above the HULL by LYLE HILL

THOSE DARN Chinese Reds have been associating with Americans too much for the good of their philosophy and ours, even if the relationship has been only on a hostile basis.

Chinese are expected to believe that this sojourn is only a camp on the trek to join the great infinite. Enterprise in this life is futile, they say, because our days here are fleeting and earthly hopes are as dry as the bamboo walls in Chinese houses. Americans are just the opposite.

But now the Chinese at the Panmunjom truce site in Korea are digging in for a long stay and are replacing the battered conference tent, that could have been folded silently any night and whisked away with a solid wooden house—a structure that can stand indefinitely.

The building is of more solid structure than is usual in Korea. It is made of wood, but has a concrete foundation. The walls are of white pine. We've been fearing that those deadlocked truce talks would last forever. Now with the Chinese—those fellows who go in generally for paper furniture and straw houses—building upon concrete, it begins to look as if they consider Panmunjom as the great infinite.

It's association with Americans that did it. We're surprised that the United States forces didn't build a 10-story apartment house on the site, survey the streets and erect a shopping center. Our patriotic pride is hurt that we let the Chinese first instill a theme of permanence into something the very nature of which is ephemeral—a conference to end a war.

They outdid us at our own game and built their permanent conference headquarters before we could put up even a gasoline station or motel. We were caught idling away our time and contemplating our navels by a bunch of paper dragons totting concrete blocks.

That's no way to win a war.

College Bound Youth Select Schools, Goals

Michigan colleges and a few out of state colleges will welcome 46 members of the Plymouth High school graduating class of last year to their portals as freshmen. Career-minded individuals, who were upper classmen in Plymouth High school in June, suddenly find themselves perched on the lower rung of the ladder to higher learning.

Teachers throughout high school have tried to stress the importance of an enriched education to the students before they obtain their diploma. Without added knowledge, young people of today have difficulty in obtaining select positions.

Students will be furthering their education in such fields as journalism, engineering, medicine, social science and the business world, plus music and the finer arts.

University of Michigan at Ann Arbor will herald Richard Bonnette, Marvin Green, Kurt Hoencke, Beverly Ross, Dave Travis and Ralph Welch as freshmen.

Students traveling to Kalamazoo to enter Western Michigan State Normal college are: John Daggett, Ronald Lamerand, Donald Lightfoot, Lynn Olsen, Barbara Packard, Gwendolyn Phillips, Donna Renwick, Betty Wagoner and Phyllis Wilkins.

Among the students pursuing a career at Michigan State college are: Bob Arlen, Nancy Beegle, Dale Behler, Neal Bowyer, James Brinks, Brenda Covell, Larry Joliffe, Elaine Leitz, Donelda Lewis, Donald Moore, Jerome O'Neil, Shirley Pine, Sally Rupp, John Sumner, Jean Tetzlaff, Gladys Witt, Nancy Worth and Beth Douglas.

Michigan Tech at Houghton will be represented by freshmen, Ronald Cadogan, Stewart Olford and Paul Riley.

Betty Salmon will receive her nurses training at the Henry Ford School of Nursing in Detroit. Wayne University has been selected by Richard Marsh as a stepping stone to attain his career.

Burton Zander will receive his training at Michigan State Normal at Ypsilanti, while Norma Van Dyke will study at Antioch college.

Verlyn Knight will travel to Lamoni, Iowa to study at Grace-land College, while Bob Keeney will work at Utah State. Lawrence Tech will be represented by Paul Briolat. Lee King will receive his training at Ferris Institute, while Bill Hartman and Bob Simmons will study at General Motors Institute and Adrian College respectively.

Not only will the young people be working hard to attain their special goal or career in life, but will be making numerous friends in their new environment, and will obtain fellowship and spiritual living. Upon entering the threshold of the school, each student will witness a new and enchanting phase of their life, one that will long be remembered.

Sees Thousands of New Fabrics Synthetic Fibers in Chemists' Reach

Natural and synthetic fabrics of the future promise to be a new source of our suits and dresses, our stockings and underwear—all made out of complicated chemical derivatives.

At least, this is the opinion of one of the nation's leading fabrics researchers—Dr. Milton Harris—who reports his findings in Science Service.

Dr. Harris, in Chicago last week to address a symposium on "Looking Ahead With the Chemical Industry," told the seventh National Chemical Exposition that the chemical industry will soon be hard at work exploring new uses for fabrics recently invented.

The next few years, he told the group, will see the industry slowing down in the introduction of synthetics. Rather, the industry will concentrate on "alloys" of several kinds of new synthetics and natural fibers already invented.

Dr. Harris himself was wearing

No. 2000 in cut in sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20. Size 16 jumper, 2 1/2 yds. 54-in. blouse, 2 1/2 yds. 39-in. No. 2700 in cut in sizes 4, 6, 8, 10. Size 8 jumper, 1 1/2 yds. 54-in. Short sleeve blouse, 2 1/2 yds. 35-in. Send 50c for EACH pattern with name, address, style number and size to ANDREY LANE BUREAU, Box 380, Madison Square Station, New York 10, N. Y. THE NEW FALL WINTER FASHION BOOK shows 100 other styles, 25c extra.

a pair of socks made of an experimental blend of cashmere and nylon. They have all the softness of cashmere, he said, yet they will wear 10 times longer than pure cashmere socks.

The blending of fabrics is no longer just an art, Dr. Harris pointed out, stating that it has become a science with regular experiments going on.

Thousands of experimental and modified fabrics are right now within the chemists' reach, he asserted, and more are sitting on chemists' shelves. Some of them are only slightly different from those already commercially available, he said, hinting that one chemical company alone has thought up in the past two years some 600 different types and modifications of fabrics.

