

Nationally Famous Drum and Bugle Corps to Perform Here

Participation in Detroit's 250th birthday celebration by the Daisy Manufacturing Company of Plymouth will bring this city an unusual musical treat on Friday, July 27. Through arrangements made by the Detroit Council of the Boy Scouts of America officials of the Daisy Manufacturing Company will be hosts for an afternoon and evening to the nationally famous Racine, Wisconsin Scout Drum and Bugle Corps who are brought to Detroit to participate in the celebration parade on Saturday afternoon.

As a special favor to the boys who arrive Friday noon a specially conducted tour through the Daisy plant has been arranged and several shooting contests have been planned for them on the Daisy testing range. After an afternoon in the plant the boys will be feted at a dinner by the company in one of the local churches.

At the conclusion of the afternoon's entertainment the corps has agreed to give a concert Friday evening in the high school field at 7:30 p.m. and the people of Plymouth are invited free of charge to hear them perform.

The Corps is a perennial winner of national championships and is rated as the most outstanding group in its class. The group has 60 members and travels about the country in their own private bus.

The Corps will head up the massed color section of 250 flags in the giant celebration parade on Saturday afternoon in Detroit.

Local Man Comes Back to City for Music Position

The director of the Plymouth High School Band and instructor of instrumental music in Plymouth schools is a former graduate of the high school, Laurence Livingston.

After Mr. Livingston graduated in 1925 he went to Michigan State Normal College and received his degree in 1934. From that time on to the present time, Plymouth's new instructor of instrumental music has been quite active in the music world.

After he taught music in Utica, Michigan for two years, he went to Clawson and taught music there for five years.

Continuing in the field of music, Mr. Livingston then became a professional musician and arranger, and he conducted his own studio in Detroit for a while.

The position of supervisor of instrumental music was then offered to Mr. Livingston and he had been employed in that capacity until last year.

Also a composer of music, Mr. Livingston wrote the Huron Fight song, the official song of Ypsilanti Normal College. He has recently completed writing an overture entitled "Copper Harbor" which will be published in the fall.

The new conductor of the Plymouth High School Band is an honor student in Wayne University's Graduate School. He will receive his master's degree in February.

Mr. Livingston is quite well known in the music world and he comes highly recommended as a teacher who has a complete understanding of music and instruction of high school students.

Plymouth schools' new instructor of instrumental music will move before school opens in the fall to Plymouth with his wife and two sons. Mr. Livingston is presently making his home in Royal Oak.

Mr. Livingston replaces Paul Wagner, who will take a similar position at Pekin High School in Pekin, Illinois.

"I'm very happy to come back to teach at the high school where I graduated," said Mr. Livingston, "and I'm looking forward to teaching instrumental music this fall in the high school." He is the son of Mrs. Zella Collon of Plymouth.

Local Girl Wins Championship

Another honor was awarded to Miss Sarah Ann Mackintosh, who received a scholarship from the Michigan division of Women's National Farm and Garden Association last week.

Sarah was awarded the state 4-H club championship for her work in clothing, gardening, and canning this week. The June graduate of Plymouth High school was a junior leader for four years in the 4-H club.

Sarah is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Mackintosh of 4930 Maben street. She will attend Michigan State College in the fall where she plans to major in home economics.

Archery Club Seeks Members

Calling all young archers! The Western Wayne County Conservation Association is organizing a junior group for young people who would like to join the Association's Archery club. All youngsters in the area who are interested in this sport are welcome to join the club.

All supplies and equipment and instruction will be provided by the Association.

The Archery club holds a meeting on the first Monday of each month at 7:30 p.m. Over weekends and whenever the archery time, they can practice with their bows and arrows in the large shooting range in back of the club house.

Many targets are scattered through the woods for the archers. The Western Wayne County Conservation Association is located on Joy road between Wayne and Newburg roads.

Young and old are urged to join the archery club. Most interest and enthusiasm in this age-old sport is being shown, said Dr. B. E. Champ, past-president of the Association, and a fine time with lots of fun is promised to newcomers.

