Hallowe'en Program Set For Local Children

Gaffield Photo

YOU COULDN'T FIND THE WHOLE FOOTBALL TEAM Saturday morning after Plymouth's fighting eleven won their first league championship in some ten years but the Mail's photographer did corral these three localites for this picture. Fullback Bud Lanphear, left, coach Charley Kettfer, center and captain Ron Nyhus wore grins, literally a mile long, as they were found expounding the plaudits of their team members which made it possible for the championship to come to Plymouth this year. A 20 to 7 victory over Trenton Friday brought their winning streak to six games this year.

Dealers Furnish Cars to Take Voters to Polls

Eleven Plymouth automotive dealers are going to make it easy for you the voter—to get to the polls on November 4.

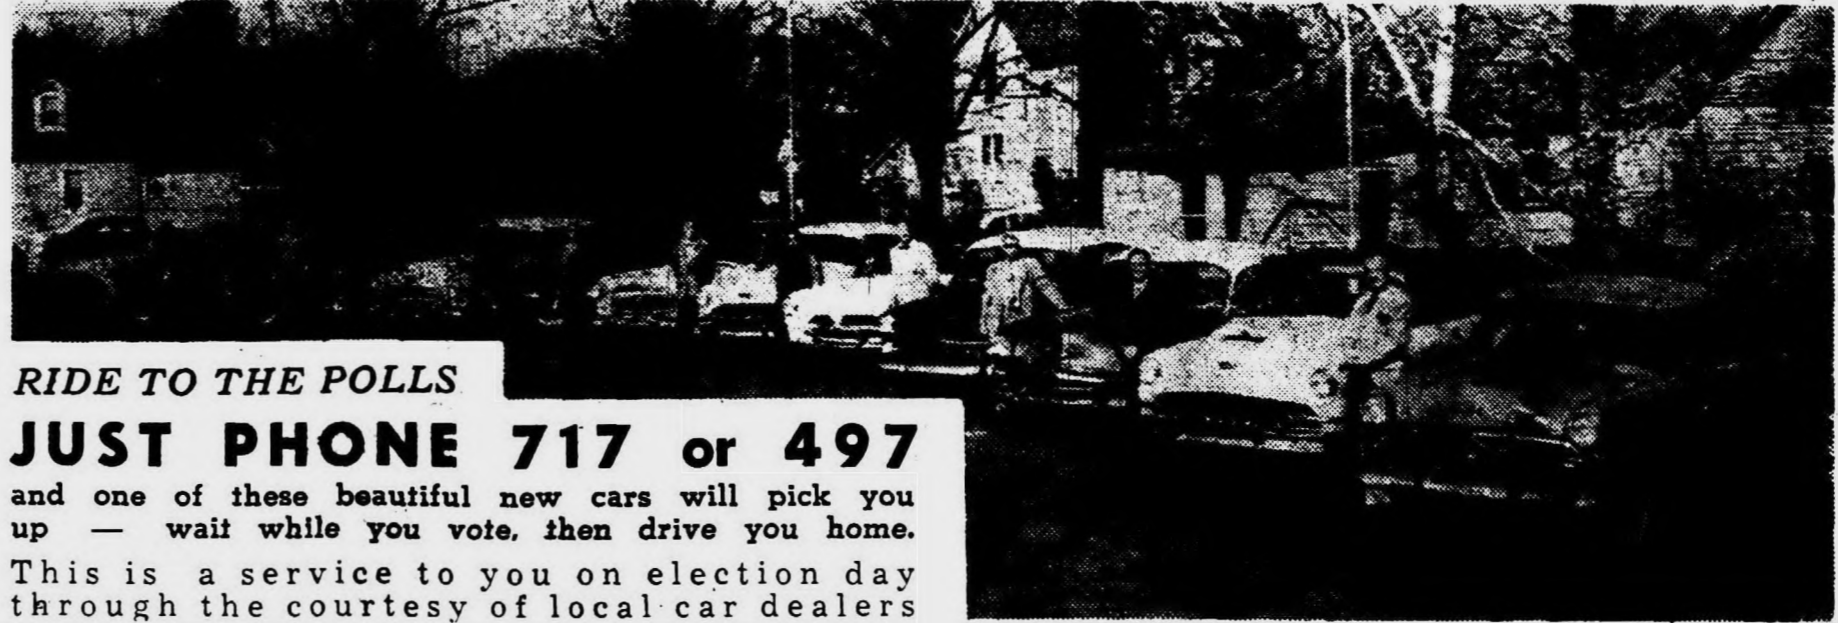

From 7 a.m. to 8 p.m., time the polls are open, any voters unable to make their way to the voting booth have to do just one thing—pick up a telephone and call 717 or 497, stating just your address.

One of eleven chauffeured 1952 model cars will speedily transport you to the polls, wait while you vote, then return you to your home.

The courtesy is provided to all city and Plymouth township voters at no charge.

Cooperating closely with automotive dealers here in this all-out voter drive is the Chamber of Commerce. Telephone calls will be handled by its staff.

Heading the automotive dealers supplying the transportation is Frank Allison, himself a car dealer.

Two Day Event Is Scheduled

Community organizations, the city, school and recreation department this week were brewing a Halloween fare in an already bubbling cauldron, spilling over tonight and Friday with awards prizes, events and refreshments that would make even a Halloween "witch" envious.

Starting at 1 p.m. in the schools, a Halloween refreshment fare will be offered youngsters, building up the October 31 theme to fever pitch.

A general all-school parade will set off the Friday night events, starting at 7 p.m. at Kellogg Park, in front of the Penn Theater. The gala costumed youngsters will parade up Main street to the Junior high school for judging and awarding of costume prizes.

Girls' costume awards will be made by the Rotary Anns for the "prettiest, most original and funniest costumes," reports the recreation department.

Similar prizes will be given to boys for the "most weird, most original and funniest Halloween costumes."

Community singing will follow, led by Chamber of Commerce secretary, Nat Sibbold. It will be held behind Junior High school around a bonfire supervised by the Kiwanis Club. Dancing on the tennis courts or in the Junior High school gym will follow, whatever the weather permits.

But this is just the beginning. Service clubs will turn out "en masse" to distribute cider, doughnuts and apples to the hundreds of school children expected to turn out for the gala festivities. Fresh popcorn will also be on the bill of fare.

Starting tonight, kicking off the festivities, are high school art students who will paint downtown store windows in decorative Halloween scenes. Prize awards for their efforts will be the reverse "witch" of a "no soaping of windows" edict.

Window painting judges will be Bob Wesley, Dora Hondorp and Marjorie Becker. The Business and Professional Women will purchase and distribute the awards to window-painting winners for the "most gruesome, most comic, Halloween atmosphere, best design and most original sketches."

Helping keep property destruction to zero will be the police assisted by the V.F.W. Passage Gayde Post and Myron H. Beals division. Local firefighters will be on hand for protection of the youth, along with the other groups.

Entering into the spirit on the one night youngsters can soap windows and be awarded prizes for their artistry, police and community organizations urge school children to "attend the festivities, have a good time but refrain from deliberate acts of vandalism and property destruction."

Manager of Tank Plant Will Speak Here November 12

According to Frank Henderson, chairman of the annual meeting of The Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, A. C. Moore, manager of the Tank Division of Ford Motor Company, will be the principal speaker at that event. The meeting will be held the night of November 12 at The Mayflower Hotel.

Chamber of Commerce secretary Nat Sibbold stated also that a special musical treat will be in store for Chamber members that night since the 50 voice Lyra Male Chorus from Ann Arbor will be presented by their director John Merrill.

Slap Quarantine on 8 Townships as Contagious Disease Infects 500 Hogs

The first recorded outbreak in Michigan of dreaded vesicular exanthema, a high contagious disease that affects hogs, was reported last week at the R. C. Houchard Farm at 5681 E. North-Territorial road, in nearby Salem township.

The State Agriculture Commission, working swiftly to head off spread of the disease, slapped a quarantine on Salem township in Washtenaw county. Seven other townships were similarly quarantined. They are: Canton and Northville townships in Wayne county; Green Oak in Livingston; South Lyon, and Novi in Oakland county; and Northfield, Superior and Ann Arbor townships in Washtenaw county.

The outbreak was discovered among Houchard's 500 garbage-fed hogs. The garbage comes from the Detroit metropolitan area, agriculture inspectors learned.

Houchard said that most of his herd was infected, stating that a few of the animals were expected to succumb to the infection with the remainder of the herd having to be destroyed.

Houchard's losses may run beyond $4,000. He will be reimbursed for the loss through government subsidy, agriculture officials said.

To combat the disease, Dr. W. J. Nichols, a veterinarian from Wayne, who discovered the infection, (Continued on page 8)

In Our Opinion . . .

CONGRATULATIONS ARE IN ORDER

One of Plymouth's most important institutions, The Hotel Mayflower, celebrates its Silver anniversary this week. As the hotel reaches its 25th birthday it still is in its infancy—the newest hotel to be built in Michigan.

After getting off to a somewhat difficult start, the hotel today has become the realization of its founders' dreams and in many respects has gone far beyond their wildest hopes.

Living so closely to the hotel many of us fail to realize the importance of its influence on our community. Perhaps we never stop and think of the many services it performs and the many favors it renders to our organizations and our industries. It provides lodging for guests and business associates. And, according to executives of many local concerns, there never has been an instance when any and all of their demands haven't been cared for.

It provides an unusually attractive meeting and eating place for individuals, groups, business meetings and organizations. Its functions and interests are for the good of Plymouth and its environs. Thousands of school children and their teachers from all over southern Michigan have visited its beautiful Mayflower room to admire and study the murals depicting early Pilgrim life.

Surely, its growth and its beautification have come about through the willingness of its manager and the members of the board to keep pace with the growth and development of this area. To them, much credit is due for their efforts, and your patronage of such an outstanding institution is somewhat of a rededication of the faith of our founding fathers, which in an abstract sense, reflects the courage of the founders of The Mayflower. It stands as a monument to them and one for us to use and enjoy today.

YES, YOUR VOTE WILL COUNT

Tuesday, November 4th is election day. You have the privilege and the opportunity to cast your ballot on that day for the candidates you think will do the best job in the offices they are seeking. It is American to vote and, with few exceptions, it is only in America that you as a voter actually select the representatives from your state, area or district to carry out your wishes.

You may think your vote doesn't matter. You may be the person that says why go to the polls, my vote won't count. If you are that person you ought to have your head examined and here is the reason why.

If you need to be convinced how important your vote is, it might interest you to know that Thomas Jefferson and John Quincy Adams were each elected President of the United States by one vote in the electoral college.

Rutherford B. Hayes was elected President by one vote. His election was contested and it was referred to the electoral commission. Again he won by a single vote. The man who cast the deciding vote for President Hayes was a congressman from Indiana who was elected to congress by a margin of just one vote. AND THAT VOTE WAS CAST BY A CLIENT OF HIS WHO, THOUGH SERIOUSLY ILL, INSISTED ON BEING TAKEN TO THE POLLS TO VOTE.

Just one vote gave statehood to California, Idaho, Oregon, Texas and Washington . . . and today all of the millions of people living in those states are Americans by the margin of just one vote. And, finally, in 1948 President Truman carried Ohio by exactly 7,107 votes . . . less than one vote in each of the 8,800 election precincts.

SO YOU THINK YOUR VOTE DOESN'T COUNT? Voting is your patriotic duty so we urge you to show your colors on Tuesday. Bring out the red, white and blue and vote for the sake of your conscience if for nothing else. Every effort is being put forth in the city to make it easy for you to vote. We urge you to vote early to avoid the afternoon and evening rush. Housewives should make it a point to get to the polls before noon. Local automobile dealers have cars ready to carry you to and from the polls, just call them on the phone. City officials have voting booths in operation now so that you may be fully instructed in their operation before you go to the polls. In case you will be out of town on Tuesday, go to the city hall and vote today. IN ANY CASE, DON'T LOSE YOUR VOTE.

Community Fund Drive Bogs Down; See Agency Budget Cuts Imminent

The Plymouth Community Fund drive is more than half over and only 26 percent of the total goal of $18,000 have been collected according to George Mayhew, local drive chairman. The total collection as of Monday was only $5,000.

"If we do not meet our goal, the budgets of the agencies which we support will of necessity be cut. This would mean less dental care for those families which can not afford the proper care for their children's teeth, and the curtailment of the activities of the Well Baby clinic. It would leave a big hole in the budget of the Salvation Army and the Recreation commission. Mr. Mayhew continued, "The mission and limit their help of the underprivileged," he emphasized. Five Local Men to be Inducted

A November 3 draft call will see 140 Wayne out-county draftees report for induction into the Armed Forces.

Five men from the Plymouth area are scheduled to report, say board officials from Michigan Local Board 102.

They are Charles E. Stewart, Raymond E. Petrenas, Eric P. Richardson, Robert L. Grieve and Frederick J. Tomlinson, Jr.

