What I Think and Have A Right to Say

By ELTON R. EATON

WILL IT BE YOUR LITTLE BOY OR GIRL?

The Plymouth Mail doesn't like to harp about a subject that may seem tiresome to read about—because so much is said about it.

Seemingly there is no other way to get anything done than by constant repetition—constantly reminding those in authority that it is strictly up to them to do something about it—before some little school boy or little school girl lies crushed to death or badly injured in the streets of Plymouth.

Plymouth had one tragic accident last year in which the school child was in no way to blame. Fortunate indeed is the fact that the child was not killed.

Far more serious is the situation this year for the hundreds and hundreds of school children who this week enrolled in the Plymouth schools. The attendance not only has jumped by leaps and bounds, but we have two new schools located in sections of the city where there is heavy traffic—and there is not the slightest traffic protection for the vast numbers of children who will attend these schools, not even stop lights.

We should remember, too, that in the past two or three years we have opened two parochial schools where the attendance is growing almost as fast as it is in the public schools—and these too, are located outside of zones where street crossings are protected.

It would seem to us that proper city officials and school authorities should have worked out, weeks ago, a solution to our traffic problem around our schools.

There are not less than half a dozen street crossings that need protection NOW—not at some later date. These crossings need protection in the morning, at noon and during the afternoon when schools are dismissed for the day.

Surely there is some way that our policemen, our firemen and our school janitors can be welded into a traffic force to PROPERLY PROTECT the lives of our school children.

Yes, we know that this comment will make some soreness on the part of some who might think it criticism. Well we don't care so much about that—the one thing we are interested in is the PROTECTION of our school children, children we are now forcing to cross unprotected streets and thoroughfares where there is not only heavy traffic, but FAST traffic.

We hope that the proper officials will accept this comment in the spirit in which it is intended—and that they WILL DO SOMETHING ABOUT IT BEFORE some trusting little boy or girl lies dead on the streets.

ANOTHER SCHOOL YEAR BEGINS.

This is an important time for the many hundreds of boys and girls of the Plymouth area who are now beginning a new school year. While it is like the beginning of a new school term of every other year, there is something about it that seems to make things, to the casual observer, look a bit more serious than in other years.

Possibly it is because we know that for many members of the senior class they will at the end of the present school year be stepping directly into military services of our country.

While there is no greater honor on this earth than that of wearing the uniforms of our armed services, it seems tragic that we have permitted a situation to grow up in this old world that makes such a thing necessary. Uncle Sam has decreed that there shall be at least two years of military services for the fit. How much longer it will be, no man knows.

To the young men of the Senior class all one can urge is that they work diligently and faithfully to prepare themselves to give to their country the best services humanly possible. It is needless to think otherwise, but as we see it, the fate of humanity now lies entirely in the hands of the boys now in military services and those who will enter into the armed forces in the years to come.

Much of your school work in the final year of your high school will be of benefit to you when in the armed forces. Make the most of it and become the kind of a soldier Plymouth, the state and the nation will always be proud to hail.

WHY BUILD ONE?

Our "city fathers" seem to be somewhat bothered because our city lock up has been condemned by the state. The verdict of the state about our lock up was somewhat of a surprise because we were under the impression that it had now been made into as good a lock-up as any city of this size needs. But the powers that be said we are all wrong and have ordered us to do something about a new hoosegow. Well, we hope that the city will do nothing about it. If our lock-up is no good, why build another one? Maybe we can arrange to use the jails in nearby cities like Ann Arbor, Dearborn or take our few prisoners down to the state police station at Grand River and Seven Mile road. As we see it a new jail is about the last thing the city should spend a cent for.

THE SMALLEST OF SMALL POLITICIANS.

The United States News and World Report recently asserted as authentic the statement that Harry Truman had at one stage of the negotiation of the new Japanese peace treaty told the American representative, John Foster Dulles, not to consult with General Douglas MacArthur about it. Mr. Dulles told Truman that he would not go ahead unless he could consult with MacArthur. It was after this stand by Mr. Dulles that Truman changed his mind. What is that old saying about some men being so small that they could crawl through the eye of a needle?

Saturday Last Day to File For City Commission

Saturday noon is the deadline for petitions for the office of City Commissioner in the special election of October 1.

This election is a special election for the approval or disapproval of the new city charter. If the charter is approved, the elected commissioners will take office. However, should the charter be rejected by the voters, the commissioners will not take office. The charter calls for a seven-man commission instead of the five-man commission now in effect.

The proposed charter will appear in the September 13 issue of the Plymouth Mail. Up to the present time, only two petitions are in circulation. The holders of these petitions are Theodore Gronowick of 736 Church and Russell M. Daane of 530 Garfield.

The petitions which require no less than 25 nor more than 50 signatures are available in the office of the city clerk. The qualifications for commissioner are: a registered voter, a property owner (as shown on the tax roll), and a resident of the city of Plymouth for two years immediately prior to October 1.

The candidate in the election receiving the greatest number of votes will hold office until the Monday following the regular election in April 1954. The person with the next highest number of votes will serve until April 1953. The new charter was drawn up by the charter commission elected in November 1950 for the purpose of framing a charter. November 1 is the effective date of the charter if it is approved in the election of October 1.

Local Man's Find Proves of Value 31 Years Later

How often have you said that a person or thing is before his time? William A. Rose of 542 Maple was 30 years ahead of his time regarding the possible use in modern day production of a metal used by the tribesmen in Haiti.

A recent report in one of the Detroit papers referred to the metal as a new alloy known as Formula 916. This report stated that the metal would be used for addressing machine plates.

Rose was stationed with the Marines in Haiti in 1918-19. Inspired by some of the metal trinkets and swords which the tribesmen were using, Mr. Rose decided to investigate the metal used in their manufacture. He discovered that they were bringing the ore out from a dug out in the side of a cliff.

The Haitian method of melting ore is a primitive process. The metal is laid in the mold of rock and a small fire built. The native

Kiwanians See Film

The members of the Kiwanis club were entertained with a fine program Tuesday evening, August 23, when Reverend Edgar Honeck presented the film "Dust or Destiny."

This film, produced by the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, depicted the miracle of life. What power causes a homeing pigeon to fly a direct course to its home from several hundred miles away—and what causes young migrating birds to fly thousands of miles to the nesting place of their parents, were a few of the miracles of life shown.

Carl Lewis was in charge of the program.

Federal Order Perils Growth of This Area

Industrial expansion in the Plymouth area, which depends heavily on the availability of natural gas, is threatened with costly delay and perhaps indefinite postponement as the result of a federal order seizing control of natural gas supplies in Michigan.

The federal order from the Petroleum Administration for Defense (PAD) states that gas companies must from now on go to the PAD for permission to connect new large industrial users.

The order affects Consumers Power company, the only supplier of gas in the Plymouth-Northville-Livonia area. Before the PAD order there were no government restrictions affecting industry which the gas companies were able to serve.

The order went into effect in Michigan August 22 when the Michigan Public Service Commission failed to certify to President Truman that it had the natural gas situation in Michigan "in hand."

Such a certification from the Public Service Commission would, under the terms of both the PAD

Following a meeting held by the newly formed Board of Advisors of "Plymouth Hills" on Tuesday, August 28, Marie Smith, chairman, announced that the "Hilltop" home and farm on Beck road, formerly owned by Grace and Edward Joliffe has been registered under the new name of "Plymouth Hills."

Warner & Warner, widely known engineering firm of Detroit, has completed the layout and stake survey for the roads and each building site.

Grace Gethson, of Plymouth Real Estate Exchange, will supervise the selling of the fifty or one-acre or more plots. An office will be erected on the site on Beck road opposite Hillside Golf Club to show prospective clients.

Chas. W. Sawyer, local architect, has been selected as architect in charge of the new suburb.

A GALA CELEBRATION is planned in the city of Livonia on Saturday, September 8th on the event of the opening of the beautiful new branch bank by the First National Bank in Livonia. The opening will mark the first banking institution ever to operate within Livonia and businessmen in the neighboring community are eagerly awaiting its many services.

Bank Opens Branch

The first branch office of the First National Bank of Plymouth will be opened for business Saturday, September 8, at 32203 Plymouth road in Livonia township. Mr. Floyd Kehrl, president of the First National Bank, states this move was made to facilitate banking business and better serve the residents of the City of Livonia.

President Kehrl says, "We were able to open this branch office by raising our capital to $500,000, which was effected by the declaration of a stock dividend and sale of new stock."

In order that the City of Livonia might have proper representation in the management of the bank's affairs, the First National Bank increased the Board of Directors from 6 to 9 members the first of the year. All the new members are residents of the City of Livonia.

The First National has resources of over $10,000,000 with capital adequate to take care of the normal needs of both Plymouth and Livonia.

The bank also is equipped with all the latest and modern equipment and practically all the detail work of the branch office will be transacted at the Livonia office.

Pictures of the Board of Directors of the bank, all of whom are representative men of the communities, are shown on the bank's opening announcement in another page of this issue.

The staff of the branch office has been trained in the main office for several months, or has been transferred from the main office, in order that the branch might have a trained staff of employees.

Mr. William E. Arthurs, manager of the Livonia office, lives on the very street where the bank is located.

Mr. Kehrl, who spent many hours in helping secure this bank, states that it is hoped that the office will serve the residents of Livonia in such a way that they will have a complete banking service rendered there.

