What I Think and Have A Right to Say

AN OUTSTANDING PUBLIC SERVICE.

To our way of thinking the A & P store management has given to this country an outstanding public service through the type of advertising it has published during recent weeks. It has revealed WITH FACTS what a lot of cheap political penny-ante lawyers would do to a great business if, they could get away with it. Fortunately for AMERICA, these political buzzards are getting licked at every turn of the road.

But there is one thing we can't figure out. Why doesn't the A & P reveal the fact that the real reason for these phony anti-trust suits is for the purpose of keeping a lot of political nincompoop lawyers on the public payroll? There wouldn't be anything for them to do if a lot of useless litigation on the part of the attorney general was ended.

It is much easier, however, for certain types of lawyers to make a living off a public payroll than it is by getting out and digging up a good paying practice. It's mighty tough on the taxpayers of this nation to keep the feed trough full for a lot of useless and needless political job holders.

AIDING THE RURAL SECTIONS OF MICHIGAN.

Plans of both the Consumers Power company and the Detroit Edison company call for extensive extensions of their rural electrification programs for the ensuing year.

At the rate these two power companies are going, it will not be many years before every farm in the vast districts they serve will have available a stable electric service throughout the year.

It might be proper at this time to say that the Consumers Power company, as well as the Detroit Edison company, were pioneers in inaugurating rural electric service.

When the New Dealers came into power there was a lot of noise made about the failure of Michigan's power companies to provide the farming sections of Michigan with power lines. It was revealed at the time pin-head politicians were making these charges that Michigan power companies were far ahead of all other states in the Union in providing patrons in rural districts with electric service.

It is interesting to note that in spite of all the chatter of the blubbing swivel-chair job holders in Washington, that Michigan's lead in rural electrification continues to expand at a most rapid rate—and thanks to both the Consumers and the Edison companies for this—and NO thanks to the Washington fuzzy brains.

FEAR — FEAR EVERYWHERE.

It is a strange thing these days in talking with people from here, there and everywhere to note that most every one seems to be living in a stage of fear. They fear to plan for the future. They fear for what they now possess. They fear for the future of the country.

They fear what is being done in Washington and they fear that our high officials have so badly bungled things that we are in danger of attack at any minute from Russia. It is fear, fear everywhere and what a shame!

We think Westbrook Pegler, who writes a column for The Detroit Times and King Newspaper Syndicate, has hit the nail on the head when he points out one of the weaknesses in our form of government.

The present administration has led the country into this state of fear. Mr. Pegler says that it is due to the "flabby policy in Washington."

An unforeseen weakness in our form of government is keeping in power until next election the party which put Soviet Russia in the dominant position which she occupies today.

Dean Acheson, the Secretary of State and friend and patron of Alger Hiss, whose conviction of perjury plainly implies treason in favor of this enemy, has now belatedly concluded that Russia is incapable of good faith and that we must prepare to meet force with force.

It is not harsh judgment to say that Acheson shares the guilt of Roosevelt, Truman and a whole cult of faithless men or—to put a gentler word to some of them, fools—who have finally confronted this once great and independent nation with a disaster that might be fatal.

Acheson should be fired, and the irony of the Constitution which compels the nation to keep Truman in office now that a New York jury has choked his red herrings down his throat, is appalling.

Truman could have been loyal to his country had he not thought more of the grimy prestige of his party and of the Roosevelt myth. To distract attention from these crimes against his own country, Truman campaigned on an evil list of fake issues that not one person in 10,000 had ever thought of.

Since November, 1948, he has continued to babble about "discrimination," about lynching in the South, and about the poll tax in a few states which have a right to regulate the franchise strictly as they like, except on grounds of race or sex.

The sole purpose of Truman's "issue" was to wheedle the Negro vote in Northern centers where the dark man votes as he likes and without interference or tax.

The cynical character of Truman's resort to hatreds to draw attention from the great treason which he joyously fell heir to may be regarded as his considered comment on the intelligence of the voter. He plainly played them for fools.

Meanwhile, he was losing this nation's prestige and reducing her strength in the face of a rising power and hostility in Roosevelt's Russia.

Now that Russia has clinched with us like a fighter feeling out another, the Kremlin confidently knows from our flabby reaction that it is safe to move against us—in China, in French Indo-China, in Greece, in Western Europe, wherever Stalin elects.

The people of the United States unquestionably are in for a terrible ordeal, perhaps the loss of the republic which is badly nicked and warped anyway. Question the men in Washington who know best, and the dominating answer is that we would have a military dictatorship within 24 hours if Russia teed off on us with an attack of any of the new bombs.

We might never be a republic again. Washington, New York and our industrial cities are not only well known but thoroughly explored and mapped, whereas even those whose job it is to know Russia are not sure whether we have a roster of her cities.

Where then would American airmen drop the atom bomb and the newer one, assuming that they could get through against a Russian air force now described as the best in the world?

Russia could spare Moscow without embarrassment. Paris, Rome and probably London would become Russian military headquarters. Would we bomb those cities and what harm would we do the enemy to lay them flat and massacre their people?

This being now a contest of power, as Acheson says, where do we apply the power and how much and what are we waiting for?

This may be the tragic end of the young American republic which prospered until a crew of hateful misanthropes, the envious kind who couldn't make the team and therefore crusaded against football, got hold of the government in 1933.

They were ashamed of prosperity, of ice cream and golf as foibles of the immature. They wanted to be grown up, dirty and tough like the Muscovites. They wanted Stalin to think they were regular guys. To win his favor they sold out the United States.

Contract to Pave Forest Let

The A. J. Smith company of Detroit was awarded the contract for the paving of Forest avenue following the opening of bids on March 6. The company quoted the cost of $22,797 for the job and were low bidders.

The paving will begin about April 15 and should be completed in 40 days, weather permitting. Drury, MacNamee and Porter, engineers, are the engineers for the paving. MacNamee, of the engineering firm, opened the bids and recommended that the city commission accept the low bidder.

Second low bidder was the Oak Construction company of Detroit, and third low bidder was the Julius Fresinger company.

Completes Course With Bank's Aid

The commencement of an eight week general agriculture course at Michigan State college was held March 3. Gerald Salow of Plymouth was awarded a certificate at the commencement.

Solow attended the course through a $100 scholarship awarded him by the First National bank. Harvey Vetal also was awarded a scholarship given him by the Out-County Bankers association, but because of illness he was unable to accept it.

The following letter was received by The Mail from Mr. Salow:

"Last Friday, March 3, 1950 at 3 p.m. I received a certificate from Michigan State for the completion of an 8 weeks general agriculture short course. The commencement was held in the Fairchild theater on campus last Friday. The speaker was Mr. Taylor from Wisconsin, the subject of his speech was 'What Kind of America Do You Want to Live In.'"

"I would not have been able to attend this short course if it weren't for the generosity of Floyd Kehrl and the First National bank of Plymouth. The bank gave me a $100 scholarship. I thought this might be of interest to you and I think it was very nice of Mr. Kehrl to help me further my education in agriculture. My brother, Charles, and my mother, Mrs. Elsa Salow, live on her farm on Newburg road in Livonia township and operate 270 acres. I thank you."

Sincerely yours,
Gerald Salow.

City Manager Voted Pay Raise

City Manager Al Glassford was voted a $50 a month pay raise at the city commission meeting last Monday night. The raise is effective as of March 1.

Commissioner Hammond dissented on the vote, stating that she felt the raise should be put into effect in the budget for the next fiscal year which begins July 1. Before the raise the city manager's salary was $4,200 per year.

Promote Attendance at Church...

The attendance at church during Lent is being promoted again this year by local service clubs in Plymouth. Representatives of the clubs working on the project are (l. to r. standing) Dr. A. E. Van Ornum, Kiwanis; George Witkowski, Lions club, and John M. Campbell, Hi-12, and (seated) Loren Goodale, Rotary; Ed Houghtaling, Optimists, and David Thompson, Hi-12. They are pictured examining one of the posters which have been distributed all over the city urging citizens to attend church. The project was initiated last year by the Kiwanis club, and now all service clubs hold roll call at meetings to check on church attendance.

Dollar Day Event Pleases Stores-Buyers-Everyone

"Local residents and those of neighboring communities that visited Plymouth last weekend on the event of Dollar Days were most enthusiastic about the sale event. The response to the hundreds of values offered by merchants in The Plymouth Mail packed the streets at times and in most cases were completely cleaned out of their specials by Friday night."

There were many instances when local merchants sent to their wholesale houses two and three times to replace stocks of their advertised Dollar Day specials. All in all it turned out to be a very worthwhile event from the standpoint of the Chamber of Commerce retail merchants committee and all of the stores that participated.

Local merchants are quoted in part as to their reaction to the sale event. "Comments heard in my store indicated that shoppers were more than pleased with the values they found in town," Carl Caplin. "Merchants as a whole gave excellent values during the sale and customers seemed well pleased with the savings they made," Ralph Rostow of Graham's. "We made many more sales than we anticipated and I think we should do it more often," I. E. Kade.

"It was an excellent promotion and shows fine possibilities for even greater events in the future," R. E. Joly of Forest Motor Sales. "We were well pleased with the reception given Dollar Days and the cooperation displayed by the business people in Plymouth," Ken Groth.

"The retail merchants committee wishes to thank all of the merchants of the town that helped to make the sale the success it was. From every corner we hear favorable remarks and we intend to follow up this event with others in the very near future. The Plymouth Mail did a commendable job in cooperating and contacting all of the local stores and the banners and sale cards they furnished free to the stores helped make the event most worthwhile. Our store enjoyed a wonderful business along with the others in the sale. If anyone was missed it was merely an oversight as every effort was made to make the sale city wide. We have learned a few lessons from this one and our knowledge will only help to make the next sale even better," James Houk of Fisher Shoe store and chairman of the Chamber of Commerce retail merchants committee.

