"Buick considers newspaper advertising most suited to its program because of flexibility and ability intensively to penetrate local markets. Consistent newspaper advertising, therefore, has always been an important part of our sales program. It has remained so with the highest expenditure in this medium in our history. The all-time sales record and the continued high public preference for Buick cars support our belief that our media strategy is sound."

Congress Shall Make No Laws Abridging the Freedom of The Press

What I Think and Have A Right to Say

By ELTON R. EATON

"HE IS AS PURE AS AN ANGEL."

Harry Truman has done a lot of talking about the purity of the political punks associated with his administration. It wasn't so long ago when he sewed some angelic wings on the back of his Democratic National Chairman, William M. Boyle, who came out of the Pendergast political sewers of Kansas City.

This model of "purity and honesty" who said a few days ago that he had always tried to do just as his mother would want him to do, has been revealed by a Senate investigating committee as anything but the little angelic baby boy his mother wanted him to be.

He is another of the type of political money-grabbers who have been raised to high positions both in government and in the Raw Deal (no, that should be fair deal) party circles by Harry "Spendthrift" Truman as some out-state editor calls him.

Little wonder, kind friends, that you haven't got many dollars and cents after you have paid out your inflated dollars and pennies for taxes and high prices. But as one reader said to the writer the other day—"why sob about it, we voted for it, didn't we?" BUT NOT ME. That's one sin against the world and humanity I'll never have to atone for.

A CONSTANT REMINDER.

Seldom do I ever go down to the Mayflower for lunch at noon but what I meet a well known citizen of Plymouth I tried desperately to induce during World War II to turn some of his accumulated dollars into government bonds. At the time, I was serving as chairman of the war bond committee for Plymouth and this area, thinking I was doing something for our government and the boys fighting overseas.

In addition to planning various campaigns, I assumed the duty of doing a lot of personal solicitation for Uncle Sam. Through the liberal use of newspaper space and in good fortune in getting the aid of a lot of patriotic citizens, mostly women, Plymouth made a tremendous record during every war bond campaign. We not only made our quotas, but we topped them by hundreds of thousands of dollars.

But getting back to this fellow we meet every day and who wouldn't invest a dollar in government bonds. He was about the only person in Plymouth who consistently and flatly refused to come across. His answer always was that the government would get it by taxes anyway and that if he tied up all of his cash in war bonds, that his good dollars of 1941-4 would be worth about half of what they were when the government paid off the bonds.

"It is all a part of a New Deal inflationary scheme. They have already started to deflate the value of our good dollars and when they get through I am willing to bet you that your dollars turned into these bonds will be worth less than 50 cents on the dollar," was always his stock answer.

Not one of the arguments we put forth changed his mind.

This fellow is a good, law abiding citizen, one any community would be proud to claim. He is a loyal American, coming from a family that dates back into the generations of early Americans. No one could or can question his true Americanism.

He detests Communism and political fakery. But he had it firmly in his mind that the politicians running our government had a fixed determination to reduce the value of our good American dollars, that he had worked so long and diligently to save.

Well—what about his reasons for not buying government bonds at that time?

It is with chagrin that the writer must admit he was right and I was wrong. The one thing I always did say, however, was the fact that if your government bonds are no good, then your money is no good. And that is correct. What we have tried to show in this crude way is the fact that he had better intuition as to what the politicians running our government intended to do with the value of our money than did the writer. Your dollar that he said back in 1941, 1942, 1943 and 1944 if held in government bonds for ten years would be worth less than 50 cents on a dollar. I guess no one can dispute that fact today.

The United States News and World Report in a recent issue had the following to say about the decrease in the value of money values:

"The dollar buys now what 53 cents would have bought in 1939. A dollar, in 12 years, has lost nearly half its value."

"A U.S. savings bond, purchased in 1939 for $75, if held and reinvested, today represents $102. That $102 will buy what $54.66 would have bought back in 1939. Bondholder, instead of being ahead $27 in his investment, has lost more than $45 in terms of goods that could be bought. That's how inflation works—it eats up the value of money. Millions of people, induced to put savings into U.S. bonds in years past, find that they've been penalized."

But we do have one hope. That hope is that the people of this country will have become so sick of the faking, lying and scheming that is going on in Washington that they will clean out everything and anything that looks or acts like a New Dealer, Fair Dealer or any kind of a phony dealer.

There is this that can be said about the Republican party. It has never tinkered with the value of the American dollar. It was Roosevelt who threw out the gold standard and from that day to this, American money has constantly depreciated in value.

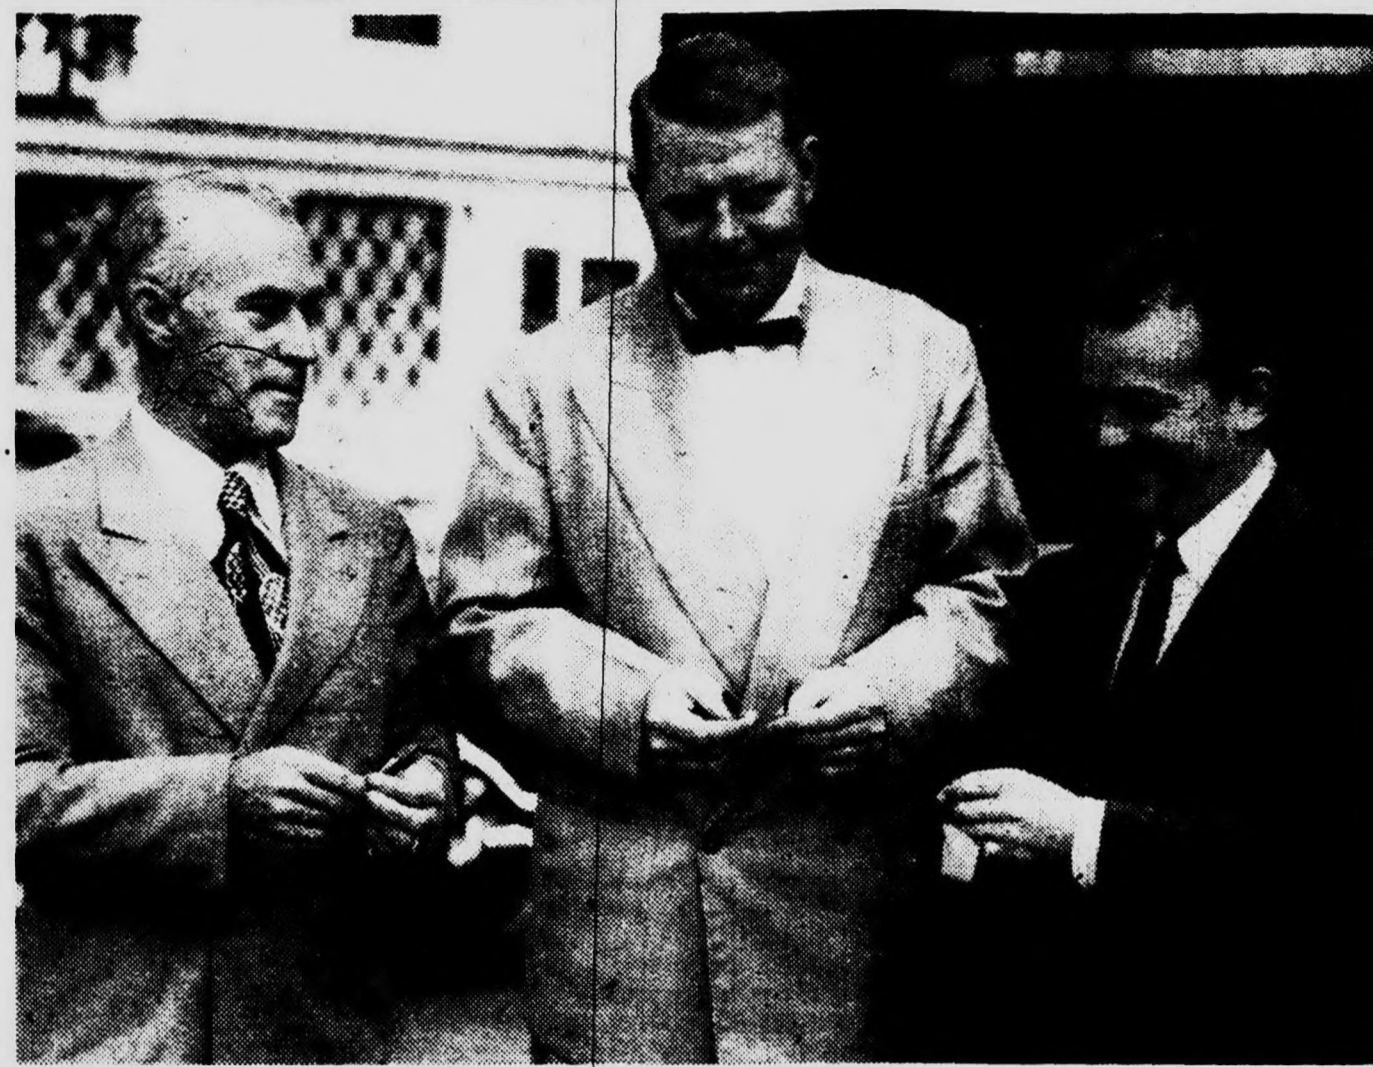

If we continue to hold our government bonds, there is some hope that the Republican party will restore them to somewhere near the value they were when we bought them. There is no hope of any such thing as long as we keep any of the New-Fair or Phony Dealers in office. The dollar value will continue to slide, as it is RIGHT NOW.