Further information can be obtained by calling Dr. Champe, Plymouth 120; Gay Brewer, Livonia 3144, or Gar Evans, Plymouth 2148.

Says GI's Think Americans Not Interested in War

Back in America after nine months in Korea, First Lieutenant Robert Thams is relaxing at the home of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. N. S. Thams, 475 Jener Place.

Lieutenant Thams and his family were in Japan at the outbreak of the Korean War. He landed with the Seventh Division at Inchon during the bleak days when it looked as though we might be driven from Korea. He participated in the North Korean campaign and fought within 5 miles of the Changjin Reservoir. He was evacuated with his unit, the 31st infantry battalion, to Pusan, and later joined the drive back into North Korea, his outfit holding the right flank of the U.S. forces. He was awarded the Silver Star medal for bravery in action last December.

The attitude of the American people toward the Korean War is a subject of interest to the Lieutenant, and he says, to most GI's in Korea. Many of them fear that the public is not interested in the war and think of it as a "far-away police action."

"Morale of the GI's has been good," he says, "even during our early defeats. And contrary to some reports, our troops have been adequately equipped at all times. The only exceptions were some units which advanced too fast for their supply units to keep up with them."

"Chief complaint among the GI's is a cry for more beer and more mail. And they are all interested in an early end to the fighting. However, they do not see the reason for stopping where we began—at the 38th parallel."

"Most of them want to quit calling it a 'police action' and go all out to win. They are afraid that if we leave the Chinese forces intact in North Korea, we will have to go back eventually and fight them anyway."

Lieutenant Thams fought against North Korean troops much of the time but saw some action against Chinese communists. The North Koreans make far better soldiers, he says, possibly because they are fighting on their own soil.

"Chinese rely on their numbers while the North Koreans rely on stealth and guerilla warfare. Our South Korean allies, the ROK's (Republic of Korea) have not made a very good showing but their trouble is lack of training, not lack of courage."

Most GI's resent the lack of help by other UN nations but have a great deal of respect for the fighting abilities of allied troops in Korea. While many of them do not understand the diplomacy behind the war, they feel that what has been let down by other UN members.

Speaking of General MacArthur, Lieutenant Thams says that he is held in high respect by the GI's. His successful rehabilitation of Japan and his quick work in getting an unprepared army into the field are the chief reasons for this respect.

Among the difficulties encountered in the Korean War, he mentions the intense cold of last winter and the trick of the North Koreans of dressing as civilian farmers during the day and at night putting on the uniform of the Army. Regarding the cold, he says it was consistently 20 below zero and occasionally went to 30 below.

Lieutenant Thams went from Korea to Japan where he spent one month. He landed in this country on the 11th of this month and arrived home on Sunday, July 15. He will report to Fort Riley, Kansas, on the 18th of August, where he will join the 10th Infantry Division.

His wife and three children, one of whom was born in Japan two months ago, will probably join him in Kansas at a later date.

Melvin Blunk is Rotary Speaker

Local Rotarians were given an outline of the functions of the Occupational Training department of Plymouth High school last Friday. According to Melvin Blunk, director of the department, some 400 local children have received benefits under the program and their total earnings made while going to school exceed a half a million dollars.

The program is designed to give students actual on the job training while also carrying on regular school work a portion of each day, stated Mr. Blunk. The speaker told of some of the many accomplishments of the work and stated that he had hopes of expanding the many functions of his department in the years ahead.

Russell Daane Resigns as Civil Defense Head

The City Commission received the resignation of Russell Daane as Plymouth's Civil Defense director, at their meeting last Monday evening in the commission chambers. The Commissioners accepted the resignation of Mr. Daane with regret and expressed appreciation for his past services.

Capital Airlines Man to Speak to Rotarians

Speaking at the Rotary club weekly meeting Friday at 12:30 will be Kenneth Smith, district sales manager of Capital Airlines. The topic of his speech will be "Progress of Commercial Air Transportation."