Present plans call for induction to take place at Fort Wayne in Detroit, with the 140 being sent to Fort Custer Reception Center.

A December draft call, reports the board, will see a 60-man draft quota filled.

Early Voters to Receive Free Coffee

Coffee will be served to all Plymouth residents who appear at the polls November 4 between the hours of 7 a.m. and 9 a.m.

The coffee will be served by the members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary. Mrs. William Swadling, chairman of the Community Service committee, is in charge of the coffee serving.

Kiwanis Hears Mrs. Chase Osborn

Mrs. Chase Osborn, widow of Michigan's former governor, was guest speaker Tuesday evening at the regular meeting of the Plymouth Kiwanis.

Speaking in behalf of a strong Atlantic pact of nations, Mrs. Osborn discussed her duties in this effort. She stated that she is concerned with developing chapters throughout several midwestern states favoring an Atlantic pact. Currently there are 134 congressmen to be counted on the side of such a union, said Mrs. Osborn. Introduction of Mrs. Osborn was made by Miss Neva Lovewell, Plymouth high school teacher.

Corey Observes 24th Anniversary

This week marks the 24th anniversary of Perfection Cleaners, proudly serving the people of Plymouth in the same location, 875 Wing, throughout a 24-year period.

Kenneth Corey, owner, proprietor and lifelong resident of Plymouth stated that he would like to take this opportunity to "sincerely thank the many customers of Perfection Cleaners whose generous patronage has been responsible for so many years of growth and success."

Laundry and dry cleaning specials are to be featured this weekend as a part of the anniversary celebration.

Salem Voters to Poll on Liquor by Glass

Voters in Salem township going to the polls on November 4 will also be faced with the proposition, "do you favor liquor by the glass?"

An unidentified group there is plugging for the liquor measure, asserting that it "will increase the township's revenue."

Mayflower Celebrates Its 25th Anniversary

The Hotel Mayflower celebrates its 25th birthday this week. After somewhat of a stormy first few years it stands today as one of the best operated small hotels in America giving this city all of the advantages of a metropolitan institution.

Operating four dining rooms, a wine shop and a cocktail lounge in addition to its 54 rooms, Plymouth can well be proud of its success. According to officials of the Hotel, previous commitments of its dining facilities and its rooms prohibit any unusual observance of the birthday event.

In an attempt to celebrate in some small way manager Ralph G. Lorenz announced yesterday that family groups are invited to dine in the Mayflower room of the Hotel from Monday, November 3rd through Friday, November 7th and again on Monday, November 10th through November 14th and have the children served a special Mayflower turkey dinner for only 25 cents per plate.

Guests at the Hotel will receive most of their change from bills during the celebration in bright shiny silver, and hotel employees will be paid in brand new silver dollars.

The hotel has become famous through this section for its beautiful Mayflower room which according to manager Lorenz is only a start on future plans to carry out the early American theme throughout the entire building. Mayflower chefs are already planning a new Thanksgiving innovation which will feature a turkey dressing made from the original Pilgrim recipe to be served along with a spiced cider drink which was also used at that time.

A special section in this issue of The Plymouth Mail gives a detailed historical account of the growth of the institution as well as many pertinent facts about its multi-operations today.

Record $630,064 Building Spree

From January 1 to October 15, the city issued 220 building permits for new homes, garages and miscellaneous, repairs, totaling $630,064.

Of that figure $447,500 for some 40 new homes was recorded. Slightly over $152,000, building permit records show, went for miscellaneous and repairs with $29,830 recorded for over 60 new garages.

Rose Auto Celebrates Second Anniversary

Rose Auto, formerly Ann Arbor road motors, located at 684 West Ann Arbor road is celebrating its second anniversary beginning today.

According to Cal Miesel, manager, each person who comes into the show 100ms between October 30 and November 29 has a chance to guess the number of seeds in the pumpkin. The person who is closest will receive a 21 inch console television set.

Making this possible under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus is a five-man team shown in the above picture. They are, from left to right: Henry Lorenz, Grand Knight of the Plymouth council, Knights of Columbus; Joseph Spanier, gas station owner; R. J. Francis, chairman of Boysville benefit committee; A. D. Cuthbert, Sinclair sales representative; and William Zimmerman, gas station owner, in partnership with Spanier. Local motorists are urged by the team to patronize the worthy benefit drive.

Hi-12 Club to Hold Meet for Youths

The Plymouth Hi-12 Club meets Wednesday, November 19, for a Father, Son and Daughter fete.

Plans for the meet to be held at the Masonic Temple were disclosed at a Hotel Mayflower dinner held for the Hi-Twelvians last night.

Instruct Voters in Use of Machine

Instruction in how to use the voting machine is continuing this week with one of the "instructors" and an instructor stationed today, Friday and Saturday at the S. S. Kresge company store.

State voting laws permit the voter to spend just one minute in the booth. Persons still uncertain as to how to use the "gadget" may receive clear instruction for rapid voting at Kresge's until 5:00 p.m. tonight, from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Friday and from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday.

Symphony Opens Seventh Season

The first concert of the seventh season for the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra opened and closed on a grand scale last Sunday in the new auditorium of the high school. The battle of acoustics was evident, and bleacher seats were abandoned for more comfortable seating arrangements but proved poor from a visual standpoint. Greatly missed were the auditorium and stage of the old gymnasium.

However, the ingenuity of some individuals contrived a shell from a canvas tent and made the best of the situation. One is conscious of the need for a real auditorium in the community with proper accoutrements and stage facilities.

Wayne Dunlap, the director of the orchestra, welcomed the audience in his usual warm manner of speaking and proceeded with a program that was well diversified. It opened with Overture and Allegro from "La Sultane Suite" by Couperin-Milhaud, a beautiful composition. This was followed by the Brahms' Symphony No. 2 in D Major in its entirety, and the performance of this number most likely satisfied the yearning of musicians to play some real music.

"The Telephone" by Menotti, a hit on Broadway, was an innovation well interpreted by Delores Lowry, soprano as "Lucy" and Russell Christopher, baritone, as "Ben". Their voices were well suited to the parts and their interpretation of The Telephone should prove most popular to the younger generation. For those people who missed this first concert, may it be stated that the program will be repeated at the George H. Fisher school in Redford Township on Sunday, November 2, at 4 p.m.

"The Comedians" by Kabalevsky gave a fitting close to the opening concert. The piece seemed to be adapted to the setting and the lively strains of the composition sent the listener home in a happy frame of mind.

The reader will pardon the inclusion of Symphony Notes in this review—but it does appear that there may be many persons in the community who have not availed themselves of the satisfactions granted by this form of art. To these persons, a very special plea is expressed that they take advantage of an opportunity to become acquainted with the orchestra and continue the cultural creativeness of the community.

As an added special attraction at the Redford concert next Sunday, Miss June Toth will perform the Brahms' Piano Concerto in D Minor. Many Plymouth folk are reported to be interested in attending this concert. Miss Toth whose home is in Redford Township will fly to Rome in February to complete her studies in a Perfection Course scholarship recently bestowed upon her.

12-Year-Old Here Held for Car Theft

A 12-year-old Plymouth youth was held for Wayne County juvenile authorities last week for investigation of car theft.

The youth allegedly stole a 1948 Kaiser from the Stop & Shop parking lot October 22. The car was recovered by State police in Holly the following day.

Police investigators here first suspected the youth when he was reported by parents "as missing from home."

After apprehending the juvenile, he was reported as having broken down following questioning, admitting the theft.

Pending further action by juvenile authorities, the youth has been returned to the custody of his parents.

Lecturer Charges "Scared" State Dept. Thwarts Atlantic Union

The U. S. Department of State was this week charged with obstructionist tactics for burying in congressional sub-committee the long-dreamed of Atlantic Union resolution.

Marking the forward march of Communism in the Western World, Mrs. Chase Osborn author and lecturer, accused the state department of being unimaginative and too "afraid to take measures large enough to meet the needs of the country."

A firm advocate of a federated union between western democracies, Mrs. Osborn, a lecturer at Plymouth High school Tuesday, declared that despite the firm congressional support of 25 senators, the "state department hasn't even let the Atlantic Union resolution out of sub-committee."

The Atlantic Union proposal, advocates say, would unite western democracies under one banner to thwart world-wide communist aggression, seeking equanimity in a federated government.

The Union would also take out of politics relations with member countries by putting foreign policy decisions in the hands of a jointly-appointed, multi-nation team.

Speaking off-the-cuff, Mrs. Osborn warned that with Russian policy reduced to "divide and conquer," we have no other alternative than to present a united front against what is building up as a two-pronged threat against national security.

"Russia has long since embarked on a propaganda drive in Asia to discredit us among Asiatics with charges of prison camp atrocities in Korea and charges that we are using Asiatics as guinea pigs in germ warfare experiments," she said.

"We have already lost China," Mrs. Osborn pointed out, "and we are in great fear of losing India to the Communists," indicating that the present crisis is due in part to the belief of Asiatics of germ warfare charges.

Mrs. Osborn, wife of a former Michigan governor, also declared that there was a deliberate communist move to discredit the North Atlantic Treaty by creating fear and suspicion among member nations, amid accusations of war mongering.

She pointed out that some measure of integration of Western nations is absolutely essential to consolidate the military, economic and political power to maintain a free world coalition that would swing enough weight to sustain peace once it is secured.

A stumbling block to an Atlantic community has been a fear among potential members of a loss of national sovereignty. Too, the nation's internationalists seen the Atlantic Union as part of a gigantic rearmament program with the United States subsidizing member nations in an ever-increasing amount.

The question of whether the country will go along with weaker member nations with a common policy highlighting international safeguards against war has caused some political thinkers uneasy times.

Against this Mrs. Osborn warned that "if we believe in self-government sufficiently, we will not let despotism organize the world as it is doing today."

Presently, the Atlantic Union Resolution has been tabled by congressional sub-committee action. It calls for an invitation by the President of co-nation sponsors of the North Atlantic Treaty to name delegates to meet in a Federal Convention to work out principles of a free federal union.

Mrs. Osborn was hosted in a day-long series of discussions as chairman of the Michigan branch of the Atlantic Union Committee.

Her talks among students here were in connection with the national debate topic: "Resolved, that the Atlantic Pact Nations Should Form a Federal Union."

A national figure, Mrs. Osborn authored five books in collaboration with her husband, Chase Osborn, governor in Michigan from 1911 to 1912.

Among her historical and academic writings are: "Schoolcraft: Hiawatha-Longfellow," and "Conquest of a Continent."

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLD TIMERS

From W. C. Norton, Temperance, Mich.: I remember the woodburning locomotives that used to fuel up where we lived. I remember the cradle and wood rake. I remember my first chew of tobacco, although it was 75 years ago.

From Mrs. E. C. Sills, Utica, Ohio: Mother would take wood ashes and put them in a barrel, pour water over them and get lye. Then she would take several large ears of corn and shell into a large pan and pour some of the lye and water over the corn. She would cook until you could rub the hulls off the corn with your hands. The product was called hominy.

From Mrs. Godfred Eisels, Chelsea, Mich.: I remember when I was about 8, my mother rented a huckleberry marsh. All they paid then was three cents a quart. When I was 17 I worked in a hotel—had to clean and fill about 30 lamps each day.

From Mrs. Nina Brewer, Winnsboro, Texas: I remember when we used to buy a bottle of medicine and there would be a cork-screw inside the box to remove the stopper from the bottle. I remember when spools had 100 yards of thread for five cents (now only 60 yards).

From Olga K. Robinson, Menlo Park, Calif.: I remember back in New York state when the winter's water supply was hauled by man power through a hole in the ice on the Salmon river. After the hole was cut it was enveloped with a box and cover to keep out dogs.

FRESH PLUM SPREADS
The weather is cooler, plums are juicy-ripe, and the children are in school—it's the perfect time for making preserves!

Bright in Color
Working with small batches of fruit means ease in handling the THIS IS THE WAY WE MAKE PRUNE PLUM PRESERVES

Prune Plum Preserves
8 cups seeded prune plums
7 cups sugar
1 cup water

Wash, drain and remove seeds from plums. Add sugar and water. Let stand for two hours. Boil gently until plums are soft and syrup near boiling point—about one hour. Pour into hot sterilized jars; seal at once.

Yield: 4 pints.
The jars should be washed well in hot suds and rinsed in clean hot water. Sterilize the jars by inverting in a shallow pan of water and allowing to boil for fifteen to twenty minutes.

Plum Butter
Wash plum plums. Place in a kettle and cover with water. Cook until soft. Put through a colander or food mill to remove seeds.

Measure the fruit. Add one-half to two-thirds cup sugar for each cup pulp. Boil rapidly until thick. Stir to prevent sticking.

Pour into hot sterilized jars. Process in hot-water bath for ten minutes after the water begins to boil. Remove from water. Tighten lids except when self-sealing lids are used.

