FESTAL DAY.

They've sung the harvest home—Thanksgiving.
Day of rest and peace. Day of prayer and thankful meditation.

Day of rejoicing. Day, particularly, of festive board, succulent turkey and cranberry sauce.
Day when the folks come home and go away with warmed hearts and bulging waistslines.

Primarily, it marks the 309th anniversary of America's first harvest—when the Indians came over for "company" dinner with the Pilgrim Fathers.

There have been scant harvests since that day; there have been wars and rumors of wars—and ups and down in business, yet the nation has always managed to find something to be thankful for.

At least, enough to set the day aside as one especial and apart from all the rest.

"Thanksgiving"—grand day in the lives of all American homes, whether the harvest has been particularly bountiful or not.

DECEMBER 11 AN IMPORTANT DAY.

Monday, December 11 is a highly important day for residents of the Plymouth school district. That is the date which has been set by the school board for the electors to give aid in completing the school building program so highly essential to the district at this time.

No one anticipated the fact when the bonds were first voted some two years ago that rising prices and costs of everything would make the funds voted insufficient for the badly needed new buildings. But then we didn't have the war with Korea and we didn't have a lot of other problems that have sent costs sky-high.

But the increased bond issue asked for is not so bad as some may fear. Right now there is taking place a tremendous increase in the assessment valuation in the school district. New factories costing millions have been completed within the past year and right now under construction is another big industrial project—besides additions to other industrial plants.

It is believed by members of the school board that this increased valuation will make it possible for a reduction of the present school assessment ratio, even including the new bond issue. So if you vote the new bonds, which one should do, your rate in the next year or so will be lower than it is at the present time — and Plymouth does have one of the lowest school assessment rates of most districts in this part of the state.

Surely we do not want to see standing about the city, partly erected school buildings when we can secure the badly needed funds by voting an increase of our school assessment.

A PRESIDENTIAL EXAMPLE.

A lot was made during the recent campaign of the fact that Dean Acheson, misfit secretary of state, said he wouldn't turn his back on Alger Hiss, a convicted traitor to our country. Maybe he shouldn't blame "Deany" too much for what he said. Dr. Henry Truman set the example by attending the funeral of the notorious crime-gang Boss Pendergast out in Kansas City a few years ago, asserting that the crime-gang boss was a close friend, and therefore he was going to the funeral to pay a last tribute to his memory.

GOOD LUCK — AND LOTS OF IT.

It is with regret that we note the resignation of Rolph Smith as manager of the Plymouth division of the Consumers Power Company. During the many years that Mr. Smith has been in Plymouth he has not only proven a most efficient official for the Consumers company, but he has been a tireless worker in every community activity in which he participated. He always did his share—and more, too. We hope that in his new activities he will be as successful as he has been in his work with the Consumers company—and we are sure that he will be, because he knows how to get along with people.

NEVER BEFORE ANYTHING LIKE IT.

We have lived through many election campaigns, but the recent one was the tops of all in the circulation of falsehoods, insinuations and slander.

It continued even after election. It was by the merest chance a few nights ago when we happened to hear some political yappy-vap on the radio telling about the glaring election errors being uncovered in Wayne county.

He pointed to Plymouth township as a horrible example of election blundering.

We, having lived around here for many years and knowing during all of that time most of the folks of that township, we had come to regard residents of the township with the same high opinion we have of nearly all the people living in this part of Wayne county. They are the born-and-bred type of American citizens, who pay their taxes and perform their other public duties as all good American citizens should.

Then to hear them accused as they were over the radio—well to say the least, it was a "stunner."

It was charged that there were irregularities in the Plymouth township vote and that Harry Kelly had a majority because of these irregularities — and that the state should throw out the entire Plymouth township vote because of the fact that the voters did not have to sign a formal request blank for ballots.

If the radio "yapper" had had any desire to be honest, or knew anything about Michigan election laws, he would have known that Michigan election laws make no such provision necessary in a city, village or township where the registration is less than 5,000. But what does truth mean to election fakers anyway? You see, if they could throw out the Plymouth township vote, that would add about 300 more votes for Soapy Williams.

THE NEW CHARTER COMMISSION.

Plymouth citizens have elected a commission to prepare a new charter for this city and submit it to the voters for their approval. We think this is a step in the right direction—but we hope the commission will take plenty of time in doing its work so that the new charter will meet the requirements of a city that is growing by leaps and bounds. Let's take time, and do a good job—and we believe the commission will do just that.

THOSE HEARTLESS WELFARE WORKERS!

Reports from Detroit say that the welfare department of our great county has finally decided to cut off from the welfare lists the common drunkards who have been getting our tax dollars on which to buy food and booze. It was some weeks ago when it was decided to drop a "lady" who had been betting on the races with money said to have been paid to her by the welfare workers. That's tough! Haven't these hard hearted welfare workers got any sympathy at all? What will the poor drunks on Skid Row do now for a bottle of hooch on a cold, November day?

Meeting Favors Bank Program of First National

Encouraging progress in the establishment of a branch bank in Livonia is reported by the First National Bank in Plymouth again this week. Meeting the usual organizational problems found in the opening of any new banking organization a meeting with Livonia civic leaders last Wednesday left First National officials most confident that their efforts were more than appreciated and that their new branch would soon be in operation.

The meeting was called through the insistence of the Chief National Examiner of the 7th Federal Reserve District of Chicago where a representative of his office was presented with a complete review of the progress of the First National bank so far and business men of Livonia who were all invited to the meeting were asked to express their opinions on the opening of a bank in the city of Livonia.

Most of the business men in attendance expressed their confidence in the First National program and the only open opposition was voiced by Chamber of Commerce Secretary W. W. Edgar who stated it had been the hopes of the Chamber to confine the banking facilities of the city of Livonia to an organization locally owned and locally operated and they had hoped to keep outside capital out of the city in its banking facilities. He had no support to his theory from those at the meeting.

Federal Bank Examiner C. Rush who prepared a report for the National Bank Examiner of the meeting expressed the opinion that a minority group had apparently the blessing of the State Banking Department in their opening of a bank but no directive other than the one officially granted by the Federal Reserve District for the First National Bank to open a branch in Livonia has been forth coming. On the assumption that their program has the best banking facilities and future for Livonians, President Floyd Kehrl of the First National Bank stated that every minute would be used in the next few weeks to bring about the opening of their branch which would afford residents in that city the finest in banking services.

Appoint Three to Plan Commission

Gaekke was re-appointed to the commission and Porter and Rotnour fill the expired terms of Mrs. Helen Lyons and C. C. Wiltse.

The nine-man commission was elected at the general elections November 7 and includes James Houk, Mrs. John Henderson, Mrs. Clifton Tillotson, Clarence Moore, Frank Arlen, Russell Daane, Howard Catheron, Robert Duany and Don Sutherland.

Opens New Ladies Apparel Shop

Mrs. Gladstone has been associated with the same type of business for a number of years. Her shop is the only women's wear store in the north side business section and her many friends will welcome its opening.

A Real Thanksgiving

By Cass S. Hough, Mayor
The City of Plymouth

This week millions will flock to church and, on bended knee, or with bowed head, will thank God for their many blessings.

But most of us, if not all of us, have completely forgotten what our REAL blessings are. As a nation we take these real blessings for granted, perhaps pausing once in a while to offer thanks for our strictly personal blessings.

Particularly is this attitude so as regards our way of life. Most of us — yes, all of us, I think, forget that our way of life, about which we all talk so glibly, didn't "just happen". It was bought, and is continuing to be bought, with the blood and sweat of brave men all over the world—men who cherished liberty so much that they were willing to give their lives so others might have the liberty and happiness that now is part and parcel of what we like to call "our" system.

It's time we stopped offering up selfish thanks—thanks for only our personal comforts, health, and happiness; it's time we start praying for a clear understanding of our REAL blessings, without which these personal comforts couldn't exist. It's high time we start giving thanks for our basic freedoms, and, in the same breath, pray for the intelligence, strength and courage to keep these freedoms. This, to me, is the REAL Thanksgiving.

Thanksgiving Union Services Wednesday Eve

A special Union Thanksgiving service for all Plymouth Protestants will be held Wednesday, November 22, at 8 p.m. at the Church of the Nazarene, Holbrook and Pearl streets.

Alexander Miller of St. John's Episcopal church will read the President's Proclamation and Scripture reading will be done by the Rev. Henry Walsh, D.D. Psalm 103 will be given by the Rev. ## To Vote Necessary School Bond Issue December 11 Does Not Mean Increased Tax Levy

Monday, December 11 is another highly important day for those who believe in the progress and development of the Plymouth area and the proper education of the boys and girls of today.

