Betty Clare Straehle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Straehle of Auburndale avenue, Livonia, chose a gown of Chantilly lace and satin when she repeated her marriage vows to Lavern Engelhard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Engelhard of Unionville, Michigan.

The Reverend Armand H. Ulrich read the vows at four o'clock, Saturday, in Nativity Lutheran church, Detroit. A reception followed in the church parlors.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a wedding gown fashioned with a Chantilly lace yoke, scalloped bertha and full skirt ending in a court train. Her veil was secured by a matching cap accented with pearl beading. She carried a white Blythe topped with a purple-throated oriole and streamers tied with streamers.

Sister of the bride, Marjorie Straehle, was honor attendant. Bridesmaids were the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Donald Stoll of Unionville, and Eldine Curry, also of Unionville. They were attired in identical blue velvet gowns with matching gauntlets. Pink carnations were used in their cascade bouquets. Joan Emmert, of Seven Mile road, Livonia, niece of the bride, was the flower girl. Her frock match-

Seek Aid Starting Retarded Child Group

An effort is being made to make the mentally retarded child a part of the community rather than apart from it. Although they may never fully develop, these children feel, love, and want the same as a normal child. Thus far, however, they have been ignored by our free educational institutions.

Community groups are being organized to help these children. One such group meets in Ann Arbor the first Monday of every month. Any community can start a committee with a minimum of five members. Information can be obtained from Mrs. Gilbert Hanke, 304 S. E. Pares avenue, Grand Rapids, chairman of the membership committee of the Michigan Association of Parents and Friends of Mentally Retarded Children.

Tractor Repair Schedule Urged

"The constantly dwindling supply of manpower available on farms in this area is creating new problems in machinery maintenance," says Stan Travis, service manager of the West Bros. Inc. "Often, in an effort to get a job done, owners attempt to stretch their power beyond the time when an engine overhaul is needed. As a result, they sometimes break down in the middle of a busy season losing many hours at a time when every hour on the job is important." To avoid this gamble with power, Mr. Travis suggests the scheduling of engine overhauls early so that tractors are ready to go all the way through the season without stopping.

Mr. Travis also stated that too much emphasis cannot be placed on the benefits of timely overhauls. He quoted from a recent survey among tractor owners who "thought" their tractors were in fair shape. The survey showed that their tractors were wasting an average of 15 per cent of their fuel per year, and some tractors were wasting as much as 35 per cent because of engine troubles which an overhaul would have corrected. Mr. Travis listed faulty ignition, misadjusted carburetors and worn valves as examples of the common troubles which waste fuel and waste time on the job.

"First time I ever caught a reckless driver while I was walking!" That was the comment of Patrolman Louis Westfall Tuesday noon shortly after he had waved down a teen-age driver on Forest avenue and presented him with a ticket for reckless driving.

While checking meters on Forest avenue, Westfall saw the young speedster make a "U"-turn at Wing and Forest and then start "gunning" back up Forest. One woman shouted "stop that crazy driver" —and Patrolman Westfall complied by stepping out into the street and flagging down the car.

to avoid longer work hours. Also in favor of Thursday nights was Mrs. Betty Kemnatz whose "Mrs. Stevens Candies" shop is already open evenings. "We find our business has been good, and I know for a fact that many persons go to Detroit for evening shopping," she added. Austin Whipple of Huston Hardware believes that "hours should be left as they are." "We are definitely against another night," he said and added that the idea of more hours usually arose during slack seasons but was seldom mentioned when business was good. "I'm not in favor of another night, but would go along with any decision of the majority," said Carl Caplin. Urban Holland of Grand Jewelers does not believe another night would be of great benefit. "We find that the hour between 5 and 6 p.m. daily is our best week-night," said Holland. He pointed out that to close earlier to save hours for another night open would not be wise. Mrs. Marion Dickie of Linda Lee dress shop summed up the situation with two words—"absolutely not!" "The help problem is too critical," she said.

years before receiving her degree were spent teaching as a rural instructor, Miss Allen said, that led to the lifetime teaching occupation.

She recalled that originally she wanted to be a librarian and taught school to get sufficient funds to complete her training in that field.

"My teaching experience, however, cared me," she stated. "I just didn't want to get lost among the book stacks."

Additional Safety Letters

Dear Mr. Eaton: In reference to your editorial that appeared Thursday, February 5, 1953, the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce Safety Committee wishes to express its compliments to you for pointing out the serious traffic problem that exists in our area today.

Our committee will definitely include in its activities a program of traffic safety which, with the cooperation of our police department and city officials, will attempt to assist in promoting an effective program that will help cut the increased accident rate in our area.

