LeRoy C. Jewell Succumbs to Heart Ailment

LeRoy C. Jewell of 39859 Ann Arbor road died last Saturday at his Plymouth township home following a brief illness. He was 62.

Mr. Jewell was prominent in business here for 35 years. He shared ownership in the Jewell-Blaich Plumbing and Heating concern from 1918 to 1943. The firm's name was changed to Derward Jewell Plumbing & Heating in 1947.

Active in Plymouth township affairs, Mr. Jewell was chairman of the Zoning Board from 1951 to 1953. He was a former fire chief helping organize the township's fire department in 1948. He was an auxiliary fireman for the city from 1912 up to his death.

A lifelong resident of the township, he was born on September 9, 1890, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse W. Jewell.

He was a past president of the Michigan Pony club and Metropolitan club and held membership in the Masons, Plymouth Rock lodge 47, F & AM, and Order of the Eastern Star. He was also a member of the Plymouth Goodfellows club and First Presbyterian church here.

Funeral services were held Tuesday from the Schrader Funeral home. Reverend Melbourne I. Johnson, pastor of the First Methodist church officiated.

Booth, Caplin Win in School Board Race

ROY R. LINDSAY, left, is Plymouth township's new supervisor. He is shown receiving a congratulatory handshake from Zach E. Holmes, treasurer, after being appointed by the four-man Township board last Monday night. Lindsay succeeds Charles H. Rathburn, Jr., who died nine days ago following a brief illness.

Carl Caplin and Horton B. Booth, Jr. in Monday's school board election outpolled eight other candidates to capture two trustee seats becoming vacant on July first.

Booth racked up a plurality of 203 while Caplin upset his closest opposition with a tally of 177 votes. Caplin and Booth will replace Secretary Kenneth L. Hulsing and Wallace W. Laury. Both incumbents chose not to seek re-election.

Caplin, who resides at 46000 Joy road, is owner of a haberdashery here. He has resided in Plymouth since moving from Ypsilanti in 1936 where he attended Michigan State Normal college. Caplin has two sons, Tyler, 17, and Eric, 14, both attending Plymouth public schools.

Booth ascends to the Board of Education after having played an active role in the School-Community Planning group, an official school board committee that studies varying schools' problems and makes its recommendation to the board.

A district representative for the Industrial Division of the American Thread company, Booth has resided here since 1946. He is a native of Long Island, New York, and attended Union College at Schenectady for two years. Booth is the father of two daughters, Jacqueline, 13, and Barbara 11. He resides at 1325 Sheridan.

Just 6.8 per cent of some 8,000 electors trekked to the polls to score votes for their favorite candidates.

Lamont C. BeGole, chairman of the Board of Election Inspectors, said voting was slow throughout the day when 319 votes had been cast up to 5:30 p. m. A sudden surge of voters up till the time polls closed at 8 p. m. threatened to tie up election machinery until school officials ordered another clerk to duty to help process the 228 who cast their votes in little over a two-hour period.

Caplin outpolled his nearest opponent, Mrs. Alice V. Strong, by a narrow margin of 12 votes. Mrs. Strong polled 165.

Votes cast for the seven other candidates are listed.

- Harold J. Belch 60
- Esther Bertha Franklin 131
- Kathryn E. Huber 123
- Robert J. McAllister 62
- Martin M. Schomberger 42

Archdiocese Transfers Reverend Father William Mooney to Ypsilanti

William P. Mooney, Reverend Father of Our Lady of Good Counsel school, announced Monday he will be transferred on June 26 to Ypsilanti where he will head St. John's Catholic church.

The transfer order comes from the Archdiocese of Detroit signed by Edward Cardinal Mooney.

The Archdiocese announced at this same time that The Reverend Father Francis Byrne from Imlay City (Michigan) would head the Plymouth pastorate.

Father Byrne has been in charge of St. John The Baptist church at Imlay City.

For Father Mooney it ends an 11-year tenure here during which time he saw constructed under his leadership the $292,000 Counsel school, a church, convent and Sisters' quarters, completed in 1949.

"Our life is somewhat like a fireman's, you don't know what you'll see until you get there," Father Mooney commented. "He will head the Catholic pastorate in Ypsilanti having similar church-school facilities. The Diocese currently has a huge construction project underway there."

Speaking briefly of his work since coming here in November, 1942, Father Mooney said "I needed a Catholic school here badly. The Church on Union street had burned down in 1932."

He commented that the success of Our Lady of Good Counsel school was "brought about by the wholehearted cooperation of all Catholic people here."

The Good Counsel school here is an elementary, co-educational unit for 310 youths in first through eighth grades. Its teaching staff consists of five Sisters and two lay instructors.

Father Mooney received his theological training at Collegio Angelico in Rome. He was ordained in 1927. Previously he attended Fordham University where he received B. A. and M. A. degrees.

He will deliver his final Sunday service on June 21, taking over administrative-clergy reins at Ypsilanti the following Friday.

Barn, Farm Machinery Destroyed by Fire

Firemen from four township fire departments battled for more than four hours Sunday night in a vain effort to save a large barn destroyed by flames at 43385 Geddes road.

The barn, owned by Fred Bauer, toppled in on valuable farm machinery. Destroyed in the barn were 80 bales of straw, six tons of hay, a cultivator and plow. Bauer said only $2,000 of the loss was insured.

Straw was discovered ablaze in the rear of the building by the son of Mortie Bennett who rents the farm. It spread quickly and enveloped the entire barn in minutes.

Cause of the blaze was not determined.

Township fire departments from Plymouth, Canton, Van Buren and Superior townships responded to the call. They poured over 6,000 gallons of water on the blazing inferno.

Gasoline Flames Severely Burn Farm Employee

Robert Munn, 41, of 94590 North Territorial road, yesterday was burned severely about both legs after gasoline he was using to refuel a tractor spilled about him and caught fire.

He was rushed to Sessions hospital in Northville after being administered first aid by Plymouth firefighters called to the scene in answer to the emergency call received by the city. Munn's condition was reported as "satisfactory" by hospital authorities.

Munn is an employee at the North Territorial road farm owned by Robert D. Willoughby. Willoughby said he was informed the tractor, that caught fire simultaneously, was destroyed by the flames. Costing some $3,000, the tractor is insured for $1,000.

The Plymouth Extension group will meet on Friday evening, June 12 in the home of Mrs. Arthur Karnatz on Kellogg.

Hold Those Photographers!

Mr. Sterling Eaton, Editor The Plymouth Mail, Plymouth, Michigan

June 4, 1953

Dear Mr. Eaton:

For 20 years I have enjoyed having the Mail sent to me here in Tulsa, but never in all that time have I found such pleasure as since you have adopted the policy of having more, better, and bigger pictures. In the past dozen issues I've seen likenesses of my mother, my niece and nephew, Marg Dunning, Barbara Stecker, Mrs. Austin Whipple, Ada Murray, Mrs. Schrader and Edwin Schrader, Loren Goodale—all people I knew 'way back when. And they were all recognizable, too. I hope you hang onto those photographers.

Cordially, Mrs. John G. Staudt

Chevrolet Starts Building Nearby Plant in July

The General Motors Corporation announced late last week that construction work on its $45,000,000 Chevrolet spring and bumper plant will get underway early in July.

The firm said it had awarded a grading contract to the J. Rogers Construction company of Detroit to prepare the 130-acre site, located east of Plymouth at Armhein and Eckles Road.

General Motors revealed nearly two months ago its Chevrolet Motor Division would operate the huge installation. It is expected to start production by June, 1954.

Employing a labor force of 8,000 on two shifts, General Motors said 2,000 added workers would be needed. They will be recruited from local and Metropolitan Detroit labor pools.

Glassford Assures That Iron-Stained Murkey Water Only "Temporary"

City water users at least for the next two weeks won't have much choice between the types of drinking water available.

You will either have to settle for murkey, iron-stained tap water or drags of objectionable tasting H₂O.

From a standpoint of healthfulness neither was said to be harmful.

The presence of iron particles in the water and its murkiness has been the subject of numerous telephone calls that have deluged the city hall since early last week.

City Manager Albert F. Glassford informed last Thursday that "it is a temporary condition that will be cleared up within the next two weeks."

He said that it was brought on as contractors dug deep into the Beck road well field to lay horizontal water collecting pipes that will step up water production by 750 gallons a minute.

With construction work at the half-way stage, the city was forced to close down some wells that normally supply water and draw it from a temporary caisson-type of well with booster pumps in three different locations sucking water into mains under necessarily high pressure.

Glassford said the heavy push-pull of well pumps had loosened iron scale and stirred up sediment in water mains throughout the city.

He said "the only alternative water supply we have is a stand-by well located within the city." He indicated that in the face of complaints "it may be necessary to fall back on the temporary well."

Glassford said the only trouble with the standby well is that "it has an objectionable smell and taste." It was this well that sup-

Appoint Roy Lindsay Township Supervisor

Roy R. Lindsay is Plymouth township's new supervisor.

Lindsay last Monday night at a special session of the four-man Township Board was named to succeed Charles H. Rathburn, Jr. who died nine days ago.

He reportedly was picked from a list of three appointees all of whom found as prospective candidates for the elective office, the current term of which runs until April, 1954.

In an interview two days ago

Lindsay said, "I'm going to feel my way along. It's all new for me. I'm trying to fill the shoes of a man (Mr. Rathburn) it is going to be hard to fill. He was an excellent official," Lindsay reflected.

Speaking up briefly on his new job, Lindsay warned that "there isn't any opportunity for development of the township until we get (Detroit) water and sewage."

In effect it touched off his intent to follow up through county channels the two projects started by Rathburn as early as 1937 when Rathburn proposed and got adopted legislation setting up a Water and Sewage committee of the Board of Supervisors.

Lindsay, who currently operates a Realtor firm here, said that he had realized that "it is paramount" the township get water and sewage lines as well as "good and efficient transportation to the Metropolitan Detroit and downtown areas."

He indicated that with these things "the potential of development is unlimited."

He said he thought if the St. Lawrence Waterway is finally approved it would hasten the development of the Plymouth area. "New York would be lost in the shuffle," he declared.

Lindsay, who is 61, moved to Plymouth township from Detroit in 1937 at which time, until 1945, he was employed by the Ford Motor company as a zone manager. A realtor, he established an insurance and real estate firm here which he has operated during the past eight years.

Currently during the past three years Lindsay has headed the township's Board of Review that arbitrates disputes on taxation, helping establish an equitable tax base on individual pieces of property.

Lindsay declared when asked for a statement on township policy that "it's the activities of the board—that's the main issue."

He told, however, that he was "tremendously concerned" with keeping the township free from what he called "any undesirable activities."

In his overall statements Lindsay revealed that there would be no sharp change in township policies established by Rathburn during his continuous tenure in office for more than a quarter of a century.

He was quoted as having said that he plans doing "nothing that 'Charlie' hasn't already outlined."

Ask Phone Rate Raise

The Michigan Bell Telephone Company has asked for a general rate increase throughout its territory which would boost charges for residence service from 1 to 3 cents a day in Plymouth.

In its application with the Public Service Commission at Lansing, the company also asked that individual-line business service rates here be raised about 9 cents a day. The company asked no increase in long-distance rates.

Under the proposed schedules, monthly rates in Plymouth would be increased as follows:

- RESIDENCE SERVICE
- Individual line $4.00 to $4.90.
- Two-party line $3.25 to $4.15.
- Four-party line $2.75 to $3.65.
- Rural line $3.75 to $4.00.
- BUSINESS SERVICE
- Individual line $8.75 to $11.50.
- Two-party line $7.25 to $9.00.
- Rural line $5.75 to $6.75.

Dean Sison, manager here for Michigan Bell, termed the proposed rate increase "essential if we are to continue to maintain a high-quality service." He emphasized that "even with the proposed increase, telephone service still would be a bargain."

Pointing up the company's progress in expanding and improving telephone service here, Sison said that Plymouth customers can now call 54,800 telephones on a local call basis, compared with 2,647 in 1946.

Michigan Economist Forecasts Agricultural Income in '53 and '54

Dr. T. K. Cowden, Head of the Department of Agricultural Economics, Michigan State college at East Lansing, addressing the Eighth Annual Convention of the American Plant Food Council recently predicted that "agricultural net incomes will be lower in 1953 than in 1952 by something like ten percent," that "in 1954 we will likely have some further decline," and following "barring an all-out war... agriculture may be headed for another period similar to that which existed between 1922 and 1929" which was marked by "fairly good industrial activities, one in which farm costs remained relatively high in relation to prices received by farmers."

"It is wholly unrealistic, in my judgment, to expect farm returns to continue at the levels that have existed during most of the past inflationary decade," he said. "From 1942 to 1952 farm prices averaged 107 percent of parity. Parity is that price for farm products that will give them the same purchasing power as they had during the base period, usually 1910-14. We are in danger of worshipping at the shrine of parity to too great a degree. In the 43-year period, from 1910 to 1952, farm prices averaged 95 percent of parity. If we omit the two world war periods, World War I and World War II, farm prices averaged 90 percent of parity. Leaving out the great depression and the war periods, they averaged about 93 percent of parity. It is my judgment that somewhere between 85 and 95 percent of parity is a more normal relationship between prices received and prices paid by farmers than the so-called 100 percent of parity. Now this has nothing to do with what is fair or what the farmers ought to have. I simply think this is a more realistic appraisal of what is likely to exist. Unfortunately I am not one who has a lot of faith in the government's ability to keep prices too far out of line from where they might otherwise be under a more free economic condition. The efficient, well-organized farm that has not gone into debt too heavily at high prices will be able to operate at an average of 90 percent of parity."

Citing estimates that "at least

25 percent output in the United States is directly attributable to the chemical fertilizers used by farmers," Dr. Cowden described the fertilizer industry as "a very important segment of the American agricultural economy" which "has contributed materially to scientific production."

"Agriculture has changed a great deal since pre-World War II," he said. "Farm output has increased around 40 percent. Total man hours used in agriculture have decreased 17 percent. The use of farm machinery has increased 76 percent. The use of major plant foods is up 230 percent. The acres of crop land have remained practically unchanged. Crop production per acre has increased 29 percent. The American people are today virtually eating on science, and they will do so to an even greater degree in the future."

