

Expect Record Crowd In Plymouth On Fourth

Robert Marsden, Evered Jolliffe, Goddard and Arlen. The club had a most successful year under Mr. Arlen's direction taking in 13 new members and staging an inter-city forum, the first of its kind, which highlighted Arlen's administration.

Three-Day Program Is Planned

Freely predicting the largest crowd ever to attend a Fourth of July celebration here, chairman of the three-day event today tied final strings in readying the many star attractions.

Featuring well over 20 individual events, the celebration opens officially at 1:30 p.m. today, Thursday, at the Plymouth High school playgrounds. From then until the final shooting of fireworks Saturday evening at 9:30 kiddies and grown-ups alike are promised a line-up of high class entertainment.

"We've made every effort to bring the people of the Plymouth area a program that will make their holiday weekend at home a most pleasant one," said General Chairman Marshall Kirkpatrick. "The whole idea of the event is to provide entertainment at home so that people may stay off the highways and avoid tragic auto accidents," he concluded.

Local interest appeared to center around the contest to choose "Miss Plymouth" from among 15 entrants. Full details of this along with pictures of all the bathing beauties may be found on pages two and three of section three in today's Mail. Chamber Secretary Nat Sibbold announced that the winner would be chosen Saturday evening at 7:30 with Television Stars Soupy Sales and Merrie Melody, and Lucille Watson, former Olympic swimmer, acting as judges. Dick King will provide background music on the Hammond organ throughout the event.

The appearance of Governor G. Mennen Williams at 7:00 p.m. Saturday stands out, of course, as one of the major attractions of the celebration. The Governor will address the crowd just prior to the Miss Plymouth contest. Other special attractions noted by Chairman Kirkpatrick are the Army mobile unit which will appear Friday evening displaying all types of armaments and showing combat films; the preliminary display of fireworks on Friday evening, July 3; and the presentation of American flags to all the kiddies on the night of the Fourth by the Passage-Gayde Post of the American Legion.

For the children the appearance of Soupy Sales and Merrie Melody will perhaps be the highlight of the event. Their programs, "Comics for Kiddies" and "Play School" are very popular with the younger set. In addition, Sibbold promised a nice variety of rides at the carnival. "Everything will be shown without admission charge with the exception of the Beauty Contest," said Sibbold. "A charge of 35c for adults will be made for this event to help defray costs of the promotion." All other displays and demonstrations will be free of charge.

For a complete schedule of events for the three-day program turn to page three of section three.

The Heritage of Independence.

In these days of international turmoil, the significance of the Fourth will be clearer to those Americans who will pause to recall the brave Declaration of 177 years ago, from whence came the bequest of Freedoms we enjoy today.

The Permanence of Our Heritage of Independence Can be Assured Only by Our Sincere Determination to Protect These Freedoms.

Penalties Face Taxpayers Who Fail to Pay Summer Levy by August 10

Persons throughout the city who earlier this week received summer tax bills were told by City Treasurer Charles H. Garlett they have until August 10 to pay the 15-month levy without penalty.

Garlett Tuesday mailed out 3,058 tax statements totaling $206,498—enough money to build 17 average sized houses, but earmarked to provide municipal services to some 7,300 residents during the 1953-1954 year.

Each taxpayer on an average will pay some $67.52 as his share in support of such services as police and fire protection and municipal administration. Tax experts will tell you even at this cost the tax burden is somewhat of a bargain inasmuch as the per capita cost of municipal services furnished totals slightly over $75.

Tax revenues for the new year jumped just $3,398 over 1952 figure of $203,100. The city's evaluation for 1953-1954 was set at $13,766,540. In 1952 it was $13,551,770.

Garlett warns that taxpayers here have until August 10 to pay their tax bills without penalty. An automatic two per cent interest penalty will be applied after the deadline, with an additional one per cent per month added until March, 1954, or until the tax is paid.

Garlett requested taxpayers to contact his office (telephone 93) if they failed to get a tax bill or received the wrong one. Persons who have failed to file notices of property change with the city treasurer are advised to report the change.

Payments may be mailed to the city treasurer's office. A dated receipt will be mailed back to the sender. Persons making their payments at the city hall will find offices there open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, and from 8 a.m. to 12 noon on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Brink, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Rutenbar and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Palmer will spend the Fourth at Bishop lake to celebrate the birthday of Richard Palmer.

President Eisenhower Sends C. H. Bennett Congratulations

Charles H. Bennett not only received cards from all members of the Rotary club and many other friends on his 90th birthday last Friday but personal greetings were also received from Senator Homer Ferguson and President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

A telegram from Wilton B. Persons, special assistant to the President, congratulated Mr. Bennett on his birthday and commended him for the contributions he has made during his life span to his country and his fellowmen.

Mr. Bennett received a few close friends late Friday afternoon and enjoyed birthday cake and ice cream as well as listening to a recording of the Rotary party held in his honor that noon.

Popular Hillside Inn is Feature Subject in Restaurant Magazine

Plymouth's popular Hillside Inn took cover page honors in the July issue of the Michigan Restaurateur, an official publication of the Michigan Restaurant and Caterers association.

Included in the July issue is a cover page picture of the Hillside's main dining room. An article telling how Hillside increased business by 40 per cent following remodeling is the magazine's feature subject this month. It is reprinted in full from the Restaurateur.

On this month's front cover we feature the recently remodeled popular Hillside Inn, 41661 Plymouth road, Plymouth, Michigan, operated by Robert Stremich and his aunt, Margaret L. Stremich. Located on the crest of a hill overlooking Riverside park, on the outskirts of Plymouth and about eight miles from Detroit's city limits, this restaurant has a fine reputation for the excellence of its food and service.

There are a number of factories within a short driving distance of the Hillside Inn whose executives and office employees patronize the inn. It also derives a good portion of its customers from the business and professional people of the community and surrounding residential areas and persons traveling on the highway.

The Hillside opened 17 years ago, but at that time was only selling sandwiches, the leader of which was the always popular

Many Jobs Available in Local Industrial Plants

The 650 to 700 Kaiser Motor corporation workers from the Plymouth area now unemployed as the result of recent layoffs should not have too much difficulty in getting job replacements.

This is the opinion of Clarence Jetter, local manager for the Michigan Employment Security commission.

"There is a large demand for skilled help," Jetter said. "And we'll be able to help them get jobs."

Jetter said officials from two local plants stated "they will add night shifts if the labor is available." There was no indication how many workers now idle would be required to round out the needs on added shifts.

With some 200 applicants processed alone last Monday, Jetter told that he thought there would be an increasing number of job orders from employers.

But most of them are for skilled help and clerical work. Robert Marsden, personnel

Plymouth Leads Out-county Area in Seal Donations

Plymouth has taken the lead in Wayne Out-County in the gross donations to the 1953 Easter Seal campaign. According to a letter written to Mayor Russell Daane by Mrs. Herma Taylor, R.N., executive secretary, Plymouth township has donated $3,324.00 to the Michigan Society for Crippled Children and Adults. Receipts from the whole Wayne Out-county total $24,420.85.

Plymouth leads its nearest competitor Allen Park, in Ecorse township, by almost $400. Said Mrs. Taylor, "You have done a grand selling job for us, and we are very grateful for a successful Easter seal campaign." The drive was handled through the Plymouth Rotary club.

Make Study of Highway Traffic Throughout Area

Following up the work of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce Highway committee Governor G. Mennen Williams in response to efforts of the local group, made public the following information Monday.

Discussions held between the Governor's office and the Highway department revealed the fact that several studies are now underway by the Highway department regarding construction projects west and northwest of Detroit. At the present time however, other than resurfacing and widening projects, there is no major construction going on.

The Highway department further informed the governor that they are well aware that Plymouth is in a fast-growing area, and they have been constantly getting setback lines established to prevent the cost of wrecking recently completed buildings when a major widening project is put on.

Plans are already on the drawing board by the Highway department for the construction of a grade separation at Plymouth road and Telegraph, and con-

Printers Have Extra Holiday

So that the employees of The Plymouth Mail may enjoy a long Fourth of July weekend the offices and plant will be closed on Friday and Saturday of this week. However to compensate for customers that find the Friday closing inconvenient the offices will remain open until 6 p.m. on Thursday to care for their special needs.

Presses will resume operation on Monday, July 6. Other Plymouth firms closing Friday who have already announced their plans are Bathing Manufacturing company and Daisy Manufacturing company. The Harvey Container company will close both Thursday and Friday and Burroughs will remain closed on Monday.

Rotarians Hold C. H. Bennett Day

Rotarians enjoyed a program last Friday specially prepared to celebrate the 90th birthday of Charles H. Bennett. A huge birthday cake was cut by Edward C. Hough (picture elsewhere in this issue) and the following tribute to Mr. Bennett was given by Dr. B. E. Champe.

"One of the nicest things about nice people is that they all have birthdays, and to observe the birthday of one of our fellow Rotarians gives us an opportunity to say right out a few of the nice things regarding him that we have been thinking about during the past year.

A spectacular helicopter rescue of a wounded American soldier was credited to Captain Earl L. Russell last week in Korea by the Army newspaper published in Seoul. Captain Russell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Russell of Plymouth. Mr. Russell senior is executive vice-president of the Wall Wire Products company.

According to the Seoul paper a severely wounded soldier was in range of a Red machine gunner's nest, and the only possible chance of rescue was the sending of an armored truck after the wounded man. However, due to the severity of his injuries it was felt he might not survive the ride back over the rough Korean terrain.

When Captain Russell, commander of the company helicopter detachments, heard of the soldier's plight he made a quick decision to rescue the man by air. He called for an artillery barrage to be laid down on the machine gunners. Twelve minutes after the call, and behind a curtain of artillery fire, he dropped his helicopter down to bring the wounded man safely back behind the American lines.

In commending Captain Russell on his heroic action the commander of the 50th division medical detachment pointed out that the greatest problem of a helicopter pilot in evacuating the wounded is to avoid the trajectory of friendly artillery.

Captain Russell has been decorated twice for bravery and a third award, previous to this action, has already been cited. In a note to his parents he mentioned that the war had been getting progressively hotter and that Red night flyers frequently interrupted his night's sleep.

Planners Convene on More Protests

The city Planning Commission convenes tonight reportedly in a wind-up session before reporting out the proposed Zoning Ordinance to city commissioners.

City Manager Albert F. Glassford said last week he thought the new zoning law would have its first reading before commissioners on July 6.

In its session tonight city planners are expected to hand down rulings on some protests heard on June 11 and 13, during public hearings. Tonight's session starts at 7:30 p.m. at the city hall.

Set Homeowner Tax at $220 For Parkway Interceptor

Mr. and Mrs. Homemake—all 2,500 living here who own their homes—individually by 1968 may have paid out $220 in additional taxes. But here is what you are going to get in return.

1) The $3,425,900 Middle Rouge Parkway Interceptor.

2) The Parkway Arm, a $1,200,000 branch sewer line that will put an end to most township and city sewage disposal problems and open vast rural areas to development.

The huge sewer system that will stretch out for more than 20 miles to link Plymouth with Detroit sewage disposal plants will include a branch sewer line called the Parkside Arm. It is a separate project that must be built and paid for by city and township taxpayers before the main-line interceptor can be utilized. Its cost has been estimated by county engineers at $1,200,000.

City Manager Albert F. Glassford said Tuesday he thought the Parkside Arm would be built concurrently with the interceptor slated for completion by October, 1964. It meets by 90 days the effective date of an edict set down by the Michigan Department of Health—"no more sewer construction without adequate pollution control." That order would halt sewer construction in Plymouth. In effect, it melts any opposition and forces communities along the interceptor's right-of-way to submit to project costs.

Some 55 per cent of $180,000 set as Plymouth's share of the interceptor will be paid by the city over a 15-year period. The remaining $88,000 will be levied against individual homeowners here at a total estimated cost of $18.45 per average city lot.

Glassford said the city will have to do some looking around to find about $7,000 per year to pay for its share. It either means

Sharon Miller Weds Roger Pelchat in Afternoon Ceremony

Mrs. Roger Pelchat

At a lovely afternoon wedding on Saturday, June 27, Sharon Lynn Miller became the bride of Roger Pelchat. Sharon is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl M. Miller of Proctor road, Ypsilanti and Mrs. Ethel Pelchat of Cherry Hill road is Roger's mother.

The impressive four o'clock double ring ceremony was read by the Reverend George Nevin in the Cherry Hill Methodist church. Large baskets of white gladioli and stock were placed on either side of the altar. The organist, Jon Brake accompanied the soloist, Miss Mary Lou Hartwick who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Sharon's full length gown was of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle. The bodice of lace had long sleeves. Queen Anne collar and fell in a Redingote over the skirt of nylon tulle. She wore a white sweetheart lace cap which held in place her fingertip length veil of nylon tulle with appliques of Chantilly lace and rhinestones. Her bouquet was of white rosebuds centered with a deep purple-throated orchid and stephanotis.

Jean Thornton of Lincoln Park was Sharon's maid of honor. Her gown was of white lace and nylon net over aqua taffeta. The strapless gown had a peplum of the lace and she wore a matching bolero jacket. She wore a garland of aqua flowers in her hair and carried a colonial bouquet of yellow rosebuds and yellow carnations.

Declares Doctor Shortage Acute; Calls For Survey

Plymouth's general medical practitioners are overworked and in short supply.

This is the opinion of Nat Sibbold, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce here.

Sibbold said he would recommend to the Chamber's Board of Directors that it call for a survey to examine the need for additional physicians. Presumably the survey would be undertaken by the Chamber's Hospital committee headed by Robert Marsden.