Very truly yours,
Joe Merritt, chairman

Brimley, Mich.
Feb. 9, 1953

Dear Mr. Eaton,

Your editorial of Feb. 5 hit me in a vulnerable spot. I had been to Sault Ste. Marie, renewed my driver's license, and returned home, burned up, and ranting: "All the State of Michigan cares about is the $1.25 they get for issuing those licenses. They don't care how many potential killers they put on the road!" I saw the Plymouth Mail lying on the kitchen counter and the first thing I read was your editorial. It's too bad that the Automotive Capital of the World should have such a high death rate due to careless drivers. One of the first, and worst offenders, are the offices issuing driver's licenses. I went into the Sheriff's office, was asked three questions, all of them I could have lied about, if necessary. Then, standing 4 feet from an eye chart, I was asked to read the top line, "I did so and, $1.25 please. Here's your permit. Your license will come in a few days." Why so easy?

Among other things they could, and should, make each person go to a doctor and have a thorough physical examination and return with a statement from the doctor before allowing a license to be issued.

A few years back, we had a deaf mute, from Detroit, here for deer hunting (the one who stole Elmer's deer). He was the worst "slap-happy" driver I ever saw. It takes a lot to scare the Indians off our road, but all the time he was here they were afraid to walk on the road. Should a person who can not hear or speak be allowed to drive? I say "No!" I don't know how Tennessee is now, but when we lived there in

George Bentley Feted at Dinner Held in Livonia

A former Plymouth High school graduate was feted at a testimonial dinner in Livonia Saturday in recognition for his outstanding contribution to the schools and community.

Receiving the top honor was former Teacher-Educator George N. Bentley of 12414 Middlebelt, for whom Bentley High school is now named.

Bentley, now retired, served on various boards of education

1940 their tests were so stiff that the Michigan people needing to renew their driver's licenses returned to the home state for the week end so they could do it with ease!

It's the same with hunting licenses. If you have the almighty dollar to give them you can get one and most any "vokel" can issue them! I don't care if I never got another driver's license or hunting license, if they'd stiffen up on issuing both I'd be much happier. It's time something was done, I've griped about it for several years, and gone no further. I think we should get out petitions demanding that something be done, don't you? I'm afraid Editorials aren't enough, the guilty ones never read them, or if they do, they laugh and say, "Well, that doesn't hit me, but boy does that hit Tom Jones!"

Sincerely,
Mrs. Elmer J. Wieland

Mr. Sterling Eaton
Plymouth Mail
Dear Sterling:

Nice going on your editorial on traffic in this week's Plymouth Mail. It is very badly needed and the Plymouth Mail is serving a very real purpose by calling this matter to the attention of the community. You have the hearty thanks of almost all the people of this town, I am sure, for what you said.

On the other side of the ledger however I was quoted last week as, having some reservations regarding the new Revised edition of the Bible, I have none what ever and go along with it completely and in every detail. If you will read the section of the article where I was mentioned you will see that I look like a fence straddler with a foot on each side. I want it clearly known where I stand on any issue and I certainly stand with the Revised Version completely and unequivocally.

Cordially yours,
Henry Walsh

Two Local Organizations Sponsor Bird House Contest Here

PRESIDENT BARBARA STECKER of the Plymouth Branch of the Woman's Farm and Garden Association, left, and Mrs. Clarence Elliott, Garden Club civic committee chairman and Mrs. Sidney Strong make plans for the participation of their organization into the joint bird house contest.

A bird house building contest sponsored jointly by the Plymouth branch of the Michigan Division of Women's National Farm and Garden Association and the Optimist Club is currently underway here.

The contest, which ends in the early part of March (at a date yet to be set), appeals directly to Junior and Senior high school students in the seventh, eighth and ninth grades.

Three prizes will be offered for first, second and third place winners in each of two divisions for winning (1) wren houses (2) and bluebird houses. A third division will see the youthful contestants vying for one of three places for winning bird house "feeders."

Contest rules, Mrs. Sidney Strong said Tuesday, have been placed in manual training shoprooms at the Junior and Senior high schools.

Mrs. Strong, who is working closely with the civic committee of the Garden Club, chaired by Mrs. Clarence Elliott, said the contest rules are the same as those set by The Detroit News sponsoring a similar birdhouse contest.

Winning birdhouses and feeder will go on display at Huston Hardware, of 819 Penniman, after final judging takes place. Mrs. Strong said, stating that the first prize will be $2, second prize $1 and third prize a blue ribbon with honorable mention.

