What I Think and Have A Right to Say

By ELTON R. EATON

PUERTO RICAN LABOR.

Michigan farmers this summer have tried a new experiment in labor. No longer able to secure sufficient American help to run the farms of this state and harvest the crops, our farmers a few years ago imported some Mexican laborers. These workers did well, but the supply was not sufficient to meet the demands.

So some one hit upon the idea of importing Puerto Rican labor for the summer months.

As a result the farm lands, especially of the Thumb district, have been cared for to a very great extent by Puerto Rican labor.

Those who have visited the Thumb district say that never before have they ever seen such clean fields of crops. Not a weed can be seen anywhere, not even along some of the roadsides, so thoroughly do these Puerto Ricans do their work.

There has been some talk of dissatisfaction over pay and working conditions—but these matters will be remedied before another season, as Michigan farmers are said to be so highly satisfied with the work of the Puerto Rican workers that they want them back next year.

It is good to hear that the farmers of Michigan have at last been able to find people who really want to do an honest day's work in repayment for their wages. It is interesting to note, too, that our fellow-workers from Puerto Rico are easy to get along with and that they have created no trouble of any kind for law enforcement officers.

JUST AS WE ALWAYS THOUGHT.

The Michigan Joint Legislative committee has just made a report that it does not believe it advisable to scatter throughout the state in various substations members of the Michigan State Police forces. It states that the state police members should be more concentrated than they are at the present time.

It has been quite a few years since we first urged this very idea. When the state first began erecting the various State Police headquarters in various sections of Michigan, we strongly opposed the idea, believing that the plan carried with it not only an additional tax burden to the people, but less efficiency on the part of the State Police. Now after all these years some "study" committee has come to the same conclusion.

We did say at that time that one substation for a State Police unit located in the Upper Peninsula might be essential, but it seemed wasteful and of little benefit to locate here, there and everywhere a number of substations for the State Police.

It is interesting to read that others have come to the same conclusion. We do not expect, however, that anything will be done about it.

WHY NOT ALGER HISS, TOO?

Federal law enforcing officials have deemed it advisable to put Harry Bridges behind the bars. He's been slated for deportation because of lies to the government about his naturalization application. That's good news to see him locked up but it would be far better news if we were shoving him off board a ship somewhere around Australia, from whence he came.

But what about Alger Hiss, one of the great buddies of Dean Acheson and Justice Frankfurter and others high up in the New Deal and the Phony Deal?

He lied too, didn't he? And isn't he the fellow who fed to Russia, our worst enemy, a lot of government secrets at a time when his deeds were as traitorous to America as were the deeds of Benedict Arnold, if not more so?

He's out on bail, too. But why shouldn't he be locked up as any traitor should be?

Who knows what he might be doing now? He is running at large, enjoying all the freedom of any American citizen and for all that you know or any one else knows, he might be right back to his old tricks.

As we see it he is just as much a threat to America as Bridges, if not more so, because he is a pretty slippery "guy" as the police say. Yes, Harry, why don't you put him in jail, where he belongs?

WHO IS TO BLAME FOR KOREAN FUMBLE?

Just how did it happen that this great and powerful nation was caught in another "Pearl Harbor" in Korea? Some Washington reports declare that our national leaders didn't think anything was going to happen in Korea, or anywhere else right away. They thought that way, because they say they didn't know.

Well, according to The United States News, the Truman crowd DID KNOW.

The News says flatly—and it hasn't been denied,—that "Warning, it turns out, was given. Rear Admiral Roscoe H. Millenkoetter, chief of the Central Intelligence Agency, now testifies before Congress that he warned the Defense Department on June 9—about two weeks before the attack—that the North Korean Army had ordered civilians evacuated in an area two kilometers north of the 38th parallel, a sure sign of approaching military activity. He also had reported that a sizeable military force was ready, in North Korea and that Russia had agreed to supply North Koreans with a stated number of tanks, planes and other military equipment."

QUOTATIONS OF AND ABOUT "FAMOUS" DEMOCRATIC PRESIDENTS.

Back in 1916—Remember it?—"Re-elect Woodrow Wilson. HE KEPT US OUT OF WAR."

Along about 1936—You heard President Franklin Roosevelt tell the mothers of America—"I will not send one of your sons to fight on foreign soil."

In 1950 when American soldier lads are being slaughtered in Korea because they are vastly out-numbered and lack proper equipment, President Harry Truman tells the nation—"We have nothing to worry about, nothing at all, not a worry in the world."

To Vote On Charter Revisions

Plymouth voters will decide at the November elections whether or not the city charter should be revised. The decision to put the issue on the ballot was made at the city commission meeting Monday night. A three-fifths vote in favor of revision is required for adoption.

If the charter revision plan is adopted in November a charter commission will also be elected at the same time, consisting of nine electors who have resided in Plymouth for at least three years and who are not officers or employees of the city.

Nomination petitions for candidates for the commission will be accepted up to 5 p.m. October 28. Members of the commission will serve without compensation but will be allowed to incur necessary expenses and be reimbursed by the city.

The present charter was adopted May 16, 1932.

Greenhouses, Farms in Area Damaged by Hail

Plymouth's hottest August day in record—last week Thursday—ended up with one of those freak rain storms that brought about a big electrical display and hail stones that were almost as big as hen's eggs, but not quite. They were big enough, however, to do considerable damage.

