

Greetings for 1950-The Beginning of a New Half Century

In a few short days we will turn the calendar to 1950—the beginning of a new half century. The first 50 years of the present century hasn't been too satisfactory to mankind. During that time we have witnessed two of the most devastating wars in all history. The clouds still hang low and dark. It is that threat, that fear, which brings to mankind its greatest challenge since the beginning of time. Can we make righteousness prevail over evil? That is the question at issue—that is the thing we must decide. Tireless efforts are being made to bring about peace among all people without more conflicts, without more bloodshed.

Some are fearful of results—but righteousness has always prevailed, even though at times mankind has suffered and suffered terribly by the forces of evil. This world-wide conflict between right and wrong affects every living human being. Because it affects each one of us, then what we do has a bearing upon the final answer. If we work diligently and if we give our unlimited support to the side of right, that adds momentum to the great forces that seek to have justice prevail.

It is amazing what we can do, even in our own little circle of activities. The same struggle is going on right here, even within this place we know as Plymouth—a name that is a symbol of man's struggle for righteousness and justice. We can thank good fortune that this is a community where the vast majority believe in justice, a community that has more than once made evident its faith in man and in his hopes for a better world. The command for 1950 is a command to go forward in our struggle to make the world a place where peace and happiness and justice prevails—to make the last half of the present century a paradise on earth.

It seems like a far away accomplishment—but without objectives to accomplish what is the use of this earthly struggle? And the good Lord in His wisdom set forth peace and justice and righteousness as something for all mankind to fight for and to struggle to accomplish. May we go far in 1950 in winning the peace that did not come with our glorious victories on the fields of battle. In winning peace we win all the joys and happiness that this good earth can provide.

BUSINESS AND FINANCIAL OUTLOOK FOR 1950

By Roger W. Babson
1. The total volume of business for 1950 will be less than that of 1949, due primarily to the unfortunate labor conflicts. Considering that the innocent consumer will be the chief sufferer and will be obliged to pay the bills, it seems too bad that labor troubles should upset the appreciat.

LABOR OUTLOOK

2. Even with all the threats, there will be few wage increases during 1950. On the other hand, all labor negotiations take the minds of both the employees and the management off their regular business. However these negotiations come out, they result in a loss from the standpoint of the country as a whole.

3. There will be fewer strikes in 1950 than in 1949, but there will not be fewer extended negotiations which are very expensive in themselves.

4. The Taft-Hartley Law will continue to stand throughout 1950, although many schemes for detouring this law will be devised.

5. The great drive against the big companies will be for pensions and/or for sick and other benefits. These will probably be helpful to the wage workers and may aid in ironing out the business cycle, but they WILL BE PAID FOR BY CONSUMERS.

6. It is hoped that all parties will begin to realize during 1950 that the real road to national progress is through increasing production and greater efficiency. This is the bright light we see in the labor situation.

COMMODITY PRICES

7. Movements in commodity prices during 1950 will vary with different groups of industries and of products, but altogether there will be a general lowering during 1950.

8. We, therefore, advise going easy on inventories. 1950 is a time to get out of debt and stay out of debt. Speculation in commodities should be discouraged in 1950.

9. We believe that the cost of living index has turned down for the present. The average for 1950 will be less than for 1949.

10. Practically all retail prices will average less in 1950 than in 1949, notwithstanding the excess of money mentioned under 27-28 and 29 below.

FARM OUTLOOK

11. The total farm income for 1950 should be less than that of 1949, which means lower prices on the average for wheat, corn, pork, poultry, eggs and certain dairy products. Farmers should diversify more in 1950, get out of debt and put their surplus money into savings, in preparation for the next crop failure.

12. The supply of certain canned vegetables and fruits (except citrus) should be greater during 1950 than at the same time during 1949. The prices of these products should fall off, barring some weather, insect or blight catastrophe.

13. Poultry and dairy products will especially increase in volume during 1950 with prices averaging less than in 1949.

14. Farmers will continue to work to hold present subsidies. It is popular to criticize the vast amount of crops which the Government owns or is making loans on, but this surplus in storage may be a great blessing when the next crop failure or war comes.

What I Think and Have A Right to Say

By ELTON R. EATON

PROMISE YOURSELF FOR THE NEW YEAR.

To be so strong that nothing can disturb your peace of mind. To talk health, happiness and prosperity to every person you meet.

To make all your friends feel that there is something in them. To look at the sunny side of everything and make your optimism come true.

To think only of the best, to work only for the best and to expect only the best.

To be just as enthusiastic about the success of others as you are about your own.

To forget the mistakes of the past and press on to the greater achievements of the future.

To wear a cheerful countenance at all times and give every living creature you meet a smile.

To give so much time to the improvement of yourself that you have no time to criticize others.

To be too large for worry, too noble for anger, too strong for fear, and too happy to permit the presence of trouble.

—Ex.

CONGRATULATIONS—YOUNG MEN!

Just a word of congratulations to the members of Plymouth's Junior Chamber of Commerce who so successfully conducted this year's treasure hunt. It brought thousands of people to the stores last Monday evening — people who found time to do their treasure hunting and shop as well.

Such a venture takes a lot of time and effort on the part of a number of people who get nothing out of it, expect nothing out of it and simply do it for the good of the city in which they live.

We not only congratulate them, but commend them for their fine public spirit.

THE GOODFELLOWS "GO TO TOWN."

Once again we must say "Amen" to work of the Goodfellows of Plymouth who year after year take time off from their regular duties to sell newspapers in order to raise money so that every boy and girl in or near Plymouth can enjoy a bit of Christmas.

While the weather this year was not as disagreeable as it has been in some past years, it was not altogether too pleasant to spend five or six hours or more selling newspapers for charity.

But selling papers is only a small part of the task. There is the responsibility of buying the right things for the boys and girls, as well as some of the elderly people who would be without a Christmas if not for the thoughtfulness of the Goodfellows. May all of them be spared to continue their work for humanity for years and years to come.

Predict Business To be Good

What is the business outlook for the New Year? Every Plymouth industrial leader is looking on the bright side of the picture as to what the future holds.

They all agree that if there are no great labor disputes and strikes, there ought to be a fair business condition throughout the year, with good business prevailing during the first six months.

Cass S. Hough of the Daisy Manufacturing company says: "We expect to maintain full, steady production during 1950, and believe we may be able to show even a modest increase in sales for the year. Our January schedule will be a little slower than that of the last few months, due to re-organization of our line, and some re-tooling and rearranging of manufacturing facilities. However, February 1 should find us producing at a rate at least equal to our 1949 average."

"Our building program for 1950 calls for the expenditure of approximately $100,000. This will provide entirely new toilet, lavatory, and locker room facilities for our 550 employees. In addition are smoking and lunch rooms, a new conference room, and two new offices. This building will begin about February 1."

Earl Russell, vice president of the Wall Wire Products company, is optimistic about the first six months and believes, as do other industrial leaders, that the entire year ought to be a fairly good year, if there are no serious strikes or other conditions to upset the present trend of business.

President John C. Coleman of the Burroughs Manufacturing company reflects pretty much of the same views of these industrial leaders.

He says: "In 1950, for the first time since the war, competition (Continued on page 8)

Holiday Business in City Equals Past Records

Neva Lovewell Again Named to Direct March of Dimes Campaign

Miss Neva Lovewell

Study Possibility of Youth Center

Steps were taken Tuesday night by a group of local residents to start study on the possibility of providing recreational facilities for local children.

Meeting at the Veterans' Memorial Foundation, a committee composed of Mrs. Leo Kowalek, Floyd Tibbitts, Howard Carson, Clifford Tillotson and Dr. R. Ray Barber, were appointed to investigate similar facilities in neighboring communities.

Neva Lovewell was asked to give a complete review of the workings of the former Music Box and make recommendations as to what type of facilities would be best for Plymouth.

Discussion was held on the possibility of adding a building or addition to the present Veterans' building and turning the operation of the same over to the city recreation department.

Another meeting has been scheduled at the same place on Friday evening, January 6.

