What I Think and Have A Right to Say

By ELTON R. EATON

OUR YOUNGEST CLUB IS UP AND DOING.

It is with a lot of pleasure that we tip our hats this week to members of the Plymouth Lions club, our youngest community service organization. It seems but yesterday when the Lions became another local luncheon club. But in the brief time since its organization this youthful organization had not only demonstrated that there is plenty of room in Plymouth for the club, but that there is also plenty of community work for it to do.

As proof of its real worth we have looked time and again at the picture published in last week's issue of The Mail of the club members' effort to save the sight of a pretty little Plymouth girl. It looks very much as though the efforts of the club were going to be of substantial benefit in this case. Their activities have brought forth the services of some of the famed eye doctors of this great state of ours and if medical aid can bring about beneficial results, we can all thank the members of the Lions club for what has been done.

But this happens to be just one example of what the club is doing. In the past two or three years the Lions have helped many other people whose sight had been threatened—and they have helped those who have become totally blind. Surely this community owes to its youngest luncheon club a great big pat on the back. It is doing a splendid community service. We commend not only the officers of the club but every one of its members who have the honor of belonging to such a worthy organization.

GOOD NEWS FOR MICHIGAN.

Read with more than ordinary pleasure the announcement made Monday by Congressman Charles Potter of Cheboygan that he will become a candidate for the Republican nomination for United States senator.

That's good news for Michigan and the loyal citizens of this state. It gives Republicans and all other patriotic citizens an opportunity to vote for a war veteran who did more than his share to help America win World War II, a veteran who has displayed the fact that he is not a crack-pot, that he knows the dangers facing this nation and that he is a tireless worker.

Maybe he will never set the world on fire by his oratorical ability, but mind you the biggest share of America's greatest statesmen down through the centuries couldn't make much of a speech either.

We've said that Congressman Potter did more than his share to help save his country on the field of battle. Congressman Potter will do MORE than his share in hard work in the United States senate to save this country from the New Deal and Fair Deal termites who have been gnawing at the very foundation of true Americanism.

Here is one Michigan citizen who proposes to do all within his power to help send this young, intelligent, legless World War veteran to the United States senate, where he will display the same courage and fortitude that he did on the fields of battle in Europe, where he was twice wounded in action before he finally lost both of his legs when a German field mine stopped him as he was advancing towards a German front line trench. We're for youthful Congressman Potter one hundred percent.

ANOTHER CLIPPING FROM THE SOUTH.

It just seems that there is never going to be an end to the clippings of editorials and other political comment taken from southern papers coming to Yours Truly from folks here, there and everywhere.

The other day Dr. "Ace" Williams who returned home to Plymouth after a brief vacation trip down along the Mississippi river valley, brought in a copy of the Memphis Commercial Appeal and a clipping from the Hope, Arkansas, Star, he thought might provide the writer with a few more nice words that one might use in connection with affairs down in Washington.

This all resulted from some recent comment we had made to the effect that our language was mild indeed compared to that being used elsewhere when we discuss the goings-on down on the Potomac.

We are not using all of the editorial comment brought in by our popular Doc Williams. But so our readers can once again note the nature of some of this southern comment, we are using a portion of the article taken from the Arkansas publication. It follows:

The states won a preliminary skirmish with the Federal Government Wednesday in the tidelands oil case when the Senate rejected the Hill measure which proposed to confirm Federal seizure and turn the revenues into Federal aid for schools and colleges.

Wednesday night I heard union labor propagandists on the radio berating Arkansas Senator John L. McClellan and a long list of Democratic and Republican senators for "voting against the schools."

It's a lie. The United States Supreme Court stole the tidelands from the state governments by simply writing something on a piece of paper. Nine men wrote themselves a new law without benefit of the Congress. Not even nine, at that, because two of 'em didn't participate. Seven lofty, remote, arrogant judges wrote a new law and upset the whole history of land ownership in our America. Not even seven, at that. The decision to steal the tidelands from the state governments was split, four to three.

One judge — one alone — took it upon himself to change the fundamental law that had governed tidelands ownership ever since this republic began.

The people, mind you, had nothing to do with this — nor the people's Congress. Only the Supreme Court did it — nine men picked by the President in a lawless, unconstitutional way.

Today, we have an ominous paradox. It's the Supreme Court that writes a law, and it's the Congress that has to review the actions of the court. That's what the Congress is trying to do now — return to the states the tidelands that the Supreme Court stole from them in 1947.

But we are close to the edge of disaster when the highest court in this republic becomes a political tool and forces justice to be pleaded in the halls of Congress instead.

It is a disgrace upon the name of America — and the claim that this stolen land would be dedicated to Federal aid for education is no more than the plea of a common thief that he was going to turn his loot over to charity.

THESE WORKERS NEVER FAIL.

It was good to read the statement a few days ago by Mrs. Henry Penhale of the Red Cross that she was confident that Plymouth would contribute the additional funds requested by the National Red Cross because of the excessive demands resulting from western floods and storms. Mrs. Penhale stated that she was sure the total amount asked of this city would be fully subscribed within the next few days.

She states that every one of the workers had met with encouragement and that the time they had given to this new drive would bear good results.

It was to be expected that Plymouth would fill its additional quota. This community has never in its history failed to do its part in aiding in any worthy cause — thanks to the women who give so freely of their time and effort.

Homer Martin Opens Campaign For Congress in This District

Do the people of this district want the reactionary creed and practice of Marxian atheism or do they want a return to the liberal concepts of the Christian ethic upon which our whole civilization rests?

Canton Township Wins Its Trailer Camp Zone Battle

Court victories seem to be coming thick and fast for Attorney Earl Demel of this city.

A few days ago he won the freedom of a navy lad who had been charged with murder. A day or so ago he received a copy of a decision just made by Circuit Judge Frank Fitzgerald which upholds the contention of Mr. Demel and Canton township that townships have the final say as to whether trailer camps can be established within the township limits.

Sometime ago William Gust of Dearborn purchased on contract 20 acres of land in Canton township near Haggerty highway and just off old Michigan avenue for the reported purpose of establishing a trailer camp. He secured approval of his camp from both the state health department and the Wayne county health department — then he went to the township officers to secure a building permit for a service and maintenance building for the camp.

The Canton township officials after carefully looking into his plans, refused to issue the requested permit.

The applicant then went before Judge Toms of Detroit and demanded a show cause order against the township officials as to why the permit should not be issued. This the Judge didn't issue.

From Judge Toms court the applicant then went before Judge Fitzgerald and sought to mandamus the Canton officials into issuing the permit. Attorney Demel, appearing for Canton township, contended that the mandamus should not be issued because the zoning regulations of the township prohibited such a camp as the applicant intended to build and operate.

Judge Fitzgerald has just ruled that the township and Attorney Demel are right in the positions they have taken and that the zoning law is O.K.

Miniature Circus Coming to Blunk's

A 25,000 piece replica of Ringling Brothers circus will arrive Monday at Blunk's furniture store for public display. This nationally famous miniature "big tent" was created by Ernie Palmquist and is recognized as the most complete and unique display of its kind.

On display for the first time in this area, Palmquist's circus is built on a one-half inch to one foot scale. Palmquist spent 12 years creating his circus. He will appear in person to describe the display. Palmquist is a former entertainer and song-writer but now devotes all his time to his "hobby". His circus has 300 performers, five elephant herds and is an exact duplication of the famous Ringling Bros. circus. His display is insured by Lloyds of London for $50,000.

Store Manager A. L. Lantz announced that there will be no charge for admission and that the display will be shown on Blunk's second floor.

Police to Crack Down on Drivers

The Plymouth police department is concerned about the growing nuisance caused by teenage hot rod drivers. Many teenagers have installed echo cans, exhaust whistles, and other noise making devices on their cars. Anything that makes too much noise on a car is against the law. A fine of $50 is the penalty for the use of any of the above, but police are rather reluctant to pick up youngsters for using the above devices, and feel that the parents of these youngsters could do a lot of home instruction by telling their children not to use them. The police will have to pick up all violators in the future.

Also if the teen-agers don't stop making fast starts and stops causing the screeching of tires, cutting in and out of traffic, turning a corner on two wheels, they will be picked up. Forest avenue is one of the worst streets where violations occur. Police urge the parents to cooperate in this drive. Police Chief Carl Greenlee also this week ordered all city policemen to step up enforcement against drivers who fail to give a signal when they are turning left or right.

Three Local Boys Win Ford Awards

Three Plymouth High School senior boys were among the 74 sons and daughters of Ford Motor company employees throughout the United States, who won four-year college scholarships to any college of their choice. Forty-eight of the 74 winners were from Michigan.

The three local winners were David Travis, Lynn Osen, and Ronald Cadogan. David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clair Travis of 992 Palmer; Lynn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John K. Osen of 42475 Parkhurst, while Ronald is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Cadogan of 39740 Cherry Hill, Wayne.

David, whose father is employed at the Waterford Ford plant, plans on attending either Michigan State college or the University of Michigan. Lynn, whose father works at the Northville Ford plant, is going to Western Michigan college of Education. Ronald, whose father works at the River Rouge plant, is going to attend Michigan College of Mines at Houghton, Michigan.

Selections were made by a board of college and university presidents. Those chosen get all tuition and fees at the university or college of their choice, as well as 80 per cent of all living expenses. The fund is supported chiefly by Ford Motor Company contributions.

All scholarship winners will be guests of the Ford Fund in Detroit and Dearborn from June 30 through July 2.

Annual Wild Lifer Fish Dinner to be Notable Event

Next week Wednesday evening, April 23, members of The Western Wayne County Conservation Association will celebrate one of the most important events since the organization of the Association.

While the event is the annual fish dinner of the club, the outstanding feature will be the burning of the mortgage that the club assumed when it bought nearly 50 acres of land on Joy road near Wayne road and then purchased one of the engineering buildings at the Ford plant and moved it onto a desirable site just off Joy road for a club house.

It was these financial ventures taken when the club was scrambling to live that have made necessary a miserly existence for the Association during recent years. But with the debts all paid, President Gar Evans believes that the future will provide many improvements for the club house and an expanded program of activities.

One of the outstanding features of the program next Wednesday evening which marks the 14th anniversary of the club will be an intensely interesting historical review by Dr. Brick Champe, who was the first president and served in that capacity for ten years. He will tell of the ups and downs of the club, of its struggle to exist and of its eventual success in overcoming many seemingly impossible problems.

The club extends a most cordial welcome to old members who helped by their diligent efforts to make next Wednesday night's mortgage burning possible. There are many of the old-time members who have not been attending meetings in recent years, and the present officers extend to them a most cordial invitation to be present at the fish dinner and celebration Wednesday night. The dinner will be prepared by Phil Barney, who has been serving as the highly efficient chef of the club for several years. The membership at present numbers nearly 300. President Evans states that members will be permitted to invite guests or any one interested in conservation problems to attend next Wednesday evening's affair.

