

TAXES — TAXES — MORE TAXES.

President Truman a few days ago told Washington newspaper men that American people can look forward to heavier taxes, unless he can find some other way of balancing government income and outgo.

It appears that the thought never comes to his mind that the elimination of a million or more political job holders would almost immediately solve the problem.

But why think of such a thing when there are so many party job seekers to be cared for—at the expense of American taxpayers. They'd better look out down in Washington or some day the camel's back might be broken by the burden the party bosses are forcing the old camel to carry, and then what?

IF IT HAPPENED TO BE YOU—

Suppose you should happen to be an unfortunate victim in an automobile accident. Suppose you were badly hurt and lay beside the road, anxiously waiting for some one to come along to help you. Suppose some one did come along—looked at you in your distress—then drove away in a hurry!

How would you feel about it? What would you think about it? Rightly—you would think that there goes a person without a heart.

Then suppose some one else came along in a few minutes and noted the distress you were in—that you needed help and needed it quickly. The occupants of the second car picked you up and hurried you to a hospital—where attending physicians said this kindly act had saved a life.

That's what happened right near Plymouth the other day. The driver of the second car was a well known Plymouth resident who insists that his name not be used.

The moral of this incident is simply this—if when driving along the highway you see some one injured and needing help, extend that helping hand, as did this car driver. You may save a life—and some day you might need the same kind of help that the driver of the first car didn't give to the injured, bleeding girl who would have died if her injuries had not been given immediate medical attention.

CO-OPERATION — NOT WRANGLING.

Plymouth and this fast growing part of Wayne county finds its rapid development bringing about problems that need county assistance in solving. To get that assistance it requires co-operation and good will on our part with the governing body of the county.

With one brief exception, the city of Plymouth has always been represented on the board of supervisors by its mayor or a member of the city commission.

We hope that the new administration in Plymouth will see to it that some MEMBER of the new city commission, is selected immediately to represent this city on the county board of supervisors. This need was emphasized at a recent meeting of the county board of supervisors when its proceedings were thrown into a cat and dog fight over a silly question that amounted to nothing. All Plymouth got out of such a mess was criticism, ridicule and cat-calls.

We believe any member of the new commission will serve Plymouth well on the board of supervisors. Our supervisor should be the mayor, but if he feels it best to appoint a present member of the commission that action will satisfy the community. It is good will and friendly cooperation that counts in a beneficial way—and Plymouth right now needs lots and lots of help from the county to care for its rapid industrial and residential expansion.

FORTUNATE NEWSPAPER READERS.

Subscribers of The Charlotte Republican-Tribune are most fortunate newspaper readers. Some weeks ago Editor Murl DeFoe decided to take a trip around the world and write of his experiences as any county editor would write of the daily events around home. Not in a long, long time have we read anything quite so interesting as the material being mailed back to The Charlotte Republican-Tribune from the other side of the Pacific. His material is both timely and instructive. One gains a new "slant" of world affairs through reading the views and comments of a country editor on a trip around the world. Editor DeFoe is doing a commendable job, as well as enjoying himself.

Optimists Will Entertain Boys

Members of Plymouth's Optimist club will join in the observance of National Optimist Week, starting Sunday, November 6. The regular meeting of the club next Monday night will feature a "Friend of the Boy" program at which each member of the club will bring some local youth as their guest.

To better acquaint the boys with members of the local police department, Optimists have invited Chief of Police Lee Sackett and his officers to attend the meeting as their guests also.

A short program is being planned by program chairman Austin Stecker, which will be of interest to the boys that attend the meeting that night. Members are urged to inform officers of the club this weekend as to the number of guests they intend to bring to the meeting.

Limited Parking For Drug Stores

Watch those new parking regulation signs in front of the four Plymouth drug stores!

At the request of drug store owners as well as their patrons Chief of Police Lee Sackett states that it has been deemed advisable to put in limited parking regulations in front of all drug stores during the evening hours.

From 6 until 10 o'clock each evening, parking in front of the drug stores will be limited to 15 minutes only. This will make possible the parking of cars for patrons who find it necessary to purchase needed medical supplies during evening hours. After 6 o'clock in all other locations, except on Friday nights, there is no evening time limit on street parking in the downtown area.

If you have a social item or any other local news, phone 1755.

Newburg Ford Plant Sold to Conrad Ott - to Move Trailer Factory From Northville Road

The Otts, father and son, look over one of their new "Plymouth" trailers out at their Northville road factory. They're planning to move the trailer company to the Newburg Ford plant, just purchased by Conrad Ott (at the right), before the end of the year. His son, Albert, is completing his studies at the University of Michigan and plans to join his father on a full-time basis after graduation.

Clifford Tait is Appointed to Board of First National

Clifford W. Tait, owner and operator of the Tait's Cleaners and Tailoring business, and son of the late William Tait, one of the original stockholders of the First National bank of Plymouth, has just been appointed to the board of directors of the First National.

He takes the place that was made vacant by the untimely death some months ago of Stewart M. Dodge, Mr. Dodge died unexpectedly on a vacation in the southlands that had been recommended by his physicians.

The selection of Mr. Tait to this important position took place last Thursday evening at a special meeting of the board of directors of the First National.

His election will bring to the board a member with first hand knowledge of many of the problems faced by the small business men of the community. In addition to his activities in various civic affairs he is one of the tireless workers in Rotary club endeavors.

Fund Over $5000 Behind in Drive, Only 7 Days Left

With less than half of its $11,000 quota turned in, the Plymouth United Fund drive will have to collect $5,675 in the next seven days if the 1949 campaign is to go over the top. Drive officials are beginning to wonder this week if Plymouth would again live up to its past record of fine support for local health, welfare and youth service organizations. Only $5,325 has been received so far. The drive ends next Thursday, November 10.

"Contributions are coming in very slowly," said Paul Johnson, local drive chairman, today. "Some people have not been visited by solicitors as yet. We urge these people to send in their contributions directly to the Plymouth Community Fund, Box 356. The large number of call-backs this year has made it very difficult to get sufficient volunteer workers to cover the whole Plymouth area."

Community Fund treasurer, Carvel Bentley and Frank Arlen, president of the board of trustees, both indicated the need for additional stimulation of the community's giving. "Not only is the residential drive incomplete," said Mr. Arlen, "but the gifts from local organizations and industries are also very slow in coming."

Table Toppers Organize Here

At an organization meeting held Tuesday afternoon in Plymouth the Western Wayne county unit of the Michigan Table Top association came into existence.

John Spagnol was elected president, John Klein, vice president and Ted Box, treasurer and secretary.

James Dotch, executive secretary of the state organization, was present and advised the new members of the necessity of an organization at this time. Its purpose is to prevent abuses and to educate the public as to the problems constantly confronting bar owners in this area.

The Table Toppers urge moderation, the maintenance of pleasant, orderly places, strict observance of all regulations and constant alertness against efforts on the part of would-be patrons to evade the age limit.

Mr. Dotch told of the success of the organization in meeting important state-wide problems as well as solving some complex local situations.

Byron Becker New President of Kiwanis Club

Byron Becker is the new president of the Plymouth Kiwanis club as a result of the organization's annual election held on Tuesday night. He will hold office for the 1950 club year.

Elected to two year terms on the club's board of directors are Daniel Mills, Dean Saxton and Norman Atchinson. Two vacancies, one for Kiwanis secretary and one on the board itself, will be filled by the directors.

"Key to Business" was the topic of Ralph J. McDowell of the Socony Vacuum company for his talk at Tuesday's meeting. He stressed the importance of salesmanship in the success of all business. Program chairman was James Winterhalter.

Homecoming Set For Friday Night

Plymouth's annual homecoming celebration will find graduates, friends and students of the high school cheering at the Plymouth-Northville football clash tomorrow night and renewing old friendships at the Homecoming dance after the game.

A full program of events have been planned for the 1949 "welcome back" to Plymouth High grads and friends. Parents of members of the football squad will be guests of honor at the game when it gets underway at 8 p.m. Decorations at the game will be handled by the cheerleaders. Hi-Y members will act as ushers. The Varsity club is in charge of the guests. Y-Teens lead off the invitations and the Leaders' club handled publicity.

Everyone is cordially invited to attend the dance which is slated to begin immediately after the end of the game.

A pep assembly will be held for students during the fourth hour tomorrow. A skit will be presented. Guest speakers for the program will be Robert Irwin, mayor of Northville High school and Dick Gussell, captain of Northville's football team.

Betty Salmon heads the committee in charge of the homecoming program. David Green, Gladys Witt, Ronald Witt, Jon Brake, Marge Saxton, Mary Vincent and Roger Kidston make up her committee.

Plymouth's newest industry in this community of ever-growing business and trade, made arrangements this week to take over one of the most beautiful Ford plants in this area.

Conrad Ott, president of the Plymouth Trailer company, purchased from the Wayne County Board of Road Commissioners the Newburg Ford plant located just east of the city. Organized just two months ago, the trailer manufacturing concern is now located on the Northville road.

Mr. Ott, who operates the plant with his son, Albert, has been associated with the manufacturing industry since 1914. Formerly in the automotive field as a mechanical engineer, he purchased the Ford plant with his wife and will lease the factory to the trailer company.

In addition to the building is being planned which will almost double the present floor space of 4,819 square feet. A private road will be constructed on the property which is located on the corner of Edward Hines drive and Newburg and Plymouth roads. Entrance to the road will be just south of Plymouth road. Closing of the parkway at 11:30 p.m. (Continued on page 6)

Veterans Plan Aid For Needy

Assistance for veterans of Plymouth and vicinity who may be in serious distress from illness or other causes and unable because of restrictions to secure aid from other sources is the object of two interesting Armistice day events that have been arranged by the Plymouth Veterans of Foreign Wars for Friday, November 11 and Saturday, November 12.

On Friday evening, November 11 at the Veterans' Memorial hall on South Main street the veterans will serve a smorgasbord dinner, beginning at 5 o'clock and continuing until all are served. As far as is known this is the first time a public smorgasbord dinner has ever been served in Plymouth. The public is invited and those expecting to attend should plan to be there early, as considerable interest has been manifested in this event.

On Saturday evening, November 12 the veterans have arranged an Armistice day dance to be held at the Masonic Temple, beginning at 9 o'clock in the evening. An excellent band has been secured for the dance.

All money raised by these two events will go into a charitable fund to be used for the benefit of veterans who may find themselves in serious need of quick and temporary aid that cannot be secured except from the Veterans' organization. Large attendance is expected at both events.

Mayor Perry Richwine Outlines Development Program For City

Expect Increase in Unemployment

Three times the normal load of applicants for unemployment compensation is anticipated by the Plymouth branch of the Michigan Unemployment commission when the Ford lay-off goes into effect, according to Clarence Jetter, branch manager.

"Plans are being made to handle the largest number of applicants since V-J Day," Mr. Jetter said. "When the war in Japan ended, we had over 1,500 requests for compensation."

Mr. Jetter explained that there have been few lay-offs in this area up to this week but the full impact of the steel strike is beginning to be felt as companies run low on steel stock.

Kindness Returned With Slap

Exasperated Plymouth business men, when they came down town to open their stores for the day's business Tuesday morning, almost universally asked "What's the use?"

They had gone out of their way to permit Plymouth boys and girls to paint the display windows of their stores in Halloween decorations hoping thereby to terminate the use of soap, paraffin and other substances on Halloween night.

But what a mess business men found Tuesday morning. Water color paintings had been marked over with soap and paraffin to such an extent that it required hours to remove the mess. And it was cold business washing windows Tuesday morning.

But there is one thing that helps a bit—the youths who did most of the damage were not Plymouth boys and girls. True, some did take part in the depredations but local residents have been advised that boys and girls in some nearby schools had talked about "raiding" Plymouth on Halloween, and the most of those seen on the street Monday night were strangers in the city.

Business men are determined that there will be no "repeat" performance next year. Two ideas have been expressed, one is to ask some 100 or more Plymouth high school boys to "patrol" the streets on Halloween eve to see to it that nothing like it happens again—the other idea is to ask the city commission to pass an ordinance placing a penalty upon any one marking store windows and then making parents of juveniles responsible for the payment of these fines. At any rate the general opinion is that Halloween store window depredations have been carried altogether too far and right now is the time to call a halt.

