Check Vaccine Need of School Child is Advice of Health Department

Parents were last week encouraged to make certain that preschool and school children were immunized against disease during the spring months.

The State Health Department said that spring is the time to vaccinate against smallpox, whooping cough, diphtheria and lockjaw, adding that it is important for children to get their "shots" before the start of the polo season.

It is thought by some polio experts that there is a tendency toward "weakness" and susceptibility of the disease when vaccines are administered at the height of the poliomyelitis season.

In making its recommendation, the department pointed out that it takes time for the body to react to vaccines and build up antibodies to fight off diseases that a child is liable to contract readily while school is still in session.

Davis & Lent Acquires Hart, Schaffner & Marx Franchise for This Area

"Eight years' effort has finally paid off for Wendell Lent of Davis & Lent's men's wear store here he announced this week that he had acquired the Hart, Schaffner & Marx men's suit line.

"Since early in my beginning in business I have tried to acquire this fine line of men's clothing," said Lent. He stated that Davis & Lent will have the franchise for Plymouth, Northville, Wayne, Livonia and Walled Lake.

Lent stated that company officials indicated that in the past they had felt that Plymouth was served by the Ann Arbor and Detroit franchises, but that the growth of this area now prompted them to award the line to a local store.

The first Hart, Schaffner & Marx suits will not appear in the store until the fall season, Lent revealed.

Colder Spring Predicted for Great Lakes Area

The spring season moved into Plymouth last Saturday with a prediction of "below normal" temperatures at least for the first 30 days for the Great Lakes region. The Weather Bureau in Washington made this forecast.

It noted that more rain than usual is predicted for the Ohio Valley eastward to what the bureau calls "the middle Atlantic and north Atlantic states." The forecast added that regions near the Great Lakes will see temperatures below normal.

Dorothy Hester Becomes Bride Of Buford Conn

Mrs. Buford Conn

The soft glow of the many lighted tapers and the bouquets of white gladioli and baby mums formed the setting for the impressive rites uniting Dorothy Hester and Buford Conn, Saturday evening, March 21, in the First Presbyterian church, Plymouth.

The Reverend Henry Walsh, D.D., officiated at the seven-thirty o'clock double ring ceremony. Fred C. Nelson presided at the organ and Mary Lou Hartwick sang "Because" and "The Greatest Of These Is Love" preceding the ceremony and "The Lord's Prayer", following the repeating of the nuptial vows.

Dorothy, who was given in marriage by Phillip Barney, selected a white nylon gown with strapless bodice and ballerina length bouffant skirt. A deep inset of the lace extended from either side of the skirt into a point at the center and fell into wide panels at the back. She wore a tiny lace jacket with Peter Pan collar and three-quarter length sleeves. Her fingertip length veil of illusion fell from a tiara of rhinestones and seedpearls and she carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations and lace centered with a cluster of miniature white roses.

Mrs. Gladys Conn, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, was the matron of honor. Her gown was of orchid nylon net and was strapless. The fitted bodice and full ballerina length skirt were adorned with narrow ruffled swirls of the material and clusters of imported pearls were attached to both the skirt and the waist. She wore a matching pie-crust hat and net stole and carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations and miniature yellow roses.

Dimple Hester, sister of the bride, and Mable Hester, cousin of the bride, assisted Dorothy as bridesmaids. Their gowns were of yellow dotted swiss and fashioned like that of the matron of honor. They too wore matching stoles and picture hats and carried colonial bouquets of red carnations and red roses.

Robert Conn served his brother as best man and seating the guests were Dillard Southerland, cousin of the bride and James Pellow of Wayne.

Mrs. Hester wore, for her daughter's wedding, a navy blue suit with pink accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. Conn also wore navy blue and a pink corsage.

A reception for 100 guests was held in the church dining room following the ceremony. The young couple are honeymooning in the north and upon returning to Plymouth will reside on Northville road. For traveling the bride wore a red suit with black accessories.

"It's only your constitution that pulled you through," said the physician to the man who had been in bed for three weeks.

"Well, Doc, I hope you'll take that into consideration when you send me your bill."

Easter Seal Sale Half Way to Goal

Easter Seal collections have reached just over 50 per cent of the goal set at $3,000, announced Russell Daane, chairman of the drive. So far 585 residents have sent in $1,714 to help the crippled children.

Daane said that 5,194 letters were sent out to Plymouth citizens. Ten per cent of these have been returned with donations.

Although the drive is supposed to be concluded at Easter, Daane said that donations would be accepted after that date. It is preferable, however, to end an Easter Seal drive on Easter, he added.

Saturday, March 28, is being set aside as Easter Lily Day in conjunction with the Easter Seal drive.

Service to Plymouth crippled children supplied by monies collected in the drive are case findings, diagnostic clinics, physical and occupational therapy, summer day camp in July and home bound teaching.

There will be a special meeting of the order of the White Shrine on Thursday, March 20 at 8 p.m.

There will be a meeting of the Ladies Aid Society of St. Peter's Lutheran church on Wednesday, April 1 beginning at 1:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Leo Schultz of Five Mile road.

Hold Northville Man For Theft From Local Firm

A Northville man was held in the custody of Livonia police earlier this week charged with ransacking the John M. Campbell, Inc., of 38630 Plymouth road, last Friday.

Arrested at the scene by quick acting Livonia patrol officers was Robert Davis, 52, of Northville. A cigarette lighter engraved with the initials JMC, owner of the heating-plumbing firm, and $69.10 Davis allegedly stole were recovered.

Davis was formally charged with breaking and entering in the night time. When arraigned in a preliminary hearing before Judge Leo O. Nye last Tuesday, he

Hold Northville Man For Theft From Local Firm

Police said they collared Davis after waiting for him to return to his car parked adjacent to the heating firm's office. The Patrol officers had earlier been called to the scene to investigate a "suspicious" car.

Entry into the heating firm was gained by climbing onto the roof at the rear of the company's building and smashing open a second story window. The office reportedly had been ransacked; papers strewn about the room and desk drawers pulled out and overturned. A filing cabinet strongbox had been pried open and its money contents removed. Campbell said Monday that damage wrought will cost his company an estimated $250.

Optimist Club Takes 7th Place For Excellence

The Plymouth Optimist club placed seventh among 42 of similar groups throughout the 17th District (Michigan) for "general excellence" in the total year-round operations of the club.

The award was announced last week by Herbert E. Woolweaver, president of the 60-man organization. It was made on the basis of attaining membership quotas, attendance, paying of national dues, reports on club activities, participation in district meetings and the boys' work program.

Only cities five to 12 times the area of Plymouth racked up more points than the 1,575 that put Optimists here in seventh place.

Woolweaver said the club may place even higher when an additional 500 points for boys' work and oratorical speaking are finally tallied at district headquarters.

Pointing up the oratorical activities in the Optimist youth program, Woolweaver said that it is part of a national Optimist program where each youthful speaker talks on the subject "Optimism: The Faith That Leads to Achievement."

Winning the local contest here on March 9 was 16-year-old Foster Brown, Jr. a sophomore at Plymouth High school. He was awarded a pen and pencil set after outpointing two other Optimist youths for the number one place. Foster will now participate in district oratorical finals held at Grand Haven on May 23. The winner of the state finals will be sent to Washington, D.C., to participate there, between June 17 and 20, in the national finals held during the 35th Annual Convention of the Optimist International.

The three top winners will be awarded $1,000, $750 and $500 college scholarships.

Important on the agenda is the annual election of International Officers. In reviewing its boys' work activities, the Optimists are expected to report that $1,500,000 was spent on boys' work last year, that they contacted half a million boys during the year, and that Optimist owned boys' work property is valued at $3,500,000, to be augmented by proposed construction costing $2,500,000.

Established in 1911, Optimist Clubs now maintain boys' homes, ranches and farms in 19 different localities.

They also work with and contribute to other established youth agencies.

They conduct such projects as bicycle safety campaigns, athletic programs, summer camps, dramatic and musical activities, hobby and workshop classes, citizenship schools. They make citizenship awards for Boy of the Week, Boy of the Month, Boy of the Year, Junior Optimist Merit Badge Awards and Optimist Junior Citizen Awards.

Deny Petitioners Appeal as Project Hearings Close

A petition that denied the validity of "unequal" assessments on the projected Edison storm sewer relief was presented to city commissioners at a special hearing last Monday on spring construction projects that total some $147,000.

The petition signed by 15 Edison avenue homeowners protested a $3.25 per front footage assessment while other homeowners who also benefit from the sewer pay just an area assessment.

In disavowing the petition commissioners listed the direct benefits of the storm sewer to the Edison petitioners as opposed to an indirect benefit derived by others who also will see their properties drained via the projected Edison project. Edison homeowners will now have to pay assessments some $130 to $160, on an average, more than some 100 others assessed on an area basis.

Commission hearing on the street improvement projects lasted two days straight, ending last Tuesday night. All projects were approved without changes.

The projects listed below will cost homeowners $116,000 in special assessment levies. They are:

Edison from South Main to Tonquish creek, storm sewer; Irvin street from Blanche to Junction, curb, gutter, pavement; Jener street from Maple to Brush, sidewalk; Jener street from Maple to Brush, storm sewer, concrete pavement; Auburn avenue from Blanche to Junction, curb, gutter and pavement; West

Brickner also showed slides of the building and its many departments.

Brickner explained the therapeutic treatment of patients, and told how many patients help with the work at the institution.

The Kiwanis club has planned to have Captain Roberts of the Salvation Army as guest speaker at the next meeting, in observance of Lent.

Fire Prevention Starts When Structure is Built, Chief Zoumaris Warns

Fire prevention planning starts with beginning construction of a new house or industrial plant.

This was the warning of George Zoumaris, fire chief for the Ford Motor company's tank division, who spoke recently before representatives of seven fire departments, all members of the Mutual Aid Firemen's Association.

Fire prevention planning starts on national and local levels with the training of architects, contractors and individual builders whether it is for the construction of private homes or industrial plants, Chief Zoumaris declared.

In his discussion he cited what he called six "cardinal" points that determine the effectiveness of firefighting. They are: "The equipment needed, the prompt call for help, the hazards to victims, exposure, extinguishment and tanks and salvage."

"The old proverb 'an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure' is still applicable to firefighting," Zoumaris warned.

He followed his discussion with an exhibit of the latest firefighting equipment and brief talks on the relative merits of techniques used in fighting fires.

The MAFA meeting, one in a monthly series, was held at Canton township hall. Representatives from Plymouth, Superior, Novi, Garden City, Van Buren, Canton township and the Detroit House of Correction fire departments attended.

Judge Indicts

 afraid Saturday would be his last night out for some time because report cards were due next week. Justice Yerkes pointed out that authorities were hard put in handling juvenile cases in view of the Wayne and Oakland County Juvenile Delinquency departments' indifferent attitudes. He further indicted parents in Plymouth, saying Novi police had names of over 20 boys and girls from this city who had participated in actions which would as-found them if they knew about the same. Justice Yerkes further stated that some one has been furnishing beer to these youths and he has called on Judge Nardino Perlongo of Plymouth to continue the investigation here by examining those known to have participated in some of these actions. Justice Yerkes also said that the present problems are not new and many of those involved are well known to police throughout this action. What he expects to accomplish, he says, in this effort, is to awaken parents as to what their children are doing and alert them to closer supervision of their children's actions. You can usually tell by the honeyed words one woman uses in talking to another just how catty she is behind her back. If the thief who has been stealing musical instruments will report to us, we will gladly give him the names and addresses of several persons whose instruments ought to be taken from them.

