THEY WERE TOO GENTLE. Read in the newspapers the other day where 30 or thereabouts good loyal Americans employed in the Kaiser-Frazer plant threw a fellow out of the building, who was passing out Communist propaganda. They were altogether too gentle. They should have chucked him down the sewer.

EVERYBODY ELSE WE CAN DO. Everybody, especially every loyal American citizen, these days is thinking of ways and things to do to help in the terrible emergency which faces our country. Because we have been "muffing the ball" during the days of the New Deal and the Fair Deal and now find ourselves face to face with disaster, it doesn't mean that we have got to lay down and let the Commies come along and kick us in the face.

We can all do something - and while the free American citizen is doing something, let's put our law violators to work - real work - twelve and fifteen hours a day.

Why one tell me why we should not turn our prisons into factories manufacturing supplies for our armed forces? Oh yes, some labor racketeers will yell against it - but if they do, slap them in jail, too, for alleged sabotaging of our war efforts.

We have many thousands of able bodied men in Michigan prisons, men who will not be taken in the armed forces, but men who can be put on machines making war supplies. Let Michigan lead the way in this one small way we can help in the building of a great defense force.

If we have any desire to save our hides, we had all better get busy, and utilize every possible plan we can devise to block American domination by the world's most vicious and brutal dictator.

We had better do some thinking, hard thinking, and do it fast if we are going to remain a free and independent country.

AMENDMENTS ARE O.K. We see nothing wrong about the three proposed amendments the city commission has decided to submit to the voters of Plymouth for their approval this fall. If enacted, they will bring about changes which ought to make a better local government.

There is some doubt now as to the necessity of the proposal to restrict elective city officials to two terms. But it can do no hurt and it does make necessary the selection of new officials every four years, no one person being allowed to serve on the commission longer than that period.

It is not surprising that such an amendment has been proposed in view of the mess that existed for nearly a dozen years or more in our local government. But that condition was eliminated some time ago and there is nothing to indicate that Plymouth will ever be faced with such a situation again.

While it is possible that there might have been some thinking about this situation when the amendment was discussed, we believe that the real purpose which inspired its presentation was the commendable desire of the present commission to make it mandatory that new "blood" be injected into the city government at least once in four years.

There are many states which provide that a governor can serve but one four year term. These states have found that they have benefited by such a restriction. If some states have found it beneficial, there is no reason why Plymouth should not find it of benefit in the local administration of public affairs.

FOOL THINGS WE'VE GOT TO STOP DOING. A Vermont United States senator the other day declared that there was a "fraud" and a "hoax" and a "fast move in behalf of the oleomargarine industry" in connection with the failure of the government to utilize our vast stores of butter, cheese and potatoes for us by our military forces.

A Washington newspaper dispatch asserted that the immediate cause for the Vermont senator's bitter attack upon the Brannan plan, was due to the fact that Secretary of Agriculture Brannan had issued a statement in which he "regretted" to say that military services must keep on spending tax dollars for butter, cheese and potatoes, despite the fact that the Agriculture Department has warehouses, caves and holes in the ground filled with the same commodities, bought to support farm prices, and now in danger of spoiling.

The secretary's explanation came as he asked the House Agriculture Committee for $50,000,000 to pay transportation costs so he can give away the perishable surpluses before they all go up in one big smell.

Worrying Brannan are 192,000,000 pounds of butter and 80,000,000 pounds of cheese, plus something over $100,000,000 worth of potatoes.

Brannan's staff explain that the Commodity Credit Corp., titular owner of the big food supply, cannot sell to the expanding military services "because the law says we cannot sell in competition with the regular markets and, because, whenever we do sell, we must charge our purchase price plus 5 per cent."

"But they never tell you about the fine print in the law," complains Senator Aiken. "They always forget about the provision authorizing the secretary to sell, anywhere, at any price, goods threatened with spoilage."

The usually-mild-mannered Vermontor accuses Brannan of two motives: A desire to propagandize his own Brannan plan for handling surpluses, and an affinity for the newly-blossomed oleo industry.

"Under the law as it now stands," says Aiken, "Brannan could get rid of all his butter by simply selling it, at oleo prices, to the military, to hospitals and to other institutions which now use margarine as a butter substitute."

"But of course that would infuriate the oleo industry, to which, the recent past has shown, Mr. Brannan has a strange affinity."

During April, May and June 348,800,000 pounds of butter were produced. Of that total 87,900,000 pounds were bought for Secretary Brannan's storage caves while the military was simultaneously buying 8,007,859 pounds for $5,483,782.

In the same period, the CCC bought 55,300,000 pounds of cheese, or nearly one fifth of the 296,900,000 pounds produced while the military was spending another $2,400,000 in tax cash to buy about 800,000 pounds of cheese for its own use.

"WE CAN'T SELL OUR IDEALS ABROAD IF THEY DIE AT HOME." Under the above heading The Saturday Evening Post a week or so ago published one of the best editorials on one of our greatest home front threats that has appeared in print since Russia started the Korean invasion.

Novi Youth Held After Plymouth Road Police Chase

The driver of the car that eluded Plymouth police, who tried to question him late Sunday night, was apprehended by the state police in Novi Monday morning and will go on trial on a charge of felonious driving tomorrow morning at 10 a.m. in Municipal court.

The car and its two occupants were parked in the entrance to Riverside cemetery when Police Officers Roger Vanderveen and Loren Johnson drove their squad car into the driveway to investigate. As the officers stepped from their car, the driver of the parked car gunned the motor and tried to run the policemen down.

Vanderveen and Johnson fired six shots at the car as it sped east on Plymouth road. They chased the car for several blocks but lost it in traffic. Description of the car was given to state police and the owner of the car, William Dunn, 17, of Novi, was picked up Monday morning.

Dunn was brought to Plymouth Tuesday afternoon for a hearing before Judge Nandino Perlongo. He pleaded not guilty to the charge and demanded a jury trial. He was released on a $250 bond. His attorney is Dunbar Davis.

Draft Physicals Given August 16

Young men in the area who receive their 1-A draft classification cards will report for their physical examinations August 16 at the Fort Wayne induction center, it was announced yesterday by the local draft board.

The selective service officials also issued a few don'ts for registrants. They asked that no one call in person at the board when giving a change of address or increased dependencies. Instead, young men should copy the first three lines of their registration card and then give the additional information and mail it directly to the board.

Entries Heavy for Golf Tourney

Five to ten top scores in the city amateur golf tournament will be eligible to compete in the city recreation golf tourney in September, it was announced by Max Todd, chairman of the city tournament, this week.

The city golf tournament will begin August 12 at Hilltop Golf course and a large number of entries have already signed up. The deadline for entering the tournament is August 8.

Local merchants are donating many prizes for the tournament and the Plymouth Mail trophy will be awarded the champion golfer. The finals will be played August 26. The tournament is open to all residents of Plymouth, Livonia, Canton and Nankin townships.

Give Appeal for Blood Donors

An appeal for blood donors was sent out by the family of Mrs. John Burger of 703 Karmada who is in critical condition in Grace hospital. The Plymouth Blood Bank, supervised by the Red Cross, has already donated blood and the supply is quite low.

Mrs. Burger will be operated on today and the need for immediate donations is urgent. Those who can furnish blood are asked to call Plymouth 2089-W.

City Accepts Bids on Trucks

At a special meeting of the city commission Monday night bids were accepted by the commissioners for the purchase of a two-ton truck for cemetery purposes, a service car for the department of public works and a two-ton dump truck for general purposes.

All three of the bids were submitted by Ernest J. Allison, Chevrolet dealer. The bid of H. Perlongo for the construction of sidewalks on Arthur and Sutherland streets was also accepted by the commission.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Groth and daughter, Molly, of North Harvey street visited relatives in Defiance, Ohio over the weekend.

Compares Korea to Bataan

Joe Merritt, veteran of World War II and the battle of Bataan, in an interview this week stated that there was no excuse for our unpreparedness in the present Korean hostilities. He feels that lives are being lost unnecessarily in Korea as they were in Bataan eight years ago.

"Once again we were forewarned but not forearmed," stated Joe Merritt, local veteran of the battle of Bataan, in comparing the fighting in Korea with the plight of the Americans shortly after Pearl Harbor. "American intelligence in Korea had warned Washington that the Reds were arming. The kind of equipment they are using could not be assembled overnight. Yet when the invasion came, we were completely unprepared," Merritt added.

A survivor of the Death March of Bataan, Merritt, in an interview this week, said there must have been some forewarning prior to the attack on Pearl Harbor, as American soldiers in the Philippines were instructed to wear steel helmets and gas masks and 24 hour guard was in force.

"The situation in Korea differs from Bataan, however, in that American fighters have somewhere to retreat, and we are not completely expendable as American forces in Bataan," Merritt said.

Merritt blames American's unpreparedness on lack of good leadership and says we must "hope and look for stronger and more intelligent guidance in Washington. There was no need for even one American soldier to lose his life in Korea."

Familiar with the fighting tactics of the Orient, Merritt said, "The Reds are using the old Oriental method of out-manning the enemy. The Americans are outnumbered and out-tanked, but have air superiority. I can't understand how the Reds get supplies through the barrage sent down by the B-29's. Those roads can't take much bombing. They must be using coolies to run supplies up to the front."