Label and Store
A small label on each jar with the kind of spread and the date it was canned helps you use it in the order it was made.

Faithfully

In Memory 28
In loving memory of our dear father, Frank Wagenschutz, who passed away four years ago, October 31, 1948. Sadly missed by his children.
IN MEMORY OF WILLIAM M. GARCHOW who passed away one year ago, November 4, 1951. Written at the time of his death by his grandson, Wayne W. Wiltse, who is now a member of the United States Air Force, stationed in North Bend, Oregon.

The Old Farmer is gone from his field; Oh, true it was some years ago that he last Pushed a plow through the warm, moist earth. But he was still a child of the sod. My grandfather was a simple man Who was proud of his family's courage. He was a man infinitely kind and paternally stern In matters that concerned his family. The gray dawn awoke to find A white vestment of snow on the ground. And on a big white farmhouse Whose halls were once filled with laughter But which now sits like a heavy fog. Quiet and peaceful. The church will be filled for "Uncle Bill" His friends were many, his enemies none. The white of the snow will abate and disappear with the Spring. But the memory of the man will never be Erased from my ever constant thoughts. I am not afraid of Gramp's future, for as The earth dwells with the sun So does Gramps dwell with the Son of God. A/3c Wayne W. Wiltse. 28-1tc

Some women overlook a man's middle-age bulge if there is also one in his hip pocket.

In Memoriam 28
In loving memory of our dear mother, Augusta Minehart, who passed away October 10, 1950. We miss you mother darling. Our hearts are very sore. As time goes by, we miss you more and more. Your loving smile, your gentle face. No one can take your vacant place. Often a lonely heart aches, Many a silent tear. But always a beautiful memory Of one we love so dear. Sadly missed by her children and grandchildren. 28-1tc

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLD TIMERS

From E. L. Sperleider, Okmulgee, Okla.: I remember when pipe organs were operated by a man or boy back of the organ working a long pole up and down to keep enough wind in the organ to make music. One Sunday the music stopped, but the choir kept singing and the organist kept playing until the music came on again. The man at the pole had dropped off to sleep.

From D. P. Webster, Kansas City: I remember when a person died the church bell would toll out the age of the deceased, one toll for each year. Also, when the remains were leaving the church, the bell would toll until the remains were put to rest.

From Mrs. Letta Burdick, Condersport, Pa.: I remember the cutter rides my brother and I took with our parents cuddled underneath the big buffalo robe. We had frequent flip-overs in the deep snow, but the inevitable soapstone helped to thaw our feet out again. I miss the sleighbells more than that old heavy brown veil Mother made me wear.

Mrs. Mabel Widdle, Somerset, Ky.: I remember when my mother and dad bought apples at 10 cents a bushel—a whole wagonload. They would invite the neighbors in to prepare the apples for drying in the sun, then clear one room and dance the old square dance until midnight.

From Dr. Ernest E. Smith, Sylva, N.C.: I remember when an engineer or fireman was killed in a wreck, the engine was draped in mourning for a certain length of time.

(Mail your memories to THE OLD TIMER, N.W.N.S., 210 S. Desplaines, Chicago.)

Otwell Memorial Fund Set Up to Buy Iron Lung

Robert V. Otwell Polio Victim

A memorial fund was dedicated this week to a 15-year-old former Plymouth youth who died in September following an attack of bulbar poliomyelitis. The memorial fund was set up to help buy a $2,500 iron lung. Called the Robert V. Otwell Memorial Fund, it was set up by grief-stricken parents and friends of the dead youth, stricken as he was returning to his home in Burbank, California.

A deciding factor that may help prevent future deaths from the dread disease, all contributions to the $2,500 goal will be turned over to the National Infantile Paralysis Foundation to help purchase the iron lung, a member of the Otwell family said.

Persons wishing to contribute to the Otwell memorial may send their contributions to Mrs. C. P. Hunt, 531 E. Delaware road, Burbank, California, fund organizer. Also receiving contributions are several Plymouth businessmen. They are: Hillside Inn, Eccles Coal & Supply, Larry's Service, Otwell Heating & Supply, First National Bank, Penniman office, and The Plymouth Mail.

Charges Judge Overworked, Underpaid; Recommends Appointment of Associate

Plymouth's municipal judge set the six-year salary for the newly elected judge. That "salary figure will be frozen during the tenure of office," Cutler declared, indicating that realistic legislation should be considered that would compensate for the overburdening of the city's judicial system. Pointing up the possible need for an associate municipal judge within the next six years, it was pointed out that if an ordinance creating that office was not authorized within the next three months such an associate could not be appointed until 1960. The six-year term of office of municipal judge here expires at this time, following the April, 1953, election.

Calling for a re-evaluation of the importance of the Municipal judgeship here, Assistant Attorney J. Rusling Cutler said that the $2,000 yearly salary of the municipal judge "was peanuts." Cutler pointed out that ordinance violation cases are coming before the courts in more frequent numbers along with an increasing litigation in civil suits. Earlier this year Judge Nardino Perlongo said that the minimum eight hours that must be spent on court cases each week had grown into a 24-to-32-hour week. It was at this time he threatened to retire from the bench here at the end of his term June 31, 1953. Judge Perlongo remarked then that his $2,000 yearly salary "made the job unprofitable", stating that the municipal judgeship was cutting deeply into his law practice.

Cutler, seeking a streamlining of the justice court here, also called for a study by the city of the need for an associate municipal judge. The present municipal judge must disavow jurisdiction when representing a client whose case is pending litigation before the local court. It was at this point Cutler called an associate judgeship a valuable adjunct to the city's municipal court.

The city's newly installed charter, effective in November, 1951, permits appointment of an associate judge in accordance with State laws. The charter also provides for a $2,000 to $6,000 yearly salary for the Municipal judge.

Appointment of an associate judge, Cutler asserted, would not only serve to keep jurisdictional cases in the city but would help relieve some of the burden connected with the municipal judge's office. Slightly over two months remain before final petitions must be filed for election of a new municipal judge in April, 1953, Cutler warned. Thirty days before final petitions are accepted, the City Commission must have set the six-year salary for the newly elected judge. That "salary figure will be frozen during the tenure of office," Cutler declared, indicating that realistic legislation should be considered that would compensate for the overburdening of the city's judicial system. Pointing up the possible need for an associate municipal judge within the next six years, it was pointed out that if an ordinance creating that office was not authorized within the next three months such an associate could not be appointed until 1960. The six-year term of office of municipal judge here expires at this time, following the April, 1953, election.

Cutler has long been recognized by the Western Wayne County Bar Association for his outstanding service rendered to Plymouthites while as municipal judge here from 1941 through 1949. Bar members, an undisclosed source reported, are preparing an "endorsement policy" regarding the forthcoming April election. A has-been is a person who lives on the reputation of his reputation.

Liquor Petitions Survives WCTU Scrutiny by 19

Plymouth's liquor-by-the-glass petitions survived the close scrutiny of the state treasurer of the Women's Christian Temperance Union this week by a slim majority of 19.

Mrs. Clara Todd, of 207 West Ann Arbor trail, in a surprise move, tried to oust the liquor-by-the-glass resolution from the November 4 ballot by finding sufficient invalid signatures on the original petitions to void the resolution.

A name by name check of petitioners' signatures failed to oust the resolution from the ballot to be voted on next Tuesday.

The majority 773 signatures was needed to the measure before voters.

Plymouth Community Fund Campaign Collections Lag

(Continued from Page 1) makes in Plymouth because we would be unable to give her the amount of assistance we usually do. The Boy Scouts and the Girl Scouts, both of which do much for the youth of the community would be limited in their activities.

"When you give to the Plymouth United Community drive fund, you are giving to 30 organizations, each of which would solicit you individually if it were not a part of the drive," said Norman Marquis, president of the Community Fund board of directors.

Besides the eight local agencies, a portion of each contribution goes to 22 United Foundation agencies which Plymouth residents help to support and from which local residents receive assistance.

Included in these organizations are the American Hearing society, the Arthritis and Rheumatism foundation, the Michigan Heart association, the United Defense fund, the Michigan Welfare league, and many others listed in this year's Community Fund pamphlet.

"Remember, there are only seven days left to contribute. Send your contributions to box 356 as soon as possible. Don't let these agencies down," concluded Mr. Mayhew.

Arrest Northville 16-Year-Old in $89 "Sneak" Theft

A 16-year-old Northville youth was held in custody today in the Wayne County Juvenile Detention Home for investigation of a $89 "sneak" theft from Saxton Farm Supply, 587 West Ann Arbor trail.

The youth's arrest came Tuesday, the day following he allegedly walked into Saxton's, opened a cash register and scooped out the $89 in bills. The store was unoccupied at the time, the owner having stepped outdoors to serve a customer.

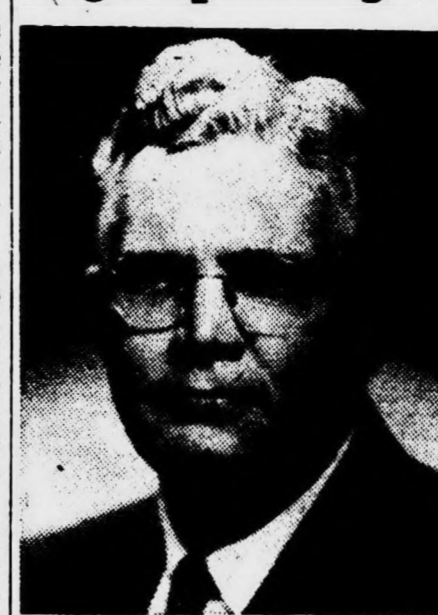

Mrs. Robert LeJeune, 565 Ann Arbor trail, identified the accused youth. She reported she first saw him as he climbed out of a rear window at Saxton's and jumped over a fence in her yard adjoining the store.

Police here first suspected the youth after a clothing salesman reported he flashed a roll of bills and "acted suspicious while making a purchase."

Further investigation and fingerprints left behind at the scene resulted in the youth's arrest. He was reported as having spent the money for clothing and a "good time." None of it was recovered.

One out of every 100 Americans now lives in a trailer home. And the total is reported to be rising at the rate of 200,000 people a year.

Oakman Scores High Spending

Charles C. Oakman

Charging that taxes now are at near confiscatory state, Charles C. Oakman, Republican candidate for Congress from the Seventeenth District, declares the job now is to cut spending, eliminate waste and inefficiency in the government and bring about a balanced budget.

As he made the final appeals to voters prior to the election next Tuesday, he scored the inflationary spiral which he declared has robbed millions of thrifty people of their life's savings.

Corruption and graft also came in for scorn from Oakman as he said he would do everything possible to see that honesty and decency is restored to the government.

The American people, he said, have a right to know what our foreign policy is as he charged that Communism has been given full encouragement by the stupidity, ignorance, and perfidy of men in high places.

Oakman also favors immediate construction of the St. Lawrence Seaway, and he will vote for a program of winning and ending the Korean war as soon as possible.

Oakman is a lifetime Detroit resident and has had 13 years experience in Detroit city government. He has been a member of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors for 11 years, a City Councilman seven years and is a former City Controller.

ected herd, said the animals will have to be destroyed. There is no known cure for it, he pointed out.

The virus disease causes symptoms similar to but not quite as serious as those of hoof and mouth disease in cattle. The first symptoms are lameness and loss of appetite. The disease causes lesions on the hooves and snouts of infected animals.

It was reported as gaining a foothold in the Midwest earlier this year after causing serious damage in Nebraska. The disease was discovered in California some 20 years ago.

Any farmer noting any suspicious symptoms among his swine was advised by the department to notify his veterinarian at once.

PTA Discusses Problem Readers

"It is now generally recognized that the child who can not read is greatly handicapped throughout his life," stated Mrs. Marjorie Bromley, remedial reading teacher.

The answer to what is being done here in the Plymouth school system to help the child with this handicap was the subject of a panel discussion presented at Starkweather P.T.A.'s last meeting.

Planned and moderated by Don Rank, the principal of Starkweather, the panel consisted of Miss Mildred Field, the visiting teacher, Mrs. Mary Strasen, the school nurse, Miss Margaret Roberts, a first grade teacher at Starkweather, and Mrs. Bromley.

"One child in five has difficulty reading because of some emotional bloc, sometimes due to jealousy of a brother or sister, family pressure to have the child do as well as another, classroom pressures, and the like," said Miss Field. The visiting teacher goes to the family of the child with such a handicap, and here in Plymouth has the services of the Psychological Testing Department of the Wayne County Training school, and the Child Mental Health Clinic at Ann Arbor. Miss Field stated that she always has had splendid cooperation, but the demand for the above services is so great that it often takes a long time to carry out a remedy for each child's problem.

Mrs. Strasen presented the part the school health program has in helping where the child's difficulty is due to a physical cause.

Miss Roberts stated that overcrowded classrooms and absenteeism make it difficult for the child, not otherwise handicapped, to learn to read. The reading teacher should hear each child every day; furthermore, if a child misses the few new words added each day, it doesn't take long until he presents a real problem requiring special help.

