

Mayor Daane Sees Slight Hope Now For More Parking

The city may be stymied to expand its parking facilities here for at least another year or two. This loomed Monday night following a budget hearing at which time the Chamber of Commerce endorsed a plea to conserve all possible parking revenues for parking lot expansion. The city now has 270 off-street parking stalls. They have been declared "insufficient" by the Chamber of Commerce. Mayor Russell M. Daane said in an interview Tuesday that the city's action in expanding off-street parking "was of such magnitude in 1952 it might have to suffice for the next year or two." He declared that the city "has got just so many dollars available." When asked what the city's future plans were, Mayor Daane said "there is nothing specific within the next two years." He noted, however, that the "master plan" calls for expanding the East Central parking lot northward with an outlet on Dodge street. Made available would be

115 Homeowners Told to Install Sidewalks

City Assessor Kenneth E. Way this week advised that his office is now mailing out notices informing some 115 residents that they have 15 days in which to order in sidewalks abutting their property. Persons notified who fail to have the sidewalks installed within the 15-day limit will see the city install them and levy a direct assessment on the property, Way said. He also informed that notices are being sent out to property owners who failed to have their sidewalks installed in 1952, as specified. Since the notices sent out last year were in default, Way said the city is ordering the sidewalks constructed as part of its spring building program. The notices are being sent out to the 115 homeowners who have residences on these streets: West Pearl, Cherry, Starkweather, Farmer, Deer, east and west Herald, Wing, Fair, Joy and Davis. Persons employing private contractors to install the sidewalks may contact the city engineer for needed information.

Park Wrong Side of Street-107 Receive Tickets

Local authorities last Monday carried out a night-long campaign against "wrong-way" parkers and issued 107 tickets in a period of less than 24 hours. Caught in the net as police cracked down were some disgruntled residents who complained, in the words of one person, "they didn't even issue a warning." Police Chief Carl Greenlee said Tuesday "there has been some confusion." But Greenlee warned that "we are going to continue the drive." He added that "it's a dangerous practice that's already resulted in several collisions." He said the crashes occurred when wrong-side-of-the-street parkers pulled away from the curb and crossed over into traffic lanes. He noted that wrong-way parking was in violation of the State Motor Vehicle laws.

Convention Delegates Find Much to Do at Congresses of CAR-DAR

The agendas for the 62nd Continental Congresses of the Daughters of the American Revolution and Children of the American Revolution in Washington ranged all the way from business to pleasure. Dances and banquets were on the lighter side, while election of new officers and passing of important resolutions were only a part of the business end of the national conventions. The conventions were attended by four Plymouth residents. Robert Willoughby, junior national chairman of the conservation committee, and Randy Eaton, junior state chairman of the mag-

$28,000 Necessary To Bolster Budget, Isbister Declares

A record tentative $895,695 public schools' operating budget was last Monday reviewed by the Plymouth school district board of education. As far as the $895,695 plum goes, in a 20-word statement it's enough money to build two educational plants the size of Smith Elementary school with $30,000 left over for incidentals. Despite a $110,000 increase over last year, the 1953-54 budget (it set a new record every year—most budgets always do) holds out good news for the homeowner. There won't be an increase in taxes, at least this year. This was assured when new properties on the tax rolls made up $82,000 of the $110,000 increase. But before the school board makes the budget into final law they are faced with one of two alternatives—either get a .6 mill increase from the Wayne County Tax Allocation board or pare down the budget to fit a projected income of $868,000. Superintendent of Schools Russell Isbister said Monday that he would petition the WCTAB for the needed $28,000 to round out his budget. He was to have made his request yesterday afternoon, the decision on which was forthcoming too late for publication in this week's edition. On the face of it, Wayne county's request for added revenues over the 6 mills they got last year, predicted, however, some tough sledding for the WCTAB. It's no secret that if the county gets the additional 4 mill they're asking for it's going to deal public education a stiff blow, inasmuch as they'd be taking added revenue directly from the school districts throughout the county. Educators have risen in bitter protest to limiting the schools' share of county revenues to feed the county administrative and service "machines." It has now boiled down to a question of whether education or county government comes first. Revenues from the $6,224,911,000 tax worth of Wayne county are divided three ways—between the school districts, townships and county government. On the 15-mill county tax base the school here gets $8 per $1,000 as its share, Plymouth township $1 and Wayne county $6. A $236,703,000 evaluation increase this year will give county government an additional $1,432,000 over last year. Should school officials here fail to get the added revenue, they are faced with trimming the building, ground and equipment accounts to near zero. In addition

Anti-Rabies Dog Clinic to be Held on May 16 & 23

Dog licenses are currently being issued here at the city hall. But before a pet owner can get the 1953 tag he must first have had his dog vaccinated against rabies.