Youngster Hurt in Auto Accident

Plymouth police are investigating an automobile accident in which six-year-old Douglas Steele received a brain concussion and a cut jugular vein when a car driven by Miss Winifred Jolliffe struck him at 4:30 p.m. last Thursday afternoon.

According to the police department, Douglas was playing with a group of children in front of his home at 150 South Mill street, about 500 feet south of the intersection with Amelia, and suddenly darted out in front of Miss Jolliffe's car.

The lad, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen R. Steele, was taken to Dr. Ensign Clyde and then to St. Joseph's hospital in Ann Arbor where he was immediately transferred to University hospital. Reports indicate that he is now getting along well, although his condition was described as serious the early part of the week. It is expected that he will remain in the hospital for another two weeks.

A witness driving in back of Miss Jolliffe said she was not traveling more than 20 miles per hour. Miss Jolliffe lives at 334 North Mill street.

Coal Shortage Hits Plymouth, Rationing On

Plymouth's busy coal companies are rationing their dwindling supplies of coal to make them go as far as possible. A direct result of the coal strike, it is impossible to purchase more than a ton at a time from any source in the city and one dealer will sell only one-half ton at a time to any one customer. If the coal strike continues another ten days, there will be no coal available in Plymouth.

A cold snap would make the present total supply of coal go down even faster than some of the following reports estimate. The Robert's Coal and Supply company has absolutely no coal to sell at the present time. The company's supply was down to 15 tons the forepart of this week.

News from the McLaren company indicates a somewhat rosier picture. By limiting each sale to not more than one-half ton per customer, the company estimates its supply of coal should last them from three weeks to one month.

Pea coke and stoker coal is all that the Plymouth Lumber and Coal company has on hand. A quota of one ton per sale has been set by the firm which has only a week's supply on hand.

All dealers report it will take from a week to ten days to get any coal after the strike is settled. Five to seven days are required to get a coal car from West Virginia to Plymouth.

Narrow Escape For This Hunter

William Fann, the Allen Industries employe who made a surprising run for election as a member of the Plymouth city commission in the recent special election, had a narrow escape from losing the sight of one of his eyes a few days ago when a hunter accidentally shot his gun while on a hunting trip near this city.

Two pellets hit his face directly under one of his eyes, but fortunately not near enough to injure any of the eye muscles or nerves.

The shots were quickly removed by a physician and Mr. Fann was able to return to work two or three days after the accident.

Mayor Perry W. Richwine at the request of The Plymouth Mail, has outlined a program of development as well as needed changes in the city charter that he believes will be of untold benefit to this progressive city, if successfully carried out.

1—Mayor Richwine favors the paving of Forest avenue as quickly as possible.

2—He believes that the city should use asphalt for future paving instead of concrete.

3—He recommends a modernizing of the entire lighting system for the city, beginning with better lighting for Forest avenue.

4—He favors the appointment of a committee to study the necessity of a revision of the city charter.

5—He would create a trial board to hear all charges against city employes—this board to act as an advisory board to the city commission.

6—He would limit the terms of all elective officials to two terms, (thereby eliminating a lot of the miserable type of politics from which Plymouth has long suffered).

7—He would have the people decide as to whether the city commission should restrict the powers of the city (Continued on page 6)

Former Residents Write From Florida

In a note from Kae and Gil Rhode, deep down in Florida, The Plymouth Mail was told that the most important mail that arrives in their town every weekend is the home town newspaper. "We sure enjoy The Plymouth Mail down here, it makes us feel that we are almost back in good old Plymouth. Although we like Florida very much and our health is much better here we surely miss the old home town and all of our friends," said the note.

Operators of Kae's Kourt and Restaurant at Eau Gallie, Florida on U. S. Holiday highway number one, the Rhodes have many Plymouth visitors and just before sending The Mail their note they were visited by Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Jeffries. Mr. Jeffries, an executive of the Wall Wire Products company, and Mrs. Jeffries will return to Plymouth this weekend after touring through sunny Florida.

Daisy Exhibit at Bank Highlights Company's Use of Plastic Materials

The spotlight in the corner of the Plymouth United Savings bank turns this week on a display from the Daisy Manufacturing company, showing locally for the first time their venture in the use of plastic materials. Plymouth residents may examine at first hand the new Daisy BB Pak strips and the plastic target which is now being sold with Daisy Targeteer pistols. Center of the display is the colorful painting of an American youth done by former GI Walter Parke of Chicago. The title of the picture is the American Boys Bill of Rights and quoting from the second amendment of the United States Constitution it enumerates the following statement: "...the Rights of the People to Keep and Bear Arms Shall Not Be Infringed."

The picture, which was an outgrowth of Daisy institutional advertising, during the period when merchandise could not be advertised, has found general favor throughout the country and is now reproduced in colors and furnished to boys throughout the nation by the company. It carries this bill of rights which reads as follows: "We, the Boys of America—believe in these our rights: The right to Liberty, hard won by our forefathers plus the right to happiness that comes with the growth of a healthy body and mind plus the right to training thoughtfully planned by parents, school and church, plus the right to opportunity, to live, learn, play and group in the time-honored traditions of a free people plus the right to learn to shoot safely. We recognize and accept the responsibility imposed by those rights. But until we are old enough to vote we expect YOU, our fathers and mothers and other citizens who elect America's city and county and state and federal officers plus to be eternally vigilant that our rights be not abridged." The plastic target embodies several moving objects which make a safe shooting target, which can be used in any home with safety with the Daisy Targeteer. It is the first time that Daisy has used plastic for this sort of an item. Of interest to local youth is the new Daisy BB Pak which gives them more BB's for their money and is now being sold throughout the world. Dealers are now selling BB's in strips of small cellophane envelopes which are held in a self-dispensing box making it possible for any boy to now make a purchase of a package of BB's from one to any number of pennies he desires to spend. Envelopes sell for one cent each. In addition to the Targeteer and the BB Pak Daisy also displays one of its famous Red Ryder carbines complete with scope and targets.

Cemetery Case Goes to Board

The case involving the neglected graveyard in Washtenaw county, west of Plymouth, which received so much attention from state, county and township officials last week was referred to the State Board of Embalmers and Undertakers for their action.

The inquiry began when hunters found an unburied body there. Subsequent investigation by State Police reveal that bodies recently had been buried close together in long lines, less than four feet deep.

Dr. F. S. Leeder, of the Michigan State Department of Health, said he knew of no violation in the disposition of bodies in the graveyard, once known as the Mt. Vernon Memorial cemetery. There is no Michigan law governing the depths at which human bodies must be buried.

Robert Lidgard Operates Frozen Food Department

Enterprising Robert Lidgard has now consolidated all of his business operations on his busy corner at Liberty and Starkweather streets under his personal direction. His purchase of the former branch of the Plymouth United Savings bank building gave him an opportunity to open a modern grocery store in that location with a meat department under the direction of his brother, Clarence, some years ago.

About three years ago Clarence opened a frozen food department and Robert took over the meat department to operate along with his grocery line. Last year Clarence sold the frozen food department to Arlo Soth, who this week, turned it back to the Lidgard brothers and Robert Lidgard now emerges as the sole proprietor of all three going business concerns.

Divine Providence has granted this gift to man, that those things which are honest are also the most advantageous. —Quintilian

Newburg Ford Plant Sold to Conrad Ott, to Move Trailer Factory From Northville Road

(Continued from page 1) necessitates the building of the private drive. Production capacity at the Newburg plant will be approximately 25 custom-made deluxe and standard models. A well constructed plant, it was built in 1936 by Henry Ford at a cost of over $250,000. It is complete in every detail and ideal for manufacturing purposes. Not only does the factory rate high on the practicality score, but it is also located in one of the most beautiful spots in Southern Michigan. Ford used it for making small tools until the early part of 1948 when he shut down operations there. An up-to-date power plant with a 35 horse power steam engine and turbine which will utilize water power from Newburg lake. Use of the dam on mile-long Newburg lake is delegated to the trailer company which can use water from the lake to a depth of one foot below the dam. A sprinkler system is built into the plant for almost instant control of possible fires. Two 2,000 gallon oil tanks and a propane gas tank are located on the property. Heated by steam, the building has its own ice-making machines for air conditioning. A specially constructed chimney with lightning rods on top prevents the building from possible damage during electrical storms. Trailers manufactured by the company are well designed units featuring the utmost in utility in 24 and 30 foot models. They are distributed on a national scale to an always-growing group of customers who enjoy flexibility in their living arrangements.

Fund Over $5000 Behind in Drive, Only Seven Days Left

Local service organizations can place another feather in their collective cap this year, according to the drive chairman. "Under the leadership of Ray Williams, teams of volunteer solicitors from Kiwanis, Optimists, Rotary and Lions clubs are contributing a distinct community service this year, adding to their fine records of the past," said Mr. Johnson.

With over 150 call backs yet to be made in the city in addition to those outlying areas of the township which are untouched, a second request for volunteer workers went out this week to leaders of the recipient organizations, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Recreation commission, Veteran's Foundation and Salvation Army. Workers who wish to volunteer to help put the drive over the top are urged to call Captain William Roberts at phone 10 or Paul Johnson at 1386.

Mayor Perry Richwine Outlines Development Program for City

(Continued from page 1) manager and for the commission to assume the responsibilities of various city departments. 8—He recommends immediate attention to the sewer problem of the south end of the city, asking for friendly cooperation with township and county officials. 9—He believes that immediate attention should be given to street widening problems before prospective buildings will make such widening impossible. Coupled with the street widening program, the new mayor thinks that Plymouth's parking problem should not be overlooked.

Mayor Richwine's timely and highly essential recommendations follow in full: "I wish to take this opportunity of thanking the Plymouth Mail for the fine cooperation they have given the present City Commission in the large undertaking which it has been our lot to assume. I personally want to take this opportunity of thanking all of the people of Plymouth for the fine support which they have given me, the many fine ideas and expressions of intended cooperation. It is difficult for outsiders to understand Plymouth; we are all willing to fight for our community but we don't want the outsiders to pick on us.

"Your Editor has called me and requested information as to what type of program I am interested in. I would like to see briefly that there are so many things that I would like to see done in this community that it would be impossible to set them forth with any hope that a portion of them can be achieved during my brief service as Mayor of the city. However, there are a number of things which I believe, can be accomplished in the next six months if all of the citizens put their shoulder to the wheel and work and give constructive criticism only.

"1. Complete the Forest Avenue paving project and give immediate consideration to substituting asphalt pavement instead of concrete. In connection with the Forest Avenue paving, I would like to see the Planning commission give immediate action to the possibility of modernizing the street lighting of Forest Avenue. It will be necessary to have a complete survey by the Detroit Edison company and I am sure that the Detroit Edison company will cooperate fully. There is a new type of street lighting which is much less expensive and which is more fitting a progressive growing city than the old type of street lamps. This planning should precede the letting of the contract by the city in order that the pavement will not have to be torn up as soon as it is laid down.

"2. The Mayor should appoint a committee to revise and modernize the city charter. This should be done promptly. At the present time the City Commission is taking over and performing a number of the duties and functions of the City Manager. In doing this we are presuming that the people desire to reduce the powers of a City Manager. We may be presuming too much. I sincerely doubt if our action is legal and I believe that immediate steps should be taken to have this phase of our charter clearly set forth so that the people can have the final say of whether or not the City Manager or the City Commission shall assume the responsibility of hiring and firing city employees. It is also my hope that the City Charter can provide for a so-called trial board made up of three members consisting of one member of the City Commission, one employee of the city and one representative of the citizens of the community to pass upon all complaints by any employee before he is discharged. It is my intention to appoint such a committee at the commission meeting of November 7, which committee will only be able to act in an advisory capacity as it will not have any authority until such authority by the people of Plymouth is granted.

"3. So far as Plymouth is concerned, I do not believe in the Divine Right of Kings. I believe that a charter amendment should be voted on, by the people to decide whether or not we, as citizens of the community, want to restrict the number of terms that any person can be elected to a position in our city government. It is my personal opinion that after any person who has served two terms, consecutive or otherwise, he should no longer be eligible to seek the same position in our city government. This provision to apply to elective offices only. This community has a large number of people who could serve as members of the City Commission and there is certainly no reason why this job should be monopolized by one or two people. It is my personal opinion that every person who serves as a member of the City Commission will become a better citizen and have a better understanding of his community and therefore we should have the largest number of ex-elected city officials possible in this community.

