

WHAT WILL BE NEXT?

For some three years or more Michigan has been sinking to a pretty low level among sister states in its political administration. We have become the object of ridicule and our "Governor" is held up as a "playboy" executive.

All of this horseplay on the part of the Governor and his efforts to belittle the members of the Michigan legislature who are opposed to his crazy schemes has finally resulted in the most disgraceful prison riot this country has ever known.

The lunatics in Jackson prison were without question inspired by the lunatic examples set for them in Lansing. And a deputy warden of Jackson calls the criminal lunatics who led the prison riot "natural leaders."

And it was one of these whimpering criminals who cried like a baby when Detroit police cornered him without a gun in his hand and arrested him. But with a gun or knife in his hand, he is a "natural leader" in the eyes of some of the crackpots running the affairs of our great state of Michigan.

Think of it! — We have got to endure this kind of administration in Michigan for nearly eight long months before we can bring about a change up in Lansing! The pampering of convicts—the inattention to affairs of government by our nincompoop Governor — the constant frenzy on the part of those associated with him to try and put those who are opposed to his fool conduct in a false light with the voters — the don't-give-a-d attitude about the spending of money bled from over-burdened taxpayers — who ever dreamed that a great state like Michigan would ever get in such a mess?

WHAT'S ALL THE EXCITEMENT?

Grandma Free Press the other day apparently became all het up when Edwin Lahey wrote a story about the racketeers down in Jersey City waxing fat off tax dollars taken from the people of this country by the Truman political mob. Some congressional committee had found out that some workers were being paid at the rate of $11.52 per hour at make-believe work or something like that. This investigation, says Lahey, is an off-shoot of the one that seeks to find out what became of $300,000,000 that is alleged to have been wasted on air bases in North Africa.

What we can't figure out is this — why waste time looking into ways racketeers get the tax dollars? Why not try to find out where an honest dollar has been honestly spent? Such a discovery, if it could be made, would be real news.

OUR NATIVE SON CANDIDATE.

We have noted in some of the newspapers that there are a few folks holding political jobs up around Lansing who think Soapy Williams should be a "native son" candidate of the New Deal-Fair Deal party for president of these United States. We've got a better suggestion. You see Edgar Bergen was born and raised over in Decatur, a little town in southwestern Michigan almost hidden from view by the vast vineyards that prevail in that section. Edgar after he moved to California really became the father of "Charlie McCarthy" and "Mortimer Snerd." That makes both of them eligible to the native son class. We suggest that because "Mortimer" shows a bit more of Fair Deal intelligence than does "Charlie" that "Mortimer" become Michigan's native son candidate in place of "Soapy." We think he out-ranks Soapy in intelligence and would be a better vote-getter in a national contest. What's your idea?

THANKS FOR THE GENEROUS SUPPORT.

It has been a real pleasure to receive aid from so many good readers of this column pertaining to our discussions of national politics. It all started when some one sent the writer an editorial from a Georgia newspaper which used some of the emphatic words used by a southern speaker when discussing Fair Deal politics.

Then came Dr. "Ace" Williams with an armful of newspapers and clippings he had gathered on a southern trip. The other day Ernest Allison returned from an Oklahoma visit bringing with him a rip-snorting editorial taken out of The Tulsa Tribune, published in another southwestern Democratic state.

The editorial is so good that we are reprinting it in full, with thanks to Mr. Allison for bringing it to us. We know that readers of this column will be pleased to know what the folks down in Oklahoma think of the mess in Washington—and here again a southern editor uses words that make our look like just plain ordinary Sunday school words in comparison. The editorial follows:

Billions, billions and billions of dollars have been taken from our pockets and sent to Europe. Why? We owe Europe nothing. But our do-gooders got the idea that it was our exalted mission to reduce American life to the level of Europe. Let them live as we live, and we pay the bill. That is the Marshall Plan.

Billions and billions of our dollars, no one can fathom the figure, have been taken from us by the tax collectors under penalty of jail punishment if we fail to dish it out as ordered. That is the ancient European way. We have gone that far European. Under our American scheme of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness we are each of us entitled to the rewards of our labors. Why, in freedom's name, should we hijack ourselves for the European dumb clucks who are not smart enough to take care of themselves? We have spent billions, billions and billions on the Europeans, and we have not made a convert. We have not made a friend. But we have created a European contempt for us, we the big national sap. And this is the culmination of the undefinable "foreign policy" we have pursued.

This loose and irrational economic thinking has penetrated our domestic operations until Mr. Truman no longer chooses to face the catastrophe. The people have become aware that gross dishonesties by federal officials have long been in operation. A comic opera gesture was made of ferreting out and firing the rascals. To give it the appearance of non-partisan sincerity a so-called Republican was drafted by the Democratic administration to investigate, find the truth and tell the people.

Immediately the investigator found, of course, that he could not even begin unless he could get at the records. "No, no, no," went up the protest from the administration. "You can't see the records." An ORDER from the President himself locked the files. Let nothing on us get loose. But the investigator began to question the very officials who commissioned him to investigate. That was not what they wanted. So the Attorney General of the United States, whose sworn duty it is to defend the rights of the American people, fired the investigator.

The people's reaction was inevitable. Why stop the investigation? What is there that must be locked up? The records belong to the people. They want to see them.

The President announced that he is not going to be a candidate to succeed himself. He branded all Republicans as sinners and lets it go at that. Then in turn he fired the Attorney General.

National security is impossible without a stabilized steel industry. All the college-economic experts that the Democratic administration has brought to Washington have done nothing but bungle the job on steel.

America grew mighty by sound common sense, not by fantastic Communistic schemes, coupled with incompetent and dishonest administrators. A team of horses never got a load very far along the road when hitched to opposite ends of the wagon. But in the driving by our economic experts top officials did not know what other top officials were doing. They pulled in opposite directions not only getting nowhere but pulling the wagon apart.

Confusions, cultivated confusions, expert confusions have left us with an inadequate defense. And the basic steel industry in an alarming mess.

We can't go on pyramiding wages without pyramiding costs, pyramiding costs pyramiding price. It is all a simple as learning the alphabet. But when a competent industrial administrator like General Electric's former president Charles E. Wilson is brought in to supervise our defense program he is literally mowed down in his efforts by the hot tempers that have lost their ability to reason.

The only economic formula that the New Deal and the Fair Deal have created is to strike, stop production, tie up the earning power of the people and then tax the people in a futile effort to buy

Fire Equipment Inadequate For City Says Marshal

"Plymouth's fire department is inadequate to protect the lives and property of the residents of Plymouth," stated Walter Gannon, University of Michigan extension instructor who is teaching a class in fire fighting to the Plymouth, Canton Township, Daisy and Whitman Barnes volunteer fire departments.

Mr. Gannon served for 28 years on the Muskegon fire department, for the last five years of this time, he was chief. During the past five and a half years he has instructed over 4,000 firemen in his classes.

When asked what he would recommend to increase the effectiveness of the department he suggested a new piece of fire fighting equipment adequate for the size of the city. A 750 or 1,000 gallon pumper would be the best, he said. With the equipment the city now has, every time a fire breaks out, the lives and property of several persons are jeopardized. He stressed the fact that in some of the older sections of town, an entire block of business or residential buildings could burn down in no time.

Two or three additional men sleeping in the fire hall every night would be of a distinct advantage during the first five minutes of a fire. Mr. Gannon emphasizes the first five minutes as the most important time of a fire. The fire is either won or lost during this crucial period he says. There is now one man sleeping in the hall each night. The majority of fire losses take place between 10 p.m. and 6 a.m. Usually, he continued, they are undetected fires which need immediate action. There is no time to wait while the men dress and arrive at the fire.

Holland, Michigan, has a set up, Mr. Gannon remarked, which rotates the volunteers sleeping in. They sleep in for a month with several nights off. Then others sleep in for a month. They are paid extra for this service.

If a new pumper is added, Mr. Gannon recommends that the old number one and number two with a combined age of 42 years be used for assists and times when the new pumper is not available. These two trucks one of which was purchased in 1925 and the other in 1937 are no longer dependable, he said. The pumper purchased in 1937 is a home made truck.

I feel, however, that the Plymouth Fire department, under the leadership of Fire Chief Robert McAllister, is doing an excellent job with the equipment at hand, he concluded.

The winner may select his own choice vacation spot and Mr. Cannon will arrange for reservations, road maps and travel information. Thirty dollars per day is allowed for the trip or a total of $210.00 for the week.

Mr. Cannon has been in the automobile business in Plymouth for a year, prior to that he was in business in Detroit.

Business District Without Water 2 Hours Tuesday

For two hours early Tuesday afternoon the business district from the Hotel Mayflower to the City Hall was without water. A leak had developed early that morning in the hydrant near the Fisher Shoe store. Water spurted out until the repair men could replace a pin in the valve that had become weak and broken.

David Dayton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dayton of Deer street spent a week in Port Huron with his grandmother, Mrs. Joseph Schreiber.

Livonia Approves Shopping Area

A multi-million dollar shopping center is in the offing for the City of Livonia, as the Planning Commission of that rapidly growing area, voted unanimously to grant the Sheldon Land Company permission to change 36 acres of land at the southwest corner of Plymouth and Farmington roads to C-2 zoning. An area 1377 feet along Plymouth road and 1200 feet south from U.S. 12 is involved. This will give the Sheldon company 1,800,000 square feet for building the business district and off-street parking facilities.

If the City Council approves it, as is expected, plans call for starting construction in July or August. The architect's sketch calls for a set-back of the buildings that will allow 1200 cars to be parked in front of the stores. There will also be ample room for parking in the rear. The main entrance would be located on Plymouth road 600 feet from Farmington road. The light at the intersection of Plymouth road and another quarter of a mile east will permit entrance to the parking lot. Exits are to be constructed from Farmington and Loveland. It was also brought out that the Michigan State Highway department contemplates lights in the near future every quarter mile on U.S. 12.

A ratio of four to one parking area to floor space has been established. This is considered ample for any future developments. The City Council approved plans last week for a new city hall. It will be constructed on the site, purchased several months ago, on the south side of Five Mile road and east of Shady side on the 22 acre Civic Center site. Plans call for a one story modernistic structure with no basement. The building will be 200 feet across the front and approximately 80 feet deep. Cost will approximate $225,000.