"It was good to see the merchants cooperate in a drive for better business for Plymouth and better service and values for its citizens." (Continued on page 8)

City Adopts Thorofare Plan

At the meeting of the city commission last Monday night the commissioners adopted the Thorofare plan of the City Planning Commission. The plan establishes street widths in the city and affords an alley plan for the city.

The plan was presented to the commission as a specific part of the master plan of Plymouth after careful and comprehensive surveys and studies of present conditions and future growth of the city with due regard to the neighboring territory. All commissioners voted for the adoption of the plan except Mayor Perry Richwine. He felt that the plan infringes on the property rights of owners, as the plan establishes specific measurements for setbacks of buildings from the street.

Revival Meetings Being Held at Church of God

Revival meetings will be held nightly at 7:30 p.m. until March 19 at the Plymouth Church of God. The meetings are similar to those held recently at Wheaton college in Illinois and at Asbury college in Kentucky.

These two marathons revivals were continued by the spontaneous enthusiasm of the college students. An announcement from the Plymouth Church of God states that these revivals indicate a new awakening in America of the need for spiritual development and religious dedication. All are invited to participate in the revival meetings at the church.

Predicts Good Pheasant Hunting Next Fall

The pheasant hunting season next fall looks good, according to Charles Voss, state conservation officer for this area. On 35 miles of patrol March 4 Voss spotted 81 pheasants, all in good condition.

Most of the birds were seen in corn fields. Voss stated, and they apparently have been able to find enough food in spite of the recent snow. Of the 81 pheasants, 12 were cocks and 69 were hens. The conservation officer pointed out that this is a satisfactory ratio. He patrolled the area around Plymouth, Northville and Canton township.

Today Debaters Face Hamtramck in Public Debate

The next forensic trial for Plymouth High school's first rate debate team will be held today at 4 p.m. in the high school auditorium. This contest, in which four teams will compete, is the semi-final for the state championship. The local debaters, Ronald Witt and Roger Kidston, will take the affirmative stand against the team from Hamtramck High school.

The Plymouth team has won 20 consecutive debates in the series of tournaments held during the school year. The team's consistent efforts give them an excellent chance of winning this debate which will make them eligible to compete in the state finals.

Since so many people in Plymouth have followed the team's winning streak and expressed a desire to see them in action, this debate will be open to the public. The second debate at the contest is between Hazel Park High school and Albion High school. The winner of each of the two debates will then prepare for the finals which will be held at the Schoolmasters convention April 28 in Ann Arbor.

Judges for today's debate will be Dr. James McMongle, Sherman Willson and Dr. E. Boeman, all of the Wayne university speech department.

Merritt to Speak at Optimist Club

Joe Merritt, local business man, will be guest speaker at the Optimist club dinner meeting Monday, March 13, at St. John's Episcopal church. He will speak on the subject "Three Years in a Jap Prison Camp."

Rod Hubbell reported on the Optimist-sponsored Horace Heidt show at the State Fair Coliseum in Detroit last week. Nearly 8,000 attended. Charles Finlan reported on the success of the club's teenage dances which will be continued after Easter. A report on the two basketball teams sponsored by the Optimists was given by Herb Woolweaver. One team will take part in the basketball playoffs this week.

New projects planned by the club were outlined for the coming year. The members enjoyed a dinner prepared by the ladies of St. John's church which is the new meeting place of the Optimists. The very well-fed members wish to express their appreciation to the excellent cooks.

Pheasant Hunters Will Aid in Testing Game Next Season

Pheasant hunters, operating in certain areas next fall are going to be bagging releases of genetically wild and regular game farm cocks which the conservation department will have a special interest in checking.

Some 2,500 males to be hatched and segregated at the state game farm here, offspring of wild parents which were live-trapped last year, will be tagged and released along with a like number of regular game farm cocks. The purpose is to uncover possible deficiencies of game farm stock.

With exception of the Dansville state game area, releasing locations have not been named as yet. Game men will follow the two groups of hens from the start of the nesting process. They will compare breeding behavior, hatching dates and other relevant factors, but will depend on hunter band returns for the all-important survival check of offspring.

The project actually commenced last year with the trapping of 100 hens from the Thumb area. They were mated with a wild strain of males. Eggs from these wild females were hatched and the broods were raised separately from game farm youngsters. The game workers had only 400 second generation male young to release with an equal number of regular farm stock prior to the 1949 hunting season. Consequently the number of leg-band returns is expected to be insufficient to provide reliable information.

Pheasants have resisted domestication through the years. Hunter report card returns have indicated only one in 10 of the game farm cocks released are reported shot. Recognizing the fact that many hunters do not report banded birds shot, game biologists still believe no more than one-third of the released birds are bagged.

Kiwanis Plans For Convention

More than 10,000 persons are expected to attend the 35th annual convention of Kiwanis International May 7 to 11 at Miami, Florida, officers of the Kiwanis club of Plymouth were informed today.

Byron Becker, president of the club, said that reports from the Miami Kiwanis convention headquarters indicate that preparations for the five-day meeting are fast nearing completion.

Many nationally known figures will be on hand to address delegates, representing 3,100 clubs and 200,000 members throughout the United States, Canada, Alaska, Hawaii and the Yukon territory, Becker said.

These speakers will include, among others, Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson, General Carlos P. Romulo, president of the General Assembly of the United Nations, the Rev. Marshall R. Reed, bishop of the Methodist church in the Detroit area, and John Fisher, Toronto, widely known Canadian radio commentator and newspaper columnist.

Former City Manager Cookingham Now One of Highest Paid in U. S.

L. Perry Cookingham, former city manager of Plymouth, is now receiving a salary of $25,000 per year as city manager of Kansas City, according to an article in the last issue of Holiday magazine. In a write-up of Kansas City and of the progress made in that city since the clean-up of the notorious Pendergast machine of political crooks, Holiday devoted considerable space to Roy Roberts, editor of the Kansas City Star. It was in connection with its discussion of the Star editor that City Manager Cookingham was given mention. Said the Holiday: "People in Kansas City say if you want anything done, see Roy Roberts—and if he's against it, you'd better forget the whole thing. When L. Perry Cookingham, city manager of Kansas City since the Pendergast clean-up, received an offer to take a job at a higher salary in another city, he came to the Star office and laid the matter before Roberts. Within hours, Cookingham's salary had been increased from $18,000 to $25,000 a year, and he stayed in Kansas City."

The many friends of Mr. Cookingham in Plymouth will be pleased to know that he is making such an excellent record in Kansas City. Doubtless Mr. Cookingham is now one of the highest paid city managers in the country.

In recent visits with Mr. Cookingham both Mayor Perry Richwine and William Hartmann, former city commissioner who saw Mr. Cookingham last fall, reported at the time that Mr. Cookingham was highly satisfied with his Kansas City position.

citizens," Robert Lidgard. "Dollar Days were a huge success as far as we were concerned," L. E. Wilson of the Photographic Center. "Dollar Days were as good for the merchants as they were for the buyers and we're ready for the next one," W. A. Rose. "Good stimulant for the entire town and it never hurts to bring new people to town," R. E. Tische.

"We saw many of our old customers and a lot of new ones and we consider Dollar Days a good business stimulant," Margaret Dunning. "We thought it a very successful promotion, well planned and executed," George Jackson and William Eger. "It was a successful event and we are ready to endorse another," Liberty Street Hardware.

"There were so many new faces in our store we hope it is a regular event," Saxton Feed Store. "It was a very good sale and we're ready to cooperate when there is another," J. W. Blickenstaff. "Excellent response and we should plan now for the next one so we can be prepared with greater stocks," Woodworth's 5c to $1.00 store. "Very satisfactory as a sale event and C. of C. should be commended for their efforts. There were certainly many new shoppers in town and the merchants gave excellent values," Wendell Lent.

"Dollar Days were well as far as I'm concerned, I sure sold a pile of fish. As a matter of fact over 50 pounds and that's a lot of fish," Elton Ellis of Ellis' restaurant.

"Even with the terrible weather on Thursday our sales went way over our highest expectations. We are ready for more sales and we are sure all the people in our store on those three days will be ready too," Robert Willoughby.

"It was on Monday when we checked over the sales slips of the weekend business that we realized how successful the sale event had been," Roderick Cassidy. "It was the best sale we have had in a long time and it proves that cooperation of all the merchants is truly appreciated by the people of the community. The new faces we saw in our store made us glad we participated," Dave Galin.

"The sale stimulated interest and activity in the city," Robert R. Simmons, of Simmons Jewelers. "The sale days saw many new customers and a definite general increase in the number of shoppers in town," stated the management of Wolfs Market.

"Dollar Days were successful from the standpoint of both the stores and the way the public responded to the fine values offered," Loren J. Goodale. "From comments noted it seemed to be unanimously agreed that the merchants had gone all out in creating values for this event, and it impressed new customers on how easy and convenient it is to shop in Plymouth," A. L. Lantz, of Blunk's Inc.

Funeral Held For Fred Wolfram

Funeral services were held yesterday at 2 p.m. from the Schrader Funeral home for Fred C. Wolfram who passed away Sunday, March 5 at the age of 71. On January 28 Mr. Wolfram suffered an accident in which he received severe burns which led to his death.

Mr. Wolfram lived at 14265 Middlebelt road. He was born in Redford township on February 19, 1879, and was a resident of Livonia for the past 40 years. He was formerly a member of Redford Masonic lodge.

His wife, Carrie B. Wolfram, preceded him in death in 1947. Surviving are his daughter, Mrs. Helen Matevia, of Livonia; three grandchildren, Carol Ann, Frederick and James Matevia; two brothers, William and John Wolfram, both of Livonia.