"4. If the people decide they want to reduce the authority of the City Manager it is going to be necessary to make various department heads of our government responsible for certain jobs. Every department should know its responsibility and should be charged with it and when a person in charge of a department fails to do his or her job their case should be immediately cited to the Trial board for removal so that a competent person can replace them.

"5. It is my opinion that no member of the City Commission, which includes the Mayor, should hire or fire any employee of the city of Plymouth. All such matters should be taken before a full City Commission and a resolution should be passed by the Commission as a body before action is taken. I do not like to see instructions by a Mayor to department heads to employ so and so. This type of policy does not make for good government. The employees of the city of Plymouth should be free from all feeling of personal obligation to any member of the City Commission. Their obligation should be to perform the best service possible for all the people of the city of Plymouth.

"6. The city of Plymouth needs better sewers on the south end of town. The new school needs sewers. In order to secure this sewage system it is going to be necessary for us to cooperate with the officials of the state of Michigan and especially of the county of Wayne. No representative of this city should get into personal arguments with any officials when said personal arguments jeopardize the welfare of the people of this community. The representative of this city on the Wayne County Board of Supervisors should be a member of the City Commission and should possess sufficient diplomacy to secure the cooperation, rather than the antagonism of the fellow members of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors. Plymouth has been fortunate in not having had more sickness in the city and in the surrounding townships considering the number of septic tanks which are now draining into the same ground within a few feet from where the people pump their drinking water. This is especially true in the township south of U. S. 12. And when I think of Plymouth building a completely new school in this same area without having available sewage facilities I wonder if our past officials have not failed to perform their duty. Steps have already been taken to secure a sewage program for this area and I am confident that if the same steps had been taken six months ago the problem would already be solved at this time.

"7. I believe that the city should not overlook or long delay the highly important street widening problem. This matter should be given attention before new buildings will make the cost too prohibitive or impossible. The parking problem, like the street widening situation, is also one that requires future attention.

"I sincerely wish to congratulate all of the employees of the city of Plymouth who have attempted to perform their duties in the best possible manner during the past four months. I can not imagine having 15 different bosses during a six months period and it is easy for me to understand their impatience with a new commissioner who takes office and starts prying around to learn a little bit about his duties. I am certain that if all of the employees continue to give the cooperation which they have given that our city government will increase in its efficiency at least 100 percent."

Scholarships For Navy Training Interest Boys

The Naval Reserve officers training program, sponsored and supported by the government, is offering free scholarships to high school students and last year the Navy department gave over 2,360 scholarships.

The scholarships offered by Navy department are rated among the best offered high school graduate. When a NROTC student enters a named college he is rated as a midshipman; his tuition, textbooks, uniforms, laboratory and other fees are paid by the government. As a midshipman he receives 50 dollars a month, goes on three sea cruises, and in his fourth year he will study aeronautics and learn to fly light aircraft.

To be eligible for a Navy scholarship the candidate must:

1. be a male citizen of the United States.
2. if a minor, have the consent of his parents or guardian.
3. must be physically qualified in accordance with the standards of a midshipman.
4. be unmarried.

Last year Ted Thrasher received a Navy scholarship and is attending Ohio State university. This year many seniors have filled out applications obtained from George Canfield, the high school adviser. Mr. Canfield believes that the Navy scholarship is one of the best opportunities for a student who cannot afford college education to obtain a higher degree of knowledge.

Hi-Y Chapters Give Assembly

Pandora's Box was the theme of an assembly presented by the Hi-Y of Plymouth High school on Wednesday, October 26. This assembly, which was sponsored by the student council, was presented to urge all students not to destroy the Halloween paintings put on the store windows by the art classes. The assembly was a play which portrayed the story of Pandora's Box. When Pandora opened this box all the evils of the world came out and caused unhappiness. These evils were chased back into the box by Hope whenever they came out to cause trouble.

This assembly illustrated to the students that evil pranks at Halloween can destroy work that has taken a long time to create. The Hi-Y also planned for some future events. Among the projects planned were: a hayride to be given sometime in November, a weekend camping trip and weekly trips to the Fisher YMCA in Detroit.

Help Choose Best Citizen at Meeting

The senior class, 162 strong, held its first meeting Friday, October 21, with Melvin Blunk and Pat Zink, class president, as the speakers. The purpose of the meeting was to permit the seniors to vote for their class slogan, class colors and to nominate one senior girl for the best girl citizen award.

The outcome of the voting was as follows: the slogan will be "Hitch your wagon to a star"; the class colors are blue and silver; the girls who were nominated for the award were: Barbara Cushman, Rita Datcher, Wilma Latture, Dnyese McKinley, Nancy Morrow, Pat Pine, Verna Rice, Mary Vincent and Pat Zink.

When the seniors received their report cards October 26, they were asked to vote for three of the above mentioned girls. The victorious three were Dnyese McKinley, Pat Pine and Verna Rice. The teachers were to vote for one of the three girls at the teachers meeting this week. The girl elected will be presented with the citizenship award.

The award is based on these qualifications: dependability, truthfulness, loyalty, punctuality, service cooperation, courtesy, consideration of others, leadership, personality, self-control, ability to assume responsibility, patriotism, unselfish interest in family, school, community and nation.

Marking Period's End Hailed by Students

Once again the halls of Plymouth High are filled with the wailing and lamenting of students. The reason for all this sorrow is the end of the marking period, and the receiving of report cards by the pupils.

A few students have a perfect record, and of course, there are some who feel they have been cheated.

As usual there are some students who have made resolutions. These resolutions if put into practice may help tone down the commotion at the close of the next marking period.

Concert Band Begins Practices

Plymouth High school's band began practices for the concert season last Monday, October 24. The first concert will be the Christmas concert given on December 22. In preparation for this the following concert pieces were on the stands Monday and Tuesday: "The Red Mill" by Victor Herbert, "The Scarlet Mask" by J. S. Zamecnik, and "Band of America March" by Paul Lavelle.

Because Paul T. Wagner, the band director, received information pertaining to playing at the Lowery football game, the band could not continue practices during the rest of the week. But since the football season will be over after the homecoming game with Northville, the band will resume practices next Monday. Mr. Wagner does not know as yet what pieces will be played at the first concert, but he stated that the program will be a light one.

Officers Elected For Spanish Club

Monday, October 3, was the day scheduled for the election of the newly organized Spanish club. With Mrs. Virginia Callagari as adviser, it is open to all students who have had Spanish or are taking it now.

The following were elected as officers for the coming year: Diane Arscott, president; Margie Saxton, vice president; Pat Johnson, secretary; and Kay Dobbs, treasurer.

Meetings will be held the first Monday of every month and the members are urged to attend because of the small membership.

Open Campaign Next Wednesday

By a large majority, students voted for one drive for the benefit of the health, welfare and recreational activities for the year. With the one drive completed there will be no others this year.

The student council has appointed the following students to serve on a committee to promote this drive: Mary Ann Witwer, Bud Young, Bob Stout and Lucy Barnes. The council also approved the opening date of the drive to be Wednesday, November 2.

Funds will be distributed as follows: Community Chest, 50 percent; Red Cross, 10 percent; tuberculosis, 10 percent; National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis, 10 percent; National Cancer Foundation, 10 percent; and reserve fund, 10 percent. The goal is $600.

Require Book Reports to Increase Reading

Every year two book reports are given a semester in most of the English classes at Plymouth High school, either fiction or non-fiction. These book reports are required in the hopes that those who care little for reading will become interested, and to increase reading and vocabulary of the students. The non-fiction helps to give historical information and the fiction helps to increase imagination of students who have few ideas of their own.

The aim of education should be to convert the mind into a living fountain, and not a reservoir. That which is filled by merely pumping in, will be emptied by pumping out.

Six-Inch Sermon

Psalms for Daily Living (Temperature)
Lesson for September 18: Psalms 15: 24: 1-6; 143: 8-10
Memory Selection: Psalms 143: 8

THE LESSON TODAY is a temperance lesson that is unlike the usual kind. It is based on the idea that living the good life will be a great deterrent to indulgence in that which is harmful to body and soul.

What does it mean to be good? An answer is found in the 15th Psalm. One way to learn goodness is to see it exemplified in a good man. Such a man walks uprightly, slanders not, and is incorruptible in all his ways.

The 24th Psalm was evidently used on the occasion of bringing the ark to Jerusalem. It is similar to the 15th. It shows what kind of man the true worshipper is. He has clean hands and a pure heart. His life is marked by sincerity and truth.

In the verses from Psalm 143 we find David praying for knowledge of the way wherein he should walk, and asking to be taught concerning God's will. He declares he is lifting up his soul unto God. Let it be noticed that though he prayed for deliverance from his enemies, he also prayed for himself, that he might be pure in God's sight.

Knowledge of God and conformity to his will are necessary to righteousness. Let us, like David of old, lift up our souls unto God, that we may know him in our hearts and be led every day in the way of truth.

So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them." Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 267): "The offspring of God start not from matter or ephemeral dust. They are in and of Spirit, divine Mind, and so forever continue."

Hunters Back But Mum's The Word

Four thousand and two hundred miles is the distance travelled by Bert McKinney, his faithful old hunting partner, Matt Powell, Dewey Cobb and Anthony Bonk, a former resident of Livonia, now of Dearborn, in their search for a good hunting place up in northwestern Ontario province where it is supposed all one has to do is pick out the big deer he wants, and let the rest of the herd go by.

A hasty check of their automobiles provided evidence of the fact that they apparently let nearly all of the deer they saw go by—as they returned from their long trek to through Duluth to the northern shores of Lake Superior and Lake Nipigon with only two deer and a quarter of another one.

When pressed for an explanation of why they didn't get their limit Hunter Powell said he wasn't doing any talking, but that it had been agreed that Bert McKinney would hold a press conference and tell all the whys and wherefores. At the stated hour for this conference with "the press", Spokesman McKinney was found fast asleep and his faithful wife declared that he had left orders not to be disturbed by any news hound. That's why there isn't more to tell about that four thousand, two hundred mile trip to get two deer and the hind quarter of another one.

Testing was supervised by Michigan State college in cooperation with the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

This cow was milked three times daily and was three years and five months old when she began her test period.

School Paint Brushes Bring Wierd Scenes to Plymouth Store Windows On Hallowe'en

Lose Something? Tell The Police

Something new has been added to problems for members of the local police department, according to Chief Lee Sackett. Not only the usual apprehension of culprits comprises part of the job, but now the local force is in the process of trying to find owners of articles that the culprits have stolen.

Three young men, recently apprehended for stealing articles from local car owners, were in possession of money, a camera and other small items which police would like to return to their rightful owners.

Since no complaints were made with the police department about the articles being stolen local officers wish residents that have lost things from their cars would come to the police station and perhaps some stolen articles might be returned to the rightful owner.

Anti-Commy Leader on Town Hall Soon

Adolphe Menjou, one of Hollywood's leading stars, will appear personally at Detroit Town hall at 11 a.m. Wednesday, November 9, in the Fisher theater.

Although Menjou is active in pictures, he comes to Town hall in the unusual role of a lecturer to tell of his experiences in the film capital where he is esteemed as a raconteur of wit and finesse.

The suave actor has weathered 30 years in Hollywood without a lessening of popularity. His most recent pictures are "My Dream is Yours", "The Hucksters", and "State of the Union." He is soon to be seen in Detroit in "Dancing in the Dark", with William Powell and Betsy Drake. Menjou and his wife, Verree Teasdale, a former Broadway star, entertain in a radio skit entitled "Mr. and Mrs." They are also seen often on television. Two years ago, Menjou's autobiography, "It Took Nine Tailors," appeared on the best seller lists.

Despite his continental manner and appearance, Menjou is a native American. He was educated at Culver Military academy and Cornell university. Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks gave Adolphe his first acting part in their famous picture, "The Three Musketeers." Just when he had won top rating in silent film, talking pictures came on the scene, and the Menjou voice proved to be exactly what the sound track wanted.

In World War II, Menjou curtailed his movie activities for a USO tour, returning after the war to make more movies. Along with his acting, he has been a leader in the campaign to purge the film colony of communists.