Asked about the theoretical chances of producing a fabric that would never wear out, never stain, never wrinkle, such as the fictitious fabric of the "white suit" of a recent movie, Dr. Harris said such a "fabric" would not be a fabric at all. Explaining, he said that it would have to be some kind of an inert material, something like the quality of diamonds, not a cloth.

Speaking of the very improbable, Dr. Harris said that if women were content to wear nylon stockings about four times thicker than the present "sheer" that they would never wear out. Of course, he pointed out, women will not wear such coarse stockings.

Children who come home from school for lunch will enjoy this hot open-faced sandwich. Toast a slice of enriched bread on one side under the broiler. Turn and on the untoasted side place a slice of cheese. Top with three strips of bacon and bake the sandwich until the bacon is crisp and the cheese bubbling.

Church Plans Fall Festival, Supper, Auction

Now is the season for gathering in the harvest, the time when the products of any labor or the result of an action gains a result or an effect. Such products, results or effects will be on display around the chancel of the Methodist church this Sunday.

Parishioners and friends of the church will gather their fruits, vegetables and flowers, from their fields for the Harvest Festival which will be held on Sunday, September 21. The produce will be on display throughout Sunday.

Two members from each of the seven units of the Woman's Society of Christian Service will make the arrangements for the display of goods. Contributors are urged to bring their supplies to the church no earlier than Friday afternoon and no later than Saturday morning.

Sale of the crops will take place on Monday evening at a pot luck supper held in the dining room of the church at 6:30 p.m. Roy Rew, well known local magician, will auction off the produce which will be sold to the highest bidder.

Members of the W.S.C.S. will be seated in unit divisions at the pot luck supper.

Dr. Frank Wilson Dies in Stockbridge

Dr. Frank N. Wilson, professor of medicine at the University hospital for 32 years and a well known heart specialist, died in Stockbridge, Michigan, Thursday morning September 11.

"The undisputed dean of electrocardiography" as his colleagues called him, had been ill for four years and was on leave of absence from the university.

Dr. Wilson was born on November 19, 1890 in Livonia township. He is survived by his wife, Julia and one daughter, Mrs. Eugene Lepeschkin of Vermont.

His death will be mourned by many friends, relatives and associates of Plymouth and surrounding vicinity.

Thief Gets Wallet

Ellen Schultz, 21, an employee of the Dodge Drug Store, reported the theft of a wallet containing four dollars along with identification cards.

Miss Schultz says she missed the wallet last Thursday following the noon-day luncheon hour. It had been rifled from her pocketbook as she served customers in the drug store.

An identification and social security card were recovered several days after the theft, abandoned near the Phoenix dam site.

Symphony Group in Urgent Need of Concert Piano

The Plymouth Symphony Orchestra is in urgent need of a concert grand piano.

"Every time we rent one," says Conductor Wayne Dunlap, "it bites deeply into our limited operating budget."

He indicates that with every $50 spent for rental of a piano, it means curtailing some other function within the orchestral group.

Plymouth, most persons will agree, has the finest musical bargain available anywhere. Its conductor, a University of Michigan assistant professor, says, "the Plymouth Symphony is a $40,000 orchestra operating on just one-tenth of that budget."

He points out that many of its musicians are experts in the business of filling music-hungry lives with song and melody.

"But it takes a lot of money and a lot of equipment to fulfill this one objective," declares Conductor Dunlap, "to play the kind of music the people want to hear."

Kiwanians Hear Dr. Philip Brown

Members of the Plymouth Kiwanis club heard Dr. Philip Brown, director of the Northville State hospital, discuss the cures for mental diseases at their regular meeting Tuesday evening.

Dr. Brown described three types of cures most commonly used. They are surgery, shock treatment, and long talks with the ill person. These are used separately and in combination depending upon the type of illness.

Also described is the proposed expansion of the hospital. This expansion, according to Dr. Brown, should be completed within the next five to eight years. Dr. Brown was formerly with the Ypsilanti State hospital.

Paul Shulz was program chairman.

Eleven members of the club participated in a golf tournament at Meadowbrook Country club on Wednesday.

Experts Decry Extraction of Healthy Teeth . . . .

The wholesale removal of healthy teeth in an attempt to cure arthritis was decryed by three dental and medical authorities last week in a panel discussion at the American Dental Association Convention, held in St. Louis.

Dr. James R. Cameron, oral surgeon from Philadelphia, Dr. William E. Wellman of the Mayo Clinic Medical Division, Rochester, Minn., and Dr. Kenneth A. Easlick of the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, all voiced denial of the validity of removing healthy "choppers".

The experts based some of their discussion as to whether infected teeth could disease other parts of the body, a theory upon which there was not mutual agreement.

Dr. Cameron said "there is sufficient evidence to show that diseased teeth can, and do, cause disease in distant parts of the body."

He pointed out, however, that too many physicians "on general principles" order wholesale extraction of teeth without due benefit to the patient.

Dr. Easlick declared that evidence is "very poor" of any relationship between diseased teeth and chronic disorders as arthritis, kidney infections, eye ailments and skin diseases.

He went on to assert that infected teeth should be treated or extracted, but "only to eliminate infection in the mouth."

Condemnation was the word used by Dr. Wellman who said that the "whole removal of teeth on the assumption that a focus of infection may be present is to be condemned."

New Law Bans Teen-Ager From Drinking in Cars

Teen-agers caught drinking in cars from now on face the penalties of a new weapon placed in the hands of law enforcement officials.

