $150 per month.

Perhaps fewer people know that the present two per cent payroll tax (one per cent on employer and one per cent on employee) will be increased to three per cent in January, 1950—four per cent in January, 1951—five per cent in January, 1960—six per cent in January, 1965—and six and one-half per cent in January, 1970. This means that by 1970 every person under Social Security will be paying at least three and one-quarter per cent of his entire income each year in payroll tax alone. Self-employed people will have to pay half again as much as those employed by others: Everybody's income for social security purposes, instead of the present $3,000, will be taxable up to $3,600. All this if the bill passed by the House becomes law.

Now Social Security is a splendid thing. It is supposed to provide financial independence for old folks no longer able to work. Properly administered, it would do just that. But as it is now administered by New Deal politicians, it is "phony". The Social Security objective is desirable; the manner in which it is now administered constitutes nothing less than a deception of the American people.

It came about this way. The New Deal politicians who set up the Social Security administrative plan wanted the payroll tax money to spend at once; so they put over on American workers and employers a scheme to collect taxes now for old age benefits, spend the money for other things, and then levy additional taxes on future generations to pay the old age benefits that present-day workers and employers have paid for. To illustrate: John Doe saves $5,000 for his old age. He needs money for pressing bills, and so spends the money, putting his own IOUs to himself in its place. He has nothing and must begin saving for his old age all over again.

Because I have always supported the Social Security principle, I voted for the bill last week. I did so largely in hope that before it becomes law some of the present unwise and undesirable provisions of the bill will be corrected, in the Senate and in conference committee. It was impossible to do so in the House, because the bill came up under a rule which prevented amendments. The Democratic majority voted down an attempt to substitute the Republican bill offered by Representative Robert W. Kean, of New Jersey, which would have eliminated objectionable provisions of the one that was passed.

Weaknesses of the bill as passed, which I would like to see changed, are as follows: Discriminates against older workers and workers irregularly employed; increases payroll taxes without justification; launches the federal government on a vast and costly disability insurance program for 50,000,000 people without first testing effectiveness of sounder and less expensive grants-in-aid program; surrenders to Treasury Department and Social Security Administration the power of Congress to determine payroll tax rates through rulings as to who is an employee and who self-employed; in effect provides for eventual Social Security trust fund of more than $90,000,000,000, nearly a third above the amount necessary; extends Social Security to Puerto Rico and Virgin Islands, which should have their own programs, based on their own economic level; and provides for funeral benefits, for which more than 78,000,000 people already have paid for through life insurance.

HOLE DIGGER, MODERN STYLE—A Michigan Bell pole-hole digging truck. On the rear is a huge corkscrew-like drill. Where soil conditions permit, it bores down into the ground and digs a clean, deep hole in a few minutes. Then a derrick on the truck hoists the pole and lowers it into the hole. This is one of many modern, time-saving devices Michigan Bell is using to help speed more telephone service to rural areas.

FAMILY AFFAIRS—Throughout Michigan Bell there are many instances of two or more kinsfolk employed by the company. In Detroit, for example, a mother and her three daughters work at a Long Distance switchboard. In Pontiac there are more than 100 employees included in mother-daughter, brother-sister, father-son, aunt-niece, sister-brother-cousin, and in-law combinations. In some cases, working for the telephone company has become almost a family tradition.

TAILOR-MADE FOR THE FARMER—The telephone saves time for all who use it. But it's particularly valuable to the farmer. He often lives some distance from markets, suppliers, stores, friends and neighbors. One telephone call, to buy, sell or order something, or talk to an acquaintance, may save many miles of driving... many minutes or hours of time which can be devoted to the farm. When you think of the work it does, the cost of the telephone is really mighty small.

TEN-STRIKE! Only Buick SPECIAL has all these Features!

Traffic-Handy Size • More Room for the Money • Dynaflo Drive optional at extra cost • Jet-Line Styling • Non-Locking Bumper-Guard Grilles • High-Pressure Fireball Straight-Eight Engine • Coil Springing all around • Low-Pressure Tires on Safety-Ride Rims • Greater Visibility fore and aft • Self-Locking Luggage Lids • Steady-Riding Torque-Tube Drive • Three Smart Models with Body by Fisher

Run your eyes over this fresh new beauty. Take in its style-setting non-locking bumper-guard grille, the graceful down-sweep of its fender lines, so unmistakably Buick, and we think you'll agree—

It looks like a lot of money—but the fact is, it's a lot for your money.