Churches Packed For Christmas

Not in years have Plymouth churches been so crowded at Christmas services as they were this year. In all of the Protestant churches as well as the Catholic, it was difficult to find seating capacity for those who desired to attend.

Pastors of these churches were highly pleased over the attendance, which exceeded that of any previous year.

Not only did the worshippers hear some exceptionally good sermons but the Christmas music was of the highest merit. Church leaders as well as attendants believe the increasing attendance is a good indication.

But Merchants Regard Additional Parking as an Absolute Necessity

In spite of nation-wide strikes and numerous lay-offs due to labor disputes and an early fall slump in business that looked serious for a time, Plymouth merchants report a Christmas business equal to, and in some cases, greater than a year ago.

But every merchant in Plymouth who was interviewed by The Plymouth Mail declared that business would have been much greater than it was if the city could offer better parking facilities than what it has at present.

Patrons constantly complained of their inability to find parking spaces. People from neighboring communities who came to Plymouth to shop found that there was no place available to park their cars, so they returned without transacting any business in Plymouth—and retail business is highly essential to the progress and development of any city.

The parking area back of the stores along Penniman avenue and the west side of Main street, was so full of cars that car drivers began parking on private property along the west side of the parking area until the owner of the lot shoved the cars back into the parking area driveway.

Except for the two days when the heavy rainfall took place just previous to Christmas, business held up remarkably well in Plymouth.

Some merchants thought that if stores opened evenings immediately after Thanksgiving and remained open nightly until Christmas time, that, too, would help business. But many declared that they did not believe it would help any to keep stores open nights longer than they did this year.

There was considerable objection on the part of shoppers to the sale of lottery tickets on automobiles on the streets during the rush holiday season, but the consensus of opinion on the part of the vast majority of retailers was to the effect that more and free off-street parking would be a tremendous boost to not only holiday businesses but business throughout the year.

While reports from many other cities and nearby communities are to the effect that Christmas business was not up to what it was last year, Plymouth merchants are fortunate in being able to say that last year's good business was equalled, and in some cases exceeded. And that's good news at any time.

A number of merchants commented about the increase in new patrons of their stores. This indicates that the expansion and growth of old established local industries and the coming of new industries to this area is already having a most beneficial result.

Every merchant declared that they believed business would remain on a steady upgrade in Plymouth and that next Christmas would see far greater sales than ever before experienced in this city.

Venison Dinner Ushers in 1950 For Wild Lifers

The Western Wayne County Conservation club will start its program of events for the year 1950 with its annual venison dinner to be held Wednesday, January 11 at 8 p.m. in the club house on Joy road.

The club would like to extend their thanks and appreciation to the local merchants and members who contributed so generously to make their Christmas party the success that it was.

To complete plans for the venison dinner and to select a guest speaker for the evening, will be the purpose of a special meeting of the board of directors on Wednesday, January 4 at 8 p.m. at the club house.

New Chamber of Commerce President Plans Program for 1950

There is going to be plenty of work for members of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce to do during the forthcoming year if the timely and ambitious program outlined by newly elected President Ray Williams is carried out.

Not only does he propose to do things to help the merchants help themselves, but he hopes to bring about close co-operation with the city government on many highly important municipal projects.

In his first public statement since election to the presidency of the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Williams declared that he is anxious to see action taken as quickly as possible to provide the south end of the city with a sewer system.

"I propose to appoint a committee to work with the city officials on the sewer project as well as our parking problem. Both are highly important projects that need immediate attention," he said.

"We need better rural-urban relations with the many thousands of people living in the rural sections around Plymouth.

"We should give serious thought to a new hospital. I believe that something can be done to bring about the establishment of a hospital for this city.

"The Chamber of Commerce should, and I believe can, do something in order to get local merchants to dress up the fronts of their stores and provide additional facilities for customers.

"We hope to do something during the forthcoming year to create a strong resistance among our residents to out-of-town door-to-door selling. We know that this practice takes a lot of business out of the city as well as leaving the buyer disappointed in what they have bought.

"The Chamber of Commerce membership should do all within its power to urge every member of congress to vote for the Hoover governmental reorganization legislation. Its adoption will be of direct benefit to every resident of the city.

"There is plenty for the Chamber of Commerce to do in addition to the few projects mentioned and we hope to accomplish much during the forthcoming year," declared President Williams yesterday.

Mr. Knapp was born in Canton township, where he lived until 35 years ago when he moved to Plymouth, residing at 294 Plymouth road. Mr. Knapp operated a trucking business.

Surviving are his sister, Mrs. Ada M. Gayfield of Port Huron and his brother, George Knapp of Plymouth.

Rev. Henry J. Walsh, D. D. officiated. Hymns were rendered by Mrs. Edna O'Conner at the organ. The active pallbearers were Messrs. Jake Hines, Henry Reddeman, Foster Brown, Carl Cronkhite, George Cronkhite and Charles Finnegan. Interment was in Riverside cemetery.

SCHOOL FOR "SKY PILOTS" . . . Airborne missionaries from the Moody Institute, Chicago, are found in every corner of the globe. Here, one of the "sky pilots" has brought his plane down in a remote region where the primitive and modern stand out in sharp contrast.

Mayor Langfield Gives Rotarians Real Surprise

It was a real after Christmas surprise that Mayor Conrad Langfield of Northville provided the Rotarians, Optimists, Exchange and Rotary guests at the meeting of the Northville Rotary club Tuesday noon.

With all solemnity President Rosso of the Northville Rotary club announced two weeks ago that those who attended the meeting on Tuesday, December 27 should bring sandwiches, as the ladies of the Presbyterian church would not be able to serve a regular dinner.

Two or three days ago club members were advised that the meeting of the club would take place in the plant of the Northville Laboratories.

When Rotarians began arriving they found present all of the village officials, Chief of Police Joe Denton, members of the Northville Exchange club and the Optimist club as well, and nearly a dozen Rotarians from Plymouth.

Then came the dinner menu—as elaborate a Christmas dinner as the chefs of the DAC ever prepared for visiting nobility. The dinner was not only prepared by DAC chefs, but waiters from the club also served the delicious meal.

There was another surprise, too. Dick Hedke, former president of Rotary International, the highest honor within the gift of Rotary, was introduced as the speaker of the day.

The affair proved as delightful a surprise as any luncheon club ever experienced—and Mayor Langfield of Northville proved himself as gracious a host as he is an efficient municipal executive. Among the guests were Al Wistert, captain of last year's Michigan football team, and officials of a number of Detroit business concerns.

Mrs. LaPointe Dies Friday

Mrs. Elizabeth R. LaPointe, a former resident of Detroit and who for the past five years has resided at 36800 Joy road in Livonia township, passed away on Friday, December 23 at the age of 70 years.

Surviving are her husband, Ralph LaPointe; six daughters and four sons, Mrs. Eva G. Foster of Mansfield, Massachusetts; Mrs. Antoinette Fogarty of Pawtucket, Rhode Island; Mrs. Frank Moody of Cumberland, Rhode Island; Harvey LaPointe of Mission, Texas; Emil LaPointe of Plymouth, Michigan; Mrs. Viola Ashbey of Providence, Rhode Island; Arthur LaPointe of Detroit, Michigan; Mrs. Edward Johnson of Pawtucket, Rhode Island; Mrs. William Walmsley of Warren, Rhode Island and Alfred LaPointe of Plymouth, Michigan. Also surviving is one brother, Z. Harquiol of New Hampshire and three sisters, Mrs. Ora Gegere, Mrs. Louise Bergeron and Miss Alphonsin Harquiol, all of Woonsocket, Rhode Island; 18 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

She was a member of Our Lady of Good Counsel church. Mrs. LaPointe was brought to the Schrader Funeral Home, and later taken to Mansfield, Massachusetts where services were held Tuesday, December 27 at 9 a.m. from St. Mary's church. Interment was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Clarence E. Bleicher, president of the DeSoto Division, Chrysler Corporation, says, "When I have a tough job in the plant and can't find an easy way to do it, I have a lazy man put on it. He'll find an easy way to do it in ten days. Then we adopt that method."