The veteran, now in the insurance business on South Main street, feels that this is the time for doing away with the false philosophy of "more for less" that has prevailed since World War II if we are going to permanently stamp out Communism here and abroad.

30 Years in Prison Work to be Observed Today by Open House For Superintendent A. Blake Gillies

Maybe Supt. A. Blake Gillies of the Detroit House of Correction doesn't know anything about it—maybe he knows all about it—but when the clock strikes 12 at noon today (Thursday) it will mark his 30th year in prison work.

In honor of this special event his many friends and associates have decided to give him a good big pat on the back, as well as expressing best wishes for the next 30 years, if he decides to stay in the prison business that much longer.

The event will begin at 12 o'clock with an open house for friends and associates at the warden's residence, and when it will end no one can say definitely. During these 30 years Superintendent Gillies by diligent effort and attention to business, worked his way up from a minor position in prison work to the distinction of being regarded as one of the best prison executives in the United States. Not only is he regarded as one of the most outstanding, but his prison management ideas are regarded as far above the average.

Friends say that all of these things do not mean so much to Superintendent Gillies, but they do mean much to his associates and host of friends. It is for that reason that they plan to make today's open house a sort of an outstanding event.

Hoarding Wave That Swept Country Proved Almost a Fizzle in Plymouth Say Some of City's Retail Dealers

Plymouth's part in the hoarding wave that swept like wild fire across the country after the outbreak of Russia's Korean war, was but a mere smudge, according to local merchants.

Yes, there was some local hoarding—but merchants declare that it appears people have come to their senses and are no longer taking part in the efforts to force retail prices higher.

One of Plymouth's biggest retailers said yesterday that the buying wave of the hoarders had died out almost entirely. "But it was bad for a few days," he said, "There are no actual shortages in any food lines, but enough damage has been done throughout the country to threaten prevailing prices."

It can truthfully be said, however, that Plymouth residents didn't go "buying" crazy as they did in the larger cities. There is a tire shortage in Plymouth, however, due to the excessive buying wave that struck this city when local residents heard radio reports and read in the metropolitan papers that people had started hoarding supplies as they did during previous world wars. It is almost an impossibility to buy any sort of an automobile tire in Plymouth today.

One local business man who was in the retail business during both previous wars, declared that the buying wave in Plymouth in the past four weeks was nothing as compared to what it was when the two previous wars broke out. "For a few days we did have a big rush, but that is almost entirely over now," he stated.

Washington reports indicate, however, that the excess buying which has already forced prices up, might lead to a condition where people would be caught with a lot of high priced groceries on hand, with prices in stores falling much lower than prevailing quotations.

One report stated that if a real "peace scare" should soon develop, that would send prices plummeting downward, with the hoarders holding the high priced goods and the non-hoarders benefiting by the lower prices.

At an rate hoarding in Plymouth is at a minimum as compared to most other places throughout the country.

Health Officer Issues Warning

A warning to mothers of small children and babies was issued yesterday by Dr. Harold J. Briscoe, Plymouth health officer. As warm weather reaches its mid-summer peak, Dr. Briscoe states that mothers should see to it that their children do not become overheated and are kept as cool as possible at night.

"Many mothers keep babies in lined bassinets at night, and thus prevent sufficient circulation of air," said Dr. Briscoe. He suggested that fancy trimmings on cribs and bassinets be removed in the summer months in order to avoid any chance of heat exhaustion or suffocation.

Governor Is a Visitor Here

Governor Williams was a Plymouth visitor Wednesday noon, a guest at a luncheon at the Mayflower that was arranged by Postmaster Timpona. There were some 75 guests who welcomed the Governor.

Mayor Cass Hough presented the city's respects to the Chief Executive of the state. Following the introduction of a number of guests, the Governor discussed briefly some of the state problems he is interested in, stressing the importance of the completion of the Northville hospital as quickly as possible.

Probate Judge Hix Griffith came out from Detroit to be present at the meeting.

Carlson to Survive Injuries

Arthur C. Carlson, owner of the Carlson Health Studio on Ann Arbor trail, is reported out of danger following serious injuries he received in an auto accident last Friday night.

He regained consciousness Tuesday night in Wayne County General hospital where he was taken after the accident, which occurred at the intersection of Farmington and Schoolcraft roads. The car, driven by John Litzenberger of Northville, was hit by another car that had run a red light at the corner. Litzenberger and another passenger, R. W. Doekens of Northville, received minor injuries.

Carlson is suffering from a skull fracture, brain concussion and serious back injuries and will be hospitalized for some time. Mrs. Carlson states that following an examination by a specialist today, he may be moved to Sessions hospital in Northville.

The health studio will remain open and Mrs. Carlson, who has been working with her husband for many years, will be taking appointments.

Elect Dr. Champe President of Sportsmen's Clubs

Dr. Brick Champe, who served as first president of the Western Wayne County Conservation association for years and was largely responsible for keeping the organization alive during the war years, has just accepted the presidency of District No. 1 of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs.

This district comprises the entire metropolitan section of Detroit and has a membership of more than 20,000 sportsmen. There are 28 clubs in the group.

While the election of Dr. Champe took place a few days ago at a meeting of the clubs held at the Fort Shelby hotel in Detroit, it was not until yesterday that he decided to take on the responsibilities of the presidency of this big group, comprised as it is of not only all the clubs in this area, but two or three of Detroit's biggest conservation organizations.

The duties of his important position will not be new to Dr. Champe, as he has served on the board of directors of this organization for seven years.

During all of this time he has never lost interest in the local conservation organization and still takes an active part in helping to administer its affairs. At one time the Western Wayne County Conservation association had more than 700 members, comprised largely of Plymouth, Northville, Walled Lake and Livonia residents.

Charles Hewer Is Now Full-Fledged Member of The Bar

Where there is a will there seems to be a way to accomplish a purpose—at least it seems to have worked out that way in the case of Charles N. Hewer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hewer, Sr. of Canton Center road.

Charles, Jr., a graduate of the Plymouth High school with the class of 1933, married and the father of four small children, sometime ago decided that he wanted to be a lawyer.

That means a lot of extra work, especially when a father is trying to take care of a family of fast-growing youngsters. Undaunted by this problem, Charles, Jr. not only kept up his tax work to provide the income necessary to buy food and clothing for his family, but he enrolled in the night classes at the Detroit College of Law.

His efforts have at last won success for him. Some two or three weeks ago he was admitted to the bar and can now practice law in any court in the state of Michigan.

Former Resident Becomes Bride in California

The following social item from the Santa Barbara, California News Press will be of interest to Plymouth readers as Dr. and Mrs. Lauren F. Busby and family are former Plymouth residents.

"In a simple ceremony attended by the immediate family and intimate friends, Miss Sylvia Catherine Busby, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Lauren F. Busby of Santa Barbara, became the bride of Theodore H. Raven, III, son of T. H. Raven of Santa Barbara, on Saturday, July 22.

"The single ring ceremony was read by the Rev. Charles F. Whiston, DD, at All Saints-by-the-Sea in Montecito. White and pink gladioli decorated the church. Traditional selections were played on the organ by Carlyle Estes.

"Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore white organdy of ballerina length with a Peter Pan collar, cap sleeves, and a very full three-tiered skirt. A fingertip illusion veil was held with a small lace cap embroidered with seed pearls. She carried a white prayer book with white rose buds, and wore a single strand of pearls.

"Mrs. Kenneth Engle, the bride's godmother, was the matron of honor. She was dressed in an aqua dress of ballerina length, with a cloche-type bonnet of small pink flowers, pink accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

"Best man for the bridegroom was Kenneth Engle.

"Navy blue sheer with deep red accessories and a corsage of deep red carnations was worn by the mother of the bride.

"A reception was held at the home of the bride, 115 Romaine Dr., following the ceremony. The home was decorated with summer flowers, and the bride's table had white blossoms and white tapers.

"Assisting with the reception were Mrs. Allan Gibson, who poured, Mrs. Kenneth Engle, in charge of the bride's book; and the bride's mother who served.

"For her going away costume, the bride wore navy blue crepe with white accessories.

"The bridegroom is serving in the Air Force in Alaska and is at present stationed at Anchorage in the 10th Rescue Squadron."

Nancy Groth Weds Dean Zahn in Candlelight Ceremony Saturday

Over 350 guests crowded the Bushnell Congregational church in Detroit last Saturday evening to witness the candlelight wedding ceremony of Nancy Lou Groth to Dean William Zahn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Zahn of Ann Arbor. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Groth of Cranston avenue, Rose-dale Gardens.

The Rev. John B. Forsyth performed the ceremony. Altar decorations included baskets of gladioli and white mums and miniature bouquets of white mums trimmed the church pews. Contralto Corrine Schafer of Detroit sang "Because" and "I Love Thee" before the ceremony and during the service sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Miss Groth chose a gown of white nylon marquisette made along classical lines. Her finger-ring veil of silk illusion was held in place with staphanotis and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses, staphanotis and green ivy.