"Our doctor situation is acute," Sibbold declared earlier this week. "We've got to do something about it."

Sibbold explained that his office had become a clearing house of complaints from residents here unable to get emergency medical care at night. "Physicians are not available many times during the day or night," Sibbold said. "What if someone is seriously ill?" he asked.

Plymouth has eight physicians and nine osteopaths. Of the physicians, one reportedly works part-time, one is a diagnostician and another a surgeon.

It is not known at this time just how the survey would be pointed, if it were undertaken. It is known, however, that cities faced with doctor shortages may make their needs known by petitioning the secretary of the State Medical Society in Lansing.

Ypsilanti, faced with a shortage of general practitioners, licked its problem when physicians there banded together to set up the all-night Ypsilanti clinic. Local physicians, doctors from Ann Arbor and resident physicians from the University hospital staff keep the clinic open seven days a week from 7 p.m. to 7 a.m.

No Bingo Edict Handed Down by Chief Greenlee

A sudden overnight order curtailing bingo from now on was handed down last week by Police Chief Carl Greenlee.

Greenlee said "we're trying to co-operate with the Wayne county prosecutor's office and the state attorney general."

The order was effective June 26.

It came as Greenlee told the Knights of Columbus last Thursday it was the last night his department would sanction bingo gaming.

The order brought immediate comment from the Knights who had been meeting weekly since 1949 to pay the game.

Co-chairman of the bingo activity, Milton VanLerberghe, said Friday "it's the kids who will suffer."

VanLerberghe told that bingo revenues, after operating expenses were deducted, were allocated to Boysville, a Knights-sponsored organization for wayward, homeless boys. The local unit also used bingo revenues to support the Catholic Boys club and to buy athletic equipment for Our Lady of Good Counsel school.

Greenlee said he ordered the bingo shutting until state or county rulings clarified the status of bingo as a gaming activity.

State-Aid Check Surplus Balance School Budget

Plymouth Public school system rounded out its $421,050 in state-aid allocations for 1952 when it received a check Monday from the state totaling $27,467. The added income left a surplus when the fiscal year closed on June 30 of $73,000.

The $27,467 sum pays in full the state's obligation to the public schools here. It bolstered the projected revenue for the new year and along with surplus funds prevented a cutback earlier forecast by school officials when 1953-1954 budget outran income by $34,000.

Superintendent of Schools Russell Isbister last Monday said about school finances for the new year: "I think we're going to get through all right."

"We're relatively sure of state-aid payments," Isbister said, "and it looks as if there's going to be slightly more sales tax money." Isbister was speaking of the Used Car Transfer Tax law recently enacted by the Legislature. He said he thought it would help peg up the school's operating funds during the forthcoming year.

The new budget totaling $895,695 has been tentatively approved by the Board of Education.

The Pelchats will make their home in Plymouth.

HEAVY WINDS BROUGHT IT CRASHING DOWN—Though heavy winds buffeted the city briefly Tuesday afternoon, the only known damage wrought was this partially rotted tree limb that succumbed from its perch just west of Plymouth's post office on Penniman avenue.

Dunlap Resigns at University But Stays Here

Wayne Dunlap

The resignation of Wayne Dunlap as professor of music and director of the Symphony Orchestra at the University of Michigan, was made public this week.

Dunlap, director of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra, had earlier revealed to members of the local Symphony board of directors that his resignation at the university would not effect his position here.

Affiliated with the university since 1946, Dunlap is presently attending a music festival at Tanglewood, Mass. In his statement to local board members he said that he would continue to reside in Ann Arbor and devote himself to civic orchestra organization and direction. "There is no reason to believe at this time that I will not be able to continue my association with the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra for as long as I am wanted," Dunlap said. He further indicated that he had enjoyed his two years as director here and wished to expand his work in this field.

31 Supervisors Pay Final Tribute to C. Rathburn, Jr.

An In Memoriam resolution honoring Charles H. Rathburn, Jr., Plymouth township supervisor until his death on June 2, was last week permanently recorded in county records by the Wayne Out-County Supervisors' association.

The resolution read, in part:

"We... are deeply saddened by the death of a most highly respected friend and colleague, and it is with deepest feelings of personal loss that we pause this day to pay final tribute to the memory of Charles H. Rathburn, Jr."

Mr. Rathburn was township supervisor continuously for 28 years. A Republican exponent in county affairs for over a quarter of a century, as a county supervisor he served heavily on the Ways and Means committee and was active in committee assignments dealing with veterans affairs, civil service, drains, employees' pensions, roads and bridges, county reorganizations and airports.

Mr. Rathburn succumbed following a brief illness diagnosed as a blood clot of the abdomen. He was 69.

said this week that every effort would be made to retain Dunlap as director here and that as far as the Symphony board was concerned his work with the orchestra was excellent.

The program for next year's concerts has already been announced and the drive for new members is currently underway by the Symphony Board.

"O! they're real swell people," said the Chicago man; "an old 'Mayflower family' I believe."

"You mean their ancestors came over in the Mayflower?" asked the visitor from the East.

"O! no I mean they made their money in 'Mayflower Hams'; oldest brand o' hams in this section."

Foreign Students to Help Plymouth Celebrate Fourth

Almost 100 students from all over the world will come to Plymouth this weekend to witness the Fourth of July event sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. The group is studying English at the English Language Institute of the University of Michigan.

The students will come to Plymouth, stated George Luther of the English Language Institute, in order to better acquaint themselves with American customs. He pointed out that learning the language of a country is only a part of their work, as they wish to learn about the American people as well.

The group will arrive here Saturday morning and will stay until about 7:15 p.m. A welcoming ceremony will be held for them in the park, with Robert Marsden, personnel manager of Burroughs Corporation, delivering the welcome from the Chamber of Commerce. Reverend Melbourne Johnson will welcome the foreign students for the city's churches.

While in Plymouth the students will tour Bird school, see the murals at the Mayflower hotel, and participate in the various events characterizing an American Fourth of July. Their headquarters will be at the Methodist church.

Mrs. Miller Ross, heading the arrangements from the Plymouth, is preparing to have Plymouth residents serve dinners in their homes to small groups of the students. Luther stated that it would be a good experience for the visitors to partake of an informal meal with a family.

He further added that it would be good experience for the Americans to come into contact with a person from a foreign nation. Most of the students speak good English, he pointed out, and students having particular difficulty with the language would be accompanied by instructors.

This is the second year in which students from the English Language Institute have come to Plymouth. Previous to that time the group spent the Fourth of July at Olivet College, but since they had such a good time last year, they are returning again.

The group of students from 23 different countries are, in the majority, taking the summer course to prepare themselves for further study in the United States. Fourteen are teachers of English; some are Army officers brought here by the State department; others are University students. Many are in the United States on scholarships from their own countries, from our government, or from industries and philanthropic organizations.

Countries represented by the group which will come here include, Spain, Finland, Indonesia, Turkey, Ceylon, Japan, Thailand, Cuba, Puerto Rico, Brazil, Colombia, Ecuador, Argentina, Bolivia, Peru, Paraguay, Uruguay, Guatemala, El Salvador, Nicaragua, Costa Rica and Mexico.

"They say she has rheumatism of the nerves," remarked the friend. "What is that now, rheumatism of the nerves? I never heard of it."

"I suppose," exclaimed the other, "that she had so much nerve she caught cold in it."

Three From City Get Scholarships From Ford Fund

Three Plymouth-area high school graduates Tuesday night received certificates for four-year scholarships from William C. Ford, vice president, Ford Motor company. They are Marian Miller, 18, of 101417 Bassett drive; Pearl Kennitz, 18, of 1233 Haggerty, of Plymouth; Walter E. Newcomb, 18, of 325 First street, Northville; Harold P. Spehar, 18, of 11563 S. Lowell, Livonia.

Members of a group of 74 members from 17 states, they received their awards at a banquet at Dearborn. They are visiting Dearborn for three days as guests of the Ford Motor Company and, which provides the scholarships.

The Ford Fund is supported principally by contributions from the Ford Motor company, and is not connected with the Ford Foundation.

The scholarships will cover tuition, academic fees, and a portion of living expenses at the colleges chosen by the students.

Winners were selected by a board of college officials who reviewed high school academic standing, results of a written examination, extra-curricular activities and personal recommendations of teachers and employers before selecting winners. The annual competition is open to sons and daughters of Ford employees in the United States.

Marian's father, Ewald F. Miller, is employed at the Northville Ford plant. Joan's father, John H. Kilburn, is a member of the industrial relations department of the Tank Division at Livonia.

Pearl's father, George E. Kennitz, is employed in the machine repair department at the Ford Ypsilanti plant. Walter's father, James V. Newton, is in the valve department of the Northville plant. Harold's father, Paul A. Spehar, works at the Dearborn Stamping plant.

The winners are spending three days at Dearborn. Monday, after registering and discussing the scholarship program with Ford Fund officials, they saw the musical, "South Pacific." Tuesday they toured the Rouge plant, Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village and attended the awards banquet.

Wednesday's schedule includes a tour of the Ford Archives at Fair Lane—the late Henry Ford's home—and a visit to the Ford Rotunda, re-opened in June as an industrial exhibit. They return home Wednesday night.

Marian Miller, secretary of Plymouth High's science club as a junior and senior, plans to major in science and mathematics at the University of Michigan. Joan Kilburn plans to prepare for a teaching career by attending Western Michigan College of Education, Kalamazoo. She ranked first in the Plymouth High graduating class.

Pearl Kennitz, editor of Plymouth High's 1953 yearbook, plans to major in elementary school teaching at the University of Utah. She was junior class secretary and student council secretary as a senior.

Walter Newton was Forensic club president and a varsity debater. He will enroll at Harvard. He was a student council member and an officer of the Future Teachers of America chapter as a junior and senior.

When Harold Spehar entered the scholarship competition he lived in Detroit and was a student at Samuel C. Mumford High school. There he was a staff cartoonist and art editor of the school newspaper and yearbook. He was also president of his church youth group. He will enter the University of Michigan this fall to study physics.

Mrs. Bluff: That's nothing. I can trace mine back years and years before they made any attempt to reform.

Sparks Appears in January Thaw at Will-O-Way

C. Veach Sparks, who entertained Plymouth audiences this year with his performance in the Theatre Guild production "January Thaw," is currently playing in the same drama at Will-O-Way summer theatre in Bloomfield Hills. Repeating his role of Jonathan Rockwood, Sparks will be seen in the play running through Saturday, July 4.

This is the second year in which Sparks has appeared in a play at Will-O-Way for director William Merrill. Merrill also directed the Theatre Guild play here. Last year Sparks played a role in "The Great Big Doorstep."

Last week 18 members of the Theatre Guild travelled to Will-O-Way to see the performance of their member in "January Thaw."

Interceptor

allocating monies from the general fund or casting around for a financing alternative such as revenue bonding.

Some $35,000 was lopped off Plymouth's portion of the interceptor costs following the vociferous objections of the city commission here who disavowed earlier assessment proposals, since changed by the Drain Commission.

Though details of financing the Parkside Arm are not available it is understood the project costs will be shared by local governmental units and taxpayers in the city, Plymouth township and Canton township as far south as Warren road. Glassford estimated it would cost taxpayers in the city about $200 per lot.

The Parkside Arm is the "key" to sewage disposal and expansion problems here. It will be hooked in at Merriman and lines will be laid south on Southworth to Joy and east on Joy to Sheldon road. Lateral and spur lines will be built to handle township and city sewage in areas north and south of Ann Arbor road. Persons now using septic tanks in south portions of the city will be benefited by the changeover.

The Drain Commission's action in assigning the contract is subject to the approval of the County Board of Auditors meeting today. Public hearings on special assessment districts and apportionment will be held in the drain commissioner's office on July 20.

Make Study

consideration is also given for the same at Southfield and Telegraph.

According to H. C. Coons, deputy highway commissioner and chief engineer, similar studies are now being conducted on Ford road. From all indications work of the Chamber of Commerce highway committee has started to pay dividends, and further pressure will be put on proper state officials to bring about even more relief for congested highways throughout this entire area.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Edward Tallian Sr., of Corrine street gave a farewell party for their son, Stephen Edward Tallian Jr., on June 21. Stephen is leaving tomorrow, July 3 for Great Lakes Training Station where he enlisted in the United States Navy. There were approximately 80 guests present at the party, coming from Dearborn, Wayne, Pontiac, Royal Oak, Redford, Plymouth, Dunkirk, New York and Ypsilanti. The guest of honor received many gifts.

Kiwanis Elects National Officers

Delegates attending the 38th annual convention of Kiwanis International at New York, New York elected a prominent editor and publisher from Carthage, Illinois, to head the organization in the year ahead.

Officers of the Plymouth Kiwanis Club were informed today that Donald T. Forsythe, who publishes The Carthage Journal, Carthage, Illinois, would succeed Walter J. L. Ray, Detroit, Michigan, as president of Kiwanis International, which is now comprised of over 3,600 clubs throughout the United States, Canada, Alaska, Hawaii, and the Yukon Territory.

A Kiwanian for 27 years, the new president will assume office August 1. During the past year he served as treasurer of Kiwanis International. He had previously been an International trustee and governor of the Illinois-Eastern Iowa District.

Delegate to the New York convention was Ed Campbell of the Plymouth club.

Vice presidents are Ralph D. Steele of Chatham, Ontario, an attorney, and John R. Wright of Lakeland, Florida, a realtor.

Don E. Engdahl of Spokane, Washington, a manufacturer, was elected treasurer of the organization.

