An Editorial By Sterling Eaton

NOW IS THE TIME FOR ACTION

Probably at no time in the history of this area have traffic facilities and traffic accidents reached the staggering proportions that they have today.

No longer is it safe for you or members of your families to venture from your home to travel the roads in this fast growing section.

We think the time for action has come. Something has to be done to stop the wanton killings that we hear of each day.

You as a driver should be cautioned to take extra precaution when you are behind the wheel of your car.

We urge Mayor Russell Daane to take immediate steps to form a committee of action, consisting of the officials already mentioned.

We urge penalties to those who violate these regulations strong enough so that others will think twice before doing the same.

Further we suggest a long range study of this problem by a group capable of providing a common-sense solution which will be workable for all concerned permanently.

Certainly law enforcement officers can handle this problem and it shouldn't and doesn't mean necessarily that this action should or will incur additional expense to those concerned.

City to Return $4,624 to Homeowners Over Assessed on Building Projects

Some city property owners will now become the recipients of an unexpected "bonanza" as a result of city commissioners' action Monday that returns $4,624 to homeowners over assessed on street construction projects.

All over assessments will be adjusted on assessment rolls and credited on the last assessment payment or returned to respective property owners by check in cases where payment has already been made to the city.

The one exception to this will be the $783.62 in over payments for Fralick avenue. This refund will be held by the city pending outcome of litigation that currently has assessment levies suspended in a restraining court order.

The refund will be divided on percentage scale among homeowners whose property abuts the over-assessed improvements.

In cases where checks are to be mailed to individuals, payment will be made about the third week in February, City Manager Albert F. Glassford said Tuesday.

The refunds represent over assessments amounting to five per cent or more on individual projects.

All over assessments under five per cent will be credited on the next assessment roll.

Double Services Held Monday For Accident Victims

A double tragedy that ended in death for two Plymouthites and severely injured a third victim occurred last week following a two car collision at Schoolcraft and Haggerty roads.

Killed instantly was Clayton A. Tarnutzer, 54, of 310 West Ann Arbor trail, Tarnutzer's wife, Ruth M., 50, died Saturday, three days following the accident, of chest and internal injuries.

The Tarnutzers were passengers in a car driven by Ralph Smart of Cincinnati. Smart was removed to Wayne County General hospital.

A third Plymouthite, James King, 23, of 2745 Ridge road, was ordered held for investigation of involuntary manslaughter.

The investigation, still pending Tuesday, named King as the person who drove his car through a stop sign at Schoolcraft.

Gene Deienowski, clerk of Wayne County sheriff's detectives, said investigating officers needed one more statement from a crash victim, presumably Smart, before lodging formal charges.

Blames Lagging State Aid For Present Crisis

The Plymouth Township school district is facing a "serious financial situation," Superintendent of Schools Russell Isbister said today.

In a statement made public Isbister warned that if the State could not meet its obligations to the public schools here by late this spring the district would be faced with (1) curtailing operations in the schools to a minimum (2) or facing the prospect of borrowing privately against state aid funds.

About a month ago legislators passed a stop-gap law that permits school boards to borrow up to 70 per cent of the amount due from the state aid fund.

In a letter to his teaching staff Isbister said that "I am confident our board will do everything within its power to keep the schools open, pay salaries on time and maintain the program."

While calling on his staff to help save on school operating costs, he spiked what he called "unjustified rumors" that the district is currently unable to pay teachers' salaries.

"This just isn't so," he said. "As far as finances go, we'll be all right until April or May," he emphasized, but warning that "by April or May we'll have to look seriously at the financial picture."

Crux of the present financial crisis in the schools here is the State's inability to meet payments due under the State Aid Formula. The January payment of $64,760 due the district was met with three-fourths payment. The balance, Isbister said, may be paid by the State in May.

Free Parking For Shoppers On Dollar Days

An added treat is in store for Dollar Days' shoppers February 20 and 21. Thanks to action taken by the retail merchants' division of the Chamber of Commerce, all parking meters will be covered and "free parking" may be enjoyed by all Plymouth visitors.

In an appeal to the city commission Monday night, A. Gerald Pease asked the commission to permit the merchants to cover all downtown parking meters with "Dollar Days' Sacks".

The sacks will be printed with the words "Dollar Days-Free Parking", said Pease. Commissioners agreed that a fair price for the two days would be $140, which was determined to be approximately the amount the city would take in from the meters were they in operation.

Pease emphasized the fact that he hoped to get the cooperation of all the city's merchants, no matter what kind of merchandise they handle, and offer special bargains for those two days.

Plymouth Merchants Voice Pros, Cons on Hot Issue Of Whether to Offer Additional Shopping Night Here

One of the hottest issues among Plymouth merchants is making its annual resurgence throughout the business district this week and The Plymouth Mail decided to reach into the fire and draw out a few pro and cons.

The smoldering problem is store hours. More definitely, it is the desire of several merchants to stay open one more night a week, Thursday seems to be the night most sought by a group of local stores, so our question to 20 Plymouth merchants was: "Do you favor staying open Thursday night?"

After drawing our scorched hand out of the blaze we found the consensus of opinion to be: shopping night; six in favor; and two on the fence! (One merchant asked this reporter to mind his own business, which, in our opinion, neither puts him in favor, against, or on the fence.)

Realizing that to solve the problem the merchants would have to meet as members of the Chamber of Commerce, we first questioned A. Gerald Pease, chairman of the retail merchants' division. Remaining "on the fence", Pease said that any change should be unanimous and that the merchants should reach a decision "as a united group".

Hamill to Supervise Spring Road, Sewer Construction Program Here

Commissioners Monday night hailed the forthcoming spring road and sewer construction program by appointing Herald F. Hamill, civil engineer here, as project consultant and engineer supervisor.

Hamill will now prepare plans and specifications for the construction program assisting the city in "letting" the contracts.

It is anticipated that some of the special assessment projects will be under construction sometime in April.

The tentative building program, not complete at this time, will see these improvements made:

Paving: Irvin, Blanche to Junction; Jener, Brush to Maple; Harding, Edison to Burroughs, backtop, curb and gutter where necessary; Burroughs, east end, curb and gutter and backtop; Auburn, Blanche to Junction; and Forest avenue alley.

Storm sewers will be laid on these streets: Forest avenue alley, Ann Arbor trail to Wing; Jener, Brush to Maple; Garfield, Ann Arbor trail to Penniman; Edison, S. Main to Tonquish creek; Ann Arbor trail, Hamilton to C & O Railway; and Hamilton.

Ann Arbor trail to Joy street. In sight for motorists is the statement of City Manager Albert F. Glassford that Main street would come in for extensive repairs early this spring.

Combined heavy traffic, winter snows and slush have played havoc with the Main thoroughfare, noticeably from Penniman north to Starkweather, making "small excavations" that tend to make driving here more hazardous.

Ford Motor Film Shown Kiwanians

A color film produced by the Ford Motor company concerning the industrial arts competition held yearly for high school students was shown Kiwanis members Tuesday evening at the Mayflower hotel.

The movie traced the project of one youth from his first entry into the contest through his many months of work in preparing a "breakfront". The keen judging in all classes and the choosing of a grand winner preceded the three-day trip to Dearborn for the top prize winner.

In a special committee meeting headed by Norman Atchinson plans were made for the promotion of the forthcoming Kiwanis-Theater Guild play "January Thaw". The play will be held March 10, 11 and 12 in the Plymouth High school auditorium.

Chopped onions, parsley, chives or grated cheese served with navy bean soup, to be added at each guest's discretion, adds variety and zest to this hearty dish.

Any Woman Can Be Attractive Says Anita Colby

"Impossible is a word which must be stricken from your vocabulary if you expect to succeed in the world of beauty," stated Anita Colby who spoke in Detroit at the Music Hall Monday evening.

"It is every woman's business to try to look beautiful," she said. "True beauties are developed, not born."

Miss Colby stressed that will power, hard work, and perseverance are the prime requisites for a woman who is interested in improving her general appearance. She must believe that she can change and improve herself. "Any woman can look attractive," she said.

"Beauty originates with the food we eat," she remarked, "so form the habit of eating low-calorie, high protein foods which create a good figure and nice skin."

Exercise is another help to a good figure, according to Miss Colby. "In fact," she continued, "it should be combined with a diet to tone and tighten muscles." Models were on hand to demonstrate muscle toning and reducing exercises. Most of these used stretching in one form or another.

Posture, good and bad, was also demonstrated by the models to emphasize Miss Colby's point that good posture is the key to good looks.

"Fat is not inherited," she said. "Frame is, however." Frame varies from slender to stocky with various degrees in between. Frame has a great deal to do with a person's weight, because, she said, "Skin can not grow inside the bones."

The proper use of light and dark foundations, rouge, and hair styling, will change a face which is not a perfect oval to one which gives the illusion of being one. Miss Colby named many famous persons considered good-looking or beautiful who disguise imperfect faces with make up. Light to emphasize, dark to decrease.

The same light-dark coloring can be used in clothes. Light for the slender person, and dark for the heavier one. A heavy bust may be minimized by wearing dark tops and light skirts. If your hips are heavy, reverse this procedure.

"Simplicity is the most expensive taste," Miss Colby asserted. "Taste is developed, and should suit your age, job, personality, and figure," she said. "Line, proportion, and color are the things to consider in choosing clothes to suit yourself."

The program concluded with a fashion show demonstrating the clothes types which Miss Colby mentioned.

Chamber of Commerce Zoning Board to Bid for "Constructive Changes"

Chamber of Commerce officials said Monday that their zoning committee "have come up with several constructive changes" they will put before the city Planning Commission on February 19.

One member said that unofficial meetings with Chairman Sidney Stone of the planning board are in offing. He said "we want to know the advisability of making the changes."

What the recommendations will be was not disclosed at this time. However, the Chamber's zoning committee has been working closely with the city on a new proposed zoning ordinance that reclassifies the major portions of the city and recodifies the zoning ordinance now in effect.

This will be the second time the Chamber has met with the city Planning Commission. Earlier they asked for and received favorable legislation lifting zoning-weight restrictions on certain types of industrial machinery.

Two Get Optimist Membership Bid

Two more local men were formally accepted as new members of The Plymouth Optimist club at the club's regular monthly business meeting held in the Mayflower Hotel on Monday.

The new members are Jim Edmonson, 983 Wing street, of the National Grinding Wheel company, Detroit, and Alan Read, 312 Arthur street, of the R. T. Sheehan company, Plymouth.

President Herb Woolweaver announced the decision of the club to purchase a complete set of music stands for members of Vern Dietrich's Orchestra, playing for the Optimist dances bi-weekly.

The possibilities of forming a new Optimist club, in the City of Livonia were discussed and a report will be made in the near future on this subject.

Don Sutherland, Plymouth certified accountant, will speak next week on a timely and often perplexing subject, "How to Compute Your Income Tax."

One pound of dry beans measures more than 2 cups. 2 cups are enough for 6 to 8 servings of baked beans or 12 servings of hearty bean soup.

Charles Brake is Rotary Speaker

Members of the Plymouth Rotary club heard a very fine address last Friday given by Rotarian Charles Brake based on the value of the Rotary magazine.

The speaker pointed out the three main reasons why people read saying that it was because of their desire for information, inspiration and indoctrination. He further stated that the American was too ready to form an opinion based usually on insufficient evidence and he called for more reading with better analysis on both the pros and the cons of any subject.

He pointed out the interesting articles printed each week in Rotary's International magazine and urged members of the club to read it much more closely.