We've never cashed any of our war bonds and we don't expect to do so until after we see how the next national election goes. If the Republicans win we are confident that we will get back a dollar of considerable more value than the present dollar possesses.

In view of this hope and belief, we still say that a United States government bond is a good investment—that is—it is as good as your money and will bring a slight interest return, providing the Truman political gang does not continue to depreciate the value of the dollar more than has already been done, before the next national election.

Vol. 64, No. 6 CLASSIFIED ADS - PAGES 4-5-6 Plymouth, Michigan Thursday, October 4, 1951 Three Sections, 22 Pages $2.00 Per Year In Advance

LAST MINUTE PLANS for the opening of Plymouth's Community Fund drive were completed early this week by three of the solicitation leaders pictured above. Examining small red feathers which will soon flood local mails in a solicitation by mail, the first ever tried by the chest, are left to right, Dean Saxton chairman of local business solicitation, Duane Parkes chairman of Community Fund publicity and Rex D. Purkey who chairmans the industrial section solicitation.

NEARLY 500 PEOPLE attended the dedication of the Bird school last Sunday afternoon. Pictured here on the right, is Board of Education secretary Kenneth Hulsing who presented Mrs. Bird, center, to those in attendance. He is holding a drawing of the school which was presented to Mrs. Bird on the event of the dedication. Also in the program was architect Thomas Moss, left, who was responsible for the design of the modern new school.

Charter Passes By Vote of 3 to 1

A Tribute

Donald Sutherland.

Chairman of the city charter commission which drafted the new Plymouth charter. Its approval by a vote of nearly three to one is a tribute to not only the chairman of the commission but his associates who worked diligently with him.

New City Commissioners

Frank Arlen.

A member of the city charter commission who was elected for the long term on the enlarged city commission, as provided in the new charter.

Russell Daane.

He was elected for the short term as an additional member of the city commission under Plymouth's new charter, which he helped to draft.

City of Plymouth took a step forward on Monday when the new city charter was approved by a vote of 460 to 166. It would seem that the low number of votes cast would indicate that the majority of the registered voters in the city felt that the charter would be approved without their vote, and acted accordingly.

Frank Arlen of Burroughs street, and Russell Daane of Garfield avenue were elected as the two new members of the city commission. Mr. Arlen received 500 votes which was the most cast for any candidate. He will serve until the Monday after elections in April, 1955. Mr. Daane who received 413 votes will serve until April, 1953. Theodore Gronowick, the third candidate, received 178 votes.

Write-in candidates were Gladys Tillotson, James Latture, Stanley Corbett, Charles McCarthy, Donald Sutherland, Charles Bennett and Edward Hough.

The charter was drawn up by the commission elected in November 1950. This commission consisted of Frank Arlen, Howard E. Carson, Russell Daane, Catherine J. Henderson, James Houk, Clarence E. Moore, Robert L. Nulty, Gladys Tillotson, and Donald Sutherland, chairman.

The city of Plymouth will be operating under the old charter until November 1, when the new commissioners take office, and the charter goes into effect.

Red Feathers to be Mailed Soon

Plans for this year's Community Fund drive are coming along nicely according to Norman Marquis and Tom Kent, co-chairmen of this year's "Give once for all" campaign.

Duane Parkes, publicity chairman, says hundreds of red feathers will be in the mail soon, and each resident of Plymouth will receive one. This mailing campaign will take the place of the house to house canvassing of previous years.

Mr. Parkes states that by mailing the feathers more people can be reached and the contributor can return his gift at his convenience.

There will also be booths at each bank and at each supermarket for the convenience of people who may be banking or shopping.

It is the wish of the committee that every Plymouth citizen will have a red feather in his hat this year.

Many industrial plants around this area are putting in a payroll deduction plan this year, and any Plymouth resident working in any plant where such a plan is in operation, should designate that his contribution should go to the Plymouth Community Fund campaign.

The goal this year has been set at $13,500. The red feather campaign will begin October 18 and continue through November 8.

Finds Ads Really Sell

According to C. D. Bennett of 648 Dodge street he learned last week what he had often heard, Plymouth Mail want ads really produce results. Debating the easiest method to dispose of a G. E. refrigerator and several driveway cement corks he decided to try a Mail want ad.

Soon after his Thursday morning breakfast was over he started having visitors at his home and by 9 a.m. his refrigerator and corks were sold. Well satisfied with the results of his investment in the ad he pondered over ways to keep the rest of the weekend when they came to buy the items already sold.

Police Identify Man in Woods

Police identified the body found in a bog with last night's number 26, as George Robert McLean, 59, of 2800 10th street, E. at 11 a.m.

Plans Being Made For Halloween Window Painting

The Chamber of Commerce is again sponsoring a Halloween window painting campaign which has been so successful the past few years. These pictures depicting Halloween scenes of witches riding broomsticks, pumpkins in the cornfield, and other eerie monsters have resulted in much favorable comment from our own residents and visitors from other cities.

The art students of the high school, under the direction of Mrs. Frances Overton, do a masterful job on these store windows.

A solicitor will call on each merchant soon to see who wants his windows painted, and how many he wants painted. So as not to have to make a repeat visit, it would help if the merchant leaves this information with his clerks in case he is out.

Windows will be decorated Monday, October 29, and judged the same day. Halloween will be celebrated in a similar manner as last year. More information will be forthcoming in a later edition of The Mail.

Ex-War Prisoner Benefited by an Honest Deed

Because Roland Lutz believes in the old adage "It pays to be honest," a fellow Plymouth resident recovered a sum of money he had lost last Friday afternoon.

Francis G. Bain, who Plymouth remembers as the man that lived through the Corregidor "death march" and many torturous days in Japanese prisons, had received $52 from Mrs. Annabelle Clark, teller in the First National Bank, placed the bills in his bank book and went to his car, which was parked across the street from the bank. Upon arriving at the car he discovered the bills were missing from the bank book, and retraced his steps to the bank—but the missing money was not located in the bank.

Mr. Lutz, who is employed by Don Sutherland, walking down Penniman avenue was surprised to see a number of bills being blown about on the sidewalk. He picked them up and told Mr. Sutherland about his find—later Mr. Sutherland was talking to Jack Taylor, an official of the bank, about the coincidence and the mystery of the vanished money was solved.

City Sidewalks Being Repaired

The past summer saw the biggest sidewalk improvement program ever undertaken in the history of Plymouth. Many of these sidewalks have been in need of repairs for years, but because of lack of funds, or some other reason, no extensive repair program has ever been initiated.

Where repair was badly needed, the owner received notice that repairs should be made within 30 days or the city would do it and charge the individual for it—most cities give only 10 days in which to get it done. Each owner was given three alternatives — he could do the work himself according to specifications on file in the office of the city engineer. (Continued on Page 6)

Gets New Job Then Dies in Car

Found dead in his car, Monday, October 1, was John Raymond Clayton, 49, of 13966 Longacre road, Detroit. Doctors believe that death was caused by a sudden heart attack.

Mr. Clayton parked in front of the Bathey Manufacturing company where he was to start work Monday morning, and never left his car. Company employees noticed him in his car at 7:55 a.m., but assumed that he was waiting for someone. Police were notified at 11 a.m.

Parcel Post Rate Up

According to postmaster George Timpona parcel post rates advanced effective October 1. The increase amounts to about 25 percent more than rates were previously.

Other mail rates have not changed as yet and notification will be given by the post office when they become effective.

Bad Check Artist Caught in Detroit

Local merchants who cashed checks for an "Edward Reilly" were advised by police today that "Reilly" is in the custody of the Detroit police, and his name is actually Carl Winslow, 25, a State Prison escapee and son of a Grand Rapids physician.

Winslow admitted cashing 13 worthless checks indorsed to "Reilly" but could not remember the names of the merchants cashing them for him.

Detroit police arrested Winslow Saturday night in a bar on Fenwick when he displayed a gun. He had been sought since his escape last August when he walked away from a trusty's job at a park near Pontiac.

Former Police Chief in Veteran's Hospital

Former Chief of Police Lee Sackett, who retired from the force a few weeks ago, is a patient in the Veteran's Hospital at Dearborn where he has gone for a physical checkup. He has not been in the best of health for sometime and doctors recommend that he spend a few weeks in the hospital.

Theater Guild Selects Cast

Presiding at the Friday casting of "I Like It Here," the Plymouth Theater Guild's next production, was none other than Mr. William W. Merrill, Producer—Director of the famous Will-O-Way Playhouse.

Under Mr. Merrill's able hands the casting, an ordinarily long and tedious job, progressed with rapid and sure strides. By the end of the evening the following Guild members were chosen for parts: C. V. "Sparky" Sparks, Dean Saxton, Mrs. John Gaffield, and Stanley Lawler. Mr. Merrill selected Mrs. Earle Lewis as his assistant for the direction and management of the play.