This was the substance of an announcement that an anti-rabies vaccination clinic will be held at the city fire department on May 16 and again on May 23, from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. on both days.

The 1953 dog tag will be issued to the pet owner at the vaccination station. Local authorities urged pet owners to take advantage of the city-sponsored clinic. Since it was originated five years ago "we haven't had a rabid dog within the city limits," Police Chief Carl Greenlee said.

Under a dog ordinance here, pet owners are required to have their dogs immunized against rabies before a license can be issued. Persons who have had their pets inoculated by veterinarians elsewhere than at the clinic must present a vaccination certificate when buying the dog license.

May 31 has been set as the deadline by the city for issuing dog licenses.

Re-Appoint Deyo as City Attorney

Harry M. Deyo was last week re-appointed as city attorney by Mayor Russell M. Daane. The announcement came as city commissioners convened for a regular bi-weekly session. Deyo has been legal advisor to the city since 1949. His latest appointment runs for a two-year period. A Detroit attorney, Deyo resides here at 808 Church street.

Arlen Calls for City Commissioners To Create Engineering Department

In an appeal to fellow city commissioners at Monday night's 1953-54 budget hearing Frank Arlen called for serious consideration to be given to the establishment of a competent engineering department. His urging came on the eve of approval of the fiscal budget which goes before the commissioners for final assy next Monday night. Citing the mounting engineering problems and the great cost of hiring consulting engineering firms (City Manager Al Glassford estimated that $32,000 will be paid to consultants to map out the city's half-million-dollar projected street program), Arlen pointed out that a city engineering department would "help to provide construction projects at a lower cost." "A city engineering department would have the interests of Plymouth at heart in planning all projects and could jell plans before calling on consultants," he said. Pointing out that this would not do away with the need for hiring consultants, Arlen said "it is somewhat like a family physician who uses specialized technicians to help diagnose and cure the ills of his patient." The main commission body, however did not go along with Arlen's recommendation to allocate funds in the 1953-54 budget for an engineering department. Glassford later pointed out that an attempt has been made to hire an engineer in the past but that the shortage of compe-

Trustee Seekers Have Until May 9 to File Petitions

If you—the qualified elector of the Plymouth Township school district—are going to seek a trustee seat on the board of education, you have nine more days in which to file a nomination petition. Two of five school board trustee sets go before the school district electorate here when the annual school election is held on June 8. To qualify for the legislative-administrative posts, petitioners must: 1) Be a resident, qualified voter. 2) Have filed a nomination petition with the school board secretary by 4 p. m. on May 9 bearing the signatures of at least 50 but not more than 75 names of qualified voters. Each nomination petition must bear the signatures of the circulator and be registered with a notary public. Petitioners' forms may be obtained at the superintendent's office each school day between 8 a. m. and 4:30 p. m.

City's Worth Set at $13,766,540

A net gain in assessed evaluation of $225,250 over 1952 was recorded by the city last week following an official announcement that Plymouth's total worth for 1953 had been set at $13,766,540. The net gain climbed some $45,000 more than was earlier estimated in the 1953-1954 fiscal budget report. The total gain, added to the 1952 assessed evaluation of $13,541,290, will provide for a summer tax levy of $206,490. The additional revenues going into city coffers will amount to $3,378. Broken down, the 1953 evaluation sets real property worth at $9,786,980 with personal property being set at $3,979,560. The slight evaluation gain here was due to a $147,940 decline in personal property worth. Real property evaluations more than made up that deficit when it exceeded the 1952 figure of $9,424,270.

Northville Eagles Plan 7th Anniversary Event

The Northville Aerie 2504 of the Fraternal Order of Eagles will celebrate their 7th anniversary Sunday, May 3, at the V.F.W. hall on Plymouth avenue in Northville. Featured as a part of the annual event will be an Italian spaghetti dinner from 1 to 6 p. m. Other refreshments will also be served. There will be dancing from 8 to 12 p. m. to the music of the 4-H club orchestra from Wayne. A floor show will feature stars of television's Starlit Stairway. The public is invited to attend the event.