Viewing a long-time outlook for agriculture and assuming no all-out war, the Michigan economist said he did not foresee "a shortage of food in this country" but at the same time did not mean that "all the world will be well fed, well housed, and well clothed." He added that he could not see "a very bright future for the small, inefficient farm."

"Our new technologies in agriculture are requiring more and more capital and larger farms in order to operate efficiently," he emphasized. "This does not mean big corporation farms, but larger commercial family farms. On the other hand, the farmer with an efficient operating unit that is in a position to equip it in terms of modern know-how should be able to get along in a rather satisfactory manner during the next decade."

Dr. Cowden said that "a progressive agriculture with millions of individual farm businessmen making individual decisions as to how to operate their farms, how to adjust to changing conditions in an attempt to obtain the largest profit, is one of the greatest assets that this country possesses." He said that "if farmers insist on high support prices, then they will have to accept the accompanying control" and expressed the opinion that "we have never experienced the type of controls necessary to maintain some of the existing prices duron a local basis has been due largely to the inauguration of extended-area service—a service of particular benefit to rural users because it provides toll-free access to their trading centers.

"Between 1946 and 1952, Michigan Bell spent $20,000,000 to expand and improve service in rural areas. As a result of that huge expenditure we have added more than 97,000 rural telephones, reduced the number of lines with more than eight stations from 44 per cent to 7 per cent, reduced the number of rings heard by rural users, converted 12,000 'crank-type' magnet to instruments to dial or 'lift-the-receiver' type operation; inaugurated extended-area service in about 200 exchanges, and are now serving about 10 telephones per 100 rural establishments compared with approximately 60 in 1946."

Sipson cited an increase of 90 per cent in the overall cost of living since 1940 in contrast with an increase of only 27 per cent in revenues from Michigan Bell rate increases.

He said that "if the price of other products had gone up no more than that of Michigan Bell service, coffee today could be bought for only 27 cents a pound ing a non-inflationary period."

"We need a positive program for the low income farmers in this country," he said. "This cannot be a price program. They do not produce enough for sale to yield satisfactory incomes, even if they receive high prices. This involves education and, for many, opportunities for other types of work; for others, it involves providing an opportunity to become 'more productive' in agriculture."

Again emphasizing that "the fertilizer industry plays an important part in efficient agricultural production," he said that despite the fact that sales have increased rapidly "in many instances the use of fertilizer by farmers has not even come close to approximating the amount recommended by the experts, so your (the industry's) sales should expand."

Underground Fairyland

MADISON, WIS.—Pretty Jean Kieth studies reflections in underground pool in Gem Room of Wisconsin's famous Cave of the Mounds. This subterranean fairyland, 25 miles west of here, has attracted well over 1,000,000 persons in the 14 years since its discovery. Geologists claim the beautiful cavern contains examples of practically every type of limestone cave formation, and some rare shapes and colors of rocks not found in any other known cave.

and the lowest-priced popular automobile for less than $1,000.

"One substantial element of our costs is our wage bill. General wage increases, alone, have amounted to $1.50 for every $1 of rate increases in the same period. During that period wage costs per telephone per month have jumped from $1.54 to $3.39. Further, taxes paid by the company per telephone have increased from 82 cents to $1.26 a month.

"In total, costs per telephones per month are now $6.45, as against $3.86 in 1940.

"As a result of this lag in the price of our service behind the increased costs of providing it, our earnings are about a third of the rate of earnings of outside industry during a period when business activity has been at an all-time high."

we can give you a
2-WAY BREAK
In Our USED CARS!

(1) A BETTER CAR—because our trade-ins come from the best homes in town, they're mostly late models, low mileage, with the best care behind them. On top of that—we've put them through the repair shop, with reliable, skilled mechanics reconditioning them for the peak of condition.

SC THEY LOOK BETTER—RUN BETTER—RIDE BETTER—AND THEY DRIVE SAFER!

(2) A BETTER BUY—because we price them fairly, to keep our sales based on quick turnover rather than high profit. Frankly, we simply want to sell our used cars on honest evaluation, to maintain an outlet for the cars we take in trade on our new Buicks.

SO YOUR MONEY BUYS MORE VALUE HERE! Your present car will serve as down payment in most cases. DROP IN—LET US PROVE IT!

Furniture Useful Indoors, Outside

Constantly growing in popularity is the type of furniture that is easy to move and can be used either indoors or out. One attractive dining room set is made of tubular steel which has been given a dull ebony enamel finish.

The natural-finished wooden table top is weather-resistant. Many other attractive pieces are composed of wood and of wrought iron which has been painted black.

PLYMOUTH'S WATER SUPPLY will be hiked by 750 gallons a minute when perforated collecting pipes are laid the length of the above excavation at the Beck road well field. Horizontal pipes shown in the photograph with individual "points" sunk into the ground are draining the well field sufficiently to continue excavation work. They will be removed later. Shown, left to right, examining the progress of the excavation work are City Commissioner Ernest Henry and Superintendent of Public Works Sanford L. Besse (See story on page 1).

Squelch Unconfirmed Reports That Atomic Research Center Will Locate Near Plymouth

Federal government monopoly of atomic power rights was Tuesday scored as being a yoke around the necks of industrial researchers investigating into the peacetime uses of nuclear fission.

Charles M. Drake, assistant to the president of Detroit Edison, asserted in a telephone interview that "restrictions written into the atomic energy law must be removed before private industry can adequately participate in nuclear fission research."

Drake declared that industrial researchers should be given the same property rights as the Atomic Energy Commission in the ownership of peacetime atomic devices they create.

"They aren't going into it for love of the nation," he said. At this time Drake squelched unconfirmed reports made earlier that Detroit Edison-Dow Chemical would locate a research-development center somewhere in the Plymouth area.

"This is not true," he said. "No definite area has been considered."

It will be recalled that Detroit Edison-Dow Chemical jointly petitioned and won from the Atomic Energy Commission a contract in December, 1951, to head up one major aspect of the peacetime use of nuclear energy—nuclear heat. The group, consisting of some 25 other large and small industries, is seeking practical means of using atomic fuels to produce the steam for industrial processes and for thermal-electric energy plants.

The group has been at odds with Atomic Energy Commission officials and laws restricting the disclosure of atomic energy secrets. Private industry has contended that liberalizing atomic energy laws would hasten the development of nuclear energy for use by the common man and make for a more potent industrial machine.

Gordon Dean, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, was quoted by Drake as having said the Atomic Energy Commission is working toward less stringent restrictions.

Drake retold that in its report to the Atomic Energy Commission in February Detroit Edison had proposed building a floating atomic power plant on the Detroit lake frontage.

He said, however, that the suggestion was made as one way of meeting Atomic Energy Commission requirements that a nuclear reactor be centered in a 10-mile expanse to minimize the danger explosion and exposure to lethal doses of radio-active substances causes.

"It isn't likely that we could go into the Detroit Metropolitan area or buy 10 square miles of farming land. It would be economically prohibitive," Drake declared.

He disclosed that there has been "consideration" given to taking over isolated wooded areas, presumably in northern Michigan.

"We're no where near the point where we're thinking of buying real estate," Drake reiterated. He said Detroit Edison-Dow Chemical is right now proceeding with a study of the design of an atomic power plant. He observed that this mid-point study may consume years of time.

"And why are you in prison?" "I'm the victim of unbelief, ma'am."

"Unbelief?" "Yes, ma'am. I couldn't convince the jury that I was telling the truth."

- RACING AGAIN - Do The Holders Of Monopoly Licenses In Michigan Racing Measure Up To Their Responsibility? LET'S LOOK AT THE RECORD!

The public has generously supported 4 race tracks in this area for the past several seasons to the extent that management and stockholders have fared exceptionally well—SO GOOD, in fact, that RACE TRACKS operating on a short run basis of approximately 110 DAYS PER YEAR return a PROFIT EQUAL TO or BETTER than most businesses can hope to return in a NORMAL 12 MONTH YEARLY OPERATION.

This condition may, in some cases, be smugly accredited to astute management, in others to stellar promotional ability. However, the FACT remains that a MONOPOLY LICENSE GUARANTEEING NO COMPETITION and a right to SKIM OFF a fixed and ample percentage from every dollar is a VERY IMPORTANT FACTOR, so much so that the MANAGEMENT of several Michigan Race Tracks have succeeded, strange to say, in spite of themselves rather than due to prior knowledge or experience in track operations or because of superior skill or ability.

At Northville Downs, which is preparing to open another season on June 15th, it has been reliably reported that for the past several seasons earnings have exceeded $300,000.00 per 50 night season for its ABSENTEE OWNERS.

WE HAVE NO QUARREL WITH NORMAL PROFIT IN ANY BUSINESS, provided the rights and equities of the citizens, the RULES and REGULATIONS of the COMMUNITIES and STATE and FEDERAL LAWS are not flaunted or lost sight of in the MAD RUSH for PROFITS.

Northville Downs has been sharply called to task in the past for FAILURE of its OUTSIDE OWNERS to properly observe Community Rules and Regulations of one kind or another. The most recent was the creation of a huge PROFIT MAKING parking area in a residential district without FIRST taking due cognizance of a Village Zoning Ordinance. What other business in Northville would show such effrontery and disregard for Public Authority as to practically complete a project before obtaining proper authority, or rather in absolute contempt for existing rules and regulations?

Are the OFFICIALS at NORTHVILLE DOWNS ABOVE the LAW?

Have these track operators reached the stature that they may proceed as they please and then practically FORCE the VILLAGE to alter its rules and regulations to suit the plans, profits and convenience of Northville Downs? If this attitude is continued it may well prove to be that Northville Downs is treading on thin and precarious ground.

The Daily Press has recently exposed a situation at Hazel Park Harness Raceway dealing with the prevalence of minor children attending and gambling on the Nite Harness Races. It is well to note here that bars and liquor sales are openly conducted on the premises at Hazel Park and a LOUD

PROCLAMATION by MANAGEMENT that it just isn't so, or if so, they DID NOT have knowledge of the fact, may prove to be NO EXCUSE for a flagrant LAW VIOLATION.

Both Hazel Park Harness Raceway and Northville Downs, we fear, are gambling with State Law in regard to the employment rights of their employees, and also with other laws with reference to the Secondary Boycott.

HOW IS THIS BEING DONE?

These tracks claim that they are under the pressure of a threat of Secondary Boycott by the TEAMSTERS UNION and the ELECTRICIANS UNION if they give proper recognition to the right of their Employees to Collective Bargaining by REPRESENTATIVES of their own CHOOSING.

Why do the Race Track Operators collaborate in this SCHEME to flaunt State and other Laws? Is it because the Track Operators wish to provide a place to breed the LABOR PROTECTION RACKET?

Can it be said the Race Track Operators do not know or care about the characters they inject into their dealings with their Employees? Certainly the Race Track Operators of Michigan know the UNSAVORY BACKGROUND of at least those who have been CONVICTED of LABOR RACKETEERING in the past.

IS THIS A SCHEME IN WHICH THE TRACK OPERATORS ARE WILLING PARTNERS BECAUSE IT IS PROFITABLE TO THEM?

RACE TRACK OPERATORS of Michigan might do well to bear in mind that if they fail to recognize with proper respect the COMMUNITY, STATE, and FEDERAL STATUTES an aroused citizenry COULD and WOULD curtail their MONOPOLY by the simple expedient of REFERENDUM BALLOT.

It is our conviction that the CURRENT RACING SITUATION in MICHIGAN calls for a study by a SPECIAL COMMITTEE of the LEGISLATURE which the Governor should appoint at once and the LABOR RELATIONS of the Race Tracks could be resolved by the conduct of an Election held or ordered, forthwith, by Racing Commissioner James H. Inglis, to determine the rightful and proper Bargaining Agency of the Employees' own choosing.

We urge you to write Governor G. Mennen Williams and Racing Commissioner James H. Inglis, Cadillac Square Building, Detroit, asking action on these proposals.

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Ezek. 34:11): "For thus saith the Lord God; Behold, I, even I, will both search my sheep, and seek them out." Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy include: "Father-Mother is the name for Deity, which indicates His tender relationship to His spiritual creation. Name President Of Mother Church

MRS. GRACE F. CUDWORTH

The practical value of spiritual understanding in daily life was the keynote as more than 7,500 Christian Scientists from throughout the world met Monday for the Annual Meeting of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. A special message from The Christian Science Board of Directors told the gathering that materialism not only is being challenged, but is yielding increasingly, to the impact of spiritual enlightenment. Bearing witness to this were incidents of Christian Science healing read at the meeting which included total recovery from a severe case of poliomyelitis, abdominal cancer, rheumatic fever and rheumatic heart diagnosed as incurable, dislocated hips thought beyond recovery, and accident injuries pronounced fatal.

Through prayerful living of pure Christianity, the Directors said, "painless progress can be made by the individual and by humanity as a whole."

Named President of The Mother Church for the coming year was Mrs. Grace F. Cudworth of Boston, a Christian Science practitioner active in the healing work of the denomination for almost 50 years. Her term of office is for one year.

The inseparability of Christianity and healing was emphasized by Mrs. Cudworth, who said: "The true nature of church becomes evident in our experience through our understanding and demonstration of the healing power" of pure Christianity.

Reports on the world-wide activities of the denomination, which has branches throughout the United States and in some 40 other countries, were made by key officials.

Expenditure of approximately one million dollars for charitable purposes during the year was reported by Roy Garrett Watson, treasurer. He added that individual Christian Scientists voluntarily contributed more than $70,000 for flood relief in Europe, and that The Mother Church received over one million dollars in gifts from members and friends.

Strengthening of the denomination's work with young people was reported in several fields. Establishment of a Division of College Organization Activities was announced by Theodore E. Metzger, manager, Department of Branches and Practitioners. The new division is headed by a former Christian Science Navy chaplain, Joseph G. Heard of Miami, Florida.

The Camp Welfare Department announced the opening of a British branch to serve Christian Scientists stationed with the armed forces in Hong Kong, Malaya, Singapore, Egypt, Gibraltar, and other points. More than 400 civilian workers are ministering to hospitalized veterans and members of the armed forces. Fourteen Christian Science chaplains—three of them in Korea—are on active duty with troops.