Author of "HOW TO WIN FRIENDS and INFLUENCE PEOPLE"

Be A Good Listener

HERE'S AN EXPERIENCE born of an effort to be a good listener. It was told me by Mary Goodness, Portland, Maine. This is a simple little story, but our lives—yours and mine—are made up mostly of simple little things, and it is the way you handle the simple little things that decides whether you are to be happy or unhappy.

CARNEGIE

Miss Goodness believed that being a good listener was an art in itself but she believed that few people had that ability. And she did not think of herself as one of them. She says she had as an example her own mother who not only listened courteously to others, but she became absorbedly interested in what they had to say, venturing only an "oh" or an "ah" at the proper moment, which seemed always to spur the speaker on. She had often envied her mother this charming trait, but since she felt it was a natural trait in her mother it had never occurred to her that it could be cultivated.

Somewhere along the line she heard a speaker say that this was a trait that not only could be cultivated but that it was not in the least difficult to cultivate it. So she set about finding out for herself.

She took as her objective one certain man whom she always had considered a bore. Getting him to talk wasn't difficult; this he was eager to do, particularly if he himself were the subject. Miss Goodness had in more than one instance talked with him only to find that he was off in a world of his own, paying no attention to what she was saying. At times he would bring his gaze back from the outer world to her to interrupt with some thought of his own, and not always relevant to the subject at hand. It wasn't that he was discourteous, he was just absent-mindedly coming back again, but always with his own interest foremost. Yes, he would be a splendid example for her test.

So she forced herself one day to listen to all he had to say, to listen closely, absorbedly, looking for something in his remarks that would prove truly interesting. Much to her amazement she found him very interesting. Being very well read he had given a great deal of thought to things that many people by-pass entirely.

Says Miss Goodness, "Aside from learning how to listen, and finding out what being a good listener can mean, I made a friend of this person and never has my time been spent to greater advantage than the hour I gave to learning how to be a good listener."

Column Relates 'Perfect Squelch'

Gloria Hoffman, daughter of Russell P. Hoffman who is president of Peerless Industries on North Territorial, got a write-up in H. C. L. Jackson's column in the Detroit News the other day about an experience while riding in a bus on her way to do some Saturday shopping. Fourteen-year-old Gloria, a student at Redford High school, sent her story to Mr. Jackson and received two letters from him which are now neatly tucked in her memory book.

The item from the Jackson column follows:

"Gloria Hoffman was in a packed bus the other day, and grew interested in the talk between two girls, one around 10 years old, the other, probably eight.

"Miss Ten was chatting along about her aunt's baby, and her latest boy friend, and even nose-plugs, and then she switched and said:

"Did you know that President Roosevelt died of old age?" "Miss Eight blurted: 'Who's he?'"

Harold Page Participates in Navy Maneuvers

Harold M. Page, quartermaster third class, USN, of 31800 West Chicago boulevard, Rosedale Gardens, is participating in the joint Army-Navy exercise, "Operation Miki," as a crew member of the submarine USS Cusk, which is one of the units under command of Vice Admiral Gerald F. Bogan's Western Task Force.

Primary objective assigned the 90 ships and 40,000 servicemen in Admiral Bogan's sea-air armada is the retaking of the Hawaiian Islands, theoretically in the hands of an aggressor force, by amphibious assault troops of the Army's Second Infantry division.

Lowrey Triumphs Over Local Lads With Bailey's 60 Yard TD Run

A 60 yard run by James Bailey for a touchdown and an extra point kick by Bob Rock gave Lowrey a 7-0 victory over Plymouth Friday, October 28.

This was the Rock's 16th gridiron loss in a row and seventh set-back of the season and Lowrey's only victory of the year. Only the Northville game tomorrow night stands between the locals and another season without a victory.

Lowrey kicked off to Plymouth and Ken Schaufele took it on his own five and bulled his way to the 25 yard line. From here Bill Burger scampered 26 yards but a penalty was called against the Rocks. After this there were several exchanges of punts.

In the second quarter Plymouth drove down to the Lowrey 30 yard line but because of penalties they lost the ball and did not score. Lowrey's passes

Shorts in Sports

Should Plymouth High school give up football? For two years Plymouth has had good coaching, but the Rocks have not won a game since 1947.

Plymouth, the second largest school in the league, has dropped games to small schools such as Belleville, Northville, Redford Union and Lowrey, which is only in their second year of football.

Last year Plymouth was beaten by Northville for the first time in several years. By the looks of things they are going to lose the game tomorrow night to the Mustangs.

Last week a few of the boys on the team broke training rules and did not dress for the Lowrey game. This was bad as these boys were generally in the starting lineup.

With the Plymouth teams losing as they are maybe it would be best to give up football for a few years.

Two years ago, Plymouth High was given a new lighted football field and new blue uniforms. Last year they were given new white uniforms and newer equipment, but still the Rock teams lose.

Although Plymouth has lost every game so far this season, it is always considered a good season if they beat Northville. Let's hope they do that trick this year.

Northville Mustangs And Plymouth Collide in Homecoming Game

Tomorrow night, Friday, the Plymouth Rocks play host to the Northville Mustangs on the local gridiron at 8 p.m., in hopes of winning at least one ball game this year. It will be Plymouth's homecoming game.

Last year the Rocks were subdued by the Northville Mustangs 20-7, for the first time that the Orange and Black had beaten Plymouth in quite a few years. The year before the Rocks roared through the Mustang line to win 50-0.

Northville boasts a record of four wins, one tie and two losses. The Rocks have a record of 0-7. The Mustangs' only two losses were to Brighton and Clarenceville.

Last Friday night Northville was edged out by Clarenceville 8-7 and Plymouth was beaten 7-0 by Dearborn-Lowrey. Although Northville may have a better record than Plymouth, they do not provide the tough competition as does the local team.

The loss to Clarenceville can be credited to Northville's punter, who while standing on his own five yard line kicked the ball back over his head into the Mustang end zone giving Clarenceville a touchdown and two points. Previous to this Northville had scored a touchdown and this made the score 7-2.

In the third quarter a Clarenceville player intercepted a Mustang pass and ran it to the Northville four yard line. On three plays he went over for a TD. On the third play the scorer just got his foot on pay dirt when he was hit by the whole Northville line and shoved back to the five yard line. The conversion attempt was blocked, making the score 8-7.

If Clarenceville had not kicked the touchdown, Northville would have won 7-6.

Ann Arbor Stops Ypsi Win Streak

Bowing to the Ann Arbor Pioneers Friday, October 28 the Ypsilanti Braves' streak of 35 consecutive games without a defeat was ended.

Playing at Island Park in Ypsi, the Braves were submerged 34-6. Previous to this game, Ypsilanti High boasted a record of 17 victories in a row. The Braves still maintain their 22 straight wins over league opponents, as Ann Arbor, a Class A school, is not in the league with Ypsi.

A crowd of approximately 5,500 people saw Ypsilanti writer to Hank Fonde's "Little Michigan" team. Ann Arbor, coached by the former Michigan football great, is headed for an undefeated season. The Pioneers are rated the second best Class A school in the state.

Although faltering to Ann Arbor, Ypsi gained more first downs than the victors, but the Pioneers made a net yardage of 135 to the Braves four yards.

The second quarter proved the deciding point of the game, as Ann Arbor rolled up 28 points, with four touchdowns and Sullivan kicking the four conversion points. In the second period Ypsi either fumbled the ball or juggled it on almost every offensive play.

The Braves scored their lone TD in the last period on a pass from Jones to Batterson.

Klein Defends Wrestling Title

Louis Klein defended his junior heavyweight title at Riverside arena Tuesday, October 25 by defeating his offender Tiger Jack Moore.

Tiger took the first fall by making Louie give with a hold on his neck by his knees. Curly haired Louie pulled his famous standing leg spread and took the second fall. In the final fall, Klein came out of his corner with a very grim look on his face and Moore with a look of fear. But Tiger took the offense and ruled the ring for awhile. With his arms around Louie, Moore pushed the champion into the corner but Klein sprung his feet against the turn buckle and Tiger landed on the mat with his feet around the neck of Louie and holding his shoulders to the mat. The referee made a count of three but it was not on Klein, it was on Tiger, whose shoulders were also flat on the mat.

In the preliminary bouts Steve Nimoff won over Walter Roxey and Gentleman Jim Dobbie defeated Pat O'Dowdy.

Until further notice there will be no more wrestling at Riverside arena on Tuesday nights. This is presumably because of the lack of attendance.

Ypsi Takes First in League Meet

Placing all seven of their men in the first 15 who scored, Ypsilanti easily took the league cross country championship Thursday, October 27.

Plymouth placed second in the league. The first year the league was organized, the local thin-clads won the championship, but since then they have finished in third or lower except for this year.

From the start of the two mile course, Davis of Belleville was in the lead and it was his race all the way. Wynn of Ypsilanti was expected to give Davis plenty of competition, but Wynn appeared to be tiring at the end.

The Plymouth boys made steady improvement to finish second in the league. Calvin Becker finished third in the race behind Davis and Wynn.

Following is the league standing:

1. Ypsilanti
2. Plymouth
3. Trenton
4. Belleville
5. Wayne
6. Redford Union

Reserves Boast Winning Record

Even if the Plymouth High varsity squad did have a losing record, the reserves maintained a winning margin.

The Plymouth reserve squad, under Coach John Sandmann, won three games while dropping only one. The only loss was to Ypsilanti 20-6 in their initial game of the season.

Plymouth emerged triumphant over Redford Union, Wayne and Belleville. The reserves victory over Wayne was the latter's only loss of the year. With only 20 boys on the squad, Sandmann's group of athletes did very well for themselves.

Of their three victories, they held their opponents scoreless on two occasions. The junior varsity squad rolled up 78 points to their opponents 32. This includes a 51-0 victory over Belleville.

Carter Stars in Wildcats Victory

Jackie Carter scored four TD's and Clifton Baum another as the Davis and Lent Wildcats rolled over the Hot Rods 33-6, Monday, October 24.

The Hot Rods lone TD was set up by a pass from Davis to Fulton for 21 yards. Three plays later Tommy Mastick scored on a ten yard run.

Other games in Class B was the Monarchs drubbing the Wolverines 28-0, with Danny Ward leading the way for the Monarchs. The Hot Rods won by a forfeit over the Wolverines, on Thursday, October 27 and Wolverines also forfeited to the Davis and Lent Wildcats on Monday, October 31.

In Class A on Wednesday, October 26, the Great Americans defeated the Firemen.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale McClain of Jackson will be the weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Henderson. On Saturday the Hendersons and their guests will attend the Michigan-Purdue game in Ann Arbor.

Mrs. Floyd Burgett and daughter, Judy Ann, Mrs. Carl Hartwick and daughter, Mary Lou, Mrs. Otto Beyer and Miss Amelia Gayde spent Friday in Monroe visiting Rev. and Mrs. George Ehnis.

Laurel Thompson Chooses All Blue For Saturday Evening Ceremony

Four bridal aides gowned in blue preceded Laurel Jean Thompson to the altar of the First Methodist church when she became the bride of Jay Lee Wetherholt on Saturday, October 29. The Rev. G. MacDonald Jones read the double ring service at 8 in the evening.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David P. Thompson of Newburg road, Plymouth, and Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon J. Wetherholt of Detroit are parents of the bridegroom.

Baskets of white gladioli and mums, palms and cathedral candelabra formed the setting for the candlelight ceremony. Accompanied by Mrs. Cora MacLeod, organist, Harvey Thompson sang "I Love You Truly" and "I Love Thee" by Greig. During the nuptial rites, the soloist presented "The Lord's Prayer."

As she repeated her vows, the bride wore a gown fashioned from ice blue slipper satin designed with fitted bodice buttoned to the waist with tiny covered buttons and a high neckline finished with a round collar embroidered in seed pearls. Ending in points at the wrists, the fitted sleeves repeated the same pearl design. The full hooped skirt fell in a circular train.

A cloche of ice blue satin and seed pearls held in place the bride's veil of matching silk illusion. Given in marriage by her father, she carried a Bible on which an orchid encircled with stephanotis rested.

As her maid of honor, the former Miss Thompson chose Christine Linderman of Inkster. Bridesmaids were Evelyn McSweeney and Shirley Sullivan of Dearborn. The attendants were gowned identically in light blue brocade satin styled along the same lines as the bridal gown. The maid of honor carried a heart shaped bouquet of pink roses while the bridesmaid's flowers were red roses in similar arrangements.

