"Man of Cloth" Archer Expert Takes to Northlands in Home Made Trailer

Gaffield Photo

AN EIGHTY-FIVE CENT DISHPAN sink is one innovation of Reverend M. I. Johnson's unique sportsman's trailer. He is shown standing over the facility, complete with a through-the-floor drain. The one-man collapsible trailer features swinging candle conduits contributed by a local electrician. It has a linoleum inlay floor supported by angle iron frame that was built up to the complete trailer with the help of parishioners.

By Jack H. Lewis
Methodist Minister M. I. Johnson has proved that "men of the cloth" can be just as temporal as the next man and still maintain their firm religious convictions.

Reverend Johnson, minister of Plymouth's First Methodist church, as part of a crafts hobby, designed and helped build a sportsman's trailer that compromises between lush houses on wheels and complete utility.

The trailer, made up of nearly as many different parts as there are plumbing, lumber, hardware and welding shops in Plymouth, proved its worth on a recent three-week trip the Reverend took to the Northlands.

Armed with an archer's accouterments, the backyard hewed trailer, and a three week vacation, the Methodist minister shed his ministerial garments for a sportsman's garb to sharpen his archer's eye with long hours of practice.

About archery, the deer hunting minister has one word of ex- and considerable control. Besides, the Minister added that it's a real clamation— "wonderful".

It takes a lot of skill, he said sport pitting the accuracy of a bow-strung arrow and woodsman's knowledge against such stealth like and swift animals as deer.

And this is where the home-made trailer will really prove its worth as the deer hunting season for archers draws near.

ARROWS THAT HIT the target — this fall they will be aimed at deer—are the type used by sportsman-Pastor Reverend M. I. Johnson. They were being checked for flaws prior to the minister's northwoods-bound trip strictly for a three-week target practice. Reverend Johnson is sitting inside his sportsman's trailer used for the first time during his vacation from which he returned last week.

Looking at it from a craftsman point of view, the Pastor said it "hoes to the road" as if it were planted there.

Obviously proud of his trailer building venture, he cited statistics and trailer innovations.

Built up from six by eight feet angle iron frame, the canvas top of the trailer collapses, making the house on wheels slightly more than four feet high.

The 1,000 pound mobile unit is filled with innovations that kept its price down to about $450.

Its six-foot walking height is complete with day bed, sink, ice locker, gas stove down to hangers for his six foot, 51-pound pull bow.

Lighting facilities consist of homemade candle conduits that swing on hangers utilized from the kitchen.

The sink is an eighty-five cent dishpan to which has been connected a drain trap.

And the day bed is part of a studio couch under which is a locker for bedding and general storage.

All that is needed to put the sportsman's hideaway into business is an upward shove of the canvas canopy that is secured with eight pins.

During his three-week tour to the Northwoods, the Minister strong-armed his bow from Baldwin to numerous deer haunts in the Upper Peninsula.

Besides eliminating high costs for his sportsman activities this fall, the Minister indicates it will be a convenient base of operations, complete with food, that can be moved conveniently from place to place.

During the test run from which he returned last weekend, the "deadeye" archer practiced what he called in archers' lingo, uphill, downhill and angle lies—a few of the archers' traps that add up to misses.

About recreation and religion, Reverend Johnson was quite outspoken.

"It is very unrealistic for anyone to try to live artificially in a real and intense meaningful world," he declared.

He went on to indicate that there should be a definite balance between a man's work and recreational life.

"The old adage still prevails," he warned "all work and no play

THE SPORTSMAN'S HOUSE on wheels is being battened down by Reverend M. I. Johnson, Pastor First Methodist Church. The home-made trailer, built with materials and time contributed by a number of his parishioners, is complete with daybed, ice locker, sink and numerous innovations that collapse into a neat little package.

makes for a very dull person."

Representing what, perhaps, can be called the modern school of Ministerial men of the cloth, Reverend Johnson surveys his 700 to 800 parishioners as "men, women and children of God", who yet must live in a realistic world where "progress itself is based upon a factual understanding of the world about us."

As evidence of sportsman attitudes of fair play and "give the other guy a chance" many of Reverend Johnson's loyal churchgoers streamed to his backyard to help put his trailer on wheels.

During the late winter and spring seasons they volunteered their time, their craftsmanship and mechanical ability. And businessmen throughout Plymouth gave lumber, canvas, donated welding materials and skill.

Just a few of those Reverend Johnson mentioned who put democracy to work for religion and sports are: Bill Shepperd, H. Penhale, H. Martin, H. Roberts, A. Hubbs and J. Campbell.

Reverend Johnson has been Pastor of the First Methodist church for nearly three years. Prior to that time he was First Methodist Pastor at Roseville where he organized a community recreational program as evidence, he says, "of his faith that recreation is both a moral and character builder."

"Roundup" Day at Smith School Held For Youths

The small fry from Smith school had a Roundup Day last week complete with western games and the S. S. scorers who "twanged" their cowboy tunes before parental audiences as the group traveled from house to house.

