Congress Shall Make No Laws Abridging the Freedom of The Press

What I Think and Have A Right to Say

By ELTON R. EATON

VIOLENCE — BY DAVID LAWRENCE.

I happen to know that there are many readers of The Plymouth Mail who are also subscribers of The U. S. News and World Report. But there are thousands of other readers of this newspaper who do not take this famed Washington publication. So that these thousands may read one of the best editorials that has appeared in print pertaining to one of the grave problems of this country, The Plymouth Mail is reprinting it in full, as follows:

What hope is there to prevent war between nations when we fail so miserably to settle disputes inside our own country and deliberately resort to war?

For nationwide strikes are a form of war. They do violence to many innocent bystanders. They are instruments of coercion. They impose hardship on workers as well as on employers. They amount to a confession that we have not yet learned even in our internal affairs how to substitute reason for violence.

When disputes of certain types are properly submitted to the law courts, the citizen abides by what the judges say or he appeals to the legislature for changes in the law. These are the customary practices in free countries. But why is it that strikes on wages and working conditions go on almost without restraint?

It is of little avail to look upon such disputes as merely a clash between greedy parties or to rely on Government injunctions to stop them just before they go to extremes of destruction.

The real challenge to a free nation is to find a way to settle its economic controversies without bringing to bear the element of compulsion without a prohibitory law or an enforced arbitration.

The device which has gained some favor is the appointment of a commission or board of investigation which reports but does not recommend. At various times this has proved of great help in clarifying issues and in assisting the process of reason. But lately there has come an additional step of questionable value—the board that actually "recommends" a course of action. Clothed with governmental prestige, these "recommendations" carry the moral force of an edict of law. This is helpful only insofar as the board members are truly impartial. But when the boards are composed of panel members obviously chosen by the President to serve because of their economic predilections, the method is often more harmful than beneficial to the settlement of economic disputes. Such an abuse of power awakens suspicion, arouses passions, provokes distrust and certainly makes it difficult, if not impossible, for the processes of reason to function effectively.

All this can be seen in an examination of the controversy that has arisen between the steel companies and the unions. It doesn't solve anything for the Government to seize plants or facilities and let the dispute drag on. It merely intensifies feeling against the Government for actually prolonging the contest without a constructive solution.

The unions in the steel industry have demanded certain increases in wages. A governmental agency committed to holding the line against inflation violates the basic principle of wage stabilization by recommending substantial wage increases. Then the same Government, through another agency, refuses to give any assurances of a price increase to producers to offset the new costs. In effect, such a policy means that labor unions are given a privileged position, while steel companies are denied equitable treatment.

This does violence to our sense of justice. It is not "stabilization." It caused a conscientious public servant like Charles E. Wilson, Director of Economic Mobilization, to resign in protest. The President by his acquiescence in the Wage Board's "recommendations" has demolished confidence in the whole stabilization setup.

Public opinion alone in a free country can settle labor-management disputes of such fundamental importance as we now face in the steel industry. But public opinion cannot function without facts—and facts must be impartially presented.

It is a question of fact, not theory, whether the wage increases do mean substantial increases in cost.

It is a question of fact whether the profits of the steel companies are same as payments of taxes to pay the obligations to stockholders and still sell steel at the same price per ton as before.

It is a question of fact whether the financial structure of the steel companies will be impaired if there is no adequate provision for reserves or for funds to replace worn-out plant and equipment, and if virtually all net income is paid out annually to the employees.

Why in free America cannot tribunals of prestige and integrity be set up to determine these facts? Why cannot federal judges, aided by expert accountants, be impartially called for such a study of the facts, with power to make a report without recommendation?

The American people can judge what is fair if the facts are made available to them. And no labor union—unless, through sinister conspiracy of its officers, it is committed to a communistic philosophy or strategy—can afford to stand up against American public opinion any more than any producing companies can do so if the facts are all on the table for everyone to see and judge.

This is the way of Reason. This is the true safeguard against violence. We must let in the fresh air of facts. They must be established by men of impartiality and fairness. When once the facts are known, Reason can win a victory for all of us.

WE HOPE MICHIGAN REPUBLICANS WILL NOT REPEAT THE TRAGIC MISTAKE OF 1860.

To the writer the present situation within the Republican party pertaining to the selection of its candidate for the Republican nomination for President is very similar to the situation that existed within the Republican party back in the spring of 1860 some months before Abraham Lincoln was nominated by the Republicans for President.

The nation's so-called "political leaders" were for William H. Seward of New York. The vast majority of the rank and file of the people were for Abraham Lincoln.

Michigan's delegation of 12 votes to the Chicago Wigwam convention was solidly for Seward of New York. They voted for him on the first, the second and even on the third ballot when there were plenty of signs to indicate that "Honest Abe" of Illinois was going to be the nominee of the convention.

But under the leadership of Austin Blair, Michigan's misguided delegation stuck by Seward to the end—and as a result this state had no part in the nomination of the greatest leader the Republican party ever had.

After the nomination of Lincoln, Delegate Blair went before the convention to make a whining speech in which he said that Michigan "has nothing to take back" and "does not fear that the fame of Seward will suffer" but he did pledge Michigan Republicans to the support of Lincoln in the election.

We hope that the Michigan Republicans who will again go to Chicago this summer, 92 years after the first nomination of Abraham Lincoln, will not make the tragic mistake of the Michigan delegates in 1860 and oppose the nomination of a candidate acceptable to the rank and file members of the Republican party.

THEY USE THE RIGHT WORDS.

Sometimes we think some of the language we use when discussing Fair Dealism, New Dealism and Crooked Dealism that maybe our expressions are a little too rough—too much like the talk of that lumberjack who got mad and threw his axe at another lumberjack when he called him a sissy.

At any rate we have come to the conclusion that our expressions are mild indeed after reading a portion of an address made by Hamilton Holt, a Macon, Georgia Democrat when he spoke before a meeting of southern business men at Albany, Georgia, recently. Some one who apparently liked his language and thought some of his expressions might add a bit to our knowledge, sent a clipping of the address to the writer.

So you can see how mild what we say about these Phony Dealers is in comparison to what their own southern brethren say about them, a few paragraphs from Mr. Holt's speech are being reprinted, as follows:

"This has to be a great country. It is the only country in the world where the head of a Kansas City political machine could be thrown in Federal prison and the tail of that machine could wind up in the White House," an obvious reference to Boss Tom Pendergast and his political pupil, President Harry Truman.

May Ask For More Tax Money For Local School Program

Two Commissioners Re-elected Total Vote Smallest in Years With 112 Plunker Votes Recorded

How a few Plymouth citizens voted Monday:

Precinct	Precinct	Precinct	Precinct	Total
Eleanor Hammond	64	58	134	346
Floyd Tibbitts	78	67	149	385
Harry Hunter	51	27	81	219

In its regular city election held Monday Plymouth citizens to the total number of 507 out of a registration list of more than 3,000 went to the polls and voted to continue in office for another two years Mrs. Eleanor Hammond and Floyd Tibbitts.

A perfect election day, the only surprising thing about the election is the exceedingly small number of votes that were cast. Old timers do not recall such a small vote since Plymouth changed from a village form of government to that of a city.

But even when Plymouth was a village of not more than 3,000 or 4,000 population its local elections generally counted anywhere from 700 to nearly a thousand votes.

The lowest previous vote was cast in October of last year when Plymouth changed its charter and increased its membership on the city commission from five to seven, at the same time electing two new members of the commission. The total vote in that election was only 630.

The new voting machines proved no problem to the voters say election board members. The machines made possible the results of the election within an hour or so after the polls closed.

A study of the election returns indicate that 112 so-called "plunker" votes were cast for various candidates. A "plunker" vote is a ballot cast for only one candidate instead of two.

Strike Ties Up Phone Service in Plymouth Area

Although the thousands of telephone users in and around Plymouth are in no way involved in the argument between the employees of the phone company and the management, local citizens have since Monday morning been deprived of the use of their telephones.

The phones, installed and ready for use, might just as well be in the middle of the Atlantic, said one disgruntled user the other day.

"I pick up the receiver and all I get is some recorded voice saying 'We are sorry but because of the strike etc.' We had nothing to do with the strike, but we the phone users are the ones getting it in the neck" he added.

"I am wondering just how long the people are going to stand for this thing."

At any rate no one is using the telephone—and until it is off does one realize how important the phone has become in the ordinary operation of a business or even the household.

This is the second time in the past two years that Plymouth has been without telephone service due to strikes. Never before, with these two exceptions, in the half century or more of telephone service in this city has the service ever been cut off except for brief storm interruptions.

Lions Club Raises Money for Sight

A week from tomorrow night, Friday, April 18, the Plymouth Lions club will sponsor the first professional wrestling match ever to be staged in the city. All the profits derived from this sporting event will go to further the Lions club fund for sight conservation.

Clayton Stokes, program chairman, has lined up some top-notch TV stars for the occasion, and many of the headliners seen on television will be present to please the expected large audience that night. A ring will be installed on the floor of the new high school gymnasium, and ample room is guaranteed for all who wish to attend.

Some of the things the club wishes to buy with the proceeds will be on display—one of them is a leader dog.

The Lions club has done much in late years to help the blind, and in the conservation of sight.

All those who attend this sports spectacle will be contributing to a worthy cause plus having an evening of enjoyable entertainment.

Announces Two Important Land Transfers

The Howard Stark Real Estate Agency has announced an important real estate transfer that may mean another industry for Plymouth in the not too distant future.

Mr. Stark a few days ago sold the several acres of land lying between the C & O railway tracks and the Plymouth - Riverside parkway system and west of Starkweather avenue, which belonged to the Veterans of Foreign Wars, to the Garling interests. It is their intent to develop the area for industrial purposes.

Access to the property is from an undeveloped platted street that opens into the land from Starkweather avenue.

In connection with this sale Mr. Stark also announced that he had brought about the sale of six large lots on the west side of Lilly road just north of the Powell beer distributing station and offices to the Veterans of Foreign Wars. These lots comprise a frontage on Lilly road of nearly 200 feet and extend back some 350 feet. It is the plan of this service organization to erect a suitable hall and recreation center when building conditions are a bit more favorable than at present.

Mr. Stark states that the new location for this organization is a most desirable one, being located directly on a paved highway that is kept open during the entire year.

V.F.W. Installation Tuesday, April 15th

Officers for Mayflower Post 6695 and the Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars have been elected for 52-53.

A joint installation ceremony will be held at the old Plymouth High school gymnasium on Tuesday, April 15, 8 p.m.

The public is cordially invited to attend. The installation ceremony is colorful and interesting to all those who love, honor and respect our grand flag.

A short program of actual ritual work has been planned, followed by guest speaker, city manager Al Glassford. The color guard team from post, 873 has been secured for the short ritual work involved.

Refreshments will be served immediately following the program at the Veterans Memorial Center.

Good Friday

Most Plymouth stores and business offices will be closed Friday afternoon from 12 to 3 p.m. The closing policy has been in force in the city for many years, enabling those who desire to attend devotional services held in the local churches.

Senator Moody to Speak Here

The Honorable Blair Moody, United States Senator, will be guest and speaker at a luncheon to be held Saturday, April 19, at noon, in the Mayflower hotel.

Senator Moody will give a "Report to the People." Following his talk there will be a question and answer period.

The general public is invited to attend. Luncheon tickets may be obtained from Attorney George Bowles, or the Mayflower Hotel.

Easter Vacations Commence Today

All the schools in the city will close today for the annual Easter vacation. The schools will open again Monday, April 27. Again that week on Friday, April 25, the public schools will close for the 65th annual meeting of the Schoolmasters' club in Ann Arbor.