Middle aged persons need protective diets as much as growing children. Older people are less active and require fewer calories, but their needs for vitamins are as great as for young adults.

Starkweather Fair Saturday

Members of the board of the Starkweather Parent-Teacher association and committee chairman met Tuesday evening to complete last minute details for the Saturday evening event.

Mrs. Edward Ayres described the prizes received for the fishpond, of which she is chairman. Frank Koch and his assistant Mrs. Price Clear showed the backdrops to be used in the photo shop. Pictures taken in the shop will be developed immediately. Mr. Koch announced.

Heinz Dittmar, art teacher, painted the backdrops. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fischer are pop and popcorn booth chairmen, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. John Birckelbaw, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Elzerman.

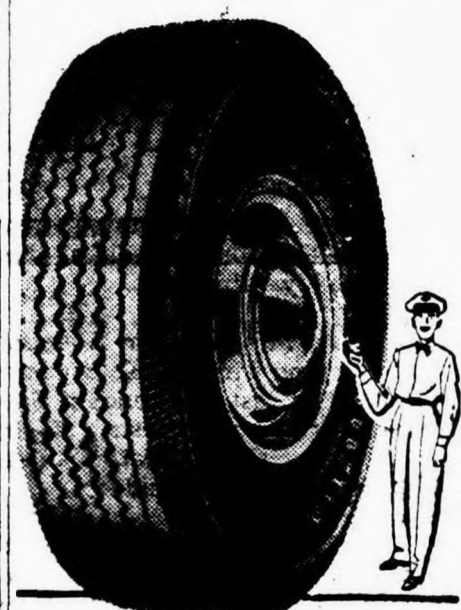

Other committee chairmen are Mrs. Wilbur Ebersole, cakewalk. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Ash, balloons. Mrs. Koch, general store, and Arnie Pyalks, dancing. The lunch room will be under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Herrick, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Norgrove, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Argo. Chile, hot dogs, pie, cake, and coffee will be served.

Another meeting was held Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. George Caldwell. Those attending were Mrs. George Mayhew, Mrs. Paul Olds, Mrs. Esta E. Pritchett, and Mrs. Bernard A. Kot.

George Caldwell is general chairman of the carnival.

If you would like baked beans for dinner tonight, the fact that you haven't soaked the dry beans overnight need not deter you. Just boil in water with salt pork added for an hour or two and pop into oven, adding condiments, and they'll be done before you know it.

A $12,642 bequest to the city from the William Pettingill estate was formally accepted by city commissioners Monday.

The bequest itself is to be invested in long-term government securities. Its income will be used as a perpetual fund to make floral purchases that from now on may be seen at Riverside cemetery.

Mr. Pettingill, a grocer here until his death in January, 1951, willed one-half of his $25,000 estate to the floral memorial fund.

Other grants in varying amounts were made to the local Eastern Star, the Masonic lodge, the First Presbyterian church, the Rotary scholarship fund with the residue of the estate going to the Masonic home in Alma.

Settlement of the estate was completed last week. City Manager Albert F. Glasford accepted the bequest for the city at that time.

The Efficiency of Thermostat to Proper Position, Location in House

Have you a thermostat-thumb in your home? Many households do.

He is the chap who is unfortunate enough to live in a home that just can't be heated comfortably. So he fusses with the heat-control (thermostat), thumbing it up and down the scale.

The blame for his discomfort rests, more often than not, with the person or persons who installed the thermostat in an improper location. According to the Small Homes Council, there are several places that should be avoided.

Cold air from windows or outside doors, warm air from registers, radiators or fireplaces should not be allowed to flow over the thermostat. It shouldn't be placed on an outside wall, or on a wall heated by hot-water pipes, warm air ducts, or chimneys. Nor should the sun's rays reach it.

The reasons for these rules are obvious. The thermostat must be placed at a spot where it can measure temperature that is representative of air throughout the house. Near hot or cold spots, it cannot do this.

The thermostat should be away from heat sources and drafts. Even the heat from a lamp, television set or radio under or near a heat control will affect its operation.

The Small Homes Council advises placing the thermostat from two-and-a-half to four feet above the floor, or at a height about halfway between the floor and the "breathing level".

Incorrect use of the thermostat is another common cause of failure to maintain comfortable temperatures. To use a room thermostat properly, the temperature setting should be raised or lowered only one degree at a time until the most comfortable temperature is reached. Then it should be left alone.

The thermostat's job is to maintain a uniform temperature. It should be allowed to do its job, and should not be used as a hand-operated switch. Frequent adjustment should not be necessary.

Brief items of interest about your sons or husbands in the services are welcomed in this column providing the information does not conflict with press security policies.

Gary H. Rodman
Corporal Gary H. Rodman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman L. Rodman, 924 Church street, Plymouth, recently graduated from the Seventh Army's Non-Commissioned Officers Academy at Munich, Germany.

During the six-week course, he was taught techniques of combat leadership, including infantry squad tactics and deployment of men and equipment in the field. Students were carefully selected by their organization commanders before attending the school.

Rodman arrived overseas in September 1951 and is serving as a wire chief in Battery C of the 194th Field Artillery Battalion.

Before entering the Army in January 1951, he graduated in 1950 from Plymouth High school and was later employed by the Dunn Steel Corporation.

V.F.W. News

Virginia Bartel wishes to express her thanks and appreciation to all those who helped with the "Mothers March on Polio." The march was a huge success as the amount collected was more than tripled that of last year.

We were all sorry to learn of the accident Kay Coolman had while on the "Mothers March on Polio." Kay will be hospitalized at Sessions hospital, Northville for sometime. Cards and visitors would be most welcome.

Congratulations to the Richard Neale family for a son born to them on Saturday, January 31 at Garden City hospital.

February 10 there will be a card party at the V.F.W. Hall at 8 p.m. Admission will be a deck of playing cards and 25 cents or 75 cents. The cards will be presented to the veterans at Marybury sanitarium.

The thermostat setting may be reduced 5 to 10 degrees during the night and this can result in fuel savings of 5 to 8 per cent.

Fortunately, the control arrangement that provides maximum comfort usually results in lower heating costs.

MOMS NEWS

MOMS of America, Unit 18, will hold a regular business meeting February 9 at 8 p.m. in the Veterans' Memorial building.

The Wayne unit has invited the Plymouth unit to a membership tea on February 19.

Members are requested to keep in mind the card party to be held February 17.

$3,414 Collected in Dimes Drive; Goal Doubled as Drive Ends Here

The March of Dimes drive here ground to a halt Saturday topping its unofficial $1,500 goal with contributions totaling $3,414.

Doing a superhuman task of collecting funds, some 60 mothers from the Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary here backed up by 40 boys from the Hi-Y Club put $1,786 into March of Dimes coffers in the hour-long Mothers' March last Thursday night.

The total collected in the month-long drive exceeded by $1,914 the unofficial goal and was more than three times the amount collected last year.

Spearheading the successful drive was Chairman Walter Goodwin, backed up by nearly 200 helpers and thousands of generous local residents who united in a single effort to help wipe out one of the most dreaded diseases of our time.

"It is such a worthy cause," Goodwin said today, "that I feel certain all of us have a wonderful sense of feeling that we have made a genuine contribution to the community and to its security. I can but add my sincere thanks to each contributor and to each worker for the united front they displayed," he concluded.

Cleaner Says Uneven Hems Can be Straightened

Have you ever been caught in the rain and actually seen your crepe dress creep up and shrink right on you.

"If a garment shrinks, or if the hemline becomes uneven, we at Pride Cleaners can often stretch it back to shape," says Arnold Rosman, of Pride Cleaners. "However, our success depends on the type of fabric, the garment design and construction."

Call Disturbance Teenage Quarrel

"Case closed" was this week slapped on the disturbance which aroused citizens on William street Thursday, January 22.

In what was described by Police Chief Carl Greenlee as a "teen-age quarrel" no charge was pressed by the mistreated girl. "From the description supplied by three witnesses I was reasonably certain from the start who was involved in this case," Greenlee said.

Citizens who witnessed the quarrel were alarmed when a young boy grabbed and punished the teen-age girl, pushed her into a car and sped away. The incident occurred at approximately 11 a. m. in view of students of Our Lady of Good Counsel school.

Greenlee lauded three witnesses who greatly aided the department in tracking down the offender. He said that in view of the ages of the persons involved and the fact that no charges were being made by the girl, no action could be taken.

City Manager A. F. Glassford also had high praise for the action taken by witnesses of the disturbance and further stated that "citizen participation in police work is a sure-fire method of successful solution and abatement of crime."

Nominee Rosrow Says Township is Non-Partisan

"The policy of Plymouth township is not formed by any one party."

In making this statement Ernest Rosrow, of 9163 Lilley road, today said that "no one dominates the township Board of Supervisors, they discuss their mutual problems and come to a general conclusion."

Rosrow is one of six candidates for nomination to the township treasurer's office. All candidates are Republicans. One of them will be elected to the treasurer's post by default on the February 16 election inasmuch as there is no Democratic opposition.

A township justice of the peace, Rosrow has periodically sat on the township board every other two years since 1932, when Plymouth separated from the township and incorporated.

At 71, Rosrow is still active doing general farming at his 160-acre Lilley road farm. He specializes in raising veal calves.

He attended Michigan State college from 1904 to 1909 graduating with a A.B. degree in horticulture and animal husbandry. From 1895 to 1898 he attended the former Central High school in Detroit, now incorporated as part of Wayne University. Pertaining directly to the fiscal operations of the township treasurer, Rosrow said he has studied business administration in a home-study course, applying his business administration knowledge to farming operations.

Following his graduation from MSC, Rosrow worked for the Bureau of Animal Husbandry of the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

He has been engaged in farming operation since 1911, occupying his present farm since 1916.

He is married and has 2 sons, Allan and Clinton, both dairy farm operators, and three daughters, Mrs. Alice Loubrand, Mrs. Rosalind Broome, both residing with him, and a third daughter, Mildred, teaching school in California.

Candidate Howell Seeks Election to Treasurer Post

George E. Howell, of 11329 Gold Arbor road, is one of six nominees seeking the post of township treasurer.

A resident in the Plymouth area, Howell graduated from Plymouth High school.

Following graduation, he was employed as a fireman by Pere Marquette a position that led to a promotion as engineer by the time he was 23. He held this rank for several years before entering business for himself.

He was employed at the Detroit House of Correction as a stationary engineer, helping put into operation a new power plant there. He still holds a first class engineer's license.

Speaking of his candidacy, Howell said that "I have worked in the township hall for the past three and a half years and am familiar with the taxrolls and the problems of the township."

Howell has been active in civic and fraternal club affairs, being past master "of a prominent Plymouth lodge" and also a charter member and past president of the Plymouth Old Newsboys.

Visiting Nurse in Plymouth Daily—Phone 93

Are you in need of professional nursing, for a short while each day, every other day, or once a week? Or maybe some member of your family needs this assistance.

If this is your problem, the Visiting Nurse association of Detroit is your answer. The local representative of this association is Mrs. Nora Stage. Mrs. Stage may be reached by calling the city hall, 93, or the Northwest Detroit sub-station, Vermont 6-5650.

She checks with the sub-station at approximately 8:30 a.m. and with the city hall about noon each day for calls.

Unless there is something particularly urgent in Plymouth, Mrs. Stage makes her morning calls in Livonia, coming to Plymouth during the afternoon.