All the various city offices will be located in the new edifice when completed.

Motor Burns Out on Fire Truck

A broken oil line caused the motor of number one city fire truck to burn out on the way to assist Canton Township with a fire on Monday.

The truck was towed back to the city and taken to a local garage. Estimates are being made to determine whether the motor will be rebuilt or a new one installed.

So that fire protection will remain at its usual level in Plymouth a 500 gallon pumper (same capacity as the damaged truck) has been obtained from the state fire marshal. This truck is one purchased by the Office of Civilian Defense during the war and now used for such emergencies.

The Soroptomist club of Plymouth will hold a luncheon meeting at the Hotel Mayflower beginning at 12 o'clock on Tuesday, May 6.

Forger Nabbed

Tuesday, two city policemen were dispatched to Warren, Ohio, to bring back an alleged forger who has been operating in this area. He had forged two checks and passed them in the city, police say.

The bad check artist, Jimmy Nisley, address unknown, was arrested by police in Warren. Police report that he is also wanted by the Ann Arbor police for similar offenses there.

New Record Set For Plymouth's Flying Balloons

Balloons, balloons and more balloons! It appears that Plymouth is fast becoming a "balloon-launching" center.

Last week's Plymouth Mail article concerning the balloon release to Blunk's, Inc. from Thamesville, Ont., has brought two more reports of high-flying inflated spheroids.

Marshall Kirkpatrick of the S. S. Kresge Co. believes a helium-filled balloon given to Tommy Rollin of 312 N. Harvey holds the local record for distance travelled. Kirkpatrick reports that Tommy received a note, along with his released balloon, from Oil City, Pennsylvania, 200 miles from Plymouth.

Not to be outdone, the Calvary Baptist Church of Plymouth conducted a program of "balloon releasing". The children released their balloons with tags attached on April 22 and three days later Judy Marshall received a note from Iona Station, Ontario stating that the balloon had been found at 5:30 p.m. April 23. Iona Station is about 80 miles from Plymouth in the same area where the Blunk's balloon was found. The Plymouth Mail has decided to offer a prize to the "champion balloon releaser of Plymouth". Send in your reports! The prize? A free balloon, of course.

It is hoped by the Optimist club, and the Daisy company, that a well-organized gun club for boys in their early teens can be developed and can compete against other similar clubs throughout the state.

Local Soldier On Television

Pfc. Robert L. Houghton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Houghton, of 356 Sunset, was seen on television Saturday, April 26 over WWJ-TV. He was presented in a film showing Michigan men with the 45th Division in Korea.

Corporal Michael Miller, formerly with the Detroit News, filmed this picture for the WWJ-TV so that Michigan families could actually see what their boys are doing in Korea.

Mrs. Houghton stated that several weeks ago she had received a letter from her son stating that he would appear on television, but the exact date for the appearance was unknown. She also received a letter from both the Detroit News and also the WWJ-TV informing her that her son would be shown over television.

Mrs. Houghton will always be ready to back the television world should they ever need assistance. She said that her son looked well and happy. Throughout the program, friends phoned her and informed them that her son was over TV.

The film showed other Michigan men, some of whom were from Detroit and vicinity. This was the first of a series to be shown.

Pfc. Houghton has been in Korea with the 180th Infantry, Company E, for the past year and a half. At the present time he is in the front lines doing combat duty. He graduated from the Plymouth High school in 1949.

School Election For Additional Revenues Set For Monday, May 26

Ways and means of acquainting the public with the immediate necessity of more revenues, for a new elementary building, remodeling the present high school, and additional operational expenses, were discussed at the meeting Monday night of the Publicity Committee of the School - Community Planning Group.

This committee, chaired by Horton B. Booth, laid the groundwork for presenting the issues to the voters on Monday, May 26.

On that date, voters will be presented with three ballots at the polls. The first will be for a two-mill levy for a period of 5 years for operational expenses.

The second will be to raise the millage two mills for a new elementary building and remodeling of the high school. The third will be to issue bonds to borrow money for the building.

The operational increase would realize around $64,000 a year for 5 years based on the present assessed valuation of 32 million for the school district.

Continued increases in assessed valuation may reduce the millage necessary to retire the bond issue.

The present school tax of 13.899 is low as compared to other school districts around this area. That is broken down into 7.899 for operational expenses and 6 for debt retirement at the present time. A year ago it was 7.899 for operational expenses and 8 for debt retirement. The difference in the lower debt retirement this year being caused by increased valuation since a year ago.

The elementary school population has increased 300 students since 1950, or about 25 percent. With the expected increases next year, and the years following, a new elementary building is a necessity. The high school, which hasn't been remodeled for a number of years, is in dire need of new equipment, furniture and room alterations to provide more suitable classroom space.

Operational expenses have risen sharply in recent years with the addition of new buildings, increased teachers' salaries, and increased teaching staff. The cost of supplies and equipment is much higher today than it was a few years ago.

To be able to vote on any of these issues, one must be a registered voter in the city, or township, in which he resides, and who has voted in the past four years. If one hasn't voted in the past 4 years, or is not registered with the city, or township clerk, he has until Friday, May 16, to register. At 5 p.m. on that date will be the deadline for registration to be eligible to vote.

It is hoped by school officials that everyone interested in good schools will register so that they can vote on May 26.

The entire School-Community Planning Group have another meeting scheduled for next Monday evening, May 5.

The entire class is camping at Island Lake Group camp. The group left Monday morning by school bus and will return Friday afternoon in the same manner. Trucks took food and baggage to the camp.

With many of our representatives in Congress are still fighting against any attempts to put the lawmakers' meetings on television. It seems that most of them don't show up unless it's a strong wind. So they'd better soon not have the home pecking. Some of the legislators who do find their way to their seats often spend their time reading papers, letters or magazines, and their representation is as divided as a watermelon at a big picnic. You would change that faster than you can mark "X" on a ballot. But it looks like the "X" will beat the eyes.

Each contestant must enter all events and total score is what determines the winners. One must make at least a certain score for a gold medal, another score for a silver medal and a lower score for a bronze medal. All contestants making the required scores are eligible for medals.

The decathlon is being reinaugurated, as it was a popular contest in Plymouth a few years ago. Plans are being made for three divisions—for boys in grades 7 and 8; one for those in grades 9 and 10, and a third for older boys in grades 11 and 12.

There will be more about this as the time approaches June 1.

Poppy Contest Reveals Winners

Winners in the recent Poppy Poster contest sponsored by the Passage-Gayde American Legion Auxiliary held recently in Plymouth have been announced. The following are the first prize winners in each class: Class 1, Karen Harte, Rosedale School, Livonia. Class 2, Betty Kennedy from Plymouth High school and Class 3, Sandra Sweeney also from Plymouth High school.

The winning posters will enter the District contest. Winners in each class in the District, will then enter the Department contest for the State judging in June. The three winning Department posters will then enter the National contest.

Poppy Day will be observed the latter part of May.

It is not inconceivable that the new leadership for which the world craves may arise from within the Christian church. But this hypothesis appears to presuppose a transformation of Christianity, or a revival of its primitive spirit, which would in itself amount to a revolution. — Edward Hallett Carr

CIRCUS HIGHLIGHTS

What does it take to make a Circus? Well, it took 14,111 young kids, and old kids up to 88 years old, to make Ernie's circus one of the biggest events we have ever staged. It took 6,000 balloons. It took 6 tanks of helium to fill them. It took one of our balloons two days to travel to Thamesville, Ontario where a farmer found it in his corn field and mailed it back with a nice letter. We can now truthfully state that we are internationally advertised. It took 843 entries in our clown coloring contest (what a job to pick the winner, they were all so good). It took the expressions on the children's faces to amply repay us for all the planning that went into it. THANK YOU PLYMOUTH AND ENVIRONS Blunk's, Inc.

WHAT I THINK AND HAVE A RIGHT TO SAY

friendships abroad. Nothing could be crazier than the political performances we have seen piling upon us as a people's burden through the last twenty years. Put it on the blackboard, teacher: New Deal plus Fair Deal equals Fool Deal and disaster.

With all this confusion, incompetence and corruption there has grown a greater danger to our national security than anything the cock-eyed economists have concocted. And that is the apathy of the average citizen. Wage-earner or wage-maker. The majority of the people have forgotten that the American government is not a thing apart from themselves to be viewed with an indifferent curiosity. He is a pathetic fool and an enemy of our country who refuses to take any part in politics because he righteously "minds his own business." Poor fellow. He doesn't know what his own business is. That such a menace of citizenship indifference descends upon us is largely the result of the dereliction in the teaching forces of our schools and colleges. They don't know our economic foundation either. If they do they don't teach it.

We have drifted into Socialism, and from Socialism we are going headlong into Communism because along with our lessons in mathematics and grammar we have not been trained to respect the responsibilities that rest on every voter.

But at long last the high cost of indifference is beginning to dawn on the fellows who didn't vote, who dodged their citizenship duties. The patience of the people has at last been strained. They are now becoming aware that never in the history of our country has a national administration been so ill-equipped mentally and morally as the one which now asks for an investigation and doesn't dare have one. So it locks the files in fear.

Senator Kefauver, of Tennessee, is one of the obvious reasons why Mr. Truman does not seek to succeed himself. Kefauver is a symbol. He is the symbol of indignation. He is the symbol of protest. And the people are now beginning to protest. Even misguided Democrats can no longer condone regularity in their Party when regularity means condoning the sins that now threaten our security and expose us without weapons to a world of covetousness and hate.

Name calling isn't going to help us. No one is an isolationist because he protests the ruthless raid upon the taxpayers' purse. No honest man can call his fellow citizen an isolationist because he protests the worthless spending of our earnings on friendships we cannot buy; governments that do not have the mentality to comprehend the creative power of free men.

Before all of this dishonest invasion of our rights and freedoms we did not contemplate the purchase of foreign friendships. But we were the world's big brother, and best friend. We were strong because we were sound. We had the respect of all the world. Other nations sought our friendship. They prized it.

Who destroyed all this? The New Deal, the Fair Deal and the culminating Fool Deal, aided and comforted by the fool citizen who "minded his own business" and let the government go.

We not only need a return to rational, constructive, progressive honest, economic performance and behavior, but we need to teach the derelict citizen the duty he has never learned, his injustice to his neighbor when he fails his country.