Officials announced that 34 new branches of The Mother Church were established during the year. They included branches in Casablanca, Morocco; Apeldoorn, the Netherlands, and several in Germany. Christian Science lecturers toured many parts of the world, including Korea.

New translations of certain of the writings of Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, into Swedish, Dutch, Greek, and Russian, were announced by the Trustees under her Will, who reported a year of "outstanding activity."

The Plymouth Mail Presents

A series of and about residents of Plymouth at home, at work or at play

This Week—Piano Teacher HANNA STRASEN

Miss Hanna Strasen, a private music instructor, teaches piano in her studio at 853 Penniman Avenue. Miss Strasen is the daughter of the late Charles Strasen, a Lutheran minister, and lives with her mother and sister at 219 South Harvey street.

She is shown giving a lesson to Ann West, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl West.

Although she was born in Chester, Illinois, Miss Strasen lived most of her life in Plymouth. After graduating from Plymouth High school, she attended Michigan State Normal college in Ypsilanti where she studied music and art. Courses in piano and pipe-organ at the Detroit Institute of Musical Arts rounded out her musical education.

Throughout the years Miss Strasen played the organ in several churches in Plymouth. First, in a Methodist church, then a Lutheran church where her father was minister, and lastly in a Presbyterian church. She was the choir director and organist in the Presbyterian church when it burned down some time ago and served on the committee that chose the organ for the present church.

About eight years ago, Miss Strasen resigned as organist and now gives private piano lessons six days a week.

She has about 50 pupils of whom 19 are boys. Two group pupil recitals are scheduled for this June.

Miss Strasen belongs to the Plymouth Business and Professional Women's club and is a member of the Plymouth Symphony Society. She is a past president of the latter society.

Very keen about concerts, her greatest interest is to get young people interested in them. "Attending concerts," she states, "will influence them to appreciate good music." She herself has never missed a single concert of the Plymouth Symphony orchestra. She also enjoys attending concerts at Ann Arbor and elsewhere.

For recreation, Miss Strasen

Red Cross Here to Accept Blood Donations June 22

Plymouth residents will be given the opportunity of donating a pint of blood to wounded servicemen, the Red Cross or any other collecting agency of their choice when the Red Cross Bloodmobile comes here Monday, June 22. The Red Cross will accept the donations, but the donor can stipulate how he wants the blood used.

The Bloodmobile will be stationed at the Knights of Columbus Hall at 200 Union street, from 3 to 9 p. m. A guarantee of at least 100 pints of blood had to be made in order to have the Bloodmobile come to Plymouth. For any further information about blood donations call Frank Walsh, 2227-W or Art Heslip at Northville 991-J2.

Mrs. Hudson to Visit Parents in Scotland

Another Europe-bound Plymouthite is Mrs. Samuel Hudson, secretary at the First Presbyterian church. Mrs. Hudson will leave for Glasgow, Scotland on July 8 to visit her parents and sisters.

She will be in Scotland to help her parents celebrate their golden wedding anniversary. With her will go her eight-year old son, Bruce, and her husband will join them in Scotland in August. Hudson is advertising manager at Evans Products. This will be the Hudson's first visit to Scotland in five years.

enjoys bowling. She belongs to the Women's Bowling League at the Arbor-Lill.
"Penguins are so much like human beings," says Miss Strasen, explaining the why of the penguin collection in her music studio. Her statuettes now number about 300. Some of them come from far-away places as India, Italy, Mexico and Canada. She greatly treasures the handmade penguin from India sent by her cousin, a Lutheran missionary there. Practically all the states are also represented in this collection.

As a summer pastime, traveling holds a prominent place for Miss Strasen. The West seems to attract her now, for she is planning to go to Colorado and Mexico this summer.

Make Survey of Way Teachers Plan to Spend Summer Vacations

In taking a survey of some of the Plymouth High school teachers and their plans for the coming summer the following information was revealed.

Two of the teachers Miss Freda Olsen and Miss Betty Baker are getting married. Miss Olsen on June 27 and Miss Baker on June 20.

Others plan to do some traveling. Miss Virginia Olmstead and Miss Louise Spence will tour California, the Audubon Camp in the Sierra-Nevada Mountains, and Oregon and Washington; Miss Elizabeth McDonald and Miss Gertrude Fiegle plan to spend a month in Colorado. Also Barton Rogers is driving down through Mexico City and Oaxaca for six weeks, and Harry Reeves is going to Canada for one week.

Fred Nelson will spend some time at Rice Rustic Resort and then will travel up around West Virginia for some time.

Miss Sarah Lickly is going to Europe. She will leave June 21 by plane and fly to Paris. She will then tour Spain, Portugal, and North Africa and fly back to the states September 6.

Melvin Blunk and Carvel Bentley will keep the school running but Mr. Bentley will take a short vacation with his family at Mullet lake.

Some of the teachers will work. Mrs. Virginia Calligari is going to fix up her house while Miss Ruth Butts is going to be a chauffeur, nurse, housekeeper and maid for her mother, and Harry Fountain will work with the Wayne County Commission where he has worked the past six summers.

New Advisers Named for High School Groups

The student council, debate team, and annual staff of Plymouth High school will have new advisers for next year.

Gustav Gorguze, assistant high school principal, will be the new adviser of student council. He will share the sponsorship with Miss Irene Walldorf, former council adviser, until he becomes familiar with the details of the position. Miss Walldorf, 11 grade English teacher, resigned from the advisership which she has held for the past nine years.

Taking over during Carl Kranish's leave of absence for one year, as sponsor of the debate team and forensic activities, will be Miss Dorothy Midgely.

Mrs. Nancy Coates, new teacher of English, will take over the advisership of the annual staff in Miss Elizabeth McDonald's place. Miss McDonald will still be the adviser of the "Pilgrim Prints," school paper.

English Classes Hold Discussions

The third hour English class of Louise Spence, English instructor at Plymouth High school, has been participating in several class group discussions. The class is divided into groups of four to six students. The group selects a topic to discuss and also a chairman to supervise the group.

The students may invite in an authority on the subject which they are discussing which help the students to acquire more information about the topic they are discussing.

Edward Fisher, a member of the Plymouth Police Force, was the guest of a group discussing the age suitable for acquiring a driver's license and requirements which students should know. Fisher answered many questions asked by students on this subject and on the subject of the juvenile delinquency problem of Plymouth. The class has been having discussions for the past three consecutive weeks.

Child Care Work New Project in Home Economics

The fourth hour Home Economics class has a child care project underway that requires five girls to teach at Bird school.

Those girls are Marilou Trusdell, who has kindergarten, Frances Anderson and Ardith Alband, who teach first grade, and Myrna Sprague and Joanne Oliver, who teach second grade.

These girls play games with the children and take over the regular class session for one hour. The rest of the class is running a nursery in room 21 of the high school from 12:30 to 1:30.

This project enables the girls to learn from experience. It will come to a close Friday, June 19.

NOW THE ONLY CAR IN ITS FIELD WITH THIS POWER COMBINATION

4-way Power Seat—

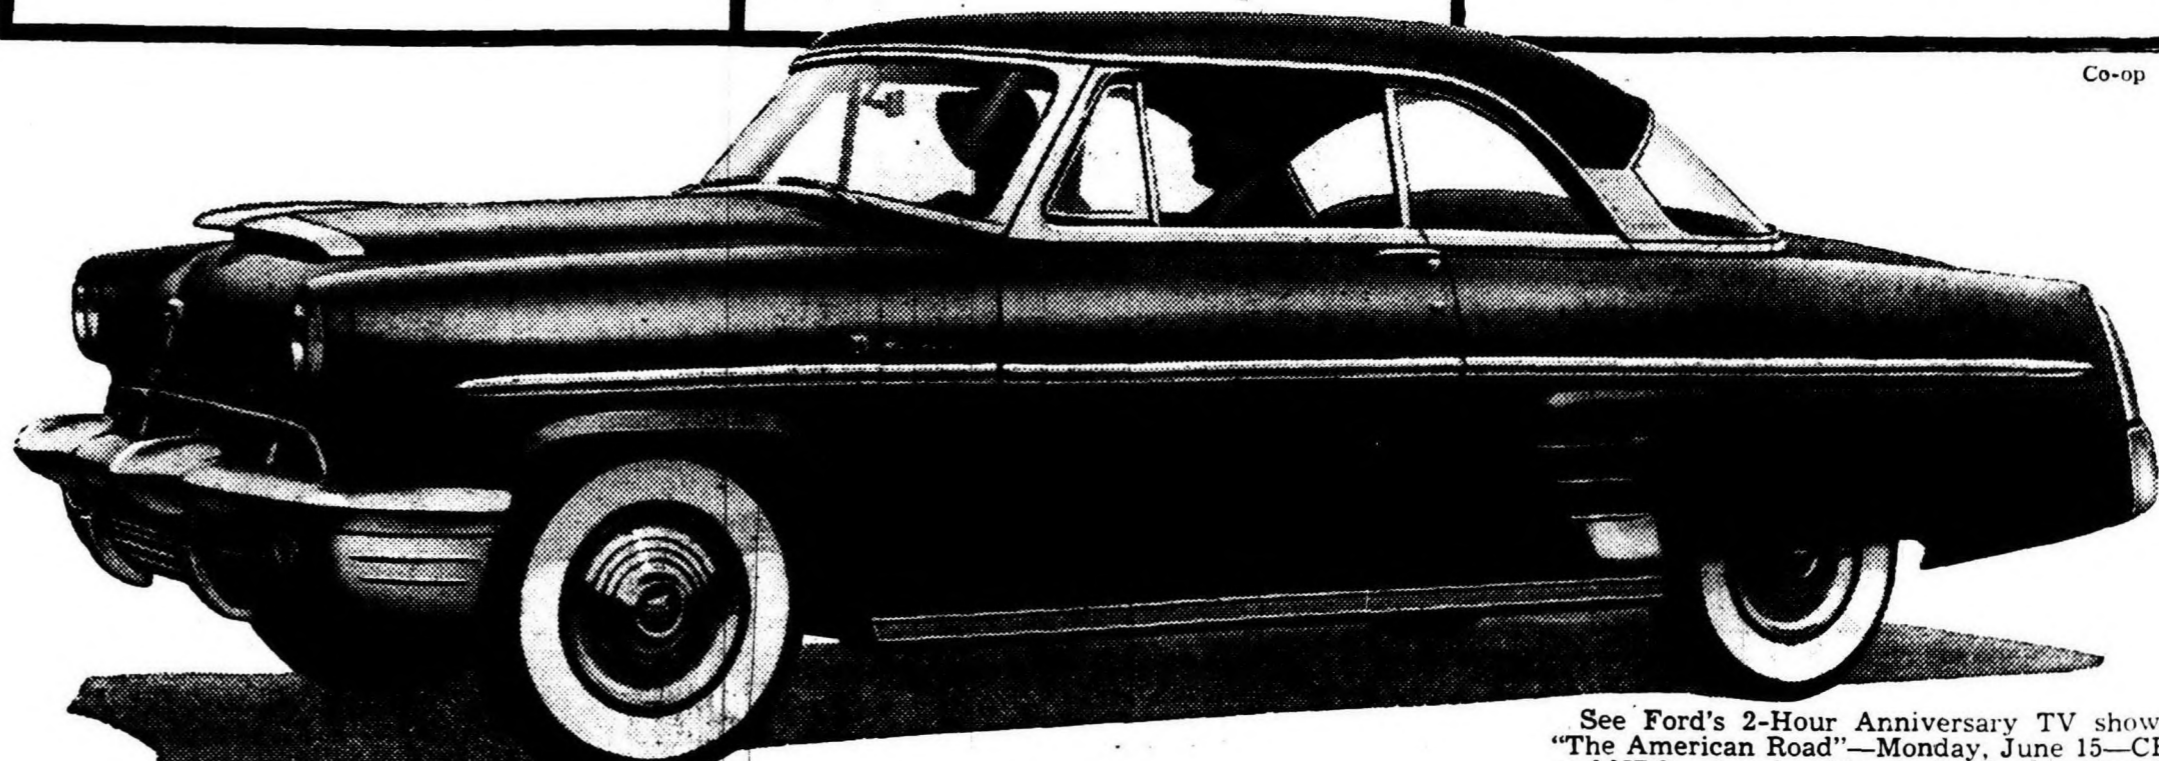

Mercury's the only car in its field with this new power feature—one of the greatest aids to comfort ever devised. At the touch of a finger the seat moves up, down, back or forth . . . gives you the position from which you can see the best, drive the easiest. And it helps relieve muscular tension on trips. Raises you out of the glare of the late afternoon sun.

Power Steering—

Whenever more than finger-tip pressure is needed on the wheel, hydraulic "muscles" take over, make steering—especially when parking—3 times easier. You never lose the vital feel of the road. Teamed with Mercury's proven V-8 engine (perfected during an exclusively V-8 history) you get quicksilver responsiveness—performance at its thrifty, lively best.

Power Brakes—

They require little more pressure than the accelerator. The weight of your foot holds your car on a hill. Stopping is up to 50 per cent easier—faster, too, because the lower, closer pedal permits you to pivot from gas pedal to brake, cuts reaction time. Road test these new power features today. You find them all only on Mercury in the medium-price field.

Power steering, power seat, power brakes, wide side-wall tires and full-disc bumpers optional at extra cost.

PHS Remodeling Contract Goes to Local Builder

Daniel S. Mills & Son, local contractor, was last Monday awarded a construction contract by the Board of Education to relocate-remodel Plymouth High school's clothing and food laboratories and its cafeteria kitchen.

The award came after the school board turned down bids earlier submitted because "they appeared too high."

The board said the contract price of the remodeling will be labor and material costs plus a fixed fee. It contended that a "considerable saving" would be realized on this type of contract. The board did accept the low bid of the Niagara China & Equipment company to equip the food laboratory and cafeteria kitchen. Niagara's bid was set at $8,883.

Democratic Club Has Picnic Meet

The Plymouth Democratic club will meet for a picnic on Friday, June 12, at 6 p. m. at the Breakfast Nook, Edward Hines drive at Haggerty road. Sheldon Baker and Mrs. D. Fowler are in charge of the arrangements.

