

Early Copy...and we'll have turkey too!

Next week The Plymouth Mail will publish on Tuesday so that copies of the papers can be in the stores and the postoffice Tuesday afternoon.

This will mean that most of our advertisers and as many of our news contributors as possibly can should have their copy in our hands this week. Absolutely nothing can be accepted for publication after Monday if the 53 members of the families that depend on The Plymouth Mail for "turkey" are to enjoy turkey along with the rest of the local folks on turkey day Thursday, November 24th.

What I Think and Have A Right to Say

THANKSGIVING

Oh, let me linger by my fireside embers— Thanksgiving is no day for idle roving, Old friends, old days, old songs, my heart remembers, Are gathered to my side for hours of loving. I take life's book and turn its yellow pages, Before the firelight glow I watch them brighten. Old faces of old friends of outgrown ages, Through windows, with me, watch the brown earth whiten.

I see old homesteads with their snowy thatches, And from huge chimneys grayish smoke ascending, I hear the welcome sound of lifting latches. I feel the warm handclaps of hands befriending, Oh, faces of the past, when life was living, Come, gather 'round this board and lift your voices Again, as yore, in one long, glad Thanksgiving, In which the heart of youth and age rejoices! (Author Unknown)

IT'S GOOD FOR THE CITY.

Glad to note that Sidney Strong, former chairman of the city planning commission, has accepted the appointment made by Mayor Perry Richwine to his former position. Mr. Strong, with all the other members of the commission, resigned in order to give the newly elected commission an opportunity to select its own members. Mr. Strong will bring to the commission the knowledge and the good judgment of Plymouth's planning problems the new commission badly needs. It is an outstanding appointment, and we are pleased to know that Mr. Strong is willing to accept it.

HURRAH FOR DETROIT.

Notwithstanding the fact that Detroit's population has grown by the hundreds of thousands since the migration started from southern states in the early days of the New Deal, more than 300,000 good American citizens decided they wanted no ex-sitdown strike leader for its mayor. They overwhelmingly elected Albert Cobo, a worth-while and a trusted municipal executive, to direct its city affairs for the next two years. Mr. Cobo will be a worthy mayor of a great city, there is no question about that.

FIZZLING HARRY IS CHAMP NAME CALLER.

The President from Missouri who out-promised everybody who ever ran for public office, seems to be not only fizzling as a high chief executive, but to have won a new distinction—the greatest "name caller" who ever lived. Some member of congress a while ago after having read Harry's speeches up in Minnesota said: "The arrogance of his attitude, his tone of contempt for the normal democratic processes, and the demagoguery of his speeches are unmatched by any previous chief executive. "In his St. Paul speech Thursday, November 3, he used 23 vituperative phrases alone. He employed the words 'reactionaries', 'reactionaries' and 'reactionary' 17 times and the following words once each: 'Standpatter', 'privileged few', 'selfish interests', 'well-to-do men', 'tight little groups of selfish men', and 'small groups of people who occupy positions of wealth and influence'."

Goodfellow Newspaper Sale Set For Saturday, December 17

Preparations for the 1949 Plymouth Old Newsboys paper sale, sponsored by the Goodfellows, went into full swing the evening of November 10 when Goodfellow President Earl Gray appointed committees to be in charge of the annual event. Saturday, December 17, is the date when the city's old newsboys will sell special editions of The Plymouth Mail for the benefit of the Goodfellows' Christmas fund. The goal for this year's sale has been set at $1,600 which the Goodfellows will use to make Christmas brighter and happier for needy families in the Plymouth area. Each year the group helps from 75 to 150 families in having a truly merry Christmas with gifts of toys, candy, clothing, fruit and other presents. Motto of the Goodfellows is "No Kiddy Without a Christmas", but they also brighten the day for many elderly people and entire families.

Catholic School Holds Open House For Children's Families & Friends

Students at Our Lady of Good Counsel grade school were hosts to members of their families at an open house last Thursday evening. The beautiful new school was packed to overflowing with mothers and dads who visited classes and saw the school in full operation under the capable direction of Father William Mooney. Pictured are students Milton Van Lerberge, front left and Larry Horvath, front right. Observing the boys at work are parents, left to right, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Van Lerberge, Father Mooney and Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Horvath.

Telephone Toll Charges To be Eliminated On Northville Calls

The Public Service Commission has directed the Michigan Bell Telephone company to include Northville in the Plymouth extended-service area. An editorial campaign by the Plymouth Mail this summer was given much of the credit which led to the Commission's order. When extended-area service first was proposed last year, Northville was excluded at the request of a village commissioner from that community. The Plymouth Mail subsequently started a campaign to include Northville and its village commission reversed the original stand. Michigan Bell and the Public Service commission were glad to accede to the community's new request. John R. Saxton, manager for the company, said the new service to Northville tentatively is scheduled to go into operation late next year but cautioned that "the company's earnings are too low to place a definite timetable on this and other construction." Faced with a limitation on the amount of capital it can afford to invest, he said, the company is putting what money it can raise, without endangering the business, into projects where the need is greatest—those which provide service to families on the waiting list.

Thieves Freed by Official

Although they had confessed to the theft of three expensive automobile tires and wheels from the Forest Motor Sales parking lot at Forest and Wing streets and had signed admissions of their guilt, two alleged thieves were released from jail in Plymouth Tuesday night because the prosecuting attorney would not issue warrants. The prosecutor's office based their insipid refusal upon the basis that Thomas S. Notebaert of the Forest Motor Sales did not have a record of the serial numbers of tires on the cars that were parked in the company's parking area.

The official's excuse was that the prosecution wouldn't be able to prove that the tires recovered by Chief Sackett of the police department were the same tires that had been stolen. Here are the facts in the amazing case—but typical of the kind of law enforcement that the fair deal prosecutor is giving Wayne county. Two stolen tires were found in the possession of the alleged thieves. Each had one tire. One (Continued on page 6)

Parents of the 215 students at Our Lady of Good Counsel school had an opportunity Thursday evening to see Catholic education at work. The Sisters of St. Joseph of Nazareth, Michigan, the order in charge of this latest addition to Plymouth's educational facilities, held open house from seven to nine o'clock. The students were at their desks from 7 to 8:30 p.m., during which time actual class work was carried on. The last half hour was devoted to parent-teacher consultations and inspection of the building, which represents the latest design in modern school construction. The basis of all Catholic education is, of course, thorough instruction in the fundamental principles of Christianity. The usual subjects, such as English, arithmetic, history and social sciences are presented in a manner that emphasizes the art of thinking. The congregation of the Sisters of St. Joseph was founded in France about 1650 and is devoted to the spiritual, moral and educational guidance of children, as well as care of the sick and poor. The order spread to the new world in 1836, where its first establishment was located at Carondelet, near St. Louis, Missouri. By the end of the next two decades it had extended its activities throughout the United States and into Canada. In 1889, 11 Sisters of St. Joseph came to Michigan to care for the sick poor in the Kalamazoo district. From that beginning, their field has grown until today it embraces the education of thousands of children in Michigan parochial schools, the direction of a large college for the higher education of women, at Nazareth; the operation of large hospitals in Kalamazoo, Flint and Monroe; and care of the St. Francis Home for Boys in Detroit.

Louis Sherwood, Former Resident is Buried Here

Louis C. Sherwood, for more than a quarter of a century a prominent Detroit banker, a life member of Plymouth Rock Masonic lodge, and only brother of Mrs. R. E. Cooper, 896 Penniman avenue, died at his home at 8905 East Jefferson avenue in Detroit the morning of November 8, burial taking place in the family lot in Riverside cemetery on Plymouth road Thursday afternoon, November 10. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Sherwood. Soon after his birth in Battle Creek in 1886, the family moved to Plymouth where the father immediately became interested in the banking business. When the First National bank was organized in November, 1871, with E. J. Penniman elected as president, Charles H. Bennett as vice president, T. C. Sherwood, the father, was elected cashier of the bank. In 1884 the senior Mr. Sherwood became president of the newly organized Plymouth National bank and later the banking commissioner of the state of Michigan.

The Sherwood children attended public schools in Plymouth and it was not at all surprising that they should have followed their father's profession. The youngest son, Ernest Rossow, is building a $15,000 home at 444 Irvin for the Roswell Tangers. Still in the limelight of the city's building picture is Garling Construction company which took out five more building permits so far this month to bring their total to 48 for the year. The additional permits are for homes to be built on Sunset and Evergreen. The firm also took out a permit to build a garage for a Garling home at 398 Evergreen.

Kiwans Plan Knite Klub Party

One of the outstanding events on the calendar of the Plymouth Kiwanis club will be staged on the night of November 19 when local Kiwanians put on their "Knite Klub" party for the purpose of raising funds for the club's youth projects which include completion of the Girl Scout cabin. Sponsored as part of the nationwide observance of Kids' Day by some 3,000 Kiwanis clubs throughout the country, the party will be held in the high school gymnasium at 7 p.m. and will feature what local Kiwanians term "one of the best meals ever served in Plymouth." Attendance at the "Knite Klub" is not limited to members of the organization only. All Plymouthites and residents of surrounding communities are cordially invited. Tickets can be obtained from any member of the club.

Conservationists Schedule Parties

"Swing your partner", the emcee called as 64 feet shuffled around the dance floor to the tune of "Turkey in the Straw" at the annual Hunter's ball held last week by the Western Wayne County Conservation association. The evening was crowded with fun. During intermissions a barber shop quartet, directed by Roy Crites, sang several numbers. Dance music was furnished by the "Sod" Schaffer orchestra. A variety of sandwiches and hot dogs were served from the buffet table. At the next regular meeting of the Conservationists, to be held at the club house on Joy road on December 7 at 8 p.m., reports of hunting trips into the North country will be given. Motion pictures and a guest speaker will highlight the evening's program. Also coming up on the calendar is the club's annual holiday party on December 21 and the yearly venison and bear dinner on January 11, 1950. Anyone wishing to become a member of the W.W.C.A. is cordially invited to attend the December 7 meeting or contact a member of the club.

Funeral Services Held Monday For Mrs. Geo. Wilcox

Funeral services were held last Monday afternoon for Harriet Hill Wilcox who passed away at the age of 73 at St. Joseph's hospital in Ann Arbor after an illness of several weeks. Mrs. Wilcox was one of Plymouth's most well known residents having been active in civic, church and club affairs in the city for the last 42 years. Since the death of her husband, George H. Wilcox, she has made her home with her son at 676 Penniman avenue. Up until the last few weeks her interest and work in the Sarah Ann Cochrane chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, of which she was a charter member, has been one of her keenest interests. Other than the D.A.R., Mrs. Wilcox was active in the work of the Detroit Society for Genealogical Research and was an organizer of the Plymouth Historical Society. She was a member of the St. John's Episcopal church and active in the work of the St. John's Guild and League.

Mrs. Wilcox was born in San Francisco, California September 16, 1874 and came to Hillsdale, Michigan after the early death of her parents to make her home with her maternal grandparents. She came to Plymouth in 1907 as the bride of George H. Wilcox who preceded her in death in June of 1935.

Surviving Mrs. Wilcox other than her host of friends in and around Plymouth are two daughters, Julia, Mrs. Russell M. Sanderson of Englewood, New Jersey and Katherine, Mrs. Robert D. Thompson of Penfield, New York; her son, J. H. Wilcox of this city and five grandchildren. A brother, George S. Hill, resides in San Francisco, California.

