Political Division

by Sterling Eaton

Mention is made elsewhere on this page in the story of the forthcoming traffic report of "Plymouth's political division." Probably few are as well aware of this detrimental factor to our every day community life as is the writer.

Thousands of words have been written all over the country of the dangers and detriments of situations such as this to a community, its citizenry and its future. Small incidents developed under political division at the time of their inception, under ordinary conditions, sometimes grow to such magnitudes that their influence can cause sores that never heal within a living generation.

Certainly our neighboring city of Livonia has been beset since its birth by a series of instances of political nature which have hampered its phenomenal growth and will stalemate its cultural development for many years to come. Like many other communities, so have we.

We in Plymouth are fortunate that we have one of the finest towns in America. Our schools are exceptional and two fine parochial schools are now operating for people of their particular faiths. Our residential areas are superior to most in America and our homes are cozy and comfortable.

Our business district can boast the finest in stores and merchandise and our industry is such that seasonal slumps and layoffs are not visited on our peoples. Our spiritual guidance is of a quality comparable to metropolitan cities. We have many blessings, but we count them too infrequently.

At the present time a struggle is brewing between local groups over the action of the city commission in regards to the ouster of Frank Arlen from the city commission. In our opinion the city commission took action because it believed in its entirety, that it was right. Mr. Arlen and many of his friends feel the action was wrong. If I was asked to render an impartial judgment, I would confess I really don't know which is wrong and which is right as far as law is concerned. Neither could I honestly say the issue was confined actually to residency.

I firmly believe if a side is convinced an injustice has been done, they should, and have the right of every American citizen, such as you and I, appeal to the courts. Let them approach the matter in a proper manner, submit it for decision, then stand by the ruling of the judge. There is no place in Plymouth anymore for procedure other than this, and I am sure, all will agree. This I am certain will be done if further action is taken.

On the other hand, if there is unlimited discontent with the city commission, or any of its members, there too is a logical and legal way of making the changes desired. At the next election candidates can be entered into the contest and voted into office. If they are elected, then it will be hoped that they conform to the wishes of the electors. If they are defeated, it should be presumed the voters are satisfied with those in office. This is the American way.

For nearly a quarter of a century it has been the writer's privilege to serve in the city of Plymouth in many capacities. No one has carried the love of community, told more of its virtues or been more proud to help, than has he. To see its blossoms wilt not only brings on a slight nausea but makes one wonder what in men brings these things to the fore.

For the benefit of our readers we should bluntly like to state it has been our belief that a good newspaper's first responsibility to its readers is to bring them an accurate story of the news. And to this end we shall forever devote our untiring efforts. How you will interpret them or how you will opinionize your version of the actual story, we shall not attempt to influence. We believe each of our readers has the inherent ability and right to draw his own conclusions.

We are fully aware that likes and dislikes of our readers regarding subjects and people will enter into their final convictions and this is their right. This IS America. However, as in the past, the facts will be presented, whatever the story may be, and from there in shall our statements be made.

Methodists Hire Youth Director

The official board of the Methodist church at its regular meeting Monday evening appointed Sanford Burr as director of youth work in the church. Growth of the church has made it impossible for Reverend Melbourne Johnson to devote the necessary hours to this important part of the church program so the regular services of someone with religious training was secured. Mr. Burr is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Burr of this city and has a wide background of experience in the religious field. A student of Garrett Biblical Institute of Evanston, Illinois, he served as an assistant Methodist pastor in a large church in that city. At present he is assistant director and religious leader at a large Y.M.C.A. camp near Hale, Michigan.

Daisy to Bring Blood Bank Here

Daisy Manufacturing company employees and all other Plymouth residents will have the opportunity of donating blood this Friday, July 17. All that day Daisy workers can go to the Knights of Columbus hall at 200 Union street to give blood for the Daisy blood bank. Already it has been reported that 150 persons had pledged to give. Local people who wish to take advantage of the Red Cross blood donating facilities can go to the hall from 3 to 5 p.m. Friday. These pints will be kept by the Red Cross, and will not go into the Daisy bank.

The Ladies Aid Society of St. Peter's Lutheran church are sponsoring an ice cream social to be held on Wednesday evening, July 22 beginning at 7 o'clock. Ice cream and homemade pies will be served. Everyone is invited to attend. The social will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Garchow, 15620 Brydner road just off Five Mile road.

ONE OF PLYMOUTH'S OLDEST REMAINING LANDMARKS, the Hannan and Hough buildings at Main street and Penniman avenue, was purchased this week by First Federal Savings and Loan Association as a future site for its local offices.

Draft Traffic Report For August Meeting

Police Report Accident on South Main Tuesday

Police reported $300 damages to the automobile driven by Don Byer of Five Mile road in an accident on South Main street near Amelia. The crash occurred at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday. Nona Eddington of Hamilton street, the driver of the other vehicle, stopped to check if something was dragging on her car. Byer, travelling behind her, crashed into the back. Damages to the Eddington car were estimated at $100. The woman was taken to a local physician because of neck injuries caused by the impact.

Wife Sponsors Lawyer 'Hubby'

The scene was the Veterans' Memorial building in Detroit on Tuesday. The occasion was the admittance to the bar of newly qualified lawyers. The candidate in this case was Clarence Alandt of Plymouth, a graduate of the University of Detroit Law school in 1948.

The unusual part of the picture was the sponsor of the Plymouth candidate for admittance to the bar. None other than his wife, Gloriette Alandt, a practicing attorney here since 1951 and a University of Detroit graduate in 1950.

The Alandts reside at 45411 West Ann Arbor road and will form today a new partnership in the practice of law with offices in their residence. Mr. Alandt will however, continue his public accounting in his Detroit office and practice law evenings and weekends in Plymouth.

Final drafting of the AAA traffic study completed here last month by AAA survey engineers is underway. Although no completed section of the work is now available it was learned from AAA Manager L. B. Rice that there are serious traffic problems in Plymouth, and the report has treated the entire problem in a manner which will do the most good for the most people.

"Traffic engineers found early in their survey that Plymouth has a definite political division, and political interests were immediately ready to take opposite sides on whatever issue might be projected," said Mr. Rice. When we first discussed the projected survey I made it clear to those from our organization responsible for the same that the report must be based on factual material, and regardless of the effects of the final outcome I personally insisted that it be submitted for the best interest of the community at large," he said.

AAA surveyors pointed out that it was possible to project a plan which could cost two or three million dollars and take some 20 years to complete, but they favored corrections and improvements which could be achieved at small cost, done immediately to benefit the majority.

A tentative date has been set for August 6th for a meeting of AAA officials and city fathers and other civic groups by Mr. Rice, at which time a complete presentation of the survey will be made public for the first time.

Traffic surveys as prepared by the Automobile club have proved most beneficial to other communities and local civic groups are looking forward to its presentation and are hopeful that immediate steps can be taken for the benefit of local residents. Past experience has shown AAA officials that it is impossible to please everyone in areas under survey but here, as elsewhere, they will present their findings, based on fact, and hope corrective action will be undertaken.

Hannan, Hough Buildings Sold for Future Offices

Announcement was made this week by First Federal Savings and Loan Association of one of the most important property transactions in Plymouth in half a century. Disclosure came Tuesday that the northeast corner of Main street and Penniman avenue had been purchased by First Federal as a future site for their offices here.

The actual property purchased in this transaction consists of the Hannan corner and the Hough building directly behind it on Penniman. The building now houses Stark Realty, Jewell Barber Shop, Ken & Orks, Plymouth Taxi Service and Louie's Shoe Repair.

WALTER GEHRKE, president of First Federal Savings and Loan Association, (left) congratulates Perry Richwine, manager of the newly formed local branch, on his foresight in obtaining the northeast corner of Main street and Penniman avenue as future First Federal offices. Immediate offices will be constructed in the Huston building on Penniman avenue. Date for opening there has been set for October.

City Will Reserve Parking Stalls For $75 A Year

A new ordinance was last week passed into law by the city that gives the city manager authority to reserve individual stalls in municipal parking lots to "any person, partnership, firm or corporation." The new law takes effect on July 27.

The license fee for use of one reserved parking stall is set by the ordinance at $75 per fiscal year. The new law orders that all such license fees be credited to the parking fund.

Persons who seek parking lot reservations must make their application for a license in writing, addressed to the city clerk and including the license and motor number of the vehicle, its weight along with a statement as to the use the vehicle will be put.

A plate, card or sticker will be attached to the vehicle to identify the licensee and each stall reserved will be marked.

The ordinance provides a penalty of not more than $50 or 30 days imprisonment, or both, to any violator of the ordinance, presumably one unauthorized who parks in a reserved stall.

Hope to Okay Proposal Tonight

What is hoped to be the last meeting of the City Planning Commission before it submits its revised zoning ordinance proposal to the city commissioners for adoption will take place tonight at the city hall.

Planning Commission members will attempt to iron out the final wrinkles of the proposal at their regular meeting beginning at 7:30, according to Commission Chairman Sidney Strong. The commission has been meeting as a "committee-of-the-whole on the past two Thursday nights to "consider objections and suggestions," Strong said.

There were no major changes considered for the ordinance during the two unofficial meetings, Strong asserted. Appearing before the commission were individuals who were interested in problems dealing with their neighborhood.

Strong said that the commission hopes tonight's meeting will result in the approval of the ordinance so that the revised map and ordinance text can be presented at the next city commission meeting.

School Board Presidency To Gallimore

James Gallimore was re-elected president of the Plymouth Board of Education Monday night at the board's first meeting of the new school year.

Taking their places for the first time with the board were Carl Caplin and Horton Booth, who were elected to the board by voters last spring. Caplin was elected as secretary of the board and Booth will serve as trustee.

The reorganized board will have Mrs. Robert Willoughby as vice-president and Warren Smith serving as treasurer.

Bids for steel cabinets for the new Allen Elementary school were considered by the board with the Berger Manufacturing Division of Republic Steel corporation being awarded the contract. They submitted a bid of $1,260.39. The only other bid was that of Building Accessories company at $1,320.

Bids for kitchen equipment for the high school home economics department were also reviewed but because the bids did not include the same specifications, more information is to be received and a special meeting will be called next week to accept one of the bids.

Plymouth taxpayers will get a fractional tax relief this school year because of action taken by the board. The board fixed the tax-rate at 17.95 mills as compared to 18 mills during the past year. The National Bank of Detroit was again approved as the depository for the board.

Clearance Sales Boom in Plymouth

Following July 4th clearance sales usually are in order. Plymouth merchants are again this year continuing this tradition. Fisher's, Willoughby's and Fashion Shoes are now having sales of their summer merchandise in order to make room for incoming fall stock. The stores have less summer stock for sale, the bulk of it being in odd sizes and colors.

The local shoe merchants have remarked on the exceptionally good year they have had. Reductions are large, averaging around 30 per cent, in order to stimulate late summer buying.

A lingerie special is the main sale at Dunning's. Because this has been a good buying year, the owner is very encouraged with the situation. She has found that there is much less left on the shelves than ever before. Minerva's has reduced its prices. (Continued on page 8)

Fined for Reckless Driving

Speeding down Main street at 60 miles per hour in a car without a muffler resulted in the arrest and an $85 fine for Wyley V. Ribley, of 542 Starkweather. The youth was arrested by police Monday, Chief of Police Carl Greenlee reported, and was charged with reckless driving. Ribley's car was equipped with a "straightpipe" which eliminates the muffler and produces loud motor noises, contrary to local laws. In his appearance before Municipal Judge Nandino Perlongo, Ribley was given a sentence of either 60 days in jail or a fine of $85. He paid the fine and was released.

Beverly Hokenson To Become Bride Of William Mathis

Miss Beverly Hokenson

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hokenson of 32700 W. Chicago Boulevard, Livonia, announce the engagement of their daughter, Beverly to William R. Mathis, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Mathis, of Thiesen avenue, Dearborn.

No definite wedding plans have been made.

Choral Festival Draws Thousands

Thousands of Michigan music lovers including several from Plymouth will make their annual trek northward next Friday (July 17) for the first giant outdoor choral festival of the season at the National Music Camp at Interlochen.

The event is the annual Interlochen oratorio, always held during the third week of camp. This season it is the famous Haydn oratorio, "The Creation," to be sung by a festival choir of nearly 500 voices and three soloists, accompanied by the 80 piece University Orchestra, and performed in the newly remodeled Interlochen Bowl.

The entire production will be directed by Maynard Klein, associate professor of choral music and director of choirs at the University of Michigan and head of the Interlochen choral department.

Soloists are Miss Joan St. Denis of Detroit, former Interlochen student now on the staff; John Elwell, member of the voice faculty at Michigan State Normal college, Ypsilanti, and John Muschick, voice instructor and director of Women's Glee club at Ohio State University. Both Elwell and Muschick are on the Interlochen music faculty.

This marks the second performance of the Haydn "Creation" at the northwoods fine arts center. Other well known oratorios that have been performed here in previous years include Handel's "Messiah," Mendelssohn's "Elijah" and Haydn's "Seasons."

The annual outdoor oratorios are part of the expansion program in choral music being developed at Interlochen under Klein's direction.

The program offers one of the widest ranges in choral literature to be found on any campus, and more choral festivals and concerts in an eight week season than most college music departments present in two years.

Besides the Haydn oratorio, a feat in itself, Klein has scheduled another grand-scale production, the Verdi "Requiem" for Saturday, August 22, the last week of camp. This is one of the most difficult scores in choral literature because of the intricacy and extreme range of the choral parts, and the sustained, intense singing (it lasts for two hours) that the requiem demands. Both the chorus and soloists must be of grand opera caliber. Verdi was primarily an opera composer. Interlochen is one of the few, perhaps the only place in America equipped from the standpoint of numbers, talent, and physical facilities to produce such massive song-fests and in recent years they have become one of the main attractions at camp.

Other distinguished choral works on the schedule this season include the Bach Cantata No. 140, "Wachet Auf"; the Bach Magnificat, Stravinsky's "Symphony of Psalms," and Benjamin Britten's "Te Deum."

The college choral groups at Interlochen are making a special study of rare sixteenth century madrigals, motets, and masses, some of which have been only recently transcribed and will have their first performance at Interlochen.