Cousins of the bride, Diane Silvester and Ernest Silvester, acted as flower girl and ring bearer, respectively. The flower girl wore light blue satin and carried pink roses in a heart-shaped bouquet.

To attend him as best man, the bridegroom asked Harry Gustkey. Completing the list of attendants were the ushers, Jack Lenzing and Kenneth Thompson.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Thompson chose a formal length gown in gold crepe accented by a corsage of bronze mums. A corsage of white mums complemented the rose gown worn by the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Wetherholt.

Following the ceremony 400 guests were received in the Newburg church hall for the reception honoring the newly weds. The guests present were from Plymouth, Detroit, Wayne, Mt. Pleasant, Lansing, Britton, Dearborn, Northville and Illinois.

A honeymoon to Washington, D. C. and New York City followed the Saturday evening wedding. For traveling, Mrs. Wetherholt chose a glen plaid suit, with a navy coat and matching accessories. Final touch was the orchid corsage she pinned to the shoulder of her coat.

After graduating from Fordson High school the bride attended Michigan State Normal college and is now studying at the Detroit Conservatory of Music. Mr. Wetherholt was graduated from General Motors Institute where he was affiliated with Gamma Ma Tau fraternity.

Upon returning from their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Wetherholt will be at home at 27426 Kurtzell avenue, Inkster.

Florida is Honeymoon Destination For Mr. and Mrs. James Ritchie

The First Presbyterian church was the setting for the evening ceremony Saturday, October 29, for the wedding of Doris Irene Cole and James A. Ritchie, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Ritchie of Northville. Dr. Henry J. Walch was the officiating minister.

Beauty baskets of white gladioli and mums were placed at the altar before a background of ferns, palms and lighted tapers.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph L. Cole of West Ann Arbor trail chose ivory satin for her wedding gown. The fitted bodice was accented by a yoke outlined in seed pearl design. The full circular skirt ended in a cathedral train. Embroidered in seed pearls a halo styled cap encircled the bride's fingertip veil of illusion. A colonial arrangement of white mums was centered by an orchid for the bride's bouquet.

As her attendants, the bride asked Mrs. Harvey Ritchie to be matron of honor and as bridesmaid she chose her cousin, Miss Marcia Hartung of Adrian.

Dusty rose taffeta fashioned the matron of honor's gown. Mrs. Ritchie carried a bouquet of chrysanthemums in shades from lavender to rose and wore matching flowers in her hair.

A gown styled identical to the matron of honor's in aqua taffeta was worn by Miss Hartung for her duties as bridesmaid. Variegated yellow chrysanthemums formed her colonial bouquet. Her headpiece was made of yellow mums.

Richard Ritchie attended his brother as best man, and the guests were seated by Harvey Ritchie, brother of the bridegroom and Jack Hartung of Adrian, the bride's cousin.

With her toast brown crepe dress Mrs. Cole, the bride's mother, wore brown accessories and a corsage of yellow mums.

Following the candlelight ceremony 175 guests were received in the church parlors. Presiding at the reception were the bride's two grandmothers, Mrs. Alvina Cole and Mrs. Marie Hartung. Guests were present from Northville, Wayne, Detroit, Adrian and Monroe.

Mr. and Mrs. Ritchie traveled to Tampa, Florida for their two week honeymoon. When they return to Plymouth they will reside at 607 Pine street.

Raymond Lawrence acted as best man. The ushers duties were carried out by Edwin Taylor and Walter Sommerman, the bridegroom's brother.

A pink carnation corsage accented the green dress worn by the bride's mother, Mrs. Anderson. Also wearing pink carnations was the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Sommerman. She was attired in a teal dress.

One hundred guests were asked to a reception at the home of the bride's parents after the ceremony. Out of town guests were present from Detroit, Adrian and Lapeer.

After returning from a wedding trip to Niagara Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Sommerman will make their home on Haggerty highway.

Nuptials Unite Neva Anderson and Mr. Sommerman Friday Evening

Nuptial vows were exchanged by Neva M. Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Anderson, and Edward Sommerman, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Sommerman, at an evening wedding Friday, October 28 in the First Baptist church.

Before an altar decorated with white mums, palms, and lighted tapers, the Rev. Benjamin Eicher read the marriage rites. Wedding music included "At Dawning" and "The Lord's Prayer" sung by Mrs. Gale Kinc. She was accompanied by Miss Melissa Roe, organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride appeared in a teal blue suit with cocoa accessories. She carried a white Bible topped with white roses and baby mums.

To be her maid of honor, the bride asked her niece, Leona J. Deeg. For the wedding Miss Deeg chose a beige suit with brown accessories. Her flowers were bronze and yellow baby mums.

Patricia Kehoe Says Vows in Our Lady of Good Counsel Rites preceded the bride to the altar. She wore a gown of American beauty taffeta and carried a bouquet of yellow carnations.

The bride asked Mary Jane Dely, sister of the bridegroom, and Clara Simonetti to attend her as bridesmaids. Miss Dely chose a blue chiffon gown and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Wearing a gown of yellow chiffon, Miss Simonetti carried blue carnations.

Duties of the best man were performed by Frederick Korte, Louis J. Dely and Norman Shaugh seated the guests.

A hunter's green dress with maroon accessories and corsage of white carnations was worn by the bride's mother, Mrs. Kehoe, while Mrs. Dely appeared in a navy blue dress with a corsage of white carnations.

The Wayne County Conservation clubhouse was the scene of the reception in the evening. One hundred and fifty guests were present to extend their congratulations to the newly wed couple.

Niagara Falls was the destination of Mr. and Mrs. Dely when they left the reception for their honeymoon. For traveling Mrs. Dely selected a full suit in hunter's green. She wore black accessories and a corsage of white roses.

The home address of Mr. and Mrs. Dely is 264 North Harvey.

Church decorations included baskets of white mums and vases of white mums placed at the altar.

For her wedding, the bride chose a white satin gown styled along colonial lines with yoke of illusion, edged in ruffled lace, and a full skirt shirred in front. A fingertip veil of illusion was held in place by a tiara of pearl orange blossoms. The bride carried an arm bouquet of white roses.

Maid of honor, Delores D'Arcy, J. J. Stone, of Detroit.

No Guesswork in Buying Chicken With These Pointers on Poultry

There will be very little guesswork about buying and serving chicken for Plymouth homemakers who take advantage of these latest tips on the subject.

General Hints on Buying
You can tell young birds from mature ones by pressing the end of the breastbone. Young birds have flexible breastbones. In mature birds they are firm.

"New York dressed" poultry has head and feet on, is not plucked, but feathers are removed.

"Eviscerated" poultry is fully drawn and ready to cook, except when the lungs remain. Remove lungs before cooking.

The actual cost per serving is about the same for New York dressed and eviscerated poultry. You pay for dressing and drawing in both cases.

Regardless of the type you buy, or how it is prepared, you can count on chicken as a good source of protein, minerals, the vitamin nicotinic acid, and small amounts of riboflavin and thiamine.

Broilers
Broilers are available most of the year, with heavy supplies from July through September. Buy birds weighing not over 2 1/2 pounds, with smooth, thin skins and flexible breastbones. A small amount of fat under the skin indicates quality. Have your butcher remove the backbone, and save it to cook with the giblets. One serving takes from one-quarter to one-half a bird.

Fryers
Fryers are usually in good supply from July to November, but are available most of the year. As with broilers, the best birds have thin, smooth skins and flexible breastbones, but should weigh from 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 pounds. After cutting into pieces, chill thoroughly before frying. Plan to use three-fourths to 1 pound per serving.

Roasters
The best roaster season is from September to January. A quality roasting bird has a flexible breastbone tip, and layers of fat under a thin, waxy skin. Meaty birds of 3 1/2 pounds or more are large enough to be roasted whole. Have your butcher remove leg tendons and feet, and draw the bird. One serving takes from one-half to three-fourths pound.

Stewing Fowl
Stewing fowl, the heaviest birds of 3 pounds and over, are available most any time. Utility chickens, they are good braised, stewed, in sandwiches, salads or chicken pie.
A heavy fat layer under the skin indicates quality. From one-quarter to three-fourths pound of meat makes one serving. A 4-pound bird yields about 2 1/2 cups of cooked meat for salad or for creaming.

A Few Reminders
Poultry is a very perishable food. It must be kept cold before cooking, and chilled after cooking if not eaten promptly. Cooked chicken should be used within three days. After that it tends to dry out and develop an "old" flavor.

Unfrozen fresh chickens may be kept uncooked up to 1 1/2 days if loosely wrapped in wax paper and stored in the coldest part of the refrigerator. Frozen chicken should not be refrozen after thawing, but cooked immediately.

The secret of all methods of cooking chicken is slow cooking at low to moderate temperatures until well done. Slow cooking insures less shrinkage, better texture, better flavor and more attractive meat.

GROUND BEEF ROLLS
For a different ground beef dish, combine meat with pastry in this manner. Roll pastry dough to about 1/8-inch thickness. Brown ground beef with chopped onion in a small amount of lard, then combine with mashed potato moistened with mashed potato moistened beaten egg. Spread the filling on the pastry and roll, then slice into 2-inch pieces and bake on a greased pan in a 400° F. oven for about 30 minutes. Serve meat rolls with a spicy barbecue sauce or mushroom sauce.

A heap of ill-chosen erudition is but the luggage of antiquity. —Balzac

Today's Recipes

PUMPKIN CHIFFON PIE

- 1 9-inch baked pie shell
- 1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
- 1/4 cup cold water
- 4 egg yolks
- 1/2 cup light brown sugar

- 1/2 teaspoon ginger
- 1/2 teaspoon allspice
- 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
- 4 egg whites
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 cup whipping cream
- 2 tablespoons confectioners' sugar

Soak gelatin in cold water for 5 minutes. Beat egg yolks for brown sugar until thick; add pumpkin, milk, salt and spices. Cook in double boiler until thick. Add gelatin softened in cold water stirring until dissolved. Cool. Beat egg white until stiff; add half cup sugar. Fold into curd. Pour into baked pie shell and chill. Whip cream and add confectioners' sugar. Spread over pie. Sprinkle with chopped nuts.

SAUSAGE-RICE-TOMATOES

- 1 pound sausage links
- 3 tablespoons water
- 1 No. 2 can or 2 1/2 cups cooked tomatoes
- 1 1/2 cups cooked rice
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon chopped onion
- 2 teaspoons ground sage
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper

Place sausage links in frying pan. Add water, cover and simmer five minutes. Remove cover and cook until links are browned. Use sausage drippings to grease a casserole. Reserve 3 tablespoons of the drippings and combine with tomatoes, rice, salt, onion, sage and pepper. Place mixture in the greased casserole. Arrange browned sausage links on top of mixture. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 30 minutes. 4 to 6 servings.

QUICK CASSEROLE

When your menu calls for a quick casserole, here's a suggestion. Make up a smooth cream sauce, add one cup of grated American cheese and stir until the cheese is melted. Add 3 tablespoons of chopped pimiento, 1/2 pound of finely cut dried beef (use kitchen scissors) and 1/2 pound noodles that have been cooked. Season the mixture, then pour it into a greased casserole and sprinkle buttered bread crumbs over the top. Bake the casserole in a moderate oven (350° F.) for about 30 minutes.

Successful Parenthood

BY MRS. CATHERINE CONRAD EDWARDS
Associate Editor, Parents' Magazine

THESE days, it's a rare school-boy or girl who doesn't have some absorbing sideline interest. Visit almost any home in the land and you'll find a bookworm, a chemistry bug, a collector of records, a star-gazer, or a youthful mechanic. And a fine thing, too. Out of these fascinating hobbies often come lifetime careers—or at least avocations that enrich one's leisure time.

But there's even more to be gleaned from such activities. Properly guided, our boys and girls can broaden their outlooks and develop social understanding through many of their hobbies. But we'll save to there to show them the way.