Services were conducted by the Schrader Funeral home from St. John's Episcopal church with the Reverend Alexander Miller officiating. Interment was in Riverside cemetery. Active pallbearers were Wesley Warren, Cass S. Hough, Robert Garrison, Roderick Cassidy, Winston Cooper and Austin Whipple.

The Eastern Star will have a practice drill at the Masonic temple Tuesday, November 22 at 7 p.m. Officers are urged to attend.

Symphony Gives Churches Plan Union Services on Thanksgiving

A union Thanksgiving service is being planned by the Protestant churches of Plymouth for the evening of Wednesday, November 23, in the Methodist church at 8 p.m. The Rev. Alexander Miller, of St. John's Episcopal church, will preach the sermon. His subject will be "Ingathering For Christ."

This will be a united service of all participating bodies, not sponsored only by three of the Plymouth churches as previously announced. The Rev. Frederick G. Poole, pastor of the Methodist church, will give the invocation as pastor of the host church. Ministers of other participating churches will take part in the service which is being held on Thanksgiving eve in hopes that many would be able to attend who could not be present for services on Thanksgiving morning.

Special Thanksgiving music is being planned by the choir and for congregational singing.

Plans Hum For Holiday Bazaar

Colorful and exciting preparations are being made by Methodist women for their big event of the year on December 1, a glowing Christmas bazaar and luncheon. There will be Christmas booths filled with a variety of attractive gifts to help Plymouth shoppers with their holiday shopping. Soft Christmas music will be played to accompany the luncheon.

First Buck Is Reported by Cherry Hill Hunter. First deer bagged by a Plymouth hunter was reported Wednesday morning at Morgan-Burley service by Ernest Kalm- baugh of 875 Willard in Cherry Hill. Hunting in Hove township in Midland county, he shot a five point 130-pound buck at about 2 p.m. Tuesday.

Plymouth Fund Drive Goes Over Top . . .

"Plymouth reached its $11,000 goal in the United Community Fund campaign for 1949," is the word received from Paul Johnson, chairman of the drive. "If donations from organizations and corporations which contributed last year and have agreed to do so again this year are turned in, the city will go way over the top in its united drive," he continued.

Mail Now . . .

Postal workers are making every effort to remind local residents that the time to mail Christmas packages for Christmas delivery is now and not the day before the holiday arrives. Overseas packages will be accepted for mailing up to December 1st but after that time no assurance can be given that the packages will be delivered before Christmas.

To help make the last week easier, the post office will remain open on Saturday, December 17 and on Saturday, December 24. People that are planning Christmas mailing are urged to get that phase of their Christmas preparations underway at once.

Begin Work on 9 New Offices

New office space will be available in Plymouth as soon as remodeling of the upstairs of the building occupied by the Willoughby Shoe store and Dodge Drug store is completed. Fred Hubbard and company began work on making it over into nine offices last Monday. The building is owned by Mrs. Dorothy Gallagher of West Palm Beach, Florida.

Other building news in Plymouth includes the $26,000 home which Mrs. Nell Curry is having built on West Maple street in Hough subdivision. Daniel Mills is the contractor. He also has a permit to construct a home at 601 Sunset.

Ernest Rossow is building a $15,000 home at 444 Irvin for the Roswell Tangers. Still in the limelight of the city's building picture is Garling Construction company which took out five more building permits so far this month to bring their total to 48 for the year. Others Afraid — But Not The City Manager

Plymouth's versatile city manager, Albert Glassford, executed duties last week which have yet to be written into the City Charter. When no one in the department of public works would undertake the job, the administrative head of the city government climbed up to the top of the new water tower and replaced the burned-out airplane warning light. Witnesses report that the courageous city manager used no life net in his ascent to the sky.

All benefitting agencies from this drive will receive their full quota of funds as set up before the campaign began, according to Mr. Johnson who urged those who have yet to make their contributions to mail them to Post office Box 356 immediately so final tabulations can be made as soon as possible. All contributors to the drives as well as volunteers who gave many hours in soliciting from residents of Plymouth and vicinity were thanked by Mr. Johnson for their fine work. He also extended his appreciation to the various chairman who worked on separate portions of the drive. As soon as final tabulations are made and the few outstanding contributions are in, a final report will be made to the community.

Dale Groff and Bride Return From Honeymoon

Dale Frederick Groff, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Groff of Starkweather avenue, and his bride, the former Kathryn Sockow are making their home at 1091 Starkweather avenue after returning from a wedding trip through Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York and Niagara Falls. The couple spoke their vows at a candlelight ceremony in the First Methodist church, Friday, October 23.

Cascades of white mums and greens decorated the church for the double ring rites at which the Rev. Frederick Poole officiated. Accompanied by the organist, Mr. Miller, Norma Broome sang, "Because" preceding the wedding service.

The bride was gowned in traditional white slipper satin. A ruffle of net and satin edged the net yoke which detailed the fitted bodice. The full hooped skirt was caught up in front to show tiers of ruffled net. The bride's three-quarter length veil of net was secured to a cap embroidered in seed pearls.

Mary Jordan was her sister's matron of honor. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sockow of 1062 North Mill street. Serving as bridal aides were Ann Speers and Janet Henning.

Yellow taffeta fashioned the matron of honor's gown. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses and bronze mums tied in matching yellow ribbon.

Miss Speers chose an aqua slipper satin gown while Mrs. Henning's gown was styled from rose slipper satin. Red roses and white mums were in the bridesmaid's bouquets.

Wearing a gown in pale blue satin styled identical to the bride's Jeanne Russel acted as flower girl. She carried a nosegay of red roses and white mums.

Duties of the ring bearer were performed by Charles Hix.

The bridegroom was attended by Jerry Welch as best man. Ushering at the rites were Roy Henning and Marlin Thompson.

A reception in the Methodist church parlors followed the wedding. The bride's mother greeted the guests in a royal blue dress with black accessories and an orchid corsage. The choice of Mrs. Groff, the bridegroom's mother, was a wine dress with grey accessories. She also wore an orchid corsage.

The newlyweds received wedding wishes from 112 guests from Northville, Plymouth, Lansing, Lake Odessa, Howell, St. Clair, Dundee and Holly.

Successful Parenthood

BY MRS. CATHERINE CONRAD EDWARDS
Associate Editor, Parents' Magazine

HAVE YOU BEEN TO VISIT your child's school cafeteria or other lunch accommodations? Or do you just take it for granted that this much talked about hot school lunch is providing your child with one third of his day's nutritional needs? In theory the school lunch does just that, and in many communities where breakfast and supper are scant or ill prepared, the lunch furnished at school does far more than that—it may mean the difference between actual undernourishment and at least a fighting chance for a well balanced diet.

But you can't take all this as a sure thing without a little investigating. An incompetent lunch room manager can take good food and ruin it—or a lazy one can substitute easily prepared starches for green vegetables. If your child isn't hungry at night it may be because he has been filled up on starchy foods at noon. So make a tactful inquiry into what is actually being served at what in your child's school. And check on your youngster too—he may be passing up the hot dishes in favor of two desserts and a soft drink.

If you are having your own troubles with noonday meals for your preschool child, try serving his food in different and intriguing ways. You might not find time for this extra outlay of ingenuity in the evening when the whole family must be fed. But when you are alone with the younger children you may actually save time by coaxing their appetites with a nursery floor picnic, or a cafeteria selection arranged on the breakfast nook table, or on sunny days, a snack in a protected corner of the yard.

One mother, whose 2½ year old son suddenly lost his appetite, wooed it back with toothpicks! Not as an item of diet, needless to say, but as a fascinating way of serving his food. Well, can you pass up an hor d'oeuvres tray with tempting tidbits on toothpicks? Neither could Dickie. Small meat balls, hard-boiled egg, pieces of cheese, firm vegetables, canned fruits or cooked dried fruits—all of these can be served on toothpicks as an inviting pick-me-up-and-put-me-in-your-mouth surprise. Of course you wouldn't serve the child's food this way every day. When a fretful morning promises a spurned lunch, try this little ruse.

An occasional all liquid meal is a relief to a child who has become bored with plate, knife and fork. Soup is a good beginner because it is hot, but strain it so that it can be drunk from a cup. Dessert can provide the rest of the food elements and still be taken with a straw. Plain eggnog flavored with vanilla is a favorite, especially for a convalescent child. Or you might try one mother's popular concoction, "Bananog." To two beaten egg yolks add three sieved bananas, two cups of milk, four teaspoons of molasses and a half-teaspoon of lemon juice; beat; fold in stiffly beaten egg white; pour into four glasses and sprinkle with cinnamon or nutmeg.

THE NEED TO FEEL GRATEFUL is almost as urgent for mental health as breathing is for physical survival. Indeed, an upsurge of gratitude is like filling the lungs with good, sparkling air—it seems to enlarge the whole being.

Just returning thanks, especially the kind of lipservice we give on a full stomach on Thanksgiving day, is only a small part of true gratitude. It is easy to name our blessings and keep at the same time a "so what" mental attitude. But the kind of gratitude that works miracles is an expanding emotion. You begin, for example, by being grateful for home and children.

Immediately your capacity for loving and serving them becomes greater. The children and their father, the home itself, are aware of this extra good well flowing from you to them. They respond with gratitude of their own which is reflected in better health, more thoughtful behavior. You in turn experience more gratitude and well-being because of these added blessings. See how gratitude works to increase your happiness?

Being thoughtful used to be confused with Pollyannishness. Pollyanna was the heroine of a generation ago who was always being smugly cheerful when things went wrong. She was determinedly grateful because even worse things weren't happening. Of course, we always admire a chin-up attitude, but just being glad for what you are spared is a sterile mental attitude and not worth beans if you want to live generously and creatively. Why not kick back when you're being roughed up a little by life? Save your gratitude, not for negative thanksgiving, but for positive joy in what you do have.

Another thing about gratitude, it is catching. That is because being grateful enables you to live in the present, and others, especially your children, can share the present with you. For if you spend most of your fund of good thinking on looking forward to what you hope will happen next, or in reliving what happiness you've had, you miss the present. And children can rarely go along with you on mental excursions to the past or the future, but they can join in heartily with a mother who is enjoying fixing lunch, or walking to the grocery, or hanging clothes on the line. Yes, if you want to live with your children, not just for them, be grateful for each day with them, and enjoy every minute of it.

This expansive quality of gratitude not only keeps you from missing out on the present, but it leads you to expect more of the future—and life has a way of rewarding you according to your own evaluation of what you are worth. The grateful person is so expectant of good, so appreciative of its manifestation in his life, that the flow continues, unobstructed by a closed and ungrateful mind. This is the age of miracle drugs for bodily ills, so why not protect your children with this self-generating aid to mental health—a grateful spirit?

Everyone of us, whatever our speculative opinions, knows better than he practices, and recognizes a better law than he obeys.

There is no happiness in the world in which love does not enter; and love is but the discovery of ourselves in others, and the delight in the recognition.

Showers Honor Nancy Thornton

A linen shower at the Carl Groth home on Cranston avenue Friday evening feted bride-elect, Nancy Thornton. And on Saturday evening she was showered with kitchen gifts at a party co-hosted by Mrs. V. H. Petschulat and her daughter, Mrs. Richard Erdelyi.