Robert Wesley, president of the Plymouth school board, has revealed that the Plymouth school district is right up against the same sort of problem that every one else is, due to the inflation that has swept the country in the last few months.

The school board has discovered that it is going to be something like $245,000 short of cash in order to complete the school buildings that were authorized by voters of the school district about a year and a half ago.

He has also pointed out the encouraging fact that if the school district voters vote for this one mill additional expenditure, the prospects are that not one cent of additional increase will have to be placed upon the assessed valuation of the school district.

He made it clear that the tremendous industrial development within the school district during the past year would doubtless absorb not only the one mill tax increase that is being asked, but that it might be sufficient to help reduce the millage that was voted at the time the school district approved the badly needed building program.

Probably no other school district in the entire state of Michigan is so fortunate as is the Plymouth district in this respect. Some of these new industrial plants have already been completed and they will add millions to the school district valuation, and more are now under construction. The Plymouth school district includes not only the city of Plymouth, but Plymouth township and parts of Northville and Canton townships, extending into the newly created city of Livonia.

Much of this information was brought out in the discussion that Mr. Wesley asked for at the end of his talk at the Rotary club meeting last Friday noon.

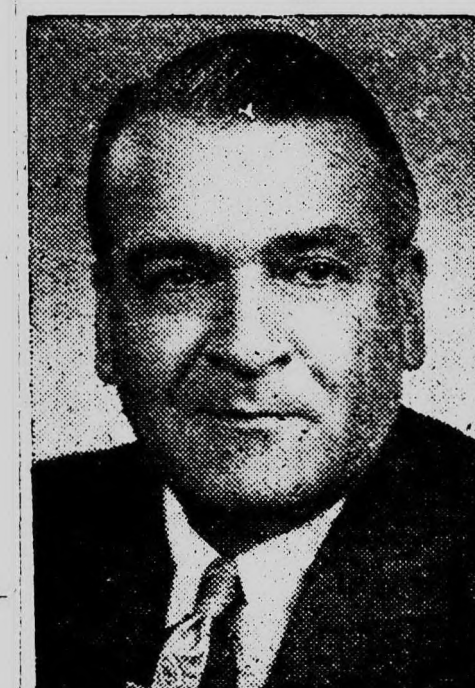

So that voters may get a detailed picture of the serious financial problems of the board and the necessity for the approval of the increased one mill levy at the December 11 election, Mr. Wesley has "opened the books" to the voters of the district and given them details of the situation just as it is.

He declares that up until the Korean situation the board felt that it would be able to complete the school building project by paring the balance of it to the bone by providing for the bare essentials of the entire project, and leaving out some of the attractive, but not absolutely necessary items. At this time, however, it became apparent that we would be unable to complete the entire project under any circumstances. Consequently, we advertised for bids on the basis of providing two major alternatives—one was the band room in its entirety, the other provided for housing only for a swimming pool without tile and without the necessary machinery to operate it.

"The bids were opened on the second of November," he said, "and the lowest base bid was $131,000 over the amount on

Santa Arrives in Detroit Thanksgiving Parade

THE BIG THANKSGIVING DAY CHILDREN'S PARADE in Detroit, November 23, heralds the 1950 Christmas season. This will be the twenty-fourth parade, sponsored by The J. L. Hudson Company. A thousand people take part, including eight marching bands and an escort of Detroit mounted police. Hundreds of thousands of people view the spectacle, many coming from throughout Michigan and from neighboring states. The parade starts at 8:45 Thanksgiving Day morning, on Second Avenue at Amsterdam, moves down Second to Vernor Highway, across to Woodward Avenue, then down Woodward to the Hudson store, where Santa ascends the stairs to his castle. The parade will be televised on Station WWJ-TV beginning about 10 A.M.

New 1951 Fords Displayed Friday at Local Dealers

The new 1951 Ford passenger cars, featuring new power combinations, automatic ride control, and many refinements in styling, engineering, comfort and safety will be placed on display Friday, November 24 in the show room of Paul J. Wiedman, Inc. It was announced today by Mr. Wiedman.

Mr. Wiedman said the new Fords offer a choice of six power combinations—Ford's new fully automatic transmission, the Ford overdrive and the standard 3-speed transmission, all available either with the 160 H.P. V-8 or the advanced 95 H.P. six engines. There are 16 models in the 1951 line.

The new automatic transmission is called "Fordomatic Drive." The result of more than four years of research, it is the combination of a hydraulic torque converter and an automatic planetary gear transmission which operate together for maximum performance and efficiency and smooth flow of power.

Another outstanding feature of the 1951 car is the new automatic ride control made possible by a combination of advanced type shock absorbers and a new type of spring suspension which combine to compensate for all types of road surfaces. The new cars body colors and upholstery and interior trim combinations in also offer the widest range of Ford car history.

Many front and rear end appearance changes have been made, including adoption of a "dual spinner" radiator grille for a lower and more massive effect. Larger and stronger wrap-around bumpers.

Rear deck lids have concealed counter-balancing hinges and a new key release latch for ease in opening and keeping the lids raised for loading or unloading the luggage compartment.

The chassis frame has been strengthened and a number of important engine changes were made. Both V-8 and Six engines now have autothermic expansion control pistons whose top rings are chrome-plated to prevent scuffing of cylinder walls. All engines now have new water-proof ignition systems and rotating valves.

I.O.O.F. News

Monday, November 13, the foundation for our new Tonquish lodge No. 32 was poured under the watchful eyes of Brothers P. G. Mott and P. G. Gray. Wednesday morning the first blocks were laid. Several anxious brothers reported to help in the afternoon. Sunday found several more brothers on the job and Sunday night found the north side, and the front all laid with all the window sashes in place. The lodge can be thankful that we have so many anxious and faithful brothers who are helping in our building as by doing many dollars can be saved. It is hoped more and more brothers will offer their help to the building committee. Get in touch with Brother Gray if you feel you can spare this worthy cause a few hours of your time. Also remember to contact the building committee with your pledge of financial aid, whatever you can spare.

Do your best to visit our Brothers John Mastie and Albert Trinkaus who are on the sick list.

Come to lodge as often as possible as a good attendance means an active and successful lodge.

All the world over it is true that a double-minded man is unstable in all his ways, like a wave on the streamlet, tossed hither and thither with every eddy of its tide. —W.M. Punshon

Blood Donors Urgently Needed

With only 20 pints of blood now in the Plymouth blood bank, blood donors are urgently needed to complete the dwindling supply. Mrs. Lee Sowles, chairman of the bank, states that residents will have an opportunity to donate to the supply when the Red Cross Bloodmobile visits the city December 1.

Residents are urged to give every quarter hour from 2 to 8 p.m. on that day by calling Mrs. Henry Penhale, Red Cross Branch Chairman, at 242-W.

The blood bank is for the exclusive use of local residents and whenever a blood donor is needed Mrs. Sowles or Mrs. Penhale may be contacted. This service is given free of charge as long as there is enough blood in the bank.

Appropriate Funds for Defense, Charter Work

The city commission authorized the transfer of $200 from the unappropriated reserve of the city treasury for Civil Defense Council expenses and the same amount for the Charter Commission at the meeting Monday evening.

The funds will be used by each group for secretarial, printing and other necessary expenses incurred.

If you have any local news items, club news or any social news, call 1755.

Rev. Walch Speaks on Virtue at Cooper PTA

A record turnout was on hand November 13 at Cooper school to hear the Rev. Henry Walch, D.D. of the First Presbyterian church speak on the ancient virtues of education. The talk was sponsored by the Cooper PTA.

The crux of his talk was on two of the seven ancient virtues—knowledge gained through rational thought, and faith which is and should be the center of our lives.

Entertainment was provided by the eighth grade chorus under Mrs. Glenn's direction and the meeting was closed with a social hour and refreshments.

To Vote Necessary School Bond Issue Dec. 11 Does Not Mean Increased Tax

hand. We felt that the problem once again should be brought before the citizens of the district, and immediately consulted our attorney in the matter of what procedure to follow if it should seem advisable to attempt to raise the balance of the funds necessary to complete the project. We were advised that our only course of action was to again ask the electors of a bond issue and the necessary millage to cover it. We went back to the same citizens' committee, which had been formed to study the problem at the outset, and called them together. We described the problem to them, and laid before them three possible courses of action:

equipped gymnasium, housing only for the pool and no band room.