Traffic Congestion, Lack of Off-Street Parking Seen as Economic Threat to City

Off-street parking and now traffic congestion—they both loom as a double threat that could deliver a stinging blow to the city's economic-business life. Seen as the latest of these threats, becoming more acute every week, is traffic congestion. Safety Engineer Arthur W. Knoke, currently surveying the city's traffic problems, declared in an interview that more than 20 per cent of traffic flowing north and south on Main street is thru traffic using the thoroughfare just to get from one end of the city limits to the other. During the rush hours (at noon and again from 4 p. m. to 5 p. m.) more than 1,200 cars an hour ply the Main street thoroughfare. In places, traffic jams up for more than a block, overlapping street signals. With left and right hand turns permitted, there are many instances when just two or three vehicles "escape" at one time through the block signals on Main street at Penniman and Ann Arbor trail. Whether or not traffic congestion has caused some decline of Plymouth as a shopping center so far is a matter of speculation. But Knoke indicated that someone is going to get hurt if judicious decisions aren't made soon to keep traffic flowing. "The logical thing," he said, "is to shunt thru traffic away from shopping centers." Though his survey, under the sponsorship of the Automobile Club of Michigan, is some two weeks away from completion, Knoke suggested a system of one-way streets. He said he would call for improvement of thoroughfares recommended as main arteries. Indications are that Farmer to Harvey and Blanche streets will be named to carry west and east-bound traffic, respectively. Knoke's recommendations will be forwarded to the city in report form some three weeks from now. They will be reviewed by the city subject to being adopted or rejected. Knoke is acting in an unofficial advisory capacity to the city. His survey was made at the request of the Chamber of Commerce. At one point in his discussion, Knoke said that "the city has given away some valuable street property." He was referring to a block-long section of Blanche between Amelia and Theodore that was given away by the city some 10 years ago. It would be this street that would serve as an eastbound artery. Instead of traf-

Northville Hospital Plans Program to Acquaint Community With Work

On coming into Northville State hospital, one would first be amazed at its structure. It is not like what one would consider a mental hospital to be. Sunlight and fresh air streams through the modern designed glass windows. When you come into its spacious lobby, and go through the well lighted pastel colored halls and wards, (18 various shades were used), you see people sewing, enjoying various recreational activities, working, or busily occupied in one of the hospital's many programs. On the wards, many of the same conveniences you enjoy, can be found also.

The hospital is continually growing and within the next six to eight years there will be over 20 buildings in which 3,500 patients will be receiving care and treatment. In the coming year another 500 beds will be ready for occupancy. The administrations unit, 80 beds, will be opened soon. When completed the treatment center at Northville State hospital could be considered a community within a community with its 3,500 patients and 1,200 staff.

In talking with Dr. Philip N. Brown about the overall hospital program, he states that, "The Northville State hospital is being constructed at an opportune time in this period of enlightenment of the public, and it is the highest aim of this hospital to aid, abet, and teach the policies of sound mental health, to prevent wherever possible the development of mental illness, and to cure as rapidly and effectively as can humanly be done, those so afflicted."

"For those who are committed to our care for treatment and cure, we shall strive to bring our rehabilitation program to the highest degree possible in the care of the mentally ill. We are far removed from the days of bedlam and all the horrors of the asylums. Mental patients are individuals, just as you and I, with all the pride, sensitiveness and inherent goodness which are found in every human being. Here at Northville, they shall be treated with all the respect, courtesy, and kindness which are due our fellow man."

"Every modern method of treatment shall be used to effect a cure in our patients, and with a capable, well-trained staff and all of the newest modes of therapy at our disposal, we shall strive to cure a very large percentage of the ill people who come to us, and where recovery is in some cases impossible, we shall attempt to make these individuals as comfortable as possible in their illness and perhaps rehabilitate them to a point where they can be partially self-supporting and take their place in society."

In keeping with the modern physical surroundings, the staff has devised a modern, progressive program of patient care and treatment. One of the most important aspects of the treatment program is the use of the team approach when working with patients. The modern psychiatric nurse, an occupational therapist and other staff members work with the patients. These people work together as a team, sharing information and ideas about patients, so that each patient can be cured and returned to the community in the shortest possible time.

Team work is not only a responsibility of the hospital, but also that of the newly added team member, the community. In order to acquaint the public with what Northville State hospital is doing to combat America's number one health problem, mental illness, special programs have been planned during Mental Health week, May 3 through May 9. On May 2 at 12:30 p.m. over WJR's "Topic for the Day", you will hear how the psychiatric nurses and aides care for patients at Northville. On May 5 at 1:30 over the WJLB "For Your Information", the clinical team will present the story of a new admission, and on May 8, Open House will be held from 9 a.m. through 3:30 p.m. at Northville State hospital. During open house, tours of the hospital will be made, color movies of patient activities will be shown, and there will be lectures by clinical team members on the treatment program at Northville State hospital. The staff cordially invites you to come out to see and hear what your hospital is doing to help the mentally ill get well.

LETTER BOX

To the Editor:

Monday afternoon of this week the Plymouth police ticketed a car on Harding for being parked facing the wrong direction. Since the street is seldom used by any one except its own residents, since such parking is quite harmless on a traffic-free back thoroughfare, and since such parking has continued for 12 years to my knowledge, undisturbed by any one and with no harm to anyone, the question naturally arises—why such sudden interest by the police in the parking on a quiet back street?