Her maid of honor, Rhoda Ulen-dorf of Ann Arbor, wore a blue nylon and rayon marqui-sette gown with a cuffed off-thu-shoulder neckline. She carried a bouquet of pink salmon gerani-ums with garlands of geranium buds in her hair.

Bridesmaids Joanne Laitur and Laitia Pierce of Detroit wore the same styled dresses as the maid of honor. A cousin of the bride, Claire Couillare of Detroit, was junior bridesmaid. Her dress and bouquet were identical to the bridesmaids.

The brother of the bride-groom, David Zahn, was best man and Harold Prochnow and Wal-ter Prochnow of Ann Arbor and the bride's brother, C. Richard Groth, ushered. John Lama of Detroit served as junior usher.

The reception was held immedi-ately following the ceremony in the Fellowship hall of the church. The bride's mother wore a hyacinth blue marquisette and lace gown with matching acces-sories and an orchid corsage. Mrs. Zahn was gowned in gold crepe trimmed in lace. Her accessories matched her dress and she also wore an orchid corsage.

Guests were from Plymouth, Ann Arbor, Livonia, Saline, Mon-roe, Ypsilanti, Rochester and Pontiac.

The new Mrs. Zahn's going away costume was a blue-violet silk shantung suit with bright navy accessories, white gloves, pearls and a white orchid cor-sage. The newly-weds took a wedding trip through the west by way of Arizona. They will be at home at 605 West Hoover street, Ann Arbor, after September 5.

The bride is a graduate of Ply-mouth High school and attended the University of Michigan. The bridegroom graduated from Ann Arbor High school and attended Michigan State college.

James Thornton Spends Summer on European Tour

James Thornton, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Wood and a teacher at the St. Clair, Michigan, high school, will return August 15 from a summer vacation spent touring England, France, Swit-zerland and Italy.

Jim is among a group of 24 young people who attended West-ern Michigan college, taking the trip. They are guests of several exchange students from France who studied at Western.

More fortunate than the aver-age tourist, the group stayed at the homes of residents of each town they visited, thus getting a true picture of life in post-war France. Fourges, a city adopted by the citizens of Kalamazoo af-ter the war, put on a one week celebration for Jim and his friends. The mayor of the city and all the townspeople saw to it that they would never forget French hospitality.

While in London, Jim visited Dr. and Mrs. Joe Finer, friends of the Woods'. Ten days were spent in Paris and then the trip continued to Cannes, along the Mediterranean coast and on to Italy and Switzerland.

"Good to be Back" - Mary Murray

Miss Murray said that prices are extremely high in Belfast and many necessary items of food are rationed. This was Miss Murray's first visit home in 29 years.

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLD TIMERS

From Mrs. V. Konzen of Defiance, O.: "I remember when I was a girl I used to get up at 4 a.m. on Mondays to do the laundry for a family of eight. The washing was done on a washboard and the ironing was done with asbestos-handled sadiron and took several days as everything was starched in those days. Every morning I made all the beds, cleaned and dusted the house, baked the bread, cakes and pies, cooked and served all the meals, washed all the dishes, scrubbed the kitchen floor and board sidewalks and outside toilets, answered the doorbell and minded the kids. Had only one afternoon off a week. Earned $1.50 a week."

From Mrs. Mary Stewart of Chicago: "I remember when girls pierced their ear lobes with silk, holding a bar of laundry soap back of the lobe and pulling the thread through. Several times a day the thread was pulled to keep the hole open. Many times severe infection resulted. It always cleared up without the doctor."

From Mrs. M. L. Davis of Milton, Vt. to Mrs. Mary Stewart: "I remember those once-popular expressions you recalled recently. Here's one you may remember: 'You're big enough to go to meeting barefoot.' It was the first thing to say to some boy who was growing too fast."

From Mrs. Mary Stewart: "When a young man came home with a new hat, it was jokingly referred to as a lid, a skimmer, a Katie, a heeny, a sky-piece, a bowler, a top-per or a bandage."

High quality hay is naturally leafy, green, reasonably free from weeds and fresh-smelling. Good grass silage is clean-smelling, mildly fermented with a pleasant tart taste.

KEEPING SUMMER CLOTHES in good condition need be no problem if you'll follow these tips: White cotton gloves will remain neat longer if they're dipped in starch after rinsing. They'll also shed the dirt because of their smooth, glossier finish.

When pressing a skirt or blouse with a lot of pleats, the job is made easier if you take a few minutes to run a basting thread through the garment, before applying the iron.

Use a soft cloth or a chamois for cleaning patent or calf shoes especially after applying a cream polish. This is easy to handle and will help keep the surface shiny and soft.

Hold suede shoes over a saucen of hot water to bring up the nap. Another way to steam them is to place a wet towel over the iron and hold the shoes toward that.

Linens and shantung shoes can be touched up with soap or detergent lather. Follow by wiping with a clean, wet cloth, and dry away from sun or direct heat.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Chef's Salad (Serves 6) 6 leaves of lettuce 1 bunch watercress 1 bunch curly chichory 1/2 cup French dressing 1 cup celery, cut in strips 2 cups cooked ham, cut in strips 1 cup cooked chicken, sliced 1 cup carrot strips Strips of cheese Radish roses

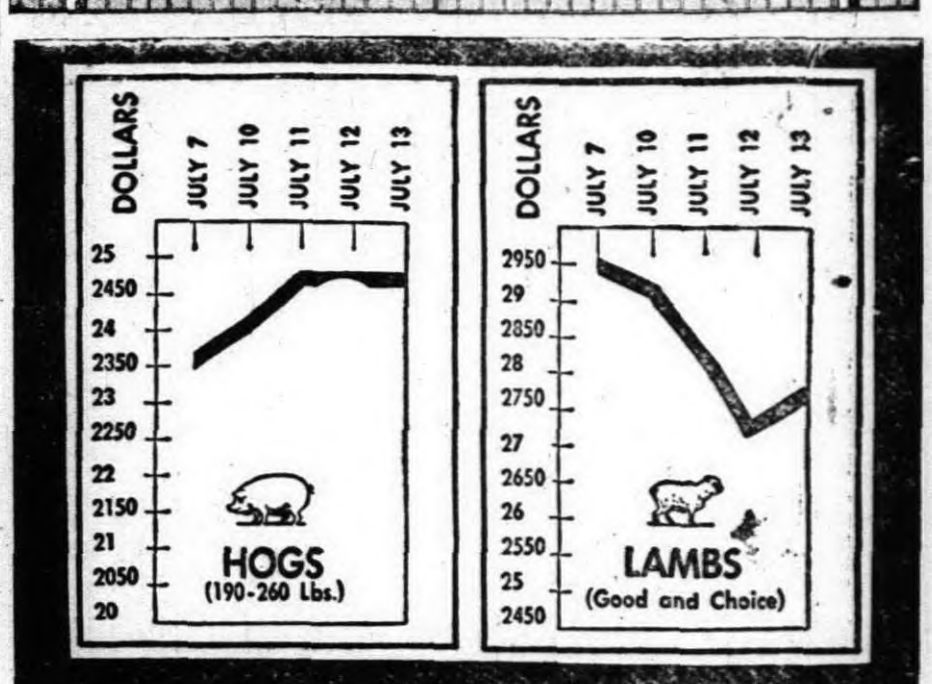

Arrange lettuce in salad bowl. Break up remaining greens and toss with French dressing. Arrange in bowl. Top with alternate layers of celery, ham, chicken, carrots and cheese. Garnish with radishes and pass more dressing, if desired.

Large circular skirts which are a big ironing task can be made a smaller job if they are spread completely out on the line to dry. Remove them when almost dry and iron immediately. Folding them during dampening puts more wrinkles in them.

Belts which have become frayed can be repaired with a bit of colorless nail polish. Use the same treatment on buckles which cannot be replaced.

There is less danger of baled hay "heating up" in the barn, particularly if care is taken in laying the bales. Open spaces not only help cure the hay, but also keep it cooler.

State Parks Open to Vacationers

With hot weather now bringing hot crowds of the season to the more well known state parks, the conservation department urges vacationing campers to try one of the lesser-used locations which have equal facilities.

State park men cite Orchard Beach park near Manistee as one of the spots regularly overlooked by tent and trailer campers although better equipped to take care of them than some of the other parks.

Facilities attractive to campers also are available at Hoelt near Rogers City and Young near Boyne City—yet these locations too are overlooked or unknown to many.

Congressman Dondero Does Not Favor Blanket Powers for Harry

In a statement issued this week, Congressman George A. Dondero of this district, points out the fact that the so-called Defense Production Act just given to Congress by the President's office, if enacted in its present form, would give to the President all of the powers of a dictator.

"The 17th district congressman makes it clear that he favors all-out efforts to build the military might of the nation, but that he regards control by the President of our entire economic system as something not needed or desirable.

Congressman Dondero says: "Before the Congress now is a bill designated as the 'Defense Production Act of 1950.' It is a bill prepared by the White House secretariat and sent by the President to Capitol Hill on a 'take it or leave it' basis.

