THE EASTER MESSAGE.

Dr. Melbourne I. Johnson, minister of the First Methodist church of this city, in an Easter Message to Plymouth residents says:

"Loud Mockers in the roaring street say Christ is crucified again."

They also say that "Christ twice dead is dead indeed." In the first case they are right; in the second they are most emphatically wrong. So long as human sin runs counter to the love of God, the Cross is the symbol of our corporate life, but it is never the last word in the struggle. Easter morning is the answer to Good Friday.

We are called to carry Christ's Cross, but we are also assured that we may know the power of His Resurrection. The one implies the other, and together they are the answer to the terrible needs of today. There is no other answer. All the perplexity, the heartache, and the anguish which we share with others would be only a hideous farce without meaning or end if the final word were "Truth forever on the scaffold."

The Cross is the mightiest of the mighty acts of God, but it is incomplete without the Resurrection. The deed which gave our Lord unique power over the hearts of men released Him into human life forever.

He is alive, and the testimony of unnumbered millions confirms it. Men may question what will happen to organized religion; they seldom question what will happen to Christ Himself. He may escape from the little conventicles in which we try to hold Him, but we shall find Him again in the midst of mankind.

That is the meaning and message of Easter. In His own day men who found Him too disturbing and disquieting an influence took the most effective way they knew to banish Him from the world. Since then men and women have used all kinds of weapons to do the same. Persecution, indifference, cynicism, even just the blighting hand of conventionalism—we have used them all. We use them all today and they fail.

Somehow He rises from the dead. The miracle may happen in our hearts, but if we try to shut it out it will certainly happen somewhere else. "Behold, I am alive for evermore."

THE MERCHANTS—THE BUSINESS MEN — THEY WANT IT!

We have heard much and read much silly chatter in recent weeks about Plymouth's parking problem. From all of this discussion, there seems to be a general thought — that only the "merchants" and the "business men" are demanding more public parking space.

From my own knowledge, the people who are chiefly demanding more parking space in Plymouth are the thousands of automobile owners who live in all parts of Plymouth and in the territory around Plymouth which helps to support our schools, our churches and our community.

They drive down town to go to the post office. They drive down town to go to the Dunning library. They drive down town to go to the city hall. They drive down town to pay their telephone bills, their Edison and Consumer bills. They drive down town to do their banking business. They drive down town on Sundays to go to the churches scattered all around the business area. They drive down town to attend lodge meetings, to buy automobiles, to get repairs for automobiles, to see their doctor, dentist or insurance man.

So it isn't just the "merchants" and the "business men" who are interested in more parking space. The people interested in more parking are the thousands of people who find it necessary to drive into the heart of the community to carry on the ordinary functions of any household.

And "they" talk about taxing the "business man" who might happen to own real estate near a proposed parking area because the development of a parking area might increase the value of his property! Yes, some foolish people would "soak" the down town property owners in order to provide the additional parking space automobile owners would gladly pay for out of meter payments, if they had the opportunity to do so.

Let's get rid of a lot of this silly talk and get down to business. Parking areas are needed for automobile owners who through necessity, as well as desire, do business in the down town area of any community where the banks, the stores, the churches, the meeting places and the amusement houses are located.

As we see it Plymouth has only a year or so left to solve its parking problem before some civic center is developed in this area. And we had better cut out a lot of this silly chatter and get down to business mighty quick.

The problem is not that of a mere handful of retail merchants who have foresight enough to fully realize the situation that Plymouth faces. It is not the responsibility of a Chamber of Commerce. It is a responsibility of the ENTIRE city of Plymouth — and necessarily it falls under the leadership of its local government, where also lies proper authority.

A DEMAGOGIC SPEECH BY A DEMAGOGIC OFFICE HOLDER.

So Harry Truman isn't going to run for the Presidency again! That's what he said in a demagogic speech filled with hatred, untruthful misinterpretations and false accusations in which he painted all New Dealers as pure as pure can be and branded all citizens who have opposed the grafting, thievery and crookedness of the New Deal and Fair Deal schemes as devils and robber barons. We haven't much to say except that it is a God-send to these United States of ours that we haven't got to endure many months more of Trumanism and that after the next election it looks very much as though this nation will once again have an honest administration no longer infested by political fakers, schemers and fair dealers. As a matter of fact Truman isn't running again because he knows that the voters of this country are determined to clean house in Washington.

Plant to Hire 500 From Here

It has been announced by the public relations department of the Kaiser-Fraser corporation, through Cy Lindroth, a representative of that department, that the Chase Aircraft factory of Trenton, New Jersey, is moving to Willow Run within the next two or three months. This company employs about 1000 men, mostly engineers and designers. Mr. Lindroth, who lives in Plymouth, says K-F is now building the Fairchild C-119 cargo plane, and are also going to produce the Chase C-123 airplane. This latter plane will be produced on a parallel line with the Fairchild.

Mr. Lindroth relates that both planes will be in production by the end of this year. This will increase the present 16,000 employees to over 20,000 before the end of 1952.

However, K-F wants it understood that the corporation is still manufacturing automobiles. There are in excess of 300 Kaisers, or Henry J's, rolling off the assembly lines each day. About two-thirds of the plant is engaged in automotive work and the other one-third in airplane work.

The publicity representative states that nearly 500 employees of K-F live in Plymouth and commute daily to and from the plant.

Mr. Lindroth who lives at 9458 Ball street in Plymouth, is a community-minded individual. This week he contacted all the Detroit newspapers, and asked them, if they would send a representative to cover the Plymouth Symphony concert this coming Sunday. He thinks the Symphony is one of the best any small town can boast of in the nation.

Red Cross Seeks $1,800 More For Plymouth Fund

Despite a late start the Plymouth branch of the American Red Cross will join the national campaign in an effort to raise a local quota of $1,800, it was announced today by Mrs. Henry Penhale, branch chairman. This is still possible because the closing date of the Detroit and Wayne county chapter's campaign has been extended into April, due to the necessity of raising an additional $165,000 for the relief of tornado victims.

Mrs. Henry Walch has accepted chairmanship of the business solicitation. She has been assisted by the following volunteer workers: Mrs. Ivah Bentley, Mrs. Karl Starkweather, Mrs. Ben Blunk, Mrs. George A. Smith, Mrs. Russell Isbister, Mrs. Russell Roe, Mrs. Ray Bachelder, and Mrs. Paul Wiedman.

Mrs. Norma Bailey heads the residential canvass with the following workers: Mrs. Mary Ann Kent, Mrs. Loren Johnson, Mrs. Jack Smith, Mrs. Ragnar Blomberg. Other worker's names will be published next week.

First Senior Prom To Be In New Gym

The first school prom to take place in the new gymnasium at the high school will be the Senior Prom on Saturday evening, April 26. The Prom, sponsored by the Senior class, will begin at nine o'clock and continue until midnight. Jim Servis and his orchestra, from Ann Arbor, have been secured for the dance.

A new feature will be added this year when each lady will be presented with a dance program when she enters the gymnasium. The class is doing this instead of printing tickets. Couples will pay at the door the night of the dance.

Any outside couple, where neither attend Plymouth High School, must have an invitation to attend the prom. To secure these send a request to the Senior Class, Plymouth High School. This should be done right away.

Carolyn Smith and Robert Keeney are co-chairmen of this annual party, and both say it will be one of the best Senior Proms staged in recent years.

Other chairmen, who have been working hard to make this a success are: Elaine Leitz, chaperones; Thelma Livingston, programs and tickets; Joyce Houghton, invitations; Neil Bowyer, refreshments; Lynn Osen, orchestra; Barbara Packard, publicity; Patricia Wasenaar and Jack Daggett, decorations; Gladys Witt, lighting; Jim Brinks and Derald McKinley, cloak room.

Dear Sterling:

We wish to commend both you and your staff on last week's splendid "Easter Style" edition. We doubt if one would find such an excellent presentation in any newspaper covering areas ten times as large as Plymouth.

Your paper is truly an attribute to this community. Sincerely yours,

Aid to Crippled Told Kiwanians

Plymouth Kiwanians were addressed Tuesday evening by Millah Graves of the occupational therapy department of the Crippled Children Foundation of Wayne county. The long and tedious task of helping crippled children to gain use of hands and limbs by occupational therapy was explained by Miss Graves. She stated that this work is carried on with all children up to adult age. She pointed out that much support is gained for crippled children through the sale of Easter seals.

Mrs. Peter Ralph Miller, president of the Plymouth Theater Guild, expressed the appreciation of the Guild to the Plymouth Kiwanis club for its part in sponsoring the recent play production "Two Blind Mice". She stated that it had been highly successful.

Next Tuesday the Kiwanians will observe Farmers' night. Members are urged to bring a farmer friend to this meeting.

Country Club Opens Saturday

Spring is here! This is indicated by the announcement by Casey Partridge of the official opening of the Plymouth Country Club Saturday, April 5. Partridge states that the course will be in "fair" condition and believes the spiking of the greens during the winter will help their condition.

A remodeling program which includes new sand in the traps, lengthening of number 17 and 18 holes to par 5, a practice range and net plus clubhouse decorations is now in process and should be completed early this year.

Appointments, etc., will be discussed at the club's annual meeting Saturday evening, April 5 at 7:30 p.m.

Demel Wins Not Guilty Verdict For Sailor Lad

Richard Clark Sackett, the 19 year old Plymouth boy who was acquitted of a second degree murder charge last week by a circuit jury in Detroit, returned Monday to the U. S. Naval Base at Lakehurst, New Jersey to resume his services in the navy in which he has served for nearly four years. Following his acquittal the commander at the base wired the young sailor a week's extension to his leave of absence.

To Attorney Earl Demel of this city goes outstanding credit for his success in bringing about such a quick and favorable verdict by the jury. It is apparent that the jury after being given its charge by the judge, took but one ballot in reaching its verdict. It was after 4 o'clock last Wednesday afternoon before Judge Lila M. Neuenfeldt gave the case to the jury. The jury organized and elected its foreman and then went to supper. Returning after the supper hour it remained in session only until a few minutes after 8 o'clock when it was announced that it had reached a verdict of not guilty.

Wrestling Stars Come to Plymouth

The biggest wrestling match ever to be staged in the history of Plymouth will be held in the new gymnasium of the high school on Friday, April 18. This sporting event is being sponsored by the Plymouth Lions club. President George Witkowski says the proceeds will go to further the fund for sight conservation.

Clayton Stokes, program chairman, says some of the best "grunt and groan" boys in the business, and such TV stars as Bert Ruby, Gooch and a couple of midgets will journey out to Plymouth to put on this show.

Some of the things, for which the profits from this venture will go, will be on display, such as a seeing-eye dog.

Mr. Witkowski says that tickets can be secured from any member of the Lions club, and some will also be put in business places down town.

Hope to Raise $2,500 in Drive

There's a crippled child around the corner who needs 53 cents so that he can have a chance in life. Next year or next month or even tomorrow it may be your child. "Impossible!" you say? Not so impossible. Stop and think. Isn't there someone you know who is a cripple? In most cases, they weren't warned. They may have been struck by a car, a victim of polio, playing and fallen; fallen and unable to get up, or born with hearing or vision defects, seizures, diabetes or rheumatic fever. It could have been your child.

