

Newlyweds Return From Wedding Trip In Northern Michigan

Pfc. and Mrs. Eckler

The First Presbyterian church in Plymouth was the scene Tuesday, December 19, of the wedding of Javna Arnold and Pfc. Dwight Eckler. Mr. and Mrs. Leo Arnold of Auburn avenue are the bride's parents and Dwight is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Eckler of North Holbrook avenue.

Dr. Henry Walen officiated at the 3 o'clock rites before an altar flanked with bouquets of white nuns and snapdragons. Fred Nelson presided at the organ and Miss Marjorie Thomas was the soloist.

For her wedding, Javna selected a gown of white chantilly lace of floor length. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a crown of seed pearls and she carried a white Bible covered with white ribbons.

Miss Deloris Hopper, as maid of honor, was gowned in aqua satin and net. Her husband and arm bouquet were of red roses. Mrs. Jacob Hanna and Betty Arnold were the bridesmaids. Mrs. Hanna's gown was of teal while Betty wore yellow. Both carried bouquets of yellow roses.

For his best man Dwight asked his brother, William Eckler, Jr. The ushers were Jack Elliott and Wallace Eckler.

Mrs. Arnold selected a beige colored suit with brown accessories for her daughter's wedding and Mrs. Eckler wore a wine colored suit with accessories of black. Both mothers wore orchid corsages.

A wedding reception for 150 guests was held in the church parlors immediately following the ceremony with guests present from Flint, Tawas City, Detroit, Otisville, Farmington, Northville, and Plymouth.

For her wedding trip the new Mrs. Eckler wore a suit of pink and grey with black accessories and an orchid corsage. The young couple spent their honeymoon at a cottage on Lake Huron near East Tawas. Both young people attended Plymouth High school. Dwight is now a private first class in the Marine Corps.

State President at Garden Club

One of the most interesting meetings of the club year was held Monday afternoon in the Veteran's Memorial Hall by the Plymouth branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden association.

Then Margaret Havalind, who attends college in Adrian and was one of the exchange students sent to France to work on farms during the summer of 1949, gave a splendid and vivid description of those weeks and showed slides in color of the various places she visited in France and Switzerland.

Tea was served by Mrs. A. G. Dohmen, Mrs. John T. Neale and Mrs. Peter Ralph Miller.

Chief Licensed to Issue Licenses

For a brief while last week Acting Police Chief Carl Greenlee was illegally issuing vehicle operator's licenses to some Plymouth area motorists.

Now, however, the legal snarls are cleared and all is well. The trouble began when state troopers casually informed Greenlee last week about a 1949 state law limiting his licensing jurisdiction to the city limits. Only specially deputized authorities are permitted to do so the law states.

Therefore, Greenlee hid himself to Wayne County Sheriff Andrew Baird and received official blessing. Now Plymouth area motorists residing beyond the city limits can once again procure operator's licenses from Greenlee at Plymouth city hall thus avoiding an inconvenient trip to Dearborn.

Would you believe it? They (conservationists) have come to the conclusion that the old time brush pile farmers used to permit to exist in their wood lots and around some fence corners are ideal "homes" for wild life.

Rabbits, quail, woodchucks, birds and even pheasants like to use brush piles as places to hide from searching hawks and other enemies of small game and birds.

For years hunters would tramp from brush pile to brush pile to scare out a rabbit—but farmers began to burn up their brush piles and it is now difficult to find one in any woodlot in or around Plymouth or any other place in Michigan.

But now various wild life organizations are asking farmers to permit their brush piles to remain from year to year and not burn them up as is the custom in practice. It is believed that the return of hundreds of brush piles here, there and everywhere will help in a big way to restore small game to this area as well as other places where brush piles are numerous.

It has been the opinion of most Plymouth deer hunters that there were more hunters in the woods last fall than ever before. But figures from the conservation department do not indicate this. Apparently there were not as many deer licenses issued as in previous years.

Sales reported to December 1 reveal 505,186 small game licenses issued or over two percent more than the 496,567 of record last year at this time. Non-resident small game licenses totaled 3,279 or 44 percent over the 2,274 issued before.

The state may have had a smaller deer hunting season this fall as reflected in agent returns that show about 10 percent fewer licenses written. Sales total 67,094 as against 73,974 in the same period last year. Non-resident licenses are down over 43 percent with 775 purchased as compared to 951 before.

Trapping licenses are off last year's pace 12 percent with 1,052 reported while 1,197 were recorded up to December 1, 1949.

Resident fishing license sales still are 11 heavy two percent agents report 753,487 issued against 775,657 before. Non-residents have bought 125,413 or nearly 11 percent fewer temporary fishing licenses. Annual non-resident fishing permits are up more than five percent with 124,324 as compared to 118,061 before.

Four stamps issued total 164,164 or three percent less than the 168,196 a year ago.

When it comes to furnishing food for a year-around food supply, the plans excel brooder lespedeza, the Wildlife Management Institute reports.

Stamps to determine seasonal availability of important quail foods, conducted by the Alabama Cooperative Wildlife Research Unit, under the leadership of Dr.

Arnold Haugen, put the useful lespedeza way out in front. Periodically, several one-square-foot samples of ground litter were taken from beneath the plants, dried, and the seed was carefully separated from the debris. During late winter, the critical period for quail, brooder seed was from two to three times more abundant than that of partridge peas, and at no time did the supply drop below 350 pounds per acre.

Partridge pea, the closest contender as the ideal quail food-patch plant, was found to supply approximately 140 pounds of seed to the acre in March. The measure of a wildlife food plant, aside from its palatability and nutritional value to species under management, is the quantity of food available during all seasons of the year.

Scientists in Missouri took a preliminary swipe of the polishing cloth at the furnished halo of the house cat in annotating the results of an analysis of 41 stomachs, mostly of highway-killed cats, by LeRoy Korschgen, Conservation Commission food-habits investigator, according to the Wildlife Management Institute.

To those who believe that the lone house cat survives solely on young game and songbirds, the results of this study will come as a surprise. In per cent of volume, the aggregate last meal of these deceased pussies was comprised of 35.1 per cent mice, 25.6 per cent rabbit, 9 per cent cotton rat, 6.9 per cent table scraps, 2.7 per cent pig, 2.4 per cent grasshopper, 1.8 per cent unidentified mice, and 1.5 per cent chicken.

No songbirds were found and, of course, some of the material, particularly the pig, was carrion. All of the quail parts of three birds, came from a single cat shot in the act of stalking young quail. Rat and mice made up 49.5 per cent of the total diet. Korschgen said that this is not enough evidence to form the basis of policy on house cats but that the high percentage of rodents and absence of songbirds give food for thought. Mice compete heavily with quail for the same food and rats are voracious quail predators.

WHERE THE RESPONSIBILITY LIES. In these days when the attention of every thinking man and woman in the nation is directed towards world affairs and the dangers that confront our own country, it is but natural that we try to find out what caused it all—how under the sun could it happen.

We have read so much about it in an effort to properly answer the question that it seemed at times as though it wouldn't be possible to read another line.

Of all the material we have read, a recent statement by United States Senator George W. Malone of Nevada seems to focus the responsibility right where most people feel that it belongs—the bungling of our own state department.

Take time to read Senator Malone's statement, which was NOT issued until after the recent election. It will enlighten you considerably.

His charges are alarming. He asserts that there has been a diabolical and deliberately conceived conspiracy, "aided and abetted by certain United States Government officials, to advance the cause of the Soviets throughout the world, to discredit the American free enterprise and competitive system, and to bring on absolute socialism here."

Senator Malone continued: "It seems impossible that the Administration's actions can all stem from ignorance of practical conditions throughout the world. We are in an undertow of world socialism and the taxpayers of America have been led to finance it.

"Our own State Department officials are right now deceiving the American people. They are publicly announcing that the United States will vote against the recognition of the Communist regime in China in the United Nations, and at the same time they are working behind the scenes with England to corral enough votes for recognition of the Chinese Reds. Secretary of State Dean Acheson has admitted that his representatives in the United Nations have been instructed not to use the veto against such recognition.