During Easter vacation, the 100th Anniversary of the Michigan Education Association will be held in Detroit. The annual Wayne County Institute will be held Tuesday, of that week, at the Masonic Temple.

Many Plymouth teachers plan to attend these meetings.

Giles Is Making Quick Recovery

Bert Giles, well known Plymouth real estate dealer and postmaster of this city for nearly two decades, who underwent a serious operation in Harper hospital in Detroit a few days ago, is reported as making an excellent recovery.

The operation proved more serious than had first been anticipated, but surgeons were successful in remedying his ailment. If his recovery continues during the next few days as favorable as it has been since the operation, it is expected that he will be able to be returned to his home in this city probably early next week.

Red Cross Drive to Meet Quota

Mrs. Henry Pehnhale, chairman of the Plymouth Red Cross branch, was confident today that the local campaign for $1,800 to complete its 1952 quota would succeed.

"Our volunteer workers are doing a thorough job," said Mrs. Pehnhale. "There has been a good spirit in the campaign in spite of the late start and the public response has been generous. Most people seem to realize that the devastating tornadoes in the southwest have placed an extra burden on the Red Cross and they are anxious to do their part."

Mrs. Henry Walch has completed a successful solicitation of the business places, in which she was assisted by women of the Presbyterian church.

"The ladies were magnificent," said Mrs. Walch. "On behalf of the American Red Cross I want to thank them heartily."

Mrs. Norma Dudley, chairman of residential solicitation, announced the names of several additional volunteers who are assisting in the community-wide canvass. They are:

Mrs. Albert Vincent, Mrs. Walter G. Schultz, Mrs. Garrett Kramer, Mrs. Fletcher Campbell, Mrs. William Statezni, Mrs. Carl Sonderegger, Mrs. J. Rusing Gutler, Mrs. Wilva Markham, Mrs. Helen Gaek, and Mrs. Clarence Denhoff.

Through an inadvertence of the Red Cross the name of Mrs. Dudley appeared last week as Mrs. Bailey.

Name Winners In Color Contest

The girls proved to be far better artists than the boys in Fisher's Buster Brown Easter Coloring Contest. Only one boy managed to break into the circle of 13 winners, selected from an entry of more than 500 contestants.

Two first place winners were: in age group through 7, Connie Lou Perkins, 6, of 1020 Ann Arbor Road, Plymouth; Edyth Dibble, 10, of 1116 Harding, Plymouth, in age group through 10.

Competition was very keen and judges had a difficult time determining the winners. It was originally planned that 10 prizes would be awarded, but in the face of the close competition, James Houk of Fisher's Shoe Store decided to award duplicate prizes in three cases.

School Planning Group Discusses Millage Increase

At the monthly meeting of the School - Community Planning Group last Wednesday, April 2, it was deemed advisable to seek a raise in the school millage to provide for an elementary school, remodeling of the high school, and increased operating costs.

The above improvements are needed according to the group because of the trends in community growth, inflation, anticipated enrollment increases, and improvements needed in the 35-year old high school building to provide more space for the expected increase in the next few years.

At the meeting it was mentioned that the school board needed approximately 2 mills additional to build a new elementary building and remodel the high school. The 2 mills needed for building purposes would approximate $600,000.00. No amount was mentioned to cover additional operating expenses. These figures will probably be revealed at the joint meeting to be held April 15.

The enrollment in the elementary schools is already at the capacity point, and many additional kindergarten children are expected next year, and the years after, as well as children of parents moving into the city, or township, at this time.

The high school building, constructed 35 years ago, needs remodeling to care for these additional children, and to provide modern methods for a changing curriculum to fit the needs of a changing community.

Some suggestions brought out at the meeting were to convert the old gymnasium into a multipurpose room, such as a study hall, luncheon-catereria, gymnasium and auditorium. This could be done by installing wall tables for both the eating of lunch at noon, and studying during the day. After school they could be replaced in the wall, and the room used for a gymnasium or an auditorium. The present school cafeteria could then be converted into a homemaking room.

More space is needed for art, commercial, shop, men teachers' room, carpenter shop and additional classrooms.

Operating costs have increased considerably the last few years. Teachers' salaries have increased 60 percent during the last seven years. Maintenance salaries have also increased considerably. Cost of supplies and needed equipment is much more now than it was five years ago.

A special meeting has been set for Tuesday, April 15, at 7:30 p.m. in the Junior High Auditorium, for the purpose of discussing the millage problem. All organizations within the school district are being contacted, and asked to have a representative at the meeting. Any other persons within the district, who are interested in this meeting, are cordially invited to attend.

Carvel Bentley is chairman of the school planning group.

Easter Seal Sale $1000 Short of Goal

Russell Daane, chairman of the Crippled Children's Fund Drive, sponsored by the Rotary club of Plymouth says that more than 600 letters have been returned to date with contributions. This represents around 12 percent of the letters containing the Easter Seals that were mailed to persons in this area.

More than $1500 has been collected to date of the $2500 goal set for Plymouth.

The drive will continue until Easter, and contributions will be accepted even after that date for those who care to give.

Mr. Daane says that 95 percent of the money collected remains in Plymouth to provide care for the handicapped persons in this area. It is urged that anyone who still desires to give, to send the money in as soon as possible, and anyone who did not receive a return envelope, and wants to contribute, can do so by sending his contribution to the Crippled Children's Committee, Rotary club, Plymouth.

A RECENT PROJECT in the First Baptist Church, and one growing in popularity with members and visitors, is the Young People's Orchestra, shown above. The orchestra, sponsored by Mrs. Dunbar Davis and Rev. David L. Rieder, plays at each Sunday evening service, and is being featured during the Holy Week services, held nightly this week. They also have an engagement to play at a spring banquet, May 23, at Elm Baptist Church, Detroit. The orchestra, all members of the Jr. and Sr. High school bands, are shown left to right front row, Ellen Cowgill, Kay Davis, Jean Polley, and Louise Diedrick; back row, Jimmy Houk, Vernon Diedrick, Dow Swope, and Duare Rieder. Joan Ebersole, who plays the bells, was absent due to illness, at the time the photo was made.

Chapter Appeals For Volunteers

An appeal for volunteer drivers with their own cars to transport handicapped children and adults to and from treatment centers and clinics has been issued by the Wayne Out-County Chapter of the Michigan Society for Crippled Children and Adults. With each passing year, the case load assumed by the Society is multiplied as the services to the handicapped becomes more generally known. In order to realize the maximum benefits from funds collected in the annual Easter Seal drive, and to finance the ever expanding program of medical care, educational and morale building activities, volunteers are asked to assume as many of the routine tasks as it is possible for them to do.

The Chapter would like a number of volunteers from each city and township in the Out-County area so that no one person would be called too frequently. Homemakers may find it a rewarding experience to share in the rehabilitation of a local handicapped person.

More information regarding this volunteer program may be had by calling Mrs. Herma Taylor, Wayne 2455 or LO 1-3320.

Over 600 Attend 'Two Blind Mice'

Over 600 residents of this area attended the Plymouth Theater Guild's presentation of the play "Two Blind Mice," sponsored by the Kiwanis club.

The final net profit derived from staging this three-night play is not known yet, but all the proceeds will go into the Kiwanis 'Gip' Scout Cabin fund. This fund provides for the upkeep of the cabin, heating, and various other expenses.

The cabin was started by the Kiwanis several years ago as a place the girl scouts could camp out in suitable surroundings. This summer, for a few weeks, it will be loaned to the underprivileged and handicapped children of this area.

Correction

An error appeared in the news story last week concerning the new salary schedule recently set up by the City Commission. The salary of a beginning policeman was quoted as being $4104. That should have read the maximum is $4104, and the starting salary is $3552.

The city is in need of a patrolman right now, and anyone desiring information about this position should contact the city manager at the city hall.

There is also need for a meter reader. This job pays $1.47 an hour.

Invite Hunters To Make Tour

Harry Ruhl, director of the game division of the Michigan Conservation Association, yesterday advised Dr. Brick Champe, one of the active members of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, that it is the intention of the department to make a game survey on Sunday, April 20 in both the Mio and Grayling districts for the purpose of checking on the deer starvation experienced during the past winter.

Any Plymouth conservation club member has an invitation to go to Mio or Grayling and accompany members of the conservation department on these trips. If a group of Plymouth residents desire to take this jaunt through the woods with Conservation department officials, they may do so, but it will be necessary for them to be in Grayling or Mio shortly before 10 o'clock on Sunday morning, April 20. Inquiry either in Mio or Grayling will quickly reveal the place from which the tramp through the woods will start.

Graveside Services Read for Suzie Morgan

Suzie Morgan, 61, former Plymouth resident died April 3 in Ann Arbor. She had been ill for some time.

Miss Morgan is the daughter of the late Charles E. and Sarah Morgan and sister of the late Roxy Soap. She is survived by a niece.

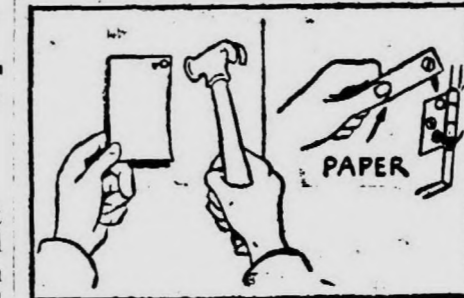

Reverend M. I. Johnson conducted graveside services at Riverside cemetery on Monday at 1 p.m. Miss Morgan was taken to the Taphon Funeral home, Ann Arbor, following her death.

Starting Nails and Screws

FOR making simple repairs around the house and farm, a small strip of heavy paper or light cardboard is a big help. For instance, it takes a solid hammer blow to start a nail in concrete, and if the hammer slips—woe to the fingers holding the nail.

One way to avoid this danger is to insert the nail in one end of a card. Thus the nail can be held in place, with the fingers a safe distance away. Often a screw is too small—or the fingers too big—for easy handling. A similar technique works here, too. Just put the screw through the end of a card or strip of heavy paper and place it where you want it. Tap the screw lightly and follow through with the screwdriver. In both cases, the card or paper can be torn away after the fastener has been well started. Here's a tip on removing obstinate screws: Apply a little vinegar and allow it to penetrate for a few minutes before applying the screwdriver. This method often succeeds when oil fails.

Ellis Restaurant is Modernized

A new coat of paint pleasantly surprise patrons of Ellis Restaurant on Main street when they enter the popular eating place these days.

In addition to the complete redecoration of the restaurant Elton Ellis, the proprietor, says that a new air conditioning unit is being installed which will provide more comfort for his patrons during the summer months.

Furniture Fashions

People like to lie in bed and read or listen to the radio. As a result, the bookcase or headboard bed, is becoming increasingly popular. The expression "all the comforts of home" has a more luxurious meaning when home is equipped with a bedroom such as the one shown above. There are shelves for the telephone, a radio, books, magazines, reading lamps and decorative accessories. The doors of the matching flanking commodes slide up to become bedside trays for reading glasses, snacks, etc. The triple dresser, with slanting drawers is a new style note. The suite shown here is in champagne mahogany, one of the newer finishes and may also be obtained in cordovan mahogany. Moderately priced, this handsome bedroom suite is a striking example of the style and value featured in today's furniture offerings.

By LYN CONNELLY

THE Mutual Broadcasting System has selected a "Woman of the Year" and the title rests quite comfortably in the capable and talented hands of Academy Award winning actress Bette Davis.

"Woman of the Year" is actually a radio program (heard Monday nights) evolving from the recent MGM-Mutual network talent tie-up and from every indication, Miss Davis' portrayal of the "Woman of the Year" is a prominent feather in Mutual's cap of stars.