Packers to Play Flyers Monday at Riverside Arena

At Riverside Arena Monday evening, January 2, the Easton-Packers play the Arena Flyers in what should prove an exciting game in the Michigan-Ontario Amateur Roller Hockey league, with the contest starting at 8:30.

Both the Arena Flyers and the Easton-Packers are the home teams of Riverside Arena, and previous to this game the Packers had beaten the Flyers 12-1.

At the present time the Easton-Packers are tied for first place with the Arcadia-Wildcats and the Arena Flyers are tied for last place with the Detroit Barons.

Although in last place, the Flyers should give the Packers a run for their money, as they are improving rapidly in their style of play.

Rocks Triumph Over Northville For First Cage Victory of Year

Winning their first cage tilt of the season, the Plymouth Rocks edged out the Northville Mustangs 45-43 Tuesday, December 20 in an exciting and close contest.

Plymouth High was off to a quick lead as they led at one time 7-0 and 13-1 at another time in the initial period. The Rocks were ahead 16-5 at the end of the quarter, due to the phenomenal shooting of Dwight Eckler. With Eckler, Ebersole and Fenton dropping in points right and left, Plymouth led at half-time 27-16 as Northville gradually kept moving up on the Rocks.

The crowd was in an uproar in the third quarter when the Mustangs finally caught fire and kept gaining on the Plymouth quintet. Jerry Heaton and Dick Grey were sinking shots from all angles for Northville as they ferociously fought back.

The fouling started totaling up in the third period as both squads were roughing up the game considerably, and the Mustangs were still edging up within range of a victory.

Luck was with Plymouth in this tilt although Northville came close to turning the tide. The score at the end of the third stanza stood at 35-28 in favor of Plymouth.

In the final quarter three men were sent out on fouls. Captain

Dick Fenton, and Jerry Walsh of Plymouth, and Captain Jerry Heaton of Northville.

At the automatic the Rocks led 45-38 as the game got rough and exceptionally exciting in the last three minutes of play. The Rocks tried to stall for time with only a couple of minutes left in the game but Northville was making it rough for the local lads. In the last three minutes the Mustangs scored two field goals and a free throw bringing them within two points of a tie and three from a victory.

Northville was seemingly having the luck against them in this contest, as two times in the last three minutes of play they would simply lay in shots but the ball just rolled around the rim and back out. Plymouth led throughout the game, scoring the first basket and winning by two points. Northville outscored the Rocks in the last half, 27-18, but the locals had taken a substantial lead, supposedly, at half-time.

Dwight Eckler, starting his first varsity game for the Rocks, rolled up 23 points, coming within five points of the school record. Eckler has been warming the bench most of the season and he also will graduate at the end of the semester along with Keith Ebersole.

The Rock reserves also won their game with Northville by the score of 33 to 26.

Taits Upset First National Bank to End Winning Streak at Five

Winning their third straight basketball tilt of the season after dropping three in a row, Taits' Cleaners upset the league leading First Nationals 47-43 last Thursday at the Detroit House of Correction.

Fine ball handling and the spirit to win proved the winning factor in Taits' victory, throwing them into a three way tie for third place.

Although losing this contest, First National was still able to stay at the top of the Men's league.

Taits led most all the way as they took a 23-20 half-time lead and to go on to emerge victorious over the former league power, Jack Dobs, who had just joined the Cleaners, contributed 18 points in Taits' upset. Reinard Heinegar netted 17 counters for the losing cause.

Handing the Plymouth Mail their sixth consecutive loss of the year, 58-49, Atchinson-Chrysler moved into second place in the Men's league Tuesday, December 20.

Bob Norman, by scoring 27 points, broke Sammy Slough's record of 26 points netted in one ball game in league competition. DeHoCo suffered their third loss of the season 47-42, to Daisy Air Rifle Tuesday, December 20 at the DeHoCo gym, in a hotly contested encounter.

Sammy Slough connected for 21 points, bringing his season scoring mark up to 98 points in six games, for an average of 16 per game.

Following is the league standings:

Team	W	L
First National	5	1
Atchinson-Chrysler	4	2
Tait's Cleaners	3	3
DeHoCo	3	3
Daisy Air Rifle	3	3
Plymouth Mail	0	6

Basketball Loop For Old-Timers Being Planned

Several men around town have already voiced their desires to play a little more basketball before they consider themselves in the "rocking chair" classification. Anyone 30 years of age or older would be eligible and, if necessary, it could possibly include a few "crazy 28's and 29's".

All games would be played at DeHoCo—there would be no entry fee necessary as your recreation department will supply the officials and balls. All teams would play once a week.

If you are interested, talk it up around town and tell everyone who wants to play to call the recreation office, 93, so as to get his name, age and phone number.

If enough calls come in an organization meeting will be held on Wednesday, January 4 and play the first game of the season the next night, January 5, at DeHoCo. All games in this league will start at 7 p.m. sharp.

Ecneics, WCTS Win in Class D

Playing their first games at the Wayne County Training school, the Boy's Class D league got underway last Friday afternoon with two thrilling cage tilts.

The first game of the day saw the Ecneics trounce the Rock Crushers by the score of 34-17. By the way, the Ecneics is the Plymouth High school science club with science spelled backwards.

Three of the Ecneics starting five scored eight or more points, while one member of the Rock Crushers netted eight.

The W.C.T.S. Red Birds defeated the Bulldogs 27-17 in which the Red Birds led from the first quarter until the final whistle.

Melvin Schultz was high point man of the game with 10 counters and Thompson sank eight for the Red Birds. With three minutes left in the game to play, the Bulldogs were trailing by four points and then the Red Birds caught fire once more.

Gould's Cleaners lost to the Panthers by a forfeit, because they did not have enough players.

FREEDOM PAYS OFF... FOR YOU!

You hear a lot of talk about the advantages of making our government socialistic. Don't be fooled. Freedom—and that's the American Way—pays off, and here's proof: Americans are only 1/16 of the world's population. Yet this handful of people produces almost 1/2 of the world's goods—mostly for its own enjoyment. What other system beats that?

AMERICANS HAVE MORE—

MORE AUTOMOBILES	MORE TELEPHONES
MORE RADIOS	MORE UNFETTERED CHURCHES
MORE UNGAGGED RADIO STATIONS	MORE SCHOOLS
MORE AND BETTER FOOD	MORE AND BETTER CLOTHING
MORE FREE-SPEAKING NEWSPAPERS	MORE PLACES OF AMUSEMENT
MORE COMFORTABLE HOMES	More Gas and Electric Service

AMERICANS HAVE MORE OF EVERYTHING THAN ANYBODY ELSE!

Remember that, when you hear tales of the marvels of a socialistic government... when people urge that our government get that way by taking over the electric industry, steel, railroads, medicine, and so on and on. Look at the record. AMERICANS HAVE MORE OF EVERYTHING THAN ANYBODY ELSE. Freedom did it, and never forget that. It makes a lot of difference to you—and to your family.

Evangelist

Rev. John Carrara, Th.M.

Evangelist John Carrara of Fairview, New Jersey, an outstanding evangelist of the present day, is coming to conduct a series of evangelistic meetings in the Calvary Baptist church of which the Rev. Patrick Clifford is the pastor. The meetings will begin Wednesday, January 4 and continue until Sunday, January 15, 7:30 p.m., with the exception of Saturday nights.

Mr. Carrara has been in the evangelistic field for 16 years, preaching in almost every state in the union and Canada. He is in great demand as a youth speaker because of his understanding of youth and its problems. He is not only a conference speaker, but has conducted many meetings for Christian Business Men's organizations throughout the country, as well as other large city-wide meetings. He has preached for every leading denomination in America.

Mr. Carrara was ordained to the Gospel ministry before reaching 20 years of age. He graduated with the Bachelor's and Master's degrees in Theology from the National Bible College of Kansas. The degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred upon him in 1942 because of his unusual achievement in his evangelistic work.