A business meeting will be held before the picnic. It will be the last regular meeting until September, but committee meetings will be held to make arrangements for next fall's meetings. In order to keep the group well informed, classes in governmental procedure and research will be held. Anyone interested in joining the classes may contact Miss Helen Beavers.

A new magazine "The Democratic Digest" will soon be put on sale.

Kiwanis Opens Girl Scout Cabin

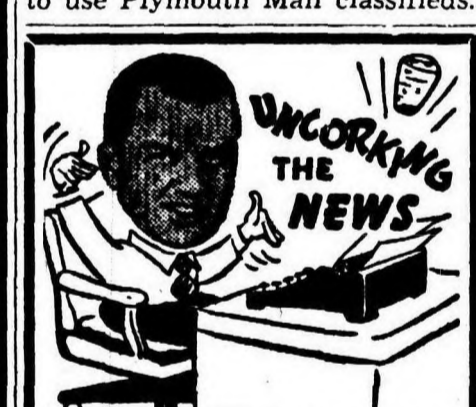

The Kiwanis club officially opened the Girl Scout cabin Tuesday evening with a dinner meeting for members and their families. Over 150 persons were in attendance at the event.

After the potluck dinner was served, Miss Mary Lou Hartwick entertained the group with three vocal selections.

Thirty Kiwanians attended church at the Salvation Army Citadel last Sunday as part of a farewell to Captain William Roberts. The group later took Captain Roberts and his family to dinner.

By Carl Peterson

When George Washington was first called "The Father of His Country" the term "father" was important. That was before the days of radio, TV and family-comedy film fantasies. In the past couple of decades Pop's prestige has been kicked around quite a lot. In modern entertainment forms Pop has become a figure of fun and befuddlement. According to the script writers, the old man usually isn't very bright, and he doesn't have much say-so around the house.

About the only cheerful spot in this picture is the fact that there is a Father's Day set aside, when Dad regains a small spot of prestige. But we think the old boy should get a little more respect in the family stories. Pretty soon everybody might start believing those things!

Our Ceramics Dept. features many beautiful and useful gifts for the June brides... come in and browse around.

We Give GREEN STAMPS

Evans Products Eliminates Clouds of Blue Smoke

Residents of the Plymouth area who may have wondered about the clouds of blue-white smoke in the air around the Evans Products company will be interested to know there won't be any more.

As part of its contract to build M-3 Smoke Generators for the U. S. Army Chemical Corps, the company is required to test each completed unit before delivery. The "smoke" is actually a vapor, harmless but able to spread a blanket of concealment over a considerable area.

The Evans company has nearly completed a smoke abatement building to eliminate the free discharge of its synthetic smoke. As each generator is completed, it is mounted outside the building. Its smoke emitting end is coupled to a blower inside the building. As the "smoke" is drawn in, it passes over a flame. Presto! No more "smoke".

American Legion to Hold Carnival

Passage-Gayde post No. 391, American Legion, will sponsor the Down River Amusement Carnival in Plymouth during the week of June 15 to 20. A greater variety of rides has been promised for this year's event than has been offered in previous years.

Bicycles for both a boy and a girl plus a thoroughbred cocker spaniel puppy will be presented to some Plymouth youngster during the five-day event. The location of the carnival will be the Veterans' Memorial site at Farmer and Karmada streets.

Social items can be phoned to 1600.

Grange Gleanings

The supper meeting of June 4 was very well attended. The tables looked so pretty with the many lovely flowers arranged by Mrs. Groth and Mrs. Jacobs. The birthday cake was beautiful and delicious too.

The meeting following the supper was good. The program in the charge of Ara Fehlig was on the subject "Muscular Dystrophy," that terrible disease that cripples so many children. The speaker was Mrs. Cash from Ann Arbor. She was a splendid speaker and well knows whereof she speaks. She brought a short film with her to illustrate her talk. Our Grange was well-represented at Newburg church Sunday as about 35 members were present to enjoy the service with Reverend Richards and his congregation. His talk was fine and it was such a glorious day we all felt that it was good to be there. We declared we were going to go again.

Our next meeting on June 18 will be quite an important one, and we hope there will be a good crowd out. The third and fourth degrees will be conferred on the class of new candidates so they must all be there about 8 p. m.

Pictures Tell of Storm's Unwelcome Visit to Plymouth

High Winds, Cloudburst Cause Minor Damage Here

A baby tornado screamed out of the southwest last Friday and blew itself out in a rural area north of Plymouth causing some damage to trees, but no deaths or injuries.

Heavy rains and "deep-throated" electrical storms accompanied it to break up a pre-summer heat wave that saw many Plymouthites in shirt sleeves or bare-backed cotton dresses.

The city reared back from heavy winds and took the storm's fury in stride, snapping back from the Sunday punch as soon as the storm abated.

In places throughout the city water-clogged streets overflowed the curbs when sewers were clogged by debris. In a half-block section of Main just north of Penniman avenue cars forded water bumper high sending out waves that lapped at the foundation walls of The Plymouth Mail. Workmen remodeling the newspaper's facade there were kept busy sweeping freshets of water out of the front door.

Business houses along Forest avenue were confronted with similar flooding when overworked sewers just couldn't eat up the deluge fast enough.

There were reports of tree limbs being felled before the storm's onslaught. One limb torn from its perch fell atop a car at Hamilton and Ann Arbor trail. It is owned by Ralph Eddlemon.

A company official from Century Metal Products reported water damage when its basement floor was flooded. First to take the brunt of the damage was the air conditioning system and then the furnace.

The tornado north of the city briefly whipped across open fields for nearly a mile expending its fury on trees. There were reports that the twister hedgehopped slicing off the tops of some trees while leaving others in its path untouched.

There were no other reports of damage or injury.

The twister-backed storm ended a pre-summer heat wave that touched upwards to 90 degrees. The temperature fell 20 degrees after the storm passed.

One comical scene that brought bursts of laughter from onlookers at the Main street "flood" scene was touched off as an unidentified youth attempted to ford the knee-deep water on a motorized scooter. Headed north, he charged the water barrier with a burst of speed. But he didn't make it. His feet perched on the handlebars to keep them dry, he slid off with a splash as the whining motor conked out in the deepest section.

THE AUTOMOBILE OF RALPH EDDLEMON of 412 West Ann Arbor trail was completely covered by the fallen tree. Eddlemon's car was parked in the Hamilton street driveway of his home. Damage was believed to be slight.

STRONG WINDS ACCOMPANYING THE RAIN topped this huge tree next to Century Metal Products on Hamilton street. The tree fell on an auto shown in another picture on this page. Above Al and Virgil Jensen of the Asplundh Tree Expert company prepare to saw the tree away from the street and car.

Report 2 Million Visitor Decline

About 1,600,000 persons have visited Michigan state parks so far this year, a decline from the two million that had entered the parks to this date last year, the conservation department reports. Camp permits have also slumped slightly; 1,360 have been issued to date while 1,550 had been issued to June 1 last year.

Grand Haven, Holland, Bay City and Dodge Four park are again the leading parks with a combined total of about 575,000 visitors to date. Rochester-Utica is leading the recreation areas with a total of 113,000 visitors.

High Winds, Cloudburst Cause Minor Damage Here

A baby tornado screamed out of the southwest last Friday and blew itself out in a rural area north of Plymouth causing some damage to trees, but no deaths or injuries.

Heavy rains and "deep-throated" electrical storms accompanied it to break up a pre-summer heat wave that saw many Plymouthites in shirt sleeves or bare-backed cotton dresses.

The city reared back from heavy winds and took the storm's fury in stride, snapping back from the Sunday punch as soon as the storm abated.

In places throughout the city water-clogged streets overflowed the curbs when sewers were clogged by debris. In a half-block section of Main just north of Penniman avenue cars forded water bumper high sending out waves that lapped at the foundation walls of The Plymouth Mail. Workmen remodeling the newspaper's facade there were kept busy sweeping freshets of water out of the front door.

Boost Hay Yields By Using Lime

About two million acres of legumes will be planted in Michigan this year and one-third of this acreage will probably fail, says a Michigan State college soils specialist.

A big reason for these seed failures is an acid soil condition, or lack of lime, according to E. D. Longnecker. He advises farmers to apply lime this summer or fall. Lime is just as effective for next spring's planting and there won't be the worry about getting it during the spring rush, he says.

If lime is applied in adequate amounts it will be effective for 10 to 15 years. Longnecker adds that soil tests are the only means of discovering whether the soil needs a lime application.

He reports that one ton of lime per acre to medium acid Antrim county soil raised the alfalfa hay yield 800 pounds per acre. The lime cost $4.50 per acre to spread, but the alfalfa's value went up $8 per acre. Longnecker estimates that returns from the proper use of lime should be nearly 10 times the cost.

Farmers can get soil tested by sampling their own fields with instructions available from county agents. The Production and Marketing Administration will do the job at no cost. Samples can be tested at laboratories in the counties or at Michigan State college.

Order immediately when it is found out how much lime is needed. Longnecker advises. Orders can be placed through county agents, the PMA or directly with lime contractors.

Voice - Well! tell the moon to go home and come in off that porch. It's half past eleven.

Plan Trench Silo to Fit Herd Size

The size of a trench silo should be gauged to the herd and length of feeding season, according to a Michigan State college farm crops specialist.

S. T. Dexter advises farmers to plan feeding at least two feet of silage each week to prevent spoilage. He terms one and one-half cubic feet of silage per day per cow a reasonably heavy feeding.

Width and depth of the trench can be figured accordingly, Dexter says.

Proper drainage in a trench silo is an important point, according to Dexter. Especially in some of Michigan's heavier soils, rain and seepage can cause a lot of damage. He advises putting the trench on a knoll or grading the area. Covering the silage with soil or sawdust after a thorough packing of the silage keeps the rain out and the surface won't dry out or mold, he adds.

Packing the silage well by driving back and forth over it with a tractor is necessary, Dexter says. The surface should be kept smooth so settling can be even and the top smooth.

Chopped forage must be reasonably wet to pack well. Dexter points out that very mature hay should not be put into the trench unless enough water is added to get good packing. Even then, excess heating is likely.

Dexter recommends that a stack silo be at least 18 feet wide. The surface should be rolled with a tractor for several days after filling. Depressions on the surface will cause spoilage. Dexter adds that drainage is important for stack silos, too.

Girl Scout News

The Girl Scout Day Camp committee met on June 2 to complete plans for the coming session. Thirty-five Brownies are registered for the week of July 27-31 and 30 Girl Scouts for the week of August 3-7. The Brownies will hold their camp at the cabin and in the park. A varied program for the week has been planned by Mrs. Clifford Manwaring. An all day trip to Kent Lake will be one of the highlights of the week. The Girl Scouts will hold their camp at a camp site on the farm of Fred Van Dyke on Joy road. These older girls will do all their cooking and living out-of-doors

There will be one overnight session and a trip to Kent Lake. The services of an archery teacher have been procured and necessary equipment has been purchased by the Council so that the girls may learn about this sport. Mrs. William Lyons, general chairman for the camp, and Mrs. Sheldon Baker, director, state that they hope to make this year's camp a worthwhile experience in working and playing together for both Brownies and Scouts.

Notice of transportation arrangements will be mailed to parents prior to the opening day by Mrs. George Bowles, transportation chairman. At their regular meeting on June 1, the members of Troop 1 completed work on the "My Community" badge. Mrs. Pieter Schipper was a guest of the troop. She spoke to the girls about Holland. The girls and their leaders, Mrs. Sheldon Baker and Mrs. Hugo Russell agree that this badge which included visits to a local industry, the City Hall, police and fire departments, a visit from Superintendent of Schools, Russell Isbister and Recreation Director Herbert Woolweaver, as well as three community service projects has been a rewarding experience. On Saturday, June 6, the shut-in troop member, Iris Cody, received a visit from Marilyn Richwine, Judy Eger, Peggy Dyer and Christine Baker. Mrs. Baker presented Iris with her Second Class badge which she earned this past winter.

The troop will have a family picnic tonight, June 11 in the park directly below the cabin at 6 p. m. Troop 19 cancelled its activities for the school year with an overnight outing at the Girl Scout Cabin on June 5. On June 7, the girls entertained their mothers at a Court of Awards. All sixteen members of the troop earned the Second Class Badge this year. The badges were presented by leaders, Mrs. H. J. Jensen and Mrs. Thomas Thorpe.

THE PLYMOUTH MAIL Thursday, June 11, 1953 8
The members of Troop 5 held a picnic meeting at the Ore Lake cottage of their leader, Mrs. Edward Dobbs on Monday June 8. Mrs. William Congdon was introduced as one of the new leaders of the troop for next year. Mrs. Joseph Witwer, co-leader, was unable to be present. Mrs. Dobbs and Mrs. O. H. Williams have led the troop for the past 3 years. Mrs. Dobbs is concluding her 11 years as a Scout leader and will continue in Scouting as a member of the training committee. She served a three year term as commissioner for the Plymouth Council in addition to her troop activities. Mothers who provided transportation to the picnic were: Mrs. Pieter Schipper, Mrs. Ray Fisher, Mrs. Hugh Law, and Mrs. Lee Gaeke. Vanity never hides so deep that a searchlight is required to find its victims.

He's Done Something for Himself!

Only a few short minutes ago, the man you see in the picture above was handed the golden keys to his 1953 Cadillac—and now he's off on that first delightful journey behind the wheel.

And as he leans back against the deep, soft cushion, and looks out over that proud hood into the roadway beyond . . . well, he knows that he's done something for himself!

He knows it just from the way he feels there in the driver's seat—rested, relaxed, and at peace with the world . . . completely confident that he has made the wisest possible choice of a motor car.

He senses it in the marvelous way the car handles and drives and rides . . . so effortless and smooth and quiet that it's a joy and an inspiration just to hold the wheel in his hands.

And he knows it, too, from the feeling of pride and satisfaction he enjoys as he looks forward to the delight of his family and the approval of his acquaintances and friends.

And how the miles and the years will bear him out in his conviction!

Let him arrive at a distinguished hotel . . . or an exclusive club . . . and he will find that his Cadillac constitutes the perfect "letter of introduction."