For the first time in her colorful and dramatic career, Bette has become a regular radio star. Having proved her versatility on the screen by being one of the few to hold two "Oscars," she now slips into this made-to-order series like a hand-turned glove, and for Bette Davis it is just as simple as that. As the "Woman of the Year" she is heard as the fabulous, omniscient Tess Harding, much-quoted New York Chronicle columnist; capably reporting on international affairs. . . . And on the other side of the microphone you'll find George Brent, as co-star, who plays the role of Sam Craig, sports columnist for the same paper and equally as competent in his own field.

Named "Woman of the Year" for her outstanding writings, Tess Harding learns there is more to life than facts in history texts and keeping finger-tips on the pulse-beats of world affairs. . . . She reckoned not with a major activity that is world-wide. . . . She gave no time or thought to romance. . . . Sam Craig, on the other hand, delves into said subject with a goodly amount of energy, the end result being the inevitable enlightenment of Tess Harding.

This MGM produced Mutual network "Woman of the Year" series is directed by Fred MacKaye with Peter Regulo conducting the orchestra.

IT PAYS

to advertise in a publication where the audience pays to see you...

helping Give the little lady a hand

THIS ad is addressed to husbands—husbands who've yearned for the thrill of sitting behind a broad hood packed with horsepower—and the pride of rolling down the street in a car that tells the world, "Here's a man who knows the finest thing on wheels."

But husbands have wives. And wives have been known to say, "No big cars for me. They're too hard to handle."

Well, we have an answer for that one. It's a ROADMASTER with Buick's new Power Steering.† And Power Steering takes over any time the steering gets tough—works like a helping hand—reduces the effort of turning the wheel of a car at a standstill to about the same effort it takes to pick up a mink coat.

BUT out on the open highway—with a clear straight stretch before you—your hands still have command of the wheel—you can feel that sure, firm, easy and eager responsiveness that's a part of the fun of driving.

The rest of the fun is in something else that's new this year—the highest horsepower that a Buick Fireball Engine has ever delivered—and an Airpower carburetor that lets loose an extra reserve of power when needed, and still adds extra miles to your cruising range on each tankful of gas.

So we suggest a family demonstration. You'll both like the hushed and restful silence of this superbly able traveler. You'll like the harmonious beauty of its interior, and the deep and luxurious softness of its seats.

You'll like the velvet-gloved grip of its Wide-Band brakes, and the most capacious trunk in Buick history.

You'll like the smooth surge of Dynaflo Drive, and you'll like—but why waste time talking, when you could be finding out more than we can ever tell you? How about making a date to do that right now?

†Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. Write sidealls optional at extra cost when available. †Optional at extra cost on Roadmaster only.

The question of integrity in government no longer is one associated with party labels, Mr. Holt declared. Rather, the question deals with the integrity of individual public servants.

In addition to a government clean-up, the speaker also advocated three other "main tasks" to strengthen the American way of life. These he outlined as:

"Imbuing our new generation with the idea of working for a living." The socialistic theory of "something for nothing" may be "the greatest idea ever conceived by man, but it has one flaw—it just won't work," Mr. Holt declared. American boys and girls must be taught the basic principle that success in life comes only through hard work and constant application. It does not come on a silver platter through a Government handout.

"We must develop a diplomatic corps able to compete with those of other, older nations." The speaker said a recent European tour convinced him that "Europe's diplomats beat ours all around the bush," adding that most of America's gigantic foreign aid outlays "have been used by our Government to perpetuate 'friendly governments' in office; they have not been used to aid peoples themselves." He added: "The Communists are doing with words what we cannot do with dollars."

"We must use our great talents for advertising to make ourselves understood by the rest of the world." Mr. Holt plumped for an unparalleled public relations program by the American people to "sell themselves, their way of life" and to sell the idea of democracy to peoples abroad.

Name Winners in Color Contest

(Continued from Page 1) Second place in the younger age group went to Lois Shelter and Janellen Smith. These youngsters will both receive a $5 gift certificate from Fisher's. Lois is 6 years old and lives at 714 Spring Drive, Northville. Janellen is also 6 and lives at 977 Dewey, Plymouth. Four third place awards were given in the 7 and under age group. These $1 gift certificates will go to Karen Dickerson, 6, of 239 Elizabeth, Plymouth; Sharon Sailor, 7, 14520 Northville road, Plymouth; Rohn Schuette, 6, 31955 W. Warren road, Garden City; and Diane St. Louis, 4, of 216 Union St., Plymouth.

Julie Stecker, 10, 45455 N. Territorial road, Plymouth, took second place in the 10 and under age group. Jim Stimpson, the lone boy winner, tied for third place with three other contestants. Jim is 9 years old and lives at 592 Garfield, Plymouth. Tied with Jim were: Joyce Elaine Hearn, 9, 4725 N. Territorial road, Ann Arbor; Jeanne Russell, 10, 9268 Marlowe, Plymouth; and Dianne Van Lee, 9, 691 Wing St., Plymouth.

An entry from Tucson, Arizona gave the contest its most distant response. Enclosed with the entry was a letter from Barbara Ann Clickner who stated that she was spending the winter in Arizona for her health but that she was a resident of Plymouth and would return home this month. Two of the youngest entries were Elaine K. Allen of 651 Arthur and Nancy Peck of 357 Irvin, both age 3.

Jim Houk announced that the entries of first and second place winners will be on display at Fisher's.