In addition to the above regular members, three new actors not formerly associated with the Guild were chosen: W. H. Hatcher of Livonia, Jack Wilcox and Mrs. Wallace Lairy of Plymouth. November 7 and 8 have been selected as the dates for the show. Following the casting the group enjoyed coffee and donuts provided by Mrs. Thomas Argo's refreshment committee.

Richard P. Verrall to Speak This Evening

"Christian Science, the Great Physician Understood" is the title of the lecture to be given this evening by Richard P. Verrall of New York City. Mr. Verrall will speak at 8 p.m. in the High school auditorium.

Mr. Verrall is a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship, and speaks under the auspices of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, a branch of the Mother Church, First Church of Christ, Scientist, Boston, Mass.

Bus Service Restored

The month old bus strike has been settled and bus service between Plymouth and Detroit has been restored. Busses began their trips down Plymouth road last Monday.

A bus leaves Plymouth for Detroit every hour on the hour beginning at 7:00 a.m. and continuing until 10:05 p.m.

Return schedules operate on the hour also.

Kiwansians Hear Wayne Educator

Members of the Kiwanis club heard a very enlightening talk at their regular weekly meeting Tuesday, September 25, at the hotel Mayflower. Stuart Opender, superintendent of schools at Wayne, was the speaker and he chose as his subject, "Educating Our Youth."

Mr. Opender stated that for various reasons our young boys and girls are leaving school before completing their high school courses. A concentrated study of our school system would save many of our youth from leaving school and not attaining what they are capable of doing.

Mr. Opender is a member of the National Youth Commission of the United States.

George Bowles arranged the program.

A nominating committee composed of Clarence Moore, as chairman, Harry Reeves and Bob McAllister was chosen to present a slate for the election of officers.

Finance reported that the profits from the gas station for Kids Day amounted to $181.

Co-op Nursery Elects Officers

The Plymouth area has a co-operative nursery school of its own. At the September 25 meeting of mothers, the Plymouth Cooperative Nursery School was formally organized. Officers elected were: Chairman, Mrs. John R. Kaiser; Secretary, Mrs. George Conover; Treasurer, Mrs. Gerald Fischer.

An opening date of November 5 was tentatively adopted. Prior to this meeting of participating mothers, a meeting will be held on October 9 at 8 p.m. in the Recreation Department offices in the City Hall. Mrs. Fithian and Miss Hemingway, director and assistant respectively, of the Michigan State Nursery schools will be present to offer suggestions and guidance.

The October 9 meeting will feature a discussion led by two representatives of the Monteth Cooperative Nursery school of Detroit. The Monteth Nursery has had wide publicity and acclaim for its progress from a small group to a vital part of its community's welfare. It is from Monteth and similarly successful co-operative nurseries that Plymouth will find challenge and inspiration for their relatively new venture in cooperative group work.

Any parents in the Plymouth area who are interested in details about enrollment may telephone Mrs. Clifford Lightstone at Plymouth 491.

In the event the owner didn't want to do the work, he could hire a private contractor to do it for him.
If the owner didn't do either of the above mentioned methods of getting the work done, the city would do it and charge the owner for it.
The City Hall states that all of the owners served notices signed them, and were very cooperative. Many of them did their own work and quite a few had private contractors do it for them. These private contractors had to be bonded as required by city ordinance.
It is estimated that $20,000 worth of sidewalk improvements has been accomplished thus far, and this year's work is about three-quarters done. How much more can be done depends on the weather, and the supply of cement—there seems to be a shortage of the latter commodity.
The City Hall states that the work will be resumed again next year and in time all of our faulty sidewalks may be in good shape.

Large Crowd See Bird Dedication

Mrs. Nancy Tanager presented the teaching staff of the school. Helmer A. Nelson and Architect Thomas A. Moss presented the building to James Gallimore, president of the board.
Words of appreciation were heard from Randy Eaton, a student at the Bird school, and Charles E. Brake, Asst. Supt. of Wayne County schools. The main address was delivered by Rev. Henry J. Welch, who gave a very inspiring talk on the values of education.
The guest of honor, Mrs. Nellie Bird, for whom the building was named was introduced and told a few highlights of her 33 years in Plymouth.
James Gallimore then dedicated the building and Rev. Johnson gave the benediction.
A delightful luncheon was served following the service, and the hundreds present visited the various rooms throughout the building.

Lt. Pucznick has been a member of the Passage Gayde Post 391 since its founding. He is spending his furlough with his wife and children in Plymouth.

THE STARS
By LYN CONNELLY

A MONTH AGO, the biggest excitement in the life of pretty, 17-year-old Eugene Sanders was the senior prom at high school and her forthcoming graduation... Then something else happened... Eugene was chosen to be the star of CBS-TV's new video series, "Meet Corliss Archer"... The show's producer, former film favorite, Helen Mach, had remembered seeing Eugene in her other TV appearance, as a contestant on a local amateur opportunity show some six months before.

The only theatrically-minded member in her family, Eugene had previously done a limited amount of Little Theatre work on the west coast and, before that, in Oklahoma City where she was born... She played her first role a scant four years ago at the age of 13, appearing as Amy in a Little Theatre production of "Little Women"... During the last war, when her father was in service and stationed in New York, Eugene visited the big town with her mother and saw her first New York play... Significantly, although she had no inkling of it at the time, the play was "Kiss and Tell," the original Corliss Archer story.

A willowy, hazel-eyed brownette, TV's Corliss measures in at five feet, five, and 112 pounds... She makes no claim to being the outdoor-girl type and her one hobby is in the sit-by-the-fire category, ceramic modeling... She admits to "almost going steady" but is still young enough to call her pet cat, Delilah, her number one love.

As for her number one thrill, being the star of a big-time television show isn't it... It was her recent graduation from high school. "But," she stipulates quickly, "playing Corliss Archer comes in as a wonderful close second."

B.F. Goodrich Tubeless Tire Protects Against Blowouts

TESTED and PROVED by AAA
In AAA tests, sidewalls of all tires were weakened by cuts to force failure and then driven until failure occurred.

Conventional tire "The conventional tires with inner tubes, both new and used, all failed by blowout and collapsed instantly." — (quoted from actual AAA Certificate of Performance.)

BFG Tubeless Tire "For all the Tubeless Tires tested, an average of 4 min., 4 sec. was required for pressure to drop from 22 lbs. per sq. inch to 3 lbs. per sq. inch." Instead of a blowout, the BFG Tubeless Tire developed a small break in the liner, causing only a slow leak and providing up to 8 miles of safe stopping distance after failure.

Seals Punctures, too After testing Tubeless Tires for puncture-sealing ability by driving them over a spike board, AAA reports, "... no loss of air pressure..."

With such authentic proof of extra blowout and puncture protection, can you afford not to have B.F. Goodrich Tubeless Tires—the peace-of-mind tires—on your car right now?

Among the Bible citations is the passage (Isa. 40:31): "But they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint." Comparative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, include: "Except for the correct measuring and limiting all that is good and beautiful, man would enjoy more than three-score years and ten and still maintain his vigor, freshness, and promise." Turkey Diners Meet For 24th Annual Reunion

It has long been known that superintendent of mails Ernest Henry is an excellent cook but few people know the fact that last Thursday night he served a turkey dinner to a group of local men that were meeting for the 24th consecutive year to enjoy the products of his culinary skill. These annual dinners started way back in 1927 when Edwin Schrader, Ernest and William Henry and Wilbur Murphy with four other friends, since moved away, met in a one room cabin owned by Perry Woodworth out on west Ann Arbor road. For a lark the group prepared a turkey dinner in the cabin and it proved so successful that they just kept on doing it at least once or twice every year.

Since the cabin has been sold the dinners are now in one of their homes and last Thursday evening the group met at the Schrader residence on Main St.

As some of the original instigators moved from the city replacements were added to the eight-some which now consists of the four mentioned above and Kenneth Corey who has been enjoying the dinners for 20 years, Roy Fisher for 15 years, Byron Becker for 12 years and Don Herrick for 8 years.

Each of the diners agree that every year the turkeys taste better and all are looking forward to the 25th anniversary next year at which time they expect to cook the turkey in a silver roasting pan which they will present to the chef as a token of their appreciation for the work he has done.

Rocks Win First Game

Plymouth High gridders came to life with a bang last Friday night when the Rocks triumphed over Belleville by a score of 29 to 6 before a crowd of approximately 2000 fans, who witnessed a thrilling game on our beautiful football field.

The Rocks proved to the crowd that they meant business right after the opening kickoff when on the fifth play of the game Dave Travis passed 45 yards to Jerry Kelly for a touchdown. Al Williams converted, making the score 14 to 0 at the end of the first quarter.

Belleville came back with a series of short passes and rushes to score at the opening of the second quarter when Cullin went over from the one foot line; the extra point attempt was wide of the uprights.

Near the end of the first half Lanphear booted a long punt to the Belleville safety man who was hit hard by Don Beaver forcing him over the goal line for a safety, making the half score 16 to 6 in favor of Plymouth.