Sponsored for the second time, Mrs. Strong said the Garden Club, headed by Mrs. Austin Stecker, president, hoped that winning birdhouse entries here could be placed in The News' birdhouse contest next year.

Newcomer to the birdhouse contest this year is the Optimist Club headed by President Herb Woolweaver. The Optimist's joint effort in the contest is under the direction of Arnie Pylkas, chairman of the boys work committee.

LOCAL OPTIMISTS, ALSO BIRD HOUSE CONTEST PARTICIPANTS meet to formulate their part of the contest program which is open to all boys of the community. Left to right are La Verne Gibson, Sam Stephens and Arnie Pylkas. This is the first year Optimists have participated in this project and the combined efforts of the two organizations insure a most successful undertaking.

More than 100 years ago Ralph Waldo Emerson said, "We are always getting ready to live, but never living." It could have been written today. And we're all equally guilty. We've always got great ideas about what we're going to do "tomorrow" . . . people we mean to call, letters we intend to write, books we're going to read, causes we're going to work for.

But today is for things we have to do. And we just don't seem to have time for those little acts of kindness and courtesy that we're going to do "tomorrow." Trouble is, tomorrow is the only day that never gets here.

A Wyoming teacher told her students it was foolish to be always wishing for something they didn't have. But one kid said, "What else is there to wish for?" Anyone care to answer that? Have you tried our fountain and lunch counter lately? Remember, after the show or anytime you can get cool refreshment and a snack at PETERSON DRUG, 840 W. Ann Arbor Trail, Phone 2080.

V. F. W. Joins in Cancer Crusade

The Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary is helping the American Cancer Society in giving the people in this area a chance to "see for themselves" how to help combat the dread disease, CANCER. The Crusade, planned by the Auxiliary, will be widely publicized.

"Why aren't more people cured of cancer? In taking stock of the foes in this fight to save lives, we must speak frankly and recognize the tragic reality of Ignorance and Terror. Those words are ugly, but they are not used to criticize individuals. If people die through lack of information, all those responsible for health education and for spreading knowledge must assume a part of the blame. All of us have to attack Ignorance and Terror and QUICKLY," says Mrs. Marie Norman, V.F.W. publicity chairman.

We still don't know what causes cancer, but science has made great and important strides in its treatment and cure. But to do us any good, physicians must be brought face to face with cancer victims in time. Since cancer victims might mean you or me or Uncle Norm, it points up to the fact that no surgeon or radiologist can do much for you unless he gets at the disease before it gets too much of a start," she stated.

"What keeps them from getting it in time, you guessed it, Terror and Ignorance. Ignorance keeps us from recognizing the danger signal—the change, in body structure, or body functions, warning that something is wrong. Terror paralyzes our judgment when we do suspect the worst. Terror has its roots in superstition; that old and frightening phrase, 'Cancer is incurable'. Yet your doctor will tell you that with the strides forward, science has made in the past five years, probably 80 per cent of all breast cancer is curable—IF it is caught in time," stated Mrs. Norman.

Actually, the cancer education picture is hopeful. The Gallup Poll showed this in 1950 with a country-wide survey. The study revealed that in the preceding ten years, we had become increasingly cancer-conscious. "Great progress is being made in this fight to deprive cancer of its soul-mates, Ignorance and Terror. But there is so much more that must be done. Educating the average housewife, mother, and young women of CANCER FACTS is the hope of The Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary. To do this we are asking the aid of all. Breast cancer is the phase of cancer that will be of primary interest to women in this area," she said.

Dr. R. R. Barber, Health Commissioner of Plymouth and local doctors, including Dr. W. W. Hammond and Dr. B. H. Alford, among others, are leading their cooperation in this endeavor. Local civic and social groups are also active in this program. Mrs. C. Renwick, First Methodist church; Mr. J. Tracy, Grange; Mrs. G. Bauer, Girl Scout Council; Mrs. T. Finlan of the Soroptimist club; Mrs. Fountain, Professional Business Women's club; and Mrs. W. Nicols, Women's Auxiliary to Presbyterian church are among those who have responded for their respective groups accordingly.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary are appreciative of the gratifying response to this all out effort to educate you, you, and YOU, of the important facts of cancer.

Any local clubs or groups, not yet informed on this program and wishing to join in this educational and worthy Crusade, contact Alice Armstrong, general chairman, phone 527-M.