Except in delivery cases, most care can be completed within an hour, Mrs. Stage says.

Fees for this service vary with the amount the family feels it can afford. Full fee is $3.50 per hour. Before Mrs. Stage makes any charges she completes a form which tells her whether to charge the family $3.50, $2.00, 25 cents, or nothing at all. The difference between $3.50 and the amount paid by those receiving aid is covered by the Plymouth Community Fund.

The visiting nurse association provides nursing service in the patient's home, home deliveries, industrial nursing, physical therapy, and diet therapy. Hours except for home deliveries are between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m.

The staff consists of professionally qualified, graduate registered public health nurses, physical therapists and dietitians.

Legion Conference Sets Program To Curtail "Communist Actions"

A three-day conference of the executive committee of the American Legion was attended last week by Alternate Committeeman William Langmaid of the Passage Gayde post here.

Most important on the agenda of the business meet was the adoption of three resolutions aimed at reducing the effectiveness of the Communist Party's nation wide actions.

The resolutions adopted were: (1) "That the activities and scope of Tass, the Communist news service, be limited to the same degree as accorded the free press of the world, and that the 83rd Congress of the United States enact necessary legislation to bring this about."

(2) "That the State Department restrict the privileges of diplomatic personnel of the Iron Curtain countries, and that they be placed on the same level accorded our diplomatic personnel in their own sectors."

(3) "That the Michigan American Legion sponsor the circulation of the pamphlet 'How to Spot a Communist' throughout the school system of the state of Michigan."

A fourth resolution that would give veterans of World War I, II and the Korean conflict an additional income tax exemption not be paid until the next school year. So far the schools here have received $78,174 of a total of $228,689 due them by the state. The remaining $150,505 due between March and May, and used for operating purposes, may not be paid by the State in time to pull the schools out of the financial doghouse.

Blames Lagging State Aid For Present Crisis

"We are informed by sources at the State Capitol March and May payments may be reduced or not met until after the current school year," Isbister said, "and it is for these reasons we are viewing with alarm the State financial picture."

So far the district has received $336,000 of an anticipated $368,000 in local winter taxes. It is this source of revenue that is holding up the sagging school treasury and preventing a sharp curtailment of school activities or payless paydays, that have characterized some Michigan school systems forcing them to borrow through private institutions.

Further complicating the critical financial picture is the inability of outlying school districts here who send their students to Plymouth High school to pay $32,250 in tuition fees. A portion of the fees are paid by the State.

School operating costs here are met by the community and state on a 50-50 basis with State support gained from these three sources: primary fund, sales tax rebates and State Aid Formula that alone furnishes 28 per cent of operating costs.

The primary fund, amounting to $78,027, and State sales tax rebates of $81,219 have been paid by the State. It is State aid payments around which the present "non-payment controversy" rages.

Currently at work on revenue producing bills, the State legislature last week worked swiftly to put $35,000,000 in its savings treasury by May 15 by moving the corporation franchise tax payment date ahead two and a half months.

The bill, that provides for two corporation taxes in the State's 1952-1953 fiscal year, has already been passed by the senate. It is currently being debated in the House of Representatives.

Its sponsor, George N. Higgins (R), Ferndale, said that 23,000 of the State's 29,000 corporations operate on a calendar year basis and will not have to pay the tax twice. Other corporations will, he said.

What portion of the $35,000,000, if any, that would be funneled into school coffers is not known.

Solution to the present financial dilemma has been a bitter pill to legislators, almost too hot to swallow. To keep school doors open the State earlier cut down heavily on stockpiling inventories of the Michigan Liquor Control Commission. Added funds from this source gave Michigan schools their first advance under the State Aid Formula. That amount here amounted to $35,000.

Prospects currently loom for additional revenues to be obtained by transferring the $50,000,000 Veterans Trust Fund to the gen-public." Cassidy feels that the customer could not receive good service if more hours were added and that the employees should not have extra hours placed on him. Graham's Ralph Rostow believes that the merchant is "here to serve" and that the public is entitled to another shopping night. Ralph Seyfried feels that any business obtained Thursday evening would just be taken from daytime business already obtained.

Another loud "no" came from Miss Margaret Dunning who said an extra night was "not necessary", and would be "asking too much of our help. William Eger also held this opinion.

Raising the fence, James Hook of Fisher's said that he felt hours should not be lengthened. "If a night is to be added, it should be done without increasing our hours-per-week," said Hook. Also undecided, Wendell Lent stated that there were definitely two sides to the question to be considered and that he would go along with the wishes of the majority. "However, I would not be prone to initiate any change," he added.

A. Lincoln Lantz of Blank's said "even three nights would not keep customers from going to Detroit." He pointed out that good merchandise and the same store hours "will give us all the business we can get, and deserve to get". A similar opinion was shared by Earl West who feels that one night is definitely enough.

"Opening Thursday and Friday nights would be like a man stuttering," said Dave Galin. Not closing the door on another open night, Galin said that perhaps Monday would be a good evening. Bill Rose of Plymouth Hardware opposes any more shopping nights stating that it is "a wear on help and has been proven before to be of no advantage". Mrs. Fledra Wolf of Drapery Fair chimed in with Rose's opinion and added that most people are paid on Friday and therefore do their shopping that evening.

Sam Verona of Plymouth Men's Wear and Robert Willoughby shared the opinion that one shopping night is enough. Willoughby brought out the "problem of help and quality of personnel as a strong factor against more hours."

Three adjacent stores on West Ann Arbor trail all lined up in favor of staying open another night. Mac Goldman and Stan Kirsch of Fashion Shoes, Theodore Papes of the House of Gifts, and Earl Kuhlik of Capitol Shirt Shops echoed sentiments that "another night is needed."

With those opinions—"straight from the merchants' mouths"—we'll follow the advise of the twentieth merchant and "mind our own business!"

eral account. This move is being fought by state veteran groups who want the trust fund kept intact. A compromise is currently being sought that would guarantee veterans with an interest income equal to that the $50,000,000 would gain.

Here again what amount, if any, that would be channeled into school systems is not known.

First Local Farm Recognized by Historical Society

offered the captain $10.00 to go back and pick them up, but he refused, and so they walked to Detroit through forest and felled rivers and met friendly Indians. They arrived in Detroit a day after the boat landed. They loaded their goods on wagons drawn by oxen, and drove their cattle on the Indian trail to the land which they had taken up from the government, and this, in the year of 1850, is the farm owned and occupied by Charles A. Root, Sr."

Charles Root, Sr., has also prepared a paper on the Root Genealogical Records dating from 1600 to 1950 which gives an interesting background to the farm history. The late Mrs. Florence Roberts learned from Volume 31 of the papers of the Michigan Pioneer and Historical Society that Augustus Root, Mr. Root's grandfather and first owner of the Centennial Farm, was commissioned a Captain in the Black Hawk War on July 27, 1830, 6th Regiment.

Certainly there are other farmers in Plymouth and surrounding townships that can qualify for the Centennial Farm award. The farm must be three or more acres in order to qualify; the farm owner must be able to show the chain of title of the land from the first family down to the present owner either by abstract or by a notarized statement of the chain of title.

When Mr. Root displayed his certificate to the Plymouth Historical Society, of which he is a charter member, the Society authorized the appointment of a committee on Centennial Farms. The members appointed were Roy Fisher, Charles Root, Sr., Bert Giles, Sam Spicer, and the late Mrs. Florence Roberts.

The content of the Centennial Farm Certificate follows: "The Historical Commission of Michigan does hereby certify that in recognition of the ownership of the farm by the family of Charles A. Root since 1826 and the contribution its members have made to the development of Michigan, the Michigan Historical Commission does hereby certify this land to be a Centennial Farm and the present owner thereof to be a Centennial Farmer."

Signed: G. W. Allen Williams, Governor; Willard C. Wickers, President, Historical Commission; Elizabeth S. Adams, Vice President, Historical Commission; Chester W. Ellison, Commissioner; Prentiss M. Brown, Commissioner; Lewis G. Vanderveide, Commissioner.

Willis F. Dunbar, Commissioner; Lewis Beeson, Secretary, Historical Commission; F. W. Alger, Secretary of State.

The metal marker which Mr. Root plans to place on his barn bears these words: "Centennial Farms owned by the same family over 100 years. Michigan Historical Commission Detroit Edison Co. Consumers Power Co.

The owner's name is to be attached to the marker.

charges against King. If the involuntary manslaughter charge is lodged, Deingowski said King would be held for arraignment in the justice court of William Feidler.

Double burial rites were held Monday at 3:30 p.m. for both the Tarnutzers from the Schrader Funeral home.

Officiating, in the absence of Reverend David T. Davies, pastor of St. John's Episcopal church, was the visiting pastor, Reverend Alex Miller, from Flint. Burial was at Riverside cemetery.

The Tarnutzers, Clayton A., a chemist at Northville Laboratories until his death, are survived by a daughter, Joyce, of Panama City, and a son, Richard, a dental student at the University of Michigan.

February 16 Set as Hearing Date on Improvements

A hearing to review resident claims of five special assessment construction projects already completed is scheduled to be held at the city hall on February 16, starting at 8 p.m.

The improvement projects to be reviewed are:

Sheldon road, between Penniman and West Ann Arbor trail; bituminous concrete pavement.

Sheldon road, between Sheridan and Penniman; asphalt sidewalk.

North Holbrook, between Union and Plymouth road; storm sewer.

Palmer avenue, north side between South Harvey and Lincoln avenue; sidewalk.

Sunset avenue, between Farmer and Junction; curb and gutter.

City Clerk Lamont C. B. Gole said the assessment rolls are at his office and open to public examination. All interested parties, he said, will be given an opportunity in the hearing to discuss with city commissioners any aspects of the projects abutting their property.

per cent, however, were returned to the surplus account of the general fund on these projects:

Wing, Pine, Joy streets, curb and gutter and blacktop pavement, $433.09; Evergreen, curb and gutter and blacktop, $154.21; Fairground, storm sewer, $84.79.

It is mandatory under charter law that all over assessments of five per cent or over be returned to individual homeowners. Over assessments under five per cent, however, may be kept by the city or returned to property owners, according to commission rulings. Under assessments are paid by the city from the surplus account of the general fund.

Local Church Shows Gain

Substantial gains in membership in the past 20 years at the local Church of the Nazarene and a parallel increase in finances have caused the pastor, Reverend E. T. Hadwin, and church membership to take under consideration a building program.

The Sunday school attendance is now over 200 and current facilities are not adequate.

The international work of the Church of the Nazarene has also shown an increase, stated Dr. S. T. Ludwig, general secretary of the denomination which maintains its headquarters in Kansas City, Missouri.

Setting the pace of progress was the amount given by members for all purposes—nearly $30 million, or $117.97 per capita. This is $6.00 more than the per capita donations of the previous year.

During 1952 membership climbed to 250,000 a gain of 3.3 per cent. The report also lists 3,888 established churches in the United States, Canada, and the British Isles, 151 of these being organized during the year.

The Sunday school organization showed even larger gains, reporting 321,050 enrolled. This is an increase of 4.3 per cent over last year and more than twice as many as listed for church membership.

The church now has 262 missionaries and 950 native workers on 25 foreign fields. Fifty-two of these missionaries were commissioned this past year, the largest number ever to be appointed in a single year.

Revised Standard Bible Gets Plaudits, Criticisms From Clergy

Ministries Here Voice Feelings, Objections to Newest Translation

One of the great scholarly works of our time—the new Revised Standard Version of the Bible—has become the center of a theological controversy. On sale here and throughout the nation for nearly four months, the new Bible has received the plaudits of some of the local ministries here while others disclaimed it.