Trustees elected for two years include Luman W. Holman of Jacksonville, Texas, a lumberman; Everett F. Penhorne of Jamaica Plain, Massachusetts, a roofing contractor; Simon H. (Sy) Reynolds of Rochester, New York, an advertising executive; Albert J. Tully of Mobile, Alabama, a lawyer; Reed C. Culp of Salt Lake City, Utah, a broker; W. Donald Dubal of West St. Louis, Missouri, an attorney. The latter two men are re-elected trustees.

Rotarians

"So, today we observe the birthday of our oldest member, Charles H. Bennett, kindly referred to by all of us as just plain, Uncle Charlie. We pause a moment today to wish him well. We oldsters in Rotary will reflect upon his devotion and service to Rotary during his 28 years of membership, during which time he has contributed largely of his time, his purse, and his counsel to that which he believed to be good.

"His useful life has not been confined solely to the Rotary movement. He has served faithfully and well his community. His generosity has not been confined to but a few channels—educational opportunities have been made possible through the kindness of his heart. Many of us know of his great help in many endeavors because he wished to aid those whom he felt were worthy. We cannot be unmindful of his fine contributions to his church and to his God.

"Tomorrow Charles Bennett will attain his 90th birthday, and if he were to speak to us we might hear him say:

"I am still at work with my hand to the plow, and my face to the future. The shadows of evening lengthen about me, but morning is in my heart. I have lived from the sixties of one century to the fifties of the next. I have had varied fields of labor, and full contact with men and things, and have warmed both hands before the fires of life.

"The testimony I bear is this: that the Castle of Enchantment is not yet behind me. It is before me still, and daily I catch glimpses of its battlements and its towers. The rich spoils of memory are mine. Mine, too, are the precious things of today—books, flowers, pictures, nature. The 27th of June is still a day of enchantment for me. The best thing of all is my friends. The best of life is always further on. Its real lure is hidden from my eyes, somewhere behind the hills of time.

"On his birthday may we wish him a pleasant and a contented day, and may God's richest blessings be upon him."

hamburger. Gradually they increased the menu and seating capacity. Since their recent remodeling job their seating capacity is 170. The main dining room holds 120 and the always popular fire-side lounge will accommodate 50.

The bar is located in the fire-side lounge. There is also a natural fireplace kept in operation during cold weather. While there is a row of comfortable stools along the bar, there is a considerable dining area in this room which seems to be the most desired spot for many of the patrons, particularly in cold weather, when the fireplace is going. However, the customer's favorite cocktail or drink will be served in either room.

There are eight items on the menu for lunch, ranging in price from $1.00 to $1.50. There are 14 items with a price range of $2.00 to $4.50 on the dinner menu. Since many of these items are cooked to order, there is very little waste. In addition to selling quality food, the Stremichs stress atmosphere. Employees are well trained. Service is quiet and efficient. Motif dignified. Walls are completely wallpapered in a brown chartreuse and green combination. Hours of service are from 11:30 a.m. to 12:00 p.m. daily. There are 25 employees, nine of which are in the kitchen.

The Stremichs are very proud of their chef, Brinton Crowthers, who has been with them for 12 years. He does all of the buying, plans the menus, and keeps a close tab on food costs.

The recent remodeling job increased their seating capacity from 120 to 170 and increased the number of customers by upwards of 40 per cent. At this writing the customer count was still increasing and from all indications will continue to do so. They don't have to worry about parking facilities—which is becoming an increasing problem—since they have a large customer parking lot adjacent to the restaurant.

This, by the way, again brings to mind the fact that of all the restaurants that we have known recently who remodeled, without exception, every one of them increased their volume in both dollars and customers, which is an encouraging sign for anyone thinking in that direction.

Many Jobs

ging as have some other job openings for tool and die makers, gauge makers, instrument technicians, layout, tool machine operators, time study observers, experienced tool grinder hands, hand screw machine operators and spray painters.

The same emphasis for skilled help is being placed on job openings at Barnes-Gibson-Raymond Division of Associated Spring Corporation. Personnel Manager James Mitchell said his firm needs tool and die makers and other types of skilled help.

A. J. Jefferys, comptroller and personnel manager of Wall Wire products, said Tuesday, "if we get enough factory help we will go into three eight hour shifts, instead of two 10-hour shifts." He said "we have technical and other skilled and semi-skilled job opportunities."

The encouraging survey of local job opportunities has only one dark note. Jetter said that jobs for unskilled labor are "quite light." "They've dropped off in the past month," he said.

Steamboat Captain (who has fallen overboard) Don't stand there like a dumbbell. Give a yell, can't you?

Gardner-Kleinsmith Rites Read in Wayne

St. Mary's church of Wayne was the scene of the lovely wedding uniting Noreen Kleinsmith and Leonard Stanley Gardner. Noreen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Gignac of Newburg road, Wayne and the Warner Gardners of Merriman road, Garden City are the bridegroom's parents.

The 11 o'clock Mass was read by the Reverend Father Burkholder on Saturday morning, June 6. Bouquets of white flowers were placed on the altar. Joanne Spinella of Plymouth sang "On This Day" and "Mother Beloved".

Noreen was given in marriage by her uncle, Harold Goodwin of Detroit. She chose a gown of lace and nylon over satin. The fitted bodice had long sleeves pointed at the wrists and a deep V neckline. Tiny lace covered buttons extended down the back. The full skirt fell into a cathedral train and a wide pleated ruffle of the net extended around the hem of the skirt and outlined the train. She wore a halo of Chantilly lace and seed pearls which held in place her fingertip length veil of illusion. She carried a bouquet of white roses.

Mrs. Patricia Morris was her sister's matron of honor. All attendants wore dresses styled alike and were of net. The bouffant skirts were of five tiers of net and the fitted bodices were strapless. Each attendant wore a matching bonnet and matching bolero jacket with cap sleeves. Patricia wore aqua and carried a matching bouquet of carnations. The bridesmaids were Sharon Kleinsmith, sister of the bride, in pink; Evelyn Green, sister of the bridegroom, in violet; and Sally Brooks, niece of the bridegroom, in yellow. Each wore matching bonnets and carried bouquets of carnations matching their gowns.

Anthony Russo of Detroit served Leonard as best man and seated the guests were Jack Brooks of Detroit, Eugene Celka and Jack Vanderita, both of Livonia.

Mrs. Gignac, mother of the bride, wore a pink street length dress with white accessories. Mrs. Gardner chose a pink suit and she too wore white accessories. Both mothers complimented their outfits with corsages of white roses.

A reception was held that evening in the American Legion hall in Newburg. 250 guests attended coming from California, Allen Park, Detroit, Livonia, Plymouth, Wayne and Garden

City. The young couple have just returned from a two weeks wedding trip which took them to Chattanooga, Tennessee and a tour of the southern states. For traveling the bride wore a pink suit with white accessories. Mrs. Gardner graduated from Plymouth High school and her husband attended Wayne High school. Wilhelmi-Sanislow Rites Solmnized on Friday Morning

Nancy Anne Sanislow and Adrian Wilhelmi repeated their nuptial vows on Friday, June 26, at eleven o'clock in the morning in a ceremony performed at Our Lady of Good Counsel church, Plymouth.

Nancy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex J. Sanislow of Seven Mile road, Northville and the Adam Wilhelms of Gold Arbor road, Plymouth, are the bridegroom's parents.

The Reverend Father Mooney officiated at the double ring ceremony before the altar which was decorated with large bouquets of white gladioli, blue delphinium and pink roses.

Nancy, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in her floorlength gown of Chantilly lace and nylon net. The fitted bodice of the lace featured long sleeves extending to points over the wrists, a portrait neckline of illusion embroidered with the lace, and a full deep peplum which came to a point at the back and fell gracefully over the very full nylon net skirt. Her fingertip length veil fell from a coronet of seedpearls and rhinestones and she carried a colonial bouquet of roses, orchids, stephanotis and lily of the valley tied with white satin streamers.

Betty Lou Wilhelmi of Plymouth, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Mary Lou Litsenberger of Northville and Barbara Saller of Battle Creek. All the attendants wore dresses made identical to that of the bride and each wore a matching picture hat. Betty Lou was in powder blue and carried a cascade of yellow rosebuds. Mary Lou was in pale pink and carried pink roses. Barbara carried ivory roses and wore a pale orchid gown.

Jack Spanier of Plymouth served his cousin as best man and the ushers were Richard Garchow, Robert Lewis and Terry Danol, all of Plymouth.

Mrs. Sanislow selected an aqua dress with white accessories for her daughter's wedding and Mrs. Wilhelmi's dress was of navy blue and white print sheer with which she wore white accessories. Both mothers wore gardenia corsages.

A reception was held on the lawn of the Sanislow home on Seven Mile road with about seventy-five guests attending. Atop the tiered wedding cake, which centered the bridal table, was the miniature bride and groom which graced the wedding cake of the bride's parents twenty-four years ago. Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Alfred Millington, Mrs. Maurice Garchow and Mrs. Norman Witt.

The newlyweds left on a wedding trip to northern Michigan. For traveling Mrs. Wilhelmi chose a navy blue dress with dusty rose accessories. Upon their return they will make their home on Littlefield street in Detroit.

Nancy is a graduate of Northville High school and attended Michigan State college. Her husband is a Plymouth High school graduate.

Two showers were given Nancy preceding the wedding. Mary Lou Litsenberger was hostess at a shower on Wednesday evening and Mrs. Adam Wilhelmi and her daughter, Betty Lou entertained for her on June 12.

Concluding the pre-wedding festivities was the rehearsal dinner given on Thursday evening at the Sanislow home.

Rev. Robert H. Harper
The Righteousness and Justice of God.
Lesson for July 5: Romans 1: 8-17; 2:1-2; 3:21-22.
Golden Text: Romans 1: 16.

In the third quarter, we continue studies in the Epistles of Paul. The Epistle to the Romans was written several years before Paul reached Rome, not as he had hoped but as a prisoner who had appealed unto Caesar. After expressing his great desire to go to Rome, that he might impart unto the Christians there some spiritual gift to the end that they should be established in the gospel, Paul acknowledged his weighty debt, not only to his own race but also to the Greeks, to all men, and he declared his readiness to preach the gospel at Rome. Then he declared the great truth, that the gospel is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth.

The righteousness of God is revealed in the gift of Jesus, through whom men of faith can escape the penalty of a broken law and receive power to keep that law. For the "just shall live by faith." These words just quoted seemed to sound in the ears of Martin Luther while he was climbing, as a penitential exercise, a sacred stairway.

ST. PETER'S EVANGELICAL LUTHERAN CHURCH, 261 Spring St. Edgar Hoenecke, pastor.

With the church attendance actually INCREASING during the summer, we have no thought of discontinuing the DOUBLE SERVICES every Sunday. Many people are finding that it is a good thing not to let leisure or pleasure or Sunday labor keep them from the inspiration of going to church on these beautiful summer Sundays WITH THE ENTIRE FAMILY. The whole week takes on a new meaning, if it is begun with God, invoking His blessing and protection for the coming seven days, thus: "As we begin another week in Jesus' Name this boon we seek: God, grant that through these seven days No evil may befall our ways! Thy gentle blessings, Lord, outpour On all our labor evermore; Our hearts with Thy good Spirit fill That we may gladly do Thy will." You have TWO OPPORTUNITIES to go to our church every Sunday: Early service-9. Late service-10:15. Sunday school 9. Holy Communion will be celebrated next Sunday at 9:00 o'clock only. Please, announce your communing EARLY and before Sunday! A Special meeting of the Voters' Assembly will be held Tuesday, July 7 to deliberate on a call received by Gerhard Mueller to a Day School at Fond du Lac, Wisconsin. The meeting begins at eight. Next Sunday's sermon: "A Lesson From American History."

Plan Your Summer Home As True Vacation Spot

Drab walls; unattractive, splintered floors; cluttered rooms and too few conveniences are faults common to many summer cottages. But actually the summer home should be on a par with the year-around dwelling, for comfort and a change from the labor of household chores are the principal reasons for maintaining a summer home, it is pointed out by the Construction Research Bureau, national clearing house for building information.

A good place to start summer home improvements during the spring week-ends before occupying the cottage is to clean the exterior paint; or to repaint the exterior if the old coat of paint is deteriorating.

Next point of attack can be the floors, since they can be expected to receive a great deal of wear and tear all summer long. Unless floors are carefully chosen as to material, they can soon become shabby and will require an unusual amount of care. Unsightliness can be eliminated once and for all, and cleaning tasks considerably lightened by installing linoleum or tile flooring right over the old floor.

This is a simple job which the home handyman can do himself with considerable savings. The old floor should be made tight, sound, level and smooth, with holes and cracks filled in and sanded, before applying the linoleum or tiles.

The cost is low and the smart colors brighten up the whole interior. Colors go clear through and cannot wear off. Wiping with a damp cloth, and an occasional washing with neutral soap suds and a clear water rinse, is about all the care required for summer-long spic-and-span appearance.

Double-deck bunks save space and provide accommodations for guests. With the added sleeping facilities, more storage space should be provided—inexpensive cabinets or chests of drawers. Often a space can be found for these where an offset is formed by a chimney, jog or other structural irregularity without sacrificing floor space. Storage can be added even in a small bathroom by building enclosed shelves beneath the wash basin.

Venetian blinds keep a room cooler in summer than ordinary window shades and clean easily.

To be on the safe side, adequate fire extinguishers should not be overlooked as equipment for every summer cottage.

Tomato, Cucumber Crop Begins Summer Yield

The first good-sized yield of tomatoes and cucumbers was reported by Mijal Brothers of 38444 Cowan road. On June 24 they picked 12 bushels of cucumbers, and on the 25th picked 15 baskets of tomatoes.