"Add up the facts and the conclusion is inescapable that the President is under the influence of, and the American people are at the mercy of, those who would destroy the American form of government and the American competitive system, which made this country great.

"Here are a few of the culminating facts: "1. At Yalta the plan was laid to give the Reds strategic areas throughout the world. Our acting President, advised by Acheson's friend, Alger Hiss, since proved to be a traitor to America, gave Manchuria to the Reds; gave Berlin to the Reds with no provision for ingress or egress of western nations' personnel, and made other important concessions, including that involving North Korea, none of which were stated in the text of the Yalta agreement, and much of which aggravated conditions leading to War Number III (called by the President a policy action, notwithstanding the twenty-six thousand killed, wounded and lost in action, to date).

"2. Our State Department had our Armed Forces withdrawn from Korea in accordance with the Lattimore-Acheson Plan, and virtually invited the Reds to take over. When President Truman was forced into maintaining this position, he did not demand Acheson's resignation. On the other hand, he said, curiously enough, that Acheson would remain as long as he was President.

"3. When Acheson and his Leftward friends forced Louis Johnson out as Defense Secretary, they saw to it that the post went to General Marshall who had been Acheson's front man in building up the Communist victory in China and could be depended upon to be complicit toward further maneuvers along the same line.

"4. When MacArthur sent his message to the Veterans of Foreign Wars stressing the importance of Formosa, the State Department leaders, who from all indications had promised Formosa to the Reds, had it upon their minds to withdraw the message.

"5. United States delegates to the United Nations approved the plan of the Security Council to invite the Chinese Reds to sit in a UN session on the disposal of Formosa, all of which was only a bit of window dressing, for the conspirators had decided long ago that Formosa would be awarded to the Reds. (Quite strangely, the President now says Formosa must be neutral.)

"6. The State Department has favored our sending all kinds of war materials to the Marshall Plan countries which have 96 known land treaties with Russia and her satellite nations. In other words, the State Department is a prime Russia for World War III while helping her to consolidate her gains in Eastern Europe and in China.

"7. On the home front, every possible socialistic step has been taken and a three-pronged attack has been made and continues to be made to wreck American industry through the 'free trade' policy of the State Department. Recently representatives were sent to Torquay, England, to confer the purpose of which was to still further lower the barrier, which will have the effect of forcing American workers into further competition with the sweat shop labor of Europe and Asia, lowering the American workers' high standard of living. This is all part of the deliberately conceived scheme against the economic life and the safety of the United States."

Senator Malone concluded: "The shape of things to come is clear. With Acheson, the loyal friend of Hiss and Lattimore and Lattimore, calling the signals how could the Communist nations lose?"

WHAT I THINK AND HAVE A RIGHT TO SAY

Much of the material from Europe comes from factories rebuilt and retrofitted with the help of ECA dollars. England, France, Belgium, Switzerland and Western Germany continue to provide ball bearings, lathes, drill presses and special steels with which the Soviet plants at Magnitogorsk and elsewhere turn out guns, tanks and warplanes.

Three years ago, remembering the lessons from our shipments of scrap iron to Japan and our pre-Pearl Harbor trade with Nazi Germany, Congress prohibited export of all arms and ammunition except under specific license by the State Department. Exports of potential war materials were banned, too, unless licensed by the Department of Commerce. Abroad, the ECA was ordered to stop delivery of Marshall Plan goods to any country known to be re-shipping them to Communist territory.

European nations receiving ECA aid promised to abide by these rulings, but the promises have not been kept, the authors state. Most of the Western European countries have long-standing trade agreements with Russia and its satellites, and are accustomed to exporting certain goods and importing needed commodities. Also, their definitions of potential war material have differed from ours. Britain alone will have sent to Russia and Eastern Europe, this year, $120,000,000 worth of goods deemed by Washington to be of high strategic value. Belgium, the Netherlands, Sweden, France and Italy have exported almost as much.

This open trade is sanctioned by treaties, however, and is duly reported to the United States. But the Russians have other sources of supply, unreported and illegal, and to keep these sources in business Soviet agents commit bribery and even murder. Irving Foss, an American official of ECA in Austria, was slain two years ago because his investigations had disclosed the key Communists in Vienna who ran Russia's undercover trade with the West.

The West-East smuggling operation is probably the biggest in the history of this ancient business, the authors say. In every major industrial city of Europe, buyers subsidized by Russian funds serve the needs of Moscow. The U. S. High Commission in Germany estimates that more than $200,000,000 worth of highly critical products are annually smuggled into Russia from Western Germany alone. The West German customs and frontier guard, hopelessly understaffed, can manage to inspect one freight car in 50 crossing into Eastern Germany. Some shipments are sneaked over the border under false labels, others are carried in heavily armed trucks with which the frontier guards "rarely choose to tangle."

Some 30 U. S. exporting concerns have been punished in the past two years for misrepresenting the final destinations of strategic-material shipments. In the same period, the article says, $150,000,000 worth of critical goods have been stopped, en route to Russia, by the Office of Industry and Commerce. But OIC is undermanned, the members of the staff believe they have missed more illegal shipments than they have caught.

In Europe, ECA is reluctant to deal harshly with smuggling for fear of arousing resentment which Russia might turn to political advantage. At home, Congress voted down a proposal that ECA aid be withdrawn from any country trading with Russia in contraband. It was objected that "such radical action might do us irreparable harm in Europe."

Your Police Department Speaks

Written by members of Plymouth's Police department
Winter's most dangerous driving—a good eight weeks of it—is possibly still ahead, the police department warned motorists.

"During this period police must devote a large share of their attention to automobile accidents, all of them involving property and some involving death or injuries.

"The best way to handle an accident is to prevent it." Chief Greenlee said, as he appealed to automobile drivers to help police reduce the city's annual traffic toll.

"One good way is to keep your car in shape for winter driving. Another is to drive a little slower and make allowances for the extra hazards introduced by snow and ice."

He warned motorists that so-called "winterized" or "mud-snow" tires are of little help when streets really get slippery. On glare ice, he said, actual tests by the National Safety Council's Committee on winter driving hazards show that tire chains are the best anti-skid protection.

Without chains, he said, it takes a car traveling 20 miles an hour, 75 feet to stop on packed snow. With chains, the car can be stopped in about half this distance. On glare ice it's about 188 feet without, and 88 feet with chains.

"Even safer than chains," the chief said, "is the practice of leaving your car home when the streets are slippery."

Judge Healy to Speak at Methodist Dinner
Judge D. J. Healy, prominent Wayne county attorney, will be the guest speaker at the dinner meeting of the Methodist Men's club January 18 in the church hall at 6:30 p.m. The meeting marks the club's annual ladies' night.

The Shilo Gospel Singers, quartet on radio station CKLW, will also be on the program. Mr. and Mrs. Loren Goodale are in charge of the dinner. Judge James Sexton will introduce the speaker. Reservations for the dinner must be made with Horton Boothe by January 16.

Wiltse Remodels Soda Fountain

Ice cream treats will be served from a newly remodeled soda fountain soon at Community Pharmacy, according to Owner Pat Wiltse. Work has begun on the remodeling and modern features will be installed.

Other improvements include the completion of a rear entrance to the drug store from the city parking lot. Customers may now conveniently enter the store when using parking facilities in the rear of Main street stores. Wiltse also announces that the pharmacy is now open on Sundays.