Rev. Frederick G. Poole, D.D., officiated at the service. A hymn was rendered by Alfred J. Smith, accompanied by the organ by Mrs. Alta Woodworth. The active pallbearers were John Hauk, August Hauk, Walter Wilkie, Roy Losey, William Bakhaus and Roy Hood. Interment was in Grand Lawn cemetery.

Buffet Dinner Honors Engaged Couple

Streamers of white satin and a centerpiece of snapdragons and small china wedding bells decorated the table at the buffet dinner March 5 in honor of the forthcoming wedding of Nancy Groth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Groth of Rosedale Gardens.

Miss Groth has announced that the date of her marriage to Dean William Zahn is set for July 29. The couple will be married in the Bushnell Congregational church in Detroit. Among guests attending the buffet dinner were Dean's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Zahn of Ann Arbor, and his brother, David.

The bride-to-be attended the University of Michigan, and the future bridegroom was a student at Michigan State college.

Guild Achieves Professional Touch in First Major Play

by Peter R. Miller

In its most ambitious undertaking to date, the Plymouth Theater guild has achieved a highly professional production of "John Loves Mary" which opened a three performance engagement in the Plymouth High school auditorium Monday evening before a very receptive audience.

Previously, the Guild demonstrated its capabilities with sketches and one-act plays presented to its own membership and guests. The decision to present a full-length play and one that was still fresh in the minds of both movie and play-goers required courage and faith and a willingness to shoulder a heavy production burden without hope of material gain.

Norman Krasna's fast-paced comedy of the army sergeant who returned after an overseas' absence of three years and found the girl of his dreams eagerly waiting to marry him but could not go through with the ceremony—not for a while at least—is scintillating stuff with the laughs as consistent and sharply punctuated as machine gun bursts. Like any expertly-fashioned comedy, it requires perfect timing and must be played "straight" to get the full impact of every surprise turn. To say that the Plymouth Theater guild acquitted itself nobly is to say that it was more than equal to the task.

Under Lynton Ball's direction, the play moved easily through the complications of plot that has John so hopelessly submerged at the end of act two that all the Pentagon brass and the United States Senate appear necessary to extricate him from the difficulties besetting his pending marriage to Mary.

Mrs. Earle N. Lewis as Mary McKinley, the forthright daughter of a senator, turned in a breathtaking performance—one that brimmed over with sheer artistry and equaled that of Jan Sterling, late of Broadway and now of Hollywood, who was Mary in the national company presentation which this writer witnessed.

Douglas Havershaw's Sergeant John Lawrence was superbly etched, alternately despairing and harassed, caught up in the web of his own innocent fabrication.

Mrs. Harold Kuisel in the role of Arabella Beechwood, a Red Cross aide, brought new glory to a small part. Stewart Dodge as Lt. Victor O'Leary provided an excellent characterization of a difficult role, highlighted with a priceless and believable drunken scene.

They were ably aided and abetted by Lynton Ball, Mrs. John Birchall, Dean Saxton, C. Veach Sparks, Mrs. Frank Dicks and Mrs. Hugh Law.

Mrs. Gustav Eschels, Jr. can be credited with a very capable make-up job. Evelyn Woods provided the "entre-acte" music.

The presentation was sponsored by the Plymouth Kiwanis club and proceeds will be used for the club's Girl Scout Cabin project.

Hold Services For Beatrice Jones

Funeral services were held on Monday, March 6 from the Sondergerger Funeral home for Mrs. Beatrice Jones who lived at 1424 Ann Arbor trail. She passed away March 4 at University hospital in Ann Arbor after a long illness.

Mrs. Jones, who was 51 years old at the time of her death, moved to Plymouth from Detroit in 1939. She is survived by her husband, Grayson; two sons, Grayson, Jr. and Richard; a daughter, Gloria, and a brother, Richard Delmar of Chicago. Two granddaughters also survive.

She had been a member of the Plymouth branch of the National Farm and Garden association and of the Woman's club. Funeral services were read by R. R. Purcell at 1:30 p.m. Monday. Interment was made in the Memorial Park cemetery, Skokie, Illinois, March 7.

SPRING LOAF

Meat loaves may take on a spring look, too. Here's one way to do it. Grease the loaf pan and sprinkle it generously with brown sugar. Top the brown sugar with crushed pineapple and place a ham and pork loaf mixture over it. Bake in a 350° F. oven until done. To serve, turn the loaf upside down on a platter so as to reveal the pineapple topping. Surround the loaf with bunches of green parsley.

Daane Appointed Head of Easter Seal Fund Drive

Mrs. Taylor announced that there are an estimated 1,285 crippled persons in the Wayne Out-County area. Services of the society include, arranging for children to go to and from clinics, payment of diagnostic clinic fees, special shoes and braces, teachers for the homebound children and loan of wheelchairs and crutches.

"It is our hope that this year's Easter Seal drive will far exceed those of past years in the amount of funds raised," Daane said. "With a constantly increasing population, we have also a constantly increasing number of handicapped children and adults and thus a growing demand for specialized services. Then, too, we are reaching more and more of the handicapped who heretofore stayed beyond the reach of agencies such as ours. We have a responsibility to continue expanding our services to aid all of those who require assistance. Obviously, we need greater funds to do this adequately."

By CARL PETERSON

Dr. John Parks of the George Washington Univ. School of medicine says that most doctors now like to prepare expectant fathers by talking things over with them. This is a bigger switch than the Fairy Godmother worked on Cinderella. In the past, young fathers have been regarded as only a little funnier than a fat man slipping on a banana peel. Cartoonists and radio script writers have made a jolly living depicting new Pops as being simpler than a ventriloquist's dummy. This is a step in the right direction. Next thing you know children will begin taking father seriously.

Bulldogs Trounce Panthers 30-10, Bow to Red Birds in Class D Playoffs

An improved Bulldog team came through the playoffs in Class D as they won the first game 30-10 over the Panthers February 28. Friday, March 3 they gave the Wayne County Training school Red Birds a hard time but lost to them 26-20.

In the first encounter the Bulldogs handed the Panthers their worst defeat of the season, taking a 3-5 lead at the end of the first quarter and a 15-6 margin at halftime. The Panthers scored points in the third period to the Bulldog's seven and another two counters in the final quarter to the Bulldog's eight.

Bob Erwin took scoring honors for the game with 12 points while Harry Blessing was second with eight. Klinske dropped in five for the Panthers.

March 3, the Bulldogs, hoping to make it two straight in the playoffs, met the Red Birds but were defeated in one of the finest games of the season.

The Bulldogs scored the first two field goals and led 4-0, but it wasn't long before the Red Birds started gaining on them. The Bulldogs took an 8-6 lead at the end of the first quarter and a 16-12 halftime margin.

With Clare Ebersole, Red Bird coach, shuffling up his lineup in the third period, the Training school was able to tie at the end of the quarter 16-16.

To get in the playoffs a team must win half of the regular season games or, in other words, five games. The Bulldogs won two forfeits and three games by one point, narrowly sneaking into the tourney.

Gould's Cleaners lost their first encounter of the playoffs as they bowed to the Training school 25-18 on February 28. Gould's put up a fine battle, attempting to hand the Red Birds their first defeat of the season. With the victory over the Bulldogs, the Training school won 12 twelve straight ball games.

The Panthers were the first quintet knocked out of the Class D playoffs as Gould's handed them their second defeat in the tournament 30-22 March 3 at the Training school.

Hoping to come back after they had been trounced by the Bulldogs the Panthers took a one point lead at the end of the initial period, 9-8, but this deficit was soon overcome by Gould's as the latter took the lead at half-time 15-12.

Carl Deace racked up 15 points for the victors and Jim Bloomhuff had eight. Howard Carson was high for the losers with seven counters.

Tonight, Thursday, at the Training school the winner of the March 7 game between Gould's Cleaners and the Bulldogs plays the Red Birds, which will be the final game and the deciding contest of the Class D playoffs.

Rocks Defeated in First Class B Tourney Game

Playing Walled Lake in the first game of the Class B tournament game, the Plymouth Rocks bowed to the Vikings 54-41 Wednesday, March 1 at Walled Lake.

The Vikings in their regular season had tied with Farmington and Keego Harbor for the Inter-Lakes basketball championship. Jerry Long and Jerry Parrish both made the Inter-Lakes all-league team on the Detroit Times selection.

Walled Lake got off to a quick start as they began to pop the ball through the hoop, with Jack Kelly and Jerry Long hitting from all angles. At one time in the initial period Walled Lake held a 14-3 lead over the Rocks.

Plymouth played a very low class of ball in the first half as the Vikings controlled the backboards very effectively. Dick Fenton started off the scoring for the blue and white but they could not get enough to even come close to beating Walled Lake.

At halftime Walled Lake held a commanding 29-19 margin. In the second half Coach John Sandmann elected to start almost the same team that made up the first five at the beginning as he started Finney, Dzurus, Young, Reitzel and Fenton.

Plymouth started dropping two pointers in, in the second half, but Walled Lake kept up their pace along with the Rocks. The Viking mentor cleared the bench in the second half, giving everyone an opportunity to play. Coach Sandmann of Plymouth also did quite a bit of substituting in the second half as this was the last game for many on the team.

Jerry Long of Walled Lake was high point man for the evening with 13 counters while Al Finney led the local lads with 12 points followed by Fenton with 11.

Walled Lake netted 19 field goals and 17 points on free throws as the Rocks dropped in 14 field goals and 13 charity tosses.

This game ended the basketball playing in high school for five players which included the Rock's captain, Dick Fenton, and his running mate, guard Dave Reitzel, Henry Levering, Jerry Walsh and Bill Farwell. Dick Fenton was elected to the All-League team in the Suburban B loop.