He has been called a dynamic, fiery, convincing speaker; a spiritual dynamo starting fires of evangelism wherever he goes. His good judgment, his sense of humor, his remarkable memory and his sparkling personality have endeared him to his audiences. His devotion to Bible study enables him to quote Scripture copiously in his sermons and has thereby earned for him the title of "Walking Bible".

Mr. Carrara is also the author of three books, read throughout the English speaking world, "Enemies of Youth", "Why a Preacher and Not a Priest", "Catholicism Under the Searchlight of the Scriptures".

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST SCIENTIST. Sunday services at 10:30 a.m. Sunday school at 10:30 a.m. for pupils up to 20 years. Wednesday evening testimony at 8 p.m. "God" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, January 1. The Golden Text (Psalms 77:13) is: "Who is so great a God as our God?" Among the Bible citations is this passage, (Ps. 145: 13): "Thy kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and thy dominion endureth throughout all generations". Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 242): "There is but one way to heaven, harmony, and Christ in divine Science shows us this way. It is to know no other reality—to have no other consciousness of life—than good, God and His reflection, and to rise superior to the so-called pain and pleasure of the senses."

Morning worship, 11, sermon by the pastor, Sunday, January 1, 6 p.m. Youth Fellowship will entertain all young people home for the holidays. Board of Trustees will meet Wednesday, January 4, at 7:30 p.m. Men's Brotherhood will hold their first meeting of the year Thursday, January 5, at 6:30 p.m. All men of the church and community are invited.

St. John's Episcopal church in Plymouth will present the traditional "Feast of Lights" pageant on the Sunday after Epiphany, January 8, at 7:30 p.m. in the church. The service is open to the public.

The pageant, depicting the coming of the Wise Men of the East to worship the new-born Saviour of the world, is most meaningful and beautiful. Lighted entirely by candles, the church will present an unforgettable picture of the dramatic visit of the sages of the East to Christ Jesus.

Through the ages light has been the symbol of progress and truth. The Feast of Lights depicts the spread of Christian truth. It had its origin in the Eastern church very early, even antedating the observance of Christmas by the western church. The Feast of the Epiphany inaugurates the great missionary season of the church, and the pageant will vividly portray the first witness of the Saviour by the Gentiles.

Special music will be sung by the choir, and a truly beautiful presentation awaits those who attend, 7:30, Sunday, January 8, at St. John's Episcopal church, Plymouth.

Liquor Used by Boys Was Stolen

Additional information pertaining to the vicious assault made upon a Plymouth school boy who had just been released from a sick bed, has brought forth the fact that the liquor secured by the three boys who made the assault was stolen from a place located outside of Plymouth.

Because of the strict observance of rules pertaining to the sale of liquor within the city and by dealers in the vicinity of Plymouth, it was at no time believed that the liquor had been purchased by the boys.

Local liquor stores have for years maintained rigid alertness about sale of liquor to minors. While some who are not 21 years of age will try every trick under the sun in order to buy liquor, even using the birth record of someone else, it is known that they have not been able to make local purchases, as all dealers in this area always require additional proof than that offered.

It has not been stated what action will be taken, but authorities are reported to have the names of those who committed the assault.

We like a man to come right out and say what he thinks, if we agree with him.

Babson Urges Caution During The New Year

TAXES
15. The Federal Budget will be increased during 1950 over that for 1949.

16. Over-all Federal Taxes will not be increased during 1950 and there may even be some readjustments to encourage venture capital. Moreover, some of the nuisance taxes may be eliminated or reduced.

17. The long-term capital gains tax of 25% will remain unchanged.

18. There will be many increases in local and state taxes, and more reaching for relief by "sales" taxes or other forms of raising needed funds.

RETAIL TRADE
19. Goods on counters will be of better grade in 1950 than they were in 1949.

20. Markdown sales will continue during 1950 as consumer spending slackens due to decline in employment and other factors.

21. The dollar value of all retail sales in 1950 will be moderately downward, and the unit volume of retail sales will also be less in 1950 than in 1949.

22. Less will be spent on new building and equipment by stores and factories during 1950.

FOREIGN TRADE
23. Our exports will be down during 1950 and our imports will be up during 1950—comparing both with 1949. This will partly be accounted for by the devaluation of the English Pound and other foreign currencies.

24. Foreign credits will continue to be granted during 1950, but some of these will be direct by American business firms and investors. If our Government will get foreign governments to agree that such investments will be exempt from any new tax or other legislation by the foreign country in which the investments are made, considerable progress would be noticeable along foreign trade channels.

25. American interests will have more competition from foreign producers of raw materials and of manufactured goods during 1950 than they had during 1949. This will benefit some American concerns, but be harmful to others.

26. Fear of war with Russia will continue during 1950. World War III will come sometime; but it will not start during 1950. Those in large vulnerable cities should use these years of peace to get some small farm or country home to which they can go in case of war. Such places will be almost unobtainable when war actually comes.

DEFICIT FINANCING
27. The supply of money will be increased during 1950, but the price of Government bonds will not change much one way or the other during 1950.

28. In addition to the anticipated Federal deficit the $3,000,000,000 being distributed as insurance refunds to veterans will be mostly spent.

29. Congress will not change the price of gold during 1950.

STOCK MARKET
30. Most stocks will work up and down in about the same range during 1950 as during 1949.

31. Stocks of companies with assets mostly in natural resources, known as inflation stocks, should have the greatest demand.

32. There will be more investment buying for income during 1950 and utilities and companies making labor-saving machinery may be more popular than other industrials or railroads.

33. The wisest investors will keep a fair amount of their funds liquid throughout 1950 pending the great break in stock prices which will come someday.

BONDS
34. High-grade taxable corporate bonds bearing low coupon rates should continue at about the same prices during 1950, but of course, they will sell for much lower prices when money rates increase.

35. 1950 will see a further fading off in certain tax-exempt bonds due to the new Housing Authority Obligations to be issued during 1950.

36. The Federal Reserve will continue during 1950 the same general policy which it followed in 1949.

37. The importance of diversification will be given more attention in 1950 and wise investors will watch their bond maturities to see that they are either short or systematically staggered.

REAL ESTATE
38. The city real estate outlook is uncertain. It should continue to hold firm throughout 1950 due to less available rental space caused by pulling down old structures to save taxes and to provide parking spaces. Owing to high costs and the fear of World War III, there will be little inclination to build new city property. On the other hand, the continued movement out of our larger cities—in the interest of decentralization—may cause prices to soften.

39. There will continue to be a fair demand during 1950 for suburban real estate with a shading of prices for large places; but the residential construction boom should continue well into 1950.

40. The demand for large commercial farm acreage will be less during 1950; but small sustenance farms, especially those located close to established communities, will hold up and, perhaps, increase in price.

41. There will be some decrease during 1950 in industrial and private building. The cost of such building will decline a little and the quality of workmanship will improve. There should be an increase during 1950 in publicly financed building.

42. There will not be much change in business rentals during 1950, but residential rents will average higher in 1950. Only as property owners are granted higher rentals will there be more houses built for rental purposes.

43. Mortgage interest rates during 1950 will continue about the same as during 1949.

44. The growth in industrial pensions should help real estate sales in Florida, California, New Mexico and Arizona.

GENERAL BUSINESS
45. Many business concerns find their operations sliding down toward the break-even point. There will not be as much margin between costs and selling prices during 1950 as during 1949. Unemployment will gradually increase due to the installation of labor saving machinery and other causes.

46. Military preparedness will continue to bolster general business and employment during 1950, but this is not a healthy development.

47. Excluding Government owned commodities, the physical stock piles of manufacturers will remain about the same during 1950 as during 1949.

POLITICS
48. 1950 will be an election year. The Republican Party will remain in the doghouse. The Administration will continue to talk radically against Wall Street and the so-called "Selfish Interests", but at heart the Administration will be fairly conservative. Its bark will be far worse than its bite.

49. The Administration will continue to be sympathetic to organized labor, unless someone like John L. Lewis goes too far. In that event, such a man will be made the whipping boy, but with the consent of other prominent labor leaders.