Down South With the Ducks and Black Birds (And Plymouth Sun Worshippers)

Beat the ducks and blizzard to Florida, but not the blackbirds. "Down" in Tennessee the duck season just started a week or so ago. Thought of Jack Selle, Estell Rowland, Russ Powell and Don Lightfoot when Tennessee duck hunters were complaining about the necessity of "poling" their boats out to the edge of the marshes. They said the reeds were so thick they couldn't use oars—and therefore it was too hard work to really enjoy duck hunting. Plymouth duck hunters who do most of their shooting up on Saginaw bay not only have to "pole" their boats through tall reeds, but sometimes they have to "pole" the boats over mud patches where the poles sink into the mud three and four feet before hitting a substantial base for leverage. Reports were that those Tennessee hunters who had the necessary "steam" to get out through the reeds got their legal limit of ducks. The backwaters of the government dams in Tennessee are now giving hunters in that state some excellent duck hunting never enjoyed in that part of the country.

Don't bother to stop in Columbus, Georgia for overnight hotel accommodations when you drive south or return north. The AAA lists as desirable only one hotel in that city. The clerk said it was "lull" and when asked if there was any other desirable place, he referred to two hotels not listed in the AAA. A friendly speed cop when asked if he knew of any other desirable place to stay said yes—drive out south about two miles and you will find some motels that are tops. They were just that—so much better to our way of thinking than the average hotel that there is no comparison. So hereafter when in Columbus, keep right on U. S. 280 until just south of the city and you will find accommodations that apparently the clerk of the Ralston hotel never heard of—and you will get the best there is.

The incident reminded the writer of a stop made a year or so ago when we hit Traverse City at a busy time of the year. Got into this famed northern Michigan resort city late in the evening. The popular Park hotel was filled. Just naturally, we asked the clerk for information as to desirable places where one might find accommodations. He didn't refer the inquiring guest to any hotel dumps around town, but went to the trouble to call up one of the top-rated cabin motels in that area to find out if they had any vacancies for the night. Through his assistance an excellent place was secured. According to our "books" that's one of the desirable ways for a hotel clerk to help the tourist business of any city. From now on its motels instead of hotels for us.

It has become a real pleasure to drive through the states of Tennessee and Georgia these days. These two energetic southern commonwealths have certainly gone to town in developing some of the finest highways one can find anywhere. The pavings are kept in an excellent state of repair, the roads are wide and there are no sharp turns or curves. When one travels the highways of these states, it is easy to understand why northern Automobile club representatives are routing southern travelers through Tennessee and Georgia.

Found prices for meals from Louisville to Miami to be somewhere under the prices charged in the metropolitan area of Detroit, although the variation was not great. "Winter" rates have not yet become effective in southern Florida.

Apparently some "Fair Dealer" heard the writer was on the way to Florida and scattered some nails in the road around Shelbyville, Tennessee. A tire went flat right in front of the Shell service station on the south side of that city. Walked over to ask if they could fix a tire and found three young fellows busily engaged in discussing their draft status. In less than no time, they had the tire off and repaired, doing an excellent job of tire patching. All expected to be called into the armed services soon. One of the lads had driven from Detroit to southern Tennessee the previous day in 14 hours, making no stops except for gas or lunches. He had been working in one of the auto supply plants that had been tied up by a strike and the workers in his department had been laid off—so I thought I would come home for a few days," he said. But how he did kick about the price of haircuts in Detroit! "It's a dollar fifty if you get it cut on weekends. Down here a hair cut costs only 50 cents and the barbers all seem to do well," he added. This young Tennesseean reflects the views of others who get hair-cuts in Detroit. All three of the boys were worried about the war situation, wondering when they would be called into service and where they would be sent when their "number" was up.

President Robert Willoughby of the Plymouth Rotary club is a persistent fellow. With more than 20 years of a perfect Rotary club attendance, he believes it is a simple thing indeed for every member of the club to make up a missed meeting somewhere. He just can't figure out why Dr. Brick Champe didn't put on some snowshoes and travel over the five and six foot snow drifts for a distance of 27 or more miles to make up a Rotary meeting when Brick became snowbound in the woods up around Munising during the last deer hunting season. That's a miss the enthusiastic dentist-hunter will never live down.

So persistent is President Bob about this perfect Rotary attendance that he figured out just where we would be four days after leaving Plymouth.

"You'll find that the Rotary club meets at Tifton, Georgia at 12:30 on Wednesdays. You ought to be there about 12 o'clock. It will be a good place to make up the meeting for that week," was Bob's hint to the writer.

Sure enough, the Tipton club does meet on Wednesdays and that is where we made up a Rotary meeting and heard things said about Harry Truman by some folks who sat around us that Michigan Republicans would never dare say.

"If the Republicans have any sense they will run Bob Taft for president—and I'll wager that he would get half the electoral votes of the south," declared one keenly intelligent looking citizen.

Tipton is a progressive looking little southern city that is supported almost entirely by a rich farming and fruit area. Its Rotary club was paying honor to its highly successful high school football squad. There were some 18 or 20 boys present, as fine looking young chaps as one might find anywhere. Many of them are members of the senior class, who will soon leave the class rooms to enter military service—for how long—no one knows.

Dr. Edward Lee, one time resident of Wayne, who sponsored the organization of the Plymouth Rotary club, is still serving as one of the official greeters of the Miami Rotary club. He asked to be especially remembered to Frank Rambo, who years ago was a member of the Plymouth club, Charles Bennett and George A. Smith, charter members of the Plymouth club.

Down here in Miami some building contractors are working crews both night and day in efforts to complete new building structures that have recently been started. Nearly all of the structures are for mercantile purposes—and what a lot of them. No one seems certain of anything—and apparently all they desire to do is get finished that which has already been started.

From our brief observation during the short time we have been in Miami, the traffic cops are bending over backwards to give visiting tourists every possible consideration. Surprising as it may seem when traffic officers of a big city like Miami go the limit in order to help out visitors to the city, there are some screwball drivers who take advantage of the courtesy—and may it be said that the license plates on the cars of these smart-aleck drivers are chiefly from New York and New Jersey.

Finney Scores in Final Seconds to Defeat Trenton Squad 40-39

By Alan Finney sinking a basket with only two seconds remaining in the game the Plymouth Rocks defeated the Trenton squad 40-39.

With the score being 37 to 36 with Plymouth on the short end, Finney sank a free throw that tied the score. Bud Young also made good a charity toss that gave the Rocks a one point advantage with 15 seconds remaining. Trenton then bounced back with a basket that seemed to be the game winning point as the clock showed only 6 seconds remaining. Bud Young took the ball and passed out to Alan Finney who shot a two handed long arching shot that slipped into the net to give Plymouth the lead 40 to 39. Trenton did not have time over to take the ball out of bounds before the game ended.

Through the game Trenton's closely knit zone defense had the Rocks baffled with most of Plymouth's scoring being made from the side. At the end of the first period of play the Rocks were behind 11 to 9.

The local lads scored three quick points to take the lead for the first time 12 to 11. But again Trenton's defense had the boys puzzled and Trenton piled up a commanding lead at the half. At the start of the second half Coach John Sandmann elected to start Jerry Huddleston and give the weary Charlie Stark a well deserved rest.

After three minutes of play in the second half the Trenton Trojans held a 33 to 21 edge and it looked like Plymouth was on the verge of losing its first league encounter. The local boys finally showed the Trenton defense by working the ball in close and depending on accurate shots to score the points needed. Wally Dzurus and Alan Finney personally accounted for 13 of the 18 points made in the last half. Bud Young and Charles Stark accounted for the others.

Both Young and Stark missed action for the first time this year in a league game. Wally Dzurus is the only Rock player who has not missed any time. Alan Finney was high point man for the evening with 15 and Wally Dzurus ended with 13 points. Wally has a total of 75 points while Alan Finney has 67 for six games.

Out of 250 points scored by Plymouth Alan Finney and Wally Dzurus have accounted for 142 of them for nearly 55 per cent of the total points made.

Opens Law Offices

Plymouth attorney, Charles N. Hewer announces that he has opened law offices at 1121 Penobscot building in Detroit. Hewer, who was formerly with the Bureau of Internal Revenue, was admitted to the bar in July of last year. He is a graduate of the Detroit College of Law.

Northville Merchants Down Printers 44-36

The Northville Merchants clubbed above the 500 mark Thursday as they downed the second place Plymouth Mail squad 44-36. The Merchants led throughout the game and were seldom pressed.