Take the young "star-gazer," for example. As he studies the mysteries of the skies, he begins to realize the majesty of vast spaces and the wonder of the planets. He can sense the contrast between the discord and upheaval among people and nations on this earth and the glorious, orderly universe that was created by a greater power. He can begin to understand how petty and stupid prejudices are—and how much better off we'd be if we devoted our energies to getting along with our neighbors instead of finding fault with them. He can—if we give him just that little push into thinking such thoughts as he looks through his telescope. Or suppose we had a chemist enthusiast in the family. As he delves into his hobby, he'll meet up with blood chemistry. Does he realize that almost every minute, in hospitals around the world, people are receiving blood transfusions from other people of every kind? Whose blood went into those veins? Nobody knows or cares.

Rich folks and poor, black, white and yellow-skinned, Protestants, Catholics, Jews, Mohammedans and Buddhists they give blood and they receive it. Red corpuscles are the same in any language. Our lives may be saved by anyone, of any race or creed, whose "blood type" matches our own. Here is a potent lesson in brotherhood. Let's point it out.

No matter what your youngster's hobby, there is more to be drawn out of it than just the hobby itself. See how you can link it up with his daily life. Try to tie it in with the ideals he needs to develop as he grows up. Then pass your thoughts along. They'll bear good fruit in the years ahead.

This is the affirmative approach, but we have to guard against negative influences too. A wise lady once said, "A child will absorb narrow prejudices and intolerances just as quickly as newly churned butter will absorb bad odors." We can spare our children that, if we will but try.

Hearty Dinner Ideal For Brisk Autumn Weather

Following an exciting afternoon at a football game, hearty hot food will be widely welcomed, suggested here is an after-game dinner treat of flavorful spareribs baked with a mashed sweet potato stuffing.

To give the stuffing additional interest the sweet potatoes are combined with raisins and seasoned with ginger and cinnamon. The mixture is then spread on one section of spareribs, topped with the second section and baked uncovered on a rack in a moderate oven (350° F.) for two hours. Spareribs are cut into individual ribs for serving. If the spareribs are served for an after-game dinner the spareribs may be cooked in advance, stored in refrigerator and reheated just before serving.

Or spareribs can be braised in a tangy barbecue sauce. The ribs are browned in hot lard or drippings, the barbecue sauce added, the pan tightly covered and the meat allowed to cook slowly for about one hour.

Hard rolls or French bread combine nicely with either stuffed or barbecued ribs. For flavor contrast serve chilled assorted relishes. Mincemeat filled baked apples topped with whipped cream will be a choice dessert.

Fruit, Vegetable Supply Predicted

Here is how the supply situation of several fruits and vegetables looks for Plymouth homemakers as summarized by A. B. Love of the Michigan State college agricultural economics department:

Oranges - Grapefruits—Supply is below last year and expected to continue short. Prices may remain fairly reasonable to meet competition of other crops. Apples—A bumper crop, particularly of Michigan apples. Prices are very reasonable, and for excellent quality fruit. Bananas—A short supply, meaning high price. Pears—In good supply, reasonably priced. Grapes—A bumper crop and low prices.

Potatoes—Generally average supply, although about 20 percent less than last year. Prices during most of the winter will probably be reasonable. Lettuce—The fall crop is 15 percent below last year, but still above the average. The price trend is high. Onions—A short crop this year, about 16 percent below average. Michigan onions are mostly small sized. Carrots—Another short crop. Price ranges will be higher than last year.

Vegetables in general are not in good supply. In addition to those above, fresh peas, spinach and celery supplies will be short. This means shoppers will have to be especially alert in making fresh vegetable selections to get the most for their money this year.

Gives Surprise Stuffing to Aid Meal Interest

Add a new touch to an old dish and the family is certain to take renewed interest. An example suggested by Reba Staggs, home economist, is adding chopped tart apple to a favorite bread stuffing. This is an especially tempting combination to bake between two slices of ham.

Cooked chopped prunes, apricots or raisins make a colorful surprise stuffing for plump rib pork chops or for a cushion-style pork shoulder. Tart cranberries add still another distinct touch to stuffing. They are first chopped, then cooked in fat before being added to a bread dressing.

Canadian-style bacon offers an opportunity for clever individual fruit-stuffed servings. Sweet pineapple slices are added to bread stuffing that goes between two slices of the bacon. The slices are skewered to keep the stuffing securely inside, then slowly baked.

BLANKET FRANKS

For youngsters' eating enjoyment, try the blanket franks. First, make up corn meal batter. Then meat washers skewers into one end of the frankfurters and roll in the corn meal mixture. Drop the franks into deep hot lard (350° F.) and fry until well browned.

YOUR OLD TRUCK MAY TRADE FOR $25 TO $200 MORE THAN YOU THINK

THESE FOLKS MADE MONEY ON A FORD TRUCK TRADE!

Why Don't You?

"My old truck was just about ready for retirement, so when I heard about the big trade-in allowances my Ford Dealer was making, I decided to deal. If I had waited a few months longer, I would have had to take a couple of hundred dollars less for my old truck." —Roy Gigi.

"When I decided to trade in my old truck, I did a little shopping around to see how good a deal I could make. The best deal was at Ford! My old truck brought me $75 more from my Ford Dealer than it would have at three other places." —Ben Fleischman.

"My old truck was facing some big repair bills. So, when I heard that my Ford Dealer was making big trade-in allowances, I went down to see. In addition to a dandy allowance, I figure I made a fast $200 on a Ford Truck trade. Used truck prices were slipping so fast that in 90 days, the kind of truck I traded in was selling for $200 less." —Leonard Dobie.

"When I heard my Ford Dealer was making the best truck deals in town, I decided to check. I made up my mind on the spot, and I'm tickled pink I did. Used truck values have slipped in the last three months, so that I figure my quick thinking and fast action got me at least $175 extra on a Ford Truck trade." —Andrew Ligoski.

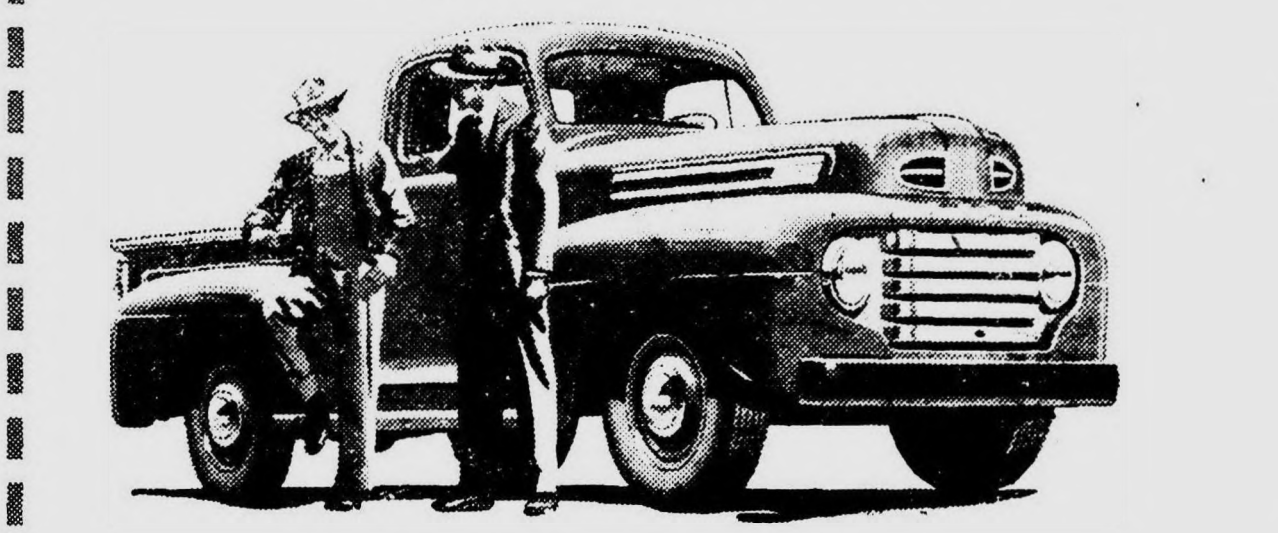

"When he topped the best previous offer by $100, my Ford Dealer proved he was making the best truck deals in town. But that isn't all! I figure I made another $150 by trading rather than waiting because used truck values were slipping so fast." —Sam Persten.

Achievement Day Slated Next Week

The Wayne County Home Demonstration Council will hold their 28th annual achievement day on Wednesday, November 9 at the Wayne County Training school at Northville, 2005 Sheldon road.

Mrs. Alpheus Dugan of the Hale group, Romulus, will be chairman of the program by virtue of her office as president of the executive committee. Mrs. Dugan announces that the program will start at 10:45 in the morning with a welcome to 100 women of the Canadian Women's institute, who will be the honored guests of the day. The theme for the day's program is "World Understanding".

The Home Demonstration Council has engaged as speaker for the afternoon program Mrs. Margaret M. Bravton, curator of Children's museum in Detroit. Miss Bravton is also chairman of an international committee on children's museums and has attended UNESCO meetings in Paris, France and Mexico City, and has received a great deal of notice in library circles for her unusual work she has done in the 20 years she has served as curator of the Children's Museum in Detroit. From 1922 to 1927 she served as a missionary in China and has the distinction of fleeing as a refugee down the Yangtze river at the time Chiang Kai-Shek was making his first stand against the communists. Mrs. Bravton's subject will be "Down With the Barriers".

The women who have tailored suits and coats during the year's project work will stage a dress revue of their accomplishments at 2 in the afternoon, and slip covers, rugs and other articles made, will also be exhibited. There will be recognition of four leaders who will be awarded home demonstration pins in recognition of their past records by the county agricultural agent, P. R. Biebesheimer. Herbert A. Love is an image of God, and not a lifeless image, but the living essence of the divine nature which beams full of all goodness. —Martin Luther

A couple of Alabama men have developed a bricklaying machine that can lay 2,000 to 3,000 chunks of Irish confetti in an 8-hour day. That would sure eliminate a lot of hod work. At present the unions usually figure that 500 bricks a day is a full chore for a mortar man. The machine sets up 8 bricks at a time, and can work on single or double walls, square or round columns, roads or sidewalks. It covers more territory than a new salesman. The mechanical monster would speed up building and promises to save up to 100 million dollars a year in building costs. It sure sounds mighty constructive.

A Lecture
on Christian Science
Entitled
Christian Science: It Reveals Man's Dominion over Evil
by
Robert Stanley Ross, C.S.B. of New York, New York

Members of the Board of Lecturership of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts

The lecturer spoke substantially as follows:

If you were to enter an unlighted room, you would probably feel a bit uncertain about your surroundings. Unable in the darkness to locate objects in the room, you might, in turning about, come upon a chair. But by turning on a light the uncertainty would disappear, the objects in the room would become plainly visible, and the danger of moving about would be gone.

To mankind as a whole, human experience is much like being in an unlighted room. Unable to see their way clearly in the uncertainty of material sense, men are fearful and believe themselves liable to disappointment and danger, sorrow and pain. But once they learn through the teaching of Mary Baker Eddy how to turn on the light of spiritual understanding, the darkness and uncertainty, the disappointment and danger, the sorrow and pain, begin to fade out of the mental picture. They begin to learn that human problems are not so much outward conditions to be struggled with, as they are unreal mental concepts to be dispelled by knowing the truth about God and His wholly good, wholly spiritual creation as recorded in the Scriptures.

In other words, students of Christian Science are learning that there is a sure and living way out of human want and woe. This way is the Christ-way, the way exemplified by Christ Jesus, who came to show that obedience to divine law, the law based upon perfect God and perfect man, frees mankind from the supposed presence and power of evil. The Psalmist said, "Great peace have they which love thy law; and nothing shall offend them."

Unity of Love and Law

Because the spirit of our time is peculiarly scientific, you can readily see how the appearing of practical or scientific religion was inevitable. It would come because a practically-minded world was ready to receive it. Many years ago, I heard a speaker say that the world's social, political, and economic unrest would experience no lasting relief until the scientific demand and the spiritual need were satisfied in a religion that is science and a science that is religion. In the light of healings all over the world, there should be little room for doubt that this unity of science and religion is Christian Science, revealing the liberating law of God, infinite good, even that law which Paul refers in the words, "The law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath made me free from the law of sin and death."

For the very consciousness of modern times is woven this idea of law, and by law we mean that under certain conditions particular results will be brought about in a particular way. Law signifies also that nothing occurs without a cause and that a given cause will always produce a given effect. Law means mode of action, presupposing some force or potency outside itself. It indicates the way in which the potency may be expected to manifest itself.