Mrs. Louis Mijal said that this is the earliest date at which they have had such a large yield of tomatoes. She stated that these were apparently the first for this locale.

A druggist who had on display an assortment of goldfish in small globes received a call from a very precise lady, who carefully inspected the array and then placed an order.

"Do you deliver it?" she asked.

"Oh yes."

"Very well. Please deliver the fish and the globe. I will not put you to the trouble of delivering the water, as I have plenty of that at home."

CURT MASSEY, who started his "Curt Massey Time" musical as a summer replacement, began his fifth year on the program recently. The five-a-week musical started on the CBS radio network and since has included the full Mutual net and Radio Luxembourg in England. "Mr. Peepers," lovable television character played so poignantly by Wally Cox, may soon be heard on radio, too. It is still in the talking stage but there are several sponsors expressing some interest. Loretta Young's telepix series for a soap sponsor gets an early start on the fall season, hitting the full NBC-TV chain on August 30. The series is titled "A Letter to Loretta."

Jack Webb resumes shooting "Dragnet" this month and, in rapid order, will do enough shows to carry him through November 1954. Coltray Washburne, musical director on "Curt Massey Time," has turned down two offers for one-night stands with his band this summer in favor of a vacation during August.

PLATTER CHATTER:
CAPITOL: Composer of the highly successful "High Noon" has come up with another unusual ballad that should win some acclaim. It's called "Return to Paradise" and Nat King Cole does a very creditable job on it. "Angel Eyes" backs it. Cliffie Stone revives a 20-year old-timer, "In a Shanty in Old Shanty Town" and it still appears. Reverse has "The Bunny Hop" . . . Bob Manning follows his fine debut with "It's All Right With Me" and "All I Desire."

Still on Capitol, the always dependable Jane Froman does good waxing on "If I Love You a Mountain" from June Haver's last movie, "The Girl Next Door" . . . Back has "My Shining Hour" . . . Molly Bee, talented and popular youngster, has a good disc in "I'll Tell My Mommy" with "The Doggie on the Highway" on the flip.

HARVARD HEADS MEET . . . Dr. Nathan Pusey (right), new president of Harvard University, greets predecessor Dr. James B. Conant, now high commissioner for Germany, on way to commencement. Dr. Pusey formerly headed Lawrence College in Appleton, Wis.

"Irit tried to run away," she said, "and the wath bad and wouldn't mind, and I thicked Irit to the flypaper tho the couldn't get away."

"How much should I get," the poet asked "for a poem of 100 verses on a big subject?" And the editor replied: "You ought to get two years and six months."

Name Anderson to Head Michigan Education Group

"The record of the Michigan Education Association during the first century of its existence has been outstanding in terms of service to education and the profession. Now with the new plan of reorganization in operation, providing local chapters and smaller regions, a new era of professional growth and activity will take place."

So states Milburn P. Anderson, who took office as president of the Michigan Education Association on July 1. Anderson, who is superintendent of schools in Berkley, succeeds Dr. E. C. Beck, head of the English department of Central Michigan College of Education.

Anderson, born in Cadillac, and educated in the public schools there, has held his present position in Berkley since 1939. He is a graduate of Kalamazoo college, and received his Master's degree from the University of Michigan. He continued graduate study at the latter institution and at Wayne university.

A member of the Michigan and National Education Associations, Michigan Association of School Administrators, American Association of School Administrators, Oakland County Superintendents Association, National School Public Relations Association, and the Association of School Business Officials, Anderson has been active in community as well as educational affairs. He is charter president of the Berkley Rotary club and past president of the Berkley Exchange club. He has been an active member of the Berkley Chamber of Commerce and the Masonic Lodge. He has, also, in the past, acted as director for the American Red Cross and other social agency councils.

Anderson served as chairman for the past two years and committee member for five of the M. E. A. Public Relations Commission.

"If You Can Keep It"

Oh, how set by thy sword, O Freedom! Nor yet close thy lids in slumber, For thine enemy never sleeps, And thou must watch and combat.

—William Cullen Bryant

As Benjamin Franklin left Independence Hall, a woman asked him, "Mr. Franklin, what kind of a government have you given us?" He answered gravely, "A Republic, madam, if you can keep it." In painting this Independence Day scene in Hometown, U.S.A., the artist, E. Franklin Wittmack, has found an echo of Franklin's warning in a quotation from the poet William Cullen Bryant. The historic scene of Magna Charta, the signal light on old North Church Tower, the embattled "rebels" of a great new nation—symbolize the hard-won victories, and the priceless freedom, which, on Independence Day 1953, are given every Hometown in the land—not done to celebrate, but to protect.

for 45 years prior to moving to Howell. She attended the Methodist church in Plymouth and Howell.

Reverend Herman R. Whiting of Corunna, Michigan officiated. Hymns were rendered on the organ by Mrs. Edna O'Conner. The active pallbearers were George Wollgast, Roland Jarskey, Edward Rohde, Lloyd Trinka, Jerry Yetzeck and Kenneth Rohde. Interment was made in Livonia cemetery.

Atchinson Motor Sales Reorganizes Personnel

Atchinson Motor Sales, Chrysler-Plymouth dealer for the Northville, Plymouth, Livonia area, announced this week a complete administrative reorganization of its personnel and a brand new policy of service and sales administration.

Orson Atchinson, owner of the firm, said the changes were being made to better serve the rapidly growing Plymouth-Livonia area. Orpin Thomas, formerly of Ann Arbor Road Motors in Plymouth, has been appointed sales manager. George George will head the expanding service department as service manager.

We see where the Czechoslovakian government is trying to turn the camera into a one-eyed "Peeping Tom." The rulers are unhappy over the increase in absenteeism among Czech factory hands, so they've decided to use film in an attempt to control any illegal "vacationing."

Workers have been given the word to photograph any fellow workers coming in late or leaving early. They've also been told to snap candid shots of all "allegedly sick" workers who are spotted "in their gardens or working elsewhere." We'd like to see what develops, but we have a hunch the results will be negative. The fun of picture taking hits a low level when you know your goose is cooked if a neighbor yells, "Watch the birdie!"

Don't miss the fun at Plymouth's big FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION! Come on out and bring the whole family, there's something of interest for everyone. The kids will love it!

The economy move in Washington means that a lot of ex-government workers claim they've joined the F.B.I. In case you haven't heard, that means "Fired by Ike." Miss Stop & Shop

And All American Diver Alex Canja suggest . . .

You'll have a happy holiday if you observe these safety precautions on These pictures were posed by Nancy Morrison — Miss Stop & Shop in the Plymouth Fourth of July Bathing Beauty Contest — and All American Diver Alex Canja.

Canja is a former member of the University of Michigan swimming team and was named All American in 1942, '43, '45, & '47. He is now coach at Ypsilanti High school & pool director at Barton Hills Country club.

Hey! Things are getting crowded! The diving board is no place for a twosome, says Nancy! Alex also chimed in to say that accidents are frequent with two on a diving board.

Stay out from under the diving board! You never know when the diver may slip and come crashing down on your head, even though he may be an expert like Alex!

Wait at least one hour after dining before swimming, says Nancy, as she enjoys a pool-side snack.

Left: Nancy relaxes in the sun. Pleasant for a short time — but too much can be dangerous.

Right: Frolicking is fun but the edge of a pool isn't the place for it! Nancy gives Alex a playful shove . . . that could prove painful!

15 Bathing Beauties to Vie for Title of "Miss Plymouth"

Winner to Receive Crown at Fourth of July Event

Miss Plymouth of 1951

Fifteen local businesses have entered girls in the contest, announced Nat Sibbold, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. The winner will be chosen by well-known television personalities, Soupy Sales and Merrie Melody, and Lucille Watson, former Olympic swimmer and member of Billy Rose's Aquacades.

The bathing beauty contest and selection of Miss Plymouth was last held in 1951, when Betty Lorenz, Miss Stop and Shop, was chosen the winner. Miss Lorenz has since married, and is Mrs. Arthur Racz of Detroit.

Girls who will vie for the honor are: Diana McKay, representing Willoughby's, Shoe Store; Ruth Bogenschutz, of D. & C.; Peggy Wingard, Otwell Heating; Nancy Morrison, of Stop and Shop; Margo Schultz, representing The Plymouth Mail; Barbara Smith, of Rose Auto Sales; Shirley Lightfoot, of First Federal Savings and Loan; and Shirley Philips, Graham's.

Other contestants are: Mary Lou Foote, sponsored by Kresge's; Jennie June Bedwell, of Utilities Line Construction company; Rosemary Erdelyi, representing Smith Motor Sales; Elaine Rich, of Joe Merritt Insurance; Virginia DeWulf, representing Plymouth Glass; Martha Carley, sponsored by Box Bar; and Elaine Lietz, of Peerless Industries, Inc.

Plymouth will have its own coronation this weekend, when Miss Plymouth is crowned by Governor G. Mennen Williams. As part of the Chamber of Commerce Fourth of July event, merchants are sponsoring local young ladies in a bathing beauty contest to be held on Saturday, July 4, at 7:30 p.m. on the Plymouth High school grounds.

Dairy Cows Give Extra Milk Yield of 3000 Pounds

Cows in Dairy Herd Improvement association groups in Michigan turned out an average of 3,000 more pounds of milk during 1952 than the average Michigan cow.

That is the report from Larry Johnson, Michigan State college dairy extension worker who supervises DHIA records. And they also averaged more pounds of butterfat for the year, the records show.

The average of 41,856 cows enrolled in the program was 9,509 pounds of milk and 374 pounds of butterfat, Johnson reports.

This compares with an over-state average of 6,470 pounds of milk per year—about 246 pounds of butterfat, according to Michigan Crop Reporting Service estimates.

"Breeding better cows, using high-quality roughages and grain according to milk production and culling low producers makes a difference," explains Johnson. "Better management also aids."

High-producing cows return more income over feed costs, even though they eat more, explains

Johnson. A 200-pound butterfat producer may cost $116 to feed and return $107 above feed costs while a 600-pound butterfat cow costs $199 to feed but returns $469 above feed cost. One 400-pound cow may return as much profit as three 200-pounders. Cows producing less than 250 pounds of butterfat a year do not pay their way.

DHIA locals with cow averaging above 400 pounds were Ingham-Williamston, Isabella No. 1, Shiawassee No. 1, Huron No. 1, Muskegon-Oceana, Clinton -East

Ottawa-Southeast, Tuscola No. 2, Oakland No. 2, Barry No. 1 and Kent-East.

It was bedtime for four-year-old Jack, but the little fellow wanted to stay up later. His aunt, who tipped the scales at nearly 200 pounds, said: "Why, Jack, think of me—I am ever so much older than you, and I go to bed with the chickens."

Jack looked at her size, and said: "Well, I don't see how you ever got up on the roost."

Predict Good Woodcock Year

Michigan's population of nesting woodcock is at least as good this year as it was last year, conservation department game men note.

For the third year, the game men have been cooperating with the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service in censusing the birds on their nesting grounds. Twenty-seven census routes were traveled in various parts of the state this spring and, in general, populations of the birds were found about the same or slightly above those of 1952.

This year, the game division has suggested that the woodcock season again open on the same dates as the ruffed grouse season. The recommendation, passed by the conservation commission recently, will be considered in Washington, D. C., where migratory bird regulations are established.

One reason game men want grouse and woodcock season to open the same date is because both birds like about the same habitat; both law enforcement and hunting problems are reduced by a coincidental opening. Also, woodcock studies in recent years show that the birds are well on their way out of northern Michigan by mid-or late October; a later opening would mean little successful woodcock shooting for Michigan hunters.

Sheriff Warns Speeders of Car Stopping Distance

"Check Your Speed" the official slogan of the Michigan Sheriffs association, is just about the most important piece of advice that can be given to motorists according to Sheriff Andrew C. Baird.

In explaining the speed problem he said, "When you increase your speed from 20 to 40 miles per hour you only double your speed but you multiply your stopping distance by four. When you double your speed it takes four times as far to stop. That is almost like saying that when you do this in the city you are at least four times as likely to have an accident.

"Watch your speedometer and watch your speed. When it reads 20, good brakes can stop you in 22 feet. But, when it reads 40 good brakes can't stop you in less than 88 feet on the average. If speedometers read in stopping distances instead of miles per hour all motorists would drive more slowly.

"A car with bad brakes is naturally much more dangerous when driven fast than is a car with good brakes. For this reason our department is checking the brakes of all speeders."

The sheriff again called upon all motorists to cooperate in the safety campaign by obeying the speed laws. He expressed the hope that more cooperation will make fewer arrests necessary and at the same time save lives.

In conclusion Sheriff Baird said, "The other disastrous thing about speed is that when you double it you hit four times as hard. Too much speed takes too far to stop and you hit too hard. No wonder speed is Michigan's No. 1 killer."

Public Letter Box

Plymouth, Mich., June 25, 1953.

To the editor:
In the opinion of many Plymouth citizens—both city and township—the logical thing to do now would be to congeal all of the present city of Plymouth and all of the present township of Plymouth into one local government—one city of Plymouth.

There are many good reasons why this should be done, but these need not be enumerated here.

Even though the two Plymouths should now combine into one municipality the new and enlarged city would still be only one half as large geographically as our new city neighbor on the east, the new city of Livonia. All this will come eventually. Why not now?

Rew the Magician Explains It Takes Work to Make Magic

The days of fairy tales are long gone by, but the abracadabra worked by magicians is still with us. A master at the mystic craft makes his headquarters here in Plymouth—Roy Rew of 1051 Harding.