"By means of this bill, Congress is asked for the grant of special war powers enabling the President to gear the national economy to the war effort in South Korea, and elsewhere, when, if and as it may become necessary.

"Now this would be all right, if the powers demanded by the President were no more than those granted his predecessor during World War II. It would be all right, if the powers demanded conformed both in spirit and in letter to the title under which the bill was presented to Congress and to the public.

"But the bill is not a Defense Production Act only. It is something that goes far beyond matters of defense production. It is a bill which would give the Chief Executive, personally, powers to regiment the people completely; powers so excessive that it is doubtful, once granted, they ever could be abolished.

"The bill provides for priorities and allocations of all goods and materials required in war production. So far, so good. Per-completely is the power to preserve or destroy. It is the power to say who shall stay in business and who shall fail; who shall buy what, and when, and for how much. It is the power to control every job in the country. With these powers, the President would not need or want rationing and price control. He would already have dictatorial powers. Dictatorship is what we are fighting today.

"A Republican bill has been introduced to freeze all wages and prices, as a preliminary to granting the President any other war powers. This, it is believed, would prevent the use of war powers for partisan political purposes. Many members of Congress think each war power should be spelled out separately, with strict limitations upon its extent and duration.

"I do not think a wage and price freeze is necessary at this time. I do think the President should be granted no blanket powers. I think also that the credit control section of the bill should be completely rewritten."

Back Home With Praise For Miami

Phil Barney, official delegate of the Plymouth lodge of Elks who recently attended the national convention in Miami, has returned home with nothing but praise for Miami as a convention city. Not only did he have all kinds of nice words to say about Miami, but he expressed his amazement at the building boom he observed all through the southland.

"In and around Miami, one would think he was in the busiest spot of our metropolitan district, but the type of building down there is different than the factories we see going up around here. Homes, hotels, motels, hundreds, yes thousands of them, especially in and around Miami, are being built to take care of the tremendous tourist business," said Mr. Barney.

"Southerners expressed surprise at the large amount of summer tourist business they are enjoying this year. Some say they believe that the lower prevailing summer rates have been an incentive for the unusual business, but I think it is due to the fact that northern people have found that it is not hot along the coastlines of Florida and that they can enjoy a nice cool summer vacation in Miami just as much as they can anywhere else. Florida is surely not after the tourist business and the state seems to be getting its share of it," he added.

Mr. Barney and his family visited many other southern states, making an extended trip through the mountain areas.

Tests show that a field forage harvester is the fastest way to harvest grass for silage and hay. Minnesota tests showed it took only half as long to harvest an acre of hay with the field harvester as with the loose hay loader.

The radar will be used to guide traffic through fog or heavy storms just the way ships use it at sea. The only way you'll be able to hit a train, a lamp post or another car will be to throw rocks . . . if you're that determined. Former Resident Dies Suddenly

A former Plymouth resident, Douglas C. Carruthers, passed away suddenly at his home in New Kensington, Pennsylvania, July 14, at the age of 43. Carruthers was born in Plymouth December 21, 1906, and attended school here.

Funeral services were held in New Kensington July 15 after which Mr. Carruthers' body was brought to the Neely Funeral home in Detroit. The Rev. Roger McShare of the Calvin Presbyterian church conducted services there and interment was made in Acacia Park cemetery.

He is survived by his wife, Dorothy; his mother, Mrs. Mina Carruthers, and a sister, Mrs. Norman C. Downs of 901 North Rosevere avenue, Dearborn. Carruthers has been employed by the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company Ditzler Color division in Detroit as personnel manager; and in 1946 was transferred to the company's paint division in Springdale, Pennsylvania, as a plant manager.

A solemn and religious regard to spiritual and eternal things is an indispensable element of all true greatness.

DISPUTED PASSAGE . . . A safety lesson—showing what happens when a car disputes the right-of-way with a train. This auto collided with a new York Central passenger train in Golden Bridge, N.Y., and was dragged 300 feet along the tracks. Andrew Natale, 56, Brooklyn plant manager, and his wife, Lily, 54, were killed. Workmen used acetylene torches to cut the auto from beneath the train, which was delayed about two hours. The motorists were delayed indefinitely.

Forest Fires Hit Seasonal Lows

Responsible for little damage for the last several weeks, forest fires hit a new seasonal low in the last seven-day period when only three acres were burned in the entire state. Conservation department's forest fire service says 631 fires have burned 4,145 acres to date. Last year at this time, 1,217 fires had damaged 18,998 acres. The 1949 final tally was 1,624 fires and 21,108 blackened acres.

Michigan established her best record in 1941 when only 10,465 acres were damaged by 1,604 fires. The department points out a new record could be established this year if the state can get by the October danger period.

Skies Next Week to Provide Great Event For Plymouth Star Gazers

Plymouth star gazers have a treat in store if they take the time next week to look up into the blue heavens along about 10 o'clock each night between August 9 to 13, providing no clouds cover the sky.

There is going to be a great shower of meteors around 10 o'clock each night, beginning next week Wednesday and continuing through the 13th of August, advises Dr. Hazel M. Losh, assistant professor of astronomy at the University of Michigan. She states that the shower should be at its best on the night of August 11.

This will be the annual Perseid meteor shower, she reports, that is considered the most conspicuous and dependable of this year's displays. Last year, a full moon dimmed the view but Dr. Losh says that won't happen this time since the moon reaches a new phase on August 13.

"Around this date, the Earth in its annual circuit around the Sun crosses the path of this swarm of meteors," she explains. "Consequently, many of the meteors find their way into the Earth's atmosphere. The resulting friction sets them on fire and they become visible."

Since the meteors dart and flit across the sky from a point in the general direction of the constellation Perseus, the meteor shower has been named the Perseids. Dr. Losh says these meteors must be distributed in a nearly uniform ring along their orbit since they appear almost as numerous every year.

"All meteors have certain family resemblances," Dr. Losh reports. "The Perseids are yellow and move with medium velocity. This particular shower is believed to have some connection with a comet that appeared in 1862, although records show observations of these meteors as early as 811 A.D. They are often referred to as the tears of St. Lawrence."

While the meteors provide the spectacular feature, August skies also will present other attractions. Consult any good astronomical map and you'll be able to look directly south and overhead and trace out two giant constellations, Ophiuchus and Hercules. Dr. Losh says. Two fairly bright stars are the heads of these star pictures with the brighter marking a starting point for Ophiuchus, the Serpent Chamer.

No maps will be needed to check on two of the planets that will be conspicuous objects during the month. After sunset and until midnight Mars will be in the western sky near the horizon. Bright Jupiter, rising in the southeast soon after sunset, will be an increasingly conspicuous object as the month progresses. By August 25, Jupiter will reach the meridian, the highest point of its path across the sky, by midnight and remain above the horizon all night long. August 27 will see the full moon pass just one degree south of Jupiter to provide another interesting spectacle for August sky watchers.

The other planets will not be so co-operative. Saturn will be difficult to observe in the western sky just at twilight while Mercury will make a brief appearance in the same spot and at the same time for a few days around August 21. Venus will be a bright spot in the eastern sky but won't appear until two hours before sunrise.

Service Station Opening Success

"Never did we expect such a crowd as attended the opening of our new Blue Sunoco service station last weekend," declared Homer Richardson and John Urban in unison yesterday when telling The Plymouth Mail about the exceptional success of the event which marked the beginning of this new Plymouth business concern.

They stated that so many more hundreds attended than expected that they ran out of all of their special gifts they had secured.

"Why we never dreamed of anything like it," they said. The place, known as the H & J Service, is located at Ann Arbor and Lilley roads. The owners asked The Mail to express to their host of friends their appreciation for the business given them as well as the words of encouragement and good wishes expressed.

Takes Reserve Training Cruise

Midshipman Ted F. Thrasher, USNR, of 42530 Lakeland, and a sophomore at Ohio State university at Columbus is scheduled to disembark from the heavy cruiser USS St. Paul at San Francisco, California, this week after participating in the six-week Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps Senior-Sophomore Cruise to Hawaii and San Diego. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Thrasher.

During the cruise midshipmen received practical experience and instructions in all phases of shipboard work usually performed by officers and enlisted men of the Regular Navy. The highlight of the training program took place in southern California waters during the last week when midshipmen manned and fired all guns of the ship.

Naval ROTC programs are in operation at 52 colleges and universities throughout the nation to supply the Navy with a continuous flow of well-trained officers for the Naval and Marine Corps Reserve. In addition, the civilian college training program supplies a specified number of career officers for the Regular Navy to supplement the graduating classes of the Naval academy.

Increase Races at Detroit Track

The harness race season at the Detroit Race Track has drawn such a record-gathering number of outstanding trotters and pacers that week day programs have been increased from eight to nine races to take care of the demand for more competition.

Post time has been moved up from 8:25 to 8:15 p.m. Officials hope to conclude the ninth race program by 11 o'clock by shortening the interval between races.

More than 915 harness horses are now stabled at the Detroit Track and at the Fairgrounds. This turnout, the greatest assembly of top flight trotters and pacers in Michigan history, explained why the additional race was necessary each night.