Following is the individual scoring for the tilt:

Shorts in Sports

by Al Larson

With the basketball season completed we see that the Detroit Times has selected all-league teams for this area and the top leagues in the Detroit Metropolitan area.

In the Suburban 6-B league they have picked Tommy Fairbanks and Ron McComis of Redford Union; Don Mexicotte of Trenton; Cedric Dempsey of Wayne and last but not least, Dick Fenton of Plymouth.

All of those selected were without a doubt the best in the league except for one player whom we believe does not belong there. Although Redford Union took the championship it was probably thought best to have two cagers representing this team, but we doubt if Tommy Fairbanks belongs on the all-league team.

Fairbanks, a very versatile athlete at Redford Union, was probably picked because of his popularity around the Detroit area. He is a junior and has scored about 110 points in 14 games which gives him an average of eight per game.

With few high ranking players in the league this year, with the exceptions of the other four cagers who made the all-league team, Fairbanks was picked.

To name a few, here is a list of players out-ranking him who would have made the all-league team more complete. One is another teammate of Tommy's, Welytk, who has scored 120 points in the past season; Tommy Potts of the last place Belleville team has netted 157 points in 14 games in the past season for an average of 11 per contest. Seneske of Trenton, along with Martin Clark of Wayne or Al Finney of the home town team, the Plymouth Rocks, are others.

Dick Fenton, the only Plymouth player represented on the team, well belongs on this quintet with his all around versatility as a cager. This was Dick's first full season as a varsity basketball player and he well deserves to make the team.

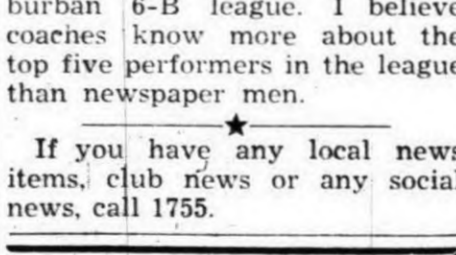

Dick was elected to captain the Rock quintet at the first of the season and he has done a fine job of it all through the campaign. Along with Dave Reitzel, these two have formed one of the best combinations at guard in the league.

Whenever a Rock cager had the basketball and did not know what to do with it, the sphere was always passed out to the cool and calm Captain Fenton. He always found something to do with it, usually setting up a play.

The other three players selected on the all-league team, Mexicotte, Dempsey and McComis, indeed belong on the quintet. Mexicotte in the only time he played against Plymouth dropped in 19 points while Dempsey racked up 19 points in one tilt and 32 another time for a total of 51 in two games and an average of 25 per game. McComis scored 17 and 15 points respectively against Plymouth.

In next week's issue of the Plymouth Mail will be a true all-league team selected by the coaches of every team in the Suburban 6-B league. I believe coaches know more about the top five performers in the league than newspaper men.

Boxing Bouts Re-scheduled For March 25

The boxing show scheduled for last Saturday in the high school gym had to be postponed at the last minute because of the coal shortage.

This show is rescheduled for Saturday, March 25 in the high school gym and the same tickets that were sold for the show of March 4 will be good for the new date, March 25.

Twelve bouts will make up the card and will include boys from Plymouth, Wayne, Ann Arbor, Livonia and Northville. These fights are unusually well matched amateur bouts and good seats in the gym that night assure good entertainment.

WCTS Leads in Class E Playoffs

Winning their first game of the Class E playoffs after taking a bye the Wayne County Training school took a commanding lead over all teams in the tourney by defeating the Optimists 26-13 last Saturday at the Training school.

The Falcons led all the way and were never threatened by the Optimists in their overwhelming victory. Taylor pushed 19 points through the hoop for the Falcons while Webb netted eight. Wilkins was high for the Optimists with six.

Formerly the Optimists had downed the Ramblers 21-12 at the Training school on Tuesday, February 28. The contest was won in the second half as the Optimists rolled up 10 points to the Ramblers four after taking a 11-8 halftime advantage.

Jerry Corey dropped in 11 points for the Optimists and Jim Brinks six. Finlan netted six for the defeated and Bogenschutz 4.

In the Class F Recreation league the Firemen held a firm grip onto the top position, having won three straight games in the playoffs, the most recent being their 32-7 swamp over the Optimists Saturday, March 4.

Kenny Kisabeth and Joe Signorelli each wound up the game, with 10 points and Tillotson finished with eight. Tommy Rutherford and Art Secord did all the scoring for the Optimists, netting four and three points respectively.

The Wolverines from the Training school defeated the Great Americans 21-17 last Saturday, for their second win of the F playoffs against one defeat. Cichowlas once again led his team to victory, dropping in 11 points. Kelly had seven for the Great Americans and Vinson five for the Wolverines.

Ecneics Swamped by Gould's 55-3

With Jim Bloomhuff racking up 20 points, Gould's Cleaners stormed past the Ecneics 55-3 at the Wayne County Training school February 23.

Gould's had to win this tilt to make the playoffs and they assured themselves by smothering the Ecneics, who also could have made the playoffs by winning this contest.

At the end of the initial period, Gould's led 20-0 and 34-2 at halftime. The Ecneics dropped in only one point in the last half as the Cleaners rolled up 21. Jim Bloomhuff took scoring honors with 20 while Jim Rorabacher looped in 14. Don Helm scored all three of the Ecneics points.

By winning this game Gould's fell into a three way tie with the Bulldogs and Panthers for second place in the league.

Ypsi Trounces Romulus 41-29 in Girls' Loop

In the first two games of the playoffs in the Girls' Inter-City league held at Plymouth February 27, the Ypsilanti Sophisticians trounced Romulus 41-29 with Naomi Hill and Van Slyke doing the scoring for the victors.

Daisy defeated Willow Village 32-20 with McGough making 14 points and Gloria Fellows 10, the same night. Donnelly dropped in 11 counters for the losers.

Twin Pines and the Wayne Merchants drew byes on the first round and in the second round Twin Pines took the Wayne sextet 33-19 with Eleanor Wilkins racking up 23 points for the winners on Thursday, March 2. Wayne made only four field goals and the rest of their points were scored on free throws.

Daisy won over the Ypsilanti Sophisticians 39-26 March 2 with Gloria Fellows making seven field goals and three charity shots for 17 points while Naomi Hill got 11 for the defeated.

The next round pitted Willow Village against Romulus March 6 and the Ypsi Sophisticians against the Wayne Merchants. The winners of these two games will meet at Willow Village Community house at 7 p.m. followed by Daisy vs. Twin Pines at 8:15 tonight, Thursday. The winner of the last game will represent Plymouth in the state tournament.

The Plymouth Mail
Plymouth, Michigan

To The Editor:
Hurray for our powerful press! I'm glad they're backing the doctors and not the politician's "dream." I'm referring to the controversial socialized medicine. Have you read Harold E. Stassen's series of articles appearing in the January, February and March issues of Reader's Digest? He has been in England, investigating this problem. I think any American with the brains God gave us will see that it can't work! Of course, those whose brains are warped with all these "isms" don't care to see right from wrong anyway! The people who are truly Americans, working and striving to make this a better country to live in, are in the majority so let's hope this farce called socialized medicine dies a sudden death!

I want to go to the doctor, dentist and hospital of my choice. I don't want the government telling me whom I shall go to. I want the same freedom for my three sons. If I need an X-ray of my teeth made, I don't want them using the size film they use for a stomach X-ray. That came out in one of the leading women's magazines. What do Washington politicians know about supplies needed by doctors, dentists and nurses? That's just a minor example of the chaos that Socialism in any way, shape or form, would bring.

If you want an example of how "cheaply" a government owned and operated business is, just get

R.E.A. power, instead of power sold by some other company. Sure, we have the electric power and are very thankful for it, but we pay twice as much per month as you do for two months, and plus that, when a light bulb burns out or an electric cord gives out we have to throw them away and buy new.

I wrote to the State Congress of P.T.A. in Lansing, telling them of my fear of Socialized Medicine, Welfare State Socialism, etc. I said I thought it was up to the P.T.A.'s of this country to denounce all these "isms," etc. Apparently they thought my letter rather pertinent, as they sent it to Mrs. Church, our P.T.A. president. I received a lovely letter from her in which she assured me that she would bring the matter up at the next manager's board meeting. People laugh and say, "When in doubt bring it up at P.T.A." We are there for the welfare of children and youth in the community. This subject is vital to the lives and happiness of our children!

What can we do? Well, we can teach ourselves and our children what a Democracy is! Talk to our aliens, or a vast majority of them, and what do you find? We, who were born in this country, can pledge allegiance to the flag—what else do we know? Our aliens, who have become citizens and are grateful for freedom our country offers, not only know his pledge of allegiance, he can tell you more about our country, the history of it, and how it operates, much better than we do. He's interested. Are we? No, we take it for granted like the very air we breathe. We're too self centered and egotistical. If someone steals one of our prized possessions we're ready to do murder. But, someone is ready to take away our way of life and freedom—and what happens? We sit back and say, "til it's too late, "Oh, that doesn't bother me! I voted for so and so, let him do away with it!" Let's quit sitting back and licking our chops, let's do something NOW!

Sincerely,
Mrs. Elmer J. Wieland

SUNDAY'S SERMON

REV. ROBERT H. HARPER
The Church Empowered
Lesson Acts 2: 1-4, 14-17, 37-41
Memory Selection: Acts 2: 38

THE LESSON tells of the founding of the Christian church, by the one hundred and twenty in the upper room. It was the fiftieth day after the beginning of the Passover. In the miracle worked, two things may be noted—the disciples were filled with the Holy Ghost, and they spoke with "other tongues."