Rew the Magician, as he is known professionally, does everything from taking rabbits out of hats to escaping from locked trunks, Houdini style. In all, he performs the traditional magician's fare.

Now, anyone might ask how a man becomes a magician. Much as children would like to believe it, it is not an art which is inherited or passed down, from father to son. Magic today is a little more commercial and a little less mysterious than that.

For Roy Rew, the art of magic proved fascinating to him as a youngster of about 10. He had some 15 or 20 pocket tricks when he was first asked to put on a show. That was about 10 years ago at Oak Ridge, Tennessee. Since that time, he has been putting on shows at schools, for service clubs and recently at the celebration of Detroit Edison's 50th Anniversary.

Rew gets his magic tricks in two ways—he either buys them or makes them himself. That's why he has a workshop complete with drill press, band saw, vices, etc., with which to design and make up various "illusions" to be used in his act. For example, he has designed a production box, (a box from which he pulls rabbits, doves, silk cloths and what-have-you) which is now on the market. In all he has enough magic to last through a 10-hour show without repeating a trick. The "illusions," which he works with the assistance of his wife, include levitation, making the subject float on air, and the trunk mystery. The trunk mystery can be done out in public place, such as on the street. Rew is locked in a trunk, fastened with six hasps, and will escape in 5 seconds. How it's done is part of the mystery of Rew's trade.

Perhaps one of the unusual phases of Rew's show, up until recently, was the appearance of his young son Bobby in the act. Bobby entered the show rather accidentally at the age of three-and-one-half. His older brother Billy was supposed to come on stage dressed in a bell boy's suit. Billy refused to display himself so little Bobby took over the part.

Bobby got so interested in magic that soon he was doing tricks himself along with his father. Now at the age of eight he has retired from the field and would only appear on special occasions.

After inspecting Rew's workshop and huge storeroom of magic "illusions" it is apparent that magic is definitely a business. And, with television in the nation's homes the average person is becoming more and more conscious of the presence of magicians in this modern age.

Grange Cleanings

And now for the picnic. Tonight in the park near the main stand about 6:30 p.m. If it rains come to the Grange hall.

It is estimated that there were about 40 members of the Grange who attended the Hartom Silver Wedding anniversary on Sunday. It was a very pleasant occasion enjoyed by everyone. There were lots of flowers, lots of lovely gifts and lots of smiling friends. Ice cream, cake and punch were served.

The Grange picture for which we waited so long, finally came and it is splendid. Everyone whose picture is on it is very much pleased. The pictures are perfect, and the set up is fine. It will be a credit to the Grange when it is hanging on the wall. Ernie Vealey, has made the frame for it. Those who did not return their proofs to the photographer missed out on it, and it is too bad for the pictures are so fine.

Felicia: Isn't Mr. Levvum an absurd person? Whenever he talks to me he always begins with "Fair Lady."

Maud: Oh, that's only force of habit. You see, he used to be a bus conductor.

Perennials Are Stars of Garden Show All Season

Gaillardia Burgundy flowers until frozen.

Veteran gardeners know the months by their flowers. Already this year, there have been five spectacular performances in the garden pageant: Daffodils, tulips, iris, peonies, and delphiniums. Each of these lovely flowers has displayed its beauty for a brief period and then retired, leaving its admirers a little sad, but not for long, because another star comes on the stage to enchant them.

To plan this show, and plant the varieties necessary to present it, requires a knowledge of what the landscape designers call "the succession of bloom." Beginners growing their first flower gardens, should make a study of this subject before they do much planting.

Because perennial flowers live for years, they grow much larger than annuals, and some bloom much earlier. In the spring gardens are decorated with perennials, all with brief flowering periods. Many annuals then enter the picture, to bloom until they are frozen. But gardens will still be dominated by perennials, which will appear in the following order: After the delphiniums hollyhocks, and phlox, will come perennial asters, hibiscus, liatris hemerocallis and chrysanthemums.

The well planned garden will give particular attention to the early and late perennials, which are relatively few. In June and July every garden can have flowers for that is when most varieties bloom. The headliners will have supporting players which many may prefer to the stars; and a wide choice may be exercised in selecting these. But in June a garden without iris and peonies, one after the other, will definitely lack interest; and in every month some specimens of the dominant flower of the period should be grown.

Many old favorites which have never been surpassed in hardiness and beauty bloom late. One which will continue to bloom until October is gaillardia, especially the variety Burgundy, which has large daisy flowers of wine red, which resist dry weather remarkably.

Hibiscus is another with a long season of bloom. Its flowers are single, 3 to 5 inches across, of pink and red. If you have a damp location the hibiscus will like it, and though related to tropical flowers of great beauty, the garden type grown in the north is as hardy as an oak.

Platyodon, or Chinese bell flower, grows in clumps two feet tall, bearing dainty bell flowers of blue or white, resembling the Canterbury bells of spring, but having a much longer season of bloom, as they last from June until September. This is a favorite of old-time gardeners, and spreads from self-seeding.

Veronica bears spikes closely set with small blue florets, and flowers from midsummer until fall, making an excellent color foil for brighter blossoms. Stokesia, or Stoke's aster, bears large deep blue flowers resembling the annual aster, on bushy plants, which thrive in dry, hot weather.

These old-time favorites can be grown from seed which can be started now in flats and grown outdoors until they reach flowering size next year. They are all perfectly hardy and need a minimum of attention, appearing each year at about the same time, and giving a long season of bloom.

Another old timer which cannot be grown from seed is often called the perennial ageratum, but known to botanists as eupatorium coelestinum. It bears large flower clusters of pale lavender blue, exactly resembling those of the annual ageratum, but the plant is much taller. It grows as a bush two or three feet across and 2 feet tall, and produces abundantly during September and October. It thrives in either sun or shade, and is easy to start from a root division, which you may get from a neighbor.

One of the garden attractions for Plymouthites is the rose multiflora hedge in the yard of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hartwick of 14354 Northville road. Since the Hartwicks first put in the hedge three years ago other residents, realizing the beauty of the shrubs, have also placed them in their yards.

When the Hartwicks first purchased the rose multiflora shrubs—375 of them—the individual plants were each about 14 inches high. Now after just three years the runners on the hedge have reached lengths of seven and eight feet.

The blossoms on the hedge are white and very profuse, hence the phrase "multiflora"—many flowers. Among the white flowers are occasional pink ones. The 375 feet long hedge itself is so thick that it serves as a fence. In fact, in Indiana and Ohio the rose multiflora is often used as cattle fences.

The hedge is beautiful in the fall as well as in the spring when the shrubs are in bloom. With the coming of autumn the leaves become red.

The Hartwicks are particularly fond of flowering shrubs in their spacious yard. Besides the rose multiflora they also have lilacs, mock orange, red bud, Paul Scarlet thorn and beauty bushes. Eighty tea roses, iris and many perennials go to making the yard beautiful throughout the summer. The floribunda rose near the door displays four colors before the blossom falls. The bud is yellow, the blossom pink which turns into red, and the petals are almost white before they drop.

The Hartwicks keep well supplied with summer fruit from their 10 fruit trees. These include a cherry tree, which bears more than enough for their needs, three apple trees, one plum, one crabapple, two pear and two peach trees. They also have two large vines of Concord seedless grapes.

With the gardening done by Mr. Hartwick, the family has a yard of which they have every reason to be proud.

V.F.W. News

Governor G. Mennen Williams led the parade at the state Encampment at Port Huron and later reviewed the parading V.F.W. posts and auxiliaries as they marched on the hottest day that Port Huron had endured in "many a moon". The post color guard, including Harry Bartel, Matt McClellan, Can Grubbsich, and Bill Norman marched, as did Virginia Bartel, who carried District Four Colors, of which she is an officer. Others who marched were Lee Coolman, Harry Terry, and Commander Dick Neale. Grace Burley, President Gert Danol, and Virginia Bartel attended meetings Saturday and Sunday.

The combination banquet and ball was a huge success and was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Ray Danol, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bartel, and Grace Burley.

New department president, Ethel Gagner, who has been an inspirational aid to our auxiliary, as well as a good friend, is appreciative of her newly acquired rank. We all wish her best wishes and success for the ensuing year. Meta Myers, from Northville, is department color bearer. She also is a capable and consistent worker and well deserving of a department officership.

Virginia Bartel, one of the most diligent workers of the auxiliary, has the honor of being department cancer chairman.

Civilian defense chairman, Kay Coolman, addressed the Plymouth Extension club No. 1 on civil defense, its aims and necessity.

The auxiliary voted to send 50 dollars as financial aid to the Flint Disaster Fund.

The new stove has arrived at the post home, as well as dishes, etc. The post has the walk in front of the home completed.

Remember, the next meeting of the auxiliary will be at the new home, July 7, 8 p.m. Be on time.

Meetings start at eight. Heed what I say. Let's not be late. Let's not delay.

LEMON ICED TEA BRACER— A REAL THIRST QUENCHER

WHO hasn't wished, at one time or another, for a drink that would really quench a thirst? Try this recipe for a Lemon Iced Tea Bracer and you'll never have to worry about a drink that really relieves that parched, seemingly insatiable thirst. Make a lemonade mix, according to your favorite lemonade recipe, or dilute a 6-ounce can of frozen lemonade concentrate according to can directions. Pour into ice cube trays and freeze. If you use fresh lemons, put a thin slice of lemon rind in each ice cube before freezing. Prepare iced tea according to the new open saucepan method by bringing 1 quart of water to a full rolling boil. Remove from heat. Immediately add 1 tablespoon of tea (3 teabags equal 1 tablespoon of tea). Brew 3-5 minutes, depending on how strong you like iced tea. Stir and strain into a pitcher or container of cold water. These measurements make about 2 quarts of iced tea. To serve, add 1-2 lemon ice cubes in tall glasses and fill with tea. A sprig of mint on top will add eye-appeal—and note, too, how the frosty glasses make the iced tea look and taste better—to help quench that thirst!

Lemon Ice Cubes
Thin strips of lemon rind
3 tablespoons lemon juice
2 cups water

Cut thin strips of lemon rind into 1-inch lengths. Prepare 1 for each ice cube.

Mix lemon juice and water. (Some ice cube trays may hold more liquid. If so, increase the amount of lemon juice and water.)

Four liquids into ice cube trays. Place a piece of lemon peel in each cube section. Freeze solid. Serve 1-2 lemon and 1-2 regular ice cubes with each glass of iced tea.

Note: Lemon and water may be sweetened to taste before freezing, if desired.

Learn an Easy Way to Avoid Lumpy Gravy

Never measure ingredients for gravy? Guessing might be a safe system for the experienced cook, but for the bride or novice in the kitchen this may prove all too disappointing.

Good brown gravy is more than just an accompaniment. It is made from the extracted fats and juices of the meat and is an excellent way of extending the meat's flavor. For best results in brown gravy use these proportions: 2 tablespoons of drippings, 3 tablespoons of flour, and salt and pepper to taste for each cup of liquid.

In mixing, add the flour, salt and pepper to the drippings in the frying-pan or roasting pan on the range. Stir for about 3 minutes, until the flour is nicely browned. Then add the liquid and stir constantly, cooking until of the thickness desired. One sure method of preventing lumps is to do this: Place 1/2 cup of water in a jar with a tight fitting cover. Add the flour, then shake the jar vigorously. When well mixed, add to the drippings in the pan and proceed in the regular manner.

Stainless Steel Good Flatware

Consider stainless steel for the table if you are considering the important purchase of flatware. Stainless steel has ideal qualities for long, hard use—it is tough, strong, non-tarnishing and acid resistant.

The new designs and qualities of stainless steel flatware are greatly improved now. The better type is entirely suitable for entertaining.

Some points to consider before purchase are color, shaping, and finish. Color is important because it indicates the quality of the stainless steel. The lighter the color, the better the quality. A silvery stainless steel is composed of 74 per cent iron, 18 per cent chromium, and eight per cent nickel. This high-quality combination of metals may be marked "Stainless 18-8".

Shaping is important. Inexpensive ware will be of even thickness while more comfortable and more costly types will be thicker at points of wear and thinner in some parts for ease of handling. Carefully smoothed edges indicate quality.

Many companies in the United States are making stainless steel flatware now and imports are coming from Denmark, Germany, Sweden and Italy. Cost for a moderately expensive set for six persons will be less than $10 while higher priced ware will be several dollars a place setting. Very inexpensive stainless steel is available for a few cents a piece.

Be sure to clean the pet-cock and safety valve openings of your pressure canner. Clean by drawing a narrow strip of cloth or a string through them.

Cook Shish Kabobs on the Outdoor Grill

Centuries-old traditions of cookery have been revived, the metal skewers for grilling meats and vegetables have evolved from the sticks on which shepherds cooked their meals. Crusade-bound warriors impaled chunks of meats on their swords and cooked them over camp fires. Today thousands of men are finding pleasure in adding gourmet touches to the shish kabobs they are cooking at their out-of-door fireplaces.

Cubes of lamb, of beef and of smoked ham, combine with tiny new cooked potatoes, with slices of tomato, with dill pickle, to make a taste appealing combination. After cooking they can be slid from the skewers into buttered frankfurter buns for out-of-hand eating.

A pot of beans can be cooked over the fire, ears of corn can be shucked and wrapped tightly in aluminum foil, and roasted in the glowing coals. Allow about twenty minutes for this method of cooking the corn.

Iced watermelons are a favorite picnic item, and summer fruit pies or frosted cakes from the bakers are popular desserts.