Mrs. Bromley, the Remedial reading teacher, to whom a child is referred for special help when he drops behind his reading class, explained the various methods and instruments used in her work. So far, in Plymouth, the demand for this service is so great that only about a fourth of those in need can be taken care of and those in greatest need the size recommended by Starkweather only in whatever hook or cranny is available at the moment.

With the opening of the new school, and the Remedial reading program, two to the Plymouth school system as hoped for, the program should be successful in eliminating our children's reading difficulties.

The question and answer period which followed the panel discussion proved the parents were very much interested in the Remedial reading program.

Music for the meeting was furnished by the High School Clarinet quartet under the direction of Laurence Livingston. Members of the quartet are Eric Eklund, Wayne Smith, Carolyn Hill, and Arlene French. The numbers played were "Over the Rainbow", "Caprice", "Loch Lomond," and "Begin the Beguine".

THESE ARE THE $77,726 QUESTIONS!

—That's what the answers were worth in 1947
—Today they could be worth even more
Do You Know

... You are paying, during the present sheriff's term of office, well over three quarters of a million dollars more than when Berhrendt was sheriff in 1947-48?

... The cost to the taxpayers to run the office during this next fiscal year, starting Dec. 1, will be at least $1,734,417 if you vote on Nov. 4 to let the present sheriff get his hands on it?

... That this bill, already $91,404 higher than for the current fiscal year, does not include some expected pay raises, among them a raise for the sheriff himself and he has asked the Supervisors for $4,127?

... Behrendt will turn down any raise, whatever it may be, and will do the job you know he can do for the present salary of $12,000?

... That every year the present sheriff has been in office since 1940, he has always wanted more money—never less—and the more he got the more he wanted?

... The only break for the taxpayers came in 1947 when Behrendt handled the job for $77,726.49 less than had been appropriated at the request of the sheriff he replaced?

... The sheriff who asked and would have spent $77,726.49 more than was necessary in 1947, is the same sheriff, who today wants your vote again to renew his "spending license"?

... With two entire townships less to police (Gratiot and Livonia) this "spend and tax" politician has actually added to the road patrol; yet citizens are forced to depend on the State Police more than ever before?

... Behrendt will unload the payroll of the surplus paycheckers and political deadwood, and, as he did before, will carefully screen all applicants including clearance of fingerprints through the F.B.I., to bar Reds and the morally unfit?

... Behrendt will again give preference to veterans, having appointed more of them than any sheriff before or since he held the office?

... The present sheriff has abandoned the widely acclaimed program to combat juvenile delinquency inaugurated by Behrendt, although it did not cost anything additional in public tax money?

... That Behrendt will immediately restore this program and extend its operation as the need arises, again at no extra cost to the taxpayers?

End The Tax Grab in the Sheriff's Office.

Record Increase Here of 1,018 Traffic Tickets

Traffic ordinance violations have been on the upsurge here since 1951.

This was indicated in a Monthly Report from the police department that showed 1,018 more traffic tickets issued for a nine month period in 1952 than for the same period of time in 1951. In 1951 police issued 663 traffic tickets against 1,681 in 1952.

Overtime parking tickets exceeded the 1951 figure by 856. In 1951 police ticketed 342 cars in an overtime parking drive against 1,198 for the same nine months period in 1952.

Improper parking tickets also took a sky-rocket ride with 147 more tickets being written against local motorists in 1951 than for the same period in 1952. Speeders also came to the attention of the police in increasing numbers. Police wrote 101 such tickets in 1952 (up to September 30) against 57 in 1951. Stop street and red light violators in increasing numbers this year opened their pocketbooks to pay for their folly. Forty-two of them were ticketed up to October 1 as against 31 for the same nine months period in 1951.

Cracking down on such violators, Judge Nandino Perlongo levied 15-day and 30-day jail sentences against two persons for running a red light and making an improper turn. Both these cases have been appealed to circuit court where they are still pending.

This same September report also recorded over 1951, a decrease of auto thefts to four, larceny from 76 to 64 and breaking and entering from 10 to 9, with 112 traffic accidents surging from 119 to 119. Drunk driving cases leveled off during this 1952 period with three cases reported. There were five last year.

Old Favorites Taught Tonight At Square Dance

Enthusiastic advanced square dancers attended the second dance which was held last Thursday, October 23 at the Bird school. Dave Palmer introduced the "Blue Pacific Waltz" which is a couples dance to the group. Members will complete learning the dance at their next meeting which will take place Thursday, November 6. Experienced dancers are cordially invited to attend these dances.

Tonight, October 30, the beginners square dance group will hold their second dance of the season at the Bird School from 8 until 10:30 p.m. Director Carson will review the two dances, "Badger's Gavotte" and "Life of the Ocean Waves", which were taught on October 6.

In addition to these Director Carson plans to introduce more dances, some of which are the "Rye Waltz", "Solomon Levi", "Red River Valley" and "The Chicken Reel".

The square dances provide an opportunity for local residents to enjoy learning the art of the dance so they may dance with their friends and neighbors.

"Mrs. Homemaker" Award Goes to Plymouth Mother of Seven

A 41-year-old Plymouth housewife—and mother of seven children—whose chief occupation is a little frame house at 550 Sunset, gained spotlight honors last Friday after winning the "Mrs. Homemaker Of Greater Detroit" title.

She is Mrs. Mac J. Donnelly, first prize winner in the Detroit Free Press "Mrs. Homemaker" contest and recipient of a $250 award.

Mrs. Donnelly won the "battle of the kitchen" award for outstanding family management and homemaking for making her family's modest dwelling into a neat and pleasant home.

She was selected by the judges on information received by her husband on the nomination ballot plus a personal interview.

Despite limited means this former school teacher does a wonderful job—making a comfortable, interesting home with an educational and spiritual atmosphere," wrote Mr. Donnelly, an industrial engineer.

Judges verified this statement, finding Mrs. Donnelly in her neat and pleasant home—bulging at the seams because of size but overflowing with the spirit that "makes a house a home."

Housework, sewing machine artistry and homemaking via the baking and preserving recipes is only part of Mrs. Donnelly's repertoire that includes active membership in five social and service organizations.

"When I married I wanted to have six children—these we now have, plus an extra dividend, Elizabeth, who was born on Leap Year Day," Mrs. Donnelly says.

As a former school teacher here and in Trenton before her marriage, she employs many of the methods used by her in the schoolroom to make the process of learning the three R's among her brood more enjoyable, besides teaching them to be good homemakers.

"The children love to do things around the house and everyone has a job to do," she explains. "This is not only a help to me but it is also teaching them to do things they should know," she says, indicating she is "growing her own help" to keep the home running smoothly.

The only one besides the baby who doesn't have regular chores to do is Brian, because as his five-year-old sister Sharon explained—"he's only two and too young."

Mrs. Donnelly, while still teaching, traveled extensively in Europe, Mexico and other parts of the world—all experiences she shares with her family bringing to them a rich cultural background.

Leadership in the home and in family living and education is carried on with music appreciation and painting adding to the new experiences of the youthful family.

Extra-curricular activities added to her already vigorous days' work keep Mrs. Donnelly baking numerous cakes, stacks of sandwiches and other food snacks.

What part of every prescription weighs nothing at all?

Your pharmacist's scale is so sensitive it will respond to the weight of a hair!

But into every prescription he compounds, your pharmacist puts one ingredient that never moves the scale's needle.

It is the most important thing you buy whenever you have a prescription filled!

It is the professional knowledge and skill of your pharmacist. Without it, no prescription could be properly filled. The physician orders the required drugs in the specific amounts needed, but the compounding of the finished prescription is the sole responsibility of your pharmacist.

Before he could fulfill this responsibility, he devoted years to the study of the highly specialized subjects of his profession. To earn his college degree, for example, he had to acquire a fundamental knowledge of many sciences such as chemistry, physics, biology. He mastered, too, the details of compounding and dispensing drugs, chemicals, and other medicinal agents.

And after his formal education, your pharmacist's course of study does not end. For there are constant changes and progress in medicine and pharmacy with which he must keep abreast.

Get better acquainted with your pharmacist. He's a good neighbor, and a good citizen who works for better community health. Reprinted from a copyrighted advertisement published by Parke, Davis & Company, Detroit 32, Michigan.

80 PHS Students Hunt First Day

Plymouth High school students have taken to the woods!

Eighty student hunters, who were excused from school Monday, October 20, started small game hunting in the right way if they used suggestions offered by the high school.

To be excused from school for hunting the students had certain procedures to follow. These will probably be used for deer season also.

1. A note from parents giving permission and the dates you expect to be absent.
2. If the note was approved, it was taken to each teacher for his or her approval. Students must make up all assignments before leaving.
3. When all teachers have approved the request, take it home accompanied by a sheet of instructions. Parents must sign this sheet and then the student should bring both the request and the sheet to the office.
4. Any student not obtaining an excuse in advance to go hunting will receive an unexcused absence.

Gives Impression of Polio Center

The many friends of Mary Anne will be pleased to know that she is making good progress in her recovery from polio at the University of Michigan hospital in Ann Arbor. To help pass her idle moments, of which there are few, she wrote the following article for the University Hospital Star, a monthly publication of the institution which we here with reprint.

"A strange procession was seen in the halls of 4 West several weeks ago. This contingent, consisting of patients on rocking beds, in iron lungs and chest respirators, was not out for its 'daily constitutional'—no, 'twas moving day for the Polio Respirator Center which had outgrown its quarters in 4 Center, its home since it was established by the National Foundation in 1951.

"Indeed it is a busy place. On an average morning one can find several patients bundled up in blankets—hot packs, not chills, are the cause for the Arctic attire. Helen Shroeder, or one of the other physiotherapists, can be seen holding a leg high in the air—the leg is attached to a person who sometimes feels as if it isn't by the time the 'stretching business' is over.

"Further down the line, Dickie Brink, with the help of occupational therapist, Mrs. Houdek, is putting the finishing touches on one of his famous model airplanes—a saber jet this time. Painting, making belts and billboards, knitting, doing metal work—all with the assistance of OTs—provide an interesting and profitable treatment for the patients.

"Dickie and Pat O'Brien are the ward's Tiger fans, and faithfully (and loudly) cheer their team on to? At least they're loyal. These two are also staunch Michigan defenders—any traitor from, for instance, Michigan State almost gets 'booted' off the premises!

MARY ANNE WITWER, left, one of Plymouth's polio victims is shown in the University Hospital polio ward on the 4th floor visiting with patient Philip Dolan of Jackson who is in the iron lung. Also passing the time of day with the two patients is social worker Ruth Locher, one of the many of that group to aid in making the hours pass swiftly for those confined to the hospital. According to hospital doctors Mary Ann is making excellent progress and should be home before too many more weeks pass. As a matter of fact she made her first visit home last Sunday to spend a few hours with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Witwer.

"They say 'Three's a crowd' and it certainly sounds like a crowd—of birds—when the three parakeets start their early a.m. exchange of cheery good mornings! First Cyrano reigned the ward supreme but this was all changed when Kay Elliott was given Robby, closely followed by the arrival of Pete, a present to Marilyn Lovejoy.

"Dr. Haven Dickinson, in addition to being director of the Center, is quite skillful with the camera—'skillful', that is, in getting shots of innocent, unsuspecting people for the ward's scrapbook. This is sure to provide many laughs in the years to come. (You can't miss Dr. D.—he's the one addicted to red plaid string bow ties his 'Ellie' makes for him!)

"Doctors, nurses, aides, patients—they're all grand people. If you don't believe me, come see for yourself!"

—Mary Anne Witwer

34 Volunteers Get $374 Answering Four Fire Alarms

Thirty-four volunteers—who answered four fire alarms in September—were paid $374 this month.

Of the four fire calls answered during the month, two of them were inside the city with aid being given twice to the Mutual Aid Firemen's Association on township fire calls.

The two city alarms answered were for an overheated stove and a minor blaze at Champion Corrugated Container set off by a static spark.

Fire prevention activities during the month included inspection of seven schools, four business houses and one industrial plant.

Firemen held fire drills at seven schools during the month.

Two hours of fire practice, according to the September Monthly Report, were held during the month with nine men present.

Behrendt Says He Will Refuse $4,127 Salary Hike Asked by Incumbent

Former Sheriff Edward Behrendt says he "does not want and will not keep" any personal salary raise if elected November 4. The promise will hold he said, whether the pay hike is for $4,127 a year, as asked by the present sheriff, or any lesser amount the County Supervisors may vote as their present meeting.

Behrendt's goal is to match or even better his record of 1947, his first year in office, when his savings amounted to $77,726.49 out of a budgetary appropriation that had already been approved before his election.

The Supervisors have before them the present sheriff's request that he be allowed $1,734.417 to meet expenses of running the office during the next fiscal year, which begins December 1.