No, billions, billions and billions of dollars recklessly thrown all around the world are not going to return us to the prosperity we have lost, the friends abroad we have lost, the honesties here at home we have lost. America is only as strong as her citizens.

Kiwanis Hears Chamber Sec'y

Plymouth's new secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, Nat Sibbold, called for the help and cooperation of business and professional men Tuesday evening in a talk to the Kiwanis club. "The chamber of commerce is not a one man job," said Sibbold. "We must all work together to receive maximum benefits from this necessary organization."

Sibbold sighted the functions of a well-run chamber of commerce and pointed out the growing need of a full time office in Plymouth. "It can serve as a valuable source of information as well as a clearing house for city-wide promotions and programs," concluded Sibbold.

As an added feature, Sibbold sang two selections for the group prior to his talk. Harry Roberts and Dean Saxton were program chairmen.

Bird Round-up Rousing Success

Saturday night was not the loneliest night in the week as there were approximately 1200 people at the annual spring Round-up held at the Bird school on April 26. In spite of the other numerous activities held that evening, crowds thronged through the doors of the school building.

"It was a rousing success," stated Mrs. Kenneth Hulsing, "and we were certainly glad that there were seven doors in the building for the public to use."

Over $800.00 was made from this affair, which is half again that which has been made in previous years. The money which was obtained from the Round-up will be kept in the P.T.A. treasury until next year at which time the money will be used for supplemental materials for the schools.

There was no admission fee for the Round-up, therefore all the money was secured from the various booths and displays. Over 500 people were served refreshments from the Chuck Wagon. It was remarked that scarcely a hot dog could be found in town that night as the Bird school had purchased them all. The organization would like to thank Mrs. Frances Overton and her classes for the many artistic posters which were distributed throughout town in order to advertise the event.

Sheldon Road to Receive Coat of Oil

Residents in the rough park subdivision are having Sheldon road for 1,200 feet south of Ann Arbor trail oiled to control the dust.

"This oiling is not being done by the city. The residents have ordered and paid for the oil themselves," stated city manager Alfred Glassford.

The city dust control program will begin about May 15.

Blaze Destroys Old Farm House

An 11 room frame farmhouse located at 7274 Sheldon road burned to the ground Monday, in spite of the attempts of three fire departments to quench the flames.

Mrs. Dud Stone, who lived in the front of the house, was out hanging up clothes when she heard her 2-year-old child crying and went in to investigate. She discovered that the kitchen was a sheet of flame. Mrs. Stone believes that the stove on which she was boiling water exploded and caused the blaze.

She and her child, the only ones at home were not injured. Mr. Stone was at work, as was James Story who lived in the rear of the house. George Schmidt of Plymouth road is the owner of the 120 acre farm and buildings.

Canton Township fire department answered the call at 10:35 a.m. and later called Plymouth and Plymouth township departments to assist. The firemen left at about 2:30 p.m.

Joseph Sitcocks, Canton Township fire chief, stated that he thought the house to be about 100 years old.

Stanley Barker Hi-12 Club Guest

"Is democracy gone? Can it survive? What part does the steel industry play in precedent? and Who is behind the evils which are wrecking America?" were some of the questions asked and answered by Stanley C. Barker, attorney, who is running for Congress from the 17th district in a speech given yesterday at the Hi-12 dinner held in the Mayflower hotel.

"Every time you find an established neighborhood being ruined, or suddenly changed to force the good Americans out at property sacrifices you can bet that it isn't just the $1,000 profit for a carpetbagger which is behind it, it is also the Union of Soviet Russia paying those carpetbaggers much more to ruin the neighborhood and to instill hatred and ill feeling," he stated.

He continued with the statement that he wanted to get into Congress to find out what he could about some of the unusual things which were going on such as poor "boys" suddenly having enough money to buy prominent buildings, apartment houses and the like.

Mr. Barker told of the Berry surplus company getting preferred information of sale prices on open competitive, sealed bids.

"I believe in free enterprise, but on an honest, open, and above board basis. I believe that Russia is behind the skullduggery and I want to be where I can see," he emphasized.

Mr. Barker quoted a chain store profit increase from $1,000 to $30,000,000 in 12 years and wondered if that was not inviting government control and ownership to everyone's loss.

He stressed the point that such companies may be doing this to disgust the public so much that it will be ready to swallow a whole dictatorship, hook, line, and sinker. He concluded this point with the statement, "It's time to wake up America."

"And so, little by little—in this way and that, American free enterprise is going—always by offering hungry citizens a little sugar; always by putting a little butter on the whole slice of bread to distract your attention from the stealing of the whole loaf," he emphasized.

Mr. Barker concluded the speech by listing the planks in his platform. The first is the continuation of American labor which he said can not continue if the alien elements take over. Plain common honesty is the second plank in the platform. World Federalism, more investigation and full employment complete his platform.

During the speech, Mr. Barker also discussed the St. Lawrence waterway, pension plans, and the RFC.

THOUSANDS OF LOCAL KIDDIES visited Blunks store with their parents last week to see the unusual circus that was on display. "It was the most amazing thing that ever happened to us," stated A. L. Lantz when he told of the thousands of people that came into the store to see the circus and obtain a balloon for their children. Among the happy families to visit the circus were Mr. and Mrs. Elton Knapp and their two children who are pictured receiving balloons from Mr. Lantz as circus proprietor Ernie Palmquist smilingly approves.

Why sin always brings punishment is explained in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Everlasting Punishment" which will be read in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, May 4. The Golden Text is from Romans (6:16): "Know ye not, that to whom ye yield yourselves servants to obey, his servants ye are to whom ye obey: whether of sin unto death, or of obedience unto righteousness?" Among the Bible citations is this passage, (Prov. 14:34): "Righteousness exalted a nation: but sin is a reproach to any people." Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include: "To cause suffering as the result of sin, is the means of destroying sin." (p. 6)

During the present Conference year 87 persons have come into full membership. More and more our members are taking their membership vows seriously as is evidenced by an increase in regular attendance. Speaking on the theme, "The Thirty-First of April" last Sunday morning Rev. Johnson pointed out that too many of us are willing only to admire the good and the heroic in others. He pointed out that while the thirty-first of April is not a day on the calendar it can be a day of great importance in our lives. A day on which unexpectedly a man turns a corner and meets with life and love and truth and beauty and God. He stressed the point that the greater enemy of life is not sin but humdrum. To sink into humdrum is to shrink the business of living. It is a kind of inertia or an inertia. When you have lost all your recklessness, when you have grown afraid to make a fool of yourself, when you are no longer willing to take a chance, when your instinct is to play it safe, you are as good as dead. And that is the sort of thing that threatens to kill the spiritual life of the Church today.

Homer Martin is Lions Speaker

Homer Martin, in an address to Plymouth Lions last Thursday night declared: "The seizure of the Steel Mills by President Truman was a dangerous violation of the Constitution. It is an indication of the distance we have traveled down the road of Government slavery in 20 years of Democrat Administrations dominated by socialists and communists. No doubt Mr. Truman was paying a political debt to Phil Murray but it has exposed every American to the dangers of a Police State."

"Mr. Truman understood the meaning of his own action when he explained that he could likewise seize the News Papers and the Radio Stations. He is right. If he can seize any private property from any citizen without due process of law, then he can seize all the property from all the people. This seizure was the last step in a 20 year effort to socialize America. It is a part of a calculated program to destroy constitutional government. If the power mad, irresponsible, and thoroughly corrupt democrat administration can get away with this seizure, it can get away with seizing the Churches, the Labor Unions, and the Homes of the Nation. It can like wise without due process of law imprisonment the Clergy, Union Leaders, or Opposition Political leaders. It is important to note that while the Democrat Administration has moved in such brazen fashion to violate private ownership rights guaranteed by the constitution, it is the same administration that has protected and refused to prosecute Communist Traitors in High Government positions with the excuse that it might violate their constitutional rights."

"Only a Positive Program to restore the Free enterprise system can check our drift into socialism. The Fair Deal and the New Deal Administrations carried on a frontal attack upon big business for two decades, they have indirectly but systematically undermined the economic position of Small Business at the same time. All Business is dangerously near destruction. The whole profit system is on the ropes and groggy from constant pounding, constant bombardment with intent to destroy. But Small Business is in the most serious immediate danger. Approximately 70 per cent of all industrial employment is in plants employing one hundred or less employees. Other phases of Small Business constitute an overwhelming percentage of business and employment. It is the back bone of American free enterprise. Big Business could not exist without Small business. This is the reason for the undermining of Small Business by the Socialist and Communist dominated Democrat Administrations. The so-called New Deal began with an attack upon the private banking system. It used the need for reform as an excuse to discredit and handcuff the credit system of the Country."

"The New Deal didn't want reform it wanted a Bank disaster to blame the Republicans for, and to discredit the Banking system. The controls were then slapped on in the name of security for depositors. Small Business was denied credit through government regulation. No business can survive without credit. This country was built by little and big men alike whose vision, initiative, and character made their credit good. The Raw Deal of the New Deal has destroyed that. Small Business has been strangled by imposed government regulation of credit. These senseless and dangerous regulations must be relaxed."

"Special tax relief should be given first earnings of business. If infant businesses and industries are to survive they must be given a chance to get started and to hold their own. There was a time prior to the present socialist democrat regime that new business and Small Business was considered an asset to the nation. It must be again."

"Small Business particularly must be relieved of the useless government red tape of reports, regulations, and bureaucratic domination. This burden is almost unbearable even to Big Business it is disastrous to Small Business. The overhead costs, and nerve racking pressure of government regulations are enough to discourage if not to bankrupt a struggling business."

"Tax Equality should be restored. The socialist Democrat Regimes have given special tax advantages to so called cooperatives which are in direct competition with private business. Gigantic businesses have been built in the name of cooperatives through this tax relief trick. Private business cannot compete with this sort of handicap. This is a socialist scheme for undermining private business and should be outlawed by the Congress. True cooperatives which return all the savings to the participants are not involved. It is the tax dodge of competing businesses under the guise of cooperatives that must be outlawed."

"It has been said that Small Business cannot get credit unless it can prove that it does not need it. Long term low interest credit must be provided or Small Business will die. Either through private capital organizations, but not tax free, or through some sort of insurance of loans through private banks."