The Rocks scored twice after intermission on touchdowns by Travis and Cullin. The Rocks scored twice after intermission on touchdowns by Travis and Cullin.

Coach Ketterer used reserves most of the last quarter, who gave a good account of themselves in their first real test.

The Rocks picked up a big statistical advantage as they gained 202 yards by rushing and 169 yards by passing. Plymouth had 12 first downs to 8 for Belleville. The locals completed three passes out of 12 attempts—Belleville gave up defense a workout with their short flat passes and completed 6 out of 15 attempts.

Don Beaver played a hard game of football with several long runs and smashing tackles. Don averaged 7 yards on 10 carries. Dave Travis played his usual spirited brand of ball and averaged 6 yards per try on 11 attempts.

This was a team victory as everyone played a good brand of football. A few of the boys who stood out in line play were Larry Jolliffe and Tom Streeter on defensive play; Paul Riley, Bob Keeney and Casey Cavell on offense.

offensive line play; the line backing of Bud Lanphear and Bob Nyhus has improved considerably since the first of the season.

The offensive ends Dick Huebler and Jerry Kelly looked good, and Plymouth has come up with an extra point specialist in Al Williams—one thing they have lacked for years.

Tomorrow night Plymouth plays host to Bentley High school on our athletic field at eight o'clock.

In games played around this area last weekend Ypsilanti is still holding its own against Class "A" opposition as it smothered Jackson 32 to 0. Allen Park took the measure of Bentley 13 to 0. Deer Season for Archery Hunters Opened Monday

Bow and arrow shooters had the pleasure of touching off the first of Michigan's 1951 shooting seasons last Monday, for on that day deer became legal targets for bow and arrow hunters throughout the state.

This year a record number of archers will hunt the elusive deer during the 36 day season. Last year, there were 15,743 bowmen, an all-time high. A steady increase in archers has been noted since 1945 when only 1,800 purchase licenses.

Bow hunters may now shoot either deer or fawns during their season in all but 11 counties in the state. The counties where bucks alone are legal include Keweenaw, Houghton, Dickinson, Menominee, Emmet, Cheboygan, Otsego, Clare, Chippewa (except Drummond Island), and parts of Bay and Huron counties.

The season on any deer in Allegan county will extend through December 15. In the rest of the State, the special archery season will end on November 5.

Archers who fail to fill their licenses are eligible to purchase a second license for the rifle season which will allow them to shoot either with bows or with firearms.

Deer seem to be as abundant as ever in Michigan. Despite the recent starvation last winter and spring in Roscommon, Crawford and Osceola counties, there are still more deer there than any other part of the State, according to the Conservation Department's deer expert, Ilo Bartlett. In Crawford county, 74 deer were counted on one square mile.

The cost of hunting licenses will remain unchanged—$2 for resident small game and $3.50 for deer.

In the lower peninsula, the upland game season will not open until October 15. Waterfowl will be open to hunting throughout the State on October 12. In addition to a State license, a duck stamp is required for waterfowl hunting, but not for woodcock.

In Honolulu, when Burglar Lawrence Carreira heard the judge announce, "I sentence you to Ohio Prison for 20 years," he passed out cold, was revived in time to catch the final words: "However, execution of sentence is suspended and I place you on probation for a period of five years."

9 Man Football Gets Good Start

Nine man touch football got off to a good start last Monday, September 24, as the Bird School Spartans gained a 2 to 0 win over the Smith School Rockets on the high school gridiron. The Spartans showed their superiority throughout the game by keeping the ball in the Rockets' territory most of the game. The only score of the contest came when a bad pass from center sailed over the head of the Rockets' fullback, who could not recover in time to avoid the 2 point safety.

The outstanding plays of the game were by Nicholas Smith, who ran the ball for long gains on many occasions, and Denis Brennan, who was seemingly in on every play and made some very fine blocks.

In a contest on September 25, the Starkweather Jets trounced the Catholic Tigers 20 to 0. Joe Barraco did all the scoring for the Jets on runs of 20, 30, and 40 yards, aided by some excellent blocking from his teammates. Brian Gilles and Bernard Fournwall looked good on offense for the Tigers. Brian ran some good ground gaining plays and Bernard threw some mighty fine passes.

The final game of the week saw the Tigers forfeiting to the Jr. Spartans.

The games in this league will always be reported a week late as the deadline for the Sports page is Monday night.

Next Monday the Jr. Spartans take on the Rockets, the Spartans go against the Tigers on Tuesday, and on Wednesday the Jr. Spartans battle the Jets. All games are at the high school at 4 p.m.

At the end of the first week the standings are:

Team	W	L
Spartans	1	0
Jr. Spartans	1	0
Jets	1	0
Rockets	0	1
Tigers	0	2

7th - 8th Grade Team in Grid Game Wednesday

The 7th and 8th grade football team will play their first game next Wednesday when they meet the Trenton junior high in a game on the local field.

Coaches Owens and Ingram have about 40 young boys working out for places on the team.

These boys will play a three game schedule. They meet Trenton on October 10 at home, on October 17 they travel to Trenton for a return engagement, and on October 26 they play Bentley high on the local field.

Northville Gives Ninth Graders Second Loss

Plymouth's Ninth Grade football team lost the second game of the season last Thursday when Northville downed the locals by a score of 12 to 0.

The Mustangs scored on a 40 yard end run and a 15 yard off-tackle play. The young Rocks could not get going until late in the game and time ran out as they were on the Mustang 15 yard line.

Plymouth had few other scoring chances—one time they did intercept a pass and with a clear field ahead the number was brought down from behind on the Northville 30 yard line. Plymouth fumbled on the next play and this advantage was lost.

Putting motors in the rear will concentrate all of the noise in the back seat.

Sports Glances

by "Professor" Edgar Brown

I saw a good act of sportsmanship in the Farmington football game a couple weeks ago. A Farmington player made a jarring tackle on one of our ball carriers near the sidelines that carried both over the edge of the playing field. The Farmington boy helped the Plymouth lad up and extended his hand, and they clasped in a friendly handshake.

It does my heart good to see two boys while playing hard, clean football on opposing teams, demonstrating such respect for the other and practicing good sportsmanship.

We realize that tempers flare up in a tense, close competitive game, but the boy who can control his temper, and instead of losing his head in angry words or deeds, can laugh it off and come back with a good, hard, clean block or tackle will go much farther in life than the fellow who always "pops off" every time he thinks he has been wronged.

All apologies to Ron Ritter for giving Bill Runge credit for the touchdown that Ron made against Allen Park. It was Ritter who made the 30 yard broken-field run against Allen Park for Plymouth's first touchdown.

Ron has the potential qualities of a good open-field runner and is looking better in every game.

I am glad to see such an enthusiastic response to touch football in the grade schools of this city. These youngsters have a keen interest and lots of spirit. It seems to me that there has been a lack of real spirit on our teams the past few years. Yes, most of the boys wanted to win, but some didn't want to go all out to win, and even some weren't seriously concerned if they lost.

Any good athletic team must have team spirit—the will to go all out for the team victory. If they lose—OK—it is no disgrace to lose to a better team, if they did their best, but it is if they lose to an inferior team because they didn't put forth their best effort.

If this spirit is installed in these small boys it may continue to grow in them as they advance—and if they have the real team spirit, some day in the not too distant future, Plymouth teams will not have to take a back seat to any other team.

I took quite a ribbing for picking MSC to whip Michigan last Saturday by at least two touchdowns, but the last laugh is mine. I still firmly believe the statement I made a few weeks ago when I said that MSC had an excellent chance of going through an undefeated season.

I know they play a tough schedule with Notre Dame and Ohio State on the list, but I still think if they play the ball they are capable of playing each Saturday they will win them all.

Ohio State is supposed to have the best team in the Big Ten this season, and one of the top five in the nation according to the experts, but I'm still picking MSC to win over them by at least two touchdowns this coming Saturday.

Michigan may have some trouble with Stanford Saturday, but I think they will win by a touchdown.

I saw a well-played football game at the high school the other night. The Rock Harriers won a team victory, by a team victory. I mean everyone was playing as good as a team. The tackling and blocking was sharper and more effective—it looks like they have uncovered an expert extra point specialist overnight in Al Williams, but don't forget the man that holds the ball for the kick has as much to do with getting that extra point. The ball centering problem seems solved as Casey Cavell did a swell job at offensive center the other night.

For the most part, fans watch the ball carrier and forget about the boys in the line, who take a lot of hard knocks on every play. These linemen open the holes with key blocks which make it possible for the ball carriers to go far yardage. The defensive team, who never are in when Plymouth scores, deserves much credit for their effort in trying to keep the opposition from scoring.

The reserves, who seldom get in a game, are essential to a winning football team. A school must have many boys out for daily scrimmages—the reserves play a big part in winning a game they may never get in by helping the varsity rectify their mistakes and improve their play. For their part in a victory, even though they don't get in the game, perhaps, a player who has attended drills faithfully each day should get some sort of a minor letter or emblem for indirectly helping the team win games. Everyone admires the boy who stays out the whole season taking punishment in practice, but seldom getting in a game.