Some 13 neighbors and friends presented their linen gifts to the bride-elect in a pink and white umbrella, which was planned just for the occasion by the hostess in keeping with her pink and white motif at the Friday evening shower. Other decorations included a novel centerpiece of white baby mums arranged in two large wedding rings.

Among the guests present were Mrs. William Wood, the guest of honor's mother, and her grandmother, Mrs. Wenger.

Mrs. Petschulat and Mrs. Erdelyi planned a buffet luncheon when they entertained for Miss Thornton on Saturday evening in the Petschulat home on Hubbard avenue in Rosedale Gardens.

Fall flowers were dominant in the decorations which the two hostesses used. As a centerpiece for the dining table they used bronze and yellow chrysanthemums surrounded by large rust colored leaves, with yellow candles on either side.

An evening of competitive games was the entertainment for the 15 guests from Rosedale Gardens, Royal Oak and Plymouth, Mrs. William Wood, Miss Thornton's mother, and Mrs. Andrew Althouse, who is the mother of the prospective bridegroom.

On November 23, Miss Thornton will become the bride of John Althouse in a ceremony at the First Presbyterian church.

Well Baby Clinic Group Organizes

A group to continue the support of the Well Baby Clinic, sponsored by the Red Cross since its establishment in 1920, has been organized in Plymouth. Miss Pauline Peck is chairman and Mrs. H. R. Penhale is serving as secretary. Trustees of the new organization are Miss Neva Lovewell and Mrs. Mary Strasen.

The Well Baby Clinic was set up under Red Cross sponsorship to promote better health for babies through consultation with a visiting physician who advises parents on health problems. However, he does not make any prescriptions. The third Wednesday of each month has been set aside for mothers to bring their babies to the high school for examination by Dr. Milo Brady of Detroit who, for many years, has been coming out to Plymouth to participate in the program.

The Red Cross is giving up the clinic the first of next year. With continuance of the Well Baby program and possibility of receiving money from the Community Fund in mind, the new organization was formed for the uninterrupted support of the clinic.

C of C Provides Kiwanis Program

A discussion of Chamber of Commerce activities formed the major portion of the program at the regular Kiwanis meeting held Tuesday night in the Hotel Mayflower. Business transacted at the meeting included the appointment of Albert Glassford to fill a one-year vacancy on the board of directors. Re-appointed for the sixth consecutive year as secretary of the Kiwanis club was Ernest Henry.

Five members of Plymouth's Chamber of Commerce told of the various phases of the Chamber's program. Discussion leader was George A. Smith, secretary-manager of the organization.

Raymond Williams spoke on the C of C housing survey and subsequent building in the city. Dr. A. E. Van Ornum told of the Chamber's Halloween party, sponsored annually. A report on curbing unauthorized soliciting was given by Wendell Lent. The yearly Fourth of July celebration in Plymouth was discussed by Fire Chief Robert McAllister.

"PREDICTIONS OF THINGS TO COME"

Champion Corrugated Provides Bank Exhibit

Color keynotes the industrial display at the Plymouth United Savings bank this week. The exhibit is from the Champion Corrugated Container corporation of 936 Sheldon road and offers a blaze of almost every shade in the rainbow.

Displayed are samples of the containers made by the firm as well as two huge rolls of corrugated paper. A series of photographs showing the variety of containers forms a backdrop for samples of boxes exhibited on the table.

Champion Corrugated seems to have kept pace with the current trend for bright colors for their samples show such shades as orange, powder blue, orchid, canary yellow, purple, pick, apple green as well as the more conservative dark blue, dark green and the usual beige.

Pablo Had No Parachute

By Brown Lee Yates

WHY DOES AN ARTIST paint a picture? For the same reason that a Brooklyn cab driver parachutes from a plane, 6,000 feet over Manhattan holding a grinding movie camera.

At least, it was the artist in him, Leonard D'Attolico explained to a judge, that prompted him to make the leap. "I wanted to capture the effect of a free fall on film in slow motion for the benefit of the public."

This is a defense of D'Attolico. We offer as Exhibit A Pablo Picasso and myriads of unintelligible artists. Picasso showed us the effect of a woman with two noses. Not as hazardous? Try painting a picture of some lady you know and give her two noses. You'll be ready to ball out too.

The judge ruled D'Attolico endangered himself and the life and property of others. We reverse the ruling. His stunt kept him from the wheel of his cab for a time, and life and property were safer by one taxi while he was in the air. Haven't you ever ridden in a New York taxicab, your honor?

He landed on a chimney on a 10-story apartment house. Children thought he was Santa Claus. Two cops thought differently.

The pilot declared he was ignorant of D'Attolico's intentions when he took him up. During the flight, he glanced over his shoulder and saw in place of his passenger a sign: "BACK IN 10 MINUTES."

His cause—to give the public the effect of a free fall—was worthy. Only prizefighters take falls nowadays, and they don't do it for free and in technicolor.

But his death defying stunt was needless. Eating pickled pigs feet immediately after retiring would give his fans the same effect—free fall, slow motion, technicolor.

The happiness of a married life depends on a power of making small sacrifices with readiness and cheerfulness. Few persons are ever called upon to make great sacrifices or to confer great favors; but affection is kept alive, and happiness secured, by keeping up a constant warfare against little selfishnesses.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Louis Minchart who passed away two years ago November 18. Your memory to us is a keepsake with which we will never part. Though God has you in his keeping.

We have you still in our hearts. Wife and family. 1tp

In loving memory of our dear husband, father and grandfather, Roy J. Stanley, who passed away November 18, 1947.

The silent nights are lonely. And there is no golden dawn. Because we must remember that you are really gone. We must remember in our hearts The happiness we knew. And that our only world was one in which we lived with you. There is no breath of fragrance in flowers that we pass. And if we call your name We hear the sound of emptiness. We miss your smile, your gentle face.

No one will ever take your place. In God's kind care we've placed your soul. And he has promised, too. That he will take us home some day.

To live in peace with you. Your loving wife, Effia, and family. 1tp

New Books Shown For Book Week Observance

Students at Plymouth High school are shown looking over a collection of books on exhibit in the library as part of the local observance of National Book Week, November 13 to 19. The books run the gamut of subjects, from photography to mystery stories, from poetry to travel. Pictured above glancing over the latest in books for young people are (from left to right) Arlene Dowling and Gilbert St. Louis, Jr., in the foreground and Dorothy Keen, Mrs. Esther Hamm, librarian and Geoffrey Hubbell.

Postal Workers Shiver in Cold

No other person in the world has more troubles and more annoyances than the average postmaster—that's with most postmasters think.

Dr. George Timpona, Plymouth's new czar of the mails, thinks, maybe, he's had more ups than any other postmaster in the land.

Monday morning was really the first cold morning this part of the state has had so far this year.

It was the very morning when a janitor and a good fire were needed—and what happened in Plymouth's well regulated postoffice?

The janitor was sick and the fire in the heating system was out!

When the postal workers opened up the postoffice to go to work Monday morning—Plymouth's new postoffice was as cold as an old barn. Mail sorters worked with their coats on. Employees who had colds did more sniffing than usual. Some figured on sending out to try and buy some felt boots—but before this became a necessity, the resourceful postmaster had the boiler all steamed up. By mid-forenoon the emergency was over and everything was back to Harding normally.

Plymouth Men in "Who's Who"

Five well-known men in Plymouth are listed in the new edition of "Who's Who in the Midwest." Included in the biographical listings of outstanding persons are Charles Bennett, president of the Daisy Manufacturing company; Edward Evans, Jr., president and director of Evans Products company; Henry O. Kirkpatrick, president of the Coldmobile company of Detroit; Russell Kirkpatrick, general claim agent for the Pere Marquette and Chesapeake and Ohio Railroads; and Perry Richwine, attorney and Mayor of Plymouth.

Names included in "Who's Who" are those much in the public eye, not locally so much as throughout the whole Midwest area. Those selected are chosen because of special prominence in creditable lines of effort, making them subjects of extensive section-wide interest, inquiry and discussion.

At Pryor, Oklahoma, when his boat capsized, J. E. Stampler lost his shirt, hat, shoes, three rods and reels and the outboard motor, but managed to hold on to the 50-lb. catfish he was trying to land.

Man learns little from victory, but much from defeat.

Thieves Freed by Official

arrest was made for the Plymouth police department by the police officials of the village of Wayne.

After their arrest, the two freely signed confessions, giving full details of how they stole the tires. One tire that would not fit their cars was thrown by them into Waterford pond, between Plymouth and Northville. The alleged thieves took Chief Sackett and other Plymouth police officers to the pond, and pointed out the place where they had thrown the tire. With the use of a rake, the police recovered it while the two alleged thieves stood on the bank and watched the officers take it from the water.

The prisoners and the tires were then taken to the police headquarters, where in the presence of the police and the owners of the tires, they identified the tires as the ones they had stolen from the Forest Motor Sales parking area.

All of these facts were presented to the prosecutor—who said no—the Plymouth police department could not have a warrant and would be forced to turn free the two alleged thieves.

Colliers Weekly in its last issue thinks the crime situation in Detroit is so bad that the publication sent a writer here to investigate. His number one article on crimes in the big cities of America dealt entirely with Detroit.

He placed responsibility for Detroit's situation upon the Detroit police.

To those in on the "know" the article was about as "bum" a piece of reporting as ever published in any paper or journal. Not one reference was made as to the real cause—the prosecuting attorney's office of Wayne county.

It was early in life when he became associated with the Dime Savings bank in Detroit, being promoted to vice president, a high executive position he held in the bank organization over a long period of years. He married Amelia Renaud, a daughter of a well known Detroit family.

After retirement a number of years ago he devoted much of his time to golf and other light forms of recreation.

He never lost his interest in his "old home town" and always maintained his membership in the local Masonic lodge, which he joined in 1903. It was 40 years later when he was made a life member of the Plymouth lodge, an honor which he always highly prized.

Mrs. Sherwood, two children, Renaud of Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, and Mrs. Merlin Cudliff of Grosse Pointe, and a sister, Mrs. R. E. Cooper of this city, survive.

Episcopal Church Buys Car at Detroit Auction

Purchase of the car used by the United States Marshal for transporting prisoners was made Tuesday at a public auction in Detroit by Plymouth's St. John's Episcopal church. The church will use the car as a school bus after certain changes are completed.

Representing the church in Detroit were Rev. Alexander Miller, pastor, and Mrs. Walter K. Sumner and Mrs. Robert Wiloughby. All bidding for the car was stopped when it was discovered a church was trying to buy it.

Students Visit Lapeer Home

Twenty-five members of the Plymouth High school senior class now have a far better idea of one of the outstanding problems of the state and nation than they possessed a week ago.

Miss Neva Lovewell Monday provided transportation to and from Lapeer for members of one of her classes so they could see at first hand how a great state is trying to solve and care for many thousands of youthful mental cases—some born that way, others afflicted as they grew older.

Through arrangements made by Miss Lovewell the students were shown some of the activities of the Lapeer State Home and Training School. Text are not always open to public inspection. Officials of the State Home made clear to the visitors the details and the importance of the work they are doing to improve the mental condition of many thousands of afflicted boys and girls.

Teachers Choose Junior Rotarians

Teachers of Plymouth High school selected Junior Rotarians to attend the Rotary meeting on Friday noons at 12:15 to 1:30. Each boy will attend four meetings during the school year.