About 7 Monday evening, two policemen again swept through Harding street area depositing illegal parking tickets right and left. The two policemen were armed with a pad of approximately 100 pre-printed tickets. The city's answer through its top officials is that the laws are going to be enforced, or else!

If that is true, why don't you enforce the law against double parking that is almost continuous in front of the theaters and post office?

Why don't you ticket the cars and trucks that park illegally in the downtown alley day after day? In one spot round 5 to 5:30 daily and other places any time of the day. Why special parking privileges for some where illegal parking is dangerous and causes congestion?

Why don't you protect pedestrians by enforcing the law against driving cars through the Penniman avenue pedestrian alley?

Why don't you enforce the laws against speeding? Main street, Harvey, Church and Ann Arbor trail are highly dangerous speedways.

Why don't you enforce the laws against vandalism?

Space will not permit asking WHY you do not enforce many laws too numerous to mention.

Isn't it a waste of the tax-payers dollar to hire 2 policemen to motor around back streets ticketing harmless parking, when their services are desperately needed where there is congestion, speeding, and danger?

We suggest that the City Hall review its objectives in law enforcement.

This is not a criticism of our individual policemen when they waste their time on the unimportant, the trivial, and the harmless, they are only following orders. We suggest that in the future their orders call for enforcement of our important safety laws first.

Locti AAUW Studies International Relations

The international relations study group of the American Association of University Women met at the home of Mrs. Walter Nichol, last week. The program was under the direction of Mrs. Nichol, chairman of the group.

Anyone wishing to attend the Open House at Northville should contact Mrs. Warren Worth, 1716-J, for transportation. Three prominent educators will address the annual state convention of the American Association of University Women, in Muskegon on May 1 and 2, it was announced.

More than 300 women from all parts of the state are expected to attend the annual meeting. In addition to the sessions at which the featured speakers will be presented, two business sessions and a series of seminar-type group discussions are planned. The convention also will elect a new state president and secretary for two-year terms.

CARL HARTWICK, right, of Northville rd. is shown introducing his daughter, Mary Lou "Skeet" McDonald, the hillbilly singer of TV, radio and Capital Record fame. "Skeet" and Carl grew up and attended school together in the little community of Greenway, Arkansas and later lost track of each other until Monday evening when "Skeet" called on the phone to say he was making a week of personal appearances in Detroit. McDonald who has been in Hollywood, California, for the past two-and-one-half years, appears regularly on Station KXLA, Pasadena. He made the first recording of "Don't let the stars get in your eyes" which netted him royalties from over a million sales.

Deletion of Grant Seen as Threat to Symphony

The proposed deletion of the $300,000 adult education appropriation from the state School Aid bill "would hurt us considerably," said Herbert Woolweaver, director of adult education and recreation. "The Plymouth Symphony orchestra would be hardest hit if the deletion is made," he added.

The Senate education committee deleted the appropriation, and the School Aid bill will come to the floor of the Senate some time this week. Should it pass, the Plymouth adult education department would stand to lose the $1200 grant it receives from the state.

Though exact figures were not available, approximately $700 of this money is allocated to the Symphony orchestra principally to pay the conductor, Wayne Dunlap. Woolweaver said that the grant was applied for in the first place with the principal idea of getting help for the Symphony orchestra. This was three years ago.

At that time adult education courses were underway and most were self-supporting. The many outsiders who participate in the classes in Plymouth help pay for the courses, Woolweaver pointed out. Without the state grant, he said, courses would continue, but it is likely that the prices would have to be increased in order to pay the teachers adequately.

At present all teachers of adult education courses, of which the Symphony orchestra is one, receive $4 an hour for their work. It is necessary to pay comparatively high wages to get people to come out and teach at night, Woolweaver said. A small allowance is also made for the distance they must travel.

Because the symphony actually spends more hours in session, this is the reason for the larger allocation to the Symphony orchestra. Besides the salary paid to Wayne Dunlap, a recorder also receives approximately $50 for keeping the books of the orchestra, Woolweaver said. An additional amount is given the orchestra for music, and to use however they deem necessary.

Money is paid out to the various teachers by the Board of Education. The Board of Education is not required to give any state aid money to the Symphony or other classes, Woolweaver said. But because we got the grant principally for the orchestra, and since payment is made on the basis of participation hours, Woolweaver said, they get the largest portion of the state aid money.

The Theatre Guild receives about $141 of the money granted by the state as well. Any extra money goes into the Board of Education general fund.

Money is appropriated by the state on a unit basis. A unit is 720 hours spent by students in classes. The state figures the total units in the state and divides the money equally. This generally amounts to about $75 per unit. Plymouth then receives her grant on the basis of attendance hours.