This fulfilled what Jesus had said to the disciples: "Ye shall receive power after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you." In the lesson we find the mighty prologue of the Acts—the abundant reason for the great activity recorded in the book. The gift of speaking with "other tongues" enabled the disciples to speak to every person present, and it initiated a wide-spread evangelism. When they who heard returned to their own countries they must have told the gospel story to their people.

Peter, who had come into a natural leadership, preached to the people. Instead of being drunk, as scoffers charged, Peter declared that the disciples were having fulfilled in them the prophet Joel who wrote that God in the latter days would pour out his Spirit upon all flesh. There was never a greater sermon than that Peter preached. Three thousand people were added to the original one hundred and twenty.

Thus was the Church prepared for its great task of proclaiming the gospel throughout the world. It is a task too great for mortal strength. At the present it is certainly a task too great.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST: Sunday services at 10:30 a.m. Sunday school, 10:30 a.m. for pupils up to 20 years. "Substance" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, March 12. The Golden Text (Ecclesiastes 3:14) is: "I know that, whatsoever God doeth, it shall be for ever: nothing can be put to it, nor any thing taken from it." Among the Bible citations is this passage, (1 Cor. 2:9): "But as it is written, Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him. Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 349): "In Christian Science, substance is understood to be Spirit, while the opponents of Christian Science believe substance to be matter. They think of matter as something and almost the only thing, and of the things which pertain to Spirit as next to nothing, or as very far removed from daily experience. Christian Science takes exactly the opposite view."

Episcopalians to Begin Campaign for Funds Sunday

The Rt. Rev. Sherrill

Following a period of several weeks during which preliminary plans have been carried out, officials of the Episcopal diocese of Michigan have announced the inauguration of a campaign for the raising of nearly a million dollars to be spent on various projects in the Diocese, and the share of the Diocese in the greatly increased budget of the General Church.

Here in Plymouth members of St. John's Episcopal church, led by their rector, the Rev. Alexander Miller, have worked in conjunction with the program suggested by the National church organization, Roland Bonamici is the parish chairman for the campaign, with some 20 canvassers taking part in the program. Down Under The Florida Palm Trees With The Mail's Roving Wolverine

Nature, which has been most kind to the interesting state of Florida, came to its rescue again this year. Now that the tourist season is about over, those who were bemoaning lack of business during the early and middle part of the winter, are thanking Mother Nature for sending the snows, the blizzards, the ice, the sleet and the zero weather to western, northern and eastern states.

What started out to be a flop as a tourist season for Florida, has turned out to be for legitimate business about one of the best years the state has had since the "black market" money spenders had cashed in their big dough.

Florida residents now say that there is every reason to believe that when totals are made up in a few weeks it will be revealed that this year is the tops of all for the tourist business.

But there is one thing it is hard to figure out. The tourist business is a seasonal "crop" so to speak. Why, therefore, must it be made a season for unreasonable prices?

We do the same thing in Michigan—just the minute there is a big rush of people to the northern part of the state during the summer, up go the prices. The same down here. When the season is over, prices begin to go down. Already one sees signs in eating places that the price of a cup of coffee is now 5 cents, instead of 8 or 10 cents. In cafeterias certain vegetable dishes that were marked 12 cents before the rush began, went up to 15 cents. Some are now back to 12 cents.

Down in Detroit last fall I saw a certain book in the window of a book store with a price mark of $3.75 cents on it. I thought it would be a good book to buy for a Christmas present, so two or three weeks before Christmas I went back to the bookstore and the price of that SAME book had been advanced to $7.50.

That's just plain robbery of Christmas shoppers—just as are the abnormal prices charged to people who have saved a few extra dollars for a vacation either in northern Michigan or southern Florida. Why shouldn't those who are in business in these vacation localities look upon additional vacation business as they do any business? Their cost prices are no higher than they were before vacation periods started. Their taxes do not go up and the help they hire gets the same wages as during off-seasons.

Up in East Tawas last summer, a fish dealer at one period had six pounds of smoked herring advertised for $1.00. A few days later there was a big rush of tourists going back home to the southern part of the state. His six pounds for a dollar sign had been taken down. When you went in to buy some smoked herring the price had been advanced to 40 cents a pound.

That's just plain tourist gyping. Florida started out to do that in a big way after the war ended. The result of it was that most of these "gyppers"—and the majority of them were from the north—are no longer in business.

Up in Oscoda there is a little eating place on the edge of the town. The prices remain the same, winter, summer, spring and fall. This fellow now has all the business he can do.

It is a notorious fact that even the grocery stores in northern Michigan, the chain stores included, jog up their prices during the rush season. This is NOT as it should be, either in Michigan or Florida.

Why doesn't the average business man look upon this tourist business simply as ADDITIONAL business upon which he makes his same rate of profit as he does any other business?

As one travels through Canada you will find extra rates being charged because you are a tourist. Their rates remain stationary throughout the year. As a result Canadian tourist business is jumping by leaps and bounds.

Well, the Florida winter resort season is about over. In a few weeks you will be reading advertisements of hotel rooms available for $2 to $5 or $6 a day that are now available at prices the average person cannot hope to pay.

One of the Miami newspapers the other day published a letter written by the president of a southern college for colored people. His views of the so-called racial question contain so much common sense that readers of this column will be pleased, I am sure, to read it. The letter follows:

Dear Editor: The American Negro is too sensitive about his rights. Why is he always agitating? If he is being discriminated against, that is, not being given an equal opportunity, he has just cause for complaint.

But being separated from the White man is another thing. If the White man does not want the Negro to have association with him, why should the Negro not have race pride enough to remain separate for his own welfare, security and integrity?

The Negro is always agitating about segregation, which is no real issue at all because the Negro is separated everywhere, both North and South.

Much of this is by his own choice in order to keep alive. Segregation or separation which brings with it an equal opportunity is best for the Negro, either North or South.

On separation the Negro thrives where without he especially the trained Negro, would starve to death or be without jobs or positions which have their very existence from the fact that they are segregated jobs.

As I see it, there are no insurmountable problems that confront the race except as the Negroes make the problems themselves.

The Negro everywhere needs the common-sense philosophy of Booker T. Washington. When Booker T. Washington lived he was confronted with much more discouragement than the Negro of today.

He handled himself in such a way as to gain the White man's respect and thereby his wholehearted support for racial betterment and better feeling between the races.

What Negro has been so signally honored as Booker T. Washington by his country? What Negro has had his visage placed on the money of his country as well as on the postage stamps of the nation?

Both Booker T. Washington and George Washington Carver are men worthy of every Negro boy seeking to emulate.

These men have done more for the betterment of racial relations than all the agitating Negroes combined.

The trained Negro should spend more time teaching the young Negro to get hold of wealth, property, business, be thrifty, to have a high moral character and face the facts in a common-sense way. Fortified with the above things, he is fully equipped to live side by side with the White man in harmony, and a better day for both races will result.

The common-sense philosophy of Booker T. Washington was the only one for the Negro years ago and still is today. The following is just as important as when it was uttered over 50 years ago: "As far as the two races need each other they should be one as the hand, but in those things where there is no mutual need they should be as separate as the fingers on the hand."

Dr. E. H. Miller, Claflin Negro University, Orangeburg, S.C.

So you like to fish do you—and frequently you buy ocean fish from some of the fish stores in Detroit. You had better be a little careful about it. Biscayne bay is a highly polluted body of water. People are not allowed to bathe in it. Water sports are prohibited because of its contamination.

But COMMERCIAL fishing is permitted to operate full blast. A newspaper article the other day pointed out that the fish taken from this bay are shipped to northern points for retail sale. It advocated that commercial fishing in the bay be terminated. And how do you know that some of the ocean fish you buy might not be from this contaminated body of water?

Symphony Notes

by Grace Von Bergen
To some people, music reviews may become old stuff... but there is something new and exciting about every concert performed by the Plymouth Symphony orchestra! Perhaps it is the spirit of confidence and good feeling engendered that makes the music a definite challenge to the listener to find competent adjectives to describe the performance.

The last concert found the auditorium at the high school well filled—every seat taken—and a few more added to the back rows in the last minute. Only three numbers appeared on the program—but they were well chosen. Brahms' Symphony No. 2 in D Major was the opening selection, a composition with intricate tonal passages which were beautifully interpreted. The principals of the various sections of the orchestra can truly be appreciated for their understanding and performance and the complete balance of the whole orchestra, with the principals, was notable throughout the concert.

Evelyn Woods, concert pianist, gave an exacting and remarkable display of musicianship in her performance of Grieg's Concerto in A Minor. She made a pleasing appearance in her gown of green velvet cut in regal design. One is amazed with the strength and definite sureness which is demanded by the composition she chose in her role as the soloist. Her technique is complete—from the delicate passages to the smooth glissandi.

This concerto balanced the program between the Brahms opening selection and Schubert's Overture to Rosamunde which concluded it. To the true Scandinavian ear, the Grieg concerto seems apropos of the turbulent flood and storm season preceding spring, the tempestuous tonal ranges calling to mind torments falls diminishing into interludes of melody—seemingly like the trickling mountain streams against a background of white birch trees, wild flowers, the songs of the birds, and crisp cool mornings of life, love and hope eternal.

The soloist was accompanied by the orchestra with complimentary eloquence. In the Rosamunde Overture, Paul T. Wagner, silhouetted against the light setting the stage, seemed a poetry of motion. The graceful manipulation of his baton and his gestures commanding the lyrical qualities of this number would even intrigue a novice at a symphony concert. He conducts with an elan much desired by many musicians in the field of conducting.