Red Pottinger accounted for 15 points for the victors, followed by Hank Levering and Jerry Heaton with eight counters each. Ron Hees led the Plymouth Mail with 9 points. This was Northville's third victory.

The next meeting of the Plymouth Farm Bureau group will be held at the home of E. W. Plant, 45094 Ford road on Tuesday, January 16, at 8 p.m.

Babson's Business and Financial Outlook for 1951

Because of the acute paper shortage The Plymouth Mail has been unable to print the 1951 predictions of Roger Babson which were released for publication a short time ago. These outstanding economic and political predictions are now being published in order to give readers the benefit of Babson's forecast.

The United Nations will withdraw from Korea during 1951. The United States in 1951 will have the largest national income of its history.

1. Excluding defense orders, the total business volume in 1951 will be less than that for 1950. However, national income in 1951 will be the highest ever recorded, as war orders take the place of peace production and high prices prevail.

2. The outstanding feature of 1951 will be the ever-increasing interference of the government in the lives of businessmen and consumers.

3. The Administration and its economic advisors are firmly convinced that radical inflation is about to break out next year. But the "brain trusters" are overlooking the fact that the boom is already old and that it was breaking badly when the Korean war broke out. War postponed the downturn which would have taken place much sooner. The date of the slide has only moved ahead.

4. Rushing to catch up on its neglected defense program, the Administration is anxious to shrink business volume to an unnecessary degree. Efforts at first will be along the line of tighter credit curbs, such as restrictions on mortgage and installment loans and increased bank reserve requirements.

5. As 1951 wears on, the effect of credit controls will cause a decline in legitimate business. Civilian production will decline more than armament production will increase. The public may then cry: "This is a government-made slump; let's get rid of the controls!"

6. If in 1951 it becomes evident that business is declining too fast as a result of government curbs, the planners at Washington may push their patient into an oxygen tent.

7. Most labor groups will not be successful in getting a sixth round of wage increases in 1951. Although there may be more strikes in the first part of 1951, there will be fewer for the whole year as compared with 1950.

8. Tightness in the labor supply will be continued as the year wears on, particularly of highly-skilled workers.

9. The Taft-Hartley Law will not be repealed during 1951 but may be amended. The Administrators of the law will continue to work at some of its clauses.

10. Wholesale prices of many commodities will be marked by a mild decline in 1951 when compared with the price level for December 31, 1950. In some lines the drop may be quite steep from the high levels of late 1950. Retail prices for 1951, I do not now forecast.

11. The year 1951 should prove an excellent time to keep a tight grip on inventories. Commodity speculation for the rise will not pay in 1951. Furthermore, our expanding stockpiles of strategic materials present a real price threat in the event of a peace scare. Such stockpiles could then act strongly as a depressant on prices.

12. The cost of living will remain high during 1951. This prediction recognizes that living costs next year may be above the lower levels that existed during the first half of the year now closing.

13. Farmers' income for 1951 should average no less than that for 1950. Since the trend in the first half of 1950 was down, this forecast is not so optimistic as it might otherwise seem, for there is likely to be a weakening of the farmers' income position during the latter part of 1951.

14. Barring crop failures, the total supply of food available should be larger in 1951 than for 1950, since the government will raise planting quotas as part of its attack on inflation. If the weather is extremely favorable, the government will be blamed for farm-price weakness during the latter part of 1951.

15. With prospects good for a rising supply of feed grains, meat should be more plentiful next year than in 1950. Prices for meat, however, will be held up by continued high national income and by military needs.

16. The burden of federal taxes, both corporate and personal, will be increased again in 1951. State and municipal taxes will remain high.

17. There will be an excess profits tax in 1951. These excess profits taxes will be milder than those in force during World War II, but they will be inflationary and retard efficiency, economy and incentive.

18. There will be heavy pressure for increased federal "sales taxes" to discourage purchasing of luxury and certain non-essential goods. Congress will see the value of some such sales taxes as an inflation road block.

19. States and municipalities will again be under pressure to find adequate sources of revenue. Further increases in such taxes can be looked for next year with additional cities and or states adopting sales taxes.

20. Despite renewed efforts to increase the long-term capital gains tax above the present 25% figure, rates will remain unchanged.

21. Credit curbs will cut into the demand for automobiles and household equipment. Completions of fewer dwellings will also act as a damper on furniture sales.

22. Falling demand for hard goods should mean a stabilization of the public's spending for food and lower-priced soft goods.

23. The trend forecast in No. 22 will mean a decline in department store volume, but I predict a rise in the sales of variety chains and of drug chains.

24. Barring new war developments, I look for continued shrinkage in our exports during 1951. Imports, however, should rise further. Total foreign trade should not be much changed, but the exporters will be on the short end of this business with the importers gaining.

25. It will become more difficult to convince Congress that additional heavy credits should be granted abroad except for war supplies.

26. As was the case this year, many domestic manufacturers produce driving and riding ease heretofore unknown in automobiles of any price feature the new line of Plymouth cars. Combining new body lines with interior luxury, the new Plymouth will go on display at Forest Motor Sales on Saturday, January 13.

Designers have given the Plymouth new silhouette, and refinements in the interior are innovations in the lowest price field. The styling improvements retain the traditional roominess of the cars. Easier to drive and more comfortable, the new cars have beauty, more safety features and broader ranges of vision.

Engineers say the new "Safety-Flow ride" takes the bounce and wallop out of bumps. A new application of hydraulic flow control in the shock absorbers provides a more gradual change of resistance during the spring deflections and thus a softer ride when driving on average roads. It also exerts extra resistance on rough roads to a degree where driver and passengers are almost completely freed of the discomfort of being jolted around.

45. Tighter credit controls will make it more difficult to purchase older residential properties, and the prices for these should weaken.

46. As building volume slackens in 1951, the quality of available materials and workmanship should improve. This will help those who have saved their money and can pay for at least half the cost of a new home.

47. Those who can do so should attempt to get defense orders as a means of holding up production volumes and reducing overhead. Not too much profit from such war business should be expected, however, as these contracts will be subject to tightfisted renegotiations.

48. The political outlook for 1951 will be completely dominated by jockeying for position in the presidential race for 1952. Most of Congress' time will be spent on international problems, either war or peace could come early in 1951, which could make many of the above forecasts useless.

49. In domestic matters, despite recent election changes in party alignment, Congress will still be dominated by a conservative coalition of northern Republicans and "unregenerated" southern Democrats. When the heat is on in a tough fight, the north-south coalition will still be able to curb onslaughts by New Dealers.

50. We are gradually headed for a one party system and finally a dictatorship. The Republicans will sometimes win with the slogan "HAD ENOUGH?" but their reign will be short-lived. Too many persons are following the pernicious doctrine of ASKING FOR HIGHER WAGES AND SHORTER HOURS, SPECULATING IN STOCKS AND GOODS, GROWING RICH ON PAPER, VOTING DEMOCRATIC FOR SELFISH REASONS AND LETTING THE COUNTRY GO TO THE DOGS. WAR OR NO WAR!

New 1951 Plymouth on Display

The new 1951 Plymouth will go on display in the showroom of Forest Motor Sales on Forest avenue this Saturday, January 13. A new grille redesigned front fenders and hood, and a wider windshield are features of the new line, along with numerous mechanical improvements.

Spectacular new qualities which produce driving and riding ease heretofore unknown in automobiles of any price feature the new line of Plymouth cars. Combining new body lines with interior luxury, the new Plymouth will go on display at Forest Motor Sales on Saturday, January 13.

Designers have given the Plymouth new silhouette, and refinements in the interior are innovations in the lowest price field. The styling improvements retain the traditional roominess of the cars. Easier to drive and more comfortable, the new cars have beauty, more safety features and broader ranges of vision.