An adult education and recreation commission works in an advisory capacity. Their recommendations are made to the director, Woolweaver. The commission made up of various representatives of the Plymouth Township, Ed Dobbs, secretary, M. Bernard Curtis, Craig Taylor, from Northville township; Cl. Rucker, Plymouth township; Mrs. R. D. Willoughby, Board of Education; Mrs. Jack Taylor, Plymouth; and Russell Isbister, Superintendent of school. The persons are appointed by the Board of Education to serve in this capacity.

"Should we lose the appropriation," Woolweaver emphasized, "the Symphony orchestra would not fold." However, some means would have to be found for paying the director, he added. The grant is a boom for the orchestra, Woolweaver said, and it also encourages the Theatre Guild.

"Though the loss of the grant would hurt us financially," he added, "none of our operations would be discontinued because of it."

To Fete Safety Patrol Boys For Guarding Pupils

About 130 safety patrol boys from public and parochial schools throughout the city will be guests of the Detroit Tigers when they play Washington in Briggs Stadium on May 6.

The invitation was extended by the Detroit Baseball company who invited the youths at the behest of Robert McAllister, chairman of the safety committee of the Smith school Parent-Teacher association.

McAllister said 10 chaperones will accompany the youths who will be taken to the stadium in school buses.

"I'm very interested in the safety patrol boys," McAllister said. "For 270 days of the year they guide their schoolmates safely across the city's streets. They certainly deserve a slap on the back for the excellent work they are doing," McAllister commented.

Safety patrol boys from Our Lady of Good Council and L'Heran schools and Smith, Bird and Starkweather Elementary grades will share in the day-long outing.

War Prisoner Tells Experience To Kiwanians

Life in a German prisoner of war camp was pictured Tuesday evening for members of the Plymouth Kiwanis club, by guest speaker Robert Yuell of the Strathmore Kiwanis club of Detroit.

A navigator during World War II, Yuell was shot down over Austria and later confined to an air corps prisoner camp in Germany. Referring only lightly to the treatment received by the prisoners as "not bad", Yuell dwelled on the more humorous side of life in an enemy prisoner camp.

"The American youth can always seem to make the best of a situation and this certainly held true in our POW camp," he said. He told of the "businesses" that many of the more ingenious prisoners started, trading cigarettes for higher-valued food. In his case, Yuell revealed how he set about baking cup cakes and "selling" them to other prisoners for chocolate, etc. "Business got so good that we had to hire an extra baker," a purchasing agent and a salesman," he said.

Another pastime which served to take their minds off their imprisonment was figuring out the pay they would receive for years to come, depending on how long the war lasted. "I had my income charted until 1949 and if the war had lasted that long I figured I would have enough money to retire," he laughed. "Through it all, however, the most memorial occasion to me was our liberation by the Russians when we looked outside and saw, instead of the swastika, the American flag flying above the prison," he concluded. Yuell was presented to the group by Program Chairman Ed Campbell.

"Hidden" Key Money Stolen From Local Shop

Police authorities here today are investigating an illegal entry and theft from Curley's Barber Shop of 137 West Liberty street sometime last Thursday night.

Entry was gained by removing a key from a glass jar hidden behind a rain barrel adjacent to the shop's front door.

Esten J. Gray, the shop's owner, was reported as having said $50 was stolen from his hiding place in a powder box stored on a mirrored shelf.

Nothing else other than the key was stolen. The thief pocketed it after thoughtfully locking the door behind him.

Traffic Congestion

fic exiting on Starkweather, however, it would have to exit on Theodore as a result of the give-away.

Knoske suggested that traffic problems may become so acute in the future that Main street might even have to be zoned one-way. In view of the city's layout, he called this "a good suggestion."

Knoske was reported as having said that Plymouth ranks high among cities of its size throughout the state in traffic fatalities here in some four years. Of the recorded 85 traffic accidents here, three persons, in 1952, were reported as severely injured.

Knoske did not comment at this time on the adequacy of off-street parking facilities. Plymouth has off-street facilities to park less than 270 cars at one time. Livonia shopping centers now under construction will provide parking stalls for 5,000 cars. Some 2,000 of these stalls will open when a major shopping center at Farmington and Plymouth roads opens late this year.

Farther to the North, at Greenfield and Eight Mile road, the J. L. Hudson company now has under construction its "Northland Center" a three-story department store surrounded by some 70 other buildings. The center will park 7,500 cars when completed within a year. Expanded facilities will increase that number to 12,000.

Up to the present time, the city has not allocated additional funds to expand off-street parking here. This was noted some three weeks ago by Edwin A. Schrader, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce's parking committee.

He told that city officials here were adamant in their feeling that the community would reject a general bond issue for expanding the number of parking stalls. The major stumbling block was said to revolve around a "legal means" and limited alternatives for financing the heavy cost projects.