It seemed that everybody complained about the weather last week, but didn't do anything about it until the storm broke early last Thursday evening. Some of the downtown thermometers registered as high as 98 during last Thursday afternoon.

"It was a blinger while it lasted," declared Farmer Earl Fueling, speaking of the storm. There were reports of much damage in this area, greenhouses and melon fields suffering the worse. Both lightning and flood waters caused considerable damage in that area.

Over a thousand panes of glass were smashed at Heide's Greenhouse on Mill street. All windows on the west side of Wnuk's greenhouse on Lilley road were broken and 75% of their crop was destroyed, including mums, tomatoes, melons and potatoes.

Four acres of gladioli at the Holmes' gladioli farm on Joy road were beaten down by the hail stones.

In Northville all lights on the north side of Main street were out for a considerable period. Traffic lights were off on several of the main thoroughfares.

Ripening melons in many fields were so badly damaged by the hail that what promised to be a good crop may now be only a fair one. Some vegetables were also damaged by the hail.

Numerous windows were broken in Green Meadows and serious damage was done to roofs and siding.

The storm did do one good thing—it brought relief from a most uncomfortable humid heat wave that prevailed for several days.

Rent Control Hearing Set For Sept. 11

A public hearing will be held by the city commission September 11 to hear objections to the removal of rent controls in the city. The hearing is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the commission chamber at the city hall.

Stating that he felt an acute housing shortage no longer existed in Plymouth, Commissioner Henry Fisher suggested Monday night that the hearing should be held in order to determine whether or not the city should decontrol rents.

The Federal Housing and Rent Act of 1950 allows cities, villages and townships to take controls off of rents after a public hearing is held.

If no valid objections are made at the hearing the commission will consider a resolution to decontrol rents here. Commissioners Tibbitts, Richwine and Hammond agreed with Commissioner Fisher that the housing shortage in Plymouth is not sufficient to warrant further rent controls. Mayor Hough was not present at Monday's commission meeting.

Says Police Cancel Too Many Tickets

The city commission passed a resolution Monday night stating that traffic violation tickets may no longer be cancelled by the police department but must be referred to the judge for proper disposition at court.

The action was taken following a communication to the commission from Judge Nardino Perlongo stating that he felt too many parking tickets had been cancelled by the police department. The commissioners agreed that this responsibility should be taken from the department.

Police Chief Lee Sackett stated at the meeting that the department has always had the right to cancel parking tickets under the traffic violation ordinance but he offered no objection to passage of the resolution.

Judge Perlongo announced on Tuesday that violators who have been issued tickets and do not pay the fine after receiving their first notice, will be issued a warrant for their arrest.

County Board of Supervisors Acts on Sewage Plan

Completion of plans for improved sewage facilities for the Plymouth area were spurred on last week, according to Commissioner Eleanor Hammond, Plymouth's member of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors. Mrs. Hammond attended a meeting August 16 of the Sewage Disposal and Water Supply committee of the board, representatives of the Future Detroit, Inc., an organization of Detroit business leaders, and George F. Dingman, drain commissioner. A report given at this meeting by Frederick R. Storrer, chairman of the committee on water, sewage and drainage, was presented to the city commission Monday night.

In part, the chairman's report stated:

"Our findings are, that the construction of the Middle Rouge Interceptor is the most urgently needed project in the area and because proceedings have been started which require this project to be under contract within 13 months, immediate action is necessary.

"We therefore recommend to you that the President and Board of Directors of Future Detroit, Inc. urge the Drain Commissioner for Wayne County to request an advance from the Board of supervisors for Wayne County in the amount of $30,000.00 said sum to be advanced for this project." ## Tells Rotarians of Recreational Activities in City

As the result of a talk given before members of the Plymouth Rotary club last Friday noon by Herbert Woolweaver, recreational director of the city of Plymouth, there is a possibility that the various luncheon clubs may create a committee made up of members of all the service clubs to coordinate the local recreational activities of these various groups.

Mr. Woolweaver, who was introduced to the group by Chairman Dave Galin of the committee in charge of the meeting, had pointed out the various community activities of the several clubs of Plymouth, and the benefits that come to the city from these efforts.

It was at the end of his talk when former Rotary President Charles Brake made the suggestion that he thought still better results could be accomplished if all the clubs would decide to work together on the recreational program thereby eliminating any duplication and also bringing about a more united effort on the part of all clubs.

Mr. Woolweaver pointed out that Plymouth residents were most cooperative in the work of the recreational department, and that there is much more that can be done to increase the activities (Continued on page 6)

Exhibits Button Collection.....

Mrs. J. H. Todd of Clemmons drive examines one of the mounted sets of buttons included in her collection which will be on display this week in the lobby of the Plymouth United Savings bank. An active member of button clubs, Mrs. Todd brought home, not only antique buttons from the last meeting, but a pair of old fashioned dolls made out of dried apples, and dressed in authentic Southern costume. She holds the dolls on her lap.

After 15 years of collecting buttons, Mrs. J. H. Todd of Clemmons road now has "more-buttons than I could ever count." Yet Mrs. Todd is ever on the lookout for interesting buttons to add to her collection. Most of the unusual buttons in her collection will be on display this week in the lobby of the Plymouth United Savings bank.