Plymouth plays Bentley tomorrow night and I hope the boys don't rest on their laurels from last Friday's win. They have to take each game as it comes, and forget what happened the previous games. Remember what happened to MSC last year after beating Michigan—the next week they thought they had a breather against Maryland and proceeded to lose the game by a lopsided score.

Bentley will be pointing for this game tomorrow night, and our boys will have to play the inspired football they did last week to beat them.

PHS Harriers Lose First Meet

Coach Konrad Moore's high school harriers lost their first dual meet in two years last Friday afternoon when a strong Belleville squad edged them by a score of 25 to 31.

John Balouch, the league champion of last year, came in first with a time of 12:11. Belleville won the meet by taking the next four places, and an 11th place.

Marvin Green came in 6th, Ed Grosjean 7th, Roger Baenschütz 8th and Bill Ferguson 9th to complete the Plymouth team.

All six schools have a cross-country team this year, and the league race promises to be a tight one. Belleville, the pre-season favorite, was nosed out by Trenton 31 to 35 in their first meet of the year.

Tomorrow Plymouth meets Bentley high school. This is our neighbor school's first year in the 6-B Suburban League.

Storm Damages Smith Cottage

While the high wind that swept Michigan last week did not do much material damage to buildings in and around Plymouth, it did considerable damage to the cottage of Glen Smith, which is located on Pettibone lake near Bitley, where one woman was killed in the storm and a big cement block building was blown over.

Mr. Smith happened to be home in Plymouth when the storm struck in the northwestern part of the state. It was on the following day after the storm when Myron Mawhorter, who also owns a cottage near Baldwin, called Mr. Smith by phone and advised him that a big branch from a tree had been blown across the Smith cottage. The owner left immediately to make such repairs as necessary. He does not expect to return to Plymouth until after the deer season.

Micol-Rutherford Rites Solemnized....

The First Presbyterian church was the scene on Saturday evening, September 22 at 8 o'clock, of the wedding of Eleanor Luelle Rutherford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey G. Rutherford of Hartsough avenue and Gerald Micol, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Micol of Forest avenue, who spoke their marriage vows in a double ring ceremony before the Reverend Henry J. Walch in the presence of about 200 relatives and friends.

To the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march by organist, Fred Nelson the bridal party assembled before the altar which was lovely with palms, baskets of white gladioli and candleabra. Miss Marjorie Thomas sang "Because" preceding the ceremony followed by "The Lord's Prayer."

Eleanor chose for her wedding, a gown of bridal satin with illusion neckline and bertha collar of Chantilly lace sprinkled with tiny iridescent sequins which extended to a point in the back. Her court train had two wide panels of Chantilly lace extending from the waist line. Her fingertip length veil was of French illusion, falling from a small pleated cap with orange blossoms and she carried a cascade of white roses, baby mums and ivy. The maid of honor, Sally Belle Rupp was dressed in American beauty rose faille taffeta with redingote of net trimmed with tiny buttons and she wore a halo of American beauty feathers. Her bouquet was a cascade of Tailsman roses, bronze mums and ivy.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Marilyn Rutherford, sister-in-law of the bride, Mrs. Ione Micol, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, Denyse McKinley, Patricia Larson and Wanda Grieve. They were dressed like the maid of honor and in emerald green faille taffeta and redingotes. They, too, wore halos of emerald feathers and carried cascade bouquets of American Beauty roses, bronze mums and ivy.

For her duties as flower girl, Gayle Micol, niece of the bridegroom wore a tiny replica of the bride's gown in white satin and Chantilly lace sprinkled with tiny iridescent sequins which extended to a point in the back. Her court train had two wide panels of Chantilly lace extending from the waist line. Her fingertip length veil was of French illusion, falling from a small pleated cap with orange blossoms and she carried a cascade of

Roger Corey assisted Gerald as best man and the ushers were Russell Micol, brother of the bridegroom, James Rutherford, brother of the bride, Melvin Korte, Monte Smith and John Brither. For the reception, which followed in the church parlor, Mrs. Rutherford received the guests in a dusty rose faille crepe gown with black accessories. Mrs. Micol chose, for her son's wedding, a royal blue crepe gown with a black velvet hat and accessories. Both mothers had corsages of Tailsman roses pinned to their purses.

The bride chose for traveling in northern Michigan, a purple and grey checked suit with black velvet accessories and an orchid corsage. The young couple are now at home to their many friends at 875 Wing street in Plymouth.

Eleanor was honored with many lovely parties preceding her marriage among them a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Russell Micol for 25 guests, Mrs. Clarence Rupp and daughter, Sally a personal shower with 25 guests invited, and another miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Lawrence Larson and her daughter, Patricia.

UNCORKING THE NEWS

By Carl Peterson

Well, seems like Congress is getting a short vacation as of Oct. 6. With the summers in Washington hotter than the subject of a minister's sermon, and Congressional problems not much cooler... we can understand the solons' desire to remove their tired noses from the grindstone for a bit. But with 1952 elections approaching, the chances are that the pundits from Capitol Hill won't get much more rest than a light sleeper in a boiler factory. There'll be speeches, cold chicken croquettes, handshaking and political fence mending to keep them busy. Even Washington'll look good after that.

Hints For Plymouth Homemakers

New Recipes to Perk Up Old Fashioned Tea Parties

Tea has been called the romantic brew of the ages and in all lands the serving of tea is a ritual which invokes warmth and pleasure. The little details will make your party memorable.

The hostess at the tea table will preside, greeting the guests as they are brought to the table and pouring the tea. The service, whether a formal silver set or powder should gleam. For October teas, the colors of the fall harvest, burnt oranges, rampart scarlets, and maize yellows, will make attractive decorations. And for a different note, a bowl of amber Spiced Tea Punch, as well as the regular tea service, will create a conversation piece. Another hostess can serve hot coffee at the other end of the table.

A beautiful cloth is a must for a formal tea—but for any tea party or service some kind of cloth and dainty napkins are really considered necessary. Low bowls of tea roses and tall ivory candles at each end of the table will be beautiful. Or bowls of buttered toast.

Lemon wedges, sugar, and cream should be arranged a little to one side of the tea service so that guests may help themselves at the suggestion of the hostess. Food should be confined to small sandwiches, petit fours and canapés that are not difficult to handle. And an adequate source of boiling hot water must be set up so that guests can help themselves.

Spiced Tea Punch
4 level tablespoons black tea
2 level tablespoons whole cloves
1 teaspoon allspice
1 cup strained orange juice
1/2 cup cranberry juice
1/2 cup simple sugar syrup
8 cups freshly boiled hot water
Pour 5 cups of boiling water over the tea and cloves and allspice; let steep for five minutes, strain; add orange juice and cranberry juice and remaining 3 cups of hot water. Stir until syrup is thoroughly dissolved.
To make tea for a party, pour three quarts of vigorously boiling water over one half pound of tea. Let steep for ten minutes. Then strain into a storage crock or stainless steel container. The resulting concentrate can be used for making either hot or iced tea.

For Hot Tea, pour one part of the concentrate into a serving pot and add seven parts of very hot water. The water need not be boiling, but it must be hot enough, allowing for inevitable cooling, to give a piping hot serving.

When the service of a party is well arranged, the hospitality of your house will be unforgettable. Good service leaves room for conversation and intimacy. In the final analysis that is what makes for success and gives the ceremony of The Tea the glamour it has held for hundreds of years.

Here are some appetizers for parties, or for your family to try.

Appetizers
Cut bread in triangles, rounds, or fingers, and sauté on one side. Mix following ingredients in order given and blend well:
1/2 cup mashed sardines
1/2 tablespoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons mayonnaise few drops Worcestershire sauce
1/4 teaspoon onion juice
2 tablespoons minced stuffed olives.

Spread on sautéed bread and top with slices of stuffed olives.

Sardine Spirals
Mash two cans of sardines which have been drained free of oil. Mix with 4 teaspoons lemon juice and 1/4 teaspoon prepared horseradish. Spread this mixture on thin slices of fresh bread, from which the crusts have been removed. Roll up and secure with a toothpick. Brush with melted butter and sprinkle with grated cheese. Toast and serve hot.

At a wedding party where many women wore orchids an Italian fellow said a good custom, at the end of the evening, was to drop the orchids in the soup pot. He said they gave the soup an unusual flavor.

IT'S APPLE PICKING TIME

The apple harvest is good this year in the eastern panhandle of West Virginia. Because of this there will be many an apple cottage pudding served in the homes around there. It's a satisfying homey dessert that you will enjoy no matter where you live.

Apple Cottage Pudding

- 3 apples
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/4 cup shortening
- 1 egg, well-beaten
- 1 cup sifted flour
- 1/4 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/4 cup milk
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Place peeled and thinly sliced apples in buttered casserole. Sprinkle with one-third cup sugar and cinnamon. Cream sugar and shortening together, add egg and mix well.

Sift dry ingredients together and add alternately with milk. Add vanilla. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for one hour.

Yield: 6 to 8 servings.
Spoon generous servings of this fluffy pudding into dessert dishes that are big enough to hold lots of rich top milk or cream.