THIS DETERMINED GROUP OF HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS decided they desired Christian fellowship during the school week so on their own volition they organized the Christian Youth Club which meets each Wednesday throughout the school year at noon. They started holding their meetings in the park in front of the school and cold weather forced them into a school bus. Now through the interest of the local ministerial association they meet in the basement of the Presbyterian church. Here at noon they have their lunch, hear sermons from members of the clergy, enjoy musical programs and outline future activities. Sally Canning is club president, Judy Marshall is vice president, Marilyn Paul is secretary and treasurer is Irene Anderson. Membership is open to any high school student regardless of faith. Their intensive study of the Bible brings high praise from local spiritual leaders.

Former Entomologist is Candidate for Plymouth Township Treasurer

A former employee of the United States Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Entomology, is today a candidate for Plymouth township treasurer.

He is Walter Postiff, of 9163 Lilley road, who says that "the policy of Plymouth township is not formed by any one party. No one dominates the township board," he declared, "they discuss their mutual problems and come to a general conclusion."

Postiff is one of six Republican candidates seeking nomination to the township treasurer's post to be voted on during the February 16 primary. One of them will be elevated to the of office at this time inasmuch as there is no Democratic opposition. At 71, Postiff is still active doing general farming on his 100-acre Lilley road farm. He specializes in raising veal calves.

After attending Michigan State college from 1904 to 1909 and winning his B.S. degree there, Postiff was employed by the United States Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Entomology. From 1895 to 1898 he attended the former Central High school in Detroit, now part of Wayne University.

Postiff has been engaged in farming activities for 42 years, starting his original farming operations in Detroit in 1911. He has occupied his present farm since 1916, employing accounting techniques from a home-study course in business administration that he says has adequately prepared him for the fiscal activities of the treasurer's office.

He is married and has two sons, Allan and Clinton, both dairy operators, and three daughters, Mildred, currently teaching school in California, Mrs. Alice Loubrand and Mrs. Rosalind Broome.

Club to Hear Linda Newton

Plymouth Branch of the American Association of University Women will meet at the home of Mrs. Donald Sutherland, on Harvey street Wednesday, February 18, at 8 p. m.

Miss Linda Newton of the British Museum will be guest speaker. Miss Newton is doing graduate work at the University of Michigan under an A. A. U. W. international grant.

The program is under the direction of the fellowship committee headed by Mrs. C. C. Wiltse, Mrs. F. R. Beals and Mrs. A. S. Matulis are co-hostesses.

Present New Play at Society Dinner

The Lincoln Park Theatre Guild will present an early Michigan historical play, "Hits and Bits," at the eighth annual banquet of the Wayne Out-County Chapter, Michigan Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc., on February 16, at the St. Paul Evangelical and Reformed church in Taylor Township.

"Hits and Bits" was written by Lawrence M. Bailey, vice president of the board of directors of the chapter. This is just one of the three plays he has written for the Guild since its revival several years ago.

The curtains will open, at 8 p. m. on a cast of 40 actors and musicians who will portray this dramatic and musical opus of historical events from 1860 to recent years. For the first time many people will witness a stage play presented under the new media of black-light lighting giving costumes and scenery a dramatic appearance.

Mr. Bailey not only wrote the dialogue of the play but assisted in the writing of the musical composition and is directing the production as well. The cast has been in rehearsal since the first of the year.

The Guild players are ex-professional actors and musicians. Many have had successful stock company runs, concert tours and symphony orchestra appearances. Preceding the play a dinner will be served by the Woman's Guild of the church, at 6:15 p. m. in the assembly room.

Miss Millah Graves, occupational therapist, for the Easter Seal Society will have a booth of homemaker's articles on display while Wayne Out-County Chapter will exhibit a picture story of the summer day camp program held at the Girl Scout Camp in Plymouth, last July.

All interested friends in the work of the Crippled Children's Society are invited to attend this banquet. You can make your reservations by calling Rotary Club Easter Seal chairman, Russell Daane, Plymouth 1200, or the Wayne Out-County Chapter Logan 1-3320 also Wayne 2455.

At 71, Postiff is still active doing general farming on his 100-acre Lilley road farm. He specializes in raising real calves.

After attending Michigan State college from 1904 to 1909 and winning his B.S. degree there, Postiff was employed by the United States Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Entomology.

From 1895 to 1898 he attended the former Central High school in Detroit, now part of Wayne University.

Postiff has been engaged in farming activities for 42 years, starting his original farming operations in Detroit in 1911. He has occupied his present farm since 1916, employing accounting techniques from a home-study course in business administration that he says has adequately prepared him for the fiscal activities of the treasurer's office.

He is married and has two sons, Allan and Clinton, both dairy operators, and three daughters, Mildred, currently teaching school in California, Mrs. Alice Loubrand and Mrs. Rosalind Broome.