This appropriation, if finally approved, will be $91,404 higher than the current fiscal year and does not include any salary raises the sheriff or his aides may be given by the Supervisors, Behrendt said.

Noting that the taxpayers' bill to operate the sheriff's office during the incumbent's present term will be well over three quarters of a million dollars more than when he was sheriff in 1947-48, Behrendt said he is receiving encouragingly strong support for his economy program from Democrats and Republicans alike.

"I believe public officials, in all levels of government, should take the lead to relieve the already oppressive burden of taxes," Behrendt said.

As his first step upon assuming office, Behrendt said he would "begin unloading the featherbed payroll of all unnecessary personnel and political paycheckers whose principal interest is not in the job they do for the taxpayers, but to keep in office the man who appointed them."

Major cuts can be made in the personnel of the road patrol, Behrendt said. Although relieved of the responsibility for policing two entire townships, Gratiot and Livonia, the present sheriff has actually added deputies to this division, Behrendt explained. "It would not be so bad if out-county residents were getting better police protection," Behrendt said. "Actually they are forced to depend on the State Police more than ever before."

Behrendt will restore the Juvenile Delinquency prevention program he inaugurated shortly assuming office in 1947.

This program, duplicated by many sheriffs in widely separated parts of the country, was "scuttled" by the present sheriff, Behrendt said, despite commendation for the results it accomplished, by the court, Detroit and suburban Police Departments, Child Welfare Agencies, the P.T.A. Service Clubs and various citizen groups.

Behrendt stated that the program will again function, just as it did during the two years of his administration, without extra costs in public funds.

Municipal Court Collects $1,091 In Fees, Fines

The 40 municipal court cases heard in September netted the city $139, boosting to $1,091.95 in fines, the fees collected by the local court since July 1.

The largest single amount to date came from fines received in city ordinance cases. That figure ran to $880. Of that figure, $105 in fines were levied against 16 persons in September found guilty of reckless driving, disorderly conduct and other ordinance violations.

During the past month 17 new civil suits were instigated in the court of "first chance" netting the city $65 of which $31 was paid out for constable fees and refunds to attorneys.

High on the list of collections for traffic violations was $206 in fines collected by the Traffic Bureau in September. To date, since July 1, 1952, $564.00 has been collected for these violations.

State and county cases heard here since last July have netted the city $75.95. Since September 1 seven such cases have been processed by the court.

Wonderful Way to Start the Day!

Well, there he goes, backing out into the challenge of an October morning—and there's no denying that he's off to a wonderful start.

You see, he's at the wheel of a Golden Anniversary Cadillac—and there's no greater lift to the spirits than the deep-throated whisper of a Cadillac engine.

It says inspiring things to the man at the wheel.

It tells him, first of all, that life must have gone rather nicely—to take him from where he was—to a place where he owns and enjoys a beautiful Cadillac. Pretty good precedent for a good day today!

It tells him, too—that wherever he drives in the day's activities—the Cadillac crest will pave the way for the respect of the people he encounters.

Yes—he feels pretty good as he turns into the highway, touches his toe to the sensitive throttle, and heads into the adventure of another day.

The miles go softly by . . . the occasional tick-tick of the electric clock reminds him that he's ahead of time for his first appointment . . . and he settles back—relaxed and at ease. Nice, nice going!

Many men have told us that the drive to work in a Cadillac is the finest part of the day. Their heads are clear and their minds at ease as they roll serenely along—a wonderful time to think and plan.

Of course, this is only an extra value that comes with a Cadillac: comes in addition to comfort and safety—and dependability and long life—and all the other wonderful things that make this magnificent car the Standard of the World.

Why not come in and see us—and arrange to enjoy them all yourself?

We'd be happy to see you—any time.

Everything is in readiness for Plymouth's great bond auction sale which will take place Saturday afternoon, rain or shine, on Penniman avenue, between Main and Union streets, states Dr. A. C. Williams, chairman of the Rotary club committee for the event. Scores and scores of valuable prizes have been donated by merchants, professional men, farmers and other citizens to be given as prizes to those who buy war bonds.

Duncan Moore, famed WJR radio commentator and originator of the early morning farm hour of Detroit's popular radio station, has donated one of his little piggies to the war bond auction—and to see to it that the pig brings its real worth, Mr. Moore has agreed to auction it off.

If ever there was a time to call a halt to wasteful, heedless government spending, that time is now. Every dollar wasted in Washington or Lansing means higher taxes for you, higher costs of food and clothing, less "buying-power" in your pay envelope.

Here is why we are mad—and why you should be too. In just five short years the cost of food... clothing... all the things you buy have gone up over 47%! The dollars you earn have dropped in value to where they buy only what 53c would buy in 1939. College Professor Makes Study of Ducks in Country

This'll bring the ducks. There is a scientific basis for the waterfowl hunter's hope for an early, cold, and rainy fall. That has been brought out by a study of how many ducks were shot in each hunting season since 1924. The study—just published—was made by Joseph J. Hickey, professor of wildlife management at the University of Wisconsin.

Professor Hickey found that the greatest single influence on year-to-year variations in hunting success is the weather. The next most important is the system of hunting regulations. But the regulations exert their greatest influence over a five-year period or longer. The weather accounts for the difference in the number of ducks available overhead during successive hunting seasons.

Why? Because bluebird weather—Canadian for Indian summer—keeps ducks in the Far North where hunting pressure is very light. When the clouds scud low and the squalls move in—that's when the ducks move out, giving U. S. hunters a chance.

How the regulations influence hunting is shown by the statistics. Some 64 per cent of banded adult mallards died each year from all causes around the end of the 1920s when seasons were long. This was down to 40 per cent by the end of the 1940s when seasons had been shortened to counteract the drastic effects of the drought. More recently, the number has been on the rise again, following the lengthening of seasons.

But good duck weather—meaning bad weather—may double the take of ducks in any one year over the previous year.

The conclusion Hickey draws is this: Hunting regulations affect the duck hunting mortality—but they can do so only over a period of a few years and only on an average. The take in any one year may be up or down depending on the weather.

Hickey's study of mallard hunting mortality is a part of one of the most complete surveys ever made of banded birds in the United States.

Working with all of the known facts and figures available on bird banding, including those of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service which has issued bird bands and kept records of returns since 1922, Prof. Hickey took as his subject mallard and redhead ducks, cormorants, herons, hawks, terns, doves, owls, and bluejays.

The study was conducted in 1946-47 on a Guggenheim Fellowship and has just been published by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

"For more than a quarter of a century," Hickey says, "professional and amateur ornithologists—especially the latter—have been banding birds on a gigantic scale in North America. These banders laid the foundation for the research."

Hickey found that the best band returns were for the mallard. Since 1924 some 275,000 mallards have been banded in North America, and the recovery of more than 40,000 of these bands have been reported to the Fish and Wildlife Service and to the Canadian government. These band recoveries, Hickey says, "represent an enormous research opportunity that should improve the art of waterfowl management in the years to come."

From the mallard bands, Hickey was able to estimate that the average mortality rate for adult mallards in the Mississippi Valley flyway is around 50 per cent a year—that about half the total mallard population lives over from one year to the next. The other half dies from natural causes or from hunter's guns.

Hickey also found that mallards raised in captivity and turned loose in the fall have a much poorer chance of living through the hunting season than wild mallards.

Redhead ducks, however, are usually in greatest danger from hunters. Young redheads are the last of the ducks to get away from the nests. As a result, they are relatively immature when the hunting season starts—and as much as 45 per cent are shot during their first hunting season.

Hunting takes about 45 per cent of the young redheads alive on Sept. 1, and predators take another 35 per cent before the redheads are a year old, bringing the total annual loss of young redheads to 70 per cent. This contrasts with a 55 per cent loss of adult redheads each year.

These percentages can be compared with the number of ruffed grouse, for example, that fall to hunters' guns—only around 17 per cent of the total population, according to an estimate in New York state. This indicates that in New York, at least, the ruffed grouse is actually undershot or under-harvested. Waterfowl are a much more complex and difficult resource to manage.

From reports by biologists over the country, Hickey learned that the average nest of a female mallard contains eight eggs. The average number of young mallards in broods numbers seven, and of these between five and six survive until the time they are ready to fly.

Bands recovered in a number of areas indicate that at least 12 per cent of the adult mallard population is harvested each year, but this is a low estimate for the country as a whole and probably represents only one-half of the number taken by hunters.

The end of the hunting season, however, leaves the mallard population is harvested each year, each adult—just the right number. This may not be true every year, but is the average over a long period of time.

"It is of some interest that ducks banded on a federal refuge in North Dakota showed the highest recovery rates of those that I examined," Hickey points out. "The implication, of course, is that a federal refuge does not necessarily place ducks out of the reach of hunters."

Despite the obvious protective advantages of a refuge, protection may also make the birds less wary of hunters when migrations take them away from protected areas.

Split hunting seasons are just plain hard on ducks. A split 30-day season on the Pacific Coast in 1934 "seems to have been fully as lethal to these birds as a 60-day season that preceded it," Hickey found. Short hunting seasons after 1929, have resulted in a one-third drop in mallard mortality rates along the Pacific Coast.

"Large-scale banding stations strategically placed throughout the main breeding grounds of waterfowl can be expected to yield valuable information on the effectiveness of hunting regulations and provide a useful guide for estimating the annual kill," Hickey concludes.

Swiss Steak Excellent Meat For Cold Weather Serving

"Tender beef served in a tomato sauce with onion seasoning"—that's the description many folks give of that favorite, swiss steak.

A swiss steak need not always be the same. Of course, preparation is always by the braising method, only the ingredients vary. For instance, you can braise the beef in a tomato sauce and serve small onions on the side, preferably cooked with the meat. Or you can cook onion slices and fresh or canned tomatoes with the meat. The beef may be round steak, chuck or flank steak. Cooked by the moist heat method these less-tender cuts of meat become tender and tasty.

Here are the steps to follow for braising steak. First of all, dredge the meat with flour, then thoroughly brown it on both sides in a small amount of lard or drippings. Next, add liquid (from 1/4 to 1/2 cup), cover the meat closely and let it cook slowly until it is tender. You may need to add more liquid during cooking, but always keep it at a minimum.

PACK AND CARRY LUNCHES

His first lunch box, complete with initials and thermos bottle, is a mighty proud possession of the little fellow starting off to school. And what a lot of surprises—and disappointments—it can hold. Packing a lunch can be as much fun and just as exciting for the mother as for That Very Important Person. A little imagination, a bit of planning, that's all it takes!

The basic pattern is as simple as your favorite wrap-around dress—sandwiches both hearty and sweet, fruit, cookies, something hot or something cold in the thermos, depending upon the weather and the youngster's taste. A nibble for recess, and of course a surprise! The unexpected always pleases children.

As to the makings of lunch-in-a-box, breads come in many varieties to add interest to the portable meal—the sandwich. Just for a change, have you thought of using buns, split and spread, or hollowed out and filled? When you're tired of thinking up fillings,

Tips on Washing Wool Blankets

Save yourself and your blankets this fall when you do household laundry.

Essence of this new method is—don't agitate the soil out of the blanket, soak it out. To begin with, use a synthetic detergent and operate the machine long enough to dissolve the detergent in luke warm water. Put in the blanket and soak 15 to 20 minutes without operating the machine at all. While it is soaking, turn the blanket by hand once or twice.

For the rinsing process, remove the soapy water and allow the blanket to soak four or five minutes in clear tepid water. Repeat, so the blanket gets two rinsings and during each one turn the blanket twice by hand.

After the last rinse, stretch the blanket to original size and dry. When the blanket is dry there is still more important work to be done. Brush it well with a stiff bristle brush to raise the nap. Experiments prove that you can stretch a blanket as much as 10 inches by brushing vigorously with a stiff brush.

If you have an automatic dryer, put in about four pounds of dry towels with the blanket and leave for 15 minutes. Remove the blanket while it is still moist and finish drying in the air, then brush it just as if it had been dried on the line.

Beef Supply Now More Plentiful

It's good news that beef, America's favorite meat, now is coming to market in more plentiful supply. It's good news, too, that there are real buys to be found these days in beef.

One wise choice in the beef line-up is flank steak, for it is an economical, no-bone meat buy. Lean and full of flavor, flank steak can be prepared in a number of interesting ways by varying the seasonings and liquids used.

The basic method for cooking flank is by braising (browning in a little fat, then cooking slowly in liquid until tender), but there are other ways of preparing this tasty meat. A top quality flank steak may even be broiled!

Here's a recipe for a delicious stuffed flank steak. The dressing is delectably flavored with onions, caraway seed and celery salt; the stuffed steak is cooked until tender in tomato juice.