50. The Congressional Elections of 1950 will not change the political status of Congress to any great extent.

Auto Accident Is Fatal to One

Plymouth friends of Mrs. Harry Spencer of Detroit will regret to learn of her death in an automobile accident in southern Ohio late Monday and of the critical injuries of her husband, who is a patient in a hospital at Chillicothe, Ohio.

It was but a few days ago when Mr. Spencer was in Plymouth to urge Mr. and Mrs. Ken Corey to get south with them for a winter stay. The two couples had on three previous occasions gone to Florida together for winter visits.

Mr. Corey found it impossible to get away at this time. He says he is unable to understand how the accident happened as he regarded Mr. Spencer as one of the most careful drivers on the highways.

"In the wake of the country's most serious polio epidemic," said Mr. Shapero, "our own Wayne county finds its treasury exhausted. Care and treatment for this summer's 800 victims in our community cost more than was provided by last year's March of Dimes. $2,000 is being spent for patient needs every single day.

"Actually, our polio patients are being cared for with funds contributed by the people of other states which were not so severely hit by the epidemic. The March of Dimes in 1950 must collect more money than it has ever done, for a great many persons crippled by infantile paralysis this summer will require our help for months to come."

Plymouth, which has had seven polio victims this year, contributed $1,936.68 in the 1949 March of Dimes.

will be fully able to serve the public again; in virtually every line of business, the customer will be "boss." With production capacity better able to meet consumer demand, products of the highest quality and with the most reasonable price tags will fare best.

"That is the American way of doing business. Every day 140 million people will cast their votes in the market places of America for or against the products and services offered for sale, and those businesses which serve the public well will succeed. This process of free competition has inspired American industry to render better service, and has been responsible for the constant improvement in our standard of living over the years.

"The return of healthy business conditions in 1950 will place a much greater responsibility upon the salesman. The improved products which will come from the engineering departments and the factories of industry must now be sold in competition with one another. Many new people will be needed in the sales end of practically every business in 1950. It should be a great selling year.

"There will be problems of course—serious problems. Business costs, which have grown in an alarming fashion, must be cut. Trends toward more and more government control, if continued, can seriously impair industry's ability to serve the public and the effort of business to continually raise our standard of living. Foreign policy must be set with the greatest of care, in order that the economic health of the world may gradually be restored without permanently crippling our own economy.

"Nevertheless, the outlook for 1950 is encouraging. Let us hope that it will not bring any departure from the free American path toward a better life for more and more people."

Thousands of Cartons of Apples Shipped From Plymouth as Gifts
While many gift cartons of Oregon fruit and Florida oranges were received in Plymouth as Christmas gifts, thousands and thousands of gift cartons of apples grown in the vicinity of Plymouth were shipped to mid-western and southern states.
According to Leonard Millross, Plymouth agent of the Railway Express company, there were more than 500 cartons shipped as late as Monday of last week by just one grower whose orchard is located over on the Eight Mile road east of Northville.
"I have not kept a record of the exact number of cartons of apples we have shipped out of Plymouth this holiday period, but it will run close to 6,000 cartons if not more," said Mr. Millross yesterday.
"We expect that it will be more than double that amount next year, as people living in this locality who have friends and relatives located in states where few apples are grown are finding that a gift carton of Michigan grown apples is a most popular gift," he said.
To Mr. Millross can go much of the credit for this newly created Christmas fruit business out of Plymouth. It was a number of years ago when he first tried to get apple growers to work up a Christmas business. At first he had a little success, then more and more, until now the Railway Express apple business out of Plymouth has gone way beyond former expectations.
Not so many years ago Mr. Millross made a trip down to Tennessee in an effort to create a Christmas market for Michigan grown apples. His efforts at that time were beneficial as now indicated by the hundreds and hundreds of cartons of apples being shipped by express to Tennessee and neighboring states.
Mr. Millross points out, however, that this rapidly growing Christmas business for apple growers in this part of Michigan is somewhat handicapped by a commodity rate that favors Florida fruit shipping over Michigan fruit. Florida fruit shippers can ship their crops to northern points much cheaper than Michigan apple growers can ship their fruit to the south. This is a problem to be settled in Washington when "statesmen" get around to treating all parts of the country alike.

Three Plymouth Rotarians Enjoy Famed Northville Fried Salt Pork, Corn Bread, Boiled Potato Dinner

The picture shows Mrs. Harry Clark and her assistants of Northville with Plymouth Rotarians who were present at the annual fried salt pork dinner of Northville Rotarians. Reading from left to right those in the picture are: Loren Goodale, William Pettiniggill, Elmer Zuckerman, Mrs. Harry Clark, Mrs. Charles Conklin.

Remember way back to the days when Plymouth voters held a series of famed banquets—back in the days when buffalo stew and fried salt pork and corn bread all for four bits—a 50 cent piece in modern phraseology—were served to hundreds and hundreds of patriotic citizens who believed in the American way of doing things?

Those were the days when folks held up their hands in horror because New Dealers at the time were collecting $20 a plate for fancy tid-bits at ritzy hotels throughout the country. Now you put down nothing less than a hundred dollar bill in order to be able to sit at a banquet table alongside a Fair Dealer boss.

Those "good old days" when voters were serving 50 cent banquet dinners in competition with the $20 plates of the "Pay Roll Patriots of America", were vividly recalled the other day when a number of Plymouth Rotarians went over to Northville to make up a Rotary meeting.

Old timers will remember that it was Mrs. Harry Clark of Northville who came over to Plymouth to help prepare that fried salt pork and corn bread menu for some 800 loyal Americans who attended a banquet at the Mayflower hotel that overflowed from the two big dining rooms into the basement and out through the corridors of the hotel.

The fortunate Rotarians discovered that it was Mrs. Harry Clark who had charge of the kitchen the other day over at the Presbyterian church when one of her famed fried salt pork dinners was served to members of the club.

Present for the Rotarian fried salt pork dinner were such faithful Plymouth Rotarians as Elmer Zuckerman, William Pettiniggill and Loren Goodale. Others came in later, but not in time to have the honor of having their picture taken with Mrs. Clark and her highly efficient assistants.

"It was a great dinner," said Mr. Zuckerman. "Couldn't be beat", declared Mr. Pettiniggill. "It was tops", said Grocerman Goodale.

"There was plenty of deliciously fried pork, corn bread and boiled potatoes for every one—and then some," the three declared.

Bit "Unusual" Is The Weather
Such weather!
First it's rain—then snow—some sleet—and more rain—plus such cloudy weather that Plymouth folks have a right to ask if some of the Los Angeles smog might have moved over Michigan.
But the sun did shine for a few brief moments on Monday—not everywhere, but just over the good city of Plymouth and vicinity.
It was almost a white Christmas day. The grumpy old weatherman did spread a coating of snow an inch or two deep over this part of the state the night before Christmas, but before the day was over both the snow and ice had gone the way of all things.
Now the weatherman says it may be more rain, but plenty cloudy, with colder weather in sight—and maybe snow and ice and slush and all that goes with it before the week is over. But this winter, you know.

A New Year

It is certainly a blessing that we have our allotted time on this sphere divided into years, for they provide a pause in our daily routine which gives us an opportunity for introspection.

The coming of a year to an end enables us to review the past and use it as a basis for comparison with which to plan for the future.

The beginning of a new year is a time for retrospection and resolution, a time when hindsight can be turned into foresight. Thus each year we can profit from our mistakes and chart the new year's course with the experience gained from the old.

Foolish indeed is the man who does not use this pause in his daily life to re-evaluate himself and resolve to make the changes needed to improve his character and forward his career!

Original Christmas Packages Hobby of Plymouthite

"Works of art", were the words most people used when they saw Mrs. Frazer Carmichael's collection of uniquely and beautifully wrapped Christmas packages before they were given away last Sunday. Representing hours and hours of work, the gifts are the products of imagination plus the will to "do something different".

Color and unusual textures predominate the gifts, shown above getting a last minute glance by Mrs. Carmichael. Designs executed in three dimensions make the packages look as if they were snapped straight from the Christmas display windows of New York's Lord and Taylor.