Urge Township Residents to Report Prowler Attempts Promptly

The Wayne County Sheriff's Road Patrol this week urged all residents in Plymouth township accosted by prowlers to report the incidents promptly. This urging came as five reports, three of them not authenticated, flowed in that an unknown prowler was preying on homeowners in the township's Robinson subdivision. Of the two reports received within the last 35 days, one recorded an attempt to gain entry into a house occupied by Leonard Cole of 11691 Haggerty highway. Cole told sheriff's officers that a "teen-ager" he described as about five feet nine inches tall, thin and wearing a brown jacket climbed on the roof of his house and attempted to break in through one of his dormer air outlets. Cole said he challenged the youth, chasing him revolver in hand before losing the trail in between houses. A second incident report on February 14 listed a prowler as tapping on a window at 1127 Russell, then "hiding behind a pile of sand." The teen-age youth alone in the house at the time called neighbors who then informed the sheriff's department. Other alleged incidents that have connected the prowler to an attack on an unknown woman and two other prowler-molesting attempts have not been authenticated. Deputies attribute them to misinformation and unfounded rumor. However, they urge outlying residents to "inform us promptly" if a prowler is observed. "We can get a patrol car to any affected area within a few minutes," one deputy observed. Deputies noted that spring weather tends to increase the number of prowler attempts. "Sometimes, though," deputies observed, "a frightened resident insists that a man walking down the street coming home from a late work shift is a prowler, or a playful youth who is just having fun a burglar."

Sewer Interceptor

 and contaminate surrounding areas. The solution to sewer drainage problems for northwest Wayne county, Ziegler points out, is the construction of the Middle Rouge Parkway interceptor, a huge drain to carry the sewage from the entire Plymouth-Livonia area into the Detroit sewage disposal plant. The interceptor is vital to the continued expansion of the Plymouth area. After construction, remarks Plymouth Township Supervisor Charles Rathburn, heavy expansion and growth of the southern part of Plymouth and the township would come in its stride. Rathburn points up that area growth has been stunted here because of a total lack of adequate water and sewage facilities such as would be provided by the $4,500,000 interceptor. A meeting of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors' sewer committee is set for tomorrow to lay ground work for construction of the multi-million-dollar drain. Earlier this week one Detroit newspaper pegged Friday's meeting with this editorial comment: "There will be a lot of talking about deplorable conditions, inaction and the difficulties involved in paying for the sewers. Talk is not the solution. The 100,000 residents of the area (Plymouth-Livonia) will not be satisfied with mere conversation. They want sewers. The officials of their government should build them." The residents of the area to be served by the interceptor will have to pay for the project through special assessment costs. The interceptor would serve Plymouth residents living in the southern most portion of the city currently using septic tanks. Its branch line would connect at the Merriman interceptor in Rouge park, jog south down Lilley road to Joy and then west to Sheldon road. Spurs from the branch line would be constructed a mile into Canton township, opening up the area to a rapid development of residential subdivisions. Detroit water mains, within the next few years, may also serve the same areas to be serviced by the interceptor, thus heading off rapid development as more persons seek suburban, yet metropolitan Detroit expanses in which to build their homes. Ziegler, who made the promise that "we're going to get action on the interceptor", was elevated to the one-year chairmanship primarily through behind-the-scenes campaigning conducted by Supervisor Rathburn. His only other contender, Mayor William E. Kreger of Wyandotte, was defeated in his bid for the chairmanship. First votes polled gave Kreger 10 and Ziegler 21. Kreger then called for a resolution making Ziegler's appointment unanimous. Ziegler has served as a supervisor for 32 years, having been a committeeman on the Ways and Means committee for 15 years. Some of his most progressive legislation has led to the current formulas used for equalizing county-wide assessment evaluations. He is a member of the Detroit-Wayne Building Authority.

Judy Marshall is Third Time Perfect Scorer in Biblical Quiz

The Calvary Baptist church was the scene for a quiz-down on the book of "Colossians" which took place Thursday evening, March 19 between the members of the Plymouth Christian Youth club and members of the youth clubs from Lincoln Park, Detroit and Trenton.

Plymouth was the victor over Lincoln Park with a score of 390 to 210. Judy Marshall of Plymouth has had three consecutive perfect scores and by such an achievement has won a week's vacation at Winona Lake convention in Indiana with all expenses paid.

Patsy Clifford also received a perfect score. The winning Plymouth team consisted of Dick Carr, Lucy Barnes, Patsy Clifford, Judy Marshall and Sally Canning.

Ready to assist the team as reserves should occasion arise were Ruth Ann Carr, Herbert Salter, Elaine Canning and Beverly Stace.

Church Choir To Sing Cantata

Kenneth L. Richards

The adult choir of the Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian church will sing the Cantata, "The Risen Saviour", by Robert T. Nolte, Palm Sunday evening, March 29 at 7:30 p.m.

The choir is directed by Kenneth L. Richards, and will be composed of 27 voices.

In "The Risen Saviour" Mr. Nolte has captured the intensity of the mob scene at the trial of Jesus. In "The Garden of the Sepulchre" one can feel the heavy solemnity attending the opening of the Tomb.

The Cantata will close with Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus."

Mr. Richards was born director of music and choir director at the Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian church since February of this year. He also conducts the choir at the Dearborn Christian Reformed church.

There will be a free-will offering which will be used to buy music for the choir.

Refreshments will follow the Cantata, preceding which there will be audience participation.

The church is located on Hubbard, three blocks south of Plymouth road at West Chicago, in Rosedale Gardens. Hubbard is 1 1/2 miles west of Middlebelt road.

Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, include: "The Bible declares: 'All things were made by Him (the divine Word); and without Him was not anything made that was made.' ## Sportsmen's Guns Kill 25 During '52 Hunting Year

Hunters who annually take to Michigan field and woods are their own worst enemies.

This was borne out by a Department of Conservation analysis that shows that one-fifth of the state's hunting fatalities are caused by sportsmen's own guns.

This same ratio was found to be substantially the same for non-fatal injuries.

A toll of 25 deaths and 254 persons injured headed up the analysis of the 1952 small game and deer fatality figures released just last week.

The small game season accounted for nine deaths, four self-inflicted. Some 182 were wounded during this period, including 45 by their own guns and 104 by members of their own party.

High powered rifles during the deer season accounted for 16 fatalities, including one hunter who shot himself. In addition, 72 injuries were recorded that included 19 hurt by their own guns, 22 by members of their hunting party and 10 by hunters in other parties. Responsibility for 21 injuries remains undetermined.

No fatalities were reported from the Plymouth area.