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

July 7, 1953

Dear Arthur:

I am told that you are one of the youngest supporters of the Republican Party. All of us are exceedingly proud of our members from America's newest generation.

So please accept my personal greetings -- as well as very best wishes for a happy and successful future.

Sincerely,
Dwight D. Eisenhower

Master Arthur R. Daane
530 Garfield Avenue
Plymouth, Michigan

3-YEAR-OLD REPUBLICAN Arthur Daane recently received this letter of greetings from President Dwight D. Eisenhower. The letter came after Mayor and Mrs. Russell Daane sent a picture of their young son atop his prized "Ike" pumpkin, reprinted here, to Congressman Charles Oakman. The picture finally came to the President's attention, and he replied with a personal note to the young man.

George Bowles Kiwanis Speaker

State Labor Mediator George Bowles gave members of the Plymouth Kiwanis club Tuesday evening a resume of the history of labor dispute mediation in the United States and the state of Michigan in particular.

Speaking at a regular meeting of the club, the Detroit attorney, who resides in Plymouth, pointed out that the industrial magnitude of Michigan makes it a leader in labor mediation. "Since the mediation board was appointed in the 1939, there has been a constant need for its services," he said. He dwelled at length upon the gains made through across-the-table mediation over the rough and tumble manner that disputes were handled in earlier days. Bowles also noted that for a successful program of this type the cooperation and confidence of labor, management and the citizenry is necessary.

Prior to Bowles address, a recap of the happenings of Boys' State was told the group by Tony Worth. Tony was sponsored by the Kiwanis club, for the week-long stay at Michigan State college where teen-agers practice government in action.

The grave digger in a little town in Scotland was induced to give up his habit of hard drinking and sign the pledge.

In a public meeting he gave his experience. "I never thought to tell ye," he said, "that for a whole month I haven't touched a drop of anything. I've saved enough to buy me a brass oak coffin w' brass handles and brass nails—and if I'm a teetotaler for another month I shall be wantin' it!"

Many a man's idea of helping around the house is to move from one chair to another when his wife wants to sweep.

Other teammates sent to Winona Lake were Lucy Barnes, Richard Carr, Ruth Ann Carr, Herbert Salter and Elaine Canning.

Winner of the meet this year was a group from California. A spokesman for the Plymouth team, however, stated that they intended to try again next year, and with the experience they have gained hope to do much better.

Other teammates sent to Winona Lake were Lucy Barnes, Richard Carr, Ruth Ann Carr, Herbert Salter and Elaine Canning.

West Bros. Inc. Show New Hitch

A new product exhibit to introduce the new Farmall Fast-Hitch for the Farmall Super C tractor and featuring several new types of International Harvester farm equipment will be held in their store all next week, announces West Bros. Inc., local International Harvester dealer.

On display will be a number of the 77 new machines which have been developed and produced by International Harvester company, in the last 770 days—on an average of one every 10 days. Leading the list will be the revolutionary new Fast-Hitch that couples implement to tractor instantly and automatically. It was designed by IH engineers to speed up farm work and make it easier.

"We think the new Fast-Hitch is the most important development in the farm machinery field in several years," Alfred West stated. "To hitch to an implement, you just back the tractor up until the two beams on the implement snap into the hitch-sockets on the tractor. You don't have to leave the seat to hitch or unhitch either. Unhitching is done by lifting a latch in each of the coupling beams."

Fast-Hitch is so designed that it can be made free-floating vertically or horizontally, or it can be locked in any position required by the implement. It can also be hydraulically tilted or leveled. All positions of the hitch are hydraulically controlled.

The new product exhibit will be held in the Forest Avenue store and all farmers in this area are invited to attend. In addition to the new hitch and line of Fast-Hitch implements, other equipment displayed will be the new 55T-baler, 52-tractor wagon and the new 64-combine.

Downtown Catch Basin Installed

A badly needed catch basin to drain water which stood following rainstorms in front of the Bar-O-Sweets, 204 South Main street, was installed in a few hours Monday.

Supervised by Stan Besse, superintendent of public works and city engineer, the job took six hours and required a short detour of traffic. Performing the job was the Orland R. Arcari company, a Detroit construction firm which is currently installing catch basins in other parts of the city.

V.F.W. News

Lath Screen on Seed Bed Grows Perennial Flowers

If seed of perennial flowers were not sown in the spring, they can be started in the summer by taking extra precautions to protect the seedlings from extreme heat and supply plenty of water both before and after germination.

The traditional method of protecting plants from the sun's heat is by using a canopy of lath. This lowers the soil temperature, while admitting plenty of light, and is under the complete control of the gardener. To protect the seeds and seedlings from the wash of heavy rains, and insure quick drainage, it is best to prepare a seed bed enclosed by a frame of boards. Top soil should be filled in to raise the level of the bed several inches above the surrounding surface. A lath screen should be made to fit the frame.

Sow the seeds in rows, labeling each row. Cover seed only with porous soil, peat moss or sand, never with clay soil. Until the seeds sprout the surface should be kept moist.

Here is a list of the perennials which grow from seed sown in the summer, and which will bloom either in the fall, or the following year. The number of days it takes to germinate these seeds is given:

Anchusa	10 days
Achillea	10 days
Anthem.	5 days
Boltonia	5 days
Campanulas	5 days
Carnations	5 days
Columbine	5 days
Coreopsis	5 days
Shasta daisies	5 days
Delphiniums	20 days
Dianthus	5 days
Foxglove	10 days
Hibiscus	15 days
Hollyhocks	5 days
Hesperis	10 days

A LATH SCREEN ALLOWS ENOUGH SUN TO PENETRATE THE SEED BED BUT BREAKS ITS FULL FORCE

Gaillardias	20 days
Linum	8 days
Lupine	8 days
Lychnis	10 days
Physalis	15 days
Primula	15 days
Salvia	15 days
Pyrethrum	20 days
Stokesia	20 days
Trollius	50 days
Veronica	15 days

When the seedling plants have grown large enough to handle, transplant them from the seed bed to a nursery row, where they can have more room, and grow until time to set them in the garden border. Most varieties will be well grown by fall, and can then be placed in their permanent homes. If moved by October 1 they will become established, and the following year will flower as full grown plants.

Say People Want Action, Results From Government

EAST LANSING—Action, solutions, results — these are the things the people want from their government officials whether on a municipal or state level, experts here agreed.

The experts are political scientists and "students" of government who met last week at Michigan State college to hold the eighth annual forum on state and local government.

In the opening session Governor G. Mennen Williams was one of the experts who told that the structure of government is important. But, he added, "what the people want is results. You could wear yourself out on structure, but without results you couldn't be returned to office."

A public official, the governor underlined, must "combine what he thinks is the abstract good and what the people want," declaring the test of leadership in government was to remain "far enough ahead so that the people are following you not too far behind."

A call for the people to show interest and understanding in government machinery was made by Nathan Grundstein, of the Wayne University Political Science department.

He declared at least half of the people don't care about government and three-fourths of them are ignorant of it.

Hybrid Melon Flops "Indestructible" Test

The Mystery of Watermelon 4640—the watermelon that failed — has baffled railroad inspectors, growers and government seed men for nearly three years now.

The melon was grown from a seed brought back by a missionary from darkest Africa. In 1948 and 1949 the railroads tested it and found it full of juice and flavor—and practically indestructible. They called it the "railroad" watermelon for shipping.

They figured it would save them a huge sum in damage in transportation claim payments and help the housewife's food budget.

For years they had been paying a heavy toll for watermelon damage and the Railroad Perishable Inspection Agency had been looking for a better way to ship watermelons—or a better watermelon to ship.

A service organization of the Eastern railroads which was 20 years old this month, Railroad Perishable Inspection Agency, is concerned primarily with the safe passage of fruit, melon, vegetable and other perishable food shipments in and out of the northeastern states.

In 1948 W. S. Jensen, manager of the inspection agency, with other railroad officials, sampled some watermelons in Monticello, Florida. Jensen dropped one on the ground, then dropped it from over his head. He bounced it on the blossom end (which is softer and weaker and more susceptible to bruises). Nothing happened. The melon bounced but it didn't break.

Jensen was jubilant. The watermelon hadn't been given a name as yet, but he hurried to the U. S. Department of Agriculture breeding laboratory in Charleston, South Carolina, and asked that the seed be released commercially. By 1950 it was and 17 or 18 cars were shipped out with but little damage in transit.

At the same time 4640 was named the Congo watermelon, after its place of origin. It is now one of our most popular and the most common variety that is shipped into New York.

But the joy of the railroads was short-lived. What so proudly they hailed in 1949 and even in 1950 began to lose caste in 1951. The blossom-end damage increased and in 1952 it ran to 120 to the carload, or about 12 per cent — a higher average than even in the pre-Congo years.

According to Jensen, a million damaged watermelons were reported in RPIA territory last year.

Meanwhile, RPIA is pressing its campaign to educate shippers to adopt better loading practices. Shippers have always packed watermelons end to end, stem against blossom, he says, with a never-failing high rate of blossom-end damage.

The RPIA says watermelons should be jumble packed, just piled into the car and left to find their own places according to size and shape. Jensen claims the damage would be greatly reduced this way—and the only two carloads that were jumble packed have already proved his point, he says.

RPIA, which inspects everything from A to Z—apples to Zucchini squash—has seen some of its recommendations universally adopted, notably the crosswise loading of grape boxes and honeydew melon crates in place of the former lengthwise method. In each case there was a remarkable decrease in package damage.

Currently, the agency is engaged in an extensive campaign to persuade shippers of cantaloupes to load the cantaloupe crates on end in the freight car. Jensen and his agents are convinced that cantaloupe damage claims can be reduced to almost nothing, if this method of packing is adopted universally by cantaloupe shippers. They are trying to get all shippers of this particular commodity to switch over to the new packing method simultaneously.

You can get vaccinated against most anything except the grass widow who has designs on you.

Black-Throated Green Warbler's "Zoo-Zee-Zee" May Be Heard Now

Black-Throated Green Warbler
©1952 National Wildlife Federation

The finer branches of the tree tops in the summer months in most of the United States east of the Mississippi are being visited or have been recently visited by Black-throated Green Warblers. Nesting is normally not found south of central Minnesota to Pennsylvania and Connecticut and even there it may be limited to the higher, more mountainous regions. The breeding range extends north into central Ontario, southern Quebec and northern Minnesota so it marks a relatively narrow band. When winter has arrived, however, the birds may have reared their families and moved south to Florida and Guatemala. A few birds may be found west to Nebraska, Kansas and New Mexico but these mark the exception rather than the rule. Rare records have carried the range west to Colorado and the Farallon Islands near California.

Black-throated Green Warblers are about 5-1/3 inches long with a wingspread up to 8 inches. The distinctive field characteristics include, for the male, a black throat, yellow face and back, and crown of olive green. In the smaller female, the black throat is less conspicuous than in the male. In the autumn the young and the females lack the black on the throat and the upper breast and underparts become yellowish. Since the birds are most commonly present when the forest canopy is well developed, they are heard more frequently than they are seen. A sneezed "zoo-zee-zee-zee-zee-zee" may be accepted as a suggestive description of the song of this bird.

The deeply-cupped nests of twigs bound with spider webs and usually lined with pine needles, some feathers or hair, may be found commonly on horizontal tree branches from 15 to 70 feet above the ground. In the nest are placed about four eggs, each 3/4 by 1/2-inch in diameter, white or creamy and spotted with gray, purple or brown. The nesting month is usually June and there is but a single brood each year. Incubation is by the female and lasts for 12 days. The young birds develop in the nest in from 8 to 10 days from helpless birds into young that can fly on their own. During the nesting period the female bears the brunt of providing defense.

By mid-August the southern migration has begun. This starts in a leisurely sort of way but speeds up as the later broods of birds are ready to move by the end of the month.

The Black-throated Green Warblers are almost wholly beneficial as destroyers of insect enemies of the tree tops. Throughout their lives they feed largely on caterpillars, bugs and beetles that eat the leaves of woody plants. They seem to be particularly destructive of such insects as the cankerworms and leaf-rollers.

The National Wildlife Federation welcomes the opportunity of helping you and others have a better understanding of this obviously useful bird.

A pretty girl in a 1953 bathing suit is something to see.

Zoologist Advises Proofing Bins Against Rodents

Rodent-proof and bird proof storages are the only sure cures against the contamination of grain by rodents and birds, says Don W. Hayne, Michigan State college zoologist.

He adds that rodents may be killed by poisons or traps, but it is only a matter of time before their numbers increase again. In fact, he asserts, killing most of the rats and mice makes living much easier for the few survivors; or for animals that wander in.

If you are going to poison rats, Hayne reminds, the pests must have poison almost every day until they are dead. The most generally useful rodent poison on the farm, he suggests, is warfarin. The following are tips from Hayne on its use:

1. Be sure the bait is exposed continuously where rodents can get it easily.

2. The bait must be kept clean, palatable and attractive to rodents and kept away from other animals. And the bait must be inspected and renewed as long as rodents continue to eat it.

3. Bait stations are best for exposing warfarin bait. A station may be a board fastened slantwise against a wall or a box with hinged lid and holes for the entrances of rats. One bait station should be placed at each center of rodent activity.

Hayne advises using this mixture as the bait: Corn meal (freshly ground, if possible), 65 per cent; rolled or ground oats, 20 per cent; powdered sugar, 5 per cent; vegetable or mineral oil, 5 per cent; warfarin (0.5 per cent concentrate), 5 per cent.

The cheapest and safest ways to prevent contamination by birds, Hayne says, are the screening of all openings into grain storages and covers for bins above which birds might roost.

You've probably noticed as you traveled through this world that a smooth tongue is more to be feared than a rough neck.

It may be noticed that many of the good deeds men forget to do are written on their tombstones.

Jack Gage and Nancy Rybolt Wed in Candlelight Ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gage

At a recent candlelight ceremony in the Redford Baptist church, Nancy Louise Rybolt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh V. Rybolt of Fenton avenue, Redford, repeated her nuptial vows to Jack James Gage, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Jack Gage of Clemons road, Plymouth.