LOCAL MOTHERS have contributed freely of their time this year in the operation of Plymouth's Tot Lot sponsored by the city recreation department. Through the efforts of Jennie Donnelly this project has proved a worthy one and the city expects to expand its facilities next year. Mothers pictured above are Mrs. Lawrence Vabulas, Mrs. George Conover, Mrs. John DeMott and Mrs. Robert C. Norman. The project operates Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

Growers to Hold Picnic at Park

Husband calling contests, a tug of war, a peanut scramble for the kids and all other typical contests will be the order of the day when Wayne County Vegetable Growers gather in Riverside Park this Saturday afternoon. It is expected that several hundred members of the association and their families will gather on Edward Hines Drive just south of the C & O viaduct to participate in a real old-fashioned picnic which will feature basket lunches and gallons of free ice cream and many, many prizes.

Official gathering time is 2 p.m. and the feast will start at five. In addition to the many planned games and other entertaining events, specialists of the soil and vegetable departments of Michigan State College will be on hand to discuss growers problems and newly found methods of marketing and growing.

Family Holds 24th Annual Reunion

The 24th annual Wagenschutz reunion was held Sunday, July 15 at Cass Benton park. The reunion was opened by the president, Lynn Partridge, and a prayer of thanks was read by Mrs. Amelia Ford.

Following the family dinner, the business meeting was held. All joined in the singing of America and a pledge to the flag. Mrs. Arthur Marsh then conducted a memorial service.

There was one death, Mrs. Alvena Wagenschutz, wife of the late Frank Wagenschutz, and four additions to the family in the past year. Daughters were born to the Archer Clarks, William Pilums, and William Ramseys. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wagenschutz. The minutes of the last reunion were read by the secretary and approved.

Officers elected for the coming year are as follows: president, Mrs. George Rutlan; vice president, Mrs. Donald Hamilton; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Alvin Wagenschutz; entertainment committee, Mrs. Ralph Wagenschutz, Connie Wagenschutz, and Sandra Wagenschutz; historian, Mrs. Arthur Marsh.

There were 74 present at this year's reunion. Those present were as follows: Mr. Charles Wagenschutz, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Weyl Huber, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Huber, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Marsh, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Mollitor and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Partridge and family, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Wagenschutz, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Wagenschutz and family, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Partridge and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wagenschutz and family, Mrs. George Rutlan and family, Mrs. Augusta Wagenschutz, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Ball and family, Mrs. Amelia Ford, Mr. Edwin Wagenschutz, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wagenschutz and family, Mr. and Mrs. Melburn Partridge, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lindow and family, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wagenschutz and family, Mrs. Alma McEllan and family, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Myers and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ramsey and family, Mrs. Gladys Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wagenschutz.

Those present included relatives from Williamstown, Lansing, Kalkaska, Northville, Tecumseh, Chelsea, Farmington, Inkster and Dearborn, in addition to the Plymouth and Livonia residents.