An amendment to the State liquor laws, a new statute makes it a misdemeanor for any person under 21 to purchase or knowingly possess, transport or have under his control in any motor vehicle beer, wine, whisky or other spirits. The penalty is 90 days in jail or $100 fine, or both.

Strict enforcement of the law, that went into effect just today, has been promised by the State Liquor Control Commission.

Saving lives is one angle of the 1952 amendment given additional good reasons for passage by Walter M. Noack, director enforcement for the Liquor Commission.

He recalled the bizarre murder of Nurse Pauline Campbell in Ann Arbor last September, stating that "it was forcibly brought to the attention of legislators" that before the slaying of Nurse Campbell, two of the youths involved were stopped by State police with a partly-filled case of beer in their car.

"If this law had been in effect then," Noack asserted, "the driver of the car, William Morey, could have been placed under arrest charged with a violation. The killing of the nurse might have been averted."

It was noted that Morey and Max Pell were released, because there was no law under which they could be held.

Russell Kirk is Awarded High Degree

Russell Kirk, a graduate of Plymouth High school in 1936, has recently received the degree of Doctor of Letters from the University of St. Andrews, the oldest Scotch University, founded in 1410.

Russell is one of only two living men to hold this Doctor of Letters degree from this university. He has published two books, one about an American, Randolph of Roanoke, and the other about the great eighteenth century statesman, Edmund Burke. At present he is working on "The Story of St. Andrews".

This is Russell's second trip to Europe, one lasting over one and a half years during which time he has traveled over most of the continent except Russia. Upon his return he will become a professor of social science in Michigan State college.

These crunchy bread sticks add texture and extra flavor to creamed vegetables, meat, and fish. To make them, cut slices of bread into six equal size strips and toast on a cookie sheet in a moderate oven (350°F.) for 20 minutes, or until crisp. Turn them so that they will be brown on all sides.

Few Animals Beat Wildcat in Fight

ABOUT the only animal man included, who can "lick his weight in wildcats" is another wildcat. Found for pound, the American wildcat, or bobcat (Lynx rufus) is probably as capable a fighter as there is in the animal world.

The bobcat is a distinct species, not to be confused with the larger cougar, or mountain lion, or with his Canadian cousin, the lynx. He is similar to the lynx in that he has the same short, or "bob" tail, but he is smaller, prefers warmer climates and his ears are not so markedly tufted.

This redoubtable scrapper is found in all parts of the United States—wherever there is sufficient cover such as forest, cut-over country, canebrakes, brushy bottomlands and the scrub growth of the west's arid canyons. Unmistakable bobcat sign has been found within 25 miles of downtown Manhattan, and there is not a State that does not harbor some of these animals.

Because they live concealed lives and are seldom seen, no reliable estimate has ever been made of the number of wildcats in the United States. But experts agree they are on the increase.

The animal's secretiveness is not due to lack of courage, but rather to caution. Like many other capable fighters, bobcats are willing to let prudence take the place of valor when fighting is unnecessary. They will go to great lengths to avoid man and will flee from dogs they can cut to ribbons.

This widely distributed predator is a silent hunter and usually makes little noise, but in a fight he will spit and snarl and scream. In the January and February mating season his courtship song has an astounding range, volume and variety.

A spring litter usually numbers from two to four. The kittens stay with the mother during the summer, learning the fine art of keeping alive. Frequently the litter remains together for their first winter, with each kitten on its own.

Announce Ticket Policy for PHS Sporting Events

A price and ticket policy for Plymouth High school football and basketball games was announced this week by Ass't. Principal Gustav Gorguze who reveals that up to a 25 per cent saving can be realized by most students and adults purchasing season tickets.

Season activity book prices, that also include tickets for swimming meets and other events, will cost students $3.50, with adults paying $6.25 for five home football games and eight basketball meets.

Individual tickets will cost junior and senior high school students 40 cents for football and 35 cents for basketball meets.

But these tickets, Mr. Gustav warns, must be purchased at the school the student attends.

"Tickets at the gate, just before the game time, will cost all students and adults 75 cents for football and 60 cents for basketball," he says, "without exception."

As part of their regular policy, the school will admit pre-school age children to the games without charge, when they are accompanied by parents.

Students from kindergarten through the sixth grade will be able to buy tickets at their schools for both football and basketball games at a reduced cost of 25 cents.

The 20 ticket season activities book—good only for scheduled home games—may be purchased at Plymouth High school in the ass't. principal's office.

A downward pro-rata charge for the activities book will be applied through the seventh scheduled sporting event, at which time they will be withdrawn from sale.

Football Tickets

The high school administrators request that all children planning on attending the football game this Friday evening, buy their tickets at their respective school buildings. By purchasing them at the school attended a student will be able to save considerably as all tickets, regardless of age, will be 75 cents at the gate.

If bought at elementary schools a ticket may be purchased for 25 cents. At the junior high school and high school one will cost 40 cents for the student. Pre-school children will be admitted free if accompanied by their parents.

Exonerate Local Man in Pedestrian Death

A Plymouth motorist was exonerated by Ypsilanti State Police following the death of an Ypsilanti township pedestrian, hit as he crossed Michigan avenue two-miles east of Ypsilanti.

Dead was Chester Ward, 49, of 3244 E. Michigan. He was struck by a car driven by Plymouthite Walter A. Hall, 39, 297 North Harvey.

Hall was exonerated by State police after telling them he did not see Ward who stepped in front of his car.

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLD TIMERS

From Mrs. Homer Casteel, Canton, Miss.: I remember when men would congregate near hitching posts to catch a glimpse of a woman's ankle as she stepped down from her buggy.

From Johnson Utterback, Sulphur, Okla.: I remember when my daddy and mother turned the gutters through the filter into the cistern to catch snow water, so we would have pure cool water—also when all the ice we had was cut from rivers and ponds and stored in ice houses with layers of sawdust.