Those who have been chosen are listed in order in which they will attend: Donald Sutherland, mayor of Plymouth High; Clifford McClumpha, chief of hall monitors; Roger Kidston, debater; Ronald Witt, debater; Charles Snyder, student of machine shop; Donald Houghton, editor of Pilgrim Prints; Keith Ebersole, captain of the football team; Dave Reitzel, art student; Louis Vargha, member of cross country squad; and Larry Mack, debater.

Alternates for those unable to attend are: Paul Harding, member of the track team; Melvin Schultz, member of football team; Walter Hammond, band member; and Gerald Micol, Hi-Y member.

At the end of the school year, the group will plan one entire program together for entertainment for the club.

In Wichita Falls, Texas, F. D. Clark reported the disappearance of a 30-foot telephone pole from Panchontas street.

Hi-Y Chapters Hold Noon Games

Both chapters of the Plymouth Hi-Y have been holding noon basketball games in the gym. The games are played between the two chapters and within the two chapters.

So far there has been no charge but later when the interest builds up there will be a two cent admission. These games will be used for the advantage of the school.

Later, the daily use of the gym will be divided between the Hi-Y and Varsity club so that each club will have ample opportunity to provide entertainment for the students and will also be able to earn some money for their clubs. After November 15, the boys on the high school basketball team will not be permitted to play in these noon games. Volleyball will also be played.

Play Promoted by Senior Class

An assembly was held second hour, Thursday, November 10, with Ronald Witt as the master of ceremonies. The purpose of the assembly was to promote attendance for the senior play during the nights of November 10 and 11. The senior high assembly was held the first half of the hour and the junior high the last half.

The members of the senior play cast were introduced individually and then several short previews of the play were shown by the cast. This was not all the entertainment, however, for the Plymouth High school mixed chorus and the twin trios sang several pieces between the skits.

The assembly must have been a success for the attendance mark was way up the first night of the play.

High School May Hold Evening Class in Shop

Because of the many requests received at the high school for an evening class in cabinet making...

Those interested in participating in a cabinet making class are urged to apply by post card to C. E. Pierce...

If a sufficient number enroll, applicants will be notified by mail or telephone as to the meeting time of the class.

In Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, the state unemployment compensation board of review ruled that girls who resign because 'the employer makes improper advances' are entitled to jobless pay.

A good policy to follow!

Walking to my office the other day I passed by the stores and offices of the people in this community with whom I do business. I could not help but think how fortunate it is to have, so conveniently available, most of the services and help needed in our daily existence...

I realize that in doing business with people who are close to you and whom you know, there is that personal touch and interest which cannot be obtained from distantly located strangers. For that reason and the fact that it will increase the prosperity of our community and ourselves, I believe in the policy of buying from your neighbors.

Church Group Hears Physicist

Close to 50 men heard Dr. William A. Nierenberg, associate professor of physics at the University of Michigan, tell of the 'Peace-time Uses of Atomic Energy' at the November meeting of the Men's club of St. John's Episcopal church last Thursday evening.

Well-qualified to talk on the subject, Dr. Nierenberg worked as research assistant in the Manhattan Atomic Energy project in New York City. He has contributed articles on the subject to various scientific journals. Prior to coming to the University of Michigan about a year ago, Dr. Nierenberg was an instructor in physics at Columbia university, from which he had received his Ph. D. His talk was very instructive, and many of the men remained after the meeting to talk about the subject with the speaker and with each other.

Arden Sackett, the president of the club, announced that the December meeting would feature a travel talk. He further invited all who might be interested, to attend one of the meetings of St. John's Men's club, as membership is not contingent upon church affiliation.

Mr. Sackett called upon Warren Worth, chief salesman for the Men's club party which takes place this evening. This party under the chairmanship of Ralph Lorenz, is restricted to club members and their guests. The excellent dinner enjoyed by the men at the last meeting, was provided by a committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. Paul Johnson.

Basketball Squad Prepares For Farmington Game on December 3

With the football season finished the Rock basketball team has begun practice for their first game with Farmington December 3.

The basketball team will be coached by John Sandmann this year and the team has looked good so far in practice sessions. The main thing that is likely to hold the squad back is lack of height.

The only men on the team over six feet are Keith Ebersole, Charles Stark, Dwight Eckler and Dick Fenton. Jack Elliott, who has been stricken with a slight case of polio, could have been used to great advantage on the team. Jack is six-feet two-inches tall.

Although the squad does not have the tall men, they do have the speed and spirit which might make-up for the height they lack.

Keith Ebersole, who captained the football team, is most likely to capture the starting berth as center. He is a senior and will graduate in January. His loss will be greatly felt by the squad. Mr. Sandmann's reserve squad of last year won 11 games while losing but three encounters. It is hoped that his varsity boys this year will better that record.

The returning lettermen this year from last season's squad are Keith Ebersole, Dave Reitzel, Bob Gow and Walter Dzurus. Jack Elliott also earned his letter last year but he has not joined the squad yet. Of the lettermen, Ebersole and Reitzel are seniors and Gow and Dzurus, juniors.

The basketball team has been practicing for nearly three weeks or more and the boys who played football have reported to John Sandmann just last week.

Following is the schedule for the basketball squad:

Farmington	There	Dec. 2
Ypsilanti	There	Dec. 9
Inkster	Here	Dec. 13
Trenton	Here	Dec. 13
Northville	There	Dec. 29
Redford Union	There	Jan. 6

Local Sprinters Win Last Meet

The Plymouth cross country squad won their last meet of the season Thursday, November 10, by downing Cranbrook, 24-34.

Although winning the meet, fate struck the team in the face as Calvin Becker, star sprinter of the squad, broke his ankle coming into the last half mile of the race. Becker was trying to break George Buddy's record in the two mile course and was well on his way of doing so until this unfortunate incident.

Becker was also trying to break the Cranbrook record which was 11:58 for the two mile course.

Warner of Cranbrook came in first in the meet followed secondly by Louis Varsha. Dick Joachim and Dick Underwood, juniors, finished fourth and fifth respectively.

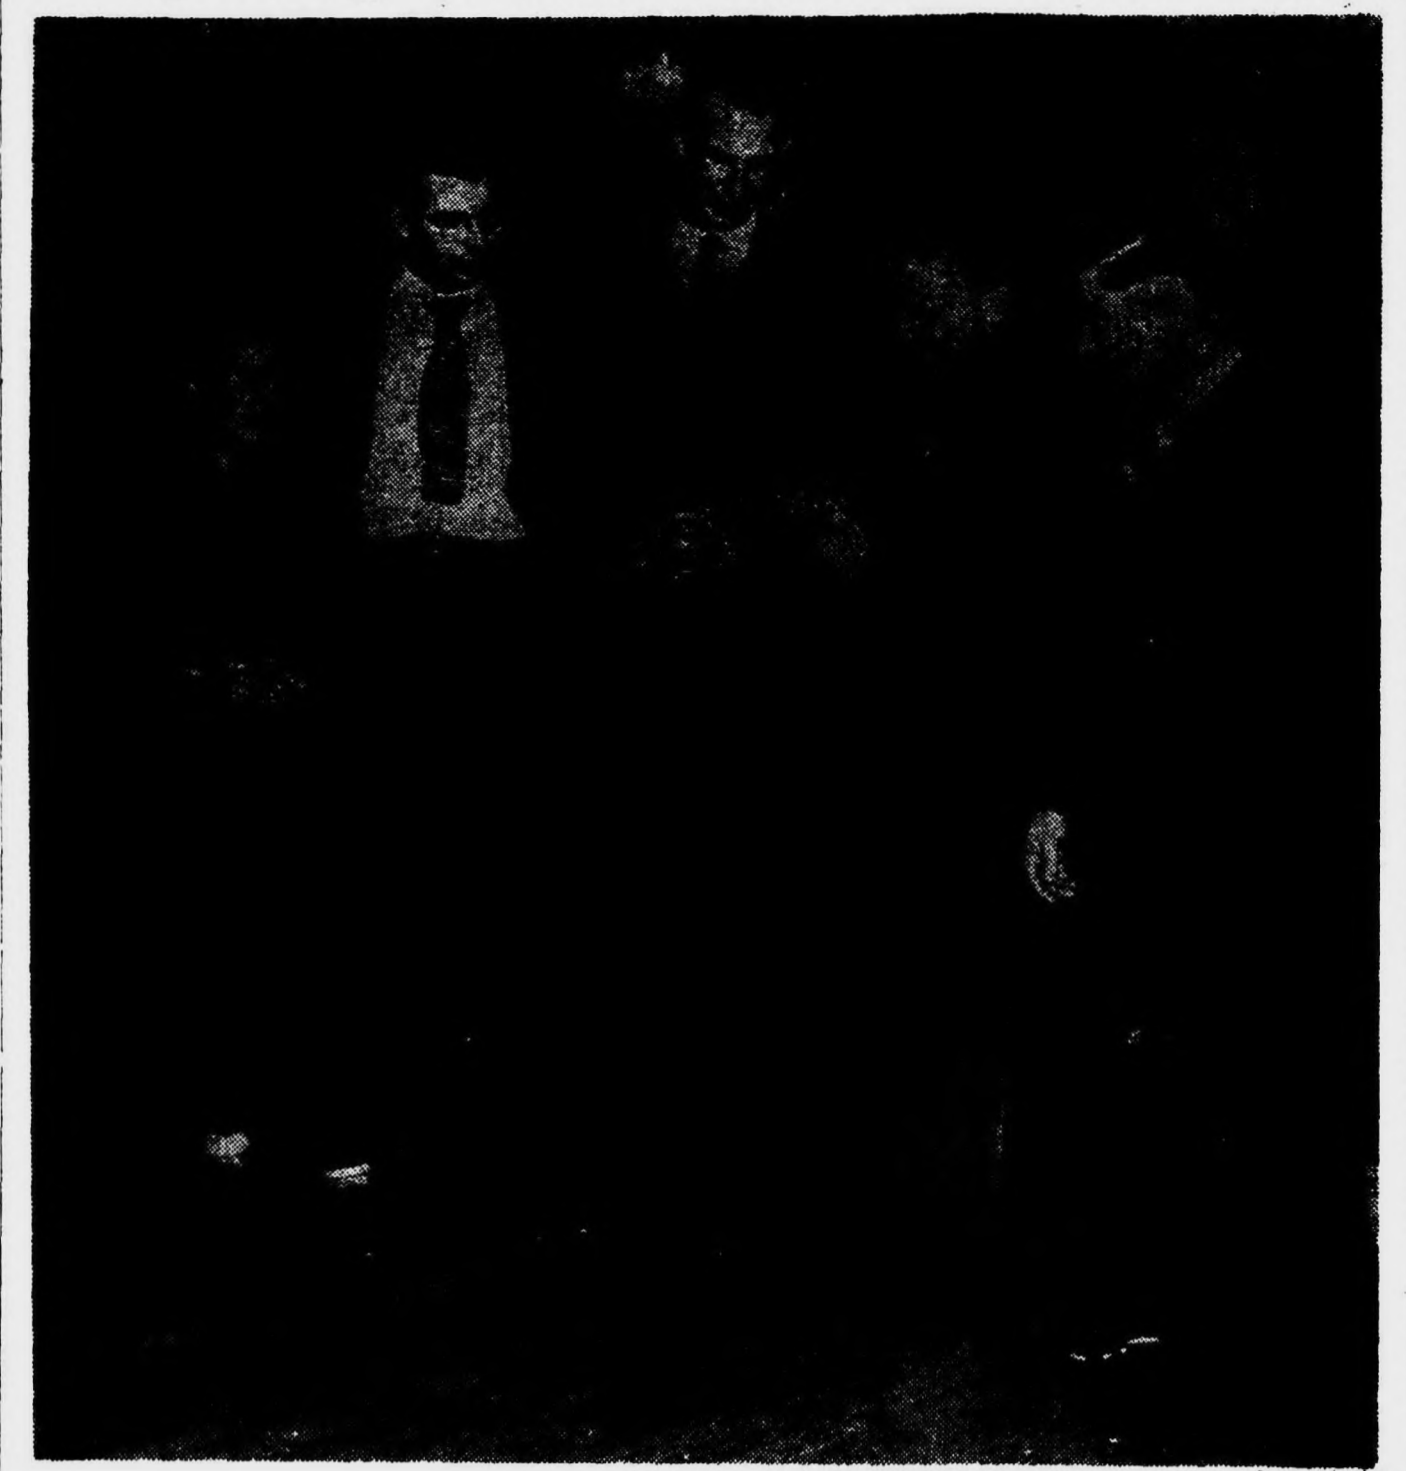

The cross country squad finished with a season record of four dual meets won while losing two and second place in the league meet and ninth at state.