The public is invited to attend the official opening between 9 a.m. and 8 p.m., September 8.

Rotarians Hear Excellent Talk on Labor Relations

Edwin W. Zipse, vice president in charge of manufacturing for the United Drill and Tool company and the Whitman and Barnes company of Plymouth was the guest speaker at Rotary last Friday. His talk was based on labor relations at Whitman and Barnes which he prefaced by saying that the company in at least 25 years had never been known to have a work stoppage due to labor difficulties.

His talk which was exceptionally well received by members of the club is reproduced herein in entirety.

Early this week when "Andy" Anderson called me and asked me to speak at this Labor Day meeting on the subject of labor relations at Whitman and Barnes, I agreed, but with certain very definite misgivings. It is a touchy subject. Scores of books have been written about it by world-renowned experts. Who was I to discourse upon it? On what authority would I speak, and what background could we bring to such a talk? Well, the more I reflected on it, the more I became convinced that Whitman and Barnes does have a labor relations history that justifies a little pride. In the 25 years that I know of personally, and as far back as I can find in the history of the company, there has never been a stoppage of work due to labor difficulties. Since that, in the final analysis, is the goal of all labor relations programs, I guess we just have to admit to being experts of sorts. This no-stoppage record might not seem like much to you here in Plymouth, but I assure you that it is a genuine

Refreshments will be served.

Local Fruit Grower Shows Large Peaches

You can talk all you want to about Georgia peaches, but Georgia would have trouble matching 11 peaches brought into the Mail office by Clyde Smith, fruit grower of 8010 Newburg road. The 11 peaches totaled seven pounds, 14 ounces for an average of 1 1/2 ounces apiece. None were under ten inches in circumference and the largest weighed a foot around.

The peaches were of the J. H. Hale variety.

Girl Raises 2 lb. Tomato

A tomato to end all tomatoes has been brought into the Mail office. Raised by Patricia Mecklenberg, the almost perfectly-shaped tomato weighs two pounds and is almost a foot and a half in diameter. The Mecklenberg tomato exceeds by half a pound and several inches the tomato reported last week in the Mail.

No Settlement of Bus Strike is Yet Announced

Up until early Wednesday afternoon, as far as could be learned, there is no settlement of the strike called a few days ago by drivers of the Plymouth bus line to Detroit.

Numerous calls to the Plymouth Mail office from patrons of the line seeking information about prospects for the resumption of service resulted in direct inquiry to the Detroit offices, where it was learned that there was "no news" about any prospective settlement or as to when the strike might end.

The tie-up has resulted in increased patronage of C & O buses into Detroit, the passenger business of the railway line from and to Detroit having increased during the past few days to a considerable extent.

Limit Truck Speed

Truck speeding within the city of Plymouth will be limited to 15 miles an hour as of September 25.

The amendment of Ordinance 99 states that a truck in excess of one ton loaded or empty may not exceed the speed of 15 miles an hour. This amendment was passed by the City Commission September 4 and goes into effect 21 days after approval.

Burroughs President Warns of Washington Encroachment

If business and local government do not want Washington to take the initiative in matters of social welfare, they must take it themselves, John S. Coleman, President of Burroughs Adding Machine company, told the members of the Michigan Municipal League at their annual banquet in Mackinac Island last night.

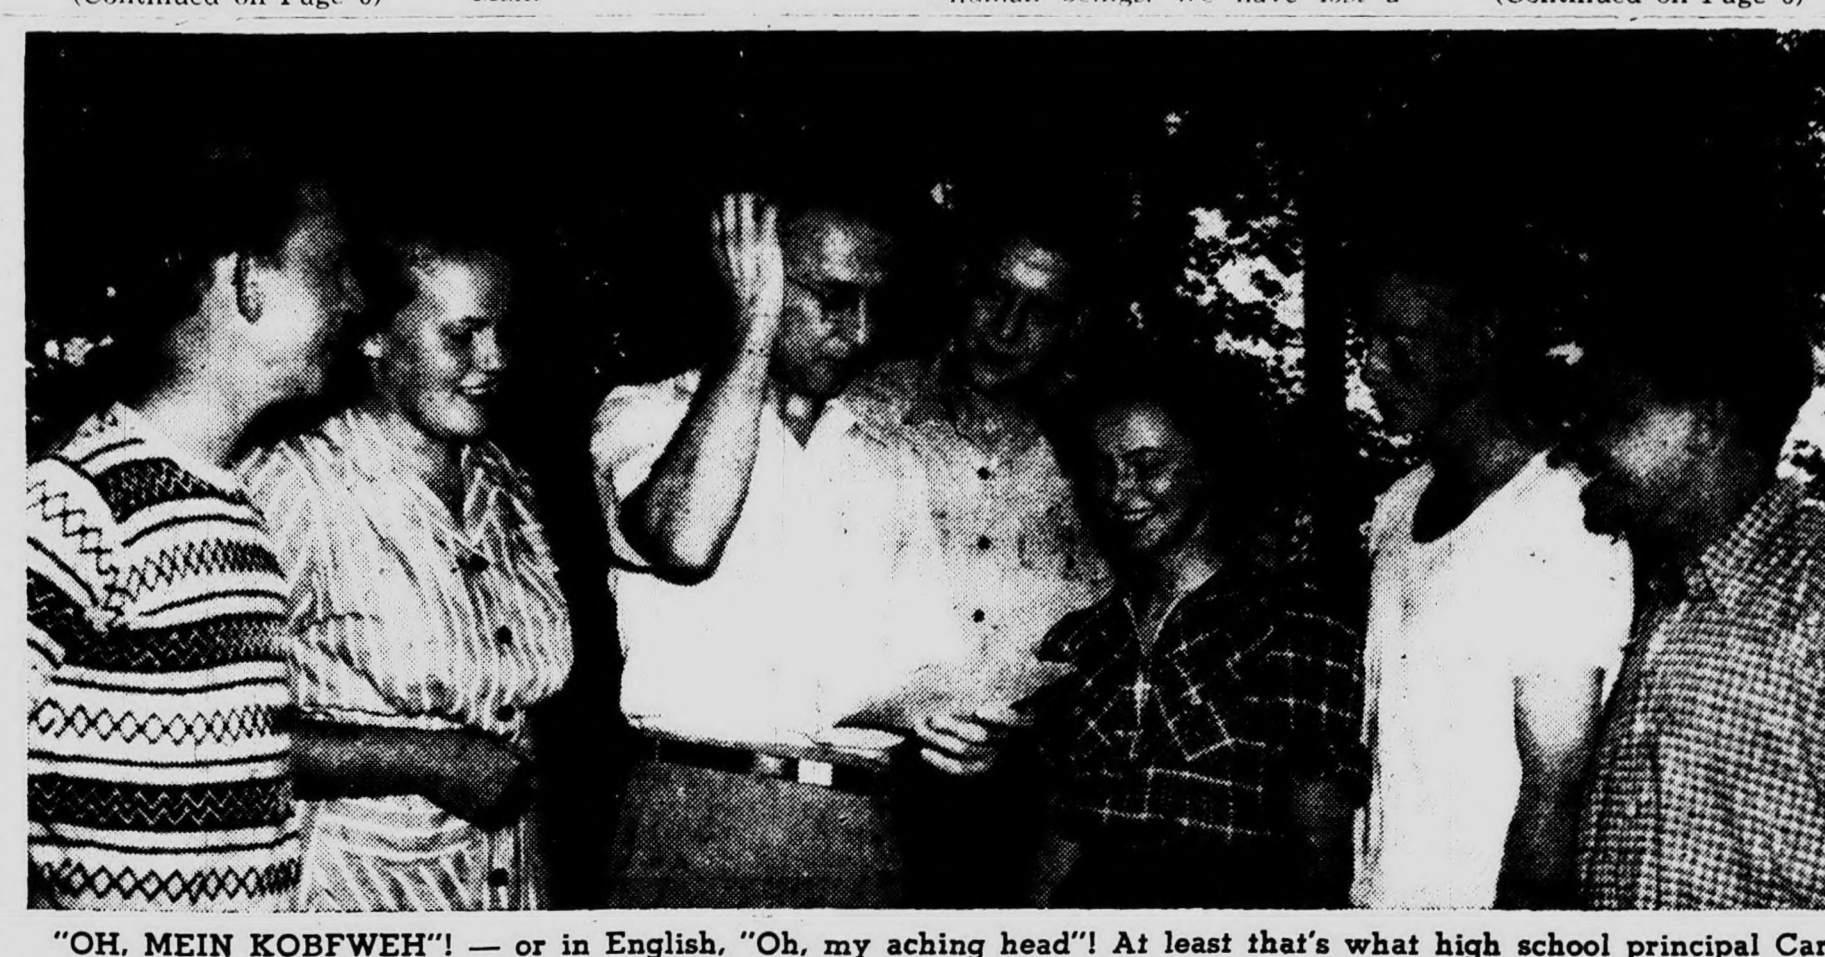

"We must," he said, "confront our problems where they arise—at the machine or on Main street."