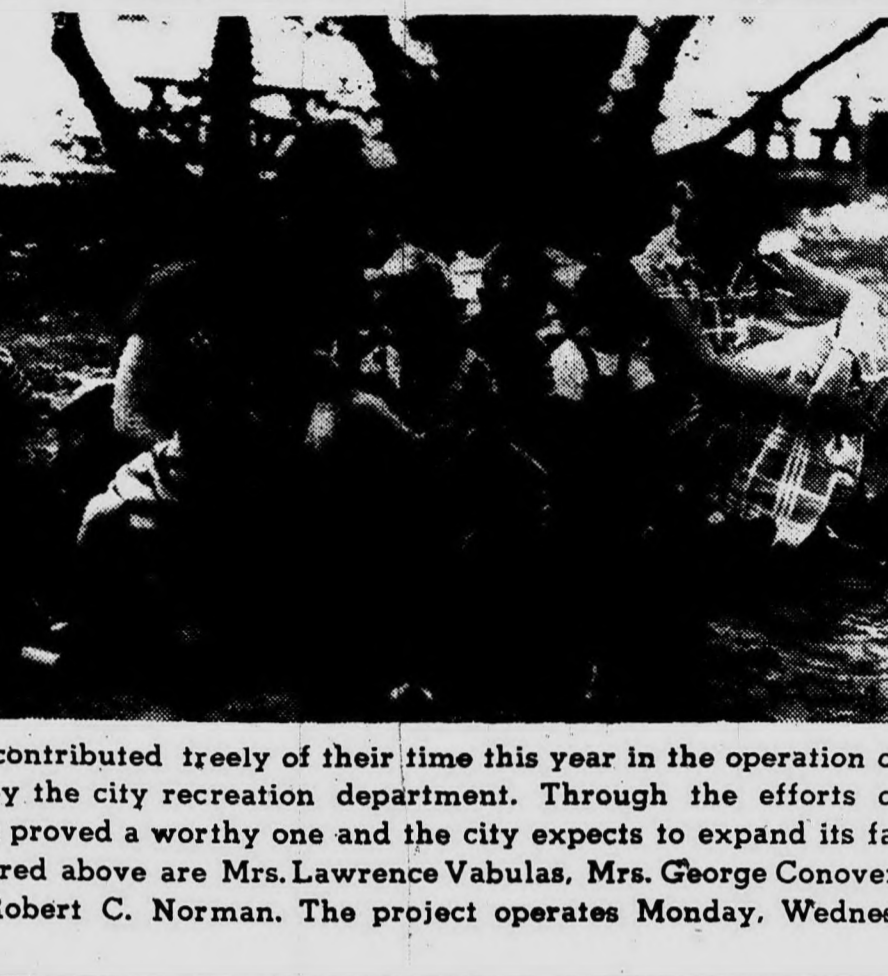

Next year's reunion will be held at the Ingham County park at Williamstown, Michigan.

Young Letter Writer Located in Plymouth

The story in last week's issue of The Mail in regard to a local youngster writing an unsigned letter to a northern Michigan camp revealed the fact that 10-year-old John Edward Jousma was the author.

John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jousma who reside at 674 Evergreen street. His letter was prompted to the camp by a poster he had seen on the bulletin board of the Central Grade school where he was a student last year.

At this writing correspondence is already taking place between his parents and S. N. Geal at Hale, Michigan where the camp is located to see if some plan can be worked out whereby John can take advantage of Mr. Geal's most generous offer of two week's free camping if the local youngster could be found.

It May Sound "Corny" But Really Neighbor These Are Truthful Facts

Sweet Corn? Who said you get it from Iowa and Illinois? Why neighbor, you are living right in the middle of the biggest sweet corn producing area of the whole state of Michigan. Yes, that's right, and the facts come from the Wayne County agent's office over in Wayne, Michigan.

There is not only more sweet corn grown right here than any other place in Michigan, but Canton township produces more than any other township in the entire state. Not only do we produce more sweet corn but our local growers are the first to get their corn on the market and would you believe it, all last week early bud Clyde Smith down on Newburg road has been picking corn for over a week and marketing it on the Eastern Market for 75 cents a dozen ears.

Mr. Smith is growing corn for the first time commercially this year. He learned a trick or two from Florida growers last winter while on a vegetable growers' tour of the sunny south. This year he started his sweet corn in his greenhouse and when it was a foot high he transplanted it outdoors, hence his early and very profitable harvest.

Statistics show that there are over 4,000 acres of sweet corn grown in this section and last year Plymouth area sweet corn was shipped as far south as Texas for table consumption in the lone star state. One of the unusual factors about the excellent corn grown in this area is the fact that all of it finds its way to family tables and none is used for commercial canning purposes.

Another interesting factor about local corn is the fact that the skillful growers in this area have practically eliminated corn borer, so that housewives have little spoilage when they get corn grown on local farms.

Prominent among corn producers in Canton, according to the county agent, are Fred Korte, Sid Eastin, Columbus Wilkins, Walter Palmer, Henry Houk and Robert Waldecker. Doesn't this make your mouth water? Stop & Shop is featuring some of this corn in its produce department this weekend.

Stage Dances for Young People

If the local teen-agers support the weekly dance sponsored by the Plymouth Optimist club and the recreation department, dances will be held every Saturday evening from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. in the Central Grade school gym.