A feature of the Smith school cowboy and Indian "whoop-de-do" affair was a campfire that did double duty cooking lunches and roasting marshmallows.

Prizes were given for western costume garbs. Winners of such games played as "three deep," bicycle race, lasso contest and galloping race also received awards.

According to Mrs. Jennie Donnelly, playground director, these featured playground events are being staged at playgrounds throughout the city. They will continue through the windup day of summer playground activities, August 15.

Yet in store for Plymouth's younger set is a Kiddie Carnival and day long trip to Bob-lo Island, to be announced later.

VFW Sends Boys to Summer Camp

William Gyde of Powell road and Jack Hamlin of Ann Arbor road returned Saturday from two weeks at camp sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Mayflower post No. 6695.

The Post furnished transportation, fees, and expense money for the two boys as a part of its program to make better citizens from the youth of today.

William was at Camp Trotter in Newaygo county and Jack attended Camp Norcom, just west of Ann Arbor.

In Central Falls, Rhode Island, a young woman explained why she had turned in a false alarm: she was on a country road, with no prospect of getting a lift home, figured the fire department would give her a ride.

"Vandals" Loot Home of Ailing Plymouth Nurse

Miss Rose Flood, 30, 44254 Shearer, came home from Florida just a week ago to find her two-story dwelling nearly destroyed, her property plundered—a complete $5,500 loss.

Returning here after convalescing from a nervous breakdown Miss Flood assayed the damage reputedly done by vandals who wantonly destroyed fixtures and material throughout the house.

The kitchen sink had been smashed and torn from its moorings. Windows, casements and flooring had been pulled away from their anchoring and carried off.

What was left of the furniture—most of it was stolen—was smashed into bits.

Deputies from the Wayne County sheriff's patrol said the vandalism, carried on since Miss Flood left for Florida last November, was the worst they had ever seen.

They are currently investigating reports drifting back to them that may place the blame for the looting and destruction on what some police authorities call "responsible juveniles."

Paint Markers After Midnight

The yellow street markers Plymouth motorists guide their autos by are being put there not during the regular working day but in the wee hours of the morning—from midnight on.

This latest plan, proposed by Fire Chief R. McAllister, came from the Chief's observations while attending a fire chiefs' convention in Holland. He noted several Holland police officers painting the yellow stripes down the center of the road after midnight hours.

Chief McAllister followed through on this idea. He and two other city employees are now painting the yellow markers on City streets.

Working daily until City traffic becomes heavy, the Chief said the marker painting job will be finished sometime this week.

He guaranteed the yellow lines would be straight—dispite the darkness.

Fall Vegetables Abundant in State

August and September are months of abundant supplies of good Michigan vegetables.

Among those listed for preservation for winter use are green, wax and lima beans, peas, cabbage, carrots, corn, spinach, beets, tomatoes and cucumbers. Those for fresh use include broccoli, Brussels sprouts, lettuce, peppers, cauliflower, celery, eggplant, onions and potatoes.

Generous use of these vegetables while they are in heavy supply will mean good nutrition and lower food costs. Canning and freezing these Michigan-grown vegetables while they are of good quality and reasonable cost will assure lower winter food costs and supply the family with a wide variety of these nutritious foods during the winter months.

Good quality vegetables are firm, fresh in appearance, smooth, well shaped and brightly colored. Those that are wilted or shriveled will probably lack flavor and may be lower in food value than the fresher vegetable.

Can or freeze vegetables as soon as possible after they are harvested. The sooner they are canned or frozen after harvesting the better will be the quality of the preserved vegetable. If vegetables must be stored, keep them fresh and crisp by placing them in transparent bags or the hydrator in the refrigerator.

Plentiful use of fresh vegetables for summer meals will mean less cooking for the homemaker these hot days. Salads, relishes or quickly cooked and seasoned vegetables satisfy summer appetites. Include at least five servings of fruits and vegetables in the daily diet. One serving of vitamin C rich food, at least one serving of a yellow or leafy green vegetable and one serving of potato should be included.

Generous use of these vegetables while they are in heavy supply will mean good nutrition and lower food costs. Pleads Guilty to Driving Charge

A Plymouth man arraigned in Municipal court last week on a charge of "drunk driving" posted a $100 bond and turned his driver's license over to the court, pending outcome of a "thorough investigation" by court and police authorities.

Arrested and charged with the drunk driving offense, July 19, was Wilbur Johnson, 22, 188 North Mill street, who pleaded guilty when arraigned July 21.

He will be sentenced by the court, August 5.

In Cleveland, Mrs. Mazie Henry sued for divorce, charged that her husband claimed to be an ordained minister, but after the honeymoon turned out to be "a numbers player, poker player, heavy drinker and woman chaser."

Michigan's Most Able Republican Candidate For Governor

Courageous Leader

Brilliant Organizer

Distinguished Administrator

Experienced State Servant

FROM A JACKSON EXECUTIVE:

"General Eisenhower calls his campaign a 'crusade'. Here in Michigan we've got our own crusade and we need a fighting leader. Of them all, you stand out as the man who is best qualified to 'turn the rascals out'."