It goes without saying that Mrs. Carmichael's Christmas hobby is not one that swings into motion two nights before the big day. She says she starts planning along about the Fourth of July.

Two of her favorite packages are those black and white designs of the English type sign posts, a horse-drawn coach above a sign board with the name of the person for whom the gift is intended. Carved from plywood, the coach pattern takes intricate and painstaking care. Note the spokes on the wheels, the details on the horse and the authentic English lettering. Paint, mixed with "sparkle powder" was applied on the silhouette and when dry, the motif was glued on to the box.

Another interesting design is that of an old fashioned lady on the box to the right of the Christmas tree. Her skirt is fashioned from white ruffled crepe paper, highlighted with sequins and ribbons. The color of the background paper is bright fuschia. Toward the center of the picture is a copy of the well-known "Johnny Walker" advertisement, painted on fabric with a dash of sparkle powder dusted over the paint.

Mrs. Carmichael's hand is resting on what may be called the most unusual hat box in Michigan. It features a miniature Christmas tree, complete with ornaments. The box is wrapped so that the top may be taken off without disturbing the wrapping.

Correct Storage Makes Fish a Frequent Treat

Whether you fish through the ice for your family fish supply, or get it from your butcher, proper storage and cooking will make it more tasty eating.

Fish spoils rapidly so it should be cooled as quickly as possible after catching reminds Pauline Paul, foods researcher at Michigan State college. If you are fishing through the ice that will take care of itself.

If you are going to put the fish in frozen storage, clean them before you freeze them. Scale, clean and wash, so the fish are ready to cook when you take them out of storage. Remove heads and fins. Small fish are usually left whole but large ones may be cut in steaks or fillets.

Put just enough fish for one meal in a package so it will not be necessary to thaw more than you will use at one time. Wrap in moisture-vapor-proof paper or pack in containers lined with moisture-vapor-proof material.

Many persons like to wrap fish for baking in aluminum wrapping. Then the fish may be baked right in the wrapping. Fish should be frozen and stored at zero degrees Fahrenheit or below. Fat or oily fish may become rancid if kept too long. Storage for such fish should be no longer than four months. Lean fish may be kept six months or more.

One great thing about marriage is the fun of living two at a time. You get not only your own life's journey but an extra ticket through another life as well. Also, you get two points of view for your money.

No other governor of Michigan was ever buried in such an out-of-the-way place as was Governor Chase Salmon Osborn, but it was his wish that his final resting place be on Sugar Island in St. Marys' river just below Sault Ste Marie. Known as the Sage of the Soo, he doubtless had more descriptive terms applied to him than any other Michigan citizen. Besides being called the Sage of the Soo, he was known as The Iron Hunter, Michigan's Grand Old Man, The Last of the Great American Pioneers and The Greatest of All World Travelers.

There are four different ways one can cross the Detroit river at Detroit to get into Canada. You can go under the river, cross on the surface of the river, go over on a bridge or fly over.

Kendrick Kimball, famed out-door writer of The Detroit News provides the following recipe for ice fishermen and coon hunters:

Vanilla Vim is restful, soothing and delicious after a hard night coon hunting or ice fishing. Fill a large tumbler with shaved ice. Pour over it three ounces brandy, teaspoon of powdered sugar and the juice of a quarter lemon. Shake well, ornament with two slices of lemon and flavor with a few drops vanilla extract. Should be imbibed slowly through a straw.

A Massachusetts business man, who may have felt that his wealth entitled him to use Ohio as his private shooting preserve and that the expected nominal fine could be considered a fee for such use, received a jolt when he was taken before Magistrate Oscar Root of Circleville, Ohio, according to the Wildlife Management Institute. The bill came to $4,527.

H. Warren Beard of West Newton, Massachusetts, and five other well-to-do non-resident hunters were apprehended with 14 cock pheasants, 12 of which completed the daily bag limit for the group, by Game Protector Irvin Patrick. In addition, there were 13 hen pheasants, six quail, and one Hungarian partridge, all of which are protected by law. In court, Beard insisted upon "taking the rap" for the entire party. Waiving the two illegal cock pheasants, Magistrate Root assessed him the legal maximum, $200, for each additional bird plus court costs of $5.80 per bird. When Beard and his companions had difficulty raising money to cover the fine, an additional $564 in court costs was levied and Beard was committed to jail until the fine, one of the heaviest ever assessed against a violator of a state game law, was paid.

Jack Weed, the well known Plymouth sportsman who snagged the biggest bass ever taken out of Half Moon lake, and acts as one of the editors of The Automotive News of Detroit when not serving humanity on the end of a fish rod, comes forth with some new suggestions to Michigan fishermen who plan to do some fishing while in Florida this winter.

Writes Editor Weed: "When you go south this year—if you want to have some real fun fishing—take a fly rod along to fish Mackerel.

"I know the deep sea fishing boys look down at mackerel as just 'eating fish' and not what they would consider sport—but let them tie in a pound and one-half mackerel on a four ounce eight and one-half or nine foot fly rod and they will change their mind.

"I did—and now am not ashamed to swear that pound for pound a mackerel will give you as much fight as our big mouth bass for a limited time. I don't think they will carry on the fight as long—but while you are bringing them to the boat will give even an experienced fisherman plenty of trouble.

"I had my first—and it will not be my last I hope—experience fishing for mackerel with a fly rod off Sandy Hook about a month ago. The only change I made in my tackle other than as I regularly fish for bass out here was to substitute 100 feet of eight pound leader Nylon for my regular line—its all under-water bait fishing and not too far out so the leader material enables one to have enough line so that he could handle a 'blue' or other larger fish if they should hit the bait.

"When we started fishing we used a metal squid at the bottom of the line and put our hooks up about two feet baited with a piece of chum. As the fish were down about twenty feet when we first started fishing we caught as many on the spoon as on the bait but after they had been chummed a while they came up and I took off the spoon and fished with just a hook on the end of the leader line and baited with a piece of fish heart.

"This fishing is just like bait fishing for blue gills or trout—cast out as far as possible and let the line settle gradually. They don't hit hard—in fact they hardly hit at all but seem to suck the bait in. Once you hook them though—look out.

"They are fast and powerful and will give you quite a scrap before you boat them. Sometimes you will get one up to where he will see the boat and you'll have to let him run to save the rod, they have that much power. In my book they start nearly as fast as a bone fish—but of course don't run as long or as far before you can turn them. And if you should strike a school that is feeding as we did they will bite like blue gills in the fall—strikes as fast and as soon as you bait gets down to their level.

"Mackerel fishing (either Spanish or Cero) with a fly rod is real fun in my book and you ought to give it a try at least once."

"OUR SCHOOL BUSES"

"There has always been some controversy about our parochial school children riding in the public school buses. The following heading was in the Detroit Times of December 20.

Wyandotte Buses Opened to All Pupils

"Protestant - Catholic - Jew. That is the American way of co-operation. Why should we segregate our school children? Did our dear Lord say 'This road for Protestants and this road for the Catholics or Jews?' NO. He did not—but the small people of this earth are trying to change that law. Then we wonder why we have wars... Why we have poor crops... why epidemics of sickness... why, why, why? There is your answer.

"We have been very fortunate here in America and we have been blessed a thousand—yes a million-times for our generosity and kind hearts. BUT it takes all the people, together as a whole, to keep us prosperous.

"A phrase in the Bible says 'Suffer little children to come unto Me.' We as parents know the trials and tribulations children have in this day of divorce and fast living. If we co-operate now, we are passing on a good example to our future generations, and they in turn will pass it on. Then one day the whole world will work in harmony and peace. That should be our goal. Are we big enough to fight for it? Are we big enough to say: 'Plymouth Buses Opened to All Pupils' or are we one of those small people?"

Remember... Last January 7th When the School Board Decided to Build

This is the picture that was used to announce the plans of the Board of Education when they made the decision to ask local voters for a bond issue to provide new buildings for local kiddies. Since that time the bonds have been sold and the board is already working on plans for a new grade school. James Gallimore has since replaced Donald Sutherland as a member of the board.