Present New Play at Society Dinner

The Lincoln Park Theatre Guild will present an early Michigan historical play, "Hits and Bits," at the eighth annual banquet of the Wayne Out-County Chapter, Michigan Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc., on February 16, at the St. Paul Evangelical and Reformed church in Taylor Township.

"Hits and Bits" was written by Lawrence M. Bailey, vice president of the board of directors of the chapter. This is just one of the three plays he has written for the Guild since its revival several years ago.

The curtains will open, at 8 p. m. on a cast of 40 actors and musicians who will portray this dramatic and musical opus of historical events from 1860 to recent years. For the first time many people will witness a stage play presented under the new media of black-light lighting giving costumes and scenery a canvas appearance.

Mr. Bailey not only wrote the dialogue of the play but assisted in the writing of the musical composition and is directing the production as well. The cast has been in rehearsal since the first of the year.

The Guild players are ex-professional actors and musicians. Many have had successful stock company runs, concert tours and symphony orchestra appearances. Preceding the play a dinner will be served by the Woman's Guild of the church, at 6:15 p. m. in the assembly room.

Miss Millah Graves, occupational therapist, for the Easter Seal Society will have a booth of homemaker's articles on display while Wayne Out-County Chapter will exhibit a picture story of the summer day camp program held at the Girl Scout Camp in Plymouth, last July.

All interested friends in the work of the Crippled Children's Society are invited to attend this banquet. You can make your reservations by calling Rotary Club Easter Seal chairman, Russell Daane, Plymouth 1200, or the Wayne Out-County Chapter Logan 1-3320 also Wayne 2455.

LEGISLATURE NEWS LETTER

By Leonard E. Wood
State Representative

An amendment to the Joint Rules of House and Senate, now under consideration, if adopted, will mean the end of the old habit of stopping the clock or covering the face of it just before midnight of the last day of the session, and then continuing on for hours to dispose of all pending business. This practice has been the subject of much criticism through the years and attempts in the past to correct it have been unsuccessful. The proposed change would provide for automatic adjournment at 12 midnight and is eyed favorably by members of both parties. Still in Committee, it is expected to be reported out before the Legislature concludes this week's session.

Among other important changes in the rules, is one setting up a new schedule of deadlines following adoption of the adjournment resolution. The new schedule if approved is intended to provide a longer period of time for consideration of bills in committee and on the calendar, as well as more time for conference reports. This would tend to not only eliminate much of the mad dash of the closing days of the session and allow greater and more careful consideration of the bills and conference reports, but to a great extent it would tend to eliminate opportunities for errors.

The amended rules if adopted and it is expected there will be little or no opposition, will be a big step forward in legislative processes and provide a more sensible and orderly adjournment.

A constitutional amendment proposing tooust any public official who refuses to answer questions before a Grand Jury on the ground that his answers might incriminate him, kicked up quite a storm. Claiming it was too broad and as written, abridged the rights guaranteed under the constitution without due process, opponents succeeded in having it referred to Judiciary Committee for further study.

The Committee on appointments authorized the appointment of a subcommittee in a conscientious effort to do a real job and do it in a way that would benefit all. Information available, such as the names and information with supporting data, of all members who have anything to contribute on the subject. Needless to say, this is a difficult task and one which is bound to create tensions and hard feelings before completed. Time is slowly but inexorably moving on and there can be no shirking this duty—the Legislature must enact the bill with 180 days of convening. If it fails to do so, the matter passes out of our hands and into the hands of the State Board of Censors.

The Tax Committees and presiding officers of both House and Senate have been meeting regularly each week with the Governor, discussing the State's revenue problems. In an effort to find an equitable solution, fair to all, which will produce the needed revenue to meet our obligations. Lacking the necessary 2/3 vote to override an executive veto, it is a useless waste of time to try and pass any measure, regardless of our critical need, which has no chance of being approved by the Governor. Hence this effort toward cooperation in arriving at a mutually agreeable program. At this time no one can venture a guess as to what solution will be found, but it is a known fact that any attempt to recapture any local grants in aid or to impose punitive taxes will be unpopular with many.

The House Tax Committee now has before it for consideration an already Senate approved bill advancing the due date of the corporation franchise tax. If adopted and signed by the Governor, it would mean immediate relief in this fiscal period in that the corporations would pay 35 million dollars on or before May 15 rather than after the close of this fiscal year. It provides no long range solution to our problem and its fate is uncertain.