The Reverend Robert Stuart officiated at the eight o'clock double ring ceremony. Large baskets of white gladioli and snapdragons graced either side of the altar. Mrs. Morton Haskell was the organist and accompanied Richard Shaw, a friend of the bride, who sang "Always," "Through the Years" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Nancy, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of Chantilly lace over nylon net and satin. Her fingertip length veil fell from a cap of lace and satin edged with seedpearls. She carried a white orchid arranged with stephanotis and ivy on a white prayer book and tied with long satin streamers knotted with forget-me-nots.

Mrs. Harlan McDowell was her sister's matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Suzanne Leinbach, cousin of the bride, Katherine Myers of Allegan and Mrs. Rus-

James H. Gage served his brother as best man and the ushers were Harlan McDowell, Keith Miller of Plymouth, and Lowell Levi of Saginaw.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Rybolt chose a mauve rose lace dress. Mrs. Gage selected a dress of pale pink lace. Both mothers wore white accessories and had corsages of roses and stephanotis.

Immediately following the services, a reception for about 300 guests was held in the Redford Masonic Temple.

For her wedding trip, the bride chose a navy dress with red accessories and the orchids from her bridal bouquet. After a honeymoon on Saginaw Bay, the young couple will leave for Fort Monmouth, New Jersey, where Jack will begin active duty as a second lieutenant in the Signal Corps. Both young people are recent graduates of Michigan State college in East Lansing.

During the winter of 1951, the 3D Infantry Division cracked the Communists' line in the battle of "Bloody Angle," one of the bitterest engagements of that year.

Sergeant Mary Ellen Kearney, daughter of Mrs. Frances Kearney of Northville, has completed her training at the Staff Non-Commissioned Officer Leadership School at Camp Lejeune, North Carolina and has returned to her duty station at Camp Elmore, Norfolk, Virginia.

Ralph W. Johnson and Robert J. Kimbrough

Ralph W. Johnson of Plymouth, is one of 25 Infantry Reserve Officers Training Corps cadets from the University of Michigan attending the six-week summer encampment at Fort Benning, Georgia.

Johnson, son of Reverend M. I. Johnson of 689 Church, is a senior at the University of Michigan and is a cadet 2nd Lieutenant in the ROTC unit there.

Robert J. Kimbrough, son of Richard L. Kimbrough of 607 Main street, is also attending the summer camp.

The six-week summer camp at Fort Benning is designed to give practical application of the theories ROTC cadets study during their academic year. The course stresses leadership and includes a study of infantry weapons, tactics and techniques. Some of the more than 2,000 cadets at the summer camp will be commissioned second lieutenants of infantry upon completion of their training. The cadets represent 72 colleges and universities in the Third, Fourth and part of the Fifth Army areas and Puerto Rico.

Some Swimming Classes Reported Still Unfilled

Attendance has been good in the majority of the swimming classes sponsored by the Recreation department this summer. However, several of the classes are still open to swimmers.

Father and Son night, Wednesday from 7:30 to 9 p.m. is a little slack, the department reports. Likewise, the afternoon swimming time for persons in grades nine to 12 has had very poor attendance. This group swims from 4 to 5 p.m. The turnout to the Teen-age night, Friday from 7:30 to 9 p.m., has also been poor. The department said that if neither of these two groups pick up the time will have to be allotted to other persons.

Many domestic relations experts claim there's more harmony on the home front if wives are interested in their husband's hobbies. This is fine, if you're careful. For instance, we saw a news story about a man who took the little woman out for a round of golf; and like all good golfers he kept his head down and his peepers on the pellet. His wife wondered what he was staring at... so she looked over his shoulder just as he swung. Fortunately she wasn't hurt badly and she didn't blame her hubby.

All this reminds us of the lad whose wife told him he'd have to choose between her and golf. "That's tough," his friend sympathized. "Yep," says our hero, "I'll kind of miss her." So, ladies, it's okay to share your hubby's hobby... but just don't crowd him.

An old timer says that if the new cars get any fancier, the "grease monkeys" will lose their jobs to interior decorators! You have to know your job to do it well... And that's why so many hundreds depend each month on Peterson for accurate prescriptions. Quality prescription care is our life work at PETERSON DRUG, 840 W. Ann Arbor Trail. Phone 2080.

Plastic Industry Surges to One of Largest in U S in 35-Year Period

Twenty-one per cent of all commercial fabrics manufactured in the United States last year were synthetically produced from plastics. Other uses for plastic, ranging from bottle caps to building materials, have expanded the industry into one of the largest in the country within the last 35 years.

The first synthetically-produced plastic was "nitro-cellulose," a highly flammable compound which had been used previously as a substitute for black gunpowder, under the name "gun-cotton."

Count Hilaire de Chardonnet, a former student of Louis Pasteur, developed a patent for the manufacture of artificial threads from nitrated cellulose, derived from mulberry trees.

In 1887, Alpheus Hyatt, an American, treated cellulose nitrate with camphor to form the less brittle celluloid.

A few years later, in 1890, two processes were developed for making cellulose fibers on a commercial scale. By rolling the raw material into thin sheets instead of drawing it into fibers, "Cellophane" was born. From 1914 on cellulose acetate began to replace cellulose nitrate. This new product was much less flammable and could be used in safety film and in fabrics.

By 1948, thirty-five per cent of the rayon made in the United States was acetate rayon. That amounted to 68 million pounds.

Meanwhile, the turn of the century had brought many new plastics into the field. At this time the so-called "casein plastics," derived from milk, and "Bakelite," coming from phenol and formaldehyde, were patented.

Despite these early discoveries, it remained for two world wars to create a demand for synthetic building products made of all types of plastics.

One of the greatest plastic chemists of all time, duPont's Carothers, not only discovered neoprene rubber, but also nylon, the plastic of such universal appeal during World War II.

Nylon, the king of textiles since its commercial introduction in 1940, is one of the most versatile synthetic fabrics. It has even largely replaced natural fibers such as silk, for which it was originally intended as a substitute during World War II.

The versatility of nylon is shown by its wide variety of uses, ranging from ladies' hosiery to heavy-duty tow lines.

Nylon can be molded into tough, lightweight articles such as combs, toothbrush bristles, and plastic dishes. The heat durability of nylon is superior to any other synthetic fiber.

raincoats, upholstery and floor coverings.

The commercial development of foamed vinyls is the latest major project of the industry. Foamed vinyls can be produced at a cost comparable to foamed rubber, with better flame and chemical resistance. Foam vinyls weigh only eight pounds a cubic foot, while water, for instance, weighs more than 60 pounds a cubic foot.

First Federal of Detroit Shows Asset Increase

Starting with less than $100,000 of assets at the close of the depression year of 1933, First Federal Savings of Detroit has now crossed the 100 million mark in assets, it is reported by American Banker, the daily newspaper of banking.

In size of savings totals, First Federal is now fifth in size among some 6000 savings and loan associations in the United States.

In line with its policy of making saving more convenient, this Detroit savings association recently announced its 6th office, by merger with the local Plymouth Federal Savings and Loan Association. Besides the headquarters at Griswold and Lafayette, there are now branches in Redford, Ferndale, northeast Detroit, Highland Park, and Plymouth. A new larger branch in northeast Detroit to replace the present northeast office is under construction.

First Federal is a mutual savings and loan association, a part of the Federal savings and loan system. Services include savings accounts, home financing, home modernization loans, travelers checks and money orders, and Christmas and vacation savings clubs, and there are deposit vaults at two of the present offices. Walter Gehrke has been president of First Federal Savings since organization.

Local Woman Tells About Return to Ireland After 41-Year Absence

Minnie Smith

"A dream come true," was the comment of Minnie Smith of Canton Center road, on her recent trip to her native Ireland. This was her first visit since she left it in 1912. An employee of the Daisy Manufacturing company, she tells the story of her trip thus:

"I left Willow Run airport on April 22 at 4:45 a.m., arrived at New York at 7:25 a.m., boarded a Pan American plane at 2 p.m., and arrived in Prestwick, Scotland on Thursday at 11 a.m. I was a little leery about flying at first—but there just isn't anything like it.

"I traveled to Glasgow by bus and from there to Belfast. Due to a misunderstanding regarding time of arrival, relatives did not meet me, so I took a taxi out to my brother's home. I haven't seen my brother since he was 13 years old—41 years is a long time and the years take their toll. I spent my time with my brother and other relatives and friends, including our own Mary Murray's sister, Mrs. A. Hamilton, who lives in Belfast.

"What changes did I see? Well, farming is generally mechanized now, and the majority of homes are of brick—very few television sets (people of moderate income can't afford them)—quite a few automobiles, although gas or petrol is very high.

"Cooking gas is used on the meter plan—seems funny to drop in a shilling to finish a partially cooked meal. Wages average three to seven pounds a week, a pound being equal to $2.80 in our money. Brother's wages are eight pounds a week for operating a steam shovel, while my nieces earn three pounds weekly in a garment factory.

"Meat, butter, shortening, sugar and coal are still rationed. The Woolworth 5 & 10 store in Belfast seats 500 persons in its cafeteria. Saw a Sears Coldspot refrigerator and a 1953 Kenmore gas stove in an auction house. A lot of excitement and Coronation preparation. Walked for miles

Tornado Tracker Ready for Use

A method by which tornadoes can be identified and tracked across the skies, a big step in the eventual elimination of mass casualties by the destructive winds, has been developed.

Dr. H. L. Jones of Oklahoma A and M college has experimented for six years on a mechanical system of tracking the twisters and it can now be brought out of the laboratory and used to warn those in the path of on-rushing tornadoes.

Jones claims that tornado storms radiate a certain type of electrical charge that makes them different from other storms. In a progress report recently released, he said he is ready to help set up a nationwide system when officials authorize it.

Jones adds that it will be up to the states, federal government or private business to finance these tracking stations which could spot the tornadoes, chart their courses and alert towns in their paths.

He estimates that a station and its equipment would cost about $300,000 and that six men would be needed to man each station. The cost, he says, would be minor compared to the lives and and miles—rode more buses than I care to remember—sure missed my Nash.

"Ireland is nice to visit—but there is no place like the good old U.S.A."

property damage such a system could save.

For the first six months of 1953, tornadoes have taken more than 250 lives.

Jones rough guesses that it would take from 50 to 100 stations over the country to make the warning system effective. The effective range of a station is decided by one of its instruments, radar, which has a normal radius of 130 miles.

Jones' method is based on his proven theory that tornado clouds give out high-voltage discharges called sferics and that the discharge, number and duration, are identifiable.

He uses four basic pieces of equipment—radar, direction finding apparatus, wave form analyzer (an oscilloscope which transfers the high voltage discharges into visible lines) and a storm-intensity incident azimuth integrator (called a tornado meter).

First, radar locates a heavy storm center. The oscilloscope is used to determine if a tornado wave pattern is in evidence, and in conjunction with the direction-finder to determine the azimuth of the storms of highest intensity.

The tornado meter measures the degree of activity.

A station operated by Jones at Oklahoma A and M correctly followed a recent tornado which passed through San Angelo and Waco, Texas.

PLYMOUTH'S NEWLY APPOINTED city commissioner, Marvin Terry (right), seems to be in deep discussion with two fellow commissioners Henry Fisher (left) and Ernest Henry. The conversation could be service club problems, too, as all three are members of the Plymouth Kiwanis club.

Evans Plywood Production Cut

Announcement was made today by E. S. Evans, Jr., president of the Evans Products company, Plymouth, that plywood production at the company's Western Division plants at Coosbay and Roseburg, Oregon, would be reduced approximately 20 per cent effective immediately.

This voluntary curtailment of plywood production is an effort to protect both the jobbers and the mills from the irresponsible price cutting that disturbed the industry last year and the year before. It is an orderly program aimed at protecting the industry from some of the effects resulting from the disparity between expanding production facilities and the seasonal slowdown in market demand, Mr. Evans said.

"By effecting a four day work week," Mr. Evans declared, "we are purposely cutting back production in an effort to instill confidence in the plywood market, maintain stability and prices that have never returned to the OPS-imposed ceilings, and avoid the disruptive influences to the whole industry of uncontrolled price slashing."

"In our effort to try to bring the factors of supply and demand into closer relationship, we are hoping to offset the seasonal slump in sales—common to this industry—and to assure our jobbers and distributors that we are doing everything possible to prevent a repetition of the experiences of 1951 and 1952."

Mr. Evans pointed out that the industry is well aware that a cutback in production is only a temporary measure and his company and the industry have already made plans for "an aggressive selling, advertising and sales promotion campaign designed to create new markets for plywood and to increase its consumption."

grams. Both commercial fishing and sport fishing are expected to hold their own or gain slightly as important factors in U.P. economy. The report concludes that the greatest needs of business services are in the marketing and promotion fields. Opportunities exist for sales agencies that can market the output of wood, agricultural crops and fish products.

How to create prosperity in the Upper Peninsula?
Interested people and groups should promote for these improvements.
Expansion of electric power capacity and natural gas is much needed if industry is to expand; construction of the Mackinac bridge, which is expected to increase automobile traffic by 85%.
Other transportation projects include a bridge between American and Canadian Soo areas; better ferry and airline service.

From a "morale" standpoint Ebasco engineers believe the early establishment of television service is an important requirement. And they recommend publicity to counteract false adverse opinions of U.P. weather conditions.
Favorable state legislation must be encouraged, says the report, and local areas must be stimulated to organize their own development plan.
Training programs for resort operators are worth considering, according to Ebasco, and efforts must be made to place local young people in good local jobs.

New industries must be enticed to the area, but not at the expense of enterprise already located there. Ebasco advises that first consideration be given existing business, for their development can be secured most easily and at least expense.
The report warned that securing new industry requires expenditures for direct mail campaigns, out of town trips and visits of prospects. And it listed what an area should be able to offer to attract new business ventures. Among the conditions are a receptive attitude by the community, a sympathetic local government, suitable housing for personnel, adequate labor supply, room for future expansion, business service for routine needs and adequate transportation facilities.

