To Celebrate Revised Bible Edited for Clarity, Exactness, Meaning

The Revised Standard Version of the Bible, called by its publishers the "greatest Bible news in 341 years," comes in next week for a community wide celebration at a Bible Observation Service.

To be held at the First Presbyterian church, September 30, at 8:00 p.m., the celebration will mark acceptance of the Revised Version as the latest of many forms in which the Holy Book has been translated.

"It's a brand new translation," says Reverend Melburne I. Johnson, pastor of the First Methodist church.

"I believe," he states, that "it will clarify many obscure passages and put them in a language more readily understood by the layman. It will foster reading. It could mean the beginning of a spiritual renaissance in religion of our time."

The first Bible—the first complete book—printed with movable type was done by Johann Gutenberg and Johann Fust in Mainz, Germany, from 1450 to 1455.

It was followed in 1611 by the famous King James Version that has held sway in many churches some 341 years.

But there are some versions of the Holy Bible unknown to most laymen of modern times. In existence are editions of the Bishop's Bible authorized by the church of England in 1568. It is a facsimile of the Tyndale Bible of 1525 for which its translator was burned at the stake for heresy.

Then there is the Cloverdale version of this same period, which gives eight parallel translations in eight columns. Included are Hebrew, Latin, Greek, Arabic and Chaldee.

But long before the turn of the fifteenth century, the Bible was copied over and over by monks through the centuries. While most of such manuscript copies were in Greek or Latin, one was done in Anglo-Saxon in the seventh century by Caedmon, a lay monk.

Caedmon put portions of the Old Testament, life of Christ and teachings of the apostles in metrical form and the verses were sung to the people, who memorized them and passed them on from generation to generation, much as folk songs were transmitted.

Always grasping for the true words or meanings behind the Bible, there are earliest transmissions of the Book found in handwritten scrolls. Many valuable papyri, manuscripts and a recently discovered leaf from the Epistles of St. Paul, written in Greek and antedating to the third century, make up the known records of the growth of the Bible to its present day form.

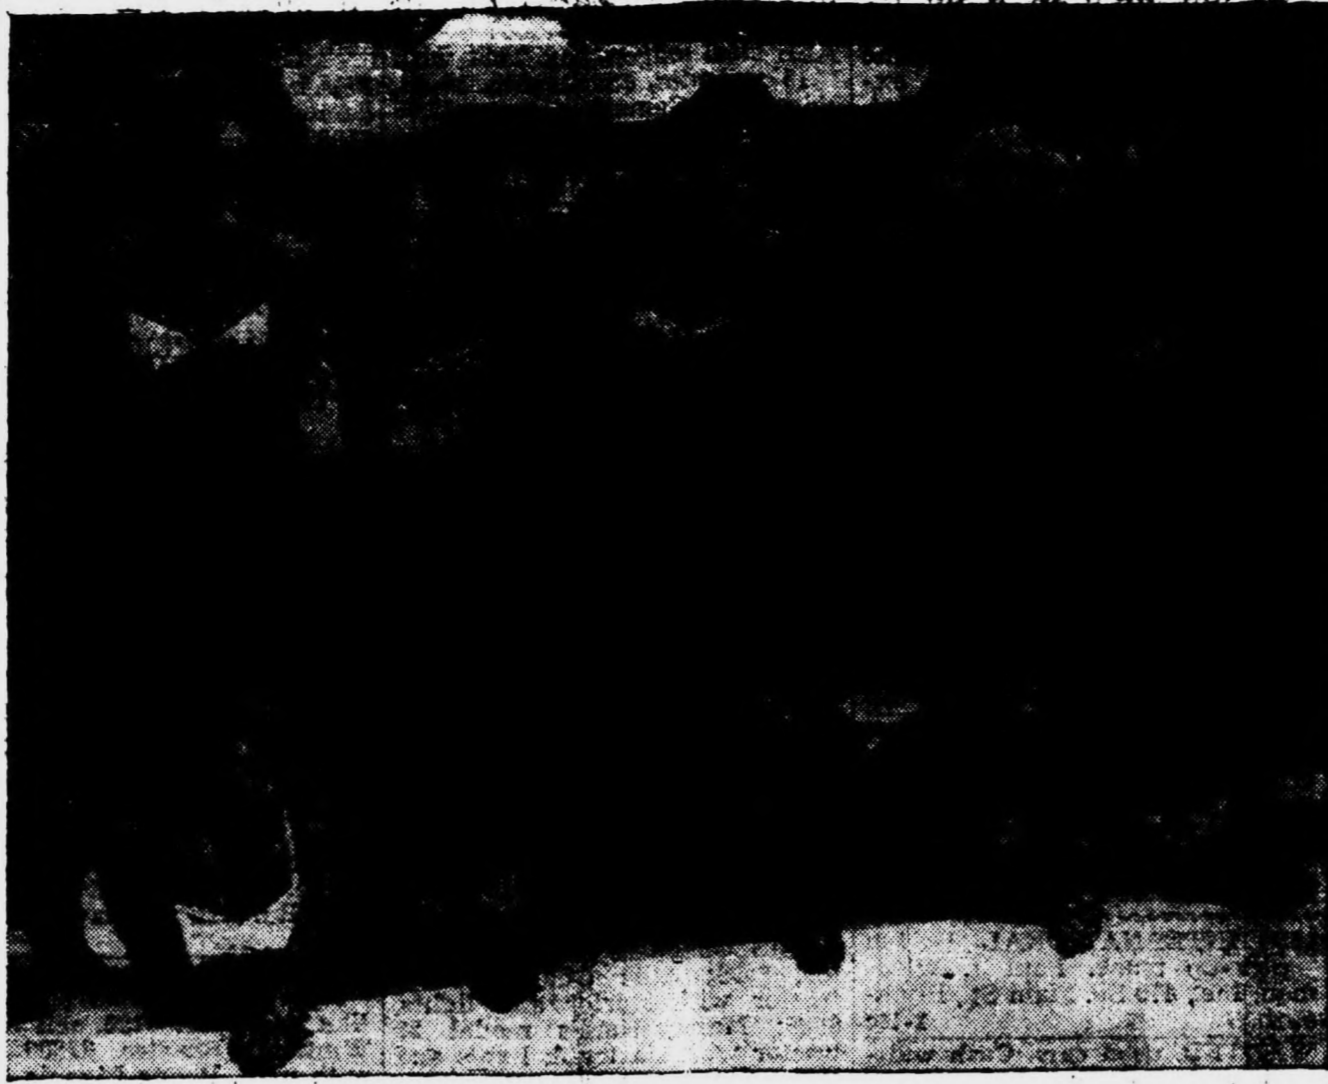

The leaf from St. Paul, the most recent discovery, was discovered in an Egyptian market in the early 1930's. Several leaves are now among other rare biblical finds owned by the University of Michigan and by the British Museum.

In addition to the English translation, the Bible is now in 1,000 different tongues. It has run the gauntlet of numerous translations, the most famous of which is the King James Version.

Revised and modernized as recently as 1833 by Noah Webster, this latter version has been a guidepost to religious thinking of many millions of English reading people.

Webster, publisher of a dictionary by that name, said he called for revision of the Bible to free it from words and expressions that become obsolete from errors in grammar and from expressions "repugnant to modern taste".

This newest revision, officially becoming the biblical and religious property of all nations, all people September 30, was made for this purpose. In part, it was a move by 32 of America's ablest Bible scholars under the sponsorship of 40 Protestant denominations, to restore the Bible more nearly to its original form by comparison of recent manuscript discoveries such as the Leaf from the Epistles of St. Paul.

Air Express Service Has 25th Anniversary This Month

Air Express industry celebrated its 25th birthday of service this month, states Leonard Millross local agent of the Railway Express. He states that the Air express carried on the scheduled air transportation systems of the U.S. began operation on September 1, 1927.