"We are involved in the community. Both government and business have to answer to public opinion. Of course we cannot satisfy every human want, but we can make some progress towards that goal. Our failure is in community living. In the neighborhood and in our place of work we are somehow disorganized as human beings. We have lost a

"OH, MEIN KOPFWEH!" — or in English, "Oh, my aching head!" Men Out Number Co-eds At MSC 2-1

The red brick buildings, and the beautiful forest surrounding them, will be fully awakened when approximately 3,000 new students invade the Michigan State campus from September 17 to 21. New co-eds will be 40 percent of this number.

According to predictions from the registrar's office, 8,600 of the students will be men, and 3,900 will be women, giving the total enrollment a ratio of 70 percent men and 30 percent women.

Because of a summer counseling program in which the freshman coed may spend three days on campus, one of the first of its kind in the country, Betty Coed will have already found friends, taken ability and aptitude tests, personality interviews, and perhaps have started dating.

A Spartan Coed doesn't seem to require cosmetics, according to East Lansing shops, but she buys a "whale of a lot" of lipstick, perfume, too.

She may want perfume to wear to some of the many social events planned for her and her fellow students.

There will be the freshman mixer sponsored by the student council, the annual reception for new students by President and Mrs. John Hannah, and on September 22 she'll know the thrill of supporting her team. The Spartans will play their first game at home on that day with Oregon State.

The guest remembers all his days the host who took him in. — Homer

DALE CARNEGIE

AUTHOR OF "HOW TO STOP WORRYING AND START LIVING"

Helping Another Defeat Worry

WHEN THERESA HARPER, New York City, was told that she had another's life in her hands, she was terrified. Who wouldn't be when that person was one's own mother? The emotional impact of that remark came like a thud of lead on her head—and her imagination. The doctor went on to explain that her mother had cancer, and that the only hope of a cure was in the help she could give herself in building up resistance. She could not build up resistance, went on the doctor, if she worried about her condition. Your mother has a 75 percent chance, he said, provided she doesn't worry. The only way she can be kept from worrying is for you to be absolutely confident that she is going to get well. You must never display even a vestige of fear, doubt or worry in your words or your actions. If you do—well, just remember that you have your mother's life in your hands.

Carnegie

This meant that Theresa herself must not worry; that she must always put on a brave and smiling front; that her mother must see her hopefulness in order to have hope herself. "Hope is contagious," said the doctor, "just as all good things are—as well as bad."

Theresa always had been a chronic worrier, and now she was frantic. She not only needed to conquer ordinary worries of her own but she had to combat the worry of one who wasn't strong enough to combat her own. She had stood by when they brought her mother from the operating room, but the moment she saw her mother's unnatural looking face she fainted dead away. That didn't seem to be the act of one who could rout another's worry, did it?

"Strength will be given you to do whatever is necessary," she had read somewhere. And she proved it. She turned and walked directly to her mother's room, with the biggest smile she had ever worn. She forced herself to see her mother walking around the park, downtown in the shops. She wouldn't allow herself to see her lying there in the bed. Soon the haunted look left her mother's eyes; soon her face relaxed into a smile.

Did it work? "Like a miracle," says Theresa, "and every day I look at my mother and thank God that I had 'the necessary strength when I needed it.'"

Madonna College Orientation Set For Second Week in September

Add New Courses, Expect 50 Freshmen

Freshmen Orientation Days will be held on September 12, 13 and 14 for newly enrolled students at Madonna College, Livonia, Michigan. On the last of these days the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass will be celebrated in honor of the Holy Ghost. Registration is scheduled for September 14. The first classes of the fall school term will begin on the following Monday, September 17. Several new courses have been added to the curriculum for the coming year. A new program will be offered in Medical Technology, consisting of three years of courses at the College and one year of internship at a hospital. Journalism courses will also be introduced in the fall semester. Students interested in this field will be able to gain a sufficient amount of credits for a minor in journalism.

The other new courses to be offered are Bacteriology, Business Law, Comparative Government, Home Management, Nutrition and Office Management. The faculty of Madonna College has been increased by the addition of three new members: Sister Mary Justica, who received her doctorate at Fordham University, with a major in Biology, will be an instructor in Biology. Sister Mary Hugolina will instruct the classes in French. Sister Mary Tullia, with a master's degree in Journalism obtained at Marquette University, will be an instructor in that field.

Among the new students enrolled for the fall semester are several young women from foreign countries, namely, from Germany, Indo-China and the Philippines. The total enrollment is expected to reach about 125, with approximately 50 freshmen. A new four-story dormitory, completed this summer, will be ready for occupancy at the opening of the school term. One hundred students can be accommodated in the rooms on the first, second and third floors. The ground floor has been equipped to meet the social needs of the college students. It consists of a large social hall, a recreation room for daily use, a snack bar with a soda fountain, a kitchenette and a guest suite.

Any information concerning courses, registration, expenses, etc., can be obtained by contacting the Dean or the Registrar at 36900 Schoolcraft, Livonia, Mich. P. O. Plymouth, or by calling Plymouth 528.

Former Local Residents Bakery Damaged by Fire

Word has been received that a fire partially destroyed the bakery in Midland belonging to Milton and Clara Curtis, former Plymouth residents. Milton is a brother-in-law of Marvin Terry. The fire was a direct result of the severe electrical storm, last Friday night when a bolt of lightning struck the bakery inflicting $8,000 in damages. The Curtis brothers opened the bakery a few months ago and had just finished trying a new floor and remodeling the interior. Milton was formerly employed at Terry's bakery. The loss is covered by insurance.

In Hamden, Conn., cops arrested Edward Bratkewitz, 21, for sending a hearse to his girl friend's house after she refused to mend their broken romance.

Teachers Enjoy Pre-School Meet at Bird School

Nearly 100 members of the Plymouth Public Schools instructional staff met for the first time this school year at nine o'clock, Tuesday morning, in the new Bird Elementary school in preparation for the opening of schools today.

Reviewing summer vacations, while sipping coffee, occupied most of the time preceding the Pre-School Conference. After the group singing, Superintendent Russell L. Webster and the school principals introduced the new teachers in the system. James Gallimore, president of the Board of Education, then extended greetings from the School Board. Various problems and announcements followed until noon when a delightful luncheon was served, sponsored by the Board of Education.

Al Glassford, Plymouth city manager, gave an interesting talk to the group on "What We Should Know About Plymouth." A few of the highlights of our city revealed by Mr. Glassford were the following: Plymouth has all the advantages of a large city and few of the disadvantages; Plymouth is approximately two square miles in area; the city has a population of 7000 which is 25 percent more than it had 10 years ago; we have an adequate water supply and pumping facilities to serve a city three times the size of Plymouth.

Plymouth was settled in 1820 by John William and Allen Tibbits; the first white child born in Plymouth was George A. Starkweather in 1826; the name of Plymouth was suggested by William Barlow and approved by Governor Cass in 1827; Kellogg park was the old circus grounds. In 1840 E. J. Penniman donated the site for the present high school. Mr. Glassford discussed the new city charter and the tremendous change Plymouth is undergoing because of the industrial expansion in the area around our city.

After this splendid talk the group dispersed into smaller discussion groups and offered suggestions for strengthening our school program. Then all reconvened in the gymnasium to hear each chairman give his group's suggestions.

Wednesday morning the teachers met with their building principals, and in the afternoon readied their rooms for the incoming students the next day.

Rainbow-DeMolay Dance

Immediately following the meeting the Rainbow Advisory Board will be host and hostesses to a dance to be given in honor of the Rainbow Assembly and DeMolay of Plymouth. The dance will be held at the Plymouth Masonic Temple. Reservations can be made by calling Mrs. Robert Ingram by September 7.

Former Edison Manager Retires

Robert R. Brown, 64, manager of Detroit Edison's Ann Arbor District since 1937, is retiring after more than 40 years of service with The Detroit Edison Company. Mr. Brown is well known in Plymouth having served many years as manager of this district.

Granting of the retirement, requested by Brown because of ill health, was announced today by F. A. Compton, Edison vice-president in charge of sales. He commended the retiring District Manager for "a long career which has contributed greatly to our company's high standards of public service."

Brown, an alumnus of the University and also a graduate of the Detroit College of Law, started to work for The Detroit Edison Company in 1911 as a legal clerk, later transferring to the company's Sales Department. In 1919, he was promoted to the position of Grand River District Agent with offices at Northville, and in 1926 he became manager of Edison's St. Clair District headquarters at Mt. Clemens.

Appointed to the management of the Ann Arbor offices in 1937, he supervised the district during a period of tremendous wartime and post-war growth. He has been active in service clubs, welfare organizations and civic and municipal groups throughout most of his career in Detroit, Northville, Mt. Clemens and Ann Arbor, and is particularly interested in the Society for Crippled Children.

One of the young winners of a state-wide contest on the value of the State Fair, sponsored by the Detroit Free Press, was a young girl from this area, Miss Mary Bodnar, 14, who formerly lived near Plymouth, but now resides on a farm between Northville and South Lyon. Miss Bodnar was selected as a typical Michigan farm girl. Mary is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bodnar, and is a sister of Mrs. Howard Zander of 9209 Oakview, Plymouth.

Mary entered a 250 word essay which earned for her a $50 bond plus an all-expense stay for her, and her mother, at the hotel Stalter in Detroit for two days.

Mary had the honor of riding in the car with such celebrities as Governor Williams, Bob Hope and Marilyn Maxwell in the parade which opened the fair last Friday.

This is not the first time this young lady has won something as Mary won four dictionaries in spelling bees at her country school.