Drilling a Well? A Tip For You

Hundreds of wells of good water have been located around Plymouth because some one came along with a peach tree branch, held it over a certain spot in the ground, declared that the end of it turned directly towards the earth and because the holder twisted it towards the earth, drove a well there and got water.

"They'd gotten water anyway, twig or no twig," Doubling Thomases would always say. Now comes along the Michigan Conservation department with a question mark about this old, and somewhat popular idea about the way to locate underground water.

"Quickie devices pop up regularly," says John G. Rulison, hydrologist for the department's geological survey division. "Still we have yet to find one which will accurately detect the right spot for sinking a ground well. Proponents of witching are careful not to guarantee to refund expenses incurred in drilling for a well—when such devices fail to locate a desirable supply reasonably close to the surface, or any water at all for that matter."

Actually some type of water, salty or otherwise, can be brought in anywhere in the state Rulison allowed, providing the driller goes deep enough. The expense of the drilling operation and the quality of the water is another matter.

For the person planning on a new water supply who does not want to depend on the fluctuations of a peach tree twig, the contracting movements of the extended handles of a pair of pliers, or the "telltale" movements of some gadget when supposedly centered over a likely drilling spot, Rulison has several suggestions.

If there is a neighbor nearby who has recently brought in a well on similar type land, check with him to find out how far down it was necessary to go to strike water, the quality, and the quantity.

The geological survey division, in many instances, would be able to provide pertinent geological information of the area—possibility of getting water, probable necessary drilling depth, quality of the water, and the permanency of the supply.

For the person who does not know of a competent driller in his area, the division also has available a partial list of reputable drillers in the state from which he can choose.

Rulison advises the person hiring the job done to refrain from placing so much emphasis on the price of drilling the well at so much a foot, and more on getting the assurance of a reliable driller that no possible water producing beds are overlooked. A competent driller, he says, should be able to tell whether any bed encountered in the drilling operation is worth testing as a likely producer of the desired water supply.

"It is better to pay a fair price for a good well than to get a dry hole at a bargain," he cautions.

I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me.

Children Sing For Hi-12 Members

Wednesday evening the Hi-Twelve members with their wives and children enjoyed an outstanding Christmas program. Forty children from the Wayne County Training school, under the care of Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan, Mr. Rosseti and Miss Bowers, presented a program of carols and dance. The truly outstanding merit of this performance is conclusive proof of the great work in rehabilitation being carried on under the able direction of Supt. Dr. Haskell.

President Larry Lyons introduced the new officers of Hi-12 for 1950 who will be installed in office January 4 at the Masonic temple.

Tips on Buying and Using a Variety of Beef Cuts

Don't blame your butcher if you don't get the proper cut or an economical buy in beef at the meat market. Maybe you're not familiar enough with the meat cuts—or their prices. Here is some help on the subject from Mary Bodwell, agricultural economics department food specialist at Michigan State college, and Don Stark, MSC livestock marketing specialist. Being familiar with all the different beef cuts would be a puzzling task for the average homemaker. A few general guides about cuts, their uses and relative price should be helpful, however. Top and bottom round steak, standing rump roast, boneless rump roast, "tip" steak and hind shank are all cut from the wholesale round cut, from the hind quarter. Prices of these cuts vary according to percentage of bone, and consumer demand. The nearly boneless top round steak is highest, and price ranges down to the hind shank which is the cheapest hind quarter cut. Sirloin and short loin cuts come from the back. The sirloin wholesale cut yields sirloin and pin bone steaks. Short loin yields the porterhouse, club and T-bone steaks, T-bone and club steaks, which are close to the ribs, are usually the most expensive steaks. The pin bone sirloin is usually not widely known, has a smaller demand, and therefore is somewhat cheaper than the others. The flank wholesale cut comes from the side of the beef belly. From it we get flank steaks, hamburger meat, and cut up the pieces for stew. It is also made into beef patties. Flank cuts are some of the least expensive. Rib roast, rib steak and short ribs all come from the wholesale rib cut. Short ribs are usually the cheapest rib cuts. The wholesale short plate, a continuation of the rib, is boned and rolled for boneless plate roast, or used as a stew cut with the bone left in. Either cut is relatively inexpensive. Chuck, blade and arm steaks and roasts, and boneless neck cuts come from the wholesale chuck, or shoulder. All of these cuts are less expensive than those from the hind quarter, because they usually have more bone. Boneless neck is not as tender as some of the other cuts. Only one retail cut is made from the foreshank—shank, with the bone in. It is customary to cut the shank into three pieces which vary in size. Another one of the less expensive cuts is the brisket, which is just ahead of the foreshank. It is frequently used in corned beef dishes. Price differences in the many beef cuts are usually due to consumer demand, cooking requirements of the cut, and the amount of bone and fat they contain.

Varsity Club Plans Initiation

The Varsity club of Plymouth High school began plans for its initiation of new members on Tuesday, December 20. It was decided that invitations would be sent to all new letter winners and to the boys who received letters in the past and did not join the club. The boys who wish to join the club will then attend a dinner to be held sometime in January. All boys who have won letters and not joined the club will be urged to join. Preceding this formal initiation will be the customary informal initiation. The plans for this informal initiation have been submitted to the student council for its approval.

New Music For Concert Band

Paul T. Waener, director of Plymouth High school's concert band, after returning from a conference of the National Bandmasters' association in Chicago, Illinois presented to the band scores of some of the music to be presented after Christmas vacation. Some of the music is popular and will prove interesting to band members and students who hear it next year.

The titles of these numbers are: "South Pacific" by Richard Rogers, "Waggy for Woodwinds" by Harold L. Walters, "Spaixico" by Herb Fred, "Cordova" by Ernesto Lecuona, "Das Pensionat Overture" by Franz von Suppe, "Prelude and Fugue in B minor" by J. S. Bach, and "Alpine Holiday" by Clifford Barnes. The band was very pleased with Mr. Wagner's selection of music and the members are very eager to begin practices next year.

Order blanks with complete lists of prices have been given to the seniors and the deadline for orders has been set for Friday, January 13, at which time the full payment of the order is due.

7th Grade Girls Give Holiday Tea

The seventh grade homemaking class, assisted by Mrs. Barbara Parkes, teacher, sponsored a tea for its mothers on December 22. The purpose of the tea was to exhibit Christmas presents the girls had made in class this year.

Donna Sherman made a clown, Carol Stratton, slippers and razor blade container; Pat England, shower cap and sarapoo cape; Frances Franer, baby robot; Irene Stoops sewed and embroidered a towel; Geraldine Berger, pot holder and apron; Janet Denhoff, shower mitt. Sponsored by the Eastman Kodak company, the contest judges included Julius Bryan, internationally known lecturer and photographer; C. Scott Fletcher, president of Encyclopedia Britannica Films, Inc.; and Kenneth W. Williams, manager, Photographic Illustration Division, Eastman Kodak company.

Pictures were entered in five classes—1, school projects and activities; 2, people—young and old; 3, scenic and still life; 4, animals and pets; 5, babies and small children. Judged on general interest and appeal, the photographic excellence or technique was important but not the deciding factor.

Students are invited to come into the library to see the pictures which will be there until January 6.

SCHOOL NEWS Give Correct Use to Dining Table

In your family dining room the most important piece of furniture and center of interest is the dining table which is also the most used and often the most abused. Finish of the table is one of the first considerations, advises Jessie Marion, extension home furnishings specialist at Michigan State college. If you are selecting a new table check on the type of finish and try to get one that will be suitable for the wear you will give it. Dining tables often have served not only for eating purposes, but for a study table, a game table or a catch-all. This use as a catch-all is due to its location in the room which is used as a passage way to other rooms where everyone can lay things on the table as they pass by. If you have a table which has been ruined by deep scratches and water spots, a refinishing job is in order. Before you refinish a very large bulky table, remodeling might be a good idea. Some of those huge tables can be cut down and modernized very easily. Tables that are too large for the room and for the family are a common problem. Whether you refinish the table yourself or have it done, be sure you get a finish that is suitable to the wear expected. The dull satin finish obtained by wood seals or other finishes is more durable than brittle, glassy surface finishes. Protect the finish with many thin coats of wax. Remember to use little wax and much polishing by hand or machine. With a good looking and good wearing finish it will not be necessary to cover up a marred table top with spreads.