Air express started on four air lines: Colonial Air Transport, Boeing Air Transport, National Air Transport and Western Air Express. Today seven major airlines making one hundred seventy five flights makes it possible for shipments to be delivered almost anywhere in the U. S. overnight.

From the days of wood, wire, and cloth airplanes, Air express service has steadily progressed keeping pace with the tremendous growth of the Air transport industry.

In 1928 the first full year of operation the total number of air express shipments, carried was 17,000. In 1951 there were 4,300,000 with a revenue of about 30 million dollars.

At the start only 26 cities were served by the airlines and today there are over 1,100 air express offices in airport cities. These are closely coordinated with rail express service so that 23,000 communities throughout the country have the benefit of air express service. Air express also extends to Alaska, Canada, Hawaii and Cuba.

2,800 People See Game Last Friday

An estimated 2,800 people attended the Northville-Plymouth football game last Friday night. It was one of the largest crowds ever to attend a local game and seats were available for only 1900 fans.

According to high school principal Carvel Bentley, Northville and Plymouth usually attract the largest crowds at home games and school officials will watch with interest the attendance at future games on the schedule. If the first game attendance is any criterion of future crowds it may become necessary to add more seats on the field to accommodate the patrons.

A net gate of about $1,100.00 was collected from the game. Plymouth meets Redford Union this Friday night.

Urges Care When Working on Lawn

If monsters and boogeymen lurked in your own backyard it probably couldn't be any less safe than it is!

Few realize that the yard is second only to the kitchen as the scene of home accidents. The yard ranks first in injuries for men and boys.

Suggested, in this fall season, is extra precaution when you are raking and burning leaves and getting flowerbeds "winterized".

Never allow rakes and hoes to lie in the grass or leaves with teeth and sharp edges turned up—keep them in a storage place when not in use. Handle scythes and grass-cutting equipment with care. Provide closed containers for broken glass and other discarded sharp objects.

Fires, of course, must be carefully controlled in yards so it is wise to have a metal container for burning. A fire extinguisher in the garage would be a wise investment, but remember to keep it filled and in good working order. Become safety-conscious about not throwing lighted matches and cigarettes in grass and leaves, too.

Falls rank high as the cause of home injuries and often prove fatal for persons over 65. Keep steps, walks and porches in good repair at all times. Provide a sturdy handrail for all steps and be careful that snow and ice are removed in the wintertime. As inside the house, toys and trash on the ground can be menace. For nighttime, rig up good lights on driveway, walks, steps and porches. Such a light should be controlled by switches in both house and garage.

Storm Warning Network to be Set up Locally

A storm warning network for Plymouth and Western Wayne out-county is being organized by the U.S. Weather Station at Willow Run airport.

Shooting for hour by hour "pinpoint" forecasting, the storm warning plan calls for a volunteer network to provide the bureau with detailed advance warnings of approaching storm centers.

Chief Meteorologist and Plymouthite Ernest B. Williams, of the Willow Run station, is heading the drive to put weather alert system into operation.

Set up to protect the public and property in this area, Williams notes that besides his own personnel and volunteer observers, he is seeking aid from state police, personnel of small airports and such agencies as utility companies having extensive 'round the clock field operations.

The plan, which will set up a protective network around Plymouth, Ypsilanti and the Ann Arbor area, will work this way:

Specially instructed observers detecting the approach of a severe storm center will immediately alert the Willow Run station. These reports, collected from between 20 to 25 strategically located observers will be screened. A radar scope will be directed toward the approaching storm, its severity, course, speed and time of arrival in each area charted.

Following evaluation, all reports of severe storms converging on the Plymouth area will be released for broadcast by area radio stations.

"Such a system has proved extremely valuable, especially in those areas subject to tornadoes, hurricanes and other types of violent storms," Williams said.

Though violent, turbulent storms are unusual in this area, he noted that records point out that severe wind and hail storms generally take a heavy toll of property within the tri-city area.

The advantage seen in "pinpoint" forecasting through a volunteer observer network in cases where severe storms lash the area is "to alert all residents to take the necessary precautions to prevent injury or loss of life."

The tri-city area and their hinterlands that will be placed under the protective wing of the Willow Run Weather station, will be divided into four quadrants. Each quadrant will have a staff of at least five weather observers.

"Inasmuch as most violent storms enter the Plymouth area from the northwest or southwest, it is to the advantage of Plymouth residents to have its spotters in the west side of the city," Williams pointed out.

"What is really needed," he said, "is an alert concentration of spotters in that area, thereby giving the weather bureau sufficient time to post warnings with the Plymouth city hall or radio stations nearby."

The meteorologist expert observed that violent storms can occur at nearly any time of the year. But, generally, he said, the worst storms can usually be expected in early spring and throughout the summer months.

Williams, himself a Plymouth resident living at 597 Ann street, encourages volunteer weather observers to contact the Willow Run Weather Bureau for special instructions and assistance. The telephone number is Ypsilanti, 2632.

Here is a story of twins who won nearly $700 in "twin" awards the minute they were born.
Beating a September 23 deadline of Westinghouse's "It's a Blessed Event" advertising campaign, Mrs. Robert W. Angove, 701 Irvin street, gave birth to twin boys and won a Westinghouse Laundromat and Clothes Dryer and 750 units of Gerber's baby food.
As part of their fall advertising campaign, Westinghouse made a national promise that they would award all parents of twins born during a 24 hour period on September 23, their automatic washer and clothes dryer "twins".
The Angoves, who have two other children, remarked "it's just wonderful." They became proud parents of twin boys, Robert W., Jr., and Mark J., at 7:13 and 7:20 p.m., last Tuesday. The births were recorded at Mt. Carmel hospital in Detroit.

New Law Makes it Crime to Refuse Emergency Caller Use of Telephone

A refusal to release a shared telephone circuit to a person summoning firefighters or police, seeking medical aid or calling for other emergency help is now an offense under criminal statutes of State law.

The amendment went into effect last week. It provides a penalty of $100 in fines and up to a 90-day jail sentence for an offender refusing to surrender a party line for most types of emergency calls where life or property is endangered.

The party-line law, that went into effect 90 days after it was approved by the chief executive, is hailed by fire chiefs throughout the state.

Twice within the last year two persons died in fires resulting from party-line telephone users refusing to yield a telephone circuit as the interrupting caller's home was engulfed in flames.

A second amendment approved by legislators also makes it a misdemeanor for anyone to purchase a gas or compressed air gun without receiving a purchaser's license for the weapon.

Buyers of such guns, not including spring operated weapons (BB guns), must be a citizen of the United States, resided in the State of Michigan for at least six months and be at least 21 years of age.

The guns must be registered and a permit to carry them must be issued by the county concealed-weapons licensing board.

is of considerable importance to us. Most of the usable timber in the Pacific Northwest is getting more and more remote as lumbering operation and logging proceeds."

W. J. Ritchie, sales manager of Evans' Western Division, pointed out that with the acquisition of the new plant at Winchester, the division's plywood-making capacity will be increased yearly to nearly 100,000,000 square feet.

"We will continue to produce plywood at our Coos Bay plant," he said. "Our plywood customers will benefit from our new equipment, our selective logging practices, and the greater flexibility which the facilities of two producing centers will now make possible."

City-Wide Plea for $4,300 Made by Plymouth Symphony Society

Five regularly scheduled concerts, open without charge to the public, are studied with vocal and instrumental artists. They highlight the 1952-53 concert season getting underway here October 26.

In addition, conductor of the symphony, Wayne Dunlap, assistant professor of music at the University of Michigan, says the yearly offering of the Messiah will again be made this year.

Pinpointing symphony costs, society officials report that 71 per cent of last year's budget went to transporting key symphony players from their homes in other cities. Also included in this cost that exceeded $2,900 was a "nominal" sum paid to visiting artists known in Ann Arbor, Detroit and Plymouth for their vocal and instrumental talents.