NOTICE

Residents of the township who intend to do some grass burning this spring are reminded that a permit to burn is required by state law. These permits can be acquired at Plymouth Twp. hall.

Clayton Koch, the township fire chief, stated that since permits have been required the number of runs made on grass fires has decreased considerably. This has saved the township money.

The aim of the law is to permit use of fire as a tool to clear land, dispose of debris and the like, yet control it and prevent uncalculated damage.

We believe that much of the burning done is unnecessary as it destroys game cover and vegetation beneficial to the soil, however if you insist on burning be sure and get a permit.

Residents in Canton Twp. can obtain permits at the Canton Twp. hall.

Conservation Officer

Appliance Store Expanding Stock in Furniture Line

The Better Home and Appliance store on Forest avenue is busy painting and redecorating the interior of their place of business. The entire interior has been painted and the back partition removed to enlarge the floor space.

The store is discontinuing the phonograph record department, and with the added floor space will install a complete home furnishing unit, including living room suites, dining room, bedroom, mattresses and carpeting.

The store will still carry all kitchen appliances, and television, specializing in the GE product of stoves, refrigerators, washing machines and automatic dish washers.

The store is remaining open for business during the alterations, and the new stock will be available to the public shortly after the first of the month.

Lions Wrestling Match is Friday

The biggest wrestling attraction ever to be presented to the sporting public of Plymouth, will be undertaken by the Plymouth Lions club, when they sponsor the match at the new high school gymnasium this coming Friday night beginning at 8:30 p.m. All proceeds will go to the conservation of human sight fund of the Lions club.

Headlining the big bill will be the main event between Bert Ruby and Jan Gotch — this is a 2 out of 3 fall, one hour bout. The semi-final pits Stanley Buresch against Johnny Gates — 2 out of 3 falls with a 45 minute time limit.

As an added attraction, the sponsors have secured two midgets, Sonny Boy Cassidy and Tom Thumb, who will battle to a one fall or 30 minute time limit.

All these top-notchers are well-known to the television audience. Many of the things the Lions club hope to buy with the profits, such as a leader dog, will be on display that evening.

At this writing George Elliott of Roe street is still confined to St. Joseph's hospital, Ann Arbor. His condition remains about the same.

The Commission accepted the 10 year plan for further study, and also set a hearing on the Budget for April 24.

Song Makes Hit on Radio Show

Housewife and mother of two children turns to song writing for a new career. Mrs. Bernice Law, resident of Plymouth, appeared on Steve Allen's television show, "Songs for Sale," Saturday, April 12. Mrs. Law presented her song, "Fat Man," for public opinion and also for criticism of various judges.

The song is written with a Dixie land swing tempo and describes a fat man playing a piano. The writer stated that she was inspired by a professor in high school, "Fat Man" is not the first song written by Mrs. Law. She had submitted two others for consideration, however, both were rejected. Patience and persistence prevailed with Mrs. Law and finally this song was accepted.

One of six contestants, Mrs. Law's work ranked high in the opinion of the judges. Bill Randall, disc jockey, stated that he liked it and that it was a good swing song. "You can pat your foot to it," stated Juanita Hall.

Although Mrs. Law wasn't the winner of the evening, before the close of the program, Steve Allen announced that Tennessee Williams wanted "Fat Man" for his new show next fall.

Group Approves School Program Tuesday Evening

It was the consensus of opinion of about 70 people last Tuesday night that the Plymouth school system should keep pace with the growth of this area. In the first joint meeting of members of the school-community planning group and other civic and business leaders the first definite needs of the present school system were outlined and it was apparent that each of the suggested ideas was a necessity.

Under the capable direction and leadership of Carvel Bentley the meeting was the culmination of a half dozen conferences by the study group which indicated that several major steps were necessary if local schools were to keep up with increasing demands on the system.

Definite decisions on the suggested projects remain in the hands of the Board of Education and in an emergency session to be held sometime this weekend they will determine what aid to ask of local school electors. To include all of the items in the new program could conceivably cost local taxpayers an increase of about seven mills. However the present valuation of the district has not definitely been determined and it is expected that it could reach 32 million dollars this year. In this case additional revenue from the increased valuation could almost care for the financial needs of the school on a long range basis.

The major decision for the Board to make is what portion of the program should be undertaken or should the entire program be submitted to the voters sometime in May. The projects under consideration are as follows: The need for an additional elementary school. Should the Board build an entirely new school or add to the present grade facilities. Should the Board include in the program funds to be used for purchasing future sites throughout the district. Should the present high school building be modernized and adapted to present demands of the instructional program.

Is the Board justified in asking raises in the tax levy to cover additional operating expenses. Seventh on the proposed items of discussion is the question of building a new junior high school building which would include a civic auditorium.

The entire program received a warm reception with those in attendance at the meeting and it was referred to the Board of Education for definite action in the very near future.

Molnar's Has New Location

A new cinder block building with a brick front, some 28 feet by 36 feet in dimension, has caused many residents to stop and stare at 1303 West Ann Arbor road. The structure is the new home of the Molnar's Electric Motor shop, which was formerly located at 1311 South Harvey.

George Molnar states that the new building will have a display room and also more space for storage. If plans materialize as expected, the new shop should be opened to the public the first part of May.

Burger and Dobbs are the contractors for the shop. It is hoped by the owner that he will be able to serve the public more easily by having more storage space and at the same time, he should be able to carry a better line of supplies needed for his commercial, industrial and domestic work.

Mail Printing Department Is Enlarged

Construction was started this week on an addition to The Plymouth Mail. Expansion of plant facilities on the north side of the present building will double the floor space now used in the printing department.

To keep pace with the growth of this area new equipment will be added to produce work faster and more modern machinery will be installed to keep facilities of The Mail as up to the minute as is possible.

During the last year the most modern typesetting and material casting machinery has been added to The Mail printing facilities and the additional floor space will now make way for modernized mailing equipment, new folding and stapling machinery and additional press facilities.

Workers expect to complete the work within the next six weeks. The property in front of the new addition is being reserved for future office expansion.

PTA Sponsors Spring Round Up

When it's spring round-up time in Plymouth and the chuck wagon rolls down the trail, then the residents of Plymouth township will know that the Bird school Parent Teachers Association is ready for its annual Spring Round-Up.

The festivities will be held at the Bird school, Saturday, April 26 from 6 p.m. until 10 p.m. Booths of every size and description, will add much color to the event. The usual state of confusion, noise and the call from the barkers will prevail throughout the evening. The smelt of pop corn and candy will also be noticeable. General chairman of the whole affair is Mr. and Mrs. Eber Readman.

Various committees have been selected to help with the annual event, such as the following: Mrs. T. H. Roberts will serve food via the Chuck Wagon; Mr. and Mrs. John Gaffield will be on hand to take your "Pitcher" at their Photography Center. Lorenz; Mr. and Mrs. George Evans are in charge of the Cake Walk, and Mr. and Mrs. Julius Eder will supply pop corn to all who are deserving of it.

Movies will be shown by Mr. Paeker, and although the titles of the films haven't been revealed as yet, they are thought to be of the light, fantastic nature. One of the high lights of the evening will be an old fashioned "Melodrammer", the skit will be done under the direction of Mrs. Petchauer.

Other booths of distinction will be: The Country Store, clerked by Dr. and Mrs. Elmore Carney; the Gun Room will be operated by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sawyer; distribution of Balloons will be taken care of by Mr. and Mrs. (Continued on Page 7)

Owners Asked to Remove Signs

Several service station owners, car sales dealers, and other business owners have received a letter from the city instructing them to remove signs whose supports are located between the sidewalk and the curb.

The letter in part reads: "The commission of the city of Plymouth has in regular meeting of February 15, 1952 passed a motion which states that all signs whose support is located between the property line and the street must be removed. All portable signs must be removed within seven days and all others within 30 days. The letter states that if the sign is attached to the building it may remain.

The letters were signed by Chief of Police Carl Greenlee. Chief Greenlee is in charge of the removals because they violate a city sign ordinance.

Among the locations receiving the letters are Beginger Oldsmobile, Flag McCartney, Norman and Burley and Ash Service stations.

Crowds Gather At Union Services

Thousands of individuals from all walks of life crowded into the First Presbyterian church on Good Friday, April 11, to show their devotion and reverence to Christ.

The Plymouth Ministerial Association held the Union Good Friday Services, from 12 p.m. to 2 p.m. Reverend Donald Zimmerman, executive, Presbytery of Detroit, was the speaker for the first hour service. He chose for his subject, "The Garden of Gethsemane". Nat Sibbold, baritone, sang a solo.

The ministry for this hour was: The Reverend Henry J. Welch, D.D., First Presbyterian church; The Reverend John Walasky, Assembly of God; and the Reverend Patrick Clifford, Calvary Baptist church.

The congregation heard Dr. Samuel J. Harrison, president of Adrian college, during the second hour of the Tre-Ore Service. He spoke on "The Road to Calvary". Mrs. Thomas Lock, soprano, sang a solo during this service. The ministry for this hour was: Captain William Roberts, Salvation Army; the Reverend Melbourne Johnson, First Methodist church; and the Reverend William Welton, Church of the Nazarene.

"The Cross on Calvary" was the subject selected by the Reverend Charles Loucks, minister of the First Baptist church, in Ann Arbor. Miss Betty Salmon, soprano, sang the solo for this service. The ministry for this hour was: Reverend William Welton, Church of the Nazarene; the Reverend H. A. Hooker, Church of God; and the Reverend David L. Rieder, First Baptist church.

A free will offering was taken to help support the Plymouth Council of Churches, which will assist them with the expense of the service and its work.

At the close of the three hour period, the congregation left the church with a new insight for the future and were again reminded to count their many blessings.

All other local churches conducting their own "Good Friday" services also reported capacity crowds at their services scheduled that day.

Mr. and Mrs. William Michaels of Ann street spent Friday in Port Huron with Mrs. Michael's mother, Mrs. George Burgett who is still critically ill.

Social items can be phoned to 1600.

City Endorses Resolution for Social Security

The City Commission recently made a resolution, and sent it to Congressmen from this area, endorsing bills now pending making it optional for states to include under Federal Social Security those public employees now covered by an existing retirement plan.

This would allow additional benefits under Social Security to those received under the local retirement setup. Under the present local system there is no death benefit, and unless a person is 60 years old, the only thing payable to the beneficiary is the amount which the employee paid into the system, plus accrued interest. After a person is 60 years old, he may designate the plan under which he wishes the system to pay himself, or his beneficiary upon retirement or death.

With Federal Social Security, a widow with children receives many additional benefits.

At present the cost to employees under Social Security amounts to 1 1/2 per cent of salary, $3600 or less, and the cost to the employer amounts to 1 1/2 per cent.

At present, city employees are paying 5 per cent into the retirement system, up to $3600 a year, and the city pays 8.47 per cent.

Another advantage in belonging to Social Security also, is that persons transferring to municipal work do not lose the benefits accumulated in industry.

Members of the organization discovered that Dr. Chapman studied at the Kew Gardens in London, England.