FROM A GRAND RAPIDS YOUNG REPUBLICAN:

"I know both of the other leading candidates well. One has already been beaten in a previous race; and, I fear, is trading on a famous name. To my mind, you are the best man to beat Williams."

FROM A SAGINAW INDUSTRIALIST:

"In many respects, your career parallels that of Gen. Eisenhower. Both of you have earned distinction as honest and brilliant public servants; both are political activists, but veteran administrators. I feel that the citizens of Michigan would be well advised to elect you governor."

FROM A KALAMAZOO ATTORNEY:

"Believing that your administrative experience, personal integrity and high ideals make you the best man for the job, I have switched my previous political preference and shall endorse you in the contest for Michigan's governorship."

FROM A DETROIT AUTO WORKER:

"They say labor votes Democratic. Well, that's not so. There are plenty of us who want to see a good, honest, able Republican win and, for my money, you're the man."

FROM A FLINT MANUFACTURER:

"Lots of small business men like myself are sick of professional politicians. We'd like to see an honest and experienced administrator such as you clean up that horrible mess in Lansing."

FROM A MERCHANT IN OWOSSO:

"I can only afford a small contribution in money, but I'm making up for that's going to work its head off to make you our next governor."

FROM AN UPPER PENINSULA CIVIC LEADER:

"The other night you swung our group completely over to you. None of the other candidates for Governor has expressed the issues and his program so clearly and sincerely. You can count on getting just about all our votes."

FROM AN OAKLAND COUNTY FARMER:

"Your record proves you are a doer and, Lord knows, that's what this state needs. If every officeholder subscribed to your creed, 'Nothing that is morally wrong can be politically right,' our country would be a better place to live in. Our whole family is voting for you."

FROM A ST. JOSEPH CLERGYMAN:

"Practical politics that fallen on greed and corruption are wrecking our state and country. It is heart-warming to know that I have a chance to cast my vote for a Christian gentleman of your caliber."

HOMER MARTIN

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS SEVENTEENTH DISTRICT

In summing up the issues of the campaign, Mr. Martin says:

1. I am for free enterprise, as the only system by which freedom of the individual may be maintained, and for the removal of those restraints and controls which hamper and destroy production.
2. I am for turning back to private enterprise certain government projects which can be more economically and profitably operated by private enterprise.
3. I am for a positive program to expose communists in government and in all walks of life.
4. I am for a positive program to carry the truths of freedom to the people beyond the iron curtain and put Communist Russia on the defensive.
5. I am for making all taxpayers tax conscious, and of exposing the burdensome taxation program of government.
6. I am for such projects as the St. Lawrence Seaway, which would aid in the national defense, help develop the nation's economy and with proper management, be self-liquidating.
7. I am for equalization of taxation by taxing all organizations such as the great corporate cooperatives.
8. I am for the enforcement of the Taft-Hartley law, and amendments which would make it more workable.
9. I am for cleaning out immorality and corruption from government, and the rigid enforcement of law.
10. I am for doing everything possible to balance the budget and increase the value of the American dollar.
11. I am for the strictest possible government economy, and the enforcement of the Hoover Commission's recommendations for consolidation of bureaus and government economy.
12. I am for an equitable pension system which would consolidate the best elements of social security and other pension systems.

Who is Homer Martin . . .

Homer Martin, candidate for the Republican nomination to Congress from the Seventeenth District, was born on a farm near Goreville, Illinois, Aug. 16, 1901. He was graduated from William Jewell College at Liberty, Mo., with an A.B. degree in the Spring of 1928. He then took two years of post-graduate work at Kansas City Baptist Theological Seminary at Kansas City. He worked his way thru both high school and college.

Mr. Martin came to Detroit in 1935, and has resided in Detroit or its suburbs ever since. His work has been within this area for all of that time. He resided in the 22nd Ward and in the Seventeenth District long before it was made a new Congressional District.

He is an active Christian. He first entered the labor movement to put his Christian concepts to work in labor relations. After several years as president of the UAW-CIO and vice-president of the International CIO, he left the union when other CIO leaders opposed his drive to rid the union of Communist conspirators. For ten years he has been a small businessman; he has organized and been president of a small corporation. Homer Martin registered as a Republican first in 1924 and has been an active campaigner for Republican candidates since 1940. He toured sections of New York for Dewey in 1944 and again campaigned for him in Michigan in 1948. He has organized, or assisted in organizing, Republican clubs in Michigan for several years. He is now a member of three Republican clubs and president of one.

Homer Martin is a farmer. He owns a farm near Plymouth, Mich., and has studied farming in college as well as being a practical farmer. He understands the problems of farmers, as well as those of labor and business.

Homer Martin is the people's candidate. His experience, training and ability, combined with his qualities of leadership, place him in a unique position to represent all the people. He refuses to be the candidate for any special pressure group, but insists upon fighting the issues through in the interest of all the people.