Accomplishments

... are measured in many ways, but somehow we like to accept the standard of achievement as evidenced by the number of fine friendships formed in our associations with the people of this area in the past.

Our New Year's wish is that we may continue to merit the goodwill of our friends who have been so loyal to us in the past.

Remember....When Township Officials Broke Ground For New Hall

To look at Plymouth Township's new hall now it doesn't seem possible that it was only last June 9th that ground was broken for the building. However that was the date that this group of township officials met out on Ann Arbor road and officially started work on their beautiful new office building where all of township business is now transacted.

Michigan Mirror

A Brief Glance at Our Affairs of State

Michigan friends of Arthur E. Summerfield, the Flint chairman of the Republican National Strategy committee, are convinced that Michigan may yet rescue the national minority party from its current predicament of near total eclipse.

Since a Michigan-born man, Thomas E. Dewey of Owosso, was on the losing end of the surprise election in November, 1948, the situation has more than casual interest.

It has been the belief of Mr. Summerfield, who is the Republican National Committeeman for Michigan, that voters are entitled to a clear-cut choice of issues in the two major parties. Governor Dewey, the Republican national nominee in 1944 and again in 1948, offered a "me-too" attitude with respect to many of Roosevelt's new deal reforms.

As chairman of the national strategy committee of the Republican party Mr. Summerfield has called for an end of agreement with the Democratic party in principle by saying that "we can do it better."

Under the direction of Mr. Summerfield and the state chairman, John A. Wagner of Battle Creek the state GOP organization did wage a vigorous campaign in 1948, losing only the Governor's Office in a surprise reversal caused more by antipathy of many voters to Governor Sigler than anything else. While Governor Dewey lost in other mid-west states, he did carry Michigan, his home state, by a respectable margin.

It is the thesis of Mr. Summerfield that an important difference has developed between the Roosevelt and Truman administrations. "With Roosevelt we were drifting towards socialism, but with Truman there is no drift—it's a headlong rush," said Summerfield at the strategy meeting in Chicago. "The American people can only sense this, but the members of congress, the governors and the politicians everywhere know it. If the Democrats make any gains whatsoever in the house and senate in 1950, there is likely to be a pell-mell rush to get on the Socialist bandwagon."

The basic predicament of the Republican cause, as interpreted by many students is the fact that many wage-earners and farmers have associated the Republican party as the emblem of "selfish interest" as contrasted to the liberal position enjoyed by the Democrats.

In advocating more benefits for the masses President Roosevelt and his Democratic party successors have identified the Democratic party as the popular liberal cause of the hour. For a good generation there has been a steady movement towards centralization of power in government, both state and national.

This trend has been accelerated by two World War experiences, climaxed by a ten-year depression between wars, and recently the historical epochal event of the atomic bomb. Faced everywhere with individual and national insecurity, American citizens have sought to solve the problem of insecurity by going to Lansing and Washington increasingly for answers to these problems.

The result has been that the trend towards centralization of power at Washington has been greatly accelerated in recent years and with new welfare spending programs already approved, together with others advocated, a strong state socialism appears to be in prospect, according to Mr. Summerfield.

In opposing state socialism under an economic planning type of national administration, Summerfield would place the Republican party more on the side of traditional liberalism in behalf of rights of the individuals. As contrasted to more and more centralized control at Washington, whereby the wants of the individual would be guaranteed by the government from cradle to the grave, the Republican cause would be closely identified with survival of the American free enterprise system as linked to opportunities of the individual.

Whether the Republican party can shed the shell of its reactionary label and assume the role of a liberal leader will be an interesting development in 1950 to appraise.

At any event the "welfare state" may have met a new knight in shining armour.

Nuts Score High on Thiamin Protein And Vitamin B Counts

All the favorite varieties of tree nuts were harvested abundantly this season to bring plentiful supplies for post-holiday use. Most families relish the rich crunchiness which these foods add to ordinary dishes, so good cooks will take advantage of reasonable prices.

Nuts have more to offer than a delightful flavor. They all contain a generous amount of fat, so they're good sources of calories. This is good news for those people who are trying to gain weight. The ones who are avoiding increased curves had better use them sparingly.

There's a goodly amount of protein in nuts, too, and while it's not the most efficient kind it makes a real contribution for tissue and blood building. Nuts score on their vitamin B content, especially thiamine which helps to prevent fatigue and irritability along with promoting good digestion and appetite. And they contain iron for building red blood cells and some calcium for sound bones and teeth.

With all this to offer, they can't be considered as just plain luxuries. While they are so reasonable in price, use them generously.

It isn't necessary to have special recipes for nut dishes. Add from half to one cupful of nut meats to your favorite cake, cookie or bread mixture. Chop the nuts coarse or fine, depending on personal taste, but chop them or use a regular nut grinder so they won't be oily. The extra oil of ground nuts may make the batter too rich.

Nuts will keep almost indefinitely in the shell if stored in a cool room. When bought already shelled, store them in a tightly covered container in the refrigerator so the oil won't turn rancid. Of course, nut meats which are vacuum sealed do not need refrigeration until after the seal has been broken.

Freshly shelled nuts and those which have been carefully stored have the crispness which makes them such a pleasing addition to foods. When adding them to salad or other moist mixtures, do it shortly before serving to retain the crunchiness. This prevents discoloring of light colored ingredients as well.

As suggested above, nuts may be added to many dishes without any special recipes. However, here are a few which especially feature these foods.

WHOLE WHEAT NUT BREAD

- 1 cup sifted enriched all-purpose flour
  - 1 teaspoon baking powder
  - 1 1/2 teaspoons baking soda
  - 1 teaspoon salt
  - 1/2 cup sugar
  - 2 cups whole wheat flour
  - 1 cup chopped walnuts
  - 1/2 cup chopped raisins
  - 2 cups sour milk or buttermilk
  - 1/2 cup molasses
- Sift all-purpose flour with baking powder, soda, salt and sugar. Add whole wheat flour, walnuts and raisins and stir until well mixed. Combine sour milk and molasses. Add to dry mixture and stir only until mixed. Turn into greased loaf pan and bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees F., for about 1 hour. Makes one loaf about 9x5x3 inches.

Let stand overnight before slicing. Makes delicious sandwiches with butter, cream or pimiento cheese or chopped ripe or green olives.

- 4 1/4 ounce bottle or 1/2 cup chopped stuffed olives
- 1/2 cup finely chopped nutmeats

OLIVE NUT SANDWICH FILLING

1 tablespoon mayonnaise
Mix ingredients well. Spread between slices of buttered bread. Makes 6 large sandwiches.

HONEY NUT LOAF

- 2 cups sifted cake flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2/3 cup butter, fortified margarine or vegetable shortening
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup honey
- 3 eggs
- 1 cup finely cut nutmeats
- 1/4 cup milk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift flour with baking powder and salt. Cream shortening, add sugar a small amount at a time and cream until fluffy. Add honey in thirds, beating until thoroughly blended after each addition. Add one-fourth of flour mixture and beat until smooth. Add eggs which have been beaten until thick enough to pile up in bowl. Beat well. Add nuts. Add remaining flour mixture alternately with milk, beating after each addition. Add vanilla. Turn into greased 9x3x5 inch loaf pan. Bake in slow oven, 325 degrees F., for about 1 hour and 25 minutes. Frost with 7-minute frosting, if liked, after the cake is cool.

NOTE: To prevent separation of batter, have all ingredients at room temperature.

NUT BRITTLE

- 2 cups granulated sugar
  - 1/4 teaspoon baking soda
  - 1 teaspoon vanilla
  - 2 cups chopped nuts or a mixture of nuts and coconut
- Heat sugar in heavy pan, stirring constantly until a golden syrup is formed. Remove from heat and stir in soda, salt and vanilla as quickly as possible. Pour over nuts which have been placed in greased pan. When cold crack brittle into small pieces.