This contest was open to all youths in the State of Michigan and a typical farm girl and boy were selected along with a typical city boy and girl. All four were feted at the Stalter hotel and the State Fair for two days.

All mothers who are interested in forming a cooperative nursery school are urged to attend the meeting on September 10. This organizational meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in the Recreation Department's offices in Plymouth City Hall.

The mothers will give cooperative assistance to a qualified salaried teacher. Basic information concerning the teacher, location, and program of activities has been obtained from the state's representative. Questions concerning these or other requirements will constitute the evening's program.

Mrs. John R. Kaiser, 9116 Hix road, Plymouth, is coordinating plans for the nursery. Any parents who wish information before September 10 may telephone her at Plymouth 1854-XJ.

Choose Subjects That Are Useful

Many students returning to schools this fall, whether high school or college, will have the same old gripes—"Why do I have to take this or that?"

Dr. Marie J. Rasey, professor of educational psychology at Wayne University believes it would be nice if the student could select all his own subjects.

Her advice to young people is: "Don't follow too closely what others tell you to do."

In her 35 years of teaching, Dr. Rasey has found that the good, conscientious student is apt to be too intent on getting good grades. "He pursues honors instead of sticking to the subjects that will be useful to him."

The psychology professor asks parents to remember that it is "harder to be young now, than it was 40 years ago."

Another thing parents don't realize, she said, is that young people today are more able and more advanced. They are at least four years ahead of the students of 40 years ago.

Include Livonia in Red Feather

Livonia is now included in the area covered by Red Feather services of the Community Chest of Metropolitan Detroit.

This means that citizens of Livonia like those in Plymouth will be able to use the health services, child care services, family counseling services which are supported through the Community Chest. Additional Red Feather recreational facilities and youth organizations will be open to residents.

Rotarians Hear Excellent Talk on Labor Relations

achievement for a factory in the middle of Detroit.

By the way, you might be interested in knowing that, whether you like it or not, we are becoming more and more bona fide neighbors of yours. Of our staff, 48 percent are now residents of the Plymouth area. This is pretty good when you consider that we came here two years ago with a staff composed completely of Detroiters. The change has come about partly through hiring Plymouth people in our expansion program, but more significantly, by the moving of many of our Detroit people to this pleasant community and its countryside. This movement would probably be even more pronounced if the housing and construction situations were not quite so restrictive as they are at present.

Also, and I realize that I am again digressing from my assigned topic, you might like to know that we are getting to be bigger neighbors too. The new building being erected at the rear of our present one is nearing completion, and we will shortly be processing here in Plymouth, some of the raw material which we previously purchased from outside sources. This raw material is the drill rod from which we manufacture much of our products which, in case some of you do not know, (and, of course, I'm referring only to the visiting firemen) are the world's best drilling reamers and other metal cutting tools.

"It is most difficult to say just which is the most important factor in successful labor relations. Very possibly there is no such single factor. Certainly good personnel results are compounded of many elements and some of the most important of these might appear to be quite inconsequential to a layman or casual observer. So, in enumerating the ingredients of the Whitman and Barnes program, I want to emphasize that just as the word "ingredients" itself implies, none of them can stand alone. Each of them contributes to the effective whole and giving good attention to some and neglecting seemingly minor others, may have just as disastrous results as your wife's leaving out one or two minor ingredients of your favorite cake. In preparing this little dissertation, I asked several of the people primarily concerned with the execution of our personnel policies as to their opinions regarding the most important factor—and got different answers.

Certainly, one of the more important factors—and confidentially it is my own choice for first and since I want to stand up here and make the talk by golly, I'm gonna mention it first—is sincerity of purpose. The willingness and determination to make straightforward, honest relations a reality must be positively present in every member of the management team from the president on top through the plant manager, superintendent, the personnel director, right down to the foremen who constitute the principal points of actual contact with the working group. I can honestly say that Whitman and Barnes does have that sincerely ingrained in its management group. We sincerely strive to give the worker an honest deal, to recognize his inherent rights, to preserve his dignity as an individual, and to give him the advantage of the improving standards of labor relations. The basic considerations are: what is intrinsically fair, and what is the market among other enlightened companies. To insure as far as possible that the intentions of management are properly understood and interpreted, all important policy decisions are written and distributed among the administrative group and a special policy manual is maintained for each foreman.

Getting back to the broad factors affecting labor relations—a good pay certainly has to be listed near the top. Many practical industrialists count this as the most important by a wide margin. We do not adhere to this school since a number of recent surveys have indicated beyond doubt that money is not the sole consideration, in fact, not the one most commonly listed by workers as the first. However, it is true that in companies with outstanding labor histories, wages are equal or better than the community market. This is true at Whitman and Barnes. Fortunately for the economics of our business, much of the increment over market is achieved with manufacturing efficiency, so that our unit costs remain effectively competitive in a highly competitive industry. The principal means used to accomplish this is an incentive wage system. We attempt to set basic piece work rates at levels that allow market earnings to a normal worker for a normal day's work. Then we permit the worker to reap all the benefits of any extra effort that he may put into his work or any above-normal skill he may bring to it. Note that I stress the fact that he gets all the benefits—they are not shared by the company through any scaled rates for increased production as has been true with some systems that in the past have brought discredit to piece work in general. In other words, we do not employ the speed up system. If one of our workers produces at twice the rate used as a base in setting the price, then that worker gets twice the base pay. Moreover, there is a floor set under a piece worker's earnings so that although his maximum is unlimited, he can not fall below a level which we call the guaranteed rate. There are necessarily many ramifications to even a relatively simple set up such as we use, but the basic point is that our piece work system stabilizes our unit costs while permitting an individual worker to profit in direct proportion to the extra effort and/or extra skill which he expends on his job.

It takes a long time and a consistently fair policy to bring a piece work system to the point where it not only provides extra good earnings at a reasonable cost to the company but also becomes a definite asset in that company's personnel relations. Our experience indicates that to achieve this, a company has to be willing to live with the errors that it makes in favor of the worker but to correct the errors that it makes against the worker. That sounds confusing, I know, so let me explain it. Our piece work rates are set by experienced time study men but after all, they are only human. The large bulk of piece work prices which we set result in net earnings to the worker approximately in accordance with our intentions. However, there are some rates that through error in price setting or changes in volume result in ridiculously high returns to the worker; also, there are rates which result in ridiculously low returns. For practical reasons, we allow the high rates to stand but we correct the low rates. This may seem silly but we figure that the policy is advantageous to the company in the long run because of the faith in the system which it engenders. There is no doubt that some of these outlandish prices could be adjusted and the adjustment would be obviously legitimate that even the worker involved would have to concede it. However, we would immediately get to borderline cases in which the legitimacy of the adjustment would be a matter of opinion and we would soon have the men holding back generally to avoid high earnings—and the resulting lack of confidence would be reflected in other phases of our personnel relations. There is a more practical side to this, too. If we attempted to correct these exorbitant rates, the workers would immediately slow down production, and in the future, such rates just would not be discernible through earnings. The workers would make a pretty shrewd estimate of what earnings would be tolerated and then hold down to that production rate. In short, there would actually be no reduction in unit cost, the production would be reduced, resulting in a net disadvantage to the company.

I might mention that one phase of this particular problem is perhaps the chief cause of any dissatisfaction which we do have in our plant. That phase is the jealousy of the workers with lower earnings of the pay of the relatively few who get the exorbitantly high earnings. Such a satisfied man may himself be earning well over the market rate for his kind of work, but he still is discontent because he is not earning as much as the highest.

As an integral part of good wages there must be considered the many so-called fringe payments. I think at Whitman and Barnes we have all of 'em except possibly a few of the more ridiculous ones. We have a pension plan, and this is contributory. However, the company contributions considered alone produce pensions somewhat better than the publicized pension plans of the automotive industry. Such a plan has to be considered standard in most other large industries. In addition to providing a larger pension through the contributions of the employees, the Whitman and Barnes plan has the further advantage of being actually guaranteed. Other fringes fully or partially paid by the company include group life insurance, sickness and accident insurance, hospitalization insurance, paid vacations for factory and office workers, six paid holidays and paid time off for deaths in the family and other specified reasons. We estimate that these fringes cost the company something more than 30c per hour per factory employee. Somewhat separate but certainly to be considered as a fringe, is the additional compensation or bonus which the company has paid all employees at the end of the year uninterruptedly for more than ten years.

Closely behind good pay as a factor in good labor relations is job security. As in many other phases of modern personnel relations, job security has become resolved into a set of formal agreements, in this case called "seniority rules." In some plants this insured order of lay-off is plant wide, which means that when necessary, workers are laid off in the inverse order in which they were hired by the plant regardless of where they work in the plant. At Whitman and Barnes we fortunately have our seniority rules set up by operation, i.e., we have a separate seniority list for each individual operation. When lay-off for lack of work is necessary, we lay off in the order of the list at each operation when and if it becomes necessary that that operation without regard to conditions at any other operation. This gives us much greater latitude in managing the plant and still affords the worker a high degree of security.