In fact, let him travel wherever he will in this broad land of ours . . . and he will find his Cadillac a trustworthy and unfailing companion, an inspiration to own and drive, a valued contributor to a magnificent way of life.

Yes, you're looking at a man who's done something wonderful for himself—wonderful beyond even his fondest dreams.

And if you think it's time you did something for yourself, then we suggest you come in and see us. Let's make it "Cadillac time" for you!

Eggs Must Be High Quality Now

Farmers and egg handlers must be prepared to produce high-quality products if they are going to make profits.

At least this is the opinion of Earl W. Benjamin, marketing consultant from Branchport, New York, who spoke recently at the annual Egg Marketing day at Michigan State college.

Benjamin said science has proved that some hens lay better eggs than others—eggs which withstand heat and other aging conditions on retailers' shelves, and have strong shells which don't break as easily.

These eggs cost no more to produce than eggs of poorer quality. He urged that breeders be encouraged to develop and offer strains of chicks which will grow up to produce higher quality of eggs.

Be not the first by whom the new are tried. Nor yet the last to lay the old aside.—Alexander Pope.

A combination garden—flowers and vegetables—make a beautiful yard for Mrs. Harold Orchard of 401 Pacific. She is shown here examining her red peonies which are recently in bloom.

That a garden can be pretty and still include some useful vegetables has been proven by Mrs. Orchard. For example, in one spot in her garden she has a border of oak leaf lettuce. The rich green leaves actually add to the appearance of the garden rather than detract.

Also included in the vegetable line are some tomato and pepper plants and another large clump of parsley. The parsley gives the same effect as the oak leaf lettuce—it provides a nice border of green.

Not to slight the flowering plants in Mrs. Orchard's garden, lovely daisies, iris, and bleeding heart are found as well. One beautiful plant now in bloom is the lupine. The blossoms form a long pink cone. A rose trellis in the center of the yard is just beginning to open with American beauty roses.

Though her interest now is centered in her outdoor garden, Mrs. Orchard also has many house plants. The most outstanding of these is a giant fern. The plant is only about three years old, she said, but has already reached huge proportions. Mrs. Orchard stated that she had merely placed the small pieces in leaf mold, and since has done nothing for the plant but water it.

African violets are arranged on a special shelf-tray in one of the windows of the Orchard home. She is a proponent of the water-violets-from-the-bottom school. At any rate, the plants have many large blossoms to prove the method is perhaps a good one.

Truly a green thumb gardener, Mrs. Harold Orchard has lovely plants in her garden and home to show for her efforts. And later in the season, she expects to have some ripe vegetables as well.

Hints for Plymouth Homemakers

This Cake's A Honey

Looking for a suggestion to spark lagging appetites on sultry summer days? When the temperature soars high, most people prefer something light and cool—chilled soups, cool beverages, crisp salads. Ideal to fill out their meals is a good taste-tempting dessert such as a downy-light cake served with a scoop of ice cream. This sweet twosome is always a favorite, especially if the cake is a chocolate one made with super-fine cake flour and, as in this recipe, delicately flavored with honey.

All Honey Chocolate Cake

- 2 cups sifted Swans Down Cake Flour
- 1 1/2 teaspoons soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 1 1/4 cups honey
- 2 eggs, unbeaten
- 3 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
- *Water (see below for amount)
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

*With butter, margarine, or lard, use 1/2 cup water. With vegetable or any other shortening, use 3/4 cup water.

Sift flour once, measure, add soda and salt, and sift together three times. Cream butter, add honey very gradually, by tablespoons at first, beating very hard after each addition to keep mixture thick. Add 1/4 of flour and beat until smooth and well blended. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each. Add chocolate and blend. Add remaining flour in thirds, alternating with water, beating very well after each addition. Add vanilla. Turn into two 9-inch layer pans, which have been lined on bottoms with paper. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 35 minutes, or until done.

When cool, spread tops and sides with your favorite chocolate frosting and serve with a scoop of ice cream.

Know Fabrics Before Having Them Cleaned

Forewarned is definitely forearmed when it comes to the problem of dry cleaning certain kinds of fabrics.

Americans spend over a billion dollars annually for dry cleaning services and yet know very little about the reaction of different fabrics and trimmings to the processes necessary in cleaning them.

Trimmings often cause trouble. Some plastic buttons melt and some fade on to the garments and the dye cannot be removed. Often metal bucking on covered buttons will rust. It is wise to remove those questionable trimmings before sending the garment to the dry cleaners.

Stiffness is a characteristic of many fabrics today. Unfortunately that stiffness is often lost in cleaning because it is merely applied to the surface of the fabric. Embossed designs on fabrics sometimes are bugbears for the dry cleaners, too. Often, use of standard dry cleaning procedures causes the embossed design to fade, even though it has been labeled "permanent".

Silk organdy, or "organza," sometimes causes trouble because the light weight silk of highly twisted yarns loses its stiff, crisp feel in dry cleaning.

There is a loss of body in cleaning most shantings, unless the shanting is of good quality.

Summer Treat Prepared With Meat In A Can

Simplify dinner on a summer's day. Serve your family tempting luncheon meat cubes en brochette prepared with that handy can of luncheon loaf from your kitchen shelf.

For six servings you need only one 12-ounce can of this meat. Simply cut the loaf into 1 inch cubes. Then using metal or wooden skewers, first thread with a luncheon cube and follow with a pineapple chunk and a cooked pitted prune. Repeat until the skewers are filled.

To broil, place the meat en brochette on your broiler rack and insert the pan so that the top surface of the meat is 2 to 3 inches from the heat. Brush generously with melted butter or margarine. Then heat until the meat is lightly browned on one side. Turn and continue broiling until brown on all sides and heated through. For a final touch, slip a maraschino cherry on the ends of each skewer.

New Blouses Are Designed To Match With Skirts and Suits

With more and more fashion emphasis being put on the ensemble look, the newest blouses are designed to match and mingle in fresh style.

The suit blouse takes a new lease on life with the cardigan neckline which gives a narrow line of color at the collar of the suit. Sleeveless cuts, set-in sleeves, or easy dolmans are also featured as bulk-less fashions for wear under suits.

And making a pretty appearance under a wide variety of jacket styles is the jewel neckline blouse, newly dressed up with inserts of lace, novelty buttoned fronts or fresh embroidery trim.

Favored fabrics for blouses include silk broadcloth, cotton georgette, tissue flannel and sikkon-look cottons. Tucking, tailored, with rows of simply, bands of eyelet, or novel jewel or button trim, they suggest a costume look when teamed with suits.

June Is Strawberry Month In Michigan

June is the big strawberry month in Michigan. The peak of the homegrown season usually arrives during the second and third weeks of the month. Berries from Alpena county and other northern sections of the state extend the homegrown season through July, while a considerable volume from Houghton county in the Upper Peninsula carries the season into August. Southwestern Michigan, however, is the principal strawberry area in the state, so the harvest season there is the "best buy" period for home-freezing and preserving.

Most homemakers know how to recognize good quality strawberries—clean, bright colored, moisture-free berries with full red color and caps attached. Over ripe strawberries, or those that are not really fresh, have a dull lusterless appearance, are sometimes shrunk and are likely to be wet or leaky. Small misshapen berries are usually poor in quality and flavor and often have a small, hard, green portion.

Protect the good quality of the berries you buy—don't wash or stem the strawberries until just before you use them. This avoids rapid spoilage if the berries are bruised in handling. Store the berries in the refrigerator so they have plenty of air circulation. A tray or colander makes a good storage container.

If strawberries are delicious, strawberries and cream are still better! Michigan dairymen remind us that June is also Dairy Month. If the natural appeal of strawberry shortcake with cream hasn't driven other food ideas from your mind, food authorities point out that strawberries are an excellent source of vitamin C and that we should have some—vitamin C, that is—every day.

Special finishes enhance the wide range of brilliant colors that will be seen this season, as well as more subtle shades and geometric prints in silks and glazed cottons, and pale grays and light stripes in the popular cotton tweeds.

The rise of beige for fashions has created a demand for matching color blouses to give an ensemble effect. Linens, shantung, and stubbed orlon and silk blouses are seen in champagne beige, while coffee tones are favored in cottons and sheers.

Wool dressmaker sweaters and cotton knits with little collar will be seen in beige or brown with white accents.

Nylon turtot, extensively used in dressy fashions, is popular in soft colors as well as white. Tucking gives a tailored effect, while glitter buttons, eyelet embroidery and lace trim look sweetly feminine.

Back detailing is v'd in blouses, with deeply V'd backs, welt seams, and full gathered yokes giving the important look of top fullness.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?
A. Standing rump of beef.
Q. How is it identified?
A. It is triangular in shape and contains portions of rump and tail bone.
Q. How is it prepared?
A. By braising. If high quality, it may be roasted. To braise, brown the meat, then add from 1/2 to 3/4 cup of liquid. Cover closely and cook until tender—8 to 4 hours. To roast, place fat side up on rack in open roasting pan, without water and without a cover. Roast in a 300° F. oven for 25 to 30 minutes per pound.

Give Gifts that Fit Cooking Needs

For the bride cooking may prove to be a new adventure. To ease this task it is important that she have the correct cooking utensils. With meat being the center of her meals, she is sure to thank you repeatedly if you gift her with the items needed to prepare meat properly.

In buying equipment remember that meat cookery is divided into two methods—the dry heat method for tender meat cuts, and the moist heat method for less-tender cuts. The dry heat method includes roasting, broiling and panbroiling. The moist heat method includes braising and cooking in liquid.

To follow the correct method of roasting she merely needs an open roasting pan that has a rack to fit it. With these two pieces of equipment she can roast meat as recommended—fat side up on a rack in an open roasting pan in a slow oven 300° F. for beef, veal, smoked pork and lamb; 350° F. for fresh pork.

Another item of great value in roasting is a heat thermometer. With this thermometer inserted into the largest meat muscle (but not in fat or on bone) she will know exactly when the meat is cooked to the degree of doneness her husband likes.

For the second dry method—broiling, she can depend upon her range for the needed equipment. However, for pan-broiling thin steaks and chops she needs a heavy frying-pan. The meat is browned in its own fat or is turned frequently for oven cooking with any excess fat poured off. The meat is never covered.

When cooking in moist heat as in preparing a Swiss or country-fried steak use her heavy frying pan with a tight fitting cover or a Dutch oven. The meat is browned on both sides, then a small amount of liquid added, the meat covered and cooked slowly until tender. In preparing stews or large cuts such as corned beef completely covered with liquid, she needs a Dutch oven or other deep utensil that's fitted with a tight cover.

Advise Brides That Good Cooks Measure Ingredients Carefully

Today's bride doesn't have to depend on scribbled notes from mama when she wants to turn out a new and impressive dish. Instead, she has a wealth of kitchen tested recipes to choose from and can become as good a cook as her mother (and his) in no time at all.

One of the most important things to remember in cooking, is to follow recipes accurately. This means measure ingredients accurately. If your kitchen equipment doesn't include all measuring devices, here are some handy "equivalents":

- 3 teaspoons - 1 tablespoon.
- 4 tablespoons - 1/4 cup.
- 1 pound bulk shortening - 2 1/2 cups.
- 1 pound carton butter, margarine or lard - 2 cups.
- 1 pound all purpose flour - approx. 4 cups.
- 1 pound cake flour - approximately 5 cups.
- 1 pound brown sugar - 2 1/2 cups
- 1 medium lemon - 2/3 tablespoon juice.
- 1 pound grated cheese - 4 cups.
- 1 pound granulated sugar - 2 cups.
- 2 cups liquid - 1 pint.
- 1 square chocolate - 1 ounce.
- 1 cup uncooked rice - 2 1/2 to 3 cups cooked rice.

But equally important, even more so in terms of everyday usage, are the cardinal cooking rules.

All ingredients should be measured accurately. Measurements in a cup or spoon should be level not heaping. Use standard measuring cups and spoons. Always sift flour before measuring. Measure dry ingredients first, then you can use the same cup for liquids. Measure bulk shortening in unit cup measures or, lacking these, use the "displacement" method. If one-half cup of shortening is called for first fill a measuring cup half full of water, and then put in the shortening until the water reaches the full mark. Pour off the water and you will have an accurately measured one-half cup shortening.

Helpful Hints Concerning Building, Remodeling, Repairing & Redecorating

CEDAR PANELING AND VALANCES combine to give the dining nook at the Jerry Engle home at 416 Evergreen both utility and comfort. A rustic appearance is provided by the forest green lower tier curtains. This effect is further carried out by the hooked rug design and natural wood dining set.

Ventilation and Insulation Of Attic Are Major Problems In Remodeling

If you've finished the walls, ceilings and floor of your attic, you're ready to deal with some of the problems involved in ventilating and insulating it.

How you expect to use the attic naturally is a factor here. If you want to use the attic rooms in winter as well as summer, winter heating will present a problem or two.

Much will depend upon the capacity of your heating system. You might cut holes in the attic floor and then put in grilles which would open and close to take in heat from the floor below. However, if you decide to do this, you should consult a heating contractor to see whether you would be adversely affecting the proper distribution of heat to other rooms of the house.

If the attic is to be heated, proper ventilation of enclosed wall spaces must be provided to allow for removal of any water vapor which may be present. Make sure stud and joist spaces are ventilated.

In insulating the attic, you may consider several kinds of insulation: flexible, fill type, or insulating boards.