Analysis of the Ebasco report indicates that well directed energy will result in an expanding Upper Peninsula. Its recommendations amount to some sizable, though completely possible orders. Improvements are not likely to appear overnight; but they could begin in an upward spiral as efforts bring results which produce in turn, more efforts and better results.
With the Ebasco report, the people of the Upper Peninsula and the Michigan Economic Development Commission have a means of understanding the job that is to be done. It is up to them to create skill to accomplish the task.

ROGER BABSON SAYS:

BABSON HAS SOME GOOD NEWS

Readers have already seen in the newspaper that the Federal Reserve Board has reduced the reserve requirements which banks must carry. This, directly or indirectly, should help every reader of this column. I wish to explain what it means.

NEW FEDERAL RESERVE RULING

For the past few years every member bank has been required to keep on hand a reserve of various percentages, up to 24%. In other words, when you deposited $100 the bank heretofore has been able to loan only about $80 of this money. This amount varies with different banks and I merely use this figure as a variable illustration. The large city banks have one percentage for reserves; those of the smaller cities have another percentage; but every member of the Federal Reserve System has a required percentage.

During the Eisenhower Administration, when so much less Government money has been freely passed out by Government Bureaucrats, there has been a tightening up all along the line. Farmers have found it more difficult to borrow on crops; builders have found it harder to get mortgages; and every loan by local banks has been scrutinized more carefully. This is all part of an honest attempt by the new Administration to prevent inflation. In most cases, it has not been due to any change of laws, but to a more careful handling of the Government funds.

EISENHOWER DOES NOT WANT A DEPRESSION

The above more businesslike program has caused Congressmen to get thousands of letters from readers complaining that applications for loans were being turned down. For fear that this, combined with the droughts from which some sections are suffering and the unsettled foreign situation, might bring about a depression, these Congressmen have been pestering the White House. Probably your Congressman was one of these. Ike in effect replies to them that he will not resort to former carelessness and will continue to handle the Government's money as if it were his own; but if they want to change the rules in a fair and honest manner he will abide by them.

As a result, the Federal Reserve Board, by changing the Reserve requirements, has made it possible for banks to loan more money. Congress has also changed the law enabling veterans to buy more expensive homes with a down payment which could be as low as 5%. Congress is in the process of also loosening up restrictions along other lines. As a result, any farmer, builder or businessman who now has an honest need for funds can—with reasonable security—get a loan. There, however, must be no politics connected with the loan.

WHAT ABOUT MONEY RATES?

Some months ago, I forecast in this column that interest rates would be higher. All the large city banks have since then raised their rate of interest. So have banks of many smaller cities. Whether your own local bank has raised its interest rate since President Eisenhower was inaugurated, I do not know. If, however, it has not already done so, it should "count ten" before it does so now. One thing is certain, when you now attempt to borrow money from your local bank and are refused, the bank can no longer blame it onto the new Administration. I hear this is a popular excuse for turning down loans or raising interest rates by banks in Democratic communities! When the new Administration came into power you were obliged to put up a margin of 75% when you bought listed stocks, in case you did not pay in full. Soon this percentage was reduced to 50%, which should have made stocks go up in price, but they did not rise. This is a good illustration of how prices are really controlled by fundamental conditions and not by legislation. The old Law of Action and Reaction still continues. "You can lead a horse to water, but you can't make him drink." As to the general business outlook, I am still cautious; but if your local bank doesn't now loan money more freely to good citizens it cannot blame the Federal Reserve or Bureaucrats. The reason will be that businessmen have decided to depend more on honest work, intensive selling and more advertising rather than on borrowing money.

EMERSON WOODS throws a switch on the C. & O. electrically operated central switchboard. The board is but one of the recent improvements in railroad equipment, making the operations much more efficient. See story on page 3, section 3.

A search for gold is underway in Michigan's Upper Peninsula. Perhaps not for gold in its mineral form; the search is to discover potential wealth existing in natural resources. The object is to develop the area as an economic community.

Encouraging facts have turned up following investigation. Some of them are discussed in a 188 page report published by the Economic Development Commission of Michigan. It reports a survey made by Ebasco Services, Inc., a New York engineering firm specializing in such investigations. Cost of the year long study was $20,000; half contributed by industries and business houses in the Upper Peninsula and half by companies in the Lower Peninsula. Both groups believe that the economic situation of the U. P. is of vital concern to the whole state.

Advantages and disadvantages of the Upper Peninsula were considered in the survey. Problems were defined. Solutions sought. An accurate evaluation of all contributing factors was attempted. Basic conclusion is that Michigan's Northern Peninsula has everything it needs to become an economically healthy community. To realize prosperity at the earliest, the report shows, will take planning and hard work. Most of both elements is expected to be supplied by the people living in the U. P.

The Ebasco report recommends that the area's development program be planned under sponsorship of the Upper Peninsula Advisory Committee, a sub-group of the Michigan Economic Development Commission, the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, local Chambers of Commerce and service groups.

People of the peninsula constitute both the most serious problem and the most valuable asset. Ebasco investigators consider as unfavorable an attitude of defeatism in some localities, a lack of appreciation of changing market demands and some evidence of undue reliance on outside help.

Consultants were concerned with the steady loss to other areas of aggressive young people. Glamour of jobs in metropolitan centers is seriously draining this vital element of the labor pool thus creating a serious problem.

"The most important single resource of the Upper Peninsula is its people," state Ebasco engineers. Inhabitants are described as adaptable to new methods, possessing excellent attitudes toward their jobs and maintaining a record of high productivity in industrial fields.

They are less affected by economic cycles than people in metropolitan centers since they have the opportunity to supplement their income with farms, woodlots, hunting, fishing, and working in the recreation industry part of the year.

In forest products, according to the Ebasco report, lies the greatest field for potential development. Good opportunities also exist for agriculture. Dairy farming and beef raising are economically feasible—soils are favorable to potatoes, strawberries, green beans, carrots, beets and cabbage.

"The Peninsula's tourist and recreational industry is now valued at $50,000,000 a year, but because of the availability of scenic and other factors not yet exploited, it offers unlimited possibilities for development in the future," the report states.

Mining, still offers room for development. Copper companies are progressive and iron ore operations continue development pro-

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST SCIENTIST. Sunday Morning Services, 10:30 a.m. Sunday School, 10:30 a.m., for pupils up to 20 years of age. When one has a true understanding of life, he is able to overcome much fear. This is brought out in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Life" to be read in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, July 19. The Golden Text is from John (5:26): "As the Father hath life in himself; so hath he given to the Son to have life in himself." Among the Bible citations is this passage, (Rom. 8:6): "For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace." Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include: "We must destroy the false belief that life and intelligence are in matter, and plant ourselves upon what is pure and perfect. Paul said, 'Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfill the lust of the flesh.'" (p. 222).

It is a school with over 300 children and nine teachers. His friends here wish him success and happiness in his new vocation. A principal will be called to take his place in the local Lutheran school. Last Monday a group of pastors and laymen assisted the second missionary to Rhodesia, Reverend O. Drevlow, in getting his airplane dismantled and crated for shipment to his new station in Africa. The plane is his personal property, but will be put into use by him to serve our new Lutheran Mission in shuttling between far-flung stations and the base at Lusaka. Thus, the practical exploitation of modern scientific progress is being placed into serviceable use by the Gospel Ministry. Missionary Drevlow anticipates leaving New York for Durban on the Indian Ocean this month, arriving there in mid-August. Another overland journey of more than 2,000 miles will bring him and his wife and their party to the scene of their operations. Do not forget the church picnic under "The Willows" just off the Northville road past the Six Mile road on the last Wednesday in July! Prizes will be given. Basket lunch will be served. C. & O. Roundhouse May Be Victim of Diesel Locomotives

WRECKERS MAY SOON take down a large portion of the Chesapeake and Ohio roundhouse. The huge building is no longer needed since diesel engines do not require the servicing that steam engines needed.

The largest portion of the Chesapeake and Ohio roundhouse here in Plymouth will soon be part of the past when steam locomotion was king-pin. This summer tentative plans have been made to dismantle four of the roundhouse's seven stalls, blast away the coal dock and eventually take down the water tower. The plans were disclosed by Joseph Fleury, yardmaster and Walter Ebert, roundhouse foreman. The roundhouse, which incidentally is only partially round,

From the board, switches can be controlled as far as 12 miles away by just one man. Control of switches in South Lyon were installed in February of this year, making this one of the railroads latest additions in efficiency.

With a radio, the board operator receives directions from dispatchers in Wayne, of the Saginaw division, and South Lyon, Grand Rapids division. To throw a switch, the operator merely turns a lever, which locks the switch electrically.

On the back of the board is a map of the lines in the area, showing the various switches, each with a number. Lights on the map also show the train's position. This simplifies the switching operation considerably, and makes it possible for one man to handle it.

With innovations like the diesel locomotive and the central switchboard it is natural that the old-time things must go. The old roundhouse, constructed in 1922, may give way before the more modern devices.

Model Airplane Contest Planned

Dozens of boys and fathers in this area are trimming up their model airplanes for the first major competition sponsored by the Northville "Aeroneers" Sunday, July 26.

The Suburban Model Airplane Contest is expected to draw entries from Milford, Brighton, South Lyon, Plymouth, Livonia and the Ann Arbor area, as well as Northville, when competition begins at 11 a.m. July 26. Site of the contest is the level field at the corner of East Seven Mile road and Newburg road.

Included in the competition will be 1/2-A, A, B and C classes for gasoline powered models. Other events will include rubber powered, glider and radio controlled models, all in U-Control and free flight contests.

Prizes will be model kits and gas engines, provided by the Northville Exchange club.

Requests for entry blanks should be addressed to Harrison Rainey, Gunell's Drug Store, Northville. Entry fee is 50 cents. All competition will be governed by American Model Aeronautics association rules.

The "Aeroneers," a group of youthful model enthusiasts, formed early this year in Northville under the guidance of Alvin Skow, an Exchange club member who had belonged to similar organizations in Ohio before moving to Northville.

The Exchange club promptly took the club under its wing and now backs it as an ideal means of getting fathers and sons together in a hobby which is fun for both.

Milk Will Give You Your Money's Worth

Did you know that one quart of milk costing 22 cents is actually worth 42 cents in food value? According to a Michigan State college press release, milk is the best food bargain on the market.

This is the way it's figured. In one quart of milk you get one cent's worth of sugar, two-and-one-half cent's worth of fat, 38 cent's worth of protein, if you figure the present price of beef or pork roast. And you also get a half cent's worth of vitamins and minerals. What better bargain could you ask for these days?

We can't help feeling at times that if everybody used their tongues in as friendly a way as dogs used their tails this would be a much happier community.

Attends Eastman Photo Conference

Lloyd Johnson, The Photographic Center, Hotel Mayflower building, Plymouth, will be in Rochester, New York, from July 13 through July 22 to attend a retail photographic salesmen's training conference at the Eastman Kodak company's sales training conference.

Twenty-three men and women from 13 states, Canada and Mexico comprise the group.

J. R. Allendorf, Kodak assistant general sales manager, will open the conference. Conferees will tour the company's Rochester plants and attend daily lectures designed to acquaint them with the latest Kodak products and services. Among the topics to be covered are Kodak cameras and accessories, color photography, Kodak films, papers and chemicals, planning store advertising, home movies, and photography's basic selling principles.

On Saturday, July 18, the group will visit Niagara Falls where each person will have an opportunity to take black-and-white and color still and motion pictures.

Common Stocks Lose Gambling Status Recently

Once considered on a par with gambling, the purchase of common stocks has "become an integral part of our economic life," a University of Michigan Business Study on "Common Stock Values and Yields" reveals.

Written by Wilford J. Eiteman, U-M professor of finance, and Frank P. Smith, director of the U-M Bureau of Business Research, the study was published by the bureau.

Main topic of the text is a study of common stocks as long-term investments, with particular emphasis placed on yields. From their findings, the authors predict that "if our economy continues to grow and expand, as we believe it will, common stocks may be expected to continue the upward trend they have followed for 50 or more years."

They point out that common stock investment was once considered on a par with gambling, but has now become so respectable that it is hard to remember how recently this change of opinion took place.

Copies of the study may be obtained through the Bureau of Business Research, School of Business Administration, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

Attendance Up At Northville

The new Northville Downs policy of racing in any weather - rain or shine has helped boost attendance and mutual handle this season.

For the first two weeks of the current meet, betting has been up 14.7 per cent with $2,751,588 wagered as compared to $1,173,195 a year ago.

The track has been treated with sand and otherwise prepared to make racing in wet weather both possible and safe. The work was done by Charlie Coons, new track superintendent.

Bad weather on several nights this meet would have cut the handle and attendance, according to officials. Now, however, the threat of rain does not discourage fans from starting early for the trip to the suburban track. The meet will continue nightly, except Sunday, through August 8. Post time is 8:15 p.m.

Call 1600 for classified ads. Deadline is Tuesday at noon.

Teen-Age Dance to Be Held This Thursday

The Recreation department sponsored teen-age dance will be held again this Thursday evening. However, because attendance has not been very good, the dance will be moved from the high school auditorium to the junior high gymnasium.

Although the recreation department and Vern Diedrick, the band leader, hope to continue holding the dances weekly, if attendance proves too small the dances will be held every other Thursday night instead.

We overheard a Plymouth man say yesterday that the only difference between home-cooking at a restaurant and at home is that you don't see the can opened in the restaurant.

Children Visit Kensington Park

Fun at Kensington park was the keynote for the children at the city's five playgrounds last week. The trip was part of the weekly schedule of going to one of the area's recreation spots.

On Tuesday, July 7, 32 children from the Central and Starkweather playgrounds went to the park to fish and swim. Wednesday, 39 children from the Bird and Smith groups enjoyed an afternoon of fun at the park. Green Meadows and Central went on Thursday.

A supervisor from each playground, a lifeguard and a person in charge of the entire trip accompany the group on each trip to the park. Each group is numbered and is given a certain area in which they can swim. In this way the beach attendants and life guards know exactly where the group is swimming.

Future plans for the playground children include a trip to a zoo scheduled for July 24. Each Monday and Friday the playgrounds take turns going to the wading pool in the Plymouth parks.