From S. I. McGinnis, Culloden, W. Va.: I remember when we used to go to bean stringings and apple peellings, and what a good time everybody had. I don't hear of these things any more.

From Mrs. Aura Kelsey, Weston, Ohio: I remember when I was a kid my folks used to make apple butter. They would peel the apples the day before and have several barrels of sweet cider ready. They would get up early the next morning and begin stirring apple butter and continue until midnight, making 50 or 60 gallons of apple butter. I have the large brass kettle they used in my yard—it is more than 100 years old.

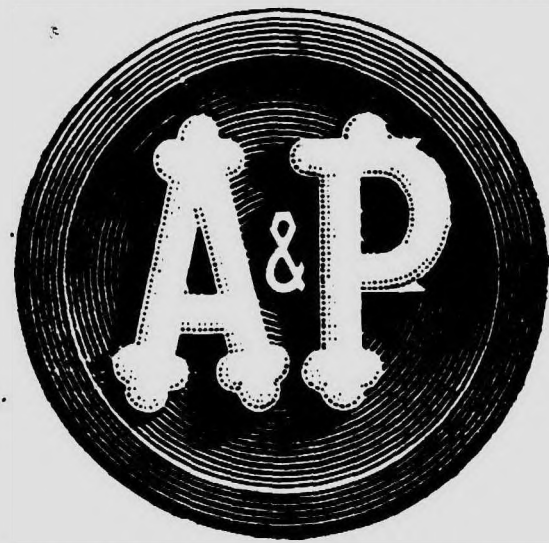

From Mrs. Edward Koch, Ft. Recovery, Ohio: When a person died, the neighbors laid him out on a "cooling board"—a wide board on two benches—and put large copper pennies, about the size of half dollars—on his eyes to keep them closed. The carpenter was called to take measurements for the coffin, and at the funeral, instead of the smell of flowers, there was the smell of varnish. The coffin was taken to the cemetery in a big farm wagon.

Refrigerator Cookies Handy in Case of Unexpected Company

Peanut Pinwheels—just the name sounds inviting! But even more tempting is the flavor and texture of a new and quite novel peanut butter cookie.

Peanut Butter lovers will be the first to acclaim this cookie, for it contains a double portion of their favorite nut. The cookie combines a layer of peanut butter over a layer of rich oatmeal cookie dough. The dough is rolled up, then sliced off for cookies that have a pretty swirl effect.

Having the added convenience of a refrigerator cookie, you can mix and form the rolls at any time. Then whenever fresh warm cookies are in order, the Peanut Pinwheels will be ready and waiting.

Peanut Pinwheels
1 cup sifted enriched flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon soda
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup shortening, soft
1/4 cup brown sugar
1/4 cup honey
2 tablespoons milk
1 cup quick rolled oats, uncooked
1/2 cup chopped peanuts
1/2 cup cream-style peanut butter

Sift together flour, baking powder, soda and salt into a bowl, add shortening, sugar, honey and milk. Beat until smooth, about 2 minutes.

Fold in rolled oats and peanuts. Sprinkle a bread board generously with confectioners' sugar. Divide dough into three parts.

Roll each part to form a 9-inch square.

Spread a thin layer of peanut butter over each 9-inch square. Roll each square up like a jelly roll. Wrap each pinwheel roll in waxed paper and chill thoroughly.

Slice 1/4-inch thick and place on ungreased baking sheet.

Bake cookies in a slow oven (325° F.) 12 to 15 minutes.

West Indian refrigerator cookies combine spices and chocolate into a tasty cookie.

West Indian Cookies
Melt over hot (not boiling) water 1 package semi-sweet chocolate morsels.

Sift together and set aside:
2 1/2 cups sifted flour
1 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. soda
1 tsp. cinnamon
1/4 tsp. ginger
Combine and mix well:
1/2 cup melted shortening
1/2 cup light molasses
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg
1 cup shredded coconut
melted chocolate

Add and mix well—flour mixture.

Form into rolls 2" in diameter. Wrap in waxed paper. Chill well. Slice 1/4" thick. Place on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake at 375° F. Time: 10 minutes. Yield: 10 doz.

Pears and Plums Economical Buy for Canning Now

This certainly is the year when it will pay homemakers to can pears and plums.

Michigan will have over a million bushels of pears this year and over seven thousand tons of plums—almost half again as much of these two fruits as the 1941 to 1950 average. This means the wise shopper will find economical buys in plums and pears to can for her winter supply.

For those not familiar with plum varieties, the Green Gage variety is yellow, medium sized, oval, yellow fleshed, and is excellent for canning. The Damsco, a small purplish-black plum, tart in flavor, is used mostly for making jams and jellies. Japanese varieties are yellow fleshed, clingstone plums like the Burbank and Abundance that are excellent eaten fresh. The domestic type plums, like the Lombard and Italian and Stanley prunes, are also excellent canning varieties.

Look for plums that are plump, clean, fresh looking and full colored, when you buy. They should be soft enough to yield to a slight pressure at the tip of the plum. Ordinarily plums are sold in a 16 pound lug, a 28 pound crate, or a 56 pound bushel. It takes 2 to 2 1/2 pounds of fruit to fill a quart jar, so a bushel of plums will yield approximately 24 to 30 quarts canned.

Pears have a longer marketing season than plums, can be stored for eating out of hand, and are excellent for canning. They aren't adapted for freezing, because they are apt to become granular and mushy during the freezing process. Because they are low in pectin, they are not too well adapted for jams and jellies without the use of a commercial pectin.