Lois Phillips Weds Donald Folsom

Mrs. Donald Folsom

The Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian church was the scene Saturday evening, April 12 of the pretty wedding uniting Lois Irene Phillips and Donald Folsom. The 7:30 o'clock candlelight ceremony was performed by the Reverend Woodrow Wooley before the altar banked with palms and bouquets of white lilies and snapdragons. Preceding the ceremony Miss Evelyn Porteous sang "At Dawning" and "The Lord's Prayer".

Lois is the daughter of Mrs. Clyde Phillips of Ingram avenue, Rosedale Gardens and Donald's parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Folsom also of Ingram avenue.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Victor, was lovely in a gown fashioned of lace and illusion. The portrait neckline of illusion was accented by scallops of lace which made up the bodice. The long sleeves extended to points at the wrists and the lace formed an overdrape which fell to a point in the back of the very full skirt of illusion. Her headpiece was of illusion and seed pearls from which fell her fingertip length veil. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses tied with satin streamers.

Barbara Folsom, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. Her gown was of light blue taffeta with a nylon peplum and a matching net crown. Her colonial bouquet was of pink roses. The bridesmaid, Kathleen Shaw wore a gown identical to that of the honor maid in both fashion and color. Her colonial bouquet was also of pink roses. Judy Phillips was her sister's junior bridesmaid and wore a peach taffeta gown with Peter Pan collar, puffed sleeves and nylon peplum. She carried talisman roses in a colonial bouquet.

Donald Williams was the bridegroom's best man and seating the guests were Weldon Phillips, brother of the bride and David Folsom, brother of the bridegroom.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception for 175 guests was held in the church parlors. Mrs. Phillips, mother of the bride, received the guests in a light blue tissue taffeta dress with which she wore navy and white accessories. Mrs. Folsom chose a purple suit with pink accessories. Both mothers pinned pink carnation corsages to their shoulders.

Mr. and Mrs. Folsom, who flew to New York City, following their marriage, are both graduates of Plymouth High school and Mrs. Folsom is a teacher in the Bird Elementary school. For traveling the bride wore a suit of Royal blue with pink accessories. Upon returning to Plymouth the young couple will make their home, for the present, at 9618 Ingram avenue in Rosedale Gardens.

Huge Audience at Last Concert

Three attractions drew a tremendous crowd to the final performance of the Plymouth Civic Chorus for the sixth season. This concert was presented Sunday, April 6.

The big name of the day was none other than the loyal supporter who helped with the formation of the orchestra— Evelyn Woods. She gave a unique interpretation of Rachmaninoff's Concerto No. 2 in C Minor for piano and orchestra.

Palm Sunday was also observed with the performance of Prelude to Parsifal by Wagner. The orchestra gave a sublime reading to a piece of great music. This number enabled the orchestra to shine alone, for the balance of the program was routine accompaniment.

The attraction which drew interest and audience from neighboring communities which so greatly increased last Sunday's concert— was the presentation of "Down in the Valley" by Kurt Weill. This is a number which adds to the folklore of Americans and the fine vocal work combined with orchestra to emulate the sighing of wind in the hills was gone extremely well.

Fred C. Nelson, the conductor of the Plymouth Civic Chorus was an extraordinary villain. He put everything into the part. Other solo parts were carried out by Norma Heyde, soprano; Frank Poretta, tenor; Dale Thompson, baritone and Fred Nelson, baritone.

This was the largest crowd to attend a single performance. The bleachers which hold 860 places were filled. Extra chairs were brought into the new gymnasium to seat the overflow crowd. The acoustics were not too good for this type of program.

Mrs. Harold Von Bergen was the intermission speaker of the day and read a poem dedicated to the concert in the new building.

Mrs. Elvin Taylor and Mrs. David Wood were tea chairmen at the social hour held in the Hough Memorial Home following the concert. Mrs. Fred C. Nelson and Mrs. Wayne Dunlap presided at the tea table which was gay with a springtime floral bouquet interspersed with pussy willows.

The next concert will be given at the St. James Methodist church on Puritan and Southfield Roads in Detroit on the evening of May 18 at 8 p.m. The church choir will furnish the vocal numbers.

Musical Night For Kiwanis

Kiwanis club members were entertained Tuesday evening by 8 members of the Plymouth High school band. Each of the students presented one musical selection that they had performed at the District Solo & Ensemble contest in Ypsilanti.

Mrs. James Honey introduced the group which was composed of Katherine Bernash, Betty Bowden, Gale Foreman, Carolyn Hill, Doris Honey, Lee Huber, Lynn Osen and Doranne Wilton.

ARTHITIS—RHEUMATISM Do you suffer the pains of arthritis and rheumatism? Do your shoulders, hands, knees, or feet pain you? Do you wake up mornings fatigued, actually more tired than when you went to bed? Do you feel discouraged and down hearted, as though it were all impossible? Well, dear friend, I have gone through all of this for twelve years, with very little relief after having carried on a program of treatment which cost nearly thirty dollars a month for several years. During these last twelve months, however, I have found blessed relief, all without the use of drugs and at a cost of a few dollars a month. I cannot express my full appreciation for the marvelous improvement I have experienced. If you will send me your name and address, I shall be very happy to give to you information regarding the nature of the product that has given me such wonderful relief. Charles L. Warner, 529 St. Joseph Street, Adrian, Michigan

(Continued from Page 1) his theories of fair industrial practices into industry through an automobile workers' union. He resigned his position as the first president of that union and national vice president of the CIO when the top leaders actively opposed his program of ousting communist conspirators from the union. In resigning from the CIO, Martin, in a letter to John L. Lewis (then president of the CIO) stated that he could no longer remain a part of a conspiracy to destroy America in the name of unionism. "Six or seven years later," Martin stated, "the CIO finally awakened to its grave danger and kicked out many of its top communists, but not until they had done almost irreparable harm."

IT CERTAINLY IS A WORTH WHILE CAUSE says Dr. Henry Walch as he is pictured purchasing a ticket to the Lions Club benefit show to be held in the High school this Friday night. ty, and denies it the opportunity to share directly in the tax responsibilities of the nation. "6. That the social security program be made effective by reversing the dollar devaluation scheme of the socialist Democrat administration, which is actually wrecking the security of everybody. "7. That we reject the immorality of the false Democrat prosperity which is based upon war and is fed by the life's blood of American youth. "8. That we take the following positive steps to encourage the freedom and prosperity of enterprise and the individual: "A. Remove superimposed government regulations from banks, which prevent credit to small business. "B. Create stimulus for small and new business by long-term, low-interest rate arrangements along the lines of the National Farm Loan Association, which is privately owned and profitably operated. "C. Create certain tax relief for new and small business. "D. Do away with disastrous regulations, reports and inquiries by Washington bureaucrats. "E. Encourage the profit system through tax relief to those enterprises which share the enterprise of the profit motive with their employees, it being remembered that all wages are in a sense a sharing of profit, but lack the power of incentive to thrift, application and production. "F. A restudy of our confiscatory and dishonest tax program which was designed by Marxian socialists to bring about the socialist revolution, and which has already crippled production, destroyed initiative and all but banished investment capital. "10. That we abandon the dishonest, dictatorial program of labor confusion of the present socialist Democrat administration, by which the government, for example, has kept the railroads and their employees dangling for a year, without coming to grips with the problem. That we adopt a forthright, honest policy of dealing with the problems of labor through the legal and constitutional channels; that the nation recognize and enforce the Taft-Hartley Labor law, and revise that law where it is either unfair to labor or industry, and amend it if necessary to save the nation from the constantly repeating and "disastrous" dislocations from national strikes that are costing labor more in the loss of wages than they can hope to gain from their repetition. "10. That we reject the unconstitutional, socialistic, illegal and dictatorial seizure of private property, such as the Truman seizure of the steel mills, with the dishonest and immoral excuse of a national emergency; that the Congress make it impossible for the Chief Executive to thus brazenly defy the Constitution of the United States and violate his oath of office. "11. That we adopt a realistic foreign policy designed to save America, the only nation now capable of preventing the world's enslavement to communism. "12. That we salvage, revive and strengthen our whole national moral fiber by strengthening the laws, and by rigidly enforcing those laws against private and public racketeers and racket syndicates which have disgraced and demoralized the nation."

Police to Crack Down on Drivers

(Continued from Page 1) He pointed out that the traffic law requires that the driver, before turning shall drive his car into the proper lane "and before stopping" or materially varying the course in which he is proceeding, shall give a warning signal either by extending the arm in an outstretched horizontal position or by using a directional signal device to signify his intentions. "Failure to signal produces two chief results," Chief Greenlee said. "It is a violation of the law which causes a great number of accidents. Secondly, it causes more frayed tempers, which in turn produce accidents, than any other violation. He emphasized that this was not to be considered a crackdown. It is merely enforcement of a law, which is too often violated. Failure to signal is probably the chief "gripe" of drivers in our area, he said. He cited a typical example of how this violation produces bad tempers and jangled nerves. "A driver pulling up to make a left turn fails to signal, thereby holding up the driver behind him," he said. "The driver in the rear starts to blow his horn, more insistently the longer he is held up. The first driver, who should have signaled is held up by oncoming traffic, and becomes irritated at the hornblower behind him. Muttering angrily to himself, he finally gets an opportunity to complete his turn. The hornblower is also talking to himself as he goes forward. This is the mood that too often leads to accidents. An educational program emphasizing the importance of giving signals is being conducted by police and the State Safety Commission. It stresses that the four steps in proper sequence to make a safe and legal turn are: (1) Observation (2) Pulling into the proper lane (3) Giving a signal well in advance, and (4) Completing the turn when safe.

The three cent Grand Coulee commemorative stamp will go on sale May 16, stated Dr. George Timpona, postmaster. The Grand Coulee is a deep, narrow canyon approximately 100 miles west of Spokane. It is a huge power and irrigation reservoir and the stamp was designed to commemorate its anniversary. Public opinion surveys show that most husbands rate nagging as a much worse trait in wives than poor housekeeping.

Presidents to Attend Congress

Mrs. Robert Willoughby was elected in-coming State President of the Daughters of the American Revolution, at the State Conference held in Marshall on Saturday, April 5. Mrs. Willoughby, of the Sarah Ann Cochrane Chapter here in Plymouth, will succeed Mrs. J. Harvey Maxwell. Honors were also recently bestowed upon Mrs. Willoughby's son, Robert Jr., when he was elected State President of the Children of the American Revolution. He will succeed Claudia Moore, of the John Paul Jones Society of Detroit.

While at the State Conference, the members toured historical places of interest.

On Sunday, April 20, Mrs. Willoughby and son, Robert will attend the National Congress to be held in Washington D.C., at which time both will be installed to the positions which they have been appointed.

While in Washington, members of the organization will go to the White House where they will be greeted by Mrs. Harry Truman. They will also visit such places as the Arlington Cemetery where they will see the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, and they will also visit the Library of Congress and Mount Vernon.