Subscriptions which entitle the donors to all publications of the Symphony Society may be mailed to: Plymouth Symphony Society, Box 99, Plymouth, Michigan.

Hints for Plymouth Homemakers

Michigan Apples Now on Market

Apples from Michigan orchards are on the market. Michigan's crop—although considerably below last year's crop in volume—is of good quality and ready for consumers to use for between-meal snacks and flavorful salads and desserts.

Although apple prices are reasonable this year, the best buy is still by the bushel. Usually a bushel of apples cannot be kept in the refrigerator, which would be the desirable place.

The next best thing to do is to find the coolest spot in the house, where there is good air circulation. This may mean the basement.

Can Fruits in Hot Water Bath

The hot-water bath for processing fruits and acid vegetables is recommended because, boiling water supplies enough heat for preserving them.

A water bath canner is a flat bottom round or oblong container in which water can be boiled. It should be 12 or more inches deep, have a lid and also a rack or basket to hold the jars one third inch or more above the bottom of the canner.

A water bath is usually preferred to a steam pressure canner for processing fruits and tomatoes because higher than boiling temperature (212°F. at sea level) is not needed to prevent spoilage in acid foods and because fruits and tomatoes are less likely to be overcooked when processed in boiling water.

To use a water bath canner, put water in canner to heat before preparing the food for canning. Water should be hot but not boiling when filled jars are lowered into it. Jars are likely to break if put into a canner of boiling water. Add more hot water, if needed, to cover the tops of the jars one or more inches. Bring water to a rolling boil as quickly as possible, then begin counting time. Keep water boiling steadily. Remove jars from canner as soon as processing time is up, and stand them several inches apart and out of a draft to cool. Next day, test the jars to be sure they are sealed.

Canned Citrus Just Right For Salads

Salads should be light and tart, and nothing makes them that way so simply as canned Florida grapefruit sections. This Citrus Quickie Gel Salad has as its base the tangy, economical canned grapefruit sections, and much of the simplicity is the fact that the salad is molded right in the can!

Canned Florida citrus products offer maximum convenience plus tops in nutrition and flavor. Here is the recipe for this shimmering but simple salad:

Citrus Quickie Gel
1 envelope unflavored gelatine
3 stuffed olives, sliced
1 No. 2 can Florida grapefruit sections
Drain syrup from grapefruit sections; reserve ¼ cup. Soften gelatine in syrup; place over boiling water and stir until dissolved. Turn grapefruit sections into bowl, add sliced olives; return to can. Pour gelatine mixture over grapefruit sections; chill until firm. To unmold, dip in hot water up to top of can. Unmold on plate; cut into slices. Serve with salad greens. YIELD: 5 servings.

It is Easy to Cook Outdoors

There's something about eating in the open that helps fulfill man's desire to get back to nature.

During the early fall, it's fun to pack up the makings for Sunday's dinner and cook it in the open. For these outings, include foods which are easy to prepare and you'll have the rest of the day for outdoor relaxation.

Take along several different kinds of meats for the picnic grill and let everyone join in the fun of being chef for a day.

Improvised Fireplace for Outdoor Cooking

You don't need special equipment for outdoor cooking. The meats may be cooked on a rack or a flat metal plate or both. The rack for the fireplace can be an oven rack (one from your range or an old one set aside for this purpose). For the cooking plate, you can use a sturdy cookie sheet. Support these on large flat stones, bricks or two logs.

Before cooking, let the fire burn down to a bed of glowing coals. Rub the rack or plate with fat to prevent the meats from sticking. The fuel may be either charcoal or wood. Use dry, hard woods, such as oak, elm, maple or hickory.

Picnic Cookables

Meats—For the outdoor grill, choose meats which you would fry or broil at home. Club, sirloin, T-bone, and cubed steaks; ground beef patties, frankfurters, ham slices, lamb steaks, sliced liver sausage, summer sausage, bologna and sliced canned luncheon meat all are good choices.

Vegetables—Choose vegetables which will require little preparation. Wrap potatoes, corn on the cob or sweet potatoes in aluminum foil and place on the back of the fireplace or in hot coals to roast.

Picnic Grill
Picnic Patties—Season each pound of ground beef with 1 teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper. For extra juicy hamburgers, add

Consumer Education Program Available in Plymouth This Fall

A new consumer education program on food will be available in Michigan this fall. C. Olaf Talla, manager of the Kroger Detroit branch which operates stores in this area, announced today.

The plan, developed by the home economics division of the Kroger Food Foundation in cooperation with merchandisers and home economics leaders in several states, was reviewed and approved at a meeting of Extension Service, Vocational Homemaking, and Kroger Co. officials at Michigan State college recently.

Designed to assist teachers of home economics and leaders of homemakers clubs, 4-H clubs, and Future Homemakers of America chapters with studies of food information, the Kroger Consumer Information Program offers field trips through stores, warehouses and bakeries coupled with informative food data.

Supply, price, grades, quality, and varieties of food are among the subjects included, with special items receiving emphasis when desired. New foods on the market and new methods of distribution may be discussed, as well as shopping hints and how to buy for economy, efficiency, and good nutrition.

Tours may be arranged through local Kroger store manager, or by writing Mr. Talla at the branch office in Detroit.

Rubber Emulsion Paints

Many of us are wondering about the highly advertised Rubber Emulsion Paints—where and how should this new product be used? Once again, PEASE Paint and Wallpaper company at 834 Penniman avenue comes up with helpful information on the use of this new product.

The most important thing to remember in using Rubber Emulsion Paints is to follow manufacturer's directions exactly. Rubber Emulsion Paints are easy to apply with brush or roller. Mr. Pease suggests that rollers be washed in a sudsy water first and that some of the suds remain; this will help in easy cleaning of the roller.

Rubber Emulsion Paints are fast drying to the touch. Most have no objectionable odor, are definitely washable when thoroughly dry and have a very good resistance to alkali. They are suitable for application on porous surfaces, and therefore over wallpaper. But . . . the subsequent removal of the wallpaper which has thus been coated, may present difficulties.

Rubber Emulsion Paints are not necessarily one coat paints—results are actually better with two thin coats rather than with one heavy coat. Mr. Pease feels that Rubber Emulsion Paints are not the best for bathrooms or for any but the upper walls in kitchens. And they should never be applied over a fairly glossy or glass sealed surface. In application over glossy surfaces, a flat drying primer should first be applied.

The manufacturer's directions should be followed in intermixing for color combinations—oil colors should not be used for tinting Rubber Emulsion Paints. These paints should not be used below ground level where seepage might be present, or directly over metals, as it is likely to cause rust rather than prevent it. It is wise to use a flat-drying undercoat on new wood under these paints.

Perhaps all this sounds formidable, but Mr. Pease says that he feels the new Rubber Emulsion Paints are to be highly recommended for a very satisfactory finish when manufacturer's directions are followed. Improvements and developments are continually being made in this new type of paint, so keep in touch with Mr. Pease as he will have up-to-date information on the Rubber Emulsion Paints and their application.