If your reviewer has gone overboard with adjectives, consider then the remarks of the intermission-speaker, Dr. Henry J. Walsh, who called attention to the fact, that in spite of the coal strike and international problems dealing with the hydrogen bomb, there are folks who come out to listen to Brahms, and experience the power of detachment. He alluded to the passionate, wonderful and exultant pulse of this music, and that Plymouth was indeed fortunate to hear it. He declared that the worse indictment of the city of Detroit, a city with such wealth and magnitude is its inability to maintain an orchestra.

Dr. Walsh spoke glowingly of the "real venture in faith" which Paul T. Wagner exhibited in his belief that there were enough music players in and around Plymouth to perform a symphony, and that there were also people in the community who would come out to hear them play. He reminded the audience that the musicians were not professionals but come from every walk of life, classified as amateurs or persons who love what they are doing.

"Some of you who may be on the 'borderline' and don't know whether you want to come back to hear this type of music again—remember this is mature music, and appreciation for it must be cultivated," Dr. Walsh declared, adding that it was the "discipline of the spirit."

One of the nicest teas of the season was arranged by Mrs. Paul J. Wiedman and her committee. The table was gaily decorated with tulips, pussywillows and tall green tapers, following a spring theme. Mrs. Byron Becker and Mrs. Byron Champion graced the tea table with their presence.

Flavorful Cheese Used in Taste Tempting Recipes

Nippy—mild—or in between, Plymouth homemakers recognize cheese as one of the best foods of which to build meatless luncheon or dinner menus.

Cheddar cheese (American or store cheese) is the standby for most cooking purposes. This kind of cheese is packed with food value, being about one-third protein for tissue and blood building, and one-third fat for energy.

Processed American cheese is almost like ordinary cheddar in food value. The preparation pasteurizes it and gives it a smoother consistency so it slices easily.

The flavor of cheddar cheese and the processed cheese or cheese food prepared from it varies with age. Sharp cheese may be three or four years old, while the mild cheese may be only a few months old.

The cheese becomes creamier in texture as it ages so many people prefer it on that score as well as for more robust flavor.

To have cheese dishes at their best in flavor and texture it's necessary to go easy on the heat. Keep the temperature low and

Give Facts on New Bed Linens

New developments in bed linens, after years of using the traditional kinds, attract homemakers as do new kitchen gadgets and improvements.

Answers to questions about the new mitered-corner bed sheets, mention both advantages and disadvantages of these new sheets.

These sheets are designed to fit the mattress perfectly and to eliminate the problem of sheet ends from pulling out. This, of course, will save homemakers time in making the beds every morning.

Some homemakers have found it a little more difficult to iron and fold the mitered-corner sheets but the advantages of having a neat bed seem to outweigh this disadvantage.

Another innovation increasingly popular with homemakers is colored sheets for everyday use.

Try Simple, Swift Method For Making Fluffy White Cake

A fluffy, delicate white cake is yours with a simple recipe and a set of simple directions. Work with speed and care, and the results will be palate perfect.

- WHITE CAKE 4 cups egg whites 2 3/4 cups sifted cake flour 4 teaspoons baking powder 3/4 cup butter or margarine 1 cup sugar 1/2 cup sugar 1 teaspoon vanilla extract 1 teaspoon almond extract 1 cup milk

Step 1. Get out all ingredients. Note, it's important to bring eggs and butter to room temperature.

Step 2. Start your oven at 350 degrees F. or moderate.

Step 3. Separate eggs, putting whites in a large bowl.

Step 4. Grease evenly the bottoms and sides of three 8-inch cake pans. Then coat pans with flour and shaking vigorously so there is a film of flour all over bottoms and sides.

Step 5. Sift flour. Then spoon lightly into a standard measuring cup and cut off excess to make level cup.

Step 6. Work or cream butter or margarine with well-scrubbed hands until very creamy.

Step 7. Beat egg whites until they are stiff enough to stand up in points.

Step 8. Combine vanilla and almond extracts with milk. Then add flour and milk alternately.

Step 9. Fold or mix meringue into batter with a gentle hand.

Step 10. Pour batter into floured pans dividing your batter evenly.

One glass of whole milk yields about the same amount of energy as one and one-half potatoes, three slices of bread, or a quarter of a pound of lean meat.

Institute Gives Advice for Care of Child's Feet

The National Shoe institute advises that when your child's feet are measured for new shoes, you be sure that he is standing with full weight on both feet.

1. When the child is standing, there should be one-half to three-fourths inch from tip of the longest toe to end of the shoe.

2. The heel should fit snugly and be wide at the base to provide a good foundation for walking.

3. If the shoe is wide enough across the vamp so that you can pick up a slight wrinkle, you can be assured that the child's foot will not be cramped.

4. The arch should conform to the natural arch of the foot.

5. Be sure that the youngster tries on both shoes.

6. In selecting a shoe for a baby, buy one with a puffy toe. In fact, the only part of a baby's shoe that should fit snugly is the heel, which should grip the foot firmly, as the heel controls and balances the foot.

7. Grind the pulp. Add to rind with water, soda. Cover. Bring to a boil. Simmer 15 minutes.

8. Bring to a boil again and cook until drops from side of spoon run together (about 1 hour).

9. Pour into sterilized glasses or jars. Cool slightly. Cover with 1/4 inch melted paraffin.

10. Make 16 six-ounce glasses of perfect marmalade.

Develop the Art of Seasoning Foods with Salt

The proper function of salt is to develop and bring out the natural flavors of foods—not to make foods taste salty.

Pure salt stimulates the sense of taste and helps bring out hidden flavors; it makes good food taste better.

Salt decreases the sourness of acids and increases the sweetness of sugars. Try this simple experiment to illustrate these points:

1. Squeeze the juice from a grapefruit and strain. Place equal amounts in two glasses.

2. Sprinkle salt into one glass, a little at a time, tasting after salt dissolves.

3. Compare juice for flavor with juice that contains no salt.

4. Note how the flavor has been brought out, sweetness increased, and sourness decreased by the addition of salt.

It was the Cleveland Cliffs Iron company which established one of Michigan's most important forest experimental stations. It was located on a 640-acre tract of land in the Upper Peninsula. There are now more than 5,000 acres in the tract, which first began operating in 1926.

Two of Lansing's most beautiful and popular parks were donated by private citizens, to the city. Potter park, with more than 100 acres located on Red Cedar river within the city limits, was donated to the citizens of Lansing by the late James W. Potter. The Ranney park, located east of Lansing, was given to the city by George E. Ranney. There are more than 20 acres in this park.

The beautiful city of Marshall, the county seat of Calhoun county, at one time hoped to be selected as the Michigan state capital. The citizens were so enthusiastic about the plan that they set aside a site known as Capitol Hill. While the Michigan state senate voted for Marshall, it was the house of representatives which finally forced the selection of Lansing as Michigan's capital.

So you are planning to burn over that low-land on the back of your farm, are you? Or is it that uncultivated field or a woodlot? Well, according to an announcement from Michigan's conservation department, persons who permit potentially uncontrollable grass fires next spring may think they are getting extinguishing orders direct from heaven.

One conservation department forest fire patrol airplane will have a specially made loudspeaker fastened to the fuselage or wing also as a means of making immediate contact with and directing radio-equipped forest fire fighters in process of curbing large fires. Should the airplane-to-ground contact prove effective in fighting fires, the department will install speakers on other aircraft.

Department pilot, Peter Van Valin, who covers the northern lower peninsula out of Roscommon, expects his speaker will be heard for a maximum distance of one mile under normal conditions. Conservation department points out that an amended state law requires a permit to start an outdoor fire except for domestic purposes or when the ground is snow covered.

Michigan, which has the largest fresh water supply of any state in the Union, right now is not much concerned about the water shortage in certain parts of the nation.

But in the minds of many it should be. Swamp drainage, long the aim of every drain commissioner Michigan ever had, has already had its bad results in lowering the underground water sheds of the state.

How much lower they will get as the result of this swamp land drainage and the destruction of forests and bushes along creek and river bottomlands, no one can guess. But it is not a hopeful picture, according to those who know.

In a hard-hitting article entitled "Turn off That Faucet" appearing in the February issue of the ATLANTIC MONTHLY, Arthur Carhart, one of America's most vigorous campaigners for the cause of conservation, wades into the water problem with both fists swinging, according to the Wildlife Management Institute.

Although New York City, because of its size, density of population, and industrial importance, has received much publicity, the water shortage is not local. As Carhart points out, it extends from the cranberry bogs of Cape Cod to the oil refineries of Texas, from Oregon's apple orchards to Florida's coastal resorts. In some localities, as in New York, there are adequate existing sources of potential water supplies, in other cases, the problem is more complex and even more critical, for some communities have no available ground water supplies which are not already being tapped. In many of these, pumping far exceeds the rate of flow into subterranean reservoirs.

The solution, as seen by Carhart, lies in better watershed management; the adoption of a flood control program aimed at holding water on the land where it may be absorbed instead of running through ditches into dredged and leveed rivers to the sea; and in cleaning up polluted streams so that their waters may be used by industries without tapping underground water supplies.

Michigan probably has more "firsts" than any other state in the Union. Comes forth an announcement from the U. S. Forest Service which states that our state has another nomination for the largest tree designation in an eastern white pine which measures 17 feet and ten inches in circumference.

The specimen is on White River Timber company land northwest of Bergland in the Upper Peninsula, according to a U. S. Forest Service report to the conservation department's forestry division. American Forestry Association records show a Wisconsin specimen 17 feet and two inches in circumference as the record-holder up to this time.

Michigan also has the largest white spruce, eight feet and nearly nine inches in girth. It was discovered on a Copper Range company tree farm last fall.

The Michigan United Conservation Clubs thinks it entirely proper and right—and a duty—for church leaders to preach conservation.

This organization recently urged all of the pastors of Michigan to take part in a state-wide movement to urge conservation of both natural and human resources.