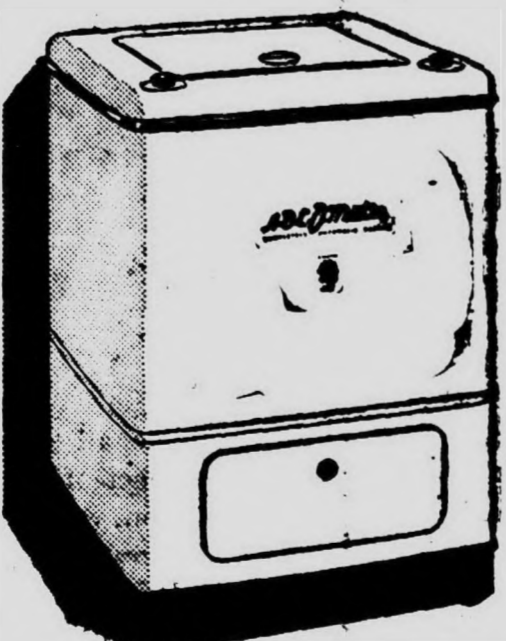

The main varieties of pears available in Michigan are Clapp's Favorite, Seckel, Bartlett, Bosc and Kieffer. The Bartletts are one of the best varieties for canning; the Seckels are best for pickling. The Kieffers have coarse granular flesh and are used extensively for commercial canning.

When buying, look for pears that are firm but not hard. It may be better to buy those that are slightly under-ripe and allow them to ripen at home. If they are used for eating out of hand, they should be stored in a dark place at a cool temperature. Pears will usually yield 18 to 24 quarts of canned fruit per bushel.

September Calls For Better Breakfasts

Better breakfasts belong to September as surely as the end of summer vacation or the first new tints of early-turning leaves. This, after all, is the month when school begins and studies demand a sturdy breakfast to see your youngster through the day. It's also a time when business activities—and the weather—get brisker, suggesting that Father could do with a better breakfast, too!

Fried Wheat Meal, a hot and hearty cereal treat for all the family, is one sure and tasty way to do your bit by the Better Breakfast. You'll find its recipe given below, along with other ideas to make the first meal of the day one of the finest.

Breakfast Menu I
Stewed Prunes and Apricots
Grape-Nuts with Milk or Light Cream
Scrambled Eggs
Buttered Toast
Coffee (milk for the children)

Breakfast Menu II
Orange Juice
Candy-coated Puffed Wheat with Milk or Light Cream
Raw Apple Slices and Broiled Sausages
Fried Wheat Meal
Coffee (milk for the children)

Fried Wheat Meal***
1 1/2 teaspoon salt
2 3/4 cups boiling water
1/2 cup wheat meal

*Add salt to boiling water in saucepan. Add cereal slowly, stirring constantly. Bring again to a boil and cook 3 minutes, stirring constantly. Pour into cold wet mold. Let stand overnight, or until cold and firm.
Turn from mold. Slice in 1/4-inch slices and saute in small amount of fat, turning to brown both sides. Serve with maple-blended syrup. Makes 6 servings. Left-over cooked wheat meal may be used in this way.

Buy Needles By Size, Not Set

The best way to buy needles is by the size rather than the set. Packages of assorted sizes may be the easy buy, but often prove inconvenient because they include so many coarse needles rarely used in home sewing and mending. No. 7 generally is the largest needle the home seamstress uses, yet sizes in packaged assortments often run as large as No. 3 which is suited only to sewing heavy canvas or duck.

It pays to know both size and type of needle suited to home jobs and buy accordingly. Otherwise, the sewing basket may have plenty of idlers but be short on the more useful sizes. Emergency mending jobs come up frequently in most households and then it's more than a nuisance to be out of the right needle. Sizes 9 or 10 are best for most dress materials and for hand sewing that calls for small stitches, so these sizes should be kept in ample supply. Sizes 7 and 8 are better for work on heavy fabric or basting.

There are three types of needles. "Sharps" are the medium-length, round-eye needles used most in home sewing. "Between" needles are shorter, preferred by some women for very fine sewing but often too short to hold comfortably. Crewel, or long-eye needles are designed for embroidery and darning thread. But women who have difficulty in seeing to thread needles may prefer crewels in small sizes for regular sewing because the long eye makes threading easy. The long eye, however, makes the needle more fragile and easier to break at the eye end.

To put some attractive flavor and color into biscuits mix them as usual, and just before rolling out the dough, stir in some finely chopped parsley. Good with any kind of meat or fish.

Suggestions For Mud Removal

Mud is a familiar problem in many households—mud-stained clothes, muddy shoes, mud tracked in on rugs and floors. Here are some suggestions on removing mud:

Clothes: Brush off all loose dry mud first. Then rinse mud-stained fabric several times in cold water to take out all particles of soil lodged in the yarns. Don't plunge mud-stained fabrics into hot soapsuds because some red or yellow clay makes a stain like iron-rust that may be set by hot soapsuds. When no more mud can be rinsed out in cool water, wash in warm soapsuds, using several washings if necessary.

Shoes: Even though dry mud comes off shoes more easily than wet mud, the specialists advise against the familiar practice of letting it dry on before brushing it off. Mud stains leather, and the longer it stays on, the worse the stain may be. Scrape off moist mud as promptly as possible and then wipe leather clean with a soft moist cloth. Stuff shoes with paper to help hold their shape, dry slowly and then repolish.

Rugs: Scrape off as much wet mud as possible with the dull side of a knife. Allow the rest to dry and then brush off. If a stain remains, sponge with a damp cloth, provided the rug can take moisture without removing the twist from the pile of the rug. Test in an inconspicuous place, if in doubt.