Mrs. Willoughby and her son plan to leave Detroit tonight and will travel via train, however, upon their return from their sojourn they will fly back.

Sergeant Writes of Local Man

Harold L. Campbell

W. W. King, motor Sergeant First Class, stationed with a motor pool in North Korea took time out during his busy day to write a letter to the editor of The Plymouth Mail about a local man in service.

Sergeant King wrote about Private First Class Harold L. Campbell, 8830 Oakview, and told of the work that Private Campbell is doing. He also enclosed the above picture.

Private Campbell is a member of a motor pool in North Korea. He drives an M-4 dozer tank. When his company is replaced, he will also take on the job of wrecker driver, according to Sergeant King.

Private Campbell expects to be rotated sometime in the next three and a half months, the sergeant continued, and should be home by August.

Sergeant King concludes his letter by saying that all of the men connected with the motor pool think highly of Private Campbell and they want "all the folks back home to see what a fine guy he is."

Hospital Beds in Legion Hands

The Ex-Service Men's club of Plymouth has turned over its community service hospital beds and wheel chairs to the Passage-Gayde post of the American Legion.

The club obtained the beds and wheel chairs from its share of the proceeds of magazine subscription drive put on by various publishers some time ago. Since its purchase the equipment has been loaned to persons having an emergency need for them.

Any Plymouth resident needing a bed or wheel chair should call Vernon Miller at Plymouth 715-J.

Anthrax Warning Given to Farmers

Michigan State college veterinarians this week issued warnings to farmers to be on the lookout for anthrax, a livestock disease which has invaded Michigan.

They told farmers not to work with or open animals that have died from the disease. They also warned farmers to call their local veterinarian if they suspect the disease as a cause for livestock death on their place. The double warning came because anthrax is communicable to humans and if it gets a foothold on a farm without proper sanitary measures it may be years before the soil is free of the disease spores.

The disease, which is believed to have come into Michigan from a shipment of imported bone meal, attacks animals so fast that the first noticeable symptom usually is sudden death. If you suspect the disease contact your local veterinarian or state disease regulatory officials immediately. If you try to post the animals or work with the carcass without advice you may contact the disease yourself.

Animals which have died from the disease should be buried deeply or burned completely, along with manure and straw contaminated by the diseased animal. Anthrax affects all farm animals. It can be controlled if it is diagnosed before it strikes widely. If the disease breaks out in your community all dogs should be tied up, and traffic between farms of any kind eliminated as much as possible to avoid further spread of the disease.

Arsonist Sought in Series of Fires

Four fires within a triangle shaped area 2 1/2 miles long and entered at the intersection of Godfredson and Warren roads led the police to suspect that an arsonist is working in the area. One of the fires occurred early last Wednesday morning and the other three were Thursday morning.

A barn on the Harlow Ingall farm at US 12 and Joy road was destroyed on Wednesday. In the barn were nine head of swine, several tons of fertilizer, a tractor and farm implements. Mrs. Ingall states that there was nothing combustible in the barn, no wiring and that her husband does not smoke.

The fire began some time during the early morning hours. A person driving down US 12 spotted the blaze and drove to the Ingall farm and awakened them at about 2 a.m., according to Mrs. Ingall.

The next morning the Free Church school on Godfredson road, a barn on the John Marshall Farm at 10685 Warren road and a partially completed, but not wired home, between Warren road and U.S. 12 on Godfredson road were set ablaze.

Evidence at the school indicates that the arsonist broke a window pane, reached through the opening and set fire to the ribbon on a venetian blind. The metal slats on the blind retarded the flame and no more fire damage resulted, reports say.

Investigating troopers said that the arsonist tied together the straw ends of two brooms and lighted papers under them in an attempt to burn down an outbuilding at the school. The only damage consisted of the brooms and a charred hole in the wooden wall of the building.

At the Marshall farm, fires were set in the stalls of four cows, states Mrs. Marshall. The four cows were burned, but all are expected to survive. Mrs. Marshall reports hearing a car racing down the road shortly after she turned on a light about midnight. The Marshalls did not discover the damage until after daylight.

Mrs. Marshall believes that she frightened the arsonist when she turned on the light.

The partially completed home being built for Charles A. Waid was also burned on Thursday morning. Loss was set at $10,000 dollars.

Detectives of the State Fire Marshal's bureau, State police, and Washtenaw Sheriff's officers are investigating the fires in an attempt to locate the arsonist.

Students Hear About New Gym

Fred Coverdill, construction engineer, for the newly built natatorium, gymnasium and band room of the high school, was guest speaker at the junior and senior high assembly, held Thursday, April 11 at 2 p.m. Carvel Bentley, principal introduced Mr. Coverdill to the students. His subject was entitled, "Construction versus Destruction."

The speaker stated that for the past 20 years, the youngsters in Plymouth had dreamed about having a much larger and modernistic gymnasium and also a swimming pool. Plans were changed numerous times for the construction of such a building. Increase in prices and the shortage of materials made such a dream seem almost impossible, however, in November, 1950, the gym was under way.

Mr. Coverdill further stated that many were the obstacles which he and his co-workers had to contend with. The work was hampered by steel shortages, nasty cold weather, and by striking quick sand and natural springs. Yet his persistent workers continued to put forth every effort to complete the work.

Cooperation from his workers and also cooperation from the student body is very necessary for the building to withstand the number of years which are in store for it. The marring and mutilation of the bleachers, the marking and scratching of the walls and similar tactics will only distract the beauty. The building should withstand at least 40 years of natural wear.

The speaker left the student body with a last minute thought, "This well to remember and a better thing to do, join up with the construction gang, and not with a wrecking crew."

Consumers Asks Rate Increase

Consumers Power Company will ask for a gross increase of $5,800,000 a year in the gas rate hearing scheduled to begin April 28, before the Michigan Public Service Commission, it was announced today.

Dan E. Karn, president of Consumers, said the proposed new rates would represent an average increase of about 16 per cent and "leave the cost of gas to our customers generally below competitive fuel."

Officials of Consumers are visiting cities served with gas by the Company to discuss the rise in costs and explain the proposed increase.

Increases amounting to $6,455,000 in four items of annual cost were cited by Mr. Karn as indicating how Company expenses have risen since the present rates were established in 1949. Natural gas supplied by the Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Company will cost $4,200,000 more under Panhandle's new rate schedule, he said. The Gas Department portion of the Company's Federal income tax is up $1,240,000. Gas Department payrolls are $775,000 higher, and there has been an increase of $240,000 in the Gas Department portion of the Michigan corporation franchise fee.

WEEKLY SERMONETTE

THE REVELATION OF THE EMMAUS ROAD

Luke 24:21 "Our own hope was that he would be the redeemer of Israel; but he is dead, and that was three days ago."
Thus spoke two of the followers of the Nazarene on Easter day long ago, as they journeyed to Emmaus. It was to the resurrected Jesus that they spoke, only they knew Him not. They revealed unto Him their own deep and sad disappointment. For Jesus, whom they had followed, was dead. In Him had been centered the deep longing of many sincere and good men of Israel. They had believed that Jesus was the Messiah of their dreams. But He had been killed, crucified on a cross three days before. In the face of that awful tragedy the hope of these disciples had died. Their conception of the Messiah did not allow Him to be thus treated;

He had to be triumphant over all His foes.
It was not until Jesus had talked with them, and made Himself known unto them in the breaking and blessing of the Bread at the evening meal that they came to a great discovery. In spite of all that Jesus had said and done, in spite of every attempt to teach them, the disciples, up to the very end, had failed to understand what Jesus wanted them to know. The gospels are in part the story of Jesus struggle with the obtuseness of His disciples. They still wanted Him to be the Messiah of their preconceived notions, — they failed completely to listen to what He was saying. They heard what He said, but interpreted it according to their old ways of thinking. It took His death on the cross, and the power of His resurrection to break up the old forms of their thinking and let in the new light of the gospel.

The Emmaus road is still a reality to many people, some of them sincere followers of the Nazarene. We still want Jesus to conform to what we think He ought to be, or we want Him to be, or what we have been taught that He has to be. And so we do not recognize Him as He walks with us on the way. Except we look once more at the cross that destroys all traditional ideas of what God is like, and see the love of God as it is; and unless we feel the power of the miracle of the Resurrection, blasting away all the "oughts", and "shoulds", and "always-has-beens" of our traditional ways of looking at life, He shall walk with us on the way, but we shall never know Him.

the TIMKEN Silent Automatic WALL-FLAME OIL BURNER

has only one moving part!

You are assured of maximum reliability when you install a Timken Silent Automatic Wall-Flame Oil Burner! The one moving part—with its integral oil distributing tubes and fans—does all the work. Nothing else moves. Actuated by an electric motor, the monomotor rests on a steel ball pressed into the bottom end of the shaft, with the result that the rotor spins like a top—freely, easily and with little wear. The basically different, basically better wall-flame burner is the heart of every Timken Silent Automatic oil heating unit—conversion burners, furnaces and boilers. Phone us today for free survey and estimate. Easy terms.

NO PRESSURE! NO TORCH ROAR!
 No complicated pressure pump is required to force the fuel oil through a pin-point atomizing nozzle. No blower is required to send a blast of air into the ashpit. It's whisper-quiet!

NO "OIL CAN" LUBRICATION!
 The shaft of the monomotor is lubricated by the fuel oil flowing through the burner, eliminating the need for "oil can" lubrication—at any time!

New Heating Method Developed

A new method of adjusting the furnace and its controls to provide more steady, comfortable heat during the spring season has been announced by the National Warm Air Heating and Air Conditioning association.

Continuous air circulation is the basis of this method. The furnace blower will operate at a more gentle rate of velocity for longer periods of time.

"The secret of comfortable heating is to add just enough warmth to the home to replace that which is lost," stated William Ottwell of Ottwell Heating and Supply company, a member of the association. In the spring the chances are good that the air will settle in layers of warm and cool air when the furnace is not operating. Continuous air circulation will eliminate this, he concluded.

Hooked Rugs to be on Display

The second annual exhibit of hooked rugs in Plymouth will take place April 24 in the basement of the Methodist church. The rug hooking class is sponsored by the three night units of the Methodist church.

Mrs. Ruth McAllister of Highland Park instructs the 25 members of the class in the art of hooking rugs.

Tickets for the display may be obtained from Mrs. Wayne Smith, 557-J, Mrs. Nellie Bird, 289-M, or Mrs. Hoyt Mills, 1588-J.

You can get a blouse or slip ready for ironing in a hurry if you roll the garment in a turkish towel that has been wrung out in warm water.

Grange Cleanings

We hope you will come to Grange tonight because we believe you will enjoy yourself if you do. Just try it and see. The usual business meeting at eight o'clock.

At nine o'clock our speaker will arrive and we shall hear her tell of life in Alaska as she lived there for several years. Her talk is very interesting and she has colored slides to illustrate it. I think you will enjoy it.