The Michigan Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc., now in its twentieth year, wants to give those crippled children that chance in life. Treatments, appliances, equipment, surgical (Continued on Page 8)

Supply Company Adds Building

Robert's Supply Company of Mill street added a building for the storage of lumber and millwork. This storage building measures 24 feet by 115 feet.

"We are expanding our facilities to better take care of customers," stated Finch Roberts, owner of the company. The shed which formerly stored the lumber and mill work will now store plywood. "We were so busy that we needed more operating space which meant that we had to move some of the things from the main building to give us this space," he remarked.

Increase in Assessed Valuations Will Take Care of Raises Say City Officials

The City Commission accepted the recommendations of the Municipal Personnel Service of Ann Arbor, for another salary increase for all city employees to cover increased cost of living, at a special meeting last Wednesday evening in the Commission Chambers. These salary increases will become effective July 1, and will be retroactive from April 1, 1952.

The pay recommendations were based upon the following primary factors: (1) a thorough analysis and evaluation of jobs of each of the 46 city employees involved; (2) an intensive wage survey of the most representative business, government and individual firms in the Plymouth area; and, (3) an analysis of wages paid by municipal governments located nearby in the metropolitan area.

As a result of the classification plan which classifies the type of work of each city employee, a salary schedule has been set up with a starting and maximum salary for all types of work.

There are 35 pay ranges in the new setup. Clerical and administration workers will reach the maximum after 5 years service; workers in public safety will reach the maximum in 3 years, and those in public works and maintenance will also get to the maximum in 3 years.

Beginning laborer will average $1.47 an hour. The rookie man will begin at $4.04, the old starting salary was $3.52. An account clerk will now start at $2.96, and a secretary at $2.94.

All this will mean a $20,000 yearly increase in the total salary paid city employees. However, the increased assessed valuation in the city will take care of this, without any increase in taxes.

For sometime the city has experienced trouble getting and keeping competent help. Just recently, the city assessor left for a more lucrative position, and a police sergeant left a few days ago for a better paying job. A competent man to read water meters is now being sought. The job formerly paid only $1.25 an hour, and under the new salary schedule this job will pay $1.47 an hour.

City officials state that with this new salary schedule it is hoped that the city can obtain competent men as employees, and that these men will want to stay, as it is costly breaking in a new man every few months.

Symphony Holds Annual Meeting

Wayne Dunlap, the musical director of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra appeared in a dual role as entertainer and speaker at the annual meeting of the sixth season for the Plymouth Symphony Society when it met at a dinner in the Mayflower Hotel last Saturday night.

All but three members of the board of directors were present. President Lila Humphries opened the meeting with acknowledgment and appreciation to all members of the various committees assisting during the past year.

The annual reports were printed in an attractive mimeographed form. In the report of programs given, Mr. Dunlap said that the popularity of the Family Concert held January 27, 1952 favors a program of this type as an annual affair.

The report of the personnel committee highlighted the fact that more than 5000 man-hours of co-operative effort were expended by orchestra members in producing eight concerts this season. Eleven communities represented were Plymouth, Ann Arbor, Detroit, Livonia, Dearborn, Wayne, Royal Oak, Grosse Pointe, Redford Township, Belleville and Allen Park. Civil Air Patrol Has Open House

On Sunday, March 30, 1952 the United States Naval Air Base at Grosse Ile held open house for all Michigan Civil Air Patrol Units and Cadets.

Here the Civil Air Patrol Units were acquainted with various methods used in getting aircraft back to their landing field even during adverse weather conditions, such as heavy fog which is the worst enemy of flying today. One of those methods is called G.C. A. (or ground controlled approach). This radar controlled method of landing aircraft was demonstrated.

There also were message drops and many other methods of communications between air and ground.

Of the many units present Plymouth was well represented by Senior members and Cadets of the Plymouth Flight, based at Mottetal Airport.

Proclamation

Whereas, there are in the City of Plymouth, over thirty crippled children and adults;

Whereas, our right to aid the crippled is a privilege to be accepted, guarded and exercised fully; and

Whereas, it is economically sound to make possible such services as those financed through Easter Seal funds, since these services help dependent children become independent adults; and

Whereas, the specialized services of rehabilitation, medical and educational aid for the crippled are efficiently and effectively administered by the Michigan Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc. and its local affiliates; and

Whereas, the cost of these services have increased and as more crippled are constantly being reached; and

Whereas, the annual Easter Seal drive of the Michigan Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc. and its affiliated units provides the chief source of support for its multiple services

Now, therefore, I, Floyd Tibbitts, Mayor of Plymouth, do hereby proclaim Saturday, April 5, 1952 as Easter Lily Day and urge all citizens to support this drive generously and thereby lend a helping hand to our crippled children.

DOWN IN THE VALLEY

An American Folk Opera

Highlighting this, the final concert of the season, your Symphony Orchestra will tell the story of Brack Weaver and his break from the Birmingham Jail. This is a simple story, rich in American Folklore, presented through music rich in American Folk Songs.

This is a program that points up perfectly your Orchestra's effort to provide musical entertainment of real interest to the folks of Plymouth. It will climax a season of varied programs, designed to present the best of all types of music . . . planned to mix the lighter with the more serious. Because entertainment — fine entertainment for you — is the prime objective of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra.

nization and we are grateful for the contribution these fine musicians make to the development of Plymouth as a well-balanced city. So we say again; go to the concert this Sunday. Go and be entertained by your Symphony Orchestra, assisted by your Civic Chorus; hear them perform for the first time in your beautiful new High School Gymnasium.

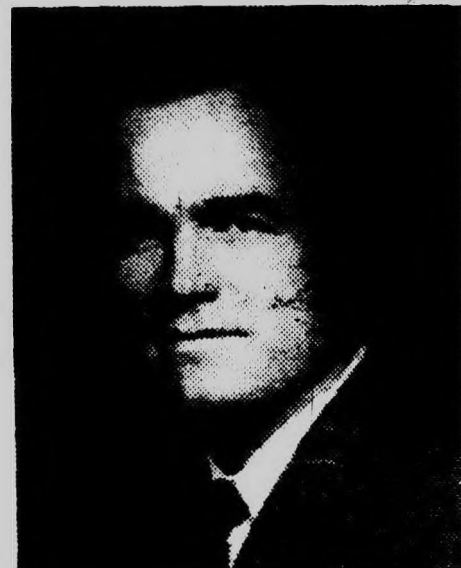

Here are some notes on "DOWN IN THE VALLEY," an American Folk Opera by Kurt Weill.

Kurt Weill, composer for "Lady in the Dark", "One Touch of Venus", "Knickerbocker Holiday", and the musical version of Elmer Rice's "Street Scene", turns to native American music in "Down in the Valley". Interwoven with his new music are five of the greatest American folk songs. Brack and Jennie fall in love at a prayer-meeting as the congregation sings "Little Black Train". They dance to "Hip Up, My Ladies" and "Sourwood Mountain" and are reunited to "The Lonesome Dove". The chorus begins and closes the opera with "Down in the Valley".

The Opera tells the simple story of Brack Weaver who languished in Birmingham jail. He waits in vain for the letter from Jennie Parsons, for whose sake he killed Thomas Bouche. The night before his execution, he escapes for a farewell visit with Jennie, and in flashbacks, the pair tell how Brack courted her and then killed Bouche. When Brack finds Jennie, still loves him but didn't write because her father forbade it, he goes back to jail, ready to die peacefully.

Advanced Type Water Softener to Sell at Low Price
 Claude Stratton, 11100 Gold Arbor road, local dealer for Permutit Water Conditioners, announced today that he has just received the initial shipment of a completely new line of Permutit home water softeners. Mr. Stratton said, these new appliances will sell for less than 50% of the cost of previous models giving comparable service.

The new unit, he said, consists of a single plastic-lined tank filled with an advanced type of high capacity bead resin as the water softening element. Water from the incoming supply line passing through this tank is automatically softened and filtered so that a continuous supply of treated water is available at every faucet in the house, both hot and cold.

Mr. Stratton said that while the appliance measures only 40 inches high and 9 inches in diameter, it has a water softening capacity equal to or surpassing that of many larger models. It is electrically operated and requires only the turning of a switch about every two weeks, at which time one small bag of salt is added.

Because of the small size and low weight of this new softener the Dealer said it may readily be installed in rented homes since it can be easily removed without unloading the softening element. He said the new appliance is the result of a long period of intensive engineering and chemical research and represents the most advanced design in water treatment.

Asked about the advantages of softening the natural water supply in this area, Mr. Stratton said that the average family can show a saving of better than $100.00 a year by using softened water. He said that soap savings of 80% are not unusual and savings of 25% in water heater fuel and repairs due to hard water scale, are likely. He added that in his opinion, the day is not far distant when every home will have its water softener just as it now has its refrigerator and gas stove. He feels that the present action of The Permutit Company in producing a line of softeners such as this in the low price range will help materially to hasten that day.—Adv.

Local Boy Wins 6th Chicago Trip

Word was recently received from the Detroit Times that Philip Patrick, 19, was awarded a 3-day all-expense trip to Chicago for meeting the quota of 24 new subscriptions to the Times.

This will be the sixth trip for Philip as he has won every time the contest has been on. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Patrick of 11325 Eastside Drive.

While in Chicago, the group of boys will stay at the Stevens hotel. A special coach on the train will carry the boys from this area to Chicago.

Philip has been carrying the Detroit Times for the past 4 years.

Association Holds Annual Services

"Palm Sunday, April 6, is the beginning of Holy Week. This week is the height of the Christian year, leading through the events of Good Friday and culminating in the triumph of Easter," stated Reverend Henry J. Walsh, D. D., pastor of the First Presbyterian church.

Noonday services will be conducted by the Plymouth Ministerial Association Monday through Thursday from 12:10 to 12:50 in the Presbyterian church. Local ministers will preach.

On Good Friday the traditional Tre-Ore Service of the Ministerial Association will be held in the church from noon until 3 p.m. Speakers for this service will be Reverend Charles Loucks of the First Baptist church of Ann Arbor; Reverend Donald Zimmerman, executive of the Presbytery of Detroit; and Dr. Samuel J. Harrison, president of Adrian College.

"Many churches will observe Maundy Thursday with a Communion Service. All churches will celebrate the festival of Easter Sunday, April 13," concluded Dr. Walsh.

Goose-Stepping Bosses Step on Eating Places

Plymouth eating places are going to do some more "goose-stepping" in the next few days. They've received information that the Office of Price Stabilization in Detroit has decided that the same prices charged by these restaurants during the week of February 3 and 9 of this year must be the prices charged from now until the chiefs of the "goose-stepping" squads say they can be changed.

So the poor consumer as well as the restaurant keeper gets it in the neck again.

It doesn't make any difference if egg prices were 90 cents a dozen in February and only 45 cents a dozen now—the consumer if he wants some eggs for "chow" has got to pay just as much as he did then, if the restaurant keeper doesn't want to get in a jam with the bureaucrats.