Of the 12 Plymouth pastors who made statements in a telephone interview, five have adopted the Revised Edition for general use or plan to, six are using it with reservations and one is not using it at all.

Sharp protests throughout the state and nation amid charges of "left wing inspired" have been leveled at the controversial translation.

ing a membership of 1,100 pastors in 48 states. It is this group that spearheaded a pamphlet "The New Bible—Why Christians Should Not Accept It" by Carl McIntire that charges one of the translators with left-wing affiliations. It notes he was a member of the Coordinating Committee to lift the Spanish embargo following the Spanish-American War. This organization has been cited by the Congressional Committee on Un-American Activities as "one of a number of Communist front organizations during the Spanish-American War."

In general, however, churches of the 29 major denominations in the National Council of Churches of Christ in the United States are favorable to the new version which is sponsored by the council.

Among Plymouth churches which have adopted the Revised Edition are the First Methodist church, The Salvation Army, Newburg Methodist church, First Presbyterian church and St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran church. Praising the translations as the "greatest event in the history of the Bible" is Dr. Melbourne I.

Johnson of the First Methodist church, who said "let no one doubt that the Revised Standard Version is a very significant and noble production. It ought to make a great many people read the Bible," he asserted, stating that when they do, they will find its "riches much more evident and full of blessing."

Reverend Henry J. Walch of the First Presbyterian church said that his church is in favor of the revised translation. "We feel this Bible is authenticated by the most able scholars in the field of Bible research," he said. Reverend Walch emphasized that from his point of view there were what he called minor changes needed to prevent doctrinal misinterpretations of the virgin birth of Christ.

On a whole, he said, "we feel translators have been honest to original manuscripts and have not slanted the translation to conform to preconceived views." He pointed to the Isaiah terminology "young woman" instead of "virgin" as not being in character with the narrative of the virgin birth.

Reverend Edgar Hoenecke of St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran church was another outspoken advocate of the Revised Edition lauding it for "correction of faulty translations, clearing up of cloudy passages, lucidness of doctrinal theology and simple reading."

forward." Captain William H. Roberts of The Salvation Army said "I personally use the new translation. I think it is in the language of today, more easily understood," he said, concluding with this statement: "I think the translators worked in faith. I don't think they should be criticized unless those making the charges are prepared to do something better about it."

Reverend Robert D. Richards of the Newburg Methodist church said "we accept the Revised Edition as it is and we use it regularly." He said 15 copies of the Revised Edition were being used by the pastor. "It is understanding especially to children 14 years or down," he concluded.

Voicing varying reservations in its use are the Plymouth Assembly of God, Church of Christ, Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints, St. John's Episcopal church, Church of the Nazarene and Riverside Park Church of God.

Reverend John Walaskay of the Plymouth Assembly of God said his church has accepted the Revised Edition for study and additional reading but does not recommend it for general use. He said that the elimination of the words "thee" and "thou," the lack of distinction between the Son of God belonging to the Deity as opposed to common man, and the use of "young woman" in place of "virgin" has precluded wholehearted acceptance by his church. He noted that he has an order placed for the revised edition for personal use.

wrong. It is for the common man. It helps foster understanding." Through Reverend Althol B. Packer of the Reorganized Church of the Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints was not available for comment, Mrs. Packer said the church was "using it somewhat for Sunday school purposes."

Reverend E. T. Hadwin of the Church of the Nazarene said he felt the translators took the liberal view when they came to a questionable passage. His church is using the Revised Edition as a comparative and study reference. He felt changing the word "the" son of God to "a" son of God in Matthew and Luke tended to challenge the divinity of God.

Reverend Hal A. Hooker in his brief statement said his parish is using the Revised Edition for reading only. Not using the Revised Edition is the West Salem Country church and Calvary Baptist church. Reverend Patrick J. Clifford said his parishes will continue to use the King James Version.

"It (Revised Edition) gives the slant of those who translated it," he asserted, stating that "they're liberal theologians—who translated it in the light of their own beliefs."

Reverend Clifford criticized the Roman 1:6 passage "I'm not ashamed of the Gospel." They've left off the word "Christ," he noted, charging that the Gospel "could mean a lot of things," he stated. He also criticized the Isaiah 7:14 passages where "young woman" has supplanted the word "virgin."

A subscriber to the fundamentalist view, Reverend Clifford's churches are one of over a thousand throughout the nation seeking the abolition of the Revised Edition through its parent organization, the American Council of Christian Churches.

A protest meeting held last week in Howell of the Michigan group laid the groundwork for introducing a bill in the state legislature prohibiting the sale of the Revised Edition in Michigan.

All change is not growth; as all movement is not forward.—Ellen Glasgow

Voter, Candidates Interest Lag; BeGole Warns Against Complacency

This piece of information in the form of a letter was funneled through the editorial desk of The Plymouth Mail last week from Wayne County Clerk Edgar M. Branigin.

"You are hereby notified that there was no contest for the office of circuit judges. Therefore, there will be no ballot printed for this particular office. Your election notice will show only the office of county auditor and other city offices that will appear on the ballot in your respective city."

Branigin was speaking of the primary election to be held here on February 16. It will show no nominees, from the city seeking candidacies for municipal offices, three of which go before voters on April 6.

At this same time, it was revealed by City Clerk Lamont C. BeGole that fewer than 10 persons registered here for the primary election of the spring election following it.

Speaking briefly on the small showing of candidates here and disinterest of voters, BeGole said: "If voters lose confidence in their community's ability to continue to furnish good leadership, the net loss is an apathetic voter population, an ever retracting freedom to exercise the voting franchise and a community that possibly does not give its residents full value that comes from an adequate administered municipal government."

BeGole noted that "those who did file for public offices here should be commended for their devotion to the community and interest in its well being."

Coming before voters here on April 6 are these candidates for municipal offices: City Commission: Incumbents Mayor Russell M. Daane, Ernest Henry, Henry Fisher and George Bauer. Newcomers in the forthcoming commission race are George Witkowski and Sheldon J. Baker.

Municipal Judge: Incumbent Judge Nardino Perlongo opposed by Attorney Clifford H. Manwaring.

Wayne County Supervisor: Norman W. Marquis, who will gain the four-year seat as the city's representative without opposition.

First Legislative News Letter

By Leonard E. Wood
State Representative

This first legislative letter this session is being written as we approach the close of our third week and therefore it might be well to briefly review our activities to date.

We convened at noon on Wednesday, January 14, and proceeded to organize and set in motion the machinery for getting under way a session which we all realize will be one of the most difficult ever to face any legislative body in recent years.

Three and a half hours were consumed in swearing in the members, electing our House officials (Speaker Wade Van Valkenburg, Speaker pro tem William Broomfield, Floor Leader Harry Phillips, Clerk Norm Philbo, Sergeant-at-Arms Dan McCaug and Postmasters Arthur Wickman and Harold Hill), selection of seats, adopting routine resolutions pertinent to organization, as well as one to set up a joint convention to invite and hear the Governor's message, which was given the following day.

The message was shorter than usual, and dealt with a situation we all know only too well—the serious fiscal condition of the State with an almost empty treasury and an increasing deficit which he stated is 65 million now and which he anticipated would go to 90 million by the end of the fiscal year, June 30. He stressed the need for cooperation in an effort to solve this dangerous situation. Although he seemed apparently to strike a more cooperative note than in the past four years by offering to consider any revenue measure which would solve our problem if it could be proven it was a better solution than the one he has proposed in the past, throughout it all, it seems apparent that he is far from convinced that his solution, Corporations Profits Tax, is not the best. He made it clear he would not accept any solution which would force the people to pay any additional taxes which fall directly upon the things they buy and use, or upon their personal incomes, or anything which would undermine the sales tax diversion amendment, or anything which would tend to frustrate the 15-mill limitation and increase property taxes.

Aside from the fiscal problem which, let me repeat, is the No. 1 problem which must be solved to avert disaster, there are many other important matters confronting us today. First of all, the people last November approved the No. 3 amendment and by so doing mandated the Legislature to reappoint the House of Representatives. We have 180 days in which to write and pass a re-appointment bill, otherwise the power to do so passes to the State Board of Canvassers, who must then act within the next 90 days. I cannot stress too strongly that this important legislation will require the utmost care, and before enacted finally, will produce many tensions, headaches and problems, for what we do will affect the entire state and every citizen in it for years to come.

Many election changes will be offered. Already bills have been introduced which would (1) combine state and presidential ballots; (2) validate wrongly marked ballots if the intention of the voter can be determined; (3) lower the voting age to 19; (4) change method of filling a vacancy in the United States Senate by removing power of appointment from the Governor and requiring such vacancy to be filled by election; (5) amend the constitution to provide 4-year terms for all persons elected on the state ticket and separate state and national elections by two years. The proposed changes call for electing state officials and legislators for 4-year terms starting in 1954.

Another controversial measure incurable insanity grounds for divorce, rejected by previous legislatures, is again before us this session.

There are but a few of the known measures facing us and there will be many more before we ring down the curtain on the session of the 67th Legislature, and about which more will be said in subsequent letters.

Show 12 Nominees on Primary Ballot

When voters here go to the polls during the February 16 primary they will have a choice of two Republican and 10 Democratic nominees for the office of Wayne county auditor.

In Plymouth township this list of nominees will be augmented by six candidates, all Republican, seeking the office of treasurer. They are Harper Stephens, Mrs. Florence Neal, Ernest Rosso, Zach Holmes, Walter Postiff and George Howell.

Candidates for county auditor are:

Democratic— Ted Prus, Dan Radnoch, Thomas A. Ralston, Joseph B. Sullivan, John Williams, Charles F. Edgecomb, P. Jefferies, T. John Lesinski, Frank A. Lubinski and Stanley A. Nowak.

Republican— Archie Leadbetter and Lenore E. Johnson.

The preponderance of Democrats on the ballot with light Republican resistance is seen by political experts as a normal occurrence. Heavily populated Wayne county generally shows a high Democratic vote, especially in its industrial sections. The Republican strongholds in the county are predominately in outlying residential districts. Even a heavy vote in these areas is generally insufficient to overcome heavy Democratic odds.

In experiments started at Michigan State college and carried on at various agricultural experiment stations, the antibiotic—actidione—has proved of value in control of many plant diseases. The drug is made in Michigan and is recommended for control of turf diseases like dollar spot, brown patch, and melting-out for cherry leaf spot.

"Know Your Photographer" Urges City's Chamber of Commerce

The Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, through its secretary Nat Sibbold, today issued a warning to the public to beware of a minority of photo "studios" which practice charlatan methods of doing business. The warning was based on a bulletin from the National Better Bureau, with which the Chamber of Commerce is affiliated in its work to protect the public from fraud and misrepresentation.

"Photographers are artists," Sibbold said, "and depend on their skill and fair dealing to hold a permanent place in the community. Although the majority of those engaged in portrait photography are honest, there are a number of opportunists in the field who do resort to unfair and deceptive practices."

Mr. Sibbold listed the "Frame-Up" among the more deceptive practices. In this scheme the photographer's canvassers secure orders quoting a reasonable rate for photos but also committing the customer to purchase a special type frame, (as: convex, concave, hexagonal), at a very fancy price. "It's down in the small print," said Sibbold, "which most people don't trouble to read."