Our efforts in the labor relations field are primarily preventive in character, i.e., we attempt to avoid disputes by eliminating the usual causes of them. Naturally, it is not possible to be 100 percent effective in this purpose and we do have an argument now and then. The handling of these normal grievances is crucial in any successful labor relations program. We feel that there are three general areas of dispute. In one area the company is definitely wrong and the solution is a candid acknowledgment of it and a swift reversal of policy. In the second area the worker is definitely wrong and we firmly stand our ground. This is important because weak capitulation in a case where right is obviously on the side of management, not only leads to loss of respect by the worker's group, but opens the flood gates to other unjustified demands. It is in the third area that the greatest tact and patience and judgment are required. That is the area in which both the worker and the management might be right, depending on the viewpoint. If it is an isolated instance, we just concede the point. If an important precedent will be set or if the point in question affects a large number of other employees, we usually try to arrange a reasonable compromise. In all cases in which we rule against the worker, we try hard to convince him of the merit of our position. This often involves a great deal of time for many separate individuals of our supervisory staff but we always give the worker as much time as he feels necessary to talk out the problem. Maybe we don't all ways convince him, but at least we do impress him with the feeling that the decision was not made arbitrarily and that we did not curtail his right of appeal. Again, the time expended by management in such long-winded discussion of often minor points pays off by convincing the worker of the sincerity and interest on the part of management.

We do have a formal grievance procedure which is listed in our employee hand book. However, we are not stuffy about this and often a step or two of this is bypassed. This lack of rigidity, we believe, contributes to the case which we win in the majority of our opinion and thus enables us to correct difficulties before they become serious ones.

In dealing with an individual who has transgressed, we are lenient. In fact, we lean over backwards in giving him chances to correct himself. If after persistent continuance of wrong doing, we finally have to let the man go, we do so with a heavy heart and workers be able to say, "Well, it's about time—he certainly had it coming."

There is no doubt in our minds that old employees, i.e., employees with long terms of service, are important factors in stable labor relations. Usually the mere presence of such old employees testifies to sound basic practices at Whitman and Barnes. We have more than 60 active employees with more than 25 years service each, and many more with long service records close to this amount. These workers have had first hand knowledge of the reliability of management promises over the years, and undoubtedly act as restraining brakes on the rashness of new, young employees. Besides the generally liberal labor policies of the company, a strong inducement to remain in the organization is provided by the company's policy of promotion from within. It has been many, many years since the company has brought in from the outside, a single person for a supervisory position or any other high level job. All of our present management staff from foreman right through president have come from the ranks. Admittedly this has some disadvantages, for example, what akin to those of inbreeding, but it certainly does have the offsetting virtue of promoting good internal relations.

There are many other parts of the Whitman and Barnes labor relations policy that could hardly be classed as important in themselves but which in unison act to hold the whole thing together. For instance, there is the general camaraderie of the place—its informality. First names or nicknames are used almost entirely—not in the deliberate, sometimes affected manner of fraternal organizations, but unconsciously and sincerely. This goes for all levels—intra and inter. If you get what I mean, The company sponsors, and many supervisors participate in, a wide variety of recreational activities outside the plant. These include athletic like bowling, golfing, soft ball, and the lowly horse shoe pitching, and social parties like those of the 25 year club, the exclusive membership of which is restricted to active or retired, who have 25 years of service. The mingling of supervisors and workers in these activities outside the more constrained atmosphere of plant life contributes a good deal to the understanding and tolerance that is exhibited on both sides when a tense situation develops within the plant.

Lastly, we feel that it is extremely important to keep open the lines of communication to the workers. Normally, our best method is by close verbal contact with the workers. In addition, and in order to get a message to the working employee with less chance of misinterpretation, we send an occasional letter direct to him through the mail. So, that's it. I have tried not to be too technical about it but I hope I have gotten across the point that our good relations up-to-date have not been entirely accidental—that we have worked hard at making the good and we expect to continue working hard to keep them good.

then blows the heat from the fire on to the metal with the aid of a reed. The intense heat melts the metal, which hardens into the mold. Bracelets, trinkets, and knife blades were made with this process.

After returning to the states, Mr. Rose wrote a letter to Henry Ford asking him if he would have any use for this metal which the Haitians were using so effectively. His letter was dated January 4, 1920.

The reply dated January 6, read as follows:

"Dear sir, Your letter of the 4th addressed to Mr. Ford in reference to minerals in Haiti has been referred to this office for attention.

"We would have no requirement of the materials mentioned at their location, and would not be interested in production of same for use at this point.

"Thank you, however, for the interest you have shown in drawing your observation to our attention."

Mr. Rose filed this letter away in his safe and all but forgot the incident until he read of the "discovery" of this same metal which is now to be used for addressing machine plates.

The metal has the properties of zinc with the advantage of being 2.3 as strong as steel.

order, and the Defense Production act, have retained control of natural gas in Lansing instead of transferring it to the PAD in Washington.

Just 24 hours before the PAD order, Consumers Power company presented the Michigan Public Service commission in Lansing with a petition asking permission to connect 10,000 more residential gas space-heating customers. The company pointed out in its petition that it had not only the facilities to serve its present home and industrial customers but can serve any anticipated new industrial customers, defense or otherwise, as well as 10,000 additional home-heating customers.

Consumers states in its petition that it proposes to add the 10,000 customers on a lottery basis. Its Southeast Division, with headquarters in Pontiac, is Consumers' biggest natural gas service area with more than a third of the company's gas customers. The area includes Western Wayne county, all of Oakland and part of Macomb county.

Plymouth, Northville, Livonia and Novi townships comprise the Southeast Division's West Wayne district. The Southeast Division would receive at least a third of the new gas space-heating permits. The West Wayne district, in turn, would receive several hundred of these.

Consumers petitioned the Michigan commission because a year ago the Commission banned, at the Company's request, further connections for space heating in Consumers' service area.

Now, the Company states, it can take on more. It has the gas and the pipe. In addressing its plea to Lansing, Consumers in effect calls for retention of state control rather than PAD control. If the Commission decides to act on the petition for permission to connect the new space heating customers, it must first take the state out from under PAD jurisdiction. If it does this, the industrial gas users will once again be able to buy gas from Consumers without first going to Washington and the threatened delays in industrial area will end.

cial organism, the citizen will look elsewhere for a way out of his frustrations. As we know, he has, in fact, looked to the State. But the answer is not there.

"The State is too remote and impersonal to provide for the essentially intimate social needs of human personality. There is no short cut to our goal. The human problems of the corporation are not solved by calling it a nationalized undertaking. To compress all our troubles into the legal issue of private or collective ownership is attractively simple. But we do not transform the nature of work in mines or on the railroads by raising the Stars and Stripes. The miner will still be interested in his wages, his hours, his working conditions. He will still want a sense of status and participation. He will still want the satisfaction of standing well with his fellow workers. We all hanker for a magic talisman. But the tensions we seek to resolve are products of industrial culture as a whole, and they do not vanish when a private company becomes a public authority.

"In this anniversary year, Detroit is catching sight of a new vision. It is symbolized by the new civic center and by the building rising in the Wayne University area. It was the inspiration of the United Foundation. It was seen by the thousands who lined the streets to see the anniversary parade. Our difficulties are many and serious. We cannot guarantee success. But we are grappling with the job. The unparalleled pace of development in recent times has made many mistakes inevitable. Yet industrialism is young. In over half the world it hardly exists, and we in the United States are only beginning to understand ways and means of meeting the problems to which its tremendous momentum gives rise.

"There is a new spirit abroad in American business. And because it stems from inescapable needs, I am confident it cannot but spread far and wide."

Bids will be released on or before September 7, for the building of winding roads which will start from Beck road, west to the beech and maple woods and meander parallel to the stream and hence to the south and out on Powell road. Mrs. Smith stated the roads will be completed this fall.

2-lb. piece fresh salmon
1 medium-sized onion, sliced
1 carrot, sliced
3 sprigs parsley

1 whole clove
2 tbsp. vinegar
1 tsp. salt
6 cups boiling water

Tie fish in cheesecloth. Put boiling water in deep wall cooker. Add onion, carrot, parsley, clove, vinegar and salt. Turn switch to High heat. When water is boiling add fish. Turn switch to Low and simmer (6 to 10 minutes per lb. depending on thickness). Remove salmon from stock, skin, place on bed of creamed spinach.

"I like my electric range," says per Patsy Hutchinson. "I wouldn't want any other."

"Just sample Patsy's salmon," interrupts Fred, "nothing more need be said."

Patsy laughs. "There are three other hungry bears like Fred in our family... Rick, Jack and Patty Jo. That's why we have a two-oven range."

"If things didn't taste so good, we wouldn't eat so much," adds Fred.

"And if meals weren't so easy to get with an electric range, I wouldn't cook so much," finishes Patsy.

First National is Eliminated

From League Playoffs

In a roughly played game at Cass Berton park Labor Day, the First National Bank nine of Plymouth was eliminated from further play in the Inter-County league playoffs as they dropped their second game in two days. Gambles Post of Detroit knocked Plymouth off by a score of 4 to 2.

Gambles began the scoring by counting once in the second on three hits and an error. D'Ambrósio led off with a single, Edwards was safe at first on a fielder's choice when Bosman took his grounder and fired over the second baseman's head trying to get D'Ambrósio sliding in—center fielder Maharley retrieved the ball and threw a perfect strike to Dobbs at third nailing D'Ambrósio going in, Edwards going to second, Holowski then smashed a single to center scoring Edwards, Smith followed with another single and Maharley fired the ball to Dobbs to nail Holowski as he over-slid the bag.