The bureaucrats in their publicity release for Plymouth restaurants as well as all the other eating houses in this part of Michigan say these frozen prices, with permissible adjustments by operators who have been charging prices lower than permitted under the present restaurant regulation (CPRILL), will be the dollars-and-cents ceilings which restaurants will post.

The posted prices may be changed in the future only by the direction of the Office of Price Stabilization. The regulation provides that future adjustments may be made if the Director determines that food and other costs have changed significantly, either upward or downward.

The regulation becomes effective April 7, 1952. OPS District Offices are now sending out the posters. They must be displayed not later than April 25, 1952 by restaurants in a place where they will be easily visible to customers.

The posters, carrying the official OPS insignia, have spaces for 40 principal food and non-alcoholic beverages items; customarily served by eating places. If an establishment also serves alcoholic beverages, a poster with spaces for listing ceiling prices for 20 items must be displayed.

For most eating places the new regulation will replace CPR 11 which has permitted restaurants to adjust their own menu prices so long as they gave the same percentage of food value per dollar of sales over a four-month accounting period as they did before Korea.

In issuing the regulations, the OPS emphasized that the general level of food prices is now fairly well stabilized and the monthly Wholesale Food Price Index issued by the Bureau of Labor Statistics has not risen during the past several months.

As a result, he said, the principal effect of the new regulation will be to stabilize restaurant prices and enable eating places to charge prices which reflect their pre-Korea margin.

"We are now making arrangement," Mr. Hart said, to set up a series of meetings in key areas in our district. Business analysts from the Detroit district office price department will counsel with restaurant and tavern proprietors at these meetings, explain the new regulation in detail and assist those business affected as much as possible.

"The new regulation is being mailed to all those establishments which have filed their ceiling prices under CPR 11 with the Detroit district office."

Heart-to-Heart Advice

By Charles Miner Cooper, M.D.

Some years ago Dr. Cooper, a well-known San Francisco physician who has since retired, wrote the following letter to a patient who had suffered a heart attack. Now practically a West Coast classic through wide circulation and reprinting, it contains sound advice even for those who are in good health.

Dear Mr. Blank: You have evidently made an excellent recovery from your recent heart attack. That attack should have warned you to live a life which would lessen the work of your heart. However, you have continued to be overweight; you have been eating and drinking as much as you desire. You have carried on strenuous business activities, working long hours and often at top speed. You have not curbed your quick, and, at times, rather violent emotional reactions. The load on your heart has been too heavy. Hence you now are incommoded by shortness of breath and other disturbing symptoms.

You come to me for advice, as you have gone to other doctors, perhaps hoping that I can give you a drug which will enable you to carry on as you have been doing. Unfortunately there is no such drug. But let me outline a regime which will help you immensely if, after a period of almost complete physical, mental and emotional rest, you will follow it conscientiously.

1. You should bring your weight down to what is normal for your height, build and age. This reduction must be brought about slowly, by modifying your diet and by graduated exercises—not by reducing drugs. Refrain permanently from overloading your stomach on any occasion.

2. You must cut down the extent and speed of your physical activities. Do not run to catch a train, hurry up stairs, attempt to park an automobile in a closed-in space, or use any set of muscles to the limit of your vigor. Refrain from physical effort immediately after eating, and do nothing that will make you short of breath. If at any time you begin to breathe the fast, or experience a constricting chest pain, lie down and rest.

3. You must indulge in mental tasks only when your mind is fresh, and cease them when you become weary. Thus you will be able to give your best consideration to business problems with the least strain to yourself.

4. You must curb your emotional reactions. When I tell you that I have known a patient's blood pressure to jump 40 points almost instantaneously in response to an outburst of anger, you can understand what strain such reactions can throw upon the heart. I realize that you are quick on the trigger and inclined to blame those whose behavior incites you, rather than to consider yourself foolish for letting them disturb you. Such a viewpoint is not uncommon. The great Scottish surgeon John Hunter, suffering from much the same condition as you, and appreciating the effect of such emotional reactions upon his heart, said his life was in the hands of any rascal who chose to annoy him. Then he forgot that he should discipline himself, and he had a fatal attack during a fit of anger.

Whenever a business problem starts to vex you, or you begin to get angry, let yourself go limp all over. This will dissipate your mounting inner turmoil.

5. Try to be cheerful under all circumstances. Unfortunately, you are a moody man, given at times to considerable sadness. Such a state does not lend itself to the proper energization of the heart and blood vessels. It may seem to you that to be cheerful when you are inclined to sadness is easier said than done. Let me make a suggestion: Whenever you are feeling down in the dumps, think of some particularly pleasing work—while experience you have had. Your mood will often respond to the thought.

If you were a smoker, I should have to tell you to refrain entirely, as I believe tobacco to be injurious to those afflicted with degenerative cardio-vascular lesions.

Your heart is calling for a complete cessation of all your activities. It is further asking that it be permanently housed in a lean, cheerful, placid man who will intelligently curb his physical, mental and emotional activities.

I have a number of patients who years ago had the same thing happen to their hearts as has happened to yours. Today they are still enjoying a sense of well-being and are doing valuable work. You may similarly respond if you will but follow the foregoing regime.—Exchange.

The Herbert Chaikens Move to Plymouth

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Chaikens, owners of Minerva's, have succeeded in finding a place to live in Plymouth after a search of over a year. They are now residing in an apartment on Penniman avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Chaikens have been searching for an apartment in or near Plymouth which would eliminate commuting to Detroit. Business became more brisk involving more hours at the store, and driving back and forth became more and more of a problem.

The Chaikens are now almost settled in their new apartment and are very happy to be residents of the city of Plymouth at long last.

Fire Department Makes Grass Runs

With the balmy spring weather, the Plymouth Fire department is making its usual grass fire runs. Last Friday they were called to quell a grass fire in back of the Henry Ray place on Starkweather avenue.

Sunday they had two runs, one on Joy street, and another on Amelia street, opposite the Bathing Mfg. company.

Fire Chief Robert McAllister says that if anyone wants to burn a grass field, or lot, they should contact the fire department and get permission to burn it. Dire consequences could result if a fire gets too much of a start, especially on a windy day.

Red Cross Seeks $1,800 More for Plymouth Fund

(Continued from Page 1) Urgent appeal for funds to complete the Detroit and Wayne county quota, now raised to $546,000 by the addition of disaster funds.

"Disaster is no respecter of time, place or human beings," said Essery. "The recent overwhelming tornado, which laid waste sections of six southern states, killing and injuring hundreds and destroying or damaging more than 2500 homes, has put another job for urgent human relief in the hands of the Red Cross.

"We cannot budget disaster, and when it strikes with such devastating force everyone must pitch in and help. If you have already given, another donation would be appreciated. If you have not given, do not let this opportunity pass to extend the hand of a good neighbor. Through your Red Cross you can be there, helping these homeless, stricken people to get a fresh start."

Symphony Holds Annual Meeting

(Continued from Page 1) sent orchestra personnel were included in the report. Serving on this committee were Josef Lazaroff, Wayne Dunlap, Fred Beitner and Harold Von Bergen, as personnel director.

The social hour committee with Nina Blunk, chairman, reported that the "coffee hour" following the rehearsals had been financed through voluntary contributions from among orchestra members. The after-concert tea chairman of the year were Mrs. Walter Beglinger, Mrs. Hugh Law, Mrs. Clifton Tillotson, Mrs. Russell Daane, Mrs. Margaret Hough, Mrs. Paul Wiedman, Mrs. David Wood and Mrs. Elvin Taylor.

A list of officers of the Junior Symphony Society were submitted by Betty Demel; president, Terry Carney; vice president, Jackie Langmaid; recording secretary, Godfrey Mendel; treasurer, Mildred Green.

Ruth S. Garlett listed printing expenditures. Mrs. Harry C. Balfour, chairman of general activities named as her assistants of the year's symphony ball: Mrs. Howard Raafaub, Mrs. Elvin Taylor, Mrs. Eugene Crosby, Mrs. Roy Jacobus, Mr. Fred Nelson, Mr. William Campbell, Mrs. Walter Beglinger, Miss Ilana Strasen, Mrs. Nina Blunk and Mr. Julian Corey.

The scholarship committee composed of Elvin Taylor, Josef Lazaroff and Wayne Dunlap announced that awards of $100 each were made this year to David Green, Doris Waldecker and Dorothy Zander.

Other reports were printed by Mary Kershaw, recording secretary; Ruth J. Curtis, membership; Frank Henderson, historical; and Mr. Carl Wall, treasurer.

The nominating committee was composed of Ruth J. Curtis, chairman; Dr. Henry J. Walsh, Mr. Elvin Taylor and Mr. J. Lazaroff. The secretary was instructed to cast a unanimous ballot in favor of the slate presented which included Mrs. Roy Jacobus, Mrs. Margaret Hough, Miss Irene Truesdell, Mr. Harold Von Bergen, Mr. Harry Draper and Mr. Ralph W. Polkington. They will fill the vacancies created following the two-year service of Mrs. Lila Humphries, Mr. Carl Wall, Mr. Josef Lazaroff, Mrs. Charles Garlett, Mr. Frank Henderson and Mrs. H. J. Curtis.

The musical entertainment was in form of a preview of "Down In the Valley" by Kurt Weill. For this presentation, Wayne Dunlap sang the tenor part; Archie Wiles, baritone and Grace Hampton, soprano. Evelyn Woods who will appear as soloist on April 6 with a performance of Rachmaninoff's Piano Concerto No. 2 in C Minor acted as the accompanist for the trio.

In his talk, Mr. Dunlap presented some interesting facts on Symphony Orchestra development in this country which bear repetition. He said that "Mr. Arthur Judson, head of the Columbia Concert Bureau made the statement that 25 years ago there were 20 symphony orchestras in the country and that now there is a phenomenal number of 650; that Look Magazine devoted a section to Symphony Orchestras and the Detroit Orchestra in particular, they reported the annual gross of symphony orchestras in this country last year was over 45 million dollars which was 5 million more than the gate of organized baseball. When you consider that baseball runs for eight months during the year and Detroit Symphony for example has a 21 week season, it serves to show a tremendous interest throughout the country in symphonic music."

The great emphasis of music in the schools and the fact that America is musically coming of age were some of the reasons given by Mr. Dunlap for the interest in orchestras, plus the great influx of musicians to this country with the rise of nazism.

He added that he felt that the symphony orchestra fills a spiritual gap which every person feels, whether he recognizes it or not. He paid credit to Mr. Paul T. Wagner for his excellent work in organizing the orchestra and in the outstanding work and vision of the Symphony Board since the beginning, which he declared is a challenge to the members of the Society who are coming on the board for the first time.

In his closing remarks he quoted Dr. Maddy: "You really have something here! Hang on to it!"

Children aren't the only ones being helped by the society, adults are being helped, too. As the cost of living has risen, the cost of these services has risen, also. Drop 5¢ into the returned-addressed envelope you received with your Easter seals and give someone a chance in life. Better still, put in a dollar. It's so much easier to mail.

Tells Rotarians of Jap Visit

Members of the Plymouth and Northville Rotary clubs last Friday noon had the unusual opportunity of hearing Dr. A. C. Furstenberg, dean of the medical school of the University of Michigan and one of the nation's outstanding medical authorities, tell of a trip he made to Japan after the war at the request of the United States Health department.