Warn Against Disease That May be Destructive Source For Lily Plants

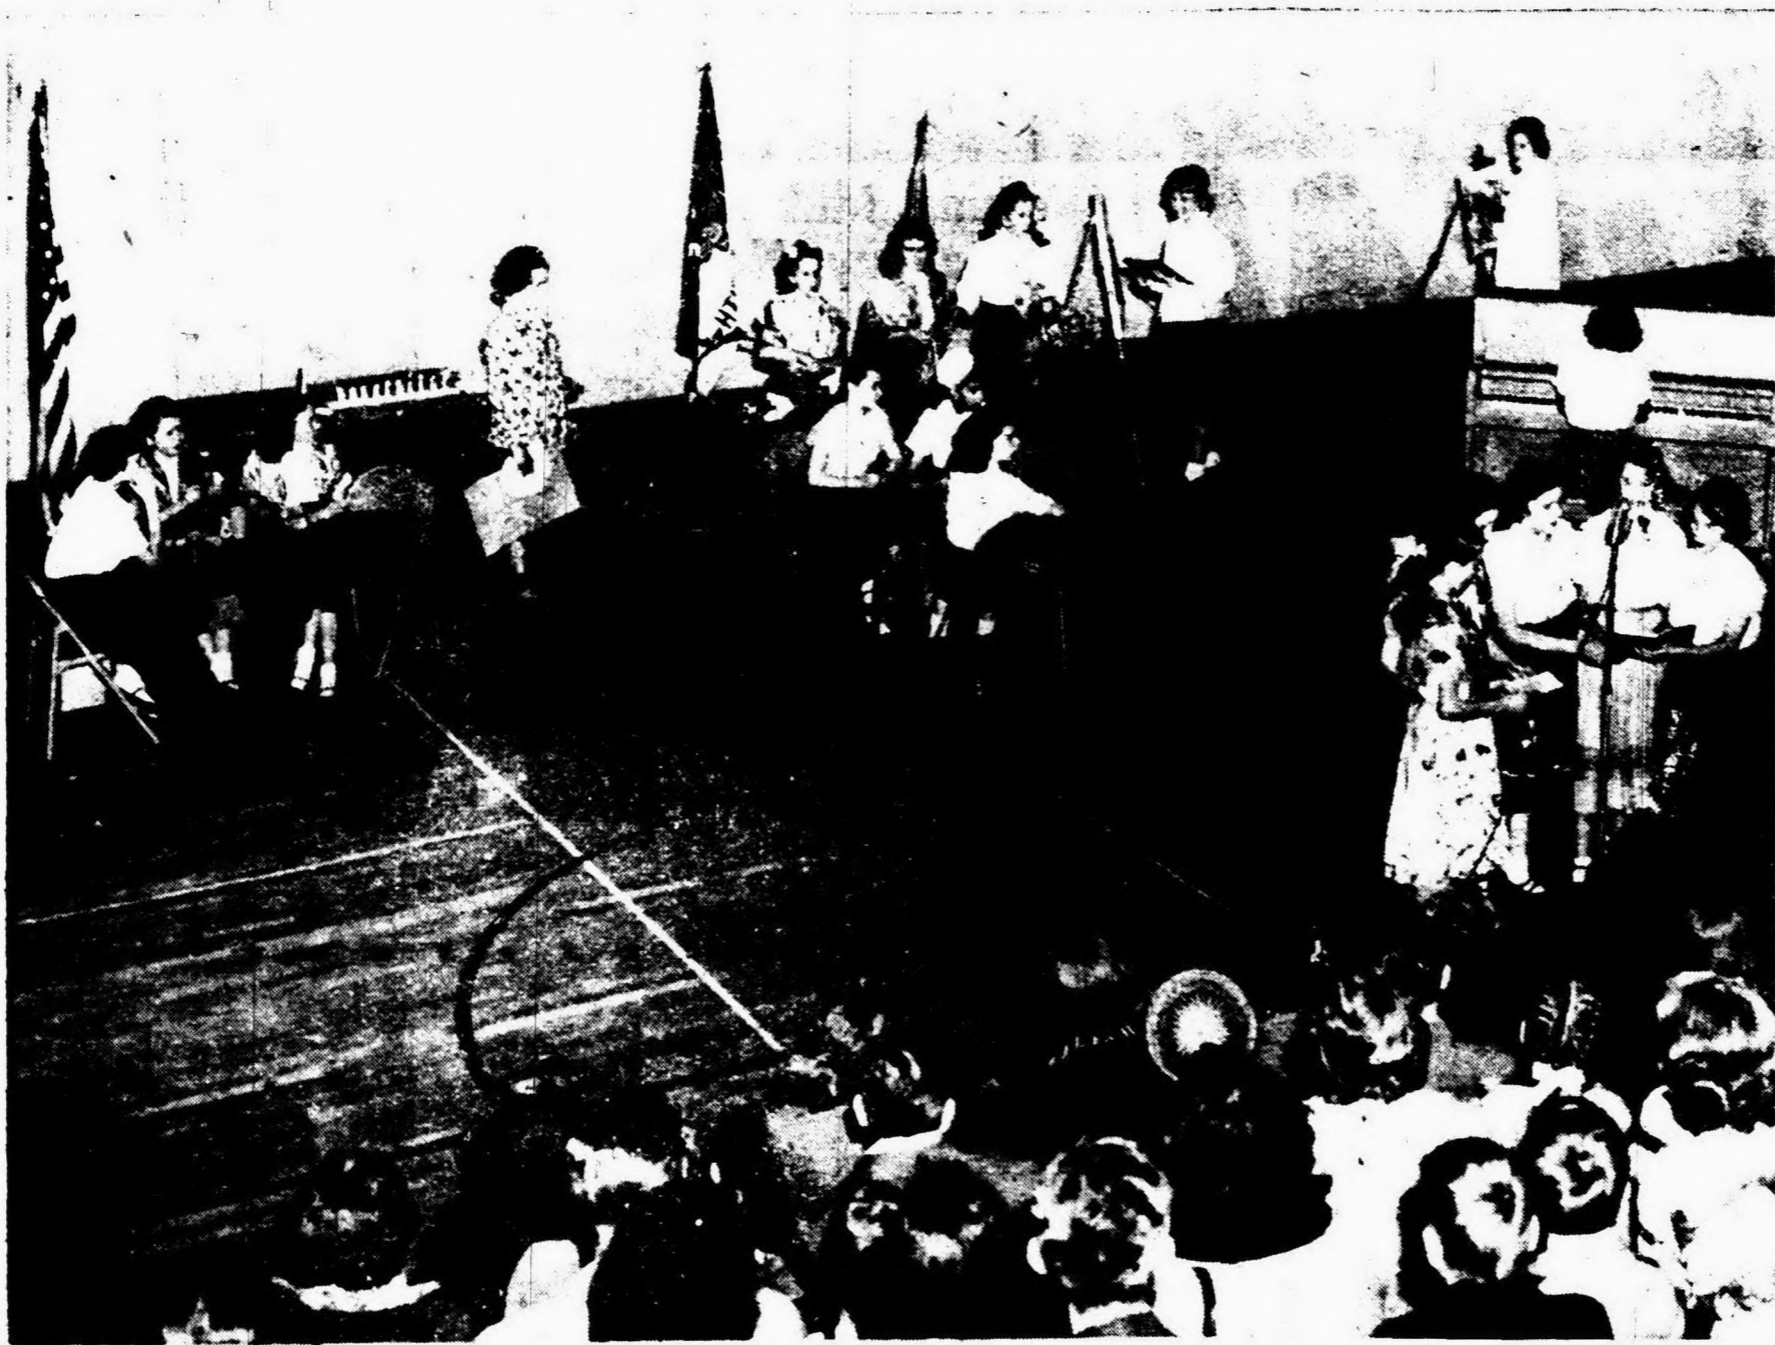

Florists and greenhouse operators were this week alerted against an unknown disease source that may be responsible for the destruction of lily plants.

G. H. Mahley and Son, greenhouse owners, of 23700 East Ann Arbor trail, said Tuesday that 2,000 lily plants being grown in the firm's greenhouses have been destroyed with a resulting loss that may run upwards to $2,000.

"We aren't sure whether or not it's a bug that attacks the plant and destroys it or whether it results from over-feeding and watering," one of the firm's owners said Tuesday.

The blossoms and leaves of the infected lily plants turn brown and fail to mature. It was noted that "some plants look real good while the blossoms on others are just shot" and no good for marketing.

Mahley's losses are not insured.

PLYMOUTH GIRL SCOUTS held their annual birthday rally as part of Girl Scout Week in the high school gymnasium Friday, March 20. Showing the widespread influence of Girl Scouting the girls presented a program on an international theme. Two troops would join together to show some aspect of life in one of the countries where there are Girl Scouts. The girls above are portraying a French scene, complete with sidewalk cafe and bereted French painter. The girls shown grouped around the microphone sang a French song. The rally was held to celebrate the birthday of Juliette Low, founder of the Girl Scout movement. All the troops in the Plymouth council attended.

Wrestling Show Goes On Despite Troubles

"The show must go on" turned out to be the by-word with the Lions club last Saturday night when they staged their annual wrestling show.

The club rented a wrestling ring from a firm in Adrian, which was to be trucked in to Plymouth. Just outside Adrian the truck had an accident and the ring was wrecked. That left the club with the problem of either assembling another ring or refunding money on tickets.

The City has a ring which is broken down and located in various parts of the city. With the help of Al Glassford, city manager, and other members of the city the Lions club managed to get the parts of the ring together.

R. L. Smith, president of the club, called by telephone most of the members, and they joined in to lend a hand.

In only one-and-one-half hours the ring was assembled, just one half hour before the show began. Last year it took the club seven hours to assemble the same ring.

George Witkowski, publicity director of the Lions club, said that this experience should show Plymouth people all the effort that goes on behind the scenes when a service club plans a program.

In spite of all the difficulties the show went on before an audience of almost 1,000 persons. Witkowski estimated the ticket receipts at $1,600.

The funds will go toward the Lion's club projects of prevention of blindness, sight conservation and community betterment.

Isbister Presides Over Business Association Meet

A three-day series of conference and round table discussions faced Superintendent of schools Russell Isbister as he journeyed to Grand Rapids yesterday to preside over the Michigan Schools Business Officials Association meet.

Isbister is president of MSBO which helps set business management policies in the state's public school systems.

The three-day round table of talks will be highlighted with discussions on Child Accounting and Finance. Lectures will be headed by William De Young and Harold Brown, both members of the Department of Public Instruction.

In view of the alleged enrollment padding in Sandusky public schools, it is anticipated that major emphasis will be placed on a tighter accounting policy to forestall what has been called a "shamefully lax" system for accounting of state aid monies.

Small pockets made of scraps of cretonne or other strong material and thumb-tacked on the inside of bureau drawers make very convenient receptacles for odds and ends that otherwise litter the drawers.

By its corroding and insulating effect on piping, and by its destructive treatment of fabrics, hard water rates as an expensive luxury, says the Water Conditioning Foundation.

Woman's Club to Meet April 10

The annual meeting, pot luck luncheon, and election of officers of the Woman's Club of Plymouth will be held April 10, at 12:30 p.m. at St. John's Episcopal church.

Members are reminded that the meeting is the second Friday of April rather than the first Friday, the first being Good Friday.

The report of the success of the current Red Cross drive will be made sometime during the coming week.

Call 1600 for classified ads. Deadline is Tuesday at noon.

Grange Cleanings

The card party on Saturday night was very well attended. Twenty tables were in play which was good considering the many other functions going on at the same time. A nice party.

Our next meeting will be on April 9—a pot luck birthday supper as usual. There are several April birthdays. If yours is one of them be sure to be there. This meeting was to have been on April 2, but because of so many church activities on that date it was decided to change the date to April 9.

The Lily club will meet on April 13 at the hall. Bring your friends, also cake or sandwiches as you prefer. Mr. and Mrs. John Root, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Tracy and Blanche Farley are on the committee.

Mrs. Hodge is at home from the hospital but is not very well. She has a great deal of pain.

To prevent old potatoes from turning dark when cooked, add a teaspoon of vinegar to the water when it starts to boil. This will keep the potatoes white and leaves no taste of vinegar afterward.

WITH PLYMOUTHITES IN THE SERVICE

Brief items of interest about Plymouthites in the service are welcomed in this column, providing the information does not conflict with press security policies.

Arthur Sieloff

Mr. and Mrs. Mayford E. Sieloff of 14805 Haggerty highway were thrilled recently when they received a call from their son, Corporal Arthur R. Sieloff, pictured above, who was spending a five day leave in Japan.

For the past six months he has been in the front lines with the ninth regimental combat team, second infantry division.

During the latter part of February he successfully completed a course of instruction at the second infantry division's non-commissioned officers' academy in Korea. The course consisted of such courses as weapons, tactics, and flame throwing. It also demonstrated the qualities and capabilities necessary for an outstanding combat leader.

Corporal Sieloff returned to Korea March 20, and hopes to complete his service there in the latter part of May.

He is a graduate of Plymouth High school and Michigan State college.

Herman F. Schult

Pfc. Herman F. Schult, son of Mrs. Mildred Schult, 20321 Shadyside, Livonia, was present at a recent ceremony marking the 200,000th round fired by the 25th Infantry Division's 69th Field Artillery Battalion in Korea.

Private First Class Schult, a driver with Battery B of the 69th Field Artillery Battalion, arrived in Korea last May. He received basic training at Fort Hood, Texas.

Before entering the Army in April 1951, Schult was a carpenter.

By Carl Peterson

Do you always read what you see and what you sign? If you do, you're one in a million. An advertising man in a big city recently set out to prove this. He had an attractive girl collecting money for "orphans" in a busy downtown location. On her collection box was a sign reading: "Give! Three-Headed Orphans of Claustrophobia. This is a fake!" She did fine with her collections all afternoon.

On another corner, a second charming assistant was gathering signatures for the appointment of a Commissioner to watch Necklines on TV programs. Most people didn't even bother to read the petition... and many who did read, didn't think about it. They were delighted to sign. We think this is a good illustration of typical American generosity... but it also says for us: "Look out for that dotted line! It might be loaded!"

Along this line of not reading things, in Dallas, Texas, burglars ignored a sign over the safe reading: "Money in box under typewriter." They broke open the safe, found no cash, and left without finding the $150 in the box under the typewriter! You don't have to look long for that Easter gift for her... stop in and choose from our assortments of fine candies, or our always popular perfumes; and get your Easter greeting cards too from PETERSON DRUG, 840 W. Ann Arbor Trail, Phone 2080.

Lawrence Finney

Naval Cadet Lawrence A. Finney, USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Carl Finney, 325 Arthur street, Plymouth, recently reported to the U. S. Naval Auxiliary Air Station, Cabanis Field, Corpus Christi, Texas, for duty in Advanced Flight Training.

Finney, a graduate of Plymouth High school, attended the University of Notre Dame. He entered the service in October of 1951 at Grosse Ile, Michigan, and received his Primary and Basic Flight Training at Pensacola, Florida, prior to reporting to Cabanis Field. Cabanis Field is one of the Navy's Advanced Flight Training Bases for Student Carrier Pilots. There, they are taught to fly carrier-type aircraft such as the AD Skyraider (currently used by pilots of the Seventh Fleet in the Korean conflict) and the F6F Hellcat, Navy fighter planes. Carrier based aviation has been credited with 75 per cent of all close air support for ground troops in the Korean Theater.

George E. Truax

Cpl. George E. Truax, son of Mr. and Mrs. Plinton Truax, 8890 Northern, Plymouth, is returning to the United States under the Army's rotation program after eight months in the Far East.

He served in the 1st Cavalry Division, which spent 17 months in the front lines of Korea before being assigned to security duty in Japan late in 1951.

Corporal Truax was a radio operator in Battery B of the 82d Field Artillery Battalion.

He is a graduate of Plymouth High school.

The auxiliary is planning a pancake supper and dance to be held at the Myron H. Beales Hall, April 22. The public is invited. Those who wish reservations should call Irving Geer, Livonia 3867 or Richard Massingill, Livonia 4585.

Pair at Plymouth Colony Farms Win Laurels in Fabric Design

Bringing Plymouth into the national spotlight are Karl Laurrell and Dolores DeMaria of Plymouth Colony Farms weaving shops. The pair came away from the Annual Design competition sponsored by the American Institute of Decorators with four first prizes in the fabric division. Their designs were chosen the best of 431 designs submitted from all over the world.

Miss DeMaria won a first prize for a casement fabric she entered in the competition. Laurrell received first prize in that division as well for a group of three fabrics. Giving a first prize for a group of fabrics is unusual in the competition.

This is the first time Miss DeMaria has entered the competition. She has only been at the Plymouth Colony Farms for about one and a half years, so she is justifiably proud of her accomplishment.

Laurrell, director of the weaving shops, has received national acclaim before for his craftsmanship. In 1950 he received a first prize in the fabric division of the design competition as well. Miss DeMaria said it is a rare event when the same man wins two first prizes.

In winning top honors in the competition Laurrell and Miss DeMaria beat top designers Angelo Testa, of Chicago, Alexander Girard of Detroit, and New York's Jack Lenor Larson. These three won honorable mentions.

Laurrell scored with two linen casements woven in cross patterns and a spun silk and metallic texture. Miss DeMaria's prize winning fabric was a loosely woven casement cloth in which the metal threads are combined with white linen to give a subtle glint. The designs were executed by the Plymouth Colony Farms weavers.