However, there are some persons, religious and otherwise, who object to Christian Science because its teaching and practice are based upon fixed rules. They argue that they have their right to think and act independently of rules of any sort. But, my friends, let us consider, for example, how this line of reasoning would work out with reference to the science of numbers. Would those same persons object to the fixed rule that two times two makes four, instead of five, seven, nine, or whatever else they might find it convenient to believe? Does it mean that two makes five, seven, nine, or whatever else, because of the individuality of thought, circumstance, or freedom of action, or make one the automaton of a system? I need not tell you that such reasoning would only lead to chaos and confusion. Similarly the fear, sickness, and self-indulgence that seem to be so rampant in the present-day world are the result of unspiritual, unscientific thinking instead of thinking that is in accord with undeviating divine Principle.

There are other persons who hesitate about embracing Christian Science because they fear that it would deprive them of things which they would like to have and do. But let me assure you that Christian Science is not a dull, drab, colorless religion. It is not a religion of negations and inhibitions. On the contrary, Christian Science shows one how to grapple with and effectually overcome the wrong thinking or material-mindedness which alone leads to sickness and unhappiness, frustration and failure. To be sure Christian Science is exacting in much the same way that mathematics is exacting; but who ever heard of obedience to mathematical law depriving one of anything, out of the discord and confusion due to numerical mistakes? Obedience to spiritual law is not bondage, but liberty—a truth which holds good throughout the entire realm of legitimate human endeavor.

Some time ago, for example, a fearful mother attended a lecture on Christian Science. She had left her small child at home on account of an illness that had resisted all efforts to overcome it. She said that the situation had then become desperate. Among other stimulating things, she heard the lecturer say that parents needed to give their loved ones to God. This, she felt, needed to be done. She said that her child was either sick or well, or that he is at war on land or at sea, or up in the air, but that he is in God's hands—always incorporated, always spiritual, hence always safe in the secret place of the Most High; the awareness of the divine ever-presence of the kingdom of heaven. Later the mother said that she had hurried home, only to hurry back to report with joy and gratitude that she had found the child well. Was not this convincing proof that Christian Science is scientific and demonstrable?

Discovery and Discoverer

Now, the Bible (the New Testament) in particular teaches Christian Science implicitly but not explicitly, in general but not in particular. Had the revelation been the case, the art of Christian healing need not have been lost to the world for so many centuries. However, in accord with prophetic expectation, the full and explicit record of this Science and its appearance in the latter half of the nineteenth century. It came by way of the only person who was spiritually prepared to receive as well as to expound it. That person was Mary Baker Eddy, the beloved Discoverer of Christian Science and author of the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures."

To those of you who may be unacquainted with her background, let me say that Mrs. Eddy was born of an illustrious ancestry. She spent her childhood and youth in a home that was permeated by high moral and spiritual ideals. She grew to womanhood in an atmosphere impregnated with political independence and freedom of thought. Inevitably, these exalting influences helped to mold the character and direct the career of the coming Discoverer of Christian Science. Endowed with keen intellectual ability and impelled by an intense spiritual longing, trained in the school of adversity and purified in the furnace of affliction—all of these influences helped to prepare Mary Baker Eddy for the reception of what she later referred to on page 107 of Science and Health as "this final revelation of the absolute divine Principle of scientific mental healing."

By referring to the closing chapter of Mrs. Eddy's notable book, as well as to the Christian Science Sentinel (weekly) and The Christian Science Journal (monthly), you will find authenticated testimonies by persons from nearly every walk of life who were healed by Christian Science after either material medicine or humanly mental methods, or both had proved to be inadequate. In view of these and other benefits which have accrued to them through her teaching and example, should anyone wonder why the hearts of Christian Scientists overflow with gratitude to this great woman? Christian Scientists neither deny nor worship Mrs. Eddy; but they do reverently accord her the honor that is rightfully due her as the Discoverer of Christian Science and Leader of the benevolent, world-wide movement which she established. Would any fair-minded person have them do otherwise?

Through her rare spiritual insight, Mrs. Eddy has given to mankind the true interpretation of Jesus' teaching. She has defined the nature of God and man as divine Principle and divine idea. She has established the Church of Christ, Scientist, on the demonstration of Love's healing and saving power. With extraordinary wisdom, she has ordained the Bible and the Christian Science textbook as the only pastors of the Christian Science denomination, thereby skillfully avoiding the pitfalls of conflicting opinion and personal interpretation and clearing the way for the reign and rule of world-wide, unified Christian Science. Writing on page 25 of Science and Health, Mrs. Eddy says: "Our church is built on the divine Principle, Love. We can unite with this church only as we are new-born of Spirit, as we reach the Life which is Truth and the Truth which is Life by bringing forth the fruits of Love—casting out error and healing the sick."

Unreality of Evil

Now, the Bible tells us that God, infinite good, created man in His own image and likeness, thereby endowing His infinite idea with dominion over the entire earth that is, over the entire belief in a material or suppositional sense of existence. But, are you acquainted with anyone who is adequately experiencing this God-given dominion? Instead, do you not find that most persons are still the more or less helpless victims of fear and worry, wrongdoings and sickness, while at the same time, they believe in the reality of the unreal; they still believe that there can be something else, in addition to, or besides the all-presence and all-power of God good. This belief in the reality of matter or material sense means bondage to an unreal master—bondage to that which has no basis save in error's false claim to be mind opposed to God, infinite good.

Scanning recently the headlines of a metropolitan newspaper, I came upon an item which especially arrested my attention. It said that in a particular American city a man became the victim of convulsions while at his place of business. Solicitous friends had him hurried to a local hospital, where he haltingly told attendants that, during the preceding night, he had swallowed while asleep a bridge of artificial teeth. Although the hospital authorities assured him—following an X-ray examination—that there were no teeth in his mouth, the convulsions continued. An hour or two later, however, the man's wife appeared with the news that she had found the teeth at home where her husband must have left them the night before. This announcement quickly dispelled the man's fear; whereupon the convulsions ceased. Soon he and his wife were happily on their way home.

God Is Good

According to Christian Science, Jesus came to teach mankind that God, the divine Principle of being, is changeless Love; that God's will is His creation; and therefore invariably good; and that the only way to prove this to be true is by freeing ourselves and others from the fears, discords, and other limitations of so-called material sense. Baffled by the seeming prevalence of evil, however, the world, taken as a whole, has sought to explain its helplessness by assuming that evil either proceeds from God, or is permitted by Him. This tragic mistake has tended to shut out the hope that salvation includes freedom from bodily suffering, here as well as hereafter. But Jesus not only said that Christians should heal the sick as he did, but he said that their ability to do so would be the measure of their Christian citizenship.

Pointing to the scientific nature of this healing and saving power, the Master said, "If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed; and ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free." According to this statement, there was to be nothing mysterious, supernatural about Christian healing. On the contrary, it was to be the natural and inevitable effect of understanding the truth about God and man—the truth that existence is spiritual, harmonious, and changeless. Instead of teaching that the only way to be thoroughly happy was to be thoroughly dead, Jesus taught his students to exercise now man's divine right of dominion over the mesmeric belief of existence apart from God. When he said, "The kingdom of God is within you," Jesus indicated plainly that heaven or hell was not a place to be entered through the doorway of death (the Bible refers to death as an enemy), but by habitually acknowledging the omnipresence of God, who is infinite Life and Truth and Love, and of man as His omnipresent idea. Is not this true prayer?

If, for example, you had a mine from which you could at will procure precious gold, you would not pray for gold. Instead, you would confidently help yourself to that which you know is already yours in abundance. Similarly, the Christian Scientist does not petition God for what the infinite good has already bestowed upon the infinite idea, or divine likeness, in words of the parable so graphically employed by Jesus, Christian Science declares that the divine Principle is saving to all of us all the time, whether we are aware of it or not. "Son, thou art ever with me, and all that I have is thine." Therefore, the Christian Scientist's prayer of petition and affirmation is for the humility, wisdom, and love that will enable him to throw off the sense-dream of both pleasure and pain in matter and to rejoice over spiritual man's oneness with God, infinite good.

Divine Law Always Available

No doubt many of you can recall trials, disappointments, and failures which seemed to be utterly beyond your ability to control. But, was that because those experiences were in accord with divine law? Was it because they were inevitable? No; it was due in part to human ignorance of the fictitious nature of all material experience, whether classified as materially bad or materially good. It was due in part also to human ignorance of the Science which would have enabled you to cope successfully with the material pictures—mistakenly called material conditions—by invoking the law of harmony or ever-present good. This law of infinite substance, omnipresent Spirit, or all-pervading Love, is universal in its scope and application. Although not yet generally understood, it has always been available to everyone, at all times, and under all circumstances.

For example: Several years ago, a friend of mine decided to build a week-end house at a wooded spot several miles from his home and business. During the building process, he made frequent trips to the site in order to see that the work was being done according to plan. One of these trips occurred later than usual, after the workmen had quit for the day. The owner therefore found himself alone in the unfinished house. While walking about in the semidarkness, the end of a loose plank gave way and led him down into a large, half-buried furnace pipe the opening of which the plank was supposed to be safely covering. In every way, the predicament seemed so desperate that my friend became very much afraid. But the more he feared, the tighter his body became fixed against the pipe. Soon, he was unable to move.

After several minutes of this self-misericism of fear and helplessness, my friend concluded that it was high time for him to put into practice what he had learned in Christian Science about divine law. Accordingly, in the very midst of all this, he began to assure himself that he was not in the least afraid; that in the infinity of good there was no fear, nothing to be afraid of, and no one susceptible to fear nor any other frailty; that no circumstance, however threatening, could becloud his thinking nor prevent him from invoking in his own behalf the law of infinite Spirit, omnipresent good. Again and again, he prayerfully acknowledged that, although to personal sense he was in the wrong place, in fact and in truth he was in his right place—that is, in the presence of and at-one with God, ever-present good. Quickly the fear subsided, his body relaxed and he was able to work his way back to the floor above. Like Paul, he had learned that supposed physical conditions could be changed by the renewing of the mind, or spiritual understanding.

According to appearance, of course the material universe includes innumerable persons and things, all of which are supposed to exist quite apart from one's own mentality or consciousness. However, the teaching of Christian Science is making it clear that without human mentality or consciousness there would be to one no material universe, no personal sense of existence, no problems. This teaching declares that whoever and wherever one plays a part in one's life is one's own exclusive mental experience. Accordingly, it is in the realm of belief, mentality, or consciousness that one's problems must be solved. We need to keep this clearly in view when considering the nature of Christian Science practice; for how otherwise, could we reasonably expect a spiritually mental treatment to change anything? Does spiritual understanding launch forth into space and come to grips with material persons, circumstances, and things? No; spiritual understanding dispels false concepts and reveals the true view of the spiritual universe, including man.

Changeable Conditions

We know, for example, that a moving picture could not be changed by doing something to what we see on the screen. Why? Because what we see on the screen is not cause but effect. To be sure the picture could be changed, but only by going to the cause, which would be the film itself. Similarly, what seem to be material conditions, whether they be what we call the material body or what we call the material world, are actually concepts of suppositional mortal mind. And finite concepts are changed only through the recognition and acceptance of the one infinite Mind and its reflection.

To illustrate, only recently a successful saleswoman who was working on a commission basis found her receipts steadily falling off. Upon prayerful investigation, she learned that others in her department had become resentful because so many more patrons had turned to her than to them. The outcome was that they were enviously leagued against her. Now, this particular saleswoman was a wide-awake Christian Scientist. She therefore methodically analyzed the situation and came to the conclusion that only through thought or mentality could she be changed. She saw also that the only way a humanly mental problem could be solved was by spiritually mental means—that is, by invoking divine law, the law based upon perfect God and perfect man, upon perfect Principle and perfect idea.

The occasion of what to do is not a difficult one for an energetic couple to answer.

"We'll go in the tourist business," they decided—and we'll pick out a spot where the tourist business is bound to keep growing.

Like all loyal Michiganders, they had made frequent long trips about their native state. They liked the Upper Peninsula—and it was there they decided to make a venture into business for themselves.

A beautiful spot lying along the shores of Whitefish Bay some 30 or 35 miles directly north of St. Ignace and about two miles west of a little community known as Brimley and famed in the early days of the Upper Peninsula as a lumbering center, was selected as the site of their dream-tourist-inn.