His talk was illustrated by colored motion pictures he made on the trip to the Far East. Unusual views on the island were also shown.

He told of an interview he had with one of Japan's famed war criminals who was executed for his part in bringing on the war. He had been called to give treatment for a cancerous condition the noted Jap leader was suffering from. Many Rotarians heard for the first time some of the reasons why Japan felt it necessary to go to war with the United States. He declares that the Japanese people are exceedingly industrious and co-operative.

Dr. Furstenberg's talk, while much of it was devoted to a description of the country and cities he visited, was about as interesting a discussion as Plymouth Rotarians have heard in a long time. The Mayflower room at the hotel was nearly filled with local and visiting Rotarians.

Second Class Postage Up

Second class postage increased ten percent on April 1, stated Dr. George Timpona, postmaster. Second class includes newspapers, magazines, and other periodicals he said.

Dr. Timpona also remarked that the week of May 3 is rural mail box improvement week.

All rural mail patrons are asked to abide by the following regulations. A simple and practical support with an aluminum box between three and a half and four feet above the surface of the ground should be used.

The owner's name and house number should be painted on the box.

"If patrons will be kind enough to cooperate and abide by the regulations it will help to speed up the delivery of mail," concluded Dr. Timpona.

In Gaffney, S. C., a soldier home on furlough filed applications with Probate Judge W. R. Douglas to marry four girls, said he would make the crucial choice later.

Demel Wins Not Guilty Verdict for Sailor Lad

(Continued from Page 1) The naval sailor had been accused of drowning Harold Frame, an eight year old boy, in a drinking fountain in Plymouth-Riverside park, then throwing his body in the creek. Assistant Prosecutor Sam Olson used 68 witnesses in his efforts to bring about a conviction. Only four were used by the defense.

Judge Neuenfelt kicked out a purported confession that one of Andy Beard's deputies claimed he had secured from the naval sailor of the alleged crime committed on August 31, 1947, after Attorney Demel had made it clear that there was not one supporting word of evidence to support the officer's claim.

It was the files of the Plymouth Mail which proved the severest blow to the sheriff's case. The officer had contended that there were few people in the park on the day of the alleged crime. Attorney Demel proved by The Mail files that on the day of the so-called offense, there was one of the biggest crowds of the year in the park.

While the prosecution used over five weeks to present its case and long list of witnesses, Attorney Demel used but a day and a half for his defense. The case is reported to have cost the state over $20,000 and amazing as it may seem, it proved to be one of the longest criminal trials ever heard in Wayne county, continuing for five full weeks and three days.

Charles Bennett Tells of His First Encounter With Skunk - And What Happened

Recalls That Henry Ford Once Worked in a Cider Mill Which Was Located Just North of Plymouth Village

Charles H. Bennett

I cannot leave Charlie away out on that farm without telling the reason our "chumship" ceased to chum. Charlie had no love for farm work, but he did love to trap. He not only became the best known trapper of small animals in this entire area, but he also could build new kinds of traps for catching his coveted game. In our day, squirrels, coons, muskrats, skunks, etc., were most plentiful in the entire surrounding country. Charlie made a fair sum of spending money from the sale of this skin game. Now, I come to a part of this story that may sound rather phony, but it's the truth. Charlie Shearer made pets of one kind of animal that to this day seems a bit fantastic to me, but perhaps I have a lot of prejudice, it was, and still is, the skunk. Charlie Shearer could and did train skunks to do about anything a cat can be trained to do. Charlie built some fine little houses for his pets to live in and he claimed to have all of them house broken. Charlie's friends failed to verify this claim for the reason that none of them seemed to love skunks well enough to accept Charlie's cordial and off repeated invitation to visit him and his skunk colony and smell for themselves.

Meeting Charlie down town one summer afternoon when he had driven down with his father, I again received another invitation to ride back to the farm and watch him put his skunks through their paces but I had no idea of going until he dared me to go. (Oh why was I not born deaf. In those foolish days dares were not taken lightly). So when Charlie's father was through with his shopping I journeyed home with them. Charlie's colony was located out back of the large barn and it was there that it happened. I sat on the ground while Charlie took a skunk in his arms and gently stroked its fur as one strokes a cat. He told me that the one he had in his arms was the tamest and best trained of all his pets. After he had shown me the other residents of the colony, it was this one who would jump through a hoop for my unbelieving eyes to behold.

He then walked to where I was quietly sitting and placed the animal he had been holding in my lap. My first inclination was to yell "no," but I stifled the yell as the thought of the consequence that a loud yell might cause to a timid skunk and a frightened Bennett. As Charlie turned away to take another pet from his cozy living room he remarked, "stroke your little friend. He won't hurt you. He is perfectly tame and he likes to have his fur stroked."

As this was the first, also the last, time I had ever been at all chummy with a skunk and as my knees on which he was sitting had begun shaking a little from the glorious feeling, I don't think that I would soon be able to join a circus as an animal trainer. I started to follow Charlie's advice. I made one stroke and then I came very near having one.

I must have stroked toward that skunk's head instead of his tail, be that as it may, something happened and as usual it happened to me. He left first and why that skunk was so anxious to return to his little home in such haste I have never been able to determine, but with me it was different. I knew why I was anxious to return to my house at the earliest possible moment. I dislike to bear malice, but to this very day I cannot get it out of my mind that that little monster did not have his hose all unwound and ready to shoot. Had I leaned backward, the stream of perfume might have passed over me, but no such luck. As the darling little pet jumped (I am using the language of this last line out of respect to The Plymouth Mail. This is not the exact expression I used at the time this event happened.) I arose to my feet on the split second the perfume was turned on and it landed first on my chin. From that point it trailed on down to my bare feet in a fair sized stream. The perfume was so strong and penetrating that it almost took my breath away and it was some seconds before I could make a start for the place I had in mind—home. Suffice it to say that I waited not upon the order of going, I went. Even though there had been a few sidewalks between Shearer's home and mine, I did not feel that my best friends would welcome me just then so I took to the fields and backyards on my way home. It was about a mile, as the crow flies, from Charlie's house to mine and no crew ever flew straighter or faster than yours truly on that warm afternoon.

The wind must have been at my back for I think I still near the banging of doors and the tinkle of breaking glass as the careful housewives through whose yards I passed and whose fences I jumped rushed to close the open doors and jerk the props from under the open windows. It was a hectic race. To cap the climax, my dear mother was standing on our open back porch as I jumped the high back fence that surrounded our property. I was much surprised to see my mother standing there, but she evidently was not surprised to see me.

Mother's quiet voice reached me as I dropped from the fence and she said, "Young man, I am going to give you a bit of advice that will be best for you to heed. First go in the barn and get the shovel. Use it to dig a hole there in the garden, then take off that pair of overalls and shirt waist you have on and bury both in the hole you dig and cover them with the dirt you dig from the hole. In the meantime, I will place the wash tub in the woodshed and fill it with hot water (standard equipment in Plymouth at that time as there was not a bathtub in the entire village). I will leave a bowl of soft soap beside the tub and if ever you thought of giving yourself a thorough cleaning job you had better do it now."

I wonder if any reader of this article ever took a bath with soft soap as the chaser. You would find it not luxurious, but distinctly effective. It not only removes the finest particles of dirt from the skin, but it also removes a considerable quantity of skin. Quite the opposite of Ivory Soap. Soft soap is 99-44/100 per cent impure. You can take my word for it. When I sat down to my supper that evening, I was clean and hungry.

I received a phone call two or three days ago from an unknown party who wished to know where I got the nerve to write this article in the Plymouth Mail when Truman was about to curtail the amount of paper The Plymouth Mail might buy this year, and thereby keeping him from being able to advertise as extensively as he had thought of doing. I called him by the most insulting name I could think of—a Democrat—and rung off. However, I could not determine his size through the telephone, and not being able to make the mile dashes I could make eighty years ago, I have decided to draw this article to its end. Before doing so, I wish to thank the faithful fans who by letter and by phone have given me the courage to finish what I started. A fan asked me if I remember W. O. Allen and the morning that he—always well groomed and smiling, and usually with a cigar in his mouth—came down Main Street toward the bank, he was stopped by Frank Wherry, the meat dealer, and the young fellow who could really shoot a rifle. As it is told, he had smoked his cigar until it showed quite an ash at the end and he, Frank, dared Will Allen to stand at a distance of twenty paces and allow him, Wherry, to shoot the ash from the end of his lighted cigar. Allen was to hold the lighted cigar in his mouth as the shot was fired. Allen took the dare. The shot was made and the white ash disappeared. I had for myself two more heroes. I was mighty glad to know that neither of them had heard my heart, which had climbed up in my throat, drop back in its accustomed place.

Seeing so many of our TV shows advertising beer, I may as well mention that even before my day, Plymouth had its brewery. This building was built and operated by a man named Dohmstreich. It was located at the foot of the hill just beyond where the old Wilcox Mill first stood, but was on the opposite side of the road. How long this brewery continued to flourish I cannot tell but it certainly did not make Plymouth famous.

Mr. Newell has asked about the cider mill of the old days and wishes to know if Mr. Henry Ford ever worked there. In answering, let me say that the cider mill in question was located almost opposite to where Tait's cleaning establishment now stands on Northville Road just after crossing River Rouge. This cider mill being on the left hand side of Northville Road and built slightly into the river's bank at that time. Cider apples were crushed in large presses using steam power.

One of Henry Ford's first jobs after he quit school was as an engineer in this cider mill during the fall of either 1880 or 1881. Regarding the Bradner Mill, I learned that it was a small saw mill located quite near the Ann Arbor Road, and that the deed you mentioned was made to Eleager Bennett, Father of Sewell Bennett, who later owned the farm you mentioned and a man I knew very well; a fine citizen and an outstanding member and pillar of the Baptist church during his lifetime.

Let me add a word of advice. If you have a story to tell or an item of news that you think would be of interest to readers of the Plymouth Mail, see to it that your article is printed and have the kick I have gotten out of writing this one. It will give you the fun of knowing how differently your friends and neighbors react to exactly the same words or article. You will be greatly surprised at the fan mail you will receive. My own has doubled during the last two weeks.

Two weeks ago I received one letter and my fan said he liked my article in the Plymouth Mail and hoped I would continue for the next six months. This week I received two letters. These fans dared me to continue for another three months. It just goes to show that, try as you will, one cannot please everybody, but it's really fun trying.

Sunday School 10:30 a.m., for pupils up to twenty years of age. Much that mortal man regards as true is found to be untrue in the absolute spiritual sense, when examined in the light which Christian Science throws on the scriptures. This is brought out in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Unreality" which will be read in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, April 6. The Golden Text is from Ecclesiastes (5:7): "In the multitude of dreams and many words there are also divers vanities; but fear thou God." Among the Bible citations is this passage (Isa. 29:15): "Woe unto them that seek deep to hide their counsel from the Lord, and their works are in the dark, and they say, Who seeth us? and who knoweth us?" Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include: "Evil calls itself something, when it is nothing. It saith, 'I am man, but I am not the image and likeness of God;' whereas the Scriptures declare that man was made in God's likeness." (p. 287)

WEEKLY SERMONETTE

Facing the Cross

Nineteen centuries ago, a group of people stood beneath a rude cross on a hill top and observed the physical death of the God-Man, Jesus of Nazareth. Their reactions to the scene were very different. Some laughed, some mocked, some wept, some prayed. History has recorded that scene for all eternity to remember. The attitude of each standing beneath the cross that day was truly indicative of their individual characters and spiritual worth.