The half-mile track has become one of the fastest strips in the Midwest. Track records were set on three successive nights last week. Dr. Parker set the first mark with a 2:05.1 mile. Ensign John cut a full second off this time and then Dr. Parker returned to lower that mark with a 2:04 mile.

Roger Stone, four year old brown gelding driven by Bob Mason has been installed as the favorite in the eighth race Tuesday evening. Roger Stone surprised observers by finishing second in both dashes of the first division of the Nash Pace Friday night against one of the strongest fields in the country. Bonnywin and The G. Man are also highly regarded in this race.

Chief Wayne will go to the post the favorite in the ninth race Tuesday night with Blue Skies and Symbol Adam indexed as his foremost rivals.

PITCHES NO HIT GAME

Here's news that seems to have amazed even the youngsters on the baseball diamond. Dick Blomberg, a Plymouth youthful baseball player, who pitches for the "Great American" baseball team of Plymouth, the other day pitched a no-hit game, but lost the contest by a score of 5 to 3. Although this team not only lost this game it has hopes of winning the next few contests with this new hurler.

WHAT I THINK AND HAVE A RIGHT TO SAY

Alert lest present events provide the opportunity for closing the book on the blunders of an Administration which made this Red thrust inevitable. Unity is all very well, but a group of politicians who messed up a peace the way the Truman-Acheson policy makers have done will bear watching as they try their skills in a new field. If it is to be considered immoral to criticize the man who wouldn't defend Formosa twenty-four hours before President Truman ordered that such a defense should be set up, it is difficult to see what area for free discussion remains. Freedom of criticism is now more important than ever, but it will take stout men to defend it.

The Truman Administration will be sorely tempted to use the fracas in Asia as a pretext for pushing all sorts of socialist planning and governmental boon-doggling, on the theory that it is needed for national defense. As the Wall Street Journal warned on the first day of the Korean incident, "National defense in the lexicon of Washington means more government regulation, more government control over the economy and over the people. Any man who now speaks up for economy or freedom from controls can have a shooting war thrown at him." Senator Lucas set the pitch on the very first day.

Another thing we ought to be thinking about is political warfare, whether the war remains cool or gets hot. We must be far clearer than we have been in explaining what we will settle for. "Unconditional surrender" convinced the Germans and Japanese that for them it was victory or destruction. In Russia and its satellites there are millions of people who regard war as the one hope of liberation. Millions of Russians felt that way about Hitler's invasion of their country in 1941. At least two Ukrainian armies went over to the Germans in the first few weeks, and more would have followed had Hitler paid any attention to political warfare. Why must we wait for a general war before making the American position more attractive to outsiders?

Up to now, evidence of confidence in our own way of doing things must have come through only dimly in the Orient. Our diplomacy has been partly betrayals and intrigues with communist infiltrators. Almost at the hour of the strike in Korea, American officials were assuring reporters that Korea was not our baby. When we propose economic assistance to backward areas, it is not by means of the tried American way of private investment, but via a gigantic boondoggle sifted through the United Nations bureaucracy. The peoples who have run under Stalin's umbrella have not done so from love of communism, but from fear that they will be abandoned. President Truman's forthright act did much to restore the prestige which Roosevelt and Acheson had done so much to shatter. But not even MacArthur and a flock of B-29's can keep hope in free America alive in the world if liberty and individual enterprise are assassinated here at home—by the same breed of planners and stuffed shirts who have done so much to murder them abroad.

Librarian Discusses Children's Books at Madonna

Mrs. Agnes Pauline, children's librarian at the Dunning library, Plymouth branch of Wayne county libraries, studies the relative merits of illustrations in children's books with Sister Mary Evangeline, chairman of the languages division at Madonna college, following Mrs. Pauline's talk on children's literature given at one of the college's recent summer sessions for student teachers.

If you ask a librarian how she knows what books children like most, Mrs. Agnes Pauline will tell you, "Those that are most often in the bindery."

Mrs. Pauline, children's librarian at the Plymouth branch of the Wayne county library, so told 50 student-teachers attending summer sessions at Madonna college.

Miss Louise Heatherington, the children's librarian for all Wayne county libraries, cited samples of a good general intellectual awakening in a child. The two librarians brought more than 70 of the newer children's books and pointed out their merits.

Other guest speakers at Madonna's summer session were Father John C. Ryan and Dr. Aloysius N. Church, Father Ryan, director of the Archdiocesan Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, bespoke the help of sisters in devoting part of their time to teaching religion to Catholic children in public schools.

Dr. Church's talk on "The Psychiatrist Looks at the Teacher," urged the need of a professional attitude toward whims of school children.

REV. ROBERT H. HARPER
David, a King Who Honored God
Lesson for July 30: II Samuel 7: 1-6, 17-22

Memory Selection: II Samuel 7: 22

HOW DAVID came to exchange his shepherd's crook for the scepter of a king is a fascinating story. And he was the greatest of all the kings of Israel, who subdued the petty kingdoms around his domain and brought it to its widest extent—from the mountains of Lebanon to the borders of Egypt and from the Mediterranean sea to the Euphrates river.

When David's dominion was firmly established, he proposed to build a temple unto God, to replace the worn tabernacle. But, through Nathan the prophet, the Lord forbade him to build the temple and he had to be content in gathering materials and in leaving the task to his son, Solomon. But God promised David an everlasting kingdom. The verification of his promise must be found.

That David was not embittered because he was denied the building of the temple is shown by his soliloquy (II Samuel 7:17-22), in which he reflected upon God's goodness to him and gave thanks.

Notwithstanding David had grievous faults, and sinned terribly with Bathsheba, and had her husband, Uriah, slain in battle, he repented. In the most of his life he honored God and was concerned for the religious life of his people. The Hebrew people have ever remembered him as their greatest king, and all alike find in his Psalms the fitting language of devotion. Let us find in him an example of faith in God that never wavered.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST. Sunday services at 10:30 a.m. Sunday school, 10:30 a.m. for pupils up to 20 years. "Spirit" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, August 6. The Golden Text (Galatians 5:22, 23) is: "The fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance against such there is no law." Among the Bible citations is this passage, (Ps. 139: 7, 8): "Whither shall I go from thy spirit? or whither shall I flee from thy presence? If I ascend up into heaven, thou art there: if I make my bed in hell, behold, thou art there." Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 331): "He fills all space, and it is impossible to conceive of such omnipresence and individuality except as infinite Spirit or Mind. Hence all is Spirit and spiritual."

The following teams were entered in the Hearst Baseball tournament: Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor, Flat Rock, Plymouth Daisy, Garden City, Wayne and Inkster. One loss and you were out.

In the first round Wayne, who is leading the "D" league, was edged out by Ann Arbor 5-4. Ypsilanti downed Garden City by the score of 4-2. Flat Rock and Daisy tied in a very well played game 1-1. Inkster drew a bye for the first round.

In the second round of play Inkster defeated Ann Arbor 4-3. Ann Arbor was leading 3-1 when it started to rain and the game was called for a short time. After the rain Inkster had one inning to tie up the game which they did by scoring three runs.

Flat Rock and Daisy played their tie game over and this time Daisy didn't fool around and trounced Flat Rock 8-3. In this game Flat Rock's manager raised a fuss over a decision and because of poor sportsmanship Flat Rock was barred from further competition in Hearst tournaments.

In the final game on Saturday, Inkster downed Ypsilanti to take the tournament. Gold baseball medals were awarded to the winners.

The runner-up team to represent this section was made up of all-stars from each defeated team. These boys will play tomorrow at Ferry field in Ann Arbor at 10 a.m. This team will play other all-star teams from other sections.

The winner of this tournament, which will consist of winning three games, will go to Briggs stadium, August 12, to play the Detroit all-stars. The national finals will then be held at the Polo Grounds, New York, August 26.

Following is a player list of the all-star team. Included are four Daisy players.

Daisy—Don Healy, 1b or 2b; Dick Fenton, ss; Tom Fairbanks, 2b or 3b; Wally Dzurus, p.

Deitrich—Hugh Fritz, 1b; Chas. Law, c; James Martin, p; Chas. Templeton, p; Arthur Mach, cf.

Ann Arbor—Dahoney, rf; Rodciguaz, f; Pohatts, p; Nicholuau, ss; Cook, cf; Jim Love, 1.

Garden City—Gerald Davis, ss; Don Thompson, rf; Fred Lauman, p.

Ypsilanti—Dates, 2b; Pratin, p; Lucas, cf.

Daisy Loses 7th Game of Season

Daisy lost their seventh game in the Industrial league last Friday 8-7 as Champion Corrugated continued to win. Caldwell hurled for the winners and Benjamin for the losers.

Champion Corrugated scored in the first inning as Hancock walked and scored on an error and a flyout. In the second they scored one more on another walk and error.

Daisy scored one in their half of the first and in the third they pushed across five runs as nine men came to bat. Champion Corrugated scored two more runs in the third and four in the fourth to take over the lead again 8-6.

In the seventh Daisy came close to tying up the game as Schroeder was safe on an error and after two outs Lamphear singled scoring Schroeder. Cecil then walked and Stevenson walked, loading the bases. Larson then ended the game by flying out to right field.