The local cross country team has never finished lower than third place in the league meet.

Letter winners for the squad include Calvin Becker, Louis Varsha, Richard Underwood, Daniel Green, Marvin Green, Charles Todd and Richard Joachim.

Coach Ken Moisis, who has done a great job with these boys this season, stated that if the weather stays as nice as it is now, the boys will start working out on the track for next spring.

Championship Emblems Given to Football Victors

E & F Basketball Team Managers to Meet Monday

All team managers of Class E and F squads in the boys league are to meet in the recreation office of the city hall on Monday, November 21 at 7 p.m.

At this meeting all managers must have forfeit fees of 50 cents for each boy on his team and the name of the team ready for entry. No teams will be accepted after November 21. If Plymouth boys have basketball ambitions they should get their teams planned now.

The first games are to be played Saturday morning, December 3 in the high school gym. Some games will be played during the week this year at the training school in all boys' leagues.

Following is the new set of rules:

1. Michigan Recreation association age groups for boys are as follows:

Class D—Boys 18 years of age and under.

Class E—Boys 16 years of age and under.

Class F—Boys 14 years of age and under.

All ages are as of April 1, 1950. A boy whose birthday falls on or before this date and would be 15, 17 or 19 must play in the older age group.

2. Boys who have not graduated from high school but who are ineligible for further high school competition, due to having been enrolled in high school nine or more semesters shall be eligible to compete in a recreation league. However, boys who are ineligible scholastically cannot play in this league.

Any player who has been officially dropped from a high school squad may be eligible to play in recreation league. It is a must that all high school boys obtain the signature of their high school principal or coach on their individual contracts, certifying his correct birth date and that he is no longer considered a member of any high school squad.

3. Deadline for team entries shall be: E and F league—Monday, November 21. D league—Monday, December 19.

On these dates all teams must be properly enrolled; team names, player's contracts, and forfeit fee must be on file in the recreation office. Players may be registered up to February 14, 1950.

All teams must be composed of players who attend Plymouth schools, Wayne County Training school, or live or work in Plymouth township.

4. The schedules will begin December 3 at 9 a.m. at the high school for E and F leagues and the first week in January for the D league.

5. Forfeit fees shall be 50 cents per man for E and F leagues and $1.00 per man for D league.

6. To be eligible to play in the next scheduled game, a player's contract (properly signed and marked paid) must be in the hands of Herb Woolweaver, or post marked at least 24 hours prior to game time.

7. The maximum number of players to be under contract at one time will be 12.

8. Forfeit time shall be 10 minutes after scheduled game time. A team must have at least five men to start a game.

9. All members of a forfeiting team will lose half of their original forfeit fee. After two forfeits, the team so involved must meet in a body with the league supervisor and be properly re-entered before they can play again in this league.

10. All games will be played under the National Collegiate official boys rules; quarters will be eight minutes for D; six minutes for E and F. The E and F league games may be sandwiched halves if necessary.

11. If at the end of the regulation four quarters the game is tied a sudden death overtime will be played. That is, the first team to score two points (either two foul shots or a field goal) shall be the winner.

12. At the close of the season all teams that have 500 percent or better in the season average will compete in the playoffs. Winners of the league season will be awarded emblems and the winner of the playoffs, will be the league representatives in the state tournament.

13. Any player displaying unsportsmanlike conduct will receive suspension as directed by your supervisor.

Men's Basketball Teams to Play at DeHoco This Year

On Monday, November 28 at the Detroit House of Correction gym at 7:30 p.m. the Men's basketball teams will get underway with Daisy versus DeHoco and at 8:45 Plymouth Mail will play the Wayne County Training school.

On Tuesday, Nov. 29 at 7:30 p.m. Tait's Cleaners play the First National bank.

All men's games will be played at DeHoco this year and mostly on Tuesday and Thursday nights starting at 7:30 p.m.

The reason for playing all the men's games at DeHoco this year is because first of all—the vote was unanimous by all managers present at the first meeting to play all games at the DeHoco gym. The gym is larger and a more comfortable size in comparison with the high school gym.

This will provide for less body contact, cleaner games and better basketball recreation and fun for the players involved on a floor the size of DeHoco. Another thing, the men were willing to give up playing in the high school to make room for the enlarged girls' basketball program and to also leave some nights available for our junior and senior high school boys to play when in the past about all they had available was about three hours a week on Saturday mornings.

Spectators at these DeHoco games are asked to stop at the guard house going in and out of the grounds. Cars should be parked near the administration building. Players have the privilege of driving in the gate to the inside grounds by the gym. Recreation Director Herb Woolweaver reports that DeHoco personnel are very courteous people and all spectators out there will enjoy their visits.

The city recreation commission is attempting to use all available space in and around Plymouth to provide as much recreation as possible for the youth and adults of our community.

This plan is growing in both directions on the age scale to include more young and older men in the recreation activities.

Fourteen Teams Playing in Women's League

It is very likely that there will be two divisions formed in the Women's Inter-City league this year, because of the 14 teams planning to play basketball this season.

Mrs. Peg Huband of the Wayne Recreation department has been selected to direct the league.

At the meeting held on Monday, November 14 at Wayne, several issues were to be discussed but they were not definitely decided upon, and another meeting is planned for later.

If there are two divisions in the league, Daisy will most likely be in one and Twin Pines, both from Plymouth, in another. At the end of two rounds, the winners and runners-up will meet in a tournament to determine the champ.

Shorts in Sports

by Al Larson

As the Plymouth Rocks prepare for their oncoming basketball season, it appears as though they will have a championship team. With John Sandmann, one of Plymouth's best mentors in the past few years, coaching the local lads, they have looked exceedingly good in practice.

Ypsilanti, who took the league championship last year, will be without the services of many who sparked the squad last year. Trenton will most likely finish low in the league standings as they did in football. Wayne should have a high ranking squad with many returning lettermen.

Redford Union has lost some of their best talent, but don't let anyone fool you about Belleville, they finished better in football than many expected.

It has been three years since Plymouth has had a team fighting up to the last game for the league championship.

That year under Coach Wayne Falan, the team finished second to Trenton in the league. In the last game of the season, Trenton nosed out Plymouth by two points, scoring the final basket with but a few seconds left to play after the Rocks had tied the score at 40-40.

Last season the Rocks had a very dismal season, winning only two games while losing 12. Coach Sandmann's reserve team had almost the opposite record with 11 wins and three losses.

The University of Michigan will have to wait until this Saturday to know whether or not they will take the Big Ten championship for the third consecutive year. Last week the Wolverines won over Indiana by a margin of only 20-7. This was the first time in four years that Indiana had scored on the Maize and Blue.

Michigan had a poor season compared to the past two years when they rolled to 24 straight victories, and romping over other teams by large margins.

The Wolverines will have to play their best game of the season against Ohio State if they expect to emerge victorious.

This Saturday's game will be won by only one touchdown or possibly only one point by the University of Michigan.

It seems as though another Finney has come into the basketball limelight at Plymouth High.

This Finney is Alan, brother of Larry, who appears destined for a starting berth on the Rock lineup as a junior in high school.

Larry Finney played on Plymouth's varsity as first string forward for two years, and in his senior year was selected by many Suburban B coaches for the All-League team.

Alan played on the reserve team last year as a sophomore and showed good prospects of passing up his brother in the rank of a fine basketball player.

Another brother, David, who is now a freshman, will probably move up to take Alan's vacancy when Alan graduates. David played recreation basketball in the eighth grade and also football as a frosh. David will play basketball this year on the freshman squad.

In Clearwater, Florida, 14 green flags stolen from the Clearwater Country club last Christmas were returned with a note: "Sorry but we can't find any—use for these."

Depleted Dollar Reserve

By Brown Lee Yates

A FELLOW WE KNOW is afflicted with an unsound economy. His dollar reserves are depleted. He has a little silver, but he can't talk with the gold bloc, the boys who deal in wrinkled etchings of G. Washington.

His business associates have been carrying him. They can't let him fold, because he's helping keep his wishy-washy neighbors from the clutches of gangsters who menace the town's business.

The butcher down the street loaned him a fin, although the fellow told the meat vendor he would use it to buy sausage from a brother-in-law up the street. He discriminated against his benefactor's frankfurters.

Once he owned real estate and lived as the landed gentry. Now his tenants have pre-empted most of their plots, selling him vegetables cheaper of course and letting him provide police protection.

He tinkers around with a business, making trial balloons, but devising nothing somebody else can't manufacture better. All he asks is that his friends forego the better products of his competitors to buy his and ease his present pinch.

He's a good fellow, a distant cousin of his creditors, and a handy man in a scrap. The roughnecks thumb their noses and trespass mightily on his domain, but they blanch upon thoughts of striking him. He must be kept in business.

His creditors called a meeting. They slapped his back and said, "Chin up!" They promised to buy his balloons, aware that theirs were better and filled with hotter air. They wanted to polish his silver and devalue his currency.

He gently slapped the hands fingering his limp pocketbook, but finally gave in.

When men are more sure and arrogant, they are commonly the most mistaken. Proper deliberation alone can secure them from the grossest absurdities.

—David Hume

In Boston, State Representative Daniel Rudsten asked the Massachusetts legislature to reverse the conviction of 20 men and women convicted of witchcraft and executed in Salem in 1692.

BUSINESS & THE PUBLIC

DIGNITY IS A wonderful asset, but there are times when it can be overdone. We have in mind the rather "elevated attitude of the management of the big industries as opposed to the less dignified—but far more effective—publicity of the labor union bosses.

A broadcast for instance by Walter Reuther in a stirring radio manner, holds the interest, and often the sympathy, of the listener; while the drab voice of some industry official asserting actual facts and figures is turned off for some jazz band. So gradually owners and managers of industry, the majority of whom were formerly laboring men or white collar workers, have lost favor with the public.

Why doesn't industry go into the propagandist business in a more exciting and enticing way? Why, just as an illustration, doesn't it tell the romantic stories of the lives of Rockefeller, Ford, Harriman, Chrysler and many others dead and alive, who rose from the ranks before the dictators took over the unions and made that sort of thing virtually impossible?