Princess Margaret of England leaves St. Margaret's church, Westminster, after acting as chief bridesmaid at wedding of her cousin, Margaret Elphinstone.

Mrs. Todd is a member of the State Button society and the Log Cabin club, an organization for button collectors of Detroit and the surrounding area.

Favoring older buttons more than modern ones, Mrs. Todd has a large selection of gentlemen's buttons. These fancy buttons were used on men's suits years ago. Many of them she obtained from tailor shops that once used these ornamental buttons when they were in vogue. Some are trimmed with pearl and jet, with the base of the button made of buffalo horn.

Other types of buttons in the collection are diminutives—some half the size of a peanut, nursery rhyme buttons, historical buttons, a group designed with the faces of famous people, floral design buttons and some patterned from calico prints.

In the fourth Londneau scored again when he tripled and came home on a wild pitch. In the fifth Cavalcade scored two more runs when Stuart walked and Thibodeau was safe on an error. DeHoCo then made two more errors butting the runners across. Lula hit a home run in the sixth for another counter and in the seventh Cavalcade scored six more runs on four hits and a walk.

Saves Woman From Drowning

John Guettler of Arthur street, who is working for the summer in Miami Beach, Florida, is credited with saving a woman's life.

Young Guettler was walking along the beach one evening last week when he noticed a form lying at the edge of the water. He investigated and found it was an unconscious Cuban girl. He called the shore patrol who brought the girl to the city hospital where she was revived.

The girl had been walking on the beach earlier in the evening and sat down when she felt ill. She then fainted and Guettler found her just as the tide was coming in. The girl was visiting at one of the nearby hotels with her parents from Havana.

John will return to classes this fall at the University of Michigan together with Bentley Crain who is also working in Florida for the summer.

Judge Fines Four Noisy Car Owners

Four young men were fined $50 a piece Tuesday night by Judge Nandino Perlongo in Municipal court on a charge of causing excessive noise with their muffler-less cars. The boys were given a choice of paying the fine or spending 60 days in the Detroit House of Correction.

The four are Theodore Burke of Rosedale, Eugene Fred Wilson of Inkster, James D. Kolak of LeMoyne street, and Lazarus Kmet of Wayne.

The $50 fine was imposed following Judge Perlongo's decision to clamp down on drivers who have attached straight pipes to their cars and removed the mufflers. "These cars are a continuing source of annoyance," said the judge, "and a heavy fine seems to be the only way of stopping the nuisance."

And this is his name whereby he shall be called, THE LORD OUR RIGHT- EOUSNESS." Among the Bible citations in this passage, (Isa. 52:7): "How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him that bringeth good tidings, that publisheth peace: that bringeth good tidings of good, that publisheth salvation: that saith unto Zion, Thy God reigneth!" Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 16): "Our Master taught his disciples one brief prayer, which we name after him the Lord's Prayer. Late summer and county fairs come hand in hand every year. And right about now they're busin' out all over. Uncle Nat's favorite hog's bound to win a prize. And Aunt Maud's pie will bring the highest bid on the Polio benefit raffle. Of course we're just dreaming up a few miscellaneous relatives, but most of the folks around the U.S. this month will either be showing exhibits or looking at them. Somehow after a visit to the fair . . . your pride in your community sticks out like an A plus on a report card.

Have you seen our "Eye Appeal" mugs? If not, you too, should stop in and see them.

It seems that Congressmen might change our old-fashioned Halloween to "Youth Honor Day". That's what we call a dirty trick on the kids. Speaking of kids . . . reminds us of school. Why not outfit them now with all the necessary stationery supplies. We have 'em . . . a complete line at PETERSON DRUG, 840 W. Ann Arbor Trail. Phone: 2080.

Smoke Damages Martin Home

Heavy smoke damaged the furnishings of the Homer Martin home at 7405 Brookville road on Sunday afternoon, caused by a fire in the basement of the home.

The Martins were not home at the time of the fire but friends who were staying there stated that they had turned the water heater on in the basement and it is believed that may have started the fire. The basement ceiling was charred but the flames did not reach the upstairs of the house. The Salem township and South Lyon fire departments answered the call.

First of the Fine Cars in Value

It's a very satisfying feeling

YES, it's good to slip into a truly fine automobile and sense its richness, its comfort, its room.
And there's a great thrill in touching off the waiting power of a great-hearted straight-eight and feeling its swift response at any speed. It's fun to count the quick, admiring glances thrown your way.
It's nice to have a car that parks easily, for all its inches. It's very pleasant to do away with gearshifting and clutch-pedal pushing, and know in its stead the utter smoothness of Dynaflo Drive's silken transmission of power.
And still that doesn't probe the depths of a ROADMASTER owner's secret satisfaction. For while he knows he has a fine car, by its look, its feel, its appointments—
While he has performance at his command that needs play second fiddle to no other on the road—
While he enjoys a very special measure of creature comfort in the quite matchless gentleness of ROADMASTER'S ever-level ride—
He knows too that he has made an exceptionally wise investment.

He has spent his money for the things that make a fine car fine—and nothing simply for show.
He has paid the lowest price per pound in the fine-car field—he has the very satisfying feeling of knowing his dollars have given him solid merit, and solid merit alone.
We'd like to have you try ROADMASTER in honest comparison with the highest-priced cars to be found. We'd like to have you try to match it for room, for comfort, for finish, for handling ease and for ability on the road.
Then check the prices—and see if your own sense of value doesn't advise signing up right now with your Buick dealer for a Buick ROADMASTER.