Take in those bigger interiors, the sofa-soft seats, the easy control and the high visibility you get from the more-than-generous glass area all around—and you'll beam at the news that this one's priced for really modest budgets, right down near the "lowest-priced three."

Beyond that—put this gorgeous new Buick SPECIAL through its paces.

Sample its valve-in-head straight-eight power—the lively, ever-thrilling kind that comes from a high-compression, high-pressure Fireball engine.

You'll find a ride that's pillow-soft smooth, level and steady. You get ample wheelbase—in shorter bumper-to-bumper length for easy parking, garaging, maneuvering.

You'll find a car that handles light as lace—made even more of a breeze by Dynaflo Drive, available at your option at moderate extra cost.

So why not do a thorough matching-up of price tags, and what they'll buy around town?

In particular, put this straight-eight beauty up against the sixes, feature for feature, dollar for dollar—and you'll see for yourself there's nothing to touch this Buick as a buy.

Yes, go see your Buick dealer, take in the SPECIAL from every angle—and learn how quickly you can have one for your own.

Worry Without Cause
NEEDLESSLY WORRIED! What a book could be written about that. Here's an example of what I mean. He is Gerald V. Myers, St. Joseph, Missouri.
Now we'll have to hop back in time. It is December 10, 144. Gerald Myers was sitting in a fox hole just outside of Geniveiller, France.

He had been in combat for three months and now was in an active sector where bullets were as thick as grapes in a California vineyard. That afternoon he had received a letter from his wife saying that everything at home was all right; at the bottom of the letter, the little daughter had painstakingly printed a message. Gerald had been overjoyed to receive it.
But now at 11 o'clock, sitting there in the dark and straining his ears for any movement of the enemy, he began to think about the welcome letter he had received and the loving postscript his daughter had printed. Then the thought came to him, "But suppose they are not all right now! They were all right when the letter was mailed, but many things could happen to them."

Under tension as he was, these thoughts began to prey on his mind. "Even if one of them were dying," he thought, "I could not get back to them. I might never see her again."

He worried until he was relieved from duty, but next day this terrible worry was still within him; it felt like a stone in his stomach. His friends saw the difference and asked him what was the matter, but he didn't want to tell them that he was worrying about his family, so he said, "Oh nothing, I'm all right."

The strange thing was that he was in danger, every minute, night and day, but he was worrying about his family at home. But that is the way the human mind works.

He went to the chaplain and, very much embarrassed, told him that he was so worried that he was becoming a nervous wreck. The chaplain patted him on the back and said, "Sergeant, just remember this . . . mathematics are with you. Most worries never come to pass. We worry about worries more than we do about facts."

The talk helped him. He got an outside point of view on himself. After a reasonable length of time he got a letter from home saying that things were going fine . . . but they were worrying about him. And he was worrying about them.

When the war was over, he went back. Nothing bad had happened at all.

And that's the way it is with most worries. We stew and fret about needless worries. The next time you are worrying, say to yourself, "Is this a needless worry? May I not be worrying about something that I can't possibly help and that is pulling me down?" Do this and it'll help you stop your needless worrying.

At the Gulf of Guinea where the first words spoken over the prime meridian crosses the telephone were, "Watson, come equator at sea level, the earth's here; I want you," spoken by Al-surface has neither longitude, exander Graham Bell to his assistant.

Fair in the Light of Memory Shines

BY ELTON R. EATON

It is interesting, fascinating, to drive the winding highways that have been blasted through the Rockies—fascinating to skirt the ocean shorelines of Florida and California on smooth pavings that have been firmly anchored in the sand—interesting to skim along at 70 miles an hour on highways that are laid straight as a string across western prairies—but all of this is nothing as compared to a leisurely drive on Northern Michigan highways through forests that are ablaze with the most beautiful colors one can imagine at this time of the year.

It was a delight to spend a few days recently on a trip through Northern Michigan and the eastern part of the Upper Peninsula. Never before have we seen such beauty in the fall. Between Rogers City and Cheboygan there are places where one looks down upon the tree tops, looks down upon hundreds and hundreds of acres of the most fascinating coloring one can imagine—with the dark blue of Lake Huron in the background.