Once more I remind you of the fine program we plan to have for our May 1 meeting when Dr. Ralph Piro will be with us to speak on Health. He has colored slides too. The public is invited to share with us this program which will be so helpful.

Be sure to come to the card party at the Grange Hall on Saturday night, April 19. Invite your friends, bring your table and come for a good time.

Spruce up your table setting some evening by making candle holders of small highly polished apples.

Plymouth Wild Lifers Propose Creation of More Marsh Lands

High Lake Levels May Prove Benefit—Hunters Killed and Injured Last Year Show Big Increase

Some enthusiastic members of the Western Wayne County Conservation Association are quite "steamed-up" about a plan that has just been inaugurated in New York state where the conservation department is going all out in the construction and restoration of small marsh areas for waterfowl.

Ninety-two marshes which provide standing water, averaging a little better than three acres in size, were built in New York state during the past year. The total number will be increased this year.

Plymouth duck and geese hunters point out the fact that over a long period of years, county drain commissioners not only in this part of Michigan but in nearly every county of the state have spent thousands of tax dollars in draining lands that should never have been drained and that are useless after they have been drained.

They feel, said one member, that some of these drained lands should be restored not only for the benefit of wildlife, but for the good of soil conditions in the state. They point out that underground water levels can be kept higher by less draining of lands.

These marsh restoration activities already are producing results in bringing back nesting waterfowl to the Empire State. In addition, each constructed or restored area provides excellent cover for cottontails and ring-necked pheasants. The marshes are built on private lands under a cooperative arrangement between the state, the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, and the Soil Conservation Districts as part of a Federal Aid in Wildlife Restoration (Pittman-Robertson) Project. Of the total construction cost, the landowner contributes more than 50 per cent. The Department of Conservation contributes $50.00 to the Soil Conservation District for the first acre of marsh and $25.00 for each additional acre of marsh constructed, or one-half the total construction cost up to a maximum $250.00.

One of the most significant developments in 1951 was the approval by the state legal department of an arrangement under which the Conservation Department may lease lands on which it may defray all costs of development. The length of the lease depends upon development costs and ranges from five to 25 years. This ruling is expected to lead to a marked acceleration in the marsh program during the current year since it enables the Department to develop lands in counties where soil conservation districts have not yet been organized. Increased experience by department personnel and the acquisition of equipment during the past years also should permit a definite increase in the application of this activity. Several new bulldozers and other equipment are being purchased.

High Great Lakes water levels will have good and bad effects on wildlife, the conservation department notes.

Severe wave action destroys waterfowl habitat bordering the

One of the heartening features of this program has been its wide acceptance by the landowners. Wherever one of the wildlife marshes has been constructed, there have been demands from other local landowners for similar projects on their properties. Says Perry Duryea, commissioner of conservation, "The areas sell themselves."

Great Lakes, however, flooding of more interior land, as in southeastern Michigan, creates new breeding and feeding areas for local birds. Also provided are extra feeding and resting spots for migrants.

If flood conditions prevail through next month in the good southeastern pheasant land, the flooded-out ringnecks simply will move further inland to nest. However, it may force these birds into more agricultural land where nesting would be more subject to spring plowing hazards.

Flooding creates good muskrat habitat, but colonies would lose out when waters receded. First breeding efforts of the season are liable to be disrupted. Muskrats breed several times during the year, though.

Fish too can benefit, with northern pike, suckers, carp and others getting access to extra marshy spawning territory. Flooding of small water increases natural food production, but in turn, fish would be less likely to grab the angler's bait.

Bass are not especially concerned since they do not spawn in the more shallow water.

When waters return to more normal levels, newly developed sand bars could obstruct return of fish.

Conservation department completed summary shows 23 deaths and 200 injuries in last year's hunting seasons, marking the second consecutive year of declining fatalities and increasing non-fatal accidents. Injury tally was a new high.

Department recorded 25 deaths and 190 injuries in 1950 and 28 deaths and 173 injuries in 1949. Licensed firearm hunters in the field increased in each case, as follows: 1,011,053 in 1949, 1,020,172 in 1950 and an estimated 1,030,000 last year, second only to 1946's 1,043,999.

There were fewer accidents in the deer season, 13 deaths and 54 injuries as compared to 18 deaths and 55 injuries the previous season. But small game hunting mishaps increased, 10 deaths and 146 injuries as compared to seven fatalities and 135 wounded in 1950.

As usually is the annual story, the hunter's biggest danger was his own gun or guns of members of his own hunting group. All 10 fatal small game mishaps resulted one way or the other. Twenty-four small game seekers injured themselves, 76 were wounded by own party members and 39 were struck by members of other parties. Responsibility in seven cases is unknown.

Of the deer season fatalities, five were victims of their own guns, four were shot by members of the same group and four were hit by other group members. Twelve injured themselves, 14 were wounded by same party members, 25 hit by other party members, and responsibility in three cases is unknown.

Ages of 161 hunters are known, as follows: 65 were over 30, 33 were between 21 and 30, 23 were between 17 and 21, and 50 were under 17 years.

District Meeting Coming Event

Final plans will be made for the District Meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club, which will be held at the Mayflower Hotel, April 26, at the annual meeting of the club, on April 21.

The Monday meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Mary Foster, on West Ann Arbor trail, at 8 p.m. The membership committee is in charge of the meeting. Also at this time, the nominating committee will present the slate for the coming year.

All members are requested to attend this meeting. The Plymouth Club will be host for the District Meeting. At this meeting all the clubs from the district will be represented.

Story Teller Anson Polley's Blacksmith Shop Was Plymouth's Most Popular

Always Kept Easy Chair in Front of Door for Use of Friends — Installed First Set of Scales for Use of Local Farmers.

I have asked the editors of The Plymouth Mail if I might chronicle some of the amusing things that occurred in our village in the early days of which I have been writing and of some of the actors that participated therein. In my book, Shakespeare was indeed right when he wrote the line "All the world's a stage and all the men and women in it, merely actors."

Charles H. Bennett

While I know that life holds as much of tragedy as of comedy, I am thankful that the Lord has permitted me to see so much more of comedy than of tragedy. I have already written in this article of a citizen who in memories of my earlier years could and did cause much fun and laughter in his day. In this day of long faces and high taxes, I pay him a compliment he well deserves. Anson Polley, who had a laugh on tap for all occasions. Mr. Polley had his blacksmith shop on the site of our present City Hall and a few feet south of the wide open door of the present fire department stood the wide open door of the old blacksmith's shop. As it is usual to have an open and wide door in order to drive a fire truck out, so the blacksmith's shop had a wide door in order that a pair, or span, of horses could be driven in and be well shod.

Also in the doorway of Mr. Polley's shop was a large and comfortable easy chair. While Mr. Polley could at times be found seated in his favorite chair, it is my belief that this easy chair was placed in this conspicuous open door and but ten or twelve feet from Mr. Polley's anvil in order that his many friends, acquaintances and passers-by might have a comfortable vantage point from which to visit with their host. And did he like to visit? If none other than a small boy happened to be passing by Mr. Polley would hail him and later said urchin would be on his way to retrieve Polley's left-handed monkey wrench which had been loaned to some friend, whose business was always far, far from the blacksmith shop.

Plymouth was no exception to other parts of these United States in the days of the 1860's and '70's. Conversation and papers were the only means of getting the news in those days. No telephone, no telegraph, just tell a woman — or a man, if no woman came along — and the news was on its way. With a wide open door, an easy chair, plus a smiling countenance and a real desire for news, is it any wonder that Mr. Polley was the oracle of our village in 1870?

Mr. Polley was a keen observer. He told me of the first fire apparatus or machine ever to show up in our town. He said it looked much like an old fashioned hand car that was used by the railroad laborers in repairing and replacing railroad ties and equipment; the kind that had handles on it. By pumping or raising these handles up and down the water could be pumped from the creek or cistern and be thrown upon the fire.

A team of some eight Plymouthites acted as a team of volunteer firemen on the occasion of the first trial of this first Plymouth fire department. They unloaded this pumping apparatus from the freight shed—a part of the old depot, which then stood and stands yet, where the cement block building which is now used by the Daisy Manufacturing Company for the storage of steel stands.

The fire brigade started down Union street toward Kellogg Park and the creek that crossed Union street about where Grange Hall now stands. Just before reaching the creek, one of the volunteers happened to see a large woodchuck run into his hole and it was decided to pump water from the creek, putting the other end of the hose into the woodchuck's hole and drown him and his family. This idea was carried out and the pumping began. At the end of 20 minutes the volunteers were all in and about out of breath. They concluded that the woodchuck must have long since been drowned. Mr. Polley told me that the fire department had not gotten their hose out and rolled up and moved on as far as the park until the woodchuck came out of his hole and seeing the coast was clear, he ran down to the creek to get a drink.

An acquaintance of Mr. Polley's also well known to the citizens of our town was to be seen frequently seated in an easy chair. This man had the largest feet I have ever seen on any person I have ever met. No boot or shoe manufactured could be found to fit him, so his boots had to be made to order and as he was not in any sense a cripple and in no pain, and seemed to take any remarks regarding the enormous size of his feet good naturedly, he became "Big Foot Jim" to us street arabs.

He sat in the easy chair one summer's day as Mr. Polley was making a horse shoe. Mr. Polley's eye, however, was more often on Jim than upon the shoe he was making. At last, the horse shoe being finished, Mr. Polley walked over to where the enormous feet were resting and said, "Jim, it occurred to me while I was finishing that last horse shoe that the pair you have on, with a bit of cooperation on your part and the help I could furnish, could make us a nice little wad of ready cash this fall."

"Mr. Polley," replied Jim, "I am open to argument as I could use a little extra cash at any time. What is the proposition?"

"Well, Jim," said Mr. Polley, "the idea is so big and yet so simple and full of ready money that I hardly dare tell you, but as you have asked for it here it is. I will build a square wooden box high enough and large enough to place a chair inside, on which you can sit. The top cover will have a hole in it just large enough for your head to stick through. At the bottom of this box will be another hole cut in the shape of the opening of a dog house. I will then hire a horse and a small platform spring wagon. You and I will then take the box in the wagon with us and we will visit the county fairs that are being held this fall in nearly every county in Michigan including Detroit, Pontiac, Lansing and others too numerous to mention. When we arrive at the fair, we will quietly and unostentatiously place our box on a prominent spot and you will climb into the box while I place the cover so only your head will show, then all being ready you will stick your feet out through the hole in the bottom of the box and our cash will begin to flow in. I will do a little bally-hoo and as the yokels begin to congregate, I will tell them that for one small dime—ten cents—each they may look at your feet and then guess your weight and if able to guess within 200 pounds of said weight, I will hand each winner a ten dollar bill."

I did not hear Jim's answer, but I do know that Mr. Polley did not visit any county fairs that fall.

The following summer on a hot afternoon in July Mr. Polley was sitting in his easy chair in the open doorway of his shop when a well dressed man driving a span of horses hitched to a platform wagon and headed south toward the business section stopped directly opposite the shop and turning toward Mr. Polley he asked politely if Mr. Polley knew where Livonia Center was located. The reply was, "Yes sir,

I certainly do."