"Investment or risk capital must be liberated by reversing government attitudes toward free enterprise. For 20 years private business has been kicked in the face by the socialist democrat administrations. The word profit has always had a vulgar meaning to moon struck socialists and communist conspirators. Yet profit is the magic which transformed America from a wilderness to the greatest nation on earth. This same magic formula can again save us and world from the icy grip of world socialism."

Are California Peanuts Best-Frank Rambo Would Like to Know

There is one puzzled citizen in Plymouth. That individual is the ever peaceful, good natured Frank Rambo.

His troubled mind developed the other day when Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lush drove out to the Rambo peanut farm to look over prospects for the 1952 Rambo peanut crop.

It seems that Mr. Lush sometime ago shipped to Farmer Rambo some of the top-grade peanuts grown in California and suggested to Mr. Rambo that he plant strictly California peanuts. "Like everything else in California," said Mr. Lush to Mr. Rambo, "the peanuts grown out there are better than peanuts grown anywhere else in the world. We grow better herbs. We grow better fruit—and Charlotte will tell you that we grow roses that are right out of this world."

That is O.K. as far as it goes. But it seems that some of Mr. Rambo's other friends gave him some other kinds of peanut seed to plant that were not grown in California.

The farm editor of The Plymouth Mail brought back from Georgia and gave to Mr. Rambo some "Carolina creeper" peanut seeds. Of course these do not grow as big and as "noisy" as do the California peanuts, but folks down in Georgia say they are the sweetest peanut that grows anywhere.

Then some kindly Plymouth lady gave to Mr. Rambo another kind of peanut seed.

Now Mr. Rambo's puzzled mind developed after Mr. Lush had talked to him and waxed so enthusiastic over the California peanuts. He doesn't want to offend his old-time friend by planting some kind of peanuts that are not grown in California. And he doesn't want to make the local farm editor sore by giving preference to the California seed—neither does he desire to slight the kindly lady who left another variety of peanut seed on his desk—the lady who didn't leave her name with the gift.

"You know Harry," said Mr. Rambo to a friend the other day, "He thinks those California peanuts beat anything else in the world and he doesn't want me to contaminate his peanuts with peanuts grown down south or anywhere else. He wants to keep the strain pure—all California peanuts with no miniature from down south or anywhere else. Will you tell me how I can plant all three kinds of peanuts and keep everybody thinking that I think their peanuts are the best seed and grow the nicest peanuts?" asked Mr. Rambo.

That's the $64 question that has been raised since California Boosters, Harry Lush and Mrs.

Lush with raised eyebrows walked all around the Rambo peanut farm the other day and asked some rather pertinent questions about the quality and kind of peanut seed he had received from some southern states where they think they grow as good crops as those raised in California.

John is a senior in the College of Literature, Science and the Arts. Ronald is a sophomore in the same department.

Both graduated from the local high school with honors, and received University of Michigan scholarships. Ronald was a member of the championship debate team that went to the state finals in 1950.

Western Wayne Conservationists Make Dr. Champe First Life Member

Organization Honors First President When It Burns Mortgage

To Dr. Brick E. Champe goes the honor and distinction of being the first Plymouth citizen to receive a life membership in the Western Wayne County Conservation Association. This tribute to Dr. Champe comes as a reward for 14 years of active service in the organization of which he served as its first president and for ten years thereafter.

The presentation was made at the annual spring fish dinner of the organization which took place last Wednesday evening in the organization's club house located on Joy road near Wayne road. Nearly 300 members of the Association were present to witness the presentation made by President Gar Evans a few minutes after the mortgage on the 43 acre property and club house now owned by the Association was burned.

Participating in the mortgage burning were former president Dr. Champe and John Riser of Wayne, President Evans and Jack Taylor, who served for many years as treasurer of the Association.

In a brief 15 minute speech, former President Champe told of the organization of the club, of its struggles, successes and its hopes for the future.

Dr. Champe said that an informal dinner held by a group of sportsmen at the Mayflower hotel back in 1938 in observance of a national wild life restoration week program then advocated by high Washington officials, the suggestion was made that a permanent organization of sportsmen and others interested in conservation problems be organized in Plymouth. Jack Van Covering, who had just been elected president of the Outdoor Writers Association of America, then a resident of Rosedale Gardens, was a speaker. He favored the idea and stated that he believed much good would come from the formation of such an organization.

The committee in charge of the 1938 banquet decided to call an organization meeting and it was at this session held a few days after the banquet that the Western Wayne County Conservation Association was formed with Dr. Champe as its first president.

Holding meetings at the Mayflower, in the Legion hall at Newburg, in Northville and elsewhere, the members decided after a half dozen years or so that the objects of the Association could doubtless be better served if the organization had a meeting place of its own, where various outdoor activities could take place.

It was then that the club had Frank Rambo locate a site for a clubhouse, with the resultant purchase of 43 acres of ground on Joy road. The Association soon after purchased from the Ford Motor Company one of the buildings at Willow Run which had been used for engineering offices. A site on the 44 acre property that had been used as a public dump, was filled and to this location was moved the engineering building which is now the clubhouse.

With the property now paid for in full, the club members, stated President Evans, hopes to make many improvements in the clubhouse as well as additional improvements about the grounds.

Funds for this purpose will be raised by the sale of additional stock to 200 or more of the newer members who have never become stockholders.

A half dozen or so of the original members were present at last Wednesday evening's notable affair.

Richard Huebler, Past Master Councilor of Plymouth, State Scribe, also Chairman of the State Athletic Committee, accompanied "Dad" Harold Koch, State Deputy, on invitation to the upper peninsula chapters! Also in the party were Keith Spence, State Master Councilor, Detroit and William Vogle State Junior Deacon, Dearborn.

The group left Easter Sunday visiting Iron Mountain, Monday night; Ironwood, Tuesday night; Escanaba, Wednesday night; Sault Ste. Marie, Thursday night; and Marquette, Friday and Saturday for the District Conference.

Richard acted as "Dad" Koch's adjunct at each visit except Saturday night which was open to the public, at this ceremony Richard was Senior Commander for the Chevalier Degree, and Marshall for the Installation and Memorial Services.

The entire trip was sponsored by the Grand Lodge of Michigan F.&A.M.

Peter Leemon, Jr. Past Master Councilor of Plymouth Chapter and Jr. Councilor of District No. 7, filled his station at the District Degree night on Saturday, April 19 at Wyandotte. Others attending this meeting were Roy Leemon, William Moore, Al Williams, Jim Burris, Thomas Guthrie, Dale Blackmore, District Representative and District treasurer, Candidates Tom Sawyer, Brian Kidston.

The inspection of Plymouth Chapter will be held on May 21 at Plymouth Masonic Temple, we would appreciate the attendance of Master Masons.

There may be no skeletons in the administration's closet, but the Republicans are finding bones of contention.

Plan Community Building Soon

Plymouth residents will be interested in knowing that Northville has taken two preparatory steps towards submitting a proposal to the voters for a Northville Community building. A request for permission to start the building and for allocations of steel and other vital supplies, had to be filed with the National Production Authority. The application is filed by Walter C. Couse & Company.

A special meeting of the Northville School Board will be held tonight to discuss with members of the village commission some financial arrangement whereby the local school system will be entitled to the use of the gymnasium, auditorium and the cafeteria facilities in the Community building.

It is believed that by constructing such a building which will house the auditorium, gymnasium, cafeteria and a power house, to provide heat for the building much of the space in the high school now used for such rooms, can be converted into classrooms.

It has been suggested that perhaps the new building may house the village jail in the basement.

Tennis Boys Beat River Rouge 4-2

Coach John McFall's tennis team got off to a good start last week with a 4 to 2 triumph over River Rouge. The boys displayed good form for an early season match.

Dale Behler, playing number 1 singles won his match; Chris Krueger, the number two man, had his called by darkness after each had won one set; Gordon Champion, playing number 3 won; and Brian Kidston, the number 4 singles player lost his match.

In doubles, the number 1 team of John Wahn and Ronald Krump, lost a hard-fought three set match 6-2, 3-6, 2-6; the number 2 team composed of Bob Nulty and Kurt Hoenecke won their match, as did the number three team with Whipple and Root as partners.

Last Monday, the team played Ypsilanti Roosevelt at Ypsilanti, while today they play Belleville away.

Golfers Bow to Ann Arbor 370-346

Plymouth High's linkmen gave last year's class A state champions from Ann Arbor a real scare before bowing on the last nine 370 to 346.

At the end of the first nine, the Rocks were only 4 strokes behind, but couldn't maintain that pace on the back nine.

Ralph Walsh led the local lads when he shot an 82. Fred Benson had a 91, Tyler Caplin 96, and Larry Jolliffe 101.

Chuck Blackett, of Ann Arbor, was the medalist with a 76.

Tomorrow Coach John Sandmann's squad match strokes with Northville at the Plymouth County club.

Thinclads Down Bentley 74-35

The high school track team won their first duel meet of the season last Thursday when they more than doubled the score on Bentley High school and won 74 to 35. The Rock thinclads scored in each of the 13 events and slammed the pole vault and mile run. The locals won 10 events with Bentley winning three.

None of the winners had more than a fair mark, with the exception of the 220 yard dash and the mile run. Jerry Kelly did a creditable 24.2 second 220, while reliable John Balogh ran a steady pace to win the mile in 4:50.

Kelly was high point man of the meet with 11½ points, closely followed by Arlen Ottensman with 11 points. The remainder of the points were evenly distributed among several boys.

Results, times and Plymouth places:

100 yard dash—11 seconds—Kelly 1st, Wagenschutz 3rd; 220 yard dash—Kelly 1st, Bush 3rd, 24.2; 440 yard dash—Dudley 2nd, Pagenkopf 3rd; 120 H. Hurdles, Ottensman 3rd; 180 yard L. Hurdles—23 seconds—Wagenschutz 1st; Medley relay, Plymouth, 2:38.4; 880 yard run—2:20.1—Becker 1st, Corwin 3rd; Mile run—3:50—Balogh 1st, Blanton 2nd, Mills 3rd; Broad Jump—Bush 2nd, Wagenschutz 3rd; High Jump—5 feet 3 inches—Ottensman, 1st, Kelly 3rd; Pole Vault—9 feet 6 inches—Ottensman 1st, Grosjean 2nd, Rose 3rd; Shot Put—39 feet 8¼ inches—Nylus 1st, Vettese 2nd; 880 yard relay—Plymouth 1st—1:40.8.