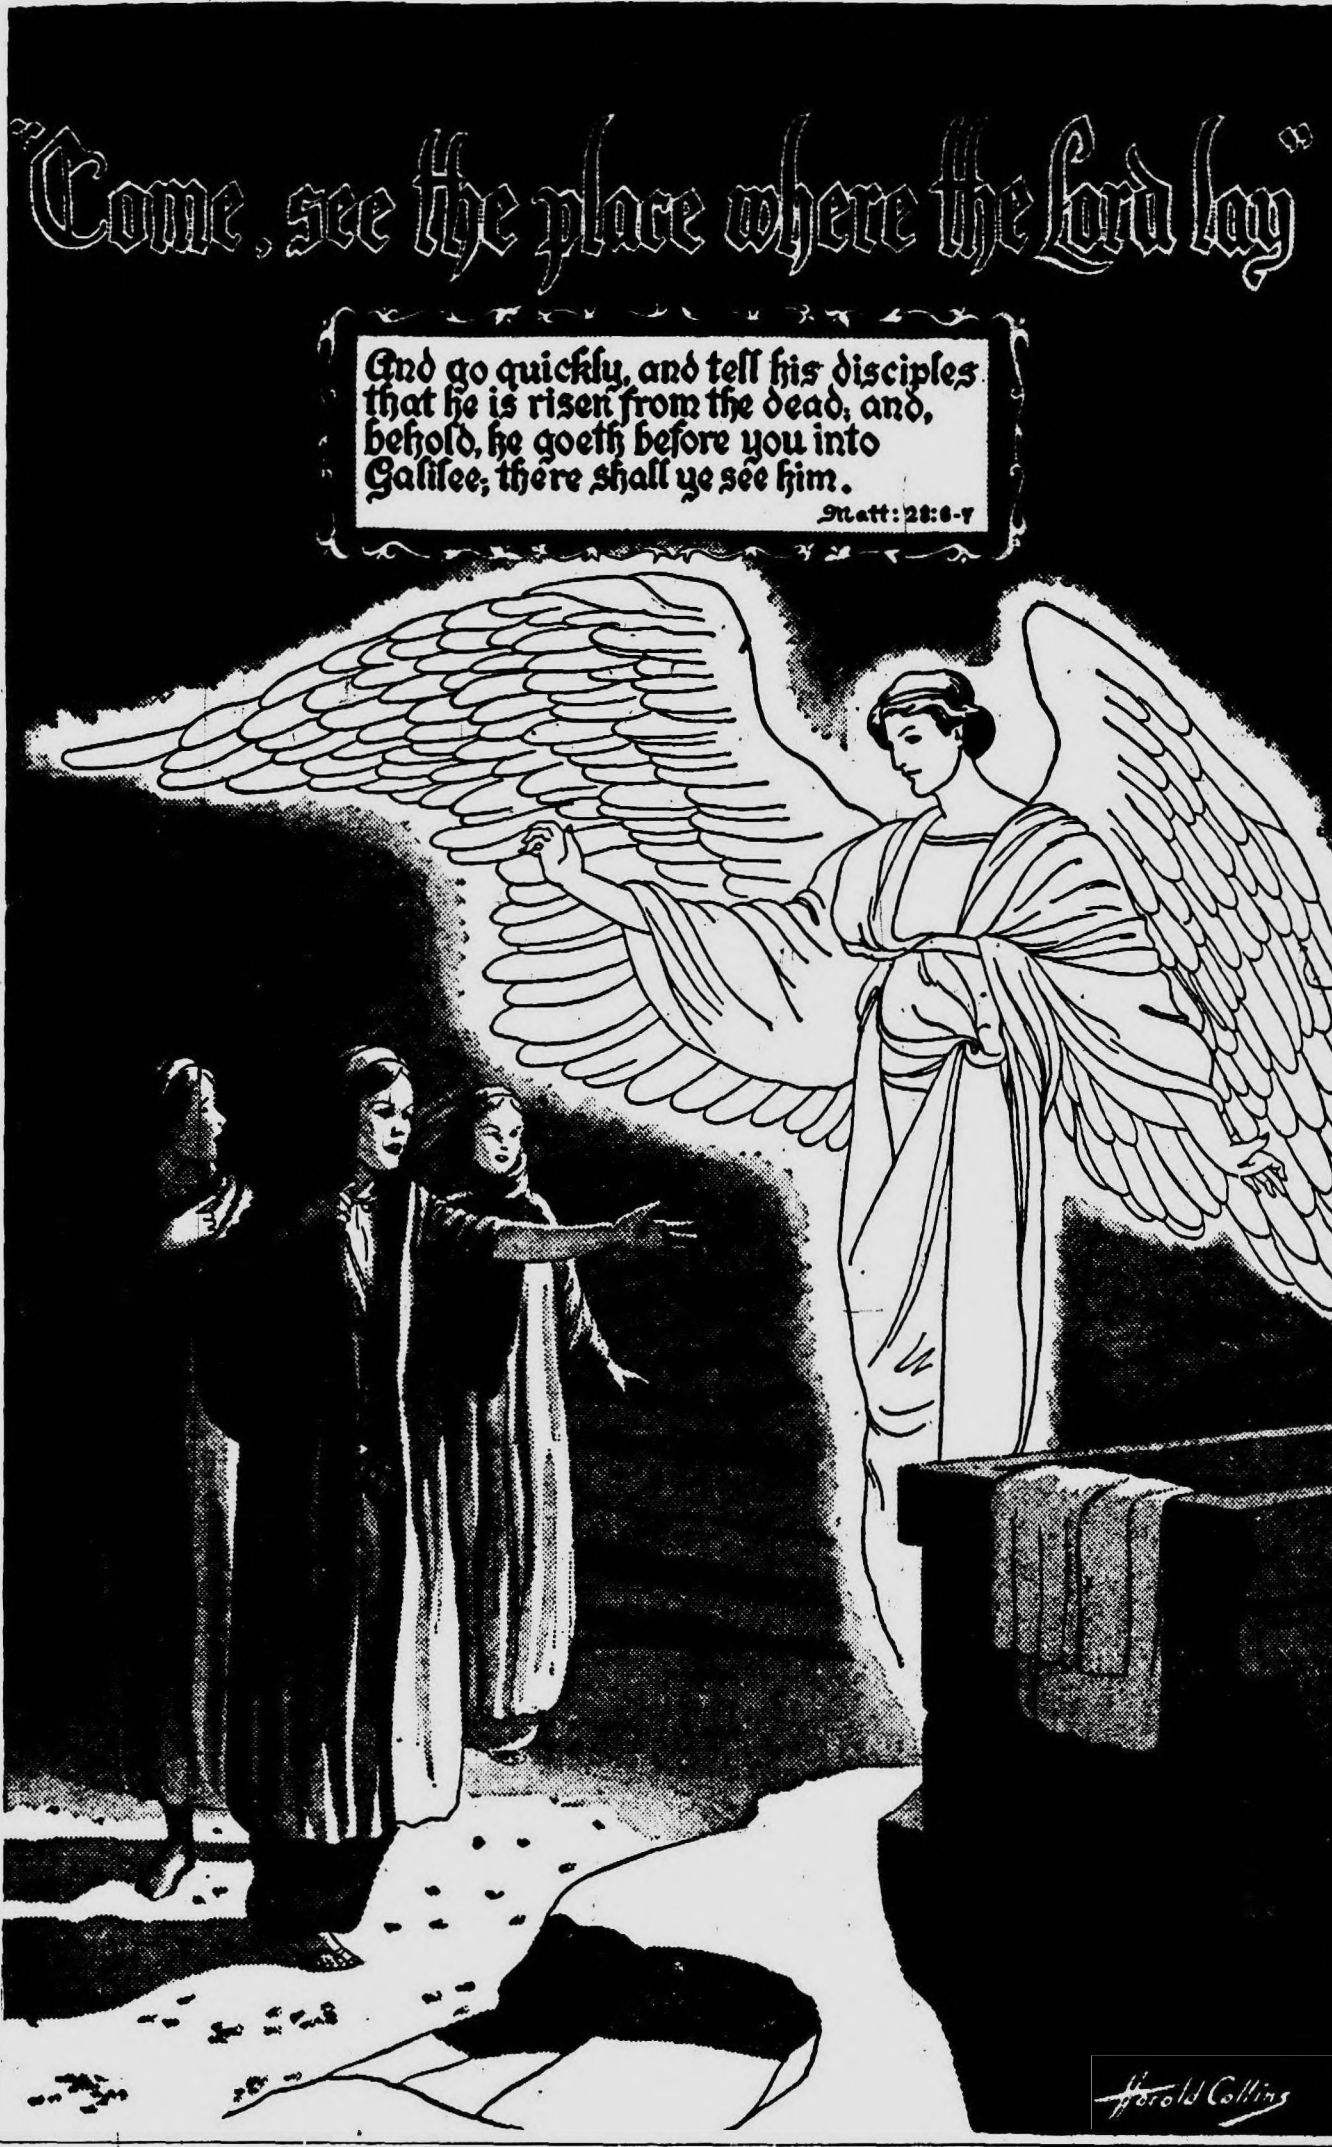

Gar Evans Again Made President

At one of the largest attended annual meetings held in a number of years members of the Western Wayne County Conservation Association Monday night re-elected Gar Evans as president for another year. EASTER BUNNY CAKES Soft and cuddly marshmallow bunnies dancing around a frilly frosted Easter cake are fun for everyone in the family. Make your favorite white or chocolate cake. Then choose a heavenly fluffy frosting.

Fruilly Pink Icing 1 egg white 2 tablespoons cold water 2 tablespoons cherry gelatin 1/4 teaspoon salt 3/4 cup sugar

Place all ingredients in top of double boiler. Place over boiling water and beat constantly with rotary or electric beater until the frosting stands in soft peaks and has lost some of its luster.

You may use your own special icing if you prefer.

While you make the cake and icing get the little ones busy making the marshmallow bunnies.

Marshmallow Bunnies Place two marshmallows together, fasten the third on top with toothpicks. These are the two legs and the body. Draw a face on the fourth marshmallow.

Brush on the features of the face with a toothpick that has been frayed out to act as a tiny brush. Use food coloring for the little pink nose and the blue eyes. Cut the ears from heavy paper and color pink on the inside with crayons or water color. Cut little slits in the top to insert each ear. Fasten the head to the rest of the body with a toothpick.

Place the bunnies alternately with chocolate Easter eggs on the outer edge of the cake plate.

Farmers' Night At Kiwanis

Kiwanians found out "what happens to our food dollar" Tuesday evening in a talk to the group by Dr. Frank Mauch of the Michigan State College, School of Agriculture. His address was the highlight of the special "Farmers' Night" program.

Dr. Mauch pointed out that today we live and eat better than 10 or 20 years ago and that, naturally, a larger amount of our budget goes for food. We also demand, and are willing to pay for, greater services in our food-stuffs. He pointed out that in place of the old cracker barrel, today we have cellophane or wax paper wrapped crackers. Special processing and these extra services have had much to do with the rise in food costs, he said.

Michigan's "Corn King", Al Morton and Wayne county Agriculture Agent P. R. Biebesheimer were also introduced to the group by Program Chairman John Blossom.

Fertilizer now contains about 50 percent more plant food than it did 25 years ago and sells for considerably less.

Sunday Morning Services, 10:30 a.m. Sunday Evening Services, 7:30 p.m., every fourth Sunday of the month. Sunday School 10:30 a.m., for pupils up to twenty years of age. What would mankind give if it could be assured that sin, disease, and death can be overcome through understanding prayer? This question is answered in the Lesson-Sermon which will be read on this subject in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, April 13, The Golden Text is from Romans 6:2: "The law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath made me free from the law of sin and death." Among the Bible citations is this passage, (Eph. 5:19) "For ye were sometimes darkness, but now are ye light in the Lord, walk as children of light." Corollary passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include: "All reality is in God and His creation, harmonious and eternal. That which He creates is good, and He makes all that is made." (p. 472)

Those wishing to attend the Easter breakfast are asked to phone Mrs. Thomas Bateman, 153, not later than Tuesday evening. Last Sunday over 500 people crowded our church sanctuary and gymnasium. Fifty-two joined the church. The three services on Easter Sunday will no doubt make it easier to be seated without delay. If attendance continues to increase following Easter we will tentatively hold two services, let us stay away because we will be everything to make you welcome. # ... Attend the Church of your Choice on Easter AND EVERY SUNDAY

The American Heritage

The Story of America is a story of freedom. That freedom embraces many things, and among the most important of these is the right to attend whichever church we may choose.

This great land was settled by people who came to these shores for the express purpose of expressing that right. Our country was founded by men who saw the need for religious freedom as a fundamental tenet of democracy.

It is with special significance, therefore that we go to church this year to celebrate Easter, for in so doing we strengthen the cause of our American plan of life.

Let us pray that this way will be the way of the world.

Come to the home of our Lord and join his children in the celebration of his resurrection. Seek the Lord... this Easter Sunday... and every Sunday.

WEEKLY SERMONETTE

Christ's Conflict With Cruelty

It is with fear and trepidation that any minister preaches of the Cross. Somehow the meaning of the cross is so vast, involving humanity and the very structure of the Universe, that I am hesitant to even begin on so vast a subject. Human wisdom seems impotent when we stand before the Cross.

Yet, our entire Christian faith centers about what happened on the Cross of Calvary. And Christ has promised to honor our messages about the Cross. He said, "And I, if I be lifted up, will draw all men unto Me." Paul, the greatest preacher of all, said that he must "preach Christ, and Him crucified." And so with faith in His guidance, let us turn our attention toward the Cross.

Jesus came into this world to die. We all know that death faces us someday, but death was inevitable for Christ in a unique sense. Christ was born to die for others. His death was a prophetic death—foretold even before His birth. Jesus Himself talked about His death and attempted to explain it to His disciples. There was something cosmic about His death. Paul speaks as to how the "whole creation groans and travaileth in pain." (Rom 8:22) And in 1 Peter (1:20) we read that the crucifixion was foreordained from the foundation of the world. "Before the foundations of the world, the lamb was slain." (Rev. 13:8) Eternity was revealing its message through a focal point in time as Christ hung there between heaven and earth, dying for the sins of the world.

There are other explanations for what happened on Calvary. Some have explained what happened there in terms of bad government. There are always those who condemn the government for all the evils of mankind. They argue that if only we could make the right changes in our government, then all our problems would be solved. Granted corruption in government was in evidence in Pilate's failure to administer justice, corrupt government is an inadequate explanation of the meaning of Calvary.

Others seek to explain the death of Christ on the basis of corrupt religion. They point out that it was self-seeking and avarice priests who were jealous of the popularity of Christ, and afraid of his power, that organized the plot to have Him killed. Phariseism had corrupted true religion by externalizing and formalizing it. The priests saw in religion, not the worship of Almighty God, but a method for filling their own coffers. Religious jealousies can far themselves into hatred, but still what happened on Calvary was something greater than can be explained by corrupt religion.

Some have explained the crucifixion in terms of impractical idealism. They have seen in Christ the embodiment of a dreamer—an impractical dreamer that insisted that if men follow His way of life, the world's problems would be solved. These folks have seen in the Cross, not the triumph of the teachings of Christ, but an illustration as to just how impractical they are. The sophisticated person can say, "Why be a Christian? look what happened to Christ. Do you want me to be crucified too?" But such reasoning is more of an alibi, than an explanation.

Still others have seen the Cross as the result of man's indifference. They have reasoned that Christ expected crowd support, but the crowd failed Him. Some have pictured Jesus as a country boy that went to the city with the idea that He could sway the city, but got crucified instead. They say that He trusted His disciples too much, that he ran up against organized opposition, His disciples failed Him. He misfigured human nature—hence His crucifixion. But such clever reasoning can not explain the meaning of the Cross.

No, what happened on the Cross was something more cosmic and greater than anything that can be explained by bad government, corrupt religion, or any other such historical reasoning.

The difference between Christ's Death and all other deaths is in the claims that Christ made for Himself. Jesus claimed to be God. He said, "I and the Father are One." He made certain claims about death—He predicted His death. He said, "This is my blood, which is shed for many for the remission of sins. On the cross, Christ did something that man could not do for himself. There he performed a Divine act: "God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto Himself."

At this point, words fail us as we try to explain the Cross. There are questions we can ask about the cross that are hard to answer. But this much is certain: No matter how imperfectly we may understand the cross, we can not deny that a power was released in the world on Calvary that is still felt today. The world has never been the same since Jesus hung there that black Friday.

In the Cross we see two facts: Humanity at its worst, and God at His Best. From the human side, we see the treachery of man; from the Divine side, we see the absolute goodness of God. On the one hand, we can see Jesus forsaken; on the other hand, we see mankind saved. Looking at the Cross from heaven, we see Life; looking at it from the earthly viewpoint, we see Death.

The very Cross itself is a geometrical symbol of what happened when Christ's Love conflicted with man's cruelty. Imagine the crossbar as a line that man draws between himself and God—a line of cruelty, sin, and hatred. Then imagine the vertical upright as representing a line that God is drawing to supercede the hatred of men. The resultant cross is the symbol of God's conflict with man, when the divine met and conquered the human.

During the Dark Ages, men taught that the hill of Calvary was at the very center of the world. Modern enlightenment has proved these early teachers of geography wrong, yet in a deeper sense they had a truth that an enlightened world has lost:

Calvary stands as the chief terminal point where man's search for God meets God's search for man. Calvary was the greatest sermon that God ever preached, when He told the world that He loved sinners enough to die for them. Calvary reveals how low men may stoop to destroy God, but it also discloses how high the Ways of God are in love and mercy. God chose man's darkest hour for his greatest moment of self-revelation. In Calvary we see God's message of love, judgment, and forgiveness.