The pair have apartments right at the Plymouth Colony Farms, so are close to their work at all times. Laurrell's wife, Rigmor, is also a designer.

Both Laurrell and Miss DeMaria attended the School for American Craftsmen at Rochester, New York where they became interested in the fabric design field. Laurrell first operated a shop of his own before accepting the position at Plymouth Colony Farms offered by founder, Dr. Ralph Pino, two years ago.

When Miss DeMaria was asked why she became interested in fabric design she said that she had always wanted to do something creative with her hands. Weaving and textile design seemed to offer the best outlet for her desire.

Miss DeMaria and Laurrell will travel to New York to attend the 22nd annual conference of the American Institute of Decorat-

Optimists Slate Kite Contest

The kite flying contest to be sponsored by the Optimist club is tentatively set for Saturday, April 11. The contest will be held at the field in back of the high school.

The competition is open to boys in the ninth grade and under. Judging will be on originality, flying performance and best home-made kite. Prizes will be awarded in each category. There is no limit on the size of kites.

The Optimist club is also planning a bicycle day. Youngsters will race on their bikes over an obstacle course for prizes. The bicycle day will also include a bicycle safety program conducted by the police department and the club.

The nominating committee is getting together a slate of candidates for the election to be held at the April 6 meeting. Members of the committee are Ed Houghtaling, Herb Woolweaver and Dr. J. M. Robison.

John Breedan, who is in charge of photography at the Ford Motor company, will speak on amateur photography at the next meeting. He will tell members how to take good pictures with the minimum of equipment.

Answers to a great many questions about cancer and facts that can route some of the still current superstitions about the disease are contained in an article in the Ladies' Home Journal, on the newsstands March 25.

Mrs. Austin Stecker, chairman of the Plymouth unit of the American Cancer society said, "This is another important article which will help to keep the public informed about a disease whose primary ally is ignorance."

The story, entitled, "You Should Know All About Cancer" was prepared by Peter Briggs with close collaboration of the American Cancer society.

"It tells as simply as possible the facts we all should know about cancer—how it starts, how it can be detected and the uncompromising need to detect it early if it is to be cured."

"To simplify the story, it is told under headings of specific questions such as, 'Does Whether I'm Married or Not Bear Any Relation to Getting Cancer?' and 'How Can a Doctor Tell a Patient, 'You Have Only Six Months to Live?'"

"The article also discusses some of cancer's causes and comments on some of the progress of the last six years in the fields of biochemistry, hormones, surgery and radiation toward the eventual control and cure of cancer."

Occupational Training Grows In Popularity At PHS

Students Mix Employment and Study in School Course

Students who want to graduate from high school and yet receive valuable work experience while in school have found the answer to their problem in the occupational training course offered at the Plymouth High school.

To call it a course is actually a much too narrow term, for it is in reality an occupational training program. With Melvin Blunk as co-ordinator of the program, work in school and on the job is designed to best fit the student for employment after high school.

The program is particularly adapted to students who are not interested in college. This covers seven out of every 10 students graduating. But even though students entering the course do not express a desire to go on to college, some of them generally do.

The occupational training program is offered under the direction of the State Department of Vocational Education. It is necessary for the individual school offering the program to fulfill certain requirements to qualify for reimbursement.

The idea started at Plymouth High school in 1936 with Carvel Bentley, who was then an instructor, as its first co-ordinator. It took a while to sell the idea to employers, but Bentley's firm conviction that it is good for young people to work put the idea over.

There were fewer than 20 boys in that first course, which started as an apprentice training program. About four years after the idea's origin girls were also included in the combination work-study program.

Since 1936 about 700 students have enrolled in the occupational training program. Currently there are 80 students taking the course, 36 girls and 44 boys. Though it might be expected that such a program might carry more appeal for boys, this is certainly not the case.

Perhaps the reason for the appeal to both sexes lies in the diversified jobs which the students may find. Because Plymouth High school is a comparatively small class A school the program here falls under the category of co-operative diversified occupational training. In reality this means the student can work at almost anything in which he expresses an interest providing the job has the approval of the coordinator.

The occupations found among students are not exactly what might be expected. For example, the program includes a student who is working at dog training. This young man not only works at a kennel but also teaches dog obedience evenings in Dearborn. Another young man is learning to be a barber while studying high school courses. He attends LaMarr Barber college in Detroit as part of his high school work. The course has also listed a mink-raiser among its students.

Naturally there are more of the orthodox occupations being taken up than the unusual ones pointed out. Girls are learning to be good general office clerks, librarians, switch-board operators and stenographers. Boys work as stock clerks, office boys, bakers, and cleaners.

Wages employers pay their young workers range from 50 cents an hour to $1.37. In January 73 workers earned $6740.34, at an average rate of 79 cents per hour. In fact, since the program began over one quarter million dollars have been earned by students in the course.

The program is set up so that the student not only receives this valuable work experience but also receives enough credit to graduate from high school in the usual four years.

The minimum number of credits necessary to graduate from high school is 16 for those now in grades 10 to 12. Students receive one-half credit for each course they take, therefore if the average student takes four courses a semester he will graduate in four years.

In the occupational training course the student is required to take regular high school courses. These are English, American History and Government. He generally takes two of these a semester. Besides these he takes a course in trade study which is related to his occupational objective and is designed to make him a better employee. He receives one-half credit per semester for this course. His minimum of 20 hours per week work experience will net him an additional one-half credit. In all, this will give the student the necessary two credits per semester.

Co-ordinator Blunk keeps in constant touch with the work activities of his students. He not only visits them periodically on the job, but refers to records submitted by the employer. Each regular marking period the employer fills out a form which rates the student on quality of work, adaptability, punctuality, dependability, appearance, attitude toward fellow workers and attitude toward job. In this way Blunk can see what improvements the student is making and where he needs help.

In looking over these records

DIANE MC KAY, junior, whips up sodas as part of her work at the Community Pharmacy. Besides taking the courses set out for her by the occupational training program she acts as a general salesgirl at the drug store.

for succeeding markings an improvement is generally seen. A large number of excellent ratings are not uncommon.

Blunk pointed out that the system is not infallible however. Sometimes students are rated poor or even fired from their jobs. In this event an effort is made to find the student another job to which he may be better suited.

On the whole, however, both Blunk and the employers have great confidence in the student's ability. This is particularly evidenced by the fact that all elementary school secretaries are high school girls. This is likewise true of all elementary school librarians. The latter have one high school librarian who oversees their work.

"It's really pretty hard to tell a good employee right away," Blunk said. Students in school appear a lot differently than they do on the job. After they dress up and assume some responsibility "you wouldn't know them."

Upon graduation some of the students stay with the employer with whom they worked while in school. Many, however, go out and find themselves other jobs thus making it possible for another high school student to take their place as an apprentice. Others even start their own businesses.

The students themselves seem to be very happy with the way the occupational training course is working out for them. A typical remark made by Marion Donohue, secretary at the Smith elementary school, was, "My job at the school has brought me closer to people, given me a sense of responsibility, and made it possible for me to observe teachers in action." This young lady has decided to become a teacher on the basis of what she has learned and seen while on the job.

DONALD BYERS, senior student, has been a stock clerk at the D. and C. Dime store for about one and a half years. Through the knowledge he is gaining of the stock a dime store carries he is preparing himself for an eventual assistant manager's position.

Because occupational training programs have been so successful, Blunk said, more and more schools are adopting them. Several junior colleges throughout the state also carry these programs. Michigan State college and the University of Michigan have included on-the-job training among their courses.

Girl Scout News

The Huron Valley Study club held its final survey meeting in Ypsilanti March 14. Mrs. E. J. Readman, commissioner, and Mrs. Kenneth Hulsing attended from Plymouth. This group, under National Girl Scout auspices, has been studying the establishing of an Area Council of which Plymouth would be a part. The Area would include western Wayne county and Washtenaw county with headquarters, probably, in Ann Arbor. Present plans call for a pooling of all material resources, funds, equipment, property, etc. By so doing it is hoped that at least four professional workers would be available to direct the program and train adult leaders in the area. The national organization feels that not only can it improve the quality of program and training but can eliminate duplication of effort by this means.

At its last meeting the financing of the project was studied and it was felt that $40,000 would be required to administer the program in this area. It was reported that $30,000 is now being spent on Scouting per year in this same locality, therefore, $10,000 would need to be raised in addition to what each small council is now contributing.

A summary of this study is to be presented to the Council members, leaders and adult Scouts at the April Leaders' club meeting.

On April 21 a meeting will be held of those who support Scouting financially, including representatives from the Community Fund, Kiwanis club and Girl Scout organization to discuss financing the proposed merger.

In early May a meeting of all interested adults will be presented with the final summary to be followed shortly by a vote as to whether or not Plymouth will join in this Area arrangement. Date and place of this meeting will be announced soon.

The annual Juliette Low Fund Rally was held on Friday, March 20 in the High school gymnasium. The program, under the direction of Mrs. J. H. Lodge, Deputy Commissioner, opened with a flag and candle lighting ceremony. Troop No. 5 conducted the flag ceremony assisted by Mary Jane West and Kay Selle who led in the Girl Scout promise and laws.

Members of the local council were introduced and new members presented with Girl Scout pins. Commissioner Mrs. E. J. Readman presented the retiring commissioner, Mrs. J. R. Witwer, and three members of her council, Mrs. Kenneth Hulsing, Mrs. Carl Finney and Mrs. Howard Carson, with a gift in appreciation for their services for the past three years.

Dances, games and customs of various countries where Girl Scouts are found were presented by the girls. Some of the countries represented by the colorfully costumed troops were France, Japan, the Netherlands, Brazil, Ireland, England, Scotland and Hawaii.

Each Scout gave as many pennies as she is years old to the Juliette Low Fund which is used to promote international Scouting projects.

Birthday cake was served to everyone attending by co-chairman of the event, Mrs. Norman Atchinson. About 300 Scouts and parents were present.

Detroit Hospitals Have "Artificial Kidneys" For Patient Facing Death

Two Detroit hospitals revealed recently that they have "artificial kidneys" available for emergency use by persons facing death because of temporary kidney malfunctions.

The two hospitals—Receiving and Henry Ford—disclosed that the artificial kidneys cannot take the place of human kidneys indefinitely, but long enough to take over their function for several days.

That period—where a nephritic victim faces uncertain death—can mean the difference between a quick, healthful recovery where the human kidney will start working again.

The machine at Receiving hospital, a $5,000 hand-made unit, duplicates the kidney's filtration-purification process through a maze of 90 to 90 feet of cellophane tubing wrapped around a drum made of wire mesh that constantly revolves in a vat of water treated with chemicals.

Waste materials, in the purification process escape from the blood into the vat of water. In exchange certain needed chemicals are put back into the blood stream.

The machine is about twice the size of an ordinary washing machine. To use it, two tubes are connected to the patient's body, one carrying blood and urea wastes from the kidneys which then runs through the machine and back into the body via the second tube after having been purified. Tube connections may be made at the wrist, in the arm or on some other region of the body.

Hospital authorities say that a few hours a week are generally sufficient to give the kidney a recuperative rest and remove sufficient urea wastes from the body.

The unit at the Ford hospital works on the same principal although somewhat smaller. It has been in operation slightly over four weeks.

There are eight other similar units in operation in the United States and abroad. Two of them are in use saving lives of wounded soldiers in Korea and Japan.

"January Thaw" Planned as Part of Arts Festival

Plymouth residents will get another opportunity to see the play "January Thaw" as a part of the forthcoming Creative Arts Festival to be held in Plymouth High school April 10 through 12. The play was recently put on by the Plymouth Theatre Guild and will contain the original cast.

"January Thaw" is to be the highlight of the Friday evening part of the Creative Arts Festival. The play is directed by William W. Merrill of "Will-O-Way" play house. The performance which is free to those attending the festival April 10 begins at 8:15 p.m.