Stuffed Flank Steak

1 flank steak
salt and pepper
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/2 cup finely chopped onion
2 cups soft bread crumbs
1/4 teaspoon caraway seed
1/2 teaspoon celery salt
1 cup tomato juice

Have meat man score flank steak. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Melt fat and in it lightly cook onion. Mix with bread crumbs, caraway seed, celery salt and salt and pepper to taste. Spread stuffing on unscored side of steak and roll parallel to its length. Tie in three or four places with string or fasten with short metal skewers and lace with string. In a skillet or other heavy utensil brown steak in a little hot fat. Add tomato juice, cover and cook over a low heat or in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 2 hours or until tender.

Other Frills for Flank Steak

Flank steak need not always be stuffed for cooking. Try braising it in a tasty sauce, either whole or cut into individual servings. Here are some variations for braising flank steak. Season the scored steak, sprinkle with flour and brown in hot fat. Add any one of the following, cover and cook over low heat until tender:

Sawdust found excellent for cattle bedding

Sawdust or shavings will make warm, absorbent bedding for dairy cattle, according to reports from Michigan State College's Upper Peninsula Experiment Station at Chatham. Folks there have found that, under controlled conditions, sawdust or shavings have no harmful effect on soil when the manure is later applied to fields. Bedding the herd on sawdust will also mean savings in liquid manure. Northern Michigan dairymen usually find shavings easy to obtain; in other sections, good supplies can be picked up from nearby sawmills. For more information, call your nearby County Agricultural Agent.

Rockets and telephones have much in common

To reach its target, this guided missile depends on an "electronic brain" developed by Bell Telephone Laboratories and produced by Western Electric, the manufacturing unit of the Bell Telephone System. Western Electric production techniques also turn out electronic controls and firing systems for Army and Navy guns and Air Force bombing planes. Did you know these same techniques are used to make the "electronic brain" that guides your Bell telephone calls to the right number? Thus modern research and facilities give you better telephone service at the lowest possible cost.

Dates Set For Business Clinic

Hundreds of Michigan people who wish to operate their own part- or full-time small businesses, as well as scores of small businesses already established in the state will benefit from the third state Small Business Clinic to be held in Kellogg Center, Michigan State college, November 8 and 9 under the auspices of the Michigan Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc.

More than a score of authorities on different phases of small business operations, including Miss Marion Martin, Maine's State Commissioner of Labor; William H. Leininger, Detroit, President of Michigan's Small Industries Council, and George Petrie of the Detroit office of the United States Chamber of Commerce have been drawn together by the Continuing Education Service of Michigan State college and the Federation for the sessions.

The clinic is especially devoted to exposing employment opportunities for those who need to supplement their current income, whether it be from insurance, retirement, social security, salary or other funds; to find uses for the skills of men and women prematurely retired from business or industry and to place available part-time business help where that help is needed.

It is also planned to aid artisans in getting their arts and crafts marketed; to give a boost to those starting their own small businesses and to assist those who have fallen heir to businesses for which they are not trained.

It has a further goal—to fill with satisfying, worthwhile gainful occupation, hours which otherwise might be spent in loneliness or despair.

Special emphasis in this year's clinic will be placed on marketing—surveying the available market, fitting the product or service to the market and packaging the produce—during the Saturday afternoon sessions. Group clinics on selling your own products and selling your own services, including direct salesmanship will be held on Sunday.

Among the small businesses to be represented in the clinic are part-time farming, wholesale and retail trades, service trades, real estate, insurance, investment brokerage, party plan selling, direct selling, tourist accommodations, practical nursing, arts and crafts, ceramics, gift shops, raising small fruits and vegetables, weaving, manufacturing, photography, house decoration, business services, china painting, table construction, hand blocked stationery, hand painted cards, cosmetic manufacture and hand carved furniture. Many of the occupations will be demonstrated and displayed.

Those who wish to take part in the clinic should fill in a registration card which may be obtained from any member of the Business and Professional Women's Club or directly from Kellogg Center, Michigan State college, East Lansing. Those who are interested in placing exhibits, should contact Miss Margaret Harris, 423 Charles street, East Lansing.

We've all suspected it for some time, but now it's official. A health authority says that noise is a menace to health. Noise causes nervous fatigue and can get us as jittery as false eyelashes in a high wind. And it doesn't have to be an A-bomb type of noise, or even a bunch of firecrackers. It's the everyday thump, bump, clack, clatter and beep that gets us walking on our heels and talking to echoes.

About the only kind of noise that doesn't bother us is the noise we make ourselves. That still doesn't explain the fun of football games. However, at other times the good word is still: Let's have it quiet!

I see the New York Supreme Court ruled that you can't sue an office holder for broken promises because "elected officials are not required to keep their promises." Now they tell us. There's one promise you can depend on and that's our promise to sell you only quality merchandise, and at reasonable prices. You may be confident that all our prescriptions are mixed with the highest degree of accuracy and purity. PETERSON DRUG, 840 W. AN Arbor Trail. Phone: 2080.

Old Landmark to be Destroyed

The "Old Pavilion" in Island Lake recreation area near Brighton has seen its last days. Conservation department workmen are tearing down the structure to make way for a new concession house and toilet facilities.

Military personnel first used the building during Spanish-American war days. The Island Lake area at that time was a National Guard assembly point.

Later, the building was used as a dance hall, shelter, concession stand and gathering place for many thousands who visited the area. Many Plymouthites can remember dancing to the strains of name bands during the early 1920s in the once popular pavilion.

Probably no son is so put out with his father at this minute as is Bucky Taylor with his well known banking father Jack. On the weekend proud father Jack took his son hunting with a new shotgun he had just purchased for him. When the pair approached a fence Mr. Taylor instructed Bucky in the art of sliding his gun through the fence first and then crawling through after it. Bucky complied, but he still can't get over the fact that the only pheasant he saw was the one that flew up right under his nose while his gun was on the ground on the other side of the fence.

The Mail's staff photographer was slightly set back when he called local attorney Earl Demel to inquire if he had any pheasants on hand that hadn't been picked that he might use in a hunting shot for this week's paper. To his surprise Mr. Demel remarked that his were all in the deep freeze but if the photographer didn't have any luck finding suitable birds would he call back and he (Demel) would be pleased to go out and shoot him a couple for his picture.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Law had special seats at the Eisenhower address in Detroit last Friday night. The tickets were sent to the Laws because their son James Richard Law was a member of the honor guard that officiated at Eisenhower's departure from Europe.

Ground was broken yesterday by Shelden Land company for their new shopping center on Plymouth and Farmington roads. After the four o'clock ceremony on the site guests were entertained at a cocktail party and dinner at Huck's Redford Inn.

Imagine the surprise of a Plymouth housewife trying on a newly purchased coat in her home when she discovered in the sleeve a bank deposit bag loaded with dough! No one knows how the money got there, but all ended well and the money was returned to the slightly red-faced management.

Gubernatorial candidate Fred Alger paid high compliment to Norman Marquis when the visiting candidates were treated to coffee in Marquis' restaurant after the rally here Monday. Mr. Alger was more than impressed with the Republican decorations in the eating place and said if more business men would do as much there would be little question about the outcome of the election next week.

Plymouth attorney Claude Buzzard was host to a large cocktail party after the christening of the new Chesapeake and Ohio car ferry Sparton at Ludington last Friday. The new boat named for Michigan State college is one of two being launched this fall by the railroad for which Mr. Buzzard is attorney.

Michigan CIO unions have a big stake in the outcome of the election Tuesday. Here is the story, as told by a former CIO employee.

The CIO role in Michigan politics is graphically portrayed in a book just published by the University of Chicago Press. The university calls it an "impartial, firsthand study of how pressure groups operate on our political party." We emphasize the work "impartial" as the author who did the fact-finding is Fay Calkins, a research assistant for the National CIO Political Action Committee, a former CIO employee. Presumably she ought to know.

Two years ago the Michigan CIO through its state "political action committee" not only grabbed control of the Wayne County Democratic organization by electing a majority of precinct captains in four out of five district conventions. The PAC actually gained control of the Democratic state convention itself, says Miss Calkins.

By putting up $200,000 of CIO Union funds to help re-elect Governor G. Mennen Williams, the Michigan PAC led by August Scholle, affected the defeat of two-term Republican Governor Harry F. Kelly by a close margin. Now they had their own advocate in the executive office to push PAC-endorsed legislation. These measures included a corporation profits tax, fair employment practice, public housing, improved social security and workers' education—Democratic state platform planks taken directly from the state PAC's legislative program. (Note: The $200,000 expenditures were reported to the Secretary at Lansing.)

Miss Calkins adds: "The (Michigan) PAC did not hesitate to bring pressure for sympathetic appointees to the Michigan Unemployment Compensation commission, the state department of labor and the Public Service commission."

Thus, election of a governor whose viewpoints coincide with those of the Michigan CIO was a feather in the hat of Messrs. Reuther and Scholle. They had a friend in the Governor's chair.

The Michigan victory was in contrast to the whopping defeat sustained by labor leaders in Ohio where Senator Robert Taft was re-elected by a record majority.

Why was Michigan successful where Ohio had failed? Miss Calkins' conclusion is that the Ohio PAC was "exposed to public opinion as a special interest group" because of its separate precinct organization which paralleled that of the state Democratic organization.

In Michigan, so Miss Calkins explains, the labor movement was hidden behind a broad party organization and a traditional party name.

Thus, Williams was not a CIO candidate. He was a man of liberal thinking, popular in both city and rural areas because of his democratic hand-shaking, barn-dancing ways, who appeared before the voters as a Democrat—not as a union candidate.

The key to the Michigan CIO success was Wayne County which has 37% of the state's population. By capturing Wayne county alone, PAC was able to get control of the Michigan state convention. This was not possible in Ohio, a state of many large industrial centers. Where the Ohio labor leaders were out in the open and incurred resentment of many voters, the Michigan CIO operated behind the scenes, hidden from public view and hence less vulnerable to criticism.

These facts, as vouched for by Miss Calkins, are of pertinent interest to Michigan voters this fall for three good reasons.

First, the Michigan CIO is now attempting to extend its influence by getting control of the State Legislature. Reapportionment of the legislature has been handled to date on a basis of geographical representation in the Senate and population representation in the House. This practice is also followed at Washington in election of Senators and Representatives.

The Michigan CIO wants to change this by giving a handful of counties a majority control of the legislature through election of senators and representatives. This scheme is known as Amendment No. 2.

Second, the Michigan CIO would take away the following congressmen through such a reapportionment: One each from the Upper Peninsula, North Michigan above the Muskegon-Bay City line, and Western Michigan, west of about US-27. The southeastern Michigan industrial area, centering around Detroit, would have 12 Congressmen instead of nine as at present.

Third, re-election of Governor G. Mennen Williams will assure a continuation of the stalemate at Lansing whereby the average legislative revenue bill, other than a state corporation profits tax, is automatically assumed of a governor's veto.

Like all elections, however, the Nov. 4 election is complicated by having many issues, some relevant and some not. Political observers at Lansing are crossing their fingers on the Nov. 4 outcome in Michigan. The election is just that close. Not for a generation have the odds been so even five days before the election. And not in that time has Michigan been so vital to the hopes of both parties.

Michigan has enjoyed the experience of being a pivotal Presidential state.

At least the crowd who turned out to greet Eisenhower in three appearances here, for two formal speeches and his successful whistle stop trip cross-state; who heard Adlai kick-off his campaign at Detroit and make a propeller-stop trip; and who heard President Truman make his typical "give-em-ell-arry" talks here—the audiences seemed to be enjoying themselves tremendously.

Their final reaction—how they'll vote Tuesday—is something the voters are keeping to themselves.

In the meanwhile, the Michigan CIO will have its greatest test at the ballot box. The stakes are great.

ROGER BABSON SAYS:

Babson Discusses Christmas Buying

Kansas City, Missouri, Oct. 30—If Christmas had come last spring or summer when the steel strike was starting, it would have been a poor Christmas for manufacturers, merchants and the rest of us. Early in 1952, the public stopped buying. Television sets, washing machines, and other appliances were filling up storehouses; while the companies making these were discharging workers.

Now May be Time to Buy

A trip through our Great Central West makes me believe the above situation is changing. Wise buyers are making their Christmas purchases, refrigerators and appliances. Even automobiles appear to be selling well in most sections. They are now being produced at an annual rate of nearly 5,000,000 because the industry is catching up after the steel strike. However, for the same reason, full-year 1952 will not show such a total.

Probably most textiles can be bought for less now than they can in December. Sheets, blankets, and other household goods will become scarcer as Christmas approaches, although there will be the customary "sales" in January. Carpets, including wool and the blended types, are moving well now even though they were a drag on the market early this year.

New Houses in Demand

New houses, the sale of which fell off badly during the summer, are again in demand due to the relaxation of credit controls. There is, however, only little demand for large houses—though they are much better built. When well located, with land available for building small new houses, many of these large-er old places are better buys than small ones. This is especially true where zoning permits large houses to be used by two families.

Rents are sure to advance during 1953. This may once again make it profitable to build houses to rent. People have money; and they first want a home. Next, a television set! These are again moving and it is better to buy one either now or wait until after Christmas. They will be higher in December than just now.