Why doesn't it tell the public, through real radio speakers, that the millions of people who advanced the money to finance the industries get about 4 1/2 cents out of every dollar taken in while labor gets from 25 cents to 30 cents? Why doesn't it dramatize its position instead of spending "big money" on dull recitals? Then the public would listen and learn.

But just so long as the public is uninformed, and therefore apathetic, the union bosses are going to have their way; and if the "since the war" tempo of their inequitable demands continues, they are fairly certain to destroy our free-enterprise system and force upon this "last of the democracies" the same sort of incompetency which is gutting the British empire.

There is a move already underway by the economic adolescents who have misnamed themselves "liberals," to take over the economy of this nation and mismanage it. Industry knows this! Why won't it meet the threat? Forget the dignity!

Politeness doesn't cost anything. It wouldn't be worth anything if it did.

—Aron

News in The World of Religion

A call upon the people of the United States and of the rest of the world, no matter what their religious faith, to pray for the delegates to the United Nations and for the success of their efforts of that body, and to add such prayer to their daily supplications, is being made by the Laymen's Movement for a Christian World. The organization is composed of business executives of the New York metropolitan area, and is the group which has been promoting the idea of a prayer room for all religionists in the new United Nations building. Says Dr. Weyman C. Huckabee, movement secretary, "We urge the people of America to recognize the true foundation of the United Nations as being faith in God and in man."

The observance of "Reformation Day" in Protestant churches across the nation on October 30, inaugurated a 15-month "United Evangelistic Advance" to be conducted by 37 Protestant and Orthodox denominations under the direction of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America. The 37 churches have a membership of about 47,000,000 Christians. According to Dr. Jesse M. Bader, executive secretary of the Advance which now goes across the nation with teams of leading ministers, the purpose of the movement is to demonstrate the essential unity of purpose and cooperation that does exist among Protestants—despite the occasional taunt that they are individualistic and lacking in purpose, beliefs and concerns. Among the topics to be considered in citywide mass meetings will be "Religious Freedom", "Separation of Church and State", "The Priesthood of Believers", "The Worth of the Individual Soul Before God" and "The Relationship of Protestantism to Democracy."

Urging continued support of the United Nations and of the aims for which it was established, the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, said in a recent statement to American Protestantism: "Despite the tempest of this postwar period, the United Nations stands and grows as the only center for discussing, if not for harmonizing fully, the policies of states, as a means of fellowship, and as a bridge to a better future." Listing the gains that the UN has made in the realm of human rights and welfare, the Council notes as issues yet to be solved: security against aggression, control of atomic energy, and disarmament.

Bishop Jose L. Valencia, head of the Methodist church in the Philippine Islands, recently laid the cornerstone for the new building of the Mary Johnston hospital in Manila. The hospital was originally built in 1908 and was the principal medical center of the evangelical churches in Manila until it was destroyed by fire on February 5, 1945, during World War II. The new hospital edifice is being rebuilt with funds from Methodist churches in the United States through the Crusade for Christ and His Church. It is a joint undertaking of the Woman's Division of Christian Service and the Division of Foreign Missions of the Board of Missions and Church Extension.

Under the leadership of Bishop, G. Bromley Oxnam of New York, the Methodist church is embarked on an eight-months study of "Our Faith"—an endeavor to give to the 9,000,000 members of the denomination a better concept of Protestant belief and of its importance in the world of 1950. Eight small books, on as many phases of Protestant Christian faith have been prepared by theological specialists and then rewritten "by and for the man on the street and in the back pew." Pastors in all Methodist churches are preaching and teaching from these topics until next June: Nov., "Our Faith in God"; Dec., "Our Faith in Christ"; Jan., "Our Faith in the Bible"; Feb., "Our Faith in Love"; March, "Our Faith in Prayer"; April, "Our Faith in Immortality"; May, "Our Faith in the Holy Spirit"; June, "Our Faith in the Kingdom of God."

India's prime minister, Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, the best-known disciple of the late Mahatma Gandhi, is generally regarded as the leader of the peace movement within Hinduism and India which the Mahatma formed and of which unofficially, he was the head for many years. Recently, at a reception in the United States, Mr. Nehru said in part: "Must the twentieth century differ from primitive barbarism only in the destructive efficacy of the weapons that man's ingenuity has invented for man's destruction? I do believe, in accordance with my master's (Gandhi's) teaching, that there is another way to meet this situation and solve the problem that faces us... Past history shows us the important part that physical force has played. But it also shows us that no such force can ultimately ignore the moral forces of the world, and if it attempts to do so, it does so at its peril."

Insurance Group Passes 47 Year Mark

Within 47 years after receiving its charter from the state of Wisconsin, the Aid association for Lutherans, a legal reserve fraternal life insurance society for Synodical Conference Lutherans, has passed the $500,000,000 mark of insurance in force, according to an announcement made by its president, Alex O. Benz.

Today it has over $114,000,000 in ledger assets and the number of certificates in force has increased to over 374,000 with 3,125 branches throughout the United States and several provinces of Canada. It has paid in benefits to its members and beneficiaries over $52,000,000.

Located in Appleton, Wisconsin, the Association has grown from a one-room office to the present five story building.

The couple was married Saturday morning in a 10 o'clock double ring ceremony at Our Lady of Good Counsel church. The nuptial rites were read by the Rev. Father William P. Mooney.

Baskets of white baby mums and lighted tapers were the altar decorations for the Saturday morning wedding. Presenting the wedding music was soloist Mary Ann Cylk. She sang "Ave Maria," "On This Day Oh Beautiful Mother" and the nuptial mass.

The bride's gown was ivory satin designed with a cowl neckline, bustle back and long train. Her fingertip veil of illusion was fastened to a prayer tiara. The bride carried a pearl book on which an orchid rested.

Rosemary Ann Miller was her sister's maid of honor. She was gowned in champagne satin and carried a colonial bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums and yellow baby mums.

An informal gown of aqua silk crepe with black accessories was the bride's mother. Mrs. Evans selected a teal blue crepe dress with black accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of chrysanthemums in shades from yellow to bronze.

One hundred and fifty guests attended the afternoon reception at the country club. Out of town guests were from Canada, Ohio, Washington, D. C., North Carolina, Detroit, Farmington, Wayne and Plymouth.

Thermostats on Modern Ranges Assure Homemakers Absentee Cooked Meals

In the eighties it was brawn—lots of it—that counted on the kitchen. Elbow grease was considered an especial virtue for such chores as black leading the stove or the daily scouring of knives with bath brick.

Newspapers of that day advised their women readers on the care and cleaning of the old coal or wood stove. Editors described the best way to feed its hungry mouth, how to empty its dusty chest. Readers were reminded that a good way to judge oven temperature was to put a little bit of newspaper in the oven, then watch its appearance. If it browned to a crisp, then it was time to slide in the pies or cake.

In contrast to the old inaccurate guesswork in judging temperatures, today's cook sets a thermostat at the wanted temperature. More than that, she doesn't even have to be in the kitchen while her meal is cooking. Automatic clock controls on modern ranges can be preset to start the clock turns the stove on or off for whatever time the cook wants her meal ready for the table.

In planning oven meals cooked by the clock, today's homemaker misses old-fashioned brawn with a little brainwork. All she has to do is plan an absentee cooked meal with all recipes taking approximately the same time and temperature to cook.

In choosing the menu it's wise to remember that certain foods are especially suited to this type of automatically cooked oven meal. This is especially true if the food must stand for a while in the oven before the automatic clock turns on the oven burner at the designated time.

If, for example, thick frozen pork, veal or lamb chops are planned, don't worry too much about the meat thawing out. For this process continues while the food is standing in the oven awaiting the automatic turning on of the oven burner. Smoked meats and most types of fish are also a good choice.

Vegetables which adapt themselves readily to absentee oven cooking and which do not lose any nutritional value are sauerkraut, beets, carrots, onions, squash, white and sweet potatoes, turnips, dried beans and peas. Almost any casserole dish, too, is an excellent choice for a pre-planned complete oven meal.

An easily prepared menu for automatic oven cooking on your range might be ham slice with cranberry glaze, baked sweet potatoes with a nourishing steamed carrot pudding for dessert. Cooking time for this menu is only one and a half hours at a temperature of 350 degrees. Safe standing time is five hours including the time the food takes to cook.

Another meal might include meat loaf, escalloped corn, baked potatoes and rice custard. Bake all for one and one-half hours at 375 degrees or bake all for three hours at 300 degrees. An equally tasty combination consists of roast lamb, mint sauce, cauliflower and brown Betty. Bake all two hours at 350 degrees or bake all three hours at 275 degrees.

Pork Not Well Done Dangerous to Health

All pork—regardless of the cut—should be cooked to the well-done stage because of the danger of harmful parasites in pork that is not cooked well.

A small percentage of hogs contain the parasites which cause trichinosis in persons eating the uncooked pork. Thorough cooking makes these parasites harmless—just as pasteurization kills harmful bacteria in milk.

Check the cooking time of the various pork cuts carefully, suggest home economists at Michigan State college. One-half hour of cooking time per pound of pork is a good allowance for hams and other large cuts of pork.

To check for doneness, make a small incision next to the bone and also in the thicker part of the meat. Fresh pork cooked to the well-done stage is grayish in color—not pink.

If you are using a thermometer for checking time and temperature, follow the direction to the letter. The gage will indicate the temperature to which pork should be cooked.

RECIPES OF THE WEEK

Fluffy Potato Pancakes
(Serves 4)
2 cups grated potatoes
4 eggs, separated
1/4 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon flour

To prepare potatoes, pare and soak in cold water for 12 hours. Grate and drain thoroughly. Add egg yolks, salt, baking powder and flour. Beat well. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Drop by spoonfuls onto a well-greased skillet which has been heated. Brown on both sides. Serve with applesauce.

BACON CUPS
Here's a morning bacon and egg suggestion. Slowly cook bacon strips in a frying-pan until transparent. Remove and line muffin pans with the strips. Place an egg in each bacon cup, sprinkle with salt and pepper and bake in a moderate oven (300 degrees F.) for about 15 minutes.

GARNISH FOR MEAT
Save time and yet have an appealing garnish to outline your roast platter. Simply cook fruit for garnish with the meat. Appealing pork roast companions are pineapple slices, each filled with a plump prune.

QUICK MAIN DISH
Pork sausage links can turn a vegetable combination into a satisfying main dish. One such combination is kidney beans and tomatoes seasoned with onion. They're topped in a casserole with the little browned links and baked, covered, in a moderate oven.

DUMPLING ROLLS
Little round cinnamon rolls are right at home arranged over the top of your favorite apple cobbler. The spicy flavor combined with brown sugar and butter adds a new note to a winter favorite dessert.

BRUNCH BISCUITS
Brunch calls for something a little bit out of the ordinary. Next time you're making hot biscuits for this occasion, add chopped deviled ham to the dough for a pleasant surprise.

SUCCESSFUL PARENTHOOD
By Mrs. CATHERINE CONRAD EDWARDS
Associate Editor, Parents' Magazine

DOES YOUR NINE-YEAR-OLD boy or girl seem less close to you, now that early childhood is being left behind? You may have been prepared for his being more independent and less affectionate, but why does he sometimes seem not so glad to be a member of your family?