Saturday's festival will feature a solo and ensemble concert in the afternoon with a square dance exhibition slated for the evening. Al Durham is the caller for the square dance and the Morrison Music Makers, an all girl band, will provide the music. Dancers will be dressed in costumes for the exhibition at 8:30 p.m.

On Sunday the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra with the help of the Civic Chorus and High school band will present the festival's finale. The Festival Concert will be climaxed with the "1812 Overture." The concert will begin at 4 p.m. in the new auditorium.

These are merely the added attractions of the festival, since throughout the three days exhibitions of the handicrafts of Plymouthites will be open to the public.

Approximately 125 Plymouth people will show their hobbies in such fields as oil painting, flower arranging, needle point, weaving, metal work, ceramics, and many more.

An added feature will be an active demonstration of the art of millinery by Mrs. Roy Lindsay. She is one of the few women in the Plymouth area who is proficient at hat-making, almost a lost art today.

A demonstration of charcoal sketching will also be a part of the program for the festival weekend.

Golf Classes Bring in More Detroit Women

The golf classes offered through the adult education program are getting more attention from women in Detroit and Dearborn than they are from Plymouth residents, said Herbert Woolweaver, director of recreation.

So far many of the classes have been filled by Detroit women who are continuing the golf classes they began at the Detroit Y. W. C. A. Miss Sally Sessions, who teaches the courses here, also teaches golf at the Detroit Y. W. C. A.

Classes are still open, he said, on Tuesday evenings at 7, 8, and 9 p. m. There are also some openings on Saturday mornings.

Miss Sessions teaches the course at the Lilac Brothers driving range at Schoolcraft and Telegraph roads. The combined beginners-advanced class is offered at $5 for six weeks beginning May 5.

Those enrolling must furnish their own clubs.

In areas likely to attain full urbanized development, home sewage disposal systems ought to be regarded as an interim service pending the construction of public sewerage facilities.

THOUGH HE SPENDS ALL SUMMER in the fields a winter vacation day for Gus Eschels isn't complete if he can't spend a few hours out on a farm. Here he is pictured on an Englewood, Florida cattle ranch which he visits frequently to keep his hand in farming until he gets home sometime next week to start working his own 20 acres at 5435 Gotfredson road.

VISITS IN THE DARK

To few people are the blessings of the telephone more apparent than to the blind. We heard a fine tribute expressed recently by Mr. Horace A. Baumgartner of Detroit, who lost his sight 33 years ago.

Some telephone numbers Mr. Baumgartner remembers, but others he keeps handy on cards in Braille, the "raised dot" alphabet of the blind. He punches the dots on cardboard with a tiny metal rod and reads Braille with his fingers.

Of course, he has memorized the telephone dial.

"The world would be a pretty lonely place for me were it not for the telephone," says Mr. Baumgartner. "The many calls I make and receive each day—welcome visits in the dark—keep my life full and happy. It means a lot to know that you're no further away from your friends and loved ones than the telephone."

We can't say it better than that.

Local Gardeners Give "Green Thumb" Hints

With the warm weather that has invaded Plymouth many gardeners are raking the straw and leaves off their tulips, uncovering the little green sprouts. Mrs. Hugh Schoof, 135 South Harvey, shown here, was one of the ones who got her rake out to tackle her garden.

The corner at Harvey and Fralick is well-known around Plymouth for its brilliant flowers in the summertime. Mrs. Schoof fills her yard with beautiful perennials. Around the edge of the yard are cement blocks out of which alyssum grows. The plant has white blossoms which hang down over the blocks making a border of solid white flowers.

Mrs. Schoof said that the only thing which is showing growth so far in her yard are her tulips, daffodils and hyacinths. It was these that she recently uncovered.

Her plans for her garden for this summer include planting a lot of new hybrids. Mrs. Schoof is going to install a pyramid garden in which she will plant floribunda roses, sort of a miniature rose. A pyramid garden is made of galvanized iron, consisting of concentric circles of the iron, each one smaller than the one below. On each shelf flowers can be planted, thus making what looks like a flower pyramid.

Mrs. Schoof said she likes big showy flowers rather than the smaller variety. She is particularly partial to blue and yellow flowers. This year she hopes to have the new blue hydrangea which she has seen advertised in her flower book.

Mrs. Schoof has a large number of flower catalogs which show her all the flowers she would like to buy. She said, "I'd like to buy all of them but I wouldn't have either the space or the money." She added that when she lived out on Beck road she had a very large garden.

Besides all her perennials Mrs. Schoof has two lovely magnolia trees in her yard. She admitted that she does plant some annuals to fill in but that she greatly prefers perennials.

When asked if she had any special techniques in gardening Mrs. Schoof said, "I just take good care of my garden, water it and keep out the weeds." She did say, however, that she uses Rapid-grow, a product that feeds the leaves.

Mrs. Schoof added that anyone can have a beautiful garden if they just take good care of their plants. Her garden is certainly a good testimonial for her statement.

Hints for Plymouth Homemakers

Fabrics for Spring Feature New Light, Airy Surface Effects

Texture rises to the surface of fashion this season, carrying out the mood of spring with a wide array of newly light and airy surface effects.

One of the most unusual and practical of the new finishes is the bubble-light wool tweed, looking nubby and texturesome, but weighing much less than its winter-weight counterpart. In keeping with the lightness of this fabric are the pale tones in which it will be seen.

Linens, jerseys and silks too, take on a newly textured appearance through either weaving or three-dimensional prints. When woven in combination, a crocheted or boucle effect is achieved.

New cottons look like tweed, silk, wool or linen, depending on the finish, but retain their affinity to soap and water, making them a practical choice. Patent leather appliques on cotton look smart, and are also washable.

In coats and suits, brushed surfaces, silk or orlon and wool blends, light worsteds and ribelines, wool crepes and fleeces all spell out the newest Spring fabric news.

Fabric news continues in coats and suits, offering surface interest with less defined loops and boucle nubs. Poodles show up in "tamed" versions, looking almost frothy, due to the large content of mohair.

Frothy effects are achieved through the use of white as a background for the pastels and beiges of the season.

Zibelines and long-hair fabrics give a smooth look to the texture story, and flannel coatings, doeskin, suede and worsted jerseys present the bulk of the smooth side of the fabric story.

There is a reverse side to the fashion news this Spring, and that is the fabrics that line many of the newest coats, suits and ensembles, as well as their matching blouses. Prints are most often seen with solid color ensembles, in silk, jersey, cotton or linen.

In the case of the equally popular print ensemble, the blouse and lining will be solid, in a shade to pick up the predominant color of the print.

Silk sarahs, shantungs and nubby-textured blends of silk and orlon, as well as rayons and linens, have a definite place in the Spring into Summer wardrobe, being especially suited to resisting wrinkles and keeping the wearer cool and well-proportioned looking.

Slips, Petticoats Look Glamorous

A practical feature in the new slips, petticoats and combs is lining or panelling for complete opaqueness. Cotton batiste types are trimmed with rick-rack, bright ribbon, eyelet or embroidery, and most are now shrinkage-controlled for perfect fit.

Black cotton plisse combines with sheer nylon net or lace to give a basically practical gown a glamorous look. Plisse petticoats are gaily polka-dotted and fringed in contrasting colors, and shiny cotton styles are covered with print designs.

Although there are fewer very full petticoats than last spring, this year's full-skirted styles are fluffed with organdie or nylon net for a feminine look.

Basic slips now follow the silhouette of the spring clothes with their slim lines, as seen in the sheath slip, the pared-down skirt fullness, or in the molded, princess line.

A splendid cement for broken china may be made by mixing plaster of Paris with white of egg until it is creamy. Apply as you would any cement.

Cheddar And Cottage Cheese Economical

Favorite Lenten foods, cheddar cheese and cottage cheese, are plentiful this year and their increased use means not only economy but excellent eating.

These are excellent meat alternates because they supply adequate protein and minerals. American cheddar or cottage cheese are also versatile foods since they can be combined successfully with a great many other foods to add flavor, food value and variety to the menu.

Combine either cheddar or cottage cheese with eggs in souffles, omelets or even scrambled eggs. Serve cheese in the form of a cheese sauce with vegetables such as cauliflower, broccoli, spinach or string beans. Add cheese to tossed or molded gelatin salads for a more substantial meal. Use cheese in casserole dishes with spaghetti, noodles or scalloped potatoes. Serve plain in sandwiches, with crackers or with a bland dessert.

Cottage cheese is one of the better protein buys right now. American cheddar cheese is also a good buy considering its food value. Processed cheese or cheese food is usually made from cheddar cheese but is less expensive. Process cheese has less food value per pound than cheddar because liquid and a stabilizer have been added. This makes a softer cheese that will melt more easily.

All cheese should be kept covered or tightly wrapped in the refrigerator to prevent drying and giving the flavor of cheese to other foods.

Cheese and cheese dishes will not be stringy or tough if a low to moderate temperature is used in the cooking process. The purpose of cooking cheese is usually just to melt the fat or blend the flavors.

Cottage and cheddar cheese can be used interchangeably in many recipes. Just remember to use the plain cottage cheese which has not been creamed. The cottage cheese will have a milder flavor than cheddar cheese and have more liquid. It will also take approximately one-fourth more cottage cheese than cheddar to give the same food value as a meat alternate.

For Lenten dishes or for just all-around good eating and economy, cheese is a good buy.

TWENTY-CENT PARTY FOOD

Serve the crowd for pennies and collect compliments! Creamed chipped beef on baking powder biscuits—about twenty cents a serving—is the low-cost menu secret.

Creamed Chipped Beef
6 tablespoons butter or margarine
6 tablespoons flour
5 cups milk
3 eggs, beaten slightly
12 ounces chipped beef
4 hard cooked eggs
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon curry

Melt butter or margarine, blend in flour, add milk. Stir until thickened. Blend a few spoonfuls white sauce into beaten eggs then stir eggs into white sauce.

Add shredded beef, chopped hard cooked eggs and seasonings. Stir until thickened. Heat thoroughly. Serve on hot baking powder biscuits.

Yield: 12 servings.
Fresh green buttered asparagus and broiled tomatoes add a colorful note to the luncheon plate. A relish tray of crisp celery, radish roses, green pepper rings and carrot curls serves as the salad.

Budget Balancer

Salmon Newburgh may be served as a lenten luncheon for fifteen cents or less a serving.

Salmon Newburgh
5 tablespoons butter or margarine
5 tablespoons flour
5 cups milk
3 one-pound cans salmon
1 tablespoon minced onion
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
3 eggs, beaten

Melt butter, add flour then milk gradually. Stir until thickened. Add salmon and seasonings. Pour mixture into beaten eggs. Stir over low heat for two to three minutes. Serve on crisp toast points.

Yield: 12 to 15 servings.

Tips To Help Novice Cooks Plan Meals

Meal planning for the novice cook can be a chore. Here are a few suggestions to ease the situation.

First of all, by all means do plan meals. Consider several at one time, rather than working from meal to meal. Begin with your meat dish. When you have decided on a meat cut, add your vegetables. When possible it is wise to take advantage of special meat buys. Likewise, make use of fruits and vegetables in season.

Introduce new foods to your menus. Actually there are more than 200 different retail cuts of meat. Learn to identify them. Study meat charts and ask your meat man the names of cuts you do not know.

In planning your menu consider the shapes of the various foods. Naturally you do not want meat balls, boiled potatoes and Brussels sprouts at one meal. They all are of the same shape. Likewise, consider varied textures and pleasing color combinations.

Use your range to the fullest extent. Plan open meals, broiler meals, and range-top meals. And lastly, arrange the food on your platter and on the table in an attractive manner. This finishing touch can make the difference between a mediocre and an outstanding meal.

Before laying linoleum, varnish the wrong side and lay it over a layer of thick brown paper. This will give you a damp-proof floor and makes the linoleum wear longer.