Schrader said he felt that businessmen here who rent their property or those who occupy it are not inclined to take the parking problem under their wing and develop parking facilities. He charged that most landlords become "disinterested" in putting funds into their property to increase the revenues of their tenants, but just content with present income, not directly concerned with expansion.

Special assessments on businessmen who would benefit was seen by Schrader as one possible solution to parking lot expansion here. He said the city assessor was asked to study this financing alternative to uncover pro-rata costs over a period of five years.

daughter resided. Pohick church and the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. At each site a brief ceremony was performed. Highlight was the installation of national officers at the Pohick church, church of George Washington. Here Robert Willoughby, along with other officers, took the oath of office.

The Plymouth Corners society of the C.A.R. donated a baby's rattle to the C.A.R. museum. The rattle belonged to the family of Mrs. Elinor Haines, and was brought to this country by a sea captain ancestor who settled on Statten Island.

The Daughter's of the American Revolution convened from April 19 to 24. The visiting D.A.R.'s had a very full program during their six-day session. The climax of the congress was the White House reception where they had a chance to meet Mrs. Eisenhower. Though the lines of women were long, Mrs. Willoughby met the "first lady" during the reception. Mrs. Willoughby said that Mrs. Eisenhower seemed very refreshed in spite of the fact she had been meeting people for hours.

Another highlight of the convention was the traditional parade of ices during the banquet. Ice was molded into one-foot-high replicas, like ones of the Lincoln and Washington Monuments. Mrs. Deyo said the most impressive was a replica of the Constitution hall, showing the burning of the mortgage in red. At the C.A.R. banquet later in the week, this ice replica showed a real fire to personify the burning.

The D.A.R.s dedicated the Bell tower at Valley Forge and turned it over to the vestry of the church. The convention also passed several important resolutions. One which Mrs. Deyo thought needed public clarification was the D.A.R.'s stand on the United Nations. They aim to keep Constitutional government in this country and keep the United Nations in the form and for the purpose it was originally intended. Mrs. Deyo said, namely as a group of sovereign nations working together. The D.A.R. is not against the United Nations, but is against giving up any national sovereignty to a world government.

Tickets for "Ladies Night" of the Men's Brotherhood of the First Presbyterian church may be reserved through the church office. The dinner will be on May 7 at 6:30 p.m.

School Seeks

ition, Isbister said, "we'll have to go without added books and instructional equipment if the WCTAB turns down our request."

The biggest hike in the 1953-1954 budget will be the cost of teachers' salaries. That account takes an uphill climb of $73,000. About 10 new teachers have been added to bring to full complement the teaching staff of 14 who will head instructional-administrative posts in the school's new Edna M. Allen school, which is scheduled to open its doors next September.

Nearly a $15,000 increase was also noted in the maintenance control account which reflected increased operational costs as did most other accounts in the budget.

Absent from the budget is a working capital reserve that presumably could be held for emergency use if state-aid payments were not forthcoming when due. For this, as the tentative budget shows, there is just not enough money to go around.

The budget items with last year's figures in parenthesis follow: Administrative control, $31,950 ($30,300); instructional control $637,925 of which $538,475 is for teachers' salaries ($551,050 with $465,000 for instruction); Operation, $132,100 ($117,375); maintenance control, $13,500 ($13,200); fixed charges, $10,020 ($7,500); auxiliary services, $58,400 ($51,400); capital outlay control, $11,600 ($11,600).

Estimated revenues for the 1953-1954 fiscal year are gained through these sources: Local taxes (current and delinquent) $395,000; State aid, primary and sales tax monies, $404,500; transportation, $28,000; tuition, $28,000; vocational and special education, $10,000; and miscellaneous, $2,500.

Mayor Daane

a half-block long strip some 100 feet in width. Daane did not indicate just when this purchase would be made.

The 1953-1954 budget discloses that of the $22,400 set aside in the parking fund, no monies have been allocated to buy additional land for the off-street parking stalls.

In its plea to the city, the Chamber requested that efforts be made to pare down overhead costs wherever possible. Its representatives asked that specific allocations of surplus funds be earmarked for acquisition of new off-street properties. This came after a Chamber declaration to commissioners that "we need additional parking."

Its chairman, Edwin A. Schrader and Jay Rucker in a joint statement said "it is generally known that we have a serious problem to face in expanding parking facilities."

Commissioners made no final decisions to allocate or add additional revenues to the parking fund.

Daane pointed that the heavy burdens of parking lot purchases last year left the city with areas that now have to be improved with paving, parking islands and meters. Some $8,050 has been set aside in the 1953-1954 budget for this purpose.

A final decision on parking lot allocations will be forthcoming by next Monday. City Commissioners met in a regular bi-weekly session to put their final stamp of approval on the entire budget.

The Chamber in another move at the budgetary hearing succeeded in urging commissioners to increase Christmas lightings' allocations by $100.