"The second course of action was to reject the bids, start all over again in an effort to design a gymnasium only, and to fully equip it with the funds on hand. It was explained that this course of action would, necessarily, take several months of preparation; the attractive bids on the project at hand would be lost, and with continuously rising building costs we would get less for our money at a later date than we could now.

The third course of action—and the one which we recommended to this committee—was the awarding of contracts with the alternates to the extent of the amount of money at hand, and immediately holding a special election for the purpose of voting a bond issue to raise additional funds.

"This committee, after about two hours of discussion, gave its whole-hearted support to the third course of action and the one recommended by the Board of Education. It was determined that in order to provide the facilities originally proposed, and originally planned, we would need an additional $245,000. Therefore, a special meeting of the Board of Education was called, and a resolution passed establishing December 11 as a special election day.

As of right now, contracts have been signed and work will start immediately.

"The agreements with these contractors provide for completion of the job to the extent of the money we now have if the balance needed is not provided for by the affirmative vote. They provide also for the full completion of the job if the necessary funds are provided for by an affirmative vote.

"So, actually, the question before the electors is this: Shall we stop here with an incompletely equipped gymnasium—or shall we go ahead with the job as originally planned, and have the job done completely, eliminating the necessity for some future action in order to finish the job?

It will require a levy of 1 additional mill to cover the new bond issue in the amount of $245,000, but, in the circumstances, this mill can be added for 1951-52, and at the same time the net levy covering both issues can be reduced—not only below what it is this year but below the point of the original estimate. In other words, it could safely be reduced from 8 mills this year to 6 mills next year, and would safely cover both issues.

"So that if we can look for a moment at the original over-all project of providing necessary additional class room and extra-curricular activity space, to keep pace with the growing needs of the community, the picture actually hasn't changed materially, except that in spite of increased costs the project will cost each taxpayer less than originally estimated. While costs have been going up, we simply will be paying for the project with cheaper dollars. The tax load is being spread over more individuals and spread over a greater property evaluation, and the picture is very good indeed.

"In case you haven't guessed it, fellows, I have been trying to sell you the idea that we should finish this job now that it has been started, and that we should do it right so that it will be a credit to the community. I am asking that you give the project your whole-hearted support. We know that the 11th of December is not a very good day to hold an election with everyone busy with Christmas planning, Christmas business, etc., nevertheless, I sincerely hope—and I speak for the members of the Board of Education—that you will take time to support this idea at the polls on December 11th. I hope this because I am thoroughly convinced that this action will be taken in the best interest of Plymouth."

Turkey Is Good Friend of U. S.

Sami Berkan, a resident of Turkey, who is at present spending some time in America with Mrs. Berkan, a former Plymouth girl, was a guest of Superintendent A. Blake Gillies of the Detroit House of Correction at the Rotary club meeting last Friday noon.

Well posted on world affairs, he declares that his native country is a great admirer of America, that its people both hate and fear Communist Russia and in case of real trouble, will be found to be one hundred percent on the side of the United States.

Berkan is the former Jessie Roberts, who at one time was a student of the Plymouth High school as well as the University of Michigan, where she met Mr. Berkan. At present the Berkans and their young daughter are staying for a time with Mrs. Berkan's mother who resides on Joy road.

Mr. Berkan states that the people of his native country are of a most conservative nature, that they have a very deep affection for their country and that they are most resentful of the trouble Stalin is attempting to create throughout the world. Mr. Berkan is a graduate of the University of Michigan.

We Are Truly Thankful

With pride and humble gratitude for the persistence and courage and strength that made it so—we give prayers of thanks for the constant plentifulness of our harvests... for the consistently busy activity of our industries... for the magnificent strides forward in literature, music and the other arts... that in wonderful combination give us the rich moment-to-moment living so typical of our country.

For us this year Thanksgiving Day is more than a commemoration of the occasion on which the Pilgrims gathered before an abundant board to celebrate the establishment of their firm footing in America. In a like manner we too are proud and grateful for the solid footing upon which this institution stands. Grateful indeed are we also for the confidence shown in us and our institution as we embark upon another milestone in our journey of progress... The opening of our new office in the City of Livonia.

Our thanks are heartfelt for the aid we are given and our efforts as sincere as those of the Pilgrims. With the courage of our forefathers to lead us we will not fail the trust that has been given us this great Thanksgiving Day.

Now as Then

Today, as our forefathers did, we celebrate Thanksgiving with a deep appreciation for His generosity. But now, as then, we are faced with the necessity of carrying arms to protect ourselves from forces of darkness that threaten to smother the light of liberty. Yet, with faith in Him we are certain that liberty will conquer, as it did then.

Hints For Plymouth Homemakers

Economize By Serving Less Expensive Cuts of Beef at Meals

Stretching the meat dollar is a goal of almost every homemaker these days.

A good place to start is with beef, which is relatively high priced and is expected to stay that way for some time.

We are now eating an average of about 65 pounds of beef per person in one year—and we'd probably be eating much more if our food budgets could stand it.

Here are some suggestions for economizing on beef servings with the lower quality and lower priced cuts. These meats are just as nourishing as the more expensive cuts and can provide tasty, tender dishes if cooked properly.

At any retail meat counter you'll find beef cuts which sell for less than the average price. They are not as well known or as widely used by most families as the more popular cuts. For example, there are the shoulder chuck, brisket, shank, neck cuts and flank steaks. Other economical cuts include the sweetbreads, heart, liver, tongue, oxtail and brains.

These numerous cuts lend themselves well to a great variety of dishes—stews, pot roasts, boiled dinners, vegetable and casserole dishes, meat loaves, patties and many others.

Usually the less expensive beef cuts are less tender than most of the higher priced steaks and roasts, but they can be made both tender and appetizing if cooked at a low temperature. Most of them require moist heat in cooking, which means they are either braised or simmered.

It's important to remember to settles. For those who have never seen such a sight it is a real surprise to find the little fields quite dry with no swamp in view.

Sparkling Cranberries

For weeks the workers have been out in the bogs with cranberry scoops that are used to separate the berries from the little bushes. Now the sparkling red cranberries are packaged and ready to be used in your favorite cocktail, salad, relish or dessert.

Collector's Salad

- 1 pound cranberries
- 2 large unpeeled apples
- 1 large unpeeled orange
- 2 cups sugar
- 1/2 cup Malaga grapes
- 1/2 cup nut meats

Grind cranberries, apples and orange coarsely. Add sugar and stir until dissolved. Cut grapes in half and remove seeds. Add grapes and nuts. Chill and serve as salad or relish.

Yield: 6 cups.
Make the whole recipe and store the unused portion in a sterilized fruit jar in the refrigerator. It will keep for several weeks.

To Make Jellied Salad

Add three cups of this cranberry mixture to one package lemon gelatin dissolved in one cup boiling water. Pour into salad molds and chill until firm. Serve on crisp lettuce.

This will make 8 to 10 salads depending upon the size of the molds you use.

Clip and File

Since this recipe is sure to be a repeater you will want to clip it for your collection.

simmer rather than boil rapidly. The lower cooking temperature of just barely bubbling along will give a tender and flavorful dish. The same rule applies in braising when the water or other liquid is added.

Beef in any form is valuable in our diet. As is true with any other meat, it is particularly rich in nutrients. It is one of our important sources of protein, and provides energy through the calories contained in the fat. It is a rich source of phosphorus and contains some of the vitamins, particularly vitamin B.

Domestic Help Will Be Under Social Security

"Do you have a maid?"

Not so very many households these days can answer yes, but those who do have a maid or any other household worker will need a copy of a booklet bearing that question as a title. Harry Baltuck, manager of the Detroit-Northwest social security office, began distributing this booklet today. This colorful leaflet sets out, in a few sentences, just how the lady of the house, or any employer of domestic help in or around the home, may tell whether or not the worker is brought under the new social security law which becomes effective on January 1.

The work of those regularly employed in private homes will be credited to social security and the employer will be responsible for reporting wages, along with social security taxes, to the collector of internal revenue.

The title of the pamphlet does not stop with "Do You Have a Maid?" but continues "—or a laundress? — a cook? — chauffeur? — gardener?" Any of these or any other persons employed regularly for work in or around a private household may come under the new law, and Baltuck urges their employers to request a free copy of the booklet. A simple test in the booklet, in terms of amount of wages paid and regularity of employment, will tell whether a maid or cook or laundress will get the protection of social security — and whether the housewife should start making reports next year. If so, there's a postage-paid postal card in the government-issued booklet which the housewife should mail in for instructions.