"Thanks, my friend," said the stranger, "how far is it to Livonia?"

"Well sir," said Mr. Polley, "if you keep right on in the direction you are now headed I'd say it was about 25 thousand miles, but if you cared to turn your team around and head in the other direction, it's about a seven mile drive."

This was Mr. Polley of my boyhood days. I could continue his stories indefinitely but I will close by telling of the only time he turned the joke upon himself.

It happened like this. Mr. Polley was the first man in town to install a set of Fairbank scales and placed them in the ground some feet south of the present city hall, and very close to the present cement walk. Until this set of scales were installed anyone wishing to weigh a load of hay or grain, cattle or hogs had to drive to Ypsilanti or still farther away in order to do so. Mr. Polley charged a small fee for the use of this scale and he did a thriving business.

In the spring following the installation of this set of scales, a young man by the name of Walker, whose farm was some distance West of town on Territorial road, drove some 60 head of steers, very young and very small, into town stopping this herd in front of Mr. Polley's shop and inquired if he could get the herd weighed. The answer was, of course, yes. Mr. Polley brought out his weights, a paper pad for adding his figures as only six or eight of the herd could stand on the platform of the scales at one time and the weighing was about to begin when Mr. Walker said to Mr. Polley, "Sir, you do a great deal of weighing in the course of a year, so just for fun I would like you to make a guess on what these 60 small steers will weigh."

This was duck soup for a joke, so Mr. Polley put his pencil in his mouth and looking very wise he walked slowly around that bunch of calves, returning to his scales he remarked to Mr. Walker, "Not much need weighing them, but we will do so to satisfy you, however, that bunch will weigh 32,410 pounds."

The steers were then put on the scales and when all were weighed and the figures were tabulated and added the total was found to be 32,408 pounds. Just two pounds under par.

"Mr. Polley," said Walker, "you certainly made a mighty close guess on the weight of these steers."

It was then that Mr. Polley assumed his most dignified manner and this was his reply, "Young man, I am not in the habit of making guesses. I am in the habit of knowing and as you saw I only walked around that herd very casually. Had I looked them over carefully I would have come much closer to the exact figure than I did."

Eight months later Mr. Walker and his helpers drove a very different looking herd of steers in front of Mr. Polley's blacksmith shop. This time they were fat and in prime condition for the market. The herd was again stopped in the street and again Mr. Walker approached Mr. Polley and asked if he recognized this bunch of cattle as the small calves he had weighed for him some eight months ago. Mr. Polley replied that he did not but that he had never seen a fatter or better looking herd. Mr. Walker then rephrased Mr. Polley that when he had weighed them the first time he had come very close to naming their exact weight and would he now look them over carefully and see how close he could come this time.

Could he? This was the time and place for Mr. Polley's act and as usual he did a thorough job of it. He left no steer without a careful feeling of neck, haunches, and belly. He even opened a few mouths in order that nothing escape his scrutiny, possibly to impress Mr. Walker. Nor did he miss using his pad and pencil to jot down the weight of each steer. When all had been carefully scrutinized and the combined weights had been added most carefully, Mr. Polley announced that the total was 62,880 tons.

"Well, Mr. Polley," said Mr. Walker, "that was mighty nice of you and I am much obliged." Then turning to his hired men he said, "All right men, start the herd moving."

"Hold on a minute," cried Mr. Polley, "we haven't weighed 'em yet!"

"No need of spending time and money weighing 'em," replied Mr. Walker as he mounted his horse to follow his cattle, "your word as to what they now weigh is near enough for me. Good day."

And that is how Mr. Polley's joke for once boomeranged. (to be continued)

HOW MUCH SHOULD A PRESCRIPTION COST?

The price of prescriptions compounded by us is determined solely by the cost of the ingredients prescribed by the doctor plus a legitimate fee for professional services. Some drugs are costly and others are less expensive and this differential is always reflected in our prescription prices. Nothing is made, however, that someone else can't seem to make for less. But to cut a price, it is often necessary to cut a corner. This we refuse to do. We value our professional standing and ethics too highly—and our patrons are the better for it.

Climate Control Through Use of Trees and Shrubs

How to achieve a "suntrap."

By Harlow O. Whittemore
 Professor of Landscape Architecture
 University of Michigan

You can control the climate outside your house as well as that within, to an amazing degree.

Naturally, you are subject to definite limitations as to the control of the elements. But it is possible to do a surprising amount to make living out of doors more pleasant. First, there is the matter of the use of windbreaks on the west and north side of your property. Such windbreaks, if properly employed, will block or absorb the first of the cold winds of early spring and fall, or even the winter wind.

A winter wind moving at 20 miles an hour against an unprotected house will triple the amount of fuel required to heat it. By reducing that wind to three or four miles an hour you can save a lot of fuel. Obviously, this can make living out of doors a pleasanter affair. The breezes from the south and southwest are usually not too uncomfortable even in the winter and are essential in summer to keep us cooled off. Therefore, windbreaks should not be built on the southwest and south unless you find the force of the wind too much for comfort, as may be the case if it comes to you over a large body of water.

If the sunny area of your property is combined with a windbreak or series of windbreaks, you can contrive a place into which the sun's rays will beat. With the "suntrap" thus secured you can actually raise the temperature by solar radiation to a point that even on a cold day in the middle of January it may be possible to sit out in your yard and read a book—without an overcoat!

To make your suntrap this effective you will need not only the main windbreak but secondary windbreaks composed of a thick hedge or wall immediately surrounding the suntrap on the north, northeast or northwest. Such devices are frequent features of English gardens where the houses are not comfortable in cold weather.

Conversely, the summer heat can be mitigated for you if you are able to inveigle all the available breeze on a hot day. Trees can aid you greatly in this matter. They differ, of course, in their ability to absorb solar heat depending usually upon the density of their foliage. Of the solar heat surrounding a single leaf, about 51 per cent is absorbed in various ways into the leaf. If the garden is on the lee side of a woods, that is to say, the northeast or east, the breeze coming through the woods even on a hot day may feel cool due to this more than 50 per cent of heat thus absorbed.

Planter Needs Special Care

"Planting requires a greater degree of accuracy and efficiency from equipment than any other job," says Bill West, service foreman for West Bros., local International Harvester dealer. "In the old days, if moving parts on a horse-drawn planter were a little worn or operated sluggishly, the effect on planting accuracy was not always serious. Today, however, with planters operating at 4 to 5 miles an hour, a little sluggishness because of wear can seriously affect ultimate yield."

Mr. West cited a check row corn planter as an example. A worn check fork causes lag and late planting, and usually results in a snaky, hard-to-cultivate cross check. The check fork must open the valves in the planter boots instantaneously to place corn hills in straight cross rows at high speeds. Most corn planter boots can be adjusted forward and backward to line up corn hills for easy cross cultivation. It's almost impossible, however, to compensate for a worn check fork, or for sluggish working valves which scatter corn rather than placing it in compact hills.

Hints for Plymouth Homemakers

Festive Leg of Lamb, an Ideal Roast for Spring Dinners

A sure sign of spring is lamb. Festive leg of lamb, perhaps garnished with gay little fruit baskets, is an ideal dinner for these lovely spring days.

When buying the lamb leg ask your meat dealer to leave the fall on the leg. With this paper-like covering left in place the leg holds its shape better during cooking. To roast the leg place it skin side down and cut side up in a shallow roasting pan with a rack. The rack holds the meat up out of its drippings and allows for uniform cooking. Roast in a slow oven, 300 F. This low temperature is recommended for the most possible serving.

You'll know exactly when the leg is medium or well done, as desired, if you use a roast meat thermometer. Insert the thermometer into the meat before it goes into the oven. Place it in the thickest muscle, with the bulb neither in fat nor on bone. The thermometer will register 175° to 180° when the roast is cooked. In terms of minutes per pound this is approximately 30 to 35.

For nifty fruit baskets to decorate the leg of lamb, hollow out an orange, leaving peel on one-half intact and a strip of the peel across the center of the other half to form the handle for the basket. Fill with a colorful fruit combination.

Just before serving, put a paper frill on the lamb shank bone, then surround the roast with the fruit baskets. Serve with mashed potatoes, hot gravy, green beans, buttered carrots, hot rolls and a family-favorite pie.

It's the smart homemaker who buys a large roast with leftovers in mind. A large leg of lamb may be used for three meals.

Curry of lamb is one leftover suggestion. This, of course, is usually made with fresh lamb cubes; however, it may be prepared with the leftover lamb for an equally interesting dish. On the basis of 2 cups leftover cubed lamb, cook 1/2 cup diced onion and 1 1/2 cups of sliced tart apple in a little water until tender. Then add them to 1 1/2 cups of medium white sauce along with the cubed lamb and seasonings of 1 1/2 tablespoon curry powder, 1/2 teaspoon each cinnamon, ground cloves, nutmeg and allspice. Thoroughly heat and serve over hot rice in the traditional manner.

Lamb joined with mushrooms is still another way for using the leftover meat. Cube lamb, then heat in a white sauce along with canned and fresh mushrooms, sliced and heated in butter or margarine.

Chilled slices of lamb roast are grand for a buffet supper or for snack time sandwiches. Leftover lamb, also, may be cubed and tossed with vegetables or fruits in salad combinations.

If the crack on the tray of your child's high chair is constantly catching food particles, try pouring hot paraffin into it. The paraffin will last a long time and save much time.

Surprise the Family with Mock Veal Cutlets

Surprise the family with mock veal cutlets. Make them with ground veal and pork sausage shaped to resemble the typical cutlet.

To prepare these mock cutlets, combine 1 pound of ground veal with 1/2 pound of bulk pork sausage. Mix this with 1/2 cup of soft crumbs. Then season with 1 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon pepper. Shape the mixture into six cutlets.

Before cooking, coat the cutlets with flour, then brown them on both sides in lard or dripping. Cover the frying-pan closely and cook either on top of the range or in a moderate oven (350 F.). Total cooking time will be only about 30 minutes.

LAMB TOPS FOR SPRING

A centerpiece of pussy willows and crocuses and a lamb roast on the table are all signs of spring.

Sprinkle the leg of lamb generously with thyme, salt and pepper. Place on a rack in an open pan. Roast uncovered and without adding water in a slow oven (300° F.).

Allow three and one-half to four hours for a six pound roast. Baste occasionally with juices from the pan.

If a meat thermometer is used, it should read 175° to 180° F. before the lamb is served.

To Carve Leg of Lamb Place the roast on a warm platter with the small end of the roast at the right. Then with a sharp knife cut several lengthwise slices from the side nearer you.

Then turn the leg so that it rests on the cut surface. Starting at the extreme right, cut slices about one-fourth inch thick right down to the bone.

Keeping the fork in position, run the knife under the slices and parallel to the leg bone to cut free at one time. Complete the theme of spring by serving the roast lamb with creamed new potatoes and peas and asparagus with lemon slices.