Yes, Calvary stands at the very center of God's Universe.

I think one of the simplest and most beautiful statements which encompasses what Christ did on the Cross is a statement made centuries ago by Tertullian—an early saint in the Church—when he said, "Christ became like us that we might become like Him." Yes, that is what happened. Christ forsook heaven, came to earth and subjected Himself to all the trials and weaknesses of men, that we might have a glimpse of God, and enable us to become like Him.

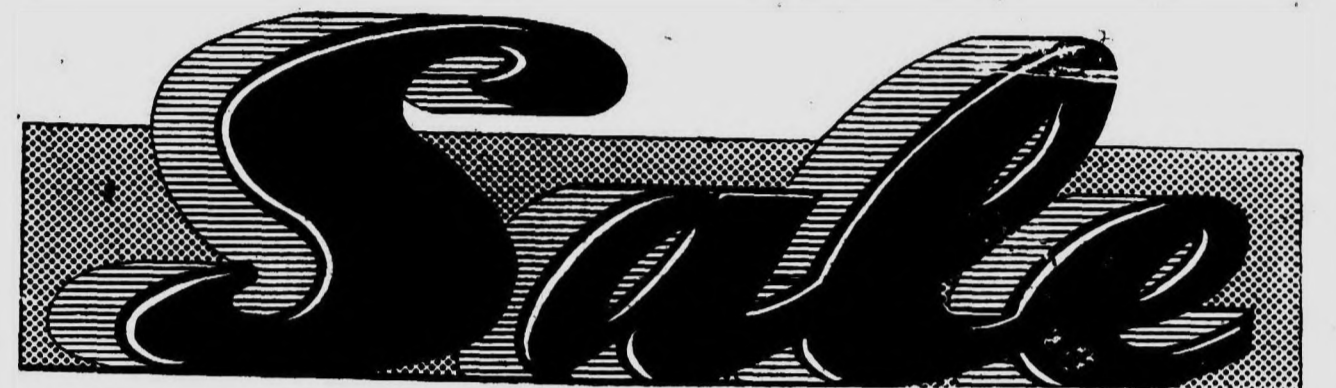

That is the hope that He extends to us this Easter season—that we might become like Him. He took upon himself our sins, shared our burdens and our guilt, that we might have the opportunity to become God-like.

Afflicted Are Benefitted by Aid

Plymouth Rotarians last Friday had the opportunity of hearing much of the detailed and excellent work that is carried on by the Michigan Society for Crippled Children in the Wayne out-county area which is supported largely by funds donated by Plymouth Rotarians and other citizens of this section.

The speaker was Miss Milah Graves, a graduate of the Michigan State Normal College of Occupational Therapy, who for the past two years has been assigned to the Wayne out-county area.

Russell Daane, chairman of the finance committee of the Plymouth Rotary club's crippled children's activities over a period of many years, presided at the meeting and introduced the speaker. Rotarians were surprised to know the great details to which the workers among crippled children, as well as adults, go to help the afflicted to become useful citizens.

The speaker pointed out that much of the excellent work of the organization is carried on in the homes of the afflicted because of the inability of many patients to be moved. Even educational work among children of school age who fall under the care of the organization is carried on by the Michigan Society, she stated.

The birthday supper of last week was very well attended and the birthday table was lovely.

The meeting following the supper was good. We were happy to have Eric Ecklund as our program guest, he played several selections on the piano which were much enjoyed.

The date of the May birthday meeting will be May 1 and not May 7 as was stated in last week's Plymouth Mail. We are to have with us that night Dr. Ralph Pino who will speak on "Health" and will show colored slides on the subject. The public is cordially invited in for the program and we especially invite the High School Seniors.

We hope to have a good program Thursday night, April 17. Something a little different.

Plymouth Cub Scouts Participate in Exhibit

Cub Scouts and their leaders of Plymouth Cub Packs P-3, P-4 and P-6 paced the field in Cubbing displays at the District Cub Achievement Exhibit recently held at the Plymouth High School Auditorium.

Pack 3 with a contingent of six Dens and their Drum and Bugle Corps made a fine showing under the leadership of Cubmaster Don Melow and Den Mothers Mrs. Nickerson, Britcher, Failing, Carney, Melow, and Crosby; the Drum and Bugle Corps under the direction of Mr. Sweeney and his Conductress daughter gave just the right touch of color and pageantry to the occasion for typical Cubbing atmosphere.

Pack 4, under Cubmaster Gordon R. Jewell and Den Mothers Hokenson, Smith, Jewell and Huntington, presented four exhibits of crafts and hobbies to hold a lot of attention from the many spectators. Their displays were highly indicative of many hours of co-operative effort and showed much of Cubbing interest.

Pack 6, Cubmastered by Laurion H. Wells, with Den Mothers Mrs. Emma Westover, Ellen Myratt, Jane Sylvester, Rosemary Bolser and Clarice Steele presented the works of five Dens in well ordered displays of handicrafts pertinent to the Cub aged lads in their charge. One could readily discern much co-operative effort and time well spent in turning out the materials on exhibition.

All of these fine Cubs and Cubbers deserve a real snappy right hand Cubbing salute for their considerable works and such is hereby tendered to them with the best and sincerest wishes of the District's staff for a continuity of the same in the highest interests of Cubbing.

Your reporter wishes to hereby acknowledge the work of Mr. Marvin Sackett, of P-4, for his efforts as Chairman of the Physical Arrangements Committee. Mr. Sackett's efforts in laying out the display area and others works pertaining to the general welfare of the program were many and well performed. Thank you, Cubber Sackett!

No man has power to let another prescribe his faith. Faith is not faith without believing — Thomas Jefferson.

Ignorance, perpetual and profound, is the worst sin of man.

In spite of the zooming expenditures of govt., the solons on Capitol Hill aren't expected to boost income taxes this term. This happens to be an election year... and there are no votes in higher taxes. Of course there are other ways of nipping the taxpayer's pocket-book. A few hidden taxes on various commodities can raise the same cash without raising the same out-cries. However, with business expected to boom for the rest of the year, Uncle Sam will automatically be in for a bigger boxoffice. Even so, if anyone in Washington wants to hold down expenses, he won't get much kick from the electorate.

Red Rhubarb, A Sign of Spring

As welcome as the first crocus of spring is the bright red rhubarb which ushers in the new season. Rhubarb comes to the table in a variety of ways and one of the best is a deep dish dessert called Rhubarb Crumble. The top is crumbly with a wonderful butter-suet flavor.

If you would like to have the crumble ready in advance except for baking, you can prepare the rhubarb filling and store right in the shallow baking dish in the refrigerator. Then mix the topping and store at room temperature. Just before dinner is served, sprinkle the crumble topping over the rhubarb filling and put in the oven to bake. It can be served with whipped cream but is delicious without any garnish. The following recipe makes six servings.

FILLING
 1/2 cup rhubarb (cut in 1-inch pieces), 1/3 to 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup flour, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 tablespoon water.

TOPPING
 1/2 cup quick rolled oats, uncooked, 1/2 cup sifted enriched flour,

1/4 cup brown sugar, 1/4 cup granulated sugar, 1/4 cup melted butter or margarine.

1. To prepare filling, place rhubarb in greased shallow baking dish. Combine sugar, flour, and cinnamon—sprinkle over rhubarb. Add water.

2. To prepare topping, combine dry ingredients, add melted butter, mixing until crumbly.

3. Sprinkle crumb mixture over rhubarb.

4. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) 20 to 25 minutes. Serve warm or cold.

Pascal Celery Can be Served in Many Easy to Prepare Ways

Make good use of celery, and eat it right to enjoy it most. To save raw celery—means soaking it in cold water. Separate the stalks and wash them ahead of time, and then put them back in the refrigerator to crisp up.

Use coarser outer stalks or bunches of the celery for cooked dishes such as creamed celery and soup of celery soup. Celery is also served with some canned soups.

A new idea is to serve celery instead of cooking it in meat soups. To prepare this braised celery, cut up celery in a shallow pan. Pour in hot water and add a little salt. Simmer with the meat drippings and cover and enough flour to thicken the mixture. Cover and bake in a moderate oven for 15 minutes. During the last 15 minutes, take the pan out and let the gravy cook down and brown slightly.

Raw celery is very plentiful and inexpensive now.

CHEESE DELIGHTS
 Cheese on toast—melted, golden bubbly—is a flavor delight. Top it with crisp bacon and serve with a waldorf salad for a "creamy" luncheon dish.

Cheese Dreams
 1/2 pound sharp cheese
 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 1/2 teaspoon paprika
 2 eggs
 8 slices bacon

Grate cheese. Add seasoning and well-beaten eggs. Spread on bread, top each slice with bacon. Place in very hot oven (475° F.) until the bacon is crisp, the cheese melts and the bread toasts. This takes twelve to fifteen minutes.

Yield: 8 sandwiches.

Here is a good use for dry bread ground or rolled to make fine crumbs.

Baked Cheese
 2 1/2 cups dry bread crumbs
 2 cups milk
 1 teaspoon salt
 2 cups grated American cheese
 3 eggs, separated

Mix crumbs, milk, salt and cheese and add well-beaten egg whites. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites.

Pour into greased baking dish. Place in a slow oven (325° F.) for thirty minutes or until a knife inserted comes out clean.

Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

T-V Cheese Snacks
 Melt two table-spoons butter or margarine. Add one cup wheat or rice puffs and stir to toast. Sprinkle with one table-spoon fine dry grated cheese. Sprinkle with salt and serve hot.

HAM STARS IN EASTER FOOD PARADE

by Marie Gifford

Ham is undisputed style leader in the Easter food parade. And no wonder, too, for it's so delightful to eat and so very gala looking. Plan your Easter ham purchase with an eye to using every flavorful bite and making it star in several hearty meals later in the week.

For a family of six or more, a whole ham is a good buy. Choose either a regular, smoked ham; a cooked, bone-in ham; or a 6 1/2 pound wiser buy. If there are but two of you, an inch and a half center slice will make a handsome dinner platter with enough left over for two extra meals.

Whatever type ham you purchase, give it your tenderest care and a dainty springtime garnish for its initial appearance on the Easter table. A garnish that fairly sings "Happy Easter" to everyone at a wiser buy. If there are but two of you, an inch and a half center slice will make a handsome dinner platter with enough left over for two extra meals.

If you choose a regular ham, follow the directions on the wrapper and bake ham about 18 minutes per pound. Canned hams need only to be re-heated 15 minutes to the pound. Just wrap half or whole Ready-to-Eat ham in heavy wax paper and place the ham on a rack in a shallow pan. Reheat ham 12-15 minutes per pound at 325° F. Half an hour before ham is done, remove the rind, place fat side up and score the surface. Pour fat from roasting pan before adding glaze. To make a glaze that will really glisten, try fruit juice and brown sugar. Use two cups brown sugar to one cup fruit juice. Coat ham thoroughly and return it to oven. Baste frequently with additional glaze for about half an hour or until ham is a golden brown.

Fashion Firsts in Hair-Dos

Poodle - curls, pompadours, page boys and the new "pie" cuts are all fashion firsts in hair-do's this spring. But, best of all, you don't have to go to New York for these styles. They can be simply and smartly done right in your own home.

The short-curl poodle coiffure, swept back and upward in crisp waves and ringlets, is rescuing many of last year's hair-do's from the shaggy dog category. Easy to put in and a breeze to care for, this style is being adopted by teen-agers, mothers, and models, alike.