All during this month, the hot dog and hamburger will take their rightful places at the head of the menu to satisfy the appetites of fun-loving Americans. Picnic baskets will be loaded with all sorts of sandwiches, cakes, pies, cold drinks, etc., as families take to the outdoors to enjoy a pleasant meal seasoned with lots of bright sunshine and fresh air.

Impromptu backyard affairs will be the order of the day for many families and their friends who suddenly get the urge to have a picnic. Can you find a more pleasant way to spend a delightful afternoon than grilling hot dogs or barbecuing hamburgers? The odds are that you can't.

This is the time of the year when children are out of school and are looking for some outside activity to while away the long summer hours. Busy mothers turn to picnics as an outlet for the pent up energy of the youngsters. Small boys will take to the open road with "hobo lunches" to explore the countryside while teenagers will turn to bike hikes in the woods or forest preserves with picnic baskets crammed full of sandwiches, cold drinks and other goodies.

The old family bus will be polished and gassed to take picnickers to wayside parks and other convenient spots where all may enjoy the fun that is to be had at picnics. Backyard fireplaces and portable grills will furnish the stay-at-homes the opportunity of broiling hamburgers and roasting hot dogs over red coals in the confines of their own or their neighbor's yard. Food fit for a king when eaten between buns and rolls and covered with mustard, pickles and relish.

Do Not Take The Backbone Out of Meals This Summer

Summer is the time to guard against taking the "backbone" out of our meals because it's "too hot to cook". Nutrition authorities remind us that we need well-balanced meals at all seasons of the year and that we need meats in our diet all the year for their protein, calories, minerals and vitamins.

Meats especially adapted to summer use can be put into three groups. There are first the cold cuts—sausages, loaf products and dried beef. Second, canned meats and meat products such as corned beef, corned beef hash, meat ball dishes, stews, chili and poultry products. The third group includes the variety meats—tongue, liver, heart and sweetbreads.

When buying these meats and meat products, remember there is little or no waste—one pound usually serves four to six persons. Meats with a moderate amount of waste will serve three or four persons per pound, while some cuts provide only two or three servings per pound. Convenience is, of course, another reason for the popularity of cold cuts and prepared meats and meat products.

A good practice to follow with all summer meats, including some of those in cans, is to keep them refrigerated. Some canned meats will keep indefinitely at room temperature, but tinned whole or half hams, whole chickens or other meats in large pieces may require refrigeration—read the label to be sure. The labels will also tell you just what you are buying, the weight and what else, if anything, will have to be added during preparation.

Helpful Hints Concerning Building, Remodeling, Repairing & Redecorating

Modernization Efforts Given Boost by Greater Ease of Getting Financing

One of the major factors causing an upward spurt in the modernizing of American homes is the increasing ease with which homeowners can get funds for this purpose.

An article in the first edition of Home Modernizing outlined the principal sources of modernizing money available to the home-owner—FHA Title I loans, open-end mortgages and mortgage refinancing.

In use for 20 years, Title I loans have financed more than $6,000,000,000 in home repairs and modernization. Simple and easy to obtain, the Title I is ideal for smaller projects, where $100 to $1,000 is needed (the limit is $2,500). There is no red tape, and the homeowner or his contractor will normally be paid the money within a few days of the application.

There is no mortgage, no costly title examination to delay matters, no extra charges or service fees. Title I loans are paid back monthly over a period of six months to three years. The interest rate—five per cent—is uniform throughout the nation.

Similar to the Title I loan is the Veterans Administration home improvement loan. The interest rate (four per cent) is lower and the repayment period longer. Few lending institutions, however, have adopted this type.

One of the really important steps toward bringing modernizing within reach of the average homeowner is the open-end mortgage. It is a mortgage allowing new loans or advances, with the borrower and lender agreeing that the original mortgage will secure the future advances as well as the original loan. This eliminates the delay and expense of a complete new loan.

The trend toward wider use of open-end mortgages was given a big push last year when the Dime Savings Bank of Brooklyn (which originates great numbers of mortgages) announced that it would henceforth have an open-end clause in all its mortgages.

George C. Johnson, president of the bank, said the plan will make terms considerably easier for the homeowner contemplating modernizing.

"Instead of borrowing on a short-term note and repaying it within one to three years, families can spread payments over the term of the original mortgage has yet to run," he explained. He gave this example:

A homeowner has an original five per cent $10,000 mortgage to run for 20 years. With monthly payments of $66 on principal and interest, he has paid off a little more than $2,000 at the end of six years. By this time his family has grown so he needs more room. It will take $2,000.

He fills out a simple form at the bank. If the application is approved, the bank hands him a check for $2,000; in turn, he pays $30 to cover costs of legal work, title insurance and other incidentals. He agrees to repay this $2,000 loan and the interest on it with regular monthly payments of $16.58 instead of the $63.88 per month required on three-year modernization loans.

The $16.58 added to the $66 monthly payments on the original mortgage brings his total payment each month to $82.58.

If a homeowner is planning a big project and other financing is unavailable or impracticable, he can turn to new mortgage financing. The problem, if his place is "free and clear," is simply to get the best mortgage terms available.

If he already has a mortgage, however, the solution may be refinancing—getting a new mortgage large enough to pay off the old one and to provide the money needed for modernizing at the same time. Refinancing requires two or three weeks for processing (including a complete title examination), and the homeowner will also run into the usual servicing costs of a new mortgage.

ONE OF THE MANY NEW HOMES currently being constructed in Rocker Estates is this modern 3-bedroom brick of Mr. and Mrs. Joyce Heath. Featuring a double garage with an enclosed breezeway, it has modern construction throughout. Located on Rocker street it is under construction by Stewart Oldford & Sons, builders of modern brick and frame homes throughout the Plymouth area.

Little Ingenuity Give Old Homes Bright Modern Look

The problem of the old house in the new neighborhood today confronts many thousand home owners.

Owners of the new homes look at the old one as a threat to the value of their property. People in the older home envy the newcomers with their bright new homes and modern living conveniences.

Fortunately, there's a happy solution. A little ingenuity can give the old house a face lifting that will fit its appearance to the style of the neighborhood.

Get the help of an architect experienced in home modernization. Take off a gable here, remove some of the fancy cornices that date back to the early 1900's. Put a single plate glass window in place of the three now in that front bay. Take off the old porch and put it behind the house.

Then add some interesting trim. Put on some bright new shutters. Add a little brick or stone trim with planting boxes built in. Put on a new roof and reside with some of the colorful new materials now available, like insulating siding which both strengthens walls and insulates in one operation.

When done according to plan, some of these seemingly simple changes can transform the old house into neighborhood showplace, with more room inside and greater livability than some of the new homes.

And the owner has the additional satisfaction of knowing he got considerably more for his modernization dollar in the way of permanent value than his neighbor got for money spent on new construction.

Installing Overlap Insulating Siding

This line sketch indicates the general procedure for installing overlap joint insulating siding so that the pattern and shadow lines are in proper alignment.

Starting at the lowest corner of the building, you install a full panel of siding (panels vary in width from 9 to 15 inches and in length from 44 to 48 inches, according to pattern and manufacturer). After the first course is completed along one side of the building, a second course is started, this time only one-third of a panel. The third course starts two-thirds of a panel. The fourth course starts the cycle again with a full panel.

Pieces cut from starting panels should be saved for possible use at the opposite end of the course. Or they can be used around doors, windows, and chimneys.

Each panel requires 14 to 16 nails made of either black enameled galvanized iron, or coated with asphalt. Nails should be hammered snugly into panels but never driven deep enough to rupture the asphalt coating on the siding.

Valuable Space Is Wasted In Many Families' Garages

Many families waste hundreds of cubic feet of valuable space in their garages that could provide efficient storage for equipment and home maintenance materials.

Even the minimum-size garage—10x20 feet—can house much more than the family car.

The first edition of Home Modernizing suggested that the homeowner utilize the waste space in this manner:

Drive the car into the garage front first. Then measure the space above the hood. It would be nothing unusual to find 250 cubic feet of space that can become shelves or cabinets accommodating dozens of paint cans, cleaners, lubrication supplies, tools.

If the space must be accessible even when the car is in the garage, install a sliding door on the outside wall.

A shed built onto the side of the garage will keep wheeled tools and bulky equipment neatly in place and ready to use—and will give space for a workshop if desired.

Extend the garage rafters for the shed roof; or bolt a 2x4 along the outside (to the garage studs) and use it to anchor the new rafters. The floor can be concrete or gravel.

All available space is used in this tiny garage. Cabinets above the hood of the car and along the side wall house tools and supplies.

Space Illusion In 'One-Color' Scheme

You can save money decorating your home and have your favorite color throughout the house. A "one-color" scheme will give the illusion of more space and let you interchange your furniture from room to room.

For instance, you can pull a bedroom chair up to the dining table without apology or retire a living room rug to the bedroom when you buy a new carpet.

Most families aren't completely redecorating their homes at once. So, you can pick out the color that you like best, and add as you go along. Maybe you already have a carpet that you like. Then you can make the walls the same color, when you decide to re-paint or put on new wallpaper.

When you re-upholster the dining room chairs, or plan new draperies, you can add some more of your favorite color. Before you know it, you have the one-color look, throughout your house!

K-F Surprised Again; Parkview Wins Close Game

After being rained out of their first game of the softball season, the Parkview Girls softball team in the Inter-City league won their initial contest in a well-played game from Kaiser-Frazer 2 to 1 in extra innings last week Tuesday on the diamond behind the high school. The play was extremely close throughout with neither team able to score until the 7th inning when each counted once to send the game into overtime.

Barbara McIntosh, star hurler for the local lassies, had set the K-F batters down without a hit until that final inning when a single scored the visitors lone run after an error and an out. Miss McIntosh had her strikeout ball working as she whiffed 12 K-F girls, and her control was excellent for she did not walk a batter.

Olds All Alone On Top in League

The Junior Optimist softball club in the boys grade school league opened their summer schedule on a sour note, as they were trounced by the Starkweather team to the tune of 27 to 1, in a game stopped at the end of the fourth inning by a time limit. The winners scored heavily in each inning counting 5 in the first, 9 in the second, 8 in the third and 6 in the fourth—the losers counted their lone run in the third inning.

Daisy Old-Timer Wins on Forfeit

The Daisy team in the Plymouth-Livonia Old Timers' Softball League had an easy time in their first game this summer. They were scheduled to play the Joy Bar outfit last Wednesday, but the bar team did not show up so the local oldsters won by a 7 to 0 forfeit.

Next Monday Daisy takes on Winconsin Door away; Wall Wire plays Contractors on the diamond behind the high school. Next week Wednesday, Wall Wire goes to DPW; Daisy to Dutch Mill; while the Livonia American Legion comes to Plymouth to play the Contractors' team.

Merchants Play Northville Here Fourth of July

The Plymouth Merchants team in the Inter-County League play two games this weekend. On Saturday, the Fourth of July, they take on a traditional foe, Northville. At present Northville is leading the Red Division and has not dropped a decision this year. This should be an exceptional contest as all the Plymouth-Northville battles have been in the past. The game will be played at Riverside Park here beginning at 3:30 in the afternoon.

On Sunday they go to Bell Creek for a game with the Redford Lions. The contest will begin at 3:30.

Sports Glances

by "Professor" Edgar Brown

No wonder it is hard to get umpires these days! I have been to a few softball and hardball games this summer, and nearly every game had a "loud-mouth" present who took delight in telling the umpire how wrong he was on his decisions. Usually it is the same ones, game after game, who abuse the men in blue. At times umpires must enjoy a little heckling with a sense of humor, but when it becomes abusive, and every decision hooted, it can spread to the crowd and cause trouble.

A little heckling is expected at ball games as long as it is kept on a sensible plane, but when someone gets angry at each decision that is carrying it too far.

The umpire may be wrong occasionally—even though they seldom admit it—but after all they call them as they see them from behind the plate, or close to a play, and they are in a much more advantageous position than the "loud-mouth" in the stands. The game of baseball would be a sorry mess if we didn't have umpires to keep the play going in a businesslike manner.

A couple of weeks ago there was an article on this page saying that umpires were needed this summer. Mr. Loud-mouth here is your opportunity to make your own decisions and get paid for it. Just call Earl Gray and register as an umpire today!

Well I attended the West Coast-Big Ten track meet at Ann Arbor last week, and along with some 7,000 other fans I was a little disappointed by the rather dismal showing made by the athletes from the mid-west. Some experts thought the difference in favor would be as low as 10 in favor of the west-coasters, but I personally thought about 20. It was 31.

The world record holders, Parry O'Brien in the shot put, and Sam Iness in the discus throw, made some good tosses for first place, but didn't come near their peak performances. However, one shouldn't expect a record, or near record, each time these two perform—an athlete in field events can be in perfect condition one day under perfect weather on a perfect field and make a great toss, and not come near it for some time again. Whereas, a runner will more or less be more consistent. I think more things enter into a field event than in a running event—maybe I'm wrong.

Plymouth's Louis Vargha ran fourth in the 220 yard dash, and ran the third leg in the mile relay. He was pulled out of the 400 in favor of the relay, which was lost by a hair to the West Coast quartet. Louis ran a creditable race in each event, and will be back next year as a senior at Michigan State.

A surprise was pulled in the high jump where the west coast lad outjumped Milt Mead from Michigan to win at 6' 9 1/2". That is really getting up in the thin air.

This baseball business is sure funny. Look at the Yankees—they won 18 straight games, and some were ready to concede them the title again as they had a 12 game edge over Cleveland. Now they have lost 7 straight at

Merchants Lose As River Rouge Rallies in Ninth

River Rouge rallied for two runs in the ninth inning last Sunday to hand the Plymouth Merchants a 6 to 5 loss in an Inter-County League game over at River Rouge.