The full spicy apple flavor and aroma will be at its height if the pudding is served while it is still warm.

Baked apples glazed with honey are another luscious fall dessert.

Honey Apples

Pare the top half of medium sized baking apples. Core. Place in shallow pan. Stuff centers with raisins.
Pour small amount of water in baking pan, cover and bake in moderately hot oven (375° F.) until the apples are nearly tender. Drizzle honey over apples. Dot with butter or margarine and continue to cook until the fruit is done.

September Garden Tips

Bulb planting time is near... get a copy of your garden supply dealer's bulb catalog and select varieties you will want to plant late this month and in October. During this planning session keep in mind the color, height, and blooming season. Make your bulb beds and borders with a plan in mind that will assure harmony and beauty.

Lawns... Fall is nature's chosen lawn making time. If you don't have the dense heavy sod you would like in your lawn, now is the time to get to work. The secret to lawn success is early fall seeding and liberal feeding of complete plant food.

Perennials... Inspect your perennial bed and borders. If some of them produced small blooms this past summer or if the stems are crowded they probably need dividing. Cut off and burn all top growth as soon as they die down. This will prevent wintering over of many insects, and disease in the plant stalks and leaves.

Lawn Weeds... The fall rains and the cooler weather may have brought a new growth of weeds into your lawn. If so, get out your sprayer and selective lawn weed chemicals (2, 4-D) and control them to make room for fall seeded grass.

Green Manure... Sow winter rye (2 lbs. per 100 sq. ft.) in the vegetable plot and other bare areas this fall. Spade the rye under next spring, thus adding to the humus supply of the soil and improving the structure. Feed the rye liberally at planting time, you will not lose this plant until next summer, when decay will release the valuable nutrients slowly.

Garden Advice
In October—Dig and Store. DAHLIA tops should be cut off, roots dug and thoroughly dried and stored—not later than the end of the month.

GLADIOLUS—Cut and burn the tops. Dry the corms in the sunshine; then store.

TUBEROUS BEGONIAS—Dig and dry thoroughly. After the tops fall off, clean the tubers, then pack in sand.

CANNA LILIES—Take up root clumps with plenty of sand around them and pack close together in a box.

Planting Bulbs and Peonies
Any time now before the ground freezes is bulb planting time. Daffodils, jonquils, tulips, hyacinths, narcissus, and lilies may all be put out or transplanted during this period. Your overgrown peony clumps should be dug and separated too.

Separate your peony roots so there are at least three to five eyes or buds to each division. Set them so that the eyes at the top of the root are about two inches beneath the surface of the ground in heavy soil, or three inches in light soil. Space them two and one-half to three and one-half feet apart.
If the peonies are planted in a fairly good soil there is no need to add plant food until next spring.

'MAIN DISH' MEAT SALADS

Individual bowls of tossed salad are made hearty with the addition of meat—in this case, half slices of Braunschweiger and salami.

Berry Muffins—A Fall Treat

Blue-berry muffins and plenty of steaming coffee—sounds like fall, doesn't it? When appetites begin to reawaken to the first hint of autumn sharpness in the air, a plate of hot blueberry muffins seems just right, somehow. Like most old favorites there's a different way to make blueberry muffins that gives them a special, all-your-own touch. You'll find that the oatmeal in the recipe below adds a nut-like flavor that is the perfect complement for blueberries.

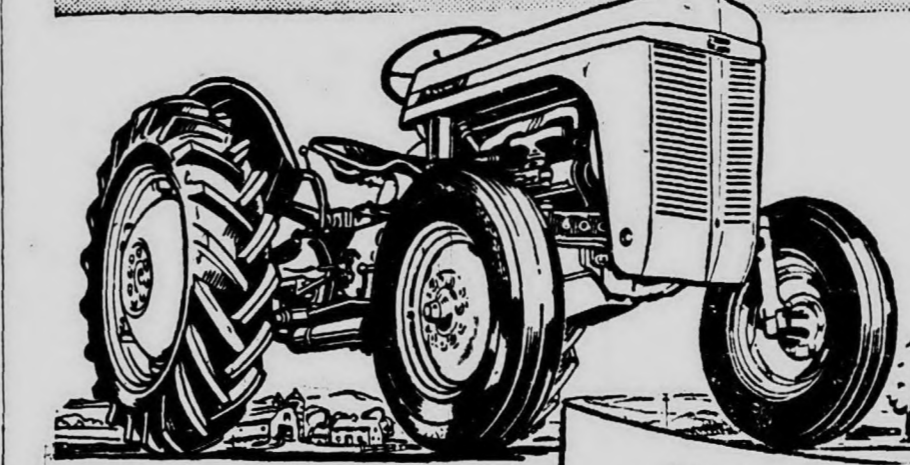

Speaking of fall, that's the time when hot coffee, too, seems at its fragrant best. Be sure that the coffee you serve is freshly made, steaming hot and strong. After that, just make certain that you have plenty of it—enough for seconds to match those extra-good blueberry muffins!

- Oatmeal Blueberry Muffins
1/2 cup shortening
2 3/4 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
2 eggs, lightly beaten
2 cups blueberries
3 teaspoons salt
2 cups rolled oats
4 cups sifted flour
4 teaspoons baking powder

John Maynard Rotary Speaker

Rotary Clubs in 83 countries throughout the world are united in an endeavor to promote international understanding, good will and peace. That was the message of John (Jack) Maynard of Detroit, Governor of District 223 of Rotary International, in addressing the Rotary Club of Plymouth September 28, following a conference with local Rotary officers, directors and committee chairman.

In addition to the activities of Rotary's 7,300 Clubs in their own communities to promote this objective, Mr. Maynard explained, over a six-year period Rotary International is spending $1,500,000, principally to create better understanding among the peoples of different nations.

One of the ways in which this money is being spent is on Rotary Foundation Fellowships, which enable outstanding graduate students to study for one year, in countries other than their own, as ambassadors of good will. Since this program was established in 1947, 284 Fellowships have been awarded to students in 42 countries, with grants totaling more than $700,000.

"Devoted to services, Rotary provides a common ground for 350,000 business and professional executives throughout the world, regardless of nationality or political or religious beliefs," the Rotary District Governor emphasized.

All Rotary Clubs in the 223rd District are sponsoring a "Youth for Understanding" program—which is bringing boys and girls of high school age from Europe for one year's study to stay and learn our American way of life.

Forty-two young people have arrived here in the last two months and are making their homes with members of the 223rd District Clubs.

FAIR IN THE LIGHT OF MEMORY SHINES
MICHIGAN MICHIGAN
ELTON R. EATON

A few days ago over in the interesting city of Lansing, one of the great newspapers of the Midwest, The Lansing State Journal held a special "open house" ceremony for a group of Michigan newspaper editors, giving to the visitors an opportunity to see in detail the operations of one of the most modern newspaper plants in the country.

It was all interesting, intensely so. The arrangements of the beautiful new building provide the maximum in detailed convenience for the publication of a great newspaper.

But to the writer one of the most interesting things about the new building was one of those "little things"—seemingly a minor detail that had not the slightest bearing in the appearance of the beautiful structure or in the production of a great newspaper.

On the site where the State Journal erected its new building stood one of those beautiful oak trees that in the early days dotted southern Michigan from the valley of the Huron river to the shores of the Grand that winds its way to the blue waters of Lake Michigan. Recall that story, "Oak Openings"? Well, the tree that stood on the Journal site must have looked very much like some of those oaks that James Fenimore Cooper wrote so fluently about.

Paul A. Martin, the alert, progressive editor of The Journal, and his associates sat up many a night trying to figure out a way to place the building on the site so that it would not be necessary to cut down the big towering oak tree. They came to the conclusion that such an accomplishment was hopeless, that the woodman's axe was necessary in order to clear the site.

When this decision was reached, Editor Martin declared that there would be a reminder of that tree conserved somehow in some way in the new building. So he arranged with the forestry department of the Michigan State College to have workmen cut from the body of a tree one great circular piece so that it could be preserved for years to come. A section of the tree a foot or more in thickness was cut off. It was carefully dried and prepared for a place at the head of the main stairway in The Journal office.

When foresters counted the year-lines of the tree they discovered that it was 137 years old. Amazing as it may seem the lines were so clear that the count was made without the slightest difficulty.

Then after the great chunk of wood, which must measure somewhere near six feet or more in diameter, was placed in the wall at the top of the stairs, Editor Martin had members of his staff look up the events in Michigan history that had taken place each year during the life span of the tree.

After the wood had been placed in the wall, treated and varnished so that time would not mar its beauty, a line was drawn from each of the yearly circles within the tree to a diagram that surrounds it, showing some important historic event that has taken place in each year.

The first line shown was for the year 1812—and it was in that year, the first year of life shown for the tree, that Fort Mackinac fell to the English.

It was in 1907, when the tree had become a great towering giant, that the life-lines of the tree marked the year when "Teddy" Roosevelt came to Michigan to visit the Michigan State Agricultural College as it was known at that time.