Many years have passed but the scene is still before the eyes of men. In a very real sense each of us as we face the Easter scene will be brought face to face with the picture—and the challenge of "The Man Upon the Cross"—and as in that day so many years ago, our response to that challenge will be indicative of the nature of our souls. The old challenge voiced by Pilate "What Will I Do With Jesus?" is the challenge today, clear and true, undimmed by the years.

All men are as great as their oxalities. A mother holds her baby in her arms and feels a maternal challenge. Men are challenged by their families, their friends, and their country to dedicate their love and service, but at all times and especially at Easter time, the greatest challenge of all stands before us—"The Christ On His Cross"—"What will you—what will I—do about Him?"

His is the challenge of unfathomable love—of unbelievable grace—of incomparable forgiveness. He offers a gift so great that the evaluation of men cannot measure it. Can we ignore with a shrug, such a gift—such a challenge.

Today each of us, as in the days of yore, stand before the Cross. We see His lips move in challenge. We hear again Pilate's question, "What Will I Do With Jesus?" Heaven likewise will record our answer.—Your answer and mine at this hour.

The Apostle Peter knelt before the Savior in acceptance and dedication many years ago. From his lips came the confession of a surrendered heart. "My Lord and My God". May such a benediction bless the lips of each as we today "Face The Cross!"

Grange Gleanings

Of course all of you April folks are coming to the Grange potluck supper tonight to sit at the honor table and enjoy the special birthday cake that those whose birthday comes this month will have. We are to have some special music tonight too.

Milly Ruelas had a quilting party at her house last Friday and there is another one coming up for tomorrow. Quilting on the quilt that was donated for the Grange.

The hall has had its face lifted, a clean up day on Tuesday of last week and Monday evening of this week have accomplished wonders.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Tritten have been visiting her sister and brother in Indiana for a few weeks. They are back at their son Jesse Tritten's, but are leaving tomorrow for their home at Brethren near Manistee.

Don't forget the Lily Club on April 14 at the hall. Mr. and Mrs. Ebert, Blanche Farley and Bertha Tiffin are to be the hosts for the evening.

On May 7 we are going to have a very important meeting. Of course it is a supper meeting for the May birthdays but we have a more important reason than that for urging everyone to attend. Dr. Ralph Pino will be with us that night and will speak on health and will illustrate his talk with colored slides. The public is invited to come to hear that part of the program. The school seniors are especially invited. More about this in future papers.

Here's The Story or How a Little Lost Dog Found Its Way Home

Among the strenuous duties that Mrs. Jack Taylor confronts each day is one that requires her to deliver Jack Taylor to the front door of the First National bank each morning just after the robins start chirping. Then shortly before six o'clock in the afternoon she finds it necessary to go to the bank get him and then deliver him to the top of the hill which overlooks the western side of the city.

The other night while carrying out these responsibilities as she stopped in front of the bank and opened the car door, a friendly little dog wagged its tail and looked at Mrs. Taylor as though asking for a handout or a ride.

Just then her busy husband hurried out of the bank, jumped in the car and hurried his wife out of town and up to the top of the hill, with the little dog still standing on the edge of the walk, its tail drooping like a wilted tulip as the car sped away.

But upon arrival at home, Mrs. Taylor was bothered about that little lost dog. Against hubby's protest, she got back in the car and drove down to the bank to see if the lost canine might still be there.

Sure enough it was standing almost where it was when Busy Jack hurried his wife home. She loaded the dog in the back end of the car, stopped at a grocery store and bought some dog food, then returned home—and just naturally called up the want ad clerk of The Plymouth Mail office to insert a classified ad asking if anyone had lost a dog to call her telephone number.

She did it against the protests of the little Taylor lad who wanted to keep the dog.

The next day as soon as The Mail had been distributed, the Taylor telephone began ringing.

One of the calls revealed that the lost dog belonged to a youngster living just off Sheldon road road north of the city.

"We certainly are thankful to you for running that ad" said the mother of the boy who had lost the dog. "He's been crying most of the time since the dog was lost."

No sooner had the dog been delivered to its rightful owner when another youngster called the Taylor home.

"Has the dog got some brown spots on it? Maybe you can't see 'em because maybe he's got dirty since we lost him, but if you look under the dirt maybe you can see some brown spots," insisted this youngster.

Mrs. Taylor finally convinced this lad that the dog didn't have brown spots and that it had already been delivered to its rightful owner. Apparently from the number of phone calls she received there are a lot of boys and girls in Plymouth who have lost their little dogs in the past few days.

Northville Downs to Open June 9th

Northville Downs, preparing for the opening of 54 nights of harness racing, has set April 15 as the deadline for entries in two traditional $10,000 stake races.

The pioneer Michigan track will get under way June 9 and will continue through August 9. Early closing harness racing events have been limited to the major races in an effort to present better racing for the fans and a better distribution of money to those horses stabled for the entire meeting.

"In racing all over-night events, we believe the fans will be more familiar with form and drivers," states Orlov G. Owen, Northville Downs operational manager.

The early closing stakes are the Governor's Cup Trot on Friday, July 11, and the Michigan Pacing Derby on Friday, August 1. As usual both will be endowed with purses of $10,000.

Northville Downs is setting up a regular purse schedule according to the class of horses competing. Since harness horses are classified according to money won, the track has scaled its purses from $600 for Class 30-25 trotters and pacers up to $1000 a dash for Class AA-A horses.

Weekly features, programmed as free-for-alls and junior free-for-alls, will be worth $3000 and $2,500 split over two heats.

Meekness cannot well be counterfeited. It is not insensibility, or unmanliness, or servility; it does not cringe or whine. It is benevolence imitating Christ in patience, forbearance, and quietness. —William Swan Plumer

In Chicago, Lawrence I. Lowell, 35, sued his ex-fiancee, Mrs. Rose Cichon Potocki, 28, for $2,500, to cover expenses of his courtship and reimbursement for some of the time devoted to her "which could have been used seeking wife material."

Shannon, will address the assembly on the topic, "Thoughts on Student-School Relationship." Father Shannon is instructor of philosophy and theology at Madonna College. A question period will follow.

Two movies, "Design for Tomorrow" and "Developing Leadership" will be shown to the students and guests at 11 a.m. Beginning at 1 p.m. group discussions will be held. These discussions will deal with various phases of student government. The groups will be under the direction of various colleges including Mary Manse, Mercy and Madonna.

Some of the topics that will be covered are: "Student-Faculty Relationship," "Scope of Authority in Discipline, Student Life and Activities" and "Student Apathy and How to Overcome It." Following each discussion, the floor will be open for questions. These group discussions will bring the program to a close.

Dorothy Lapezynski, Regional Chairman of the Student Government Commission, is at the head of the planning committee. Other committee members are Joan Petro, Pat Maciejewski and Alice Sturgeski.

In Pinckneyville, Ill., after finding only 35c in a cafe's cash register, a burglar 1) smashed 10 dozen eggs, 2) poured vanilla extract in the chile, 3) plastered hamburger against the windows, 4) dumped a sack of sugar into the silverware.

"Bo" McMillin, Friend of Dr. Brick Champe for Years, Taken by Death

The untimely death of Alvin B. McMillin, former coach of the Detroit Lions and one of the best known football coaches of a short generation ago, is keenly felt by Dr. Brick Champe of this city, a close friend of "Bo" McMillin's during his long career as a successful coach.

It was back in school days when the two became close friends. One of the last public appearances made by Coach McMillin was before members of the Plymouth Rotary club when Dr. Champe invited him out to this city to talk to the local organization.

Coach McMillin died at his home in Bloomfield, Indiana. He was stricken a year ago with cancer, but doctors report that the immediate cause of his death was a heart attack. He was 57 years of age.

Teachers Travel During Vacation

"We were born to wander, we were born to roam," is the theme of the Plymouth High School faculty as spring vacation comes into view.

Miss Neva Lovewell is touring to Washington, D. C., Richmond, Williamsburg, and Natural Bridge, Virginia for sightseeing.

Mrs. Esther Ham is also Washington bound but style is a little rougher, for her party plans to camp and eat out. She will be accompanied by her daughters, Terry who attends U of M, Dorothy attending Western Michigan, and son Jimmy.

"Give me the deep south," says Miss Virginia Olmsted as she starts for a trip through the Smoky Mountains. Miss Elsa Townsend will be her traveling companion.

The warm Florida sunshine is the destination of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Blunk. And Miss Sarah Lickly plans to visit with friends Dr. and Mrs. Ostrander of Ludington.

Many teachers will spend a part of their vacation at the MEA convention in Detroit.

WASH AT HOME

Many slipcovers can be washed in a washing machine at home, if the fabric is colorfast and if the seams are not given to fraying. It's a good idea to check the slipcover manufacturer's cleaning recommendations first, however.

Mrs. Law Appears on Television

One of the songs to be featured on the CBS television production, Songs for Sale, April 12 will be "Fat Man" written by Mrs. Hugh Law of Ann Arbor road.

Mrs. Law previously submitted two other songs to the program which were returned with a form letter saying that they were not suitable for the program. "I am really thrilled," stated Mrs. Law. "I have no formal musical education, and this is quite an honor."

When asked about the song, she said that it was Dixie land style about a fat man playing the piano.

Mrs. Carl Caplin will accompany Mrs. Law to New York. While there they will march in the Easter parade down Fifth avenue.

The program is broadcast from 9:30 to 11 p.m. over channel 2.

State Follows Recommendation of Plymouth Wild Life Assn.

It was some 12 or 15 years ago when Dr. Brick Champe, who was then president of the Western Wayne County Conservation Association strongly recommended a program for wildlife habitat improvement in this area by the planting of trees and shrubs. He urged that this planting be done on lands which were not adaptable to general farming purposes and on which nothing is produced from year to year.

Some farmers in this area did some of this planting at that time. But now comes news from Lansing stating that the Michigan Conservation Department with the aid of farmers, game department men and some prisoners expect to plant more than two million, 465 thousand trees and shrubs during the present spring. At least some type of planting will be made in every county in this southern Michigan region where the bulk of the state hunters reside and hunt.

About 1,200,000 conifer and hardwood trees and fruit-bearing shrubs will be planted by co-operating landowners on some 800 farms. Nearly 375 of the farmers will be receiving habitat stock for the first time this spring.

Twenty or more southern state game areas will receive nearly 1,000,000 trees and shrubs. Included are six comparatively new state game areas which will be getting first development work. These are the Rouge River, Kent county; Sharonville, Jackson and Washtenaw counties; Pittsford, Hillsdale county; Petersburg, Monroe county; and Onsted, Lenawee county.