Playing for first place in the grade school summer league, the Smith boys team upset the Starkweather lads 5 to 4 in a well-played close game last week Wednesday. McLean, the winning pitcher held the Smith boys to but one hit, that being made by Eggloff in the third inning.

The winners had to come from behind with three big runs in the last inning to win as Starkweather had counted two runs in the top of the fifth inning on no hits. Hits by Taylor and Nelson and two errors accounted for the winning runs.

In another game in this league, Bird defeated the Junior Optimist team 14 to 0 as Palmer held the losers to one hit, that by Feldkamp in the first inning. The Bird boys scored in every inning with their nine in the third being tops.

The winners made only five hits, but numerous errors accounted for many unearned runs.

Next Tuesday, Smith plays Junior Optimist at 6:30 and Bird takes on Starkweather at 6:45—both on the high school diamond.

Tips for Making Good Hemlines

Plymouth ladies, whether you are one of the nation's 30,000,000 women doing creative home sewing or if you simply do alteration work on your garments, undoubtedly you find it necessary to make hemline adjustments often.

Here are some tips on achieving satisfactory hemlines.

If the garment is new, let it hang overnight before marking and finishing hem. If a remodeling job is involved, rip out old hemline and press thoroughly before adjusting.

When new hemline is being marked, wear the type of shoes you ordinarily would wear with that style dress. If a belt is worn with the dress, have it on at proper waistline while taking hem measurements.

The hem suited to most fabrics is made by first turning the edge and machine-stitching it. Next, blind stitch either by hand or machine the stitched edge to fabric.

Contractors Tie Daisy For First

The Contractors team in the combined Livonia-Plymouth Old Timers' league continued their winning ways last week with a 13 to 10 win over American Legion from Livonia. The winners scored most of their runs in clusters of threes—counting once in the first, and three runs in each the second, third, fourth and sixth innings.

Each team had eight hits. B. Epps had a homerun in the first inning, and K. Stevens had a single, double and triple. Dickerson had two singles, Hayska a double and Schoenaman a single.

Next Monday Contractors play Livonia Gardens and Daisy goes against DPW. Next Wednesday Wall Wire plays American Legion, Wisconsin Door plays Contractors at the high school, and Daisy plays Hope Chapel at the high school diamond.

Joy Bar has dropped out of this league so that leaves nine teams still active. The standings as of July 7 are as follows:

	W	L
Contractors	3	0
Daisy	3	0
Livonia Gardens	2	1
Hope Chapel	2	1
Wisconsin Door	2	1
DPW	1	2
Wall Wire	1	2
American Legion	0	2

JUICY COLD WATERMELON is enough to make any youngster's mouth water, and Lynn Ellen Cash is certainly no exception. The four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Cash of 1007 Harding ravenously bit into her slice of the ripe red melon at the request of a Plymouth Mail photographer. Both Lynn Ellen and the watermelon were found at the Stop and Shop super market.

All About the New AIR-CONDITIONED OLDSMOBILE!

FRIGIDAIRE CAR CONDITIONING* BRINGS YOU COOL, REFRESHING DRIVING COMFORT IN HOTTEST WEATHER

No more Heat! No matter how torrid the weather outside, you'll always be cool inside! You can drive all day long under a blistering hot sun and relax in refreshing comfort.

No more Humidity! Here's where you can find relief from high humidity on rainy days. Even in sticky weather, windows stay closed and you enjoy a clear, dry atmosphere.

No more Wind! Think of "wind-ups" protection and comfort on hot, windy, dusty days! You'll breathe clear, filtered air even when you travel over country roads.

No more Road Noise! You can actually talk in whispers and be heard easily, and you'll enjoy your radio much more.

Widens Usefulness of Car! The Car Conditioner increases the efficiency of traveling salesmen and many others who depend upon a car in hot weather. And even on days that are not excessively warm, Oldsmobile owners find that "wind-ups" driving is so much quieter and more comfortable.

Stop in and ask us about the Frigidaire Car Conditioner. This revolutionary new feature is typical of the advancements you expect from Oldsmobile—"Rocket" Engine and Hydra-Matic Super Drive—Power-Steering* and Power Brakes—Power Ride Chassis and Power Styling—the Autronic-Eye* and Custom-Lounge Interiors! Make a date with a "Rocket 8"—the Classic Ninety, Eight or brilliant Super "88" Oldsmobile.

Imagine—driving along on the hottest day of the year—through city traffic or along country roads—and enjoying the same cool, fresh comfort as you get in the finest air-conditioned room!

Imagine—parking your car all day long under the broiling summer sun—and then driving it away with the temperature inside cool and comfortable within minutes!

Imagine—driving along on the hottest day with windows closed—with no wind blowing your hair—with no discomfort from dust, drafts, bugs, humidity or noise.

Imagine—riding in an air-cooled car with no hot blasts of air to bother you—no damp, sticky atmosphere!

Oldsmobile can do all this for you with the new Frigidaire Car Conditioner, one of the greatest automotive advancements in 20 years.

Here's how it works!—The Frigidaire Car Conditioner works on the same basic principle as a room conditioner. A compact refrigeration unit is "tucked away" in the trunk. A rotary compressor is located under the hood. The condenser is installed in front of the engine radiator. The air distribution system is located inside the body of the car.

Two flat sleeves—one on each side of the interior—distribute cool air evenly into the car by means of four sets of louvers and individual air jets. These louvers eliminate annoying drafts, and assure well-balanced air circulation throughout your Oldsmobile.

Here's what it does for you!—No matter how hot the weather outside, your Oldsmobile is refreshingly cool inside. And the coolness achieved is a clear, dry coolness—free from high humidity and wind noise. You just roll up your windows and relax in a quiet, serene atmosphere—free from wind, noise and dust. Conversation is easier, radio reception is clearer and warm-weather traveling is much more enjoyable.

Beglinger Olds Still Unbeaten Big Game Monday

Next Monday night at 8:45 on the softball field behind the high school Detroit Transmission will try for the second time this summer to upset Beglinger Olds and thereby gain a tie for first place in the combined Industrial and Open softball league. In the first game, Olds came out the victor 5 to 2. Other games that night find Cavalcade going against Whitman & Barnes, and Evans battling Bathey. Tonight Bathey plays LaFontaine at 6:15, Olds goes against W & B at 7:30, and DTD battles Evans at 8:45.

The standings after last week's games are as follows:

	W	L
Beglinger Olds	9	0
Detroit Transmission	8	1
Cavalcade Inn	6	3
Whitman & Barnes	3	5
LaFontaine	3	6
Evans Products	2	7
Bathey Mfg. Co.	0	10

Cavalcade Gains By Two Victories

Cavalcade won two close games last week, each by the margin of one run. The first they edged Evans 3 to 2, and the second was a 7 to 6 win over LaFontaine.

In the first game, Joe Thibideau did not allow a hit until two men were out in the final inning, that being a single by Stevens which scored the second run; the first run scored in the fifth on a hit batsman and some loose fielding. The winning hurler struck out 12 men and walked two. Graczyk allowed six hits, struck out one and walked no one.

In the second game Cavalcade broke a tie in the sixth inning to score two runs on a single by Dudley, a walk to Cole and a double by Archer. LaFontaine came back with one run in their turn at bat, but could not quite overcome the one run lead. In the last inning they got a man around to third with only one out, but the next two flied out to the outfield to end the game. Thibideau allowed only two hits in this game, struck out 14 men, but errors allowed many runs to score—three runs were scored in the first three innings even though he struck out the side in each inning.

Jim Dudley had two hits for the winners who garnered only five off Graczyk.

Tennis Clinic Held Here Today

A tennis clinic for anyone interested will be held this afternoon on the Riverside tennis courts and conducted by a well-known former national professional. Harry Fogelman, representing Spaulding Sporting Goods company, will be here to hold this clinic. It will begin at 2 p.m. at the park.

Mr. Fogelman has conducted many successful clinics all over the country and is recognized as one of the best in his field. This clinic is open to anyone desiring to learn something about the game as beginners, or to advanced players who want a few tips on inside tennis. This is a grand opportunity for those novices entering the Detroit News Tourney here next week to pick up a few pointers on the rudiments of the game, states Herbert Woolweaver of the Recreation department. Anyone wishing to enter that tourney should get an entry blank right away and have it in to Mr. Woolweaver before Monday — they can be obtained at his office in the high school.

New nets are being provided for the courts at the high school and should be up soon. Mr. Bisee, a former tennis coach at Farmington High school, is there each Thursday at 3:30 p.m. to give instruction free to those who care for it.

Parkview Girls Win by 6-2 Score

The Parkview Girls team in the Inter-City Women's league got back on winning ways last week as they edged the King Seeley team 6 to 2 in a game played at the high school diamond. Barbara McIntosh held the opposition to six hits and two runs scored in the fourth and sixth inning.

Plymouth had a total of 10 hits with runs coming in the second when three crossed the platter on four hits, and one more scoring in the fourth on two hits, and the final two markers coming in the fifth inning on three hits.

McIntosh struck out nine women and walked no one. Jennie Konazeski had three singles in as many times at bat to lead the attack; Ann Finnegan and Villerot each had two hits; and King, Donnelly and Nagy one each. The Plymouth lassies counted three times in the second inning when King was safe on an error, Villerot came through with a single, Donnelly popped out, but Nagy and Konazeski hit consecutive singles. McIntosh walked and Finnegan got the final single scoring the other runs.

This was the local girls second win in this league. One game was rained out, and they lost one to DeHoCo, the league leader. Tuesday they played Silkworth again, and next Tuesday they enjoyed a bye.

Whitman-Barnes Take Two Games

Whitman & Barnes won two games last week, the first from LaFontaine 8 to 6, and the second from Bathey 9 to 5. In the first game, the winners counted three in the first inning and four more in the fourth to put the game away. Key singles were driven out by Cason in each inning.

Nagy hurled for the winners and Wellman for the losers.

Williams, Cason and Onusko each had two hits to pace the winners; Soave and Scriver had two for the losers.

In the second game of the week, W & B scored in every inning of an abbreviated game to win 9 to 5. It was cut to five innings by the time limit. The game was fairly close until the bottom of the fourth when the winners counted five runs on two walks, an error and two hits by Emanuel and Killion.

Brindamur was the winner, with Schwartz the loser.

Killion had a double and a single to lead W & B at the plate.

Rosedale	4	2

Railroads Thrived Here 80 Years Ago With Inexpensive Wood-Burning Engines

Typical Locomotive of the 1870's

With Plymouth's growing importance as an industrial suburb, people are beginning to realize that it is "on the map" now. However, Plymouth was very much in the news even back in 1872. The Flint and Pere Marquette Railway annual report for that year indicates that much was shipped from here. Some of the items listed include 14 million feet of lumber, 40,000 livestock, 646,446 pounds of merchandise, and 2,650,000 pounds of grains (other than wheat), potatoes, mill feed and hay.

The total amount shipped in 1872 was 3,376,446 pounds. Engine No. 20 on the F. and P. M. Railroad was named after Plymouth. This engine was a wood burner and weighed 28½ tons. It hauled 38,460 passengers and 432 tons of freight that year. The Plymouth engine would run 8 1/3 miles per cord of wood. It burned 571 cords of wood at a total cost of $2,569.50 during 1872, and it ran 30 miles on one pint of oil. This is a far cry from the expense of present day engines. The total cost for the Plyouth's engineer, fireman and wiper was $6,311.00! Some picturesque names of old-time engines are the Victor, Tiger, Gazelle, Antelope, Pioneer, and Genesee.

Other engines were named after cities, like Toledo, Bay City, Wayne, Monroe, etc. But the earliest engines received names such as the E. B. Ward, after one of the Detroit financiers of the railroad, the H. C. Potter, an early F. and P.M. president, and the S. Keller, the Master Mechanic.

At first there were actually two lines operating out of Plymouth. The north and south line was the Holly, Wayne and Monroe Railroad, and the east and west line was the Detroit, and Howell Railroad, which terminated in Grand Rapids.

1899 saw the merger of the Detroit, Lansing and Northern Railroad and the Flint and Pere Marquette, to be called hereafter the Pere Marquette. In 1947 the latter was taken over by the Chesapeake and Ohio.

April, 1871, was the date when the railroad first began operating out of Plymouth. One of the early features was an excursion train between Wayne and Plymouth. Old-time residents will recall that the Wayne brass band provided music on these excursions. They were really gala days in the era before the automobile.

In 1902-04, 18 passenger trains stopped at Plymouth in the winter and 22 arrived and departed in the summer. Quite a difference from the four appearances of the Streamliner nowadays. It must be remembered, though, that these trains were the only means of transportation then for workers in Detroit. Passenger service also existed between Plymouth and Toledo.

Cattle was the main commodity shipped out. Some residents may recall that there was a stockyard located west of the present freight house, and that it was a common sight to see the cattle being driven down the streets of Plymouth toward the yard. The Flint and Pere Marquette

Railroad derived its name from the two towns it first connected. Pere Marquette, originally named after the Jesuit priest who explored this section of the country, is now called Ludington. The net earnings reported in 1872 for the railroad was a healthy $96,683.11.

Menace of Flies In North to End

The large gray flesh flies that have been troubling campers in the northern part of the state recently will soon be gone, conservation department foresters note.

The flies are a natural parasite that feed on forest tent caterpillars; when caterpillars are numerous, the number of flesh flies also increases.

But once the caterpillars begin spinning their cocoons, the days of the flesh fly are numbered. At present, foresters say the cocoon spinning period is about completed, which means the menace of flesh flies to campers is about ended for this year.

Local Gardeners Give "Green Thumb" Hints

Bright red poppies up to seven inches in diameter are but one of the highlights of the garden of Mrs. E. N. Paul of 14025 Newburg road. Mrs. Paul is shown above holding two of the brilliant flowers. The poppies are double ones, the seed of which came all the way from Warsaw, Poland. She received them in 1946. Mrs. Paul said that often people had stopped at her garden to tell her that her poppies looked just like roses.

Gardening is a hobby with Mrs. Paul, for as she puts it, "It is so interesting to raise plants and watch them grow." As a member of the newly organized Nankin Garden club, Mrs. Paul has the opportunity of discussing her various gardening techniques with others interested in the same hobby.