Cook All Meat Slowly And Save

Cook meat slowly! Those words can mean money in your pocket. You can save as much as 2 to 3 servings of roast merely by cooking it at a low temperature—300 F. for beef, veal, smoked pork and lamb; 350 F. for fresh pork.

In addition to saving meat, the meat you serve will be juicier and more tender. This information is based upon extensive research conducted at leading educational institutions throughout the country. In a typical experiment paired roasts were roasted—one at 450 F., one at 300 F.—to the same internal temperature as recorded by roast meat thermometers. The roast cooked at a constant low temperature was uniformly done, its cooking losses were moderate, the meat was more palatable, the bones and fat were not charred. The high oven temperature produced a roast that had excessive shrinkage, it was unevenly cooked, its fibers were charred and shrunken, and it had lost juiciness.

A low temperature is recommended for cooking meat regardless of the method used. To broil, steaks should be placed 2 to 3 inches from the heat. Meats braised or cooked in liquid should simmer, never boil.

Ply Needle, Save Family Money

What sew at home? Why bother making your own clothes in this day of mass-produced clothes?

The first justification for sewing at home is an economic one. How is it possible for the mother of an average family to avoid making some clothing or at the very least doing the alterations on the clothing she buys? How can she afford to throw out clothing that is still good because she lacks the skill and designing ability to see how to bring the old clothing up to date? Of course, the answer is that she cannot avoid doing this kind of necessary sewing without making serious inroads in the family clothing budget.

For girls, learning to sew should help develop critical judgment of ready-to-wear and it helps them to select with greater wisdom. Practice in sewing and designing helps develop taste and ability to select clothes with individuality and style rather than clothes that are just the latest fashion.

Perhaps the most important reason of all for sewing at home is that everyone has latent creative ability and imagination that should be brought out. What more natural way than to practice both designing and making clothing? It can be a fruitful and satisfying outlet for the creative urge. Furthermore, sewing can be of inestimable value both as a necessary vocation and as a possible hobby for leisure hours.

Explain Uses of FHA Home Improvement Loan

EDITOR'S NOTE: This explanation of the FHA Title I improvement loan program was submitted by the Public Relations Department of the National Bank of Detroit.

FHA Title I improvement loan program is a procedure under which qualified lending institutions may extend credit to home owners, business owners, or lessees, to keep their homes or business places in good repair, or to make structural additions or alterations.

A structure to be improved with proceeds of an FHA Title I loan must exist as a completed building. Repairs, alterations, and improvements must be physically attached to the structure so as to be a part of it, or directly connected with it.

Funds borrowed may be used to pay for labor or materials, or both. The borrower may do the work himself or he can engage the services of a contractor. Improvements eligible for financing under FHA Title I include additional rooms, garages, porches, stairways, closets, bathrooms, store fronts and entrances, painting, decorating, plastering, new flooring, tile work, plumbing fixtures and repairs, heating, including new furnaces, installation or repairs, electrical systems, side walks, driveways, insulation including storm windows and doors.

The borrower can have up to 36 months to repay the loan in monthly installments to the lending institution. Charges are based on a discount of $5 per $100 for one year, based on a Federal Housing Administration gross charge table.

The borrower must have a salary, wage or steady income, and he must have a good credit standing.

Property to be improved can be under mortgage, land contract, or lease and still be eligible for an FHA Title I improvement loan.

Simple Tricks Lend Bedroom Spacious Look

A small bedroom can achieve a spacious air with a few simple decorating tricks. Use a light color on 3 walls, a dark shade—gray, blue, green—on the fourth. Keep furniture simple, sparse and small in scale. Pattern of fabric and wallpaper should be in small scale.

Repeat the wall color in the bedspread; for example, against a white wall, use a white cotton bedspread with tiny all-over pattern of moss roses. With a floral paper with yellow background, use an all-yellow bedspread which repeats the yellow of the paper.

Matching draperies will give the small room an uncluttered look that helps to create a feeling of space. Fabric designers suggest that the ensemble look be carried still further by using a matching vanity skirt in the dressing-room, a matching shower curtain in the bath (line it with plastic for practical purposes), and match clothes closet walls to bedroom walls. This unified treatment will "stretch" space.

Make Posts Last Longer

ILLUSTRATED is a simple and neat technique for applying a wood preservative, such as creosote solution, to fence and porch posts before they are placed into the ground.

Place the lower end of the post in the pail, so it can absorb some of the preservative around it.

The upper portion of the post projecting above the liquid's level in the pail can be covered with a paint brush.

Then remove the wet post from the pail and place it on a thick, absorbent pad of old newspapers so that drippings will be confined to a safe area. Wood preservatives are difficult to remove from floors and can damage lawns.

If you happen to live near a railroad try to get hold of some old wood ties. You can't find anything better for building outdoor steps, retaining walls and similar projects.

Plywood walls are not only attractive but provide the housewife with a minimum of maintenance and upkeep states Mrs. Kenneth Hulsing of 1010 Church street whose living room is pictured above. The remodeling was done by Mr. Hulsing as a weekend project and it lends a soft warmth to the room which many times can prove expensive with papers and paints where frequent decorating is necessary. Easily applied almost any home owner can do the work himself says Mr. Hulsing if he uses bonding strips with aluminum extrusions which makes the matching and joining of the panels very easy.

Septic Tank Is Prime Factor In Healthful Suburban Building

Building a home in the country? Planning a new waste disposal system for your farm or suburban home?

Try first to connect to a public sewerage system. If this is not possible, make sure that the system you install will be safe and will meet the requirements of your family.

You can get help from your local health department in determining the best location for your septic tank and in planning the type of installation which will serve your family most effectively.

You can also check to make sure the septic tank you buy has been approved by the Michigan Department of Health. For the protection of the suburbanite and the farm family, the state health department offers its services to all Michigan manufacturers of septic tanks. When such tanks meet with state health department approval, the manufacturer is given a statement to that effect.

One requirement for state approval is that a septic tank must have a minimum liquid capacity of 500 gallons. When home garbage grinding units are used and the wastes are discharged into a septic tank, a tank of larger capacity—750 to 1,000 gallons—may be preferable.

Some counties have local regulations controlling installation of septic tanks, and in these counties, the specification must be in accord with the local regulations.

Some manufacturers make several sizes and types of tank. Often only one of them will have state health department approval. Make sure the one you buy is an approved tank.

Interior Screens Can Further Use of Your Basement

Screens to mark off service from recreation and living areas, and gay furniture to "pinch-hit" when rooms above are overflowing, can make your basement a valuable room for you and your family.

Screens can be used to great advantage to separate the furnace or laundry from the recreation area, Herbert W. Johe, assistant professor of architecture at the University of Michigan, points out.

"If you prefer wood partitions, there are adhesives on the market by which you can fix wood to masonry without putting nails into the masonry. Most economical of the fixed partitions is plaster board. Split bamboo curtains, graceful and easy to roll up or down, may also be used effectively.

"Why not be money-wise and use your porch furniture in the basement in the winter? Basement chairs (you'll want comfortable ones near the television set) should be of plastic material or synthetic leather, which can be wiped off, as dirt inevitably sifts down from the floor above.

"You can use canvas in bright colors and gay stripes or plaids to re-cover old furniture. Auctions and second-hand furniture stores often yield old chairs and sofas which can be transformed into useful and attractive additions to the basement 'living quarters.' Department stores willingly furnish information on upholstering techniques.

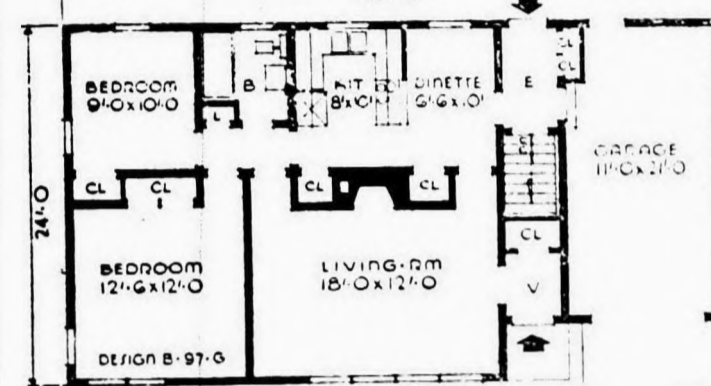

"And how about buying an old piano, painting it in stripes, squares or flowers, and turning it over to the children as an oversized toy for their surplus exuberance?"

A new gas-fired water heater provides hot water of two different temperatures from a single tank, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

Convactor heating units for hot water or steam heating systems are built in widths and heights for practically every room situation. Consult your heating contractor for the correct sizes for each room.

A SMALL HOUSE PLANNING BUREAU DESIGN NO. B-97-G

DESIGN B-97-G. All rooms open on a small six-foot hall, reducing waste and providing excellent circulation between rooms. Kitchen and bathroom plumbing, with laundry below, confines the plumbing to one wall for cheaper installation.

There are two bedrooms, living room, combination kitchen-dinette and a full basement, except under the garage. The blank wall between garage and house is well used for stairs and vestibules.

Closets are provided at both entrances, two in kitchen, linen in the hall and wardrobe closets in the bedrooms.

Exterior finish is wide siding and asphalt shingles. Floor area is 935 sq. ft., without garage and cubage is 17,765 cu. ft.

For further information about DESIGN B-97-G, write the Building Editor, The Plymouth Mail.

Shellac Dries Fast Is Easy to Apply

Shellac is an old stand-by that is favored by home craftsmen because it is easy to apply and quick to dry. Bleached shellac is used for most work and is absolutely necessary for blond wood finishes. Orange shellac is used for dark wood.

It is, incidentally unwise to purchase more shellac than you need as old shellac will, in time, become gummy and will not dry.

To apply shellac, use a soft varnish brush and work rapidly, using long running strokes—one stroke to apply and another to make sure you have covered the surface. Do not brush excessively. Shellac is rubbed down between coats with fine sandpaper and steel wool. After it has dried, it is often waxed.

For a more accurate, safer miter gauge on your power saw, glue a piece of fine sandpaper or emery cloth to the miter face. The rough surface will reduce chances of slippage as you saw.

State Class B Recreational Cage Tournament Here This Weekend

Basketball is having her last fling this week as far as the local scene is concerned. Eight star organizations from out-state will be here to participate in the Annual State Recreational Class B Basketball tournament, which is being held in Plymouth for the first time this year. It is not definitely determined which teams will be here this week as the first round games are being played at five different areas—these first round games had to be played off by last Monday evening.

Locally the games here will be played at the high school gymnasium and the large gym at the Wayne County Training School. The tournament begins at 7:30 tomorrow night with two games at each gymnasium. Saturday's semi-finals and finals will be played at the local gymnasium. The semi-finals begin at 2 p.m. on Saturday for one game and the second at 3:30 p.m.—finals will be at 9 p.m. Saturday night.

William Foster, in charge of the tournament, states that some top-notch basketball from many star former high school and college players will be in store for

Tait's Lose; Yet Win Men's Crown

The season's play between Champion Tait's Cleaners and Capital Shirts basketball teams ended up with each outfit winning two games from the other. Capital Shirts evened it all up by defeating Tait's in their last game 21 to 15. The winners led all the way and easily handed Tait's their first loss. The two teams would have finished in a tie if the Shirts had not had to forfeit a game to National Bank earlier in the season when some of their players thought they played the game at night instead of the day. The players were all there, but the game was declared forfeit according to rules.

Tait's ended the season by making the scoring record when they scored a record 106 points in their game with the National Bank. This game sewed up the championship and allowed them to compete in the state Class B recreational tournament which begins tomorrow at the local high school gymnasium.

In other games the Lions Club defeated National Bank 47 to 37 and Capital Shirts easily won from the Lions to close out the season.