First Baptist Church Setting For Swanson-Arnold Wedding

Baskets of white gladioli, mums and palms banked the altar of the First Baptist church at the wedding Saturday afternoon of Betty Arnold and Richard W. Swanson. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Arnold of Burroughs avenue and Mrs. Clesson Peck of Hastings, Michigan, and the late Harold Swanson are the parents of the bridegroom.

The Rev. Benjamin L. Eicher officiated at the double ring ceremony. "Because" was sung by Mrs. Robert Kine, soloist.

The bride wore a white marquisette and Chantilly lace gown with a fitted bodice and picture neckline. Her fingertip veil was attached to a crown of Mother of pearl and rhinestones and was edged in Chantilly lace. She carried a white prayer book with white roses.

Matron of honor was Mrs. George O'Neill who wore a salmon pink marquisette gown. Her bouquet of Talisman roses matched her headpiece of Talisman roses.

Mrs. Richard W. Swanson

Three cousins of the bride, Helen Moore, Jayne Arnold and Laura Gusten, served as bridesmaids. Their gowns were aqua marquisette, contrasting their pink rose bouquets and rosebud headpieces.

Robert Tinker was best man and ushers included Charles Arnold, brother of the bride, George O'Neill and Art Hepshinski.

The bride's mother chose a navy sheer dress with white accessories for the wedding and Mrs. Peck wore teal blue satin with white accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of red roses.

A reception was held in the church parlors with 150 guests attending from Plymouth, Hastings, Wayne, Grand Rapids, Detroit, Northville, Oklahama and Alabama.

The new Mrs. Swanson traveled in a pink sharkskin suit with white accessories on the newlyweds' honeymoon trip to the northeastern states.

The couple will make their home at 35629 Columbia street in Wayne where the bride will complete her studies at Michigan State Normal college. She will graduate in February. Mr. Swanson is a graduate of Michigan State college.

Audree Pence Is Bride of George Wilson

The ceremony was performed by Judge George W. Richwine, grandfather of the bridegroom, before the fireplace trimmed with white gladioli and lighted tapers.

The bride wore a dress of printed silk and carried a bouquet of white daisies and pink gladioli. Her only attendant was Mary Bauman, sister of the bridegroom. Keith Woodward of Ypsilanti was best man.

Sixty relatives and friends attended the wedding and reception which followed. The newlyweds left on a three day trip to Saugatuck and will make their home for the present at 15600 Beck road.

SUCCESSFUL PARENTHOOD

By Mrs. CATHERINE CONRAD EDWARDS
Associate Editor, Parents' Magazine

FIFTEEN-YEAR-OLD Nancy was secretly ashamed of her home. And because she knew her folks didn't have much money, she felt disloyal to them for wishing they'd fix up the house. Finally Nancy admitted her feelings to herself and decided to do something about them. She saved her allowance and when she had enough money she asked if she might paint the living room. The result was so attractive that Nancy's mother was inspired to dye the faded drapes. Dad got interested too, and built racks for phonograph records.

Unfortunately guilt feelings are not always a spur to constructive action. Sometimes a sense of guilt degenerates into self-pity, martyrdom, alibiing, blaming and rationalizing—that is, cloaking over real reasons with "noble" ones. Or a person takes an attitude of "As long as I feel unhappy about it, I'm still paying for my mistake so I don't need to do better." Parents need to recognize these signs of guilt feelings when trying to help adolescents.

What do teen-agers have to feel guilty about? A teen-age magazine reports these as the most important ones, according to a recent survey of high school students: being jealous of brothers and sisters, being ashamed of parents, thinking a lot about sex, liking the wrong people, losing tempers easily, not being loyal to principles, persisting in bad habits, failing to make the most of opportunities.

This list points up the fact that the parents' problem isn't one of getting teen-agers to realize that they have faults, but one of helping them to do something constructive. A friendly suggestion is more likely to be followed than a stern command. For example, it doesn't help to say to a tomboyish teenager, "Why can't you be more ladylike?" Clinging to tomboy ways is usually a reaction to the difficulties of growing up. Parents can best discourage the tendency by buying attractive clothes and encouraging more feminine pursuits such as dancing.

"Crushes" on a teacher or older girl should not be laughed at; neither should they be encouraged for a long period. Instead, opportunities for other friendships can be encouraged, perhaps by helping the girl acquire a new skill, so that the tennis club or the photography group will ask her to join. A girl who experiences family life as pleasant will be able to see herself as a mother of a growing family and will accept her future role more easily.

In all these matters, however, it should be remembered that the adolescent is especially sensitive to criticism. Usually he is even more acutely aware of his shortcomings than are his parents. Often he's inwardly appalled by his mistakes. Parents can help best by pointing out that we all make mistakes and fall short of our inner standards, but that honestly recognizing faults and constantly striving to improve is successful living.

Hints For Plymouth Homemakers

Keep Fresh Garden Vegetable Flavor With Careful Cooking

Temporarily crisp vegetables in abundance are rewarding the hard work of Plymouth gardeners. There's no other time of the year when they're so delicious, not only because of the effort that has gone into producing them but because they can be served within a short time after harvesting.

They deserve a starring role in summer meals often, instead of appearing as accompaniments for other foods. This calls for dressing them up a bit to give them a more satisfying flavor and texture.