The first dance was held last Saturday evening and attendance was not very good, said Herb Woolweaver, recreational director.

"Another dance will be held this Saturday and if there is not an attendance of at least 100 teen-agers, the dances will be discontinued, stated the recreational director.

Playing for the teen-agers will be Charlie Stewart's six piece rhythm band. It is now up to the young people if the weekly dances for teen-agers continue," said Mr. Woolweaver.

Barton Rogers Joins Faculty at High School

Another addition to the Plymouth High school teaching staff will be Plymouthite Barton Rogers, who has accepted a position in the English department, announced Russell Isbister, superintendent of Plymouth's schools.

Mr. Rogers has spent some 25 years in public school education, which includes the principalship of Bentley High school in Livonia and teaching in Northville High school.

He completed his undergraduate work at Wisconsin State Teachers College and received his Master's degree from the University of Wisconsin.

Mr. and Mrs. Rogers have made their home in Plymouth for several years. They reside at 397 Blunk street. The new English teacher at the high school is a member of the local Kiwanis club.

"His broad experience in working with youth of high school age will materially enrich the school program," said Mr. Isbister.

Kiwanians Hear Talk on Education

The Kiwanis club heard an address recently by Fred Miller, education consultant of the University of Michigan, who spoke on the "status quo" of the education system. Mr. Miller told the Kiwanians that we must educate our young people in the basic principles that build individual characters strong enough to overcome the temptations that confront government leaders.

The education consultant discussed Communism that is being introduced into the United States educational system and government. Mr. Miller also talked on state and national affairs. Barton Rogers was program chairman.

Dean Saxton and Dr. A. E. Van Ornum gave a report on the recent national Kiwanis convention in St. Louis at the meeting last Tuesday at the Hotel Mayflower.

To Accept Entries For Golf Tourney

Now is the time when Plymouth golfers begin sharpening up their golf game and eyeing the trophies which will be awarded to top golfers in Plymouth's annual golf tournament. The qualifying rounds will be held Saturday, August 11 at Hilltop Golf course.

Entries are now being accepted, said Max Todd, chairman of the event. There is a charge of $2.50 for registration and entry blanks are available at Hilltop.

Match play will begin on August 12. All Plymouth golfers are invited to enter the tournament. Last year approximately 100 golfers turned out for the city's top golf event.

At Last!

From down in South Bend, Indiana comes this picture of Plymouth fisherman Myron Mawhorter taken in front of the latter's cottage on Whalen lake near Baldwin, Michigan where Mr. Mawhorter spends his summers.

According to Fred Anspaugh of South Bend, the man that took this picture, this particular bass has been fed by Mr. Mawhorter for nearly three years and it was only by accident that Mr. Mawhorter was able to land him. However when brought to shore the fish weighed six and a quarter pounds and was 22 inches long.

This is the first actual proof that Mr. Mawhorter has actually landed a fish out of Whalen lake, says Glenn Smith, also of Plymouth who spends many of his days in the same northern neighborhood with Mr. Mawhorter especially around the fishing and deer hunting seasons.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Kops and family of Hamilton avenue attended the christening of their new niece, Charlotte Catherine Ray in the Church of the Sacred Heart in Dearborn Sunday.

Monday saw the first wheat from Plymouth's productive fields start to roll into local elevators. According to Joe Wickens, of the Specialty Feed Products, well-known farmer John Buneya of Joy road made the first delivery Monday of 150 bushels of new wheat that tested 57 pounds of good quality.

Next in line to deliver the first of their wheat crops was Don Smith and Kenneth Kahl who both had exceptionally fine quality grain. The elevator expects the crop to reach its peak sometime late this week and will probably process some three to four thousand bushel per day for the next week. Approximately 75,000 to 100,000 bushels of wheat will be shipped by the Specialty Feed this season, says Mr. Wickens.

Doctor Barber Issues Warning On Insecticide

A new insecticide, recently put on the market in this area, is the subject of a warning issued by Dr. Ray Barber, Plymouth Health Officer. Known as Parathion, the insecticide is very effective but, unfortunately is also highly toxic to humans.