The final standings read like this:

Tait's Cleaners	15	3
Capital Shirts	14	4
Lions Club	5	13
National Bank	2	16

Close Games at State Tourney in East Lansing

A number of surprise winners came through at the State Basketball Tournament which ended last Saturday with the finals in each class at Michigan State college. The biggest upset was that of Saginaw St. Mary's championship victory in Class C over a favored Muskegon St. Mary's outfit. Another surprise winner was that of St. Joseph in Class B. Neither of the above teams had been ranked among the first ten by the Detroit paper experts.

Fordson High, the winner over Plymouth High and the regional held in Plymouth, was the Class A winner—the Tractors displayed a steady tournament play, a good defense and some good shots—in fact, more of the latter than the other teams. In gaining the huge trophy, Fordson defeated in order, Plymouth, Dearborn, Jackson, Grand Rapids South and finally Lansing Sexton. Plymouth scored the most points against the state champions in tournament play, while Lansing Sexton gave them the toughest game.

In Class B, Inkster the winner of the quarter-final round played in Plymouth, was surprised by under-rated St. Joseph in the semi-final game and were soundly beaten 60 to 46. Big Henry Hughes was held to three baskets and three foul tosses. St. Joseph had a well-balanced team who seemed well-coached in the fundamentals, although they had lost 7 games during the regular season—five of them in their league—however, this team is a tournament team and is a threat each year—they have won the crown before, and gained the last rounds several times. They just squeaked by in the district and regionals by winning each game by a point or two, but came through, and they say that is the thing that pays off in the end. Ludington, the other finalist, looked like a one-man team, and they depended upon Pete Tillotson, their 6 ft. 5 inch center too much—one good man can carry a team in a lot of regular games, but when a team gets up to the finals they meet some mighty good outfits.

In class C, Saginaw St. Mary's came through with a win over favored Muskegon St. Mary's—the latter team had been rated in first place all year by the city papers with Saginaw not even receiving a nod. Again the winning team had balance, some good shots, and determination to win the big one. This game nearly ended on an unfamiliar note—the score was tied when Saginaw scored a basket to go ahead—with four seconds to go a Muskegon player had the ball out of bounds and called for time to stop the clock, but before the referee could signal the timer, the buzzer sounded ending the game—the crowd poured onto the court, and the referees had to clear it because there were still four seconds to play with the losers having the ball out of bounds. The ball was thrown in and two shots at the basket nearly registered the tying goal, but they just wouldn't go in.

In class D, favored Detroit All-Saints, unbeaten this year, went down to defeat to another Muskegon team, this being St. Joseph. Literally, All-Saints fouled themselves out of the tournament as they committed 27 fouls—the winners made good on 24 foul shots while All-Saints made only 9—that was the difference in the winner and loser—this game went overtime as the score was tied at the end of the regulation game, but by that time three of All-Saints' first-string players were out on fouls. All-Saints presented a high-scoring, tall group of players and the first-string was probably the best Class D team in the state.

Well the above is a rundown on the winning teams in the state tourney. They may or may not be the best teams in their class in the state, but for one night they were, and they copped the splendid trophies which went to both the winning and losing teams in the finals.

Wilken, Delores Caldwell, Betty Baker and Baker Street; back row, Beverly Brown, Barbara McIntosh, Saxie Holstein, Pauline Blinci and Cordia Pursell. The girls will represent the league in the State M. R. A. tournament tonight at Highland Park, 8:30 p.m. They will meet the Detroit Nurses team. The game will be played at Hackett Field House.

Sports Glances

by "Professor" Edgar Brown

Plymouth basketball fans have one consolation in that their own team here scored more points against the state champion Fordson Class A team than any other team they played in the tournament. The local quintet gave them a real scare for three quarters until Cavell and Kisabeth went out on fouls in the fourth quarter, and don't let anyone tell you differently. Plymouth scored 55 points against them, and the best the next team could do was 49.

I think that many Class B school teams are as good, and could beat, many Class A outfits—there really isn't much difference sometimes—of course, I mean the larger class B schools that most generally appear in state tournaments. This year there was—but some years the B team could have won easily from their big city brothers.

The faces of the pickers of the best 10 teams in the state in each class each week must be red as a result of the state basketball tournament winners. Two winners, St. Joseph in class B, and Saginaw St. Mary's in class C, were not even listed in the first 10. Fordson was listed 9th and Muskegon St. Joseph 2nd in the ratings.

My own favorites did not do so well either—Lansing Sexton got to the finals, and Fordson, my dark horse favorite won it in class A. In class B, I thought Adrian or Ludington might win with Inkster as a dark horse—Ludington got to the finals, but the others both bowed out to St. Joseph earlier.

In class C, I thought Muskegon St. Mary's was a cinch, well they came two points from it—Hartford was one of the strongest teams in this class, too, and came within three seconds of beating Saginaw St. Mary's, the winners, in a semi-final game.

In Class D, I again thought All-Saints would come through as they had been all year, but they fouled me up by fouling themselves right out of the championship—they lost in overtime.

All in all, it was a good tournament, and each game was an exciting tilt to watch—the champions are truly champions and worthy of taking the trophies home.

I read in the paper the other day where the local sixth graders are going to soon enjoy an outdoor, educational camping trip to a camp near Brighton for a few days. I think this is wonderful—there is no substitute for gaining knowledge first hand from nature, or by practical experience, or from learning by doing, and being shown real life situations.

One of the future college stars a couple years hence will be Pete Tillotson, 6 foot 5 inch center for Ludington High. Pete is only a junior now and still has a year left of high school competition—for a tall lad he is not clumsy.

and is quite agile. Pete was an all-state Class B basketball selection, and should be quite a lad next year. He probably is destined for MSC as his father was a star football and track man there in the late twenties—his father, Ivan, coached for a number of years in Northern Michigan schools. I know him, and the family, well and I'm sure you will be hearing about this lad in a few years.

My oldest boy, Byron, certainly enjoyed his first state tournament at East Lansing—it was a little long though for him. He is taking quite an interest in the game, and has missed very few games the varsity and reserves played this year here or away.

It won't be long before we will be seeing those ball games on television again. The Tigers have been doing great guns in the Southland, and are leading the Grapefruit League having won 9 games and lost 3. This is the best start any Tiger club has had in recent years—but what really counts is what they do after the season begins. At present the team is swatting the horsehide for a lofty 296 average, and have belted 21 home runs. Some of the weak hitters of the last few years are belting the ball at much higher percentage; one, Owen Friend, recently acquired from the St. Louis Browns, and a 250 hitter, has been clouting a robust 433 to lead the regulars.

Recently Grantland Rice, the peer of sports writers, listed the Tigers to again finish in last place, but I believe with the way they are hitting, and the new talent they have acquired, that they will finish high in the second division. We'll see!

Inkster Beats Former Champs in Quarter-Finals

The last high school basketball game to be played this season was played on the local court last Wednesday night between last year's state class B championship Detroit St. Andrews quintet and Inkster. St. Andrews would advance to the state semi-finals at East Lansing. This quarter-final game was announced too late to get in last week's paper, but even so, the new gymnasium had a packed house, and was filled for the first time this year. Many were standing, but there were a number of scattered seats throughout the crowd.

St. Andrews followers were stunned by the fast, high-jumping Inkster hoopsters, and the way the former state champs were easily beaten—the score was 57 to 33, and Inkster really breezed through this one as they played one of their best games of the year.

The colored lads started fast and built up a lead of 11 to 4 at the end of the first period, continued to build it up to a 28 to 17 lead at intermission time. The shot that featured this drive was fired just as the gun went off ending the first half. St. Andrews had scored with 2 seconds left—when Dick Carroll received the ball from out-of-bounds and let go from the foul line at the other end of the court—the ball went on an arc the whole length of the floor and banked neatly through the meshes for two points.

With Henry Hughes hitting regularly from all angles, Inkster continued to outscore the Flyers and entered the last quarter on the long end of a 43 to 26 score.

Henry Hughes led his teammates to the win with 22 points scored on 9 baskets and 4 free throws. Don Williams had 12.

Ron Nadolski also scored 22 for a losing cause. Ray Kravczak had 6 and Bob Hojnacki 5—these three boys did all the scoring for St. Andrews.

Inkster continued on to the state semi-finals where they were upset by St. Joseph, who went on to win the class B championship.

Poor Little Hill!

You're looking at a very discouraged hill! Ever since that ribbon of paving outlined it, it has been a challenge to motor cars.

For miles and miles it winds up the side of a mountain; and it has sharp curves, and steep grades that spring out of the curves so a driver can't get a start.

Half-way up, there's a watering place—put there so drivers can stop and refill their radiators. Yes—it has been quite a hill. But not any more!

The driver of the car in the picture above took off at the base and sailed right up to the top—and never gave it a thought.

You see, he's driving a 1953 Cadillac—with its great high compression 210-horsepower engine—and its vastly improved Hydra-Matic Drive.

We heard recently of two men who drove from Florida to Detroit—in a 1953 Cadillac. The driver had made this trip before—and as they left Knoxville he said to his passenger: "Man, are we going to find a hill between here and Lexington!"

After an hour or so, the passenger said: "Where is the hill?"

And the driver said: "Just wait!" So they waited—and presently they saw a sign which read: "Lexington."

The driver was dumfounded. "I can't understand it!" he said. "There used to be a hill there—a big one! I know from experience."

Naturally, this great car gives you more than the ability to master hills.

When you float along with a tremendous reserve like this, you have the easiest ride imaginable. It gives you confidence, too—and helps you to relax—for you know you have the power for any emergency that may arise.

It makes the whole car a symphony in motion. In fact, the ride is so smooth and soothing that, not infrequently, passengers sleep as they ride.

Come in and try it for yourself. The car is waiting—and it's an experience you ought not to forego.

New Teen-Age Coats Have Straight Look

Right in line with the newest look for spring is the slim and straight coat styled for the sub-teen and her teen-age sister. Well cut and flattering to go over her every costume, the straight coat may take the casual lines of the boxy coat, or the high-fashion look of the tulip style.

Toppers, too, take to the straight and narrow look, hanging in a neat, trim line from the easy shoulders to an abrupt, just-below-the-waist length, or eased with a gentler back to cup the hips. Modified skirt fullness is seen in the fitted princess coat with its slimming bodice and slightly flared skirt.

Oratory Winners To Compete in District Contest

The local forensic contest was held at Plymouth High school, March 12 to decide the victorious orators in the fields of declamation, original oratory, interpretative reading, extemporaneous speaking, and humorous speaking.

Pilgrim Prints Receives Award

The Michigan Tuberculosis association presented a certificate of honor to Jacqueline Langmaid, editor of the Pilgrim Prints on March 19.

The certificate read, "In recognition of its superior contribution through the School Press Project to a better understanding of tuberculosis and of the role of the Christmas Seal in the prevention and control of this disease."

This was the second time that the Prints has been awarded this certificate, the first time being in 1948. Pictures were taken as Jacqueline accepted the award.

Of the 93 high school papers judged, Plymouth's was one of 21 chosen for special recognition. The Pilgrim Prints was also elected, along with eight other high school papers to be sent to New York for national judging.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS LETTER

By Leonard E. Wood
State Representative

to drop into the legislative hopper, all bills they hope to see enacted into law during this current regular session. During the week of the 16th, up to Thursday night, March 19, some 170 bills were filed for introduction in the House.

While several bills of a minor nature were debated and passed, including H.B. 175, to permit installment payment of drain assessments; H.B. 46 allowing assessment of tax exempt property when leased for private purposes and profit; H.B. 164 to permit legal closing of county and city offices on Saturday in Wayne, Oakland, Kent and Genesee Counties; HB 117 requiring the Auditor General to furnish county and township treasurers with copies of changes in tax laws after the final adjournment of each legislature; HB 194 removing the $20 a week ceiling on the amount of assistance the Probate Courts can require sons and daughters to contribute to the support of their indigent parents; HB 193 permitting the issuance of free licenses for boxing and wrestling matches to civic organizations or veterans' groups; HB 67, allowing municipal judges to establish violation bureaus for traffic offenses, the really big headaches—taxes, appropriations and apportionment still face us.