Even when they're prepared more elaborately, however, they need the same careful basic handling as all vegetables. To preserve their delicate flavor and good texture use the following rules.

First serve the vegetables when they're really fresh. That's easy when you harvest them yourself. If you buy them in the market keep them fresh by storing them in a covered pan in the refrigerator.

Second, don't drown vegetables. To remove soil, wash them thoroughly, but as quickly as possible. A little salt in the water loosens sand and small insects that may be in head vegetables.

PICNICS CAN BE DIFFERENT

With potato salad at picnics becoming a little tiresome some new ideas are sure to please your family and guests.

How Many Are Coming?
Picnics have a way of getting out of hand. This is fortunate because more people have more fun. However, it means additional food in the picnic basket. Here is the menu for a picnic with variety.

Hiker's Knapsack
Roasted Corn
Tomatoes and Cucumber Sticks
Some-Mores
Coffee-Milk

These recipes are planned for 12. Use one and one-half or two times the amounts for eighteen or twenty-four.

Hiker's Knapsack
Allow two slices ham, two slices cheese, one slice pineapple and two buns per person. Fold slices of ham and cheese around half slice of pineapple. Place on stick or long handled fork and broil over hot coals until brown and cheese is melted. Serve on buttered buns.
Yield: 12 servings.

Roasted Corn
Dampen husks with salted water. Lay ears on the coals turning frequently. Usually takes eight to ten minutes.

Some-Mores
Make a sandwich by placing a square of plain sweet chocolate bar and a toasted marshmallow between two graham crackers. Press gently, eat immediately, it tastes like some-more.

Faithfully

Use only enough water in cooking to prevent scorching. With tender young greens the water that sticks to the leaves is enough. Vegetables requiring longer cooking need only an inch or two of water in the bottom of the pan provided the pan has a tightly fitting cover to keep in the steam and is reasonably heavy.

This calls for a low to moderate heat in cooking. Keep the heat high only until boiling starts as shown by steam coming out of the pan. Reduce the heat to low at once. A gentle boil will make the vegetables tender as quickly as a hard boil with a saving of both fuel and vitamins.

Third, avoid overcooking of vegetables. Too long cooking spoils the flavor, texture and color of vegetables. Along with these qualities that make vegetables appealing to the appetite are lost important minerals and vitamins.

To shorten the cooking time start the vegetables in boiling water. Schedule the cooking carefully so they'll be ready just in time for serving. They will be overcooked if kept hot.

To get all of the good out of the vegetables you serve, take advantage of the natural protective coating and cook them whenever possible in their jackets. Use the cooking liquid in gravies, soups, sauces or vegetable juice cocktail. It's rich in flavor and contains some of the nutritive value.

Try these menus while vegetables are at their best:

Buttered Beets
Buttered Spinach
Cabbage Slaw
Whole Wheat Rolls
Butter or Fortified Margarine
Chocolate Brownies a la Mode

Coffee

VEGETABLE TARTS
Two-thirds cup grated cheese with a snappy flavor, 1/2 cup shortening, 2 cups sifted flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, water, if necessary.

Cream cheese and shortening together. Work in flour and salt to make a dough adding a little water, if necessary. Chill for several hours. Roll out and cut into rounds. Press over backs of large muffin pans, being careful not to stretch the pastry. Prick well. Bake in hot oven, 450 degrees F., for 10 minutes.

Fill tart shells with any creamed fresh vegetable such as peas, beans, carrots or onions or a mixture of them. Put a large mushroom cap which has been browned in a little butter or margarine on top of each.

French Fried Egg Plant
Corn on the Cob
Beans and Bacon
Cottage Cheese and Tomato Salad
Bread
Butter
Watermelon

BEANS AND BACON
Two pounds green snap beans, 4 slices bacon, diced, vinegar, 1 small onion, chopped, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, dash pepper.
Cook beans which have been cut into 1 inch pieces until tender. Drain. Brown bacon then add onion, sugar, salt and as much vinegar as there is fat in pan. Bring to boil. Add beans and mix well. Serve with a garnish of sliced hard-cooked eggs. Makes 4 servings.

Iced Coffee Looks Cool, Tastes Cooler

JUST looking at a long, ice-filled glass of coffee will make you feel at least ten degrees cooler. But wait 'til you taste its frosty goodness! Then you'll know for sure that iced coffee is the perfect hot-weather beverage.

On a typical tropical day in late August, it's a good idea to cool off in the leisurely tropical manner. That means relaxing in a restful, shady spot with a tall, frosty glass of something to drink. Iced coffee, for example, is just about the coolest, most delicious drink there is.

Everybody enjoys iced coffee, but not everybody knows how to make it properly. The important point to remember is that good iced coffee always starts with good hot coffee. There are two delightfully easy ways to make it:

- Pre-Cooled Method
1. Make coffee regular strength—one standard Coffee Measure (or its equivalent, two level measuring tablespoons) of coffee to each three-quarters of a measuring cup of freshly drawn water.
  2. Cool in a non-metallic container for not more than three hours, or, if the container is tightly covered, chill in refrigerator.
  3. Serve in tall glasses with ice, adding simple syrup or sugar and cream to taste.
- Quick Method
1. Make coffee double strength, by using half the amount of water to the usual amount of coffee.
  2. Pour hot over ice cubes in tall glasses. The extra strong coffee allows for the dilution caused by the melting of the ice.
  3. Serve with simple syrup or sugar and cream to taste.