Manager Bassett elected to start a new right-handed hurler, Don Schwall from Ypsilanti, but the 17 year old lad was shelled out before he retired the side in the first inning. At that time he had yielded three hits, two of them of the tainted variety and had walked two men. Lefty Ed Hock came in to put out the fire, but four runs had been scored in that first time at bat. Young Hock blanked the winners then until those two winning runs in the ninth, but was charged with the loss as the Merchants had gone ahead in the fifth inning when they scored all of their runs. The five runs were scored on 2 errors and 3 solid hits.

River Rouge had 7 hits as did the Merchants. Moers and Hock each had 2 hits with Williams, Swartz and Shedd each contributing one hit.

The River Rouge late rally spoiled a splendid relief chore by Hock, who had shackled the home team until the uprising in the last inning. This defeat brought season record of the Merchants to a .500 percentage—they got off to a good start by winning their first 4 games, but now have dropped their last four contests.

Somers Tosses No-Hit SB Game

Hal Somers chucked a no-hitter in the city softball league last week as he blanked Evans 9 to 0. Pitching for Detroit Transmission, Somers set down the Evans batters with 10 strikeouts while walking 7 men. Stevens, his opponent, allowed 6 hits, struck out 1 man and walked 5.

The game was fairly close until the last inning when DTD counted 6 times on 4 hits and 3 walks. The 6 hits in the game were evenly distributed with Kliest contributing a triple in the last inning.

In another game Evans bested Bathey 8 to 3 as Etherington set the Bathey batters down with only 1 hit. Menchaca had two triples for the winners, with Etherington, Gilbert and Bremmer each having two hits.

Slugging Allows Olds to Win 10-4

Whitman & Barnes dropped their decision of the year last week when Olds upset them 10 to 4 in a game limited to 5 innings by the time element. Olds scored all their runs in the 2nd, 3rd and 4th innings. W & B jumped away to a 3 run lead in the first inning as they counted three runs on 2 walks, an error, and 2 singles.

Mas did the chucking for Olds and allowed 5 hits while striking out 5 men, and walking six batters. Joe Nagy, the loser, struck out only 2 men walked 1 and hit 1, but some solid, timely hitting accounted for all the runs—the winners got to him for 13 solid blows.

Mugs Hunt had a homerun, Doug Slessor a triple and Don Likewiss a double. Likewiss had 3 hits, Huebler 2, Hunt 2, and Schultz 2. V. Basham had a single and a double for the losers.

LaFontaine in Easy 17-3 Win

The LaFontaine evened up their season record last week with an 17 to 3 victory over Bathey in the city softball league. The winners scored at least one run in every inning, and the losers scored all their runs in the sixth inning on no hits. In fact, Bathey only got 1 hit off the offerings of Wellman, and that came in the fourth inning by Bob Edleman. Wellman struck out 9 men, walked 4 and hit 2 more. The winners collected a total of 11 hits in scoring their 17 runs—they received 6 walks and Bathey made 6 errors.

The big blows were home runs by Vaughn and F. Soave. Wellman had a triple and Riblett a double.

Free Lessons to Tennis Players

A local man has been devoting his spare time to developing tennis players, and teaching novices the fundamental principles involved in playing the game. However, the response hasn't been too gratifying as very few have taken the opportunity to come over to the high school courts to receive this wonderful instruction.

Kenneth Bisbee, a former tennis coach at Farmington High school, and a former college player of note, is the man who is so graciously giving these free instructions. Children of any age, or adults, are invited to come to the high school courts any Thursday from 3:30 to 5:30 to participate. All that is necessary is to bring your own racket and balls, and a desire to learn something, or more, about the court game.

The recreation department sponsors Mr. Bisbee, and have put the courts in shape—the grass has been taken off, and the lines are going to be painted.

Tennis is a grand game for exercise and fun so if you are interested come over tonight and see Mr. Bisbee.

C. G. Draper offers a reward for the capture and conviction of the person who is representing himself as sent out by him to test and fit glasses to the eyes. He is continually receiving complaints from people who have been sold. Mr. Draper wishes to inform the public that this man is an impostor.

Deputy Sheriff George Springer arrested one George Harris last week Thursday evening on several charges of misdemeanor. Several articles of small value were stolen by the fellow at the Victor Hotel and he was also caught in the act of stealing a razor at Louie Reber's. Later he made a nuisance of himself on the streets. George locked him up in the "cage" over night and Friday morning swore out a warrant before Justice Valentine. When brought before his honor he pleaded guilty to the charges and obtained 60 days at the Detroit House of Correction, which seemed to him to be as good a place as any to spend the Fourth.

Julius Miller had his bicycle stolen Sunday evening while he sat within seeing distance of it. He yelled at the thief to stop, but he mounted the wheel and sped away.

Deputy Sheriff George Springer has taken two "Weary Willies" to the works in Detroit this week for 60 days each. Keep it up George and they will soon find out how they get used in Plymouth and will stay away.

Mrs. Conrad Springer has been laid up for the past week with a bad foot which came from running a slier into it. A doctor had to be called to extract the same.

Miss Lottie Bowen left Tuesday for Farmington, where she has accepted a position as stenographer for F. M. Warner, Secretary of State.

The social given by the German Sunday school Wednesday evening on C. Drew's lawns, after the shower, was well attended. The school cleared $6.00.

Aurora borealis, unusually brilliant and plainly discernible, was witnessed here last Saturday night and early Sunday morning. The sky was streaked with red and white lights, moving from east to west. The waves of light moved in fan shapes.

Miss Mary Mettetal went to Lansing Friday with several children who met at the Hotel Mayflower to compete in the 4-H club contest held this week. She was the winner of the music memory contest of Wayne county.

Charles F. Bennett visited friends in Lansing a few days this week.

Misses Ruby and Hazel Drake have returned from their trip up the St. Lawrence river through Thousand Islands, Lake Ontario and Niagara Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Donovan entertained a party of 30 friends last Sunday with a picnic dinner on the spacious lawn of their home on Plymouth road.

Miss Thelma Vivian Peck was hostess to a Tuesday afternoon bridge luncheon at her home, honoring her house guest, Miss Dorothy C. Duncan, of Jacksonville, Illinois. A number of the out-of-town guests were classmates of Miss Duncan and Miss Peck during their college days.

The members of the Kiwanis club and their families were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Heide at their cottage at Base Lake last Wednesday afternoon. The afternoon was pleasantly passed with boating, fishing, swimming, and various games, after which a delicious picnic lunch, prepared by the Hotel Mayflower, was served. It was a most delightful occasion for those who attended.

Extensive improvements have been made at the Chicken Shack on Plymouth road by the proprietor, L. O. Berry. Because of the demands of defense workers for all night service the restaurant now operates on a 24-hour basis. New, modern counter equipment has been added along with many new tables and a service bar. The restaurant itself has been greatly enlarged and improved and will now accommodate nearly 200 people at one time.

When you first sit behind the wheel of a new Pontiac forget its very low cost and concentrate instead on its performance.

Guide it through city traffic and see how its big, high-compression engine gives you amazing get-up-and-go. Then take it out on the open road and feel how it provides power to spare.

Next, see how relaxed you are in Pontiac's roomy, luxurious interior, how easily Pontiac handles, how sure-footed it is on any type of road. Add to all this Pontiac's distinctive Dual-Streak beauty and you know you're commanding a car that represents true fine car quality through and through.

We suggest you come in and put Pontiac through its paces. We're sure you'll agree that here's mighty powerful proof that dollar for dollar you can't beat a Pontiac.

HAZA-WITKA. Pictured (l. to r.) are Mrs. Roy Jacobus, who is helping son Kenneth do a last minute job

See Milky Way in July Skies

The Milky Way, an archer and the "Dog Star" will occupy July's skies, states Hazel M. Losh, University of Michigan associate professor of astronomy, who adds that the sun will be farthest from the earth this month.

The broad, hazy band known as the Milky Way, which can be seen best in July, extends across the eastern sky during the evening hour, dividing into two branches at the northern end. The western branch passes to the constellation Scorpius, the eastern to Sagittarius.

To the naked eye, the Milky Way appears as a soft, misty light, but Dr. Losh explains that any optical aid, even field glasses, will show that it is composed of multitudinous faint stars.

Sagittarius, "The Archer," is situated in one of the "richest" sections of the Milky Way, she says. Usually depicted with a drawn bow, it aims its shaft at the heart of near-by Scorpius.

The astronomer explains that the five stars of the figure form an inverted dipper, "The Milk Dipper." Sagittarius also may be likened to a giant teapot, with spout, knob and handle, ready to pour toward the horizon.

The brightest star in the whole heavens, the professor states, is Sirius, invisible during July because it appears only in the day sky. It reaches the south meridian around noon, at approximately the same time as the sun. It is this "Dog Star" which blends its rays with those of the sun during July's hot days, giving earth its well known "dog days."

Dr. Losh explains that this expression is only metaphorical, since the heat from Sirius is very small compared to that of the sun, the "star being more than 500 thousand times as far away as the sun."

Speaking of the sun, Professor Losh says that the earth will reach its greatest distance from it for the year on July 5. This increased distance will have little effect on the temperature, however, since the sun will be only one and one-half million miles farther away than the average of 93 million. This is not enough to make an appreciable difference in the heat received.

The only bright planet visible during the evening hours of the month will be Saturn. Located on the south meridian at sunset, it will move to the west and set around midnight with the bright star Spica.

"Just before sunrise," Dr. Losh concludes, "the eastern morning sky will show Venus and Jupiter." On July 22, Venus will pass below Jupiter, and the two objects will be seen together on July 22 and 23.

Fears U. S. Society Attitude May Force Intellectual Into Hiding

The contribution of the intellectual may be lost to American society as a result of investigations of educators and the public's temper toward teachers.

"Too few people realize what the danger is," declared Dr. Harold Taylor, president of Sarah Lawrence college, Bronxville, New York.

Dr. Taylor recently addressed the national convention of the American Association of University Women at Minneapolis. It was reported in an Associated Press dispatch.

"When Rep. Dondero (R), Mich., makes his incredible pronouncement about the subversive influence of modern art in the schools and colleges and art galleries, people either laugh at him or think there might be something to it," Taylor said.

"When Mr. McCarthy calls witnesses for a public display, people think that the display itself demonstrates the existence of corruption and subversion, that a person who has nothing to conceal cannot possibly be damaged.

"The point is that only those who have said something, or written something, or have a point of view about politics or life itself can provide anything for investigators to investigate.

"I am referring not to Communist Party members active in conspiracy, subversion, or espionage, who are subject to the law, the courts, and investigation by the agencies of government.

"I am referring to teachers, scholars and writers who have engaged in legitimate political activity in legal organizations of their choice. As teachers, they retain the same rights as other citizens and not a bit less."

More Motels For Summer Tourists

Those who travel or vacation in Michigan this year will find more good motels than ever before. This is the prediction of Charles Daniel, American Automobile Association field reporter who has just begun his annual four-month Michigan tourist facility inspection. Daniel will visit and inspect about 1,000 Michigan facilities.

"We have been informed by our largest state affiliate, Automobile Club of Michigan, that Michigan is in the midst of a motel building boom. We believe many new motels, hotels and restaurants will be eligible for listings in the AAA-accommodations directory this season," Daniel said.

There are now over 600 Michigan motels, hotels and eating places in the AAA directory. Over 1,500,000 copies of the directory are distributed yearly. Nationally, about 10 per cent of all listings are dropped each season and replaced by others.

"There's a nationwide tendency towards bigger and better motels," Daniel noted. "It's generally easy to find a top-grade motel on a main road. And there's a trend towards fancier restaurants. But too many eating places with fancy fronts serve steam table meals that have been cooking several hours. Chicken and ham croquettes taste about alike after such a Turkish bath," said Daniel, who travels an average of 75,000 miles yearly.

Daniel believes Michigan could profitably support several hundred more good restaurants on its tourist highways. The profit potential of those who run superior restaurants is amazing, he has noted.

Daniel counsels travelers on selection of the proper eating places for the proper appetite. Don't expect to order and get good steak at a hot dog stand. And don't expect good hot dogs at a fine steak place. The two don't go together. Short order places serve short orders, not banquets, Daniel said.

A series of and about residents of Plymouth at home, at work or at play
This Week—MRS. A. GERALD PEASE

"There's nothing spectacular about my life," or so Mrs. A. Gerald Pease says.

But waiting on customers at Pease Paint and Wallpaper, a privately owned business, would be enough to keep anyone actively occupied. Besides this particular occupation, however, Mrs. Pease must also find time to care for her duties as a homemaker, a challenge to any woman.

Dividing her time between home life and that of the business world, the neatly tailored woman manages both effectively and still finds free time for social life. A member of the Soroptimist club, Mrs. Pease has been elected as one of the club's directors. As an officer, Mrs. Pease must attend all meetings of the executive board.

It was just one year ago in March that the Pease family came to Plymouth transferring their residence from Livonia where they had lived for 11 years. Before that time, they resided in Farmington township and in Detroit.

At present, Mr. and Mrs. Pease live at 1445 Penniman. A married daughter also makes her home in Plymouth.

The Pease place of business will be in existence two years this October. When asked if she keeps the business books in balance, Mrs. Pease explained that, "the financial side of the business is handled by Mr. Pease."

Raising a family, keeping a home, putting a finger in business and showing an interest in civic affairs may be ordinary things but it is the simple, every-day things that make people like Mrs. Pease so interesting and pleasant and even "spectacular."

"Have one of these bananas," invested the mother of the kid. "They are awful fresh." "If they are so fresh," said the kid, "why don't they get up and say something?"