As far as variety of flowers is concerned Mrs. Paul states that she has just about every common type. Of particular beauty are the croft and regal lilies, dark blue delphinium, chrysanthemums, and climbing roses. Among her varieties of roses are the Silver Moon, a large white rose, American Beauty, Seven Sisters and the Dorothy Perkins.

As fertilizer for her flowers Mrs. Paul uses chicken manure. She mixes it with water and pours about a cup full around the roots of each plant. She also leaves all the fallen leaves around the plants in the fall, not raking them until spring. "This has a particularly desirable effect on the delphiniums," she said.

Planting a mock orange bush from seed is unusual, but Mrs. Paul has tried it and has been very successful. One that she planted three years ago had blossoms this year for the first time. She also has several other mock orange bushes a few inches in height. Mrs. Paul has planted some evergreens from seed as well.

Hints for Plymouth Homemakers

Chocolate Praline Nuggets Provide Tasty Bridge Snack

HOME-MADE cookies and a pot of steaming coffee are as necessary as a score pad and a pencil to any friendly game of cards. The next time the card party is scheduled to meet in your home, score as "the hostess with the mostess" by serving tasty Chocolate-Praline Nuggets with the cup that cheers.

What would a friendly game of bridge be like without lots of cookies, a heaping plateful of coffee, and time out for a chat? One thing is sure. It wouldn't be half as much fun as it is with them!

High on the list of favorite between-rubber snacks are all bar-type cookies. Chocolate-praline nuggets are a perfect example. Their spicy flavor has a natural affinity for a cup of steaming coffee and they have that "chewy" texture which is so popular.

Homemakers Attend Annual Conference

More than 1300 Michigan homemakers will be in coed roles this month while attending the four-day meeting, the 28th annual Homemakers Conference at Michigan State College, July 21-24.

Sponsors of the conference, the home demonstration staff of the Michigan Cooperative Extension Service, have completed the program of education events built around the theme, "Better Homes for a Better World."

Highlight of Tuesday's opening program will be an address by Iris Davenport, home economics writer-editor with Farm and Ranch Magazine in Nashville, Tennessee.

Outstanding speakers scheduled for the Wednesday, Thursday and Friday sessions include: Marion Martin, commissioner of labor and industry for the state of Maine; Mrs. Edith Sampson, Chicago attorney; E. T. Barwick, Georgia; Mrs. Fern G. White, Kansas City, Missouri; Dr. Elaine Knowles Weaver, Ohio State university; and Mary L. Morr, Michigan State college.

During the Wednesday, Thursday and Friday sessions, homemakers will follow the banner of their choice to classes in writing, photography, landscape improvement, household equipment, flower gardening, savings and investments, parliamentary procedure, effective speaking, literature, music, recreation and the Bible.

Other courses offered include one in wise purchasing, the Korean situation, meeting problems of illness, changes in Michigan communities, and parent-child relationships.

It has about reached the point in this country if parents want to kiss their children good-night they have to stay up until morning.

Capture Your Picnic Fun By Taking Pictures of Doings

Picnics are always fun, whether held in the backyard around a barbecue or in a more romantic setting in a forest or by a lake or seaside.

There is something about fresh air and change of scenery which does things to one's appetite and endows the sandwiches, pickles, cake and cookies with a taste attraction they do not have back home.

Because picnics are a lot of fun they are worth remembering—and the family camera is the one gadget which will produce perfect souvenirs of the day for everyone. Indeed—the camera has become as important for the success of the outing as the contents of the lunchbasket itself.

Snapshots taken during the day's activities will give much pleasure to everyone in the weeks and months to come. But such pictures will mean even more if the person behind the camera uses a little foresight in his photographic efforts rather than clicking the shutter at anything and everything going on at the picnic.

For example, something different is to shoot a picture story of the day's activities from the time the family leaves home in the morning until the picnic is over.

Putting such pictures in sequence in the family album makes for readership interest.

Although at times it is desirable to pose the folks at the picnic, especially for group shots, in most cases try to have the subject or subjects doing something. Dad in his big chef's cap is good snapshot material even if he does stand grinning at the camera. But how much more effective is a candid picture of him flipping a hamburger in the air!

Even the most amateur of amateur cameras today boast flash equipment. With flashbulbs it is possible to get some good snaps after dark with the picnic party grouped around a camp fire, singing songs or toasting marshmallows. Flash also comes in handy if the day is cloudy and some extra light is needed.

A sensible precaution on any picnic trip to an out-of-the-way place is to bring along a few extra rolls of film. Opportunities for the best souvenir snaps come only once during the picnic. Without film you might miss the best shot of the trip.

Since many picnics are held in sandy places, such as seashore or lakeside, make it a rule never to lay your camera on the ground where sand particles can get into the mechanism. Another sensible precaution is never to leave the camera in the hot sun for any length of time.

It seems to be a lot of consolation to some Plymouth husbands to read that some time the meek shall inherit the earth.

Better Eating

EZ SUMMER FREEZES
Frozen desserts are as welcome as a cool breeze on warm summer days. A supply of ice cream means quick cool desserts.

Half gallon containers of ice cream are economical both in money and shopping time. Home-made ice cream is made smooth and easy with evaporated milk.

Butterscotch Ice Cream
3 cups diluted evaporated milk
1 package butterscotch pudding mix
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup heavy cream
1/2 cup toasted coconut

Slowly stir milk into pudding. Cook, stirring constantly until thickened and mixture begins to boil. Add sugar and salt. Cool and pour into freezing tray.

When frozen almost firm, remove to a bowl and beat until smooth but not melted. Whip cream and fold in, top with toasted coconut, and freeze until firm.

Banana Freeze
1 can (13 oz.) evaporated milk
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
12 marshmallows
3 medium-size bananas
1/2 cup orange juice

Combine undiluted evaporated milk, sugar, salt, nutmeg and finely cut marshmallows. Let stand twenty minutes.

Dice bananas and combine with orange juice. Add fruit to milk mixture and pour into freezing tray.

Freeze quickly. When about half frozen, remove to a bowl and beat well. Freeze until firm.

Yield: One quart.
To keep marshmallows from sticking to you, to the scissors, and to each other, dip the scissors into water occasionally you cut.

Make Ironing of New Fabric Much Easier

Ironing day is not what it was before the advent of man-made fibers. It is easier and quicker.

Ironing is easier now because homemakers merely iron to smooth the new man-made fabrics. Almost no pressure on the iron is needed and a slow, deliberate motion with a low-temperature iron will smooth out any wrinkles.

Acetate always requires ironing but nylon, dacron and orlon may need no ironing. If they do, the new method of slow, easy, cool pressing is all that is needed.

Since man-made fibers dry very quickly you may sprinkle garments so they are evenly damp. Or you may prefer to iron the garment before it is completely dry.

Ironing on the wrong side protects the surface and keeps the fabric looking new for longer time. But when you want to touch up pockets, collars on the right side, use a dry press cloth about the weight of muslin. This will prevent any glaze or shine on these new man-made fibers.

Long sleeved blouses of acetate are less worry for the modern homemaker. For the final touch she hangs the blouse on a hanger in the air—and presto!—the steam left in the fabric will take out the wrinkles as the fabric dries. No more concern about the shine by over-ironing the gathers at the cuff.

Steak Barbecue for Outdoor Dining

For lovers of outdoor dining, what's to compare with a steak barbecue? A hint to the novice chef, however, make sure that you have your guests ready and waiting for the steak. There can be no wasted time between cooking and serving.

When buying steak for grilling see that it's at least 1 inch thick. If you want to serve individual steaks choose club or rib steaks, otherwise, a sirloin or porterhouse or T-bone steak will be your choice. For outdoor eating it is wise to plan on one-half to one pound of steak per person.

Some folks say a must for steaks is rubbing both sides before cooking with a clove of garlic. Garlic fanciers or not, here is how to grill that steak to perfection. Place the meat on your lightly greased grill or in the wire broiler so that it is 2 or 3 inches from the glowing coals. It is necessary that you time grilling closely. This will insure steak cooked to the rare or medium stage as your guests desire.

For a rib or club steak cut 1 inch thick, allow a total of 15 minutes cooking time for rare done, 20 minutes for medium done; 1 1/2 inch steak, 25 minutes rare, 30 minutes medium. For a porterhouse, T-bone or sirloin steak cut 1 inch thick allow 20 minutes for rare, 25 minutes for medium; 1 1/2 inch steak, 30 minutes for rare, 35 for medium.

When well browned on the surface, turn the steak and brown on the second side. Insert the times of the fork into the fat to turn it or use tongs. Season the steak and serve!

If it is a porterhouse, T-bone or sirloin use all your skill in carving the steak. Here are a few hints. Remove the steak from the grill to a wooden plank or tray.

With the meat steadied with a fork, use a sharp knife to cut around the bone. Remove the bone to one side of the platter. Then cut slices about one inch wide, beginning at the bone end, the full width of the steak.

Helpful Hints Concerning Building, Remodeling, Repairing & Redecorating

New "Open Kitchen" Trend Alters Rooms Designs, Creates Problems

Kitchens as big as those of Grandma's day are coming back. Sometimes called "living," sometimes "open" kitchens, they represent an about-face from the tiny, super-efficient kitchen of a few years ago.

Some of the new kitchens take in the dining area, while others open right out into the living room itself. Kitchen design is changing as a result, and home buyers must be on the alert to check such important factors as these:

- 1) Ventilation. An exhaust fan over the range — always a good idea — is a necessity in the open kitchen. Otherwise cooking odors will be over the whole house.
- 2) Durable work surfaces. Since the open kitchen is on continuous display the homemaker needs counter tops of such permanent materials as clay tile, which won't fade or become shabby in a few years. Also, tile is easy to clean.

- 3) Proper arrangement of equipment. In an open kitchen, the refrigerator and the sink should not be a part of the view from the living room.
- 4) A baffle or screen. Some sort of baffle between work surfaces and the dining or living area is needed to shut off the view of meal-to-meal clutter on work surfaces.

5) Ample storage. A kitchen can't always be in party dress when storage space is inadequate. "A place for everything and everything in its place" is a prime rule for living kitchens.

6) New treatment for the range. Ranges which can be built into a counter are gaining popularity in the open kitchen.

7) Sliding wall cabinet doors. Sliding doors not only look better but are safer than swinging ones — no bumped heads.

8) Co-ordination of decor with other areas. If the same colors are used in the kitchen and the space it merges with, both will seem larger.

Question: Can I paint over wallpaper? It's a special washable kitchen paper. If it can be done, what kind of paint can I apply?

Answer: You can paint over any wallpaper if it is tightly attached to the wall. You are more sure of success if you apply a sealer or primer coat first, or even glue sizing. Flat paints adhere well, without these treatments, but gloss and enamel paints tend to crawl without an undercoating of some sort.

Cupboard Hangs in Air

Reclaim Worn Awnings

Canvas awnings that are beginning to show signs of wear can be patched by cementing a piece of canvas to the underside of the worn area.

They can also be painted with special awning paints made for this purpose. In many cases they can be made bright again just by washing.

A cupboard that hangs from the ceiling is one of the newest conveniences in kitchen design. The one illustrated here is suspended above a counter. The counter and the cupboard serve to separate the kitchen and an adjacent dining nook. The cupboard has doors on both sides for ease of use. A fluorescent tube light under the cupboard illuminates the counter.

CURE FOR LEAKY WALLS

For leaky basement walls, the best cure is to coat the outside with asphalt and to drain the water away from the wall. This requires digging up around the outside. In a basement constructed of cement blocks, an easier method that may work is to tap the bottom course of blocks with copper tubing and connect these taps to a pipe that leads to a sump, or sewer. Pump out the water that collects in the sump.

HOME OWNERS' QUESTION BOX

Q—Is it possible to paint faded awnings?

A—Ordinary house paint heavily thinned with turpentine is usually satisfactory. One part of turpentine to four parts of paint is about the correct proportion for thinning. Brush the paint well into the fabric.

Q—How can mildew be removed?

A—Soap and water will take off fresh mildew. Try soaking the cloth in a weak solution of ammonia and then exposing it to direct sunlight for several hours.

Q—I have been told that climbing on a roof to look for leaks is a bad idea. Is that true?

A—Yes. Walking on an old roof to look for leaks often results in starting them. A better way to inspect a roof is to examine the underside of the roof deck after a rain, searching for wet spots or discoloration. If you find leaks in an old weathered roof, it's an indication that re-roofing is needed. Patching an old roof is almost always futile. In re-roofing, asphalt shingles generally are applied on top of the old material. This saves the expense of tearing off the worn roofing and its insulation value is retained.

COLOR FOR UNIFORMITY

A group of buildings will be more attractive if uniformity of appearance is established by covering all roofs with the same solid — or blended — color asphalt roofing.

PICTURED ABOVE IS A NEW INNOVATION, in home construction, the new fibre glass roof which forms the ceiling of the enclosed porch installed by Robert Todd, local contractor, in the home of his son, Warren Todd, at 936 Simpson, Plymouth. The new glass material, called Lami-Glas, is plastic laminated with glass fibre, comes in corrugated or flat sheets in a variety of colors. The fibre glass possesses great tensile strength, is very durable and lightweight and admits a considerable amount of daylight into the room. The roof shown above is in a surf green tint, and was bought through Plymouth Lumber & Coal Co. Lami-Glas may be obtained from Homer Martin, factory representative, or local lumber dealers.

In modern homes the separation between dining rooms, living rooms, kitchen and hallways is not pronounced.

HOME modernizing

Survey of American Family Needs Includes Even the Kitchen Sink

Just how modern is the American kitchen? Does the average housewife really have scads of mechanical push-button slaves at her fingertips? Home Modernizing magazine recently conducted a survey among readers, and came up with the following conclusions:

One-third of the families want dishwashers in their homes...

Two out of five want new sinks...

Almost one family in three wants a freezer...

GI Loan Rates Can Be Higher

Veterans can now be charged higher interest for GI loans, but they are also eligible for more liberal arrangements on down payments and time of repayment.

The agency advised veterans considering seeking loans to apply in advance for certificates of eligibility, so as to save time. Recent legislation extending GI benefits to veterans of the Korean war makes it necessary for the VA to have more information than before from any veteran applying for loan guaranty.