Among bills introduced is one to repeal the system of bounty payments on foxes, wolves, etc. It proposes this wild life will be controlled by the Conservation Dept. on a contractual service basis whereby the Department would send in trained men to aid the farmer in getting rid of these pests.

Another bill would increase Old Age Assistance from $70 to $75 a month, and also allow $90 instead of $60 a month for hospitalized beneficiaries.

A proposal to repeal the sales tax act also was dropped into the legislative hopper. Another measure would end the dual control of the State Fair grounds by the creation of a 15-man board of managers to operate the Fair and administer the fair grounds the year around.

Many a man who thinks he is making a hit learns a little later on that he doesn't count for any more than a foul ball.

Flint Newspaper Writes up Miller

It looks as though the Reverend Alexander Miller is as much beloved in Flint as he was in Plymouth. The Flint Journal recently featured an article on Mr. Miller's activities in the Kiwanis club. Now the pastor of Christ Episcopal church in Flint, Mr. Miller is remembered in Plymouth as the minister of St. John's Episcopal church. His work with the Kiwanis club is nothing new for him. He was an active Kiwanian here as well. Kiwanis members call Mr. Miller "the best master-of-ceremonies we ever had." He showed this ability to make everybody enter into the fun when for several years he was master-of-ceremonies for the annual night club put on by the Kiwanis club. The following is the article reprinted from the Flint Journal: "Just plain Alex."

"That's the feeling members of the West Flint Kiwanis club, his many other friends and John Flint have for the Rev. Alexander Miller, pastor of Christ Episcopal church. "Club members look upon Alex as one of the best reasons of his joyous, sunny days, friendliness and warmth of spirit could be called the life of the party at the club's last meetings. Alex would make that distinction without a moment's hesitation. "If a quartet of quartets were to be held by the club, Alex undoubtedly would be named Mr. West Flint Kiwanian."

"Proof of this is the fact that when the quartet sang a nine men to its lead of singers recently, the likeliest to be heard was the top voice. "Alex manages to add sparkle to every meeting, he attends — and that is almost every meeting. His only absences have been caused by church duties and his own illness. "When he was ill, recently, club members inquired 'How is Alex coming along' at every meeting. John could see the happiness on dozens of faces when Alex overcame his illness and returned to meetings, his old jovial self."

"His next love, next to serving God and family, is for music. "He is a member of the club, a job he looks upon as a pleasure instead of a task. "About the only time Alex appears disappointed at club meetings is when it is announced that lack of time will not allow singing. "But this doesn't happen often, and when it does, Alex manages to find some reason for finding officers of the club, as a result."

"At a meeting at which The Journal news of the Northern-Central football game were to be shown, an announcement of a shortage of time was made. But Alex quietly arose and talked his way into three minutes of singing."

"However, only about one minute was used for singing. The other two were used to fine eight or nine board members when Alex pointed out that these gentlemen were not wearing their Kiwanis pins. "In addition to leading club singing, Alex formed a quartet among members which periodically entertains the club with beautiful harmony. "In addition, he is proficient at telling jokes. Many members look forward to the meetings to see what Alex has in store for them in the way of song and laughter."

"John doesn't want to leave the impression that Alex is never serious. "One of the finest programs the club ever had was when Alex was the speaker. He gave a stirring talk about Communism and Christianity. "Mr. Miller has combined his deeply religious qualities with wit, humor and good fellowship to earn the respect of his fellow club members. "He's just plain Alex."

Interlinking Community-School Programs Termed Unifying Force to Solve Problems

Community unity—how to get it and keep it—came in for an investigative talk today using an abstract philosophy tied to a "concrete" vehicle.

Touching off the latest thing here in a forward stride to make the school community one big family, Superintendent of Schools Russell Isbister said in an interview that the city "needs a unifying force that would permit close cooperation between all segments of our community society."

"The natural unifying force," he declared, "is our public school system."

He pointed out that the school is a natural meeting place where community dwellers could hold forums and discuss such topics as childhood development or point out to school planners what additions are needed to present school progress.

This would not only be democracy in action, Isbister said, with criticism a healthful constructive part of it, but an element that would foster the correct feeling that "the schools belong to the people."

In submitting his theory Isbister said that the community-school concept has been slow in developing because of barriers that have grown up around some former students, now adults and parents.

"We have found difficulty in the school-community concept in breaking down the feeling fostered by some alumni who still tend to view the schools from the standpoint of teacher-student experiences," he said.

Isbister "pooh-poohed" the feeling as unjustified and without cause. He asserted that "what is good or bad about the schools or the community is a responsibility of the people themselves."