New Fall Fashion Fabrics Have Soft Velvety Texture

The feeling is depth in this Fall's fabrics. Fashion's lawn mower has cropped last year's shag rug surfaces down to curly and downy planes. Velvety textures are evidenced in silk, cotton, rayon on through to surprise fabrics like wool jersey and lace. In ball-room fabrics, the magnificent body is traceable to the high quota of silk.

The touch of woollens is thick, soft and piled. Their thickness is almost weightless as though loomed with air. Their softness is bodied for a wonderful effect of flow.

Then there are fabrics as furzery as hatter's plush, like Juillard's Bolivia woolen just once removed from velvet. Silk and rayon velvets now have broadloom patterned surfaces. Corduroy, because you wisely request it, is found in every wale, wide and generously spaced or close and silky as velvet. Powder puff fleeces, were born to be belted wrap coat.

And there are the new chinchillas with the merest suggestion of a raised nub. Or elegant velour double cloth coatings that present two fuzzy sides for "Look ma, no lining" warmth.

Tweed designs are predominantly tiny with the majority leaning to diagonal, cobblestone and stepped treatments. Wool jersey makes faces, successfully mimicking velvet, bou-

No Easy Job faces Troops in Korea

"It appears to me that it will take at least six months for the U.S. to clear up the Korean situation," wrote Lt. Col. V. J. Reafsnnyder, who is now stationed in Yokohama, Japan, to his father, Benjamin Reafsnnyder of Northville road.

But to Lt. Col. Reafsnnyder as well as other American troops who have been stationed in the Far East over a period of years and who had expected to return to the United States this fall, their greatest disappointment is in the fact that they will not be able to see the Tigers play in the World series.

The army officer's wife and children have returned to the United States and are at present located on the Pacific coast, but the letter advises Mr. and Mrs. Reafsnnyder that they expect to visit Plymouth sometime this fall.

From the letter it appears that all Tiger fans are not confined exclusively to Plymouth. Lt. Col. Reafsnnyder states that the Tiger games are re-broadcast every evening in Japan and that the armed forces and other Americans stationed in that part of the world are able to keep as informed about the games as are the people right here in Michigan.

Finds Weather Cool in Florida

Captain and Mrs. William Roberts, of the Salvation Army, accompanied by other members of their family, have returned from a few days spent at Stuart, Florida where they visited with one of Captain Roberts' brothers.

"Surprising as it may seem we found it cooler down in southern Florida than it was here when we left on our trip—and it was hotter here when we returned than it was there at any time during the few days we spent in that area," said Captain Roberts.

"We did enjoy our brief vacation, and the weather was ideal all the time we were in the south. If any one has a desire to visit Florida, this is the time of year to make the trip, as the weather is excellent—and the rates for accommodations along the way are so low that it is surprising. The auto traffic was also light on most southern highways," he added.

In Buffalo, Democratic County Clerk Steven Pankow explained why he had bought $125 worth of tickets for the Erie County Republican Committee's yearly outing: "I believe in the two-party system."

Station Under New Ownership

Strasen & Wiggins, Sohio-Fleetwing service station at the corner of Ann Arbor road and South Main street, announced a change in ownership this week. The new firm will be known as Strasen and Diedrick.

Al Diedrick, the new co-owner, is a long time resident of the Plymouth area, and was formerly with the Plymouth bulk station of Sohio-Fleetwing for five years. George Strasen, a Plymouth resident for 35 years, has been in business in his present location since October, 1948.

The owners are planning a major expansion in repair service facilities in the near future, including day and night repair service.

When an Hour means Forever!

Well, here you are—your hand on the beautiful steering wheel, your thoughts on your favorite highway.

You're going to find out—for yourself—whether all these wonderful things you've been hearing are true.

A flick of the finger, and the great Hydra-Matic Drive is set for action. Softly, quietly—and, oh, so smoothly—you roll out into the street.

What's this? A "Stop" sign! You take your toe off the throttle and put it on the brake—and you settle down to the softest, most reassuring stop you ever experienced in all your life. Say, it's fun even to put on the brakes!