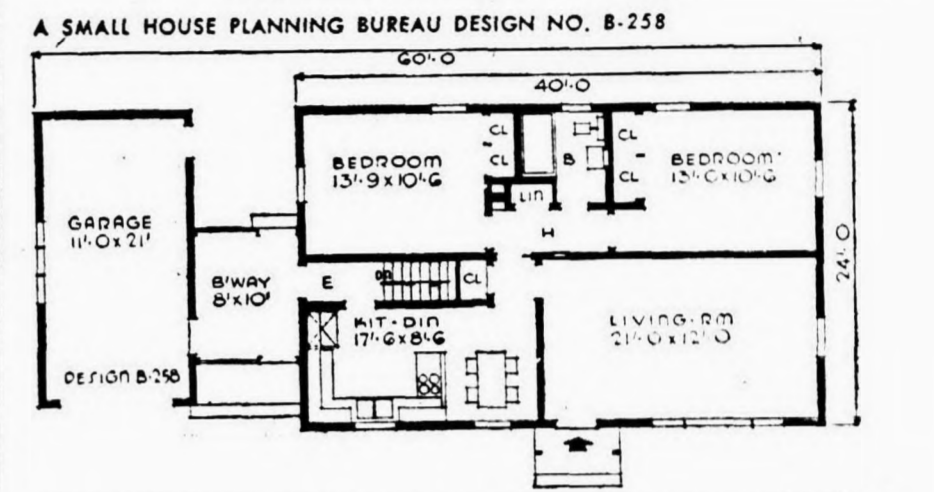

The flexible type comes in long blankets or batts up to 48 inches. One surface of the batt or blanket is usually covered with asphalt impregnated paper which serves as a vapor barrier. Thermal insulation benefits you two ways: it keeps rooms warm in winter and cool in summer.

The fill type can be poured in place or packed by hand into small spaces. When a large amount is necessary, this type of insulation can be blown.

Warning: Material used should not offer a fire hazard, deteriorate or settle, absorb moisture, or attract insects and mice.

Vapor barriers (membranes through which water vapor will not readily pass) are needed to prevent water vapor from getting inside walls and ceilings. The barrier is applied to the warm side of exterior walls or ceilings. It is important that the membrane be continuous and unbroken. In other words, be sure to fasten securely and lap all joints.

Types of vapor barriers you might use, if they are not a part of the insulation material, would include metal foils, asphalt treated felts or laminated craft papers. In houses where such membranes can not be installed, two coats of aluminum or other good quality oil paint have been found to be satisfactory. However, almost all insulation materials incorporate a vapor barrier.

DESIGN B-258. There are two large bedrooms, with bath between, across the rear of the house and a combination kitchen-dinette in front. All rooms open into the bedroom hall for easy circulation and privacy for all rooms. The attached garage gives width to the appearance but can be omitted without detracting from the house, if the lot is not wide enough. The low roof and straight walls make this an economical house to frame. Plans include wardrobe type closets, full basement, wide siding, asphalt shingles, covered front entrance and screened breezeway. Floor area is 960 square feet with 18,000 cubic feet not including garage. For further information about DESIGN B-258, write the Building Editor, The Plymouth Mail.

3% Rise In Home Prices, Storage, Better Design Seen

Home Building costs may rise 3% in the next few months, the "trade-in" house plan will help owners of old homes buy new ones, air-conditioning for homes costing under $15,000 is still in the experimental stage in most areas, and a new era in home design is here.

These were the highlights of a talk today on the 1953 house by R. G. "Dick" Hughes, First Vice President of the National Association of Home Builders, before a group of New York editors at the Astor Hotel.

Wages, lot costs, masonry supplies and additional land improvement requirements by municipal authorities were said to be the main causes of rises in construction costs.

Hughes said a survey now underway by the NAHB showed that most builders expected their construction costs to rise anywhere from zero to 10 percent in the next six months. While increased efficiency would absorb some of the rise, most builders felt their new homes would be priced about 3% higher within six months.

The nationally prominent builder from Pampa, Texas, who erects about 1,200 new homes and apartments per year in the Southwest, called attention to the possibilities for both buyer and builder in a "trade-in" house arrangement.

"Everyday," he said, "builders have prospects who say: I like this new house. My family has outgrown our two bedroom house. I'll buy your new house if and when I can sell my house."

"The industry must perfect a trade-in arrangement as soon as possible," Hughes declared. He suggested that the industry place its trade-in emphasis on small two-bedroom houses that were built initially under FHA financing.

"These houses meet FHA requirements and will receive no undue penalty because of location surrounding areas and other factors. This particular group of houses presents a real opportunity for builders to fulfill an obligation to society and at the same time sell some new and larger houses," the Texas builder pointed out.

In a discussion of design and construction trends, Hughes told the audience that a new era in home design had arrived, mainly as the result of NAHB's Operation Trade Secrets House. He described the latter as a "tremendous, thought-provoking challenge—it was such a good house that it made the enterprising builder anxious to produce an even better design, incorporating architectural patterns suitable for his local area."

Hughes said that the average house of 1953 is slightly larger

Sandbox Cheap, Easy To Build

A backyard sandbox for small children is easy, inexpensive and quick to make, and will afford untold hours of enjoyment for the youngsters while keeping them out of mischief and under a watchful parental eye.

Basic material is four panels of plastic-faced plywood in the standard 4 x 8 feet size. Two of the panels are sawed lengthwise down the middle, providing four pieces, each two feet wide by eight feet long, to form the sides of the box.

The other two full-sized panels are butted edgewise and fastened firmly together with four 1x4 inch boards, each eight feet long to form a bottom for the box.

The slatted side is placed on the ground. The side-boards are then fastened to this platform with screws, and braced with two angle-irons at each corner.

All that remains is to fill the box with clean sand. It can be left in its natural wood finish, or

LAUNDRY EXHAUST FAN
An exhaust fan in the laundry will remove excess moisture from the air and eliminate paint peeling and other moisture troubles. Kenflex vinyl tile floors are unaffected by moisture.

Urge Greater Safety Built Into The Home

1. Bathrooms equipped with grab bars installed directly into the clay tile wall or wainscot around the tub, and anti-slip bathtub bottoms.
2. Elimination of stairs by placing all rooms on one level, such as in the ranch style house. Where stairs are used, the committee recommended short, straight flights, as in the split-level design. Winding stairs should be avoided and all staircases, if they are used, should have firm handrails and nonskid treads.
3. Kitchens should be finished in fireproof material like clay tile, especially in the dangerous area behind the range where so many flash blazes occur during cooking.
4. Room layout should be planned with sufficient wall space so that furniture may be grouped without obstructing traffic.

5. Halls should be short and straight, well lighted, and without projections like shelves and fixtures.
6. Doors should open inward and against the wall. Sliding doors for closets are excellent.
7. Plenty of storage should be provided so that fire-breeding clutter is avoided. It is wise to keep such places well ventilated.
8. It should be possible to open at least 50 per cent of the window area for ventilation. Upper floor window sills should not be less than 30 inches above the floor, and windows in nurseries and rooms inhabited by the elderly should have grills over them for safety.

HOW TO RUIN BRUSH
Never use the edge of a brush for painting narrow strips. If you do the brush bristles will divide and pretty soon you have a brush that isn't much good for anything—even painting narrow strips.

The term "paint" comes down to us from Sanskrit, oldest known written language. It means "to adorn."

HOME modernizing

Families Are Finding Fun In Their Own Backyards

More and more homeowners today are turning to their own backyards for family fun and relaxation. The trend, noted in an article in Home Modernizing, is to "turn" the house away from the street and utilize every inch of the lot as part of the family's living space.

The sketch at the right shows how many homeowners use their lots—a house, garage, clotheslines and a couple of shade trees.

The sketch below shows what can be done to derive the maximum pleasure from the same fairly small lot. It includes many of the major elements of outdoor living—all tied together in a pleasing pattern.

A horizontal trellis roof overhangs a concrete patio immediately behind the house, making an excellent outdoor room for fair-weather use. Two stepping-stone walks, one leading to the fireplace and outdoor dining area and the other to the service yard, bound a pleasant expanse of lawn.

The play area at the rear of the lot is equipped with a sandbox and gym. Clotheslines and vegetable garden are inconspicuous behind the garage.

Then-and-Now: A Record of American Progress

This is mass production—1913 style! The moving assembly line, basis of mass production, was introduced by Henry Ford that spring. In August, the principle was applied to the chassis assembly. One month later, when this photo was taken at Ford Motor Company's Highland Park, Mich., plant, Model T assembly time had been cut from 14 hours to 93 minutes.

Fifty years ago, when Ford Motor Company was founded, the average man would have worked 17 months to earn enough money to buy a runabout consisting of little more than a two-cylinder engine and a buggy frame. Today the cost of a Ford car similar to those above is equal to the wages an average man earns in 3½ months.

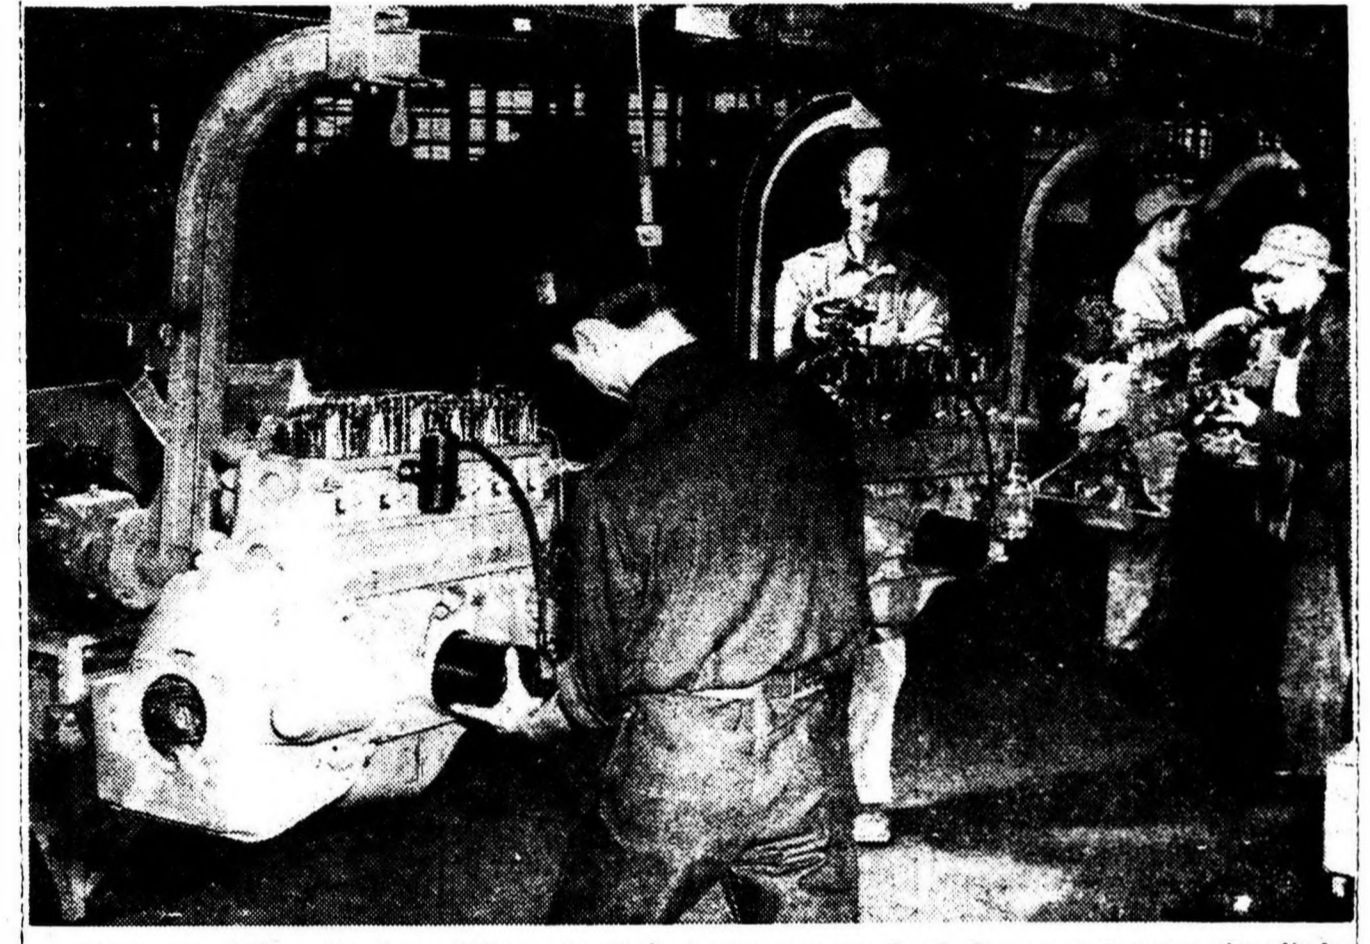

The Model T was born Oct. 1, 1908, and when the last of more than 15,000,000 was produced 19 years later it had become the most famous car in history. Henry Ford's specifications were simple: the T was easy to operate and repair, low priced and durable.

Ford Motor Company engineers and design stylists, such as this expert clay model team, work on the theory that to stand still in the auto industry is to move backwards. Today's research results in the finer cars America will drive tomorrow.

History was made as the flywheel magneto, first manufactured part to be built on a moving assembly line, passed by workmen at Ford Motor Company's Highland Park, Mich., plant in the spring of 1913. Time required to assemble magnetos was reduced from 20 to five minutes; the principle was applied to all Model T assembly operations and mass production was born.

Far removed from the days of Henry Ford's first conveyor, mechanical arms now move six-cylinder overhead-valve engines into position for assemblers at Ford Motor Company's engine plant at Cleveland. Such refinements as this "Ford first" emphasize anew Mr. Ford's personal definition of mass production: "Craftsmanship with the drudgery taken out of it."

Henry Ford's farm background led him to experiment with the "auto plow" in 1905. By 1917, he was mass producing tractors.