Copies of the booklet are available at all post offices, or may be secured at offices of the collector of internal revenue. "Here in Northwest Detroit," said Baltuck, "if you'll just call the social security office, telephone TEXAS 4-4750, or drop us a post card, asking for the booklet, 'Do You Have a Maid?' we'll send it to you by return mail." Address of the office is Social Security Administration, 12065 Wyoming Avenue, Detroit 4, Michigan.

The social security manager said he is arranging with women's groups to furnish supplies of the booklet for their members. For the domestic worker's own information about her new social security protection, a special leaflet is available at the social security office. Baltuck pointed out that regularly employed domestic workers will need a social security account number card after January 1, 1951.

The "Do You Have a Maid?" booklet does not apply to domestic work on farms operated for profit. Such work is covered by other provisions in the new social security law.

A Thanksgiving Prayer . . .

For the Preservation of Our Homes

We, the homemakers of America, numbering more than 50 million, working together, can be the greatest single unit of influence in a world fighting for lasting peace. Let us work together and thus impel the peoples of other countries to awaken to the realization that freedom and democracy as it is known and practiced in America . . . as it must be known and practiced in other lands . . . begins in the home, depends on the home, and is successful because of the principles on which our homes are founded.

The eyes of the world are turned our way searchingly. As guardians of our homes we must, we will, give our best so that they, the people of other lands, may understand more clearly the profound but simple truth . . . that America, the greatest and strongest nation on earth, is free and strong because of the greatness and strength of the women who organize and manage its homes.

Fifty million women can be defeated. With divine help, whatever lies in our hands to do can be done . . . with firmness, and without doubt.

TURKEY * KING OF THE FEASTS

By Marie Gifford

Turkey is the nation's number one meat for holiday feasts. Smart homemakers will select a Table Dressed Quick Frozen Bird to grace the Thanksgiving table for it comes all ready for the oven—drawn, cleaned, and wrapped in moisture proof paper with cooking directions included.

Planned around the kingly bird, here's a menu which will let you have as much fun as your guests. In the living room serve cranberry juice cocktails with cheese straws. The trimmings for the roast turkey stuffed with a sausage dressing could be parsley rice potatoes, giblet gravy, baked tomatoes with corn stuffing, relish, hot rolls, pumpkin pecan pie, coffee and mints.

Here's our favorite stuffing recipe for the holiday bird.

SAUSAGE STUFFING

- 1 pound Pork Sausage
- 3 quarts toasted bread cubes
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1 cup chopped celery
- 3/4 cup chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
- 1/2 teaspoon poultry seasoning
- 1-1/2 cups hot water

Break sausage into small pieces, brown slowly over low heat until crisp. Pour sausage and all drippings over bread cubes, salt, celery, onion, parsley, and seasoning. Mix thoroughly. Add hot water to moisten. Sufficient stuffing for a 10-16 pound turkey.

Before stuffing, rub 1/2 teaspoon of salt per pound on inside of neck and body cavity. When bird is stuffed, estimate the weight of bird by adding 25 percent to the dressed weight so that total cooking time may be determined. Lay, breast side down, in a shallow baking pan, in a V-shaped rack. Bake uncovered at 325° F. half the estimated baking time, then breast up until the cooking is completed. Brush the skin lightly with unsalted fat such as lard, to prevent blistering. If desired, cover with a cheesecloth, lightly moistened with fat, to prevent drying out. Remove the cloth during the last half of the roasting period if the bird is not evenly browned. Roast a 10-16 pound bird 18-20 minutes per pound.

Knit Dresses Require Care

Your fashionable knitted dress will continue to look well and give you good service throughout the holiday season and the winter if you follow a few simple rules in caring for it.

Knitted wool fabrics lose their shape more quickly than do woven fabrics. They are knitted of one continuous thread and do not have a filling thread that goes over and under warp threads as woven fabrics do.

Knitted fabrics cannot be brushed satisfactorily. It is a good plan to shake the garment gently to free each wearing and reshape it as well as possible. Frequent airings are important.

Knitted dresses should be hung up between wearings—but more carefully than other dresses, so that they won't sag. If the dress is closely knitted and there is no excessive bulk in the skirt, the dress can be hung, with the shoulders straight, on a wide-shouldered hanger. However, the skirt should be drawn over the rod of a second hanger.

Another method is to hang the dress over the hanger's cross-bar with the waistline carefully placed on the rod. If the dress is too wide for the hanger, fold it once lengthwise. If a bulge develops at any point, dampen the wool slightly, re-shape it and dry it flat.

News Of and For the Farmer . . .

Potato Meeting Creates New Set of Market Rules

When potato marketing recommendations of the North Central Potato committee are approved by the United States Department of Agriculture, farmers in southern Michigan will have different marketing regulations than those in the northern part of the state.

According to information reaching Michigan State college from the committee's meeting, regulations should have become effective about November 15.

Under proposed regulations, potatoes produced in southern Michigan must grade at least U. S. No. 2, 65 percent U. S. No. 1 or better. This area includes all counties south of Oceana, Newaygo, Mecosta, Isabella, Midland and Bay.

North of, and including these counties, potatoes must grade U. S. Commercial, 85 percent U. S. No. 1 or better. This area includes the biggest volume of production including the upper peninsula.

Washed potatoes in either region must grade U. S. No. 2, 30 percent U. S. No. 1 or better in order to be marketed. Minimum size for marketing of all potatoes in either region is listed at 2 inches in diameter for round varieties and 1 1/2 inches in diameter for long varieties.

Official inspection would be required on all commercial shipments of 50 or more hundred-pound bags.

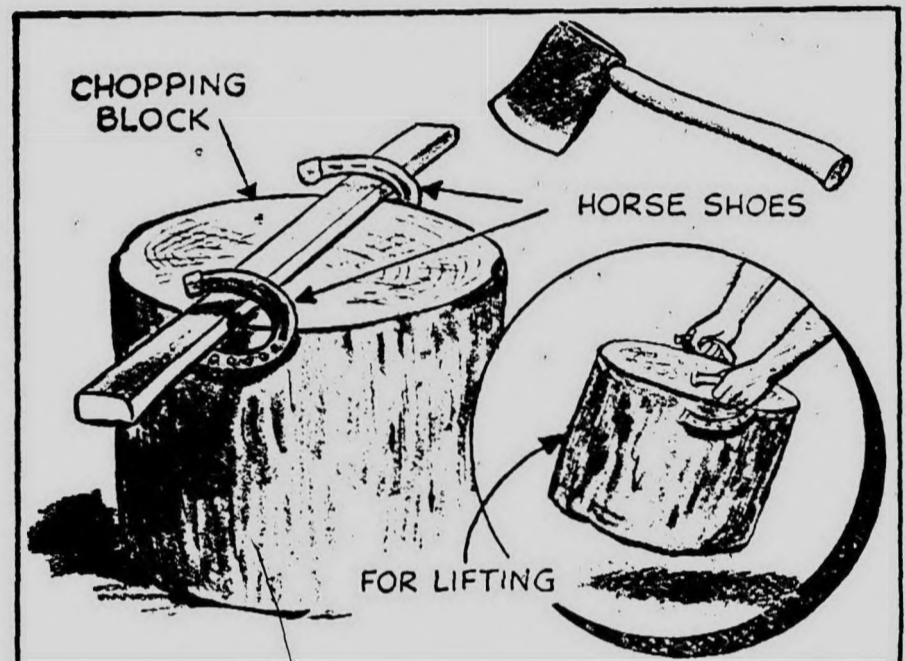

There is little doubt that USDA officials will approve the recommendations of the committee, thinks Clarence Pentice, Michigan State college extension marketing specialist.

Fred Hill, Cadillac, Michigan, was general chairman of the 6-state committee administering marketing order No. 60. This order covers North Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan and northern parts of Iowa and Indiana.

Survey Results Aid Prospective Young Farmers

How do I get started in farming? This perplexing question frequently comes to Wayne County Agricultural Agent P. R. Biebesheimer. As an aid to the young men who may be faced with this problem, the agent cites some recent research by Don Shepard of the Michigan State college department of short courses, covering 99 young Michigan farmers.

The study shows that many of the more successful young farmers have come up through having their fathers start them in 4-H club work just as soon as they were old enough. In other words, the sons started early to secure experience and to earn money.

They gained additional experience or education under the direction of the father, agriculture teacher, or 4-H club agent, or perhaps all three. Shepard points out that these factors are usually most important:

1. The prospective young farmer needs to be really interested and must like to farm.
2. The prospective young farmer needs all the farm experience and education he can secure.
3. It is important that the prospective farmer accumulate capital at an early age. The study showed that the young man who accumulated around $1,000 early in life and then invested it wisely in farm property made the most rapid progress.
4. If the young farmer has a father who has helped him do all of this, he is well on the road to becoming a farmer. If the necessary conditions for a partnership are present, he is a fortunate young man.