13. I am for continuing our efforts for international peace thru the United Nations, but for the revision of our treaty arrangements so as to protect our own Constitutional rights and to prevent Communist governments from using it as a tool to destroy the freedoms of the world.
14. I am for the removal of unnecessary and wasteful subsidies to farmers and other groups.
15. I am against socialized and so-called low cost housing projects within residential areas. I believe this only spreads the slums and slum conditions and destroys property values.
16. I am against ill-considered, poorly planned projects such as the new city-county building, which would needlessly use scarce materials vital to defense work and add 25 to 50 million dollars to the Wayne county taxpayers' burden at a time when taxes are higher than in all history. I ask the question, "What can the people of this district expect in the way of government economy if they send to Congress a person who has sponsored such an ill-timed and ill-planned venture with the taxpayer's money?"
17. I am for and pledge my support to the Republican Platform and the nominees of the Republican Party.

Health Report Shows Diseases on Downswing

Plymouth has been given a relatively clean bill of health by Dr. R. R. Barber, Plymouth's health officer.

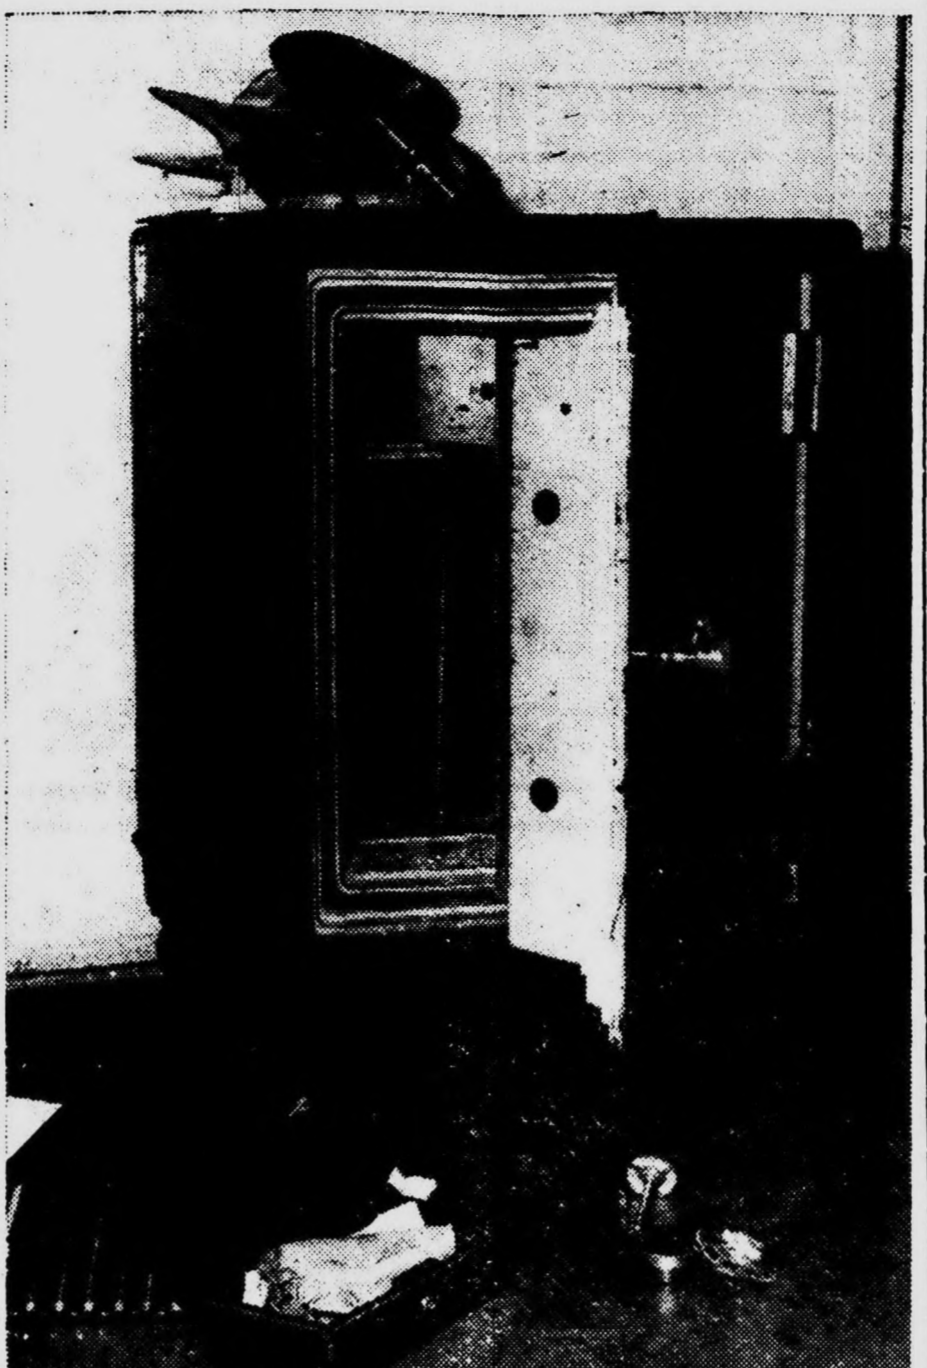

In his June report charting communicable diseases since the beginning of 1952, Dr. Barber reported that just 21 cases were reported.