TO ALL SAVINGS DEPOSITORS:

You are hereby notified that, pursuant to action of the Board of Directors of this Bank, the rules and regulations governing savings deposits with this Bank (sometimes referred to as the "savings by-laws") have been amended, effective September 30, 1952, to read as follows:

"Rules and Regulations Governing Savings Deposits"

- Sec. 1. Deposits in amounts of $1.00 or more will be accepted; but the bank reserves the right to refuse to accept any deposit at any time and the right to return all or any part of any deposit or deposits, with the accrued interest thereon, whenever it may deem such action expedient.
- Sec. 2. Each depositor opening a savings account shall receive a pass book, and must sign or place his or her mark or finger prints on a signature card. By the acceptance of such pass book or the signing of such signature card, the depositor shall be deemed to have given unconditional assent to the by-laws of the bank and these rules and regulations, and any and all additions, alterations, amendments or repeals thereof as provided for in section twelve (12).
- Sec. 3. All deposits and withdrawals shall be entered in the books of the bank and in the pass book, which shall be the depositor's voucher or evidence of deposit. When deposits or withdrawals are made, the pass book shall be presented for entry of such deposit or withdrawal; provided, however, that upon assurance satisfactory to an authorized representative of the bank, payment may be made without the presentation of the pass book. All payments to depositors may be made in current funds.
- Sec. 4. Money will be paid to the depositor in person, or to the order of the depositor, provided the order is in form satisfactory to the bank and accompanied by the pass book. The bank reserves the right to require ninety (90) days' written notice of all withdrawals of deposits; provided, however, that all payments shall be made in accordance with the requirements of the Banking Act of 1933 as amended.
- Sec. 5. If the pass book is mislaid, stolen or lost, the depositor must give immediate notice of the fact to an officer attached to the savings department of the bank. Upon satisfactory proof to the bank of such loss or theft of the pass book, and upon delivery to the bank of such security or bond of indemnity as shall be required by the bank for its protection, the amount of the deposit then standing to the credit of the depositor shall be transferred to a new account and a new pass book issued therefor.
- Sec. 6. An account may be opened (a) by a minor, or (b) by any person in the name of and for the benefit of a minor, and in either case withdrawals may be made (as provided for in these rules and regulations) by such minor, unless, in case (b), the person opening the account shall otherwise direct.
- Sec. 7. Interest will be allowed at such rate or rates and upon such balances as may be determined from time to time by the Board of Directors. The method of determining balances upon which interest will be allowed the time such balances shall remain on deposit to be entitled to interest, the method of computing interest and the dates upon which interest will be credited to depositors will also be as determined from time to time by the Board of Directors. A record of such determinations by the Board of Directors will be on file at all offices of the bank.
- The bank reserves the right to limit the amount of the balance which any one depositor may have to his credit in one or more accounts.
- Sec. 8. Accounts in which no deposit, except in the crediting of interest, or from which no withdrawal shall have been made for a period of ten consecutive years, shall not be entitled to any further payment of interest, except in cases of special agreement to the contrary.
- Sec. 9. No charge shall be made to cover the expense of opening an account, unless it is closed within three months from the date of the opening thereof, in which case a charge of fifty cents (50c) will be made, which may be retained by the bank out of the funds on deposit prior to their withdrawal.
- The bank reserves the right to make such service charges on savings accounts for excessive activity or otherwise as may be fixed from time to time by the Board of Directors.
- Sec. 10. In receiving items for deposit or collection, in cashing checks and in any and all other transactions between the depositor and this bank within the purview thereof, the provisions of "The Bank Collection Code," being Act 240 of the Public Acts of Michigan for 1931, and any and all amendments or additions thereto, shall govern and apply in respect of every act or event in the course of or arising out of such relation, whether done or occurring within or without the State of Michigan; provided that any item transmitted for collection to any Federal Reserve Bank shall be subject to the rules and regulations thereof and of the Federal Reserve Board then in force.
- Sec. 11. Upon the closing of an account by the depositor, or the bank, the pass book shall be returned to the depositor, which act shall constitute a full acquittance and release by the depositor of the bank of all sums due to the depositor.
- Sec. 12. These rules and regulations may be added to, altered, amended, or repealed at any time by resolution of the Board of Directors, and such additions, alterations, amendments, or repeals shall be binding upon each depositor after notice of the same shall have been given to him by publication thereof, once each week for two successive weeks, in any newspaper published or circulated in the City of Detroit, Michigan, or by depositing any such notice in the Post Office at Detroit, Michigan, with postage prepaid, addressed to the depositor at the last address shown on the books and records of the bank."

stunts that gave the large crowd which filled the streets, a real thrill.

So that high school students may have a greater opportunity to do their share in various war activities, James Lature, director of public speaking, has decided that Plymouth's debating schedule will be dropped this year and in its place will be substituted a program of patriotic activities in connection with civilian defense. Students will be given opportunities to appear on programs devoted to civilian war activities, such as presenting patriotic skits, patriotic dramatic readings and other similar program features.

Into the melting pot from which flows the metal that makes guns for American fighting lads, will go the beautiful iron fence that for more than half a century has surrounded one of the show-places of Plymouth, the attractive home of Mrs. George Wilcox on Penniman avenue. Mrs. Wilcox has notified city officials that she will donate the many tons of iron fence around her home to the government, providing city officials will remove it.

A number of householders discovered this week that there isn't a garbage can to be had in this city. Not a single dealer has any on hand and all of them say they haven't the slightest idea of whether they will ever get any more garbage cans for civilian use.

Blunk and Thatcher's furniture store topped the list among Plymouth merchants in the sale of war bonds and stamps last week. A total sale of $1081.80 worth of war bonds resulted from the sales efforts of the clerks in the store.

The Junior English classes of Plymouth high school under the direction of Miss Irene Waldorf, instructor, are sponsoring a drive for books for Plymouth boys in service.

Mrs. Katherine Hughes, Chairman of the Christian Science War Relief Committee of First Church of Christ Scientist of Plymouth reports that a shipment of clothing, bedding, and other articles, nearly all of them hand made from new materials, was forwarded recently to the general headquarters in Boston, Massachusetts, whence the articles will be sent overseas for the relief of war sufferers abroad.

Y-Teens Hear Reports on Summer Conference

Margaret Amrhein, Shirley Saner, and Lauree Merillat gave their reports on Y-Teen summer conference at the first meeting of the white chapter of the Y-Teens held Thursday, September 11, in room 26. The girls brought back many new ideas for improving the club.

Nancy Kroff, president, gave the announcement concerning the coming year and the club discussed taking in new members.

Sally Truesdell, program chairman, and her committee are busily making up the schedule for future activities.

Girls' Athletic Activities Named

Soccer, touch football, volleyball, table tennis and swimming are the activities which highlight the girls physical education program this fall. Because the swimming program will accommodate only part of the group this semester the other will have to wait until next semester.

Other activities the class will offer throughout the year will include: basketball, softball, tumbling, track, square, social and folk dancing.

Leaders Club and G.A.A., the two girls athletic clubs, will include in their activities six playdays with other schools and perhaps several playdays with their parents.

Majorettes to Wear New Blue Uniforms

Colorful new uniforms of flour-scent blue satin and silver braid worn by the seven majorettes will add glamour to the 70 piece marching band of Plymouth High school this year.

Band director Laurence Livingston stated that the band will appear at seven football games including all five home games and two others at Belleville and Trenton respectively. Before each of the five home games the band will parade through the business district of Plymouth.

Other activities for this fall include participation in the annual Halloween and Christmas parades and the presentation of the band show on December 4.

In the future it is a possibility that the band will take part in the homecoming celebration at Michigan State Normal college at Ypsilanti and also appear in the half time show at a Detroit Lions football game at Briggs stadium in Detroit.

In MNwaukee, Dr. John W. Markson, psychiatrist and lecturer on "What Is Love?", was divorced by his wife, who declared that he had never shown her.

Dancing Baileys-Mountain Kids at the Country Fair

With the aroma of fresh coffee and the smell of doughnuts the Grangers Country Fair will get underway tomorrow, Friday, September 26. Colorful booths will be arranged throughout the Grange hall, which will house the displays of handiwork, bake goods, fish pond and the sale of coffee and doughnuts.

Highlights of the fair are the Silver tea which will be held in the afternoon and the awarding of a quilt which the Grange ladies made. The quilt is currently on display in Dunning's window, and previously was in Blunk's front window.

The Dancing Baileys from Northville will furnish music and entertainment for the fair-goers. They will present tap and ballet specialty numbers, for which there will be no charge for the patrons. The Candy Mountain Kids, a musical trio from Northville will give forth with their renditions of many old favorites. Following the entertainment the awarding of the quilt will take place.