The Northville Cooperative Playground is accepting applications from Plymouth residents interested in placing their children, aged two and a half to five years, with the playgroup.

The group, which is nonsectarian, meets in the basement of the Northville Presbyterian church. Mrs. Elizabeth Hall of Wayne who formerly taught the Plymouth Cooperative Nursery is the teacher.

Mothers of children attending the playgroup work with the teacher two days a month.

Those interested in applying should see or call Mrs. Clifton Hill, at 17740 Beck road, or Northville 127.

Audubon Society to Show Film at Ann Arbor

"Voice of the Jungle", first in a series of six motion picture-lecture programs, sponsored by the Washtenaw Audubon Society and the Adult Education department of the Public Schools, will feature Dr. Arthur Allen, ornithologist from Cornell University.

Dr. Allen will present his program on October 4 in Pattenhall auditorium at Ann Arbor high school. The film, containing recorded sounds of the jungle, was used by the Armed Services during World War II to aid servicemen in overcoming fears of unusual jungle noises.

The non-profit series consists of natural history lectures who personally present all-color motion pictures of wildlife subjects.

Other programs on the schedule include: Dr. Walter J. Breckenridge and "Paul Bunyan Country" on October 18; Dr. Olin S. Pittingill, Jr., "In the Hills of Gold" on November 22; Karl Maslowski, "Earthquake Lake" on January 10; Carl W. Buchheister, "Wildlife Down East" on February 14; and Howard Cleaves, "Animals Unaware" on March 21. All programs will be held in the Pattenhall auditorium.

Season tickets for the series are on sale for $2 at Slater's Bookstore in Ann Arbor. Tickets may also be obtained by writing Mrs. Schwenkmeyer at 2565 W. Ellsworth road in Ann Arbor, or calling her at Ann Arbor 2-8000.

Equestrians to Compete Sunday

Junior horsemen competed for prizes in the "Northville Hunter Trails and fourth Competition for Junior Equestrian Teams" on Sunday, September 14. The competition was held at 46820 West Eight Mile road, one mile west of Northville. Classes in these trials were sponsored by the Northville Optimist club.

Beginning at 9 a.m. with a cross country hunting competition, in which riders went singly over a two-mile hunt course, containing 10 obstacles, the trials were continued in Western horsemanship, and beginners' horsemanship.

Other events were the junior equestrian team competition, lead rein class, Western pleasure horses competition, horsemanship, working hunters, and elementary dressage.

At the end of the competition, the Junior Equestrian Team Challenge Trophy was awarded. Jack Callaghan, Jr., a former member of the United States Army Equestrian team judged the event.

During the lunch period food was served at the club house.

Saxton's Offer Bulk Delivery

Feeds will soon be delivered to farms of this area much like the city dweller gets oil for his furnace.

Dean Saxton of Saxton Farm Supply in Plymouth has just announced a special type of delivery of Larro formula feeds by bulk truck which will be available in the near future. This new bulk delivery service will give farmers in this area an easier, faster and money saving method of handling feeds on their farms.

This special bulk feed service can be used profitably by the small feeder as well as the large feeder.

Saxton states that bulk delivery of feeds is a revolutionary concept which has swept the country in recent years. Instead of receiving feed in sacks, farmers now order a portion or full truck load of bulk feed which is unloaded by conveyor directly into bins on the farm.

According to Saxton there are many advantages to feeders in buying feed in bulk.

A demonstration of bulk feed operations will be held at Saxton Farm Supply Tuesday, September 30 starting at 1 p.m. All farmers in the area are urged to attend.

Harvey Whipple Dies in Northville

Funeral services were held last week for Harvey Whipple, 68, of Northville. He formerly lived near the out-skirts of Plymouth, and was well known to residents here.

Mr. Whipple died suddenly at his Northville home, 46280 West Main, on Saturday evening, September 6.

Born in Ovid, he lived in Port Huron and Detroit before settling in Northville for the past 23 years.

Mr. Whipple spent 32 years as secretary-treasurer of the American Concrete Institute prior to his retirement March 1. Before this, he had worked with The Port Huron Times, The Detroit News, and The Detroit Free Press for seven years.

Listed in "Who's Who in America", and "Who's Who is Engineering", he was also a member of the Torch Club and the Engineering Society of Detroit.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ina Whipple; three daughters, Mrs. Oscar Karrell and Mrs. Millard Lamphall, both of New York City, and Mrs. Edwin A. Brown of Avon Lake, Ohio; and a sister, Dorothy of Tokyo, Japan.

The total enrollment for the grades and high school at the close of school Tuesday night was 1,155. Compared with the enrollment at the same time last fall, we have an increase of 49 pupils, 23 in the first six grades and 26 in the high school. Enrollment by the end of September will have a capacity of 150,000 because there are several who are away on vacations.

The Chicago Bridge & Iron Works are erecting a new elevated steel tank for the Wayne County Training school. The tank will have a capacity of 150,000 gallons of water, and will set on a four panel steel tower 130 feet in height. The tank is located just west of the residence, which was known for many years as the Cook homestead.

A delegation of Novi farmers, Northville and Plymouth business men visited Lansing Monday afternoon, and appeared before the State Administrative Board to urge the construction of a state highway to run north and south from Grand River avenue to the existing paved road through Canton township. The proposed road will follow a quarter section line through Novi township to the Oakland county line, thence south through Northville on what is known as Center street. Thence south through Plymouth township on what is known as Moreland avenue.

As the time draws near for the appearance of the new Ford automobile on the market, much speculation has been manifested concerning its appearance and general make-up. The coming of the new car is awaited with great interest by the people of this community, many of whom are employed in the nearby plants and at the Rouge plant. The opening of these factories on a greater production basis than ever before will be a strong factor in the general prosperity of this locality.