In the past this preparation has been used primarily by commercial growers. Now, however, it is available for home garden use. Last year a number of cases of illness and several deaths were caused by mishandling of the insecticide.

Because of its extremely high toxicity, Parathion should be used with caution. Poisoning can occur by breathing in or swallowing small amounts of it. It is also rapidly absorbed through the skin. However, it may be safely used if proper precautionary measures are taken. The manufacturer's instructions should be followed in all respects.

General precautionary measures include avoiding contact with the preparation; laundering of clothing after each use of the insecticide; showering with plenty of soap after each use; immediate and thorough washing of any portion of the body which may come in contact with Parathion during its use; and thorough washing before eating, drinking or smoking.

Eating, drinking or smoking should be avoided near the area of use, and if necessary, protective clothing, including goggles, natural rubber gloves, and approved respirator, should be used during application. At all events, it should be kept out of the reach of children, and away from food.

Warning symptoms of poisoning by Parathion are: weakness, headache, blurred vision, pin point pupils, nausea, sweating, vomiting, diarrhea, discomfort in chest, cramps, dizziness and muscular twitching, symptoms appearing in order of listing.

Should Parathion be swallowed, the victim should be made to vomit by giving him warm salty or soapy water. Milk or water should be taken freely. In event of contamination of the skin, the exposed area should be washed with soap and water for at least 15 minutes. Should the eyes be affected, they should be immediately flushed with water for at least 15 minutes.

In any case of Parathion poisoning, the patient should be removed from the exposure and a doctor called at once.

Martin to Open New Business

Announcement of another business locating in the Plymouth area was revealed by Plymouthite Homer Martin, who has organized the Homer Improvement company, a storm window manufacturing, distributing and home improvement business.

Mr. Martin plans to build the factory on his farm at 7405 Brookville road. He formerly owned and operated the V-Seal corporation in Royal Oak, and served as president until last summer when he sold his interest.

The V-Seal corporation manufactured aluminum storm windows, where he became thoroughly acquainted with the storm window and home modernization business.

The Plymouthite was the first International president of the United Automobile Workers of America and held that position until 1938. He then resigned and went into private business.

Mr. Martin has been as president of the union but refused to go along with communists and was the first labor leader of the then new C.I.O. to break with the communist element.

He says that he waged a strong fight against them and was prevented from ousting them from the U.A.W. Finally because the other leaders of the C.I.O. refused to support them in the fight.

"However, the C.I.O. later followed my example and advice and has undertaken belatedly to clean the communists out," stated Mr. Martin.

Early Wheat Now Being Processed

Monday saw the first wheat from Plymouth's productive fields start to roll into local elevators. According to Joe Wickens, of the Specialty Feed Products, well-known farmer John Buneya of Joy road made the first delivery Monday of 150 bushels of new wheat that tested 57 pounds of good quality.

Same Song Seeks Plymouth Home

A visitor from Manila and recently of Tokyo and Korea, who seems to like Plymouth so much that she has started raising her family here is Same Song, who is also looking for a home.

Same Song, who carries herself with dignity fitting her aristocratic blood, is a beautiful creature with her short silver grey hair and sooty black ears, nose, and paws. She is also a very talkative Siamese cat. Her kittens are almost carbon copies of their mother.

Miss Marjory Hadley, who is staying with her mother, Mrs. Edith Hadley on Dodge street, brought Same Song with her from the East where she was working with the Red Cross Special Services. Now that she will be leaving soon for another assignment she would like to find a nice home for Same Song.

John Eskra Weds Detroit Girl

Mrs. John Eskra

The marriage of Ruthanne Lemieux and John Eskra was solemnized in St. Rita's church, Detroit, Saturday morning, June 30 at nine o'clock. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Father Martin Eppel, celebrant of the Nuptial High Mass.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lemieux of Detroit, wore a gown of traditional bridal satin with a sweetheart neckline. Her veil of illusion was of fingertip length and she carried a cascade of white roses.