Including the 141,000 trees and shrubs recently reported as scheduled for southern recreation areas, state prison inmates will plant a total of over 270,000 pieces of stock in 14 park and recreation areas.

Some state game and recreation area lands will be seeded in corn and other crops, in a share-cropping arrangement in which the state's portions will be left standing.

Nearly 1,000 total acres in game and recreation lands will also receive some combination of food patch and meadow seeding for food, cover and nesting areas. About 400 brush piles will be constructed in game areas for rabbits and some game bird use. Small water impoundments, one to two acres in size, will be built for waterfowl and muskrats, in locations where suitable. On the spring program are artificial dens for rabbits and other mammals. In the Thumb district and Pointe Mouillee game areas, Mastiff boxes will be set up for wood ducks.

Some stabilization of banks on the Black river, running through the Port Huron game area, will be undertaken to control erosion.

Spring storms are making it more difficult for Michigan deer, the conservation department reports.

In the upper peninsula, dead deer are being picked up in the Escanaba district and weak fawns have been found in Delta county. Deer are loosely yarded, with snow depths ranging from one to two and a half feet in the four districts of the region.

In the northern lower peninsula, department field men continue to find starved deer in the Gaylord, Mio and Gladwin districts where renewed storms also are delaying spring relief. Increasing number of weakened fawns, in the Mio district, cannot run when pursued. Snow depth ranges from practically nothing to as much as a foot and three inches in all five districts of the region.

Sterling state park near Monroe has been closed indefinitely by the conservation department as high water levels and spring storms also cause thousands of dollars damage in other parks bordering the Great Lakes.

Sterling, a roughly rectangular island well over a mile long, near Monroe, at one stage was entirely covered with Lake Erie water forcing park grounds to temporarily evacuate. All bathhouse and toilet buildings have been jostled around or tipped over by the wind and many trees have been uprooted. Storm-tossed trees have been a frequent problem in recent years. There is as much as two feet of sand covering the main park road and the graveled parking lots have disappeared. Lashing waves have washed away all the usable picnic ground surface.

L. N. Jones, assistant state parks chief, says he does not know at this time how much or what type of repairing might be made.

At Lakeport park off Lake Huron in the Thumb, some beach has been lost but no building damage is anticipated due to the higher level of the general park area.

Lake Huron ice, crashing over the Bay City park beach, and attracting a large number of sight-seers, has caused a big clean up problem. Big trees have been blown down with wind help, and many smaller ones are completely smothered with ice.

At Meigs park on Lake Michigan, more guard rails and posts have been lost to the pounding sea and the park may lose parts of its circular cement roadway to the undercutting waves.

Other parks report: Algonac, on the St. Clair river, is high enough above ground that no spring storm damage is expected.

Sleeper, on Lake Huron at the tip of the Thumb, has beach under water but no building destruction is anticipated.

Muskegon, on Lake Michigan, may get some beach and dock damage, but no building damage is expected.

Ludington, on Lake Michigan, may have some bathhouse damage.

Warren Dunes buildings are on a high enough level that no destructive effects of Lake Michigan are expected.

Grand Haven is moving Lake Michigan beach sand back in place but expects the job will have to be repeated.

Holland parks expects no serious troubles from Lake Michigan waves or storms.

Bigger concentrations of waterfowl now have made their way into southern Michigan, conservation department field men report.

An established 1,200 swans have been noted in one location, the Pointe Mouillee marsh area in the southern Detroit river.

Vaccinating young pigs is much cheaper in the long run than taking a chance on hog cholera, the country's top hog killer.

Army Workers Are Most Appreciative

Captain William Roberts and members of the Plymouth Salvation Army are most appreciative of a gift they received early this week from one of Plymouth's most devoted and grateful citizens—the gift comprising a sum of sufficient size so that the Army can purchase an electric stove for its kitchen and completely equip it with necessary cooking equipment and dishes. It was a definite request that the name of the thoughtful citizen should not be used. Captain Roberts declares that as a result of this thoughtfulness members and friends of the Salvation Army will be able to use the new social hall which is located in the basement, much sooner than had been anticipated.

Roger Babson Says---

Babson Park, Mass., April 3. March 15 has come and gone. Gone, too, are the hopes of many for that new car or summer vacation, the redecoration of a few rooms, or a new spring outfit. While you are still smarting, perhaps it is a good time to ask "Why do we let our Government take so much of our money to spend so recklessly?"

Is The U. S. Really Poorer Today Than in 1929?
I am inclined to believe most of us do not realize the economic facts of life: for, if we did, I feel pretty certain that more people would get out to vote;—in the primaries, as well as in local and national elections.

How rich is this country when compared with 1929? The National Bureau of Economic Research has reported that in terms of 1929 dollars our total wealth has increased only 12 percent from 1928 to 1948. Yet in this same period our population has increased 23 percent. This boils down to the fact that in 1951, a year in which all kinds of economic records were set, the per capita wealth was actually .8 percent below that of 1928.

Government Opiaes
The policy of our own Federal Government has been to keep us in the dark on such facts. The size and power of our governmental machine, our formidable commitments both at home and abroad, full employment and standard-of-living propaganda—all have dulled our senses to what has really been going on. Many people even now subscribe to the idea that high taxes are good for the country as a whole!

Who gets most of the tax money? Uncle Sam now takes 81 percent of all taxes collected in this country. This leaves only 19 percent of the tax money for state and local governments, which is less than one-third of the percentage these organizations had at their disposal in 1929.

What does Uncle Sam do with all of this money? Get a digest of the Hoover Report and find out if you don't know. Here are a few facts:— In 24 years, the Government has increased the number of employees from 570,000. The total national budget has increased from less than $4 billion in 1928 to approximately $70 billion. From another view the Federal Budget expense has gone up from $249 per average family, per year in 1928 to $1400 today. Here is a sample of where the money goes:— 29 different agencies make loans; 28 handle welfare projects; 16 are engaged in wild-life preservation; and 50 agencies compile statistics, which often disagree with each other! The Veterans' Administration takes five times as long to pay a death claim, and uses four times as much manpower to do the job as do private companies.

These are but a few samples of what has been going on to cause the demand for more and more dollars in taxes from you and me. The Hoover Commission, an impartial, non-partisan committee appointed by President Truman, made over three hundred recommendations to bring about a more efficient Government. Hard-hitting, interested citizens who have made their wishes known to their representatives have been able to bring about legislation adopting less than half of the Commission's recommendations.

Our Own Fault
Our Government, at local, state, and national levels, is as good as we make it. If we remain complacent or silent or fail to vote, our Government will continued to squander our tax dollars. But if we make good Government our business, just as we would the handling of our own personal finances, we can stop this waste and reduce our taxes. Let us speak up by writing our senators and representatives, by working with organized groups in our own community, as some young people have recently done in Boston, Massachusetts.

"HAVE YOU FORGOTTEN SOMETHING?"

Above all, vote for those who stand for efficient government and who will let us help bring about the remaining half of the reforms recommended by the Hoover Commission. Our Government will be as good and as efficient as we demand. It is our money that is being spent! It is partly our fault that our taxes are so high.

All earthly delights are sweeter in expectation than enjoyment; but all spiritual pleasures more in fruition than expectation. —Owen Feltham

Some of Grocery Prices Plymouth Residents Paid Over 80 Years Ago

While rummaging through some old papers and files in the offices of his Buick automobile agency the other day, Carl Shear discovered an old business card of the Holbrook & Bradner store, that served Plymouth citizens over three quarters of a century ago.

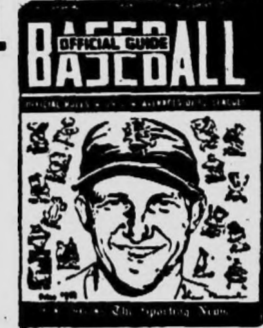

Its line of goods included ready-made clothing, gents' furnishing goods and "all kinds of choice family groceries."

But the interesting part of the discovery were some notations on the back of the card. Some patron by the name of Harry Willis or Wells, had paid his account in full.

The list of items he had purchased and the prices he paid are interesting in comparison with prices of today. There were but two or three items which were listed on this August 7, 1870 record, that differed much from the prices that are paid today. During the month of August some 62 years ago a 50 pound sack of flour cost $2.00 at the Holbrook & Bradner store. Two pounds of coffee cost 26 cents. Four pounds of brown sugar retailed at 50 cents. Two pounds of "white" sugar cost the purchaser 30 cents. One ounce of soda cost 13 cents and a half pound of tea cost the purchaser 88 cents. One half pound of starch cost 8 cents and two ounces of nutmeg cost him 25 cents. A "box of salt" cost him 25 cents and a water pail was listed at 40 cents. One ounce of indigo was listed at 13 cents.

First Aid for Bark Wounds
GOOD trees are an asset to any residential or farm property. They should, of course, be protected from abuse. Occasionally, however, they may be injured by accident. Then it is important for the owner to give first aid.

Small wounds can be dressed by smoothing off the injured bark area as they are discovered. Tree wounds heal at the sides and not at the top or bottom, so the bark should be traced to a pointed oval outline. The edges then will be all side edges and will heal rapidly. Orange shellac may next be applied to protect the bark edges against drying. Paint should not be used, because most paint materials are injurious to the living bark. The shellac will prevent drying, but not decay. A tree wound dressing should be used for that purpose. In case of large wounds it is advisable to call in a tree expert.

Hints for Plymouth Homemakers

Eggs, a Food Bargain, Are High in Protein, Iron, Phosphorus

Homemakers are finding eggs a food bargain this Lenten season. Retail prices of eggs are down and likely to stay down because production is getting heavier.

Egg prices have dropped since early in December and are much lower than last year. So the increased use of eggs can make a real saving in the food budget.

Eggs are one of our most valuable foods. They can be used as a most alternate because the protein is complete—which means it contains all the amino acids necessary for building and repairing body tissues. Eggs also contain valuable mineral, iron and phosphorus, as well as Vitamins A, D, riboflavin and thiamine. Two large eggs give the same amount of protein as an average serving of meat.

Egg dishes are easily and quickly prepared, alone or in combination with other foods. Moderate to low temperatures should be used in cooking eggs. High temperatures and overcooking toughens and shrivels eggs. Use eggs as a thickening agent in puddings and on salads and as a leavening agent in baking. They add color, flavor and richness to many different dishes. As a salad, egg is used in breaded patties, egg can add food value and color to the primary meal. As an appetizer, they are baked in potato skins and combined with cheese, they can become the "cream" of the menu. In baked goods, eggs can add richness and moisture to cakes, breads, biscuits and pastries.

Buy eggs from a reliable dealer. Display of eggs should be kept cool to insure the quality. These keep better in a covered container so that moisture is not removed from the egg. Keep them refrigerated at home and take out only the eggs to be used.

Look for both the grade and size in figuring how to get the greatest value for your egg money. Grade AA, Grade A or Grade B eggs can all be used for table use, but Grade B eggs should be used in heavy cooking. Compare the price of different sizes of eggs of the same grade. Medium sizes come with 24 ounces and at 50 cents a dozen would be the same value as large size eggs weighing 24 ounces and costing 57 cents a dozen.