Gambles scored once more in the fifth inning on an error by Dobbs and a two-base hit by Widea.

Plymouth tied it up in the seventh when Schwartz walked with one on, Bassett popped to third and the second out, but Bosman doubled to center ending Schwartz to third and Shraake slashed a single to right scoring both runners to tie up the ball game.

The tie was short-lived though for Gambles came back to score another run in the bottom of the seventh when Rzekka opened with a double to center, Shuk spent a long fly right sending Rzekka to third after the batter from where he scored on a fielder's choice. For good measure

Michigan Begins Practice for Grid Opener With MSC

Can mighty Michigan retain its supremacy in the nationwide and Big Ten football circles? That is a question asked by many a sports fan as another grid season nears its commencement. Michigan has been the epitome of class in winning four consecutive western conference titles under Fritz Crisler for one year and Bennie Oosterbaan for the remaining three.

Now the Wolverines open the '51 campaign with its ranks depleted of such stars as Charlie Ortman, Leo Kovacs and Don Dutek from the backfield and Harry Allis and Al Wahl from the front line.

Missing such stalwarts the Maize and Blue face many a pitfall in the grid slate lined up for them. Michigan opens the season with two teams who have their eyes glued on a national title. These two are the Michigan State Spartans and the Stanford Indians from sunny California.

Later in the fall the Wolverines will collide with four conference eleven—Illinois, Minnesota, Ohio State, and Northwest—each who should have a chance of coping the Big Ten bunting.

In addition to this fearsome quartet, Oosterbaan's lads meet Cornell, an Eastern power from Ithaca, New York.

Therefore one can easily see that Michigan will once again have one of the toughest schedules in the country as it did last season.

Beset with such difficulties Oosterbaan and his cohorts will mold the team around captain Bill Puteh, Puteh who is the sole remaining member of the '50 starting backfield can perform at either the quarterback post or at the left half slot.

To fill the three vacant positions the 'M' mentors have available the three college speedsters Wes Bradford, Frank Howell and Don Oldham at right half. In addition veteran Don Peterson is expected to work at fullback. Behind Peterson is sophomore Dick Balzhiser, a rugged gentleman from Wheaton, Illinois.

A potential quarterback is Don Zan Fagna who did a great deal of work at that slot in spring practice. Ted Kross, ineligible last season may help Wolverine fans forget the remarkable Mr. Ortman.

It is at the end positions where the Wolverines won't have any worries whatsoever. At that spot the Maize and Blue's best chance for All-American honors, Ypsilanti Lowell Perry holds forth.

Plymouth fans should remember Perry for his great work in the Suburban 'B' league in football, basketball, and track.

Besides Perry, Fred Pickard, Merritt Green and Gene Knudson help to make the end position the strongest in the Wolverine lineup.

Tackle and guard are well fortified with another potential All-American Tom Johnson—Dick Strozewski, Pete Kinyon and Ypsilanti Jim Wolter.

Roger Zatkoff and Ted Topor stand out as rugged line backers leaving only the center position as the weak spot on the forward line. The starting nod lies between Emil Morlock and Wayne Melchiori.

To sum up Michigan as it appears prior to the State game—the line is strong and the backfield weak. However, the Wolverines have a deep sporting tradition to live up to—like the Yankees in baseball.

Don't expect miracles with the present squad, but it should win seven of the nine games including a sweet victory over the haughty Spartans from Michigan State. (Your sports editor doesn't believe this last statement—I am indebted to Joe Miller, your old sports editor, for the information on the Michigan team.)

Jerry Allen Wins Gymnastic Honor at Cent. Michigan

Remember when Jerry Allen was streaking down the sidelines for touchdowns, making those long shots in basketball, and knocking out those base hits in baseball? Well he has been received that Jerry is still making quite a name for himself on the campus at Central Michigan college of Education at Mt. Pleasant.

Jerry was a freshman at Central Michigan last year and played Fresh football and was a regular member of the college gymnastic team, which is composed of three girls and 15 boys from an enrollment of over 2,000 students. It is quite an honor for a freshman to make the gymnastic team as the competition is so keen, and Central has one of the best teams of any small college in the Mid-West.

The Fresh football team played a regular four game schedule and Jerry was at his old halfback spot in the backfield.

He plans on going out for the varsity squad this year, but the gym team takes most of his time. They practice constantly on old and new stunts the year round. Jerry had his picture in the Detroit Free Press, along with that of his teammates, last Spring performing a difficult stunt.

The team does various precision tumbling and apparatus acts, the latter consists of parallel bar and trampoline work.

This team travels all over the state demonstrating at high school assemblies. (It would be entirely fitting if we could get Jerry and his teammates to perform in our new gymnasium when it is completed.)

Sweeney, the gymnastic coach and line coach of the "Beneat" football team, thinks a lot of this Plymouth boy's ability and expects him to be one of the mainstays on this year's gymnastic team.

Young Allen graduated from Plymouth High school in 1948 where for three years he was an outstanding athlete in football, basketball, and base-ball. Many fans remember the great basketball team we had in 1947 when Trenton edged Plymouth for the championship on a field goal just as the gun ended the game. That team comprised of Allen, Jack Dobbs, Dick Farwell, Dave McIntosh, Bill Stout, DeWayne Becker and Jay Dassetg was one of the best to represent Plymouth up to the 1951 team. The sparkling 185 yard touchdown gallop Jerry made in the Redford Union game of 1947 is still fresh in the minds of many football fans.

Jerry says that anyone who participates in athletics should keep in training and condition at all times—possibly that is one of the reasons he is an outstanding athlete as he is always in condition.

After graduation Jerry spent a year in the Navy and then worked for a year before entering Central Michigan.

Last year at the Mt. Pleasant college Jerry was elected to the college Senate as a representative of the freshman class. The Senate is composed of two members of each class plus representatives from fraternities and sororities. This Senate is under the leadership of the Dean of Men and the Dean of Women and helps in formulating policies for the student body. It compares to the Student Council in our local high school.

Jerry likes Central Michigan very much and says it is one of the best small colleges in Michigan.

All Applications for Special Deer Season Out Soon

Application cards for the few number of hunting permits to be available for this year's special December western Michigan deer season will be in the hands of all license dealers not later than September 15.

A total of 16,800 permits will be issued as compared to 22,300 last year. To further reduce farm and fruit crop damage, 15,000 will be issued for area B, Leelanau and parts of Benzie, Manistee and Grand Traverse counties; 1,000 for area A, parts of Charlevoix, Antrim and northeastern Grand Traverse counties; and 300 for area C, part of Allegan county. There will be no special hunt in Newaygo county.

An applicant must purchase his regular deer hunting license first. He will write on the application his name and address and the name and address of his hunting license agent.

Those persons not claiming farm owner, lessee or sharecropper status in areas A and B, as well as those who do or do not in area C, should send in their applications to the conservation department, Lansing, not later than October 10.

Those claiming mentioned status in area A should send their cards to department district headquarters, Gaylord, and those for area B to district headquarters at Traverse City. Deadline October 1. Individual must be readily domiciled on the farm or claim status. Person with such status does not have to participate in a possible drawing should the applicants exceed the quotas.

A farm, for eligibility purposes, is designated as an area outside the limits of any incorporated village or city of which five or more acres currently are devoted to producing agricultural crops or fruits.

December 1-5, qualified area A and B hunters can shoot either sex deer. December 1-10, qualified area C hunters can shoot antlerless deer only. Any person getting a deer in other open seasons is not eligible to hunt in the special December season.

Outline of legal hunting areas and other season information can be secured along with applications from license dealers.

You can revitalize your strawberry patch for next year. Michigan State College horticulturists suggest digging out old plants in the center of the row and thinning out young shoots to about 6 inches apart.

When the mistake showed up at headquarters, a red-faced traffic officer in Miami, Fla., had to explain that he'd been so disconcerted by the steady stream of chatter he got from a motorist while writing out a ticket that he'd written his own name instead of the offender's on the summons, and now couldn't remember the culprit's name.

Sports Glances

I am indebted to my old friend Joe Miller for the information on the 1951 University of Michigan football team and their possibilities for the coming season. I disagree with Joe on the outcome of the Michigan-Michigan State game, for I sincerely believe that State will take Michigan this year by at least two touchdowns.

Joe is a junior at Michigan this year and will be remembered as your sports editor of a few years back. Joe is still very much interested in athletics and his familiar face is at most of our top-notch local sports events.

The next few weeks sports on the local front will be rather scarce. The baseball season has ended with the termination of the First National Bank team in the Inter-County league. Bowling will be starting soon and the football season is just around the corner.

We'll try to keep you informed of all sports events in and around Plymouth. If you have any sports item or hear of any unusual feat you can help a lot by calling 16, or in the evening 151-J. Any tip will be welcome. I appreciate all the help and cooperation I have had so far in writing this page.

Athletic director John Sandmann is still looking for some capable football managers. Anyone who likes to be close to football, but for some reason cannot play the game, can prove of value to his school, and his team, by volunteering for a manager's job. He must be energetic, capable, dependable and not afraid of a little work. If anyone thinks he can qualify for the job he should contact Coach Sandmann or Coach Ketterer immediately.