Chamber secretary, Nat Sibbold, said Tuesday that it had been agreed the city would shoulder a larger burden in helping pay the costs of installing Christmas lights throughout the city.

Sibbold said that it appears that if the Chamber tackles the whole lighting program, including that portion assumed in previous years by the city, its city-sponsored allocations will increase in proportion with the savings realized.

The Chamber had asked for an outright grant of $800, the amount that is now set aside. What portion of the $800 the Chamber will get is not clear at this time.

Sibbold indicated that it will be discussed later when the Chamber "presents a concrete lighting program mutually acceptable."

In establishing the light program policy, Sibbold said that the Chamber would share two-thirds of the total cost at $2,400. In its current drive for funds, the Chamber hopes to eradicate a $1,000 deficit still pending from the 1951 Christmas season, when it spent some $5,000 to buy and install the multi-colored lights.

The Ladies Aid Society of St. Peter's Lutheran church will meet on Wednesday afternoon, May 6 at 1:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Floyd Reddeman on Blunk street.

Tuesday evening, May 5 at 6:30 p.m. the Newburg Methodist Woman's Society of Christian Service will meet with the Wesleyan Service Guild at the Newburg hall. All women of the church are cordially invited.

SPUR STUDY TO SET UP GARBAGE AUTHORITY

18 Municipalities Join In Inter-City Planning Council

Months ago someone got the idea that if tightly budgeted communities (ordinarily notoriously provincial in their feeling) got together they mutually could solve their garbage-rubbish disposal problems.