A display of craft copperware accessories for the home will be on display.

In Cleveland, William J. Day asked a court to free him from his legal obligation to pay $12,100 back alimony to his ex-wife Eve on the grounds that she had waited 25 years to demand a financial settlement of their divorce decree. 2) during those 25 years married six other men.

HOW MUCH FUN do you get from a GALLON OF GAS ?

"MILES PER GALLON" is something everyone talks about—and Buick owners take pride in telling us that they're doing OK on this score.

But the kind of miles is important too. The real pay-off you get when you own a Buick is in what happens while you're turning gas into power.

Every drop of gas sets off a tiny tornado of compacted energy in Buick's Fireball 8 Engine.

You swoop from a standing start to any speed the law or good sense permits with effortless smoothness, thanks to Dynaflo Drive.*

poise—ease your grip on the steering wheel and feel the car seek a straight course again like a compass points to the pole.

This is travel as you've always hoped to find it—relaxed, carefree, luxurious, happy—while you leave the miles behind.

Yes indeed—life's different in a Buick. How different you should find out firsthand.

How about letting us give you a sample—any day you say?

Hotelman, golfer and popular Plymouth host Ralph G. Lorenz was honored by members of the Michigan Hotel Association at their summer meeting and round-up last week at Johnson's Rustic resort at Houghton Lake. Named vice-president of the group at their annual election Mr. Lorenz will help lead the destinies of the association this coming year along with the new president Paul Kilborn of Detroit, treasurer Harry Paulson of the Detroit Tullar Hotel and David Kennedy of the Marquette Hotel in Marquette who is secretary. Hotel managers from six states attended the meeting.

"I'm a tough cookie" says Cyro Scalingi, "and I've played a lot of baseball but nothing like this ever happened to me before." Sporting a broken knuckle on his right hand for over playing his position as Daisy second baseman in the last game of the season he now depends entirely on vitality and voice to carry on his daily duties as Daisy's director of research and development.

Sometimes it pays to be pessimistic! Bud Schraeder learned this last Wednesday at the state Kiwanis golf tourney at Meadowbrook. Taking a 20 handicap to enter the "kickers" drawing, which was held for net scores of 70 to 80, Bud shot a "sizzling" 87 and found himself with a net 67! A special award for "the most pessimistic golfer" was made and Bud received an auto directional compass!

Police Chief Carl Greenlee has one lament — thieves, thugs and just plain bandits stay away from our door. "It just shouldn't have happened," says Chief Greenlee. He was speaking about the crooks that robbed two drug stores last week of $1,020. But he wasn't forgetting the Penn Theater safe "job" that netted safe-crackers $1,800, nor the attempted B & E of the Plymouth Finance company and the gas station job that netted some small change. Too, there was the Bathey Manufacturing thief to account for and . . . and . . . They're all still part of the "who done it" list. We predict that sometime soon there'll be a plain clothesman added to solve a growing backlog of thefts that have caused businessmen and residents over $3,000 in losses since June.

A 7:40 a.m. auto crash that roused drowsy Penniman-Evergreen residents from their beds, also awoke a work-bound motorist who suddenly found the front end of his almost new car neatly entwined around a telephone pole. Rudely awakened from his "costly" cat nap was Charles T. Leach, Jr., 18, of Pinckney, bound for his job at the Wayne Welding Supply company in Detroit. Leach, who surveyed his predicament after crawling from the vehicle uninjured, took a longing glance toward his home in Pinckney — some 40 miles away. Police reported that Leach fell asleep at the wheel of his car, crashing into a telephone pole at the Penniman-Evergreen intersection.

Former city clerk Edward Pothoff was a Plymouth visitor last Saturday. Now with the Public Administration Service of Chicago he and his wife are now living in Philadelphia where the Service is conducting a study which will eventually bring about a complete change of government in that municipality. Commenting favorably on Plymouth's parking program which he keeps posted regularly on through the columns of The Plymouth Mail he further stated that of all the weekly papers he had come into contact with throughout the east there still were none that were as good as The Mail.

The warning is out to Plymouth merchants—be careful of la petite jeune filles (French mademoiselles to you), they might be dangerous. Bearing this out is the case of the "French" war bride in Dayton, Ohio, who explained to merchants she had been in Dayton only a few months—and she was bewildered by American currency. Therefore, she explained, her husband had opened a checking account for her. The (?) merchants were entranced—so petite, so chic—and ooh la la that accent—her eyes. Then the checks bounced. Five of them totaling $166. "Cherchez la femme," the merchants screamed, "toot sweet." So it came to pass—the police in Dayton located Marie Ann de Debareaux. Only, they identified her as Ilda Pearl Mole, 20, of nearby Fairborn.

Roger Babson Says---

Babson Discusses World War III Philadelphia, Pa., September 25. Two years ago everyone was worried about World War III. Newspapers told of the defense plans being made by the government; magazines printed gory descriptions of the probable destruction of American cities; while families were buying small "hide-away" farms or building bomb-proof cellars. Today we hear very little talk along these lines, except by those families who have boys in Korea. General sentiment now is that World War III will not come for ten or twenty years. —"so why worry?"

What the Experts Tell Me Strange to say, this "City of Brotherly Love" is one of the chief centers for producing war materials. This gives me an opportunity to get some inside information. Experts here tell me that the prospects for World War III during the next year or two are greater than ever. They claim that Russia is now putting us to sleep and may jump upon us at any time. It is hard to believe this because it seems to me that Russia would have attacked us during the past six months if she wanted to start World War III. Experts, however, insist that Russia is waiting only to build up a greater supply of atomic bombs and supersonic airplanes; they are especially disturbed by the Russian-Chinese Conference now being held in Moscow.

Obviously, the present Korean situation cannot last indefinitely: one side or the other must quit. If we should quit, this would certainly result in bringing on more trouble somewhere else; while if the Chinese should quit, it could result in Russia losing all her Asiatic gains. Therefore, the fear is that Russia, through the Chinese, may issue an ultimatum to the United States giving us a certain time limit in which to get out of Korea, —"or else". This could cause a severe break in the stock market and in business. This ultimatum could come directly after elections in November, especially if Eisenhower should be elected.

What World War III Would Mean Of course, Russia may suddenly adopt the "Pearl Harbor" program by dropping atomic bombs on one or more of our large cities without a prior ultimatum. Although we are building a marvelous radar system, yet experts tell me that some Russian planes could get through during the first twenty-four hours and kill millions of American people. In either case, Congress would immediately be called into session, and very stringent controls would be applied to all kinds of business. Profits would largely be taken away by 90 per cent taxation; and in 30 days we would be living in a new world.

World War III would result in much further deflation of the dollar, its value perhaps falling to twenty-five cents. Hence, some people believe that the stock market — after the first big drop — would recover and go to greater heights than ever. So long as our country remains immune from damage, this might be true; but if some of our big cities were bombed and a few million Americans—including women and children—were killed, the stock exchanges would be closed and panic would reign. Let no reader fool himself that in the next World War he will have an opportunity to "make money."

What Shall We Do? The above does not mean we should get panicky today. It, nevertheless, does mean that we should not forget the possibility of World War III coming at any time. Even an ultimatum by Russia would give our markets a great scare, even though Russia might try this only as a bluff. If Russia should decide to strike without notice, as did the Japanese, then World War III will have started in all its fury.

In view of the above, I appeal to readers to take time to figure out what they would be obliged to do and how they would be affected if World War III should soon come—no gasoline, standing lines for foods, and all our boys gone to war. Think back to what happened to you during World War II, and multiply those inconveniences by several times. If you now live in a large vulnerable city, get a small place in the country before it is too late.