The Rocks met Belleville last Tuesday, and will meet Trenton tomorrow over at Trenton. This last meet may be transferred to the Plymouth field and may be held today instead of tomorrow.

Free Press Fish Contest Begins

For the 21st consecutive year, the Detroit Free Press biggest fish caught in Michigan contest is underway. At the end of the contest, there will be plaques and certificates for the winners and pictures in the paper.

Michigan game and panfish, from trout to bluegills, will be eligible, if caught between April 12 and September 14. All entries must be caught in public Michigan waters, on hook and line.

There are 16 different classes of competition, with first, second and third prizes in each class. All classes but bass will open on April 26. Bass will not be legal to catch until June 21.

Bait fishermen and anglers who use artificial lures can compete on an equal basis in the trout and bass divisions. Separate classes are included for fish caught by either method.

First-place winners in each class will be awarded engraved trophies. Second and third-place winners will be awarded certificates ready for framing.

Along with a photograph of your fish, the following information should accompany every entry: Kind of fish, date caught, weight in round, length, weight dressed, girth, lake or stream where caught, county, fishing license number, rod, reel and line used; kind of fly, plugs, bait or other lure used.

The names and addresses of two persons who witnessed the fish and verified the measurements must also be furnished.

There is no limit to the number of entries any angler may make, and no charge. Entry blanks are free. Write: Fishing Contest, Free Press, Detroit 21, Michigan.

Two Good Games. Open Grade Tilts

The grade school softball league opened Monday, and the two opening games found Smith defeating the Catholic school 6 to 3, and Starkweather downing Bird 5 to 2. Both games were well-played considering that they were the first games.

In the first game Smith sewed up the game with a three-run outburst in the third inning on two hits. The winners made a total of 7 hits, while the losers made 6 hits.

In the second game, Starkweather scored three runs in the initial inning on no hits—three walks by the Bird pitcher, Walker, hurt a lot. Jones pitched a steady game for Starkweather allowing only 3 hits. Walker also allowed only three hits, but was wild in that first inning.

Plymouth Nine Loses to Bentley

A fairly good Bentley baseball nine defeated a weak-hitting Plymouth team 5 to 2, to open the 6-B league season.

The Rocks collected only 2 hits during the afternoon, while Bentley powdered the local hurlers for 10 safeties.

Bill Runge, the loser, gave up 9 of the hits good for 5 runs, struck out four and issued one base on balls in the 6 innings that he worked. Rex Woolley gave up one hit and no runs in the inning that he was on the mound.

Phil Straub and Donald McKinley each had one hit.

Trenton comes here tomorrow for a game on the diamond in back of the high school.

Carolyn Keen Wed on Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Jendrycka are honeymooning in the south following their impressive wedding at Our Lady of Good Counsel church at 12 o'clock noon Saturday, April 26. Mrs. Jendrycka is the former Carolyn Ann Keen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Keen of South Main street.

Large baskets of white flowers flanked the altar. Mrs. Alvin Moss, cousin of the bride accompanied by Mrs. Felix Cyk at the organ sang "Heart of Jesus Hear" preceding the ceremony and as the young couple left the altar she sang "On This Day O Beautiful Mother". The Reverend Father Mooney officiated at the rites.

Carolyn approached the altar on the arm of her father. She wore a white wool suit with white accessories and a white hat of nylon net with a lace crown. She carried a spray bouquet of white carnations, centered with a purple orchid.

Mrs. John Rowland of Wayne was Carolyn's matron of honor. Her suit was of grey and she wore a shell pink hat and navy blue accessories. Her arm bouquet was of pink rosebuds.

Richard Kull of Monroe was Chester's best man and seating the guests were John Rowland of Wayne and Alvin Moss of Plymouth.

Mrs. Keen wore, for her daughter's wedding, a navy blue sheer dress with black and white hat and accessories. Her corsage was of yellow roses.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception for over 125 guests was held in the Veteran's Memorial Center. Mrs. Henry Holcomb presided at the beautiful three tiered wedding cake.

For traveling Mrs. Jendrycka wore a grey suit with pink accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet. Upon their return from the south they will be at home at 455 North Mill street.

Mrs. Jendrycka is a graduate of Plymouth High school and is with Blunk's while Chester has been an employee of the Plymouth Mail for the past few years.

Edson A. Whipple, son of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Whipple of Pennington avenue was appointed Sports Editor of the Michigan Daily last Saturday by the University Publications board. Edson has served two years with the Michigan Daily.

King - Burkholder Rites Solemnized

Dearborn Gospel Tabernacle was the scene of the wedding on Saturday, April 12 uniting Georgia Burkholder of Livonia and Fred D. King of Auburndale, Florida.

The Reverend Parvin C. Lee officiated at the 7:30 o'clock ceremony before the altar decorated with Easter lilies. Richard Johnson of Detroit sang "With This Ring" and "The Lord's Prayer" preceding the ceremony.

Georgia, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Burkholder, was given in marriage by her father. She wore a lovely gown of lace and net in colonial design. The lace overskirt was caught in a scalloped effect with seed pearls in a floral motif. Her headband featured lily of the valley from which fell her lace trimmed fingertip length veil of illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of white camellias and ivy.

Mrs. Chester Cavetz, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and was gowned in lavender net and lace over taffeta also in colonial design. She wore a picture hat to match and carried a cascade of yellow daffodils and ivy. The bridesmaids were dressed identical to that of the matron of honor. Miss Ann Cavetz of Dearborn was in green and Miss Joan Karner of Springfield, Missouri and Farmington was in shrimp color. Miss Sylvia Broddus of Lincoln Park wore yellow and all three carried cascades of blue iris and ivy. Gwen Elynn Covetz, niece of the bride, was the flower girl. She wore a white lace and net over lavender gown like that of the other attendants and a matching picture hat. Bobby Sexton of Dearborn was the ring bearer.

Chester Covetz, brother-in-law of the bride served as best man. Seating the guests were Danny Cross and Dale Telf of Lincoln Park and Gene Whitefield of Detroit. The bride's mother chose a navy blue crepe dress with red accessories and Mrs. Broddus, a family friend of the bridegroom, wore a light blue suit with yellow accessories. Both wore carnation corsages matching their accessories.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Newburg Methodist Hall for 200. Out of town guests attended from Toronto, Stayner, Elmdale and Ferguson, Ontario; Capac, Michigan; Kenton, Ohio and San Antonio, Texas.

The young couple left via Eastern Airlines on Monday for a honeymoon in Auburndale, Florida. For traveling the bride chose a grey and rose checked suit with natural straw colored accessories. On their return they will reside in Lincoln Park.

Coffee Charlotte Wonderful Taste Tempting Dessert

Spring's the time for flowers, no doubt about it. In keeping with this lightsome thought, here's a delicate new dessert that is not only as pretty as a flower, but looks like one. In addition, it's delightful to eat, which is more than you can say for a daffodil.

Coffee Charlotte is a combination of lady fingers and smooth, creamy coffee-flavored custard. Arrange the lady fingers like petals in your prettiest sherbet glasses, fill with the custard mixture and top off the whole with a center of whipped cream and a cherry. There you have it, a lovely-to-look-at creation that tastes even prettier than it looks.

This dessert is light enough in both texture and substance to make it the perfect ending for a substantial meal and, best of all, it can be prepared many hours before serving and whisked out of the refrigerator in time for last-minute garnishing.

Coffee Charlotte

- 2 egg yolks
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 cup ground coffee
- 1 1/2 cups milk
- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- 1/2 cup cold water
- 2 egg whites
- 1 cup heavy cream

- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 1 tea-spoon vanilla
- Lady fingers and maraschino cherries

Beat egg yolks. Add 2 tablespoons sugar gradually, beating constantly; add salt.

Add coffee to milk, bring slowly to scalding point, and strain through cheesecloth.

Add to egg yolk mixture and cook over boiling water, stirring constantly, until mixture coats spoon.

Sprinkle gelatin on cold water and dissolve in hot custard. Cool slightly.

Beat egg whites stiff and fold in. Cool. Whip cream, add remaining sugar and vanilla and fold in.

Line sherbet glasses with lady fingers. Fill with custard mixture; chill until firm. Garnish with whipped cream and maraschino cherries. Makes 6 servings.

Some other tasty tempting desserts are prune whip, easy crust fruit pie and raspberry turnovers.

Prune Whip

- 1 1/2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 3/4 cup water
- 1 3/4 cup nonfat dry milk powder
- 1 1/2 cups chopped cooked prunes
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 1/8 teaspoon salt

Put lemon juice and water into a bowl, add the milk powder and beat the mixture until it's very stiff.

Stir in the prunes, sugar, and salt, and continue beating until the mixture's well blended. Makes six servings.

Easy Crust Fruit Pie

- 1/2 cup sifted enriched flour
- 1 1/2 cups rolled oats (quick or old fashioned, uncooked)
- 2 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 cup melted butter, margarine or other fat
- 2 1/2 cups sweetened fruit

(slice of peaches, apples or apricots, fresh or cooked)

1. Combine dry ingredients; add melted fat, mixing thoroughly.

2. Pack all but 1 cup of this mixture firmly in the bottom and on sides of a pie plate.

3. Arrange sliced fruit on top; cover with the remaining crumb mixture.

4. Bake in a moderate oven (375 F.) 30 minutes or until brown. Serve warm or cold, plain or with cream.

Raspberry Turnovers

- 1 cup sifted enriched flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 1 cup rolled oats, uncooked
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 3 tablespoons water
- 1/4 teaspoon almond extract (optional)

Filling: About 1/4 cup raspberry jam.

1. Sift together flour and salt.

2. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs.

3. Mix in rolled oats and sugar.

4. Add water and almond extract, mixing lightly.

5. Knead dough 4 or 5 strokes until it just holds together. Roll out to 1/8 inch thickness. Cut in 4-inch rounds.

6. Place 1 teaspoon jam on each circle; fold over and seal edges by pressing with tines of a fork. Prick to allow escape of steam. Place on ungreased baking sheet.