As it stands right now many parents and other residents unwittingly have not subscribed to the back to the schoolhouse theory, but are just content to pay hundreds of dollars yearly in taxes and send their offspring through institutional doors hoping they come out learning the "object lessons" of our time.

One standout example of the community-school theory put to work for the benefit and security of all is the "unofficial court" established cooperatively by educators, teachers, parents, judges, lawyers and sociologists in Monmouth county, New Jersey two years ago.

The "unofficial court" grew out of a community need that earlier saw juvenile and teen-age crime surge to alarming heights. It brought before the "Court" youthful offenders whose individual crimes were closely studied. The youngsters' backgrounds were investigated, emotional disturbances were noted along with the individual's motives and an "antidote" was prescribed by the "court."

In the more than 2,000 cases the "court" has handled, it has stemmed repeat crimes by 95 per cent and has effectively deterred juvenile and teen-age crime down to a mere trickle. It was a joint venture and it didn't cost anyone one cent.

This is just an example of a community-at-work seeking mutual security in collective action against crime. But broadening out the base of this idea other communities and other educators see on the threshold a whole new set of community values evolving from community-school forums, adult education within the community and recreational programs.

Isbister indicated that a maximum community subscription to and participation in community forums alone would keep the onslaught of changing community affairs with ready made solutions tailored to fit and serve everyone equally well.

From a standpoint of recreation and adult education, the public schools here have made rapid strides toward unifying the community.

On the recommendation of the School Planning Committee made up of parents and teachers, the RUTH HUSTON WHIPPLE, president of the Plymouth Historical Society displays the certificate awarded Charles A. Root, Sr., as the first farm owner so designated in this area, displays the sign which will be placed on his barn, in recognition of the fact the farm has been owned by the same family for a century. The certificate and plaque are now on display in the Plymouth Branch of the National Bank of Detroit.

Board of Education voted last July to transfer into the school system the city-sponsored recreation department. Since that time $12,000 has been transferred into the recreation account. And now it is beginning to pay off with a day-by-day increase in its following. On top of this more and more adults are returning to classrooms this spring to participate in one or more of 27 adult education courses.

But Isbister feels this is just the beginning of an entirely new feeling of how community planning with area-wide participation can lead to new-found community wealth and well being.

"Practically, the school exists for all people," he declared, "not just for those who live on one side of the tracks. The school should be a common meeting ground," he again emphasized, "a friendly meeting place where programs should grow out of the need of the community."

IMPORTANT IN THE LIFE OF A BOY

The two Grand Rapids telephone men demonstrating signaling here are typical of hundreds of telephone employees throughout Michigan Bell who give generously of their time and their talents working with Boy Scouts.

Several of these telephone men, including three in Grand Rapids, have been honored with the national Boy Scouts' Silver Beaver Award for "distinguished service to boyhood." Fellow townsmen recommended the awards.

Telephone scouts working with boys in countless ways—on camping trips, on committees, teaching first aid and artificial respiration, and on many community projects. Why do they do it? One man explained:

"A hundred years from now it will not matter what my bank account was, or what sort of house I lived in. But the world may be different because I was important in the life of a boy."

As good citizens and good neighbors, these telephone folks are trying to make their community a better place in which to live. This same spirit of service is reflected in the efficient, friendly and courteous telephone service they bring you every day.

It's people who make telephone service good.

Ford sets the style for '53

It's lower-looking, longer-looking, wider-looking ... and Ford's Crestmark Bodies are the most beautiful in any low-priced car—best built, too! It's hard to believe that Ford is one of America's lowest-priced cars when you see that style-setting beauty ... that huge, curved one-piece windshield ... and those smartly styled interiors blended with outside colors! It's even harder to believe when you take a Test Drive and feel the road-ruling "Go" of Ford's great V-8 or Six engines ... the comfort of Ford's amazing new Wonder Ride ... and the convenience of advanced features.

The '53 Ford Crestline V-8 Victoria

It will stay young for years

Years from today, your '53 Ford will still command admiring glances. For it's styled ahead—and built for keeps. Your eyes will tell you the quality of the beautiful Baked Enamel finishes ... finishes that will keep their new-car complexion for years. Your fingertips will tell you that there is seamless construction where many other cars have seams.

It Behaves Beautifully, too!

Ford's new Wonder Ride practically "paves" its own way with a "carpet" of smoothness. New, more responsive spring and shock absorber action ... wide front tread ... and Ford's low center of gravity take bounce out of bumps, tilt out of turns.