Try these egg recipes for variety.

Q. What is this method of meat cooking?
A. Pan-frying.

Q. How should meat be pan-fried?
A. Brown meat on both sides in a hot pan out of added fat. Season with salt and pepper if desired, but continue to cook uncovered, turning occasionally to insure even doneness.

Q. What meat cuts are cooked by this method?
A. Beef—steaks (suitable for broiling but not thin), patties, Veal—chops, cutlets, Pork—thin chops, ham, Canadian-style bacon, bacon, Lamb—chops, patties. Variety meats—liver, brains, sweetbreads. Game meats—squirrel, venison, boar, liver sausage, frankfurters, etc.

Aids For His Good Grooming

Newest toiletries for men are designed to help make a fellow feel handsome, well groomed and look it, too.

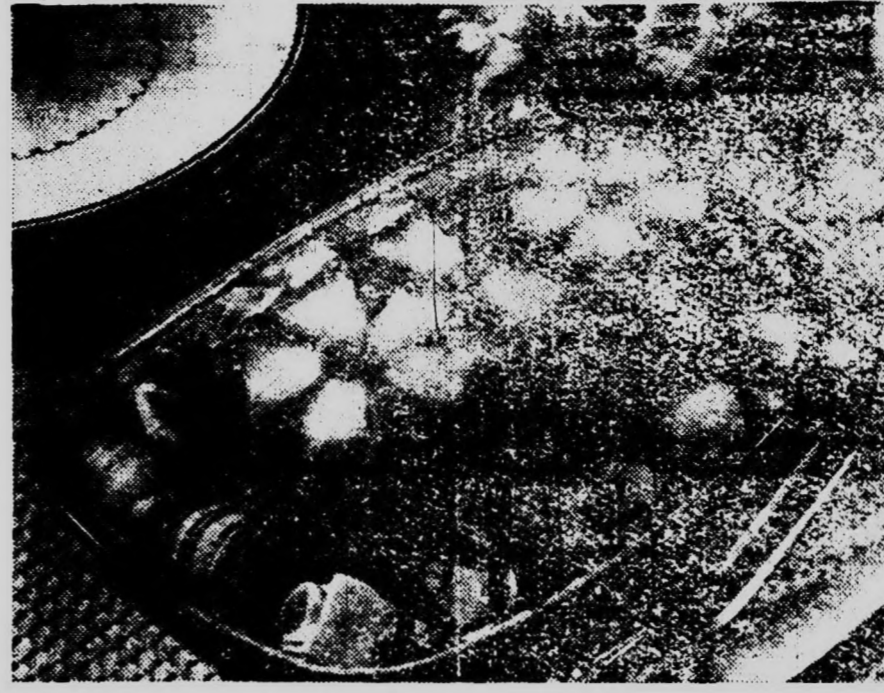

For the man who prefers showers to baths, there's a man-sized bath mitt that's soap and wash cloth in one.

After his morning shower, he can reach for a special skin cream (if he has a sensitive skin), that helps prepare his face for daily whisker removing. Then, if he desires a facial while shaving, he can use a new shaving cream containing ozone, that acts as a skin bracer, too.

If a sudden after office hours appointment arises, and there's hardly time or place for a shave, he can apply a new product that looks like his wife's pancake make-up and is applied the same way.

For the traveling man, toiletry items such as cologne, hair tonic and talc come conveniently packaged in squeezable plastic bottles.

Pineapple Tops This Upside Down Ham Loaf

UPSIDE Down Ham Loaf is as much fun to make as that kind of cake. When it's baked, you turn the pan upside down on your platter and this good-sized ham loaf slips out, topped with pineapple. You can use canned slices or the diced fruit arranged in rings, and what a pretty picture it makes for your Easter dinner.

A hint of brown sugar blends with the pineapple for a flavor that's so good with ham. And the parsley in the loaf itself adds a fresh, different touch.

But the biggest joy of Upside Down Ham Loaf is its cereal thrift, a point you'll appreciate in Lenten menu planning. Corn flakes extend a pound of ground ham—make it shank or butt—and a half pound of fresh pork to 8 to 10 servings. Too, the corn flakes add a subtle flavor you're sure to like.

Upside Down Ham Loaf
1 pound ground lean smoked ham
1/2 pound ground lean fresh pork
1/2 cup chopped parsley
2 1/2 cups corn flakes
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 egg
1/2 cup milk
1/4 cup pineapple syrup
1 cup diced canned pineapple
2 tablespoons brown sugar

Combine ham, pork, parsley, slightly crushed corn flakes, salt, and pepper with egg, milk, and pineapple syrup; mix well. Place pineapple in bottom of 9 x 5 x 3 inch loaf pan and sprinkle with brown sugar. Pack meat mixture on top. Bake in moderate oven (350°-375°F.) about 1 hour. Remove from pan, turning upside down onto platter to serve. Yield: 8 to 10 servings.

Spring Basic For '52 Coordinated Coat, Dress Combination

Look to the dress-and-coat ensemble to serve as the basic costume for Spring 1952. For it is a versatile twosome that can go everywhere and do everything in fine style. And it is on hand for selection by all ages and all sizes in many variations of itself, in every fabric and every price range.

One of the most popular of these coat-and-dress combinations could be, for example, a navy print dress worn with a fawn or taffeta coat. The dress might be in a soft blue and white floral print teamed with a navy coat featuring a shoulder scarf in the dress print.

This use of the dress fabric for a light color accent on the coat is expected to be one of the identifying marks of the 1952 coat-and-dress ensembles. Collar, cuff, belt and lining fabrics are all used to coordinate the two. For instance, a red and white striped dress is matched in the lining of a clear blue ottoman coat. Or a navy sheer crepe dress and a navy fawn coat are coordinated by bright red taffeta in the belt of the dress and the lining of the coat.

The possibilities are numerous and the dress and coat can even be selected individually then coordinated with matching belt and scarf.

Better Eating
by Jean Allen

STYLES IN STREAMLINING

A trim figure and buoyant health are double assurance that you are in style. This ideal combination comes through a balanced diet with a controlled number of calories each day.

The balancing comes through eating a wide variety of foods. It is much better to skip the second helping than it is to eliminate a nutritious food such as bread or potatoes from your meal.

Three Meals a Day

Most people who skip breakfast just eat more for lunch or dinner. The total number of calories eaten each day should be divided as evenly as possible among the three meals.

Total Calories - 1205

Here is a menu plan for one day that has a total of 1205 calories in all. There is variety aplenty for it includes bread, potatoes, meat, dairy foods, fruits and vegetables.

Breakfast - 355 Calories

- 1 sliced orange 75
- 1 fried egg 120
- 1 slice buttered toast 100
- 1 tablespoon jelly 40

Lunch - 350 Calories

- 1/2 cup cream of mushroom soup 200
- 2 soda crackers 50
- 1 raw apple 100

Dinner - 500 Calories

- 1 slice roast beef 100
- 1 baked potato 100
- 1 tablespoon butter 100
- 1/2 cup devilled green beans 30
- 1 small lettuce 15
- 1/2 cup French dressing 70
- 1/2 cup skim milk 85

The green beans are made tasty by adding a scant teaspoon of prepared mustard to each serving. Coffee or tea without cream or sugar may be added to any one of the meals without adding calories.

One teaspoon of cream and one of sugar adds a total of twenty-five more calories to your meal. Take it easy!

Faithfully,
Jean Allen

Casuals to Dress For Spring Wear

Sportswear for juniors and the younger size sisters, has a dressed-up air, this Spring, captured in fashions popular at the end of the century.

They are shorter and snugger. They appear as picturesque as the tops, figure-hugging tunics, parky boleros and little jackets.

Skirts, although in many instances still billowing out with a certain breadth for emphasis, are more gentle in line, featuring fullness in back panels or at the hemline.

Slacks, too, are gala in a new way. Presented in a variety of shades, these blouses have dramatic boat-shape or draped surplice necklines, and make generous use of this season's favored full-blown sleeves.

Blending their popularity for the young are pedal pushers, slacks, skirts, circle skirts, wrapped skirts and middy skirts. But these, too, are often presented in dressed-up versions of sportswear fabrics.

Kind of the dressed-up fabric is rayon, that hard-wearing favorite. It is dressed to give an entrance into the Spring fashion season by means of embroidery, jet, braid and trim.

One example is a mandarin-collared jacket and pedal pushers made of quilted faded rayon, lined in solid cotton. Another instance of rayon in a new presentation is a waist-length, wrap-around jacket with a wide collar that is centered with white string lace.

Dry Beans High in Food Value, Low in Cost

Baked beans, chili and bean soup have long been favorite American dishes. These and other bean dishes can very well be the meat alternate in many Lenten menus.

You'll be giving your family excellent food and saving money at the same time. Dry beans are a "best buy" in both food value and cost these days; they supply good vegetable protein, iron, calcium, phosphorus and the B vitamins.

Whether you buy Navy, Kidney, Yellow Eye or Cranberry beans will be a matter of personal or family likes. They'll give you the same good food value and can be used interchangeably in any favorite recipe.

Remember that beans take long soaking. Soak them in soft water if you can because hard water toughens the skin. Cook in the soaking water and keep the heat low. Dry beans soak up lots of water so watch the water level.

Since beans are bland in flavor, be generous in the use of seasonings. Try tomatoes, onions, molasses, brown sugar, catsup, or spices for flavoring. Mustard, sage or celery can help point up the flavor.

Although beans in the dry form are the economy leaders, they're an economical food in the various canned or processed forms, too.

Junior's Clothes Duplicate Dad's

Junior will look like a tiny replica of Daddy, this Spring, in trousers, sweaters, jackets and coats all mimicking the grown-ups in styling.

The trench coat, complete in all details, including iridescent lining, is warm enough for those "in between" days and sturdy enough for a small boy's hard wear. Popular, too, in Spring coats, are the fly-front water-repellent twills, styled to make on and father look like brothers.

Tartans appear in sleeveless sweaters with fabric front and knit back. Sports shirts, in bright topic prints and bright solids, fit well with a knitted waistband.

Tots just learning to walk won't scrape knees as much with the new overalls that have foam rubber pads slipped into knee pockets.

Suggestions for Landscaping
Open Spaces on Grounds and in Garden With Relation to Activities

By Harlow O. Whittemore
Professor of Landscape Architecture
University of Michigan

The open areas of the grounds surrounding your home are of the utmost importance because you use them every day for living, playing and working out of doors.

Open spaces should be designed around the use to which you expect to put them. If there is a playground for small children, it should be broad as well as long to permit them to run off in all directions. If the space is used primarily for walking or strolling, a narrow glade of grass will do. This would be especially attractive if the walk is cut deep into a young woods.

If the open space is a playground for old and young in the form of room for lawn tennis or croquet, the dimensions should be such as to permit the layout of these areas. Bowling should have a grassy space about 120 feet long by 20 feet wide; or, better still 40 feet wide to permit changing courts.

Lawn tennis permits the lawn to be used as part of the view by removing the net. If the open space is a panel which is to be bordered with perennials and other flowers or flowering shrubs planted against taller hedges or trees, it may be a rectangular panel of simple design, either from one and one-half to twice as long as it is wide. Or it can be planted with a sinuous border of points and bays with flowers back in the bays and with rugged plants coming out into the points, giving a series of vistas, one after the other.