7. Bake in a moderately hot oven (400 F.) 12 to 15 minutes until edges are delicately browned. Makes 12 turnovers.

Water is one of the important items in the poultry ration. Laying hens in top production need 10 to 12 gallons of water per day for every 100 birds.

Families Show Need For Home Business Center

Many families interviewed in a recent national woman's housing survey said they wanted some sort of business center in their homes—a place to do "paper work" and to store records and other data systematically and conveniently. The loss of a single valuable paper such as a will or deed can have serious consequences. But the frequent small delays and inconveniences in households not organized for business add up to much time, effort and worry.

The remedy is simple. Essentials for a business center are:

1. An ample, comfortable writing counter and 2. a chair with back support; 3. A convenient place for current records and supplies within fingertip reach; 4. another place nearby for back records; 5. good light, and 6. such accessories as waste basket and pencil sharpener. Ideally, have it you need—but only what you need—where you need it.

Most families want a desk for writing with shelves and drawers for storage. Most want it in the living room, though some homemakers find the kitchen a more convenient location and some like the privacy of a bedroom. A large farm enterprise may need a separate office room with standard office equipment.

If you don't already have a desk, a convenient costless one can be made by up-ending orange crates to hold file boxes and then placing a smooth plywood panel on top for the writing surface. Or a compact center can be built with drop-leaf writing counters and shelves above and below.

Here are some headings suggested for current files; account books, addresses, automobile records, bank deposit slips, bank statements, bills paid (receipts); bills to be paid, canceled checks—current year equipment guarantee, equipment instructions; food records, health records; income tax returns; insurance papers; tax forms; and lists of valuable papers in safety deposit boxes. Some families have separate files for farm business, home business, and personal business. These may be primer pointers to wives with secretarial training, but a nationwide survey shows that many households would run more easily by taking advantage of these simple suggestions.

SWEETS FOR KOREA

Cakes you bake yourself will taste wonderful to the fellows in Korea. Here are some practical suggestions for baking and mailing cakes overseas.

Special Cake Can

Yes, instead of a pan use a can! Cakes may be baked in three pound shortening cans. The can protects the cake from being crushed or broken in the package. This is important. Packages get some rough handling during the long trip.

Let the baked cake cool ten to fifteen minutes, then close the lid and seal it well with cellophane tape. As the cake continues to cool it automatically forms a vacuum which helps to keep the cake fresh and moist.

Yellow Quick Mix Cake

- Sift together into bowl:
- 2 1/4 cups sifted cake flour
- 1 1/4 cups sugar
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt

Add:

- 1/2 cup shortening
- 1/2 cup milk

Beat with electric beater on medium speed two minutes or 300 strokes by hand.

Add:

- 1/2 cup milk
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 whole eggs

Beat two minutes on medium speed or 300 strokes by hand. Half fill a three pound shortening can, which has been greased and floured.

Bake in a moderate oven (375 F.) 50 to 60 minutes or until a cake tester comes out clean.

Fudge Too

A batch of your own creamy fudge may be poured into a waxed paper lined one pound shortening or coffee can. Press the lid on and seal with tape before packing it into the box for mailing.

Be sure the box is a sturdy one and that heavy wrapping paper and strong cord is used to finish the job.

Faithfully

Try Individual Liver Loaves with Bacon For Unusual Dinner

Nutritionists advise serving your family liver at least once a week. And here's an interesting serving variation—Individual Liver Loaves. Using muffin cups for molding the meat mixture, roasting time will be greatly cut.

Eggs Provide Ample Protein

It's the protein foods in family meals that often pinch the purse. But this spring eggs are coming to the rescue—in a big way. The USDA estimates that hens are laying at such a rate that there are enough eggs for everyone to have two a day. Two large eggs per person provide enough protein for the main dish of a meal. This spring when you choose eggs you have abundance, quality, size and price in your favor.

For a two-egg plate to take advantage of this abundance, here are some suggestions:

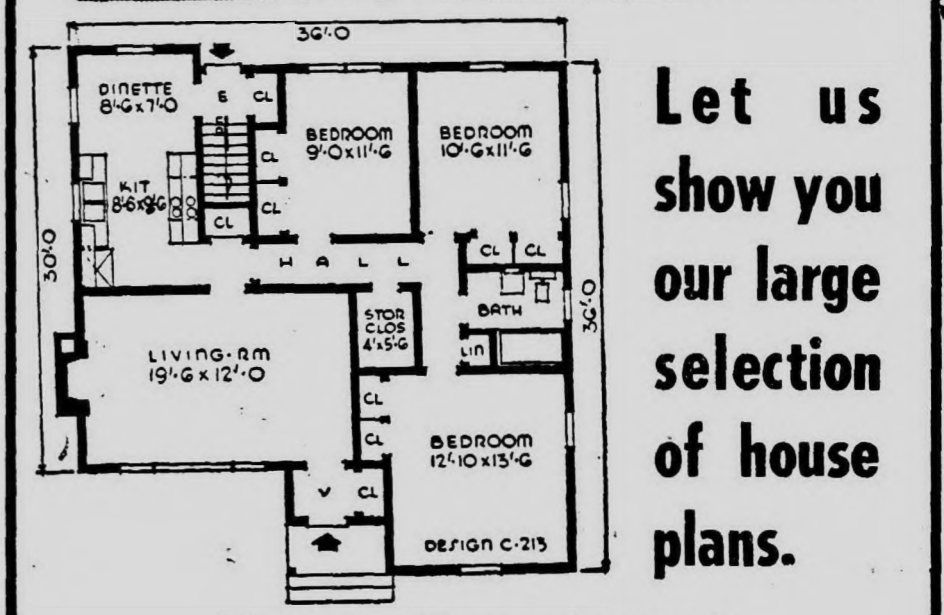

1. Two poached eggs served on hot Creole or Spanish rice—that is, rice cooked with tomato, onion, green pepper and seasonings to your taste.
2. Creamed eggs—halves of hard-cooked eggs in white sauce.
3. Two eggs baked in cheese sauce in individual casseroles.
4. Eggs benedict—two poached eggs on thinly sliced ham on toast or English muffins with Hollandaise sauce topping.
5. Hot deviled or stuffed eggs surrounded by hot tomato sauce, Spanish sauce or cheese sauce.
6. Sliced hard-cooked eggs, served on macaroni and covered with cheese sauce over which is sprinkled crumbs mixed with melted fat and browned in a moderate oven for about 20 minutes until top is brown.

Sauce For Asparagus

When you serve creamed asparagus, stir in an egg yolk to enrich the white sauce. Bits of pimiento cheese also add extra flavor and color.

Famous Mothers Banquet Theme

"Famous Mothers" was the theme for the mother and daughter banquet held Wednesday, April 30 at 6:30 p.m. in the dining room of the Presbyterian church.

The committee chosen this title to commemorate some of the famous mothers such as Sarah Lincoln, Susanna Wesley, Madame Curie and Old Mother in a Shoe.

On the list for entertainment was a pantomime with Margie Alford portraying Mrs. Lincoln, Pat Lidgard as Mrs. Curie, Nancy West as Old Mother in a Shoe, and Susan Simmons as Mrs. Wesley.

Judy Lockhart supervised the program covers. The design of the cover was hand painted flowers colored in white, light green, and yellow. The tables were decorated to match with the covers.

Dr. Katharine B. Greene, author, traveler, and lecturer at the University of Michigan will be guest speaker for the evening.

Plymouth was well represented in a double page spread in last Sunday's issue of the Detroit Free Press, in which photographs, news stories and advertising portrayed the desirability of the section from Grand River avenue to the village of Plymouth.

Josephine Schmidt representing Plymouth High School, and Carpenter Hewitt representing Birmingham High school, won first and second places in the district extemporaneous contest at Wyandotte last Friday afternoon. Josephine Schmidt took for her subject, "Our Policy in Nicaragua," while Mr. Hewitt won with a talk on "New York State's New Criminal Laws."

"Always In Trouble", a three-act comedy, was given by Plymouth Grange dramatic club, at Newburg last Friday evening, before a full house. The show is full of laughs, interspersed with specialties, well acted by a strong cast, and judging from the applause was heartily enjoyed by all.

The pupils of the music department of the Plymouth High school will give a musicale at the High school auditorium, this Friday evening. The program will be given under the direction of Miss Ruth Forsythe, supervisor of the music department, and Mr. Dykehouse, director of the school band.

Last Monday morning ground was broken for Plymouth's new community hotel, The Mayflower. The board of directors, Eugene Wilhelm of the firm of Vernor, Wilhelm & Molby, architects for the new building, and Mr. Stibbard, of the Stibbard Construction Company, general contractors for the building, and a number of other citizens were present, and although no formal ceremonies had been planned, the event was marked in a most befitting manner.

The third mother and daughter banquet will be given in the High school auditorium on May 11. It is being sponsored by the Junior and Senior Girl Reserves and the three groups of Camp Fire Girls, who will be in charge of the ticket sale. The dinner is to be served by the Baptist Ladies' Aid Society, and the tickets are 75c. Mrs. Ray of the personnel department of Highland Park High school, has been secured for the principal speaker.

Miss Dorothy Hillman entertained five friends at a seven o'clock dinner, Friday evening, after which she and her guests attended the J-Hop.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Delor, of Phoenix Park, were pleasantly entertained Saturday evening when 50 of their friends from Detroit and Warren, Michigan, surprised them on their anniversary. The evening was spent in cards games and dancing, after which refreshments were served.

Home Talent Plays in The Old Days Provide Plenty of Amusement And Excitement as Well

Final Chapter of Intensely Interesting Story of Early Plymouth and the Good Citizens Who Made Possible This Beautiful, Progressive City

Amity Hall—where all amusement activities of early Plymouth took place. It stood on site now partly occupied by Plymouth United Savings Bank and Dodge Drug store.

In the winter of 1875 Charley Miller selected a drama by the name of Esmerelda for the first play of the season. In that stirring drama yours truly had his first taste of the exciting stage life.

There were usually two performances of any drama or minstrel show given in those days. The first performance on Thursday night and the second one the following night, but the first night always saw the hall crowded. The reason being that if anything went awry or any unusual or funny thing happened to either the props or actors it always happened on the first night. The second night any mistakes having been corrected, the show would go smoothly. But smoothness of a second night's performance in Plymouth was not to be compared with chances of something that might well be a bit of fun or a good joke on one of the home spun actors on the first night.