Of these, measles infections had the highest incidence rate with 18 such cases being recorded. Four cases of mumps and one case of scarlet fever were recorded, leaving most of Plymouth's 7,300 population untouched.

Births and deaths within the city were also noted. Through June, 1952, 15 deaths were made a matter of record as opposed to 11 births, indicating that population growth of the City has lost ground on the basis of vital statistics.

This same held true for last year with 31 deaths exceeding the birth rate of 26.

As part of his health officer duties Dr. Barber, in 1952, has so far inspected 39 restaurants and issued 57 food handlers' cards. In addition, he has taken 60 water analyses.

CRACKED OPEN AND RIFLED, this is how the Penn Theater's strong box looked last Monday morning. The combination, tumblers and pin are lying on the floor after having been smashed off by safecrackers who took more than $1,800 from the theater. The upper left hand compartment of the safe, containing $1,600 in U. S. Savings Bonds belonging to Projectionist Lee Jewell, was rifled of its contents after having been pried open.

A hospital trip to Dearborn took place July 28. The auxiliary hopes that this will be an annual event.

Eleven women, Virginia Bartel, Ann Smith, Grace Burley, Georgina Elliott, Kay Coolman, Lillian Voss, Violet Garrison, Maria Terry, Gerry Olson, Jean Olson and Marian Warner presented 135 men with cookies and dixie cups. Everyone had an enjoyable time, and it is hoped that in the future, more members will want to participate.

All members are requested to keep August 10 in mind for the picnic at the national home. Bring canned goods on that day.

Temporary plans are still under way for the style show to be given in September. Contact Marian Warner, 1032-J, for any information or ideas concerning this.

Police, Not Court, Dismiss Tickets

It was erroneously stated in the July 24 issue of The Plymouth Mail that the Municipal court dismissed tickets issued to those violating the dog ordinance. "The Police department cancelled those tickets, and the violators never appeared before the court," says Municipal court judge, Nandino Perlongo.

Fire Department Calls For Anti-Fire Inspection

Fire Chief Robert McAllister has set up a twofold fire prevention program, now underway.

To prevent an increased outburst of fires that generally is associated with cool fall weather, Chief McAllister has called for a close fire inspection of business and industrial establishments.

In addition, he has set up a fire inspection procedure for homeowners who request a fire safety check from his department. The chief firefighter suggests that homeowners contact his office if they wish an anti-fire inspection.

Chief McAllister recently returned from a Michigan State Fire Chiefs' Association conference, held July 21-23, Holland, Michigan.

After returning, he reported that State legislation is now underway that would penalize "selfish" telephone party-line users for failing to "get off the line" during a fire emergency.

"If the law passes," he declared, "any person failing to yield a party-line telephone for a fire emergency call can be fined $150 and 90 days in jail."

Chief McAllister was elected second vice president of Michigan State Fire Chiefs' Association. He shared this election honor with seven other officers appointed to the Association, four of whom are from southeastern Michigan.

Quick Tips For Choosing Freezing, Canning Peaches

August is just around the corner and that means juicy Michigan peaches will be with us again. There will be more good Michigan peaches this year than there were last, and the size and quality will be excellent.

The crop of peaches in the southern states, particularly South Carolina and Georgia, will be smaller than last year, so wait for the Michigan crop for your best buy for canning and freezing. Although Michigan's crop is about three per cent below average, it is considerably larger than last year's crop and prices are expected to be reasonable.

Redhaven, Halchaven, Elberta and J. H. Hale varieties of peaches are considered the best for freezing. All varieties can fairly well.

Peaches are at their best flavor when they are mature. The blush of a peach is attractive but not a sign of maturity. Peaches picked too immature will shrivel instead of ripen, will lack flavor and be wasteful. Peaches that will continue to ripen have a creamy or yellowish ground color.

A bushel of peaches weighs about 48 pounds and gives 18 to 24 quarts canned or 36 to 48 pints frozen. Peaches sold by the bushel are sized and graded. Grades of fresh peaches are U. S. Fancy, U. S. Extra No. 1, U. S. No. 1, U. S. No. 2. A medium sized peach is about two to two and one-half inches in diameter.

Fresh peaches should be sorted and the ripest ones used first. Unripe peaches will ripen at room temperature. Store fully ripe peaches on the coldest shelf of the refrigerator.

Peeled peaches can be kept from turning dark by dipping in citrus fruit juice. The addition of ascorbic acid helps to preserve color and flavor and adds to the nutritive value of peaches for freezing.

Fresh Fruit Plate Ideal For Warm Day

On a simmering, sizzling day, is there anything in the world that looks as pretty, tastes as good as a plate of fresh fruits?

All fruits in themselves are beautiful, but to retain their beauty and individuality, they must be served either whole or in sizeable pieces. Keeping that thought in mind, you can have as much fun arranging colors and flavors as an artist has when he paints a picture.