What About Prices in General

Wholesale prices have been declining for some time, and now consumer prices are moving very slightly lower. The Labor Department living cost index for September shined off to 190.8 per cent of the 1935-39 average. That was against 191.1 in August. The immediate prospect is for foods, rents, utilities and miscellaneous consumer goods and services to show little further change. Apparel may move down slightly. Home furnishings will be unchanged. All in all, little change in the consumer price-index is expected for the rest of the year. Food prices, on the average, appear to be declining a bit. The general uptrend in the cost-of-living seems to have been broken. Any change between now and the end of the year probably will be too moderate to be felt by the average family.

The above outlook is due to full employment in all but a very few sections. Contractors are again seeking workers; the utilities are employing more people; and most people willing to work can get a job. Stenographers, typists, and other office and store help are now in great demand. The situation may be a little less optimistic after Christmas with a chance that there then may be greater-than-usual seasonal unemployment. The best way for manufacturers and merchants to help prevent this—and thus save their own skins—is to spend more on advertising and selling—but keep prices down.

How to Hold Your Job

A number of persons now employed will be let go during the first few months of 1953, barring war. Defense work will not slack off, but there usually is a general reaction after Christmas. When reducing employees, manufacturers and merchants too often go on the principle of "last employed should be the first to be let go."

The above means that readers should not now change to some other job just to temporarily get more money. Stick where you are and do better work than you have ever done. Remember that Christmas—like other good things—may have an unpleasant "hang-over." Play safe and don't be blinded by tinsel and candles.

OUR SILVER ANNIVERSARY

It is with a great deal of pride that we, the management, directors and employees of the Mayflower Hotel, celebrate our twenty-fifth anniversary. Our job has been made easier by the cooperative spirit of the citizens of Plymouth and the many suppliers that keep our operation "humming". It is this cooperation that has made The Mayflower one of the few privately-owned community hotels in America today!

Hotel Marks Silver Anniversary— Completely Refurnished, Modern

Plymouth's Hotel Mayflower marks its Silver anniversary this week as a near million dollar business and one of five of the city's biggest industries.

Boasting nearly "every service under one roof," helping share anniversary honors are 72 hotel employees, some of whom have spent 16 years at the service of hotel patrons.

It has a ratio of slightly under two employees for every three rooms, more than adequate, hotel officials say, to give patrons top-notch service. The employees share in an annual payroll of nearly $200,000.

Testifying to its bigness and inter-state recognition are an estimated 24,000 guests who will have stayed there overnight or longer by the end of this year.

Thirty-two of the hotel employees are assigned to food preparation. Annually they serve in the neighborhood of 218,400 meals to guests who have come there from as far away as India, Australia, France and Germany. With maintenance costs an object of consideration, the hotel has its own fully equipped laundry that washes more than 67,000 pieces each month.

It has a one-man maintenance crew who does nothing but rehabilitate and decorate the 54-rooms that make up the guest quarters. "Each week he is assigned to completely refurbish one room," says Hotel Manager Ralph G. Lorenz. "It's a job that never ends."

A modernization program that cost nearly $200,000 in past years has made the hotel facility ultra-modern in its accommodations.

New furniture, draperies and rooms decorated in light, popular colors give individual rooms that living-room look.

Among its "firsts," reveals its management, were the installation of television sets in all rooms with bath. "We were the first hotel in Michigan to give this 'free' service," Lorenz reports.

Part of the constant rehabilitation program of the hotel has led to a new $15,000 cuisine that boasts the latest in food preparation equipment. It includes a complete bake shop. A like $15,000 amount was spent just three years ago for new carpeting that covers every square foot of guest-room space.

With emphasis on "service to patrons," the hotel never turns away a guest.

"We maintain 22 rooms in motels constantly," Lorenz declares, emphasizing that the hotel does everything it can to accommodate all guests without turning any away.

For heat, 125 tons of coal were used in 1951 to heat the 54 rooms. Present heating improvements have done away with the coal stoker in favor of oil heat, one more step forward in the modernization program. Added to this are tons of air conditioning equipment constantly "vacuuming" the air of dust particles.

The hotel also maintains an informal travel bureau service making travel arrangements for its guests as an added service that has helped make it one of Eastern Michigan's outstanding hotels, standing minutes away from industrially big Detroit, yet in the midst of a friendly, small city atmosphere.

Manager of Mayflower Pulls Hotel Out of Financial "Doghouse"

Austrian born Ralph G. Lorenz, manager of Hotel Mayflower, took up managerial reins here in 1939, when, he recalls, "the hotel, laboring under the 'Great Depression', was mortgaged up to the hilt."

"I recall," he says, "when 85 per cent of the nation's hotels were flat broke," stating that some of the independent hotels which weren't disbanded were reincorporated.

This, however did not happen to the Mayflower. With something less than $100 in the bank, Lorenz set about literally pulling the hotel out of the financial "doghouse", putting operations on a sound business basis.

There were staff cuts. Expenses were pared and a huge publicity program was embarked upon that eventually took on nationwide proportions, with private mailing lists eventually exceeding 10,000.

Now, 13 years after a continuous hard-hitting program that Taking up reins again after the war, Lorenz exploited the Mayflower-Pilgrim theme that has since been taken up as a city-wide theme.

The hotel's now famed Mayflower Room is one example of what retitling has done. In the year since it was opened refurbished and redecorated, over 100,000 meals have been served to persons coming here on business or pleasure from throughout the nation.

Lorenz is a member of the National Hotel Association, former chairman of the 10-state Small Hotels Association, and now vice-president of the Michigan.

He is also a Rotarian and a Board of Directors member of the Chamber of Commerce here, besides holding recognition, at Michigan State College as a lecturer on the college's newly installed Hotel Management curriculum.

A Plymouth resident, Lorenz resides at 45885 Ann Arbor trail with his wife, Mabel, and four children.

Ralph G. Lorenz

has put the hotel operation in the big business category, Lorenz counts "hard business sense" as a valuable asset.

The 54-room hotel, since the days of financial chaos, has been completely refurbished with modernistic furniture. Nearly $20,000 in new carpets has been installed throughout the hotel. The Mayflower Wine Shop and Tap Room were built, serving the public as a valuable adjunct to the hotel.

Added to this was the recent opening of the Captain Room adding dining facilities for 30 more persons, just one more addition that has made the hotel the third largest taxpaying unit in the city.

Lorenz says the hotel lays claim to having influenced the growth and progress of the city simply by making hotel facilities available to businessmen and industrial leaders seeking a place to conduct their meetings.

"We have been instrumental in practically all building programs here," he declares. "People instrumental in such industrial or business progress in the city have been quartered or entertained here."

Stressing equanimity and friendliness in arranging banquets, meetings or friendly get-togethers, Lorenz indicates that this atmosphere has been instrumental in bringing about decisions favorable to the progress of the city.

Lorenz came here from Austria in 1921. After graduation from Plymouth High school, he attended Michigan State Normal college, receiving a B.A. degree there.

Following a partnership in the Hillside Inn in 1937, the 42-year-old expert in hotel protocol was appointed Hotel Mayflower manager in 1939.

Following his career in hotel management, Lorenz served 27 months as a senior lieutenant in the Navy. As a supply officer on overseas duty in the Pacific, he was in charge of food operations that fed 57,000 men a day.

$40,000 Tap Room Offers Cordials as "Friendly Host"

Adding to the "city within a city" theme is the Mayflower Tap Room that adds to the hotel's motto as being the "friendly host to a great new industrial area."

A recently completed modernistic building and cocktail lounge houses the facility in a friendly, relaxing and informal atmosphere.

It has a seating capacity of 100. Stressing the Tap Room as a gathering place for business people and guests, Hotel Manager Ralph G. Lorenz emphasizes the "non-commercial" aspect of the Tap Room catering service.

"It has not been commercialized," he says. "The tap room is a service for guests."

The 6,000 member hotels of the American Hotel Association represent about 75 per cent of the hotel rooms in the nation.

Hotel Mayflower Caters to Organizations

Hotel Serves as Headquarters for 13 Local Fraternal and Service Clubs

In its 25 years of service here the Hotel Mayflower has not only been regarded as a social and business center of the community but as club headquarters for 13 local service and fraternal organizations.

Some 400 club members each week gather there to discuss club problems and "pet projects" that range from college scholarship help to college-bound youth to intra-city planning for needed parking facilities.

"It has been, in part, the hotel's facilities," declares Nat Sibbold, Chamber of Commerce secretary, "that have brought together top business and industrial leaders."

He suggests that out of varying associations formed "could have well sprung local businesses and industries that annually bring into the community millions of dollars, providing hundreds of jobs for Plymouth residents."

Nearly every noon there are club meetings or just plain get-togethers. Whatever organization seeks the hotel's catering service they find, in the words of one club official "a small community's friendly welcome with big-city facilities."

There are standing reservations for such clubs as the Wayne County Suburban Bar Association, the Wayne County Realtors' Association and the Plymouth Rotary Club.

The hotel is also the "home" of the Optimists, the Kiwanians, Masons, Lion Club members, the Soroptimists, Suburban Plumbers' Association, and Plymouth Chamber of Commerce.

Plymouth Business and Professional women also meet here along with firm heads of the Holley Carburetor company from Detroit.

Top executives from many of Plymouth's 20 industrial firms

Seating 100 the unique dining room was designed by Harry L. Colton, architectural designer from Grand Rapids. It has reportedly served nearly 100,000 persons in one short year of operation. Guest book "ledgers" show that out-of-towners from throughout the state entertain there.

The colonial design, in keeping with the name of the city, is also captured in the smaller dining facility—the Pilgrim Room, used for private gatherings.

Adding to dining facilities is the popular Coffee Shop that helps accommodate an estimated 800 dinner guests each day.

Colonial hotel proprietors were sturdy individuals who ran their houses pretty much as they saw fit. One Boston innkeeper, for instance, posted a code of house rules which led off with a requirement that all guests participate in religious services, morning and night.

A $40,000 INSTALLATION: The Mayflower Tap Room is the newest adjunct to Plymouth's community hotel. Completed in January, 1949, the tap room offers tourists and guests a varied number of cordials and refreshments in a cocktail lounge atmosphere. Built at a cost of $40,000, the tap room accommodates 100 persons. Equipped with television, informality, and fast service are keynoted in the inviting room where friends can meet for off-hour relaxation.

RECENT BOARD APPOINTEES: Helping celebrate the Silver anniversary of the opening of Hotel Mayflower are Board of Director members Schrader and Allison. Taylor serves as assistant secretary to the board.

The City Hotel—It Never Sleeps

This best describes the hotel of today. From the day that a hotel opens and the key is thrown away in a centuries-old innkeeping ceremony, the hotel is on 24-hour duty.

Around the clock, an operator mans the switchboard to handle emergency calls. Elevators run throughout the night. Watchmen and security officers are on quiet duty to ensure the safety of guests and their possessions.

Down beneath the lobby, engineers in the boiler room keep the furnaces properly fired, so that heat and hot water are available at any hour. An electrician stands by to make sure that the power plant and lighting system function smoothly.

During the night hours, cleaners methodically go through the hotel plant scrubbing the kitchen and public rooms so that all will be ready for the morning.

And for the guest, every service and convenience is as near at hand as his phone: doctor or dentist, beauty parlor or barber shop; room service for food or beverage; newsstand or florist; drugs or smart clothing from lobby shops.

NHA Gives Hints to Travelers

The American Hotel Association offers these five tips to ease the lot of traveler and hotel man alike:

1. Travel during off-peak periods if you can. Unless the defense effort expands into full wartime scale, hotels will continue to be least crowded on Fridays, Saturdays, and Sundays. Of course resort hotels, on the other hand, are usually most crowded on weekends.
2. Make your reservations as far in advance as possible. If you anticipate arriving late, say so. If you wire for a reservation request confirmation by wire collect.
3. Reserve your accommodations for a specific period, and let the hotel know as soon as possible if you decide to extend your stay.
4. Give the next fellow a break, cancel reservations you won't be able to use. It might be your next time.
5. Vacate your room before the check-out hour. If you want to stay longer, call the assistant manager. He'll usually let you do so, at no charge, unless the room is needed. If someone is waiting for the room, the hotel will usually check your baggage at no charge.

The hotel is the guest's "home away from home."

$200,000 Mayflower Stock Issue Over-Subscribed in Six Hours

HOTEL MAYFLOWER—A COMMUNITY PROJECT: On its Silver anniversary, celebrated this week, the Hotel Mayflower pays homage to some 180 persons, who in 1927, built the community sponsored, community financed and community furnished 54-room hotel as a social, business and recreational meeting place. Keynoted as a "friendly host to a brand new industrial area," the hotel offers businessmen and tourists every modern convenience. The hotel has been famous in southeastern Michigan especially, as well as throughout the nation, for its highly regarded cuisine. The latest additions to the hotel are the Wine Shop and Tap Room, completed some four years ago. A new dining facility, the Captain's Room, was opened just a month ago. It accommodates about 30 more dinner guests.