Here is a yum-yum tip for day camp cooking. Have your mother core an apple, put brown sugar and cinnamon in the center and wrap it in aluminum foil. At lunch time all you have to do is bury it in the coals for 15 minutes.

Hurry, hurry, hurry, boys and girls. There are only three weeks of day camp left. For more fun than you've ever had before, register on Monday for day camp. Registration is open from 10-12 a.m. and 1-5 p.m. at all playgrounds.

Champion Corrugated Edges Out Whitman - Barnes in Close Game

Champion Corrugated pulled a surprise in the Industrial league July 25 edging out Whitman-Barnes 10-7. Caldwell was the winning pitcher and Frost the loser.

Champion Corrugated scored three runs in the first inning as Caldwell was hit by the pitcher, Hancock singled, Eckler was safe on an error, Hees singled and Meyers singled, making the three runs.

Whitman-Barnes came back with one run but this was not quite good enough as Champion Corrugated scored four more runs in the second as they collected five hits along with two errors and a hit batter. Champion Corrugated scored two more in the third and one in the fifth for their ten runs.

Whitman-Barnes scored one in the second and in the fourth they pushed across four counters as they started to hit the ball. However, after that inning Caldwell held them hitless with only one run coming across which was on errors.

When Whitman-Barnes lost this game it tightened the race for second place.

Blue Sox Handed Fourth Defeat

The Plymouth Blue Sox were handed their fourth defeat of the season July 24 by bowing to Inkster Boys' club 10-8. Finney started the game for the Blue Sox but was relieved by Rora-bacher.

The Inkster Boys' club started scoring in the second frame as they pushed two men across. In the third two more scored, three in the fourth, one in the fifth, and two in the sixth.

Plymouth scored one in the third as Jacobus tripled and scored on an infield out. In the fourth and fifth the Blue Sox scored one each. Utilities Still Pace "F" League

The Utilities squad continued to lead the "F" league by downing Northville 2-1 July 26. Kisabeth again went the distance for Utilities allowing six hits while striking out nine. Nalley was the losing pitcher as Utilities touched him for eight hits.

The Plymouth team scored first as Signorelli doubled in the second and scored when Clifford singled. In the fourth Utilities pushed across one more as Signorelli singled and scored again.

Northville scored their lone tally in the fifth on a walk and an error. They came close to tying the game up several times but Kisabeth always came out ahead.

In the other "F" game played on July 26 the Great Americans, lost out to the Cardinals 7-5 after putting up a good fight. Most of the Great American players are 12 and 13 while the Cardinals have some 16 and 17 year old boys. However, you never see the Great Americans loafing, as their games show.

Going into the last inning the score was 5-5 but the Cardinals pushed across two runs to win the game.

LET'S NOT be too hard on the gas and oil salesmen. We honestly believe that they don't try to oversell. It's often a temptation to make statements that probably won't be checked. Pitches No Hitter For Beglinger Behind Gabby Street's no hit pitching Beglinger was able to down South Side Merchants 3-1, July 24. Wellmen hurled for South Side and allowed only six hits. This was Beglinger's seventh victory against seven defeats.

South Side scored one run in the first inning as Robinson walked and scored on a wild pitch. Beglinger didn't score until the fifth inning when Leichtweis singled and scored when Schultz was safe on a fielder's choice. This made the game 1-1 tie.

Then in the 8th frame Beglinger managed to get two men across. With two outs Schultz singled and Newton doubled. Then big Art Gillis stepped up and blasted one over the left fielder's head. Art was determined to make it a home run but on a perfect relay he was thrown out at the plate.

Street then held South Side for their half of the eighth.

Sandmann Hits Homer in Last Inning for Dunn Steel Victory

Dunn Steel had a close call July 27 as they just edged out Wall Wire 7-6 to keep their record with only one loss in the Industrial league intact. Gray was the winning pitcher and Broome the loser.

Wall Wire scored one run in the first inning as McGarry walked and scored on a hit by Hruska. Dunn Steel came back with one run in their half of the first. Allen, leading off, singled; Stout walked and Becker singled. Then Sandmann singled and drove in Allen.

Wall Wire continued to go and scored two more runs as Warkup was safe on an error, Elliott was hit by the pitcher and Broome walked resulting in two runs. In the fourth Dunn Steel scored three runs and in the fifth one run.

The score was now 5-3 in favor of Dunn Steel. Then in the top of the seventh Wall Wire went ahead by scoring three more runs. With two out, McGarry walked, Hruska walked and Ronayne was safe on a fielder's choice. Then Cowell tripled and drove in three runs.

enth Dunn Steel finally won the game as Garwell, leading off, singled and scored as John Sandmann came through with a home run. This was Sandmann's third hit of the game.

Nancy Gerst Becomes Bride of David Schoultz of Northville

Baskets of white gladioli and carnations, candelabra and palms formed the altar setting at the First Methodist church when Nancy L. Gerst exchanged nuptial vows with David H. Schoultz. The Saturday evening ceremony was read at eight o'clock by the Rev. Melbourne Johnson.

Mrs. David H. Schoultz

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Harry H. Gerst of Ball street, Plymouth. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Schoultz of Northville.

"Because" and "The Lord's Prayer" were the selections sung by the soloist, Richard Miller, preceding the nuptial rites. Mrs. Edna O'Connor was the accompanying organist.

For her wedding gown the bride chose white marquisette over satin. A lace-bertha detailed the bodice of the gown and matching lace was used in the ruffles which trimmed the skirt. The bridal veil of illusion was caught to a headpiece of orange blossoms. A white orchid centered the bride's bouquet of stephanotis and fleur d'amour.

Nile green taffeta fashioned the gowns worn by the bridal attendants. Duties of the maid of honor were carried out by Shirley Aitchison, and Mrs. L. J. Dawson of Ypsilanti acted as bridesmaid.

The bride asked Patricia Bauer to be the junior bridesmaid. The honor attendant carried a basket arrangement of gold daisy mums and Talisman roses while the two bridesmaids carried bouquets of yellow Gloria-roses and yellow daisy mums.

To serve as best man, the bridegroom chose L. J. Dawson of Ypsilanti. Ushering at the evening rites were Gerald Gerst, the bride's brother, and Charles Cole.

The bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gerst, were hosts to 200 guests at the reception following the ceremony in the church parlors. When she greeted her guests, Mrs. Gerst was wearing a formal gown of dusty rose lace and crepe. Mrs. Schoultz selected hyacinth blue crepe for her gown. Both mothers wore orchids.

Hints For Plymouth Homemakers

Home Canning Time Hits Peak in August

It's Economical to Preserve Surplus Fruits and Vegetables

Harvest time brings up the perennial question of the wisdom of home canning. Some homemakers continue an extensive schedule of canning year after year from force of habit. Others feel that the money saved, if any, isn't worth the effort involved.

The Plymouth gardener who produces more than the family can consume in its fresh state finds it economically sound to store the surplus for winter meals. Anyone who has access to good supplies of fresh fruits and vegetables at really low cost will also get busy preserving the food bargains.

The factors which will decide the advisability of canning or other forms of food preservation are these:

First, the foods to be preserved should be low in cost.

Second, the foods must be garden fresh. Those which can't be stored within several hours of harvest time lose much of their flavor and food value and, in the case of vegetables, chances of spoilage are greatly increased.

Third, each homemaker must balance the saving of money against the time used. In counting the cost of canning, it is necessary to add cost of new jars and tops as well as the fuel to the cost of the food.

Fourth, the method of preserving must be decided upon. If a home freezer is at hand much of the food will be preserved by freezing. This method of preservation is not only easier than canning but brings about less change in texture, flavor and color of foods.

Canning, of course, will be on the schedule if freezing is impossible. To make sure that the results will be satisfactory it is necessary to have suitable equipment and to follow the methods that have proved to insure success.

Fruits and tomatoes are best canned in a water bath. The canners on the market consist of a large, covered kettle with a rack to separate the jars and keep them off the bottom. Check the depth of the kettle carefully if quart jars are to be used to make sure it's deep enough so the water can cover the jar tops.

Low acid vegetables—that is, all of them with the exception of tomatoes—meats and fish must be processed in a steam pressure cooker. Boiling water does not permit the food in the jars to reach a high enough temperature to insure destruction of certain bacteria which cause low acid foods to spoil.

Even when a steam pressure cooker is used all home-canned vegetables, meats and fish should be brought to a rolling boil, then boiled gently in a covered pan for 10 minutes before they are even tasted.

Timing of the cooking period is most important. This varies with each particular food so directions must be followed accurately. When a water bath canner is used the cooking time is counted when the water reaches a full rolling boil. The timing starts, with a steam pressure cooker, when the correct pressure is reached.

For detailed canning directions for fruits and vegetables drop a post card to the Food and Nutrition Service, American Red Cross 153 Elizabeth Street, Detroit 1, Michigan.

Canning of Jams and Jellies Made Easier With Cellophane Seals

The job of canning jams and jellies is routine to the average housewife, until she gets to the final stages—actually putting it in the jar and sealing it. Then her work becomes tedious and generally aggravating. She has to melt wax, work with tricky lids, and wrestle with the job of sealing up the jams and jellies.