Engineers say the new "Safety-Flow ride" takes the bounce and wallop out of bumps. A new application of hydraulic flow control in the shock absorbers provides a more gradual change of resistance during the spring deflections and thus a softer ride when driving on average roads. It also exerts extra resistance on rough roads to a degree where driver and passengers are almost completely freed of the discomfort of being jolted around.

45. Tighter credit controls will make it more difficult to purchase older residential properties, and the prices for these should weaken.

46. As building volume slackens in 1951, the quality of available materials and workmanship should improve. This will help those who have saved their money and can pay for at least half the cost of a new home.

47. Those who can do so should attempt to get defense orders as a means of holding up production volumes and reducing overhead. Not too much profit from such war business should be expected, however, as these contracts will be subject to tightfisted renegotiations.

48. The political outlook for 1951 will be completely dominated by jockeying for position in the presidential race for 1952. Most of Congress' time will be spent on international problems, either war or peace could come early in 1951, which could make many of the above forecasts useless.

49. In domestic matters, despite recent election changes in party alignment, Congress will still be dominated by a conservative coalition of northern Republicans and "unregenerated" southern Democrats. When the heat is on in a tough fight, the north-south coalition will still be able to curb onslaughts by New Dealers.

50. We are gradually headed for a one party system and finally a dictatorship. The Republicans will sometimes win with the slogan "HAD ENOUGH?" but their reign will be short-lived. Too many persons are following the pernicious doctrine of ASKING FOR HIGHER WAGES AND SHORTER HOURS, SPECULATING IN STOCKS AND GOODS, GROWING RICH ON PAPER, VOTING DEMOCRATIC FOR SELFISH REASONS AND LETTING THE COUNTRY GO TO THE DOGS. WAR OR NO WAR!

36. The successful investor next year will be the one who meets a carefully planned investment program. Such a program will emphasize diversification — not only by company and industry, but also by quality. Overconcentration will not pay in 1951.

37. Highest grade table corporate bonds should hold in a narrow price range during 1951, but I see no reason for individual investors buying them. For my forecast for long-term government bonds, see No. 30 above. The only corporation bonds that interest me are CONVERTIBLES.

38. With income taxes slated to increase in 1951, tax-exempt bonds should continue in good demand. There has been some speculation in these, however, and any downward change in the tax outlook might cause a sudden turnabout in prices for municipals. Investors should see to it that their bond maturities are carefully diversified, with some part of their bond funds maturing each year.

39. The real estate outlook for 1951 will be strongly affected by curbs on mortgage credit. Much of the recent boom was the result of easy credit — almost nothing down and small easy payments for years hence.

40. New home construction will suffer a greater decline than other lines. Nonessential commercial building will also be hit.

41. The coming decline in new building will throw a wet blanket over speculation in vacant suburban lots.

42. The scare caused by the Korean-China War and fears of an early outbreak in other sections will adversely affect the demand for big city real estate. Lower business volumes and the draft next year will also curtail such demand.

43. Small sustenance farms should hold up well in price as demand will be spurred by those seeking refuge outside the big cities. Demand for large commercial farms, however, should weaken as the year progresses.

44. The swing back toward rent control will act as a further damper on new building. There is no incentive to build homes for rental income.

Hints For Plymouth Homemakers

Hartford Sees Food Industry Ready For New Responsibility

New York, Dec. 29—The food industry is in the best shape in its history to cope with the new problems and responsibilities it must face in 1951, John A. Hartford, Chairman of the Board of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, said today.

"It would be foolhardy to attempt to predict the full impact of our defense effort on the food industry," he said. "Some foods may be in short supply, and price trends will depend on a number of factors over which grocers have no control, but the prospects are bright that the American people will continue to receive an adequate supply of food."

Mr. Hartford also predicted that "the high degree of efficiency achieved by the food industry in the past will be an important national asset in any economic shift the future might bring."

He summarized assets "which should enable the industry to satisfy the nation's food requirements" as follows:

1. The nation's farmers have been producing more food than at any other time in history and have the equipment and technical knowledge necessary to expand that production.
2. Food processors have made great technological strides in recent years and they possess expanded production facilities which can be readily adapted to meet changed conditions.
3. Efficiency of food distribution in all its phases is at an all-time peak.

"Thus, the food industry has a well-equipped plant to put to work on the tremendous job at hand," Mr. Hartford said. "It should not be undertaken without full realization that there will be problems. The possibility of shortages of manpower, equipment and some supplies must be anticipated."

"Whatever the handicaps," he continued, "the food industry's job is to maintain and improve, wherever and however possible, these practices and developments."

BANANA BREAD FOR TEA

A good recipe for banana bread is hard to find in spite of its popularity. Most recipes call for sour milk and in these days of pasteurization, sour milk is a scarce item.

Banana bread made without milk results in a light yellow loaf.

- Light Banana Bread
- 1/4 cup shortening
 - 2 cups sugar
 - 2 eggs, slightly beaten
 - 1 cup mashed bananas (2 to 3)
 - 1 1/2 cups sifted flour
 - 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
 - 1/2 teaspoon soda
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt

Cream shortening, add sugar gradually. Stir in eggs. Measure and sift dry ingredients together and add alternately with mashed bananas. Stir just enough to combine. Pour into greased loaf pan (9x4x3) and bake in moderate oven (350° F.) about one hour.

Yield: 20 to 24 slices cut 1/4 inch thick.

Flavorful banana bread is never passed up and always rates a second or even third helping.

Serve It With Tea

Many a Britisher tells us that we don't make good tea. Still, directions for tea-making in America are the same as they are in England.

To make good tea, measure one teaspoonful of tea leaves for each cup into the teapot which has been rinsed with hot water. Take the warm pot to the range and pour rapidly boiling water into the pot. Cover quickly and allow the tea to steep for five minutes.

Serve immediately with slices of banana bread. For extra flavor, make banana bread and butter sandwiches.

KROGER FOOD FOUNDATION, CINCINNATI, OHIO

that tend to keep distribution costs down and standards of consumer service up. This is the primary responsibility which the food industry must accept."

Mr. Hartford said that most Americans have been eating more and better food than they did prior to World War II.

"In the years 1935-39, according to government statistics, the average family spent 22 per cent of its income for food," Mr. Hartford said. "Today the same food could be purchased for 17 per cent of income. But because of the trend toward greater consumption of higher quality foods, 24 per cent of the average income is now going for food."

On the production front, Mr. Hartford recalled the great job done by the nation's farmers under difficult conditions during World War II. He stated that the farmer is in a much better position today to meet the challenge of the current situation than he was ten years ago.

"The mortgage debt on the nation's farms, as compared to total assets, has been reduced by more than 40 per cent since 1940," he pointed out. "Increased use of fertilizers, greater emphasis on soil conservation, and new insect and pest controls helped bring about remarkable increases in acre productivity. The national pool of farm equipment is expanded and modernized. For example, the government reports that there were more than 6,000,000 motor trucks and tractors on the farms on Jan. 1, 1950, compared to only 2 1/2 million in 1940, with continued increase reported through 1950."

Discussing progress made in food processing, Mr. Hartford said that technological advances, proper packaging, and improved handling methods had made available many higher quality foods. He cited improvement in frozen foods, particularly in the frozen concentrate field, as an excellent example. Early experiments conducted by A & P and Ohio State University in prepackaging of fresh fruits and vegetables back in 1945 and 1946 have been so expanded that there are now 1,000 individual firms engaged in this work.

In further describing the "well-equipped plant" of the retail food business, Mr. Hartford said that 20 per cent of the nation's chain grocery stores were either newly built or remodeled within the last year, and comparable improvement has been made in the stores of individual merchants. Intense competition has not only improved the physical equipment of the retail grocery field, but it has made it "the most efficient retail business in existence," he stated.

"Out of each dollar spent in a retail food store in this country today, only 15 to 20 cents of the consumer's dollar goes to cover all operating expenses including rent, light, heat, wages, transportation, and so on—including a smaller profit than in any other form of retailing," Mr. Hartford said. "In other forms of retailing these distributive services take 35 cents or more of each consumer dollar."