Several caucuses were held and attempts to agree on a formula for distribution of representative districts, were unsuccessful, with the result that the committee was instructed to draft a bill for introduction by the deadline, March 20. As introduced, the bill provides for 119 representatives, an increase of 10 over the present membership. Wayne County gains one for a total of 6, and Macomb also stands to gain one member. The Upper Peninsula would lose one district by carving up the Alger district, to attach Mackinac and Luce to Chippewa, Schoolcraft with Delta, and Alger to the Iron-Baraga district. In the Lower Peninsula, two more seats would be lost, with Saginaw County losing one seat, and the other loss resulting from rearranging the Mason-Manistee and Osceola districts.

In the fight for survival shapping up, impassioned pleas will be made and it will be difficult to decide how best to handle the matter, but one thing is sure, it is a tough job that must be done before we adjourn, or the matter passes out of control of the Legislature and into the hands of the State Board of Canvassers.

S & W is located at 875 W. Ann Arbor Road.

20. As introduced, the bill permits cities and villages to adopt uniform traffic codes by reference without publication in full; require a chauffeur's license for all bus drivers over 21, driving church, school or public passenger bus; amend motor vehicle sales finance act to require installment sales contracts to conspicuously show if PL and PD insurance is not included in the insurance coverage, and amendments to the Workmens Compensation Act.

Bills introduced include, the Emergency Business Tax on Payrolls; 1 per cent State Income Tax; a 4 per cent Corporations Profits Tax; bills to increase the price of non-resident fishing licenses from $3 to $4, and resident license fees from $1.50 to $2; game hunting licenses increased from $2 to $2.50; repeal a law discriminating against women as bartenders; forbid courts to issue temporary injunctions in labor disputes without hearing both sides of the issue; create Office of Legislative Auditor; repeal act creating the Department of Economic Development; require permits for roadside sale of produce and commodities; a Uniform Divorce Recognition Law; regulate hours that children under 18 may be on the public streets or in public places; amendments to the Communist Control Act to strengthen it; return State land in southern Michigan to local assessment rolls and require payment of full local taxes on it out of hunting and fishing license money; provide $1,000 life insurance on all state law enforcement officers, including the state police, conservation officers and prison guards; authorize the Conservation department to charge admission fees to State Parks; a Seal of Quality bill; expand the membership of the State Board of Control for Vocational Education by adding two representatives of business and one representative from each of the two major labor organizations; a Model Small Estates Act; a Uniform Enforcement of Foreign Judgments Act;

Good Citizenship Taught Students At Boy's State

Giving boys training in civil government and good citizenship are the aims of the Wolverine Boy's State program, which is sponsored each year by the American Legion.

William Langmaid, of Passage-Gayde Post 391 of Plymouth, stated that at least four Plymouth youths will attend the Boy's State this year. Names of boys chosen to represent Plymouth will be announced at a later date.

The program will be held again this year at Michigan State college during the week of June 18 to 25. Since the program started in 1935 more than 230,000 boys have received this training in civil government. On a national scale, each state in the union has its own American Legion sponsored program.

Actually the Boy's State is a one-week summer camp attended by high school boys selected for their leadership qualities. They are sponsored by American Legion posts or civic groups who pay their expenses.

Essentially this is how the Boy's State trains the boys. The camp is a mythical 49th state which is organized into cities and counties. The boys form two political parties, adopt platforms, nominate candidates and elect their government officials. They elect a boy governor, fill every elective office, set up their own state legislature, courts and law-enforcement agencies. In this way they learn how people govern themselves in free America and how much good government depends directly upon the individual citizen's interest and participation in it.

Co-operating sponsoring organizations have already placed two applications and two more are assured. Names of these organizations will be announced later.

A similar program for girls is sponsored by the Legion Auxiliary and held each year at the University of Michigan.

Wednesday night viewers watching the ten-year-old Kid Gavilan-Tony Janiro slug fest saw the familiar face of Winston Cooper, local Cadillac executive, in his usual ring side seat which he still occupies at all Detroit fights. One face seen in the old fight, now missing from the ring side, was that of Dale Stafford, former Detroit Free Press editor who now resides in Greenville.

Dr. A. C. Williams is on record for volunteering to write this column one of these days using as his subject "the miseries of writing a column." He observed the supposed pat on the back given recently here to a local resident who took offense at the same and countered with a letter of his own. It's all in a day's work, Doctor, but your contribution will be most welcome.

A round table discussion between the writer, Paul J. Wiedman, local Ford Dealer, Lawrence Lyons, Leo Goss of DeHoCo, and Evans' Products company advertising manager Sam Hudson at Rotary last Friday brought a couple of interesting questions about some of a newspaper's problems. After giving the answers Sam Hudson suggested we print them here because he thought many other people might be interested in the same things.

The first question was why does The Plymouth Mail come out in so many sections and not one piece as do the Detroit daily papers? The answer... weekly newspapers do not have presses big enough to print more than eight pages at one time. Therefore after each section is printed and folded on the press it is necessary to hand stuff the sections to make a complete paper.

The second question was why is it that an inside section reaches the home on the outside of the paper with the address on it and not the first section? Here again the answer is mechanical. Most of the larger weekly papers take the first section they print on Tuesday and address or stencil that piece. It takes some four hours to address The Plymouth Mail each week and since the first section is the last one to be printed on Wednesday afternoon pre-addressing gets the papers into the post office four hours ahead of the time it would normally take if the last section were the one addressed.

BRONCO BUSTER FROM ABILENE

You will pay more state taxes in 1953. Legislators agree, for the most part with that. The argument continues to be the same: How? How much, for how long, how will it be collected?

Democrats, who have pluggled for years to enact a corporate profits tax of some sort, have adopted a "show me a better way" attitude. Representative Walter H. Hill has intended for some time to introduce at this session, a tax on corporation profits.

Republicans, since the legislature's opening day, have sought a solution to the state's $90,000,000 deficit and a means of raising an additional $35,000,000 each year to offset future deficits. They hope to pass a tax that directly affects a large number of people so that once the deficit is reduced, there will be wide pressure to do away with the tax.

For a time they studied the idea of taxing wholesalers; then a proposal for a tax of five mills (half a cent) against payrolls, excepting employees of federal, state and local governments, and non-profit religious and social agencies. This bill would expire automatically in June, 1955. Other suggestions include using part of the money set aside for veteran bonus purposes, taxing cigarettes, and the sale of used cars.

Bills to tax personal and corporate incomes were introduced in both houses. The idea is to charge a percentage—between one and five percent is mentioned—of the amount paid to the federal government. To make the idea more acceptable, the plans call for repeal of the state sales and corporate profit taxes, and specifies that schools and local forms of government will receive about the same amount of money as at present. Dropping the sales tax in favor of an income tax is a measure long favored by some groups as a fairer means of taxing those who have the ability to pay.

It has been predicted that unless the Republicans can come up with a workable solution to tax problems, they will be faced with passing, for lack of something better, a bill akin to the one Gov. Williams has been advocating for at least four years.

Action and decisions should soon become the keynote of the legislative session, since May 22 has been set as adjournment day. This means that all but money bills have already been introduced and the time for counting votes is here.

An increase in the cost of fishing licenses is one bill that will come up for consideration. Rep. Eugene C. Betz (R. Monroe) introduced a measure to raise the price to $2 for residents and non-residents, eliminate husband-wife single licenses and to require licenses to fish the Great Lakes.

A bill to deny hunters the right to sue for damages resulting from injury received while hunting on private property was also put before the House of Representatives.

Republicans have gone on record as favoring a new prison to relieve overcrowding at Jackson, but they make no reference to size, cost or financing. Austin McCormick, nationally known prison authority who studied the Jackson riots, reported that overcrowding was the largest single cause for the riot, and if it is not remedied, more riots can be expected.

People in Michigan would be saved about $505,000,000, or more than half a billion dollars in 1954 if present efforts to reduce the federal budget by $10 billion are successful. These estimates are figured according to population; this state has 5.05% of the people in the country and would benefit by an equal proportion.

Tourists will spend about $500,000,000 in Michigan this year, said C. C. Wells, secretary manager of West Michigan Tourist and Resort Association. Insufficient facilities to handle peak summertime loads are expected to exist for several years. Tourist leaders are attempting to interest manufacturers in a plan to spread vacation over a 12 month period. In this way, fishermen could vacation early as April, hunters could take time off during winter.

Memories went back to army days for thousands of Michigan men last week with the announcement that Fort Custer, induction center and training station, would be closed June 1. Deactivation of the army post is part of a military economy move which includes six other camps and will save the government $2,000,000 the first year, $40,000,000 each succeeding year. Nearly 1,000 civilian employees will be released and the camp will be staffed by a stand-by group which can reactivate it within 60 days. Fort Custer will be used each summer for two months for training purposes.

An offer of a new "final resting" place for the body of Michigan's first governor is being considered in Detroit. It came from the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau to provide a solution to a problem facing Detroit officials. They are trying to create more usable space in the congested area of State and Griswold where a tiny park marking the grave exists. Stevens T. Mason, Michigan's "boy" governor who held office when he was only 32, had the vision that made the U.P. part of the state, said the letter. The Upper Peninsula Bureau stated that it would be honored to give a resting place in "God's Country" where Gov. Mason's body would not be disturbed.

Fourteen new plants moved into the state during 1952 while five firms moved out, Michigan Economic Development Commission reports showed five companies came from Wisconsin, four from Illinois, two from Kentucky and one each from Colorado, Massachusetts and Minnesota. Of plants leaving, three went to Illinois, one to Kentucky, one to Indiana.

good salesman must be able to withstand extreme frustration, be able to organize his own work and work under pressure. The good salesman is not a clock watcher. He always wishes the work day were just a little longer.

GOOD SALESMEN MAKE GOOD INCOMES

Whether a young fellow starts out as a manufacturer's representative, wholesale salesman, specialty salesman, sales engineer or retail merchandiser, his opportunities are what he makes them. If he's a good salesman he will want to work on commission. Then it's strictly up to him whether he makes $25 or $250 per week.

Starting guarantees for college seniors wanting to sell range from about $2,730 to $3,600. The average, after five years, is about $8,000; the average ceiling in sales management ranges between $12,000-$15,000 in medium-sized corporations, with some earnings going much higher. Salesmen are the one group who need no labor unions. They are the men who work up to the top executive positions. As I look ahead 10 years, the way for a young person to get ahead fastest, and at the same time make a real contribution to our economy, is to enter the sales field. To succeed, however, he has to have the interest, aptitude, persistence and personal qualifications.

THE SALESMAN'S REPUTATION
Why do so many people today look down upon the salesman? To get a clue to this, I tried a parlor test on a number of people, a test which, by the way, is standard psychological procedure used by many advertising agencies in preparing copy. I asked a number of people to write down, as rapidly as possible, the words that came to them when I mentioned the word "salesman".

Try this experiment. You will get responses like this—life insurance, tomb stones, vacuum cleaners, television sets, silk stockings, women's lingerie, encyclopedias, silverware, "imported" linens, books, magazines, etc. Yet, those who call at your house to sell these things represent only about 2 per cent of the total sales force of this country. And that the major fear of business right now is the fear of over-production. She does not realize that the salesman is the linchpin in our free economy, and that, by creating and satisfying thought new wants, only he and those who sell advertising can keep our economy in high gear. The salesman is a mighty important person.

JOB CEILING UNLIMITED
Sales work has a special appeal to ambitious young men because earnings are in direct proportion to hard work and ability. The salesman gets a terrific bang out of his job because he knows his efforts cause people to raise their standard-of-living. He knows, too, that if only a thousand people buy an article without salesmanship, it may cost $10.00, but with good selling and resultant mass production, the consumer may get the same article for as low as $2.00.

A good, creative salesman has the spirit of the missionary—a lot of courage, honesty, unbounded energy, persistence, firmness and unusual adaptability. The