Add More Dairy Herds to Breeders Program

Thirteen thousand more cows in 2,207 additional Michigan dairy herds were added to the rolls of the Michigan Artificial Breeders' Cooperative during the first six months of 1950. A. C. Baltzer, secretary-manager of the group and extension dairyman at Michigan State college, reports that internal growth of the organization is now replacing expansion into new counties.

The farmer-owned cooperative with its central laboratory on land leased from Michigan State college at East Lansing serves 146 local associations in 70 counties.

Year in, year out, the resale prices of Buicks stay much closer to first cost than the prices of cars with lesser merit.

English Students Given Course on Proper Use of School Library

Students in the seventh through ninth grade English classes have been studying the use of the high school library for the past two weeks.

The groups have each spent one class period in the library, receiving instruction given by Mrs. Esther Ham, followed by a film strip entitled, "Use Your Library For Better Grades and Fun, Too," and then a film "Know Your Library."

Following the formal presentation of the location and use of books and other materials in the library, time has been set aside for each student to use the totals described in the lessons. This has been done by means of maps and work sheets to be filled in, using the card catalog, the encyclopedias, the Reader's Guide to Magazines, and the vertical file, as well as the records and pictures.

Last year every student in the high school was given this course. This year it has been presented to only those who have not previously attended the Plymouth school.

These lessons are designed to

Student Council to Receive Pins

Orders for NASC pins were taken at the November 6 meeting of the Student Council.

These pins are National Association of Student Councils emblems which entitle the wearers of them to attend any student council meeting, any place in the nation, no matter how old the person becomes or what his business.

The Plymouth Student Council joined the NASC in 1948 and has renewed its membership each year since.

After the pins arrive they will be presented to the council at a semi-public assembly in the high school auditorium. Any student with a five period will be permitted to attend the ceremony.

Y-Teens Sale to Aid Afflicted

The Y-Teen club is planning a bake sale on December 2 to raise money to aid people afflicted with polio and paralysis. The sale will take place at the Goodale grocery store. The girls are planning to raise enough money so they can buy a chair which is specially adapted for these persons.

Before the close of the semester the club hopes to send some members to the Federal palsy clinic to learn more about the disease. Also they hope to obtain a movie better describing the disease and its cure.

Varsity Cheerleaders Attend U of M Clinic

The Varsity cheerleaders were among the 2,000 cheerleaders to attend the Cheerleaders' Clinic at the University of Michigan on November 11. The group discussed their responsibility in developing good sportsmanship and good citizenship at athletic events and various other problems of cheering. The clinic was under the supervision of Newton G. Loken, gymnasium coach and assistant supervisor of physical education.

In the afternoon the cheerleaders participated with the University of Michigan and University of Indiana bands, under the direction of William D. Revelli, director of the University band and in the cheering during the game.

help all pupils feel more at home in the library, and enable them to do independent reference work in connection with their classroom assignments. Many students have already remarked on how easy it is to find books on subjects in which they are interested, now that they know how to use the card catalog, and how to locate fiction and non-fiction books on the shelves.

Miss Virginia Olmsted, Mrs. Jane Cairns, Mrs. Marguerite Bromley, and Mrs. Helen McPherson are the teachers of the groups.

Library Has New Books Available

Recently the high school library received a new shipment of books, some of which are described here.

For the girls in the age group 12-16:

"The Mystery of Catesby Island" by Lucille McDonald and Zola Helen Ross is a fiction story with a U. S. seacoast for the main background, telling about a lonely girl who finds friends and a cherishable home. The girl, Chloe Catesby, solves a family mystery, bringing happiness to others and to herself. This book proves to be a story of suspense and lively characterizations.

"Front Page For Jennifer" by Jane S. McIlvaine is the story of Jennifer Callings, who wanted to be a newspaper woman with a by line of her own. She has to make a choice between a dashing reporter and marrying the boy next door, which brings in the romantic part.

"Tommy and the Red Headed Angel" by Marion Garthwaite is a fiction story of a daring young girl named Angelita and a loyal Indian boy who helps her escape from an unhappy family.

"The Little Princesses" by Marion Crawford, who was responsible for the education of England's Elizabeth and Margaret Rose for 17 years is the story of the private lives of the British Royal family.

"Boy's Life Adventure Stories" edited by Irving Crump is a book for boys, ages 12-16 and is the editor's choice of the most popular stories published in "Boy's Life" magazine over a period of several years, written by well-known authors.

"The Boy Electrician" by Alfred P. Morgan makes an appealing book for boys, written in simple language on the principles of electricity. Plans and illustrations enable the reader to make the things which he is reading about, right in his own home.

"Teen Days" by Frances Bruce Strain is a very informative book for boys and girls 13-16 years old. Mrs. Strain tells what teenagers want to know in her own straight-forward, direct fashion.

"Gandhi—Fighter Without A Sword" by Jeanette Eaton is the human story of Mohandes Gandhi and the ways in which he lived. To him laughter was life's most healing gift, even when it was directed against him.

Any of these books and many more may be found on shelves of the high school library at the present time.

Deliver Oral Themes to Aid Public Speaking

In Miss Irene Walldorf's English classes students are giving oral themes to overcome that uneasy feeling.

Since so many students find it hard to look their classmates in the eyes, they are giving oral themes as well as written ones to enable students to talk more freely in front of an assembly or other gathering without feeling they are being criticized without cause. There is no greater critical audience than one of high school students.

Miss Walldorf believes that if the students are willing to get up and talk at every possible chance, they will soon overcome this annoying habit.

Oscar Graham Peeke Delivers Lecture on Christian Science

Oscar Graham Peeke, C.S.B., of Kansas City, Missouri, gave a lecture last night on Christian Science. The Divine Law of Healing, before a large audience in the high school auditorium. He is a member of the board of lecturership of The Mother Church, First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

The lecturer spoke substantially as follows:

For many years prior to her discovery of Christian Science, Mary Baker Eddy had been convinced that there was a divine law underlying all primitive Christian healing. From early girlhood she had been a devout student of the Bible, and in process of time God revealed to her the ever-operative laws by which Jesus and the early Christians accomplished their marvelous works.

This remarkable woman in writing of her discovery says pertinently (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, p. 108). "My discovery, that erring, mortal, misnamed mind produces all the organism and action of the mortal body, set my thoughts to work in new channels, and led up to my demonstration of the proposition that Mind is All and matter is naught as the leading factor in Mind-science."

"That Mind is All and Matter is naught!" This thought-provoking statement of Truth is gradually revolutionizing world thinking. The Mind which is All is the divine Mind, or God. Throughout her writings Mrs. Eddy makes clear the demonstrable truth that divine Mind is the only real Mind, and that which is called the carnal or mortal mind does not exist in reality; that it is a falsity of material sense, and therefore illusory. With unquestionable logic she shows that the divine Mind is infinite and embraces all real existence.

Mrs. Eddy Was a Humble Follower of Christ

Mrs. Eddy never put herself on an equality with Christ Jesus, although her healing works were comparable with those of the great Galilean. She headed instantaneously even the most insidious diseases, and in humility she counseled her students to follow her only so far as she followed Christ.

(See message for 1902, p. 4.) God Is the Divine Principle of All True Being

When in Science and Health (p. 517) she said, "I have seen the Principle of Christian Science is the Science of God, man and the universe, and because this true Science demonstrates absolute spiritual law, then God must be the Principle of Christian Science. Occasionally one hears it said that Christian Science must be a cold religion because Christian Scientists speak of God as Principle. A certain lady once told me that she had formed that impression. I opened Science and Health and said to her: 'Let me read to you just one sentence in this book.' I read (p. 247), 'It is Love which paints the petal with myriad hues, glances in the warm sunbeam, arches the cloud with the bow of beauty, blazes the night with starry gems, and covers earth with loveliness.' "Oh, that is beautiful," she said. I asked her, "Do you believe that statement?" "Yes, indeed I do," she replied. "Then do you not see that all the wonderful things accomplished by Love must be according to fixed Principle—and that divine Love is that Principle?" After thinking for a few moments she agreed that this must be so. A short time later she purchased a copy of Science and Health and by studying it was soon healed of a chronic disorder."

Previous to her study of Science and Health this lady had believed that God created a material universe and that matter is a real substance. She also believed that God endows matter with life and intelligence, that He invests it with power, and that it is oftentimes His will that people should be sick and die. Her study soon cleared away these misconceptions. Also she found that her mentality was being renovated as she progressed in her understanding of man's true relationship to God.