The writer was then on the staff of The Kalamazoo Gazette and he was sent to Lansing to get a first hand account of the speech that "Teddy" delivered to a great crowd that visited the college campus that day. A one line street car system operated alongside an old dirt road that carried visitors from Lansing to East Lansing at that time.

Having "lived" with this interesting phase in the construction of the new Journal building, the originators of the idea probably fully realize what an important symbol of Michigan history they have created.

For generations to come, this creation as the result of the right-type of thinking has created for Michigan and the millions of tourists who will come to this state, an attraction that should be a "must" on any visit made to Michigan's interesting seat of government.

A $17 million bonanza of federal aid for wildlife projects during the coming year is going to mean a headache for many State game administrators and for the federal supervisors of the fund. That is the prediction of Carl D. Shoemaker, conservation director of the National Wildlife Federation.

Last year American hunters stampeded the sporting goods counters as never before to buy shotguns, rifles and ammunition. War clouds threatened to shut off production and the sportsmen were simply stocking up. On every purchase the federal government collected an 11-percent excise tax under the Pittman-Robertson federal aid wildlife Act of 1938.

The collections totaled $17,846,423, highest on record and $8 million more than the preceding year. After the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service deducts 3 per cent for administrative costs and fixed amounts are allotted to Alaska and other territories, a sum of $17,191,031 will be left for apportionment to the 48 states.

The headaches will come, according to Shoemaker, in trying to spend the money wisely. Several states will be unable to put up the necessary matching funds—25 per cent per project. Many states will have difficulty finding suitable projects which can qualify under the Pittman-Robertson law.

The money is apportioned to the states by a formula taking into consideration the area of the state and the number of hunting licenses sold. No state can receive more than 5 per cent of the total fund, or no state less than one-half of one per cent.

At one extreme we find Nevada, with 110,540 square miles and only 25,135 hunting licenses, eligible for $328,550, or $13.07 for every license. Nevada will be unable to put up the $108,516 required in matching funds. This sparsely settled state reverted $73,445 of the federal allotment last year and probably will have to turn back more in 1951-52.

At the other extreme we find Michigan, large and populous, limited by the 5 per cent ceiling to an allotment of $859,550. For Michigan this amounts to only 83 cents per licensed hunter. Average for all states is $1.36 per hunter.

Rhode Island, with only 1,214 square miles, may receive $85,955—the one-half cent minimum—but this is $7.48 for each of the state's 11,488 licensed hunters. Last year Rhode Island reverted $18,904. The reverted money goes automatically into the federal migratory bird conservation fund.

Under the Pittman-Robertson law, federal-aid funds can be spent for wildlife restoration projects including "the selection, rehabilitation and improvement of areas of land or water adaptable as feeding, resting or breeding places"; for the acquisition of such areas; and for "research into problems of wildlife management as may be necessary to efficient administration affecting wildlife resources."

The funds cannot be used for fisheries projects. The Dingell-Johnson Act of 1950, with an excise tax on sport fishing tackle, takes care of that end. Dingell-Johnson receipts are relatively modest—about $2,900,000 last year—and no spending problems are foreseen.

Getting back to the Pittman-Robertson headache, Shoemaker pointed out that acquisition of new game areas isn't easy to accomplish in these times. Real estate values are at an all-time high and industry and agriculture are making unprecedented demands on available lands. Several Western states have little or no need for additional game lands, because much of their area already is public domain, or available for wildlife purposes in national forests and parks.

In some states game research also has reached a virtual saturation point. It is difficult to set up new research studies without duplication and overlapping.

The solution may lie in a more liberal interpretation of the law, according to Shoemaker, who as secretary of a special Senate committee on wildlife conservation, helped draft the Pittman-Robertson act. He believes the funds should be used for certain necessary game-management practices, such as checking and tabulating the harvest by hunters, which in the past have not been approved by the federal supervisors. Game management procedures not interpreted as "research" have to be financed entirely from State license funds. This in turn limits the ability of the state to match the federal allotments.

"The act was designed to help, and not hinder, the states in the management of their wildlife resources," Shoemaker said. "One place where the law fails now," the Federation director added, "is in not providing for information and education programs. Pointing out that conservation is "nine-tenths education," and that research is little if the facts it discovers are not publicized, he said that "sooner or later the Pittman-Robertson Act may have to be amended to permit this very thing."

Residents Asked To Donate Books

Wilfrid Robinson, 49601 Powell road recently returned home from a visit to his son, Technical Sergeant Arthur R. Robinson, who is stationed at Camp Luke, Phoenix, Arizona. While at Camp Luke, Mr. Robinson visited the camp library. He discovered that they had no books and only a few well thumbed magazines.

Because there are several Plymouth men in the unit (it was formerly a national guard unit), Mr. Robinson feels that the residents of Plymouth would like a chance to help them. For this reason, he has offered to send books to the camp.

If you have old books which you no longer want and are in good condition leave them with Mr. Robinson or call him at 2161 and he will pick them up. Mr. Robinson will then send the books to line the shelves of the library at Camp Luke.

Girls Recommend Room Changes

Home Making 3 girls are making plans to recommend changing the living room in room 21, with the Home Making teacher Miss Ingeborg Lundin, directing the project.

If one has ever visited the high school Home Making living room, one would see that the furniture is badly worn and needs replacing. The studio couch has springs that are beyond repair and no one has any desire to sit on it. The rug has raveled edges and is worn evenly. Locker drawers and blackboards look odd in a living room.

Some of the recommendations made by the girls are: remove the lockers and blackboard; purchase a new davenport or seat; recover the floor and have a mirror instead of the locker space. The girls also are making plans to rearrange the furniture. These plans were drawn to scale and are to be considered.

Three Students Sent to Library Conference

Don Lightfoot, Jean Elliott, and Judy Lockhart are being sent to the 4th annual Library Conference to be held at Clear Lake near Battle Creek, Michigan, October 5, 6, and 7 as representatives of Plymouth High school.

Don Lightfoot who was a delegate last year was elected by the conference to be treasurer of the 1951 meeting. He also is chairman of a talent show Plymouth High is sponsoring.

Plymouth School Band Salutes Paul T. Wagner

With a salute to Mr. Paul Wagner, ex-PHS bandmaster, the Plymouth High marching band, under the direction of Mr. Lawrence Livingston, opened the 1951 season at the Allen Park-Plymouth football game, here September 21.

Starting with a fanfare formation they went into the letters "P. T. W." and played "Always." Then they formed the word "Good" and played "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" and played "Auld Lang Syne" after forming the word "Luck." The band formed a block "P" and played the alma mater and marched off the field.

MICHIGAN STATE HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT
CHARLES M. ZIEGLER
STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSIONER

The above picture made from a drawing by Artist Phil Troeger, shows how the new Michigan State ferry, the ice-breaker Vacationland, will look when completed. The big ship, which will be one of the most powerful crafts ever built for its size, is now under construction at the Great Lakes Engineering Works at River Rouge, Michigan. Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler has announced the vessel is expected to go in service across the Straits of Mackinac in time to handle part of the annual deer hunting traffic just ahead of the opening of the deer hunting season, November 15. The Vacationland will handle winter traffic across the Straits and will augment the present four State Ferries at other seasons of the year. It will be powered by four huge Diesel engines and will be 360 feet long and 73 1/2 feet wide. It will load and unload at either end, which will cut some 20 minutes per round trip off the time of the four state boats now in service at the Straits. The Vacationland will handle some 150 vehicles and 650 passengers per trip. It will cost approximately $4,500,000. A new State Ferry dock is being built at St. Ignace and a new ship for the Vacationland at the Mackinaw City docks.

Local High School is Accredited Since Year of 1900

It was 80 years ago that the University of Michigan revolutionized the admission of graduates from Michigan high schools. Until the University took action in 1871 to admit on the basis of a high school diploma, the standard practice had been to require a formal academic examination of all applicants for admission. The admission by diploma was introduced during the acting presidency of Henry S. Frieze whose administration likewise was marked by the admission of women to the University.

The idea has stood the test of time and is now adopted in whole or in part by practically every college in the United States. Out of the plan has come the University's program of accrediting high schools in the state.

The accrediting program is now carried out through the University's Bureau of School Services. Over 500 high schools in the state were visited in the past school year by University representatives who make periodic visits to all schools to see whether they should remain on the accredited list.

Emphasis is no longer placed on inspection of the school but rather on the service which can be rendered by the University in helping the individual school with its problems and the improvement of its program," according to L. E. Vredvoe, director of the Bureau of School Services.

Accreditation has proved valuable to students from schools on the University list, not only in entering college, but in transferring to other secondary schools in the United States and foreign countries, Vredvoe points out. Full recognition of accreditation by the University has been given by all accrediting agencies, universities, colleges and secondary schools.

There were only five high schools on the accredited list when the plan was launched in 1871 and these same schools have been on the list ever since. They are the high schools at Adrian, Ann Arbor, Jackson, Detroit Central and Flint Central. From this start the list of accredited schools has grown to 635, with 100 schools continuously accredited for 50 years or more.