U of M Expedition Seeks Remains of Sandia Man, Regarded As Oldest New World Inhabitant of 10,000 Years Ago

Announcement that a University of Michigan anthropologist is continuing research on the Sandia man, regarded as the oldest human inhabitant of the New World, makes one wonder how scientists can be so sure of what ancient man was like.

Well, it's not an easy job, according to Emerson F. Greenman, associate professor of anthropology, who's heading the expedition to Kilarney, Ontario, where last year a similar U-M group uncovered clues which led to the belief that the Sandia man may have existed in that area.

Dr. Greenman points out that great care and patience are needed in piecing together fragments of pottery and rock to trace parts of man's ancient culture.

The anthropologist also must know the various parts of the skull which grow together as the individual ages. An addition of years also brings a widening of the angle of the lower jawbone, as well as a union of different bones of the body.

Dr. Greenman explains that sex can be determined, because male bones generally are larger than those of the female. The male skull usually is larger, has bony prominences over the eyes and shows smooth, rounded upper eye orbits.

When working on discoveries, "a professional archaeologist or anthropologist is supposed to be able to identify every bone, describe it and any objects found, explain positions, make scale drawings of remains and know any bones or parts missing or tampered with," Dr. Greenman states.

As an example of the necessity of knowing the bones of the human skeleton, Dr. Greenman recalls that a few years ago two fairly complete skeletons were found near Imlay City. Close examination showed that burial had been some years earlier and that they had been dug up and reburied.

He says that he knew this because when the latter was done, the bones were rearticulated—put back in some semblance of the correct anatomical order. But the heads of the upper leg bones were placed in the wrong relationship to the pelvis: the right was in place of the left, and both were upside down.

Vaccine Prevents Bronchitis Deaths of State Poultry

A new low-virulent strain of vaccine, not yet licensed for commercial distribution, is seen as one answer to a "very serious" outbreak of infectious bronchitis in chickens.

Michigan farmers have been grappling with the disease for some time now. It has been blamed for the recent jump in egg prices.

Dr. John Groves, assistant state veterinarian, said infected hens were laying unmarketable eggs which were a complete loss.

He disclosed the low-virulent vaccine which he said would not cause more than eight-tenths of one per cent mortality among chicks immunized.

Dr. Groves, who was a speaker at Michigan State college's "Broiler Day," recommended vaccinating 25 per cent of the flock only. A mild form of the disease, he said, is transmitted to the remainder of the flock, making it immune to the illness.

Egg production is suspended about 10 days following the immunization.

Two promising businessmen are Gary (11) and Gregg (9) Packard, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Packard. Gary, wanting a pair of high top boots, found he could earn money visiting construction jobs and picking up old pop bottles thrown around by the workmen. The workmen were glad to get rid of the bottles and Gary earned his boots. Brother Gregg averages about 15 to 18 cents per day searching around the base of local parking meters where hurried shoppers don't take time to pick up pennies that slip from their fingers.

Neighbors wondering why they haven't seen Earl Russell working on his beautiful lawn so many hours learned from the grapevine that he spends considerable time now polishing his newly acquired golf trophy. It adorns his book room and was awarded him in Port Huron for second place in the Michigan Senior's Golf tournament.

The last meeting of the Board of Education in Northville started promptly on time. Everyone was there and business was taken care of in a minimum of time. The reason — at the last previous meeting board president Robert Coolman thought his term expired and not planning on running again he took board members to task for their lackadaisical attitudes and interest. He was more than surprised during the meeting to find he still had another year to serve, but said the lecture was well worth it after seeing the change at last week's session.

That other people enjoy one's flowers as much as the grower has been proven many times to Mrs. F. A. Vollbrecht of Ann Arbor trail when her doorbell rings and complete strangers ask if they might be permitted to take pictures in her beautiful garden of roses.

The mails couldn't carry letters fast enough for John Wiltse, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Wiltse of the Community Pharmacy, who is now stationed in Germany. He spent many sleepless nights worrying about Plymouth after reading a story in the Stars and Stripes in Germany about a tornado hitting in Plymouth.

Nelson Schrader of Northville told a group of Rotarians last Friday at the Mayflower that had the residents of his town voted to become a city at their last election Northville could now be the only tax free city in Michigan.

Winston Cooper takes extra precaution to keep his garage locked, even to having a locked gate at the sidewalk so it is almost impossible to get into the garage. However it has been done, and just recently he awoke one morning to find the gate off, hinges removed, and his four wire-wheels and hub caps on his smart Cadillac missing. As if that wasn't enough he swears a few days later he recognized his wheels supporting one of Plymouth's zaniest hot rods on the main street, but since there was no way to actually identify the wheels he watched them roar away.

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

Healthiest year in Michigan's history was 1952, announces the state Department of Health.

Some credit for this fine showing belongs to the staff of the state Health department itself, for it has worked hard many years to protect the physical well-being of Michigan's citizens. Now in its 81st year of existence, the department is considered the finest in the country. It was established in 1873, the fifth oldest in the nation.

Credit should be given also to county and city health authorities who reflect in their own operations the help they receive from the state.

Polio was the only serious communicable disease that was epidemic last year. Other facts reported:

More babies were born than in any previous year; about 175,000 which topped the previous high of 1951 by 3,000.

Life expectancy of babies born in 1952 remained at 66 years for boys, 72 for girls.

Deaths from diseases affecting older people increased. Increasing longevity results in part from control of diseases of earlier years.

Michigan's death rate is nine per thousand; well below the national average of 9.6. Only 15 states have a lower death rate.

More than 90 per cent of people of Michigan were served by 51 full-time local health departments.

Most dramatic result of Health department campaigning is the tremendous reduction of goiter cases in Michigan children. Tests in 1924 showed 47.2 per cent with enlarged thyroid glands. Research proved this was caused by lack of iodine in diets. The department found that iodized salt would correct this deficiency; promoted and is still promoting that consumers use only iodized salt.

Result: Only 1.4 per cent of children in the same area this year examined for goiter showed positive signs.

Biggest health problem remains tuberculosis. Of money spent for public health in Michigan, 80%, about 2 1/2 million, is spent fighting this disease—or caring for those that fall to it.

Newest field to receive attention is "adult health problems"; cancer, heart disease and diabetes. With a higher percentage of people living to old age, the department feels it should devote more study to these problems.

Collecting of human blood in cooperation with Red Cross is still another project which receives continual attention.

Free distribution of vaccines it manufactures for Michigan people is a prime department service and there are many other important duties the department has assumed. Among them is a free diagnosis service for doctors, services in the fields of public health nursing, nutrition, maternal and child health, industrial health, dentistry, venereal disease control, and the maintaining of birth, death, and other vital statistics. The list of service as performed is much, much longer.

The important Kahn test for syphilis was developed during the 1930's by Dr. R. L. Kahn who was then associated with Michigan's Health department.

During the forties Dr. Pearl Kendrick produced an improved whooping cough vaccine widely praised in the medical profession.

Michigan's Department of Health is the nation's only source of anti-hemaphilic globulin, a blood derivative important in stopping hemorrhaging.

Outstanding results like these over the years have resulted in the top reputation now enjoyed by Michigan's department.

General purpose of the Department of Health is to encourage and develop health through local agencies at county or city levels. About 600 people make up the state staff. Their efforts are coordinated with 47 county and 11 city departments operating on a full time basis. Only 13 counties do not have health departments.

Federal aid has been available until this year when the national economy program called for drastic reductions. State and local governments providing $160,000 each and minor reductions in service are planned to make up for the $327,000 that will not be forthcoming from Washington this year.

Dr. Albert E. Heustis, a young, personable looking man, has been health commissioner since 1948. His job calls for skilled administration. He must work with state officials, with members of organized medicine, with his department personnel and with local departments.

Much credit for the efficiency of the department is given by him and others to the absence of politics in its administration. Since its inception, the agency has usually had a free hand, unhampered by political expediency. This has permitted employment of career type people of high professional standards.

Appointed by the governor, confirmed by the legislature, the commissioner works with an advisory group, the state Council of Health. Members of this body are also appointed by the governor. Although the commissioner need consult the council only if he considers it necessary to public safety to cancel public meetings, to take over a local health department he considers functioning improperly or to set certain health regulations, Dr. Heustis says they have other important functions.

The present council consists of one health engineer, a Doctor of Osteopathy, a dentist and two MD's. In discussing general problems and policies with them, Dr. Heustis feels he has a valuable sounding board of public reaction. "I would like to meet more often with them than at present," he commented.

No discussion of Michigan's Department of Health would be complete without mention of Clifford C. Young, director from 1919 until his death in 1944. "Clay" was considered the top health administration official in the country. His organizational abilities and his warm personality welded the department into a sufficiently operating unit.

When Cy Young died, Paul de Kruijff, prominent medical writer had this to say: "Our state has lost the most valuable of its citizens, and the world is bereft of one of its best battlers in the fight for human life."

ROGER BABSON SAYS:

BABSON DISCUSSES THE 1953 CROP OUTLOOK

Babson Park, Mass., Although it is too early in the season for me to make a comprehensive forecast of the 1953 crop prospects, there are a few highlights that may be of interest. But, first, I can say that as of June 1 the outlook for most of the country was fairly good.

ANOTHER BUMPER WHEAT CROP

Wheat crops of a billion bushels or more have been commonplace in this country during recent years. The 1953 crop should be no exception to the rule, notwithstanding the very poor outlook in certain dry sections. Things will look brighter for the wheat farmer if the total crop were smaller, since storage space at the peak of the harvesting season will be at a premium. This will make it difficult, if not impossible, for some farmers to avail themselves of the Government loan; Supplies of old-crop wheat are also heavy. This all adds up to burdensome total supplies for the 1953-1954 season, and may well presage some form of Government control on 1954 production.

I expect another relatively small rye crop this year, perhaps moderately larger than the 1952 outturn of 15,910,000 bushels, but well below the ten-year average of 25,837,000. However, it should suffice, since imports from Canada probably will take up any slack. Despite floods and other setbacks in the southern rice area, another big crop is on the way, and will be needed to meet a good prospective domestic and export demand.

GOOD CORN AND SOYBEAN CROPS—IF

Last spring, farmers indicated that they intended to plant almost as much acreage to corn this year as in 1952, when the final outturn amounted to 3,307, 000,000 bushels—the second largest corn crop on record. Although excessive rainfall and cool weather delayed plantings in a number of important areas, the setback has been largely made up. Given favorable growing weather and no widespread frost damage later on, we should have another big corn crop this year. This should be good news to hog raisers, since it should help to maintain a profitable corn-hog ratio.

In the case of soybeans, I have very little as yet on which to base a reliable forecast. However, private reports reaching me indicate that planted acreage this year did not differ very much from that in 1952, and that the crop is developing well. Last year's production amounted to 291,682,000 bushels—the second largest on record. Both soybeans and corn are marketed more or less heavily in the fall. For lack of storage place at that time, I expect downward pressure on prices of corn and soybeans.

COTTON PROSPECTS

At this early stage, I would not hazard a forecast as to the probable size of the 1953 U. S. cotton crop. Plantings were badly delayed in some sections by inclement weather, but my guess is that cotton farmers finally got in a fairly large acreage, nevertheless. The price support program alone offered them a good inducement to plant rather generously. I should not be at all surprised if this year's crop turned out to be well above average, barring severe weevil or other damage. Following a big carry-over, another large crop would necessitate more price support.

Flaxseed is another oilseed crop. The odds are that a fairly large crop is in the offing, since farmers last spring expected to increase acreage 20%. I am inclined to doubt, however, that the final outturn will come up to the ten-year average of 38,056,000 bushels. Large carryover stocks are in Government hands, chiefly in the form of linseed oil.

WHAT ABOUT FUTURE PRICES?

Prices of farm products have been declining for more than two years. In fact, they are down 12.8% from January 1951, but still are 3.6% above June 1950—the month in which the Korean War began. This drop occurred despite Government price props. Continued large production, dwindling exports, and mounting surpluses are a combination hard to beat. Thus again is the old Law of Supply and Demand confirmed. Farm prices, in general, will be under pressure this summer and fall, but I don't expect them to collapse. Farmers should still be able to buy all that they need, although perhaps less than they want, which may prove salutary in the long run.

Skin specialists say mud baths are an aid to beauty, but we can't see wherein they have improved the turtle very much.

Sp Shutter Views

By Les Wilson

Although the big share of your camera work is carried on outdoors, good—really good—pictures of people outdoors often represent a ticklish chore. We'll forego a look-in on the use of an exposure meter, tripod and cable release and concentrate on the importance of photographing your subject against the light.

Turn the back of your subject to the sun and you allow him to open his eyes naturally; he will not squint grimly like a ferret peering down a gopher hole. This also tends to erase the deep, unflattering shadows which usually spoil the appearance of the face and figure. Then, too, because of the lessened light, you can use a larger lens opening which throws what might be a distracting background out of focus.

Edgelighting, the use of a sunshade on your lens and the valuable aid of a reflector are refinements which we will be happy to go over if you care to drop by and see us. You'll be surprised what a difference just a few little tricks can make... and you'll also be surprised what a difference proper developing and printing can make. Our professional treatment turns out prints of exceedingly fine calibre. Whether your negative is of the simple snap-shot variety, or in the portrait class, we can really do it justice. So bring your next roll to THE PHOTOGRAPHIC CENTER and be ready for a pleasant surprise!

Don't forget to bring the family out to Plymouth's big 4th of July celebration... there will be many exciting events and lots of fun for everyone... and you'll especially want to see the bathing beauty contest.