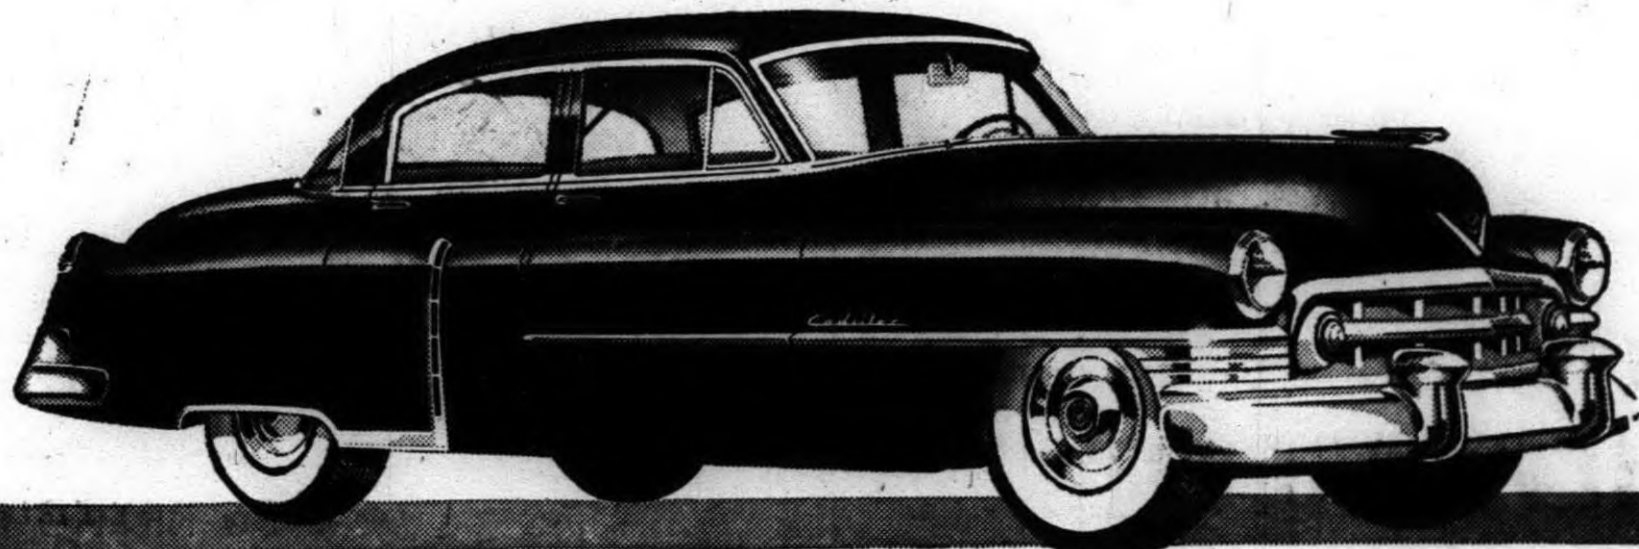

As you touch the throttle again, the back of the seat comes up to press against your shoulders. But it's all so easy! From settled stop to driving speed is one continuous sweep. What an experience!

Again and again, the big brakes bring you to a velvet stop. Again and again, the great engine sweeps you into action with one continuous movement. Again and again, a rough stretch of road rolls under the wheels and leaves you wondering what happened to it.

Yes, it's true! This wonderful car's performance is equal to its prestige. You want it as much for what it does—as for the magic name it bears.

Come in and see for yourself. But it's only fair to warn you: Sit for an hour at its beautiful wheel, and you'll want this car forever!

Food For Fed-Ups

By Melbourne Johnson
Pastor First Methodist Church

In this practical age it is to be expected that Pilate not only asks his question but waits for an answer. What is truth? In art, in science, in religion? People are asking questions all around—but not idly or jestingly as Pilate is said to have done. They are asking in all seriousness; and they are anxiously waiting for some satisfying reply.

In the matter of religion the question does seem appallingly difficult. In our younger days it used to be all so simple, but widening experience of the world and of men brings fierce assaults on our beliefs and introduces us to the beliefs of other thoughtful men and races. Even in the Christian church there are so many divisions, subdivisions and sections—no wonder that very many people are more than a little bewildered, and ask, "What is Truth?"

Here is an old fable that is worth recalling: Five blind men went to visit an elephant. One of them seized its trunk and asserted that an elephant was a kind of serpent; another embraced its legs, and was ready to die for the belief that an elephant was a kind of tree. In the same way to the man who leaned against the side it was a wall; to the man who ran upon its tusk, a particularly unpleasant kind of spear; to the man who had hold of its tail, a rope. That is the fable, and it is a parable of the truth. Of the five men who visited the elephant, not one was correct in his conception of it. And each man was quite sure that his conception was the whole truth. But there is this also to be noted: Every one of them knew that there was an actual elephant. On that they were all in agreement. Truth is a reality, not a work of the imagination. We emphasize and express different aspects of it, we even express the same aspect differently. But why should we quarrel so bitterly over it? We must battle for the truth itself. But since we know how frail and halting are our words when we try to tell what truth is to ourselves, how much less sure should we be about laying down rigid definitions of truth for all other people!

Human nature is rooted in truth. However, much conditions may vary from century to century, and however much mankind seems to change, there are "certain great permanencies" which operate on unchanging lines. And there is an experience, which once passed through, enables us, even dimly, to see and to understand the relationship of ourselves to God and the world in which we live.

In Memphis, Mrs. Louise McCormick, charged with reckless driving told the court she thought at the time that her uncle was driving the car.

Your Police Department Speaks

Written by members of Plymouth's Police Department

Motorists of the city are cooperating in the month long safety campaign being conducted by the State Safety Commission and the State Highway Department.

During this week every effort is being made to impress upon all automobile drivers the grave importance of obeying yellow no-passing lines on our streets and highways. For a car to cross a yellow line on the right side of a centerline pavement marking is almost "suicidal." Yellow lines are painted on the right side of a centerline marking when vision is restricted by a curve or hill. Crossing a yellow line invites a head-on collision with a car coming from the opposite direction which cannot be seen and the driver of which cannot see the car which ignored the no-passing yellow line.

State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler points out the needless loss of life, injuries, and property damage caused by the drivers who, through carelessness or disregard for their own safety and the safety of others, fail to obey traffic signs and signals on our highways. "Such drivers," the Commissioner said "make our roads unsafe for law-abiding citizens, drivers and pedestrians alike."