There are over 200 clubs and associations organized as conservation groups, affiliate with the MUCC. Its total membership is over 150,000. "Without a continuing abundance of natural resources, human resources will inevitably deteriorate," Marshall Westfall, MUCC president, points out. "The conservation, or wise use, of natural resources is not merely a physical problem; it is a moral problem as well."

"Michigan United Conservation Clubs believes it is entirely fitting for churches to urge their members to dedicate themselves to the principles of America's Conservation Pledge, which states: 'I give my pledge as an American to save and faithfully to defend from waste the natural resources of my country—its soils and minerals, its forests, waters, and wildlife.'"

When the first lock was built at the Soo in 1855 many local residents of Sault Ste. Marie resented the improvement very much. The lock removed a good share of their income—made from portaging freight from Lake Huron to Lake Superior, around the Rapids at Sault Ste. Marie. Now the locks are an important factor in the city's business. Plans are already under way for a hundredth anniversary celebration in 1955 of the building of the first lock.

Niles, one of the substantial little cities over in southwestern Michigan, known for years as an important railway center, is called the Four Flags City. It is the only locality in Michigan that was at one time under the control of four different nations, France, England, Spain—and the United States.

At one time some of the minerals mined in the Upper Peninsula were sent to England to be smelted.

Total commercial fish haul from Michigan waters of Great Lakes in 1948 had a $5,100,000 valuation, according to the conservation department's fish division.

The gizzard shad, one of the less desirable fish species, also is known as the sawbelly, lake shad, fresh water shad, skip jack and blue herring.

No area of significant size in Michigan is without streams.

Approximately one-half of the lakes in Michigan are less than ten acres in surface area and only 19 lakes have more than 5,000 acres.

According to information released recently by the Michigan Conservation department indicates that the past year was a record-breaker in income from hunting and fishing licenses. Resident small game hunting license sales have passed the total 1948 figure of 583,360 with 590,162 permits reported sold through January, a 10.6 per cent increase over the number issued to the same date last year. Nonresident small game licenses sold in this period are up eight per cent from last year with 3,428 on the record for 1949 and 3,171 for 1948.

Deer license sales reported by license agents to February 1 add up to 364,079 as compared to 349,691 for the same period and 373,146 total for the year 1948. This represents an increase of 4.3 per cent in resident licenses issued, 357,145, and a drop of 5.3 per cent in nonresident sales which totaled 6,934.

Resident bow and arrow hunters chalked up a still higher margin over the 1948 final figure with a 37 per cent increase in the period through January 31. Sales recorded for 1949 are 11,324, over 2,000 ahead of 1948's total of 9,012.

Resident fishing licenses sold were up 1.6 per cent with a total of 808,745 over 1948's comparative figure of 796,420.

An increasing number of nonresidents bought annual fishing licenses, raising the total 4.5 per cent above last year's which made up for the decrease of 2.8 per cent in temporary nonresident licenses issued. Annual nonresident license sales totaled 125,155 in 1949 and 119,606 in the same period in 1948. Temporary nonresident licenses added up to 151,564 in the tally made at the end of January while the count at the same time in 1948 was 155,949. Number of trout stamps going over the counter is still climbing according to latest figures and the 177,580 sold already is more than 8,000 above 1948's final total of 169,498.

Revenue from license sales to February 1 has netted the conservation department $4,920,565. In 1948, revenue for the same period amounted to $4,737,470.

The Wisconsin Conservation department recently issued some information about the planting of muskellunge which might be of benefit to Michigan, where not very much attention has been given to the development of this gamest of all game fish.

The Wisconsin department says that the muskellunge, the king of game fish, starts out in life at fish hatcheries as a fussy little crown prince whose demanding nature keeps fisheries managers on the jump supplying his voracious needs.

The conservation department finds that it can produce muskies rather cheaply, 83 cents a thousand for newly hatched fish, but finds it advisable to grow them to a length of an inch and a half or longer before making them shift for themselves in musky waters. That means food for the musky babies and they accept no formula except live meat.

Muskies are born with but the single desire to eat and their first diet is bug life. That means that fisheries men must manage to keep them supplied with this form of food for approximately two weeks. Then the muskies decide they need something more substantial—fish.

The conservation department starts with more than 2,500,000 baby muskies and places them in sizable rearing ponds. By the time the muskies are demanding other fish for food, the department is ready with nearly 12 million little suckers which it has produced. The musky mouth expansion grows at variable rates and some of the muskies find they can conveniently swallow their brothers, and do, while at the same time eating the little suckers at the rate of more than 260 each. This huge food supply doesn't fill the food need and additional forage fish are seined and placed in the ponds.

The final result is that there are less than a half million little muskies that measure an inch and a half or longer. The rest of the muskies are added to the million of little suckers as a food supply although the conservation department does not plan it that way.

That is the actual record of rearing operations by the conservation department and the results are the best that can be expected. It could be worse. Should the forage fish supply be allowed to run down for but a matter of hours, the musky population in the ponds would show a decidedly greater drop. So many more little muskies would go into other muskies.

It costs the state about 13 cents a thousand to produce little suckers to feed little muskies and this part of the food bill amounts to $15,885. The total rearing job is totaled at $19,470, and on the final count of muskies they cost the state more than eight cents each.

As a comparison, the state produces walleyed pike fingerlings at about three cents each.

Rearing fish is a much more expensive operation than producing them, but the conservation department feels that the better chance for survival when once stocked is well worth the additional investment.

An Important Message from General Marshall

A STRONG RED CROSS means a stronger America.

With its host of volunteers the Red Cross brings relief to the victims of disaster... gives comfort to the hospitalized soldier and veteran... helps relieve the anxieties of the serviceman and his family... provides, in many communities, life-giving blood to the sick and injured.

Each year the millions who need help and the millions who want to help are brought together through the Red Cross.

This voluntary effort in behalf of our neighbors strengthens the fibres of democracy.

So I ask you to respond to the call for help this year as you have always responded before—with a kind and generous heart.

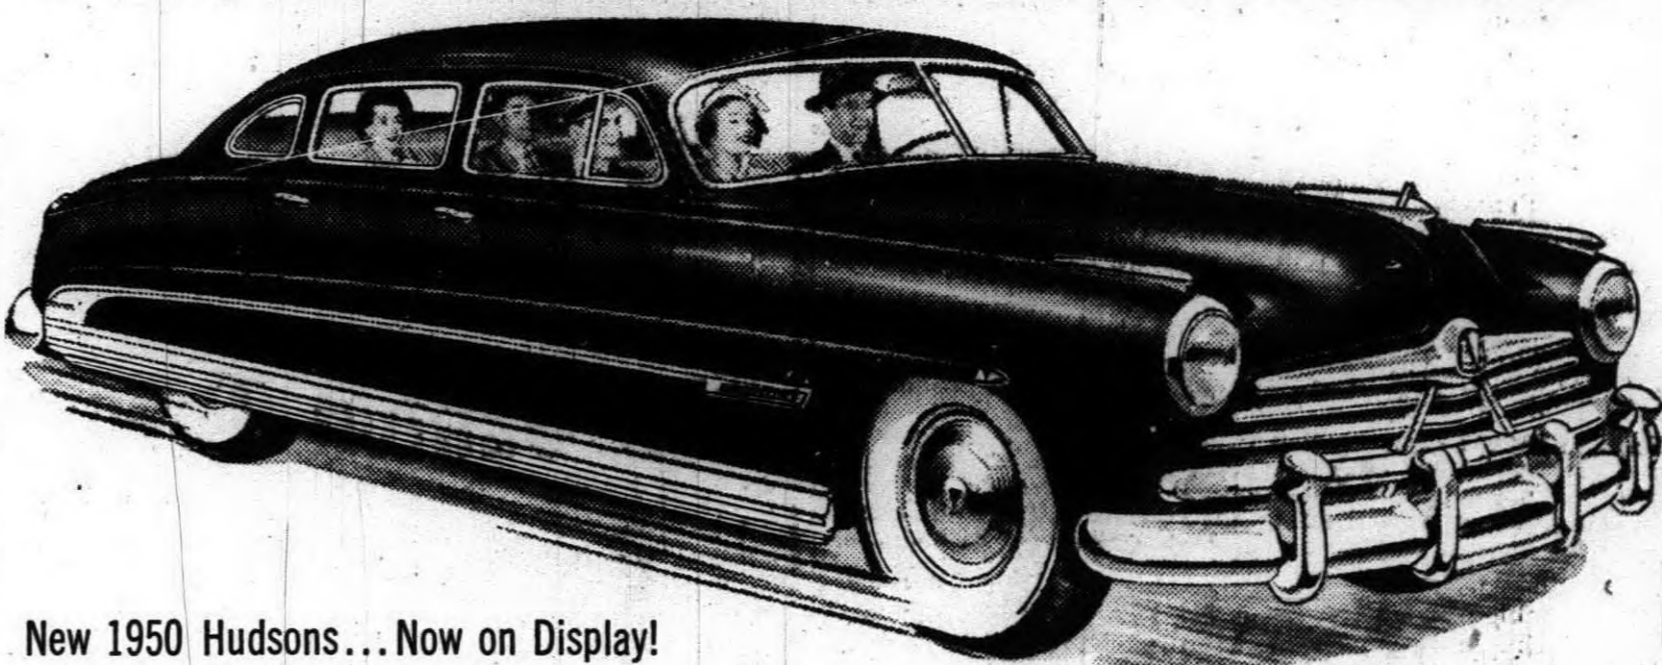

General Marshall

You, too, can help through Your RED CROSS

DALE CARNEGIE

AUTHOR OF "HOW TO STOP WORRYING AND START LIVING"

Golden Rule Brings Popularity

THERE WAS a young boy back in Satanta, Kansas, who in the short time he lived learned a valuable lesson which his mother passes on to you and me. His name was James Eldon Conover.