One of the most vicious practices of photo racketeers involves the reproduction of photos and snapshots of sentimental value, according to the National Better Business Bureau files. The customer is induced to part with a unique and precious photo for reproduction or restoration in hand painted colors. Once in the possession of the unethical photographer, the photo can become "lost" unless the customer orders an expensive frame, more copies of the reproduction than the work warrants, etc. Sometimes, in the case of the fake sycophant, the original ends in the ashcan or a hotel waste basket and the customer has only a phoney receipt in exchange for a down payment.

"Promise of large royalty returns from inclusion of a child's photo in a so-called 'model album' leads to a lot of headaches," Sibbold said. "Surveys made by the National Better Business Bureau indicate that few advertising agencies utilize photos in such 'model albums' despite the sales talk of the photo canvassers to induce the proud parents to order photos. This old gag is used on many parents who have an understandable belief that junior 'ought to be in pictures.'"

Many legitimate photographers distribute "free" coupons entitling holders to a sample portrait. "This is simply a method of showing the customer what good work can be done," Sibbold said. "The trouble starts, in the case of the unethical studio, when the customer wants only the 'free' or 'bar-gain' portrait. All studios count on getting a sizeable order from the work demonstrated. However, if the customer wants only the coupon portrait, the honest studio will absorb the loss as part of its business. The unfair studio will use pressure methods to force a big sale, making it practically impossible to obtain the 'introductory' portrait unless such an order is obtained.

"Such unfair tactics should be reported at once," said Sibbold. "Only by reporting complaints can the public protect itself from such operators."

Harvey Container Starts Operation

Currently employing 45 persons, Harvey Container Corporation recently started manufacturing here in its completely re-equipped and rejuvenated plant at 796 Junction, formerly owned by Allen Industries.

A company official said Monday that the plant is operating at 75 per cent of its anticipated annual output expected to range well over $1,000,000 when full production is attained by late this year.

At full worker strength the company expects to employ 100. It currently manufactures a variety of corrugated fiberboard shipping boxes and interior corrugated packing.

The company was organized last June by a group of Detroit businessmen with $500,000 capitalization. Heading the venture is Charles H. Harvey, firm president, who was formerly vice president of Hinde & Dauch, national container manufacturer with which he was associated for 31 years.

Since purchasing the Allen Industries plant here, the factory has been completely revamped, painted and interior and exterior improvements have been made. A separate office building just west of the factory now houses the company's administrative and supervisory personnel.

Semi-automatic machinery for production of the containers have been installed requiring just hand feeding. Currently under construction is a new loading dock that will facilitate easy loading and unloading.

Administrative and supervisory personnel, other than Harvey, are Edwin Braun, office manager; Richard Hiltz, sales manager; Oscar Rowe, plant manager; Lester Coats, assistant plant manager; and Donald Graham, cashier.

February is the month of St. Valentine's Day... which always reminds us of big red hearts, and cards that pulled out with big hands of paper ruffles in them. We remember that the most popular kid in class at school could always be picked out because he (or usually she) got the most Valentine cards.

But did you know that the standard reference works list not one but two St. Valentines? One was a priest and the other a bishop... and both were martyrs whose festivals fall on Feb. 14th. Both were of the same period, they both died on the same day, and both were buried on the Via Flaminia, near Rome! No, we're not seeing double, either!

Thieves cleaned out the box office of a Fort Worth theater where the main picture was "Everything I Have is Yours." Some people take things too literally. Want to brighten up that empty shelf or window sill with a gay knick-knack? See our wonderful selection of painted figurines, distinctive ceramics. Former Teacher Seeks Treasurer Post in Township

A 42-year-old former university music instructor, now a local paint contractor, is today a candidate for the Plymouth Township treasurer's office going on the election-day block here February 16.

Harper Stevens, of 11410 Southworth, in speaking of his candidacy, said in a telephone interview that with a mandate from the people "I certainly expect to uphold the office (treasurer) working on a high level."

Stevens is one of six candidates seeking the one-man office. Besides his fiscal activities, the $4,000 a year job is a policy-making post inasmuch as the treasurer is one of five officials making up the township Board of Supervisors.

Stevens, who has resided here for seven years, brings to his candidacy an extensive and varied college and university educational background.

Backed with a Lifetime Teaching Certificate, he taught music at Lansing public schools from 1932 to 1937, following his attendance at Michigan State college. He was awarded an AB degree from MSC in 1938, with the major portion of his work at the college having been done between 1928 and 1932.

For two years he attended the University of North Carolina, teaching music there from 1939 to 1940 after being given a fellowship there. Stephens completed his academic work for a M.A. degree in music education at Olivet college, attending there from 1941 to 1942.

At the outbreak of World War II he was appointed as assistant personnel director of the propeller division of the Nash Kelvinautor Corporation holding that post from 1942 to 1945.

Prior to that time, 1937-1938, Stephens held a commission as warrant officer, junior grade, (equivalent of 2nd lieutenant) in the Michigan National Guard. He was a regimental band commander.

Currently he is self-employed as a paint contractor here specializing in airmarkings that serve to identify a town and the location of its airport from the air. He also does interior and exterior paint contracting.

Married, Stephens' wife, Ruth, works here for the National Bank of Detroit.

Jacqueline Phalen Weds David Sechlin

Mrs. David Sechlin

Jacqueline Margaret Phalen and David E. Sechlin repeated their marriage vows on January 10, in the First Methodist church, Plymouth.

Jacqueline is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Phalen of Ann street and Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Sechlin of Northville road are the bridegroom's parents.

The Reverend Melbourne Johnson officiated at the impressive 8 o'clock rites before the altar which was graced with large bouquets of white mums and snapdragons. White baby mums were in the altar vases and lighted tapers formed a soft glow for the ceremony.

Nat Sibbold sang "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Jacqueline chose, for her wedding, a gown fashioned with bodice of rose-pointe lace. Tiny satin buttons extended down the back and adorned the long fitted sleeves. The voluminous skirt was of bridal satin and extended into a court train. Her veil of French illusion fell from a Juliet cap of white satin and seed pearls. She carried a white Bible centered with white roses, snapdragons and lily-of-the-valley, tied with white satin streamers.

Arlene Dowling was the maid of honor. Her gown was of waltz length with dark blue taffeta skirt and white nylon tulle handkerchief cut overskirt. The velvet bodice was complimented with a small jacket. Her bouquet was of yellow rosebuds in a star shape.

The bridesmaids, Dixie Lanphear, Doranne Wilton and Judy Sechlin, sister of the bridegroom, wore gowns fashioned identical to that of the maid of honor but in light blue. Ann Reardon was the flower girl and George Collins was the little ringbearer.

Assisting David as best man was Keith Branch and seating the guests were Hugh Niven, William Phalen Jr. and James Wagenschutz.

Mrs. Phalen chose for her daughter's wedding, a mist blue-grey taffeta dress with winter pink accessories and a corsage of violets.

A reception for 200 was held in the church parlors with guests coming from Sparta, Livonia, Grosse Pointe, Detroit, Northville, Wayne, Novi, Dearborn, Garden City, Plymouth and Wisconsin.

The young couple took a trip through Canada to Niagara Falls, New York state and Pennsylvania. For traveling the bride wore a navy blue wool suit with red accessories and the white roses from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Sechlin was graduated from Plymouth High school and her husband from Northville High school. They are making their home at 9801 McClumpha road, Plymouth.

Mrs. Ralph West is entertaining the members of her Junior bridge club, tonight, Thursday in her home on North Mill street.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Johns of Atlanta are visiting in the John Johnston home on Lilley road this week.

Plant Indoor Dish Gardens Now for Beauty During Cold Months

Attractive miniature indoor plants may be planted in all sizes of dishes during the months when everything outdoors is frozen.

New containers you have on hand will do—glass dishes, metal trays, or plastic. If you have a special occasion, that copper dish or piano.

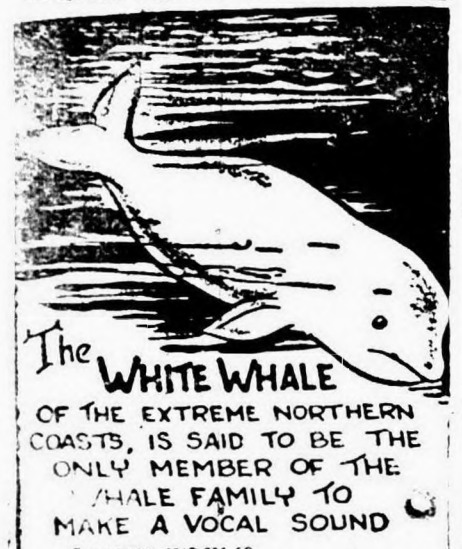

Planting is an art that demands space around the plants and contrasts in form and color. Use a broad low dish for solid plants and short masses.

Use plants about one-half inch high. Gravel or pebbles in the dish insure good drainage. Use a little charcoal. On top of the soil you may use soil or a mixture of sand and ordinary soil. Put the soil in the dish and mix. Use a small amount of the base mixture, using a small amount dissolved in water to furnish the needed nutrients for the plant. These nutrients are obtainable at seed stores and florists.

It is important to remember that you should take similar soil, light and water. You might make a garden composed of wild flowers which like acid soil. The plants of this region are Hellebore, primrose, and the hardy north up to the bluebells, such attractive plants as watergreen with red flowers, twinflower, partridge berry, small ground hells, and different kinds of lichens. These plants will give you a winter garden.

If these plants are not accessible to you, you might find it practical to use cultivated green-house-plant garden plants, such as the cyclamen, geranium, and carnation. When you have these plants particularly attractive for use in dish gardens, they may be used in a variety of ways, luxuriously growing in dainty and areolaria vermillion plantlets of kalanchoe.

Prepare Older Child for Arrival of New Baby

When it is time for a second baby to arrive in a family, many parents begin to worry about the problem of jealousy on the part of the older child.

Jealousy must always be expected when a baby comes, but fortunately there are some things that can be done to help the older child accept a new brother or sister gracefully.

Do not wait until the baby arrives to announce it to older children. Give them a few weeks to get accustomed to the idea. Let the child have some part in getting ready for the new baby by helping with the diapers and little new clothes. Take the child to visit a new baby who has been prepared and know what to expect when his "own" baby arrives.

To avoid his feeling like the bottom has dropped out of his world when his mother has gone to the hospital, child development specialists urge the father to begin taking more care of the older child in the weeks prior to the new baby's arrival. Other friendly adults like grandparents and aunts should be around the child more, too.

When mother does get home from the hospital take special pains to make the older child feel cherished and wanted in this strange situation. Slip him a package of crayons or lollipops when someone brings a present for the new baby and take time to tell him about when he was a baby. Do not fuss too much over the new baby, who probably will not need too much handling anyway.

These are suggestions which help to ease an older child into the new role of being a brother or sister.

GOOD NEWS HOMEMAKERS
BY Anne Marshall

'COOK DOUBLE, LESS TROUBLE'. Now there's a good slogan to go by as you try to make the minutes go further in your busy life.

Many foods used often at meals can be cooked in larger amounts so you've enough for two—or more meals. And all done at one time.

Plan to cook double amounts of these foods so you have a head start on a second-day menu. Then the left-over portion is really a saver. Here are some good items to cook for two-time serving.

- Roast beef, pork, lamb or ham
- Meat or fish loaf
- Rice
- Potatoes
- Beans (lima, navy, kidney)
- Noodles or macaroni

A ROSY SALMON LOAF, for instance, makes the main dish for a couple of meals. Cream of celery soup is used in the loaf and over it for a hot creamy sauce. You'll like this recipe for special Lenten meals.