Breaks National Record in 1926

Subscribing funds for construction of Hotel Mayflower set a national stock-selling record in 1926 for community projects of this kind.

Between breakfast and lunch of September 21, 1926, 125 members of a Citizens' Sales Organization sold $209,000 in stocks, over-subscribing the issue by $9,000 in something less than six hours.

Six days had been set aside by the Hockenbury System, Inc., of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, organizers and directors of the $200,000 stock sale.

The sales campaign, recorded in a 1927 edition of The Plymouth Mail, depicted the drive as something bordering a football rivalry, with all the spirit of a closely knit community hard at work, giving the city one more thing to be proud of.

The executive campaign sales officers for the "Quick-sale", all-out drive were: Edward C. Hough, general chairman, Edward Gayde, campaign treasurer, J. M.

Larkins, chairman of the citizens' organization, and J. B. Hubert, campaign secretary.

To perform the masterful selling job an executive committee chaired by Hough and broken down into five committees with a total of 41 members was formed.

Operating in conjunction with the committees were 125 members of the Citizens' Sales Organization broken down into 12 divisional teams.

Much of the groundwork for the "quick sale" of stock was accomplished prior to the campaign drive with members of the executive committee winning "pledges for a considerable portion of the $200,000 stock issue."

Wine Shop Offers Gourmet Food Delicacies

Doing a land-office business during its 15-hour day is the Hotel Mayflower's Wine Shop.

"It's a store within the hotel," says Manager Ralph G. Lorenz, noting that it caters to hotel guests and local residents with a flair of the epicure stressing the proper protocol of "winning and dining."

Stocked on the shelves of this bustling four-year-old enterprise are imported food delicacies from Argentina, Japan, Germany, Spain, France, and England.

From Japanese rice crackers to Dusseldorf prepared mustard, the shelves read like a travel folder adventure.

Rare domestic "tidbits" are also on the "menu" of the store's offerings.

They all are food delicacies of the gourmet—the connoisseur with the Epicurean view of eating and drinking fine foods.

The Wine Shop is known throughout the area as one of just a few stores in which Michigan's famed Pinconning cheese is sold.

"We sell about 300 pounds of it a week," Lorenz states, adding that oftentimes customers drive 20 or 30 miles to buy the "twangy" cheese.

Besides Caviar, smoked crab-apple oysters and spiced sweet watermelon, the store displays crystalware for wines, liquors, and champagne.

Available for the gift buyer are varying "nick-nacks", beside the gourmet's "tools" for serving dinner guests.

The Wine Shop, located on the Ann Arbor trail side of the hotel, is open Monday through Saturday from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m.

Staffing the shop are Mrs. Lois Fleury and Harry Knurium.

Mayflower Has Own Laundry

Washing and ironing an estimated five tons of sheets, pillow cases, aprons and a myriad of other linens each week is a big job most housewives would agree.

But that's the job of three Hotel Mayflower employees running the hotel's laundry.

Putting in a six-day week, the women employees estimate they use 225 pounds of soap, 50 pounds of water softener and 50 pounds of grease dissolvent.

Since 1939, when the laundry was first opened, some 3,380 tons of linens have run the "scrub-day" gauntlet.

Today that total may be even higher. With hotel rooms filled daily, the staff of three are washing some 800 sheets each week. Nearly twice that many pillow-cases are returned to linen closets washed and ironed.

With sparkling white linens mandatory, the complete laundry facility uses a barrel washing machine that beats the dirt out of a hundred pounds of linens at one time.

A Spin-dryer, gas-operated clothes dryer and rotary ironer helps speed the huge week-in and week-out operation.

The laundry was Manager Ralph G. Lorenz's first major improvement to help cut down "high costs."

In its 13-years of operation, he says, "thousands of dollars have been saved," indicating that it was one added measure to help put the hotel on a "sound financial basis."

Employed in the laundry are Mrs. Agda Oaks, Mrs. Lorraine Ingebritson and Mrs. Ada Adam.

Yearly income earned by Americans on foreign investments has hit a new high: $2,186,000,000.

Offers Students Pre-College Help

The management of Hotel Mayflower, allying itself closely with Michigan State college, is offering high school students opportunities for on-the-job training as a prelude to college training in Hotel Management.

This was revealed by Manager Ralph G. Lorenz who says: "We are working closely with the high school, helping boys interested in hotel management find a means of continuing their training in college."

Lorenz states that he has helped "six or eight boys find means of continuing their education in college and helping them get placed in the hotel business afterward."

Some of his earlier trainees, he says, got jobs as officers in the Army Quartermast Corps, managerships in college unions or sales positions, working in fields allied with the hotel business.

"We insist that students working for such background training as needed, work hard, be conscientious besides keeping a "C" average in school," he concludes.

Merchants Here Furnish Hotel

Community sponsored, financed and built, the Hotel Mayflower was also furnished by local merchants here.

The furniture, carpet and rugs were supplied by Schrader Brothers, who later sold out their business. Installation of the furnishings was made under the direction of Fred D. Schrader.

Under contracts, Blunk Brothers supplied shades and draperies. Silverware, hollowware, dinnerware, glassware and cooking china were contracted from Gayde Brothers.

Sheets, pillow cases, blankets, mattress covers, towels and table linens were provided by Martin's Main street dry goods and notions firm.

Refrigeration with "iceless refrigerators" was installed by Huston and company, a hardware firm.

Other Plymouth businessmen contributing to the construction or service of the hotel included the Plymouth Elevator company, supplying face brick, cement and mason line; Eckles Coal and Supply company with hollow tile, sewer tile, lime plaster and cement.

Others included Carl Heide, florist; Michigan Federated Utilities, kitchen ranges, broilers and ovens; Michigan Bell Telephone System, exchange system.

The Hills Dairy company of that day were milk suppliers, having a two-year contract with the hotel.

The William Wood Insurance Agency wrote contract bonds for the new structure and later was given other insurance contracts.

During the depression years of the 1930's, hotel occupancy plunged down to 51 per cent. Recovery was slow because: (1) hotels had been over-built during the boom years of the late 20's (2) most were over-capitalized; and (3) professional hotel men had not been employed by many of the speculators and others who had attempted to enter the hotel business.

Trio of Mayflower Directors Also Celebrate Twenty-five Years

Life-Long Plymouth Residents Help Direct Building

Three of the original nine directors of the Plymouth Community Hotel company, owners of Hotel Mayflower, have served continuously for 25 years. This week they help celebrate the Silver anniversary of the incorporation and completion of the hotel as a community project. They are Paul J. Wiedman, president, Charles E. Bennett, vice president and Carl G. Shear, treasurer. Each of the life-long residents has helped direct the development and building of the hotel from its drawing board stage to the modernistic 54-room facility that yearly accommodates an estimated 24,000 overnight guests and provides dining facilities for some 200,000 more in one year's time.

The hotel was first conceived by Chamber of Commerce members in February, 1926. Following a series of meetings seeking a project for that year, members set as their objective construction of the Hotel Mayflower.

Plagued by financial problems, the community hotel project was incorporated and a Citizens Sales Organization was appointed in September, 1926.

After their initial meet, the sales group, sparked by Edward C. Hough, sold $200,000 in hotel stock in six hours, establishing a world's record for getting financial support on a project of this kind.

Evolution and development of Hotel Mayflower was not something that developed quickly.

By 1925 local businessmen had long recognized the need for an adequate hotel facility. Other cities in Michigan had forged ahead in the hotel field. But Plymouth was lagging dangerously behind.

It needed the hotel as a social and business gathering place.

In a prospectus marking the need for a new hotel, Hough told the community, "there are few projects which the citizens of Plymouth could carry through, which could mean as much to the community and its future development and progress as this new, distinctive hotel."

"It means more business for everyone, increased and stabilized real estate values, favorable ad-

Food Contest at Hotel Makes Popular Meals

A food popularity contest — it eventuated a Duncan Hines listing for the Hotel Mayflower — is continually underway there with dinner guests as judges.

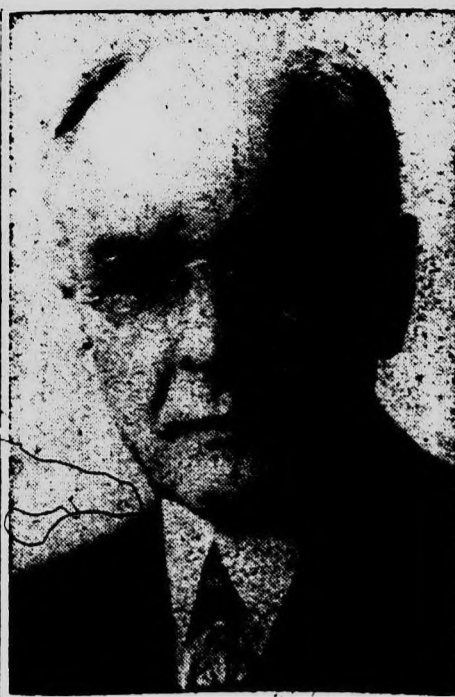

Bowing to popular demands, the management attributes its popular menus to a "trial and eliminate" system that now merits a permanent listing in Duncan Hines' publication, "Adventures in Good Eating."

Gourmets of the dining room, dinner guests themselves, are setting a whole new trend in eating, says Manager Lorenz, who points out that men especially now tend to eat light foods.

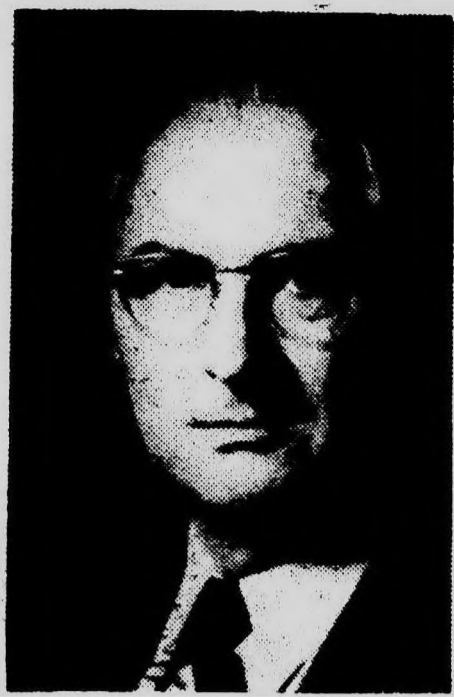

"We have three people doing nothing but preparing salads and vegetarian dishes," he says, indicating that the menfolk are staying away from fatty foods and becoming "weight conscious".

Working jointly with his catering manager and chef, Lorenz says they are currently hard at work developing recipes that would approximate the Pilgrim Thanksgiving dinner.

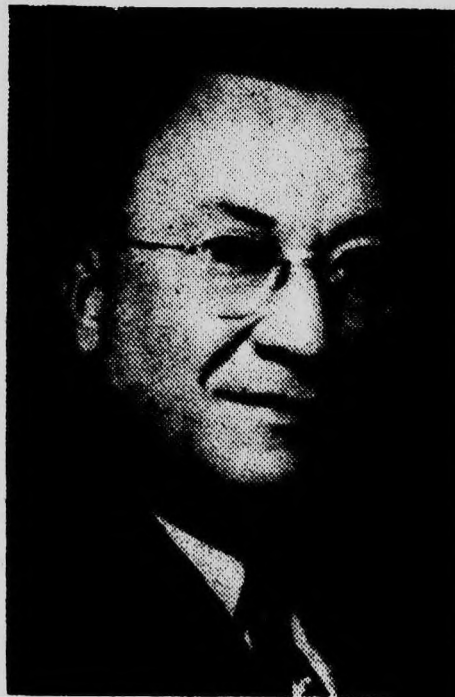

"Research is currently going on in that direction," he says, "and by Thanksgiving we hope to have some pleasant eating surprises in store for holiday guests coming to the hotel."

TWENTY-FIVE YEAR MEN: Each of the above three members of the Board of Directors of Hotel Mayflower has served in that capacity continuously for 25 years. Bennett is vice-president. vertising for the community, which can be secured in no other manner — in short, a better city."

Of the three original directors still serving on the board of the hotel, Bennett is president of the Daisy Air Rifle company and Wiedman and Shear are local automotive dealers.

The other six original directors included Fred D. Schrader, founder of the Schrader Funeral Home; John M. Larkins, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce in 1926; Frank Rambo, Plymouth realtor; Edward Gayde, grocer; E. K. Bennett, cashier, Plymouth United Savings bank, at the time; and Edson O. Huston, a hardware dealer.

A prime mover in the hotel's construction was the president of the Chamber of Commerce, Harry S. Lee, who was instrumental in pointing discussions toward the need for the hotel.

The recognition of the need on the part of the Chamber of Commerce and the vision of the original committee, some of whom became board of directors and executives in financing the project, can well be justified.