The Real Man is Spiritual Nothing concerning the man of God's creating can be deduced from material premises; his being is wholly spiritual. The carnal or mortal mind — a supposititious mind opposed to God, and typified by a talking serpent in the allegory contained in the third chapter of Genesis—falsely avers that man is composed of mortal and material elements. It also claims that he shall be held earth-bound and that eventually, through the process of disintegration, he must mingle with earth's elements. Another belief of this so-called mind is that every mortal has within him an immortal soul which is set free from its material habitation on the death of the mortal. The logic of the theory of an immortal soul within a mortal body has long been questioned by thinking people. But not until the discovery of Christian Science was the impossibility of immortality commingling with mortality made plain.

The Truth About Soul Inspired interpretation of the Scriptures shows that Soul must be rightly understood in order to understand man's true being. In a few passages in the Bible the term "soul" is used to designate material sense; but a careful study of Science and Health shows that, in its higher and proper signification, Soul is synonymous with Spirit, God. It is axiomatic that the real man, created in God's likeness, must necessarily be Godlike. He could neither be governed by material sense nor have within him a soul which is capable of sinning. As God's likeness he always reflects the harmony of Soul or God. Consider this statement, given on page 311 of Science and Health: "So long as we believe that soul can sin or that immortal Soul is in mortal body, we can never understand this Science of being. When humanity does understand this Science, it will become the law of Soul, which prevails over material sense through harmony and immortality."

The wisdom of seeking this understanding should be apparent.

for through it one discerns more and more clearly the allness of God and the unreality of matter and evil.

Heaven Is a State of Spiritual Harmony

To attribute reality and power to matter is to become subservient to material conditions and thereby to lose the true import of Jesus' teachings. It is unfortunate that most individuals have only a nebulous concept of the spiritual realm, on which Jesus centered his teachings. He referred to it as the kingdom of heaven. He indicated the beauty and grandeur of this heavenly kingdom. He pointed out that it is not a locality but a condition of thought—a state of spiritual harmony. He said it is "within you" but most people are not aware of that truth, because the true understanding of God and of man's relation to Him, as yet, not generally sought. However, there is clear indication that most of the Protestant religions are giving increasing thought to the teachings of Christian Science and are becoming more in agreement with it concerning the kingdom of heaven, that it is a state of spiritual harmony, and that it is "at hand"—attainable here and now.

Jesus also had pertinent things to say about the so-called material realm. He designated it as "the world." In contrast with his statements about the kingdom of heaven he made it quite clear that he considered "the world" to be nothing more than a realm of unrealities and false beliefs—a fictitious world. By what are termed his miracles he proved to be so. His clear discernment of these truths enabled him to speak with authority and to give infallible proofs of the real man's inseparability from God.

Matter Is Not Substance The true demonstrable understanding of God, that He is All-in-all, is the great verity which must sometime be established in the consciousness of everyone. Does one question what Christian Science teaches about matter—that it is illusory, and could not possibly be endowed with life, substance or intelligence? The proof is in demonstration. Ignorance of God's true nature, and reliance on matter, believing it to be real substance, is the cause of all suffering and of death. Jesus' orable of the man whose material goods had become so great that he decided to pull down his barns and build greater ones for their storage, illustrates the great mistake of neglecting the attainment of the truly substantial things of Spirit by letting the desire for material riches, and the care of them to be preponderant in one's thought.

It is recorded that Jesus once told a young man who had great possessions of worldly goods that he should sell them and use the proceeds in doing good. He certainly could not have meant that the man should impoverish himself, but he evidently saw that, although he had been meticulous in obeying the Commandments, this individual's thought was too greatly given over to caring for his material wealth, and that he should rid himself of whatever stood in the way of his attainment of the understanding of spiritual reality, or true substance.

Christian Science shows that for true happiness one's affections and aims in life must be spiritual. One should realize the importance of gravitating away from the insubstantial and deleterious beliefs of the physical senses, and of letting thought soar upward toward the realities of true being, where Mind-substance is seen to be the only true substance, and that it is joy-giving and health-bestowing, the only real attraction.

Gravitation a False Law Mortals believe strongly in a material law of gravitation, also that they are bound by it. Christian Science shows it to be a force which, acting on all material bodies throughout the universe, causes them to be attracted or drawn to one another. Its operation is particularly noted in the form of earthward attraction. Material objects are always drawn downward to the center of the earth.

This so-called activity is primarily mental; it is resultant from the downward gravitation falsity of all beliefs about material gravitation. Even with a little spiritual understanding one can at least demonstrate for himself in goodly measure the truth of the statement of the prophet Isaiah (Isa. 40:31). "They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint."

Elisha did not believe in the reality of material gravitation or he could not have caused the sunken ax head to rise to the water's surface. When Jesus walked on the water, fed multitudes, stilled the storm, caused the boat to go immediately from the middle of the lake to the shore, raised the dead, he demonstrated man's inseparability from God and proved that material laws of gravitation and limitation are not laws, but false beliefs, errors of material sense.

The point is that we should endeavor to master all beliefs about man as being a material entity and emulate Jesus in his works. We read in Science and Health (p. 369): "In proportion as matter loses to human sense all entity as man, in that proportion does man become its master. He enters into a diviner sense of the facts, and comprehends the theology of Jesus as demonstrated in healing the sick, raising the dead, and walking over the wave." By entering "into a diviner sense of the facts" of true being, one becomes increasingly conscious of his inseparability from the one Mind and sees the

There are Some Things a Son or Daughter won't tell you!

"AW GEE, pop, why can't we get a television set?" You've heard that. But there's more you won't hear. Do you expect a seven-year-old to find words for the deep loneliness he's feeling?

He may complain—"The kids were mean and wouldn't play with me!" Do you expect him to blurt out the truth—that he's really ashamed to be with the gang—that he feels left out because he doesn't see the television shows they see, know the things they know?

You can tell someone about a bruised finger. How can a little girl describe a bruise deep inside? No, your daughter won't ever tell you the humiliation she's felt in begging those precious hours of television from a neighbor.

You give your child's body all the sunshine and fresh air and vitamins you can. How about sunshine for his morale? How about vitamins for his mind? Educators agree—television is all that and more for a growing child.

When television means so much more to a child than entertainment alone, can you deny it to your family any longer?

Plymouth Turkey Crop Is One of the Best in Years...

Thursday, November 23 is Thanksgiving day — TURKEY DAY — to most boys and girls and their parents.

It is not only a big day for the family, but it's a big day for the turkey growers in and around Plymouth.

This has been a good "turkey" year. The summer weather was not bad. The late spring permitted young turkeys to run out in the fields earlier than usual.

A. B. Hersh, the pioneer turkey grower of this locality, and Mrs. Hersh who aids him greatly in the care of their flock of nearly a thousand birds, says that he, as well as all the other growers, have been most successful in producing some of the finest turkeys that have ever been made ready for the market.

While few realize it, there are numerous farmers in this part of Michigan whose chief crop every year is their turkey crop. Clint Gottschalk, west of Plymouth, has developed into the biggest turkey producer in this section of Wayne county. He has over 2700 fine turkeys about ready for the market.

Then George Mathews of Schoolcraft road has raised several hundred and George Flammer has a fine crop, although it is not numerally as large as some of the others.

Dean Saxton, one of the early feed store operators in this locality, estimates that there have been produced about the same number of turkeys this year as in previous years.

"But its amazing how these growers are developing their flocks. One never saw such nice birds as they have raised this year. I find that every one of the growers is right up on his toes. It's developed into almost scientific feeding of turkeys these days. Growers know just the right kind of feeds to use as the turkeys grow to maturity. It is interesting to follow their operations of these fine turkey flocks," said Mr. Saxton.

While it is not generally known Michigan is the largest producer of any state in the union of young turkeys. The hatcheries in and around Zeeland ship out hundreds of thousands of young turkeys to all parts of the United States every spring.

This year they suffered a severe loss when thousands of young turks just hatched had to be killed because of a shipping strike. Other thousands died before they could be delivered.

But notwithstanding the fact that Michigan has become the greatest producer of young turkeys and that thousands are raised for market purposes, the "pioneer" turkey was not native to this state.

While early settlers told of seeing wild turkeys, as well as shooting them, they were apparently stragglers from the more fertile fields of the southern states where they were most common during the early days of American settlement.