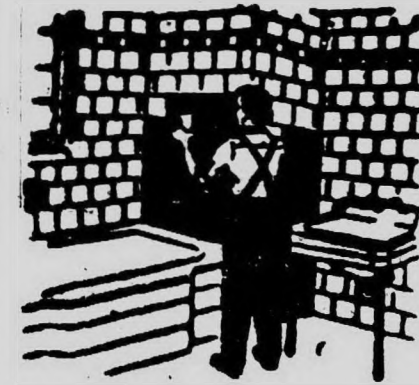

Tailor-made for the woman with a pretty hair-line is the baby pompadour, a slightly longer interpretation of the poodle. It gives the wearer a graceful wave without hiding such enviable assets as a widow's peak or a gracefully tapered neck.

Long hair lovers will be happy to know that the page boy bob has a fast hold on its share of this season's fashion winnings. But the '52 page boy is almost shoulder length with a soft, thick roll-under at the ends.

The newest coiffure is the "pie" cut—a boon to girls who have features too large for the poodle. Yet still yearn for the pick-up of a smart fringe of curls. Styled with a smooth crown, fringed all around with crisp ringlets, this fashion is particularly complemented by this season's pert, skimmer hats. According to one New York mannequin, the finished "do" resembles the fluffly meringue edging on a pie.

Of course, as easy as these new short, shorts are to care for, they all depend on a soft home permanent curl to stay smart and crisp in all kinds of weather. So, whether your fancy turns to a poodle, pompadour, page boy or "pie" cut this spring, a good home permanent will start your hair-do off on the right foot and give you a trim head-line with a personality all its own.

New Cottons Crisp, Washable

The new spring cottons will make your buying difficult this spring but only because there are so many materials you can scarcely recognize as cotton, and the colors are fresh and new.

Blue, clear and unadulterated, is tops. Beige, from blonde to burnt sugar tones, is a close second. There are acid tones of almost all colors so all you have to do is choose what suits your taste and needs.

In style, the new sleeves are putted and necklines tend to produce charming effects. Skirts are full and easy, comfortable to wear and flattering to most figures. Tiny jackets or rib-hugging "spencers" are popular as cover-ups for backless or strapless dresses when you want to wear them for street or office.

Denims are prettier than ever in stripes, checks, and brilliant colors. But sometimes the colors are not fast, and they're too pretty to be spoiled by careless washing. So check before you wash. The fabric is sturdy enough to stand machine washing, but if the color runs, better wash it by hand, with special care.

Wash cottons before they get too soiled. A washing in time prevents the fresh color and feeling of the material. If you wash your cotton dresses by hand, do it gently and rinse very thoroughly.

Symphony Notes

By Grace Von Bergen

Well, here is the verse—the first stanza of which was left on the desk of your intermission speaker last Sunday. It was written by your reporter and commemorated on the occasion of the first concert given by the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra and the Plymouth Civic Chorus in the new auditorium.

Lovers of music!
So may I address you!
May listening to the orchestra Inspire and bless you!
May the spiritual needs Of your soul be uplifted,
In the music performed By our members so gifted—
That you find great release From the cares of the day,
And relax and enjoy Each note that they play.
A spiritual bridge To the Infinite Being,
Is created by listening—
And also by seeing Musicians you love!
Performing with zeal,
Transforming black notes To sounds that are real.
Presenting again The composer's conception—
A realization of divine inspiration.

Within this auditorium great, May music and love reverberate,
May all who hear be so inspired
That nothing more can be desired,
But that the message music gives,
Forever grows— forever lives!

Last Sunday's concert will live forever in the minds of many. If you heard fragments of the opera "Down in the Valley" during the last week or two, you are probably one of those who sat in the hills of the bleacher, and listened to the orchestra and chorus down in the valley of the gymnasium floor.

The folk in the bleachers were a patient, enthusiastic audience—much better than some we have observed at big name concerts recently.

At first when we came into the lobby, we were a little puzzled by the many people dressed in square dance costumes and plaid shirts. However a real atmosphere of the hill country was evident in spite of lack of settings.

The orchestra, conducted by Wayne Dunlap, supplied mounting tension and the screams of the chorus in the crucial scene were truly realistic. The soloists voices were of good quality— although some of the notes seemed to get lost in the building.

Some people guessed that there must have been close to a thousand people present. Among some of those we spotted were a Mr. Potts from Ann Arbor representing Interlochen Music Camp; Dr. and Mrs. Edwin Rice, the Gathers from Redford Township; John and Gerda Soderberg from Detroit; Axel Jansson, bustling button over a new grandchild; three G. M. Diesel employees; Leonard Arnison (who now lives in Paul Wagner's home), Ed Willis and Egidee deMaio; Mr. and Mrs. Nestor Sibbold.

Past presidents of the Plymouth Symphony Society whom we spied in the audience were Hanna Strasen, Dr. Harold Todd and retiring president Lila Humphries.

Incidentally, the new board members are: Mr. Elvin Taylor, president; Mrs. Nina Blunk, vice president; Mrs. Harry Balfour, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Cass Kershaw, recording secretary; Dr. Henry J. Walch, treasurer; Wayne Dunlap, musical director; Harold Von Bergen, personnel director.

Others on the board of directors are: Mrs. Roy Jacobus, Mrs. Margaret Hough, Miss Irene Truesdell, Mrs. Earl Demel, Harry Draper, and Ralph Polkington.

From the tea we sauntered over to the Mayflower Hotel for dinner where caterer Donald Cornell confided that he has been doing a little practising on his violin—and who knows, maybe sometime he will find time to join in with the orchestra!

Max Stroup made a wonderful tape recording of the concert. Evelyn Woods had an opportunity to relax and hear herself play the same evening! A soul saturated with the rippling rhythm of Rachmaninoff's concerto— intermingled with the wistful fragments of Down in the Valley—can't you hear that train blowing?

Horse and Buggy Days Are Recalled, Plymouth Has Had Three Race Tracks

Make Parkways Ready For Spring

Mr. Bennett Remembers When Young Fellows Took Girls For Rides Behind Old Dobbin — Many Local Residents Were Owners of Some Good Race Horses

relate a story or two of horses and the men who owned or cared for them.

The first that comes to my mind is the tale that I heard Ashley Perrin tell my father on a return visit to Plymouth some three years after the sale of his livery stable to Mr. Park. And his subsequent purchase of another stable in South Bend, Indiana. It so happened that Mr. Perrin moved from a town that had no colored population and moved to a city that contained a considerable number of negroes, however, Mr. Perrin gave little or no thought to the matter until a few weeks after his purchase of the South Bend livery stable which happened to be in the winter time with plenty of snow on the ground and plenty of horses jingling their load of joyous bells throughout the streets of South Bend. Upon the morning in question, Mr. Perrin was sitting in the small office of his stable when he was surprised by the entrance of a good looking, well dressed colored gentleman who inquired if he was the owner or proprietor of the stable.

Receiving an affirmative reply the colored man said, "I am chairman of a committee of a small group of our colored community and it is the custom of our club to have a dance each winter. This dance is always held at a certain tavern owned by one of our members some six miles East of the city. It being our custom to hire a bobsleigh that would seat all our members—about twenty—what would be the charge for such a rig and driver and having him drive to the South Bend Hotel next Saturday night at 7:30 where all of us will gather and then drive out to the tavern and return around four o'clock A.M. And for that, sah, I am anxious to have your price."

Mr. Perrin continued by saying that while this negro was talking he was thinking, "Well, at last you have come face to face with a new problem. Liking horses as you do, you have not lived in this city long enough to know a single driver whom you could trust to make this night trip for you. You know very well that you do not want your friends or neighbors to know that you were driving a bunch of negroes to a dance, so what are you going to do?"

Looking my father straight in the eye he said, "Lew, what would you have done under the same circumstances?" Father's answer was, "Ash, this was your problem, not mine. I am making fanning mills and have enough troubles of my own, so go on, how did you solve it?"

"Well," said Mr. Perrin, "all at once a brilliant thought struck me. Here was a man asking for a price that I would gladly take on for a white club for $20.00. What could be easier than to tell him $40.00 and watch him drop off the edge of his chair?"

So having the will for the deed, I answered, "Well sir, I could not make such a trip for less than $40.00."

At this the negro quietly arose from his chair and reaching into his pocket he extracted a roll of greenbacks that would have choked a mule and peeling off a couple of twenty dollar bills he said, "Thank you, sah. Here is your money in advance. Have your driver at the hotel at 7:30 sharp. Good day, sah."

"I'll admit," Mr. Perrin went on, "I was a bit stunned and surprised at the turn events had taken, but before I had earned that $40.00 I was in for another surprise from which I shall probably never recover. Listen—for this time it's black against white. Having stated my price and accepted my fee, I could not renege. So on Saturday night at 7:30 I picked up my colored passengers as agreed and drove them out to that tavern and another load of their friends drove up at the same time we arrived. After the last couple had alighted from my sleigh, I drove my team around to the stable back of the tavern knowing I had all night to wait I took plenty of time caring for my horses. I carried and brushed each horse for some time; I put hay in front of each of them; gave each stall a thorough cleaning; put plenty of clean straw under each horse and having spent all the time I possibly could in the stable I wandered into the tavern.

Finding the tap room deserted, I sat down by the stove and smoked a cigar. As I smoked, I could hear the strains of dance music in the room above me. As I heard the sound of dancing feet and the laughter it occurred to me that I might while away an hour or two of my long vigil by going upstairs and watch the dancing. This I proceeded to do and that is where I made my mistake. I had no sooner entered that room than I found it contained a stove—and that stove was hot—and no open windows. Without any ventilation that room was steaming and what with all those colored people dancing to beat the band in order to get their money's worth, I detected a very strong flavor of the deep South in that room. I was sorry that I had seated myself in a corner of the room as if I intended to remain for sometime when, in fact, I intended to leave that room at the first opportunity that would let me leave without showing undue haste. I had hardly made this resolve when my opportunity came walking toward me in the form of a large disgusted looking negro. As he came to where I was sitting he looked down on me and asked, "Is you de gent who drove our crowd out here from South Bend?"

I told him I was the man all right. (Then came the blow that almost killed father.)

"Sorry sah," said he, "but I have been chosen by our committee to escort you down stairs."

"Certainly," answered Mr. Perrin, "I will go with you but I should like very much to have the committee's reason for my dismissal."

"Well sah, de reason is that our ladies object to the smell of your horses!"

Speaking of horses reminds me of some of the many fine looking teams and vehicles that could be seen on the streets of Plymouth in the nineties and until around 1910. To the horse fanciers it was a treat to see Hop Williams or David Allen, Byron Berdan and other well to do farmers drive along the streets of our village and though few of our townspeople owned or drove a team of horses, many of them drove single rigs that were not surpassed by anything in Detroit.

There are many Plymouthites who will remember the beautiful white horse driven by Nellie Bennett and, if possible, the still more beautiful grey mare driven by her brother Harry. While I do not pretend to be in this class "A" division I liked horses well enough to try.

The "Surrey," a two seated vehicle without a top, was quite a popular vehicle in its day. Then the "Phaeton" with a top and a fringe around it was quite the rage for some time. Add to this array the buggy with sides and a whipsocket and the carriage with a cover that could be let down much like the convertible of today and you have the carriage manufacturers of bygone years competing with each other much as do the manufacturers of automobiles compete in this year of 1952. Though, just now I can recall no native of the old days who dished out $4,000 simoleons for a horse and buggy. Also they did not get back and forth so quickly.

My father was also very fond of horses. As horses were a must in the selling of fanning mills, we always had from five to ten horses either in the barn or in pasture. An order from my father to "go hitch up the horse or horses" had the same meaning for me as an order to "go back the automobile out of the garage" would have for the youngsters of today.