1) The maximum interest rate has been raised from 4 per cent to 4 1/2 per cent, effective May 5, 1953. Loans closed earlier continue to bear interest at the old rate.

2) Home loans now may be made without down payment and with repayment terms up to 30 years—if the lenders are willing. The VA cautioned veterans, however, that they will probably find many lenders requiring down payments.

The agency advised veterans considering seeking loans to apply in advance for certificates of eligibility, so as to save time. Recent legislation extending GI benefits to veterans of the Korean war makes it necessary for the VA to have more information than before from any veteran applying for loan guaranty.

Most World War II veterans have until July 25, 1957, in which to apply for GI loans under the original GI bill, but veterans with service since the outbreak of the Korean fighting have until 10 years from the end of the current emergency.

THE BROCKTON features open planning which means fewer doors, less partition work and a feeling of spaciousness not usually found in a small house. Costs are also cut through the use of a flat roof which combines roof and ceiling joists in one and reduces cubical contents. Windows in the through living room look to the street, and to a covered terrace in the rear. Living room opens in corner dinette. There is a full basement, fireplace in the living room, coat closets, linen cabinet and wardrobes in the bedroom. A toilet in the basement reduces the traffic through the living room. The exterior finish of the Brockton calls for a pitch and gravel roof with a vertical siding with a touch of color in the brick of the entry closet and planting area. The dimensions of this small-sized house are estimated at 40 feet by 23 feet and six inches. The floor area is totalled at 832 square feet, while the cubage is estimated at 14,303 cubic feet. For further information about THE BROCKTON, write the Building Editor, The Plymouth Mail.

The Plymouth Mail Presents

A series of and about residents of Plymouth at home, at work or at play
This Week — ROBERT MINOCK

Amid all the confusion of cars being put back into operation, Bob Minock fulfills his duties as service manager at Wiedman's Ford Motor Sales.

When asked just what his work entailed, he commented, "Service manager is a term in itself." He went on to explain that he is responsible for putting an okay on repair work, taking in new work and supervising all service work in general.

After graduating from Plymouth High school in 1945, Mr. Minock began his work at Wiedman's in October of the same year. Starting from the bottom up, Bob began his training as a lubricator and mechanics helper. In an attempt to gain experience in all departments, Mr. Minock spent two years in the parts department and three years in the sales department.

Besides being proficient in mechanics, Mr. Minock has also been quite successful in golfing, hunting and fishing. In regard to golfing, Bob stated, "I try to do a lot of it," meaning, he likes it. His favorite site for hunting and fishing is the area around Cadillac and Lake City in northern Michigan. Frequent trips are made to this territory.

As one of the first members of the Plymouth Optimist club, Bob is listed as a charter member. He joined the group in 1948.

Finding no particular pleasure in taking trips without some hunting or fishing in store, Mr. Minock does very little traveling for the fun of it. Except for a few visits to the eastern states, most of his time is spent in Michigan.

Mr. Minock was born in Detroit and moved with his family to Ann Arbor when still a child. He has lived in Plymouth since 1937. Mr. Minock and his wife, Pauline, have one daughter, Jeanne, three and one-half years old. The Minock residence is at 1310 Ross.

Crop storage on the farm is going to be more important than ever this year, especially for corn and wheat. Adequate storage can make a farmer's marketing more stable and give him the benefit of any price rise after harvest.

To Accept High School Graduates As Flight Officers

The department of the Air Force recently announced that high school graduates now have the opportunity to apply for Aircraft Observer training and become flying officers skilled in navigation, bombardment, radar operation, aircraft performance engineering and related technical flying specialties.

For the first time since World War II, a young man with a high school diploma can apply directly from civilian life for flying training.

In addition to being a high school graduate, an applicant must be between the ages of 19 and 26½, single, and in good physical and mental health. Minimum vision requirement is 20/50 if corrected with glasses to 20/20.

An individual is placed under no obligation by submitting an application for training. He will not enter the Air Force until he is found fully qualified for Observer training and desires to enter the program.

The Aircraft Observer course is divided into three phases—pre-flight, primary and basic.

The three-month pre-flight phase consists of intensive officer type training that includes drills, customs and courtesies, physical training, etc.

Upon completion of pre-flight, Aircraft Observer cadets receive 30 weeks of primary training which covers the fundamental skills and techniques common to all Aircraft Observer duties.

After completing the primary phase, the Aircraft Observer cadet attends one of several basic courses that trains him for a specific aircrew position on a bombardment, interceptor, reconnaissance or transport type aircraft.

After approximately a year of training the cadet will be commissioned a second lieutenant in the Air Force Reserve.

Full information concerning Aircraft Observer training can be obtained by visiting or writing Aviation Cadet Selection Team No. 404, Selfridge Air Force Base, Michigan.

Interlochen State Park Remodeled

Interlochen state park is undergoing a thorough facelifting, according to conservation department officials.

Some of the work includes construction of a new toilet building, relocation of roadways in the park and development of the beach area. All work is scheduled for completion this fall.

Work is expected to start this winter on a planned relocation of highway M-137 through the park. That work may be completed next spring.

Social items can be phoned to 1600.

CLEARANCE

It May Cost Less than the Car You Own!

Surprised by the statement above? Then listen, for a moment, to these amazing facts:

The beautiful motorcar pictured here is actually priced lower than twenty-two different models of other motorcars built and sold in America.

Its gasoline economy is so extraordinary that it will travel farther on a gallon of gasoline than many cars of far less stature and size.

Its dependability is so great that, over a normal span of ownership, it will probably cost as little to operate and maintain as any car you could buy. The records of certain fleet operators have indicated this.

And authoritative records reveal that this Cadillac may be expected to return a greater percentage of its owner's investment, at the time of resale, than any other motorcar built in America.

Perhaps by now your surprise has changed to concern.

For if you happen to own one of the twenty-two cars priced higher than this magnificent Cadillac—or if you own one of the many, many other cars which are very close in price—then you've been needlessly depriving yourself of some of the greatest satisfactions in all the world of motordom.

You've been depriving yourself of Cadillac's brilliant performance... its superlative handling ease... its marvelous riding comfort... its great and inspiring beauty... and the deep and abiding pride which comes with ownership of so beloved and respected a possession.

You'll surely agree—that's a lot of things to miss... especially when it costs no more to have them.

If you think this message might be addressed to you—come in and see us. You've already waited too long!

Bean and grain drying equipment in Gremel barn. The fan at lower right is also used to mow-finish hay.

ELECTRICITY

ENDS THREE-YEAR SEARCH FOR EFFICIENT GRAIN and BEAN DRYER

For three years, Harold Gremel, Huron County farmer, searched for a better way to dry his beans and small grains. Then, with some help from Edison Farm Service Advisors, he successfully developed this electrically powered system that enables him to dry six to seven thousand bushels of beans and grain per season. Result: He can harvest when his crops are ready and cut down weather losses. This means higher prices on the market.

Mr. Gremel farms 370 acres of land—100 in beans, 80 in small grain, 35 in beets—and milks a herd of 13 cows. As do many Michigan farmers, he is each year finding new ways to put electricity to work to lighten his load and give him greater security. For further information on farm electrical equipment, see your Edison Farm Service Advisor.

Good wiring is always important. So always ask your Farm Service Advisor for his recommendations.

First Federal is a part of the Federal Savings and Loan System, established by Act of Congress in June, 1933. It is a member of the Federal Home Loan Bank and the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, which insures each saver's funds to $10,000. Both are Government agencies. From organization in the depression year of 1933, this mutual savings association has devoted itself to making saving safe, profitable, and convenient. New branches have been opened in neighborhood locations; more are planned. A useful mail savings plan has made it easy for thousands to save entirely by mail. You may now open an account, add to savings, and withdraw—all by mail. Tens of thousands of thrift banks have been given without charge to people opening new savings accounts—as a practical aid to thrift.

A worthwhile earnings rate is paid on savings (currently 2%), and the same rate is paid on your entire account. First Federal service is friendly and helpful; small and large savers are equally welcome.

On behalf of First Federal's Directors and Staff (there are now 160 of us)—I cordially invite you to use our various financial services to the fullest extent.

Wayne Dietrich Wins Hearst District Cartier's No-Hitter Beats Plymouth

A surprisingly strong Wayne Dietrich team upset all the pre-tourney favorites to win the Annual Hearst District Junior baseball tournament held last week at Plymouth. This tourney, sponsored locally by the Detroit Times, had six teams entered—all belong to the Western Wayne County Class D league. The Dietrich outfit defeated Wayne St. Mary's 9 to 6 in the finals after defeating the Inkster Spartans 12 to 0 in a first round game, and the strong Plymouth Optimist team 8 to 0 in a semi-final contest. The latter game was a no-hitter for Russ Cartier, ace hurler for Wayne—Cartier has been playing first base for the Dietrich nine, but was an outstanding hurler for Romulus High school this past year, where he had a couple no-hitters and many big time scouts on his trail.

Virgil Dupree hurled the final victory for Wayne over St. Mary's. The latter team had disposed of the Inkster Allen & Sons team 10 to 0. Plymouth Optimist bested Livonia 6 to 1 in a first round game. Kenny Kisabeth hurled a three-hitter for the locals.

The feature surprise of the tourney was the work of Cartier in hurling his no-hitter against Plymouth. Cartier was so good that only one man reached first base, that player on a walk in the third inning and stole second, but the next three men struck out. Cartier struck out 17 of the 22 men faced. The others were easy infield outs from third to first.

Besides pitching a masterful game, Cartier had a walk and two doubles in four times at bat —his first out of the game was the first time in 17 times at bat that he had not had a hit. In this crucial game Wayne scored three times off Kisabeth in the third inning on three hits, a walk and two errors. Two more runs counted in the fifth on a home run by Duffield, who had two other singles also, a double and a single. Wayne scored two more in the sixth on two singles and a double, and the final marker crossed the plate in the seventh inning on a two-bagger and a fielder's choice. The winners had 10 solid blows off Kisabeth, and Olson who had relieved in the fifth inning.

Wayne will go on to Ferndale for the semi-finals. The winner there goes to Ann Arbor. The games at Ferndale will be played on Saturday, July 25—the Ann Arbor games begin on Saturday, August 1. The out-state winner at the latter meet will go against the Detroit champion at Briggs Stadium August 7 and 8. An all-star outfit is picked from each tourney which also advances to Detroit. The one picked from the better players on losing teams in the recent Plymouth District tourney has not been selected as yet, but will be disclosed some time this week according to Herbert Woolweaver. This team is selected by managers and coaches of teams competing in the tourney.

Bathey Surprise DTD But Lose in Extra Innings

The last-place Bathey softball team in the city league nearly pulled the classic upset of the season last Thursday evening as they carried second-place Detroit Transmission into extra innings before DTD managed to score the deciding run to win the game. The score was all tied up at the end of regulation innings at six all, and DTD pushed across the clinching counter in the bottom of the ninth inning.

Bathey surprised everyone by jumping on Cuttlinger of DTD for six runs in the initial inning on two errors, a walk, and four solid hits, including two doubles. DTD scored once in the first and kept whittling away at the lead until they tied it up in the last of the sixth inning. The winning run was scored in the ninth when Bibb walked, Janis singled, and Kliest singled leading the bases with no one out. An error allowed Bibb to score the winning run.

Schwartz, the losing hurler, allowed seven hits, struck out four, walked four, while Cuttlinger settled down after the first inning and didn't allow another run, striking out only one man, walked three while allowing eight hits.

Kliest, Vicydal and Janis each had two hits for the winners with Montgomery and R. Edleman having two for the losers.

Novice Tennis Tourney Begins Here Next Week

The Detroit News Novice Tennis Tournament play will begin soon. Local tourneys must begin by Tuesday, July 21, and be completed by Saturday, July 25. Finals will be held in Detroit at Belle Isle, Wednesday through Sunday, July 29 to August 2.

Anyone can compete unless he has won a college letter in tennis, a high school letter in tennis prior to the current year, winner of a novice local tourney before, or those who have reached the quarter-finals of any tennis tourney where there were more than 32 players entered.

There will be two divisions; one for juniors, which is open to boys and girls who have not reached their 15th birthday as of January 1, 1953. The senior division is open to all players over 15. A player may compete in only one division.

Each player must furnish one ball for each match—all matches to be the best two out of three sets. Each participant must provide 25 cents to be retained by the community conducting the tourney. Each contestant will be given an emblem award on entering the tournament. Trophies and medals for local and final tournaments will be furnished by the Detroit News.

Herbert Woolweaver says that at least 16 men and eight women must be entered to conduct a local tournament, and that this is purely novice play and anyone with a knowledge of how the game should be played should find this an excellent opportunity to get some tournament play and have some fun. If anyone is interested he should secure an entry blank at the recreation office in the high school and enter right away. These must be in before next Monday.

Farmers going into the broiler business now should be prepared to handle a large volume of birds and accept a small margin of profit.

Sports Glances

by "Professor" Edgar Brown

The Plymouth Merchants in the Inter-County league are holding us in suspense until Sunday to see whether they make the playoffs or not. They could have clinched a spot last Sunday by beating Grandale, but instead absorbed a 20 to 2 beating. This brings them to a six win and five lost record for the season with this Sunday's game against Teamsters remaining. If they lose to the strong Teamsters outfit they will have a 500 percentage necessary, for the playoffs providing they don't have to make up a rained out game, or a tie game. The rained out game won't need to be made up as Wayne is already in the playoffs, but the tie game with Farris Furniture might have to be if Farris needs a win to reach the 500 percentage. The playoffs begin a week from this coming Sunday.

There were some really good ball games in the City League last week and the two leaders, Olds and Detroit Transmission, had close calls from the bottom two clubs in the standings. Each won by one run. This league is going to provide some thrilling baseball the remaining part of the summer and it will be interesting to watch these teams fighting for every game. Olds should come out on top again this season because they have superior pitching and hitting, and many seasoned veterans who play best under pressure, but I wouldn't be at all surprised to see some upsets before the curtain rings down on this summer's play.

Many of our young people recently graduated from high school—a few will continue their education toward higher goals, but most will go forth to seek their way in the world; a world that is patient to some newcomers, but harsh on a few.