Ever since Daniel Boone, that pioneering American in buckskin, blazed his way to Kentucky and feasted at intervals on brightly-plumed, fat wild fowl which he encountered in the wilderness, the turkey has been one of the delicacies to be found on American tables. And ever since the Pilgrim fathers used the fowl as the piece de resistance of the first Thanksgiving feast, the American turkey has been the outstanding symbol of Thanksgiving.

But there was this about the hunting of Daniel Boone and the feasting of the Pilgrims. They killed and roasted the wild turkey only as a means of filling their stomachs. And had the hunters who followed them blended their sport with some of the common sense of frontier days the range of this proud and remarkable game bird might this day be nearly as extensive as it was then.

But the very amplitude of the wild turkey led to its doom. Reasonable protection was not given the bird until it was too late, and today the wild turkey may be found, in anything like representative numbers, only in Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, North Carolina, West Virginia, Georgia, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, and certain districts of the Southwest.

And never again shall we see the wild turkey even remotely comparable to its numbers of yesteryears, when, according to tradition, those who lacked bread for their meals in the wilderness used the breasts of wild turkeys as a substitute.

The wild turkey will never entirely disappear from the lists of American food fowls, however. Diminished in numbers and restricted in range, it will nevertheless survive. Public sentiment has awakened, even if too late, and game laws protect this bronze sultan of the forest.

Today most turkeys which are offered on the market for Thanksgiving dinners come from huge farms where domesticated turkeys are hatched and fattened for the autumn sales. Some towns in Texas and Pennsylvania where the raising of turkeys is a particularly important industry hold annual turkey parades, when the proud birds are marched from the farms into the cities and towns where they are to be killed, cleaned and put on sale.

Memories of wilderness are by no means eradicated from the birds and beasts that have been tamed. The horse trembles, its eyes dilate, and its nostrils sport a warning in time of danger—yet his days are spent in pastures far from the forest. The dog drowses with his nose tucked under its tail, as did its wild ancestors when they slept in cold and storm. And the turkey, although domesticated by Europeans as soon as the discoveries of Columbus were turned to account and probably by the Indians of Mexico long before that time, is yet the slave of memory to a greater degree than most. The old ways are its ways. The old tricks still serve.

It has never forgotten the secret, sure delights of river bottoms where sunshine filters thinly through the coverts and where a bird may hide so cleverly that the roving eye sees only fallen leaves and mottled shadows. It has never forgotten the serene hillside where stand twisted, dusty oaks, dropping their burdens of acorns.

Thus it is that a warm and pleasant poultry house has no appeal for the turkey. Slouching home for its supper after a day of profitable gleanings afield, the turkey wings its way to the ridge pole of the barn or even to an upper branch of some tree where it bulks black against the moon. With centuries of domestication behind it, the turkey still holds fast to the ways of its fathers.

Much of the difficulty found in raising turkeys has its source in their love of freedom and their stubborn trust in natural instinct. For in confinement the young turkeys do not thrive, but sicken and die without discernible cause. It is as though homesickness seized them, for when returned to the open and left to their own devices their maladies vanish and they become the alert, confident, contented birds they were intended to be, gaining rapidly in weight.

Wildness is in the heart of the hen turkey when her time to brood is near. She is not pleased with the straw nests of civilization, the shelter of a shed, and the guardianship of a vigilant watchdog. She must go to a chosen spot she knows of, secret as the nest of a grouse, there to deposit the eggs and dream over them.

It profits one little, in ordinary cases, to attempt to dissuade the hen. As in the matter of roosting and in the choice of a range, she is incurably obstinate. She is the wild bird again. One must search carefully and long to find the hidden nest.

Nor has the tame turkey sacrificed its most noble art—that of flying. It is true at roosting time the tame birds often show an amusing indecision, measuring the flight distance with speculative eye, running as though to take wing, hesitating, halting, and only after a number of such futile endeavors really soaring clear of the earth and up to the perch. Yet, when a tame turkey chooses, it demonstrates beyond question a fair mastery of flight, covering a hundred yards or more with apparent ease.

Truly a noble bird is the turkey—either wild or tame. It is a prey worthy of the skill of the best of sportsmen or fowl deserving of the best abilities of the poultry raiser. While on the meat markets of the nation at this season of the year it reigns supreme—even though it may be suspended under his feathers and scrawny neck in some meat market or grocery store for busy housewives to examine and inquire about. For soon it will have robes of royal brown and will be the center of the feast.

A Day All Of Us Take To Heart

Thanksgiving Day is one of the greatest of American traditions; every one seems to catch the festive spirit of this great holiday. But Thanksgiving Day stands for a great deal more than the traditional turkey dinner: all over the land you'll find churches filled, and heads bowed in thanksgiving.

Roger Babson Says --

Babson Discusses Prices & Profits

The uneasy international situation plus a continuing rise in the cost of most goods and services has quite naturally focused attention on profits. Unfortunately, it has also revived the dangerous and widespread belief that business, big and little, is profiting excessively at the expense of wage workers.

Loose Talk Is Confusing

It is perfectly true that there are firms which do profit unduly at the expense of their employees and the general public, just as there are some individuals ever ready to lie, cheat and steal. But the recent record of American business generally in this regard is an honorable one worthy of defense. Yet, when costs go up, our first impulse is to blame the greedy manufacturer because we believe he is taking advantage of us.

Labor unions then take up the cry of "excess profits" as they agitate for higher wages. Meanwhile, an ever growing share of the real substantial profits of American business is being drained off by government in the form of federal, state and local tax levies. If even one half of the time, money and energy which government, management and labor spend in foolishly antagonizing each other were to be spent in a united effort to curb waste and increase production, we would soon have a far higher standard of living than we now enjoy.

Stockholders Are Human

The truth is Uncle Sam has now become so adept at piling tax upon tax—ang squandering so much of the money which he takes in—that the average corporation stockholder is really just another "laboring man." Those who invest their money in common stocks enable companies to produce more efficiently and reduce prices. This further enables these companies to pay fair wages while at the same time to make substantial federal and local tax contributions.

There are times when labor unions have some legitimate complaints, but I know, that labor unions are barking up the wrong tree when they attack stockholders as a class. They forget that the ownership of stocks is now pretty well spread over all the elements of our population. In fact, I am certain that the percentage of wage workers who are actually stockholders is very large. It is no longer rare to find even labor unions investing in industrial stocks; they know that now an additional investment of close to $10,000 is needed to give a new man a job.

Why Blame Manufacturers?

When costs go up, there is a widespread tendency to make manufacturers and stockholders the scapegoats, just as there is a false notion that the latter receive a disproportionate share of the retail price. Doubtless our distribution system is wasteful in some respects; but it has gone a long way in the creation of the mass markets which make possible mass production.

I do wish that more people knew how this distribution system ticks and how much it costs. For example: Bread and a number of other food products cost much more to market than the part of the total retail price to consumers which the farmer, the miller and the baker receive. Everyone should realize that a good slice of the cost of every item consists of taxes, transportation, rent, and salesmen's wages. These expenses are not subject to daily or weekly changes as are raw materials.

A Suggested Remedy

No single group is entirely to blame for high costs and high prices. The chief culprit is government, but we all share in the blame for government's mistakes. Year by year, larger and larger sums of money are being taken away from distributing organizations through taxes. Far too much of this tax money has been and is even now being spent in functions which increase the cost of living.

This can lead to the kind of socialism which has put once powerful England in the sorry plight where she is today. This same policy is killing our incentive and will demoralize our whole employment structure if we do not force our political bureaucrats to abandon it. We became a great nation because we were willing to continually invest more money in productive purposes. We were eager to risk our savings because there was hope of profit. We must not permit government to destroy that profit motive, for that would lead to the destruction of the nation itself.

Here's How to Survive After Atomic Attack

What to do after an A-bomb hits is contained in the third of a series of articles issued by the Civil Defense Council of Plymouth.

Instructions on what to do if you live through an atomic attack follow:

1. Wash yourself hard all over. Lacking soap and water rub with paper or cloth. This cuts radioactive contamination most likely to be present after an under-water burst, or if wind and rain have spread the air burst radiation.

2. Eat and drink nothing that has been exposed to radioactivity. Tight containers, preferably cans to avoid breakage, are sure protection. If you had taken proper precautions before you will have several of such cans of water available now. A Geiger counter or other instrument will be used for detection of radioactivity in food or clothing. City water supplies will be checked and you will be advised when water is safe to use.

3. Obey directions of proper authorities. They must aid the wounded, put out fires, clear streets, repair communications and many other tasks. You can help by doing as you are told.