You'll also want to try lamb en brochette—that's on skewers!

Lamb en Brochette Cut into squares roast lamb, slices of bacon and tomatoes. Place lamb, bacon, tomato and a whole mushroom on the skewer until it is filled. Season with salt and pepper and a little rubbed sage.

Place on a broiling rack and broil ten to fifteen minutes or until the bacon is done. Turn once. Serve piping hot.

Food Sense—Not Nonsense

Worried about vitamins? Afraid of carbohydrates? Puzzled as to whether or not you and your family get enough protein each day? Avoiding fats and sugars? In spite of the fact that an increasing knowledge of nutrition has been one of the offerings of this scientific age, food crazes have been sweeping this country over the past few years like a plague of locusts. The public is both puzzled and concerned. It is reassuring to know there is no substitute for a well balanced diet, patterned on the basic seven food groups.

By an every day selection of foods from these groups you can be assured of meeting individual needs for vitamins, minerals, protein, fats and carbohydrates. All of these are essential to your physical well being. To have a well balanced diet, with all needed health giving factors, select foods from these following groups. (Servings are given as eating guides.)

Green and yellow vegetables, such as broccoli, green beans and carrots—one large serving daily. These are rich in vitamin A essential to good vision, and iron to build red blood cells.

Oranges, tomatoes, grapefruit—one serving daily. This group also includes raw cabbage and salad greens. These furnish vitamin C, also known as ascorbic acid, necessary for healthy gums and body tissues. Potatoes and other vegetables and fruits. One potato daily and two or more servings of the others. These are thrifty sources of needed vitamins and minerals.

Milk, and milk products, such as cheeses and ice cream. One pint of milk for adults and more for children, daily. These are especially important for protein and calcium. They build strong bones and teeth.

Meat, poultry, fish and eggs—one serving meat, fish, or poultry daily, at least 4 eggs per week. These are the high protein, muscle building foods, carrying essential minerals.

Bread, flour and cereals. Six slices of enriched, or whole wheat bread, daily, with other grain foods, such as breakfast cereal. Enriched bread furnishes carbohydrates for energy; protein for building muscles; calcium for strong teeth and bones; iron for red blood cells; and the three B vitamins, niacin, thiamine and riboflavin for general good health.

Butter and fortified margarine—two or three tablespoons daily. These are high in vitamin A, essential to good vision, and are good "fuel" foods. The important point is to include foods from each of these groups every day. Your diet will be balanced—your hunger satisfied—your food fears banished.

Cream soup, gravy, creamed and scalloped vegetables, eggs, meat, fish. Cheese sauce. Egg sauce for fish. Vanilla sauce for puddings.

Sweet Varieties for Brown 'n' Serve Rolls

Brown 'n' Serve bakery foods, including rolls and certain types of hearty bread are available to the homemaker at bakeries and other food stores. They are in full volume, almost completely baked, but without crust color. They are ready for browning whenever wanted, and the desirable golden crust color comes with the final last minute baking.

These products, in their original packaging, have the same shelf life as bread, and may be kept at room temperatures for approximately the same length of time. They may be stored for three weeks in a refrigerator; and three months in a freezer in their original wrappers. However, if over-wrapped and tightly sealed, they may be kept indefinitely in a freezer.

Servings: For best results Brown 'n' Serve rolls should be "browned" so that they come to the table hot from the oven.

For a change you may like to try these sweet varieties:
Butterscotch Pecan Rolls
3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
1 3 cup brown sugar
3 tablespoons chopped pecans

OR
Carmel Orange Rolls
1/4 cup granulated sugar
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
1 1/2 tablespoons orange juice
1/4 teaspoon mace
1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine

Combine ingredients and spread over bottom of 1 quart loaf pan. Place 8 rolls, with tops down, over sugar mixture. Bake in a moderate oven (400 F.) for 15 minutes. Let rolls stand in pan one minute after removing from oven. Invert pan to remove rolls so that butterscotch or caramel side is up. Serve immediately.

High School Gives Cage Awards and Select Captains

At the honor assembly in the new high school gymnasium last Thursday afternoon, the co-captains of next year's basketball teams were announced. Also named was an honorary captain for the season just past. The members of the squad selected these honored players.

The co-captains for the 1952-53 season will be Casey Cavell and Bud Lanphear. Both will be seniors next year, and Bud will end his eligibility at the end of the first semester. Both played a guard position.

The honorary captaincy for the season just ended was voted to Jim Bloomhuff—the only regular senior on the squad.

Letters were presented to 14 players at the honor assembly. They were: Jerry Kelly, David Finney, Casey Cavell, Al Williams, Jim Bloomhuff, David Travis, Bud Lanphear, Jack Dagggett, Ralph Welch, Bob Arlen, Bob Keeney, Russell Brown, Phillip Straub and Ron Johnson.

At the same honor assembly 15 boys received Junior Varsity awards, included in this group were Tyler Caplin, Kenneth Kisabeth and Roy Cole, who saw a lot of service in the tournament games and helped bring Plymouth to the district cup—Kisabeth was high point man in the tournament. Others receiving these reserve awards were: Pat Robinson, Gordon Champion, Bob Angevine, Barrie Lightfoot, Ron Pagenkopf, Herbert Olson, Larry Tillotson, Marlin Chaney, Jack Spanier, Charles Wye, Ferris Mills and Leonard Ferguson. Ronald Krump and Dick Huebler received Varsity Reserve awards.

Women's Swim Class Has Few Openings Left

The next classes in women's swimming will start on Wednesday, April 30, and will continue for the following eight weeks. The 8:30 p.m. class is now full, but a few vacancies still exist in the 9:30 class.

Please register at the Recreation office on the second floor of the City Hall.

Inter-County Ball Two Weeks Away

The Inter-County Baseball league is shaping up, and the first games will be played on Sunday, May 4, according to Earl Gray, president of the Inter-County league. The league has renewed its franchise with the NABF, and will consist of all Class A teams this year.

The league must have at least 6 teams in each division, and cannot have more than 10. Fourteen games will be played during the season, followed by a two-game loss knockout playoffs for the highest four percentage teams in each division. These playoffs begin the first Sunday in August.

The Plymouth team has not, as yet, found a sponsor, as the First National Bank is not sponsoring a team this year. Ypsilanti has a sponsor, if they can get the players they will field a team.

Those for certain to have teams in this hardball league are Gamble Post, Grandale Merchants, Northville, Clarenceville, Centerline, Dearborn Merchants, Dearborn Union Printers and a Teamsters Local from Detroit.

Mr. Gray says the closing date for entering a team in this league is April 26. All who wish information should call him.

Sally Sessions to Hold Golf Classes

The city recreation classes announce that the golf classes, which will be conducted by Sally Sessions, well known Michigan professional and holder of many State and National titles, will begin the second week in May.

Miss Sessions will conduct classes at the Plymouth Country club each Thursday and Saturday. The Thursday afternoon clinic, beginning on May 8, is for women only, and there are a few more openings. The 7:30 evening men's class has a number of openings left. The Saturday 9:30 class for men has plenty of room left, as has the mixed classes at 10:30 and 11:30.

Miss Sessions, an authority on golf, will give instructions to players learning the game, and also give advice and tips to those wanting to improve their game. She will be here each Thursday and Saturday for the full six weeks' course.

Anyone desiring information, or wishing to enroll, please contact the recreation office to register—call 2075.

Grade Coaches Pick Star Squad

A list of the boys who played in the grade school league most likely to succeed on future basketball teams, and picked by the grade school coaches, is listed below: From the Catholic team were David Conrad, Byron Gillies and Solaue—The Lutheran had Larry Bogenschutz; The Bird school had these boys, Jimmy Dzurus, Bob Isbister, Otto Bufe and Nickie Smith; the Smith team put Dennis Brunan, Boonie Crawford, James Duty on the squad; and the championship Starkweather team had Joe Bar-raco, David Walaskay and Bruce Woods.

The above list is not an all-star team, but a list of the outstanding players in the league. The coaches felt that there were too many good players to select any one player for a position on an all-star team.

Rock Nine Make Ready for Opener

With Plymouth's first baseball game just a little over a week away, the squad is beginning to get into shape. During the past week the weather has been fairly good, so that the pitchers can throw a little harder without hurting their arms.

Coach Gorguze is letting the boys get a lot of hitting practice and states that he hopes to have a few inter-squad games this week and next, and a game or two with some other school during Spring vacation.

The school has purchased 25 new uniforms and catcher's equipment for the Rock nine this year, to take the place of the old uniforms of last year. All the old uniforms were issued to this year's Freshmen squad.

Rules Announced For Girls Kickball

The recreation department announces that rules have been drawn up for the Girls Kickball, which will make an appearance on the sports scene this spring.

The rules appear below: 1. This activity is for girls of the 5th and 6th grades of the Bird, Catholic, Lutheran, Smith, and Starkweather schools. 2. The following rules will be observed: (a) Games will be 5 innings in length, unless one team be ahead by 7 runs after an hour of playing time has elapsed, no full inning shall start. (b) A team may use 10 players. (c) The kicker stands directly in back of home plate. (d) A pitched ball is considered good and may be called a strike if it passes directly over home plate not higher than the kickers knees. (e) A pitched ball hitting the kicker above the knees is a dead ball, and is counted as a ball unless the kicker makes no effort to avoid it, in which case it is called a strike. Base runners may not advance on the play.

Our grade school leagues are formed and operated around the basic principles of tolerance of judgement, wholesome fun, courtesy to others, good sportsmanship and all other policies pertaining to all-around good clean character development. Coaches and parents are asked to cooperate and work together in the development of our future citizens to the extent that misbehaving girls either in school or at home be restricted from competition by their coaches, according to recreational director Herbert Woolweaver.

A double elimination tournament for one team from each school will be held during the last week of May and the first week of June. Pairings and location of play will be told later.

Sports Glances

by "Professor" Edgar Brown

Dick Wakefield is also trying out with another major league club—the New York Giants. And he is doing alright—collecting key hits in each of his first four games with them, and a few extra base knocks among them. The Giants have lost some good outfielders thru injuries lately, and maybe the fact that he really had a chance helped his mental attitude. A mental attitude means a lot in all walks of life—a positive attitude of a fellow who thinks he can do it, goes a long way in helping do a thing.

The Tigers have dropped more opening day games than they have won—having won 24 and lost 26 with one ending in a tie—they have won the last five straight, or they would be at the bottom of the league in this respect.

No wonder more people are watching television of football games when they can—the U. of M. announced that all reserve seats would go up in price for next fall from $3.60 to $4.20 a game, with box seats being raised to $5.40. With such prices, one could save enough to pay for a television set in a few years.

The great American game of baseball has ushered in another season of thrills for its loyal boosters. The Tigers still have the old faces, plus a few nobodies, picked up from St. Louis. Batts may help the catching problem, and give more strength to the hitting department, but the others are below average. No, Detroit hasn't helped the fans much by securing new players the past several years. They seem sentimental, or something, and like to keep their good players until they are worthless—they hate to give up a good player to fill some weak link. Anyone doesn't get something for nothing.