Now cellophane seals cut out all this work and worry—making the job so easy the youngsters can pitch in and help mother so she'll have time to take them to the local movie! Here's how much this unique product has revolutionized home canning.

Cellophane seals made of a special cellophane, are clipped in water, then placed over the top of the jar or glass, then a rubber band is snapped on. Simple? Extra protection for jams and jellies is provided by wax-paper discs which may be placed on top of hot jelly before sealing, to prevent possible moisture condensation. No other lid, or wax is necessary and this process provides the perfect airtight seal against moisture and all foreign matter. Another interesting fact of this simple sealer is the ease with which it can be removed. Gone are the days of mumbled words during a half-hour wrestling match with a lid that clings to the jar like an octopus. The cellophane seal removal is achieved by the obvious and simple means of merely removing the rubber band and the lifting of the seal, which incidentally, will not tear when removed.

There are many other practical uses for the cellophane seal—such as sealing store jars, sealing leftovers to prevent odors in the refrigerator—protecting the flavor of cut halves of citrus fruits, hermetically sealing baby formulas and baby foods, preventing cup custards and puddings from crusty—sealing fruit juices, custards, and prepared foods in glass jars in lunch boxes (no metal touches the food) and keeping paints, putty, etc. fresh when stored in glass jars. These are but a few suggested uses and we are sure you will find dozens of other applications yourself.

Caution—Be sure the transparent seals you use are printed "This Side Out." This indicates that the outside has been specially treated to provide a moisture-proof covering. Plain, unprinted seals are porous and neither airtight nor moisture-proof. A simple test is to take two glasses of water, cellophane seal one, and place an unprinted seal on the other. Turn upside down in separate dishes and leave overnight. The next day, the dish containing the cellophane sealed glass will be dry, there will be considerable moisture in the other dish. Each package contains 25 sets of cellophane seals, rubber bands, wax-paper discs, and labels to identify and date the jams or jelly. Cellophane seals may be obtained from your grocery or variety store.

A New Coffee Cookie That's Just Plain Good

COFFEE, coffee everywhere—in the long, frosty glasses and in the cookies, too! You'll find these Coffee Walnut Bars make a real addition to your "family likes best" file. To enjoy their fine flavor to the fullest, be sure to team them up with plenty of rich, delicious iced coffee.

Iced Coffee a Natural with Coffee Cookies

Tall, tinkling glasses of iced coffee and a plate of homemade cookies—there's a combination that's made for summer. And when the cookies have a luscious coffee flavor to match the frosty beverage, you'll find you have a warm-weather snack that is just about tops.

Coffee Walnut Bars have a texture similar to Brownies, but they are not quite so rich nor quite so sweet. We think you will agree that the flavor of coffee in them is a wonderful idea.

Speaking of iced coffee—as who isn't in this weather?—don't forget that, to be at its delicious best, it must start with good, hot coffee. You have your choice of two simple ways of preparation. One way is to prepare hot coffee, regular strength, about two or three hours before serving. (Regular strength means one standard coffee measure of coffee or its equivalent, 2 level measuring tablespoons, to each three-quarters of a measuring cup of water.) Store coffee in the refrigerator in a non-metallic container. Pour into tall, ice-filled glasses to serve. For last minute preparation, make hot coffee double strength by using one half the amount of water to the usual amount of coffee and pour it directly into glasses filled to the top with ice. Serve it with cream and sugar or simple syrup for sweetening.

COFFEE WALNUT BARS

- 2 eggs
- 1 cup light brown sugar, firmly packed
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 tablespoon soluble coffee
- ½ cup sifted enriched flour
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup chopped walnuts
- ½ cup butter or margarine, melted.

Beat eggs until light and lemon-colored. Gradually beat in sugar; continue beating until mixture is light and fluffy. Add vanilla. Mix and sift soluble coffee, flour and salt; stir in. Stir in walnuts. Blend in melted butter or margarine. Bake in greased, shallow oblong pan, 11x7x1½ inches in moderate oven, 350° F., 25 minutes. Cool; cut in bars.

A time-honored rule for choice of dressings is to use French dressings for dinner salads which accompany a meal and mayonnaise or cooked dressings for some of the more substantial salads, advise Michigan State college home economists.

Two-piece bathing suits are usually more becoming for a tall person and one-piece suits for a short person. If you are plump, white or light colors, or a large splashy print will make you look plumper. Dark colors or a small print will have a slenderizing effect, say Michigan State college home economists.

GOOD SWEET CORN

Have you ever roasted corn over the open fire? Only grilling in the husks will keep in the real full flavor of tender sweet corn. Remove the outer husks, turn back the inner ones to remove the silk, then pull the husks back over the corn.

When the fire is low put the corn on the grill and turn it often. The husks will brown but the corn will be delicious in ten to twelve minutes. Pull off the husks with dish holders or gloves to keep from burning your fingers. Have plenty of butter or margarine and salt and pepper on hand.

Since we can't have picnics every day, sometimes the corn must be boiled.

"Do's for Boiling Corn"

Keep corn in the husks until you are ready to cook it.

Use plenty of rapidly boiling water in a kettle large enough so that the corn is not crowded. It is easy to get too much salt. One teaspoon to a quart of water is just right.

Cook only eight to twelve minutes depending on the size of the ears. Drain as soon as it is done.

Serve at once in an uncovered dish. This keeps the corn from becoming soggy. You have the beginning of fresh corn pudding when there is more corn cooked than your family can eat.

Kentucky Corn Pudding

- 2 cups fresh corn
- 2-3 cups milk
- 2 eggs separated
- ¼ teaspoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1/3 teaspoon salt
- 1½ tablespoons melted butter

Combine corn, milk and well beaten egg yolks. Fold in baking powder, sugar and salt, then stiffly beaten egg whites and melted butter. Bake uncovered in a moderate oven (350° F) for 45 minutes.

Yield: 4 to 5 servings.

VFW News

At its last meeting on July 18 the VFW Ladies' Auxiliary completed arrangements to send two little Plymouth girls to the VFW Buddy Poppy camp at Union Lake for the two week period beginning August 13 and ending the 27. They are: Marie Howard of 1653 Brookline, Route two, and Barbara Erdelyi of 751 Forest. This project is carried on each year as a part of the Home Fund program. Home Fund chairman this year is Mrs. Edward Kapinski.

Friday night, July 28 the Auxiliary president and vice president, Eleanor Gust and Kay Coolman, attended a special meeting of district officers and presidents at Wolverine post in Detroit. New district officers were in charge and conducted a planning conference, presenting many new ideas and plans for the coming year, which were discussed and voted on by the group.

The Veterans defeated Dunn Steel 14-5 last week Wednesday. This victory places them with three other teams who are tied for first place in the Old Timers' league. Watch for the play-off dates and be on hand to root for your team.

Answer to LAST WEEK'S Puzzle

Peak Heat Means Trees Need Drink

Like other pets, trees need more attention and care during the "dog days." Unfortunately, most home owners water their trees only as an afterthought to thorough sprinkling of the lawns.

At this time, seeing that your trees slake their thirst is a special job in itself, advises the Plymouth and Merryhill Nurseries. Oddly enough, meeting the water requirements of your trees helps fulfill the water demands of your lawn.

Roots of well-watered trees will not tend to come to the surface to compete with the lawn for moisture. During hot, dry weather, if the water supply is available, the entire root area of each tree should be saturated from two to three hours once each week. The watering should cover the equivalent of the branch spread. Sprinkling should be in the form of a spray to simulate as closely as possible natural rain fall. For best results and to prevent surface run-off, use a "soil soaker" which is a hose-like contrivance from which water seeps slowly into the soil. Watering evergreens now is also important since it helps them build up a reservoir for winter. At the same time, it is a good idea to wash needles and leaves with a strong spray. This serves a double purpose. It helps them absorb moisture from the air and washes off pesky sucking insects, such as the tiny red spider. Foliage watering gives evergreens a healthier, lusher look, too.

Now's the time to make sure your trees won't fall victim to drought. At least, not if you can help it.

The universal and absolute law is that natural justice which cannot be written down, but which appeals to the hearts of all.

—Victor Cousin

It is good discretion not to make too much of any man at the first, because one cannot hold out in that proportion. —Bacon

When the righteous are in authority, the people rejoice; but when the wicked beareth rule, the people mourn. Proverbs 29:2

A Great Beauty—A Great Car!

All great beauties have one thing in common—the ability to stand strikingly apart from the crowd, to be instantly recognizable as something very special.

Certainly Pontiac has that distinction to a rare degree. Wherever you go, you see the new Pontiac, you are sharply aware that this one car asserts itself in any company. And yet, beautiful as Pontiac is, it has inner qualities which are even more desirable. Pontiac is built to be thoroughly good, to be an outstanding performer, a dependable, economical, completely satisfying car.

Yes, almost everybody knows that Pontiac is a great beauty; But only Pontiac owners really know that Pontiac is a great car in every way. You should be a Pontiac owner—dollar for dollar, you can't beat a Pontiac!