Celery Salmon Loaf
2 cups of 1-pound 2 eggs, slightly beaten
1/2 cup milk 1 can (1 1/2 cups) condensed cream of celery soup
1/2 cup dry bread crumbs 1/2 cup minced green pepper

Combine ingredients as listed and mix. Pack lightly into a greased, small loaf pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for about 1 hour or until done; turn out on a warm platter. Makes 6 servings. Heat additional cream of celery soup to serve as sauce with loaf. (Beat 1 can of soup with 1/2 cup milk sauce.)

Meat Loaf Offers Many Variation

Ground beef is a "friend in need" to the thrift-conscious homemaker. It is economical, easy to prepare in a number of delightful dishes and has the same fine flavor as the choicest beef cuts.

During these days of beef plenty, there is lots of ground beef around, ready for use in rich flavored casseroles, good tasting skillet dishes and tender, juicy meat loaves.

The homemaker who makes a really topnotch meat loaf is popular with her family whenever she serves this economical dish.

Favorite Meat Loaf
1 1/2 pounds ground beef
1/2 pound ground pork
1/4 cup finely chopped onion
2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon sage
1/4 teaspoon poultry seasoning
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce

2 eggs
1 cup tomato juice
4 slices bread

Combine meat with onion and seasonings. Beat eggs and add tomato juice. Cube bread and soak in the liquid mixture. Beat well. Add to meat and mix lightly. Pack into 5 x 9 inch meat loaf pan and bake at 350° F. for 1 1/2 hours. Let loaf stand for 10 minutes, then drain off liquid and turn out of pan. Spread with catsup or hot tomato sauce. (If desired, loaf may be spread with 1/3 cup catsup before baking. This adds moisture and interesting flavor.)

Change-Abouts for Meat Loaf
There are so many ways to vary meat loaf that you can serve it often without being repetitious. Here are some suggestions:

Vary the meat: Use 1/2 pound ground pork shoulder, 1/2 pound ground veal and 1 pound ground beef; or use 1 1/2 pounds ground beef and 1/2 pound ground bologna.

Vary the seasonings: Use dry mustard, thyme, horseradish or pickle relish.

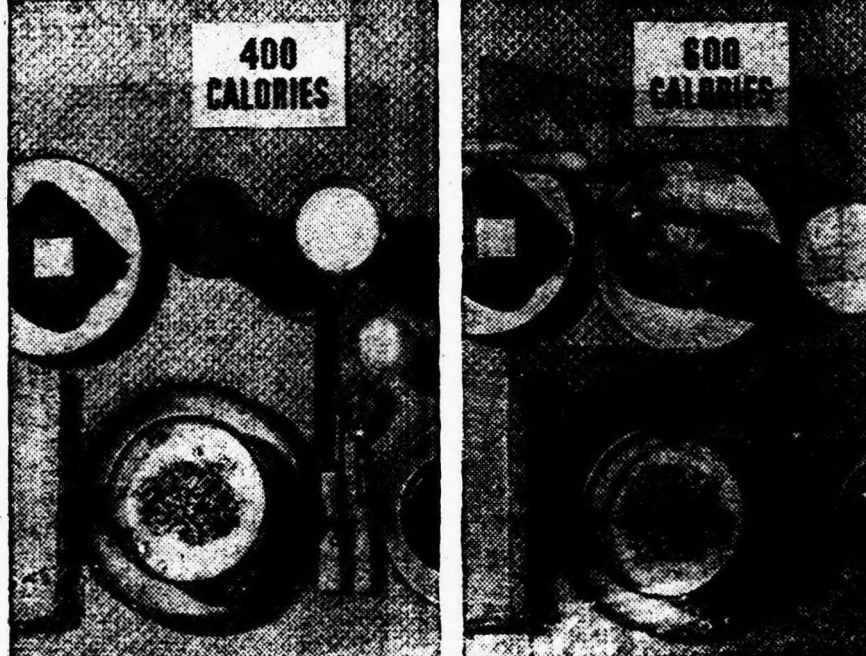

Vary the liquid: Use catsup, chili sauce, tomato sauce or canned soups.

Vary the toppings: Spread loaf with chili sauce or thick barbecue sauce before baking.

Vary the shape: Bake meat loaf mixture in muffin pans or ring mold. Or shape into individual loaves and spread with tomato sauce before baking.

Try using uncooked rolled oats in place of bread in the meat loaf.

Breakfast Is the Key Meal In Reducing Diets

THE news in reducing diets is right in the first meal of the day. Scientific research gives new importance to breakfast as the key to any successful reducing plan.

Previous scientific studies show that you'll feel better, you'll work better, and you'll be quicker on the draw when you eat a breakfast that gives you 1/4 to 1/2 of the day's food—and calories—at breakfast.

Breakfast Job
If you skip breakfast, or any meal, you're more apt to resort to between-meal snacks which add calories, or you're apt to overeat at the other two meals.

The food you eat at breakfast is used efficiently; you're not apt to store it as fat.

Breakfast for the reducer has many jobs to do. It should give its share of the food essentials everyone needs to be well-nourished—the vitamins, minerals, protein, and energy-giving foods. It should include foods that are put to work effectively by the body. It should be appetizing and should taste good; it should be thrifty, easy to buy, easy to prepare.

List Two Menus

Shown above are two breakfasts cut from this pattern. The 400-calorie breakfast includes a glass of unsweetened pineapple juice, one ounce of puffed wheat served with half a cup of skim milk, one slice of whole wheat toast and one teaspoon butter, a soft-cooked egg, an additional half cup of skim milk to drink, and black coffee.

If your diet allows a 600-calorie breakfast, here's a typical menu: a whole orange, one ounce of ready-to-eat oat cereal with half a cup of whole milk, one slice of whole wheat toast, one teaspoon butter, one cup of whole milk to drink, and black coffee.

"Living Zone" in House Should be Set up Equally For Adults, and Children

Children don't build homes but most homes are built for children, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau in calling attention to the importance of considering the comfort of children in selecting a heating system for a home.

During most of the day, the bureau points out, children are living in a different part of the room than the adults.

The main portion of an adult's body, unless seated in a chair, is found some three to six feet above the floor. The "living zone" for a child, on the other hand, is several feet lower.

The ideal heating system, the bureau observes, provides the same comfort conditions for the child in his living zone as it provides for the adult.

The four essentials of good heating for both children and adults are radiant heat, correct air temperature, draft free air motion and warm floors.

Radiant heat water heat provides these four essentials, according to the bureau.

To Panbroil or to Panfry? How to Solve the Problem

Panbroil and panfry. Just what is the difference between these two meat cookery methods?

Panbroiling is the method used for cooking thin steaks and chops when the characteristics of a broiled meat are desired.

Panfrying is used for thin steaks and chops when a crisp outer coating is desired.

Consider the cookery steps for the two methods to note the difference. In both cases a heavy frying-pan should be used to insure even distribution of heat. To panbroil, place the meat in a frying-pan. Do not add water or fat. Do not cover. Cook slowly, turning occasionally, and pouring off fat as it accumulates. Brown meat on both sides, season and serve at once.

New Vaccine Licks All Types of Polio; Stops Infection, Paralysis

Parents here in Plymouth—along with millions of others throughout the nation who have lived with and fought against the most dreaded malady of our time—may well live outside the fear of infantile paralysis before 1953 is over.

And with good reason—for scientists now have a vaccine they believe will protect humans against polio ending the dread scourge of a killing and crippling virus.

Conclusive proof, at the time this announcement was made, public, remains about 1000 years in the making. But it is in the offing yet this year when scientists complete tests on many children. Knowledge of the anti-polio vaccine was made public in New York Tuesday by Dr. Harry M. Weaver, research director of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Sought since 1933, the vaccine is one encouraging answer, it is a pay-off, so to speak, of the 18 million dollars devoted to research by March of Dimes funds. It looks like the best practical answer yet to the challenge of polio.

The vaccine sets up a body reaction, as shown in a few humans and monkeys, that makes its own antibodies or disease fighters against all three types of polio. Monkeys when injected with a lethal polio virus escaped without a wimper or paralysis.

But the polio preventative will not be generally available this year. The acid test still lies ahead—there are thousands of children who must be tested before the "proof of the pudding" is documented for laymen and medical science alike.

One thing is certain, however—this vaccine is safe. But how good and how long protection lasts is still the unknown that science must of necessity hold out to the public until tests are completed.

Polio damage or brain damage cannot result from the vaccine. It is made out of viruses killed by chemical treatment, with formalin or formaldehyde.

And it is certain that all three types of human polio are effectively curbed and the viruses rendered harmless.

There are three such viruses—namely the Brunhilde, Lansing, and Leon strains—which are the disease killing offenders. To find and isolate them it took researchers three studious years of work and cost $1,370,000 for this segment of research alone.

Growing the three viruses in glass test tubes, scientists can now make them in unlimited quantities, Dr. Weaver reported, noting that it's done by using bits of animal or human tissues. Fearing that the viruses grown on nerve tissues might contain contaminants that could damage brain tissue, he said that the vaccine is made exclusive of that virus, thus eliminating danger of crippling vaccine effects.

This home-grown vaccine helps form a natural defense line of anti-bodies taking advantage of normal body metabolism. Viruses are thus mowed down as they approach the "outer perimeter" on anti-bodies. Though the viruses in the vaccine are killed by chemicals, it still keeps the power to make a human produce the polio fighters.

Dr. Weaver pointed out that a certain combination of mineral oils increases the productivity of anti-bodies in the vaccine making it more effective than ever.

In the interim, while investigations and tests continue with the vaccine, the foundation is fighting the relentless battle of polio versus science by stockpiling the polio fighter—gamma globulin, an antibody substance, a protein, introduced into the blood and giving a six-weeks insurance against polio paralysis.

Science recognizes that most persons have had at least one type of polio and built up their own antibodies against at least one of the viruses.

It is from the blood of many persons exposed that gamma globulin is being stockpiled by the foundation, American Red Cross, National Research Council and some other agencies for allocation to polio centers in this summer's fight against an epidemic outbreak. It was in 1952 that the disease infected more than one out of every 10 persons in Wayne county alone, over 1,100 persons. In Plymouth the polio toll reached an unofficial count of six.

It is, perhaps, of vital concern to dwellers here that such a vaccine as gamma globulin is a short six-week terminal antibody.

What people want is an effective, lasting insurance. Time will tell whether this vaccine is really the final answer to polio. If it works, as scientists hope, summer will be a thing of beauty, not an orgy of fear and uncertainty. And polio will have lost its sting.

Plymouthites Are Offered Course in "Family Life"

"Marriage and Family Life" is being made available to young adults and other interested persons in the Ann Arbor area as a University of Michigan Extension course this semester. It is announced. Part of the program in Family Living offered by the University, this is the first time that enrollment has been opened to other than campus students. First session will be held at 7:30 p. m. on Wednesday, February 11, in 407 Mason Hall.

"Marriage and Family Life" is planned for both single and married persons who wish to learn how to deal more effectively with present or future family life problems. Some of the topics to be considered are the inter-personal dynamics involved in courtship and mate selection, husband-wife relations, and family living.

Instructor will be Prof. Robert C. Blood, who was appointed to the faculty last fall because of the increased interest in the University's program in family living. Prof. Blood was a member of the family life department and the marriage counseling service of Merrill Palmer School, Detroit, prior to coming to the University.