I rather doubt if the Tigers finish in the first division this season. I'm picking Cleveland to win this year—I missed last year when they let me down, but I don't see how any team loaded with three 20 game pitchers, and two others with 16 or better wins, can lose. Brooklyn learned a lesson last year when they were ahead 13 games with 6 weeks remaining and lost to the Giants—that won't repeat this year, and Brooklyn will win by a big margin. Yep, it will be the Indians against the Dodgers in the fall classic.

Old "Bobo" Newsome has again popped up in the majors—he is pitching for the Washington Senators. This is the 7th time Bobo has been with Washington, and with about every other American league club and a few National.

Frosh Nine Await Tilt With Trenton

With the nice weather that has prevailed for the last few days the Freshmen baseball candidates have been practicing out of doors under the direction of Coach Charles Ketterer in readiness for their season opener with Trenton.

Thirty-two boys are trying out for the nine positions on the team and in the next few days Coach Ketterer should have a good idea which boys will comprise his starting squad. Boys who are trying out for the squad are Jim Zukosky, Bob Middleton, Dick Day, John Aimar, Jim Sagers, Henry Bonga, John Agnew, Bill Petroszewsky, Jim Arnold, Chuck Buell, Donald Ward, Denny Luker, Bill Phalen, Walter Wilczewski, Bill Fulton, Ken Pelchat, Ed Cramb, Bob Bateman, Foster Brown, Harold Lampton, Donald Wallace, Hilton Walasky, Jeffrey Hubble, Tom Rutherford, Chuck McKenna, David Beegle, Harold Hopper, Larry Olds, Ed Wall, Larry Davis, Jim Sorenson, and Richard Tallman. The two managers are Jack Carter, and Tom Ferguson.

Since 25 new uniforms have been purchased for the Varsity squad the Freshmen team will wear the Varsity's old uniforms which they have worn for the past few seasons.

The team will play an 8 game schedule with the possibility of 2 more games yet to be scheduled.

Following is the baseball schedule for this season.

Thursday, May 1, Trenton, A
Tuesday, May 6, Allen Park, H
Tuesday, May 13, Bentley, A
Friday, May 16, Northville, H
Monday, May 19, Trenton, H
Friday, May 23, Allen Park, A
Monday, May 26, Northville, A
Wednesday, May 28, Bentley, H
And if possible, there will be two more games; Monday, April 28 and Friday, May 9, both away.

Once it was a compliment to tell a girl she looked like a million dollars. In these days of inflation it is an insult.

Vandalism Delays Opening of Pool

Failure to return vital plumbing supplies, which were removed from the plumber's shed at the high school, will delay the opening of the newly constructed swimming pool.

A brick was thrown through the window where the plumbers kept the supplies, which enabled the individual to remove some control valves and glass strainers that are so necessary for the operation of the pool.

Until the fixtures are returned to the school, the pool will be of little value to swimmers, says building superintendent Fred Coverdill.

Workmen request the return of these items in order that they may complete their project and open the pool when scheduled.

Keep Cycling Safe this Spring

Familiar signs of spring are youngsters on bicycles. But if this pastime is to be a pleasure rather than a hazard, children should be expert riders before they venture on the street and should also know traffic and safety rules.

Many deaths and thousands of injuries are reported each year from collisions between bicycles and motor vehicles, and the majority of bicyclers are injured when violating some traffic law.

Four safety rules to stress with young cyclists are:
Learn the meaning and importance of traffic signs, signals, and pavement markings.

Ride bicycles single file, on the right side of the street and as close to the curb as possible.

A bicycle built for one is for just one rider—not two.
Check frequently on brakes, horn, headlight, rear reflector, and tires.

When you sponge a stain from clothing be sure to work from the underside to prevent forcing the stain into the fabric.

It makes you comfortable all over

BUICK engineers have a habit of getting at the bottom of things. So they're not content to stop with putting beneath you cushions that are luxuriously soft and deep.

They also put big, soft, deep coil springs between you and all four wheels — and big, soft tires between the wheels and the road.

But real riding comfort calls for more than cushioning up-and-down jolts and jars.

There's end-sway and side-roll and "wander" to be controlled. There's sure-footed balance on curves. Not to mention the importance of having a frame stout and husky enough to make the whole car feel safely solid.

So Buick engineers have gone through the list—come up with a ride that cost a cool million dollars and more for special engineering, tooling and components.

Does that cover Buick's comfort story? It certainly does not.

There's the comfort of driving a car that instinctively holds the road — the comfort of ample room and a wide-open view of the world around you—the comfort of fabric colors that please the eye and fabric textures that please the touch —and the effortless smoothness of Dynaflo Drive.*

Then there's the mental comfort of bossing power mighty enough to meet any demand you make upon it in emergency — 8-cylinder power — high-compression power — valve-in-head power — Fireball power, that makes you proud of the miles you get from a gallon of gas.

And maybe you'll also find comfort in knowing that this great automobile can be yours at a price that is still just a small step above what's known as "the low-priced three."

On top of all this, driving a Buick's a barrel of fun. Why not drop in tomorrow and ask us to prove it?

Roger Babson Says---

Babson Discusses Business Outlook

Babson Park, Mass., April 17. As my readers know, I have thus far been pretty blue about the prospects for business up to election time next November. But, as I told you in my release on unemployment last week, President Truman's decision to pull out of the race has changed my outlook. I feel more optimistic now!

Feelings Control Statistics

When I was a boy in Gloucester, Massachusetts, my father ran a store. He often said to me: "Roger, it isn't how much money people have in the bank that makes them buy my merchandise—no sir, it's HOW THEY FEEL!" That was good advice in 1900, and it is still good.

Just take a look at what's happened in the last year. You will remember that the bureaucrats and the brain trusters in Washington were warning the nation that a new wave of inflation was just ahead—that there soon would be big shortages again. That was only 12 short months ago. Did these shortages show up? They did not. Why? Because the people who do the buying decided to save more and buy less. The government statisticians could measure inventories, but they couldn't figure out people's feelings!

Everybody Feeling Better

In my opinion, business and the public have both been holding back from making decisions and buying until after the elections. Now, however, with the President making his historic "shall not run" decision, all that is changed. There is a widespread feeling that nearly all of his possible successors would be more kindly disposed to business. A feeling of relief has spread through the country from one end to the other.

Now, this feeling is not something you can measure in black and white. You can't put it into a graph. But, it is the kind of thing that will make a man go out and spend a little more money than he would have before. Just a month ago he may have told his wife that "there'll be no new car this year." Today, however, he may feel that things aren't so bad after all and say: "There is enough in the bank for a rainy day; so, with election prospects looking brighter, why not now enjoy the new car?" This should cause currently high inventories to be pared down.

Swing to Right

There is another important possibility that should not be overlooked. With President Truman out of the running, every effort will be made to pick a candidate behind whom the whole Democratic Party can unite. Now, the big bulk of Southern Democrats happen to be very conservative. If they are to be appeased and "kept in line," it is highly necessary that the Convention nominate a team that will be conservative enough to attract full support from the South—like Russell, Kerr or Stevenson. So the Democrats don't look so formidable to business as they did a few weeks back.

What about the Republicans? Well, to me, it is pretty hard to see any candidate outside of Eisenhower or Taft. It doesn't seem likely that the Convention will be foolish enough to pin its hopes on some "dark horse" that may fall down in the big race. Businessmen generally would feel pretty good right now if they knew for certain that a conservative is to be in the White House next January. Thus, sizing up both the Democrats and the Republicans, it looks to me like a swing to the right!

More Spending Right Away!

Finally, the Democrats know that if business is good and the voters are happy next November 4, they will have a better chance to win again. You can bet that their "smoke-filled rooms" are already busy mapping the strategy for keeping things humming right up to polling time. They may have lost their leader, but they haven't lost their sense of direction.

Already we have seen the government granting permission to the military to award contracts to "job distress" areas. It isn't a far step from this to finding other reasons why defense spending should be stepped up in the months immediately ahead. Certainly, if the people get an impression that a new wave of inflation is on the way, which recent strikes indicate, they may do a little more buying themselves.

Thunder Storm is Climax to Early Spring Snow Fall

A wet snowstorm that wound up in a thunderstorm! That is something for the books!

But it actually did happen—and it took place right here in Plymouth, Michigan, U.S.A.

The snowstorm took place last Thursday and Friday, and Saturday a few snowflakes mingled with the rain that fell most all day. The rain and drizzle continued until Sunday evening, when it wound up its spring weather serenade with a rip-roaring thunderstorm.

It thundered and it lightened, and it rained some more, too. The thunder storm continued for nearly an hour, although there were no reports of lightning having struck any buildings or trees in this locality. It provided a sort of glorious ending for as wet and chilly Easter day as this area had ever experienced. These unusual storms were preceded by near freezing weather and by reported heavy snow falls in the upper part of the state.

While the rainfall was above average and continued over a period of a number of days, a trip along the Rouge river in the parkway revealed the fact that while the water was high, not much of the park was flooded and little damage had been done to the thoroughfares through the parkway.

Marjean Penhale Tours With Albion Orchestra

When the Albion college band and orchestra tour in Michigan, Indiana and Illinois, April 20 through 29, Marjean Penhale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Randall Penhale of 416 Pacific, will accompany the organizations, playing clarinet.

Under the baton of Dr. Conway Peters 76 Albion college musicians will meet 19 engagements, presenting programs of colorful selections by composers of classical music as well as music in the modern vein. Their numbers will include compositions by Tschaiakowsky, Enesco, Gershwin, Salzedo, Strauss and others.

Miss Penhale is a junior at Albion.

Treating seed gives higher yields because seed-borne fungi that cause plant diseases are destroyed, soil-infesting fungi that rot seed and kill seedlings are reduced and weeds are set back by establishment of better stands of grain.

UNCORKING THE NEWS

By Carl Peterson

With all the Presidential candidates popping up these days, we've got a real variety of choices. In some countries a difference of opinion is a revolution, and the answer to it's as brief as a pistol shot and as sharp as a sword. If a vote is allowed they have two choices... "Yes" and "Help." The results are as cut and dried as a string of chili peppers. That's why some of the foreign heads can't savvy our method of marking a ballot and having it taken seriously by our government officials. As far as they're concerned, that's dangerous. For us it's the key to our strength as a nation of free people.

A woman in Westbury, Eng., mistook gasoline for syrup and poured it over a pudding she was cooking. Maybe that's the thing people have been reporting as a flying saucer. Maybe those flying saucers are hard to predict... but there's no doubt about the fine quality of our cosmetics. To look your loveliest, choose from our wide selection of big-name-brands. And if you are buying for a gift, remember to choose your greeting card here. At PETERSON DRUG. Newest & most modern drug store in Plymouth. Opposite Mayflower Hotel. Phone: 2080.