DALE CARNEGIE

AUTHOR OF "HOW TO STOP WORRYING AND START LIVING"

Do the Best You Can

SOME 17 YEARS AGO Robert T. Herz, Chicago, was placed in charge of a project that had gone out of control. A group of 300 merchants had made down payments amounting to $30,000 for participating in a sales campaign involving free trips to the World's Fair. An additional $10,000 had been invested by promoters. The money had all been spent when a fatal weakness in the plan developed.

Carnegie

Now it was up to Robert Herz to make a decision between two actions:

1—Ask the promoters to take the loss, and also refund the $30,000 (which was impractical if not impossible.)

2—Stand on their legal rights, make no refunds, but possibly face expensive and dangerous civil and criminal action.

There was the alternative of salvaging the entire project and sinking another $50,000 in the project, but they would then be that much more involved.

Robert had a week in which to work out a solution. Seven days! Of course he was in a dither. He says it was the worst week of his entire life. How he envied the day laborer or the clerk who does what he is told and has to solve no problems, make no important decisions.

The night before his decision was to be presented, he felt he was going crazy—and during fleeting moments he almost wished this were true. Then somebody else would settle everything.

As he sat with befuddled brain, something came to him. Someone seemed to say: "You have gathered all the facts and weighed the possibilities to the best of your ability. The judgment you use may not be as sound as someone who is smarter than you. Einstein or Henry Kaiser, for instance. But since you are using 100% of your resources, there's no use to reproach yourself. So just do the best you can."

This talk to himself seemed to clear his brain. At least, he could think more clearly. He decided to ask the merchants to take the $30,000 loss and subsequent developments showed the wisdom (he says maybe it was plain luck) of this decision.

Now when he has a difficult decision to make, he gives himself a little talk, rationalizes, and it always helps him to clear his thinking processes, even though there have been times when the decision he made in solving a problem was not the right one.

First of the Fine Cars in Value

Even Wiser than He Seems

PLAINLY, here travels a man wise in the ways of fine motorcars.

You know that, by the four Ventiports and the rich sweep of chrome which mark his car as a ROADMASTER.

You know it, should you trail him on the highway, by the smooth lift of the big Fireball power plant at his toe's command, by the obvious levelness of the ride he enjoys, the swift ease with which Dynaflo Drive solves his traffic problems.

What is not so plain from what you see is that here also is a man very wise in what today's dollar should buy!

For this man has all that a fine-car owner can ask for—brilliant performance, a ride without equal for gentle softness, finger-easy handling, abundant room all around him, styling that is easily the most distinguished on the highway.

Yet he paid considerably less than comparable merit costs elsewhere.

He found fewer extra charges in his delivered price, with such things as Dynaflo Drive, foam rubber cushions, windshield washers, electric clock, even non-glare rear-view mirror included in the price.

If you know fine cars, it won't take fifteen minutes behind a ROADMASTER wheel to see that here is one of the finest.

If you have inquired about prices, a single glance at the delivered figures establishes this as the big buy of the field.

Why not make both checks—especially since your Buick dealer will be glad to arrange a trial run in a ROADMASTER any time you care to call on him?

Only BUICK has Dynaflo-Drive* and with it goes: HIGHER-COMPRESSION Fireball valve-in-head power in three engines. Roger Babson Says...

Babson Discusses Advertisers
I have just been reading a most interesting advertisement of a great steel company. In effect, it constitutes a report of the progress this company has made in its production of steel plates for ships, bombs, and other war materials. This company has nothing whatever to sell to the general public, but it chooses to buy considerable newspaper space to give the people some most encouraging facts.

Reliance and Returns
The public has come to rely upon advertisements. In countless instances people make it a practice to read the ads first and the news stories second. Naturally, there is some waste in advertising; but 90% of it is to the good. The merchant who pays a bill for advertising expects his ad to "pay its way." The return in merchandise sales per dollar spent for space is carefully watched.

In certain types of copy featuring the sale of shoes, dresses and various other articles of consumer goods, a merchant thinks he can determine an hour after his store opens for business whether or not the advertisement is a success. He fools himself by trying to do this. Statistics show that money spent on one daily newspaper advertisement will be a factor in increasing sales for a period of some months ahead.

Don't Worry About Korea
Many believe that the consumer goods industries must now fall off and are curtailing advertising. I cannot necessarily agree with this position. Whatever happens in Korea, the vast machinery of manufacturing and distributing which makes up our great retail trade must be kept running. Besides, I am more optimistic on the international situation than I have been for some years. The Koreans will get such a punishment that it may be many years before Russia gets some other satellite to try the same stunt.

Too many readers accept their newspapers as a matter of course. Newspapers are, however, as important to their communities as are municipal conveniences and other services. Probably no single item would be missed more from our daily lives than our local newspaper. A newspaper is the greatest buy in the world. All newspapers, regardless of size, are highly educational. Unlike other great institutions of learning, however, they are not endowed and must be self-supporting. Naturally, what keeps a paper going is its advertising revenue. Everyone should help on this as a civic duty.

Service Rendered by Newspapers
Newspapers are vastly more important to retailers, manufacturers, and the city itself than merely increasing sales. All kinds of civic and social organizations rely upon free notices of their activities. We all have more of a stake in the business of advertising than we realize. Our papers not only give us the news each day but the growth of our cities depend upon the prosperity of our local newspapers. Washington certainly owes a debt to all newspapers whether editorially they are "for" or "agin" the Administration.

Successful manufacturers are carrying on a most sensible campaign of paid publicity with no chance of now getting their money back through immediate increased sales. I hope more local firms will take advantage of the opportunities to advertise which are offered today. Yes, I am optimistic for advertising for those who will stick to it "rain or shine." Sensible continuous advertising is the best investment that there is.

Advertising and Taxes
Merchants who cut down advertising appropriations at this time are making a great mistake. Not only do all merchants now need more sales, but those who advertise now get more attention when their competing merchants are not advertising. Now is the time to advertise.

One of the best ways to avoid the "boom or bust" policy would be for Congress to allow a special tax reduction as an incentive for five-year contracts for advertising expenditures. Then instead of merchants spending freely good years, with very little left for lean years, the advertising appropriations would be spent over a five-year period. This would do much to keep business on an even keel which is what we especially need today.

Chief Urges Parents to Teach School Children Safety Habits

"Parents, if you have a child who is beginning school this fall it is time to start teaching him safe walking habits." This reminder to Plymouth parents came today from Police Chief Lee Sackett, representative for the American Automobile association's 1950 Pedestrian Protection contest.

"The importance of teaching children how and where to cross streets and the safest way to walk to school cannot be over emphasized," the chief said.

Going to school is the first experience which many children have in crossing streets alone, he explained, stressing that adequate preparation for this venture by parents makes the difference between a child who is capable of safely crossing streets and one who is in grave danger of being struck down in traffic.

Sackett outlined the following suggested plan for parents to train their children in traffic safety.

"As soon as your child is able to walk and accompany you in crossing streets you should emphasize your own safe walking habits, explaining the procedure of watching for cars, crossing at corners, obeying traffic signals and so forth as he becomes old enough to understand.

"However, if this training has been overlooked until your child is almost ready to enter school, concentrated training in safe walking habits should be conducted during the weeks preceding his entrance into school."

"Before the school year begins work out the safest route to and from the school considering the streets on which there is the lightest traffic, the corners which are protected by police officers or school safety patrols on duty, and other factors. When school begins accompany your child along this safest route to school explaining how to cross at each intersection.

"When he seems to know the route and safe walking habits, allow him to lead you on the route to and from school. After he has learned the way thoroughly he is ready to go to and from school, equipped with safety habits for his own protection."

THIS MAY ONLY BE the earliest days of summer, but Hollywood is witnessing a pell-mell rush to grab up daytime quarter and half-hour spots, both on local stations and the networks... Veteran time salesmen state that nothing like it has been seen since pre-war boom days as radio has gone all out to get fall schedules lined up three months ahead of starting date... Credit for the big demand for radio time in the 6:00 a.m. to 6 p.m. span is being given to television, whose inroads into night time audiences is far from secret... As one chain sales head stated, "That's the first time we've ever been fully sold out in the summer... And after 10:00 p.m. here we've still got television competition! I can't explain it, but radio sure is a lively corpse!"

There are reports that CBS is threatening to slot Bing Crosby opposite Groucho Marx Wednesday nights... This is sour apples on CBS' part since NBC narrowly managed to snatch Groucho away from them... It is further reported that Bing has talked with Groucho and already told him he will not hold still for such a maneuver... Sophie Tucker is set to make her TV debut with Bob Hope Thanksgiving Day.

PLATTER CHATTER
CAPITOL: One of the most inspiring discs to come out of the Capitol lot is a new one recorded by the team of Jo Stafford and Gordon MacRae... The pair combine the very beautiful "The Rosary" with Carrie Jacobs Bond's "A Perfect Day."

COLUMBIA: Radio's precocious redhead, Arthur Godfrey, teams up with his whole gang in a nifty arrangement of "Drippin' Down the Dreamy 'O' Ohio"... Art does a nice job on "Hawaii" on the reverse... Guy Mitchell gives a new number, "Me and My Imagination," a nice send-off... The reverse carries another new one, "To Me You're a Song."