Suggestions:

(1) Watermelon balls
Canned peach half filled with chopped nutmeats
Grapefruit sections
Royal Anne and Bing cherries

(2) Cantaloupe wedge with powdered ginger
Pineapple chunks
Fresh blueberries
Banana slices

(3) Canned pear half filled with strawberries
Quarters of banana
Orange sections

Trim Your Figure, but Not Your Breakfast Habits

IF YOU want to lose weight, just look at the business of learning a whole new set of eating habits, but the blueprint for your new food regime is to cut down on food, not to cut out foods.

The best way to take off pounds and then to maintain this new power over the scales is to divide your day's food total by three.

Dietitians Agree
For example, if the reducing diet recommended by your doctor allows you to have 1,200 calories a day, you'll want to start with a breakfast that gives you about 400 calories. The dietitians who recommend this say that this eating plan puts the food you eat to work in a most efficient way.

Also, by starting the day with breakfast, you'll still reap the benefits of good breakfast habits—quicker reactions, more pep and vitality, and you'll be able to turn out more work during the morning. It's possible to plan a 400-calorie breakfast that gives you the foods you should have at breakfast time to make sure you're not short-changing yourself on any food essentials.

Morning Variety
This breakfast adds up to just 392 calories and includes orange sections, corn flakes with ½ cup of milk, 1 slice of whole wheat toast spread with ½ teaspoon of butter, and an additional ½ cup of milk to drink. Black coffee contains no calories, and may be added to the menu at will.

Fix the usual breakfast for the family, then trim the hidden calories to fit your diet. For example, today's family breakfast is assorted fresh fruits, ready-to-eat oat cereal, milk, coffee cake wedges and butter. The reducer can use skim milk, and can substitute white or whole wheat toast for the coffee cake.

Arrested for eating drinking glasses in a tavern, a man in Decatur, Ill., protested indignantly: "But I paid for every glass I ate."

Improve your opportunities—every hour lost now is a chance of future misfortune. — Bonaparte.

Try Bacon Spreads For Picnic Sandwiches

Have a sandwich spread idea file? It's a handy item during these summer months when you'll be preparing sandwiches for picnics, for lunches at home and for serving with tall refreshing drinks. And a great aid in sandwich making is that package of bacon in your refrigerator.

Here are some tasty bacon combinations.

- (1) Chopped crisp bacon and peanut butter.
- (2) Crisp bacon, chopped hard-cooked egg, mayonnaise.
- (3) Chopped crisp bacon with pimiento cheese spread.
- (4) Chopped bacon, ground cooked prune, mayonnaise.
- (5) Crisp bacon, grated raw carrot, mayonnaise.
- (6) Bacon strips, American cheese, prepared mustard.

Keep Picnic Menu Simple

Summer time is picnic time. Whether the family enjoys cooking their food over an outdoor fire or having it ready in a picnic basket, a nutritious meal can be provided without a lot of expense and work.

Plan foods that require a minimum of preparation. Serve foods that require few dishes to make the job of cleaning up easier.

Finger foods such as weiners, fried chicken or deviled eggs are easily prepared and require few serving dishes. A variety of cold cuts, meat paste or cheese sandwiches is a time saver and also keeps the bread from drying out. Instead of a salad serve wedges of tomato, carrot strips, celery sticks and radishes. Fresh fruit in season and cookies can also be served out of hand and require little work and few dishes.

Lemonade, ice tea, milk or coffee from a thermos will add the finishing touch to the enjoyable less-work and little-dish-washing type of picnic.

For those who must have knife-and-fork foods include potato salad, cabbage salad, baked beans or a meat or fish casserole. The potato or cabbage salad can be served cold. The casserole dishes can be packed to keep hot or reheated over the campfire.

Keeping the menu simple and easy to prepare and serve will help keep the cost low and make the picnic the enjoyable event we all look forward to.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK
Wilted Lettuce
(Serves 6)
2 heads lettuce
1 teaspoon sugar
½ cup olive oil
¼ cup vinegar
½ teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
6 slices crisp bacon

Wash lettuce and remove any wilted leaves. Drain well. Cut into string ¾-inch thick. Sprinkle with sugar. Add olive oil to vinegar and heat to boiling. Add seasonings and pour over lettuce, tossing well. Place in moderate (350°F) oven for 3 minutes. Place in serving dish, top with bacon, finely minced.

Next time you make potato salad, use half mayonnaise, half French dressing. Fold in ripe olive chunks, plenty of salt, freshly ground pepper and a bit of grated onion.

Make a good combination salad of baby lima beans, red kidney beans, sliced summer squash and slices of avocado. Use oil and vinegar dressing.

Make a delicious casserole out of left-over turkey. Combine the meat with diced celery and some halved roasted almonds. Bind with mayonnaise, salt and lemon juice. Place in a shallow baker, sprinkle with grated cheese and crushed potato chips. Bake in a hot oven 15 minutes.

ELECTRIC SILO UNLOADER
saves one hour's hard work a day

Young Billy Hubble shows how easy it is to unload a silo electrically. Automatically controlled, the blades work silage to the center, where it is picked up by the blower and dropped down the chute.