"The current situation calls for greater effort to keep all these costs as low as possible. We may anticipate a further narrowing of profit margins. Our own profits, for instance, are now running at a rate well below even last year's low figure of 1.15 cents on each dollar of sales after taxes."

Mr. Hartford pointed to the efforts of the retail food industry to find out what consumers want, and to give it to them.

"The food industry has made great expenditures of time and money along this line," he said.

"In A & P we have established the practice of asking our customers what we can do to improve our services and our operations. Experimental stores, representative of all sections of the country, have been set up to try out new products, study traffic flow, lighting, width of aisles, shelf arrangement, advanced packaging methods, new store layouts, and so on—the constant goal being to save the consumer's time and money and add to her convenience."

"Personnel training is coming in for more and more attention as the industry realizes that skilled personnel is an important factor in maintaining efficient operations. In our own company, for example, we have schools for store clerks, managers and supervisors. Through careful selection, high wages and constant training and continuance of our policy of promoting from the ranks, we hope to keep the A & P organization at a high level of competence in the forthcoming year."

By "constant devotion to high-volume, low-profit policies," the food industry and its employees should prove a valuable national asset in 1951, Mr. Hartford stated.

Sauce, Noodles Dress Up Meat Ball Platter

Meat balls may be meat balls to some, but not to the adventurous cook. A touch with seasonings with sauces and with other accompaniments can make the difference. Just one example is a platter of subtly seasoned meat balls in mushroom sauce served over tender noodles.

For four servings of this easily prepared dish the homemaker needs to purchase one pound of ground beef (ground chuck is the best choice). The meat is then seasoned with three-fourths teaspoon of salt, a bit of pepper and one-fourth teaspoon of Worcestershire sauce. After it is seasoned, the meat is formed into balls and browned in a small amount of lard or drippings. When browned on all sides, a can of condensed mushroom soup is added to the frying-pan, the utensil closely covered and the meat allowed to simmer in the sauce for 15 to 20 minutes.

In the meantime, the egg noodles are cooked. Of course, spaghetti may be used in their place. In serving, the noodles or spaghetti are arranged on a large platter with the meat balls in sauce placed over them. Touches of parsley add a colorful note to the serving.

Gives Tip On Sewing Jersey

Wool jersey is a popular dress fabric this season and if you plan to make up some of it these suggestions from Erma DuBord, Wayne county home demonstration agent, may be helpful. After cutting out the pieces, baste along the edges at the seam line with running stitches in order to hold the edges true and prevent stretching.

For machine stitching use a size 4 needle with a number 50 or 60 mercerized thread. About 14 to 16 stitches per inch will give the best results. Feed the fabric loosely into the machine. If you force it or pull it you may stretch it. Handle it very gently and lightly.

Snaps, buttons or other fastenings which must resist pulling should be backed up by some reinforcing material. It is best not to fold over raw edges of facings, or hems of wool jersey material. Instead, finish them flat by using ribbon or seam binding.

Frozen orange juice has gained sudden popularity among American homemakers. Household purchases of frozen concentrated orange juice now account for 19 percent of the total orange and orange product purchases for home use, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. A year ago it was only 5 percent.

The season for Michigan grown celery is here. Enjoy this crisp vegetable in a variety of ways in addition to its most popular use as a flavorful, crisp relish. It serves as a seasoning for many foods, can be cooked with meat dishes, and makes a very appetizing cooked vegetable or soup.

Serve Pork Frequently During January Marketing Season

Pork is likely to appear more often on Plymouth dinner tables during January because this is the peak of the marketing season. It's a good idea to serve this meat in a variety of ways or the richness of flavor may pall on the family's appetite.

This delicious meat is versatile. It combines equally well with tartness of fruits, notably apples, pineapples and cranberries, and with the blandness of bread or potato stuffings and budget-stretching macaroni, noodles or similar pastes.

Pork is an excellent meat, nutritionally speaking, except for the few individuals for whom foods rich in fat are taboo. In addition to high quality protein, it is extremely rich in vitamin B-1 or thiamine which is essential to good digestion and elimination and the proper use of carbohydrate foods.

Pork also provides us with important amounts of two other B vitamins and iron. All these add up to make it a top-notch food.

Pork is one meat which must always be served well done. Whether cooked in the oven or on top of the stove, no trace of pink color should be left.

For roasting, a temperature of 325 degrees F. is suggested. Cook the meat until a meat thermometer, whose bulb is in the center of the thickest muscle, reaches 185 degrees. If no thermometer is available allow from 35 to 40 minutes per pound for loin, fresh ham or fresh picnic shoulder, and from 45 to 50 minutes per pound for shoulder butt. The smaller number of minutes is for larger roasts.

Small cuts of fresh pork such as steaks and chops should be braised rather than broiled. After they have been browned, reduce the heat, cover the pan, and simmer for 20 to 30 minutes or until tender and thoroughly cooked. If necessary, add a few tablespoons of water to prevent drying and burning.

It's an easy matter to change the flavor and appearance of pork by preparing it with savory stuffings or piquant sauces. Both of them afford a means of making the meat go farther, too, as suggested in the following recipes.

STUFFED PICNIC SHOULDER

Bone or half the meat man bone a fresh shoulder butt. Fill cavity with bread stuffing and sew or skewer the edges together. Place on rack in open roasting pan and bake in slow oven, 325 degrees F., for 40 to 45 minutes per pound or until a meat thermometer registers 185 degrees F.

MEAT BALLS AND NOODLES

One pound ground pork shoulder, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon marjoram and thyme, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1/4 cup enriched flour, 1 tablespoon fat, 1 cup water, 4 ounces dry noodles.

Combine pork shoulder with seasonings and mix well. Shape into small balls, roll in flour and brown in fat in heavy skillet. Add 2 tablespoons water, cover pan closely and simmer meat for 30 minutes. Remove meat from pan and pour off drippings.

Measure 1 tablespoon of drippings back into skillet and blend 1 tablespoon flour into it. Add water and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Season to taste with salt, pepper and Worcestershire sauce. Add noodles which have been cooked until tender in boiling, salted water. Add meat balls and heat thoroughly. Makes four servings.

HAM IN CREAM GRAVY

Two cups chopped, cooked ham, 1/4 cup chopped onion, 4 tablespoons fat, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1 egg, 2 tablespoons flour, 1/2 cup water, 1 cup sour cream.

Brown onion in fat in skillet. Remove from fat and add to ham, pepper and egg. Mix well. Shape into balls and brown in hot fat. When evenly browned remove to hot platter. Combine flour with fat remaining in skillet. Add water and sour cream and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Pour over ham balls and serve immediately. Makes four to six servings.

Serve with baked potatoes, buttered spinach and apple and celery salad.

Match Pork and Apples on Menus

Pork and apples—who doesn't agree that these two foods are an American tradition? Here are several suggestions for their combined serving.

First of all, plump pork rib chops carry well a stuffing of red apples. Cut into the chops along the rib bone and fill with finely sliced or grated apple seasoned with cinnamon or nutmeg. Following slow braising of the chops (45 minutes to 1 hour depending upon the thickness) the stuffing is enhanced by the rich pork flavor.

With pork chops, heated apple sauce becomes a main course dish. Or it may become a breakfast special served with hot sausage links or bulk pork sausage patties. Another breakfast, brunch or lunch treat may be glazed apple rings or wedges with sausage links. Cook the apples (in the utensil in which the sausage is cooked) with water and generously sprinkle with brown sugar.

An apple salad is right on a menu with a pork roast. Or for the dessert of the pork dinner, choose big firm apples, cored, stuffed with mincemeat and baked.

Supply of Sugar Assures Fair Price on Markets

Sugar is one of the few food products which hasn't gone up in price recently. This, plus the fact that there's a good supply for future months, should give sugar a place on our list of good food buys.