A study of school age children made at Antioch college disclosed that many nine-year-olds ask themselves these same questions concerning their parents! Although they may squirm out of your embrace and balk at kissing, when you follow their lead in discarding demonstrative affection, it sets them wondering. Does Mother love me less because she doesn't hug me when we say good night? Does she love little sister more because sister sits on her lap?

The way out of this dilemma is to begin at five or six to find substitutes for the kind of fondling little children love, yet substitute that carry with them a sense of love and pride and pleasure in your child. A pat on the back, a kiss blown up the staircase as a child starts up to bed, if invested with a deep sense of approval can take the place of hugs and kisses when these begin to embarrass a boy or girl. However, many youngsters put on a show of not liking the very kind of affection they crave from you—so don't discard patting until you are sure a child no longer needs this closeness.

Then, the Antioch study found out that a comparatively simple rejection bothered school children—that of having their questions unanswered. Parents are so patient with very young children—helping them identify a horse or a car or an airplane hundreds of times. But the school child's questions are too often brushed off, sometimes because parents are embarrassed by not knowing the answers, or because the questions are intimate. Are Mother and Dad no longer interested in me, don't they want to be bothered with me, the child asks himself.

For this problem we recommend the good old custom of consulting the dictionary or encyclopedia, but with Junior right at hand to catch the habit of looking up answers. Don't go off by yourself to bone up, trying to preserve a sense of parental infallibility—finding things out together is one of the surest ways of building companionship with your child.

But perhaps the most unexpected discovery made by the Antioch researchers is that nine-year-olds, despite their objections to parental restrictions really don't like too much freedom. Children often feel resentful of parents when they themselves have done things they later regret. Why didn't Mother keep me home the way Billy's mother did, the regretful child is apt to feel after a disappointing adventure.

What to do? This problem of how much freedom of decision to allow a child is at the core of all guidance, so we can't recommend any simple solution. But the beginning of wisdom lies surely in studying your child—does he show too little desire to act on his own? Then, he needs to be encouraged to break away from your guiding hand. Does he have an independent mind which usually displays good judgment? Then let him set the rate at which he decides things for himself. Is he too adventurous, and a bit rash and thoughtless about what he attempts to do? Then, see that he has stricter supervision even if he doesn't like it.

After all, parents must provide the balance wheel.

SANDWICH MAKER
For lunch box joy try this sandwich filling. Cut dried beef with your kitchen scissors and blend it with Philadelphia cream cheese. Add a bit of Worcestershire sauce to complete the combination.

SAUSAGE MUFFINS
Muffins, hot and tasty, are appealing for any meal of the day. To make them all the more attractive, brown bulk pork sausage and add it to the muffin batter.

Festive Thanksgiving Dinners in Sight For Plymouth Families

This year's bountiful harvests have filled Plymouth markets with traditional foods for a Thanksgiving feast and plans are well along for family get-togethers and menus accented with a holiday spirit.

There's plenty of turkey for everyone this year but it's a good idea to place an order early to make sure of getting the size you need. This will give your pet shop keeper a chance to get what you want from the distribution.

Turkey breeders have been working on the problem of producing smaller birds for smaller families so people don't become bored with left-overs. Marketing men have made their contribution too by offering half turkeys, or in some cases, even smaller portions. These aren't available in all stores, however, since the demand for them is still limited.

There's little difference between cooking half turkeys and whole ones. The first step, after cleaning, is to fasten the leg compactly to the tail, and to tie the wing close to the body. This will prevent drying out of the meat.

Place a heavy piece of paper on the rack of the roaster, mound up the stuffing on the paper, then cover with the half turkey which has been seasoned on the inside with salt and pepper. Rub the skin generously with table fat, shortening or salad oil.

Roast the bird, uncovered, in a slow oven. During the roasting process brush over the bird frequently with melted fat, or dip drippings up over it to keep the meat juicy and the skin tender. Roasting time varies with the size of the half but one weighing from six to nine pounds as you buy it at the market will take 2 1/2 to 3 hours in a 325 degree oven. It will be ready to serve when the leg joint moves easily.

"Fixin's" for the turkey are plentiful, too. It's going to be a question of choosing among the great variety offered.

It's better to keep the menu simple, not only to avoid a huge piling up of left-overs and the chance of wasting food, but to make it possible for mother to enjoy the holiday, too.

Put an edge on the appetite with a fruit juice cocktail—maybe icy cold cider with a dash of lemon juice to point up the flavor, or equal parts of cranberry juice and pineapple juice combined. Add a bowlful of crisp cheese popcorn to much along with this.

To accompany the turkey for the main course choose either sweet or white potatoes, one succulent vegetable, a platter of crisp vegetable relishes and a tart accompaniment such as a cranberry jelly or sauce, unless you've used the fruit as an appetizer. Hard rolls which can be served without last minute heating should take care of any demands for bread.

The choice of dessert will depend mainly on family tradition. Undoubtedly pumpkin or mince pie is heavy fare after the family has stuffed on turkey, but after all, Thanksgiving comes only once a year, and it's fun to break over the traces occasionally and doesn't do any normal person lasting harm.

Here are our favorite recipes for a few of the Thanksgiving dinner dishes.

CRANBERRY APPLE RELISH
Two cups cranberries, 1 apple, pared and cored, 1 orange, 1/2 lemon, sugar to suit taste (about 1 1/4 cups), dash of salt.

Quarter orange and lemon and remove seeds. Put all fruits through food chopper, using medium knife. Add salt and sugar. Blend thoroughly. Chill in refrigerator before serving. The relish can be sealed in jars and kept in the refrigerator for several weeks. The flavor is better after the mixture stands a few days. Makes about 3 cups relish.

HONEYED SWEET POTATO SLICES
Six medium sized sweet potatoes, 1/2 cup strained honey, 1 cup crushed corn flakes, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons butter or fortified margarine.

Scrub potatoes thoroughly and cook in boiling salted water until tender. Drain, peel and cut in half-inch slices. Heat honey in small saucepan. Combine corn flake crumbs and salt. Dip slices of potatoes in warm honey then roll in crumbs. Place in greased shallow pan and dot with pieces of the table fat. Bake in moderately hot oven, 425 degrees F., for about 25 minutes or until brown.

Note: Turkey is easier to carve if removed from the oven and kept in a warm place for about half an hour before carving. If the potatoes are all ready to bake they will have time to brown after the turkey comes out.

PUMPKIN PECAN PIE
Three-fourths cup brown sugar, firmly packed, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg, 1/2 teaspoon ginger, 1/4 teaspoon cloves, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 1/2 cups cooked mashed or canned pumpkin, 2 eggs, 1 1/2 cups evaporated milk or top milk, 1 tablespoon brown sugar, 2 tablespoons butter or fortified margarine, 3/4 cup pecan meats, unbaked 9-inch pie shell.

Mix brown sugar with spices and vanilla. Add pumpkin, milk and slightly beaten eggs and stir until smooth. Pour into 9-inch uncooked pastry shell. Place in hot oven, 450 degrees F., for 10 minutes. Reduce temperature to 375 degrees and bake for 20 minutes. In the meantime melt second amount of brown sugar and butter in small saucepan over low heat. Stir in pecan nuts. Spread over top of pie and return to oven to bake for 20 to 25 minutes longer or until filling is firm.

Note: If liked, the nut topping may be omitted from the pie. To give the filling a deeper color, add 2 tablespoons dark molasses to the pumpkin mixture.

A Garden of Annuities

HERE'S an odd but true story. Harry Forbes was a foundry salesman, working out of New York City, and things were hunky-dory. He saved up $10,000 and put it into a business proposition. Just then the golden apple of luck fell in front of him and he picked it up. He inherited $20,000 more. Well, he was sitting pretty.

Then a panic came along and wiped out everything he had in the world. That was a pretty hard blow.

But at the age of 40 he made a most unusual decision. He decided he would put all the money he could save—not into a business—but into life insurance annuities. He thought this up himself. No salesman got him by the lapel and gave him the ancient mariner look.

And so he began planting everything he could into the annuity garden. He was earning money at his old trade—foundry salesman.

He did fairly well at it; he kept planting.

But he took a strange angle. He paid for a lot of small annuities with different companies.

Everybody said he was foolish. But he had an idea and he stuck to it like a cocklebur on a Missouri mule's tail.

At the age of 60 he stopped work. He had put 20 years of his money-earning life into an idea. But it paid off. He had arranged so that a check would reach him every day! That is exactly what I mean—a check every working day of the year. Some were small, some were healthy. But every morning, when the postman knocked once, there would be a check.

At the age of 60 he began to enjoy his check shower. He had read about Grenfell and his work in Labrador and he wanted to see that wild, snow-smothered country. He went there, hired a dogsled team and a guide and crossed it from one end to the other. At last, having seen the country that had intrigued him, he came back to New York—and there a whole flock of checks were smiling up at him.

He liked to go fly-fishing and he went. Upon returning home, there would be that lovely flock of checks.

He even went on an owl hunt, for he was fascinated by owls. When he got back there was a flock of checks.

Well, the old gentleman died a little less than two years ago at the age of 86. He always said that the reason he was living so long was because he didn't have anything to worry about.

What's YOUR price tag on happiness?

The comfort that's found in all-coil springs, a husky, steady-traveling understructure, cushions that are deep and soft and wide enough to let you spread yourself a bit.

Even that extra swelling of the chest that comes from owning a car you know everyone respects and admires.

In a word — your happiness. It's never out of our mind in planning this car — nor in making very sure each dollar of cost gives you the greatest possible benefit.

That's why we rather proudly ask you to go see — and try — this Buick SPECIAL. It's priced like a six, in spite of the fact that like all Buicks, it's a big-powered Fireball valve-in-head straight-eight.

And we honestly believe that it puts a lower price tag on your motoring happiness than any other car you can buy today! See your Buick dealer and find out about that.

They're all there, every one of those things. And for a good reason that may go a bit beyond the usual idea in designing an automobile.

For, a long while ago, we graduated from the idea that a motorcar is merely a means of getting about.

The way you travel is pretty important too. The lift that's yours in knowing there's no prettier picture anywhere on the highways. The "kick" there is in a power plant that's lively and eager and always ready to get in on the fun.

That population and not amount of hunting and fishing grounds determines the number of sportsmen in a county was proved again in the 1948 sales of licenses, figures released by the conservation department indicate. Sales reports, broken down by counties, show that Wayne county residents bought 107,189 resident hunting licenses, 124,763 fish licenses, 10,985 trout stamps (first year these were required), 41,321 resident deer and 1,526 resident bow and arrow deer licenses. Total sales of all resident licenses, 274,799, in Wayne county in 1948, was an increase of more than 22,000 over the 1947 total of 252,653.

Genesee county was second in sales of resident hunting licenses with 32,101 small game and 17,893 deer. Oakland edged out Kent, 1947 leader, for second in resident fish license sales with 58,956, but Kent was next to Wayne county in trout stamp sales with a total of 10,154. Bay county placed second in bow and arrow licenses with 609 sold.

In Branch county, close to heavy population centers in Indiana and Ohio, tourists bought more fishing licenses than residents did, giving it the highest non-resident sales in the state with 10,877 temporary and 7,380 annual. Resident sales were 8,030.

Roscommon county, which has the heaviest concentration of deer hunters according to hunter reports on the county in which they hunted, totaled 5,523 resident, 312 nonresident, 260 bow and arrow resident and 59 bow and arrow nonresident deer license sales.