Mrs. Ned May entertained a number of friends at a party, Friday evening, which honored Mrs. William Anderson, of Wayne, who was formerly Dorothy Hammond of this city. A most delightful evening passed in playing games which were followed by a dainty lunch.

Lea Raye Crane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Crane, celebrated her fifth birthday, Tuesday, with a party of five children who enjoyed games and a pony ride. Mrs. Crane served refreshments following the games.

PARDON MY GUST!

BENEATH that big broad bonnet is the reason for this headline. It's a four-barreled automatic carburetor—Airpower by name—which has a way of gulping in what the dictionary defines as "a sudden blast of wind" when extra power is needed.

And the way this gorgeous performer can step out as this occurs is something you'll always remember.

For ordinary driving, two barrels are all you need—and two barrels are all that are working. They give you an extra thrifty flow of fuel for round-town cruising.

When extra power is wanted in a hurry—the "reserves" swing into action—feeding extra fuel and extra air in an ever-thrifty mixture, which delivers the greatest horsepower in Buick history.

This is one of many distinctions that endear ROADMASTERS to fine-car owners.

It's a car as rich in finish as it is in power—a car of expansive room—restful silence—level in gait—beautifully responsive to your mood and will.

Food Inspection

Sergeant Harry Donohue of Plymouth, a combat veteran of both World War II and Korea, is now assigned to an Army food inspection detachment in Kansas City.

His mother, Mrs. Mabel Donohue, lives at 683 Kellogg.

In his present job Sergeant Donohue plays a vital role in the supply of food to American troops scattered around the world. His post, the 93rd Veterinarian Food Inspection detachment, passes on to the troops products, fruits and vegetables worth millions of dollars.

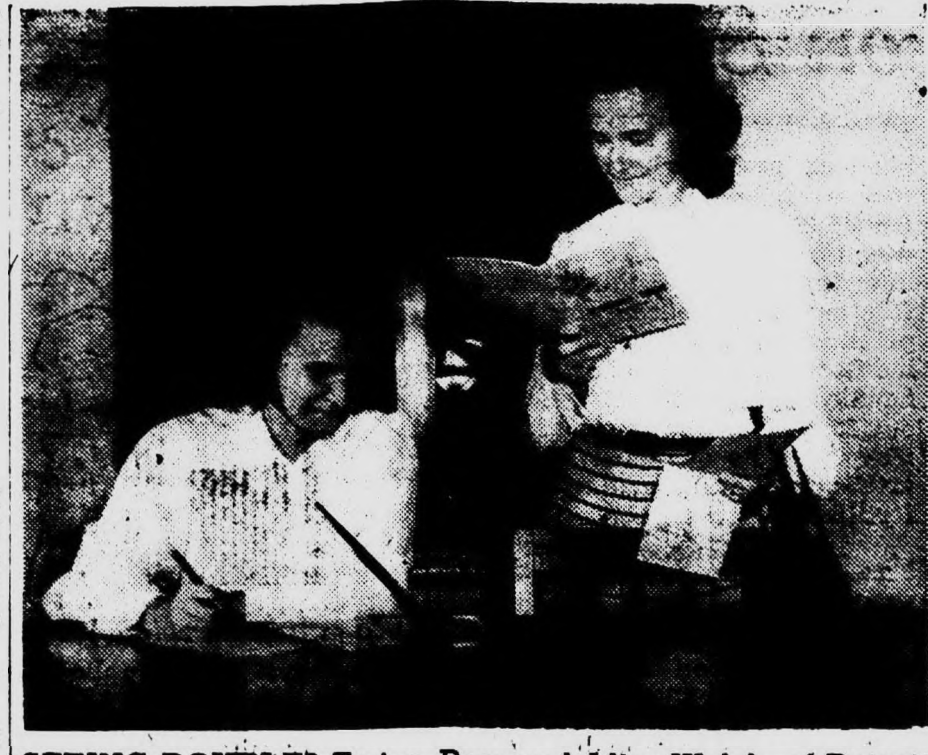

"We have two main objectives in our inspections," the Plymouth soldier said in a recent interview. "First, it's our job to make sure the food going to the troops is disease free. To do this we inspect the products as many as 100 times a day. Second, we check the conditions between the manufacturer and its delivery to a military overseas."

Donohue also makes certain that the food delivered to the troops meets the high standards required. The government pays a lot of money to get some of the nation's top quality food and we must see that the purchase conditions are met."

Donohue served 11 months as a cook in Korea with the 7th Infantry Division's 17th Infantry Battalion in its European campaign.

For his wartime achievements he has been awarded the Army Commendation Ribbon, Korean and European Service ribbons and the Combat Infantryman's Medal with mounted silver star. The medal indicates frontline service in two wars.

"I believe on me, the government will do also; and I will work more than these boys. I will go onto my job."

Donald E. Grange
 Airman First Class Donald E. Grange, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cass Grange of 39275 Warren road, recently arrived at Luke Air Force base to assume his new duty assignment in the United States Air Force.

Prior to coming to this advanced fighter-combat pilot training base, he was stationed at Shegona Air Force base, Alaska.

Airman Grange has four and one half years of service in the Air Force.

Roger G. Kidston
 Marine Roger G. Kidston, 20, of 185 Blunk street, is now stationed at Quantico, Virginia.

Sergeant Kidston is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur R. Kidston. His wife is the former Gladys Larder. He is a graduate of the Plymouth High school where he was a member of the debating team and varsity tennis player. Sergeant Kidston also attended the University of Michigan where he took pre-law courses.