How important is sugar in our family food picture? As to food value, pure white sugar furnishes only calories. It gives us quick food energy easily utilized by the body. Two table-spoons of sugar yields about 100 calories. But it has many taken-for-granted values other than providing energy and satisfying our sweet tooth. For example, it gives texture and flavor to many foods. It helps to make fruits firm, and acts as a preservative to help in food canning and freezing.

Brown sugar, less refined than the white variety, does contain some minerals in addition to the caloric content.

Syrup, another of our popular "Sweeteners," also contains some minerals. Most syrups are not made from sugar, but are corn products which do not crystallize as easily as our cane and sugar beet products.

Molasses is similar to the syrups but is not as refined, is usually darker and contains more mineral. The darker the molasses the more mineral it contains. It also contains some vitamins, principally of the B group. Molasses should not be thought of as a by-product of sugar. It's a product of cane in itself.

Honey, a product of the busy bee, is also not a pure form of sugar. When the bees gather nectar from the flowers to store in the form of honey they are also storing traces of vitamins and quite a few minerals.

Just how much of a sweet tooth do Americans have? We are now using slightly more than 100 pounds of sugar, in various forms, per person each year. This includes, in addition to the syrups and sugars, the sugar contained in such items as candies, jams, jellies and soft drinks.

Here are tips for proper care of sugars and syrups in the home. Any of the syrups—including honey, molasses and maple syrup—should be stored in a cool, dry place but should not be refrigerated. Lower temperatures cause them to crystallize. Crystallized syrups can often be restored by setting the jar in a pan of warm water. Keeping sugar properly simply calls for a dirt-free container in a dry place.

Michigan ranks third in the U. S. in production of fresh tomatoes during the growing season. Commercially, we grow about a million bushels for fresh use and about 35,000 tons for the processing or canning market.

When mending knitted garments or sweaters, if you have trouble with the material slipping on a smooth darning egg, try using a vegetable brush. The bristles hold the fabric better and allow free play for the needle.

Macaroni so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain. Place mustard, pepper and remaining 1/2 teaspoon salt in top of double boiler. Gradually blend in milk. Add cheese and cook over hot water until cheese is melted. Add cooked macaroni and mix together well. Beat thoroughly and serve.

Macaroni Products Favored As Versatile Dinner Dish

The art of making macaroni is so old that its exact origin is lost in the pages of history. The Chinese recorded the eating of macaroni products in various forms as early as 5000 B.C.

Among popular legends is the one about the Chinese maiden who was lured from her bread-making by her lover, a member of the famous Marco Polo expedition to the Orient. While the maiden neglected her bread dough from waste, the sailor forced the dough through a wicker basket which served as a sieve. The thin strands of dough dried in the sun and, when the sailor departed, the maiden presented him with the dough in this new shape. He cooked the strands of dried dough on his ship and found the dish so delicious that he made it many times thereafter. The food came to be favored by all the members of the crew and finally by the great explorer himself, Marco Polo.

A 13th century king is credited with naming macaroni. When he was served this food, he declared "Ma Caroni" which means "How very dear." Below is a delicious and quick dish suitable for any meal.

MACARONI AND CHEESE (4 servings)

- 3 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 3 quarts boiling water
- 8 ounces elbow macaroni
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- 1 cup milk
- 8 oz. processed American cheese, sliced
- Add 2 teaspoons salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add

UNCORKING THE NEWS
by Carl Peterson

The tight little island of England is still a-buzz over the theft of the Stone of Scone from the coronation throne. The rock was no contribution to comfort, but it was a chunk of Scottish scenery that symbolized England's rule over the land of the kilt and the heather. It was taken from Scotland centuries ago and the English kings were beginning to get used to it. However the Scots were about as happy over the situation as they would be over a plate of cold porridge. The bonnie folk of Scotland didn't need the stone. They have plenty of them. So it looks like somebody's stuck with a hot rock.

Our hats are off this week to another Forest Avenue merchant, Bill Rose of Plymouth Hardware. Bill will announce the Grand Opening of his beautiful new store in the very near future. Congratulations and best wishes!

The fire department has answered two fire alarms this week. Monday afternoon they were called to the home of G. L. Coatta at the corner of Harvey and Ann Arbor street, where an electric iron caused a small blaze. About 9:30 Tuesday evening, the department was called to the new house of Mrs. Lena Losey on Pine street, which is not quite completed, and where a blaze which is thought to have originated from the furnace was getting well started when the firemen arrived. The damage will be several hundred dollars. This was the first time the pumper has been used to throw water at a fire inside the village since it was purchased.

The Commission, at their Monday meeting, authorized the replacement of the traffic posts at the intersections of Main street with Penniman and Ann Arbor, with low mushrooms, such as we have at Starkweather and Liberty.

The old fire truck has been overhauled as to its transmission and is now back in service. The pumper has a new electric siren which is much louder than the old one, and which should have the effect of lifting automobiles bodily out of the way.

The local Home Building association shows a steady growth since its organization five years ago. Seventy-nine new homes have been financed by the association since its organization.

Recommendations concerning the new intangible tax law were made by City Manager C. H. Elliott to the city commission Monday night on the basis of a report, submitted by City Assessor Arno B. Thompson, explaining the effect of the act upon municipal tax administration.

There are now 1414 patrons of the Plymouth post office. This total includes residents of the city and rural route patrons. The data which show the tremendous growth of Plymouth in the last few years, has been prepared by Postmaster Frank Learned to be submitted to the postoffice department in Washington.

Considerable increases in the percentage of tax collections were shown this year in a report submitted by Charles Garlett, city treasurer, to the city commission at Monday night's meeting.

At a special meeting of the city commission, last Friday afternoon Mayor Ruth Huston Whipple appointed Harry N. Devo of Detroit as acting city attorney, and the commission confirmed the appointment unanimously. Attorney Devo will act as city attorney in place of Arlo Emery, who was granted a year's leave of absence last week to assume military duty with the U. S. Reserve officers.

Harry Lee is expected to join Mr. Bennett in Tucson later in the winter.

The Plymouth U. of M. club's all-college banquet will be held in the gymnasium of Plymouth High school Tuesday evening, January 14. Proceeds from the banquet, which will feature a roll call of colleges from those attending, will be used for the club's scholarship fund to help send deserving young people from Plymouth to the university. The local club has obtained Dr. Alexander G. Ruthven, president of the University of Michigan, as guest speaker for the evening.

The Plymouth office of the Michigan Bell Telephone company will become a toll center, handling all long-distance calls and checking all destinations except collect calls, after May 20, stated Manager John MacLachlan this week.

Plythean Sales To Begin Soon
Beth Douglas, business manager for the 1951 Plythean, has appointed the following as the sales staff: Walter Rensel, seniors; Jackie Langmaid, juniors; Nancy Kropp, sophomores; Mary Carlless, freshmen; Sally Gyde, eighth grade; and Brenda Covell, seventh grade.
Sales plans and other arrangements were disclosed to the student body this week. The annual is being printed this year by Myers and Company of Topeka, Kansas. "More sports pictures and a lower cost is the aim of the staff," stated Beth Douglas.

Library Receives Fiction and Non-Fiction Books
The Plymouth high school library has received several new books, both fiction and non-fiction. Some of the most interesting books are Marie Antoinette, written by Marguerite Vance; You Can Always Tell a Freshman, by Elizabeth Hudnut; Hot Rod, by Henry Felson; and Jamestown Adventure, by Olga W. Hall-Quest.
Marie Antoinette tells the life of a girl from Vienna who married King Louis of France and about how the two became involved in a revolution.
You Can Always Tell a Freshman is entertaining as well as informative, being the only book of its kind covering the complete orientation of a college student. It explains in a very readable way how to get the most out of your college years.
Hot Rod explains how Bud Crayne, a wild and reckless hot rod driver, influences two younger lads who try out his advice about driving fast, and get killed. Jamestown Adventure is a story based on the first 12 years of the Jamestown colony, using original records of recent findings. It tells of the many hardships the colonies endured and challenges they faced.