The Swing is to

Goodwill Industries Appeals For Discards To Employ Physically Handicapped

Goodwill Industries' trucks will be in this community on Thursday, February 19, to pick up household discards such as clothing, shoes, hats, books, dishes, toys and small appliances. These items provide the raw materials to operate the Goodwill workshops where handicapped employees repair and renovate them for sale in one of three Goodwill stores.

Household discards literally are turned into time cards at Goodwill Industries of Detroit. The 32 year old organization which provides training, rehabilitation and employment for physically handicapped men and women now has the largest payroll in its history. Over a half million dollars in opportunity wages were paid in 1952. To keep employment at a high level and to provide training and productive jobs for an even larger number of disabled adults, Goodwill Industries is appealing for household discards in greater quantities.

Housewives are invited to support the Goodwill program of rehabilitation and employment and also help themselves by disposing of unwanted articles which would otherwise clutter up closets and other storage spaces while creating confusion and fire hazards.

A local phone call to Mrs. Albert Pint at Plymouth 1908-W or a post card addressed to Goodwill Industries, 6522 Brush, Detroit 2, is all that is necessary to arrange for a pickup by a Goodwill truck and to start turning discards into time cards.

VFW Sponsors Essay Contest

"Democracy Is What We Make It", is the theme for the national high school essay contest which is sponsored by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the local Veterans of Foreign Wars. The length of the essay is to be no more than 1,000 words.

The contest is entirely voluntary on the part of the students. Grades nine through 12 may participate. All essays are to be in the principal's office by 4 p.m. March 13.

First prize in the local awards is $10, second $5, and third prize is a Bronze medal. To qualify for the local prizes, the essay must be written in ink or typed.

The local first place winner may enter the state contest. Information concerning this contest will be available to the victor when the winner is announced. Two hundred dollars in cash awards will be given in the national contest.

James A. Swift

Future growth, population trends and expansion plans of Detroit Edison will be the discussion topic of Field Representative James A. Swift who speaks next Wednesday at a Chamber of Commerce banquet at the Hotel Mayflower. His talk will be followed by a similar discussion by Dean A. Sipson, branch manager of Michigan Bell Telephone company.

Shirley Riker Bride of Lyle Zimmerman

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Zimmerman

Before the altar of St. William's Catholic church in Walled Lake, Shirley Riker and Private Lyle Zimmerman repeated their nuptial vows. Shirley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Evet Gots of Wolverine Lake and the bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Zimmerman of Wayne.

Bouquets of white mums, a background of palms and the glow of the many candles formed the setting for the lovely ceremony. The Reverend Father Graven read the Mass at 10 o'clock on Saturday morning, January 31.

Shirley chose a bridal gown of Chantilly lace over net. The full skirt and fitted bodice were accented by the round neckline which was edged in seedpearls and long sleeves that extended to points at the wrists. Her fingertip length veil of illusion fell from a small Juliet cap which was adorned with seedpearls and she carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. Betty Zimmerman, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, was the matron of honor. Her gown was of Nile green net with full skirt and fitted bodice and short puffed sleeves. She wore a matching band in her hair and carried pink carnations.

Doreen Sutherland, cousin of the bride, and Thelma Zimmerman, sister of the bridegroom, were the bridesmaids. They wore orchid colored gowns made similarly to that of the matron of honor.

David Riker, brother of the bride, served Lyle as best man and the ushers were Lester Zimmerman, brother of the bridegroom, and Frank Souier.

Mrs. Gots selected, for her daughter's wedding, a gray tulle street length dress with which she wore royal blue accessories and an orchid corsage.

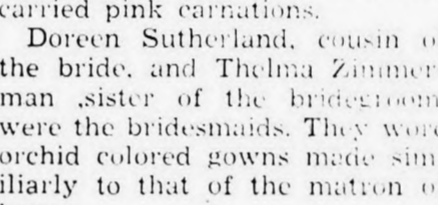

Sixty guests attended the wedding breakfast and reception, following the ceremony, at the Wixom Hall in Wixom. They came from Detroit, Wayne, Flint and Plymouth.

Following a short wedding trip the young couple returned to Wolverine Lake where Mrs. Zimmerman will make her home, while her husband is stationed at Camp Kelm in New Jersey. For traveling the bride wore a beige suit with brown accessories and the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Zimmerman was graduated from Plymouth High school and her husband is a graduate of Wayne High school. Shirley formerly resided with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sutherland of Elizabeth street, Plymouth.

Mr. and Mrs. James Cartwright of Camden announced the engagement of their daughter, Shirley Ann to Donald L. Williams of Wayne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Williams of that city. Shirley is a junior at Bentley High school and Donald is now stationed in Japan with the United States Army.