George Truax and Walter Wells
 Two Plymouth Army men who recently arrived in the Far East have been assigned to the 1st Cavalry Division in Japan.

The men are PFC George E. Truax, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pictor A. Truax, 8890 Northern, and PFC Walter F. Wells, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Wells, 34170 Orange Lawn.

Their unit is currently undergoing extensive training while part of the security force for the Japanese islands. The division was transferred to Japan last December after 17 months of combat in Korea.

Wells attended Bentley High school and Truax is a graduate of Plymouth.

Airman First Class Freeman B. Hover, of Plymouth, has been selected "Airman of the Month", for August, at the 575th Air Base Group headquarters.

Hover, a senior clerk in the 575th's special order section, received the selection on the basis of "exemplary conduct, military appearance, and efficiency in the performance of his duties."

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Schoof of Plymouth, and a graduate of the University of Denver. He entered the Air Force in July, 1951, and completed his basic training at Sampson Air Force Base in New York. He was then sent to Selfridge Field.

Runners-up in the race for top honors were A1c Jeremiah Jones, 575th Food Service Sgdn. and A2c Raymond S. Gould, 575th Air Installations Sgdn.

If Diogenes were living today, his search for an honest man would take him no further than Plymouth. As a matter of fact, it could end at Humphries Repair Shop, 1028 Starkweather.

George Humphries walked into The Plymouth Mail Friday and asked Bookkeeper Elizabeth Hartwick if the cash register had been short the day before. "Yes, $10," replied Mrs. Hartwick. Humphries then stated that he discovered when he returned home from town Thursday evening that he had $10 too much money. Another trip through the stores he had visited finally brought him to The Plymouth Mail. "I would expect a customer of mine to do the same thing," said Humphries.

 Marine Corporal Donald Gottschalk, son of George Gottschalk, of 560 Kellogg street will soon participate in extensive Marine Corps training exercises in the Caribbean area.

Marine Air Group 14, Cherry Point, North Carolina, of which Corporal Gottschalk is a member, will cooperate with Marine ground and Naval units in maneuvers designed to improve the combat efficiency of these elements. Particular stress will be placed upon close air support of ground units, a doctrine developed by the Marine Corps during World War II.

Two Puerto Rican islands will be utilized as bases and training areas during the exercise.

Participating units are currently forming for the maneuver at Camp Lejeune, N. C.

Roger Babson Says---

Babson Discusses Wealth of the Sea
 Gloucester, Mass., September 18. As this is my last week in Gloucester, for this summer season, let me speak of the wealth of the sea. So many pessimistic articles are being written as to the waste of our land resources, let me call attention to the fact that three quarters of the earth's surface—namely, the oceans—are an undiscovered world of riches. The sea offers great opportunities to students, wage workers and investors. Owing to good harbors and other advantages, I believe Gloucester, Newburyport and other seaports have a great future.

Minerals in the Ocean
 Today there are few plants taking magnesium, iodine and bromine from the sea; but these are only a few of the available minerals. In addition, there are great quantities of aluminum, boron, calcium, chlorine, copper, fluorine, lithium, potassium, selenium, sulphur and zinc, not to mention sodium chloride. There is even gold! The sea contains enough of these minerals to last a thousand years and I visualize these seaports becoming great centers of these new industries. When I was a boy, the cod, haddock and mackerel business was at its height, while rosefish (now known as ocean perch) was thrown away. To illustrate how times change, the catching, filleting and freezing of ocean perch is now Gloucester's leading industry. Gloucester, however, is handicapped by the fish moving out further from the coast. They may later be attracted back by artificial lighting or the use of fertilizers.

New Kinds of Fish
 The next great development will be the catching and processing of "waste fish", such as pogies, squid, skate, etc. These are now used for fish oil and chicken food, but they have excellent nutritional qualities. Later we will be gathering, processing and canning planktonic organisms. This industry has a great future. Seaweed products will also be processed and sold.

The sea is very rich, due to the drainage accumulations from the land for millions of years; but it is now rapidly increasing in food values. While the farms of the West are gradually getting poorer through erosion and cultivation, the sea is constantly becoming richer. Every rain throughout the great agricultural West washes minerals, vitamins and other food products from the soil into the rivers and finally into the sea. A large portion of fertilizer being put on the soils finally goes into the ocean, while the rich sewerage of our large cities is making the sea a great storehouse for future foods. Readers who are interested in these new possibilities should talk with Dr. Henry B. Bigelow of the Oceanographic Institute at Woods Hole, Massachusetts, or the Scripps Institution at La Jolla, California.

Lessons of History
 During the early days of Gloucester, the chief industry was the cutting of timber, the sawing of boards, and the building of small vessels. Most of Massachusetts was then heavily wooded. By 1800 the timber of Cape Ann had largely been cut and shipbuilding moved to Essex. The next industry was the granite industry. Most of the Federal buildings of Boston, New York, Philadelphia and other large cities were built of Cape Ann granite. The "waste" was made into paving stones, which paved the streets of these cities. But concrete and asphalt came along and killed the granite business.

Although the fishing business had always existed in a small way, yet it was not fully developed until the granite business began to peter out. Later came the "summer people." Unfortunately, due (1) to the fish changing their habits of abode, (2) to unreasonable labor demands, and (3) in-increasing foreign importations, the fishing business, as now conducted, may be on the decline. But I am not worried as to the future. I believe that with the establishment of the new School for Fisheries the wealth of the sea will continue to make Gloucester and other seaports prosperous. Instead of filleting plants, Gloucester will have chemical works, pharmaceutical factories and will can the small planktonic organisms heretofore neglected.