Rural Tele-news

50,000 GRAINS OF COAL—Did you know there was coal in your telephone? There are about 50,000 grains of it—behind the diaphragm of the mouthpiece—enough to cover a surface about the size of a dime. Coal used in telephones translates the vibrations of your voice into electric waves on wires. These waves are sent to another telephone, where they are converted back into your "voice."

5480 TELEPHONES—Last year, the average cost of new plant and equipment for each telephone added was $480. More telephones are going in all the time. So a lot more dollars are needed to continue Michigan Bell's rural construction program. This money comes from investors. To attract their savings, the telephone business must earn enough to pay them a fair return. Since more and better rural service benefits you, it's good for you to have Michigan Bell make a fair profit.

FITS TOGETHER—Did you know that, in addition to Michigan Bell, there are 151 "independent" telephone companies in Michigan? Their territory is shown in gray on the adjoining map. Thousands of rural folks are served by these companies whose lines connect with Michigan Bell (area in white) for long distance service. Both the "Independents" and Michigan Bell have as their goal more and better rural telephone service.

For Worldwide Bible Reading

From Thanksgiving to Christmas

Millions of people in America and throughout the world will be reading the same verses from the Bible in the period from Thanksgiving to Christmas. This program of Worldwide Bible Reading was started by the American Bible Society during World War II and has grown in the years since.

The readings selected by poll for this year follow. The theme is "The Bible A Light and Guide". To find help in the reading a person is asked to read regularly, thoughtfully, without hurry, prayerfully and obediently, and to copy out a key verse daily and carry it for helpful reference throughout the day.

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 570): "The march of mind and of honest investigation will bring the hour when the people will chain, with fetters of some sort, the growing occultism of this period."

FAIR IN THE LIGHT OF MEMORY SHINES
MICHIGAN
My MICHIGAN
 ELTON R. EATON

This is not going to be anything about Saginaw's tall whispering pines, or Lake Superior's farthest mines, or the once beautiful streams of Michigan that now carry the filth and refuse of our cities downstream to contaminate the sparkling waters of the Great Lakes.

It is going to be something about probably one of the greatest medical institutions in this or any other country of the world. And it is in Michigan, too.

For years almost beyond memory we have devoted this column chiefly to subjects devoted to Michigan's outdoor life, its parks, its forests, its streams and the determined efforts of various conservation groups to retain what we have left of our natural resources and recreate that which has been destroyed.

Surely the efforts of a great institution to help build up and restore as far as possible the health of the inhabitants of the Wolverine commonwealth so they may continue to do their part in the building of a great state and nation, come within the realm of conservation.

That's it — it is about the University of Michigan Hospital — without question a medical institution superior to any others of its kind in existence.

Believe it or not, the writer has been a patient in this hospital recently. They refer to it as a medical "check up." It is nothing more or less than a plain learned medical men have devised whereby they turn you inside out to see what the patient has been doing that he should not do. Even though we have lived a pretty tough life, they were able to penetrate both the hide and our insides — and now we know more about our "innards" than we ever did before.

The whole University hospital system works like a clock. There is no lost time on the part of those whose duty it is to find out what your ailments are and what to do about them.

The writer had barely reached his ward before in came a highly intelligent, bright and good looking young woman to ask more questions and make more tests than one would ever dream they could find in the books. The next day the inquiring "reporter" found out that she was Dr. Nancy Frustenberg, daughter of the well known Dr. Frustenberg, head of one of the important departments of the University hospital. Her famed father should watch his Ps-and-Qs, because in years to come this young lady might be out-ranking him in the medical world. Now she is serving just as an interne.

It wasn't long after that she discovered that I was going to be a human guinea-pig for the next few days. But that wasn't until after the well known Dr. Pollard on the following day had made another external examination from head to toe, even checking the finger nails and sorting out the tendons and bones in the feet.

Then came the X-rays, the blood tests, the eye tests and all of the other new fangled ways they have of finding out about human ailments.

It was while going through some of the X-ray tests that the writer discovered that the University hospital never throws anything away. When some medical instrument or machine, or photographic devise is replaced by something more modern, the older instrument is properly labeled and finds a resting shelf in the hospital warehouse.

"If the University had the necessary building, it could probably set up the greatest medical instrument museums in the world," said one X-ray operator to the writer.

But Michigan has been a somewhat miserly state in connection with its University and the various units which have made it the superior of all other educational institutions in the world.

Happened to recall while in the hospital one incident in the efforts of the University to secure sufficient funds to keep it functioning properly. It was back in the days when the writer was serving as a member of the legislature with that mess of New Dealers elected out of the city of Detroit.

Some of these nincompoops were trying to force Fielding Yost to schedule a game with Notre Dame. There had been a lot of discussion about it on the floor of the house.

These phony New Dealers in the House had gone so far as to slash out of the University appropriation an item of $400,000 for administration purposes. This was the club they were holding over the University—either schedule a game with Notre Dame or get your appropriation cut $400,000.

Because the writer had taken a somewhat turbulent wordy part in the discussions, when it came to selecting members of a conference committee, the Speaker named the writer as a minority member of the house conference group to settle the dispute with the senate. It was my good fortune to be able to cast the deciding vote in the committee in favor of the University appropriation—and both the house and senate thereafter quickly cut out the horse-play and enacted the appropriation measure. Have always somewhat regarded this as my gift of some $400,000 to the University.

In later years a lot of the New Deal "statesmen" from Detroit who had kicked up all this fuss spent quite sometime looking outside from inside the prison bars over at Jackson. But that was for grafting, not for horse-play.

It was while going through these various clinics that one quickly discovers the fact that color, creed or position has no bearing upon the services given to the public at the University Hospitals.

The next morning when heading into one of those rooms where they look inside of you as well as out to find your ailments, a Polish woman, then a colored lad in a wheel chair, a Jewish salesman from Detroit, all proceeded the writer into this special X-ray room.

It all seemed like being on a big conveyor belt—you were moved so quickly from one place to another. There was a lost minute on the part of the University personnel.

How under-the-sun such a big institution can find and keep the high type personnel one encounters about the place is more than the average citizen can figure out. They were always busy, always courteous, always willing to help.

The place was immaculately clean. If a germ should ever get away from a test tube you can be sure that a vacuum cleaner or a dust mop will have it corralled in a very few minutes.

Then came the final day. With the courtesy of Miss Dr. Frustenberg came another doctor whose name I've frequently read in the newspapers and heard much about, Dr. Cyrus Sturgis. Like most of his medical associates in the University hospital, he stands high not only in his profession, but in public esteem as well.

He looked over a folder of reports and told me I've got this and that—and I didn't have a lot of other things. He made it quite clear, however, just what I've got to do if I have any desire to keep on hurling stench bombs at the phony New Dealers and a lot of other political quacks who seek to make this nation into a gim-me state. In the hands of Dr. A. C. Kerlikowski, superintendent of this institution, lies the responsibility for keeping such a vast machine operating to perfection—and to say that he does well, is but putting it mildly. Michigan cannot only feel proud of its University Hospital of Michigan, but it can feel most grateful that the state has available the services of such an outstanding medical institution.

I can readily understand now why President Alexander Ruthven has constantly made such a determined effort to get sufficient funds to retain on the University staff such outstanding medical men, as well as other members of the various University units. I am pleased, too, to feel that in my small way I have given him such help as was within my power to offer.

No need to worry about those ugly mud spots—just call us for a fast, thorough cleaning job.

"The first fifty-million mark is the goal of all life insurance companies," according to the former Governor, "and statistics show that once a company attains that mark, the writing of new policies proceeds more rapidly."

Michigan Life is Michigan's largest old-line insurance company. Since it was organized, it has paid policy-holders and beneficiaries over $18,000,000.00. It has also made investments of over $28,000,000.00 in mortgages, bonds and loans to policy-holders.

Norma Van Dyke Reigns at J-Hop

Reigning over the "Cinderella Ball," the Junior Hop last Friday night, was Norma Van Dyke. The members of her court were Carolyn Smith, Elaine Lietz, Beth Douglas and Joyce Houghton.

Norma and her court were elected by the junior class. Candidates were nominated and the ten junior girls receiving the most votes were voted on again by their classmates. The ballots were counted by members of the faculty and the finalists' names were a deep secret until announced during intermission on Friday night.

Other nominees were Dolly Lewis, Joyce Forsee, Iva Lou Kahrl, Eleanor Rutherford and Nancy Beeble.

After receiving her crown, Norma and her escort led the Grand March, followed by the four members of her court and their escorts.

The gymnasium was transformed into a fairyland by scenes depicting the story of Cinderella. About 250 couples danced to the music of Larry Livingston's orchestra.