The course may be elected for two hours of extension credit in sociology if desired, though enrollment is also open to those who do not wish credit.

Among other problems that will never be solved is why some men would still dodge the tax collector if they owned the earth.

Here's how! If it's necessary to paper over plaster which is overly dry and you fear may have a tendency to crumble, save your job by first covering the plaster walls with a thin coat of fine shellac. This not only acts as a sealer but binds the plaster and makes a good base for the paste.

Congressman A. M. Bentley to Speak at All-College Banquet

Residents of Plymouth and surrounding municipalities will have an opportunity on February 11, 1953 to get some first hand knowledge regarding the handling of foreign affairs by our Federal Government in Washington.

The occasion is the All-College Banquet of the University of Michigan Club of Plymouth which will be held in the Presbyterian Church Banquet Hall on the above date at 6:30 P. M.

The principal speaker is the Honorable Alvin M. Bentley, millionaire resident of Owosso, Mich. and Republican Representative in Washington of Michigan's 8th Congressional District. He is returning from the opening of Congress this month to fulfill a promise made to the Club's president, Wendell S. Miller, last fall that he would come to Plymouth if elected to Congress.

Mr. Bentley spent eight years in the U. S. State Department's diplomatic corps, including assignments in Hungary and Italy. He has said that our Government's foreign policies and coddling of communists led to his resignation three years ago from the State Department and to his decision to run for Congress and lend the full power of that Office toward elimination of subversive influence and the appeasement policy toward Russia.

He will have a wonderful opportunity to put his resolution into effect as a result of his recent selection to the important Foreign Affairs Committee. Mr. Bentley speaks five languages and is a close student of current history and political science.

Anyone interested in Washington politics and our Government's handling of foreign affairs, regardless of whether they are members of the U. of M. Club, are invited to attend the banquet and hear Mr. Bentley's interesting and timely talk.

Tickets are $2.35 per person and may be obtained or reservations made by calling Mr. Miller on or before February 9, 1953. Plymouth is fortunate in having the opportunity to meet such a high representative of our Federal Government and it is the Club's hope that there will be a large turn-out to welcome him and hear what he has to say on the political situation in Washington.

Earth's actors change earth's scenes; and the curtain of human life should be lifted on reality, on that which outweighs time; on duty done and life perfected, wherein joy is real and fadeless. —Mary Baker Eddy

Collect 95 Per Cent of Winter Taxes as Dollar Wealth Flows Into Coiffers

Dollar wealth to the tune of $308,982 in winter taxes deluged the city treasurer's office in something less than three weeks, racking up a collection percentage of 95, one of the highest averages seen since City Treasurer Charles H. Garlett has been "keeper of the city till."

The total winter tax levy here amounted to $325,578 with 37 cents left over to buy at least five cups of coffee.

The $325,578 figure is approximately twice the amount it would take to widen and repave Main street for a mile-and-a-half twice over. It is about the same amount it would take to build a new city hall—with a guaranteed fireproof and sanitary jail located on the first floor (it is now in the basement—and condemned to boot).

But this is not what all that money is going for. The remaining $16,596 plus that $308,982 goes to education and the county.

Broken down the school district got $13 per $1,000 for a total of $243,729, the county $6 per $1,000 for a total of $91,849.

This year taxpayers here paid an unprecedented rate of 24 per $1,000 of assessed valuation that in taxes totaled $182,051, more than in 1951. The 1951 tax spread amounted to $243,527. It was levied on taxpayers at a rate of $20.02 per $1,000.

The deadline for collection of winter taxes here was January 20. The $16,596 yet outstanding are now officially delinquent taxes. A four-percent penalty has already been added. After March 1 an additional one-half percent per month will be charged by the county who lets the tax books after that date.

Persons with outstanding obligations are urged by Garlett to pay their winter levies at an early date.

Piatoon Age Ends

Football next fall is going to take on a different look, all because the National Collegiate Athletic Association killed the two-piatoon (free substitution) which in turn killed football in some 50 small colleges. The new regulation will bring back the era of the all-around "iron-man" offensive and defensive performer. Ed Price has been given a new five-year contract as head football coach at the University of Texas, the southwest conference champions of 1952. . . . Maureen (Little Mo) Connolly, the world's best woman tennis player, was named "athlete of the year" for 1952, the second successive time. . . . Leroy (Satchel) Paige signed his 1953 contract with the Browns for a reported $20,000. Paige is probably the oldest player in big-league baseball, no one knows for sure but he is somewhere between 45 and 50.

BRVES GET SLUGGER . . . Pennant chances of Boston's Braves improve with purchase of Andy Pafko (above), heavy-hitting outfielder, from Brooklyn. Dodgers got infielder Roy Hartsfield and reported $75,000 in exchange.

Bentley in Front Plymouth Third

Coach Les Anders Bentley Bulldogs continue unbeaten for the season and are fully entrenched in first place in the 6-B Suburban league. The showdown battle with Redford Union is tomorrow night — Bentley came from behind in the last few seconds to win the first game by two points. If the Bulldogs get by this one, they should have fairly easy sailing the rest of the way to the title. Last Friday, Bentley downed Trenton 62 to 43. Belleville beat a hapless Allen Park 49 to 38 while Plymouth lost to Redford Union 54 to 47.

In other games Wayne was smothered by number one ranking Flint Northern 104 to 46. Milford handed Northville their second loss by a 64 to 54 count. Garden City defeated Romulus 40 to 32. Jackson edged Ypsilanti 46 to 40.

Industrious Beavers Cause Conservation Officers Trouble

Beavers are noted as an industrious lot of creatures, and so far as the conservation department is concerned, they are sometimes too industrious.

During recent years, the department has serviced hundreds of beaver damage complaints, a costly, time-consuming operation. Landowners call on department field workers to rid their property of the busy animals because of damage through flooding of roads, timber stands and field crops.

Then it becomes the duty of state trappers to live-trap the accused fur-bearers for release in more remote regions. But there's the rub, for beaver live traps are large and cumbersome and much effort is required to catch one of the dam builders.

During the period January 1-September 1, 1951, 73 beavers had to be trapped following damage complaints in the northern lower peninsula at an average cost of $41 per beaver.

Throughout the state in 1952, a total of more than 400 complaints were registered with the department. More than 500 beavers had to be live-trapped; cost of this work was nearly $18,000, or an average of more than $44 per complaint.

No compilation of damage costs to property owners has been made. The department does not pay damage claims; costs to the state are incurred only in trapping and handling the animals.

One case in point occurred last fall, when two beavers plugged up a railroad culvert in the upper peninsula. By the time the animals were shoed away and the dam removed, the culvert was so weakened by water action that an engine tumbled from the pass and $35,000 damage resulted.

Beavers complete their dams generally by November, and most damage complaints are registered in the summer and early fall. About 10 percent of the complaints occur in the southern lower peninsula, the remainder are divided about evenly between the upper and northern lower peninsulas.

The largest number of complaints — 36 — came last year from Iron county. Other counties with high numbers of complaints include Marquette, 34; Ogemaw, 33; Alcona, 23 and Gladwin, 21.

This year, a more liberal spring trapping season has been authorized by the conservation commission. Also, department workers are mulling plans for a more efficient and less costly method of handling damage complaints.

The older order changeth, yielding place to new; and God fulfills himself in many ways. — Tennyson

Kisabeth Breaks Scoring Record

The varsity basketball five easily triumphed over Southfield last week Tuesday 55 to 35, but then dropped a hard-fought tussle to Redford Union 54 to 47 in a league contest. The Rocks were a good-looking team in beating Southfield, but looked just the opposite in losing to Redford Union.

In the first game, the Rocks led 16 to 9 at the quarter, 30 to 17 at the half and 43 to 28 at the three-quarter mark. They made 9 out of 20 foul tosses.

Kenneth Kisabeth set a new varsity individual scoring record when he hit for 30 points. The former record was held by DeWayne Becker at 26 set in 1948. Young Kisabeth scored 7 in the first quarter, 9 in the second, 6 in the third and 8 in the fourth quarter to break the record. He has been close once before when he scored 25 points in three quarters only to foul out of the game at that point. Ken is potentially a great point-getter, but his big weakness is getting needless fouls called on him, and consequently only plays part of each game.

In the Redford Union game Plymouth led 16 to 15 at the quarter and 25 to 24 at the half-time intermission, but Redford Union scored 6 more points than the Rocks during the third quarter to lead 34 to 39 at that point. Kisabeth had three fouls on him in the first quarter, and was used sparingly thereafter. Casey Cavell also had three the first half, Plymouth made good on 17 of 26 foul tosses, with their opponents cashing in on 14 of 32 charity tosses.

Jerry Kelly made 11 points for Plymouth, Ken Kisabeth 10 and Casey Cavell 9 points. Bob Chute was high for Redford Union with 17 points.

Lawrence "Bud" Lanphear closed out a brilliant athletic career for Plymouth in this game when he went out on five fouls in the final period. Ken Kisabeth also fouled out in the final period. Ron Johnson and Roger Bogenschutz played quite a bit in also closing out their eligibility. Each scored a few points and Johnson made good on 4 foul shots out of 4 attempts.

Tomorrow night the Rocks journey over to Allen Park for their second game with the tailenders.

Reserves Win One But Lose- Red. U.

The high school junior varsity won a game and lost one last week. After winning from Southfield on Tuesday night by a 54 to 43 count, they dropped a league contest to Redford Union by a 43 to 36 score on Friday night.

In the Southfield game the locals led all the way with a 24 to 18 halftime lead.

They made good on 14 of 27 free throw attempts.

The scoring was again divided with John Agnew having 11, Lee Jave 10 and Bob Middleton 9 points.

In the Redford Union contest, the Rocks were out in front at the end of the first quarter 8 to 6, but Redford Union had forced to the front at the half 20 to 14. The third quarter ended 35 to 26 in favor of the Panthers.

Plymouth made good on only 8 out of 24 free throw attempts, while the Panthers made 14 out of 30.

Again the scoring was evenly divided with John Agnew and Bob Middleton each having 8 points, Pat Clifford 6, Lee Jave and Larry Wilhelmi 5 each and Los Forenczi 4 points.

Tomorrow night the reserves go to Allen Park for a game.

Girl Cagers Lose
After being held to 4 points the first half, the Ypsilanti girls team came to life and scored 18 points the second half to down the local Twin Pine girls 22 to 15 in an Inter-City Girls game last Thursday night at the high school gymnasium. The Plymouth lassies led throughout the first three quarters, but their opponents last quarter rush was too much for them.

Three women did all the scoring for Plymouth — Wilkin made 8 points, Baker 4 and McIntosh 3.

Cagers Travel to Allen Park Fri.

Tomorrow night the third-place Plymouth varsity travels to Allen Park for a return engagement with the down river school. The first time these two met, the Rocks ran up the biggest score they have ever made in an easy 70 to 43 win, but this contest is expected to be much closer in the small Allen Park gym.

The Parkers have not won a game in 6-B league play. They play a wide open game, and do not have much of a defense.

Plymouth still is waging a desperate fight for third place with Belleville and Trenton.

The junior varsity also goes to Allen Park for a game. They, too, easily defeated Allen Park in an earlier engagement. This game will start at 7 p.m. with the varsity encounter beginning at approximately 8:30 p.m.

1952 Tailenders Dominate Grades

The two teams that finished in the last two places last year are leading the pack this year as Lutheran, last place winner last year, is in first place without a loss so far. Catholic is in second place with only one loss.