Ruthanne asked her sister, Dora, to be her maid of honor. She wore a gown of blue embroidered organdy. The bridesmaids were Jane Lemieux and Mrs. Dale Kaiser. Their gowns were of yellow organdy and made like that of the honor maid. All three carried colonial bouquets of white daisies.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Eskra of Northern avenue, Plymouth, are the parents of the bridegroom, whose best man was Robert LaMothe of Detroit. Seating the guests were Dennis Dutkiewicz and Dale Kaiser.

A reception was held that evening in the Veterans Memorial Hall in Detroit for a large number of friends and relatives. Following a honeymoon to New York State, the young couple are now at home at 8869 Northern avenue, Plymouth.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gotts are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter, born Sunday, July 15, at St. Joseph hospital, Ann Arbor. She has been named Linda Jean and weighed 7 pounds, 11 ounces. Mrs. Gotts is the former Annabelle Brown.

The new arrival at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Wasalaski was a baby boy, who was born July 15, at St. Joseph hospital, Ann Arbor. Named Larry Douglas, the boy weighed in at six pounds and 15 ounces.

Six thousand new 70-ton hopper coal cars are being constructed for use on the Norfolk and Western Railway.

With Our Boys in The Armed Forces

Brief items of interest about your sons or husbands in the services are welcomed in this column providing the information does not conflict with press security policies.

Rev. and Mrs. William Wilton recently received a letter from their son, Sgt. Richard Welton, in which he wrote of meeting Sgt. Clayton Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilson of Maple street. The latter served in Korea and was taking a rest period in Japan when the two Plymouthites got together and took a three day tour with the gee club.

The letter also brought news of Richard's transfer from Maintenance and Supply in Japan to the 25th Air Force band in Okinawa. He served with the Air Force band 24 months in World War II.

Fred Rafferty, 19, of 215 Willard street, will leave July 17 for Paris, France, South Carolina, where he will take his boot training in the United States Marine Corps. Fred was a 1950 graduate of Plymouth High school.

Fred's parents are Mr. and Mrs. L. Roy Rafferty of Willard street. His brother, Earl is also in the United States Marine Corps stationed at Camp Lejeune, North Carolina.

Harold Hirschlieb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hirschlieb of 633 Starkweather, who enlisted in the army and left for service on June 25, is now stationed at Fort Leonardwood, Missouri.

Home on a 15 day furlough from Keesler Air Field, Biloxi, Mississippi is David W. Baker. David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David M. Baker of 11815 Brownell street. After graduating with top honors from electronics and radar school, he will be stationed at this school as an instructor in radar. David graduated from Plymouth High school in 1947.

Pfc. Eugene Krachenfels, who was home on furlough recently, has gone to California where he will be sent to Korea. Eugene took basic training at Camp McCoy, Wisconsin and technical training at Fort Sill, Oklahoma. He was chosen out of 255 men as top man in his field of work in the observation corps.

Eugene is the son of Mrs. John Hayes of Wayne. He graduated from Plymouth High in 1949. He will be 23 next January.

How To Conquer Fear

JAMES M. BIRD, Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada, says, "If you would be sure of controlling your fears, literally burn your bridges behind you so you will have no avenue of escape. Then advance against your fears and destroy them—before they can destroy you."

By the time James was 13 years old he was six feet tall and rather frail. Standing head and shoulders above his classmates made him self-conscious and in time he developed a terrible inferiority complex.

Whenever he engaged in sports he made a poor showing, and because of his not strong constitution he often suffered injury. When he a little later enrolled in a school of commerce, he brought all his worries and fears right along with him, and as a consequence, although his classmates were a friendly lot, he failed to make a single friend during the four months he was there.

It was the army that took him out of his dilemma. He worked hard and obtained a commission, believing this would help him to face the two things he feared most: people and what he thought was cowardice.

One day the test came. He went into action with the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry. He experienced terrifying fear time after time; his blood ran cold, his knees turned to jelly. But as he came through each experience he said to himself, "I was afraid, but here I am." And he realized anew each time that he could control his fear, and that through this fear he was really becoming a better leader of men.