BPW to Celebrate National Week

The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, Inc., is aiming to deliver a million new or hitherto dormant votes to the polls in the fall elections, according to Doris Fisher, president of the local group.

"As a practical observance of the 25th anniversary of the Federation's Business Women's week, September 28 to October 4, the organization is calling on each of its 160,000 members to assume responsibility for seven such votes," she continued. "We have been asked to check relatives, social and business acquaintances, urging all who are eligible to vote to do so, and concentrating on those who did not vote in the last election."

Miss Fisher points out that there are approximately 49,500,000 women of voting age, though in 1948 the total number of votes cast for president was only some 48,000,000.

Women could control the elections in 32 states where there are more women than men of voting age," she declared.

Adventists Celebrate 100th Anniversary This Month

Sunday Schools, often considered mere entertainment for small children on a Sunday morning, have actually played a large part in human progress.

It is not too well known, but even the machine age got a healthy boost from Sunday Schools. In the absence of general education these organizations at first were offering technical training as well as Bible lessons.

During World War II servicemen found that Christian missionaries had preceded them. It was these Christian workers, often financed by Sunday Schools, who changed even cannibalistic natives into God-fearing people. Notable among these were the fuzzy-wuzzies of the South Pacific.

Better sanitation, constructive habits of living, and useful skills have been taught millions of backward people through the work of Sunday Schools.

One of these organizations, the Seventh-day Adventist international Sabbath School (so called because Adventists meet on Saturday rather than Sunday), celebrates its 100th anniversary this month. The Plymouth Seventh-day Adventist church is joining with the thousands of world wide Sabbath Schools celebrating one hundred years of expansion and brotherhood, September 27.

The centennial ceremonies will commemorate the establishing of this phase of denominational work in Rochester, N. Y., in 1852. Since then the world has been covered with more than 17,000 of these "schools", which everywhere are practically identical in procedure with an internationally integrated study program for the million-plus members.

If students here this week are studying the Ten Commandments, for example, students in Argentina or Denmark will be studying the same thing.

Weekly lessons, prepared in English in Washington, D.C., must be put into 716 languages and dialects for use in 194 of the world's 230 countries.

The Sabbath schools have proved to be the bedrock foundation for the Seventh-day Adventists' widespread mission program, which pushes the top of the Protestant mission activities.

It was the Sabbath schools that raised the $10,615 to establish the church's first mission, near Bulawayo, South Rhodesia, Africa in 1887. The year 1890 saw the church's first mission vessel—the famed PITCAIRN—launched into the South Seas largely as a result of Sabbath school offerings. And last year Sabbath schools contributed a record $5,084,083 for missions, making a total of more than $81,000,000 given through the years by Sabbath school members—nearly half the denomination's missions expenditures.

The centennial program will be given at the Seventh-day Adventist chapel, 1058 S. Main street, beginning at 9:30 a.m. the regular Sabbath school hour and will be continued in the 11 o'clock worship hour with many interesting facts and features.

You are cordially invited to all the services of the church.

Director of Counseling Helps Students Launch Careers

Helping launch careers, counseling students or just helping a teen-ager solve some fanciful problem—they're all part of a varied professional record of Counselor Ruth Butts, head of Plymouth high school's Guidance Service.

Formerly dean of women at Hillsdale College, Miss Butts—trim, pert and attractive at 48—has helped some 5,000 students launch careers in professional life, in business or industry during her 20-year career of teaching and counseling.

While the exact number of students who have run the gauntlet of personal interviews, diagnostic tests and guidance is not known, it is estimated that she helps plan the futures of over a thousand junior and senior high school students every school year.

Well-equipped for her tremendous task, Miss Butts heads a full-time guidance program far advanced over many of its kind in the state.

Backing this up are near rock-bottom mortality statistics of high school students here dropping out of high school or failing to go on to college.

State-wide, nearly 45 per cent of high school students fail to graduate. Here that figure is a low 20 per cent. And with state figures showing only a 15 per cent trek of graduating high school seniors going on to college, Plymouth high school boasts another record. Nearly 40 per cent of each graduating class here tackles college academic life. "There is a definite need for a counseling service," Miss Butts says. "Too many students fumble blindly groping for a field of interest or a career that can all too easily elude them."

"That's what we are here for," she declares, "to line up interests and ability together and help set up an academic program sufficiently flexible to permit changes as a student's span of interest grows."

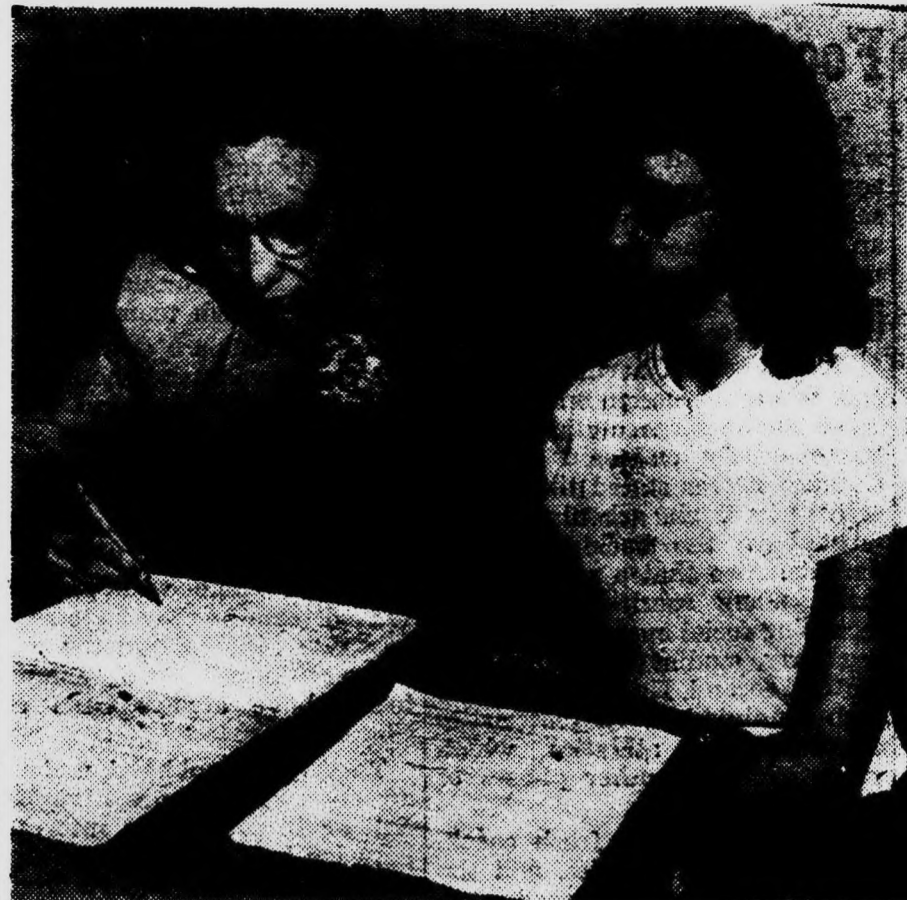

By and large, she says, the bulk of high school students do not go on to college, noting that a varied program to meet vocational needs and "prepare students with industrial interests" has been set up in the local school system.

Working closely with teachers helping to administrate the Vocational Training Program, Miss Butts notes that it is pointed realistically toward the student to meet his exact needs.

Formerly a school "marm" herself, Miss Butts is a firm advocate of a changing attitude toward elementary teachers.

"Future careers of elementary students can be made or broken in early school years, she asserts, declaring that "unhappiness and discontent in high school and college years can be traced back to kindergarten training."

Many children, she says, will "have rough knocks" through their elementary years, but it won't hurt them if proper guidance from skilled elementary teachers is forthcoming."

Miss Butts points out that teaching youngsters to work in groups, be self-reliant besides building character among the "small fry", merits the elementary teacher a "better salary and a place at the head of the teaching profession."