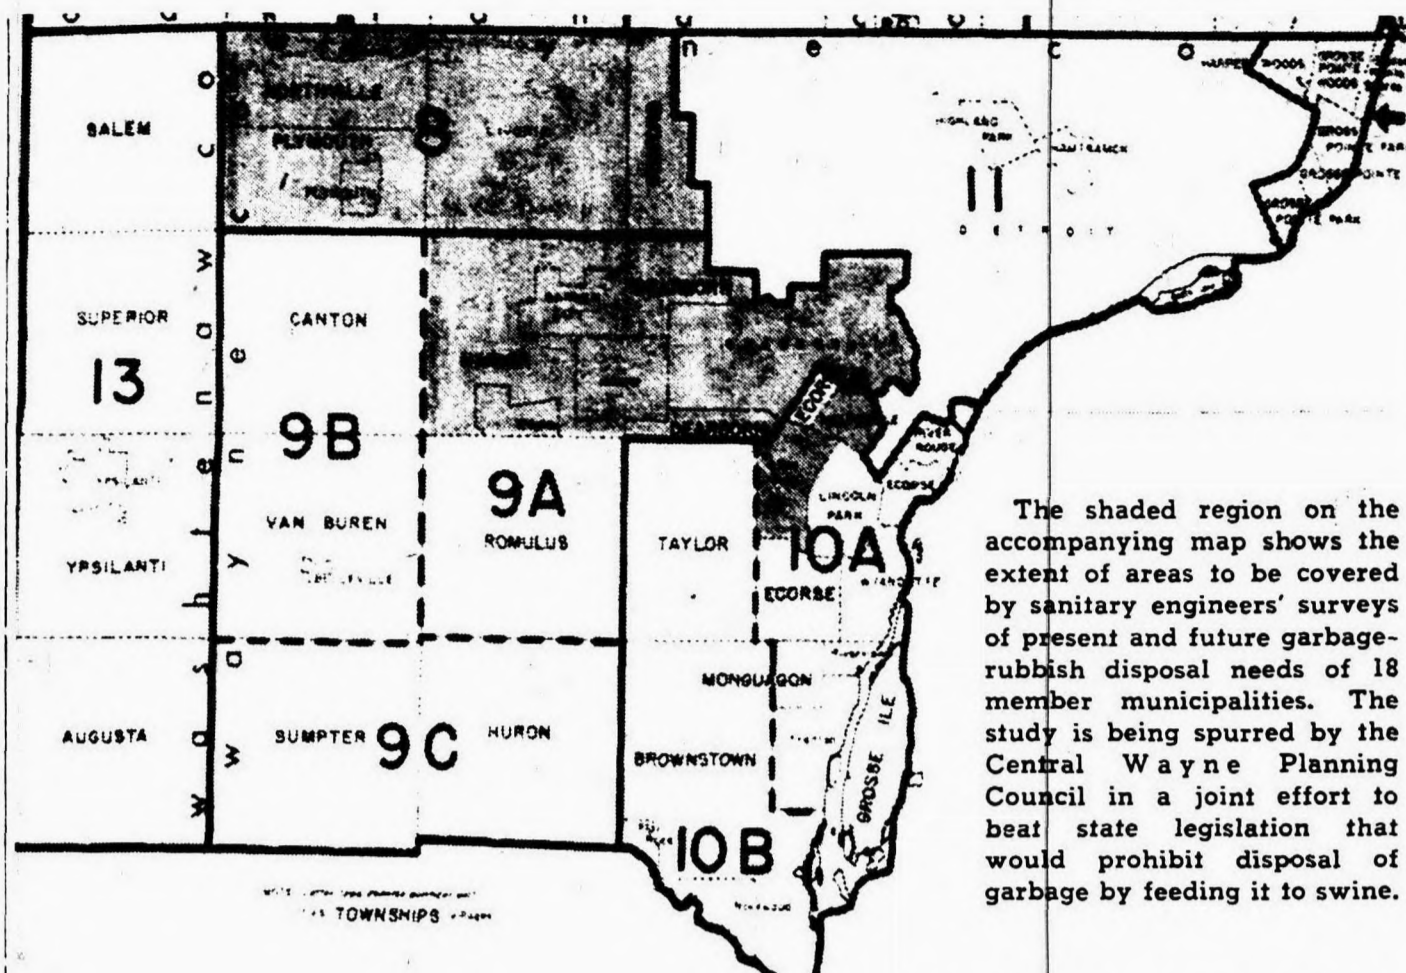

The nucleus of that idea boomed into what is now called the Central Wayne Planning Council. It has a powerful membership of 18 Wayne county municipalities and the active support and endorsement of the Michigan Municipal League, Wayne County Department of Health and the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission.

Together these groups (Plymouth is represented) are intent in solving rubbish and garbage disposal problems for once and for all.

In their latest actions the CWPC and its participating membership are authorizing a sanitary engineer's study of the present and projected disposal facilities for each of the communities involved.

Plymouth entered into the projected study when commissioners last week authorized a $230 appropriation as its share of the per capita study costs.

When the study is completed this is what it will mean to resi-

The shaded region on the accompanying map shows the extent of areas to be covered by sanitary engineers' surveys of present and future garbage-rubbish disposal needs of 18 member municipalities. The study is being spurred by the Central Wayne Planning Council in a joint effort to beat state legislation that would prohibit disposal of garbage by feeding it to swine.

dents here, as observed by City Manager Glassford.

1) It will determine whether or not the city should join the inter-community garbage-rubbish authority for accrued benefits.

2) It will reveal to authorities here just what to expect in terms of disposing garbage-rubbish most economically—whether a sanitary fill or an incinerator would be less expensive on the basis of present and future needs.

The CWPC is egging on the study on the eve of what is feared will be state legislation to prohibit the feeding of raw garbage to swine. Some 60 per cent of the communities involved dispose of their garbage this way.

The two alternatives open to the 18 municipalities are to band together to either establish a joint authority setting up an incinerator or sanitary fill disposal system.

Glassford, whose job it is to hire the engineer survey team and handle CWPC finances assigned to the survey, said "I am hopeful there will be a ready solution to increase the service to local residents."

In view of outlying areas tightly zoned against a sanitary fill disposal system, the communities may well head up construction of area incinerators.

Earlier estimates placed the cost for such an incinerator that could be used by Plymouth at some $500,000. Revenue bonds would be issued without touching taxpayers' pocketbooks here, with the cost of the incinerator and its operation liquidated by per tonnage levies made by the authorities on individual users.

Whether engineers favor a sanitary fill or incinerator authority, Glassford lauds the inter-community study group that may well set a precedent in breaking down provincial barriers by establishing what he calls "a feeling of mutuality."

Participating in the hands-across-the-table-project are these communities:

Allen Park, Dearborn, Dearborn township, Detroit, Ecorse, Garden City, Inkster, Livonia, Melvindale, Nankin township, Northville, Northville township, Plymouth, Plymouth township, River Rouge, Trenton, Wayne, Wyandotte, and the Southeastern Oakland County Garbage and Rubbish Disposal authority.

The Women's Society of Christian Service, of the Newburg Methodist church will meet at the church hall on Tuesday, May 5, at 8 o'clock in the evening. The speaker for the evening will be Mrs. Ivan Hodgson of Northville. She will give a monologue of African palaver and will show pictures of an African Mission. The Wesleyan Service Guild will be the guests of the evening. Refreshments will be served and everyone is welcome.

...styling of the future—at the XL-500 exhibit

The XL-500, an experimental model only, is an exploration into the future as engineers and designers see it. It is presented here as a real preview of "Thinking for the Future."
Its remarkable styling is distinguished by a scarlet Fiberglas body and a glareproof, heat-resistant roof. The interior, a blaze of red and white leather, can comfortably accommodate four adult passengers. Among advanced features designed into the interior are push buttons to operate not only conventional driving controls, but a host of new developments as well. To power the XL-500, would be a still mightier version of today's famous Lincoln V-205 engine.