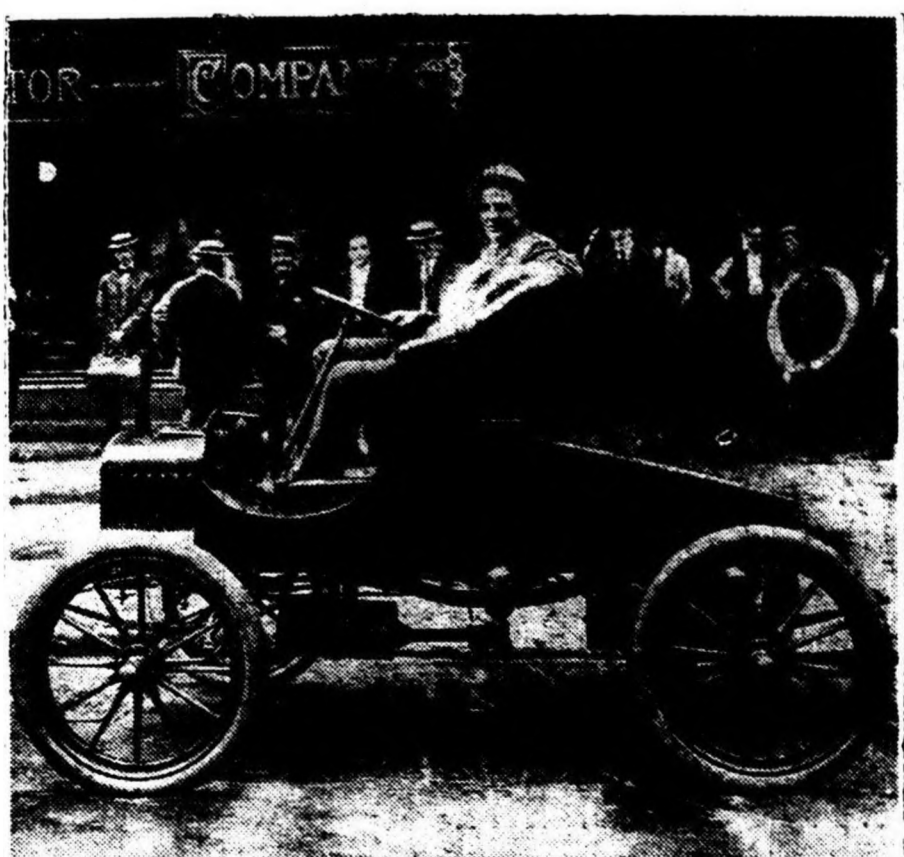

During its first two years, Ford Motor Company assembled approximately 3,500 cars in this rented building on Detroit's Mack Avenue. Ford's 19 U. S. assembly plants, 50 years later, built almost twice that number of autos each working day.

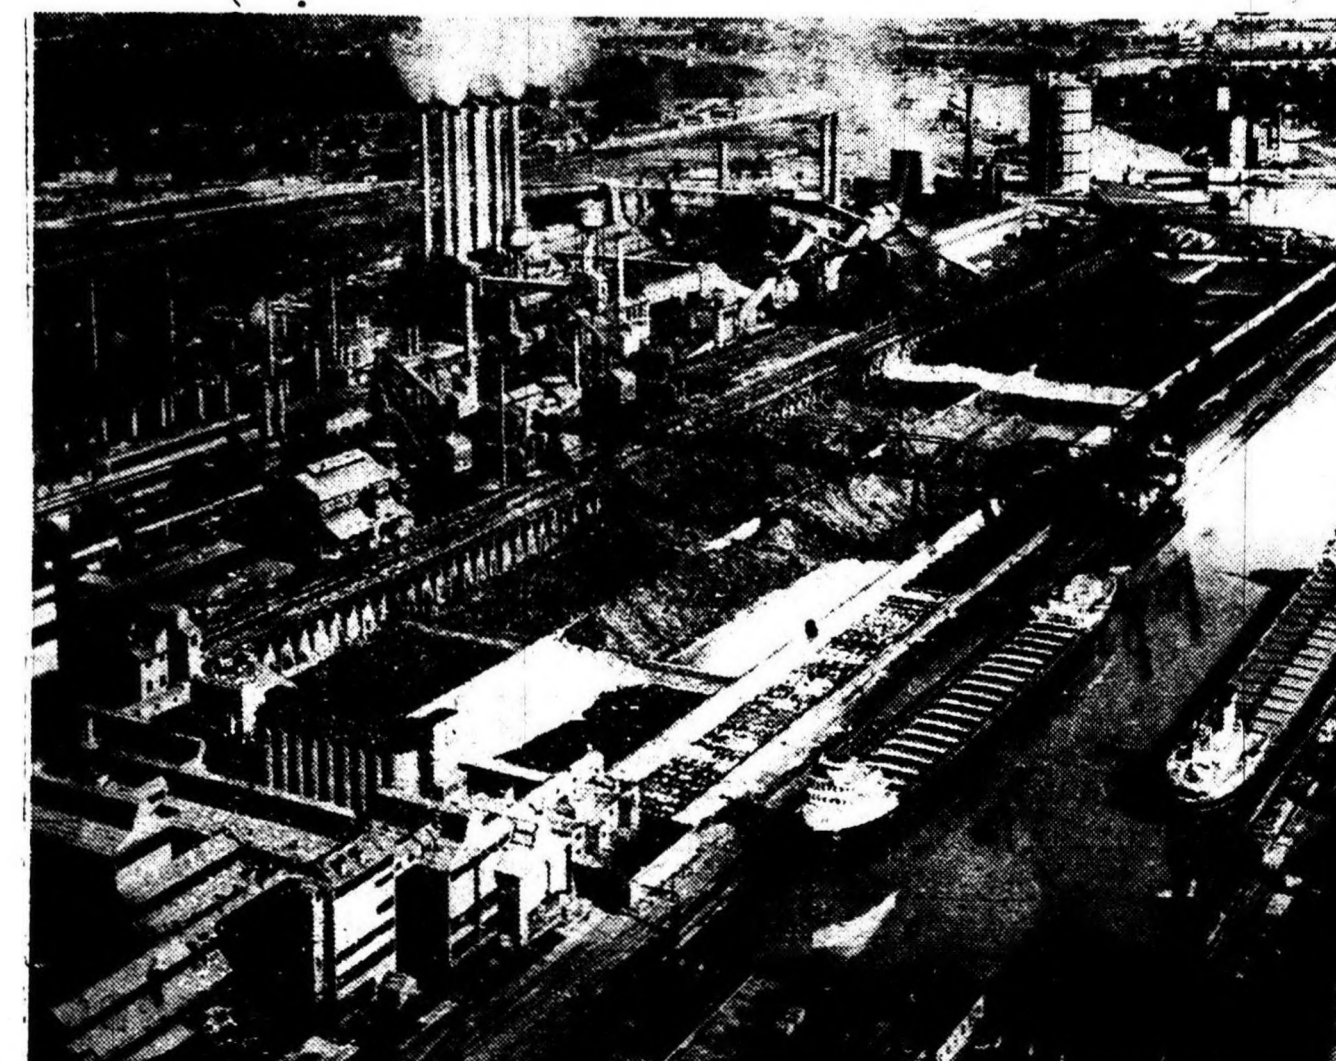

If all vehicles built by Ford Motor Company were placed end to end, they would stretch 110,953 miles—approximately half-way to the moon. A good bit of that distance had been covered by Jan. 18, 1937, when Edsel Ford, then president of the company, posed with the 25,000,000th Ford passenger car—a V-8. Henry Ford is seated in his first car, built in 1896.

In its first week of operation, in 1903, Ford Motor Company's payroll totaled $85.23. By 1953, the company's payrolls had skyrocketed 200,000 times—to more than $17,000,000 weekly. And the number of employees had increased by more than 168,000.

This strange car helped set the automobile industry free. Henry Ford built it in 1907 from early French patents and used it in winning the famous Selden patent suit. Ford alone among early automakers fought Selden's monopolistic grip on the infant industry.

This is Ford Motor Company's River Rouge plant. Located in Dearborn, Mich., it is the largest single industrial unit in the world. Performing all auto fabricating and assembly operations, the huge industrial center can transform raw materials into a finished car in 28 hours. The Rouge, at which production was started in 1918, employs more than 60,000.

As Ford Motor Company moves into its second half-century, Henry Ford II, standing, the company's president since 1945, and his brothers, Benson, left, vice-president and general manager of the Lincoln-Mercury Division, and William Clay, who manages Special Product Operations, carry on traditions of automotive progress handed down by Henry and Edsel Ford.

Plymouth High School Athletic Teams Win 92-Lose 48-Tie 3 Games

Athletic teams representing Plymouth High school enjoyed their most successful season in years during the past year when they posted 92 wins, 48 losses and 3 ties in all sports.

The varsity won 46 contests and lost 33. In the strong 6-B league competition they won a total of 32 games and lost but 15. The undefeated football team was on top in 9 straight wins to win the conference title. The track squad also won all 5 of their dual meets, won the league crown, and placed 16th out of 48 Class A teams in the meet. The baseball outfit also won a league

Merchants Lose Two and Win One; Second in League

The Plymouth Merchants baseball team in the fast Inter-County league lost their second game of the young season last Sunday afternoon to a good Food Fair team by a shutout 4 to 0. Both losses this year have been the result of shutouts, the first to Northville by a 1 to 0 count.

In the game last Sunday, all the scoring was done in the first two innings when Food Fair scored once in the first inning on an error and a hit, and three times in the second on walks and two hits.

The winners collected 11 hits off the offerings of Ed Hock, while Plymouth was able to garner only 7 scattered hits off Tony Fishback, a former star hurler in the Detroit Class A Baseball Federation. Hock struck out 6 men, and the locals had the bases loaded in the second and fifth innings, but the veteran Fishback was equal to the task and got the side out without any runs being scored.

Young Hock had two hits, and Kubitsky, DeWulf, Schwartz, Mous and McComber one each.

In the Northville loss, the winners scored the only run of the game in the second inning on a single, a bad throw, and another single. Hock also hurled this game for the Merchants. Each team got 5 hits.

In another game a week ago, the Merchants dealt Bodker a 9 to 0 loss as Wally Dzurus shut the Dairy men out with 4 hits. The Merchants gathered 11 hits.

The Merchants now have won 4 and lost 2 games, and are tied for second in the Red Division of the Inter-County League. At the end of the season all teams with a .500 percentage or more will enter a playoff to determine the league champion, while those under .500 will enter a consolation tourney.

Other results in games played last Sunday found Northville edging Teamsters 3-0; Bodker trouncing Walled Lake 16-3; Farris Furniture taking the Lincoln Cubs 9-1; Grandale beating Wyandotte 6-3; and Auto Club winning over River Rouge 2-0.

by "Professor" Edgar Brown

How many of you have paused to consider the immense changes in education that have taken place in the last 25 years?

Last summer I took a snapshot of the old red, brick country schoolhouse where I began my education. Outwardly it had not changed a bit, but the interior was modernized to the nth degree, and a modern heating plant had replaced the old stove that had stood in the rear center of the room.

In those days the school numbered some 20 or 30 pupils and their ages ranged from 5 to 18. The teacher taught everything from the alphabet to cube root, and what she taught remained burned into the memory of most members of the school.

Each student had his rewards and punishments to look forward to when occasion called for them. The prize reward was the permission to leave the room to bring wood, or coal, for the stove, or to go to one of the nearby farm houses for a pail of water. If one was bad he could expect getting a ruler applied with force upon his outstretched hand, or a switch on the lower anatomy. Of course, there were lesser punishments also, one being to stand in the corner, and another to go sit beside a girl.

I well remember this latter type—it was applied by a teacher who didn't understand children, and it will remain an unpleasant memory until I have passed out of this world. I was in my first month of school as a bashful lad of 5, and was fascinated by the coloring a girl behind me was doing at that time. The teacher told me to go back and sit with the girl—being bashful and new in school I just sat where I was—she was conducting a class at the time, and didn't say anything more until recess—then she whipped my legs until they were black and blue. What a beginning in school!

But getting back to the changes that have taken place in education. The high school graduate of those days were nearly helpless as far as making their education a means of immediate support. Everyone had to take a college course consisting of algebra, geometry, latin, English, history and a science—there was an elective in agriculture as a subject for interested boys.

Now for a glimpse at our present day methods. In short, education is fast becoming to mean training along lines that will be of service when the time comes that pupils are forced to go out into the world and take care of themselves. The moment one has to have a job, the moment when he finds he has to work or starve, the only thing which can save him is the knowledge, the trained knowledge, of some one thing that business, or humanity, needs. Given that, he will need ask no government for a dole.

One hears some criticism of present day educational methods—that graduates cannot read, write, figure or spell. I honestly do not believe it is any worse today than it was in the olden days. In those by-gone years the poorer students seldom went beyond the eighth grade, whereas, now anyone with an ambition and a will can continue on through high school. Even though one is not proficient in certain subjects, he gains much which will prove beneficial to him as a citizen of his community. There are a lot of things to be learned besides what one finds inside a book.

Perhaps some students do graduate nowadays who couldn't have met the rigid requirements of a few years ago, but they are going into the world better prepared in all-around knowledge which will help them enjoy a happy, healthy life, and to me that is the purpose of education.

Coach Gustave Gorguize's high school baseball team won the 6-B league championship by backing into first place when Allen Park edged Bentley in a game played after the Rock season was completed. These leads played excellent ball this year and deserve the trophy they won—this team is made up of mostly seniors, and is a tribute to their three years of good baseball as high school players.

Jerry Allen Wins Golfing Honors

Jerry Allen of Plymouth is one of 60 athletes who received sports awards from Central Michigan college in Mount Pleasant recently, announced Dan P. Rose, athletic director.

Allen received one of five awards made to varsity golfers. He has also been a member of the college's gymnastic team which has put on exhibitions throughout the state.

Now a junior at college, Allen was a graduate of Plymouth High school in 1948. While in the local school he was a three-sport man participating in football, baseball and basketball.

No-Hitter Wins Softball Opener For Gabby Street

Gabby Street opened the 1953 softball season for Beglinger Olds in grand style when he chucked a no-hitter against Bathey, and as a result his team had an easy win over the newcomers in this league by a score of 9 to 0. Street, pitching masterfully, struck out 16 of the 20 men to face him, did not walk a man, and only two balls were hit to the outfield. Two men got an base as a result of errors.

Olds went right to work in the first inning when they scored 3 runs on 2 hits. Wilkie walked, Schultz singled, Likeweis doubled, and an error let in another run. In the second they counted 3 more runs on Stevenson's double, Street's single, a triple by Schultz, and a fielder's choice. Two more came across in the third as Stevenson again opened with a double, Wilkie also doubled, and Schultz got his third straight hit in as many innings to bring in the last run of the inning. The final counter was pushed across the plate in the fifth when Street opened with a single but was forced at second by Maas, who scored later on a single by Schultz's fourth straight hit.

Schwartz hurled for Bathey's and struck out 3 and walked 5 men.