Launching her guidance career as an intern while completing her M.A. degree at the University of Michigan, Miss Butts regularly supervised and counseled some 200 University students at Jordan Hall prior to serving as dean of women at Hillsdale College. For 15 years she taught in the early elementary grades in Lansing public schools besides teaching English and Speech there on a high school level.

I hear Major General L. B. Hershey is casting a caustic optic on the time-honored role of fatherhood. The General is our Selective Service Director—a job that's tougher than feeding a tiger. But the General may be going overboard when he suggests that a lot of young fellows are getting married and having children, and to get out of the draft.

With doctor bills, rent, food, what they are doing in the Army the hard way. Also it's a well-known fact that young folks grow up, get married and have children. And some of those kids grow up to be Major Generals.

"Rules and Regulations Governing Savings Deposits"

Sec. 1. Deposits in amounts of $1.00 or more will be accepted; but the bank reserves the right to refuse to accept any deposit at any time and the right to return all or any part of any deposit or deposits, with the accrued interest thereon, whenever it may deem such action expedient.

Sec. 2. Each depositor opening a savings account shall receive a pass book, and must sign or place his or her mark or finger prints on a signature card. By the acceptance of such pass book or the signing of such signature card, the depositor shall be deemed to have given unconditional assent to the by-laws of the bank and these rules and regulations, and any and all additions, alterations, amendments or repeals thereof as provided for in section twelve (12).

Sec. 3. All deposits and withdrawals shall be entered in the books of the bank and in the pass book, which shall be the depositor's voucher or evidence of deposit. When deposits or withdrawals are made, the pass book shall be presented for entry of such deposit or withdrawal; provided, however, that upon assurances satisfactory to an authorized representative of the bank, payment may be made without the presentation of the pass book. All payments to depositors may be made in current funds.

Sec. 4. Money will be paid to the depositor in person, or to the order of the depositor, provided the order is in form satisfactory to the bank and accompanied by the pass book. The bank reserves the right to require ninety (90) days' written notice of all withdrawals of deposits; provided, however, that all payments shall be made in accordance with the requirements of the Banking Act of 1933 as amended.

Sec. 5. If the pass book is mislaid, stolen or lost, the depositor must give immediate notice of the fact to an officer attached to the savings department of the bank. Upon satisfactory proof to the bank of such loss or theft of the pass book, and upon delivery to the bank of such security or bond of indemnity as shall be required by the bank for its protection, the amount of the deposit then standing to the credit of the depositor shall be transferred to a new account and a new pass book issued therefor.

Sec. 6. An account may be opened (a) by a minor, or (b) by any person in the name of and for the benefit of a minor, and in either case withdrawals may be made (as provided for in these rules and regulations) by such minor, unless, in case (b), the person opening the account shall otherwise direct.

Sec. 7. Interest will be allowed at such rate or rates and upon such balances as may be determined from time to time by the Board of Directors. The method of determining balances upon which interest will be allowed the time such balances shall remain on deposit to be entitled to interest, the method of computing interest and the dates upon which interest will be credited to depositors will also be as determined from time to time by the Board of Directors. A record of such determinations by the Board of Directors will be on file at all offices of the bank.

The bank reserves the right to limit the amount of the balance which any one depositor may have to his credit in one or more accounts.

Sec. 8. Accounts in which no deposit, except in the crediting of interest, or from which no withdrawal shall have been made for a period of ten consecutive years, shall not be entitled to any further payment of interest, except in cases of special agreement to the contrary.

Sec. 9. No charge shall be made to cover the expense of opening an account, unless it is closed within three months from the date of the opening thereof, in which case a charge of fifty cents (50c) will be made, which may be retained by the bank out of the funds on deposit prior to their withdrawal.

The bank reserves the right to make such service charges on savings accounts for excessive activity or otherwise as may be fixed from time to time by the Board of Directors.

Sec. 10. In receiving items for deposit or collection, in cashing checks and in any and all other transactions between the depositor and this bank within the purview thereof, the provisions of "The Bank Collection Code," being Act 240 of the Public Acts of Michigan for 1931, and any and all amendments or additions thereto, shall govern and apply in respect of every act or event in the course of or arising out of such relation, whether done or occurring within or without the State of Michigan; provided that any item transmitted for collection to any Federal Reserve Bank shall be subject to the rules and regulations thereof and of the Federal Reserve Board then in force.

Sec. 11. Upon the closing of an account by the depositor, or the bank, the pass book shall be returned to the depositor, which act shall constitute a full acquittance and release by the depositor of the bank of all sums due to the depositor.

Sec. 12. These rules and regulations may be added to, altered, amended, or repealed at any time by resolution of the Board of Directors, and such additions, alterations, amendments, or repeals shall be binding upon each depositor after notice of the same shall have been given to him by publication thereof, once each week for two successive weeks, in any newspaper published or circulated in the City of Detroit, Michigan, or by depositing any such notice in the Post Office at Detroit, Michigan, with postage prepaid, addressed to the depositor at the last address shown on the books and records of the bank."

Rock Gridders Win First Contest With Ease; Defeat Northville 35-0

A smooth-running ground attack and a staunch defense were the key factors in the surprisingly easy victory of the high school eleven scored over Northville last Friday evening. Early in the first quarter it was evident that the Mustangs were no match for the Rocks, as the Ketterer men received the kickoff on their 30 yard line and went straight down the field to score. The final score of 35 to 0 could easily have been more, but the coaches wisely tried out all the players on the bench to see what they could do under fire.

Plymouth won the toss and chose to receive. Lanphear took the ball on the Plymouth 30 and returned it to the 45 yard line. Then with Ritter and Lanphear doing the heavy work, they advanced to the one yard line where Lanphear plunged over on fourth down for the initial score. Vettese kicked the first of his five extra points.

The Rocks kicked off to Northville, but Vettese tackled an opponent so hard that he fumbled, with Brown recovering for Plymouth. The Rocks yielded the ball on downs, and shortly Northville was forced to punt as the first quarter ended. A few moments later Northville again fumbled with Huebler and Nyhus recovering on the Mustang 15 yard line. Lanphear carried 3 times for a first down on the 5-yard line. Johnson was stopped for no gain, and then his pass went incomplete. On third down Ritter romped around end for the score.

The third score was set up when Jerry Kelly raced 50 yards on a punt return to the Mustang 20 yard line. After two plays, Ritter again scampered 11 yards for his second touchdown. That ended the scoring for the first half with Plymouth leading 21 to 0.

The last two scores came in the last quarter with Dave Finney scoring on a 7 yard off-tackle cutback play, and a few moments later, Kelly scored on an 8 yard play around end.

The Rocks completely dominated play as shown by the statistics. The great play of the defensive unit held Northville to but one first down, no net yards gained rushing, and repeatedly threw them for losses. Plymouth made a total of 12 downs—11 on rushing and one on a pass. They gained over 200 yards on the ground. The locals did not fumble once, and attempted 6 passes, completing one for 17 yards. Bud Lanphear averaged 45 yards on his boots, and Vettese 40 on his kickoffs.

Jerry Vettese kicked 5 successive extra points squarely between the uprights for a game record in Plymouth.

Ritter gained 65 yards for an average of 7 per try. Lanphear carried the most times and average 3 1/2 yards on each of his 13 rushes. Brown gained 33 yards in his 3 carries for the best average.

It is hard to point out any particular player over another, as the whole squad played good ball. This was definitely a team victory.

Tomorrow night the local eleven play Redford Union on the local high school field. This will be a much closer contest as the Panthers have a fairly well-balanced outfit.

Cross-Country; Junior Varsity Play This Week

The minor fall sports teams get into action this week when the cross-country team journeys to Redford Union Friday afternoon for a meet with the Panthers, and the junior varsity football team goes against Redford Union there this afternoon.

Coach Moisis is looking for his chances for the league title this year, as he has some good runners on the squad.