The first year saw quite a bit accomplished. The second year, considerably more. The main lodge was completed and several cabins built. The third year saw more cabins finished, with road and ground improvements.

Former Plymouth Residents Like Tourist Camp Business

Mrs. Elmer J. Wieland

It is not all work in a successfully managed tourist camp in the Upper Peninsula. Both Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Wieland find time to enjoy some of the pleasures that others travel far to find.

"We love it and we're busy every minute" asserted Mrs. Elmer Wieland, well known former resident of Plymouth when "The Roving Wolverine" of The Plymouth Mail staff made a surprise call at "Elmer's Place," a new tourist and sportsmen's camp the Wielands started a little over three years ago way up in the Upper Peninsula on the southern tip of Whitefish bay that jets inland from Lake Superior.

Mrs. Wieland, a daughter of Mrs. Josephine Hammond of 558 Ann street and a graduate of the Plymouth High school, lived in Wayne for a short time after her marriage to Mr. Wieland, a former employee of the Stinson Aircraft corporation.

When the Stinson corporation was gobbled up and moved to an eastern city, the Wielands decided not to leave the state they both like so well.

The PLYMOUTH MAIL

Fair in the Light of Memory Shines

BY ELTON R. EATON

A few weeks ago there appeared in The Plymouth Mail a picture of the little lake that Herman Bakhaus has created on his farm out on Territorial road. Six or seven years ago the site of "Bakhaus lake" was nothing more than a swamp hole, lying along side the road, where water usually stood during the late fall and early spring. Some wet seasons, there would be water there the year around.

"Farmer" Bakhaus had read something about farm fish ponds becoming popular throughout the East and South. So he hired a steam shovel to do some excavating and now any day that this city-farmer wants some freshly caught bluegills or perch for dinner, all he has to do is go down to his little lake, fish a half hour or so and he has a nice mess of bluegills on his stringer.

The Department of Interior a few days ago sent to newspapers an interesting article on the rapid development of farm fish ponds throughout the country. Because of the general local interest in the subject, our Michigan column is devoting this week's space to this highly interesting article. It follows:

Farm fish ponds provide increased opportunity for recreational fishing, the Fish and Wildlife Service of the U. S. Department of the Interior reports. Thousands of farm fish ponds are being established throughout the various states, but they barely keep ahead of the demands made upon our fishing resources by the increased activity of sport fishermen.

Conservative estimates are that fishing attracts more than 20 million individuals or more than any other single sport. Besides the $28,000,000 a year spent for fishing licenses, the sport is a billion dollar a year business in the way of fishing equipment and related expenses.

In spite of the importance of hook and line fishing, the amount of available waters suitable for fishing has gradually decreased. The pressure of civilization has progressively destroyed habitat—due to silt in the water resulting from deforestation and unwise farm practices, and to such factors as industrial pollution of waters. With the gradual introduction of artificial impoundments to provide adequate water for cattle—and for other purposes—new habitat was created for fish. Now farm fish ponds have become of great importance from the point of view of anglers.

In the last few years farmers in Texas have built 200,000 farm fish ponds. Missouri ponds have increased by 50,000 in ten years, and Mississippi reports 22,000 fish ponds in the last five years. Oklahoma is another state where ponds are now gaining in popularity, and the FWS reports 7,000 to 8,000 new ponds a year in that state.

Southern states have led in the introduction of farm fish ponds, and Western states have trailed. But a great deal of new interest in the West as water tables fall and artificial impoundments are looked to with greater frequency for water supplies.

Western interest has, in fact, increased to the point where the FWS was recently asked to fly in 100,000 bass fingerlings for stocking purposes. The Service

Not every farm pond can be a fish pond, however. Ponds must be planned or built specifically for fish. They cannot be on dammed streams where flood waters might wash away the fish stock or where there is too great a flow of water for the small plant and animal life to flourish. Silt from erosion can make a pond uninhabitable for fish, also. Ponds may be as shallow as 3 feet in the South, but must be from six to 15 feet deep in the north to prevent winter killing of fish.

Prospective "fish farmers" should seek help from their conservation agencies for help in planning fish ponds, and the FWS will provide the fish stock when the pond is constructed.

Many states maintain staffs of experts to aid farmers interested in fish ponds, and others, like Ohio, require a permit to build a pond—but after the permit is given the state lends assistance in surveying the land and constructing the pond.

Over six and one-half million fish from FWS hatcheries were stocked in 8,195 farm ponds in 1948. The government places no restrictions on fishing the farm ponds it stocks, but the farmer must follow state laws as regards licensing and the opening of his land to the public.

Circulars and booklets on fish ponds can be obtained from any of the agencies concerned with farm ponds, or they may be purchased by interested individuals from the Government Printing Office.

Ponds are stocked up by the FWS with species of fish that will maintain a natural balance between prey and predator species. Bluegills, which utilize the insect and small animal life of ponds, are the prey species, and large-mouth black bass are the predator species.

If the proper balance in weight and number of these two species are maintained, maximum production of fish may be expected. In fact, this means that the ponds must be heavily fished by anglers to prevent overpopulation and stunted growth of fish.

"Fish farmers" can expect returns of 50 to 100 pounds of fish per acre in a natural pond, and up to 300 pounds in a well managed, fertilized pond. This is a greater production of food per acre than could be realized from beef on adjacent land—which could come to about 150 pounds per acre. The production of a pound of fish in a fertilized pond might cost 6 to 8 cents, but in terms of food and recreation, this is considered small.

When you talk about VALVE-IN-HEAD you're talking about

The Power that made Buick Famous

If you want to know what's "the newest thing" in automobile engines, look at the Buick engine pictured here, and you'll see the words "valve-in-head."

But it happens that this isn't new with Buick. As a matter of fact, the valve-in-head engine was invented back in 1902—U. S. Patent No. 771095—and immediately, Buick adopted the principle, which became the first in a long string of "Buick firsts."

Not everyone went for the idea—then. In spite of the fact that this engine "breathes" more freely—gets fuel in and exhaust gases out more easily—others hung onto their pet ideas.

Then came the airplane, with its need for maximum power from every drop of fuel—and every maker of internal combustion airplane engines adopted the valve-in-head principle.

And more recently—with the hope that higher-octane fuels will become available—a lot of automotive engine designers are taking a new look at the valve-in-head idea.

But just for the record, we'd like to point out that Buick got there first.

And ever since, Buick has gone steadily ahead, building up a name as "valve-in-headquarters." Buick engineers reshaped pistons to put Fireball wallop in these engines. They stepped up compression ratios as fast as better fuels came along.

So perhaps you'll want to remember, when you hear the term "valve-in-head," that this is the type of power that made Buick famous.

If others want to climb on the bandwagon, we say "more power to them"—and no pun is intended.

But Buick has been doing more with valve-in-head right from the start.

And—we might add—it stands to reason that Buick is not through making this type of engine better and better.

TERRY'S BAKERY

"We Can't Bake Like Mother, But Mother Likes Our Baking"

BABSON Discusses Advertisements

I wonder if we spend enough time studying the advertisements in our daily or weekly newspaper? In addition to comparing prices charged by different concerns for the same articles in any given week, there is another most interesting comparison.

Watch the "Help Wanted" Ads. If you will make a scrap book of advertisements over a period of years, you will become an ardent believer in Newton's Law of Action and Reaction. One of the best clues of the financial situation is not the stock market, but the relative number of those concerns advertising to hire people compared with the number of persons wanting jobs. It would be a fine thing for newspapers to summarize these figures each week and report thereon as they now report the rainfall, temperature and stock market averages. Business and investment analysts get some of their best information from comparing the advertisements of goods and prices.

I am especially interested in watching the bankruptcy sales of businesses which appear in most Sunday newspapers. During the war, there were few such and when they did appear—they referred mostly to garages, filling stations and other business real estate. Often then, in this column, I advised readers to buy some of these bargains. Those who followed my advice can double or triple their money today. Since the war I have been telling readers that a time will come again when more bargains can be obtained.

How to Get Bargains. These bankruptcy advertisements are now increasing, but the time to buy has—in my opinion—not yet come. So many veterans have gone into business about which they know nothing that there may be a million business failures during the next few years. Some will be in your own community. Hence, now is a time to build up a good bank account in order to take advantage of these bargains if they later appear. More money has been made with PATIENCE than with any other thing. The "Business Opportunities" may increase every week for the next two or three years.

Next to good bank accounts, the best investments which parents can make today are in practical education. I don't mean in an ordinary college cultural education, but rather one that trains young people for some specific work—so they will be an expert in some trade, business or profession. This is what I am trying to do for young people at Babson Institute. Webber college and Utopia College, catalogs of which I will send freely to any reader. These three colleges are purely non-profit institutions which I founded largely for my millions of newspaper readers.

Importance of Character Education

But to whatever college you send your young people be sure it is a Christian college, supported by those who believe in the Church and for all that is good for which the Church stands. Colleges are now eliminating Communist teachers; but they should also dispense with all who do not believe in God, the Church and the power of Prayer. I fear there are too many such who are teaching our young people today. Protestants blame the Catholics for wanting their own schools, and yet the Protestants are permitting the public schools to eliminate religion altogether.

But to return to advertisements: do not be content with reading the "Business Opportunities" advertisements in your newspapers and magazines, or even the advertisements of clothes, foods, refrigerators and radios. Also read the advertisements and news columns relating to schools, colleges and churches. The future of your children depends on their character, education and health—much more than on styles, deodorants or hair oils. If women would give the thought to the inside of their heads that they give to the outside, most of America's troubles would be over. If we men would read the editorials of our newspapers with the care which we give to reading the sports pages, there would be little unemployment and no advertised "bargains" of bankrupt businesses.

A SINGER has to be something more than just wonderful to make her professional debut on "The Telephone Hour." 20-year-old Barbara Gibson did it September 12, and will be heard again on the program in February. Gladys Swarthout promptly phoned her praise; Lily Pons, who had missed the broadcast, asked for recordings. Like Lily, Barbara is a coloratura soprano. Unlike her, she's a young American girl—likes to swim and ski, makes her own clothes. Walter Magill, producer of "The Telephone Hour," was at CBS the day she auditioned, heard executives raving about her voice; after hearing her sing he gave her her big chance.

Robert Montgomery prefers that we think of him now not as an actor, but as a radio commentator. (ABC Thursday nights) a role for which he is well equipped. He has traveled widely, has never been afraid to speak out for his beliefs. As president of the Screen Actors Guild he fought labor racketeering. He will cover current trends in the news, and report on books and films.

Before designing "Mortimer Snerd," CBS' Edgar Bergen, spent months in research on phrenology.

Schools Observe Education Week

Plymouth and its schools will take time during the week of November 6 through 12 to become better acquainted and to give attention to their mutual dependence on one another. Nationally designated as American Education week, these seven days will be devoted to this year's education theme, "Making Democracy Work."

The 1949 observance marks the 29th such occasion. Education week is sponsored nationally by the National Education Association, the American Legion, the United States Office of Education and the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

The program set up for the Plymouth High school includes a written invitation from each student to his parents inviting them to visit the school. A special assembly put on by the student council will be given for junior and senior high students on November 7. A period from 2:15 to 3:30 p.m. on November 9 has been set aside for visitation and consultation for parents, teachers and students. Movies will be shown in the gymnasium at this time.

Materials and topics for class discussions day will be distributed to the teachers and students. A movie short will be sponsored in a Plymouth theater by the school.

In the elementary schools a somewhat different means for observing the occasion will be used. Parent-teacher conferences beginning next week will be continued during Education week with the whole day devoted to this important purpose on Friday, November 11. These individual meetings between parents and teachers will enable parents to exchange information with the teachers on the subject of greatest concern, their own children.

Attempts in our local schools to teach children how to "Make Democracy Work" deserve public consideration. Modern teaching practices are based upon the belief that democratic ways of working together are learned through actual practice in the classrooms and through limitation of adult members of our own community in many situations in the school, in the home and in the community.

Topics which have been suggested to be featured in Plymouth each day of Education week are the worth of the individual, educational opportunity, responsible citizenship, health and safety, home and community obligations, our freedom and security, and the next decade in education.

Economical yet sanitary construction with stainless steel is now possible by a process that bonds the metal securely to wood.