Now Esmerelda was not considered a comedy, but the audience who witnessed it on its first night found it one of the funniest ever to be given in our town. Let me record my memory of that first night scene by scene.

SCENE I

The heroine and also a bride of that evening was Miss Kate Penniman, later in life to become Kate Allen. In this play she was playing the bride of Chauncey Baker who was the hero of the play. Uncle Chauncey at that period owned and worked a farm on the corner of Beck Road and Territorial. The scene was laid in a room supposedly adjoining a swell cafe or restaurant and the bridal party was seated in this room as the curtain went up. Awaiting the entrance of the groom, who upon his entrance, was to walk over to his bride who was sitting upon a sofa, and dropping down on the divan beside her he was to sing a short love song. The first ripple of laughter could be heard as the groom came upon the stage. For while most Plymouthites had often seen Miss Allen dressed in white frocks with all the accompanying accessories, this was the first time anyone had ever seen farmer Chauncey Baker in a swallow tail coat with white tie and white gloves, with particular emphasis on the gloves as no white kid gloves could be found in all Michigan that would fit his hands. He had pulled on a pair of white cotton gloves and at first glance he appeared to be holding a white rock chicken in each hand. As he seated himself beside his bride, he started his love song which ran like this, "Sweet little Buttercup, dear little Buttercup," etc. The Baker version, in a gentle love laden voice that could be heard down on the street, he commenced like this, "Sweet little guttercup, dear little guttercup—" He got no farther as at this point his bride fell off the sofa in a fit of laughter and the curtain was rung down on scene number one with an audience laughing as heartily as Kate.

SCENE II

In this scene the devil and his associates were to take over. The devil's name in this play was Gambrinous and the producer, Sir Charles Miller, had cast himself for the chief devil. As the script called for five or six little devils, the number one little devil was to have a speaking part. At the time Mr. Miller had asked my father if I might be spared to play the part. Dad not only said yes, but he congratulated Mr. Miller on his superior ability in the picking of a number one little devil.

After Charley had chosen five more little devils, the seven of us were ready to commence rehearsals for the second scene, we all had horns and feet that all devils are supposed to wear.

As the curtain ascends on this scene, it shows the big devil Gambrinous giving his six little devils orders to carry out some of his devilish and horrible schemes, but at the very second that his batch of devils turned to do this bidding, two beautiful fairies appeared—one on each side of the stage—and at the waving of their magic wands all devils had to quit work and vanish suddenly.

To accomplish this vanishing act a large trap door was opened just about in the center of the stage, and with Gambrinous first and the six little devils at his heels, we plunged into that open but quite carefully concealed pit in the stage while the door was quickly and skillfully closed after our entrance. With an old feather mattress at the bottom of that hole under the stage and also due to the fact that all little devils are young and supple, all rehearsals came off without an accident or hitch of any kind.

Then came that fateful first night. Charley had witnessed the debacle and ringing down of the curtain on the first act and he warned his devilish crew—in no uncertain language—that he wanted nothing of the sort to happen in the second act.

Little did Charley realize that he would be the first to break his own commands. It happened because of something that was to be added to scene two on the opening night that had not been used or tried out on any night of rehearsal.

At the time, I am trying to memorize, we had in town a watch repairer by the name of John Steele. Mr. Steele was not only an excellent watch tinker but he claimed to be just as clever as a chemist. Having found out what went on (and in) in the second act of our drama that winter, he convinced Mr. Miller that to have a perfect hell in which to jump at the waving of the fairies wands, there should be flames, fire and brimstone arising from hell when He and his crew jumped. Mr. Steele further stated that his knowledge of chemistry enabled him to make two kinds of powder which when ignited would produce an exact resemblance to red and blue flames that would make the audience sit up and take notice—on this latter point Mr. Steele was correct.

So on opening night Mr. Steele with his hellish powder was sitting under the stage with a can of red powder at his left and a box of matches in his right hand waiting impatiently for the devils dive. At last the moment came. The fairies waved their wands as per the script of the drama. Every devil gave out a wail of anguish and went head first into hell and we little devils who had not been advised of Mr. Steele's powders, really thought for a couple of minutes that we had reached the real place. Mr. Steele's powders were very short of either red or blue flames, but oh brother!—they were certainly long on brimstone. When the trap door fell and the fumes of that powder were confined under that stage, well no such coughing was ever heard in this town or anywhere else. Charley "Gambrinous" Miller was first to raise that trap door and he raised it so fast and so hard he tore the hinges off. If seven devils ever came out of Hell faster than we did that night I would not believe it. I am told that pandemonium let loose in that audience at our sudden and unexpected escape from Hell, but I was too busy coughing to pay attention to anything else.

The curtain was suddenly dropped on the second scene and flop number two of the evening had made history.

John Steele was pulled out unconscious from the terrible fumes of his own making and it took smelling salts—and plenty—along with much water in the face before he could be escorted to his home.

Then came Scene III, which was to raise every hair in the audience on end by showing the horrible death of the recently married bridegroom and hero by his sworn enemy, the villain of the play. This villain's part was played by James Westfall better known to his friends as Jim. At this time he owned and lived on the farm which was later purchased by Allan Horton who built thereon a beautiful brick home. After the death of Mr. Horton this property, located on Territorial Road, was sold by Mrs. Horton to Russell H. Walker its present owner.

Jim Westfall was a tall and powerful man and the script of the drama was to the effect that Jim had wooed the heroine previous to her marriage with our hero (Baker). This marriage so enraged the villain that he decided to kill the hero at the first opportunity. The manner of the killing was to be novel but sure. All the powerful-villain had to do was to tie his victim to the railroad track and the express train, which was soon to pass, would do the rest and as the villain said to the audience—"these accidents do happen!"

This idea looked good on paper but how was director Miller going to persuade an express train to run across the stage of Amity Hall. Up to this time the train of a lady's dress had been the only train to cross the stage. Mr. Miller was equal to the adage used since drama was born—"The show must go on." He induced Charley Roe and his brother Willard Roe to build a good sized engine and a couple of passenger cars of wood. When this express train was painted it looked much like the real thing. A groove was laid across the stage in which this train could be pushed by three husky young property men. It did not require too great a stretch of the imagination to see an express train rapidly crossing Amity's stage.

The artistry and know how of the gentlemen who made and installed this train was recognized by the actors and stage hands on each night of rehearsal. There were many of them when all worked out smoothly as the cars were made to telescope or slide by each other so as to leave no passenger car showing to the audience after the train had crossed the stage. As to calling it an express train, director Miller claimed this a truthful statement to place upon our programs as this train was built expressly for our show.

Now let us return to that first night's performance and the fast express. The villain had done his dirty work and his victim was tied to the track. In the distance could be heard the whistle of the oncoming train. Another minute and there came the sound of a real (borrowed) engine bell. Then came the mad rush of the wife (Kate) to save the life of her beloved husband. Previous to this first night's performance which meant some twenty rehearsals, this scene had been tops as the three young men who, unseen by the audience as they were back of the express train, had been able by practice to rush the train just fast enough to allow the hero to be pulled from the track just a split second before the engine hit him. This night his bonds were loosened and he was pulled from the tracks long before the engine reached him; in fact, it didn't reach him until the next night.

It transpired that the reason for the wreck that night was due entirely to letting all the devils escape from Hell so fast in scene two. For when the hinges were torn off the door of Hell's only exit, one of them had lodged securely and firmly in the groove in which the train had to be pushed in order to reach the hero tied to the tracks. Its bell ringing, the express hove in sight; excitement ran high in that audience, but it was nothing as compared to the running of the three young fellows who were pushing that express train across the stage. They were really moving. Then suddenly the engine hit that unmovable hinge stuck in the groove or as it appeared to the audience—railroad track.

No other audience ever witnessed the scene that followed nor ever will again. I believe even my readers will admit that it would be quite an unusual sight to see an express train traveling at high speed, stop so suddenly that it rocked back some four feet on its own tracks and then without warning fall over and upon the three engineers who were running it. Well, that is just what happened in Amity Hall that eventful night and with our engineers showing all six legs while trying to extricate themselves from the wreck while the hero and his bride indulged in a first class laughing duet with the audience applauding them hysterically. So, drop curtain number three was rung down upon the finish of scene three.

Now to tell you what happened that night in scene four and the last of Esmerelda and my tale will be ended. In this fourth and last scene we have an actor who up to this point has had very few sentences to speak and none of them prominent, but he sure showed up prominently in scene four.

This chap was Wm. Bassett—Bill to his many friends. Bill was head clerk for Bassett and Orr at that time occupying the store now known as Dodges Drug Store. As stated before in this hodge podge, Bassett and Orr were the owners of our town's first furniture store. They also carried a full line of coffins—now pronounced caskets. Having never seen caskets before the coming of the B and O store, I often wondered, as a boy will, if any Plymouthite had ever died before their store came up our village. Bill Bassett, a stalwart young man of 25 or six years of age, played the part of an English Squire in Esmerelda. He was also the bosom friend and lifetime pal of our hero Chauncey Baker. Bill had discovered how the villain hated his pal, the hero, and during this play Bill had threatened to shoot the villain and to make good this threat, the shooting had to be done in the last part of act four. The author of the play had planned this shooting detail very carefully. Toward the end of scene four a garden party was held on the wealthy hero's estate. Before this party was assembled, Bill came strolling in dressed for the fox hunt. I can see him now, standing there in his riding breeches, wearing a stunning red jacket, spurs were jingling and in his hands his fowling piece, by jove. The fowling piece he carried that night was a beautiful single barrel shot gun which Bill had borrowed from my father a few days previous. Bill told father the use he intended to make of the gun in the fourth coming drama and father said, "Sure you can take it Bill, but I shot it several times while hunting Saturday and it should be cleaned before being used again. I will clean it for you this evening and will take it up to your store tomorrow morning."

This father did. He also added his good deed for the day. Thinking Bill might not know how or that he might forget in his excitement of becoming an actor to load the gun, father loaded the gun by ramming down a good charge of powder and the necessary thick wads of paper to keep the powder in place. What was known as a ram rod was used in loading any gun or rifle in these earlier days as cartridges had not yet appeared upon the market. Father, knowing the purpose for which the gun was to be used in the drama, did not add to the charge of powder the customary charge of shot.