First National Bank wound up baseball in Plymouth Labor Day when they were eliminated from the Inter-County league playoffs. I have seen the team play their last five games and I saw a lot of good baseball. They were the victims of some bad breaks, and are on a par with most of the teams I have seen play. The fans witnessed some real fast baseball in the league this year, and much credit must be paid the players, umpires, sponsors and fans for providing this high-class ball this season.

Two Teams Play for County Title

The Inter-County league playoffs are rapidly drawing to a close and only two teams remain in contention for the title as a result of Sunday's and Labor Day's games. Northville and Gambles Post of Detroit will fight it out for the title next Sunday at Cass Berton park at three o'clock. If Northville wins it is all over at Romulus with another game will be necessary to decide the title on September 16 at the same place. These two teams tied for the Red Division crown in the league.

The results of games played Sunday found Gambles eliminating Wyandotte 6 to 1 and Romulus ousting Wayne 5 to 2. Northville remained undefeated by administering the first loss to Plymouth 5 to 4 in 10 innings.

With school days packing the big and little red schoolhouses all over the nation, parents and teachers should be working as closely together as a set of Siamese twins. Why? To protect the kids. It's up to parents to warn the children about how and when to cross streets... and it's up to mothers to instill more precautions than a tightrope walker over the Niagara Falls. A lot of children are going to school for the first time. They have a lot to learn... including safety rules. Let's all drive carefully, and be as alert as a front line sentry. Their future is in our hands.

Two Teams Play P. H. S Gridders Hold Scrimmage for County Title

The serious business of getting ready for the opening game of the football season at Farmington, September 14, has been going on in earnest for over 50 Plymouth High gridders the past two weeks.

Coaches Ketterer, Sandmann and McFall have been putting the boys through some strenuous workouts the past few days. A full dress scrimmage was held last Saturday morning. Many details were noted, and Head Coach Ketterer says that play was really good. A great deal of work to do before the first game next week.

The boys came out of this first scrimmage with a few bumps and bruises. From this writer's observation the defensive line is ahead of the offensive line at this time. Both lines have many inexperienced men, and it may take time to develop a smooth

A good example of today's insurance values

There are a hundred ways that you or your family or your dog can cause injury to somebody which may result in a lawsuit against you.

Somebody may trip on your front walk. Your child may hurt somebody with his bicycle, or even playing ball. You may sock somebody with a golf ball. An occasional employee may fall and break an arm. Etc.

For $10 a year we can protect you against many kinds of lawsuits up to $10,000, with an America Fore Family Legal Liability Policy. And the same policy, pays medical fees up to $250 for non-family injuries even if you are not legally liable. Ask us.

How long since you lifted the hood of a car, and took a good look at what's beneath?
We like to have folks do that with a Buick.
You'll find that broad bonnet isn't put there for show. It's packed with horsepower—high, wide and handsome—more horsepower than normal drivers will ever use in full.
And—if you're up to date on modern features—you'll find that this bonnet is packed with these too.
Do you know, for example, that every new engine introduced or previewed in recent years is built on the valve-in-head principle?
Score one for Buick. No Buick engine has ever been built in any other way.
Do you know what it takes to make full use of high compression? A valve-in-head engine!
Score two: Buick has been stepping up compression ratios for years.
But Buick has blazed one trail which other engines still haven't followed—don't ask us why.
Every Buick has a Fireball Engine which, as we've said before, is like having a string of comets by the tail.
Fact is, in every flame-packed cylinder there is a comet—rolled into a swirling ball by a special turbo-top piston—touched off by a flashing spark every 5 inches you travel in a Buick.
That's why we're proud to show folks that Buicks have a Fireball Engine—and prouder still to have them take one of these thrilling performers out on the road.
Want to try it? Come in and see us soon.
Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

The secret of Fireball Power is in the use of dome-and-dip design of the piston shown above.

Here's the piston inside the cylinder. As it moves down, the fuel charge rushes in—sets up a swirl when it hits the piston top.

The piston moves up—compresses the swirling fuel into the comet shape shown here. "Compression ratios" are simply a measure of how much the fuel is compressed.

The ball of fuel is compressed around the spark plug—lets loose its pent-up charge when the spark is fired—delivering a higher percentage of power from each charge of fuel.

Hints For Plymouth Homemakers

Tomatoes Can be Made into Many Attractive Dishes and Preserves

Why should all cores be removed from tomatoes? Cores—interior with processing because they heat through slowly. They also tend to impart an off flavor.

What is the easiest way to peel tomatoes? After washing firm, ripe tomatoes thoroughly, place in a wire basket or big square of cheesecloth and dip into a kettle of boiling water until their skins crack—about a minute. Plunge at once into cold water and skin will slip off easily.

Tomato-Lemon Preserves
Lemon slices are a refreshing color and flavor contrast to bright red tomatoes—
4 lb. firm-ripe tomatoes
1 medium-sized lemon
3/4 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon allspice

Scald, peel, core and quarter tomatoes; measure 8 cups. Tare pines fruit. Wash lemon, shaving away any blemishes; quarter lengthwise and thinly slice crosswise. Combine all ingredients in a large preserving kettle; mix well. Place on high heat, bring to a rolling boil. Turn down heat; cook about 1 1/2 hours during cooling period tomatoes will become thick pulp. Stir occasionally. Remove from heat; skim. Pour into hot, sterilized jars; seal. Makes about 5 half pints. To Serve: These preserves are as adaptable to hot breads at breakfast as to hot or cold meats at dinner.

Tomato Marmalade
3 quarts sliced, peeled tomatoes (about 18 to 20 medium sized)
6 cup sugar
1 1/2 cup salt
2 oranges and 2 lemons
2 cup water
1 stick cinnamon (2-3 inch pieces)

2 teaspoons whole cloves
Cooking tomatoes, sugar, and salt. Peel oranges and lemons, and peel very thin, boil in the water 5 min. and drain. Slice oranges and lemon pulp and remove seeds. Add with rind to tomato mixture.

The pieces in thin white cloth add to tomato mixture. Heat slowly to boiling, then cook rapidly, stirring constantly, for 45 minutes or until thickened. Remove from heat and pour marmalade into hot jars. Makes about 1 pint. Store in a cool, dry, dark place.

Tomatoes For A Salad
The time of year when more tomatoes come from garden and field we're assured they'll be about twice as rich in Vitamin C as the greenhouse-grown tomatoes we bought in winter and spring.

That Vitamin C richness adds incentive to our enjoying tomatoes often now. Their natural goodness and the lower prices at which we can buy them are additional attractions, of course.

One way to enjoy tomatoes is to make a jellied salad. Served ice-cold in hot weather, its delicious.

Jellied Tomato Salad
Soften a tablespoon of flavored gelatin in a fourth of a cup of cold water. Cook 2 1/2 cups of fresh tomatoes for about 20 minutes with a tablespoon of minced onion and half of a small bay leaf. Press the mixture through a sieve and measure one and three-quarter cups. If you don't have enough for that, add boiling water to make up the difference.

Then add the hot, sieved tomatoes to the gelatin and stir until the gelatin is dissolved. Season with a half teaspoon each of sugar and salt, a tablespoon of lemon juice, and a pepper. Then chill the mixture until it begins to thicken. It's time, then, to add a half cup each of finely chopped cucumber and celery and mix everything well. Green peas are a good addition.

Pour the salad into a mold or pan which had been rinsed in cold water, and chill until it's firm. Serve with salad dressing on lettuce or other salad greens.

Serve Fish with Imagination as Salads, Fillings

If you choose fish as a budget-saving protein food, you can add variety to it by serving it with different sauces. A lemon butter made by blending 1/2 cup butter and lemon juice and adding a little chopped parsley is one variation. A hot boiled dressing such as you'd use for cole slaw or potato salad is a second possibility. Another tasty dressing can be made by adding two tablespoons of vinegar and a few drops of tabasco sauce to a half cup of whipped sour cream. Just before you serve, stir two small cucumbers which you've chilled and chopped very fine into the sour cream mixture.

Whole fresh vegetables are so plentiful, the fish platter can be garnished with carrot sticks or celery sticks, or cucumber slices, radishes or sliced pickled beets.

Whether you're cooking fish to use later in a salad or for serving hot, cook it only until the flesh can be easily flaked—and cook it at a moderate temperature.

Fish Salad
2 cups flaked cooked or canned fish or crabmeat
1/2 cup diced celery
2 tablespoons minced onion
1/2 cup cooked peas, if desired
2 tablespoons chopped sweet pickle
3 hard-cooked eggs, diced
Salt according to taste
1/2 cup mayonnaise

Combine ingredients; mix well, taking care not to break fish in too small pieces. Chill. Serve on lettuce, garnished with additional mayonnaise and sliced hard-cooked eggs (or sliced stuffed olives). Serves 6.

Sandwich Filling
Mix 1 cup flaked fish (cooked or canned) with 2 hard-cooked eggs (chopped), 2 tablespoons minced onion, 2 tablespoons chopped celery, 2 cucumber pickles (chopped), and enough mayonnaise to moisten.

Urge Housewives To Use Plymouth Grown Tomatoes

For a period of several weeks, tomatoes in Plymouth markets and gardens will be at their peak of flavor and vitamin content. It is the season of the year when they are inexpensive, even less expensive than the canned tomato.

If you have a garden producing tomatoes, you'll undoubtedly want to can part of the crop. To make a good tomato relish, even though you aren't cooking your tomatoes for a relish, you can use them for a relish of tomato by adding a few drops of lemon juice and a few drops of vinegar. Plymouth tomatoes are the finest available in all of Michigan so use them to your advantage in your canning.