Every farmer knows that it's hard, disagreeable work to climb into a silo every day and throw down silage. Charles Hubble, Lapeer County farmer, has done something about it with a new electric silo unloader that does the job for him and saves at least an hour of work every day. He finds these advantages, too. (1) The cows eat more because the silage is shredded finer. (2) The revolving blades keep the top of the silage leveled off, with less surface exposed to freezing. (3) Less waste from spoilage.

For more complete information on this new time-saving electric farm-hand, see your dealer or your Edison Farm Service Advisor.

Good wiring is always important. So always ask your Farm Service Advisor for his recommendations.

Dwight D. Eisenhower

NO SHIRT-TAIL RIDER—

FRED M. ALGER

Fred M. Alger

Alger became an enthusiastic Eisenhower for president supporter more than a year ago, when the two met and talked over the country's needs, seeing eye to eye.

Alger was the first state official, and the only candidate for governor to endorse Eisenhower. He was criticized for doing so. It wasn't good politics. Good politics dictated that he ride the fence. He wouldn't because he believes the people should know where a candidate for office stands.

The Eisenhower-Alger combination is a natural. Both are agreed that the Nation's defense comes first. Both have proven themselves good and able administrators, Ike in the European zone, Alger as an efficient, economy-minded three-term Secretary of State.

Both are full-time veterans of World War II. Both have records of speaking unalterable hatred of dictatorship, Ike in arm against Stalinist aggression, Alger as leader of the movement which ended machine rule of the Republican Party of Michigan.

They understand each other. It's a pair that can't be beat. For Michigan and the Nation, it's IKE and FRED

Detroit Park Named After Dead Soldier

Private First Class James L. Varier, 19-years-old when he was killed in Alsace Lorraine, in France, will long be remembered, at least by name.

A Detroit park, located at Thatcher and Forrer streets, has been named in his honor.

Killed over seven years ago, Varier's name was engraved in a bronze plaque and permanently placed in the park that now bears his name.

Varier's mother, Mrs. Macile Haas, 15594 Bradner road, is singularly proud of her son who died under a hail of machine gun bullets.

"He was a soldier," Mrs. Haas said. "I am happy of the honor bestowed on my son."

Mrs. Haas regularly attends a Plymouth church where she has many friends.

The brake test held under the auspices of the Detroit Automobile Club, assisted by the local police department, was held here Monday and Tuesday. It has a 200-bed capacity, which can be increased if needed.

"Boy of Year" Winner Visits Daisy Plant— Gets Ryder Carbine

Home of the Red Ryder carbine—Daisy Manufacturing company—had two distinguished youthful visitors last week—the nation's Boy of the Year and his runner-up.

Guests of the Daisy company for two days were Boy of the Year Phil A. McDonald, 13, Arlington, Mass. and Ronald O'Hea, 14, Jersey City, N. J., McDonald's runner-up.

The youths, chosen by the Slesinger foundation for outstanding citizenship, were feted and given Red Ryder carbines while Daisy company guests. They stayed at the Sheraton-Cadillac hotel, in Detroit, while here.

The "Boy of the Year" award is made annually under the sponsorship of the Stephen Slesinger company, creators of comic strip characters Red Ryder, King of the Royal Mounted and Ozark Ike.

One of the awards of each year's winners is an all expense-paid trip to the company's Red Ryder Ranch, at Pagosa Springs, Colorado.

McDonald and O'Hea had just returned from their "dude ranch" vacation, enroute to their homes, when they visited the Daisy plant.

While roughing it ranch style, the enthusiastic youths went on pack trips, visits to Indian reservations, nearby Pueblo ruins and a Fourth of July rodeo.

The "good citizenship" award came to McDonald after the handicapped youth placed first among the nation's Boys' Club nominees for the top honor.

He was chosen by a Slesinger committee, headed by James A. Farley, for "outstanding" work in polio and cancer drives.

The youths' chaperone, Samuel Cooper, New York City, said McDonald's untiring solicitations to help polio and cancer diseased victims came despite his handicap—that of club feet.

Six operations and a lot of suffering, said Mr. Cooper, have made McDonald a sober, serious youth far advanced for all his 13 years.

Boy of the Year runner-up O'Hea won his second place award by putting on weight-lifting and boxing exhibitions, the proceeds from which were used to establish a Boy's Club in Jersey City.

O'Hea also talked business people into supplying equipment and paint for the youth organization.

During their 7,500 mile trip that ate up about $4,000, the youths gained nation-wide attention appearing on radio and television broadcasts to deliver their good citizenship message and plea for more Boy's Clubs to youths throughout the United States.

"This is one of the objectives of the Slesinger company—to promote good citizenship among youth actively engaged in promoting community health, welfare and spirit through Boys' Clubs," declared Mr. Cooper.

Boy of the Year finalists are chosen from Boy's Clubs throughout the nation. Each club is eligible to send a nominee for the top honor to one of seven regional Boys' Club selection boards.

The boards in turn send their Boy of the Year nominees to New York where two of the seven are chosen to represent the Boys' Clubs throughout the nation.