The next morning as promised, the gun was delivered at the Bassett and Orr store but as Bill was not there at the time of delivery, father could not advise him of the loading of the gun and later forgot all about it.

On his return to the store Bill saw the gun and his first thought was a gun had no place in a furniture store so I'll take it right now over to M. Conner's store and have it loaded with a bit more powder than usual so as to awaken any of the audience who might be asleep and then I will take it up to Amity Hall and place it in some out of the way place where I will know where to get it on opening night when I need it. This plan Bill carried out to the full. Because of this, the gun was discovered by Raws Root, the proprietor of the hall, as he made his careful inspection on the day previous to opening night. Upon seeing the gun and knowing for what it was to be used, Raws thought, "well here's a good gun all right but Bill Bassett has no way of loading it and has left it here unloaded and if it only clicked in that last act when Bill pulls the trigger, it would almost ruin the act, so I will act the good Samaritan by taking this weapon down stairs in the store and load it for him." So once more this shot gun was loaded and returned to its hiding place. My readers may think this gun had been loaded too many times already but it was still to have one more load and for your information it is a fact that each of the four people who loaded this gun later acknowledged their participation in this comedy of errors.

On the morning of the first night of the play, chief investigator and investigator of all home entertainment given in Amity Hall, Sir Charles Miller, made his accustomed rounds and did he find what he thought was an unloaded gun? He did. Did Charley put another load of powder, and in order to convince the villain that he really had been shot, place another two extra wads in that gun? He did. Did this quadruple loading come close to causing a sad disaster in Plymouth? It did.

As the hero and his bride were walking out of their garden, Bill, the cherished friend with gun in hand, turned to mount his horse. As he did so he espied the villain with a pistol in his hand half hidden behind a tree but before the villain could draw a bead on Bill, the trusty gun was at Bill's shoulder and the trigger had been pulled. The result of that trigger being pulled was beyond all expectations. In the split second before every light in Amity Hall went out, the audience saw the villain drop in his tracks as if really shot (and he thought he was). Bill, who had dropped his gun because of the terrific kick he received from it as he pulled that trigger and as his position at the time was near the footlights near the edge of the stage, he stepped back just far enough to topple from the stage and down into the orchestra. The last the audience saw of Bill that night, before darkness blurred their vision, was our good friend disappearing head first through the bass drum in the orchestra circle. That audience as well as the actors and helpers behind the scenes were completely stunned. Then came the unusual tinkle of much falling glass as every lamp chimney in the large chandelier and those of the six footlights came toppling to the floor. Those in back of the stage had their share of the excitement too as each and every small pane of glass that had so recently acted as the windows back of the stage fell into the alley. Here was anxiety and a big chance for real tragedy. There was total darkness and no one really knew what had happened.

Then it was that Charley Miller proved himself an actor. Stepping from behind the scenes, he addressed that audience something like this: "Ladies and gentlemen, listen to what I have to say and please keep your seats until I finish talking. We have had a little accident happen but nothing serious and no one is hurt, however, what has happened put out our lights and I guess most of our chimneys are broken—let me take a look."

Then Charley took a match from his pocket and lighting two or three of the stage footlight lamps, which even without their chimneys dispelled the darkness in the hall to some extent, and fears of a fire or panic were at once eased and now continued Charley, "I see we are short of chimneys and no chance of obtaining more until tomorrow, so let's call it a day and go home as it is a bit dark in here. Please go out laughing and slowly."

This good advice was followed and thus what otherwise might have been a serious catastrophe was averted. There is little more to add except that chimneys were in great demand the next day. A new bass drum had to be purchased for the orchestra, a new shot gun was bought for L. H. Bennett as the barrel of his gun had a bulge in its middle that made it look more like a long lamp chimney than a gun barrel. Had the bulge continued to the end of the barrel he might have been able to shoot baseballs instead of bird shot.

The second night of Esmerelda had a packed house. The audience, evidently expecting and perhaps hoping for a repetition of the night before, must have been very sadly disappointed as nothing went awry that second night unless awry might mean a slight limp by Bill Bassett who had the good fortune to fall head first through a bass drum instead of bass viol.

Now in calling finis to these articles, I should like first to thank the editors of the Plymouth Mail for allowing me so much space in their valuable columns and secondly I would like my readers to know that I had no idea of having the articles published at the time of writing them, and all I have written has been in the spirit of good fun and in the sincere hope that somewhere along the way I might have caused some friend a chuckle or perhaps a laugh. I have done this in the belief that the poet who penned the following lines was right.

Laugh and the world laughs with you,
Weep and you weep alone.

For this sad old earth has need for your mirth
But has troubles enough of her own.

So if I, in writing these articles, have used any names or said any word that has caused offense or one moment of sorrow, grief or anger, believe me when I say nothing but a sense (perhaps poor) of humor was in my mind. I think too much of the village in which I am glad I was born and too much of any and all its inhabitants to make sport of any, and if I have unwittingly done so, I hereby offer my sincere apologies.

Sincerely,
Charles H. Bennett

Roger Babson Says---

Babson Discusses His Youth
Babson Park, Mass., May 1. We read much in the newspapers these days about the need of America to undergo a moral rejuvenation. In this column I have tried repeatedly to give suggestions as to how to bring this about. I have suggested religion, ethics, education, thrift and a closer attention to land ownership as some of the remedies. Today, I shall attempt to go further into the "grass roots" of the problem.

Where Do We Belong?
About the turn of the century a great sociologist named Charles Horton Cooley coined a new word: "Socius." This man said that you could look at any man from two points of view: (1) As a member of his social group; or (2) you can look at any man as an individual apart from his group, or as a "rugged individualist."

The "Socius" is what politicians and labor leaders want all men to be. It they can submerge individuality, they will then be able to achieve their goals. This explains why the Russians are working so hard to develop collective farms. The independent farmer thinks too much, as an individual, to fit into the Russian purposes. This also applies to Chinese farmers who OWN their farms, but not to "renters".

Let's Look at History
In the "horse-and-buggy" era of our history the rugged individual rarely, if ever, let his own private convictions be submerged by the group judgment of a committee, board of directors, or political party. He believed that "One with God is a majority." He discussed his ideas with other rugged "grass-root" individuals. Democracy in America came from long hours of "cracker-barrel" discussions in country stores and homes far from city influences. Thinking requires quiet.

Few people can think out problems when their ears and eyes are distracted by radios and televisions. However helpful for quick communication these modern mechanisms may be, the danger always can be that politicians or some selfish group will dish up over them predigested dangerous ideas and propaganda that they want us to believe.

Little Red School Houses
The Little Red School House was a symbol of what was of great value. When it vanished in most communities and was replaced by the Consolidated School, that change marked the turn from an old to a new epoch. What is the significance of this symbol, the Little Red School House?

The farmer boy's daily education began in the early dawn, doing his chores—taking food and water to the animals, handling machinery, planting, growing or harvesting crops. When emergencies arose, he had to be alert to cope with them, which developed ingenuity and reasoning. By such training he also developed honesty, common sense and industry. Farm chores give real education, impossible from books.

The Best Education
After breakfast, this lad was not bundled into a bus to be driven to some Central School, often located many miles away. Instead, as a rule, he walked to his school. That walk did his body good. If he had to buck a blizzard, resistance to the storm gave strength of will.

At school, our farmer lad found himself largely on his own and was compelled to dig out most of the facts under the rule "God helps them that help themselves." At noon he could indulge in "extra-curricular" activities, such as "baseball", "cross tag" or "pull away". During his long walk home, he had opportunity to mull over and retain what he had learned. After supper he did his homework which "educators" now are talking of giving up.

Have a Home Garden
The little Red School House made for just the opposite of what we today call "Red." It was an institution that gave America its best great men, strong and fearless—yes, rugged individuals. The pendulum of civilized life has swung too far away in the opposite soft direction. It needs to swing more the way I have described.

As a step in this direction encourage your boy to plant a vegetable garden this spring. Urge him to care for the garden and market the product. Let him bank any money he may make from the sale of the garden products to you or elsewhere. A garden, next to the Red School House, is a great character builder.

Archers Defying Tonquish Floods

Members of the Western Wayne County Conservation Association will no longer have to chase down Tonquish creek every spring to find and return the wooden bridge that connects the main club grounds with the archery and gun range on "the other side" of the creek.

Years ago when the club was young and poor it built a wooden bridge over the creek. Just as sure as the sun comes up, every spring when there was a flood in the creek, the bridge would be carried down stream some 500 or a thousand feet or more where it unusually landed high among some trees.

Then it became a real job to return the bridge to its original place of abode, but usually enough "man-power" could be assembled to carry it back and place it where it belonged.

But those days will soon be over. Some of the enthusiastic members of the archery club of the Association have brought to the club grounds three discarded frames for those long haul-away auto carriers. They are being set high on concrete abutments. Members feel that now the historic old Tonquish creek will have a job on its hands if it tries to wash these iron bridges down the stream.

Some Jackson Prisoners Now Housed at DeHoCo

Plymouth's nearby prison, the Detroit House of Correction, was called upon by officials of the Michigan Southern prison at Jackson last week to help care for some 30 or 40 prisoners of that institution who could not be temporarily housed because of the Jackson riot.

These prisoners at the time the riot broke out were busy in other sections of the prison cleaning corridors and doing other types of work. After the riot started the Jackson authorities had no place to house these prisoners so they were quickly transferred to Plymouth.

While officials of the big prison near this city will make no comment of any kind about the Jackson riot, it has become known through some of the employees of the institution that the "settlement" made by Michigan's barn-dancing, queen crowning Governor is regarded as a dangerous threat to all prison management.

There has been no outbreak of any kind at the Detroit House of Correction and none is expected, although, like all prison managements throughout the country, the local officials took every precaution to prevent any such demonstration as took place at Jackson.

The DeHoCo has at present more than 1300 prisoners housed at the local institution. It has never adopted any of the fool ideas that have prevailed at Jackson and which apparently led to the shameful riot which will cost the taxpayers of Michigan closer to $3,000,000 or more rather than $2,500,000 as reported.