A bushel of plum tomatoes yield from 15 to 20 quarts of the canned product or 10 quarts of relish. That's the amount you would get in from 24 to 30 Number 2 cans or 20 to 25 Number 3 cans.

By using canning methods similar to those of commercial canners you'll turn out a product that compares favorably with theirs in color, flavor and texture, according to the Food and Nutrition Service of the American Red Cross.

Use only perfect, completely ripe tomatoes and process them in a boiling water bath after you pack them into the jars.

Canned Tomatoes
Wash perfect, ripe tomatoes, place in wire basket or a piece of cheesecloth and lower into boiling water for about 1/2 minute. Dip at once into cold water. Peel, cut out core, being sure to remove all of green or white center, and cut into halves or quarters. Pack into clean, hot jars to within 1/2 inch of top, pressing down gently to make sure all spaces are filled. Work out air bubbles with clean knife and add more tomatoes if necessary to fill jars to within 1/2 inch of top. Add 1/2 teaspoon salt for each pint of tomatoes.

Adjust caps following manufacturer's directions. Place in water bath having water cover tops of jars. When water reaches boiling point, count the time. Process pint jars for 35 minutes; quart jars for 45 minutes. Remove from canner at once. Complete seal unless self-sealing caps are used. Cool right side up. Next day test for seal.

Tomato Catsup
Four quarts tomatoes, peeled, 3 red peppers, 2 medium sized onions, finely chopped, 2 tablespoons salt, 1/2 cup sugar, 2 teaspoon celery salt, 2 teaspoons dry mustard, 1 teaspoon paprika, 1 tablespoon whole allspice, 1 tablespoon whole cloves, one 2-inch stick cinnamon, 2 cups vinegar.

Cook tomatoes, peppers and onions together until tender. Press through sieve or food mill. To the pulp, add all remaining ingredients except vinegar, trying spices in clean white cloth. Cook rapidly for 1 hour, then add the vinegar and cook until slightly thickened, stirring often to prevent scorching. Pour into hot, sterilized jars or bottles and seal at once. Makes about 6 pints of catsup.

Chili Sauce
Eighteen large tomatoes, peeled and chopped, 6 large onions, finely chopped, 4 red peppers, chopped, 2 green peppers, chopped, 2 3 cup sugar, 3 tablespoons salt, 5 cups vinegar, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 teaspoon allspice.

Combine all ingredients and cook until desired consistency, stirring often to prevent scorching. Pour into sterilized jars or

DELICIOUS AND NUTRITIOUS!

by Marguerite Mickelsen

This long-time favorite, baked custard, can be served with trimmings that make it delightfully different. Pictured are custard with raisins, cooked dried apricots, nutmeg, honey, chocolate chip, and plain served with strawberry sauce. Greasing the custard cups helps to make fruits and nutmeg stay in place.

Here is the recipe for Baked Custard:
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
3 eggs, beaten
2 cups hot milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
Combine sugar, salt, and eggs. Add milk slowly; add vanilla. Pour into custard cups; set cups in a pan of hot water. Bake at 325°F. (slow oven) until the custard is set—30 to 40 minutes.

Green Tomato Pickle
One peck (12 1/2 pounds) green tomatoes, sliced thinly, 12 white onions, sliced, salt, vinegar, 2 tablespoons celery seed, 1 tablespoon mustard seed, 1 cup mixed pickling spices, 4 red pepper pods, shredded.

Arrange tomatoes and onions in alternating layers in crock or large bowl, sprinkling each layer lightly with salt. Cover and let stand in cold place overnight. Drain and place in kettle. Add enough vinegar to barely cover vegetables. Add remaining ingredients. Simmer for 10 minutes. Pack into hot, sterilized jars and seal at once. Makes about 18 quarts of pickle.

In Santa Barbara, Calif., young Roger H. Janetzky insisted in court that he was driving less than 25 m.p.h. when he passed another car, was brought up short by the judge. "The car you passed was going 25 miles per hour, I was driving it."

In Charleston, W. Va., after consulting the rule book, West Virginia Union told Mrs. A. W. Hawkins Jr. that she must use no such insulting word as "moron" when she substituted "morning."

Roger Babson Says --

Babson Discusses the British Outlook

New York City, Sept. 7. — Of the three top leaders of British Socialism in recent years, only one is in office today. Mr. Attlee still heads the Labor Government of Great Britain, but is plagued with a duodenal ulcer which has already hospitalized him. This ulcer could conceivably force him to follow his former right hand man, Sir Stafford Cripps, into retirement. Sir Stafford was in several ways the brightest luminary in the British Labour movement; an eminent lawyer, and an intellectual of the first magnitude. A few months back he had to retire as Chancellor of the Exchequer for reasons of health. He suffers from colitis. Early this year the third man in the Labour Government, Ernest Bevin, suffered an illness that forced him to retire as Foreign Secretary. Shortly thereafter he died at the age of 70.

I am not excluding over casualties among top-ranking British Socialists. I consider Attlee, Cripps and Bevin men of the highest integrity and the noblest intentions. Were they rogues paying lip service to Socialism, in order to further personal ambition, all three might now be in good health, riding high on the road to more power. At least, this is what I learn here in New York.

Socialism a Cruel Hoax
To my way of thinking, Socialism as set up today constitutes a cruel hoax. Socialists discover that many evils can be traced back to individual private greed. This is true. But the Socialists conclude, all too quickly, that private greed or private enterprise, should be outlawed. They then nationalize the big private enterprises and turn them over to the government. They "use the ship to rid it of rats." But the hoax is that the coming of Socialism to power brings frustration, stagnation, and finally the need for "austerity." Only individual incentive provides the spark and fuel of human endeavor.

When honest Socialists, like the big three of England's Labour movement, gain control of the government, they discover that the noble doctrines to which they have dedicated their lives do not work out as expected. Socialism, unfortunately, distributes poverty, not riches.

Tragedy of Honest Socialists
An honest Socialist in power soon finds himself experiencing an intense inner struggle — the struggle between loyalty to socialism and the realization that individual incentive must be liberated if the people are to enjoy maximum prosperity. There are two possible outcomes of such an inner struggle within the heart of the honest Socialist—either a nervous breakdown or a desertion of Socialism. Attlee and Cripps are honest Socialists and so was Bevin; but Bevin has died and Attlee and Cripps have ended up with poor health approaching a nervous breakdown. They will not, however, surrender their Socialism, although they see only collapse or a dictatorship ahead.

Mussolini was an aggressive Socialist in early life; but as he rose to power he became an undisguised autocrat. He did not permit the fallacies of Socialism to ruin his health! He switched to personal autocracy and then went back to antiquity to find an ethical sounding name for it, calling it "Fascism." Hitler paid lip service to Socialism by calling his autocracy "National Socialism."

Who Will be "Big Brother"?
Britain's fourth Socialist leader, Aneurin Bevan, not to be confused with the late Ernest Bevin, has the demagogue's appeal, the opportunism and the violent demeanor. This fits him to become the English counterpart of Mussolini or Hitler. Aneurin Bevan recently deserted Attlee for motives which some observers believe were to increase his own power.

Straw polls and local elections foreshadow the fall of the Attlee government. I wonder whether Attlee's successor will be able to proceed with the present governmental machinery. Or will revolution and dictatorship be the outcome of Britain's experiment with Socialism? As for me, give me a country with a democratic capitalistic Government like our own, that seeks workable compromise between collective needs and individual incentive.

When in a foreign country and listening to the chatter of the natives one often wonders if what they are saying is as insane as what most of us say who speak English.

What next month will bring is a deep mystery except that we know for certain it will bring bills for our shoes, rent, groceries, laundry, and a dozen other items.

Fresh fruits should be stored in a cool, dry place. Berries should be spread carefully on trays and sorted, but not washed until prepared for the table.

"I took the Blindfold Test"

—that new Dodge Oriflow Ride sure opened my eyes!"

Says DANIEL F. HOWARD, JR. of New York City. "The Blindfold Test convinced me! The new Dodge Oriflow Ride really levels out the worst kind of bumps and ruts," continues Mr. Howard. "No ride has ever been so smooth."

Come in! Try it! FEEL HOW NEW ORIFLOW RIDE MAKES ROUGHEST ROADS BOULEVARD-SMOOTH!

Here's something new in riding smoothness!

Blindfolded you ride over a bumpy road. You're told the ruts are there — but you don't feel them! Gone is the pitch, bounce and jar you experience in other cars as the new Dodge Oriflow Ride levels out the rough spots. And with blindfold off you'll be amazed you traveled over such bumps and chuckholes.

Words alone can't tell it all! That's why we invite you to come in and take this daring "Blindfold Test."

You Could Pay up to $1,000 More! As you thrill to the new Oriflow Ride, experience Dodge extra roominess... "Watchtower" visibility... ease of handling. Then you'll know why you could pay up to $1,000 more for a car and still not get all the extra-value features Dodge gives you!

In an Ordinary Car without Oriflow, blindfolded motorists found they were pitched and bounced as they traveled rough, bumpy roads.

In New Dodge With Oriflow, the same passengers found the ride so smooth they could hardly believe they traveled the same road.

The big, dependable