Kalamazoo Central was accredited in 1872 and Coldwater, Grand Rapids Central, Pontiac and Ypsilanti were added the following year. Battle Creek and Fenton joined the list 75 years ago in 1876. Niles was added in 1877, Saginaw High in 1879 and Monroe and Saginaw Arthur Hill in 1880.

In 1883, Bay City Central, Ionia, Manistee, Oshtemo and Port Huron High schools appeared on the list of accredited high schools. Alpena, Big Rapids and Hastings High schools were added in 1884. Lansing Sexton High in 1885, and Mt. Clemens High school in 1886.

Greenville and Marshall High schools were accredited in 1888. St. Mary Academy at Monroe in 1889, and Traverse City High school in 1889.

In 1890 the accreditation program was stopped up and ten schools accredited in that year have remained on the list of approved schools since that time. These are Albion, Allegan, Charlotte, Eaton Rapids, Hillsdale, Howell, Ludington, Marquette, Muskegon, and St. Clair High schools. Ithaca High school was accredited just sixty years ago in 1891.

Buchanan, Cassopolis, Grand Haven, Hancock, Holly, Ishpeming, Lake Linden, Lapeer, Marine City, Paw Paw, St. Johns, St. Joseph, and Union City high schools were all accredited in 1892. In 1893 Dowagiac, Houghton, Hudson, Mason, Petoskey, Portland, and Three Rivers High schools appeared on the accredited list; and in 1894 Benton Harbor, Birmingham, Escanaba, Iron Mountain, Ironwood, Menominee, Negaunee, Sault Saint Marie and Tecumseh high schools were accredited.

Calumet, Decatur, Plainwell, Sturgis, and Wyandotte high schools were accredited in 1895. Norway in 1896, Belding, Constantine, Gladstone, Midland, Mt. How does it feel to drive a Buick?

If you think perhaps we're hinting that it would be a good idea for you to try out a Buick—mister, you've never been so right.

It does a lot of things for you and to you that will be something new in your driving experience.

Take the way it feels beneath your hands on the wheel—eager and willing and anxious to please.

It spurts when you want to spurt—rolls with effortless momentum when you want to cruise.

When you take a curve, it snugs down to the road with sure-footed confidence.

After you make a turn, the wheels instinctively seek a straight course. This car seems to guide itself.

When you come to a bumpy stretch, each separate wheel on its own coil spring steps you smoothly along on a level keel.

Then there's power that surges into action at a nudge of your toe—sends your speedometer needle soaring up to any speed the law allows, in a matter of seconds.

And there is also thrift—the gas-saving thrift that comes from a high-compression valve-in-head Fireball Engine found in no other car.

To top all this, there is Dynaflo Drive*—that feeds power in a steady, falterless flow—lets you ride relaxed in busy traffic or on a day-long cross-country drive.

We're willing to stand on the statement that no other car rides,

NO OTHER CAR PROVIDES ALL THIS!

Important Notice to those Who Wish To Heat With Gas

Consumers Power Company has been granted permission by the Michigan Public Service Commission and the Petroleum Administration for Defense to supply gas to 10,000 additional gas house-heating or other space-heating customers.

These 10,000 additional customers will be apportioned fairly among the many cities and villages in which this company supplies gas service.

We want to give everyone an equal opportunity to obtain gas heating service. Accordingly, application blanks will be mailed to every gas customer of the company who is not now using gas for heating purposes.

If you are NOT a Consumers gas customer at present but live within our gas service area and wish gas heating service, please drop in at the nearest Consumers Office or, if this is not practical, call us by telephone and ask for an application form.

If you ARE a Consumers gas customer now, your application has been mailed to you.

All applications must be in our hands or in the mail by October 8th, 1951.

If the number of applicants in any area exceeds the number of additional gas heating customers approved for that area, those to receive gas heating service will be selected by lot. Only persons who are able to complete the installation of gas heating equipment within a reasonable time and who live in areas where local gas distribution facilities are adequate to serve them can be considered for gas heating service at this time.

To avoid tying up your money in equipment you may not be able to use, please refrain from buying any gas space-heating equipment until an approved application is returned to you by the company. Then see your dealer.

Service can be supplied only to heating equipment approved by the American Gas Association Testing Laboratory or other nationally recognized inspection board or laboratory.

Roger Babson Says --

Babson Discusses Woodlands
New Boston, N. H., October 4. Every investor is justified in owning some growing timber. This applies especially to those in the higher brackets who are not too much interested in income, the most of which must be paid back to Uncle Sam. I say this because only 25 percent of the profits on woodland need be paid back in taxes.

Woodland Profits Sure
In areas protected against fires, woodland profits should be slow, but sure. With the demand for timber increasing more rapidly than the growth, it is evident that the price must constantly increase. This increase in demand is due both to the constant increase in population and also to the new uses for pulpwood and other species.

A few years back pulpwood was used only for newsprint, wrapping paper, etc. Today it is used for plastics, cabinets, cellophane and even wearing apparel. These new uses are increasing very fast. Hence, the two most valuable woods today are spruce for pulp and pine for timber. Hard woods are becoming valuable for use in connection with furniture, tools and various utensils. In fact, the largest profits may be in stands of hard woods because they are now so very cheap.

Grafting of Trees

The grafting of fruit trees is very common. This applies particularly to apple, pear and orange trees. The best orange trees are valencias grafted on lemon roots. Now experiments are being carried on to graft timber trees to get more valuable varieties and quicker growth. For instance, after cutting down an 18" pine tree, instead of permitting the stump to waste, a hole will some day be bored in the stump and a healthy ten year old graft will be inserted. This gives the new tree the benefit of the large root system of the old tree which has just been cut. This method has a great future.

With free gravity power, it will sometime be possible to irrigate woodlands. The growth of trees is very dependent upon the moisture. When a tree is cut, it will be seen that some "growth rings" are over an inch thick, which was the growth during a rainy year. Other rings will be only one quarter inch thick, which shows the growth in a dry year. If woodland could be cheaply irrigated, the time required to grow good timber or pulpwood could be cut in halves.

More Medicinal Uses Coming
The sap of very few hard wood trees is now used. The outstanding example of useful sap is that of the maple trees from which maple sugar is obtained. We, however, use this maple sap merely because it is sweet. Sometime it will be found that the bitter saps of other trees contain valuable medical qualities. These may help people suffering from high blood pressure, arthritis and similar diseases. Who knows but the key to the cancer problem will be found in the sap or bark or some hard wood tree. Today the bark is used mostly for tanning or dyeing.

Looking into the future, we must not forget the leaves of trees. We know how valuable are the leaves of the tea trees of China, Malay and India. At one time the leaves of the mulberry tree were needed to raise silk worms. Yet, today not one hundredth of one per cent of the billions of our hard wood leaves are utilized. I forecast that cutover land will some day be valuable merely for the leaves of the remaining brush. Marvelous new discoveries are ahead in connection with the use of grasses and other forms of vegetables which are now wasted.

Something to Think About

Just a thought in closing. Has it ever occurred to you that trees can do something which you cannot do? Trees can draw up food through their roots. We humans must lift our food up to our mouths and let it pass down through our bodies by gravity. The branches and leaves of a tree take their food up from the ground through their "feet" against the pull of gravity. This means that they have some undiscovered elements or vitamins which have great possibilities. Don't put all your money into any one thing; but don't go through life without owning a few trees.

A. F. Glassford Tours East After Convention

City Manager, Albert Glassford, returned recently from a City Managers' convention in Maine. There were about 350 delegates from all over the United States at the convention.

Honorable Frederick G. Payne, Governor of Maine, welcomed the delegates. Keynote speaker at the convention was George Olmstead, Jr., president of the S. D. Warren company of Boston. Mr. Olmstead stressed the new methods of doing business. He especially mentioned the necessity of the stockholders, employees, and customers of a company having confidence in the company. He remarked that this same idea should be applied in municipal management.

The convention took place at Old Poland Spring about 25 miles north of Portland. The most spectacular entertainment at the convention was a clam bake on an island in Casco Bay. This clam bake was sponsored by the city managers of Maine.

While at the convention, Mr. Glassford saw Harold Check, Clarence Elliott and Perry Cookingham, all former managers of Plymouth.

A more complete report to the city commission will be forthcoming in the near future.

After the convention, Mr. and Mrs. Glassford and their son Carl toured the east. "The most impressive place we visited was Plymouth, Mass. where the history of the United States began," stated Mr. Glassford. While there they visited buildings which are under construction by the Plymouth Plantation Incorporated. This corporation is rebuilding an area to represent the way it was after the first Pilgrims settled in their search for freedom. These houses, contrary to popular opinion, are not log, but plank houses similar to those of England of the same period.

The highway problems which the eastern states have impressed the city manager. "If they want to straighten or level a road in the east, they can not just abandon one road and build another the way we can here," he stated, "They have to build through rock" To help solve the problem, a parkway system has been set up from one principle city to the next. These parkways are straight roads with an island in the center. This system and the new turnpikes are financed by tolls, usually one cent per mile. There is two lane highway each way. However, as one nears the large eastern cities, the traffic is so heavy that almost every accident involves several cars.

"The trip was wonderful, but it was good to get back to the flat land and straight roads of Michigan after the trip east," Mr. Glassford said.