Maybe it's a little late to take the trip just now—but plan it next year. Plan it for early October—and you will see beauty that is beyond comparison. Trail route 23 to the northlands, then back on 31 through Petoskey, Traverse City and the Grand Traverse country.

No part of America can equal Northern Michigan's beauty in the early fall. Plan now for a weekend trip next year to Northern Michigan after you have read in the newspapers that that part of Michigan has had its first frost.

Many Plymouth people own summer homes on inland lakes and streams in Northern Michigan. Here's a tip for you, if you desire to help increase the wood-duck population of the state and nation. It comes from the Wildlife Management Institute.

The experiences in other states which proved so successful ought to prove just as successful in Michigan—and there is nothing quite so interesting as to watch ducks nesting in a box on a high pole set in the water in front of your cottage.

Nesting boxes set out by state conservation officers and sportsmen throughout the Northeast have been occupied heavily by wood ducks during the past breeding season. This program's success should be reflected in larger numbers of this beautiful member of the waterfowl clan, according to the Wildlife Management Institute.

Fully 90 per cent of all nesting boxes put out in Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Pennsylvania, Vermont, Ohio, and other states were occupied by nesting birds this summer. The Massachusetts Department of Conservation started the ball rolling when it developed the idea of purchasing war-surplus ammunition boxes with Pittman-Robertson funds, converting them to nesting boxes, and distributing them to suitable breeding grounds throughout the state. Other states began similar projects to alleviate the housing shortage for the wood duck.

Massachusetts studies showed that boxes placed on poles set in the water received far more response than those situated in trees. Squirrels, mice and raccoons usually invaded tree nesting boxes before the woodies had a chance to use them, and only 16 per cent of those not placed on poles in water were used by ducks. Under natural conditions wood ducks nest in hollow trees, but intensive lumbering throughout the breeding range has reduced suitable nesting sites to a minimum. The success of the present program indicates that the wood duck, once seriously threatened with extermination, is here to stay.

Will Discuss Affairs of World Interest

An up-to-the minute report on the latest news at home and abroad will be presented at Detroit Town hall by Quincy Howe, distinguished author and radio commentator. He will speak Wednesday morning, October 26, at 11 a.m. in the Fisher theater.

The speaker is a member of a famous New England family, the elder son of the biographer and historian M. A. DeWolfe Howe. His sister, Helen Howe, wrote the satiric novel about Harvard, "We Happy Few." Quincy, himself, has won a world-wide reputation as an historian, and is at present working on a history of the Twentieth Century. In the past few years he has authored three outstanding books, "England Expects Every American to Do his Duty," "Blood is Cheaper than Water," and "The News and How to Understand it."

Howe's concise analysis of complicated international situations have won him a large following on the air, both in radio and television.

Advance reservations for the lecture are available at Grinnell's, Wo. 2-1124.

Stadium was originally a Greek measure of length, approximately 600 feet.

One of the principal topics to be considered when the Home Missions Council of North America holds its "Congress" in Columbus, Ohio, early next year will be what the Protestant churches in America should do on behalf of the 1,500,000 agricultural workers and their families in the United States.

There are 50 golden years left to redeem the Twentieth Century," says Dr. H. Conrad Hoyer, executive of the Division of American missions in the National Lutheran council. As part of the "redemption" he calls his Lutheran brethren to establish 5,000 new home mission congregations in the years ahead.

tween the free and state churches are lessening and cooperation is greater than at any time in European history. The outlook for the future is by no means entirely black. It is easy to be pessimistic; it would be a mistake to be over-optimistic.

"We have the same problem in the Philippines that you have in America—that of making the church alive to its responsibilities in a changing world," reports Methodist Superintendent Ernest E. Tuck, from Manila, P. I.

Three states in the Union have four-letter names—Ohio, Iowa and Utah.

Perfect Background for a Lady!

Sometimes, we think a lady never looks so lovely as when she's seated at the wheel of a Cadillac car. She looks rested and at ease... for there is no strain at all to her driving. The big motor moves the car as if by automatic propulsion—steering is virtually a response to her wish—and the brake pedal calls for little more than the weight of a foot.