These recent graduates must learn to adjust themselves to whatever lies ahead of them—some will make the adjustment quite easily; others will find it more difficult. Some very important qualifications necessary in any walk of life are the ability to get along with people, cooperation and a pleasant personality. A person who has those splendid qualities with a good moral and spiritual background should go a long way even though he may lack too much ability in his chosen work.

Some persons have a knack of getting along with anyone while others have to acquire this through years of self discipline. An honest inventory of one's self is a big help—if one doesn't get along with others it may be the result of early life experiences which have made him bitter, self-centered, resentful, jealous, egotistical, or lack self-confidence. Anyone discovering the above qualities in himself has to take the initial step in correcting them, and then with the help of others he will slowly find himself, an enjoyable life.

The ability to work, and play, with others in a normal way will determine how successful one is in life. A few people resent someone else doing a job as good, or better, than they could do it. Some of those few try to cause trouble for a person who is honestly trying to do a good job—good will always wins out, while the ones making trouble will always be on the sidelines, floundering around unhappily unless they change their ways.

The Optimist club in the Western Wayne league were surprised by the Wayne Dietrich team in the Hearst district tourney here last week. The good local team were victims of a no-hitter by Cartier, the Wayne pitcher. Cartier had been playing first base for the Dietrich team, and hadn't tossed a game since June when he starred for Romulus High. In fact, he tossed a couple no-hitters this year in high school circles, and many scouts have been watching him.

Umpire Clarence Levandowski says he is the best hurler he has seen this year, and should have a good future ahead of him.

Even though the Optimist lost as a unit no doubt many of them will be picked on the all-star team made up of members of the losing teams. This all-star outfit goes right with the winner to the finals.

A man's country is not a certain area of land but it is a principle; and patriotism is loyalty to that principle.

Grandale Trims Merchants Nine Playoff in Doubt

The Plymouth Merchants were really spanked last Sunday by Grandale in the Inter-County league to the tune of a 20 to 2 shellacking. Ed Hock was wild at the start and walked three men, that coupled with errors, and a parade of hurlers put the game away for Grandale.

The defeat left the locals with a 6-5 record for the season with one game remaining on the regular schedule. A win is necessary against a strong Teamsters outfit this Sunday to insure a playoff berth, however even if they lose there is a chance of gaining the coveted spot. They have had a rained out game with Wayne and a tie with Farris Furniture. Wayne is already in so that game won't have to be played off, but if Farris needs a win to gain the playoffs then it might be possible that Plymouth would have to play them and the winner would gain the spot. The Farris result of last Sunday's game with Wyandotte is not known—if they won they have clinched a spot and the game would not have to be played and Plymouth would back into the playoffs. Farris has two games to make up and the two would be put in a hat, and perhaps Plymouth would not be drawn resulting in the Merchants making the playoffs.

Other results heard from Sunday found Northville beating Bodker 7 to 2; Teamsters trouncing Lincoln Cubs 14 to 4; and Food Fair beating Wayne 5 to 1.

With the River Rouge-Walled lake game unreported as are the contests between Auto Club and Lions, and the contest between the Wyandotte and Farris teams, the standings are as follows:

White Division	W	L
Northville	9	2
Teamsters	8	4
Food Fair	7	5
Farris	5	4
Plymouth	6	5
Grandale	6	6
Bodker	4	8
Walled lake	0	11

Red Division	W	L
Auto Club	1	10
Wayne	7	5
River Rouge	6	5
Wyandotte	6	5
Lions	3	7
Cubs	0	10

Daisy Second in Class F League

The Daisy team in the Class F league is currently in second place behind Rosedale in this league for boys of 14 and under. Next Monday Plymouth plays at Wilcox and next Wednesday Plymouth goes to Northville for a game.

The standings as of last week were:

	W	L
Rosedale	5	0
Plymouth	4	1
Clarenceville	5	2
Pierson	4	3
Garden City	2	2
Wilcox	2	5
Livonia Center	2	5
Northville	0	6

Optimist Turned Back by Livonia

In a closely fought contest in the Western Wayne D league the Livonia team edged the Plymouth-Optimist team to hand the locals their first defeat 4 to 2 at the high school diamond.

The winners scored first in the initial inning as Jahn opened with a triple off the offerings of David Wilkin and scored on a single by Burgan. After going out in order the first three innings, the locals counted their first run in the bottom of the fourth inning when Dick Huebler opened that inning with a tremendous triple and scored on a single by Jim Troutman. Livonia scored two more in the same inning, and their last run in the fifth inning. Plymouth came back for their final marker in the sixth inning on an error and a fielder's choice.

The Optimist team got 5 hits and Livonia, 10 hits. Wilkin struck out six men and walked no one. Merians, the winning hurler, struck out three men. The five local hits were evenly distributed, besides Huebler's triple, singles were knocked out by Finney, Brown, Wilkin and Troutman.

Today Plymouth plays Allen and Son at Inkster. Next Monday will be the feature game of the season when Wayne Dietrich comes here for a game on the local diamond. Wayne Dietrich knocked the locals out of the Hearst district here last week.

1952 was a big year for hunting and fishing in Michigan. The conservation department's fiscal year-end report shows a number of license buying records were set during the year.

An alleged doctor, who represented himself as Dr. Copeland, of Ann Arbor, was arrested in Northville Tuesday on complaint of a farmer, who had been swindled buying spectacles from him. C. G. Draper thinks he is the same fellow who swindled a number of farmers hereabouts representing himself as an agent of Mr. Draper.

A new telephone directory has just been issued by the Plymouth Telephone company. Some 150 subscribers now appear on the list, the latest being Charles Merritt, Andrew Taylor, A. D. Stevens, William VanVleet and Dr. Granger. Besides these appear the names of 25 farmers along the

Some excitement was caused this week by a shooting affair which occurred on Main street, north side, Saturday evening, the alleged parties implicated being William Harris and John Scipio, two colored young men living near Waterford. William Kaiser, Alonzo Hanchett, Myrta Blunk, Lina Blunk and Anna Micol were walking together, when Harris and Scipio rode by on bicycles and opened up a fusillade from a revolver. One of the shots tore through the dress of Lina Blunk and grazed her leg, cutting through her stocking. No known reason was apparent at the time why the shooting should have been done, and considerable excitement was created among the party.

Early last Monday morning the yard engine switching several gravel cars, accidentally backed into a through freight on the Grand Rapids division, throwing the switch engine and several cars from the track, so badly demolishing two cars that they had to be burned. No one was injured.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Parrott and Mr. and Mrs. William Sutherland left last Saturday for a motor trip to Washington, D. C. and other eastern points.

Sunday, July 22, was the 40th anniversary of the ordination and installation into the ministry of Reverend Charles Strasen. On this date Reverend Strasen also had been minister of St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran church of Plymouth for 13 years.

Mrs. Bessie Dunning and daughter, Margaret, and the Misses Winifred Draper and Dorothy Bentley returned home Monday evening from a several weeks' motor trip through the East.

Chips from the ROCK

An interesting day spent recently was with United States Forest Ranger John E. Francon of East Tawas. Because so many people from this area visit frequently in his territory and his work effects all so vitally, I knew the following would be interesting to all.

In the first place he plants a million-and-a-half red pines each year in the two counties under his direction, Iosco and Alcona, the largest tree planting project in America. Red pines are the only trees now planted by the forestry department because they are about the only ones that the deer won't eat, hence they have a better chance of getting a start in severe winters. There are 225,000 government-owned acres in this area, and in another year with the natural growth and the government planting this section will be up to par.

FORESTER FRANCON points out work of fire damage some 24 years ago to recently felled tree.

It takes about 100 years for reforested areas to get full growth or for the seedlings to grow to seventy or eighty feet full height. Francon says if the government had undertaken fire control in the late 1800's or the early 1900's Michigan's northern country could now be self-supporting. As far as early logging operations, the government says they did no harm, and the only actual destruction to this great industry has been from fires.

The Conservation departments and the Forestry department work hand-in-hand as far as the deer population is concerned, and plantings are made with the thought of increasing the deer herd. Foresters have learned that 100 does in a certain area will produce an average of 154 fawns a year if they have good browse. In areas where the browse is fair they produce about 100 fawns, and where browse is poor they will only produce 50 fawns. A logical reason then for closer cooperation between the two departments.

We visited the tornado area between Tawas and Oscoda and saw a path 18 miles long and one-half mile wide where everything was leveled to the ground. Had the same area been affected in Flint the death toll would have been at least 100 times more. The whirling action of the winds in the path laid all of the trees on the north facing south, as they were uprooted, and all of the trees on the south of the path were felled to face the north. Because of the complete wreckage in the area no salvage can be made of the lumber.

One of the interesting phenomena about the area which was so badly smashed by the winds was the fact that foresters combing the area for possible loss of life found no evidence of dead wildlife. As unbelievable as it might seem, premonition had cleared the entire 18 miles of deer, rabbits, birds, etc., previous to the storm.

Another peculiar thing was that the morning after the storm foresters noticed that absolutely no birds were to be heard in the entire area, but by noon their songs could again be heard throughout the storm's path.

Ninety percent of the land planted by the Forestry department has been through two or three tax delinquency sales. Federal foresters are all college graduates and have a wide background of training to equip them for their jobs.

Their daily routines include such jobs as constructing roads for access and recreational purposes, building fire breaks and logging trails, selling timber stumpage, fighting fires, constructing and maintaining camp grounds, phone lines and observation towers and the leasing of pasture lands.

Another interesting function of the forester is the renting of pasture lands to the farmers of the area. An arbitrary price is set early in the spring by the Cattlemen's Association and the Forestry department. This year each farmer pays 50 cents per head per month for grazing land for cattle. Sheep rates are proportionately low.

TODAY'S LOGGERS use modern methods to do their work. While one woodsman uses pole to raise felled tree the second quickly saws it into 8 foot lengths with portable gasoline saw.

Under the timber management program, which is keyed to tree conservation as well as the protection of wildlife, this particular division sells annually seven thousand acres of jack pine, 3,000 acres of poplar and 400 acres of swamp trees such as cedar, balsam, etc. All proceeds go to the Federal treasury but 25 percent of it comes back to the county in lieu of taxes, and 10 percent is returned for road maintenance.

Most of this timber is sold to lumberman's co-ops which are made up of farmers in the area. Through this program on slack days and in the winter they may supplement their regular farm income and provide additional cash with which to support their families. Each section of timber sold is awarded to the highest bidder by the forester. Loggers today work with tractors and gasoline saws in the woods so that their operations are much more efficient than they were 50 years ago.

Another interesting factor about the forester is that he is an expert at reading photographs taken from the air which show as much as 20 square miles. From the photograph, such as the one pictured below, he can tell the types of trees in any given spot in the picture, their height, the terrain of the land on which they are located and the depth of the cliffs along the banks of the river. The section below shows the back waters of Cooke Dam. So adept at comprehending these maps are the foresters that the air force recently made tempting overtures to many of them to join their service. At this time none have switched from their jobs.

THIS IS THE WAY an aerial map looks to a forester.

We concluded our tour by visiting the two famous Au Sable river monuments. The Kiwanis Cooperative Forest Plantation which consists of 10,000 man-made acres of forest containing seven-million red pine which were purchased at a cost of $20,000 and donated by the Kiwanis clubs of Michigan, of which Plymouth was one. On the north slab of the monument the Plymouth club has a most impressive white stone marker.

The second monument was the famous Lumbermen's statue near Silver Valley, which many of you have visited. Here a final lasting tribute is erected to perpetuate the memory of Michigan's lumbering men. The idea came from R. G. Schreck, who now operates a lumber company in East Tawas. Through his efforts some $50,000 was raised from some of Michigan's early lumbering families to bring it to completion. A New York sculptor drew the monument from early photographs and today three bronze figures stand nine feet high on a gigantic log mounted on a marble slab overlooking the beautiful Au Sable river.

Advise Farmers To Keep First Aid Kits On Hand

With farmers in the busy harvest season, it's more important than ever to keep a well-supplied first aid kit on hand, says David G. Steinicke, farm safety specialist at Michigan State college. He points out that the box containing the first aid kit should be tight enough to keep out the dirt. A cash box, a fishing tackle box, or even a tightly covered tin can will serve as a container. It should be thoroughly cleaned and well labeled. Steinicke advises that the kit should contain these items: Several rolls of adhesive tape of varying widths, sterile cotton, swabs and sticks. Sterile white cloth should be included along with a tube of sterile white salve for minor burns; a pair of scissors, boric acid, a recommended antiseptic and aromatic spirits of ammonia. A well stocked kit may save a life or prevent serious infection from an injury, Steinicke points out. Despite some exceptions, business is still booming and will be next year at this time.

If you own a movie camera and are about to take off on a vacation where a little footage "for the record" is in order, here are a few tips:

If your camera requires an overhaul, let an expert repairman have a go at it. A routine cleaning out, however, can be handled with a small syringe and stick with lens tissue for lens and filter cleaning.

Be sure to have plenty of film on hand; a choice subject won't wait around while you scour for a fresh supply. Always load film, by the way, in the shade to avoid edge-fog. If you are in the habit of carrying camera and film in the car's glove compartment, remember that this spot can get hot enough to fog film emulsion.

A tripod is a handy item to have along and as most, or all of your shooting will be outdoors, use a haze filter. If you don't own a haze filter, ask us about the new "sky light filter."

Oh, yes, keep an eye peeled for film titles — hotel signs, road markers, and the like. But, before you leave town, drop in and let us show you the very latest equipment available... then you'll be sure of having a living record of your vacation... to treasure for a lifetime. Remember "One picture tells more than a thousand words," so make them good ones, with the help of THE PHOTOGRAPHIC CENTER.

Our youngest salesman, Lloyd Johnson, son of Methodist minister Rev. Melbourne I. Johnson, is attending the Kodak and Graflex Retail Photographic Salesmen's Training Conference in Rochester, N.Y. from July 13 to 22nd. Lloyd writes that he is enjoying the course and is learning much that should enable us to better serve our customers. Our policy is to have all our salespeople receive the benefits of factory sales training.