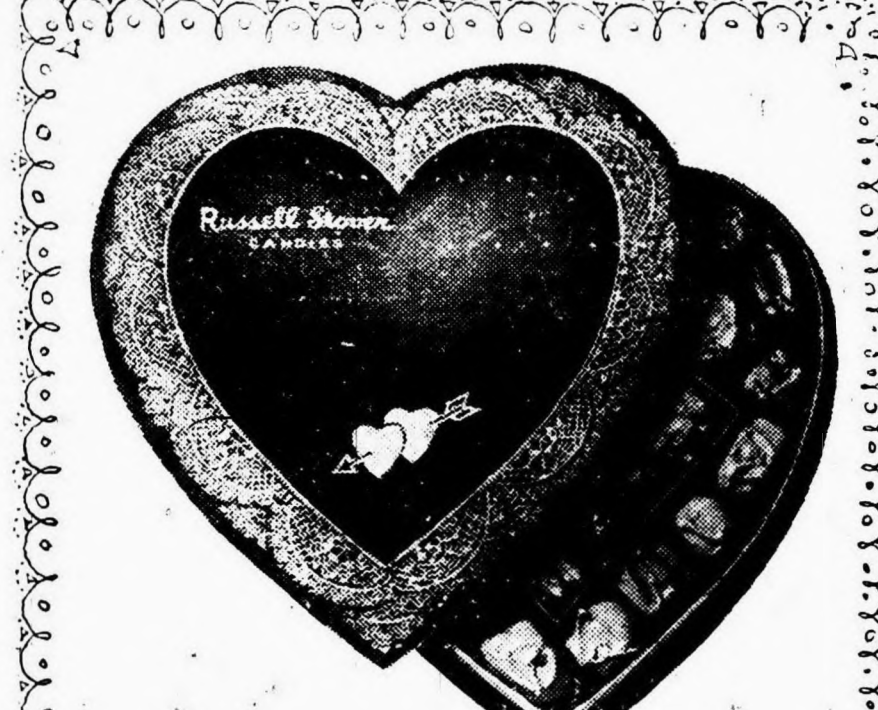

Last week Smith school swamped the Bird school boys by an 18 to 3 score. Lutheran edged Starkweather 8 to 6 as David Bogenschutz scored 7 of his team's 8 points. Catholic beat Smith 12 to 4 as Conrad scored 8 points. Starkweather edged out Bird 16 to 14 with Hoffman scoring 12 points. Catholic took the measure of Starkweather 13 to 9, and Lutheran won their fourth straight with an 8 to 5 win over Bird.

Chips from the ROCK

Joe Gembis, Michigan football great and former Wayne University coach, a Plymouth visitor Wednesday, added his two cents worth to the college barring of the double platoon system by saying, the real reason for the change is the greatly increased number of injuries incurred by the constant changing of boys on the field. Actual records show that injuries almost doubled under the system which really gave more boys the opportunity to play but made it necessary for them to "warm up" under pressure many times more in each game than under the old system.

Rumor has it that a major chain store is looking for a site here as are the Detroit Edison Company and the Dow Chemical Company in a joint operation which might end up in the locating of a giant Atomic Energy Operation close to this city.

Banker Harry Mohrmann said the funniest thing in his banking career happened in the Plymouth Branch of the National Bank of Detroit last Wednesday. It seems a seven or eight year old boy walked up to the cage serviced by Barbara Miller and asked to borrow three cents. When questioned as to why he wanted the money he said he wanted to purchase a postage stamp. Barbara turned down the loan on the basis that it wasn't actually one of the functions of her window to loan children money and the youngster quipped disgustedly, "How old do you have to be before you can make a loan here?"

Furnace man Bill Otwell said he wouldn't believe it but he had an actual experience that proved to him women really do listen to Arthur Godfrey. A customer (female) came into his store to purchase a filter for her furnace. Mr. Otwell tried to sell her a different make than the one she had asked for pointing out the one he suggested was not only better but slightly cheaper. To his surprise the answer was this, I don't care, all I know is that Arthur Godfrey said the one I asked for is best and that's the one I want. She got it.

Several Rotarians making up missed meetings in Dearborn last Thursday were surprised at the number of Dearborn Rotarians that mentioned the excellent food and beautiful dining room of Plymouth's Mayflower Hotel. Dearborn Rotary meets at Dearborn Inn. At the Friday Plymouth meeting Al Hubbs, recovering from severe injuries in an auto accident received last fall, made his first public appearance and looked mighty chipper.

This business of raising more money for the state has our lawmakers in a tizzy. Committee doors are locked while the boys talk it over and legislators skulk around making behind-the-hand conversations for all the world like the picture version of a spy filled French cafe.

It's even dangerous. A page boy got involved in a bare and hounds affair and narrowly escaped injury. Sen. George N. Higgins, formidable chairman of the senate finance committee, about to closet himself in a committee room with Sen. Carlton H. Morris (R-Kalamazoo) was so anxious to avoid a reporter who was dogging him, that he leaped into the room and slammed the door—smack on the innocent page boy who was just leaving the room.

Higgins grunted, the page boy squealed, the reporter had his only laugh of the day.

But the work is beginning to take shape. Out of the fog of diversionary issues and personal spats the shadow of three sources whereby the lawmakers can lay their hands on some quick cash is slowly taking shape.

They are:

1. Renegade measures.
2. Citizens Tax Study commission recommendations.
3. Compromise measures.

Under the classification of renegade measures is included such items as the proposal to take over the $50,000,000 veterans trust fund; Sen. Charles S. Blordy's bill to claim $2,000,000 in breakage from the race tracks. (With the parimutuels betting system anything less than a dollar is considered breakage and the winner is paid to the nearest dollar. State formerly got one-half of this. Sen. Blordy would take it all.)

Others would be the proposed tax on mineral rights and the usual loophole-pluggers. Governor Williams' corporation profits tax also will come under this heading, since it isn't a part of any overall plan.

Just what the recommendations of the Citizens Tax Study Commission will be is a highly guarded secret. The commission has been meeting for two years. It is composed of 53 men from representative walks of life, and, therefore, is torn with a bit of turmoil from within. Just recently the Michigan Municipal League, the Michigan Education Association and the League of Women Voters hauled their representatives out of the meetings on the grounds that the entire program is being dictated by industry.

But Senator Higgins claims the commission does have a program that bills carrying that program's recommendations all will be introduced by February 10.

One of these bills is sure to include a tax on unincorporated business and partnerships.

And now for the compromise measures. It long has been recognized that both Democrats and Republicans are aware of the seriousness of the state's empty pockets. They will have to get together sooner or later.

And so Gov. Williams has been meeting with the tax and financial leaders of both chambers. They have met behind locked doors. Everyone is keeping tensely quiet. And so what progress they have made is not known.

However, one Republican announced that he is getting leery of the whole business. "Williams won't commit himself," he growled. "We try to work something out and he wants to be a politician."

Williams has said that he hasn't plumped for his corporations tax—and that is all.

The $35,000,000 advance payment on the corporation franchise duties will give the state a quick shot in the arm. But what happens when the reckoning comes and the state has to give the corporations actual credit due for the money?

Unless, of course, by that time the franchise tariff has been increased and the state doesn't owe the money any more.

Now from all these sources the state surely can find enough wherewithal to stem the tide of red ink, at least temporarily. Currently the house of representatives has announced it won't act on any tax bills until the entire tax program of the senate is known. That should be within the next two weeks.

A good many of these proposals will go by the boards. The Democrats still hold a couple of hole cards if they don't like any of the measures. The G.O.P. can't get a two-thirds majority in the house to give any bills immediate effect—and the tax bills aren't much use now if they don't get that treatment—and Gov. Williams still holds the veto hammer in the front office.

But Republicans are confident—and don't forget, the legislature can do anything!

ROGER BABSON SAYS:

BABSON DISCUSSES BUSINESS CYCLES

Babson Park, Florida, Feb. 5. I don't believe in A Universal Business Cycle. I do believe in Newton's Law of Action and Reaction. Business Cycles are inevitable with human nature as it is.

MANY BUSINESS CYCLES

When someone tells you he does not believe in the Business Cycle it is because he pinned his faith on one Business Cycle and tried to make the same Cycle apply to the stock market, interest rates, real estate, labor strikes, building, retailing, manufacturing, etc.

Not only do all the above have their own Cycles, but different industries may have different Cycles. For instance: Wheat has a 9-6-year Cycle; Iron and Steel a 6-year Cycle; Automobiles a 13-year Cycle, etc.

THE MAIN CYCLES

Although there may be a score of different Cycles, all working at the same time, 90 per cent of the readers of this column are tied up with five main Cycles. These are: (1) "The 35-Year Cycle", which applies to agriculture, weather, insect pests, etc. Every other 35 years the Cycle is very severe. Hence, some talk also about a 70-year Cycle; and others about a 50-year Cycle.

The Cycle which affects us all is (2) the approximate "9-10 Year Cycle". Every other ten years this Cycle is especially pronounced. Hence, some talk about (3) "The 20-Year Cycle". This particularly applies to real estate, new building, wholesale prices and general business—although, as above stated, different lines of business vary as to when their special 20-year Cycle starts and ends. Edward R. Dewey, who is perhaps the best living authority on Cycles, shows that a "9-10 Year Cycle" applies to forestry, fish life, ozone supply, atmospheric electricity and psychological changes in our desires and ambitions.

STOCK MARKET CYCLES

Two other common Cycles are the "42-Month Cycle" and the related "6-Year Cycle". This last is the Cycle used in the Addenda of my Autobiography recently published by Harper & Brothers of New York City. Here I show how $2,000 invested in 1901 in the Dow-Jones stocks, approximately according to this Cycle, could (as subsequently adjusted to include latest data) amount to over $1,000,000 today without borrowing a penny. This is known as the Chapin Hoskins Cycle and appears in records of barometric pressure, sun spots, tree rings, certain commodity prices and the sales of some 25 leading U. S. corporations.

Of course, all brokers ridicule this Cycle Theory. If too many of their customers bought stocks only once in six years, they would starve to death. Even the Mutual Investment Funds, which last year did a business of $4,000,000,000, cannot afford to go without dividends for three years while waiting for the market to drop. Besides, their sponsors could not support a sales force under such conditions.

SELF CONTROL AND PATIENCE

Operating under any Cycle Theory requires great self-control and patience. It requires selling when the Government, brokers and magazines are bullish; likewise, it requires buying when everyone is discouraged and sees no hope for stocks at any price. On the other hand, those who do so operate on this Cycle Theory perform a great public service in helping to level out business and employment conditions.

Some conservative bankers do not believe in any Cycle Theory because it misses once in a while when different cycles conflict. Furthermore, although they admit it might have worked under a Gold Standard, it cannot be depended upon—they claim—with a Planned Economy and Paper Money. My answer to them is that they can operate on an Actuarial Basis the same as insurance companies do. Stock losses can be averaged the same as can fires, accidents and deaths.

Fisher's Shoe Store is Represented at National Retail Dealer's Meet

A three-day merchandising conference of retail shoe dealers ending today is being attended by Edward Houghtaling and Blake Fisher of Fisher's Shoe store, 290 South Main street.

The nation-wide conference is being held at Washington University School of Business Administration.

A highlight of the conference is a tour of the general offices of the Brown Shoe company at Clayton, Missouri.

Popular vocalist Patti Page along with Hal McIntyre's Orchestra are assigned entertainment spots during the three-day meet.