Another type of open space is one which is cut by formal geometric shapes into various beds. These beds might have either grass or ground cover or flowers in them. Thus, a rose garden could be made with a sun dial in the center and with walks laid out from it and enclosing it to form a geometric pattern of beds within which dwarf roses are grown.

Another type of open space is the work yard where the enthusiastic gardener goes for a place to carry on his horticultural activities. Temporary planting, cold frames for seedlings, compost heaps and temporary tool storage with a potting shed, if necessary, help a great deal in efficient gardening.

How Detroit Found Home Here

Does it pay to advertise in The Plymouth Mail?

If you have any doubts in your mind, just ask Mrs. Corinne Hague, 39850 Schoolcraft road, located near Haggerty highway.

It was a number of years ago when this former resident of the big city of Detroit decided that she wanted to live somewhere near Plymouth. She had driven about Wayne county for years with the idea in mind of finding some locality she thought would be desirable for a permanent home outside of Detroit.

After frequent trips here, there and everywhere she selected the Plymouth area as the most desirable one.

The next problem was to find just the type of a home she desired. What was the most advisable thing to do? Subscribe for the Plymouth Mail.

That was over two years ago when she made up her mind that sometime there would be an advertisement in The Mail of the kind of home she wanted somewhere near Plymouth.

It was not long ago when she saw an advertisement of just the place she wanted. Besides having a nice house, there were three acres of ground with nearly 50 fruit trees of different kinds of fruit, a strawberry patch, grapes, berry bushes of all kinds and a nice lawn about the home.

It didn't take Mrs. Hague long to decide that this was the home she was looking for. One visit to the place convinced her that all that was said about it in The Mail advertisement was correct. The transaction completed almost immediately and now Mrs. Hague is nicely located in her new home. "And I find living near Plymouth is all that I had dreamed it would be. It's just ideal!" she stated the other day when in The Mail office to renew her subscription for another year. Although a resident of Detroit for 35 years she says she doesn't miss the big city a bit.

Baseball Squad Begins Practice

The Plymouth High baseball team got one day of practice outside last week, when about 35 boys reported for the workout. The squad started off their drill with two laps around the baseball field to get their legs into condition, and then limbered up doing calisthenics.

Coach Gorguze said that he hoped the team could start regular practice outside this week.

Local Sport News

Sports Glances by "Professor" Edgar Brown

I haven't seen anything resembling the team batting average of the Detroit Tigers in the papers as yet. Can't say that I blame them for it can't be much over 200. The last I heard, Kell and Groth were the only ones over 300, and Ginsberg was next at 267, and from there on was a big drop.

Some one of these days, they are going to have to make some trades, and get some new blood on the team, particularly pitchers. Hutchinson, Ne w h a u s e r, Trucks and Trout are getting near the end of the trail.

For you people who plan on attending the opening game and would like reserve or box seats, but have not secured a ticket, you had better give up the idea for they are all gone. Bob Smith and I tried to get some two weeks ago. If you want to see the game, you will have to stand in line for bleacher seats that day, and you better get their early.

Congratulations to Tait's Cleaners, the Plymouth Senior Men's recreational basketball champs. They went to the finals of the State Recreational tournament at Albion last weekend, before bowing to a fast Marshall team in the final game. But, as runners-up, they received a splendid trophy for their efforts—another to add to the many Plymouth has won in district and state recreational play in various sporting events since the city began its recreational program.

This is sort of an off-season in local sports, and there isn't much doing now. Basketball is over, and it is too early for baseball and track, but we will have full coverage soon on baseball, track, tennis and golf.

Herb Woolweaver reports that the recreation department will be sponsoring an ambitious spring and summer program in hardball, softball, swimming and other sports for both boys and girls.

All the young people who want to participate in this program can do so by signing up for play.

It is wonderful to see a city invest in youth, the way Plymouth is doing. The more wholesome entertainment we can give these young folk, the more this investment will pay off in future years.

E and F Winners Defeated at Ypsi

The Junior Optimists traveled over to Ypsilanti to compete against a fast Ypsilanti team in the district recreational tournament, but was trounced 33 to 17. This was the first time this season that the Plymouth winners were beaten.

The game was evenly fought during the first quarter, but in the second quarter, Ypsilanti began pulling away and led at the half 16 to 11. The winners tallied 17 points in the second half, while bottling up Plymouth and held them to only 6 points.

Lindy Mills was high for the locals with 7 points. The victory enabled Ypsilanti to meet Wayne for the Tri-City championship, and eliminated the Optimists from further play.

The Ypsilanti team was tall, and the same team that won the F crown last year.

In the Class E tournament, the Wayne County Training School Wolverines, who ran away with the city league, were edged by Ypsilanti 37 to 35 in a hard fought game.

LaFontaine Team Loses to Pontiac

The LaFontaine team, runners-up in the Plymouth men's basketball league, lost out in the Inter-city tournament at Pontiac last weekend. This tournament is for cities in this locality.

The Plymouth five lost to Pontiac 54 to 42 in the second round. The locals drew a bye in the first round. Pontiac went on to win the tournament when they downed Redford in the finals game 51 to 43.

Pontiac also won the class A state tournament when they defeated Kalamazoo 55 to 54 when a Kalamazoo player missed two free throws in the last ten seconds.

Sally Sessions to Give Golf Tips

Herbert Woolweaver, recreational director, states that a two-day golf instruction course for women and men will be held on Thursday, May 8, and Saturday, May 10, for both beginners and those who desire more knowledge of the game, at the Plymouth Country Club.

One of the outstanding women golfers in the state has been secured to instruct for these two days. Miss Sally Sessions, noted Michigan and national professional will be at the Country Club to help those attending these classes. Miss Sessions has won many top-notch golf tournaments throughout the country, and is considered one of the finest women golfers in Michigan.

The Country Club is building a special driving range for these classes.

On Thursday, March 8, from 2 to 3 p.m. in the afternoon, from 3 to 4, and from 4 to 5 p.m. for women only, or husband and wife, classes will be held.

On Saturday, May 10, the instruction will be for mixed men and women and the hours will be from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m., 10 to 11:30 a.m., and 11:30 to 12:30.

Mr. Woolweaver states that anyone interested in attending any of these sessions should contact him at the city hall by calling 2075.

God is glorified, not by our groans but by our thanksgivings; and all good thought and good action claim a natural alliance with good cheer. —Edwin Percy Whipple

Tait's Lose State Tourney Final

The local recreational winner in men's basketball staged a valiant bid for the state championship, but "ran out of gas" in the final game, and bowed to a fast Marshall team 84 to 65.

To reach the finals, which were played at Albion college last weekend, Tait's defeated Adrian Friday night 80 to 66 in the quarter finals, and edged Albion Saturday afternoon 70 to 62 in the semi finals.

In the Adrian game, Paige led Plymouth with 25 points, closely followed by Becker with 22 points. The locals built up a big lead and coasted to the win.

The Albion game was a little harder for Tait's and they sneaked through to win 70 to 36. Joe Brodie had 20 and Keith Ebersole 18 points for Plymouth.

In the final against Marshall, the Tait team made a good game of it for three quarters, but were trounced in the final quarter. At the half, Marshall led 38 to 36. Paige again led Tait's with 18 points, and Brodie had 17. John Keck, a former Olivet college star, scored 29 for Marshall, and nearly all were on long shots.

In gaining the finals, Tait's came back with a lovely second place trophy, awarded by the Michigan Recreation Association.

Spring Schedule to be Big Program

Herbert Woolweaver, director of the Recreational department reports that the recreational baseball schedule for this season will be a big one. In hardball, the different teams will be the "D" league of Western Wayne county, for boys 18 and under, and the "F" league for boys 14 and under.

Probably the teams in the F league will be Plymouth, Northville, Farmington and Livonia. The grade schools will also field teams for kids 12 and under or sixth grade and under.

In softball the teams will be the 18 and under, and 15 and under leagues, which will start April 21. Softball will be played by grade school teams with age limits the same as in hardball.

The girls in the grade school, sixth grade and under, will be playing kickball starting April 21. The teams in this league are Smith, Bird, Lutheran, Starkweather and Catholic.

All teams should start organizing now for the coming season.

"We Offer the Kind of Service We Would Desire"

Want a lot of mileage for your money?

WE'LL admit that the price tags of automobiles—all automobiles—are not what they used to be.

But it's just as true today as ever before that some price tags are lower than others, and some cars cost less to own than others.

So let's see how a Buick SPECIAL fits into the picture.

Take first cost. If you put the price tag of this Buick against price tags of cars that have always been tagged as belonging in "the low-priced field"—you'll find that, in actual dollars, a Buick's surprisingly close to these cars of lesser size and horsepower.

But that's just the beginning.

What you're getting here is Buick quality—this SPECIAL comes down the same assembly line as SUPERS and ROADMASTERS.

Its heft tells you it has extra sturdiness in frame and structure.

Its Fireball Engine delivers extra power. It is an eight, a valve-in-head, with high compression, and the miles you can get from a gallon of gas make it a thrifty performer.

You get Buick's Million Dollar Ride, which protects you—and the car—from jars and jolts.

Even the tires are bigger—which, any tire man will tell you, lengthens their wear.

And if you pay a bit extra for Dynaflo Drive* you're easing the strain on the engine, the rear end, the tires—and eliminating clutch repair bills.

So when we talk about "mileage for your money" we're talking about the miles you'll get from your car—including the unused miles that are what you have to sell when you trade it in.

Maybe that's why Buick's doing so well in the present market. Why not come in and see what a great car this is for you?

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. Wheel Covers standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on other Series. White sidewalls optional at extra cost when available. *Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Locks Installed at PHS

Seven hundred and fifty locks are being installed on hall lockers, band rooms, and dressing room lockers. The maintenance department is installing these locks in their spare time.

Something new has been added in this department, a bench drill. It is convenient to have this piece of equipment so that the men do not have to go to the machine shop and wait to use one. It is used in drilling holes in metal or wood and also an electric drill can be attached.

Another new gadget to be used is an under water vacuum cleaner for the swimming pool which picks up dirt that settles to the bottom.

Students Attend Meeting in Detroit

Five students from Plymouth High School and Walter Goodwin were present at an Engineering Meeting held Wednesday, March 26, at the Rackham Memorial Building in Detroit, Michigan.

The purpose of the meeting was to get high school students interested in engineering fields because of the lack of interest by students in engineering.

The students who attended the meeting were Paul Riley, Gary Hees, Richard Marsh, Marvin Green, Stewart Oldford, and Walter Goodwin who took the boys to the meeting. Paul Briole was unable to attend the meeting because of illness.

The Dean of the Engineering College of Detroit gave a talk on the important phases of Engineering and also told the students some of the interesting opportunities that may be had in Engineering.

After the talk by the Dean, the students were given the opportunity to ask questions of Counselors from different companies about engineering fields and the opportunities engineering offers. The students also heard many interesting things the Counselors had to say about the various fields in engineering and what they lead to.