Meeting for the first time this school year on Wednesday, January 3, the Photography club elected the following officers: Bill Gayde, president; Ronald Corey, vice-president; Roberta Merritt, secretary; and Robert Simmons, treasurer.
Plans for membership, activities, dark room and equipment were discussed but it was decided to make no definite plans until copies of the constitution had been issued.

We forget that the human spirit, the spirit of goodness and truth in the world, is still only an infant crying in the night, and that the struggle with darkness is as yet mostly an unequal struggle. —Jan Christian Smuts

Helping Michigan GO FORWARD!

Dynamic Detroit has MIGHTY GOOD NEIGHBOR-TOWNS

All around Detroit are the cities and villages of Oakland, Macomb and Wayne counties — closest-in communities of Outstate Michigan.

Among these towns you may find just the right place for your new factory or distributing headquarters... just the right sub-contractor to help meet your schedules... just the right place to work and live.

In this three-county area are towns of all sizes. Populations range from a few hundred to metropolitan Pontiac's 100,000. All are within an hour's drive of downtown Detroit, many of them much closer. What an ideal location for a manufacturer or processor whose market lies with the great industries of Detroit or the Midwest!

But the area has great industries of its own. Pontiac is the home of the Pontiac automobile and of the GMC Truck and Coach Division. It manufactures automobile parts and accessories, rubber moulded products, paints and varnishes, iron and steel products, motor bicycles. Elsewhere in the area are great industrial plants producing chemical products, tractors, pottery, electric irons, air rifles and a wide variety of other articles.

Mt. Clemens is a famous health resort but it is a busy manufacturing center also, and a world leader in the production of roses. Royal Oak, Ferndale, Hazel Park — each has outstanding advantages for industry, and so have Plymouth, Farmington, Northville, Wayne, Clawson and most of the other communities indicated in the illustration.

These are fine towns for living, too. The country around Detroit includes some of the loveliest in Michigan. Amid the rolling hills lie hundreds of beautiful lakes. Hardwood trees grow in profusion, and in autumn the countryside is ablaze with color. Scattered among the lakes and groves and fertile farms are dozens of golf courses, including some of America's best. Hunting, fishing, sailing, horse racing, tennis, polo — whatever your sport, you'll find exceptional opportunities to enjoy it here.

Public and private schools rank high, and within an hour or two are outstanding colleges and universities including Wayne, University of Detroit, Lawrence Institute of Technology, Marygrove, Michigan State and the University of Michigan. Bloomfield Hills has the Cranbrook Foundation with its celebrated educational and cultural institutions. The magnificent General Motors Technical Center is developing in Macomb County.

Small wonder that thousands of Detroit's wealthier citizens live in such residential suburbs as Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills. And small wonder that several thousand people representing all income brackets and every industrial skill have chosen to live in Oakland or Macomb or western Wayne County.

Dependable natural gas service is offered at attractive rates by Consumers Power Company, whose subsidiary, Michigan Gas Storage Company, helps make this possible by storing natural gas from the Southwest in one of America's greatest underground storage areas. A continuing construction program is making this service an even greater factor for good business and good living. In Pontiac, Consumers supplies electric service also. Elsewhere in the three-county area, electric service is by The Detroit Edison Company, a leader in its field.

May we tell you more about the towns of these three counties?

Shading shows Consumers Power Company's entire service area. Communities indicated above are in the fast-growing Southeast Division

Roger Babson Says --

Babson Discusses Washington Decisions
 Washington, D. C., Jan. 12 — I have been interested in a recent correspondence between President Truman and Representative Hebert, a Democrat of Louisiana, who wrote the President asking that a certain day be appointed for national prayer. He distinctly asked that God should "endow officials with the wisdom and courage to make the right decisions."

This request was well worded as too many of us are not content to ask God to help us make the right decisions; but before playing we make the decisions for ourselves and ask God to see that they are carried out! It, however, is always sound to pray for wisdom and courage. If we would have such a prayer constantly on our mind in a spirit of thankfulness for such blessings as we have — without asking for definite things — we all might be much better off.

What Prayers Are Answered
 Although President Truman's reply did not satisfy Mr. Hebert, yet the President's retort was very sound. It looks as if he were a better Bible student than Mr. Hebert as his reply was based on the Bible promise that "The prayers of the righteous availeth much." This means that in order to have our prayers answered, we must live a life that Jesus would approve; with kindness, unselfishness, and integrity. Jesus commanded that before we go to the altar to make our sacrifices and ask for blessings, we should first go to those whom we have wronged by act or word and secure their forgiveness, making restitution if possible. President Truman wisely hinted that this applies to most political leaders and to a large group of voters. We cannot expect an answer to our prayers while playing politics or talking unjustly about officials. Furthermore, those who have been too lazy or indifferent to vote, have a poor case when praying for better government. I, therefore, am 100 per cent for President Truman in his reply to this and similar requests.

Although the above discussion has ended, it has brought up a most interesting fact which the President and all others in authority must some day recognize. I have in mind how decisions of Presidents, Senators, Congressmen, and other federal, state and city officials are affected by other factors. We all know that our own decisions are definitely affected by our health and home relations, especially what we did that day. Health and habit have been responsible for the enactment of much bad legislation, the rendering of unjust court decisions, resulting even in sending innocent men to prison to perhaps to the gallows. But let me this week discuss other causes in which Washington is getting interested. I even found the Weather Bureau looking up conditions on the day the President, through the United Nations, directed our troops to land in Korea. Based on the conditions of that day, I believe his decision was sound, even though we may later pull out all our troops. It was worth all that it has cost to "smoke out" the Russians and awaken our own people. It would be a wonderful way to start off the New Year and the 82nd Congress.

Temperature and Humidity
 Looking back over my life it is very evident that the two simple words "Yes" and "No" are of tremendous importance. My successes were due to saying "Yes" when I should say "Yes", or "No" when I should say "No", while my failures have been due to saying "Yes" when I should have said "No", or "No" when I should not have said "No." Of course, I also needed the courage to stick to the right decision! But what determined these decisions of mine, in addition to the power of prayer, is whether I was leading a life to be classified as "righteous."

The weather at the time of these decisions has definitely influenced me. A hot and humid day will contribute to the wrong decision (even in an air-conditioned room); while a clear, dry day with a west wind will help me make a wise decision. But there must not be a strong enough wind to distract me; the reading of the barometer is also a factor, as we should make decisions only on the rising barometer. We should avoid making decisions when tired, ill or hurried. It is too bad that the officials and Congressmen here in Washington, upon whose decisions the nation's future depends, must live in such a hurriedly environment. Irrespective of the possibility of bombing, these men should be 30 or more miles from Washington with spacious grounds and gardens where they will be assured of quietness and, if needed, solitude also.

What About Gravity?
 Any well-known physicist will tell you that your state of mind is related to the circulation of your blood, which is affected by the pull of gravity. This is one reason for the importance of correct posture whether walking, sitting, or lying down. Swollen ankles, throbbing heads, and many other physical handicaps are lessened by changing our position so as to correct the gravity pull. This gravity pull applies to overweight, diet, lack of rest, and other factors. I am not superstitious, but the diary which I have kept for many years demonstrates that most of my good ideas came during the "no-moon" periods;

CAUTION!
Anti - Freeze Must Be Checked
 Don't take anti-freeze for granted. It requires periodic checking, just like any other vital fluid in your engine.

furthermore, most of my foolish ideas came to me during the "full-moon" periods.
 I wish to avoid any dogmatic statements or to ask for any impractical things; But I do wish that the President would ask some qualified person, already on the payroll, to make a thorough study of the above and learn whether or not I am justified in these conclusions. But I am not content to let only one man think on these things; but would like to get everyone in authority to consider them. A concrete suggestion would be to have these daily statistics on temperature, humidity, wind, barometer, and moon-phase printed on the front page of the Congressional Record EACH DAY. This would be no additional expense and could not be criticized by anyone.