Coach Harding, in his first season as tutor of the junior varsity doesn't know what the outcome of the battle this afternoon will be, but he says his charges will be out there fighting every inch of the way. He has around 22 boys working out for places on the team, and these boys, mostly juniors and sophomores, are going to get a lot of experience which will prepare them for future varsity teams.

Four League Foes Lose First Game

Four teams in the 6-B Suburban league, of which Plymouth is a member, were defeated in their opening games last Friday. Plymouth and Belleville were the only members to open the season with a win.

The league teams seem to be fairly evenly-matched this year and some close contests are in prospect. Trenton, who ran away with the league crown last year in an undefeated season, lost some key players which hurt their chances of repeating as champions.

Plymouth made the most impressive 1952 debut with a one-sided 35 to 0 win over Northville. Belleville edged class C Milan 12 to 0.

Monroe bested Trenton for the first time in years by a 15 to 0 score. Garden City, a future Plymouth opponent, edged Bentley 19 to 14. Melvindale downed Allen Park 18 to 0. Redford Union battled Walled Lake on even terms until the final minute when a desperation pass clicked to allow Walled Lake to win 6 to 0.

Other area games saw Lincoln Park edging Wayne as they came from behind in the final quarter to win 7 to 6. Detroit Catholic Central handed Ypsilanti a 26 to 7 licking, thus gaining revenge for last year's defeat. Fitzgerald defeated Southfield, another future Rock foe, 20 to 0.

In Manchester, England, a survey conducted by a hatters' association showed that it takes a man five to ten minutes to buy a hat if he shops by himself, 30 to 40 minutes if accompanied by his wife.

Sports Glances

The first 1952 football victory is in the bag for the local high school gridders. The squad looks better than last year, but tomorrow night we will know for sure as Redford Union will present a much better team than Northville did. The Mustangs didn't provide much opposition to really test the boys under fire, however, the locals proved a real power on defense in this game, and of the whole offense looked improved over that of last year. The Rocks won on just straight football, and didn't have to open up on any of their fancy stuff.

We know that Plymouth finally has an extra point specialist in the person of Jerry Vettese, a veteran guard, who personally booted all five points after touchdown squarely between the uprights. That is something that has been lacking, and is tremendously important in a close contest.

I was a guest at the parents' gathering at the high school last week, and I think this was one of the finest athletic public relations acts I have seen since I have been in Plymouth.

Everyone present went away with a feeling of satisfaction that the coaches, and school officials, were concerned with the welfare of the athletes, and a better understanding of the overall athletic picture was created. It was certainly a fine gesture by the sponsors, and the large turnout of players and parents made it the success that it turned out to be. The response this year assures another one next year.

Next Saturday the traditional football classic between Michigan and Michigan State takes place in Ann Arbor. All recent past encounters between these two athletic stalwarts were unpredictable, but to me the outcome of this game Saturday is not a question of who wins or loses—it is strictly a matter of the size of State's victory margin.

MSC will again be the top team in the nation this year. Last year, before the season began, I predicted that they would go through the season undefeated even though they played some top-notch opponents. They did. Again I say they should go through an undefeated season if they play as they are capable of playing each Saturday. They have a wealth of material—its too bad they don't become eligible for Big Ten status in football until next year—else one of the Rose Bowl opponents would be known right now!

One of my predictions backfired—I really thought the Tigers would end up out of the cellar, but they cinched that lowly spot several days ago—this is the first time, and also the first time that a Tiger team has lost 100 games during a season.

My pennant winner prediction is still in doubt, but it looks rather dismal for Cleveland now unless four or five Yankees break a leg—even then they would put some old has-been in there and he would clout home runs and win games for them probably. One has to give those champions credit though for they display a grand never-give-up spirit, and when the chips are down they really play ball.

Jack Dobbs, who played on the Sutherland Paper Company nine in the National Amateur baseball tournament, played an important part in his team's success in the tourney. Even though they lost 3 to 2 in 11 innings to New York City in the semi-finals, Jack contributed greatly to the effort. In a previous game he made 5 hits in 5 times at bat.

Jack, a graduate of Western Michigan where he starred in baseball, is now in the armed forces.

The crowd was extremely well-behaved during the Northville game the other night. Except for a few who stood at the far end of the field obstructing the view of those in the bleachers, the huge crowd was most sportsmanlike. It was also a clean contest as only a few penalties were called—in fact, it was one of the cleanest Plymouth-Northville contests I have ever seen.

Many Parents and Players Attend Football Meeting

Well over 100 parents, high school football players, and coaches gathered at the high school last Thursday evening in an informal meeting to foster a mutual understanding of all phases of football as played on the local level.

Head Coach Charles Ketterer opened the discussion with a welcome to the large audience, and spoke briefly on team policies. Coach Ketterer stated that indirectly any high school activity must have the backing of the parents. Also that a player must make many sacrifices such as foregoing social events to practice regularly, studies come first and football second. He mentioned the high individual characteristics developed in athletics which carry over into other phases of life.

John McFall, the frosh coach, spoke on training rules, and the value of maintaining good physical fitness, eating regularly, and well-balanced diets, as well as personal cleanliness. He told of the new training room in the new gymnasium, which contains a modern training table, whirl pool and hot steam packs for pulled muscles.

Athletic Director John Sandmann explained the advantage of carrying the Michigan State High School Athletic Insurance for all boys participating in physical education. This plan helps assume the cost of any injury suffered by an athlete, providing he is covered, and reports the injury within 48 hours.

An interesting open discussion followed the talks. Refreshments, consisting of coffee and donuts, were served.

The training room and locker rooms were open for inspection for those interested in seeing them.

The athletic officials were highly pleased with their first informal meeting, and expressed the desire that an even better one take place next year.

In Memphis, a captured stick-up man from Washington State Prison told police he had no intention of reforming: "I started out reading crime stories as a seven-year-old kid—and decided that was what I wanted to do."

Redford Union is Rival Tomorrow

Coach Charles Ketterer and his Rock warriors will be gunning for their second straight win of the young 1952 football season tomorrow night, when they tangle with a strong Redford Union team, under the lights at the local athletic field in a game beginning at eight o'clock. It will also be the first 6-B Suburban league contest for each team.

Redford Union is a threat in the league this year, and should prove a real test for the local eleven, and an evaluation of this year's team. Last year these two teams played on even terms until the final minutes when Redford Union won the victory.

The Panthers will present a rugged team as they have for the past few seasons, and the games between these two suburban teams have always been close contests.

The high school band, under the direction of Laurence Livingston, will again present an interesting between-half program.

Coach Ketterer reports that all his lads came through the Northville tilt without an injury, and will be in top shape for this league inaugural.

Michigan Bell Employee Celebrates 30 Years of Service

Miss Ethel Allen, chief operator for the Michigan Bell Telephone Company here, today celebrates 30 years of service in the Bell System.

Before coming to Plymouth in 1951, she gained wide experience in handling local and long-distance calls and in supervisory positions.

As she tells it, a cousin "recruited" her for telephone work. The cousin transferred from Louisville, Kentucky, to St. Louis, Missouri—Miss Allen's birthplace—as a telephone operator. Thus Miss Allen joined Southwestern Bell Telephone Company at St. Louis in 1922.

"When I transferred to long-distance telephone operating in 1927, the St. Louis office was still using messengers on roller skates to distribute records of the calls, but they changed to a pneumatic tube system," she remembers. "The new system was somewhat less 'frantic,' I believe."

Pontiac was her first Michigan Bell "home" when she transferred from Missouri to Michigan in 1937. There she progressed to position of chief operator before coming to Plymouth.

Miss Allen is a charter member of the Soroptimist Club of Plymouth, and also belongs to the Telephone Pioneers of America whose membership is made up of telephone employees with 21 or more years of service. She lives at 346 Blunk avenue.