Oakland county remained first in trapping license sales with 1,189 in 1948 compared to 785 in 1947. Genesee county was second with 596.

Of the out-of-state agencies handling Michigan fishing and hunting license sales, Indiana agents sold the most with 6,593 temporary and 32,704 annual nonresident fish; 320 nonresident deer; and 117 nonresident bow and arrow. Ohio led in the small game category with 940 hunting license.

Total license sales for 1948 were: resident hunt, 588,889; non resident hunt, 3,785; resident fish, 813,398; temporary nonresident fish, 163,595; annual nonresident fish, 129,755; trout stamps, 170,655; resident deer, 377,757; nonresident deer, 8,242; bow and arrow resident deer, 9,086; bow and arrow nonresident deer, 600; trapping, 21,921.

game bird's leg, it should be removed and placed in an envelope with a card telling the place and date of recovery and the number of the band. Straightening the band may prevent its tearing through the envelope and being lost in transit. The band the hunter sends in may be the key which will unlock some hitherto unknown fact about the life history and needs of his favorite game bird.

Although ruffed grouse can stand as much cold as any other native game bird in the United States and commonly sleep in snow during severe winter weather, they prefer warm roosts in summer, the Wildlife Management institute learns.

Studies being conducted in Idaho by Kenneth E. Hungerford, assistant leader of the Co-operative Wildlife Research unit at Moscow, Idaho indicate that grouse almost invariably select the "thermal belt," a stratum of warm night air usually found midway between the tops and bottoms of ridges, for their summer roosting sites. In mountainous regions, such as those found in Northern Idaho, cold air settles to the bottoms of canyons after sunset and the warm air rises, often creating a difference of from 10 to 15 degrees of temperature between the bottoms and the upper sides of canyons. Broods move to the canyon floors where water is available during the day but retire to the same warm areas each night for roosting. The studies so far indicate that the wildlife manager in mountain regions may have to be more concerned with a knowledge of microclimate than with cover types in designing a grouse management program.

With the major portion of the small game shooting passed, the conservation department discloses that preliminary investigations again show most hunting accidents occur when hunters shoot with humans in line of fire. Last year this type of accident was responsible for 35 of the 90 injuries in small game season. Incomplete accident reports by conservation officers this season indicate a dozen "in line of fire" accidents.

Grabbing the second spot for the dubious honor of causing most mishaps are hunters who leaned loaded guns against insecure rests, especially automobile fenders. Grasping gun by muzzle and/or brushing it against an object has resulted in wounding of several more hunters.

"Screwball" accidents such as trying to pick up a gun and fire it at the same time, throwing gun butt down hard on the ground causing it to discharge and beating a porcupine with stock of loaded gun have added to the injury list.

Conservation officers also have reported some accidents by adolescents hunting without permission of their parents.

Self-abnegation, that rare virtue, that good men preach and good women practice.

—O. W. Holmes

The Democratic 81st Congress did a lot of work in its first session and passed a lot of bills, but it accomplished little toward carrying out President Truman's welfare state program of socialistic legislation. This is revealed by the resume of legislative activity published a few days ago in the Congressional Daily Digest.
Between January 3 and October 19 of this year, the Senate met on 186 days and was in session 1,144 hours and 53 minutes; the House met on 165 days and was in session 704 hours and 10 minutes. During this period of nine and one-half months, 10,627 measures were introduced in Congress—3,160 in the Senate and 7,467 in the House. Of this number 1,330 Senate bills and 1,358 House bills were reported out for action by Congress. Of these there were 226 record votes in the Senate and 121 in the House, the others being voice or teller votes in which action by individual members was not recorded.
Out of all the measures introduced and reported out, only 440 bills were enacted into public law, as were 353 private bills relating to specific persons on matters not affecting the public. President Truman vetoed 32 bills, reputedly the greatest number ever vetoed by any President in any one session of Congress.
Among all the bills finally enacted by law, the only ones of importance on the President's list of must legislation were the rent control bill, public housing bill, minimum wage bill, reciprocal trade agreement bill, and the export licensing bill. None of them went through in anywhere near the form proposed by the White House. Measures proposed by President Truman which were either defeated or not acted upon included Taft-Hartley repeal, socialized medicine, federal aid to schools, civil rights, creation of a new Social Security department with a head of cabinet rank, higher income taxes, universal military training, materials allocation and price controls and a score of others.

tem. Again in the period between 90 and 86 B.C. the currency again was devalued and debts scaled down 75 per cent.
In 58 B.C., after grain subsidies had been abolished by Sulla, wheat was distributed by the government as a dole. A few years later Julius Caesar was forced to resettle 80,000 Romans to get them off the dole and to cut the relief rolls from 320,000 to 150,000 by a "means" test. Some time prior to 33 A.D. the Emperor Tiberius, when land values collapsed, created the counterpart of our Home Owners Loan corporation, set up to grant three-year loans without interest to real estate owners.
In 91 A.D. the Emperor Domitian set up what we now call the Agricultural Adjustment administration; shortly before 106 A.D. the Emperor Trajan set up a Farm Credit administration. Between 284 and 476 A. D. Diocletian and his successors boosted taxes, caused inflation, and then set up price and wage controls. In 274 A.D. the Emperor Aurelian extended relief with free bread, pork, and olive oil. He made the right to relief hereditary.
In St. Joseph, Missouri, Truck Driver Dick Rice was robbed of $40 by a gunman who tied him up and offered some advice: "Tell your company you lost $50. It's insured and you can make $10 for yourself."
In Denver, 63-year-old Nathan Mullin, stopped by two gunmen on his way home from church, routed them by slapping one of them across the face with his Bible.

Donald Melow of Spring street who has been in Jennerstown, Pennsylvania with the Ford Experimental trucks for the past month, returned to his home this weekend.
Mrs. John Paul Morrow attended a luncheon and reunion of classmates from her Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority at the home of Mrs. Louise Hendric in Monroe last Saturday.
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Croup and Mrs. Elizabeth Williams of Tampa, Florida were the weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Smith of Northville road.
Mr. and Mrs. Dow Swope of Park Place entertained their dinner bridge club Saturday evening. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Goddard, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Daane, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Truesdell, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wesley and Dr. and Mrs. Walter Hammond.
Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Wilson were hosts Friday evening to the members of their bridge club at their home on Levan road. Their guests included Mr. and Mrs. Richard Buchanan and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Worden of Detroit, and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Parmenter of Plymouth.
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Terry entertained Saturday evening having as their guests Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Brocklehurst, Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Lundquist, Mr. and Mrs. William Downing, and Mrs. Mildred Eckles.

For the Best Water Heater by far — GO ELECTRIC!

For trouble-free operation—for dependable hot water whenever you want it—contractors, plumbing dealers and builders say "Go Electric." Compare the advantages a modern electric water heater gives and you'll agree.

Perhaps it was just as well for the welfare of all Americans and the preservation of the republic that the Democratic Congress President Truman asked for and got balked at his socialistic program just as the preceding Republican Congress had done. The reason for thinking so lies in material contained in a book on "The New Deal" by Henry Haskell. The material I refer to tells how the political and economic nostrums applied in recent years by New Dealers and Fair Dealers were applied by the Roman emperors and were partly instrumental in causing the downfall of the Roman Empire and the coming of the Dark Ages of ignorance, war, starvation and disease under which Europe suffered.
In 307 B. C. the Emperor Licinius declared a moratorium on debts and promulgated a small holdings act, farm labor act, and land bank act. Then in 217 B.C. the Roman currency was devaluated to meet the financial stringency caused by the second war with Carthage. Between 133 and 121 B.C. the Gracchi, arch prototypes of modern New Dealers, created government agencies identical with our Resettlement Administration, Public Works Administration, ever normal granary and grain subsidy sys-

"We Can't Bake Like Mother, But Mother Likes Our Baking"

BABSON ASKS: Has Small Business A Big Future?

If I believe that American small business did not have a future, I should seriously question the future greatness of America itself. This coast-to-coast nation of ours is largely the product of the pioneering struggles of small businessmen and their families.

Acorns To Oaks
Trace back the history of almost any of our mighty industrial and commercial empires. You will discover that the successful corporation of today grew in stature slowly, beginning in some tiny shop or store. Humble enterprises have been the acorns, the seed corn of American success. There was magic in the American formula: Start small, learn as you earn, plow back profits, make the business pay its way.

Our basic system of private enterprise and individual opportunity has created in this country the spiritual "climate" that stimulated record-breaking growth. Even those millions of worthy men and women who chose to work for others became superior employees through knowing they always were free to "go on your own and be your own boss." The fundamental American attitude of liberty, initiative and individualism, has generated an unequalled economic productivity.

Wanted: More Than Kind Words
Everybody apparently is glad to give small business a big hand; but only a few members of this friendly cheering-section seem prepared to offer specific help. What, then, are some of the real, concrete, immediate aids which would assist small businessmen to carry on their arduous and essential activities? Let me give two simple illustrations.

I have a letter from a small operator in the coal fields. He employs about 20 men. He is trying to do his best for them. He says that they personally are satisfied with the wages, working conditions and other factors in their employment. He knows all his men by their first names and he is friendly with their families. If undisturbed by Government and Union officials, all would be happy.

Will Unions Help Or Hurt?
However, on top of all Government regulations the Union chiefs are now pressing demands which, he feels, are beyond his ability to meet and still stand in business. Now here is his question: "Why cannot the Unions scale their 'take' so that an employer will pay in proportion to his volume of business, number employed, or some other differential?" This is what this small operator is asking. It sounds sensible to me.

Another report and recommendation comes from a small manufacturer of metal specialties. He writes that government contractors tend to place with the smaller shop only a variety of trifling short orders. But for efficient handling any concern needs a reasonably long run. To make a profit, after adequate tooling up and devising new methods, takes time. Many of the smaller shops, I am informed, lack the immensely diversified equipment and experience necessary to take care of an endless hodgepodge of experimental knick-knacks.

Less Surveys and More Service
In political speeches, our governmental big-wigs are loud in applause for small business. In actual practice, the government confronts the little businessman with a maze of barbed wire entanglements. The government not only bleeds him with extortionate requirements, but applies these with legalistic red tape that is all but unintelligible to anybody but a Philadelphia lawyer.

Ostensibly to serve small business, the government has encouraged the setting up of commissions, committees, councils, authorities, advisers, administrations, offices, agencies. It has exhausted both the alphabet and the patience of the businessman who is compelled to pay the bills for this costly nonsense. Small business in America today is not seeking a hand-out, but a hand-up. It is tired of filing blanks instead of filing firm and profitable orders. Speaking of one who got his own basic training in the small-business world, I urge the government to let up on the questions for a spell; and instead to give small business a few sorely needed answers.

In Providence, charged with making improper advances to a housewife, Vacuum Cleaner Salesman John R. Marcos assured police that it was merely part of his sales technique.

Paris and New York designers are ganging up to put a little more sparkle into men's clothes. One French tailor says, "Man is in a state of vestimentary inferiority." We wonder if he'd like to step outside and say that. Mme. Schiaparelli burbles, "Men are dying to dress up, only they're afraid of being conspicuous." To help the shy lads out, the designers suggest raspberry linen slacks, black ski outfits with red scarves and green-laced boots, purple opera capes and alligator shoes with inch high crepe soles. Well, we know a fellow who wears bright red suits . . . fellow named Santa Claus.