With both horses and carriages in the barn, my father was always willing that any and all of his four sons should have a rig to drive at any time. The only restraint being that the care of the horse came first; there must be no fast driving or sweating of his horses, but my readers who have children will understand that rules or even commands are not always obeyed. The Bennett boys were no exception to the rule, and I am reminded of a quote which reads, "In the modern home everything is now controlled by a switch—except the children!" The party who wrote this line was not a close neighbor of ours.

My youngest brother, Claude, was most often the culprit in this matter of fast driving and finally in desperation Dad told him he could no longer have the use of a horse under any circumstances. At the time this order was given, Claude was a regular Sunday caller on a young lady in Northville—one he was later to marry. Claude did not feel like cutting out his Sunday evening visits, so his next best bet was to hire a livery rig from Harry Robinson who had but recently taken over the livery stable from Frank Park. Dad soon discovered this fact, but said nothing for some weeks. One Sunday at the breakfast table he asked Claude how much he was paying for the use of the livery rig he was driving each Sunday evening.

Claude's reply was, "Just one dollar and a half, Dad."

"Well," said my Dad, "why not hand me that one fifty and keep the money in the family?"

"All right with me," said Claude, "I would just as soon rent of you as of anyone else."

That afternoon Dad hitched the horse to the carriage and Claude handed over $1.50 and started out for Northville. He returned around 12:30 that night and in a rain storm such as you read about but seldom see. Claude drove the horse to the hitching post in our yard, got out and tied the horse to the post, came into the house very, very quietly, went upstairs to his room got ready for bed, locked his door and then called Dad through a speaking tube which Dad had put in for the purpose of calling Claude to breakfast, never dreaming Claude would ever use this tube to call him. Dad was not fully awake when he reached his end of the tube, but was quite awake and much surprised when Claude informed him that he owned a horse which at the moment was tied to his hitching post outside and in a down pour of rain. Dad then told his youngest son to march out there immediately and unhitch the horse and put him in the barn.

"Awfully sorry," replied Claude, "but when I hire a rig at Robinson's livery, I never have to care for the horse. I just drive in and drop the lines and I am through. Remember Dad, you are now my livery stable keeper."

They argued some more, but not long as Dad was thinking of the horse outside in that rainstorm. So Dad-dressed and hurried outside and put the horse and carriage in the barn. Needless to add that the Robinson livery stable had no further competition from the Bennett stable.

To prove that Plymouth had its share of horse lovers, I have only to state that while we have no race track at the present time, we have had three of them that I can recall to memory.

The first was in use back in 1870. It was for running horses only and on each Saturday afternoon during the entire summer and fall a goodly number of runners could be seen on a track that was part of the Newburg Road, starting some half mile beyond Whitbeck corner and ending just beyond the present farm of Harry Ayers. At the time this track was in use it passed the old Warner homestead.

Later our horse fanciers turned toward trotting horses and a man by the name of George Phillips who had shortly before purchased from H. Domstrick the farm and home on Wilcox Road. Mr. Domstrick's farm included 60 acres across the road from his home. This home being the octagon house which at present is being torn down and is being replaced by a fine modern structure. Mr. Phillips being a horse lover induced Ashley Perrin, Marvin Berdan, David Moreland, my father and numerous other horse lovers to join him in building a half mile track on the 60 acres directly across from his home and adjoining the property still known as the Flatiron woods. The said woods being the property of J. C. Peterhans an excellent man and brick mason who in his day built a great part of the Daisy factory.

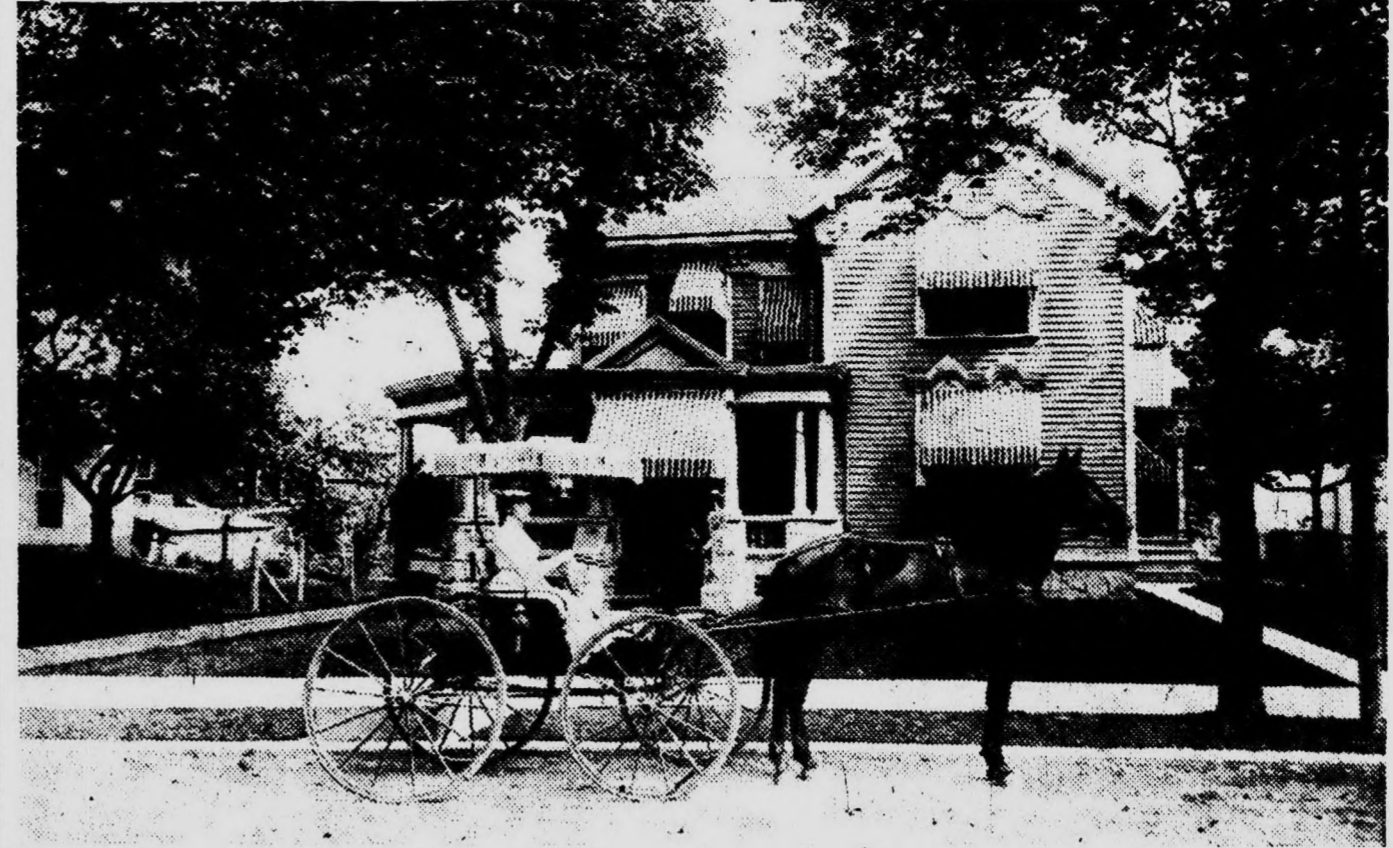

Chris. Peterhans was a widely known and liked man in this village and a credit to both his community and to his occupation. As a boy I witnessed many a fine trotting race at this old Phillip's track on the hill. After the passing of Mr. Phillips, the octagon house was purchased by Henry Heide whose splendid family of six daughters and one son Carl have, in my opinion, added greatly to the honor and esteem in which most of our old timers are held.

Now the time has arrived when Plymouth felt it must keep up with the Jones', meaning that the fad of State Fairs, County Fairs and even small town fairs were the order of the day and would Plymouth pass up a good thing? She would not. A committee of citizens were chosen: the cold cash put on the line and little time elapsed until our village had its fair grounds, a fine half mile trotting or running track, a grand stand and when finished it looked much like the layout in Northville today, and covered about the same area of land. Its location was on the south side of Ann Arbor Trail. It covered an area of approximately two blocks square. Its big entrance gate was located on the trail and extended east to the Pere Marquette railroad. A regulation high board fence surrounded the property. It only lacked a mortgage to complete the job and I think that was added later. Many fairs were held there and many good times were had by all.

Today those grounds are covered by many houses and homes and all that is left of the old fairgrounds and horse racing are memories. One thing I can say, however, is that in the day of Plymouth's yearly fairs we did not play the game for money but only for fun or the sport of it. For this I believe our citizens are glad as we would not feel proud of harboring a horde of toughs as sister Northville has to put up with each fall. Why they call it "Downs" when everybody seems to be putting their money "up" I can not understand. I don't get it (I mean the money).

I said we in Plymouth played the horses for sport. Let me state one case I know and this case went for all who played. My father for many years owned a little bay mare whose name was Mollie. She could and on occasions did trot a mile in three minutes. Did she win any money? She did not. Why? Because in those days cash was not given as a reward for good performance. What was the reward during Mollie's trotting days? She once, in a race in Ypsilanti, won the best prize I ever saw given any trotting horse of the seventies. A fine covered carriage valued at about $140.00. She won at least four sets of harness in her lifetime, and possibly a good harness would cost the racing committee around $60.00, add to this some 20 horse blankets each one at say $10.00 per blanket—and you have the total. Subtract from this the labor caring for her, a man to drive in some of the races, time lost in going here and there to enter, and I think all the gain father or Mollie ever had was sport—and brother! they both had that in full measure.

"Phaeton" — with "Prince" in the harness. Mrs. C. H. Bennett is occupant. In front of Bennett home at 134 N. Main St. This picture taken about 1902.

Anticipating that surely there will be better and warmer weather sometime in the future, supervisors of the parkway system have been busy during the past week or so in making the parks ready for the summer season.

Hundreds and hundreds of the picnic tables have been repainted and are now being located so that within the next few weeks when warmer weather does really come, they can easily be placed in proper locations.

Stoves have been repainted and broken limbs blown from the trees during winter months have been picked up and removed. Highway shoulders have been graded and washed-out sections have been refilled.

Some of the comfort stations which were closed during winter months have been reopened but from the rate of progress noted on the construction of two or three new comfort stations located in the newer section of the parkway east of the Wayne road, it will be some weeks and maybe months before they will be ready for use.

At any rate, the activities of workmen in the parkways indicates that there is some one who really thinks spring and summer are not far away.

Ahead—the Nicest Miles in the World!

Well, the day has come! You have your beautiful Golden Anniversary Cadillac—and are off on that cross-country journey you've so eagerly awaited.

You're full of hope and anticipation—but almost afraid it's too good to be true. Can any car perform and handle the way people say this one does?

You come to the end of the street that opens into the crosstown thoroughfare—and the big, easy-acting brakes settle you down to the softest, smoothest stop you ever experienced in all your life.

You touch the throttle, and the great engine starts you out like the flight of an arrow—smoothly and swiftly and quietly.

Almost before you know it, a light turns red—and, once again, that easy, velvety stop. And then the green—and again that swift, eager move into action.

Stop and go—red and green . . . and pretty soon it dawns upon you that you never dreamed of driving a car that handled and performed like this.

Wonderful in city traffic—no doubt about it!

And then the cars thin out about you—the traffic lights stretch farther and farther apart—and you find yourself on the open road.

Instinctively, your foot goes down on the throttle; but, quickly, it eases up again. For you find yourself really rolling in a couple of hundred feet! So you do a little experimenting until you find the spot where the accelerator belongs for sane and sensible driving—and then you settle back and relax.