Roger Babson Says...

Babson Discusses "Scare Buying"
The day-to-day news from the fighting front in Korea does not always give us a very clear picture of what is happening there. But recent price rises in farm products, foods and non-durable raw materials leave little doubt as to what is happening here, where heavy "scare buying" seems to be the order of the day.

Hoarding Is Foolish
I suspect that much of this so-called "scare buying," which is just plain hoarding, is being done by businessmen who believe they are using foresight in piling up huge reserves of items scarce during World War II. Such heavy buying has already resulted in price advances some of which might not have otherwise occurred. It has also started a wave of consumer hoarding which, if it becomes too bad, will certainly hasten price controls and rationing. Such hoarding is foolish and, at the same time, dangerous because it breeds inflation. This does not mean we should not always—war or no war—keep reasonable supplies on hand.

Few Real Shortages
We have learned a lot as a result of World War II and I hope we have learned that one of the most terrible things that could happen to us, in or out of war—time, is wild inflation. Fortunately, few civilian items are really in short supply today. Actually we have surplus supplies of many items. However, the quickest way to change all that and to invite disaster is to permit ourselves to be carried away by foolish fears. Besides being unpatriotic and anti-social, the goods which were in shortest supply during and after World War II may not become scarce as a result of the present conflict.

Holders of unreasonably over-large stocks of those items which do become critically short will almost certainly have to give up the surpluses they went to such lengths to obtain. Also note this: Here at Babson Park, our economists are continually studying the supply and demand rations in nearly 100 basic commodities, including the principal food-stuffs and farm products. Each month we issue price forecasts and clear-cut buying advice for each of these commodities. Thus, I am always in close touch with developments in the important commodity markets. It is my opinion, based on this carefully gathered information, that most commodities are now in good current supply. Perhaps our greatest weakness lies in metals, because we are so dependent on foreign sources for the huge amounts we need to keep our great industrial machine rolling in high gear. Certainly, foods are plentiful generally.

Cocoa and Coffee
Much of the "scare buying" of foods has centered on cocoa and coffee, and with some excuse. Both are now in tight supply, but there should be no immediate stringency in either if abnormally heavy buying is cut down at once. Cocoa beans now in the U.S. may not suffice for all needs between now and next fall when new supplies will arrive from Brazil's mid-term crop. The consumption of cocoa and cocoa products in this country has risen sharply in recent years and is now very heavy. A moderate, voluntary cutback would not entail any great hardship.

LONG, HARD ROAD AHEAD

The coffee situation is this: Owing to past neglect of the coffee plantations in South America, supplies are not much in excess of growing world consumption. Total U. S. stocks on hand and afloat do not compare very favorably with last year, and we must admit that 1949 was not an especially good year. Yet high prices could curb U. S. consumption to such an extent that current and anticipated supplies might suffice. But here again, the situation does not justify further hoarding.

No Need for a Sugar Panic
Sugar was in surplus supply on June 25 when the trouble began in Korea. It still is in surplus supply, despite the buying rush of the past few weeks. Cuban and Puerto Rican output is running above 1949 levels, while both beet and cane production here in continental U.S. exceeds year-ago totals by a substantial margin. Only destruction of shipping can cause a shortage of sugar. Hoarding, whether by wholesalers, retailers or consumers could create a temporary shortage. If this should push prices too high, it could result in sugar price controls, perhaps, rationing; but not so long as the war is confined to Korea.

Colt is Champion at Oakland Fair

Blue ribbons were taken at the Oakland County 4-H Fair by Lucky, the half-Arabian colt owned by Elaine Rich, 14 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Rich of Brookville road.

The colt, which was sired by Amidore of Michigan State college, was named Reserve Grand Champion in the finals at the fair and won first place in the suckling foal and foal classes.

Elaine will enter the colt in the 4-H State Fair in Lansing next week. She is a member of the Lucky Leaf 4-H club in Novi.

Issue Fishing Reminders to Summer Anglers

If bait minnows dies soon after being placed in the water, it may be they are being fished in a lake zone deficient in oxygen, according to a summer fishing reminder from the conservation department.

Department fishery biologists point out such a zone is likely to be without game fish and the angler might better switch to more shallow, better aerated water. In the case of spring-fed lakes, fishery specialists suggest deeper zones to locate water with sufficient oxygen content for fish.

Although it is generally true that the deeper water of many lakes lacks proper amount of oxygen at this time of year, biologists caution that each lake has individual characteristics and that no one fishing formula fits them all.

Besides finding the right bait, key to fishing in hot, summer stretches means going down deep enough to locate a temperature layer attractive to fish life and yet staying high enough for sufficient oxygen for the finny creatures.

Bible School to Present Program

The annual Vacation Bible school program of Calvary Baptist church will be presented by the pupils Friday night, August 25, at 7:30 p.m.

The school opened Monday morning with an attendance of 151 pupils and 16 additional teachers present. Boys and girls of the school will present the program under the leadership of the Rev. Earl Gilmore, director.

Awards will be presented to outstanding pupils and diplomas will be given to each pupil who has attended the school for five days.

An offering will be received at this service which will be given to the Rural Bible Mission of Michigan, a long established youth organization, working in the rural areas of our own state. Parents and friends are cordially invited to attend this meeting.