The awards made this year were followed with prizes of wrist watches, cowboy outfits and a host of other prizes looked upon by juveniles as something "fulfilling the wildest imagination."

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLD TIMERS

From Mrs. Lella McDaniel, Murray, Ky.: I remember when before putting the carpet on the floor, we put a layer of thin wheat straw on the floor first and then put the carpet down and tacked it all around the edges.

From Flora Diefrich, El Paso, Texas: I remember taking my pail and going out in the fields along the fields along the old rail fences to pick wild strawberries, which my mother made into delicious jam.

From Mrs. Marie Nance, Orange City, Fla.: I am 63 years old. I remember when I was a girl Mother game me 15 cents with which I was to buy at the market a loaf of bread for five cents and two pounds of beef liver for supper for a family of six.

From Mrs. Mary E. O'Dell, Sequim, Wash.: I remember when we had straw bales to climb into every fall. They were washed and filled with good oat straw. You nearly needed a ladder to get into bed, as our feather ticks were on top of the straw ones.

From Mary Karch, Lakeview, Ohio: I remember kraut making time. We would invite the neighbors in to help. There was a clean spade to chop the cabbage and a wooden barrel with stamper. We children were handed dishes of juicy kraut as a treat.

CAN you imagine parking a car as easily as you steer it on a straight-away?

You twirl the steering wheel with one hand—turn the front wheels until you get the last inch of advantage from Buick's short "turning radius"—spot the car in a tight spot at the curb—or swing out when the car parked in front of you seems impossibly close.

For this alone a lot of people—especially women—are saying that Buick's Power Steering is the biggest advance since Dynaflo Drive.*

But you're going to find out something more as you pile up the miles.

You're going to feel the same confident and thrilling sense of command you have always felt in a Buick, because Power Steering only goes into action when extra effort is needed to turn the wheels.

You're going to find that your front wheels track just as they always have—that they automatically swing back on course, after you've made a turn, when you ease your grip on the steering wheel.

You're also going to find that Power Steering takes over when your front wheels hit loose dirt or sand—road irregularities and chuckholes—and smooths down their jerk or tug on the wheel in your hands.

All this adds to the ease and pleasure of driving. But it adds to the safety, too, because, in the rare event of a blowout, Power Steering helps you keep control. There's no sudden and violent jerk ever when this helping hand's on the job.

Add to this the level-gaited serenity of Buick's Million Dollar Ride—the "rarin' to go" exuberance of its Fireball 8 Engine—the spread-out room, the luxurious fabrics—the way this great performer can turn up its nose at gas stations—and there's only one smart thing for you to do:

Drop in—or pick up your phone—and arrange to give this marvel a tryout. Even the price says, Better buy Buick now.

*Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series. †Now available on Super as well as Roadmaster—optional at extra cost.

Roger Babson Says---

Babson Discusses Politics
Babson Park, Mass., July 31. The Republican Party in its Convention at Chicago selected its candidate for President of the United States. The Democratic Party in its Convention also at Chicago has selected its candidate for President. The candidates of either party will not be acceptable to millions of voters. The National election that will be held on November 4, 1952, will select one of the candidates to be President of the United States. The President elected will not be the choice of millions of voters — BUT!

Co-Operation Now Vitrally Necessary
After the majority of the voters have elected the man to be President, the CO-OPERATION of every individual in the United States will be necessary to insure our Democratic way of life and our economic independence. The new President, no matter of which party, is under obligation, on account of the present emergencies, to make use of the best brains in either of the leading parties. Members of the Cabinet and heads of the various agencies of the Government should be selected for their ability to handle the particular position, regardless of party affiliation. The intellect and ability of defeated candidates should not be wasted because they belong to the other party. A CO-OPERATIVE administration is the best method of meeting the international situation, the taxation problem, the national debt, and the employee-employer relationship and the other serious problems that will confront the new President. This is the time for all good people to come to the aid of whoever is elected to insure our economic and political freedom.

What the world needs today is co-operation in every walk of life—in religion, government, politics, business, finance, and labor relations. Co-operation is the basis of the Golden Rule, and similarly it is the basis of prosperity. The President who will be elected this coming November will face the most serious problems. It will be up to us to co-operate with him, and up to him to co-operate with us.

In 1948 John Stuart Mill, the famous economist, announced the principle that "growth in the capacity for and practice in the habit of co-operation, is the surest test of advancing civilization." Newton D. Baker, when he was Secretary of War under President Wilson said to me: "Mr. Babson, you are interested in business barometers, let me give you the result of my years of experience. It is this: the best barometer of a nation's future is the ability of the people to co-operate and to have confidence in their leaders."

Need of Religion
Our progress and growth in this life is bounded on all sides by something. On the north, we are bounded by the Multiplication Table, to make us exact as to facts. On the east, we are bounded by the Ten Commandments to guide us into paths of righteousness. On the south, we are bounded by the Law of Gravity that keeps our feet on the ground; and on the west we are bounded by the setting sun that marks the limits of our day. But the field of co-operation is unbounded. If we carry on, obedient to the laws of God and Man, we will enjoy that freedom which comes with the Brotherhood of Man.