Five Home Games In 1953 Football

The 1953 high school football schedule as released by Athletic Director John Sandmann finds the team playing eight games this coming fall. The Rocks play all the 6-B League schools again, plus another game with each Northville, Garden City and Southfield. Wayne has been dropped from the schedule for the first time since 1899.

The schedule provides 5 home games and 3 away, however, the Bentley game which will be played here, is really a home game for Bentley as they have no lights. All are night contests with the possible exception of the Southfield game, which may be played in the afternoon if Southfield cannot obtain a lighted field for the game.

The Rocks met and defeated all the teams on next fall's schedule as they romped to an undefeated season this past year.

The schedule is as follows:
Sept. 18 Northville
Sept. 25 Trenton
Oct. 2 Redford U.
Oct. 9 Allen Park
Oct. 16 Belleville
Oct. 23 Bentley
Oct. 30 Garden City
Nov. 6 Southfield

The Marciano-Walcott fight is still the top topic of conversation where boxing fans hang out. Most are willing now to admit that champions just don't come back, but there are a few who believe Walcott received a bad count. This group contends a rematch should be scheduled. The majority think not. Television fans are still complaining, especially those who had parties planned. These fans report they no more than got seated, with many of their guests still moving about, and the fight was over before any of them knew it. The knock-out came at two minutes and twenty-five seconds in the first round. Walcott received $250,000 as his share of the purse. That must be some kind of record for two minutes and twenty-five seconds of work.

Northville Downs To Open Monday

With the first Detroit area harness racing meet of the year a huge success, the exodus of horses, drivers and owners has begun from the Hazel Park to Northville Downs where a 48 night meeting starts next Monday.

Northville Downs, starting its 10 year, is looking forward to the best in history.

President Harold B. Dennison and Executive Manager John Carlo report that everything is ready for the first post at 8:15 p. m. Monday, John Jenuine, racing secretary, has arranged nine races featuring an Inaugural Pace, for the grand opening night.

"Harness racing is due to reach new heights of popularity this year judging from reports and records from all over the country," comments President Dennison.

Northville Downs' fans will discover many improvements at the track this season. Parking facilities have been increased for the handling of 1000 additional cars on the grounds bringing the total space to nearly 2000 parking places. The stretch will be one of the best lighted in the country following the installation of 40 new flood lights and standards. Brand new concession stands have replaced those of past years.

These improvements, plus the construction of 40 additional stalls this year, are part of the five-year program started several years ago.

LaFontaine is Victor in Opener

Six teams were in action the first night of softball to open the lig on the 1953 season in the combined Open and Industrial League last Thursday evening. Evans Products opened the season in a game with LaFontaine—the latter team won in a well-played ball game 4 to 2. The winners got a total of 5 hits with the losers garnering 6 safeties. All the scoring was done in the first three innings.

Evans opened with 2 runs in the first inning on three hits, a single by Little, a double by Fairbanks and a single by Johnson. LaFontaine came back with 3 in the second inning on two walks and two singles—the hits being made by Jim Wellman and John Soave. In the third they scored one more run on a single by Bob Gordon, two walks and an error.

Jim Wellman hurled for the winners and struck out two men, walked three and allowed 6 hits. Erberington pitched the first five innings for the losers with Stevens finishing.

Watching famous brain surgeon Oscar Sugar of Chicago operate on the Siamese Twins on television last Thursday night reminded Dave Galin of an incident in his youth. Sugar, a cousin of Galin's, was the reason Galin quit a job in a Washington, D.C., grocery store after World War II. It seems Dave roomed at the Sugar home and because he could not stand the antics of the three young Sugar boys he left the city. He muses that you never can tell how boys will turn out even though they seemingly have a rough beginning.

Rotarians, overflowing from their last Friday meeting at the Hotel, were forced into the new Pilgrim Room where they learned of a local luncheon club, so exclusive, members resent intrusion of chance diners. He says perhaps he'll celebrate two this year to be sure he is right.

Said Schrader in return, "I have been receiving mail at 127 North Main for over 40 years and about the only future forwarding address I can think of at this time might be 280 Main street."

NEWS AND VIEWS

From the Editor's Desk

GREAT LOGIC

Recently President Eisenhower discussed, at a press conference, certain cuts in defense expenditures he is recommending. He vividly described the philosophy that governs his thinking in these words: "I have always believed that there is a great logic in the conduct of military affairs. There is an equally great logic in economic affairs. If these two logical disciplines can be wedded, it is then possible to create a situation of maximum military strength within economic capacities.

"If, on the other hand, these two are allowed to proceed in disregard one for the other, you then create a situation either of doubtful military strength, or of such precarious economic strength that your military position is in constant jeopardy."

The President thus said, in effect, that a sound government economy is as important to our defense and survival as actual military power—and that reckless, unbridled spending can be as dangerous as a foreign foe. That is as refreshing and as important an attitude as we have seen in high places in government in many a long year.

SINCE ANDY JACKSON'S DAY

According to a recent AP story, "The United States spends more money forecasting the weather now than it cost to run the whole government during Andy Jackson's Administration." That fact isn't cited as a criticism of the weather service. But it is a striking example of how government has got out of hand, and how vital it is that every non-essential activity be eliminated and every possible nickel cut from the budget.

TO 1953'S GRADUATES

At this time of the year the annual crop of college graduates enters upon a new life and the many perils of the outside world. Those who must earn a living emerge into the business world at a time when production is high, jobs are relatively plentiful and wages are good.

Many of them cannot remember the time when jobs were plentiful and when money was not comparatively plentiful. The graduate of 1953 will probably enjoy promising economic opportunities for several years hence. While a mild readjustment might occur later this year or in 1954, the general consensus of opinion is that good business is here to stay through 1956.

In this respect, the graduate of 1953 is highly fortunate. He is fortunate in entering the business world at a time when a period of comparative stabilization seems to be setting in. The era ahead of him may well be the most glorious and productive yet experienced by the United States. With the nation expanding its population at the rate of a million and a half each year, thus enlarging the market for goods considerably, and with the standard of living rising—which also increases the market for goods—opportunities for young people in 1953 seem unlimited.

Though many male graduates face several years in the armed services, the chances are that most of them will not be sent into combat and the general conclusion is that chances of a third world war are less than they have been in recent years, especially after the president's talk last Wednesday night. In addition to these bright signs on the horizon, the 1953 graduate is living in an age when medical science is making rapid strides in its fight against incurable diseases and in which labor-saving conveniences are more numerous than ever before.

There is no reason, then, why the 1953 graduate should not be optimistic about his future and set upon the task of earning a living with sober confidence. To succeed, a will to work is still required, and a Christian attitude toward one's fellow man is still the most valuable asset. The 1953 graduate who is confident, willing to work, and unselfish in outlook, can be assured of a bright future.

RELUCTANT DIVER

"Weather co-operating, Michigan could be headed for the best tourist season ever," predicts Robert J. Furlong, executive secretary of Michigan Tourist Council. That's the office that shows people where and how to enjoy themselves in this "Water Wonderland" state.

More happy tourists in Michigan mean better livelihoods for resort owners and louder jingles of vacation dimes and dollars. Most of this, sooner or later, finds its way into the hands of Michigan retailers, wholesalers and manufacturers.

People are surprised to learn that tourist trade ranks among the top three industries in Michigan. Manufacturing is first. Agriculture and resorting come next, but most representatives of both fields are unwilling to state flatly which is second.

Surveys show that of 10 billion dollars spent yearly by Americans, well over $500 million (about 5%) will be spent in Michigan. More than half by residents from outside the state who learn of sunny sands, deep forests and blue waters. Surveys also show that sightseeing is Michigan's biggest attraction. Mr. Furlong says that 70% of the people touring here include it in their program. "About 55% go fishing," he added, explaining that, "nearly all tourists enjoy several different activities during their visits."

Michigan Tourist Council is a clearing house which attempts to co-ordinate all tourist promotion. The staff consists of only five hardworking people in Lansing, headed by Mr. Furlong, who has a conservation department background. Administrative assistant is John Gray, who for five years has been speaking, photographing and writing about the glories of our state. The council works closely with Michigan's four existing regional associations: East, West, Southeastern and Upper Peninsula.

A sum of money, appropriated each year by the Legislature, finances the Tourist Council. The state carefully designates how much of this shall be spent on promotion.

The remainder can be used for administration. In 1945 when the council was organized, $250,000 was appropriated. Recently it was increased to $296,000; this year it is $326,000.

Of this, $25,000 is credited to each regional office which must use it for advertising. Most of the balance is used for ads in national magazines and Michigan newspapers.

A careful check is made of coupons returned from these ads," says Mr. Furlong, "so the council will know which are worthy." Coupon senders are asked to check the part of Michigan they want to visit; their names are referred to one of the four regional associations.

Thousands of beautifully printed booklets picturing advantages of Michigan vacations are distributed to interested people. Other publications about activities like canoeing, fishing and winter sports, are sent out daily.

Upon request art and information is available to writers or news commentators. Pictures of Michigan scenes are supplied for calendar or promotion pieces. Much material for a fine article in National Geographic was provided by the Tourist Council. It was called "Work Hard — Play Hard Michigan" and must have appealed to thousands of travel loving readers.

Long range tourist programs are also examined. At present several are under consideration. They include a plan to keep school open 12 months a year, giving classes and teachers vacations as long as at present, but staggered around the calendar. This will permit fuller use of schools and, incidentally, benefit the tourist trade.

Another idea is to encourage "off season" vacations in industry. This would permit the resort owner to use his facilities all year while more people could enjoy fall and winter sports or spring fishing.

The council supports Senator Don VanderWerp's proposed law which would change all except religious holidays to Monday so that the public would have more play time every year.

More immediate concern is the matter of estimating tourist increase resulting from the proposed Mackinac bridge. Mr. Furlong believes the bridge will be a terrific boom to travel. "It will be an attraction in itself as an engineering sight," he predicts. "Its convenience will permit the passage of many, many more people across the straits than were willing to wait for the ferries."

A "Know Your Michigan" week is already under consideration by several state agencies and when it comes into existence about a year from now, you can be sure that the Michigan Tourist Council had a hand in its creation.

Nine men make up the Tourist Council. They are selected from various groups in the state's economy. First are the secretaries of Michigan's four regional tourist groups. The fields of transportation, press, agriculture, consumer sales and resorting are each represented. It's a job with no pay and no expense allowance, but six of the original members are still serving.

Earl M. Johnson, Houghton Lake resort owner, is chairman. W. Webb McCall, former publisher of the Isabella County Times-News in Mt. Pleasant, is vice chairman. Other members are Lee Wilson Hutchins, Grand Rapids, president of the Hazeltine-Perkins Drug Co.; W. G. Armstrong, Niles, a member of the Board of Agriculture; George E. Bishop, Marquette, Upper Peninsula Development Bureau; Frank Davis, East Michigan Tourist Association; Chester C. Wells, West Michigan Tourist Association; Robert W. Budd, president of Great Lakes Greyhound; J. Lee Barrett, Southeastern Michigan Tourist and Publicity Association.

Michigan's tourist trade did not develop by accident. It is the result of favorable treatment by Mother Nature and the hard work of many people. Among these are the members and the staff of the Michigan Tourist Council.

ROGER BABSON SAYS:

BABSON DISCUSSES UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE

During the past winter, while in the South, I received many interesting letters which I have saved. Most of these letters can be classified under four headings: (1) Unemployment Insurance, (2) Excess Inventories, (3) Personal Debts and (4) Labor Unions. As these letters come from over thirty different states, they give a cross section of what the average businessman is thinking about.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE

For a very subtle reason most businessmen, especially retailers, are not opposed to unemployment insurance. They feel that if a depression comes, these unemployment checks—as well as pensions, old-age assistance and other sources of Government, State and Municipal aid—will be of real help in preventing a business collapse. Doubtless these checks from the public treasury will cushion a decline in their business when unemployment comes. But why have the unemployment?

These letters almost unanimously, however, complain about the present abuse of this unemployment insurance. For instance, in Massachusetts a person who earns approximately $500 in each quarter of a year, or approximately $2,000 a year, is entitled to collect $25 for twenty-three weeks for unemployment, or $575. But the laws of the various states vary somewhat as to the amount paid and the duration of payment. If these were bonafide cases, it would not be so bad; but my correspondents claim that a large proportion of these "unemployed" have purposely arranged to get "fired" in order to get this insurance. In other words, it is becoming a fast-growing racket which is upsetting the employment situation, undermining the character of employees and causing an unnecessary drain on public funds. If unemployment offices are not operated by politicians and their friends, officials do seem to be shutting their eyes to this abuse. It should be stopped.

DANGER OF EXCESS INVENTORIES

John C. Lang of Baltimore writes a letter which is typical of many similar letters. He calls attention to the excess inventories which businessmen for various reasons feel obliged to carry. Of course, the future of your community depends, in the long run, on keeping purchasing power and inventories on a reasonable balance.

Such a balanced condition would help to give your community a steady but gradually increasing prosperity. Various suggestions have been made for preventing excessive inventories. One is that the Excess Profits Tax be switched to an Excess Inventories Tax. Surely, some check on excess inventories is needed to avoid a business depression. I hope each merchant will be careful.

serve as an offset. Unfortunately, however, Congress has not given the Federal Reserve System the power to curb consumer credit, and this unnecessarily permits further credit expansion.

A dangerous feature of the situation is that local banks, which refused to loan customers when they were out of employment and needed the money, are now, with higher prices being paid for automobiles, refrigerators, fur coats, etc., encouraging unnecessary borrowing. I hope they will be careful and avoid a policy which would not be good for their community.

LABOR LEADERS

From almost every state I receive complaints about the arbitrary actions of union labor. My correspondents do not object to the carpenter, painter, plumber, bricklayer, etc., getting more pay. They, however, complain desperately that these workers are not producing what they should and are loafing on the job. The workmen in turn blame the problem on the labor leaders. All of this sets up a vicious circle which sometime must collapse.

I am a great believer in every family having a home, and hence have always encouraged the building and buying of homes. I fear, however, that the present attitude of labor leaders may cause the building boom to collapse. Considering that the building of a small house aids twenty-seven different industries, such a collapse should be avoided.

Helen, aged seven, was showing a visitor how fast she could run, when she suddenly stopped and said: "But I can't stop my best running unless something is happening behind me."