Jimmy Conover died suddenly just after he had completed his sophomore year in high school. He had lettered in football and track one year and in scholarship another year. He was active in basketball, the boy scouts, and had been president of his class.

I am sure you will agree that Jimmy was headed for a useful and splendid life. But his Maker decided otherwise.

Carnegie

The point I want to bring out in Jimmy's story is something his mother told me. When Jimmy was a small boy, he found it difficult to get along with the other children. He couldn't understand why the other boys didn't like him and he was extremely sensitive about it. But Jimmy was an inveterate reader, and he read books that opened his eyes to his own shortcomings.

Many a boy might have just passed up what he read, but not Jimmy. Jimmy was headed for better things. He took stock of himself and he began the practice of the golden rule; he treated the other fellows as he would want to be treated. He went further, and became interested in what the other fellows were interested in.

It wasn't long before Jimmy was a much happier boy than he had been previously; it wasn't long before his friends were hanging around him. And if you want proof of this, just re-read paragraph two above. Unlike other boys don't receive the honors Jimmy received. Here is a quotation from a write-up in his home town paper after his death:

"Jimmy was one of the most popular boys among all age groups ever reared in Satanta. He was reared in the Catholic church."

Jimmy's mother and I have passed this story on with the hope that it may help other boys who find it difficult to get along with their fellows. We know Jimmy would have wanted us to do

day on "Susan B. Anthony."

Mr. and Mrs. Emory Holmes and daughters, Kathryn and Barbara Jean of Detroit, spent Sunday afternoon and evening with Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Chambers.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Archer of Roe street are the proud parents of a nine and one-quarter pound baby boy, born Monday evening, March 4 at the Plymouth hospital.

Mrs. B. W. Blunk entertained the members of the Jollyate bridge club at a luncheon and afternoon of bridge Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hoeg announce the arrival of a daughter, Kathleen, on Saturday, March 2 in Plymouth hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Dayton Churnman of Detroit were Saturday visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Chambers.

NOTE THESE STYLE LINES WELL. They're straight out of the Buick Riviera book — and they cloak interiors that are roomy as much-higher-priced cars.

FORE AND AFT - a Beauty and a Buy

It's lithe, long and lovely—and it calls not just for one look, but for two.

See how this sleek Sedan looks coming down the road—bold grillwork shining, broad bonnet purring with power, and the wide, curving, unbroken sweep of a one-piece windshield giving you horizon-wide outlook.

And spot the pretty picture you make going away.

The broad, wrap-around rear window and topside styling in the Buick Riviera manner.

The graceful, spacious trunk, the "double bubble" taillights, the sense of high-fashion fleetness in everything from rear fender lines to the curve of the roof.

Yes, that's beauty—beauty in the unmistakable Buick manner. But observe also:

Interiors are extra roomy in all dimensions. The biggest you can buy for the money, we believe—and bigger than many higher-priced cars.

And, since this is a Buick SUPER, there's sensational new power under the hood—Buick's own F-263 Fireball straight-eight, this year's big news in valve-in-head power.

Yes, when you go stepping in this one, you'll really step—with roominess and top-drawer styling and the level going of all-coil springing—yes, and Dynaflo Drive* too, if you choose—making your pleasure complete.

The price? Well, drop in on your Buick dealer, ask about the SUPER 126 and be prepared for happy listening. Here's a buy—so grand a buy you'll lose no time getting behind a Buick wheel.

*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on SUPER and SPECIAL models.

Features like these mean BUICK'S THE BUY

HIGHER-COMPRESSION Fireball valve-in-head, power in three engines, five hp ratings. (New F-263 engine in SUPER models.) • NEW-PATTERN STYLING, with bumper-guard grilles, taper-through fenders, "double bubble" taillights • WIDE-ANGLE VISIBILITY, close-up road view both forward and back • TRAFFIC-HANDY SIZE, less over-all length for easier parking and garaging, short turning radius • EXTRA-WIDE SEATS cradled between the axles • SOFT BUICK RIDE, from all-coil springing, Safety-Ride rims, low-pressure tires, ride-steadying torque-tube • DYNAFLOW DRIVE standard on all ROADMASTERS, optional at extra cost on SUPER and SPECIAL series • WIDE ARRAY OF MODELS with Body by Fisher.

Roger Babson Says...

Babson Discusses Investments
Since my recent column recommending good fire insurance stocks as an investment, I have had many letters asking "What else would you buy?"

Importance of Diversification
Of course the safest of all investments is well-located, well-drained and productive land. Every family should have a little of this within a reasonable distance of some community. A farmer will have most of his assets in such land, buildings and equipment. The retired investor can afford to have about 25% in good productive land.

Investors should have another 25% distributed in cash, bank deposits, life insurance and government bonds. Notwithstanding all of President Truman's prosperity promises, this country is sure to see some real trouble sometime. When this depression comes, stocks and even real estate may sell at one half present prices. The best way you can help them alleviate the situation, is to begin now to store up cash for use then. For every additional person who does this, the next panic will be so much less severe.

Buy Ten Good Stocks for Income
This leaves 50% to invest for income. Unless you have the help of a long established investment advisory organization, you had better not attempt now to buy for profit. It is okay to do this when prices are abnormally low and everyone is bearish, but not now. However, you now can get a safe income of 6% on good securities; so why speculate?

If interested, I suggest you buy ten different "home" stocks for income. I will now tell you how to select them.—Of course this will take a little time on your part; but you spent so many years of hard work to make and save this money, you should be willing to spend one week to be sure it is safely invested. For this 50% I am not recommending any bonds. Good bonds are now too high. I will assume you already have some good fire insurance stock. If not see my column of February 3.

Invest in Companies You Know
To start with call upon the superintendent of your Telephone Company and ask him what listed company controls his telephone company. If he doesn't know, ask him to write his home office and find out. Then call upon the superintendent of your Electric Power Company and the superintendent of your Gas Company and ask them the same question. This will give you three stocks which should be good; especially if their representatives in your locality are men of high character.

Talk With Your Local Banker
You probably prefer to use some special kind of gasoline. As the stock of this Oil Company will be listed in New York, buy a few shares of this. Most all the listed oil stocks are good for income. You also should have some good merchandising stocks. Ask your wife which is the best Grocery Chain, the best "5 & 10" Variety Chain and the best Drug Chain in your city. These stocks will surely be listed. Your wife can watch them for you; but see for yourself that the managers and employees are good Christian people. This gives you four more stable industries or a total of seven stocks.

You certainly should have some bank stock. Call upon the president of your local bank. Don't stand at the counter window, but go in and sit down with him some time when he is not busy. Tell him you would like to buy a little stock in his bank. Trust him as to the price as it will not be a listed stock. If none is available, ask him the name of some large bank in some interior city which will not be bombed during World War III. Buy that Bank Stock which he recommends. This gives you eight stocks.

Here are three more suggestions:—Visit your superintendent of streets and get the name of the manufacturers of the best Dirt Moving Machinery. These companies should have a good future. Visit your fire chief and get the name of the largest manufacturer of Fire Alarm Systems and buy some of that company's stock. If you are a farmer you should know what company makes the best farm machinery, trucks, etc. If not a farmer, you can ask some friends who are farmers. Then buy the stock of that Harvester Company. This gives you ten stocks and one alternate. After you have bought all ten stocks you can write me if you wish, but NOT BEFORE!

Chinchillas First in Hobby Displays

Mrs. F. D. Bacon poses with Cookie and Cokey, two of the chinchillas she and her husband raise for breeding purposes. Mrs. Bacon has chinchillas on display this week at the Plymouth United Savings bank lobby, as the first of the bank's series of hobby exhibits. The two frisky animals pictured above are among the 12 now being raised by the Bacons at their home on Joy road.

12 to a Room—Chinchillas Don't Mind, Say Owners

About the only basement in the Plymouth area that has 12 occupants—all in one room—is in the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Bacon of 10151 Joy road. The 12-in-a-room living conditions are not a result of the housing shortage, however, as the occupants are all chinchillas.

The Bacons have been raising chinchillas for breeding purposes since last September. Two chinchillas, which they have loaned from the Allied Distributors, fur animal sales organization in California, are on display this week in the lobby of the Plymouth United Savings bank. This is the first in a series of hobby displays planned by the bank. Mrs. Bacon has arranged the display which gives the uninitiated all kinds of information on the care and the feeding of the tiny animals.

The high type of chinchilla which the Bacons raise are valuable for their pelts which make beautiful fur coats. It takes from 175 to 200 pelts for a full length coat that will compete with Plymouth housewives' dreams of mink and sable. And when husbands ask about prices—one good chinchilla pelt is worth about $750.

According to Mrs. Bacon, of the 50,000 chinchillas now in existence, only 20 percent are of the high grade necessary for the making of select fur coats. In spite of their value, theft of chinchillas is not likely or profitable as all are tattooed and registered. Two of Mrs. Bacon's chinchillas were given high score on 114 judging points in a California showing. Many of the animals of this type were on display last weekend at the Michigan Chinchilla Breeders association show in Detroit. Chinchillas are judged on the quality, thickness and color of their fur. Chinchillas have owl habits, according to the Bacons, as they sleep in the daytime and are awake at night. They have to be fed once a day and eat hay and special feed. They have litters three times a year, with one to five babies at a time. Chinchillas owned by the Bacons range in age from six months to three years old.

The Bacons will be adding new cages soon as one young lady chinchilla is expecting a blessed event. "The more the merrier," said Mrs. Bacon, "We have plenty of room-for-rent space for chinchillas in our basement."

Warm days followed by cold nights often set the stage for outbreaks of swine influenza.