You scarcely seem to be moving at all. You handle the wheel with the weight of your hand. You're comfortable—resting—at peace with the highway! The sun rises higher and the road beckons on.

"Where did we plan on stopping tonight?"

"Better take a look at the map and see what's on down the line. We're going to get a lot farther than I ever dreamed we could!"

Yes, it's true what they say about Cadillac.

Better come in and see it—and drive it—while you're in the mood!

Team Prepares for Rouge Relays

Couch Konrad Moiso has a number of boys working outdoors getting in shape for the Rouge Relays at Ann Arbor Saturday, April 19. The Rock thincads have always made a fair showing in these relays, but the coach is rather dubious this year. He would like to see more men out for track, as there are a number of school who are definitely track material.

One led is a cinch to be a contender for the mile crown, as junior John Balogh, consistently runs this distance race under 4:50. His best time as a sophomore was around 4:43.

Couch Moiso has 7 lettermen back this year, but early indications are that the inexperienced squad will not be on a par with teams of the past few years. Let's look back from last year are: Balogh in the distant runs, Wagenschutz in the dashes and relays, Grosjean in the 440 and medley relay, Kelly in the dashes, relays and high jump, Nyhus in the shot put and medley relay, Ottensman in the pole vault, and Williams in the shot put and 440.

Those competing in the Rouge Relays are: Kelly or Wagenschutz in the 60 yard dash, Wagenschutz or Willett in the 65 yard low hurdles, Willett or Isbister in the 55 yard high hurdles, Balogh in the mile run, Ottensman in the pole vault, Williams or Nyhus in the shot put, Kelly or Williams in the high jump, the medley relay will consist of Corwin or Becker in the 400, Wagenschutz and Kelly will each run a 220, and Grosjean the 440; in the 880 relay Wagenschutz, Grosjean, Kelly and either Williams or Nyhus will compete.

The first outdoor meet of the season will be on Friday, April 25, when Bentley high comes to Plymouth. It appears that all the dual meets that the locals participate in will be held on the home track, as it is the only good track in the league. The league meet will be held here on May 27. The late meet in East Lansing on May 24, and chances are that Plymouth will again go to Ann Arbor for the regional meet on May 17.

Local Sport News

Sports Glances

by
"Professor"
Edgar Brown

It is indeed with pleasure that I heard football coach Charles Ketterer had told his charges that, providing they weren't working, they were expected to go out for some spring sport. Football isn't just training during the fall, but should be for the entire year. Take a sport like track—a wonderful conditioner for football as practice in sprints, etc. could help develop a fast start—which is a must of a good ineman or back.

When the local boys begin taking conditioning more seriously, we will have some top-notch teams.

Hear the grade school girls are going to get a chance to play baseball this spring. It is going to be kickball, but a league will be formed among the grade schools. Boys will play softball and hardball. Keeping these kids active the year around in organized play is wonderful. I still think that every boy, deep down inside, would rather steal second base than an automobile or a bicycle.

If some way could only be found to help the youngsters in the early grades, who are having difficulty in adjusting to a normal life. It is at this early age that a person forms the habits of lying, cheating, stealing and other negative characteristics, and it is at this age that a lot could be done for the so-called problem children. Some of these children have parents who don't take too much of an interest in them. Many of these children want attention, recognition, and a little love and kindness. A few parents are both working, too tired at night to sit down and talk, or play, with their children, too busy making money to support them—there is a lot more than providing food, clothing and shelter for a child.

The schools are doing a grand job during the day, but perhaps a boys' club should be sponsored by someone to provide wholesome leisure time activities, or get these small problem children interested in a scout troop—I have read somewhere that few men, who were scouts, ever become criminals. I'm concerned about helping these unfortunate, and sometimes, unwanted children.

See where the wrestling show is coming out to Plymouth two weeks from tomorrow night. A ring will be constructed in the new gymnasium. Some topnotch mat men, who appear on TV, will be here, and also a couple of midgets.

The Lions club is sponsoring this event. These "grunt and groan" boys put on a good show. I call it a show because much of it on TV is for the amusement of the public. It doesn't resemble the wrestling matches I witnessed in college ranks.

The profit received from this venture will go for sight conservation and the blind—a project of the Lions club.

Softball League Meeting Held

The Plymouth Softball league is beginning to take shape according to Herbert Woolweaver, recreational director. The league had a meeting recently and set up rules to govern their games this summer. It looks like teams representing Beglingers, Detroit Transmission, Whitman-Barnes and Local 111 will enter, and possibly teams from Penn Theater, Cavalcade and Bathing Mfg. Company. The latter will definitely enter a team if enough players can be obtained.

The league this year will be a combination of an industrial and open league, with separate team trophies at the close of the regular season going to the top team in the Industrial, and for the top team in the Open division. Individual awards will be given to the men of the winning team of the playoffs.

All games are to be played at the high school beginning at 6:15-7:30-8:45. If a team doesn't field a team after a wait of 15 minutes a forfeit will be declared. A game will be called if a team has a 7 run advantage after an hour and ten minutes of play. Rained out games will not be played unless it has a bearing on the standings, and if necessary, will be played in the regular order missed up to 3 games.

The season in this league will begin June 2 and end August 11. For any information as to teams, or otherwise, contact the recreation office—2075.

Trout Fishermen to Get Early Start

Anglers can get a head start on the trout fishing season Saturday, when 55 designated lakes and streams open for rainbow trout fishing.

The purpose of the early season is to permit greater harvesting of migrating rainbows, which annually journey up rivers and to streams to spawn, and return to the Great Lakes before the regular trout season opens.

None of these early-trout season lakes, or streams, are located in this area.

The season for taking brook and brown trout, along with rainbows, does not open until April 26.

Frosh Baseball Sked Released

Practice for the Frosh baseball team got under way a few days ago when 33 boys came out to try for starting positions on the team this year. So far they have not been able to practice much on account of the unfavorable weather.

Coach Charles Ketterer has had the boys practicing pepper games in the Junior High School gymnasium, but he wants to get outdoors as soon as possible, so he can start shaping up a starting lineup.

The managers for this season are Tom Ferguson and Jack Carter.

The 8 game schedule is as follows:

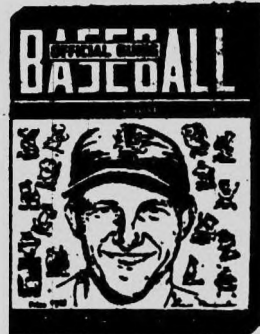

May 1, Trenton	Away
6, Allen Park	Home
13, Bentley	Away
16, Northville	Home
19, Trenton	Home
23, Allen Park	Away
26, Northville	Away
28, Bentley	Home

Roger Babson Says---

Babson Discusses The Job Outlook

Babson Park, Mass., April 10. Headlines about unemployment in certain sections such as Detroit and New Bedford have made depressing reading. Events, however, are sometimes more important than statistics. I, for one, have been greatly encouraged by the recent withdrawal of President Truman from the race. My more optimistic feeling comes from the fact that a number of the other contestants for the Presidency are more conservative than is Mr. Truman. And a more conservative outlook is what we need to encourage capital investment, which is the source of all jobs.

Declining Employment Areas

According to the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, there has been a decline in employment in such industries as clothing, food, lumber and textiles. In the clothing industry there are about 60,000 fewer jobs today than a year ago. Likewise, there are about 65,000 fewer food jobs, 20,000 fewer lumber, and 75,000 fewer textile jobs.

The answer to the unemployed worker in a consumer-goods industry is a job in a defense industry. By late 1952, it may be difficult indeed for the consumer-goods industry to find laid-off workers. They may have been snapped up by defense industries and paid wages that consumer-goods companies will find difficult to meet.

Best Job Bets

Best job bets for 1952 will be in the defense industries, although, in the long run, more secure employment is to be found in consumer-goods industries. The production jobs today on the increase are in such industries as heavy machinery, metals, chemicals, and paper. —to mention a few. For example, there are today 200,000 more jobs in machinery plants than there were a year ago, about 100,000 more in metals, 72,000 in chemicals, and 15,000 in paper. Transportation equipment and materials handling manufacturers are employing about 160,000 more people.

SHINING THROUGH THE CLOUDS

What's Ahead

What does this picture mean to the United States? Actually, there is a boom today in certain jobs compared with the boom in stocks of 1929. Employment is high. Savings are above normal. Wages may rise another $15 billion, from $165 billion this year to about $180 billion next. After increased taxes, this could mean about an $8 billion increase in people's earnings, and should further increase savings. Life cost-of-living, however, has reached present highs because most people are doing as little work as possible for their current high wages.

We are experiencing a "wage-workers' prosperity" but some day this wage bubble will burst as have the stock market bubbles of the past. Americans should realize this and begin to save for the rainy day. The wage earner ought to plan to buy a little life insurance, then purchase a home, and build up savings accounts. There never was a better time for the graduate of any school or college to get started on a job. Business and government desperately need men who can think, who have learned how to get along with people, and who have such character traits as faith, integrity, self-reliance, initiative, drive, and good health. But young people must do much better work than they are now doing in order to hold their jobs when business again declines. However, as I said above, I am feeling more optimistic now because there is a chance that the political pendulum may be swinging toward common sense, away from nonsense!

Leadership Class to Begin April 28

Plymouth residents are invited to attend a leadership training course, "Evaluating and Developing Parent-Teacher Leadership" which will begin April 28 in the Rosedale Gardens school. The course is sponsored by the Livonia PTA council.

The course is offered for PTA leaders and others interested in the movement. It is designed to give information about the PTA, show the organization's contribution to community life and outline the techniques of leadership. The course also gives opportunity for participation in demonstrations of PTA procedures, allows discussion of questions and problems of PTA operations in local groups and reviews with representatives some of the problems of public education faces in Michigan.

This is the third consecutive year the Detroit council of Parent-Teacher associations and the College of Education, Wayne University have given this course.

The course will be held Monday and Thursday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Interested persons may call Any Suhr at Livonia 2-29.

Rosedale Gardens school is located on Hubbard road two blocks south of Plymouth road.

Don't Threaten Child to Obtain Better Behavior

It is a short-sighted mother who will "buy" temporary good behavior from her child at the expense of something that may one day save the child's life.

Virginia Guthrie, the Michigan State College child development specialist, who made that statement, went on to explain. "Recently I overheard a mother who was shopping threaten her tired whining daughter by saying 'Do you see that man standing there? He is a doctor. Do you want him to give you a hypodermic?'" The little girl, suddenly terrorized, stopped whining immediately.

"But how soon will that same mother be pleading with her little girl to let the doctor administer some aid?" Miss Guthrie asked pointedly. That child may well grow up with countless fears about doctors, or policemen or ministers.

How often have mothers plopped a naughty child in bed, closed the door and left him until "you know how to behave"? That is a bad policy, too, the specialist warned. Bedtime should be a happy time, not a form of punishment.

Miss Guthrie agreed there are bound to be times when children and their mothers are irritable. What course should the mother take? Try to find the cause of the child's whining and naughtiness and start from there. Often children are naughty because they feel left out and unloved. Take time to reassure him of your love for him, give him your undivided attention for a short time.

Many times children become cross while shopping. If possible, Miss Guthrie suggested sparing young children the ordeal of long shopping expeditions. Or be sure to stop for a cold drink or buy a little toy to give the youngster a diversion.

Misbehavior must be controlled by getting at the cause, not by the use of threats, Miss Guthrie concluded. Above all, avoid threats that involve the use of anything you may sometime want your child to accept.
